Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—The stock market put its foot forward today for a rally but soon tired of the effort to climb. Most shares, however, managed to hang on to moderate gains scored in a forenoon rise and a few went into the final dealings with advances of a point or two. Speculation for the rise went mostly into aviation, steel, copper, motor and other industrial groups. But rails and utilities also participated. Trading slowed when the rally played out and transactions approximated only 1,050,000 shares.

Increase In Oil Market Demand Due

AUSTIN, Dec. 7 (AP)—Most oil men enter the final weeks of 1938 in moderately cheerful mood because crude production has been held consistently below market demand and experts forecast a substantial increase next year in that demand.

Their optimism is based to a large extent on the feeling that the nation's business recovery will continue. Aside from general economic conditions, another uncertain factor in the oil industry's future is what legislative bodies of the government and the various states may do in the way of regulating or taxing it at sessions starting next month.

Members of the industry perhaps will get some idea of whether Texas will continue its eight day a month production shut-downs in the trend of questioning by state railroad commission members at an important statewide prorator hearing here next Monday. Executives of most major oil companies have been asked to come to Austin and be prepared to answer significant questions.

The answer to what the conservation agency will do in 1939 won't take final form, however, until after C. A. Jerry Sadler succeeds C. V. Terrell as member of the body January 2. Sadler said a few days ago he wanted a comprehensive hearing subsequent to his taking office on the merits and demerits of shut-downs.

A suit challenging legality of the closings had been scheduled for trial here today but was postponed until January 16 to permit the state to make production tests on certain of the plaintiff's wells, which tests the state contended were necessary before the trial could proceed.

Ernest O. Thompson, Railroad Commission Chairman, was of the opinion many national leaders in the oil industry would be here for Monday's prorator hearing.

"Most of the major companies have refineries in Texas," he said, "and their chief executives in various parts of the nation have indicated they will come and give us their views. Heads of every refinery in Texas, large and small, have been invited."

Crafts Shop Asks For Donations Of Dozen Types Of Old Material

A house-warming is contemplated for 7 o'clock Friday night at Pampa's WPA recreation project crafts shop, that is being completed this week. The structure is located adjacent to the warehouse at the city waterworks. Project equipment is being moved into the shop today.

A work bench extends all around the interior of the 20x24 sheet iron and wooden building. Lights, gas and water have been installed. Coping saws have been secured and City Manager W. T. Williamson has obtained two sets of carpenter's tools for the shop.

Activities in the shop will be for both children and adults, but the exact program has not yet been decided. Decorating of vases, building of bird houses, table games, stilt, kites, and making of mats and rugs, are some of the activities that are contemplated.

Fampans have been asked by the project superintendent, Mrs. Rosemary Roach, for the donation of a dozen types of materials to be used in the crafts shop. This material may be brought to the project office, located in the basement of the city hall building, in the room formerly used as the city courtroom.

The types of material asked for are: round cardboard material, boxes, tin cans, oil cloths, yarn, shoe, cigar and candy boxes, spools, worn-out clothes pins, ribbons, string and scraps of leather.

consider adequate working stocks of both crude and gasoline. Crude stocks now have been cut to around 270,000,000 barrels and some persons believe that is as low as they should go. We want to see if the refining company officials agree."

Another meeting next week of great interest to oil men will be the quarterly session of the Interstate Compact commission at Fort Worth Wednesday and Thursday.

The commission doubtless will take action asking both congress and the several states concerned to extend its life and urging congress to renew the Connally Hot Oil act. There has been talk a movement may develop for enlarging powers of the Compact commission. The general opinion, however, was that the commission would request that its powers be belimited as at present. Some persons believed the commission already was empowered to exercise the same authority in the control of gasoline production as in control of crude oil.

Negotiations were scheduled to open here today on a dispute over piecework which caused a strike in General Motors' Fisher No. 1 plant at Flint Friday. Unauthorized Strike Ruled Out By Martin DETROIT, Dec. 7 (AP)—Homer Martin, president of the United Auto Workers (UAW), today called upon every officer and member to take an uncompromising position against unauthorized strikes.

Every local in the big union was advised by letter of the procedure to be followed henceforth.

Martin's action was understood to have complete endorsement by CIO advisers and is in line with CIO policy shaped at the recent convention in Pittsburgh.

In the strongest statement yet made by Martin on the subject he said: "Unauthorized strikes will not be tolerated under any conditions. It is the duty of every international officer, local officer, and member of the union to take a position without question against unauthorized strikes. Any officer or member of the union who fails in this duty will be held accountable for his action."

Lefors Pirates Beat Borger Cagers 39-31

Second Team Loses 26-20 To Bullpups

The tendency of the Borger Bulldogs to commit fouls and the ability of the Lefors Pirates to make free shots resulted in a 39 to 31 victory for the Lefors quint last night in the Pirate gym.

The Borger B squad defeated the Lefors seconds 26 to 20 in a game which saw the lead change several times.

The Pirates, with four regulars back from last season, lived up to their reputation of being one of the fastest basketball teams in this section.

After the game, Catfish Smith, coach of the Bulldogs, said, "Well, I didn't think I had much of a team this year, but after this game I'm going to say that I've got a good team, and I guess I'll go ahead and win the district. I've just found out that I have something. Those boys really surprised me!"

The fact that the Bulldogs scored as many field goals as the Pirates indicates that the Catfish is coming up with another good team. Each club last night scored 14 field goals. However, the Bulldogs committed 15 fouls to seven for the Pirates.

The Catfish promised Coach Francis Schmidt that everything would be different when the Pirates invade Borger Friday night. The Catfish assured the Pirate coach that he would win that game without much trouble.

Handle Ball Quickly

Lefors has one of the smoothest quintets seen in this section in several years. The boys handle the ball just like their mentor, Coach Schmidt, who can do more things with it than the magician, Bob Clark, can with a pack of cards, but the Pirates, caught strong on offense by reason of their fast break, had a patchy defense. They had a tendency to ignore rebounds. The Pirates hit the basket with the most difficult shots.

Borger was leading 17 to 16 at the half, but in the third the Pirates began to fight for the rebounds and to intercept the Bulldogs' wild heaves and soon ran up a 19-point lead. The Lefors club is exceedingly well-balanced, Ellington, Johnson, Fite, Carruth, and Lee being facile in handling the ball and swishing the net.

Both teams played a haphazard, slipshod type of basketball, appearing possible that if the Pirates had played down and meticulously guarded the Bulldogs the Borgans wouldn't have had a chance.

Shipley Goes In

It looked as if Borger's tall boy, Shipley, may not come through in this year's all-star game. He was injured in the third period, but Catfish soon jerked him. He will need a lot of polishing to beat out Watkins, the Borger center, who will undoubtedly give the Catfish a lot of happiness this season.

Borger also has a superb guard in Raber, and a potential sharpshooter in John Williams. Also the Catfish has several players on the B squad who will likely be substituting for the regulars or possibly playing in regular berths. One of the second stringers who looked good was a red-headed boy by the name of Russell.

An analysis of the game indicated that Borger will have another strong team this year—maybe it will be as good or better than last year's quintet. Lefors was far the best last night, and may continue to be.

Highland Park Picked To Defeat Lighter Masonics

(By The Associated Press) When Highland Park plays Masonic Home at Dallas Saturday in the quarter-finals of the state schoolboy football race they'll be going up against the team many believe "made them."

As strong as Masonic Home, has not come close to losing, scoring 207 points to 33 for the opposition. Last year Highland Park swept through without a defeat in winning the district championship. There was one tie but the fans just marked that off to a bad day. In bi-district play the Highlanders met Sherman, a team rated several touchdowns weaker than the Dallas eleven. Sherman beat Highland Park and crushed the hopes of a prospective title team.

publicized outfits in the state until the Sherman defeat. So there's not likely to be any cockiness in the ranks of the Highlanders when they play the Masonic Home lightweights from Fort Worth. For that reason Highland Park is being picked to beat the team that "made them."

Pampans have come to the conclusion that the Phillips-Borger Lilies are holding back on them. The Lilies released their roster yesterday and it contained only 19 players, but what a roster it was. Only two members of the starting lineup are under the 200 pound mark. They are Catfish Smith, end, and Brian Hooks, quarterback. The center of the line, according to reliable information, is made up of 225-pounders who know their football. The word from Borger hasn't frightened the Pampans, however, and they remark they will be out there in the Flower Bowl at Harvest Field tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock running rings around the Lily best trust.

SERIAL STORY LOVERS AWEIGH

BY BETTY WALLACE

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JUDY ALCOFF—admiral's daughter. She faced a choice between two navy suitors.

Yesterday Judy drives Dwight to the pier after their turbulent meeting. Arriving home, her mother tells her she has been seen with Dwight, asks if he made love to her!

CHAPTER XXVII

JUDY'S face flamed. She cried angrily, "If we had anything to hide, do you think we'd choose Navy Pier for a rendezvous?"

But her mother said, "Judy, I know you have never quite rid yourself of being foolish about Dwight. Please don't see him again. He's another woman's husband, and you are engaged to Jack."

"So you—even you—think that—?" Because it was true, because Dwight had made love to her, she was even more indignant than she might otherwise have been.

Mrs. Alcott's face clouded. She turned away silently. She had never quarreled with Judy. She simply stopped discussing things. Judy felt cheated, helpless.

JUDY was honestly glad that he was better. But she dreaded his homecoming now, after what had happened. A week after he got out, they had planned to be married. A week. Suppose he got out in a few days? Queer how all the certainty had left her, just because she saw Dwight again.

endless doubts, whirling in her mind, never getting anywhere. Commander Sloane dropped in, to pass the time of day. He said, "Pretty soon you'll have your cavalier home, Judy." But in his shrewd eyes was a gleam that told her he, too, had heard the gossip.

After the doctor went out again, Jack tugged at the heavy Academy ring on his finger. "We ought to do this right," he said. "I'd like you to wear my class ring. At least until I get out and we can pick out a diamond ring—whatever you want—"

Judy thought of the square, emerald-cut diamond that Marvel had worn. Everyone said maliciously that Dwight's pay had never paid for it.

SHE hugged Jack impulsively, and then put her hand out while he slipped the ring on her third finger. It was far too large. The heavy gold mounting slid to one side. She said shakily, "I'll have to wrap string around it to make it fit."

He touched her chin, and then his lips were pressing down on hers. While he kissed her, she thought steadily, "I'll never do anything to make him unhappy. He's too fine. Too trusting and unsuspecting." But the kiss Dwight Campbell had given her yesterday burned on her lips even while Jack Hanley's mouth touched them.

Wearing the ring, Judy went to Magda Hamilton's cocktail party. It wasn't really a party—just a bunch of people coming in informally for a drink. Two or three times a week, Magda telephoned everybody she knew and said, "Come over."

"As if I were safeguarding myself from backsliding," she thought. But it was true. She couldn't trust herself. Even her pride had come dangerously near crumbling, that moment in the ca. when Dwight took her in his arms.

"I know how you feel," she said. "But I—I can't get away."

"I—I don't think Mother—" she said guardedly into the phone. "I'm losing my mind!" he said. "I've moped around on the ship until I never want to see it again. I must talk to you. Surely there's no harm in our taking a ride together, or going to a movie?"

He was lonesome. Lost. The empty white house with its cruel memories; the unfriendly ship and the men who knew that Marvel had left him.

"I know how you feel," she said. "But I—I can't get away."

"Please, Judy! It means so much to me!"

"You could just get into the car, as if you were going for a drive by yourself. I could meet you in town."

No. No. That would make truth out of all the lies people had said. It would corroborate every whisper; breathe life into every conjecture. Yet she wanted to go.

So in the end, even though she knew it was wrong and that she had no right to go while she wore Jack's ring, she said, "I'll be at the same corner, in ten minutes."

Every Resident Of Red River County Joins Garner 1940 Club

DETROIT, Dec. 7 (AP)—Every resident of Red River county, which Vice President John Nance Garner first saw the light of day, was a member of the first official "Garner for President in 1940" club today.

Garner, who was hunting deer near his Uvalde home in Southwest Texas, did not attend the meeting but 400 other persons did, parking their automobiles in a cotton field near the cabin.

J. J. Taylor, Dallas editor, was elected honorary vice chairman of the club and Mrs. E. B. Lyke, Detroit, active vice president, with Burnett Waldrip of Clarksville secretary.

Roy Miller, of Corpus Christi, a state Democratic leader, lauded Garner as a liberal "without tinge or taint of radicalism."

The cabin is located in the back country six miles from here. A short distance away from the meeting place stands a marker designating the location of the log cabin, long since destroyed by fire, in which Garner was born 70 years ago.

Sleeping Tablets Kill Washington Newspaper Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Paul Y. Anderson, 45, noted Washington correspondent for St. Louis newspapers, died today, as a result of what an associate said was an overdose of sleeping tablets.

Anderson, a Pulitzer prize winner regarded by fellow workers as one of the most brilliant newspaper and magazine writers in the country, was taken to a hospital by Sam A. O'Neal, who worked with him in the St. Louis Star-Times bureau here.

O'Neal said he was called to Anderson's home by a frightened maid, Ollie Fields, who quoted her employer, O'Neal said, as telling her: "I am going to end it all, my usefulness is at end."

Earlier in the night, O'Neal said the maid told him she had managed to get Anderson to come in the house from the garage. She said he was then sitting in his car within the garage, the motor running and a hose extending from the exhaust pipe through the window.

He died within two hours.

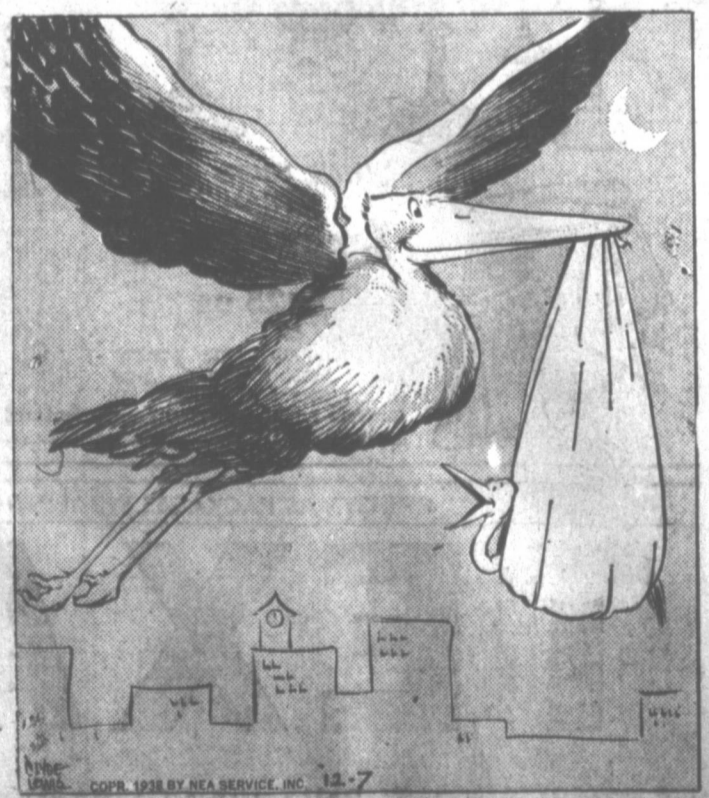

Anderson was born in Knox County, Tenn., and went to work in 1911 on the Knoxville Journal. In the intervening years, all spent in newspaper work, he found time to contribute articles to several national magazines.

BRITAIN MINING GOLD

LONDON (AP)—Gold mining is being developed in the Northwestern area of England. During 1937, 787 tons of gold ore (dressed) were produced at $2,080, compared with 6 tons in 1936 valued at $25.

John Garner Likely To Keep Poker Face For Next Two Years

By W. E. RAGSDALE.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—John Garner is likely to treat the capital to a fine brand of political poker during the next two years.

He will bring expert knowledge to the game. Garner not only knows politics but he knows all the ins and outs of poker, though he has retired from active practice. He learned his politics and his poker on the frontier, polished off his knowledge of both by tackling the rough and rugged practitioners who flourished in the capital 20 years ago.

Thus, none of those who know him expect the Vice President to come back to Washington and engage in a discussion of his plans and hopes for the next two years. He does not work that way, either in politics or in poker.

His friends believe he will keep silent about the presidential boom started for him in Texas yesterday. What his friends do along that line, they do on their own responsibility without the advice of the fisherman from Uvalde. He will not stop them.

Al Smith Remembers.

Newspapermen in Washington will find him just as accessible as ever. He will tell them all about his fishing excursions of the summer. How big were the fish he caught, how expert he is at camp cookery, how his peach grove is coming along.

They will have no more luck getting him to talk about politics for publication than Alfred E. Smith had when he tried to reach Garner over the telephone from Chicago in 1932.

Smith wanted Garner to hold his Texas and California delegations tight, to keep the Democratic presidential nomination away from Franklin D. Roosevelt. A Washington hotel told him that Garner had refused, was not to be disturbed. By the next time Smith talked with Garner, Roosevelt had the presidential nomination.

It was not long afterward that Garner went to New York to address a gathering of business men and industrialists. One of his reasons for going, he told them, was to show them that the man whom the Democrats nominated for Vice President did not have horns.

Talk to Garner for President now brings an altogether different response from some of these same Easterners than it did in 1932.

Most persons agree that Garner will play a powerful part in the 1940 Democratic convention. Some go so far as to say that the convention and the party may be torn apart by two factions—a conservative group led by Garner and a liberal one led by President Roosevelt.

But Garner, astute politician though he is, is dominated by a deep sense of personal patriotism, and next he is a strong partisan. The Democratic party and patriotism are pretty well intertwined in his own mind.

Friends say his sense of patriotism might lead him to accept a presidential nomination if he thought he could be of service, despite his age and personal desires to retire. But these same men suggest his love of party probably would prevent him from joining in a fight for such a nomination if he felt a party split would result and smash the chances of a Democratic victory. Most of his friends think that, faced with such a predicament, he would be likely to cast about for a compromise candidate.

Some argue that the November election results may have put Garner and men of like mind in a position to get a more sympathetic hearing in White House councils. Their bet is that Garner will be preaching a coalition of Democratic factions to wage a common battle against Republicans of all breeds. They think he will not put his own mind too strongly on his own presidential possibilities in 1940.

His situation is a little different now from what it was in 1932. He was speaker of the House then, and had quite a few delegates. But he was much younger. He is 70 now. The nation never has inaugurated a President that old. William Henry Harrison at 68 was the nearest approach, and he died a few months after his inauguration.

American Doctors Sentenced in Vienna

VIENNA, Dec. 7 (AP)—Dr. Michael George Albert of New York and Dr. Oscar Levine of Mount Rainier, Md., today were convicted of violation of Germany's currency laws.

Albert was sentenced to one year's imprisonment at hard labor plus a fine of 80,000 marks ($24,000) or alternatively two months extra imprisonment in lieu of the fine.

Levine was given six months imprisonment without hard labor plus a 80,000-mark ($24,000) fine or alternatively two months extra imprisonment.

In both cases time already spent in prison will be deducted from the sentence. In Albert's case this would be nearly four months. The two were arrested about Aug. 15, but Levine was later released on $10,000 bail. Both men reserved the right to appeal.

Take Calotabs to Help Nature Throw off Colds

Calotabs have been found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed.

Calotabs help Nature throw off colds. First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all natural stimulants, thus cleansing the nasal tract of any virus-laden mucus and clearing the sinuses. Calotabs are directed to the sinuses, promoting the elimination of cold germs from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a stimulant and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package. See dealer for the trial package—(ADT-1).
