IF IN DOUBT ASK EDGAR BERGEN

Radio-driven cars, skidless, fast and noiseless, will travel the highways 25 years hence, predicts the traffic engineer of Washington, D. C. That time, when you want to go places, you simply phone Charley McCarthy, tell him you and the girl are all set, and Charley will get you there and back by wireless. Dollars to doughnuts there'll be more motor and intelligence in his driving than you see today. But 25 years is a long way off. Meanwhile, join a safety club and buy a fine used car through The Pampa News classified want-ads.

'Clumsy' Look Adds To Smartness Of Fall Shoe Models

By MARION YOUNG
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—The "clumsy" look, derived from platform soles, wedge and arch heels, is the big news in shoes for fall. The smartest models for street, sports and dress have a thick look about their soles, reminding you of the sturdy boots in which you clumped off to school when you were seven.

They do not, however, by any stretch of the imagination, make your feet look clumsy. The top part of them is streamlined, and the contrast between streamlining and thickness makes for a casually correct effect.

Suede is the shoe material of the moment, of course. But later on, smooth surfaced types like kidskin, calf and a new goatskin promise to be all important.

Black is the most popular color. However, mink brown, wine and rust, in the order mentioned, are out in front. Too, on black suedes, smart cutwaters like white platform soles.

Square toes and heels are revived with a vengeance. Heelless, absolutely flat, unboxed mocassins, in wonderful brocaded materials, are shown for evening. Other kinds of evening shoes are magnificently jeweled. And for afternoon as well as regular street wear, it's a simple matter to find beautiful shoes with medium and low heels.

Hats to carry with fall and winter street clothes are larger than formerly. One beautiful alligator bag which comes in black, golden tobacco or wine has three separate compartments, yet manages to look large without seeming bulky. Another, in rich, rosy red lizard, is at least a foot square—very flat, of course.

The ideal bag wardrobe might include one large alligator bag to wear with suits, tweeds and wool sport dresses, one equally large slightly dressier model in calf, lizard or kidskin to wear with silk street dresses, a smaller type—in suede or antelope for afternoon and informal dinner, and an evening purse. The afternoon one may well be a pouch rather than an envelope.

The smartest gloves are the simplest ones. The truly chic avoid flossy, frilly, lavishly trimmed gloves of any material whatever, sticking to plain pull-ons—always!

Earn Living Moving Houses

(By NEA Service)

LAKE MINNETONKA, Minn.—If a girl has her health, and is fairly strong, there is no need for her to take her chin in her hand to think about how she's going to carry her silk stockings and her flat mignon. She can always make her living in the house moving business, according to Evelyn Krause, 26, of Mound, Minn., which is right "By the Waters of Minnetonka."

Mrs. Krause is perhaps the only experienced woman house mover in the picturesque district famed in the song. For a dozen years or more, she has been packing up lake cottages, knocking out their underpinnings, and moving them from one spot to another. If house moving lapses, she turns her hand to dray work, juggling furniture on and off moving vans, hauling sand and gravel and water.

Plays Football
One of the five daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William Krause of Mound, Mrs. Krause started her moving and draying business while a student at the Mound high school. When other girls her age were taking care of children to make pin money, Evelyn borrowed her father's team and plowed patches for neighbors and summer real-estate sales.

For recreation she came out for football practice, playing with such Mound classmates as Sheldon Beise, new assistant coach for Minnesota's glittering Golden Gophers. Milton Bruhn, on the coaching staff of Amherst, and Walter Ohde, a football coach at Watika, Minn.

When Mr. Krause turned in his team for a truck, daughter Evelyn slipped in, easily, gracefully behind the wheel. In no time at all she had picked up several draying jobs.

Priest Woman Helper
Now she has built up a business that keeps her busy eight months of the year. From early in the spring until the ground locks in the fall, she's busy jerking Spanish villas and Cape Cod cottages from one spot to another, transferring household furniture from the lake and vice versa. She hires Mound neighbors for help, often housewives anxious to turn their hands to a piece of spending money. She prefers the latter because they're less apt to resent taking orders from a woman, she says.

Next, to shitting houses around on rollers, the hardest part of her work is to move electric refrigerators. Dullest pieces of furniture, the kind the lady of the house wraps in cellophane, are no favorites with her, either. Not that she has broken anything, she insists to add. But she admits that during her career she has knocked an heirloom or two. Five feet seven inches tall, and tipping the scales between 120 and 125 pounds, Mrs. Krause has never had any trouble keeping her grammar school figure. Playing ball, swimming and hiking help her to keep her weight down, she believes. The part she enjoys most about her work is driving the truck.

"It's nice easy work," she says, "and keeps me out in the open."

Close to her heart is an ambition to drive the Mound fire truck. But although her father is chief of the volunteer fire department, never has she been allowed so much as to shine the brass on the hook-and-ladder.

Happy Relief From Painful BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent of acidic passages with smelting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or liver.

"If the 15 tubes of kidney tubes and filter don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 tubes of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get 1 Doan's Pills.

Seek Out Lines And Colors That Enhance Points

By MARIAN YOUNG
NEW YORK—Portrait of a Woman Who Always Looks Smart, whose clothes are suitable to her face, figure and temperament and for the kind of life she leads—

Her shopping mistakes are few and far between. She is a genius at searching among new fall fashions until she finds clothes that are in the news but which bring out the best points of her figure and subtly conceal less attractive ones.

Right, now, for instance, although the majority of suit jackets are longish, she won't buy a suit with a long jacket unless long jackets are really becoming to her. If they aren't she'll hunt around until she finds one that gives illusion of length but which is short enough to make her waistline seem tiny, hips slender, bosom full.

If she's the dashing, tailored type, no one possibly could persuade her to buy anything except a tweed suit. She'll be pretty happy about the fact that important couturiers are stressing town tweeds as well as those for country.

If she's a large woman (the trim and slender have no exclusive corner on smartness), she'll avoid strictly tailored, mannish suits, because she feels they make her seem unfeminine, and pick a softly tailored dressmaker suit. If she's extremely thin, the dolman-sleeved, closed-back types will suit her best. If her figure is just about perfect, she's likely to get a mannish-tailored suit. Then, her blouses and scarfs will supply the necessary note of femininity. This is no year for any woman to look mannish.

Modern Menus

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Staff Writer

Let's relax and eat old-fashioned. It's good for the hot weather appetite.

Applesauce Cake
One-half cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1-2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon cloves, 1 cup thick sweet applesauce, strained.

Cream butter, add sugar and beat until smooth and light. Combine flour, spices and soda. Sift twice. Add butter and sugar mixture. A little at a time, alternating with applesauce. Grease baking pan carefully and dust with flour. Then pour in cake batter. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 40 minutes.

Applesauce Custard Pie
Two and one-half cups applesauce, 1 cup cream or 1 cup evaporated milk, 2 eggs, 1-2 cup sugar, grated rind of 1 lemon, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-8 teaspoon cloves, 1-4 teaspoon ginger, 1-16 teaspoon salt, plain pastry.

Line pan with pastry. Beat eggs slightly and add sugar, salt and spices. Combine applesauce and cream then mix into egg combination. Strain into pastry lined pan. Bake

EXECUTIVES OF BAKER P-TA TO MEET FRIDAY

A meeting of the executive board of the B. M. Baker Parent-Teacher Association will be held in the home of Mrs. E. H. Bads on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Members of the organization who are especially urged to be present are Principal J. A. Meek, Mrs. L. H. Anderson, Roy Holt, C. E. Simmons, Henry Lams, M. D. Dwight, H. E. Symmonds and Herman Jones.

EXPRESSION AND DANCE STUDIO TO OPEN SOON

Kathryn Vincent Steele has announced the opening of her dance and expression studio for the eighth year in Pampa and vicinity.

Mrs. Steele has studied under some of the best known dance instructors in the United States, receiving most of her training in Chicago and under the famous Russian ballet master, Aaron Fontaroff.

One of the hobbies of the Vincent studio is collecting novelty routines and ideas. Mrs. Steele has just recently returned from Hollywood with the latest ideas in swing dancing.

Special attention will be given children's work and Mrs. Steele asks that all mothers wishing their children to study this season will call at her home at 177 North Starweather street on Friday, September 2, or phone 104J.

Glorifying Yourself

By ALICIA HART.

Without worrying or disciplining yourself so much that what remains of summer will be spoiled for you, it might be a good idea to—

Start wondering how you're going to look in new fall street and evening dresses. For instance, have you gained weight during the summer months? And if so, what are you going to do about it?

Decide whether your hair is in excellent condition to receive a new permanent wave. If not, how about weekly hot oil treatments and nightly brushings?

Use night cream regularly on elbows and hands. (They probably aren't as soft and smooth as they were last spring.)

Get your dentist and have your teeth cleaned as well as checked for cavities.

Find out all you can about the latest improvements in foundation garments before ordering a new girde or all-in-one. After careful investigation, you still may want to go back to an old favorite. But at least be reasonably familiar with new types before making a decision.

Go without nail polish for two weeks. During this period, buff them lightly or apply one of the colorless, waxy bases in lieu of lacquer. Reserve that, for once, you're going to buy fall shoes which are as comfortable as they are smart.

Look carefully at the skin around your eyes to see if by any chance summer sunshine has left a new network of fine lines there. If so, begin patting on cream at night, wearing colored glasses more conscientiously. And stop reading in bad light or otherwise straining your eyes.

Make a complete shopping list before you buy a single new fall dress or accessory. Then stick to the list for 25 minutes in hot oven (450 degrees F.) and then for 35 minutes more in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.).

For an emergency dessert, try adding egg whites to spiced applesauce and sprinkling with stale cake crumbs. Chill and serve with slightly whipped cream.

HOME LEAGUE COMPLIMENTS TWO MEMBERS

Members of the Home League of the Salvation Army met Wednesday afternoon in the Home League house on South Cuyler street for an afternoon of sewing and social activity.

The league is making dresses for school girls and embroidering a quilt for Mrs. C. D. Martin who is unable to sew. The group entertained with two showers yesterday afternoon, honoring Mrs. Homer Wilson and Mrs. Pete Brown.

Mrs. H. G. Lambrecht gave the lesson and dismissed the group with a prayer at the close of the meeting.

Refreshments of punch and coconut cake were served to Miss. Pete Brown, Lily Ulrich, Nancy Jackson, Mammie Jackson, J. C. Clements, M. S. Jenkins, Tom Southard, Bertie Jackson, Myrtle Moore, C. D. Martin, J. L. Owen, Homer Wilson, H. G. Lambrecht, Anna Mullen, and T. L. Owen.

MIND your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below.

1. What are we doing announcing questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below: 1. Should an announcement be sent to one who received an invitation to the wedding?

2. Is it correct to enclose an "at home" card in a wedding announcement?

3. May announcements be engraved on cream paper?

4. Is it necessary for the person who receives an announcement to send a gift?

What would you do if—

You are wondering what to do about the inside envelope of a wedding announcement—

(a) Leave it plain?

(b) Write on it "Mr. and Mrs. James Rowland Smith," with no address?

(c) Address it exactly as you did the outside envelope?

Answers:

1. On the day of the wedding—after the ceremony is performed.

2. No.

3. Yes.

4. Yes, or white.

5. No.

Best "What Would You Do" solution—(b).

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman during her change (usually from 35 to 42), she fears she'll lose her appeal to men, who worry about hot flashes, loss of pep, dizzy spells, upset nerves and moodiness.

Just get more fresh air, 8 hrs. sleep and if you need a reliable "WOMAN'S" talk take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, thus helps give more vivacity to enjoy life and soot calm the jittery nerves and those disturbing symptoms that often accompany change of life. Pinkham's is WELL WORTH trying.

No Magic in Federal Ownership
Walter R. May of the Portland General Electric Company of Portland, Ore., recently pointed out something that should be self-evident to all, when he said: "There is no magic in governmental construction or operation of electric resources that will produce power for industry or small consumers cheaper than comparable power can be produced by private enterprise.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life...

CONTOVERSIES
Newspapermen who think they are honest are constantly meeting people in public positions who protest that they do not want to get into any controversy and by refusal to discuss important things that are of great importance to the general welfare of the people. It is because a topic is controversial that it is interesting and becomes news matter.

GREDIT IS SUSPICION, ASLEEP
Someone has wisely said that, "credit is suspicious asleep," and when the government, by its laws, makes it possible for the banks to pyramid credit and raise the price of commodities, when the government borrows, or when business men have confidence in the prospects of profit, we are bound to have very severe cycles with great suffering and loss to all the people, excepting those few who can see in advance when credit is to be contracted.

The Potomac Won't Be Quiet For Long

By R. C. Holmes

The most interesting item in the controversy items, in fact, it might be said there is controversy in almost every news item, even in the description of a fire or wreck. There is controversy as to how much damage is done, how serious it is, etc., and the statement of the fact helps clarify the controversy.

TOP O' TEXAS GOLF TOURNAMENT BEGINS HERE TOMORROW

PLAYERS WILL COMPETE FOR $700 PRIZES

Qualifying for the Top O' Texas Invitation Golf tournament, to be played over the Pampa Country club course Saturday, Sunday and Monday, will begin at 8:30 tomorrow morning and end at 7 o'clock tomorrow night. Thirty minutes later the tournament will begin at the clubhouse with the Calcutta pool set for 8 o'clock, also at the clubhouse.

Local entries were hiked to 64 this morning. Word was received that Shamrock would send at least eight players, Amarillo six, Borger eight, Clarendon three, Canadian three, Sayre, Okla., two.

The 32 local qualifying players will compete in the championship flight. The next three flights will also be comprised of 32 players. If other flights are needed, 16 players will be placed in each flight.

Oklahoma City And San Antonio Split Twin Bill

Victors last night in Texas league battles found they gained little in standing. While first place Beaumont and third place Tulsa were washed out by rain, second place San Antonio and third place Oklahoma City were splitting a twin bill, the Muskies winning the first 4-2, and the Indians the second, 6-4.

Budge-Mako Push Australians Down Under

MARYLAND AND GEORGIA WILL BALLOT NEXT

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER. WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The heaviest primary election month of 1938 began today with three major contests in Maryland and Georgia.

Administration lieutenants hope that primaries in Maryland, Georgia and New York will offset reverses suffered by the President Tuesday in the victory of Senator Ellison D. Smith, Democrat, S. C., and the defeat of Senator William G. McAdoo, Democrat, Calif.

The only other major upset to the administration this year was in Idaho, where New Deal Senator James P. Pope lost to Rep. D. Worth Clark, self-styled conservative Democrat.

Two other Democratic Senators—Herbert Hitchcock of South Dakota and George L. Berry of Tennessee—lost renomination battles, but support of the President's policies was not at issue.

Most politicians agree that some of the remaining primary contests will involve the President's prestige even more than any already held.

George Tydings Denounced. Mr. Roosevelt did not take a hand in the Idaho contest. He endorsed McAdoo, but the winner—Sheridan Downey—says he is a New Dealer. Although the New Deal was a direct issue in South Carolina, the President did not mention names in indicating his preference for Smith's opponent, Gov. Olin D. Johnston.

Mr. Roosevelt, however, has denounced by name Senators Walter George of Georgia, and Millard Tydings of Maryland and Rep. John O'Connor of New York. He will continue his campaign against Tydings

Monday by speaking in Maryland, for the New Deal senatorial candidate, Rep. David J. Lewis.

Another test of direct presidential intervention will come in Georgia Sept. 14, two days after the Tydings-Lewis race is settled. The President has said he hoped Senator George would be defeated by Lawrence Camp, but there has been no indication that he intended to make any further formal pronouncements on that contest.

O'Connor Sept. 20.

The third direct test will be Sept. 20 in the sixteenth congressional district in New York where Representative O'Connor is opposed by James H. Fay, who has presidential endorsement. O'Connor, chairman of the House rules committee, is seeking both Republican and Democratic nominations.

In all senatorial contests will be decided in fourteen states in September, and two other states will have primaries involving lesser offices. Maine, as customary, will hold its general election in September, but no Senate seat is at stake.

Results of the South Carolina and California Democratic primaries prompted John Hamilton, Republican national chairman, to comment that he was "not in the least surprised."

"The day's primary results only confirm evidence available since last spring that the people of this country, Democrats as well as Republicans, have become tired of Mr. Roosevelt's telling them what they must do. It looks to me like the people are doing the purging."

It's A Big Family.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Verette family of Milwaukee has numbers and weight. All nine children of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Verette are living, and lightest, Mrs. Besie Ward, weighs 185 pounds. Lyle, the lightest man, weighs 201. Marilyn weighs 245, Cliff 268, Earl 263, Mrs. Edith Heiwig 202, Frank 207, Ralph 202, and Floyd 302.

Helpless Schooner Drifts Off Coast

CORPUS CHRISTI, Sept. 1 (AP)—Lisardo Castiello, master of the disabled fishing schooner Josefina of Havana told here yesterday how his craft was tossed helplessly for two days in a tropical hurricane, then drifted off the Texas coast.

The crippled boat, both masts smashed, deck equipment badly damaged and much sail lost, was towed here yesterday by the coast guard.

An auxiliary craft without radio facilities, the Josefina sailed from Havana August 22. She was just off the coast of Yucatan, and directly in the path of the storm August 25, when it struck in the Caribbean Sea.

None of the crew of nine or its black pig mascot were injured.

THE AVERAGE MOVIE-GOER SPEAKS HIS MIND...

IT'S HARD for a fellow like me who thinks apple pie is one of nature's greatest gifts to man to believe that there are folks who honestly don't like it at all.

On the other hand, I can't abide liver and bacon—though I know it's highly regarded by many.

We all have our likes and our dislikes. We're all different—thanks be! A dull world it would be if we weren't.

That's why I say that the most remarkable thing about motion pictures is that they hit such a high average of pleasure-giving.

Take any individual picture and you'll find that most people who see it will get a lot of enjoyment out of it.

Not all, naturally. For example, I think a certain star is tops—while, to hear the way my next-door neighbor goes on about her, you'd think she wasn't good enough to be an "extra."

Or my wife sees a picture during the afternoon and raves about it at dinner. Maybe son and I take it in that evening—and come home feeling that Mother is losing her judgment. And there you are. It's the apple pie situation all over again.

But, taking them all together, I figure that the "movies" give more pleasure to more people at a lot less cost than most anything the mind of man was ever responsible for—and have done the human race more downright good than all the medicines concocted since creation.

And I'll say this: The times when I've been disappointed in a picture have been a lot fewer than the other times when I've gone to see one I wasn't especially excited about in advance and been mighty glad I did.

Sure, I criticize the pictures. I pay my money and that's my right. As a matter of fact, I kind of figure that it's the criticism of average folks like me that's largely responsible for the pictures getting better and better all the time.

Through the years the motion picture has given its public countless hours of entertainment, countless hours of escape from harsh reality. It has taken millions away from trouble and sorrow, lightening their burdens and brightening their lives... making the world a better, happier place to live in.

It has grown—from "cowboys and Indians" to dramatizations of the works of the world's greatest authors... from temperamental flickers to technical perfection... from infancy to an intelligent maturity.

To provide the finest array of productions ever released the Motion Picture Industry has mobilized all its skill, all its imagination, all its resources to provide the greatest array of productions ever released.

Great stories splendidly produced... love-filled romance, stirring drama, gay adventure, hilarious comedy, tuneful musicals—star-studded casts filled with your favorites and new faces, new talents, for which the world has been searched. One after another these great pictures are coming to your favorite theatre.

Entertainment, relaxation, freedom from care are yours in overflowing measure, brought to you by the supreme efforts of the Motion Picture Industry to make this fall season one you will never forget.

Yesterday Linda still old... she didn't much money...

CHAPTER IV

LINDA and her uncle arrived at the Radford auction on the minute, Linda was surprised at the smallness of the crowd in Brown's Barn on the main highway...

"That's him—Golden Toy," Uncle Sandy commented. "His sire was a fast 'un; his dam a weight-carrier. Never been raced; will die just when he come 2-year-old."

The horseman went over the colt carefully, stepped back, said, "He's sound, in wind and limb. Be a good buy at $3000—a bargain for anything less."

"This sale was for cash. But maybe— An idea flashed into Linda's mind; she wheeled on Uncle Sandy.

"Bruce, and those eastern buyers, are holding up this sale, while they eat and drink. If we can force the auctioneer—"

Uncle Sandy was quick of thought in his own field. A grin creased his leathery face. "You're a born horseman, honey. Come on!"

"They went to the front of the barn. Mr. Jenkins, Uncle Sandy spoke suavely, "this sale was advertised for 1:30, rain or shine. One-thirty sharp. It now is, it looked at a thick, split-second watch, "1:45. I say we start. We're here, money in hand."

MR. JENKINS' jaws moved a moment; he shifted his cud. "Yes, sir, you're right, Mr. Gordon—"

"He looked up the long highway a moment. I'm thinking, yes, sir! The eastern gents gave that we have daylight-saving time; they mean to be here at the real sun time. Yes, sir! We'll just wait."

"But you can't go that!" Linda protested, as the crowd of idlers drew closer. "You said 1:30, and we're here. These gentlemen," she looked around at the unshaven, collarless crowd, "they're here—and we're ready to buy."

"She's right, Mr. Jenkins!" Cash in hand, no checks accepted.

"Cry that there sale!" "Give us a chance to buy—we got a right to buy!" Mr. Jenkins frowned with contempt at the crowd. He knew there wasn't a dime to a dozen of those loafers. His reddish eyes focused on Linda again: "We'll sell at 1:30, sun time, Miss."

Linda turned away with her uncle. She muttered to him: "We could get that colt for next to nothing—now." Uncle Sandy nodded. "I know, honey; but nothing we can do."

"He sat on a bale of hay, apart from the loungers. Linda walked to her car, got in. She wanted to be alone—and think. If she could have bought the colt at her own price. But there was no moving that stolid auctioneer. Soon Bruce and the crowd would be here—with their thousands.

What could she do with a pitiful six hundred? Watch hands were at 2:30, 1:30 by sun time—at last. Slowly Mr. Jenkins mounted his keg. The idlers flocked around him. "Folks, we'll just wait a few minutes—"

"You'll do no such thing!" The objection came from a youngster of 20 or so, who forced his way to the front: a slender young man with hard blue eyes and a chin that meant business. In clean sweater, boots and riding breeches, he, too, had been inspecting the colts when Linda and Uncle Sandy were in the barn.

Linda hadn't given him a thought, then; guessed, by his clothes, that he was an exercise boy for some wealthy stable. Now she noted his face: this was no stable man. He was clean-cut, a born leader. He was taking the initiative.

"The trust company advertised this sale for 1:30. It's now 2:30—our time. I don't care what time it is in London or New York. You hold this sale, or—" he left the threat unsaid.

"Well, now," the auctioneer thumbed his watch chain. There'd been trouble before, in the Blue Grass, when a sale was delayed. Maybe he'd better start with some of the less promising colts. Give Mr. Radford and his crowd time to get here. "Yes, sir, I think you're right, Mr. Donald. Yes, sir, we'll cry the sale. Now folks—"

A PROFESSIONAL smile oozed from his features; he lifted his voice: "We're selling, to the highest bidder, and for cash on the barrel-head, the remaining colts from the Radford estate. Cash in hand, no checks accepted.

Cash talks today—and you'll get 'em cheap. You, Big Boy!" He pointed to a gangling, bare-foot black by the barn entrance. "Yes, sah, Mr. Jenkins." Big Boy shuffled out from the shade.

"Bring out that nice little bay colt. And hurry about it!" "Yes, sah, I hurries." He did no such thing. He started lazily away.

"One minute!" Linda spoke quickly. Big Boy stopped in his ambling tracks. Mr. Jenkins looked down inquiringly at her. "Sell the golden chestnut first—Golden Toy."

"Well, now, Miss, we'll come to him—just wait, please ma'am." "Look at that sign on the door!" Linda pointed to the sales sign on the chestnut, Golden Toy, in the lot.

"The chestnut first, and the chestnut you, sah! Bring him out, Big Boy. Smartly, now!" The youngster stepped to Linda's side. "You want him, don't you?"

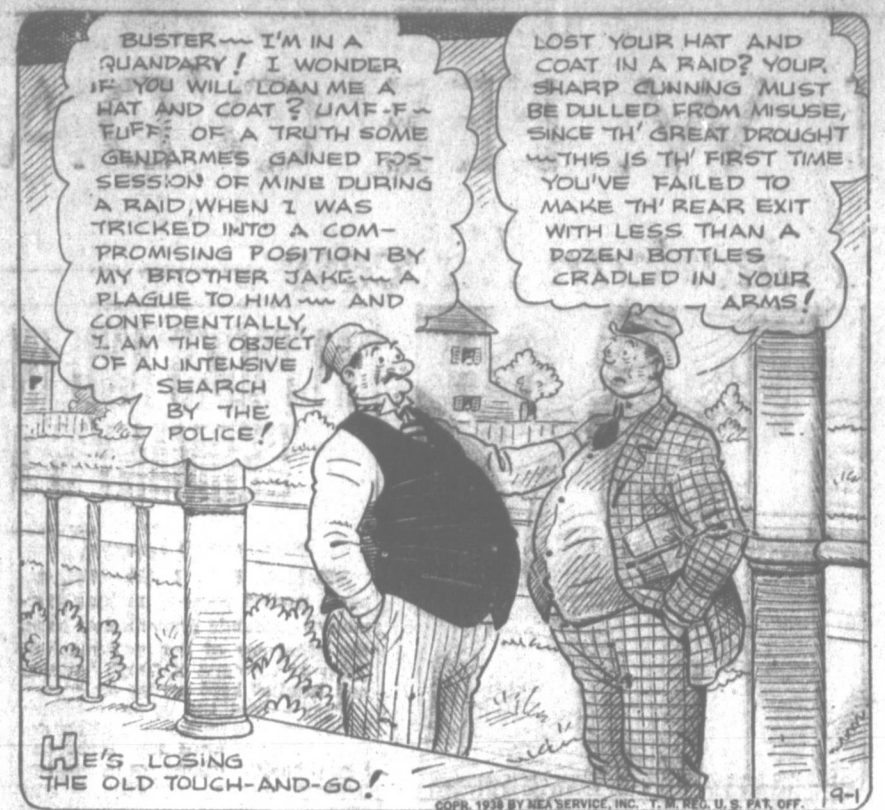

She looked into his eyes. He was all business. "Maybe," she answered cautiously. He smiled for the first time—a friendly, disarming smile. "I want him, too—maybe. He's got long legs—should make a dandy sleep-chaser."

From inside the barn came foot-clumps on the earthen floor. Big Boy hove into view, leading the chestnut. The crowd backed off on the colt's shining body. He seemed gold—all gold. Now Big Boy was leading him to the block.

"We have here Golden Toy," the auctioneer broke off, looked anxiously up the road. He—and the crowd—had heard the distant honking of a motor horn. "Folks, I crave your indulgence for one minute. Somebody else is coming."

A big roadster, horn sounding imperiously, sizzled to the barn, stopped in a cloud of dust. (To Be Continued)

JEWIS WHO HAVE SETTLED IN ITALY SINCE 1919 ORDERED TO LEAVE WITHIN 6 MONTHS

ROME, Sept. 1 (AP)—All Jews who have settled in Italy since Jan. 1, 1919, today were ordered to leave the country within six months by a cabinet decree.

The decree applied even to Jews who have become Italian citizens, because citizenship conferred since that date was revoked.

The edict was made applicable to Italy proper, Libya, and the Aegean Isles. No mention was made of Italian East Africa.

The settlement of Jews in Italy from now on was prohibited.

The decree defined as Jewish all persons born of both parents of the Hebrew race regardless of religion.

At the same time the Fascist regime moved to win greater loyalty from the Germanic population of the South Tyrol, ceded to Italy by Austria after the Great war.

War cabinets who served in the Austrian army were accorded the same pensions as Italian World war veterans. This measure was approved by the cabinet with Premier Mussolini presiding.

The cabinet also approved measures to stimulate childbearing by limiting the numbers of women workers and making promotion of men in the civil service dependent on their marital status.

The Life Story of W. LEE O'DANIEL

A Saga of American Success

The second day after W. Lee O'Daniel got back from his vacation, he fell right into the routine of dignitaries when he accompanied the Governor of Texas and the Governor-elect of Oklahoma to Camp Bullis, Texas, to review the troops in the Third Army maneuver. Here, at top left, he watches the Texas National Guard parade. Left to right: James V. Alfred Jr.; Governor James V. Alfred; W. Lee O'Daniel; Maj. Gen. Claude V. Birkhead, commanding officer of the Blue forces; Pat O'Daniel, to the rear in dark shirt.

The sons of the governor and the governor-elect were among the official party that witnessed the army maneuvers. At top right, Mike O'Daniel, James V. Alfred Jr., and Pat O'Daniel watch the troops march by. O'Daniel chums with governors of two states, in the lower left, as Texas' Governor Alfred, left, and Oklahoma's governor-elect, Leon C. Phillips, accompany him about Camp Bullis. Honorary commissions in the Texas National Guard were bestowed upon the O'Daniel boys. At lower right they get fitted out in guard uniforms immediately after General Birkhead had made them honorary second lieutenants.

State Is Told 'How We Do Things in Business' When State of Run-Off Candidate Named.

CHAPTER 20
WE'RE IN THE ARMY NOW.

By C. L. DOUGLAS
FRANCIS MILLER

The troops were passing in review—all the pomp and dignity represented by the armed forces of the Third Army in the Eighth Corps Area, which includes the units of the Texas and Oklahoma National Guards.

In the reviewing stand, as the 26,000 guardsmen and regulars swung by to the cadence of martial music, stood the head men (we are tempted to say "big shots") of two states, together with the so-called Brass Hats of the Corps Area.

There was Major General Claude V. Birkhead, spic and span in his ribbons of service; Major General Frank W. Rowell, an officer of the old school; James V. Alfred, governor of the State of Texas; Leon C. Phillips, the next governor of Oklahoma—and a flour salesman from Fort Worth, Texas.

"Eyes right!"
The caissons of the 160th Field Artillery were passing. . . .
"Pass in review!"

The infantry of the Texas National Guard was next in line. . . .
"But what was that band was playing? My word, it couldn't be! But yet it was! That was it—'Please Pass the Biscuits, Pappy!'"
All this special music for W. Lee O'Daniel, the Kansas farm boy who Horatio-Alger-like, had just won the Democratic nomination for the Texas governorship and who had been invited by his friend, Jimmy Alfred, the governor, down to San Antonio to see the review.

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF NEVER THOUGHT OF IT.

Somebody said: "Lee, don't you realize that you will be the next commander-in-chief of the Texas National Guard?"

"My goodness!" exclaimed the . . .
"I hadn't thought of . . . that, I guess I will be."

But let's allow the Common People's Candidate, who had just spent an evening in the governor's mansion at Austin as a guest of the Alfreds, to tell his own story of the affair . . . just as he told it next day on a radio broadcast from Fort Worth:

"I wish you all could have been there. That army of splendid citizens is marvelous, and this thing all happened so suddenly that it never really occurred to me that I am to be commander-in-chief of that great organization until Governor Alfred started to make his speech and then I was completely dumbfounded that this additional honor was to be mine.

ENTIRE BAND SINGS PAPPY'S BISCUIT SONG.

There were airplanes soaring in formation overhead and troops by the hundreds marching in front of us, hundreds of fine horses in the cavalry, hundreds of army trucks and field kitchens and Red Cross ambulances, and machine guns on trucks and horseback, and military bands galore playing army marches and 'Beautiful Texas' and one dignified military band marching in front of us in review playing 'I Like Mountain Music' and the entire band singing in unison, 'Please Pass the Biscuits, Pappy!'"

Then came the long train of tanks and mounted cannon and, by the way, those Twin Sisters have not laid down on the job. You should have seen their children and grandchildren—cannon that will shoot from 6,000 to 12,000 yards.

"Of course, we are not figuring on war, but it is nice to know that we have such a grand army in case anybody gets over-ambitious and wants to try to take marbles away from us, and while I was inspecting and admiring the National Guard the grandeur of the whole thing completely overwhelmed Pat and Mike, and lo and behold, before I knew what was going on I heard our Commanding General Birkhead introduce Pat and Mike as full-fledged soldiers, and there they were in those beautiful uniforms. . . . and were they tickled and was I proud . . . and can they fight? I'll say so."

TELLS REQUESTS FOR ADVICE ON CANDIDATES.

And then the governor-elect swung into the first political move of his career. He took a gamble into the future; he threw the political fat into the fire.

"Friends," he said, "it is difficult for me to look through the eyes of a politician. I have been looking at matters from a strictly private viewpoint all my life. Therefore, I can not be political. I have been asked by thousands of my good friends, by phone and mail and personally whom I favored for certain offices. So far I have expressed no opinion one way or the other; but my friends insist, saying they do not have enough information upon which to base a decision, and that they want to vote for the men who I think will suit me best. So I have weighed this matter and made a decision.

"I have looked at it from the standpoint of managing a business concern. If I were employed as manager of a business concern, I would be obliged to select a sales manager, an attorney, a credit man, a buyer, a foreman, and other key men to head different departments, and I would pick men who I thought would work with me for the good of the company.

THE WAY WE DO THINGS IN BUSINESS.

"Now in Texas we have a head of the legal department, who is called the attorney general, a head of the real estate department whom we call the land commissioner, a head for the department of regulation of transportation whom we call the railroad commissioner, and a commissioner to assist the governor whom we call the lieutenant governor.

"I have advocated a business administration. Yet because of our political setup, I have no voice in the selection of these four men who will mean so much to me in putting the State of Texas on a business basis, and it seems that many people have sensed this situation, and that is the reason they are asking me whom I want for those offices.

"Some politicians have also sensed that this situation might arise and I have been besieged with advice from the politicians not to make any stand on the matter now.

"But as the majority of the voters in Texas have spoken, and spoken loudly, I feel that the responsibility of governor is, or soon will be, upon my shoulders, and as a business man and not as a politician, I have no fear in doing what I think is the prudent thing to do, and tell the citizens of Texas that I have a preference in men for these four offices, just the same as I would tell the stockholders of a company whom I wanted for heads of the different departments.

LISTS HIS SLATE OF SIX CANDIDATES.

"In making my choice please bear in mind that I am casting no reflections on the other candidates. I bear them no ill will. I am thinking only in terms of what I think will be best for the citizens of this great State of Texas, and I am expressing only my personal opinion and choice, and this does not in any way prevent the voters of Texas from voting for whomsoever they choose. I feel that I can better carry out your wishes and give you the kind of government you want, if you will vote for, and elect, the following men:

"Walter Woodall for attorney general; C. V. Terrell for railroad commissioner; Bascom Giles for land commissioner; Coke Stevenson for lieutenant governor.

"During my campaign I spoke of professional politicians, and at the same time I clearly stated that all who had held office were not professional politicians, and that we should be thankful that there had been many good, clean, honest men in office, and some of these men whom I am asking that you elect with me have served the state, and I am thoroughly convinced that their experience and knowledge will be helpful in carrying out the program you want carried out, and they have promised me that they will unqualifiedly cooperate with me in putting into effect the things for which I stand and for which you voted, and which you expect to be done, all designed to benefit the citizens of the state."

The Hillbilly Nominee endorsed two more candidates—Judge Richard Criz of the Supreme Court, and Judge Harry Graves of the Court of Criminal Appeals—and then concluded:

"Now, my friends, this is my first important move. There will be much criticism but you wanted a business administration, and this is the way we do things in business."

The band played that number so popular in the campaign: "The Sons of the Alamo."

'ATTACKS AND INSULTS' KEEP GERMANY'S NERVES ON EDGE

By RUDOLF JOSTEN.
BERLIN, Sept. 1 (AP)—Nazi experts studied ways of making Germany's economic preparedness equal the efficiency of her war machine today as accounts of Czech "attacks and insults" kept nerves on edge. They agreed the outcome of any future war no longer was solely dependent upon arms supremacy and that a healthy export trade, not isolation-producing autarchy, is any country's essential prerequisite for success in a long war—notwithstanding the Nazi's energetic program that has tried to achieve economic self-sufficiency.

Major General Georg Thomas, head of the commissary staff, maintained: "A new order of things in economic life must be established; it must be related closely to world trade and to the fulfillment of all self-sufficiency measures necessary to safeguard the nation."

At the same time the German navy conducted what were called its biggest maneuvers since the World War, with the 26,000-ton battleship Knelsenau and three 10,000-ton pocket battleships participating in the North Sea exercises and 60 units more due to join the maneuvers soon.

German army maneuvers were under way, involving 900,000 regulars in 36 divisions as well as an estimated 500,000 reserves.

The usual crop of rumors that the Reichstag would be summoned during the rally circulated today.

Serving to jar nerves further were reports by the official news agency that Czechoslovak frontier guards shot at, but missed, a German customs officer named Gerlach near Oelsen, Saxony, and that the Czech newspaper Auto Obrana "recently" attacked Konrad Henlein, leader of the Sudeten Germans, as "unprincipled and infamous."

Church of Nazarene Has New Location

The pastor and members of the Church of the Nazarene have announced that the property at 823 West Francis avenue has been purchased and that the first service at the new location will be held Sunday morning, September 4.

A cordial invitation is extended to the friends of the church to visit and worship.

The Rev. E. F. Robinson, pastor; Mrs. Lela Furlong, secretary; and the entire membership of the church wish to thank each one who gave a donation or who contributed in any way.
