Daladier Tells Italy France Will Not Give Up Territory

(By The Associated Press) Premier Daladier's blunt declaration that France had no intention of giving up any part of her territory today highlighted the Franco-Italian controversy, currently the most dangerous friction in a troubled world situation. The French premier announced his intention of visiting early in 1939 Tunisia and Corsica, figuring in Italian clamor for French territory. Meanwhile France asked, "Where is the trap?" as police guards restored peace in Tunisia and Corsica, where angry anti-Italian demonstrations yesterday replied to Italian agitation for these territories. Heavy police reinforcements were thrown around the Italian con-

33 Of 36 Arrive For Confab With Governor-Elect

FORT WORTH, Dec. 5 (AP)—Thirty three of the 36 members of Governor-Elect W. Lee O'Daniel's advisory board were present for the opening of a conference here today. Others were expected to arrive later. "It is gratifying to see so many on hand this early," O'Daniel said. "It looks like we will have a representative meeting as there are members here from almost every part of the state." Comments from early arrivals included the following: Mrs. Ethel Fleming, Littlefield, wife of a tenant farmer—"I am interested mostly in the farmers' problems, but I'm also concerned about the liquor question. I am opposed to sale of liquor by the drink, but if it is coming back anyhow, I would rather see the open saloon as that would probably mean more revenue for the state. I believe the return of legalized horse racing at the state would be helpful to the livestock industry." Mrs. J. W. Hoppe, Galveston—"I am interested in having something more done for the blind." (Accompanying Mrs. Hoppe was Oran Cole, Galveston, blind member of the board.) Frank Kell, Wichita Falls—"I just want to be helpful in any way that I can."

TVA Deficit To Be $3,157,000, Claims Morgan

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (AP)—Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, former chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, estimated today there would be an annual loss of $3,157,000 when the seven TVA dams completed or under construction begin operating as a unified system. Testifying before a Senate House investigating committee, Morgan asserted TVA electrical costs do not reflect numerous items representing a "concealed subsidy." If the entire potential power is generated when the seven dams are in operation, he said, annual expenses will be about $13,976,000. Assuming the power is sold at present rates, he said the annual income would be $9,919,000. He added, however, present rates probably would be reduced. The annual deficit of $3,157,000, he said, "leaves out a considerable number of expenses that in my opinion should be included." Earlier, Morgan proposed a single administrator be substituted for the agency's three directors. He made the recommendation in a lengthy memorandum to the congressional committee investigating TVA. The memorandum suggested that the administrator be divorced from the sale of TVA's electric power. Such a reorganization, he said, could have eliminated much of the friction between Dr. Morgan and directors David E. Lilienthal and Harcourt A. Morgan.

Rumanian Colonel Shot By Fascists

Cristescu, president of a military court, at Cernaui, northern Rumania. Four shots were fired. The colonel suffered a flesh wound. One assailant was captured and identified by police as Leonide Lututovic, 18-year-old student and iron guard member. The other escaped. Cristescu had figured in the government's drastic drive against the iron guard as president of a court which recently sentenced 72 students to prison for iron guard activities.

Radio Shop Wrecked When Car Quits Street, Caves In Building

City police officers, up to early this afternoon, had failed to locate a car which crashed into the side of the Hawkins Radio Laboratory, 917 South Barnes street, early Sunday morning. The car hit the building on the north side, caving it in. The crash caused loss of property which included about $400 worth of radio tubes and other equipment and damage of more than $100 to radios along the walls, the building, according to Billie Hawkins, proprietor. Young Hawkins told police he left the laboratory about 1 o'clock. He discovered the damage when he went to the laboratory yesterday morning. The driver of the car apparently failed to make the sharp turn from Cuyler to Barnes street and jumped the shallow borrow pit, there being no curb along the street. The car crossed several vacant lots before crashing into the center of the building. When young Hawkins opened the laboratory yesterday morning the interior was a shambles of broken radio tubes, smashed radio parts, broken radios and tools. The crash slid the entire center of the building off its foundation but left the ends in position. Officers have few clues on which to work. If anyone saw the crash he is urged to report to officers. The contents of the building was not insured and the loss will deal

Witness Urges Tax On Strikers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (AP)—An industrialist proposed to the Senate profit-sharing committee today that government levy a high tax on those who call strikes and those who voluntarily take industrial machinery out of production. C. W. Hazlett, president of the Hazlett Metal Company of New York, told the committee that such a tax, if accompanied by lower taxes for those who maintain a high rate of employment of their productive facilities, would solve the unemployment problem. Hazlett, author of a book on incentive taxation, argued tax laws should be geared to the production of "tremendous profits, which he said can come only from "great employment of money, men and property." "We must make it so profitable for all these things to be in a high rate of production and so expensive for them to be in a low rate of production that no class, be it labor or capital, can afford to be idle," he said. Earlier, Joseph M. Friedlander, treasurer of the Jewel Tea Company, told the committee his firm had turned a loss, ranging as high as $2,000,000, in the year of production averaging about $1,000,000 a year, after it began sharing profits.

Taxi-Drivers Kidnap Hold-Up Victims 6 Men Left Nude In 4 Robberies

FORT WORTH, Dec. 5 (AP)—Fort Worth city jail early today was the end of a brief, spectacular career for a group of unemployed Austin taxi drivers. Arrested here, they admitted four robberies and kidnaping since midnight. They identified themselves as: Wm. L. Weems, 21; Robert Sanders, 21; and Richard (Red) Stammits, 20. Weems said he was under suspended sentence at Peecos for car theft. Robberies in Austin, Georgetown, Waco and Hillsboro netted $82 and an automobile which was abandoned here. The trio said they had kidnaped seven men, leaving six of them nude. The suspects finally left the stolen automobile after speeding through more than 40 miles of residential streets, with two patrol cars close behind at different times. Calling a taxicab from a swanky Westover Hills home, the trio went to a downtown hotel. There they divided their loot and went to bed in two rooms. The youths surrendered without resistance to city detectives. Sanders still was armed with a .32 caliber automatic pistol he said he had borrowed from a friend in Austin. Weems said the robbery was planned and because they were out of work and needed money. Weems said he wanted to go to Oklahoma to obtain employment in the oil fields. Filing Station Redded. The trio met in Austin at their old taxicab stand. Then they went seeking someone with an automobile, Weems said. Ten minutes later they found Frank Anthony, 20, of Peecos, entering his automobile in front of the Congress hotel. Weems said he held up Anthony

Liberals To Come To Life He Predicts

President Denies He Eats 'Grilled Millionaire'

By D. HAROLD OLIVER. CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Dec. 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt served notice on the South and the nation at large today that he would go forward with a "liberal" program of government despite New Deal electoral reverses. Addressing the University of North Carolina student forum, he also declared what America does or fails to do in the next few years "has a far greater bearing and influence on the history of the human race for centuries to come than most of us here today can ever conceive." In an implied warning to dictators, he asserted the United States was "not only the largest and most powerful democracy in the whole world, but many other democracies look to us for leadership that world democracy may survive." He reaffirmed his faith in the political philosophy of liberalism by saying: "You have read that as a result of the balloting last November, the liberal forces in the United States are on their way to the cemetery—yet I ask you to remember that liberal forces in the United States have often been killed and buried—with the inevitable result that in short order they have come to life again with more strength than they had before." Takes Cardozo Theme. The President adopted as his theme a contention by the late Supreme Court Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo that "we live in a world of change," hence there can "be no constancy in law." "I am speaking not of the external policies of the United States," Mr. Roosevelt said. "They are exerted on the side of peace and they are exerted more strongly than ever before toward the self-preservation

Take Calotabs to Help Nature Throw off Colds

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal stimulants, thus clearing the intestinal tract of any virus-laden mucus and toxins. Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of purgative and diuretic, both of which may be needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

Just a common cough, a chest cold, or a bronchial irritation of today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. They may be relieved now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medicinal combination designed to aid nature in soothing and healing infected mucous membranes by allaying irritation and inflammation and by aiding in loosening and expelling germ-laden phlegm.

The Medical Profession has for generations recognized the beneficial effect of Beechwood Creosote in the treatment of coughs, chest colds, and bronchial irritations. A special process was worked out by a chemist, for blending Creosote with other ingredients so that now in Creomulsion you get a good dose of genuine Beechwood Creosote which is palatable and may be taken frequently by both adults and children.

Creomulsion is one preparation that goes to the very seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm. When coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles—due to common colds—hang on, get a bottle of Creomulsion from your druggist, use it as directed and if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained, the druggist is authorized to refund your money. Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

Coincidence To The South

A coincidence of course. But interesting. Annabella, the darling of the French stage and newly divorced chancing to choose the tropical moon of Rio de Janeiro to heal her trouble heart. And the Hotel Copacabana, of all places.

Then Tyrone Power touring the Latin American countries by air; Mexico, the South American West Coast and then Rio. And of course the Hotel Copacabana. He had known and liked Annabella in Hollywood.

The romantic-minded South Americans thought of course the two were in love and gathered in the street to cheer romance for its own sake. But of course that's silly. It's pure coincidence, that's all. But wouldn't it be funny if the couple should meet in the hotel elevator. That would be coincidence.

Citizen Corrigan

It may have been mentioned before, but it will do no harm to repeat. Douglas Corrigan has the makings of a great citizen, if he isn't already one. His movie career may be short, it must be added.

For he shows a magnificent independence of Hollywood froth coupled with amazing sense about a lot of things, including money. Corrigan had occasion recently to explain about his salary, simply that he is getting half of the $100,000 which the studio said it was paying him. "Of course," he added, "I'm not kicking. It's still a lot of money."

It is little short of felonious in Hollywood to admit you're making less money than the studio advertises you are. The immediate result will be greatly improved public relations out of Hollywood and a new crop of press agents whose hair turned white overnight.

Sidewalk Supervision

The latest benefaction of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has been to build a grand stand to permit the crowds of spectators to watch the excavating now going on for Holland House in Rockefeller Center in New York.

Men at work have become such a rare sight that men at leisure may now watch them in comfort from behind a wire netting and under the protection of a roof. The stand is open to the public and a huge sign welcomes everyone to the Sidewalk Superintendent's Club.

At the opening of the club recently cards were distributed which bore the inscription "The best pilot stands on the sore," in Dutch. The day may not be far distant when the sidewalk superintendents may give their favorite steam shovels and crews and an ordinary excavating job may assume the color and spirit of a crew race.

The Nation's Press

FALSE LABEL (Chicago Tribune)

In congress the wages and hours bill was urged as a measure to raise the buying power of those "who suffer great human hardship because they are unable to buy adequate food and shelter to maintain themselves in good health." Any business in interstate commerce which paid its employees less than $11 a week was to be required to raise their pay to that figure or be without their services.

Employers of something like 50,000 have found it impossible to pay as much as $11 per week and have discontinued their services. And this consequence, too, can be viewed complacently. With the millions we have long been carrying on the relief rolls, an extra $9,000 won't make much difference. It's a small cost, it is a bargain.

But the principal effect of the wages and hours law was upon groups not mentioned at all when the bill was in congress. Through an interpretation of the hour provisions of the act a far greater number of persons are affected than would be reached by any minimum that has ever been suggested. The government has construed the law to give it the power to dictate the basis of payment for highly paid artisans, semi-executives, and clerical workers. It has even used the law as authority to forbid employers from making changes in the rates of pay of such employees.

In establishments which have been far in the lead in the treatment of their employees as regards wages, hours, working conditions, vacations, pensions, and freedom to join unions, it has frequently been desirable to have certain employees work varying hours. The flexibility applied in particular to semi-executive, clerical, research, accounting, and sales employees has made possible continuous functioning of the production departments. The need for this service of these employees has varied with the season and with the development of certain exigencies. One week certain employes might work 48 or 50 hours, in another week it might be only 30. The government has now presumed to say that this cannot be done except under a penalty. An employe cannot accumulate a credit for time off or a vacation by working overtime as he has long been able to do. He must be compensated for it in only one way—by time and a half payment for overtime in excess of 44 hours per week.

In some businesses, in which all pay scales have been far in excess of the minimum, a basic 48 hour week has been in effect. Many employers have, with the consent of their employees, adjusted their wage scales so that employes will receive the same weekly income as before. This was done by adjusting the pay for the first 44 hours so that the extra four hours at the overtime rate would bring the total up to the previously existing weekly rate. The administrator of the wages and hours bill has cast doubt upon this and intimates that this can be legally done only by amending the law to forbid it.

The wages and hours bill was claimed to be an instrument to help the underprivileged. It turns out to be just another step in the direction of federal oppression, not primarily an instrument to benefit the workers of the country but one to harass industry.

Sharing the Comforts

Of Life --- By R. C. Hoiles

WHY IS WORK A CRIME?

I have not been able to determine, as yet, why the people of the United States passed a law that makes some work a crime. I do not know whether it is because they want to protect the man who is doing the work or whether they think that one man working hurts another worker. One advocate of the government regulating wages, contends one thing and another contends something else.

One college professor contends it is to prevent the worker from injuring his health, while the "parlor pinkies" and the labor leaders usually contend that it is to protect the worker from himself and that his working and producing causes other people to work for less. This is, in reality, to say we can have more by having less. It is simply saying that keeping men from working and, thus, reducing production makes it possible for us to have more.

Where they are confused on this point is, that if only one group makes things scarce and prevents other people from producing this particular item, they can make a better trade and as long as they can keep other people from producing, they are temporarily benefited. They fail to realize, however, that when one group starts to limit, sooner or later, all groups start to limit and the total production of all people is greatly lowered. As a result, the real wages of all workers are greatly lowered.

There should be more discussion and explanation on why it has been decided to make working a crime. I always was taught that to work was to pray. Now it has become a crime!

PENSIONS AND REGULATING LIVES

In discussing the question of whether people should be prohibited from betting on horse races and dog races, the point was brought up that people should have the right to spend their money betting on horse races or dog races, just as they have a right to spend their money smoking cigarettes. Possibly one does no more harm than the other. But the question of taking care of those people after they have lost their money in this kind of enjoyment, was brought up. The conclusion was reached that if the government is obliged to furnish pensions for those who are not able to take care of themselves in declining years because of their indulgences in various kinds of semi-luxuries during their prime, then it followed naturally that the government had a right to regulate how the man spent his money during his prime.

And this condition naturally follows the giving of pensions to those who need it. When one principle of government responsibility is started, it interferes with freedom all through the lives of people. Under the old system of individual responsibility men were not so inclined to waste their substance in riotous living and foolish expenditures if they knew they would be subject to the support of their children or would be obliged to go to the poor house if they could not support themselves. For this reason, they were more careful of how they used their earnings.

But, under pensions, they have no thought of the morrow believing in blind faith that the government will take care of them. Eventually they will find that the government will not be able to take care of them because public pensions prevent savings and, thus, retard production, and make capital scarce. Then the government tries to regulate profits and further interferes with the accumulation of capital.

We must have free enterprise and hold people responsible for their acts or we will drift eventually into complete regimentation of how people work, live and spend their substance.

HORRORS IN THE UNITED STATES

We read with astonishment the treatment reserved for the Jews in Germany. When we realize that right here in the United States of America, the National Labor Relations Board rules that the employers are obliged to pay employees while they are on a strike and destroying their property, we are as lawless as they are in Germany. The difference seems to be one is financial confiscation for beliefs in Judaism, the other for the belief in free enterprise, or Americanism.

After describing the sitdown strikes in the various states and how the National Labor Relations Board had ruled in various places that the employers must reinstate strikers who have been destroying their property and pay them when they are doing it, the Chicago Tribune has the following to say as to the La Follette Committee:

"The La Follette committee was to justify this outbreak of revolution, using the authority given it by the United States congress to present a completely distorted version of what was happening and throw all the blame on the innocent victims. Fortunately, such a betrayal of authority did not work. It brought out a vote of condemnation which swept the states temporarily in the power of the revolutionaries and they all have been thrown out, as they richly deserve to be. But the La Follette committee still exists. It received large appropriations, whereas the Dies committee, which has been exposing these lawless men, was given a pittance and denied all assistance by federal departments."

The La Follette committee was to picture the "revolutionaries" as abused persons, to arouse class hatred, to impose upon persons easily deceived, and to give all this disorder and lawlessness the appearance of a noble struggle for human rights, whereas it was a vicious assault upon democratic principles of law, order, justice, and equity. The Labor Relations board followed right on the heels of the communist propaganda outfit and has endeavored to read into the law of the land the practices which the La Follette committee attempted to justify. The labor board assumes that a property owner has no right to discharge any of the men who destroyed property. It rules that they must not only be retained in employment but be paid for the time in which they were rioting and destroying the goods of the people who must compensate them for the damage they did. We think that the Nazis have hit new depths of distorted ferocity when they compel the victims of Nazi mobs to pay for their own property which the mobs destroyed. The labor board seeks to have American law declare the same principle and "major La Follette has been the Goebbels, clamoring a justification of the atrocity."

Behind The News Of The Day

BY JOHN T. FLYNN

Seven young economists from Harvard and Tufts Colleges have fabricated a program for economic recovery. It appears in a small book just published.

As in 1931-32 a stream of programs for rehabilitating America pour out upon our desks. This is the most interesting I have seen chiefly because it comes from the hands of men who understand the anatomy of the capitalist system.

The program is based upon the theory that the

Around Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD—The lady off to the side of the house muttering to the screen as Joan Crawford preview—Joan Crawford.

"I make a nuisance of myself. I talk to myself on the screen all the time. Mostly I'm saying, 'O, you fool! Why did you do it that way? How could you have thought that was the way to play the scene?' In one of those horrible people that other sitters nearby have to shush." Thus Miss Crawford, on a day between scenes of one picture, preparing for the ordeal of attending the preview of her finished one. She is sitting on a movie bed in an unoccupied set, and she's knitting. She keeps her eyes riveted to every stitch, like an amateur although she isn't one, but once in a while she raises them and they're the biggest eyes in town.

Once in a while, too, and more frequently she raises herself and gets into the scene where Reinhold Schunzel (they call him Papa) is directing her and James Stewart and Lew Ayres in "Ice Follies."

Joan has been gay all morning, singing a little in that new voice of hers—and good, too!—and laughing a lot with the others at the things that go wrong. This scene has her carried over the threshold of the room by Stewart, whom she's just married at Yuma, and it shows how Ayres, Stewart's ice partner, takes it.

By afternoon, when they've done that scene in long shots and close-ups at least a dozen times, with rehearsals extra, I get to thinking indignantly that those actors must be pretty bored with it all. Especially Joan, who's been making scenes like that—well, not exactly—for 13 years now.

"Well, no," says Joan. "I love making pictures—they're something alive and vital—and this is all part of making pictures. Maybe if I hadn't grown up in it I'd go mad. Anyway, knitting helps between takes. Can't read on the set—it takes my mind off my work. I get that in Sundays."

At 30, Joan has a new seven-year contract, without options—and that makes her different from all the other stars who try for comebacks. They don't have contracts. Officially, Joan isn't "coming back." Officially, she's still a big star—but all the same her last few pictures haven't been old-time "Crawford hits."

Her singing—which won her the new term deal—is going to be heard in "Ice Follies." Just popular numbers, no operatic stuff. The role also calls for glamor, which was Crawford's stock in trade. She winds up, in this one, as a Hollywood movie star, so the part ought to fit like a girdle.

The opera business will have to wait a while. ("I practice every morning, but I haven't enough time really to give to it yet.")

In "The Shining Hour" Joan was cast with Margaret Sullivan. Hollywood expected a conflagration of temperaments. Just wait (said Hollywood) until THOSE TWO get together.

"We're disappointed then," says Joan. "We met, and hit it off to Joan from the start. We've seen each other several times since the picture, and I like her very much and she likes me—at least I think she likes me."

As for borrowing, they face with equanimity continuous borrowing, wholly untrifled by the constantly rising level of the public debt. The rising tide of taxes to pay interest they dismiss with the proposition that this can be rendered harmless in economics if the ownership is spread out among all the people. Then as all the people will be taxed to pay the interest, the interest will go back to them as owners of the bonds.

As to private business, they urge an end of trust buying. Great aggregations of capital are useful. The government should regulate those that can be regulated by controlling prices and should take over those which do not yield to regulation. It should take over the railroads, regulate prices of great basic industries and by both regulation and ownership of utilities.

These measures, they think, would restore better times and keep them among us.

Many a person who has stealthily stopped to hear Blind Tommy Hammonds sing as he worked at his peanut and popcorn stand on West Foster would be surprised to know that Tommy knows when someone stops. Tommy sings and whistles well for his own amusement, but it doesn't displease him if someone else likes to hear him sing. His voice, as well as his whistling, has a peculiarly appealing note. . . . Tommy and his wife live alone in their own house, but they move around in it as easily as you get around in yours. Nobody waits upon that cheerful couple when they are in their own home. Mrs. Hammonds knows where everything is, and she walks just as straight to a chest of drawers and opens the second one as you could. There is no hesitancy in her movements. Her house is orderly and well arranged and furnished in good taste. The house has electric lights which they use because they have visitors frequently. Mrs. Hammonds, also blind, and Tommy have been married a couple of three years. Their continual good cheer is well-known as an inspiration to their friends.

Both psychology and psychiatry are principally concerned with the psychology of normal behavior as it is observed and studied in all living forms.

These definitions of psychology and of psychiatry do not conform to the psychiatric definitions dealing with identical problems.

Fundamentally, psychology and psychiatry are related in that both are concerned with behavior. Psychiatry, however, deals entirely with the problems involved in the deviation from normal behavior of human beings, while psychology is principally concerned with the psychology of normal behavior as it is observed and studied in all living forms.

Since the World War psychology has become well known for its various tests. Intelligence, aptitude and achievement tests are widely applied and serve many useful purposes.

The scope of psychology, however, is much wider than that of testing. Basically, it embraces all phases of the functions of the nervous system as they affect behavior.

In short, the relation of psychology to psychiatry is much like that of general physiology to clinical medicine.

The latter deals with disease conditions (or abnormalities). To understand abnormal function, it is essential to know the normal, which is the province of psychology.

Both psychology and psychiatry are ancient studies, but they have been enormously developed in recent decades. They are still in a formative stage; hence, though their respective territories are fairly well defined, they frequently overlap.

Today's Sermon: Emotions should not be expressed too much. This is a hard-boiled world. Full of irritations and disappointments of all kinds. . . . We must learn therefore, to control our impulses, our first reactions. . . . If we allow a hundred peevish days to get the better of us, it's as bad for the system as typhoid.

Besides living a sensible life as far as eating, sleeping and recreation are concerned, one should be sure to exercise in the open air every day, if only for a half-mile walk. . . . and give the other fellow a break. . . . Allow outlet for your emotions in making social contacts, visiting the movies and plays, reading novels and playing games for recreation and not competition.

Brave men in days of old nailed their colors to the mast. Now gentle ladies color their nails. . . . In Europe, it's a wise child that knows his own fatherland. . . . The dispatch failed to state what city the gentlemen were from. . . . The Hon. Unity Valkyrie Freeman-Mitford was fined $4.80 for speeding in England. It's worth that much just to write her name in the book.

Within reasonable limitations, children should be given closer contact with the serious side of the family's undertakings. . . . They should read leases, study installment contracts, examine insurance policies, and understand as much of the family budget as possible if they are to grow up with the feeling that they face responsibilities and that they are not afraid of them. . . . The Capital Jigsaw

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Dec. 5 (AP)—The lowly cedar may mean just so many cents to thousands of Texans but to the State Planning Board it is a resource and a manufacturing opportunity.

In a bulletin the board says there are more than 5,000 square miles of Texas land covered with cedar, which, if properly exploited, should yield many dollars.

Although some counties have asked government aid in eradicating cedar which is encroaching on grazing terrain, it suggests the commercial utilization of "this so-called menace should be given serious consideration by ambitious Texans."

The best bet for Texas considering utilizing the enormous natural supply of cedar, in the board's opinion, would seem to be production of lumber, wall board, oil, small novelties and shavings for dog kennels.

"Cedar was one of the earliest woods utilized by man and down through the ages there is frequent mention of this wood and its derivatives," the bulletin explains.

"The early ships were built principally of cedar and even today it is not unusual to find the tenders, or dories, of the finest yachts afloat, built of cedar."

"The wood is strong, light and highly resistant to the teredo, a shipworm which is the sworn enemy of all wooden vessels."

"The wood, where it is available, is frequently fashioned into buckets and churns, and some of the nation's most prominent wineries prefer cedar wine coolers to anything devised by modern science."

"There is no waste in the manufacture of cedar products. All of the wood is utilized, even to that which in other woods would be waste and stumpage."

"A big percentage of cedar wood is veneered and used for clothes lockers and closet linings."

"Perhaps the most widely known product is the cedar chest, the hope chest of every young girl and the storage bin for the woman whose hopes have been realized."

"Cedar makes excellent furniture and also panelling for walls and ceilings. The residue of slabs and small pieces are utilized for linings and pencils."

The earliest recorded use of cedar oil, recovered from mcedar waste, was for perfume. Later it was used as an intensifier for allied odors and now is used extensively for chlorine disinfectants and in furniture polishes, medicated soaps and cold creams.

The Planning Board however is not advising anyone to rush into the business of manufacturing cedar oil exclusively. At present it is not profitable to operate exclusively for the oil.

The ratio of recovery, 35 per cent from virgin heart wood to less than one per cent from scrub and second growth, cedar, is too low to permit a fair profit, the board says, but adds if a way can be found to utilize the residue for something more practical than floor sweep, which brings so little on the market, the whole aspect would be changed.

It observes the waste pulp from the cedar oil distillery could very easily be converted into wall board, which is ideal for cabinet work of all kinds and which faces a growing market.

"The price has been more than quadrupled in the last decade and there is no reason why Texas cannot be used as the basis of a huge industry regardless of the extremely low price of cedar," the bulletin comments.

More than 350,000,000 feet of cedar lumber has been produced annually in the United States the last 12 years at an approximate value of $12,500,000; and from the U. S. Dispensary we learn that about 150,000 pounds of cedar oil is produced annually and that this oil has an F. O. B. New York value of 20 cents a pound in 55 gallon drums or 420 pounds.

"The freight rates to the principal markets make further inroads into the possible profit on cedar oil but if the waste were to be converted into wall board, instead of sweeping compounds—well, there is a real opportunity

Wildest Match Of Season Due Here Tonight

Rough Stuff Plotted By 4 Grapplers

WHAT—Something new in wrestling—two man team battle.

BETWEEN—Joe Banaski and Scotty Williams vs. Tex Watkins and Ray "Big Sal" Clements.

WHEN—Tonight in the main event at the Pampa Athletic Arena, five blocks east and one south of the postoffice, the card beginning at 8 o'clock sharp.

OPENER—Russell Riley vs. Count Otto von Ludwig, 30-minute time limit.

REFEREE—Alfred "Dutch" Mantell of Amarillo.

ADMISSION—65 cents, ringside, reserve, tax paid; 40 cents adult general admission; 10 cents general admission, children.

There have been times when wrestlers would have given their eye teeth to have a referee for an opponent and tonight that very thing is going to happen, but he is going to have plenty of help. The referee is Ray "Big Train" Clements who will take Tex Watkins, the wildest goober excused from the navy, will meet Joe Banaski, the Oklahoma Cowboy, and Scotty Williams, wild Californian, and they'll meet in a finish wrestling match.

The opening battle is hoped to be a headliner in its own right when Russ Riley, the Muleshoe boy who made such a hit with fans last week, tangles with Count Otto von Ludwig, ex German officer. The German is a roughster and doesn't deny it. Riley showed last week that he can take care of himself.

Only other bout will be the team match which will see four in the ring at the same time with Dutch Mantell scheduled to be the fifth man. The four will meet, not one singling out an opponent, but two trying to gang one so that the other will be left at the mercy of the two without help. The object is to keep from letting two mob one. That is where the spare comes in, kinda like running interference in football, as Promoter Cliff Chambers remarked.

Fans are all for seeing Referee Clements get it in the neck. He became very unpopular last week when he banished Banaski after he had let Watkins get away with murder. His action caused the matching of the teams, Watkins claiming that he and the referee could win any two or three at one time. Banaski wanted to take them alone but Promoter Chambers convinced him that he might need help.

So fans in this section are going to see something new in wrestling tonight.

Trojan Quarter Chump In One Game, Hero In Another

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5 (AP)—A chump in one game—a hero in another. For information on the fortunes of football, ask Oliver Day, Southern California's sub quarterback, who passed the Trojans to their first touchdown against Notre Dame last Saturday.

"Give Day plenty of credit," said Coach Howard Jones as he did a little Monday-morning quarterbacking of his own, with nothing ahead to worry about except a Rose Bowl date with Duke.

"When I sent Ollie into the game with less than a minute to play in the first half, I told him to throw a long pass to Stonebaker.

"He tried that, but the pass was too far and it fell incomplete. When that failed, Ollie used his own judgment and picked out Al Krueger as his receiver.

"I want him to know it was a great piece of work."

Just three weeks ago grandstand critics called Day's signal-calling into account when, with S. C., trailing Washington 7-0 in the final period, he ordered a kick on fourth down with less than three feet to go deep in enemy territory.

Lilies And Pansies Work Feverishly For Battle

Coaches Truman Spain and J. C. Prejan are hopeful. They are hopeful that they can get a pretty fair starting Pansy eleven to face the huge and numerous Phillips-Borger Lilies on the gridiron Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Harvester field.

The Pansies went through a long and stiff workout yesterday afternoon and are scheduled to go thru a stiff scrimmage this afternoon after which the coaches expect to name a starting lineup for the big battle.

Over in Borger four full teams of Lilies went through a stiff workout yesterday afternoon. Using first their shock troops and then their scoring eleven, the Lilies swamped the second and third stringers under an avalanche of touchdowns, according to word received here.

Borger has asked for a special train with enough accommodations for 350 passengers. The train is scheduled to leave Borger at 1 p. m., arriving at the Santa Fe station here at 2:30 o'clock. The visitors will be met by a band, chamber of commerce officials and citizens and will parade to the gymnasium where transportation to the football field will be furnished.

The special is hoped to leave here at 6 p. m., arriving in Borger at 7:25 o'clock.

That is how enthusiastic Borger is taking the game. Tickets are selling in Borger as if it was a game between the Sandies and Bulldogs. Pampa clubmen are also reporting ticket sales on the pickup and a goal of 5,000 fans has been set.

"If a bunch of civic clubmen can go out there and play a game of football, I bet more than 5,000 will go out and watch them," declared Coaches Spain and Prejan. "It takes a lot of nerve for fellows who have been out of college several years to get back in harness but these fellows are doing it for the sake of goodwill and charity."

Borger Cagers To Open At Lefors Tuesday Night

LEFORS, Dec. 5.—Coach Francis Smith's LeFors Pirate basketball team will test the strength of the Borger Bulldogs in the opening game tomorrow night in the Lefors gymnasium. The young Pirates and the Bull Pups will clash in a preliminary game at 7 o'clock. Admission to both games will be 10 and 25 cents.

Coach Smith has four first string lettermen and a reserve back while Coach Cuffie Smith has one regular and one reserve around which to build his 1938-39 quintet.

Forwards Johnson and Ellington, Center Pite and Guard Carruth were starters last season while Guard Lee was on the reserve list. Other Pirate hopefuls who are scheduled to see service are Guthrie, Twigg, Barnett and Atkinson.

Faced with the problem of forming a workable basketball team in time for their season opener at Lefors Tuesday, thirteen Bulldogs cagers have been drilling hard every night at the high school gym on the winter court game.

Soms of the boys have been getting into shape for the past several weeks, while others have joined the squad only since football closed its fall season in the Borger-Pampa Thanksgiving game.

Those shifting from gridiron to gym include James Williams, Johnny Williams, Roswell Raber, the club's only letterman, Hubert Allen, Ethrich Shipley and Billy Getler. Other players in the "B" squad are "Big" Watkins, and Wayne Rives got the jump on the others by starting drill on their own several weeks ago. The outfit also has been increased by Guy Leach, R. L. Dye, T. S. Davidson, and Dee Boulter.

Standing out in this list of make-or-break boys is six-foot-five Ethrich Shipley, gangling reserve football end being groomed to take the place of Buddy Barron, high-pointing all-district center and wheel-horse of the club last year. "Ship" was introduced to the basketball court for the first time Thursday night, and before the evening was over had struck up a real friendship with Smith.

Smith kept him under the basket, where his height will come in right handy, shooting from different positions. With a little practice, "Ship" soon got the hang of rolling the ball into the hoop with an overhead fingertip flip.

Another ambitious youngster yet to prove his mettle under game fire is Watkins, also a tall boy. He tries very hard and has improved a lot since he first started out, especially in goal shots. Hubert Earl Allen, who got his preliminary training on the "B" squad last year, is hitting the bucket regularly. He, Watkins, T. S. Davidson, Wayne Rives, two other "B" graduates, and waddy Dave ought to solve the problem of filling in for forwards.

Basketball seems to come naturally for Davis, probably the best ball handler and point maker on the club. He ought to have a great year.

Time-tested and trustworthy are lettermen James and Johnny Williams, and Roswell Raber, all guards. A little polishing ought to bring out their oldtime form. As a two-year letter-winner and first in point of scoring, Raber was named captain by Coach Smith with the unanimous approval of the squad. A manager has not yet been selected.

Duke Called Back To Grid Practice
DURHAM, N. C., Dec. 5 (AP)—Duke's unbeaten, untied and unscored-on Blue Devils, who broke training November 26 after trouncing mighty Pitt 7-0 in the last game of their regular schedule, were called back to the practice field today to get ready for their Rose Bowl game with the Southern California Trojans, Jan. 2 in Pasadena.

The "Blue Devil special," carrying the Duke team, officials and supporters, to the Rose Bowl will pull out of Durham on December 20, arriving in Pasadena December 24.

CANYON, Dec. 5.—Flippin' Foster Watkins has been voted the most valuable member of the 1938 football squad at West Texas State college, and the popular quarterback who figured in 90 per cent of his team's scoring will receive the J. W. Kleinschmidt trophy.

The returning squad also elected as their 1938 co-captains Donald Kendrick, end, from Groom, and Vern Matney, blocking back from Vernon.

Giants, Packers March To Finals Of Pro League

CHICAGO, Dec. 5 (AP)—A new professional football champion will be crowned next Sunday in New York and it will be either the touchdown-stingy New York Giants or the high-scoring Green Bay Packers.

The lineup for the title battle was definitely decided yesterday. The Giants completely crushed the Washington Redskins, 197 champions to capture eastern division honors. The Detroit Lions, Green Bay's only threat in the Western division, dropped a 21 to 7 decision to the lowly Philadelphia Eagles and eliminated the possibility of a playoff with the Packers.

A crowd of 57,461, largest New York audience since Red Grange made his pro debut 15 years ago, watched the relentless attack which carried the Giants to a 36 to 0 rout of the Redskins.

This game, the Detroit-Philadelphia tilt and Cleveland's 13-7 victory over Pittsburgh completed the league's regular season of play.

Highland Park meets a rugged Masonic Home team that had little trouble pushing unbeaten Sunset out of the race last week. The Highlanders played Masonic Home in their second game of the season and lost to the Masons 14-13. It was a non-conference game. Much water has gone under the bridge since then, however, and the Scotties, with a versatile attack, fine punting and one of the best lines in the state, are generally picked to reverse things when they play Masonic Home this week.

Waco Arranging Game With Chi Football Champs

WACO, Dec. 5 (AP)—Waco High school is arranging a football game here with Fenger High school, Chicago champions, with a view of making a similar contest an annual event here.

The proposal is to match annually a representative Texas high school, or the state champions, with a prominent undefeated team of the Middle West or East.

Waco and Fenger plan to play here Dec. 26 or Jan. 2, contingent on the Waco school's athletic council, which meets this week.

By SID FEDER.
NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (AP)—What ever happened to those wolves who were howling for Howie Jones' scalp at Southern Cal not long ago? . . . Did he—or did he—have those Trojans way up just when that one-day-a-year jinx caught up with the Irish? . . . This corner reported two weeks ago that Howie already had signed his '39 contract—and we'll stick by that one after the 13-0 kayo . . . S'pose you all noticed those Orange Bowl buddies, Oklahoma and Tennessee, only rolled up 75 points against Washington State and Ole Miss . . . This department could go for that Miami party in a big way! . . . Anybody need a good water boy down there?

New Mexico, Arizona Football Improving

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Dec. 5 (AP)—Border conference teams looked over their season records today and found evidence that football in the cactus country is coming up in the world.

The seven members of the loop played 30 games with inter-sectional foes, won 20 and lost 10.

The total included six wins by undefeated, untied Texas Tech, which played only two conference games this season and so did not qualify for the loop title.

The University of New Mexico showed the next best record, with three wins in as many shots at inter-sectional opponents.

Texas Mines and New Mexico Aggies each won two of three outside games. University of Arizona, kicked around by conference foes, got three for six in inter-sectional play, trouncing Loyola of Los Angeles, Marquette and Centenary.

Battling Boso, the old battler, is slowly coming around after a series of operations to regain his sight. . . . Birmingham fans (bless em) chipped in to a $1,685 purse for him in a benefit show. . . . Final figures just in show Davey O'Brien gained 2,450 yards rushing, passing and returning kicks for Texas Christian. . . . And Parker Hall picked up 2,007 for Ole Miss. . . . Hall outstruck Lili Davey, but the Froggies ball of fire was Mr. Big in passing, tossed 19 touchdown pitches and intercepted half a dozen. . . . Incidentally, don't let 'em kid you that Davey made Sammy Baugh's record look bad. . . . When everything wound up, Sammy still was 770 yards better pitching that apple for his college career. . . . The golf pros are shooting at purses totalling $100,000 on the grapefruit circuit this season (November to April) and that, as the farmer says, ain't hay, boys.

Defends Title Tonight
CLEVELAND, Dec. 5 (AP)—Busy Henry Armstrong tonight defends his welterweight boxing championship for the second time in two weeks when he meets Californian Al Manfredi in the top bout of the annual Cleveland News Christmas charity fund show. Still bearing marks of his recent, successful welter-belt defense against bolo-punching Ceterino Garcia, Armstrong declared he was not taking Manfredi lightly in their 15-round setto. "Manfredi is a better boxer than Garcia," Armstrong opined.

Harvesters Will Play At Miami Wednesday Night

Only one game has been scheduled this week by the Harvester basketball team. The Harvesters will go to Miami Wednesday night for a game with the Warriors. The B squad will not play, but Coach Mitchell, will go to LeFors tomorrow night to see what "Catfish" Smith of Borger has in the way of a basketball team. The "Catfish" will unveil his 1938 team on the Pirate court.

The "Catfish" will have a tall team this year, it is reported. He is grooming Shipley, a six-foot five-inch center to stand under the basket and drop them in. He figures that Shipley will take the place of Burry Barron, last year's key man on the Bulldog quintet. There are several players on the squad who are over six feet tall.

Tonight the Harvester football players and their sweethearts will be guests of the Harvester mothers club at a turkey banquet in the high school cafeteria. The Miami game was originally scheduled for tonight but was postponed due to the banquet. The Harvesters this season will play two games per week, on Tuesday and Friday night, if possible.

Lubbock, Highland Park, Tyler Favored This Week

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF, Associated Press Staff.
Tyler's unbeaten Lions and Temple's unbredid Wilcats will clash this week in the feature game of the Texas schoolboy quarter-finals but the site of the battle was undecided.

Officials of the two schools were unable to agree on a location after a lengthy session at Dallas yesterday and negotiations were due to be resumed today.

Meanwhile, sites and dates of the three other games had been arranged with Lubbock playing Breckenridge at Lubbock Friday, Highland Park (Dallas) engaging Masonic Home (Fort Worth) at Dallas Saturday and John Reagan (Houston) tangling with Corpus Christi at Houston Saturday.

Pive of the teams left in the race have been finalists in the race, one of them has won a state championship and two others have tied for it. Tyler in 1930 staged one of the greatest upsets of Interscholastic League history to beat Amarillo for the championship. John Reagan tied for the first championship ever played for in league annals. Reagan was known as Houston Heights in 1928 when it battled Cleburne to a scoreless tie in the finals. Breckenridge in 1929 played Port Arthur to a scoreless tie at Waco. In 1932 Masonic Home played a scoreless denotations, Corpus Christi lost to Amarillo in the finals of 1934.

Lubbock always Parhandle power advanced far as the quarter-finals in 1931. Highland Park has been in the quarter-finals three times. Temple has been in the quarter-finals two times, losing to the state champion Longview Lobos last season.

Lubbock, Highland Park, Tyler and Corpus Christi enter this week's games as favorites but all face hard games, especially Tyler, which goes up against a Temple team that did an about-face in mid-season and right now looks capable of giving the Lions opposition as tough as any they could expect to face.

Critics Stumped.
Lubbock's Westerners, conquerors of a fine Amarillo team and winners over a Vernon team that pushed the state runner-up Wichita Falls Coyotes out of the race, meet another unbeaten outfit in Breckenridge, which lost two games—one of them to Vernon—but which has completed a reversal of form that has the critics stumped. Last week Breckenridge smashed Bowie (El Paso) 40-0. The Bucs have run up 355 points in 11 games.

Highland Park meets a rugged Masonic Home team that had little trouble pushing unbeaten Sunset out of the race last week. The Highlanders played Masonic Home in their second game of the season and lost to the Masons 14-13. It was a non-conference game. Much water has gone under the bridge since then, however, and the Scotties, with a versatile attack, fine punting and one of the best lines in the state, are generally picked to reverse things when they play Masonic Home this week.

John Reagan staged a mild upset by beating Port Arthur 16-14 last week. In fact Reagan is the "Chidreella team" of the race. The Bulldogs lost to Conroe, the team with which they tied for the district championship, in, they won the title by a committee ruling. Against Port Arthur they looked hopelessly beaten until the last quarter when Port Arthur passes backfired to give the

Alabama Grid Record Leads Nation's Teams

By HERBERT W. BARKER.
NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (AP)—Despite what amounted to a "disastrous" season for Alabama—one defeat and one tie—the Crimson Tide once more leads the nation's major football records for the last five years.

During the five-year stretch from 1934 through 1938, Alabama has rolled up 40 victories against only four defeats and three ties for a remarkable average of 900, with ties disregarded. At that, the Tide boasts only a slight margin over two Eastern powers, Pittsburgh and Holy Cross, which are tied for second place with percentages of .889.

Minnesota, second to Alabama in the 1937 compilation, drops back into fourth position this time as a result of defeats by Northwestern and Notre Dame. The Gophers' percentage fell to .875. Dukes undefeated, untied and unscored on Rose Bowl nominees moved up from seventh to fifth place, just ahead of North Carolina, which vaulted from thirteenth to sixth position.

The biggest gain on the list, however, was made by Oklahoma, which completed an unbeaten season by whipping Washington State Saturday. The Sooners were about seventy-cent last year with a 568 percentage, but ten straight victories gave them a .692 mark and twenty-second place.

The five-year records of the 50 leaders among the so-called major groups includes:

Louisiana State, 300; Texas Christian, 792; Texas Tech, 729; Centenary, 600; Baylor, 633; Rice, 615.

So far away from this earth is the Hercules star system that the light which left there 36,000 years ago has just reached here.

Six Teams Have Perfect Records

(By The Associated Press)
Two teams which had waded thru their October and November opposition without a hitch, Notre Dame and San Jose (Calif.) Staff, were beaten in their final games of the season Saturday to reduce the nation's list of undefeated and untied football teams for 1938 to 16.

Notre Dame took a 13-0 thumping from Southern California. The University of Hawaii gave San Jose its first setback in 12 games at Honolulu, 13 to 12.

Tennessee's Volunteers swamped Mississippi, 47-0, and Oklahoma's Big Six champions, who meet Tennessee in the Orange Bowl at Miami Jan. 2, whipped Washington State, 28-0.

Final records of the undefeated and untied teams, as compiled by the Associated Press included:

Tennessee 10 276 16
Texas Tech 10 274 35

His hand touched hers. "Don't, Judy. I know. I tried to pretend to be married just as soon as he gets out of the hospital..."
