France Tense As Hour For Strike Nears

Troops Will Force Many Workers To Stay On Jobs

PARIS, Nov. 29.—Premier Daladier, warning that the fate of the regime and the nation may be at stake, marched troops to vital centers today and placed all public services under military control in an effort to break the scheduled general strike.

Posters announcing decrees which transferred public service workers from civil to military control were put up this morning all over the capital.

Army detachments rode into Paris by truck and rail to swell the ranks of 25,000 soldiers already garrisoned in the capital district, while thousands of mobile guards and gendarmes were massed in labor centers ready for duty.

The 24-hour strike, called by the powerful general confederation of labor, was scheduled to start at 4 a. m. tomorrow.

In a report to President Lebrun, Daladier said:

"Harmful propaganda, of which the government knows both the hidden goal and the inspiration, is attempting by rising against the laws of the republic to create in the country a state of agitation which threatens not only to compromise public order but to influence the ex-

Five-Point Plan To Rehabilitate Cotton Industry Suggested

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 29. (AP)—A five-point plan of rehabilitation for the cotton industry was advanced in the annual report of the directors of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, which was released today.

The report said that if the present plan of crop control was continued the "South is facing, if not the greatest economic crisis since the Civil War, certainly a readjustment of the most serious magnitude."

"It said a solution 'may be found' in these 'basic principles':"

1. Compensation in some manner for the farmer who buys in a protected market and sells in a free market.
2. Continued crop control until the present surplus is reduced.
3. Elimination of the loan and substitution of a plan to allow the farmer to sell his crop at the world price and receive adjusted payments.
4. Compensation for the farmer if, in a year of restricted acreage, his crop is disastrously short.
5. A plan for liquidation of government-held cotton through the cotton trade and not through a government agency.

Two Local Peace Officers Oppose Abolition of Capital Punishment

Pampa and Gray county officers join the sheriffs of the state in not being particularly sympathetic toward the suggestion of Governor-Elect W. Lee O'Daniel that capital punishment be abolished. An editorial on this subject was published in a current issue of the official magazine of the sheriffs' association.

Police Chief J. I. Downs expressed himself as believing that capital punishment is a deterrent of crime. Asked if he favored keeping capital punishment, the chief said:

More Changes Announced By Smith, Sadler

AUSTIN, Nov. 29. (AP)—Two more of the many changes in Railroad Commission personnel expected January 2 were announced today by Commissioner Lon A. Smith and Commissioner-elect G. A. Jerry Sadler.

Benton H. Templeton of Colorado and R. E. Gray of San Saba, now an assistant attorney general, were appointed examiners in the motor transportation division to succeed H. E. Wassell and Ewell H. Muse. Their salaries will be $3,600 a year each.

Smith said Wassell and Muse were appointees of Commissioner C. V. Terrell, defeated by Sadler for denunciation. Indications were that most of Terrell's appointees would "get the axe." Smith said Terrell had approximately 200 appointees compared with around 240 named by both Commissioners.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 29. (AP)—Chinese reported today they had recaptured the towns of Loshan and Kwang-shan, 200 miles north of Hankow, forcing the Japanese to reorganize their forces at Sinyang before pushing farther into the interior.

They also said repeated attacks had forced the Japanese to give up Hwai river transportation lines in western Anhwei province and withdraw from Hefei, giving the Chinese control of a large area in the province.

In addition, the Chinese reported they had recaptured Yentsing, 30 miles north of Kai-feng, which the invaders had held for six months.

Second Slasher Cuts Woman In Another Town

HALIFAX, Eng., Nov. 29. (AP)—A slashingly slasher struck in another North England town today as Scotland Yard was at work in panicky Halifax seeking a man who has terrified the town with 13 cutting attacks, mostly on women.

Winifred Walsh, 18, of Platt Bridge, Lancashire, told police man seized her in the backyard of her home and inflicted a five-inch wound on her arm.

She said an unknown man had been sending her letters for six months.

Her assailant's technique apparently was the same as the Halifax phantom's but investigators doubted if they were the same man since the towns are 50 miles apart and the slasher was busy in Halifax last night.

Aunt, Uncle Of Jew Assassin Convicted

PARIS, Nov. 29. (AP)—The aunt and uncle of young Herschel Grinspan, whose assassination of Ernst Vorn Rath brought down the Nazi wrath on the Jews in Germany, today were sentenced to four months' imprisonment and fined 100 francs ($2.60) each in a Paris police court.

The elderly couple, Abraham and Chana Grinspan, were convicted of having given asylum to their 17-year-old nephew in their small tailor shop, after he had been ordered expelled from France as an undesirable alien.

Before the trial began today the French government had requisitioned all court employees who had been called out for tomorrow's general strike.

Oil Stabilizes Texas Business

AUSTIN, Nov. 29. (AP)—Although Texas has not shared appreciably in the recent marked improvement in business over the country, the sharp decline of last year was slow to reflect in this state, Dr. F. A. Buechel of the University of Texas Business Research Bureau said today.

Buechel said the dominance of the oil industry in Texas was among reasons for the comparative stability of this state's industry.

"The business analyst said indications were Texas would enjoy good business conditions in immediate future months."

Japs To Close River To Foreign Shipping

SHANGHAI, Nov. 29. (AP)—Japan's armed forces tonight served notice on the world that the great Yangtze river, China's main trade artery, would remain closed to all but Japanese shipping until China is conquered and reconstructed under Japanese control.

A joint army and navy communique indicated protests of foreign powers, chiefly the United States, Britain, and France, against the closing of the river to their commerce, would be unavailing.

The fighting services said this situation would be continued until

Did Jimmy Joy and Dee Graham reach the North Pole? No one will know until 4:45 o'clock this afternoon when a short wave hook-up with Santa Land will be made by station KPDM, Pampa. The two were scheduled to arrive at the North Pole last night or this morning and to be prepared for the broadcast this afternoon.

By this time everyone knows that Jimmy Joy, the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce' mythical adopted orphan, is flying to the North Pole to invite Santa Claus to Pampa Saturday which is Santa Day.

Jimmy is scheduled to extend the invitation to Santa Claus during the broadcast between 4:45 and 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Jimmy and Dee left Saturday afternoon on the long trip to the north. On Sunday afternoon a short-wave broadcast was made and everything was hunky-dory with the trippers who said they should arrive on time.

While Jimmy and Dee are in the far north to invite Santa Claus to Pampa, Jaycees have been working long and hard completing plans for the parade, free show, free candy and other entertainment for young and old of the Panhandle.

Street decorations arrived last and are being strung with colored lights today.

Several cars of Jaycees left this morning to visit schools in towns and rural communities, inviting teachers and children to Santa Day which will begin with a parade at 10 o'clock. The parade will be a Toyland Review with bands, glee clubs, pep squads floats and toys.

POINT REYES, Calif., Nov. 29. (AP)—Pilot Charles Stead fought his way through pounding surf after his big transport plane alighted on the ocean here early today, and told how five other persons disappeared into the water before rescuers had a chance to reach the scene.

Stead and a passenger, Isadore R. Edelstein, apparently were the only ones saved of the seven persons aboard the plane, although the pilot said there was a slim chance some of the others might have reached the rocky shore.

Peace Parley Under Way In Chicago Strike

CHICAGO, Nov. 29. (AP)—Hopes for settling a strike that has halted trade at the Chicago stockyards were carried to a peace parley today.

Representatives of striking CIO handlers and spokesmen for the Union Stockyards Company conferred with federal conciliators in an effort to break the nine day deadlock.

Robert Mythen, government conciliation commissioner, reported "some progress" had attended negotiations yesterday—the first optimistic note in the dispute.

Meanwhile, sales on the big open market were suspended pending termination of the controversy. Some 12,000 cattle, hogs and sheep were received but most of them had been sent directly to the packing houses, thus circumventing the strike-bound channels.

The demands of the striking CIO Livestock Handlers included a written contract, a closed shop, a checkoff, vacations with pay, a basic wage, and overtime pay.

Strike leaders reported CIO members employed at the Armour & Co. plant made brief strike gestures yesterday after AFL representatives, whom they identified as organizers, appeared in the packing house.

The CIO employees laid aside their tools for short periods in 28 departments until the rival unions left the premises. The union claims a membership of 2,500 to 3,000 employees at the Armour plant.

Two Of Seven On Transport Escape Death

Big Plane Smashed To Pieces With Dry Gas Tanks

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29. (AP)—Coast guard headquarters here reported today two persons escaped when the United Air Lines plane was wrecked near Point Reyes. The men were Pilot Charles Stead and Isadore R. Edelstein, Los Angeles.

Five persons were missing and the coast guard said no bodies had been sighted.

The coast guard report said the pilot and Edelstein were taken up a steep cliff by ropes, and that Stead "passed out" from injuries.

A report from O. C. Richerson, assistant superintendent of the U. S. L's western division here, varied from this report. Richerson said he was informed Stead "was OK, and walking around on the beach, but Edelstein was badly hurt."

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29. (AP)—A big transport plane was smashed to pieces on a rocky ocean beach near here today after it had fought a 84-mile-an-hour wind en route from Seattle to Oakland, and finally was forced down on the rough sea when its fuel tanks ran dry.

The fate of the seven persons aboard the United Air Lines plane was unknown several hours later. Two figures later were spotted on the beach by coast guardmen and keepers at the Point Reyes light-house, who believed at least two aboard the plane escaped death.

Pilot Charles Stead of Seattle radioed about 2:30 a. m. EST (4:30 CST) that he was in trouble, but still knew where he was because the radio beam was functioning to guide him to Oakland.

He said, however, he had only 20 gallons of gasoline left, enough for five minutes' flight, and would alight.

Sign Your Holiday Greeting Cards According To Type

AP Feature Service Writer Should you sign your Christmas cards "Mr. and Mrs.?" That depends on whether the cards are engraved, printed or signed by hand.

Engraved cards follow the rules for visiting cards, consequently, "Mr. and Mrs." is proper. It is considered a little better to have the card read, "Mr. and Mrs. Merry Holiday wish you a very Merry Christmas and a happy New Year" rather than "A very merry Christmas and a happy New Year from Mr. and Mrs. Merry Holiday."

Printed cards fall into two categories, rather formal ones meant to be sent to everyone and informal ones, designed for intimate friends. If you send out printed cards for formal use in place of engraved ones, then "Mr. and Mrs." is proper. If, however, your cards are intended as informal greetings to good friends omit the "Mr. and Mrs."

On cards signed in ink, the husband's or wife's name may come first, although ordinarily the person signing would put his own name last. In general, the husband's name comes first.

How should cards be addressed? No card should ever be sent without a Mr., Mrs. or Miss prefix. A young boy may be addressed as "Master" although that's being used less and less.

On a non-irrigated plot of ground 75 by 30 feet, Mrs. Gus Davis and Mrs. Dwight Davis, members of the Bluebonnet Home Demonstration club, grew three kinds of field peas, black-eyes, crowder and cream.

Clothes For Teen-Age Girls Have Chic Of A Debutante

The fashion graybeards have turned new tricks in clothes for that problem child—the teen-age girl. She is not a fashion orphan any more.

Her new clothes fit, have color and zip, and give her the freedom of action she needs. In design, they suggest a neat course between juvenile fashions and debutante clothes and make her a person in her own right.

There are dozens of versions of the two-piece costume (piece de resistance of her wardrobe for school and play) which give her a chance to try her hand at ensembling them in different ways and and learning her fashion A B C's.

Colorful wool cardigans, inexpensive suede or tweed jackets and elyver quilted cotton jackets with tinkling bell buttons make the tops. The skirts are fashioned of flannel or plaid wool, gored or umbrella-pleated to give plenty of width for racing down stairs of cutting a figure eight on skates.

To keep up with the younger crowd's love of color, their clothes are made in interesting hues and finished with intriguing accents such as a pair of felt love birds, a plique or blouse or a band of bright embroidery.

Plaids are a great favorite. They make wool day frocks, skirts and school coats lined with gaberdine, which may be reversed and worn in the rain. Sunday coats of teal given a little fur trimming in blue, green or brown wool, are coachman's revers or military front bandings, designed of sheer wools and velveteens on lines which flatter the "awkward age" figure, get their color touch in some such accent as a Roman striped ribbon or a bit of bright smoking.

Clothes like these far cry from the dull designs which used to be the lot of the teen-age girl—have done much to quicken her interest and make her happier about the whole fashion business.

Debs Turn Thumbs Down On Upswept Hair Arrangements

Who says you have to put your hair up? The debutantes aren't doing it. And if ever there was a group of girls who religiously followed the dictate of fashion, it's the debs.

For years these budding society leaders have been doing what fashion experts, social secretaries and ambitious mammas have told them. They've pared their figures or filled them out, whatever the season's style has been.

So, thinking to get some support for the vanishing cause of the upswept-coiffure, we took in one of the weekly luncheons at the Manhattan deb rendezvous, the Coq Rouge. There were some 60 deb heads in the group and not one of them was the hair up.

SOCIETY GIRLS SPARKLE AS MODELS IN STYLE SHOW

The idea behind this New York fashion show, folks, was to pick the right dress to match the right jewels. All the models were socialites. MODERN MENUS

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX NEA Service Staff Writer The recent war threat scared us out of our appetites. Maybe some of us began to recall those foods of the Great World War days when ingenuity and economy of vital foodstuffs combined to produce differences in our national diet.

To remind ourselves of those days and those foods, these wartime recipes will be useful. Though the threat of war is past, the need of economy is still with us.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By ALICIA HART NEA Service Staff Writer Today's beauty-minded woman knows better than to believe that—

Washing the hair often is bad for it. (She has a shampoo once a week, of course. She'd as soon go around with a dirty face as with dingy, soiled hair.)

If you do housework you do not need even to consider doing limbering and stretching exercises. (Unfortunately, few household duties make use of the muscles which need most to be kept supple.)

Regular use of rouge and powder tends to enlarge the pores of the skin. (Poor circulation and going to bed night after night without first removing makeup and cleansing the face carefully are the main causes of enlarged pores.)

If you brush your teeth twice a day it isn't necessary to go to the dentist except when you suspect there's a cavity in a tooth. (No matter how carefully you brush them yourself, your teeth ought to be cleaned by a dentist at least once every six months.)

Cold cream will make hair grow on the face. (Cream absolutely will not make hair grow on anyone's face.)

Hair which is falling out by the handfuls ought not to be brushed. (If hair is loose, it no doubt will fall anyway, so it's a better idea to let it come out on your coat collar. Besides, nightly brushing will make the scalp healthy, discourage further loosenings of the hairs.)

TCU To Play Carnegie Tech In Sugar Bowl

Duke Invited To Play USC In Rose Bowl

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 29 (AP)—H. A. Benson, president of the New Orleans Midwinter Sports Association, today announced formally that Carnegie Tech and Texas Christian University had been invited to play in the fifth Sugar Bowl football classic Jan. 2, 1939. Carnegie Tech has accepted the invitation, Benson announced, and T. C. U. has accepted contingent upon receiving the approval of the Southwest conference, which he said was expected today.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 29 (AP)—If permission of the Southwest conference is obtained, the T. C. U. Horned Frogs will play in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans January 2. Athletic Director Howard Grubbs of T. C. U. announced this morning.

Officials made it plain that nothing definite could be said until conference permission was received.

However, it was certain that the athletic council of the school has voted to accept the New Orleans bid. It was considered definite that Carnegie Tech has also accepted. The T. C. U. decision was reached in a Dallas hotel around 4 a. m. today.

"We have accepted and will play if the conference permits," was all that Grubbs would say. Carnegie Tech, scouted T. C. U. in its game with Southern Methodist Saturday when the Horned Frogs swept up the Southwest conference championship.

The Tech team has won seven games and lost one—that to Notre Dame, 7-0.

DALLAS, Nov. 29 (AP)—Unconfirmed reports here today said Texas Christian University, a member of the Southwest conference, had agreed to play Carnegie Tech in the New Orleans Sugar Bowl football classic on Jan. 2. Officials of Texas Christian University could not be reached immediately for confirmation and the report originated from a usually reliable source. The Christians wound up their season Saturday with a 20-7 defeat of Southern Methodist.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29 (AP)—It's Duke, the rock of the Southwestern conference, and Southern California, survivor of a bitter grid campaign along the Pacific, in the Rose Bowl battle January 2. Concluding in six hours negotiations that usually take a week or more, Southern California last night invited the Blue Devils, of Durham, N. C., to play its Trojan warriors in Pasadena's annual post-season game and Duke lost no time in accepting.

There is joy in the hills of North Carolina today, for never before in the 23-year-old history of the Far West classic has the Blue Devils won. Eams played in the rose-bordered bowl in the Arroyo Sector.

But just as there is celebrating in North Carolina, so is there gloom in bluebonnet state of Texas and a wall for every rebel yell echoing over the rolling countryside of Tennessee, for Texas and Tennessee had unbroken, untied Rose Bowl carnivals, to in Texas Christian and the University of Tennessee.

Duke's supporters in Southern California were legion, however, and no one could criticize its 1938 team or its record of nine straight victories with never a touchdown, never a point surrendered.

Against this is the Trojan record of never having been defeated or tied in four Rose Bowl games, three of which saw Howard H. Jones, who spent a year coaching Duke in 1924 before coming out here, at the helm of S. C. grid forces.

Whether the present twice beaten warriors of Troy, which dropped decisions to Alabama and Washington is as good as the one that kicked over Pitt, 47 to 14, in 1930, or Tulane, 21 to 12, in 1932, remains to be seen. An idea can be gathered Saturday when S. C. winds up its regular season schedule against Notre Dame.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 29 (AP)—The Tartans of Carnegie Tech, a power again in collegiate football after 10 lean years, will play a post-season game on January 2, and they hope the opposition will be the Horned Frogs of Texas Christian University.

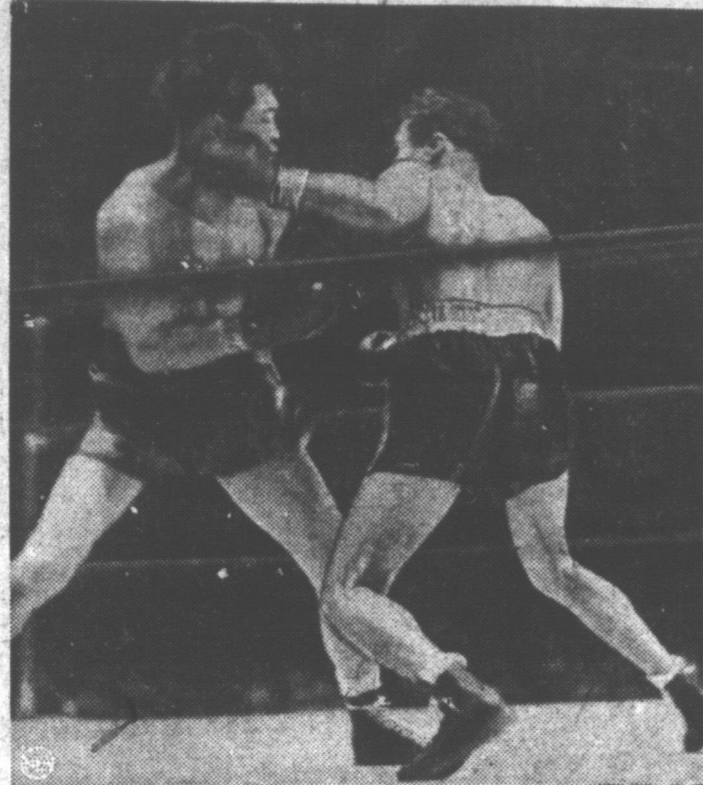

The Tartans, with five tentative bowl bids, made no secret of their desire to meet the Horned Frogs, and Athletic Director Clarence Overend said Tech's decision, therefore, would probably be delayed until T. C. U. accepted a bowl bid.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 29 (AP)—The athletic committee of Texas Christian University met today to decide on its course toward post-season football games.

15 'Pansies' Begin Grid Practice Under Prejean

Hurricane Henry Scores Again

The Pansy football squad had its first workout yesterday afternoon at Harvester field with 15 players reporting to Coach J. C. Prejean. Coach Truman Spain was still in Dallas but will return for tomorrow's workout.

Anyone who has never heard of the Pansy football team is hereby informed that the Pansy team is composed of bona fide members of Pampa's three civic clubs and they will play an honest-to-goodness football game with the Phillips-Borger Lilies at Harvester field on the afternoon of Dec. 8.

Coach Prejean sent his squad around and around the field to see how they looked on the wind question. Then he lined them up and did some passing and punting. After he had gotten a line on the boys he ran them around the field some more and then turned them loose to settle in their own minds whether they were linemen or ball toters.

Another practice will be conducted at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon when several more prospects will report for training. Uniforms will not be issued for a couple of days.

"We have to get them in shape before we start running plays," remarked Coach Prejean. "Also, we need at least twice this many to last the four eight-minute quarters we will play."

So, there is a challenge to all the civic club members to report in work clothes at Harvester field this afternoon or tomorrow afternoon.

Reporting yesterday were Frank Harris, Ernie Voss, Floyd Hoffman, Doc Waters, Chick Hickman, H. E. Hicks, Frank Culberson, Luther Pierson, Walter Rogers, Sid Patterson, Otis Pumpfrey, Dick Hughes, J. C. Dingwall, Lee Bowden, Hol Wagner.

50 Boys Out For Opening Cage Workout

Yesterday morning Coach Odis Mitchell issued a call for basketball prospects to report to the gymnasium at 3:30 o'clock the same afternoon. Soon after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon Business Manager Bill Anderson opened up the dressing room to issue uniforms and he was swamped under an avalanche of young hopefuls.

Bill dished out shoes and trunks until he was dizzy. When the rush had cleared away he remembered that he hadn't counted the uniforms issued. Coach Mitchell lined his gang up around the gymnasium, got an adding machine from Supt. L. L. Sone's office, and the pair counted 50 boys out for basketball.

Before order was restored Coach Mitchell was a wreck. He watched little fellows, big fellows, tall ones and short ones shooting baskets and dribbling the ball.

The coach's famous whistle finally restored order and he began to pick out first string prospects. First he named Grover Heiskell, Pete Dunaway, A. C. Miller and Bob Andis.

Referee Gives Furious Bout To Ex-Sailor

Joe Banaski, the Oklahoma cowboy, went haywire last night and lost another match to Tex Watkins, this time through disqualification—believe it or not, Mr. Ripley, it is so. It marked the first time in history that the rough Watkins had ever won a fall through the other fellow being disqualified.

The Oklahoma started slowly as though afraid of Watkins, which made Tex a little careless and several times he was in trouble during the first fall. Watkins roused and choked but Banaski stuck to wrestling. The end came after 27 minutes of furious mauling when Watkins assaulted Banaski with elbow smashes to the chin, mixed in with a few straight punches and a smother.

The next fall started wilder than the first close as Watkins pulled hair, choked and laugged. Banaski got mad as Referee Big Train Clements warn'd the pair but let Watkins run wild. As Banaski got going rood he slugged Watkins a couple, pulled hair, backed him into the ropes and stuck his thumbs in Watkins' eyes. Clements broke him loose four times but he returned with the same hold and the referee gave the fall and match to Watkins.

Russ Riley from Muleshoe, Texas, turned out to be a crowd pleaser with his unorthodox style of wrestling. He pinned John Nemanic in 16 minutes with a series of beautifully executed drop kicks and a smother. Riley must have been a boxer before taking up wrestling. He weaves and rolls as he approaches his man and he has a nice uppercut.

Scotty Williams and Gust Johnson went to a draw in the preliminary with Williams doing a lot of roughing.

Stratton's Career Ends With Amputation Of Leg

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
 CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP)—The brilliant baseball career of Monty Stratton, 26-year-old pitching star of the Chicago White Sox, was at an end today, cut short by the amputation of his right leg at the knee.

The operation to check spread of gangrene which threatened Stratton's life was performed by surgeons at a Dallas, Texas, hospital yesterday after he had accidentally shot himself while hunting rabbits on his mother's farm at Greenville, Texas.

L. Louis Comiskey, owner of the White Sox and himself ill at his home, was broken up over the loss of the gangling youth who had such a promising future.

"I am deeply sorry and hurt," Comiskey said. "Monty was a fine boy, well liked and a great pitcher with a great future. It will be difficult to replace him. My deepest sympathy goes to him."

Bad luck has dogged Stratton's footsteps since he rejoined the White Sox two years ago. In 1937 an emergency operation followed by an ailing arm hampered his first season's performance. Even so he wound up with a season's record of 15 victories and 5 defeats.

A recurrence of an arm injury put him on the sidelines for the first month of the 1938 campaign and an injured ankle added several days more but he gained credit as the Sox' leading hurler with 15 victories and 9 defeats.

Stratton, discovered with Galveston of the Texas League, probably could have been sold for $150,000 if owner Comiskey had cared to place him on the baseball market. He began his baseball career with the Texas Red River League and first attracted the attention of the Sox scouts in 1934 while pitching for Galveston. Billy Webb, now a White Sox coach, but then managing Galveston, urged Comiskey to purchase him.

While in the Red River League Stratton compiled a record of less than one earned run per game. At Galveston, Webb used him exclusively in relief roles, a job he handled amazingly for a youngster. At the end of the 1934 season he joined the White Sox, but participated in only one game, after which he was sent to Omaha to finish the season. In 1935 the White Sox sent him to St. Paul, where he won 17 games and lost 9. The following season he won 5 and lost 7 and then rejoined the Sox.

The leg was severed at the knee when it was noted during the day that the athlete had regained strength remarkably with the aid of two blood transfusions. He had been in a very weakened condition from the loss of blood.

Two of his seven brothers—Harold and Roland—gave blood for the transfusion.

Dr. Thomasson said Stratton's condition appeared satisfactory under the circumstances, although it was still critical. It will require probably twelve hours more to determine how well his system responds to the operation.

Barring complications, the surgeon said, Stratton should "pull through."

SERIAL STORY LOVERS AWEIGH

BY BETTY WALLACE
COPYRIGHT, 1938 NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JUDY ALCOFF—admiral's daughter. She faces a choice between two navy suitors.
DIANE—a test pilot. She faces a choice between her father and a navy aviator.
JACK HANLEY—flying sailor. He faces a choice between his wife and duty.
MRS. ALCOFF—Judy's mother. She faces a choice between her daughter and a navy aviator.
MRS. HAMILTON—Diane's mother. She faces a choice between her daughter and a navy aviator.

Yesterday in the fear that Jack's plane may have crashed, Judy realized she loves him after all. And then at Diane's house she learned that Bill and Jack were forced down!

CHAPTER XX
JUDY stood very still in the doorway, staring at Diane. Her bloodless lips said, "Jack" once, and then, mercifully, darkness seemed to close over her.

She was ashamed of herself later for having fainted while Diane was rigidly self-controlled. But after the relief she had tasted, to learn in the end that her heart had been right, was too much for her.

When she came to, her mother was holding a glass to her lips, and Diane was standing beside the sofa, saying, "Poor Judy."

Judy struggled to sit up. Her head felt queer, and a little bit of nausea was whirling in her stomach. But she sat up. She said, "I'm sorry. I won't do that again." Then she asked, "Tell me everything you know about it, Diane."

"I don't know much. Naval Communications picked up the message and someone there must have telephoned Mrs. Hardy. Captain Hardy was the skipper of the Enterprise. His son, James, was in Communications. But no one said anything, and Diane's voice went on, "She telephoned me. She said there had been an accident. One of the planes was in trouble and hit the water. Another ship of the squadron flew low to render assistance. They—her voice broke. "They lost a man. They think it's Bill."

Judy said quickly, "You mean it was Bill's ship that went down?"

"I don't know," Diane said. "Mrs. Alcott was staring ahead thoughtfully. "I suppose when your father spoke to the Admiral of the Fleet about Jack, the Admiral naturally realized he—was more than merely acquainted with the boy. When this happened, he instructed Communications to notify him."

DIANE was crying softly and hopelessly now. Her control had broken. But the very quietness of her grief, the fact that she did not cry out or become hysterical, made it even worse. She was feeling this. Deeply. So deeply they rebelled against the futility of it. Judy then spoke quietly, "Judy you must be up. Diane, please try hard to control yourself."

Judy had a crazy, whirling fear that perhaps both men were dead. Bill Bell, and Jack, too. But her mother was taking Diane's hands, she was saying, with infinite pity and tenderness, "They're sure now, Diane. Oh, my dear, you must be brave."

Diane's wide dark eyes glazed. She whispered, "He—he's dead?" and then, slowly, her head dropped like a heavy flower on a slender stalk. A shudder passed through her. Judy cried, "Oh, Diane, don't. Don't! Maybe they're wrong—maybe—"

"I'm sorry," said Mrs. Alcott gently. "They know definitely now. The man who—was taken out of the water too late was Bill."

The story, pieced together from the frequent Naval Communications reports after that, became clearer and plainer as the hours dragged by. Clear, plain, and more heart-breaking.

Jack Hanley, in his regular turn, had taken off at the signal. All had gone well. In the usual formation, the squadron had climbed into the clouds. But far out at sea, miles from the mother ship, something had happened to his engine. Even now, they did not know what. He might have bailed out, Judy thought dully. But he hadn't. He had stuck with his ship, hoping no doubt that it would stay afloat after it hit the water. She knew that damaged craft were being lifted from the sea with huge cranes, and frequently reconditioned. Jack, trying his best to salvage the plane. Jack, gallantly sticking with it. Her throat burned. But for Diane it was even worse. For Naval Communications said that Bill, who was in Jack's squadron, had evidently seen the other ship going down, and he'd flown low to render assistance. While the leader of another squadron radioed to the Enterprise. What happened over that treacherous water no one knew with certainty. But the man who had tried to help his friend had given his life in the attempt. By the time the crash boat reached the spot, and the ships of the fleet were steaming closer, Jack Hanley was clinging desperately to the still floating tail of his ship with one hand, and holding the body of his friend above water with the other arm.

"How badly is Jack hurt?" Judy's heart cried. "Will he live? Or will he—like Bill—" She couldn't bear the thought.

At ten o'clock they received a message from Naval Communications. Judy's mother took it over the phone, and then she said quietly, "Judy you must be up. Diane, please try hard to control yourself."

(To Be Continued)

NEVER in her life was Judy to forget the details of that terrible morning. As soon as light broke over the station, everyone knew of the tragedy. People came to Diane's house, kind, well-meaning people who tried to help, but who might sadder have stayed at home. Commander Sloane, the tall, sunburned doctor, arrived to administer tactfully sedatives and inform them that he had not yet heard from the U. S. S. Relief, the hospital ship which fortunately had been in the vicinity when the accident occurred.

Diane kept asking him, "Was it Bill?" Hevent they informed you which one—?"

"No, my dear. Now drink this. You must be patient. We'll know soon."

Nations Armed To Teeth Guarantee Peace, Says Mize

Nations "armed to the teeth" are a guarantee of peace, F. L. Mize, superintendent of the LeFors Independent School district told 30 persons attending the International Relations Forum meeting, held at 8 o'clock Monday night in the city commission room in the city hall.

At variance with the opinion that disarmament insures peace, Mr. Mize explained that modern warfare had become so efficient that each well-armed nation feared each other well-armed nation, thus making each cautious before starting a war.

In modern warfare, everyone is in danger and the cost is so great that there is no winning side. All wars in the past have been fought because of money. As war has become so firm as to be eliminated as a cause of war to a large extent, Mr. Mize said.

NEW VACCINE CUTS COLDS IN HALF

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—A new cold vaccine was reported by associate medical director, C. I. Stafford, to have decreased colds nearly 50 per cent among Miami, Ohio, university students.

Dr. Stafford said that 649 students receiving the vaccine suffered only 22.5 days of illness, compared with 253 days during the season. In previous years each student suffered an average of 5.17 colds, responsible for 58.3 days of illness. Many of those treated went through the entire school year without a cold.
