OUT OF COURT

Air Pollution Suit Settled

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The government has settled out of court its antitrust suit charging the nation's four major automakers with conspiracy to delay development of air pollution control devices.

The consent agreement announced Thursday was denounced by some as a government "sellout," but it was lauded by the Nixon administration as an "important step" in the battle against emissions from automobile engines.

Water Usage Jumps During Month Of August

The August hot weather caused water consumption in Pampa to jump after it had taken a big drop in July.

City Manager Charles Hill, in his monthly report to the mayor and city commissioners, stated today water production in August exceeded August 1968 by more than 12 million gallons.

However, water department figures show, so far in the current fiscal year city water consumption was 11½ million gallons behind last year.

The difference, Hill stated, amounts to approximately 1½ days production for a typical summer peak day.

The city manager noted in his report that final planning and information on additional right of way to be purchased for the improvement of SH 273 (S. Cuyler) is expected to be carried out within the next six months.

The State Highway Department held a public hearing on the project Aug 28 and gave the go ahead signal for the street improvement, authorized by Pampa voters in a 1966 bond election which set up $369,000 as the city's share of the cost.

Hill also reported that during August the turnover of permanent city employees increased significantly. He said there has been a total turnover of 24 per cent in the current fiscal year which ends Sept. 30.

Predominant reason given by departing employees," Hill said, "has been due to low salaries."

Marigolds Adorn Dirksen's Casket

PEKIN, Ill. (UPI)—A spray of marigolds, which Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen wanted made the national flower, adorned his casket as it was lowered into the grave.

His widow, Louella, his daughter, Joy, and her husband, Sen. Howard Baker, stood quietly as the late Senate Republican leader was buried Thursday in the black-earth of the prairie land he represented in Congress for 35 years.

A Washington contingent, led by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and more than 60 members of Congress, was present at Glendale Memorial Gardens, five miles east of here. Nearby, cows grazed under the sunny September sky.

"The last march has ended," the Rev. Edward L.R. Elson, the Senate chaplain, told the 6,000 mourners. "A mighty man of God has answered his last roll call. His battles are all fought, his victories are all won."

One of the first to pass the walnut casket after the service was Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine. It was she who placed the marigolds atop the coffin.

The vice president was the first to offer condolences to Mrs. Dirksen. He represented President Nixon, who participated in services in the nation's capital Tuesday and Wednesday but did not make the trip to Pekin.

If the suit had been pressed in the courts, said Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, the litigation could have dragged on for years and would have delayed government efforts to end the alleged conspiracy.

But in Washington, Rep. George Brown, D-Calif., criticized the administration for signing the settlement.

"The administration has sold out the rights of all Americans to have clean and healthy air for the sake of maintaining the high profits of the automobile industry," Brown said.

"Had the Justice Department pursued the suit and won in the courts, the Big Four automakers would have been liable for treble damages from suits filed by citizens claiming to have been injured by such a conspiracy."

Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., said he is considering asking for a congressional investigation of the settlement, which he said "closes off avenues of recovery by individuals who might have been injured."

Signing the agreement were General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp., American Motors Corp., and the Automobile Manufacturers Association, their trade organization.

Football Opens Season

Football, Texas-style, opens its 50th season in the state tonight and Pampa fans have the opportunity to see the Harvesters get the 1968 season underway at 8 p.m. in the high school football stadium.

A pep assembly was held at the high school at 11 a.m. and the PHS student body showed its team support for tonight's game will be plenty.

A full house is expected to be on hand for the clash against Hereford's District 2-AAA Whitefaces at Harvester Stadium.

Fans will also be getting their first look at the new lights which will pour out enough candle power to make it look like daylight.

Coach Swede Lee, starting his second season at the helm of the Harvesters, said Wednesday his troops were ready and 1969 would be the start of something new here.

Pampa hasn't had a winning season in the past 15 years.

Area teams will be putting their practice sessions to use tonight also.

Wheeler plays at Lefors. McLean hosts Shamrock. Groom plays at Vega. Miami is at Forgan, Okla. White Deer is at Silverton and Canadian plays at Booker.

Senator Anderson Throws Hat Into Ring For Leader

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., has thrown his hat into the ring as "available" to be appointed to the unexpired term of the late Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill.

Illinois Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, also a Republican, will name Dirksen's replacement until the next general election in 1970. Dirksen's term does not expire until 1974.

Anderson also indicated in a statement Thursday that if appointed by Ogilvie, he would seek election to the rest of Dirksen's term.

Anderson is chairman of the House Republican Conference, comprising all GOP members of the House. He replaced Melvin R. Laird.

Red China Not In Position To War Against Russia

Peking Not Able To Produce Weapons

LONDON (UPI)—Communist China is in no position to wage conventional war against Russia now or to mount a major nuclear attack on the United States for another decade, the Institute for Strategic Studies said today.

The institute reported in its latest world defense survey the Soviet Union has pulled even with the United States in the number of land-based intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBMs).

The institute noted that, although China has reinforced its border with Russia, Peking is unable to produce weapons on a scale needed for war.

"Neither could Chinese-produced nuclear arms be a substitute for them," it said. "Nor is any large-scale nuclear capability for a major attack on the United States considered said a spokesman for the institute, a nonprofit group specializing in military research."

Peking's nuclear development has been slower than expected. There are no reports of site preparations for medium-range missiles nor for ICBM testing.

China's domestic troubles in the past two years appear to have been partly responsible for the delay. The conclusion was that, for the time being, Peking has no adequate delivery system, except for trying to drop a small atom bomb from a plane. The Chinese have material for some 100 small atomic bombs.

The Russians have moved up six more divisions to the Chinese border, the report said. Russia has about 21 divisions in the Far East, including two in Mongolia, the institute said, while the Chinese have some 22 divisions, but less effectively equipped.

The survey said Soviet military doctrine still envisages a major offensive role in future war.

With an increased defense budget for the current year by over $2 billion, Russia is pushing her nuclear and naval development, the survey said.

The United States, however, retained its 4-to-1 lead over Russia in submarine-launched ballistic missiles of the Polaris and Poseidon types, according to the institute.

Russia and the United States now each have some 1,050 ICBMs, the survey said, but the U.S.S.R. is expected to have another 100 by the end of this year.

The use of multiple targetable re-entry vehicle (MIRV) warheads, now being tested, could give American rockets vastly increased striking power, the survey said.

Midland Firm Successful In School Land Bid

Gray County Commissioners today accepted the bid of Midland for a three-year oil and gas lease contract of certain school lands, owned by the county, in Gaines County in south Texas.

The Midland firm, submitting the only bid entered into the contract with Gray County, leasing 92.5 acres in the north one-half block three at $27.50 per acre for a total of $2,543 annually for the next three years.

The firm has also leased 80 acres for three years in the south half block six at $2,200 annually.

The Gaines County school land, owned by Gray County, is part of four leagues that was given to the county in the early 1900s. The original tract totaled 17,712 acres.

During the years, the county has sold most of the land, but in 1937, all lands that were not paid off were re-possessed and since that time, as they were re-sold, the county retained mineral rights.

Currently, Gray County owns or has mineral rights to 5,594 acres. (See BID, Page 2)

Thousands Go Home After Winds Dissipate Deadly Gas

GLENDORA, Miss. (UPI)—Thousands of persons began returning to their homes in the Mississippi Delta today when winds dissipated most of the deadly phosgene gas that leaked from four derailed chemical tank cars.

At the height of the crisis, 30,000 persons were routed from their homes, but by morning all but about 5,000 had returned.

A triangular area from Glendora to Ruleville to Schlater, and back to Glendora was still under "restriction," but before County Civil Defense Director Otis Allen said he expected an all-clear to be issued for that section, too, later in the day.

The chemical tankers were among 12 cars of a mile-long Illinois Central freight train that jumped the rails Thursday afternoon. A spark from a broken power line apparently ignited the cars and sent a huge cloud of black smoke billowing into the air.

Several of the tankers contained vinyl chloride, a chemical used in making resins and plastics. Under heat this substance produces phosgene gas, a lethal gas used in World War I.

The federal government, which came under fire recently for shipping phosgene gas by rail, took pains to point out that the vinyl chloride was a commercial shipment.

"I would like to make it very clear that there is no department of defense involvement in today's derailment of chemical tank cars in Mississippi other than the fact that some military technicians have been dispatched to the scene to respond to requests for assistance," a Defense Department spokesman said Thursday.

SENIOR BOY SCOUT TROOP 80 will be "pushing" and "pulling" for the Pampa United Fund Saturday as they distribute door signs to businesses downtown, at Coronado Center, and out on Perryton Parkway. Pictured getting a head start on Saturday's project are two members of the scout troop which is sponsored by the First Methodist Church, First Class Scout E. B. ## IN IRELAND Three-Man Commission Officially Back Catholics' Complaints BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—An official report on religious rioting in Northern Ireland today backed Roman Catholics in their complaints against Protestants. It censured Bernadette Devlin and the Rev. Ian Paisley—militants on both sides.

The lengthy report, prepared by a three-man commission after a six-month study into the causes of last fall's sectarian rioting, said documented evidence had been found to support Catholic complaints that they suffered discrimination in housing, jobs and voting rights.

The events studied by the panel headed by Lord Cameron, a Scottish high court judge, were a prelude to the even bloodier riots of last month which claimed at least eight lives and resulted in the sending of 6,000 British troops to Northern Ireland.

Another inquiry board is investigating the later disturbances. The panel, appointed by the nation's Unionist government last March, criticized Miss Devlin, 22-year-old member of the British parliament and Catholic civil rights worker, as a "stormy petrel" who would not "rule out the use of force."

Other methods appeared to fail. The Rev. Paisley, self-styled spokesman for militant Protestants and defender of union with Britain was described as a "man" who bears a heavy share of responsibility for these disorders.

Court Injunction Fails To Put Drivers To Work

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—Not even a court injunction will force striking San Antonio bus drivers back to their jobs, according to the president of the drivers' union.

Hearings on whether a temporary injunction, to force the drivers back to their buses, will be granted were expected to resume today and Dist. Judge James G. Onion said he thought the hearings would last at least half the day.

The drivers spent a full day in court Thursday testifying against the injunction.

Four attempts to get the city's buses rolling again failed and Wilson G. Parker, president of Amalgamated Transit Union Local 694 said the injunction, if issued, would not work either.

"If this thing is granted, I feel that the membership is going to defy it," Parker said.

Onion granted a temporary restraining order a week ago today but the union ignored the order, leaving itself open for a contempt of court charge if the transit company wished to file such a motion. The restraining order remains in effect until Monday.

Onion said, however, a temporary injunction would supplant the restraining order.

Parker agreed with transit union officials that the drivers will return to work only if both parties agree to a new contract. Three such contracts were rejected by the drivers.

Ford Company Fires President

DETROIT (UPI)—Simon E. Knudsen today is an unemployed auto worker with $900,000 in unemployment compensation due over the next three and a half years.

Knudsen, whose switch from the executive hierarchy of the General Motors Corp. to Ford Motor Co. 19 months ago stunned the automotive world, was fired Thursday as Ford president.

Board Chairman Henry Ford II, who boasted that he personally wooed Knudsen away from his arch competitor, said simply, "Things didn't work out the way we had hoped."

The 56-year-old Knudsen, known as "Bunkie," announced his own firing by the Ford board of directors. He said Ford "walked into his office Sept. 2 and told me I would be leaving."

"I was shocked," Knudsen told newsmen. "I would assume you would be," he quoted Ford as saying.

The summary dismissal of a president was, at best, a rarity in car-building circles. In Knudsen's case, it followed the resignations of three Ford executives since Knudsen assumed the presidency on Feb. 6, 1968.

Knudsen has three and a half years left of a five-year contract which brought him $200,000 a year in salary. In addition, he has $200,000 coming from a $400,000 first-year bonus.

Under his contract, Knudsen is forbidden to work for another automotive company for three years after leaving Ford. He said he had no plans to return to GM.

A local doctor declined to do an autopsy, Sherman authorities requested the aid of a pathologist from Dallas and asked George Brown, a chemist with the Department of Public Safety in Dallas, to come to the scene.

A spokesman at Parkland Hospital in Dallas said the autopsy would be performed this morning at the Dallas County and city crime lab.

The girl's parents were not called to the scene, Burleson said. (See BODY, Page 2)

AUTOPSY ORDERED Battered Body Of First Grader Found

SHERMAN, Tex. (UPI)—She had a lot of friends. She played with a group of children. She was a personable child. She wasn't withdrawn or anything," said Grayson County Sheriff Woody Blanton.

Seven-year-old Donna Marie Golish was the picture of the normal, first grade girl, from her brown-haired ponytail to the two front teeth she was missing.

Authorities in Dallas will perform an autopsy today on the girl's battered body to determine the cause of her death—to see if she was sexually molested.

R. V. Clinton, a horseback member of a 200-man search party, found the girl's body Thursday in a cluster of trees one mile north of Sherman. She was last seen alive as she skipped through Fairview Park Wednesday on her way home from school.

Police Chief Johnny Burleson said the girl's body was badly

An Arkansas City, Kans. pilot made an unexpected landing near downtown Pampa Thursday afternoon when visibility because so dense he was afraid to fly farther.

In other business, commissioners heard a request of the Groom Volunteer Fire Department, located in Carson County, to contract for their services near the Gray County line.

Currently, the county has an agreement with Lefors and McLean volunteer firemen on a $50 per call-5-cent mileage basis.

One of the Groom representatives pointed out the Carson County unit services that portion of the county located near the Gray County line.

County Judge S.R. Lenning Jr. and Commissioners Joe K. Clarke, J. O. McCracken, Trutt Johnson and H.V. Wilks asked that the Groom volunteers draw up a proposal and meet with the commission again in October, at which time representatives from Lefors and McLean fire departments also will be present.

Local commissioners went on record with a resolution giving their approval and support to the privately owned Kingsmill Community Water Supply Corp.

Lenning said, "There is no known conflict that this project has at this time. It is consistent with the overall water supply for Gray County."

The water supply is provided by a private well-owner in Kingsmill, who supplies residents.

Resident Engineer Tom Kelley of the Texas Highway Department appeared before the commission to outline proposals to construct Loop 171 from U.S. 60 east and west to State 70.

The proposal is located in northeast Pampa and is planned to be a two-lane highway with paved shoulders and a grade separate structure.

Kelley asked that commissioners either send a resolution stating preferences in the loop's location; or have representative at the public hearing set for Sept. 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the County Ag Building on U.S. 60, east of Pampa.

Tax-Free Union Income

Church property (as is every other form of property) is eyed greedily by the tax collector these days. What a marvelous opportunity he sees. The churches own billions of dollars worth of property. Presently, the property is exempt from taxation. But as the churches become more secular and political, so does the politicians' attitude toward them.

Congress has been investigating the possibility of lifting the tax exemption on church income derived from investments.

Strangely, we hear very little about another opportunity to tax. Or rather, it isn't strange, but obvious. This is labor union property. The unions are rich, very rich, and any tax reform program to be consistent, would include lifting the union's tax-exempt status.

We may be sure that while Congress may fail to see the possibilities in taxing union business income, the national Right to Work Committee sees them.

In a message to Rep. Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Reed Larson, executive vice president of the Right-to-Work Committee pointed out that:

In all the storm of controversy surrounding tax reform, many people are beginning to wonder why Congress, the administration and the House Ways and Means Committee have failed to say one word or take one step toward closing one of the nation's largest loopholes—the tax exempt status of the multi-billion dollar private enterprise union built on dues extracted by force from millions of American workers. The nation's major unions are private, have vast millions of dollars invested in unrelated business and spend millions of dollars annually for political purposes in violation of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act.

Although we question that unions are private enterprise in the true sense of the phrase, the point is well taken. Why do unions enjoy special privilege, except the politicians, especially congressmen, are afraid of them? We are not in favor of taxation as a means of raising governmental revenues. We believe a user charge is a better way to pay for what individuals consider to be proper governmental activities; however, if Congress sees fit to exact revenue from church organizations, we see no reason to exempt labor organizations.

Snoopy Census Question

There is a sign in the lobbies of most post offices saying it is a federal offense to attack a federal employee while on duty.

One can't help but wonder if this is going to apply also to the census takers the government hires next year to ask some very personal questions, for the temptation may be great to place a fist in some census takers' snout.

Perhaps the most personal question that many will be asked to answer is one that requires unmarried couples living together to admit illicit relationships.

The subject came up for discussion in a closed budget hearing for the Census Bureau by a House Appropriations subcommittee and is just now revealed.

Rep. Charles S. Joelson (D N.J.) was curious about this proposed question that called for the "exact relationship" between two people living together who are not related. His interpretation was that if a person is living in what is called a meretricious (filiety) relationship, then he would have to confess that on his questionnaire form or face prosecution.

Census Bureau Director A. Ross Eckler replied in an ambiguous manner. Any couples so involved, he said, "will find a rationalization to answer" the question. He suggested it might be described on the report as a common law marriage.

There is a penalty, Mr. Eckler said, for not answering. It's 60 days in jail, or $100 fine, or both.

He tried to smooth it over by explaining that in his memory no one had ever been jailed and only two persons had been fined.

This question, many are going to find, is repulsive and a case of the government getting too personal.

Some may answer the query truthfully, but there's a hunch, that others will evade it one way or another. This being the case, one wonders about the accuracy of the statistics the Census Bureau will later put together.

Here's More Coercion

A portion of the Nixon administration is going down the line for compulsory unionism. This development will come as a surprise to many people who supported Nixon in the belief that he would champion voluntarism.

The concern grows especially since the President is on the verge of issuing an executive order on labor-management regulations in the federal government. Ironically, the late John F. Kennedy saw fit to protect the three million federal employees from compulsory unionism by his Executive Order No. 10988. Irony No. 2 is that the chief benefactor of compulsory membership are the AFL-CIO political bosses who spent $60 million in union funds to beat Nixon in the 1968 campaign.

Nevertheless the push for compulsory unionism has reached the cabinet level. Postmaster General Winton M. Blount already has sanctioned compulsory membership for postal workers. He gave his endorsement in hearings before the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee. These hearings pertained to the postal compensation Bill, HR 1170.

Blount's strange behavior drew prompt action from the National Right to Work Committee. This group issued a newsletter that reminded voters and Republican officials that the Republican Party platform pledged "to protect federal employees in the exercise of their right, freely and without fear of penalty of reprisal, to form, join or assist any employee organization or to refrain from such activities." The right to Work Committee is urging inclusion of language in HR 1170 that implements the platform. The proposal provides "that nothing in such acts or in any other provision of the federal law shall be construed as permitting agreements requiring union membership" or payment of union dues, fees or charges of any kind as a condition of employment of postal employees.

The Right to Work Committee is hoping to get the word out so that those who are concerned will write letters to President Nixon, Postmaster General Blount and to senators and congressmen.

It seems a shame that people have to be continually alerted to fend off a type of enslavement that is thoroughly recognized. The President knows and the postmaster general knows that to force a man "to belong" to any organization is nothing less than a form of involuntary servitude. We don't see why we should have to come back into an arena and fight for a principle that already is established. When a cabinet member gets his foot over the trace as Mr. Blount did on this one, we believe the time has come to turn him out to pasture and the bureaucracy he heads over to the market place to be run on a profit and loss basis.

Big Brother is Ever With Us

The leftwing extremist organization, Americans For Democratic Action, denounces the public welfare system as "an outrage" which "must be abandoned." I agree—but for completely different reasons.

The ADA says that the present welfare system deprives recipients of self respect. (I would certainly hope so.) The ADA answer is guaranteed annual income for everybody, work or not. Everybody should be able to "live with dignity in their style of life," according to the ADA, and at your expense. In just one category of welfare—Aid to Dependent Children—700,000 new recipients have been added since the middle of 1967. That is a 13 percent increase! Our national bill for public assistance is now more than 5 billion dollars a year and increasing daily, as jobs go begging all across the country. There is no real unemployment, as any honest, informed and intelligent person knows; but there are many unemployable people. It is almost impossible to get anyone to do any "menial" work such as housekeeping, yard tending, etc. It is "beneath the dignity" of most welfareers. One of the Big Lies currently being advertised to the world is that a serious state of "hunger" exists in this country. There is welfare and private charity enough to prevent any hunger. Able-bodied parents who refuse to work and who let their children go hungry should be fed on chain gangs and prison work farms. There are no deserving beggars in America, but there are millions of jobs going begging.

If the leftists finally prevail, there will be takers: for in all Communist countries, people who refuse to work are sent to forced labor camps or are shot. (And, incidentally, the farm as well as the people would be owned by the government.) Thousands of farmers who own hundreds of acres of land have put it in the Soil Bank programs and get Food Stamps, diverted acreage payments, social security, disaster payments anything gettable, while they spend their days in poolrooms and beer taverns. And for the benefit of you "bigots," these formerly good citizens who have been made bums by our government are mostly white. Many families are third generation welfareers whose adults wouldn't consider taking a job. I believe in the right-not-to-work, and to starve instead.

An Ohio woman fired from her job 11 years ago has won the largest back-pay claim ever granted by the U.S. Court of Claims—$109,935.24. That may be of particular interest to you because it came out of your pocket. She was fired from her job as Air Force accountant and now that she has gouged the taxpayers for 11 years of idleness, she plans to go back to work for the government—so she can get a pension.

About a dozen years ago, after 30 years of smoking, in order, corn silk, coffee, grapevine, "cubs," cigarettes, cigars and pipes, I quit! I think it is a dangerous, filthy, effeminate habit. But Big Brother has no right to prohibit tobacco ads on the airwaves or anywhere else. The smut on TV is far more dangerous than the nicotine. Nobody has proved that smoking is a cause of cancer—though I'd give odds it is. I'd also give odds that liquor causes more deaths, heartache and misery than tobacco ever will. Many harmful products are advertised—such as worthless or injurious patent medicines. And much of the advertising copy is outrageously misleading. The boob tube itself has caused more sickness than tobacco ever could.

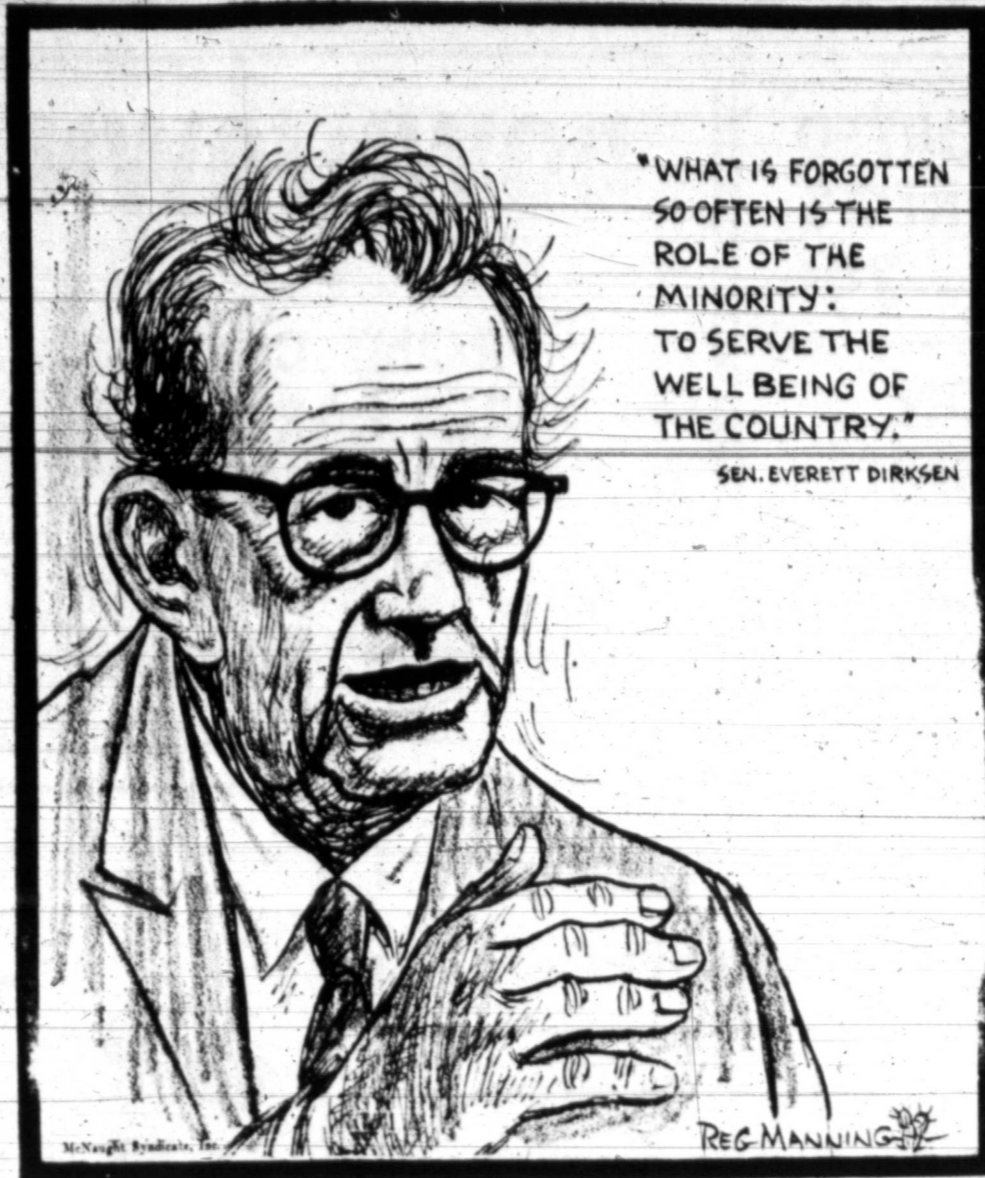

Big Brother should insist on truth in advertising—but he should not insist on the dictatorial power of outlawing all products which are harmful. The most harmful product I can think of at the moment is Big Brother.

WIT AND WHIMSY
One man to another at cocktail party:
Fred — I'm busted. I think I'll flirt with some good-looking woman so my wife will take me home.

Jupiter's day is the shortest of any of the planets' days.

Freedom is not the need for all to be the same; but the right to be different. It has its risks, but is the safest thing we have.

Space Scientists Cover Up Help They're Giving Cities

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—This reporter has come across a most amazing cover-up:

Space agency men helping their communities and hiding these aid projects as though they were sinful.

Or illegal (which some of this help is, the spending and the projects not having been authorized by the President, the Congress or the National Aeronautics and Space Administration top officials).

To understand this "crazy, mixed-up situation, consider the bitter irony of this nation's space scientists, now that they have succeeded so brilliantly in landing on the moon.

"On the one hand, the space scientists are besieged with loud public and congressional clamor to adapt the startlingly successful moon-space techniques of the bitter-social problems of our time.

The pressures are enormous... from every side. Everyone wants in on aid from the space specialists—the poverty and the job planners, the pollution fighters, the lowest housing people, the managers of our overburdened city governments lost in problems growing faster than solutions and the nation's police departments fighting a seemingly losing battle against crime on the streets.

The NASA scientists, being sensitive human beings, are tuned to these pressures and determined to use their space-acquired skills to help their fellowmen in ways in which they are uniquely qualified.

But one of the cardinal rules of government (and Congress) is that each agency shall work in the fields to which it is assigned. And before projects are assigned and funded they must be gone over in detail by administration and congressional committees.

That, on record, cuts NASA out of most social work, at least until there are some long, hard looks at the proposals and agreements between all agencies and departments concerned with each proposal (which may be as many as 31). Then the funding problems must be straightened out.

But all this takes time—sometimes years.

The communities that want aid, want it now and the scientists want to help now. The pressures have become intense.

So small groups of scientists in NASA have taken things into their own hands, quite illegally, of course.

They have squirreled funds and time on computers and other odds and ends from here and there away from other projects and used these resources and machines (and considerable amounts of their own free time without pay) to help communities in need with rather big problems, though minute compared with the space projects or the nation's overall social ending. It must be noted that some projects were legal in the sense that the scientists did the work entirely on their own time and without using government facilities.

Some had lip-hon approval.

In one city they applied systems-analysis, as used in space projects, to the problems of air pollution.

In another, to planning for orderly school expansion to meet the needs of a mushrooming population.

They applied the systems concept to the overall management of one medium-sized Virginia town and to some of the key problems of a major city police force.

"They developed new concepts for the planning and organization of a major jet airport in one city.

In one area, NASA scientists developed new techniques for the surveillance of public schools to prevent vandalism.

And in one large city they helped one agency develop ways of evaluating proposals for large study and development contracts with private industry, a field in which NASA men are particularly experienced.

They have developed improved command and control communications systems for serving one city's emergency departments—fire, police, ambulance and rescue.

These projects, of course, cover only a small part of this guerrilla aid program. No one in government or out, knows its full extent. For many of the projects have been hidden even from the NASA headquarters in Washington. Even some of the projects, which have been written up for internal agency use carry the notation—not to be publicized.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANSTADT

Triglycerides in Blood — Act Same as Cholesterol

Q—What is the significance of a high triglyceride blood level? What is the best treatment for it?

A—The triglycerides normally found in the blood act in the same way as cholesterol. When the level rises, the danger of hardening of the arteries increases. This can usually be controlled by a diet—substitute margarine for butter, cottage cheese for cream cheese, corn oil for olive oil, cocoa for hot chocolate and sherbet for ice cream. Avoid avocados, fried foods, whipped or sour cream and the skin of fish or fowl. Trim away the visible fat from all meats and place soups and stews in the refrigerator so that the hardened fat can be removed before serving.

Q—Is cholestyramine still an experimental drug for lowering the blood cholesterol level? I have taken Atromid-S for several months but I would rather take a drug with fewer side effects.

A—Cholestyramine (Questran) is no longer experimental. If it is to be taken for a prolonged period it should be supplemented with 2,000 units of vitamin A and 400 units of vitamin D daily. All potent drugs may cause undesirable side effects.

Q—Would a daily dose of cod liver oil increase the blood cholesterol level?

A—Moderate doses would not appreciably increase this level. In fact, cod liver oil is prescribed for persons who take cholestyramine daily.

Q—Are there any drugs for lowering the cholesterol level besides lecithin?

A—Yes. Atromid-S, Cholexin, Questran and niacin to name a few.

Q—My brother is interested in hypnotism. After reading several books, he put his brother-in-law under several times. Will being hypnotized affect a person's brain?

A—There are some persons, mainly those who already have a mental disease or are likely to develop one, who should not be hypnotized. For this reason, amateur and stage hypnotists are to be discouraged. Hypnosis in the hands of a person trained in psychiatry or psychology may be an aid to diagnosis and treatment in a limited number of cases. In most persons with a stable personality, being hypnotized will not affect the brain.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Branstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Branstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Inside Washington

JOHN GOLDSMITH

ROBERT ALLEN

(Last of a three-part series)

WASHINGTON — The essential, top-priority supplies for promoting violent black revolution are not machine guns or Molotov cocktails, but mimeograph machines.

Also paper, ink, stencils and typewriters. That is the priority listed in the "confidential" publication, "Black Guard Organizer's Manual," which is being circulated in urban ghettos. It is propaganda, the manual declares, that will "revolutionize the black community."

The mimeographed manual, mentioned previously in this series, calls for training in such violent pursuits as karate and guerrilla warfare. It concludes, however, with heavy stress on the propaganda activity — on a flood of literature which is "plain, bold, simple and to the point."

That emphasis, repeated in similar publications, underscores an important fact about the violent components of the loosely-labeled "black revolution." Its militant groups are geared to produce an impact beyond, and disproportionate to, the size of their memberships.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has testified that the now-defunct Revolutionary Action Movement, RAM, had at its peak about 75 hard-core members. Sen. John L. McClellan's investigating committee was told recently that the hard-core membership of the Republic of New Africa, RNA, is no more than 400.

Even the Black Panther Party, for all the lurid reputation its members have achieved, was said to have fewer than 4,000 members nationwide.

Despite the incidents of violence and the violent rhetoric with which this violent movement has been associated much of its work has been in propaganda and much of its influence is exercised outside the membership of its constituent groups.

SNCC & SDS — The call for violent revolution, in support of Negro separatism, has come through loud and clear to the major militant student groups.

Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) has long supported black militants and the black power concept. Until this spring, however, SDS was opposed to all racism and viewed nationalism as a weapon of the ruling class.

In March the SDS national council repudiated its earlier position. It endorsed, by a formal resolution, the Black Panther Party and its essentially correct program for the liberation of the black colony... its total commitment for liberation in the colony and revolution in the mother country."

Policies have also been changing in the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), which was in the early 1960s, one of the most active participants in the non-violent civil rights movement. The organization was deeply committed to the concept of passive resistance.

In time, however, that commitment became burdensome for SNCC leaders. Early officers, such as Stokely Carmichael, James Forman and H. Rap Brown, took their action into the Black Panther Party.

This July SNCC abandoned its commitment to non-violence. It changed its name to Student National Coordinating Committee to stress that it now recognizes a need for what the violent groups have long called "self defense."

A LONG, WARM FALL — Experts suggest that only a small percentage of American Negroes—probably no more than 10 per cent, perhaps less than five—subscribe fully to the violent, separatist, revolutionary doctrine laid down by such ultraleft ideologues as the Monroe, N.C., expatriate Robert F. Williams.

That statistic, like the rather small membership of some of the violent groups, can be misleading. Despite the relatively cool summer just ended—a sharp contrast to the fire and bloodshed last year—authorities here are keeping their fingers crossed.

In the Indian summer quiet they can almost hear the noise of the spinning mimeograph machines and they are watching, uneasily, the renewed activity on college and university campuses.

A LOOK AT THE BOOK

By DR. BOB JONES

On the night of the Last Supper Jesus, as He spoke to His disciples about His relationship with the Father and their relationship with Him and as He discussed with them their attitude toward the world said,

"These things have I spoken unto you, that My joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full" (John 15:11).

When the joy of the Lord Jesus Christ is in a man's heart, his joy is always full; and there is no fullness of joy anywhere except in Christ. God has made the human heart so only He Himself can fill it. All the pleasures of the world, all the riches of earth, though they may bring a temporary thrill, leave unsatisfied the longing of the heart. "My heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God," says the Psalmist. The soul of man is immortal, and only God can satisfy the hunger of the soul and bring eternal joy. The immortal cannot be satisfied with the temporal and the eternal with that which is transient. Some of the most unhappy people I have ever known have been people of wealth and fame—people successful from the viewpoint of the world. Some of the happiest people I know are those who have little of the material things of life, no fame and no prominence, but who possess the unsearchable riches of Christ. Of course, the Christian has his sorrows. He is grieved by the death of his loved ones, but the sorrows not "as those who have no hope;" and in the midnight of his sorrow sings the nightingale of hope bringing joy to his heart with the assurance that he shall see his dear ones again.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper function of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: In the long run, is not the best form of security to so live that "someone wants to help you when you have misfortune overtake you and you need help?"

ANSWER: It certainly is because it is the honest way of life. A man is happier if he does the best he can and if he so lives that he is being useful to others. If he is being useful to others, they will want to give him assistance. But if the government tries to help a person it has to control him in and tax and rob and plunder every other producer. Certainly, self-reliance, integrity and foresight is the best form of security.

When the man without Christ loses his wealth and his friends and his family, he has lost everything. Let the Christian see his family taken from him, his temporal possessions swept away, and his friends removed—he still has the abiding presence of Christ in whom his hope is fixed and who is the Author and Source of his joy. The man whose affections are set on Christ has every reason to rejoice because he knows that all things work together for his good (Romans 8:28). The man who lives in daily fellowship with the Lord is in contact with the Source of joy eternal. In Thy presence is fullness of joy; at Thy right hand there are pleasures forevermore" (Psalm 16:11).

CWO RICHARD B. COWAN Pampa Native To Represent Army In Fair Parade

A Pampa helicopter pilot who left the grasslands of the High Plains for the jungles of Vietnam, will be one of the Army's representatives in the Tri-State Fair parade Monday, when it begins its trek down Polk St., at 10 a.m.

CWO Richard B. Cowan proves "you can take the boy out of the country but you can't take the country out of the boy."

Cowan grew up on a ranch north of here and during his high school days he spent his spare time playing football, breaking horses for his dad, bronc riding in the local rodeo and shoeing horses on the side.

After a year at the University of Texas and two more at Texas Tech, he joined the Army to enter flight school.

The erstwhile cowboy traded his horse for a helicopter. He won his wings at Fort Rucker, Ala., in 1967 and soon found himself out of the country and in Vietnam, flying the UH-1 "Huey" helicopter which he calls "a smooth horse."

Cowan's first six months in Vietnam were relatively quiet since he was flying mostly routine training missions and resupply missions. Then he was moved to Hue just before the TET offensive and he found business picking up a little.

His career as a helicopter honcho was curtailed after he had three choppers shot out from under him in one week. Despite all the excitement, no one was injured in the crashes, but his commanding officer decided Cowan had earned a different assignment and so he became operations officer for company. Soon afterward his Vietnam tour ended and Cowan returned to Fort Wolters and the Army Primary Helicopter School, where he's now an instructor pilot.

Cowan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Cowan, originally came from Miami. They moved here and son Richard was born in 1906. He graduated from Pampa High School in 1954.

In 1957 the Cowans leased out their ranch north of Pampa and moved to Isabel, S. D. Seven years later the younger Cowan returned to Pampa, leaving in 1966 to enter the warrant officer flight training program.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Inflation "continues to roar along," the August market rally was a weak one and the majority of technical indicators remain bearish, the Dines Letter observes. All of these, the firm adds, support a pessimistic viewpoint toward the market.

"The market is so delicate and the news has been so adverse, it is hard to say whether or not the market will be able to withstand selling pressures," it added.

Post-Labor Day market action suggests a further period of backing and filling, says the Alexander-Hamilton Institute. Investors are loath to take a stand one way or another in the absence of solid economic news and if adverse news arrives in conjunction with heavy tax selling pressure, a deluge of selling could occur, the institute adds.

Thomasville

Charming English accents from Thomasville's Wayside Inn

You'll probably find right on this page that one very individual piece that will bring your room to life. That end table you've been needing. The cocktail table you've yearned for. Or something off-beat (and wonderfully efficient) like a chair that's a tilt-top table, too.

They're all from Thomasville's new Wayside Inn collection that takes its inspiration from England's 17th Century country inns. You can see the motifs of that era in handsome door panels, beautifully turned legs, and handles in the muted silvery tone of pewter. Veneers and solids are pecan, finished in Tawny Heather, a subtle greyed-brown, and Briar, dark and rich. There's bedroom and dining room furniture in Wayside Inn, too, so come see it all and be inspired!

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is being married at a fairly large church ceremony here in Portland, Ore. Her grandfather (my father) lives in Seattle, and my problem is what to do about Lottie, his third wife. Lottie is a coarse and vulgar woman, who doesn't need champagne to tell dirty jokes. You can tell that I'd rather not have her, but an invitation went out to "Mr. and Mrs." so there is a good chance that my father will bring Lottie.

I am having nightmares, Abby. What courtesies must we extend to her if she comes? She's never met the bride and I don't feel that she should be treated as a "grandmother."

The other grandmother (my husband's mother) is also from Seattle, and she doesn't speak to Lottie there, so I doubt if things will be any different in Portland.

I don't want this occasion spoiled for my daughter or anyone else, but I want to do the right thing.

Naturally, my father is not aware of what is so obvious to the rest of us.

STUMPED IN PORTLAND: DEAR STUMPED: If your father brings his wife, she should be accorded all the courtesies of a "grandmother." If the other grandmother doesn't speak to Lottie, it's their affair. Relax, and don't preoccupy yourself with the anticipated misconduct of any one guest.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 35-year-old widow with two children, ages 12 and 7. I've been a widow for three years. I had a wonderful husband and all the 10 years we were married I never looked at another man. I was a good wife and I am still a good mother.

My children and I live alone and I have not spent one night away from them since my husband's death.

Six months ago I met a man I'll call Bill. He is divorced. I care a lot for Bill and he says he cares for me and my children. He's in the service now, stationed in Thailand. He is getting a few days leave this summer and has asked me to meet him in Hawaii. I want to meet him in Hawaii. I want to, but my parents are old fashioned, and they say no respectable woman would go to Hawaii to meet a man, Abby, we are not going to live together. I am sure there is more than one hotel in Hawaii. My sister has agreed to keep my children. Do you think it would be improper for me to meet Bill in Hawaii? He has offered to pay my expenses. If I go, should I let him? I can afford to pay my own way without much strain. Thank you.

DEAR DIXIE: I vote "Go." But since you aren't officially engaged and can pay your own expenses without much strain, do so. Have a wonderful time, and aloha!

DEAR ABBY: I can really sympathize with that woman who was afraid of birds. When I was young, I attended a huge family gathering, and several chickens were decapitated in preparation for the dinner. One of the older boys picked up a headless chicken and chased me with it. I became so frightened I fainted.

Later on in my life, even a feather's touch made me ill. My husband found this out and he used to think it was great fun to try to tickle me with a feather. I finally ended up in a hospital with a nervous breakdown.

After a recovery (and a divorce from this cruel man) I was finally cured of my fear by a psychiatrist, but it was a long and expensive process. Unresolved fears are nightmares that can last a lifetime.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You can get a good response with a simple declaration of your feelings—Saturday. Cultivate acquaintances and connections. Travel is hindered by factors beyond control, so allow extra time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Begin a long journey Saturday if its purpose is to gain information or special training. Professional advice is more to the point than you expect. If you find a flaw, begin doing something about it.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Your restless mood Saturday should be translated into visiting or travel with friends seeking pleasure and inspiration. Younger people most likely attract attention now.

Wars Of Religious Tension Return In All Viciousness

By DAVID POLING

This summer has seen the rise of religious tensions, fanned by the wind of nationalism and coaxed by the sly voices of hate and prejudice.

Just when some of us were about to say the wars of religion are over, that no longer will Christians preach Crusades, the vicious agents of party spirit and arrogant self-righteousness demonstrate the ability to prove us wrong.

Whether you want to talk about the Middle East or Northern Ireland, the issues and personalities have churned up ancient wrongs that can never be established or sustained in a workable solution for today.

The fight within the Al Aqsa, the Moslem Holy Place in Jerusalem, may be the cause of another 10 years fighting in the Holy Lands. Most of us do not comprehend the significance of this disaster for the long term. The Arabs now believe that none of their rights, history or religious places will ever be protected or safe until they are in military control.

The Jewish community does not have a short memory, and the Israelis recall the Arab dominance over their sacred sites and are hardly persuaded on the argument of their loss again.

We have said before in this column that Jerusalem must become the first universal city.

It is sacred in the most holy manner to Christians, Arabs and Jews. It cannot protect the rights of all until it is free from the prejudices of all.

I do not share the Arab accusation that Israel deliberately permitted the fire in the Al Aqsa mosque. But I do acknowledge their suspicions and we all must push aggressively for an arrangement that will guarantee a New Jerusalem which is greater and more holy than any individual religious claim. If not, the wars of religion will flame and who has the means to contain it?

The situation in Northern Ireland is different—but only in geography, really. Again we have a dominant religious group in control, the Protestants and within their country the rights of the Catholic minority have been often ignored and frequently treated in a most casual manner.

Many of their grievances sound like the unjust situation in this country that has made life so miserable for the Negro. You can talk about jobs, housing, voting rights and get just a glimpse of the complaint of the Catholics in Northern Ireland.

Then add the ingredient of Protestant clergy marching around with armed irregulars known as the "B Specials" and it sounds like the Ku Klux Klan all over again.

Of particular interest to the Christian Church, and especially Protestants in America, should be the insulting, arrogant role of clergymen in this mess. While many voices have been raised, both Protestant and Catholic, for a return to law and order, self-discipline and patience, the Rev. Ian R. K. Paisley was reported by Ted Fiske in the New York Times to have told Sunday worshippers:

"This, my friends, is a religious and spiritual conflict, and we must put our faith in God. Our fathers trusted in God, and their blood became the seed of the church. . . . We must let the forces of popery know that we Protestants are here, to stay and that we will remain in control."

That type of religious thought, a sort of machine-gun theology, really has no place in this world—and certainly not in the Christian community. Unfortunately, it appeals to the half-bright, the self-righteous who always dredge the sordid stories of history to justify their present hatred and adventures in wickedness.

And most sad of all are those religious personalities who love to lobby in this kind of conflict, for their own profit and for the sorrow of many innocent people. The Wars of Religion have returned, unless the true believers say "No" rather promptly.

Episcopalian Bishops Create Stress

With Resolution For Draft Amnesty

By LOUIS CASSELS

United Press International

The bishops of the Episcopal Church have caused considerable stress to some members of their fold who are still old-fashioned enough to believe in such things as honor duty and the necessity of obeying the law even when you don't like it.

In a resolution adopted last week at South Bend, Ind., the Episcopal bishops called on the government to grant amnesty to men who have evaded the draft or deserted from the army rather than serve in Vietnam.

I'm sure the bishops regarded their action as an expression of Christian compassion for courageous young idealists who are conscientiously opposed to what the United States is doing in Vietnam.

But what about the other courageous young Americans who have gone to war on distant battlefields of Southeast Asia, not because they approved of our commitment there, but simply because they have been brought up to believe it is wrong to cop out on your country, even when you think it's making a mistake?

Plainly An Afterthought
Bishops threw them a sop by adding to the resolution at the last minute an expression of "loyalty and devotion" to men in uniform. But this was plainly an afterthought.

It would have been enlightening for the bishops to walk through Ward 32 of Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington on the morning that the Washington Post gave prominent display to a story about their amnesty resolution.

Ward 32 is a long, grim room with a row of beds along each wall. Most of the beds are occupied by soldiers who have been badly wounded in Vietnam. Some of them are crippled for life. But they count themselves lucky. At least, they will tell you—they didn't come home in a box—as many of their buddies have.

If the Episcopal bishops talked with these young men—or others like them whose battle scars are psychological and emotional rather than physical—they would discover that very few had any illusion they were waging a noble crusade in Vietnam. They went because they felt they had to—which is to say, because they could not stomach any of the alternatives. And they are bitterly aware that there are several alternatives.

Deep Cynicism Prevails
In the deep cynicism which is now their prevailing mood, some of the soldiers in Ward 32 take for granted that amnesty will be granted sooner or later to all deserters and draft evaders, whether they were motivated by conscience or by cowardice.

"We were suckers to go over there and get shot at," one of them said. "Even the bishops think so."

Perhaps the Episcopal bishops—and other churchmen who have adopted similar resolutions—should spare a little of their paternal concern for idealistic young men who have been impelled by their consciences to serve rather than cop out.

Draft evasion is not the only way a man can witness to a sincere concern for the welfare and freedom of his human brethren.

FOR REFUGEES

Presbyterians Discuss Resettlement Progress

First Presbyterian Church members attending the regular monthly family night program this week reviewed progress on the church's refugee resettlement program.

The church worship and sacrament committee, with Frank Smith as chairman, works through the World Council of Churches to operate the new resettlement program. The program offers a home and occupation for refugees from Communist-occupied countries.

Speakers for the program were Mr. and Mrs. David Thomas, St. Luke Presbyterian Church Amarillo. Thomas is a translator for the first refugee to arrive in Pampa, Ference Klas, who is employed at Cabot and is living with Mr. and Mrs. Clay Settles, his Pampa sponsors.

Another refugee family who is expected to Pampa soon, will live in the White Deer manse, which has been remodeled and furnished by members of the Pampa First Presbyterian Church. Bill MacDonald was in charge of preparing the manse for the Imra Nagy family.

Those who assisted in painting and furnishing the manse for the family were Bill Mackey, the Mariners, Senior High fellowship, Ruth Neustiel, and Lula Kuhn.

Church members attending the family night program discussed employment commitments for a 33-year-old Hungarian man Joseph Shultz, who is a lathe operator and is expected to arrive here soon under the program.

Two Pampa women who have volunteered service as English language teachers for these refugees, are Mary Beth Fathree and Ann De Leon. Family sponsors are Mr. and Mrs. Settles for Ference Klas; Mr. and Mrs. W.A. Morgan for Joe Shultz and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kurall for the Nagy family.

The session felt obligated to assist in resettlement of these refugees. If we can help even one person live in a free country, all the work and plans will be worth it," Smith said.

"All of the refugees come from Communist-occupied countries, in eastern Europe, Indonesia and Asia and Cuba.

The session also believed because of our labor needs in Pampa employment of refugees would be less difficult here than other places in the nation," Smith said.

Reading Instructions Is Important First Step

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY: I would like to help Marge, who found afghan directions so confusing. I do more knitting than crocheting but when I first started I, too, was almost scared off when I read the directions. But I was determined to conquer it. In the first part of the most instruction books there will be a list of abbreviations and what they stand for. If Marge will learn these abbreviations as she reads the directions while doing a sample square with an extra ball of yarn, she will find it easier. I take a piece of paper and write out each row so I can follow it better. These little books on how to crochet can be bought at the dime store. Once reading the directions and knowing the abbreviations are mastered she will be making afghans for everyone. I made six for Christmas gifts and two for wedding presents, each prettier than the last. Remember, Marge, what anyone else can do you can, so get that crochet hook going. Knowing how to really read the directions is the first important step.

Pointer told how to remove paint from the inside of a bottle and now I would like to know just the opposite. How can I paint the inside of a bottle? Better still, how can I SPRAY paint the inside of a bottle? My paint will not stick to the glass.—ALFRED.

DEAR POLLY: After my white straw purse became all yellow and discolored from handling and age, I bought a can of flat paint and applied two light spray coats about two hours apart. Now my bag is a beautiful light blue. I washed the handles with rich suds to remove all the soil and let them dry all night before spraying them.—ETHEL.

DEAR POLLY: I wear a terry cloth apron while sewing. The trimming threads tend to stick to it and it is a simple matter to shake all these threads out when I am finished.—JOANNE.

I have a Pointer I discovered when washing my windows on the outside. I put a heavy string through the roll of paper towels, tied the ends together, hung it over the shelf of the ladder and it was always ready when I needed a clean towel.—MRS. N.H.

God's Promise To His People
"I AM WITH THEE"
Gen. 28:15 And behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goest, and will bring thee again to this land; for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have spoken to thee of.

I want you to notice the first promise. I am with thee. It came at a time when this man needed it. And there will come a time in your life when it will be important for you to hear God say, "I am with you." To have God say, "I am with you," means that you will get all you need when you need it. When we need strength for our tasks, God will be there to strengthen us. When we need sympathy, God will be there to sympathize with us. When we walk through the valley of the shadow of death, God is with us. The important thing to all of us in this world is that God has said, "I am with you."

What a feeling to know that God is with us. Paul had that feeling inside and God was so big in him that he said, "If God be for us, who can be against us?"

We fear too much what we are going to meet. Let's forget that. God said, "I will be with you." One who loves you will stand by you when you get into the heat and thick of the battle. With God with us we can face a cruel world and walk through it with victory, walk through it with our garments clean — if God be with us! If God be for us, who can be against us.

What a terrible feeling it is an hour like this to be without God. What a terrible feeling it is to face the world in its present turmoil and not be able to say, "God is with me." Do you know that He is with you? If you do not know that He is with you now, then you have no assurance that He will be with you.

Nothing is worse than being deprived of the presence of God in Heaven. You will never have to be faced with that if you will accept Jesus Christ as your Saviour for He has promised, "I WILL NEVER LEAVE THEE OR FORSAKE THEE"

Pampa Tests Hereford In Opener

Dallas, Colts Play Exhibition Contest Sunday

By United Press International
The New York Giants didn't think that Dick Shiner's arm looked ver sore Thursday night. The Pittsburgh Steeler quarterback was listed as "doubtful" for the game against the Giants at Montreal but he tossed two touchdown passes to lead the Steelers to a 17-13 victory.

There will be two more games tonight with St. Louis at Chicago and New Orleans at Detroit—followed by three games—Green Bay vs. Atlanta at Canton, Ohio, Cleveland vs. Minnesota at Akron, Ohio and Los Angeles vs. San Francisco at Anaheim on Saturday—and two final exhibitions on Sunday; Washington at Philadelphia and Baltimore at Dallas.

Pampa opens its 1969 football season beginning at 8 o'clock tonight by playing at Hereford in what the harvesters, coaches and fans hope will be the start of Pampa's first winning season in 16 years. The Harvesters opened the season with a 12-6 victory over the Whitefaces at Hereford at 2-8.

But prospects are bright for 1969 to be near reversal that record since coach Wade Lee and associates returned seven starters, two returnees and 16 total returnees.

Weather, the wet kind, may force Lee to change his game plans since the Harvesters were expected to greet Hereford with a passing attack.

If the skies continue to drop rain the Harvesters will have to rely heavily on their running game, which should be one of the best in the Panhandle.

Halfbacks Scotty King and Don Willis, a returning starter and letterman, will handle the brunt of the running chores and both are capable strong runners.

King was fifth in the district in total yardage last year despite missing three games with an injured leg. Willis is one of the fastest men on the team and has fully recovered from an ankle injury that kept him out of the spring contest.

King is a 176 pound senior and Willis weighs in at 165.

John Jenkins, 190 pound senior starter, will handle the quarterbacking chores and can run as well as pass. Jenkins will be taking over the signal-calling chores for the first time but looked good in the spring game and a scrimmage against Vernon last week.

Running at flanker is Lee's Wing-T or Vee offense is Steve Scott, 155 pound senior, trying football for the first time since junior high days and senior Tommy Hawkins, who will also see lots of defensive duty.

At the end positions will be senior letterman Denny Johnson, who played safety last season but has picked up speed and weight, and Wyatt Earp, senior letterman, who will also do the Pampa punting.

Larry Kotara and Mark Watkins are the returning tackles. Watkins weighs in at 215 pounds and Kotara carries a listed weight of 203.

Center is co-captain Moss Hampton, 175 pound senior who is a returning starter.

Jay Roth, 212 pound senior, who was a squadman last year and 200 pound senior Chuck Lanehart, another returning starter, will be at guards.

On defense Lee indicated he would go with Johnson and Hawkins at halfbacks; King and Ray Tendall, 165 pound senior letterman at linebackers; Jenkins at safety; 160 pound senior letterman Randy Cantrell at rover; Roddy Porter and Paul Johnson, 176 senior and 183 pound senior letterman, respectively at ends and Roth and Watkins at tackles.

Two other returning lettermen, 145 Ross Holman and 155 pound Steve Sloan, both seniors, will be in the game. Holman will spell

Jenkins at quarterback and Sloan will be available at offensive tackle.

Hereford returned 10 lettermen, two of which started on a team that closed out 1968 on an 8-2 note and tied for its district championship.

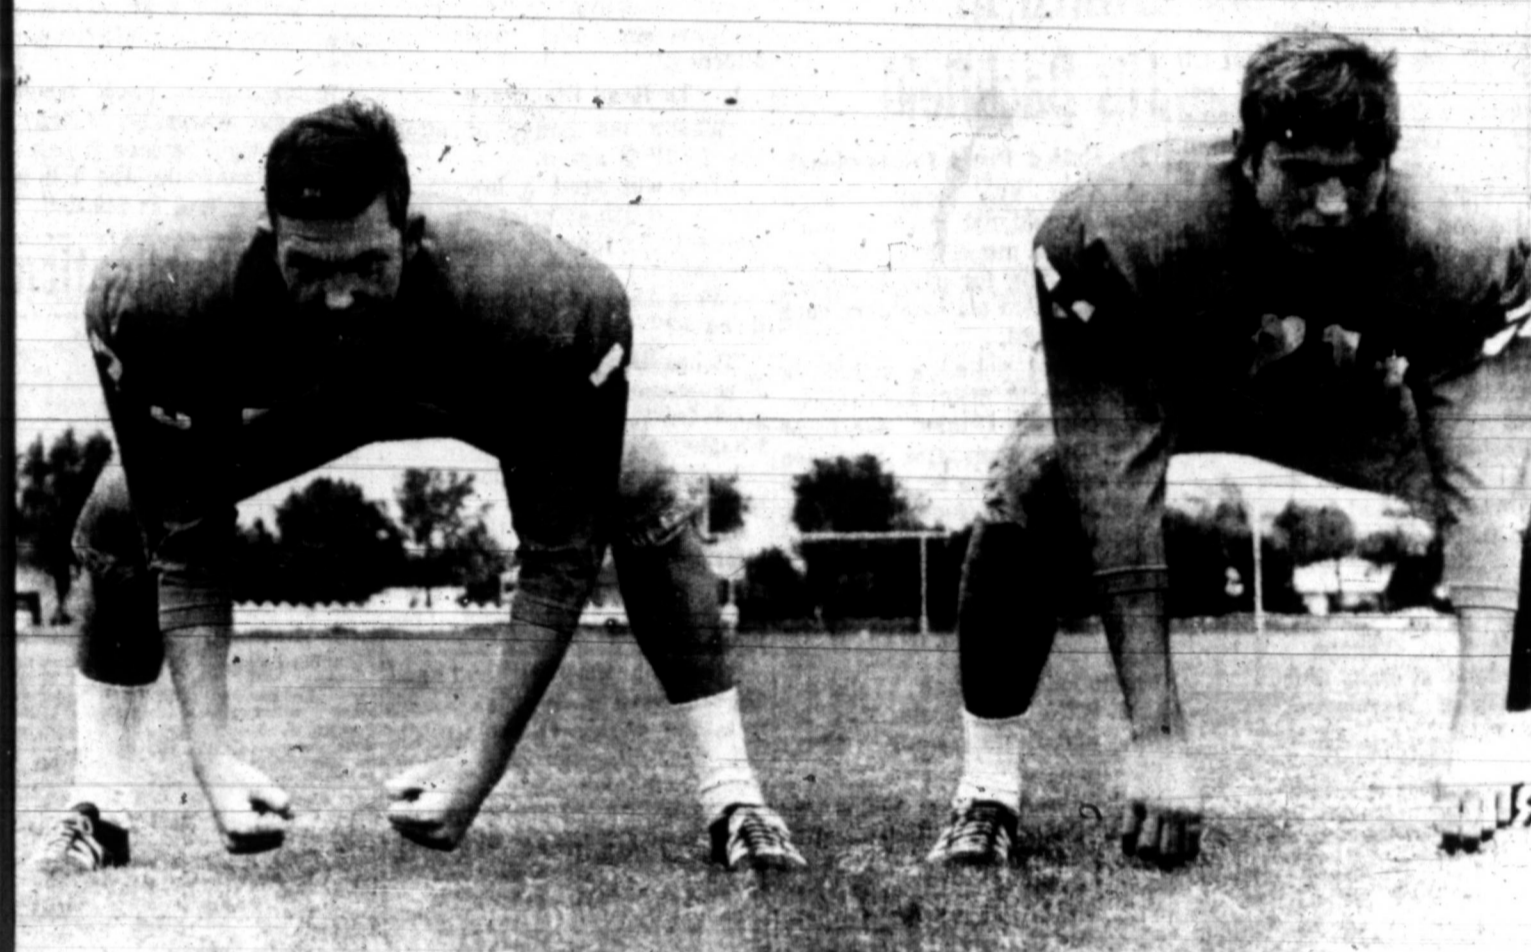

Coach Larry Wartes will send senior letterman Marsh Pitman, 182 pounder in at quarterback. Halfback will be 153 pound letterman Jerry Tyler and 162 pound junior Alan Wagner will start at tailback with 234 pound senior letterman John Frank Martin at fullback.

At ends will be 190 pound senior letterman Rodney Dearing and 146 pound senior letterman Woody Woodward.

Center is 176 pound senior Steve Jones.

Tackles are 230 pound senior returning starter Tony Gorman and 181 pound senior Mike Higgins. Guards are John Seiver, 177 pound senior and 182 pound senior Johnny Wall.

Other District 3-4A teams will be in action tonight with Odessa at Amarillo; Palo Duro, hosts Dumas; Caprock at Vernon, Wichita Fall at Lubbock-Coroad; Midland Lee at Lubbock; Plainview hosts Clovis and Monterey at Big Springs; Perryton hosting Borger; Tascosa plays Permian in Odessa.

WHEN HARVESTERS Steve Sloan, left, and Mike Albus take to the field tonight at Harvester Stadium it will be for real. Both will be seeing defensive duty for Pampa against Hereford in the season opener at 8 p.m. Sloan is a 155 pound senior and Albus is a 177 pound senior.

Area Teams Start 1969 Football Season Tonight

The Pampa Daily News SPORTS

The 1969 football season gets underway in Texas tonight and Groom, Lefors, Miami, Wheeler, McLean, White Deer, Canadian and Perryton will be just a few of the teams gunning for season opening victories.

Groom, Lefors, McLean and Perryton will play before the home folk and all are expected to draw stadium-full crowds.

All area contests are slated for 7:30 p.m. kickoffs.

Billed as the top area attraction is the Wheeler-Lefors contest which pits the District 2-A co-favorite Mustangs against a young, but much-improved band of Pirates from District 5-B.

Lefors has a new coach in Scott Dunnam, who once toiled on Pirate field for the hometowners. There is an air of optimism in the Pirate camp and fans are looking for a than break-even season.

But the Pirates should find the going a bit rough against the larger classification Mustangs.

Coach Jake Cottrell saw only four players who started last season back in pads last month but with five other lettermen who saw lots of duty the Mustangs are expected to give Panhandle a run for its money in the district race.

Wheeler, who won this contest, 34-0, last season, has two players being groomed for All-State honors in 215 pound Gail Ledbetter, a tackle and 210 pound senior Gary Davis, also a tackle, who may be moved to guard.

McLean, who tied for the District 2-A title last season then lost a coin toss to go to the playoffs, is starting a rebuilding program this season under new coach Bob Langford.

The Tigers will have their work cut out for them against one of AA's tougher teams, the Shamrock Irish.

Langford will start all six returning lettermen, four of whom were starters a season ago. Shamrock won last year, 27-6.

Groom is expected to battle Booker for the District 5-B title and the Tigers always open the season against a Class A opponent. Vega will furnish the opposition tonight but Groom still rates as a touchdown favorite.

Coach Roger Arnold has seven starters back from the same team that lost to Vega, 22-3 last season. You can add seven other lettermen and you have possibilities for a good football team.

Eight-man football will be the thing and a high-scoring game is expected in Forgan, Okla. when Miami hits the turf against the hometowners tonight.

The Warriors have several veterans returning to try and avenge last season's opening loss and although young will put several points on the scoreboard.

White Deer is young also but the Bucks have plenty of beef up front and good speed and are the team to watch in District 1-A.

Too, the Bucks haven't forgotten the stinging 21-20 loss Silverton, the team they play tonight, put on them last year.

Coach Sherrill Bottoms will count on his five returning starters and five other lettermen to push the Bucks past and the .500 mark and get them and winging tonight.

Silverton, of District 2-A, will probably have eyes for the Bucks All-State candidate Ricky Thurman, a 6'5", 230 pound lineman who may be given a chance to try his hand at an end position.

Candalan won its opener last year, 14-13, and the Wildcats, the darkhorse in District 1-A, will try it again tonight against the same team, the Booker Kiowas.

Both teams are expected to be stronger than a season ago and another thriller is in prospect.

National League Roundup

Mets Hang On As Cubs Go Down To 8th Loss In Row

By United Press International
It takes a lot of luck to win when you don't have anything. The New York Mets pitcher was talking about his six-hit, 3-2 victory over the Montreal Expos Thursday, but many skeptics would apply the same words to the Mets' unbelievable climb into first place.

Gentry, Jim McAndrew and Nolan Ryan, who pitched the Mets to victory in a double header, Wednesday night, are proof that there's more to the Mets' pitching staff than Tom Seaver and Jerry Koosman, and the New York hitters seem to be settling into that space over their heads.

In other National League action, Cincinnati defeated San Diego, 6-4, Los Angeles edged Houston, 1-0, Atlanta took San Francisco, 5-3, Philadelphia nipped Chicago, 4-3, and Pittsburgh downed St. Louis, 3-2.

Chicago Shuts Out Twins
In the American league, Oakland beat Seattle, 6-3. Kansas City shut out California, 3-0, Washington too New York, 7-3, Cleveland defeated Detroit, 5-2, Baltimore got by Boston 4-2 and Chicago shut out Minnesota 4-0.

The Mets' victory over Montreal left New York two games ahead of Chicago in the league's Eastern Division. Gentry, who called his performance "horrible," pitched horribly enough to strike out nine Expos in evening his record at 11-11.

Cincinnati's Pete Rose stroked three hits to drive home three runs in helping the Reds to their victory over San Diego. The win put Cincinnati in first place in the league's Western Division, a percentage point up on Atlanta.

Consecutive doubles by Maury Willis and Manny Mota produced the Los Angeles run that gave Claude Osteen a fourth hit victory over the Astros and his 19th win of the season.

Mike Lum's two-run single in the eighth gave Atlanta their triumph over the Giants and knocked the Giants out of first place in the West.

Youngsters will compete against youths their own age and trophies will be awarded first through third place.

Two Solo Homers

Lum was batting for Ron Reed, who allowed five hits in eight innings and got credit for his 16th victory. The hits included two solo home runs by Willie McCovey, his 43rd and 44th.

Chicago dropped its eighth straight and fell two games behind the Mets in the East when Richie Allen hit a two-run homer, his 30th, after Johnny Briggs had tied the game by doubling home Tony Taylor.

Shocks, Ninths Play Saturday

Pampa's Sockers and ninth grade teams from both junior highs open their 1969 football campaigns Saturday night in Perryton and on Harvester Field.

The Shocker's home field. Both clubs are expected to field strong teams.

Pampa and Lee Junior High ninth grades will wage their yearly battle, beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the high school field and last year Lee walked away with a 14-0 victory.

Both teams are expected to be stronger this season and the game is rated a toss up.

BEFORE YOU BUY A NEW HOME COMPARE CAPP HOMES 7% SIMPLE INTEREST FINANCING

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST: WASHINGTON (UPI)—The best news of the year thus far was the recent report that some of the auto companies are reverting to "simplified" warranties for their 1970 models.

A simplified warranty simply means that if anything goes wrong with your car during the first 12 months, you can simply take it to the dealer and have it repaired at your own expense.

This will be a welcome contrast to existing warranties which require you to validate an-elaborate set of maintenance charts before having the car repaired at your own expense.

A couple of years ago when I was shopping around for a new car I took a test drive in a 1967 Nadermobile.

"This model has all the goodies," the salesman pointed out. "It comes equipped with power brakes, power steering, power seats, power windows, power ashtrays, power glove compartment and power of attorney."

To Read Fine Print: "What's the power of attorney for?" I asked.

"You will need a lawyer to read the fine print in the warranty," the salesman explained.

"What kind of warrant ydoes it have?"

"It has the conventional 75-75. This means the warranty is good for 75 years or 75 miles, whichever comes first."

I said, "What does the warranty cover?"

"It covers the left rear interior door knob, the right front visor mirror, the right rear arm rest and the jackhandle."

I bought the car and after driving it 50 miles I took it to the dealer to replace the left rear interior door knob, which had fallen off.

After looking over my maintenance charts the service manager said: "I'm sorry, but your door knob warranty is invalid. You neglected to have the power ashtrays emptied every 10 miles as the warranty requires."

Hires CPA: That taught me a lesson. I hired a certified public accountant to audit my charts.

The frosted glass pane over the map light had been cleaned with silicone-treated velvet every 24 hours just like it says to do in the manual.

Nevertheless, he found a loophole: "We didn't say our cars were good for 75 years or 75 miles; we only said our warranties were good for 75 years or 75 miles. Our warranties are printed on long-lasting parchment and have been laminated with fire-proof, indestructible plastic."

"If you ever have trouble with your warranty, bring it back and we'll replace it free of charge. Meanwhile, the bill for your visor mirror is $49.75."
