RECREATIONAL FACILITIES AT LAKE SOUGHT

Various Groups Of City Discuss Plans

Construction of recreational facilities by the government at Lake McClellan are being sought by representatives of various Pampa clubs, women's, church and patriotic groups.

A dozen of these group representatives filed their preliminary requests with government officials at a meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at thirty hall yesterday afternoon.

Present at the meeting were Fred Thompson, Tom Smalling, and Garnet Reeves, of the C. of C. and BCD W. B. Weathered, Junior Chamber of Commerce; Roy McMillen, of the Lions club; Ed. L. Patterson, of the Rotary club; F. E. Hoffman, of the Kiwanis club; Judge Sherman White, representing Gray county; Howard Buckingham, of the American Legion; O. K. Gaylor, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Fred Roberts, of the Boy Scouts of America; and Supr. L. L. Sone, representing the public schools.

The committee agreed that action should be taken now for plans for constructing recreational facilities at the lake site, rather than waiting until the lake and dam group is completed before taking the steps.

A tentative suggestion was made to Ted L. Smith, senior Bureau of Agricultural Economics engineer, of Amarillo, and Earl L. Bradshaw, project engineer at the dam site, for the construction of a group camp at the lake site. The group camp, the government officials were told, could be constructed and made available for the use of all organizations and groups of the year around.

Mr. Smith and Bradshaw indicated they would lend an ear to the request from Pampans. The project, it was explained, would mean the obtaining of a government grant to carry it out.

Further meeting of the group representatives is planned to carry the request which will be made of the government agencies now in charge of the lake construction.

The lake project, Mr. Bradshaw stated, is now half completed.

Gale Warnings Put Up On East Coast

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP)—The weather bureau ordered whole gale warnings hoisted today along the Atlantic coast north of Virginia Capes to Sandy Hook, N. J.

The bureau said the tropical storm rearing up the coast was about 100 miles east of the Virginia Capes at 9 a. m., C. S. T., and was moving rapidly northward or slightly east of north.

The disturbance, the bureau said, is attended by shifting gales over a wide area and by winds of whole gale force over a considerable area around center.

"Northerly winds along the New Jersey, Maryland and southern Delaware coasts," it added, "will likely increase to whole gale force this afternoon and back to northwest and diminish tonight.

Earlier in the day the bureau issued a warning to small craft to remain in port.

Fall Fashions To Be Shown Tonight At Local Stores

Fall fashions in men's and women's clothing will be displayed tonight at 7:45 in local stores.

Windows will be curtained and then unveiled. Latest styles in men's and women's clothing will be shown. A number of local stores are cooperating.

Pampans and residents of this territory are invited to see the revue.

The Nation's No. 1 Economic Problem

Puzzling, paradoxical, poverty-stricken—a vast area wherein hopes and dreams and ideals are subject to the whims of King Cotton—that's the South as symbolized in the picture above. The problems of the land below the Mason and Dixon line are the problems of its people—folks like the ones shown in the cotton field above—who are awaiting a solution to "The Nation's No. 1 Economic Problem."

EYSTON SPEED CAR DAMAGED

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, U. S. Sept. 21 (AP)—Captain George Eyston rode five miles today with death lurking in his giant racer, "Thunderbolt."

Attempting to raise his own world land speed record of 357.5 miles per hour, the covering over the right rear wheels of the car fouled and the machine careened through the measured mile at 349.55 miles per hour, sliding on the back corner of its metal shell like a bobbed.

The car was so badly damaged that Eyston said he was through on the flats for the year and would return to England on the "Queen Mary" Oct. 2.

Clouds of smoke poured from the exhausts as Eyston "cut" the motor.

The seven-ton machine coasted to the end of the 13 mile straightaway without incident.

Japanese Troops Capture Kwangshan

SHANGHAI, Sept. 21 (AP)—Japanese troops moved the general line of their offensive closer to the vital Peking-Hankow railway today by capturing Kwangshan, a walled city just 50 miles east of Sinyang.

The invaders planned to send parallel columns against the railway and Sinyang, a railway junction 100 miles north of Hankow, the provincial capital and immediate objective of the offensive.

A Japanese force was reported within 35 miles of Sinyang which, when captured, would be the base for the drive on Hankow.

Observers believed the next few days would decide the fate of Hankow.

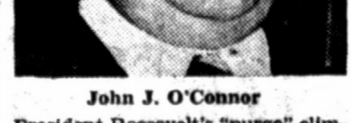

MUSSOLINI SPEAKS

TREVISO, Italy, Sept. 21 (AP)—Premier Mussolini, in his fourth speech this week on the critical European situation, re-emphasized his demand that the solution of the crisis in Czechoslovakia not be limited to the Sudeten Germans but be "integral."

He advocated that the rights of the Hungarian, Slovak, Polish, Rumanian and Rumanian minorities in Czechoslovakia also be satisfied.

Defeated

President Roosevelt's "purge" eliminated Rep. John J. O'Connor of New York in the primary election yesterday. However, O'Connor was nominated by the Republicans as their candidate in the November elections. In any case, O'Connor will no longer be chairman of the important rules committee. ANTI-PEDDLING LAW OPPOSED BY SALESMAN

Pampa's anti-peddling ordinance, passed three months ago, was the topic of a mild controversy between a district manager for the Fuller Brush Company and the city commission at that group's regular meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Securing permission to call upon customers by telephoning them before making a sales interview was objected to by the brush company representative as being slow and expensive.

He also claimed that a large percentage of his company's customers did not have telephones, making this manner of approach impossible.

A form used by the company and submitted to occupants of houses was shown to the city commission. This form indicates whether or not the householder desires the salesman to call, and the district manager asked if submission of the form signed by the householder might not be accepted in lieu of the obtaining of permission to call.

City Attorney Walter E. Rogers said that the use of the form constituted soliciting, inasmuch as the company's men made personal calls first at the houses.

Mayor E. S. Carr expressed his opinion that he saw no reason why the ordinance should be changed simply to accommodate one concern. He emphasized his belief in the legality of the ordinance.

The representative of the Fuller Brush Company said he had called upon the commission to explain the work his company was doing and to see if any change could be made in the ordinance.

Pep Rally Will Be Held Here Friday

A pep rally for the Pampa High school-Northeast Oklahoma City High school football game, to be played Friday night at Harvester Park, will be staged between 3 and 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon in the Pampa High school auditorium.

Coaches Odus Mitchell, J. C. Pfeiffer, B. A. Barton and Oscar Hinger will be interviewed, the pep squad will sing, and the band will play. The program will be broadcast.

40. And 8 Officers Will Be Installed

The regular meeting of Voture 953 40 & 8 will be held at the Legion hall Thursday night, September 22 at 8 o'clock.

Much important business is to come up. Officers elected for the year 1939 will be installed by Grand Chef de Train A. D. Monteth.

It is expected that a number of Voyagers from Voture 698 of Amarillo will be present. All officers for 1939 are expected to be present in order that they may be installed.

ALLSTARS TO PLAY 31 MEN

The Allstars and the Jaycees softball teams will try to wear each other out in a donkey softball game to be played at 8 o'clock Thursday night at Roadrunner Park. The Allstars have prepared a roster of 31 men they intend to use and the Jaycees roster will be the same length. The players will be used in two-inning games.

Softball players of the Diamond Shop, King Oil, Phillips, Skelly, the Barbers, and the Roadrunners will be among the Allstars, with E. M. Dean and Joe Parkinson as co-captains. Jack Back is pilot for the Jaycees.

FRANCE SENDS ULTIMATUM

LONDON, Sept. 21 (AP)—Usually well informed sources said today that the British foreign office had learned that the Czechoslovak government had accepted the Anglo-French proposals for settling the crisis over the Sudeten German issue.

In informed quarters it was announced: "We are given to understand by our (British) legation that Prague has accepted the Anglo-French proposals, but no official notification of this fact has reached us yet."

These informants declined to elaborate on this statement but did not deny its implication that Czechoslovak acceptance of the peace plan calling for cession of the Sudeten regions to Germany was not yet certain.

The best explanation available in London of this apparent contradiction was that the Prague cabinet at its early morning session had decided to accept the Anglo-French proposal, but no official notification of this fact had reached us yet.

But acceptance could not be definite until it had been endorsed by a meeting of the party leaders forming the government coalition and of the Czechoslovak general staff.

In Reply Being Drafted. In the note replying to the Anglo-French plan to satisfy the demands of Adolf Hitler would be handed to the British and French ministers this afternoon.

Sources close to the government here said that the Anglo-French representations intended calling on the Prague government to modify its original polite rejection of the proposals did not go beyond "advice."

But in diplomatic circles there was agreement that these representations were of an extremely

Truckers' Strike May Halt Project

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (AP)—New York faced the prospect today of having construction of two prize projects, the world's fair and the Sixth avenue subway, halted by an unauthorized truckers' strike.

Three powerful locals of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters announced they intended calling out truck drivers moving materials for the subway and fair in continuing their week-old strike.

The strikers refused to heed advice of their local officers to return to work pending negotiation of a new contract, and boost similar appeals from employer associations.

Acting Mayor Newbold Morris declared last night "it is the responsibility of the parties to this dispute to come to an agreement within 24 hours." He demanded a solution "for the sake of 7,500,000 people of New York City whose very livelihood is hourly being jeopardized."

News Cooking School To Be Held at L'Nora

Girls now in school have opportunities to prepare for the responsibilities of managing a household that were not available to the girls of former days. Many experienced housewives often wish that they had been able to receive capable instructions in home economics.

The opportunity of learning from a well-qualified teacher is now made available to every woman, young or old, experienced or inexperienced.

The Happy Kitchen Cooking School, arranged by this newspaper in cooperation with number of national food concerns and local enterprises, brings just such an opportunity to every woman at absolutely no cost, as admission to all the lectures is free.

Mrs. Arvee D. French, noted through a large area for her knowledge as a home economist and her charm as a lecturer, will conduct the school. It will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Sept. 28, 29 and 30 at the LaNora Theater, where arrangements have been made to seat everyone who wishes to attend and hear the lectures to be given by this well-known authority.

Hitler To Annex Sudeten; Eden, Churchill Object

PRAGUE, Sept. 21. (AP)—The Czechoslovak government announced officially at 7:25 p. m. (1:25 p. m., E. S. T.) today its acceptance of the British-French plan for meeting the peace terms of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler.

An official of the ministry said at 6:15 p. m. that the government had yielded to the pressure of London and Paris.

The British and French legations were notified of this decision in notes delivered late this afternoon.

An official announcement from the premier's office was expected later tonight.

Crowds in the main streets were in an excited mood and the authorities were worried about the reaction of the Czechs to the definite news that the republic faced loss of considerable territory.

In the streets there were shouts of "Rather war" and "We want a dictatorship."

A crowd estimated at more than 5,000 persons staged a noisy demonstration in the main thoroughfares of the capital.

They cried: "Long live the army," "Long live Czechoslovakia."

Thousands of persons crowded into the entrances of buildings and in windows of hotels and business establishments to cheer the marchers.

Taxicabs bearing Czech army officers were applauded heartily by marchers and spectators.

The lines of demonstrators grew longer with each block and the crowds in the streets increased rapidly.

The propaganda ministry's disclosure came after it had been announced officially that Foreign Minister Kamil Krofta would receive the British and French envoys this afternoon.

Reinforced Czechoslovak police lined the capital's thoroughfares alert for any signs of outbreaks of violence but there was no interference with the demonstrators.

The demonstration marked the first time in the crisis that the populace had given a mass, public expression of their feeling of solidarity behind the nation's army.

Fearing violence, owners of business establishments prepared to close their stores and doors to protect their business from possible damage.

The feeling in Prague turned from one of uneasy calm to one of tenseness.

Group Refuses To Investigate Election

AUSTIN, Sept. 21 (AP)—The Senate's general investigation committee refused once more today to go into the matter of whether electric power companies are spending money in an effort to influence municipal power plant elections in Central Texas.

Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, committee chairman, said the current investigation should not be diverted at this time from its main purpose and Attorney General William McCraw was inquiring into the money spending charge against utilities companies.

"If we start investigating elections," he Holbrook Senator said, "we're taking up an entirely different subject. For the time being at least, let's stick to the subject of whether Buchanan dam checked the July Colorado river flood as much as it should have and how much flood protection can be expected in the future as a federally-financed dam on the river."

Thomas Edison's Daughter Invents Political Campaign Without Hokum

By PAUL ROSS
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WEST ORANGE, N. J.—Dark-eyed, matronly, fiftyish Mrs. John Eyre Sloane, daughter of Thomas Alva Edison, is one political candidate who won't have to break campaign promises.

She isn't making any. Until late last month, Mrs. Sloane lived quietly in handsome Llewellyn Park, an exclusive residential area at West Orange, N. J. She worked in her garden, aided the Red Cross, took part in the activities of the West Orange Community Council, got Mr. Sloane off to the office daily, ran her big house and raised her family of four boys.

She read the papers, listened to the radio, talked with her friends. When her brother, Charles Edison, Assistant Secretary of the U. S. Navy and ardent New Dealer, came to the house, sister and brother disagreed—not violently, but fundamentally. When she thought about the world in which her four boys are growing up, she felt mightily "disturbed." When she thought about politics, she became convinced that "we need a strong minority party," meaning the Republicans.

No Political Ambitions
But she never expected personally to do anything about the New Deal with which she disagrees, about the world which disturbs her, or the minority party which she feels the country should have.

Then one day along came the Suburban Republican Group of Essex County and drafted her to stand for the Republican nomination for the Eleventh Congressional District.

"I didn't ask for the candidacy," she says, "but I felt it my duty to accept." So she did and now she finds herself neck-deep in a political contest which leaves her both a little harassed and a little amused.

The Sloane household is—well, somewhat disorganized. Mr. Sloane spends a lot of time away from his bond brokerage business in New York to act as campaign manager. Son Thomas, the oldest, has given up all his other interests to help.

Son John looks on with amused detachment. Son Peter, the third boy, has gone to live with his grandmother. Son Michael, the youngest, is "probably suffering, poor thing," Mrs. Sloane says with a worried frown.

Reporters come to the house to interview her cameramen to photograph her. To cap it all, reporters keep turning up to question her about her stand on this or that public question.

"I don't know how I will vote, should I win the Republican nomination and then be elected to Congress," she says frankly. "I wouldn't want to throw out everything merely because the Republican didn't introduce it. Yet I feel that people are not satisfied with many of the measures introduced by the New Deal administration. If I go to Washington, I expect to listen to both sides of a question before I make up my mind on how to vote in Congress. Of course, I'll try to vote as the people back here would want me to vote. After all the function of a representative is to represent. And I believe I know what this community feels and needs. I've lived here all my life."

Area Goes G. O. P.
Essex County Republicans will go to the polls on the 29th of September to choose between Mrs. Sloane and four other aspirants. Whoever wins the primary is fairly certain of election to Congress for the area usually goes Republican. So it may be that on the 21st Mrs. Sloane will find herself headed for Washington.

You get the feeling that this woman will go about the business of representing the people she speaks for with all calm seriousness which stamps her personality. But you also feel that if she fails to win in the primary, it won't make much difference. She has her opinions, she has her house and her family and her garden and her community work. If fate picks her for a public role, that's fine. If not, well—Mrs. John Eyre Sloane it not going to worry about it.

"NATURAL GIRL" IS A PERSON, AND NEVER A CLOTHES-HORSE

The "Natural Girl" selects her clothes with an eye to simple lines and good fabrics, as Margaret Tallohet, young Hollywood actress, demonstrates. Her clothes are suited to an active, important life, rather than a posy one.

By MARION YOUNG
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK—The Natural Girl's clothes are as interesting yet unaffected as her personality. They, like her, are never dull and, like her, are versatile—suited to an active, important life rather than the posed, languid variety the erstwhile Glamour Girl typified.

Miss Natural eschews strictly mannish effects, of course, but she prizes simple lines and good fabrics above all else. Everything she owns is more dramatic than fussy. She prefers full-skirted hostess gowns in rich materials to clinging dresses, but in these she looks like a queen—not a helpless, dreamy-eyed little thing.

She puts the bulk of her wardrobe allowance on trimly tailored street clothes (or tweeds and cashmere sweaters, if she lives in the country) and evening gowns. She really can't stand in-between types—familiarly known as afternoon and tea dresses. For such semi-formal occasions, she's more likely to turn up in a simple shirtwaist dress of truly luxurious fabric, like lame, gold embroidered velvet or lustrous silk with a sequin collar, then a draped, so-called alluring model. If she does buy the latter, its draped and folded effects will be streamlined. And it will get its charm from lines rather than trimming.

She likes walking shoes that can be walked in. Easy fitting jackets casual felt hats for country, neat trim suits which flatter her figure "at home" costumes which make her feel chic but not all-dressed-up-and-no-place-to-go and plain, untrimmed gloves are her pets. Her bags are utilitarian as well as handsome. Except for sports and spectator sports, she prefers simple white linen handkerchiefs to all other types.

She painstakingly avoids ostentatious effects not in keeping with her type and the kind of life she leads. If she wears a mink coat, it's because she can afford it and because the rich brown-fur is flattering and not because mink is expensive and everybody knows it.

A Natural Girl never wears ostrich feathers in her hair, black chiffon underwear, stockings with lace or black cloaks, shiny, pastel-colored street shoes or carries trailing chiffon handkerchiefs.

She frowns also on black satin cross her hips, trailing, waist-length veils and exaggerated low necklines for daytime.

You don't catch her in clothes that aren't utterly becoming to her. Fads may come and fads may go, but the Natural Girl of today views each with a "but-how-will-it-look-on-me?" attitude before she buys. Unless her wardrobe budget is unlimited, she stays away from high

Mrs. Siler Faulkner entertained members and one guest of the Amateur Bridge club with a breakfast at the Schneider hotel Tuesday morning.

Decorating the breakfast table were attractive bouquets of cut flowers. High score in the bridge games which followed was made by Mrs. J. B. Masse.

Attending were Mrs. T. F. Smalling, club guest; Mmes. J. M. McDonald, Clifford Braly, W. A. Bratton, C. E. Buckler, W. M. Craven, W. R. Ewing, Ray Hagan, C. T. Hunkapillar, J. H. Kelley, L. N. McCullough, J. B. Masse, Tom Ross, Charles Trust, Dick Walker, and George Walstad, members.

Sam Houston Has Initial Assembly

The first assembly program for the three lower grades of Sam Houston school was held at the school on Wednesday morning.

Opening the program for the morning was the singing of the Sam Houston song and "School Days" by the entire group.

The Rev. John O. Scott, pastor of the Central Baptist church, introduced the Rev. Phillip C. McQuibby, who spoke to the group.

Musical numbers included a vocal solo by Miss Georgia Wilson and two accordion numbers by Mike Sheple. John Sullivan of radio station KPDN introduced "Bashful" of the "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" production.

Other chapel programs for the upper and lower grades of the school will be given on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock in the school auditorium.

Storekeeper Gets 134 Offers Of Eyes

RICHLANDS, Va., Sept. 21 (P)—A storekeeper blind for 20 years, who had the world's record today at the top of the list of things he wants to see with an eye he has offered to buy for a "reasonable sum."

M. O. Warner said he wanted a speedy, successful operation so that he might see his favorite Pittsburgh Pirates play the New York Yankees for the world's championship in baseball.

The merchant is "strongly considering" three of 134 offers of eyes he has received from 39 states and Canada. One is from Michigan, another from Salt Lake City and the third from L. E. Lawson, 26, who lives six miles from North Tazewell, Va.

The longest flight recorded by a banded bird was made by a fledgling Arctic tern which flew from Turney Bay, Labrador, to Margate, Natal, South Africa.

If a day's supply of fruits and vegetables sufficient for New York City were on one train, the train would be more than 60 miles long.

GOOD LIGHTING DOES THIS TO HIS HISTORY LESSON

DOES your child drowse over his history lesson... say it's dull and uninteresting? Try giving him plenty of good lighting and see what a difference it makes. For good lighting makes it easier for your child to read. It minimizes the danger of eyestrain, headaches, and fatigue.

Innumerable tests have shown that school children make faster progress in their studies and that there are fewer failures when they study in rooms that are excellently lighted.

Try putting a 160-watt MAZDA lamp in his study lamp tonight. An ideal lamp for your child's homework or for your own reading or sewing is an L. E. S. Better Sight Lamp... the first low-priced lamp ever scientifically designed for better seeing. We have a complete stock in many different styles and models. Come in and see them today.

Let one of our trained home lighting advisors tell you how good lighting can lighten every seeing task... and how to get the most from your present lighting equipment.

RUSSIAN FLAYS ANGLO-FRENCH CZECH DEAL

GENEVA, Sept. 21 (AP)—Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Russia's foreign commissar, today accused France and Great Britain of capitulating to Adolf Hitler's demands and disclosed they had ignored Russia's offer of military help to protect Czechoslovakia.

The foreign commissar, in a scathing denunciation of League of Nations powers, said Russia stood ready to back up any collective action in defense of Czechoslovakia with arms and men.

In what he left unsaid, however, assembly delegates saw a statement that unless France fights for Czechoslovakia under the terms of the French-Czechoslovak agreement, Soviet Russia would do nothing to help Prague.

He accused Britain and France of avoiding a "problematical war today in return for a certain and large scale war tomorrow."

Russia's spokesman told the League of Nations assembly the price Britain and France were considering paying to prevent war over Czechoslovakia was "satisfying the appetites of insatiable aggressors by the destruction and mutilation of sovereign states."

"The policy of non-resistance to evil and of humoring the aggressor which we are being recommended to adopt by opponents of league sanctions," he warned, "will have no other end but that of strengthening the forces of aggression."

"Then the moment may really arrive at which aggressors have grown so strong that the League of Nations, or what remains of it, will be unable to deal with them even should it desire to do so."

Litvinoff declared flatly: "Our war department is ready immediately to participate in conference with representatives of the French

SNOW WHITE'S FAIRY TALE FRIENDS

BASHFUL

They will win their way into your hearts at the showing of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" at the Pampa High school auditorium on the night of September 30. The engaging character of "Dopey" will be played by Shirley Dean Cavender. Stella Mae Murphy as "Bashful" will do the "Bashful Dwarf Dance." The production is being given here for the benefit of the Pampa Kiwanis Club underprivileged children's fund.

CHILDREN 7 TO 9 YEARS WILL PLAY ROLE OF DWARFS IN PLAY

Youngsters 7 to 9 years old will have an opportunity to aid the underprivileged children of Pampa when the dwarfs cavort across the stage of the Pampa High school auditorium on the night of September 30 in the production "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

The youngsters have spent long weeks in rehearsing for the production and are as anxious for the opening night as is Mrs. Doris Landers Hess, director.

Playing the part of "Doc" will be Hurshtine Journey, already a pianist at the age of 7 years. She will play for two dances.

William Boyd Fcmby, who plays the part of "Grumpy" is a seasoned trouper at the age of nine. Shirley Dean Cavender, "Dopey" in the play, is expert in pantomime. She's seven.

Bobby Lacey, 7, finds the part of "Sneezy" right in line with his dramatic talents. "Sleepy" will be portrayed by Donald Albright, who has just passed his eighth milestone.

Jean Chandler, 9 years old, will play the merry part of "Happy."

TRUCKS RUSH NAZI TROOPS

BERLIN, Sept. 21 (AP)—A continuous stream of motor trucks rumbled through Berlin and eastern sections of Germany today, rushing troops to an undisclosed destination.

Germany apparently was getting ready for the final act in the Czech drama.

The movement in Berlin, where trucks requisitioned from commercial firms were used to carry soldiers, was typical of what was reported throughout Germany, especially in the eastern sections, including Austria, which surround Czechoslovakia's western end.

Chancellor Hitler hastened to Godesberg, where he is scheduled to assume the role of protector of Czechoslovakia's German, Hungarian and Polish minorities in a second meeting with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain tomorrow.

Confidence was expressed in the strictly-controlled Nazi press that the two men would "go straight ahead in solving" the Czechoslovak-German crisis on the basis of a French-British scheme for splitting up the little 20-year-old republic.

A source close to the foreign office pointed out two important aspects of the dangerous impasse resulting from Czechoslovakia's hesitancy in according to the French-British plan:

- 1—With every passing day, Hitler's price for peace goes higher.
- 2—Nazi Germany thinks first of the Sudeten-German minority in Czechoslovakia but fully recognizes other nations' rights. Hence, a solution "will be found satisfactory to justified interests of all nationalities groups, not the least of which are the Hungarian and Poles."

WESS, Czechoslovakia (As the German frontier), Sept. 21 (AP)—A night raiding force of the Sudeten German "free corps" early today attacked the Czechoslovak customs house at Wess, three miles from Eger, seriously wounding one Czechoslovak soldier.

At least one of the raiders was believed wounded. At daylight Czechoslovaks found one German rifle and some civilian hats at the scene of the raid. They said at least 35 of the "free corps" took part in the attack, in which some 19 shots were exchanged.

A detachment of 40 Czechoslovak soldiers armed with hand grenades arrived here two hours after the clash.

"A 'free corps' camp is reported located at Redwitz, 10 miles from Wess."

JAP LINER ABOARD. SEATTLE, Sept. 21 (AP)—The Japanese passenger liner, Hikawa Maru, inbound from the Orient, went aground in heavy fog for a few miles north of her pier here at 5:30 a. m. today. The ship was believed in no danger. Two tugs went to her side. Officials hoped to refloat her at high tide, about noon.

TO LAY CORNERSTONE. AUSTIN, Sept. 21 (AP)—Austin made plans today to lay the cornerstone of a remodeled municipal building estimated to cost $250,000. FWA grant of $112,500 was obligated for the work.

WHEN CHAMBERLAIN SMILED

(NEA Radiophoto)

Crude Oil Demand Set At 3,366,800

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP)—The Bureau of Mines estimated the October market demand for domestic crude oil today at 3,366,800 barrels daily.

This would be 77,500 barrels less than the estimate for September and seven per cent less than the actual demand in October last year. October demand for motor fuel, the bureau said, probably would be 45,800,000 barrels, an increase of one per cent over October, 1937.

Daily average crude oil production and runs to stills between July 30 and September 3 averaged 3,383,000 barrels and 3,380,000 barrels, respectively. During this time total crude stocks declined 3,877,000 barrels, including 3,157,000 barrels in domestic grades. The average daily decline in domestic grades was 90,000 barrels. This added to production, gives an apparent daily average demand of 3,473,000 barrels, the bureau said.

October exports of motor fuel were forecast at 4,900,000 barrels, the same as the September forecast. Stocks of finished and unfinished gasoline on July 31 were 76,732,000 barrels. By August 31, these stocks had been reduced to about 71,000,000 barrels—4,000,000 to 5,000,000 above the level of August 31, 1937.

Baptist Laymen To Confer Next Week

FORT WORTH, Sept. 21 (AP)—Baptist preachers and laymen from all of Texas will gather 3,000 strong when the first annual Texas Baptist Laymen's conference meets in Fort Worth, September 26 and 27. It was announced today by R. A. Springer of Dallas, state laymen's leader.

Dr. George W. Truett, president of the Baptist World Alliance; Dr. E. R. Scarborough, president of the Southern Baptist Convention; Dr. Earl V. Elice, former president of the Northern Baptist convention; and Lawson H. Cooke, general secretary of the Baptist Brotherhood of the South, are among the leaders listed on the program.

Stewardship and mobilization will be themes followed during the conference in hope of organizing men for work in church activities, Springer said.

This conference, it was pointed out, will be significant in the beginning of a new organized movement by the Baptist General Convention of Texas to enlist men for a greater interest in church work. State officers to work with Springer and to head up work in various districts of the state will be elected at the conference.

WARD'S SECOND COOKING CLASS TO MEET TODAY

Mr. Brinson, authority on the subject of pressure cooking, who gave instructions and demonstrations for a group of Gray county women yesterday, will continue his program today at the Montgomery Ward store at 2 p. m. and for the remainder of the week.

The lesson today will be a continuation of the previous one with new facts presented and demonstrated. An opportunity for anyone who missed the first lesson to ask questions and "catch up" will be provided. Admission is free.

Faster and safer cooking by the pressure cooker method was emphasized by M. C. Johnson, Ward store manager, in discussing the school. "The highest temperature which can be obtained in an open vessel is 212 degrees Fahrenheit under 15 pounds pressure. It is this excess heat which enables the pressure cooker to cook foods three or four times as fast, to make tender the tougher cuts of meat and to kill dangerous bacteria in the canning of non-acid foods."

The manager also pointed out other advantages such as the saving of fuel due to fast cooking and the use of only one burner; elimination of shrinkage in meats, elimination of smoke, grease, steam and odor, and the cooking of vegetables without water, thus saving important vitamins and mineral salts.

Strip Planting In Hall County Lauded

MEMPHIS, Sept. 21 (AP)—Even obnoxious weeds can aid in the control of wind erosion, Paul McCanne, who has a 156-acre sandy land farm a mile east of Lakeview, has learned.

For nine years McCanne has been cultivating a field, and each year the high winds shifted the sandy soil so much that the young cotton plants were cut down or buried, necessitating replanting from two to five times.

Replanting was becoming a nightmare with McCanne when he took his erosion problem to J. T. Reese, superintendent of the Soil Conservation Service CCC Demonstration camp at Memphis, last January. A survey of the field revealed that, in addition to wind erosion damage, the field also was suffering from sheet erosion. A strip cropping program was decided upon.

During the first week in June, McCanne planted cotton in strips eight rows in width, leaving the weed growth on the intervening strips which were four rows in width. The weeds checked the blowing soil which in previous years had ruined the young cotton plants and necessitated replanting several times.

"I obtained a good stand of cotton from the first planting because the weeds provided almost perfect protection against soil movement in my field," McCanne says.

Dam Bursts, Nurse Swept To Her Death

BROOKFIELD, Mass., Sept. 21 (AP)—Mrs. Linda Woods, 41, of North Brookfield, a nurse and mother of three children, was swept to her death today when an automobile in which she was riding with Dr. Thomas J. O'Boyle was inundated as Deane's Pond dam burst.

The doctor was rescued by three men. First police reports said he had drowned.

They were crossing the dam, part of a highway, returning from a maternity case at the time.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life...

CONSIDER CHANGES IN THE CONSTITUTION One hundred and fifty-one years ago, September 17, the Constitution was signed. The Constitution is like any other growing thing--it is always evolving--and this instrument grew and developed and evolved in protecting the individuals from the despotism of the state for many years. Its real decline started in March, 1913, 25 years ago. It was in its ascendancy for 126 years. It is because we repudiated the principles of this instrument 25 years ago that we have now had the longest and by far the worst depression in our history and without anything in sight to indicate it is ending.

Peace or War?

It seems to the writer that this catastrophe did not come sooner because at the same time we repudiated the principles of the rights of an individual to the pursuit of happiness without interference by the state, we adopted a policy that permitted the bankers to misuse credit and for some 15 years we had the stimulating effect of "a shot in the arm" of expanding credit. This permitted captains of industry to gather together large amounts of capital and furnish labor on a basis that did a great injustice to the lenders of wealth; and when the lenders of wealth found out what was happening to them, as they did in 1928, and decided to convert their debills for capital into real wealth in the form of gold, then we began to realize that something was out of balance. We had moved farther away from the system of free enterprise than we had in 1913.

The Sane Way To Fight For Democracy

No American can read the foreign news these days without asking himself some searching questions about his duty to the cause of democracy and freedom. That Europe's freedom and democracy are in dire straits is too tragically clear to miss. The struggle may come tomorrow or it may be postponed for a few weeks; that it is bound to come before very long now seems certain. We cannot be unmoved by this spectacle. We have in our keeping the brightest, strongest flame of liberty that burns anywhere on the globe today; and as the lights flicker out in Europe we are compelled to ask ourselves just what our duty to the world calls on us to do.

MEASURING EDUCATION

We have heard so much about public education that we have gone far afield from an accurate method of measuring the results of public colleges. In this connection, it might be well to remind the educators of the plan adopted in England about a half century ago, as reported by Thomas Huxley, in an address at the opening of the St. Sir Joseph Mason's Science College, Birmingham. Under a special act they attempted, to pay the educators only for the pupils who passed certain examinations established by such men as Huxley, but we will quote on this subject: "A great step in this direction already has been made by the establishment of science-classes under the Department of Science and Art--a measure which came into existence unnoticed, but which will, I believe turn out to be of more importance to the welfare of the people than many political changes over which the noise of battle has rent the air.

Around Hollywood

BY ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD--This new hair-do the gals are supposed to be wearing is something a male who is extremely mere will have to get used to in small doses. The first time I saw one--on a studio secretary, not a star--I thought it was a mistake. The lady obviously had been called from the tub in a hurry, and had forgotten to take the pins out and let the locks down before she came to work. But it wasn't a mistake at all. It was, I was informed disdainfully, the "latest thing."

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM Mrs. J. K. Redman's dahlias are blooming again, and she is not here to see them. She's been out of town at the bedside of a sick sister for two weeks. This one's sympathy goes to Mrs. Redman. She'd rather miss anything than the blooming of her dahlias, and though she's quite a distance away, her heart is with those great, beautiful flowers. Each day probably, she wonders whether this or that dahlia has bloomed, and which bud is bursting open on which day, and she's also wondering whether the dahlias are as fine this year as last, and to Mrs. Redman this one wants to say that he was in your garden Sunday afternoon, and the dahlias seemed finer than ever before. Mrs. Whitlock is taking good care of them in your absence, and the weather has been fine for them--not much wind. The yellow ones are going to outdo themselves this year because they are in the southwest corner. There were hundreds of blooms Sunday, and of course, the period when the largest and most beautiful blooms occur will not arrive for several weeks. You've already had some deep velvety reds and some sunbursts that were six and eight inches across. The dahlias in your front yard where none grew last year are doing better than those in the back. That bed of tube roses has a lot of blossoms, too, but not for this one who has hay fever. Before you hear it yourself this one wants to report that he swiped two dahlias and a tube rose to give to the beautiful serials in the circus.

Tex's Topix

By Tex DeWesse Ordinarily, I don't listen to short-wave broadcasts on the radio, but last night I turned the wrong gadget and just happened to tune in on a speaker from London who was going strong on the war stuff. He popped like a firecracker and gave us what he said was the low-down on how the people of England felt about England and France "giving in" to Adolf Hitler. He said that by Thursday (tomorrow) Hitler would send his troops out to begin "mopping up" on tiny Czechoslovakia. He also stated that the people of Great Britain were not by any means wholly in accord with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's attitude in capitulating to the German reichfuhrer and telling him it was okay with France and England to take Sudeetenland under the Hitlerian wing.

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GALDSTON, M. D. MODERN DRUGS There is this cardinal difference between the older drugs and those of modern times. The older drugs were employed as remedies for diseases. The modern drugs are used specifically in the treatment of symptoms or of known disturbances of body function. To make the matter clear, let us contrast the "shot-gun" prescriptions that were in common use a century ago in the treatment, for example, of typhoid or tuberculosis, with the use today of specific drugs, such as thyrod extract in the treatment of thyroid deficiency (or of insulin in the treatment of diabetes). "Shot-gun" prescriptions were compounded out of many drugs and they were called "shot-gun" prescriptions because, like the shotgun, they were loaded with many elements in the hope that some of the many ingredients might prove effective. During the early part of the present century there was a marked reaction against this form of drug therapy, and physicians became cynical in the use of drugs. They restricted themselves to using only those of undoubted effectiveness. On the whole this reaction was desirable, but in more recent years drug therapy has advanced so markedly that there is no longer any ground for a nihilistic attitude. Inasmuch as the human body is so largely "chemical" in nature it has been possible in many instances to remedy morbid conditions by the use of suitable chemical compounds. The outstanding examples of this are to be witnessed of course in the treatment of diseases of the glands of internal secretion. Equally impressive are the results obtained in what is known as chemotherapy, in which field Sarsaparilla was the first and sulfa-nilamide the latest of triumphs. The older doctor labored under the conviction that for every disease there must be a remedy, and his search for the remedies was conducted largely on an empirical, that is, trial and error basis. Modern medicine concentrates its attention more on the symptoms than on the disease and attempts to rationally meet the problems of disease in terms of the specific disturbances encountered. This has yielded brilliant results through comparatively simple mechanisms.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON, Sept. 21--The rush of propaganda intended to line up the United States with one or the other of the European factions has been going on for some time. Should war break, it will immediately redouble, and truth will be the first casualty in this as in all wars. There will be less excuse for being misled this time, however, for over at the State Department in the Office of Munitions Control a series of earnest conferences are going on. Foreign propagandists are registering in accord with a law which has just gone into effect. Others are seeking expert advice as to whether they have to register. If they do under the law, they must set down the names of their activities, what they are paid, and what their duties are. The intent of the law is to enable the American people to tell who is feeding them what propaganda. Registration data is open to all. Failure to register subjects the agent to a fine up to $1,000 and a jail term up to two years. Like all laws, this one is not bullet-proof, and the administering office has been for weeks engaged in drawing up regulations interpreting the act. There is some doubt as to just how completely any such law can reveal the inner cogwheels of the propaganda machines, for deviousness is usually their first characteristic. But it should help, and the early rush of propagandists to register shows that at least some of the more obvious propaganda programs will be revealed for what they are, thus enabling people to divide their product by the proper common denominator.

The Nation's Press

CHAMBERLAIN TALKS TO HITLER (Chicago Tribune) Mr. Chamberlain took the hard way of diplomacy when he went to see Hitler, but if he prevents a war the personal unpleasantness of the effort was a small price, for men big enough to pay it. Some of the Nazis would regard it as an achievement to have brought the political head of the British empire to Hitler's house as a suppliant for peace and would think of it as the great triumph of restored German power. It may have been as difficult for Mr. Chamberlain to go to Hitler as it would have been for Pitt to go to Napoleon. Many people have felt that the tragedy of 1914 was found in the failure of men who could have stopped the war to get together at the right moment to say the right words. If the authorities whose command would have been final could have talked to each other without need of referring each statement to someone else, the armies might have been held back. Maybe it would have been only a postponement to await another cause, but such a view of historical fatality is not necessarily accurate. It may be true that quite as many wars have been avoided as have been fought. The British government doesn't want this war, France doesn't want it, and regardless of governments, all the peoples who might be involved look upon the prospect with mortal dread. The British naturally would think it a supreme misfortune if their young men again had to be in the trenches, suffering and dying because three million Germans couldn't get along with ten or twelve million Czechs. Americans certainly would feel that it was a terrible mismanagement of their own affairs if such a problem required them to send a million or so young men to churn up the mud in France again and leave their bodies there. There would seem to be no necessary war in any such a question. Power politics in Europe for centuries has regarded armies as something to be used to carry out policies, but people don't think of wars in terms of armies any more but in terms of bombarded civilian populations. If Mr. Chamberlain can keep bombers out of the sky above London, it's worth a surrender of dignity and prestige, if such a sacrifice is involved in calling on the German head of state in his mountain retreat. In the Washington of 1915 you couldn't walk down the street without stepping on agents, avowed or secret, amateur or professional, of foreign governments. In 1938 it is almost as bad, and should war actually come to Europe it will be much worse.

The Capital Jigsaw

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL AUSTIN, Sept. 21 (AP)--General Johnson Hagood of San Antonio, U. S. Army retired and authority on military topics, says pacifism is dead. Addressing the state convention of the American Legion here recently, General Hagood, in characteristic fashion, made strong assertions against pacifism, one of his favorite subjects. "Pacifism is a born of ignorance," he told the Legionnaires, "and the more you study it, the sooner you find out it is a hollow mockery." The general said there were three kinds of pacifists: First, the conscientious objectors, whom he classified as harmless; second, the militant pacifists, who he declared were dangerous; and third, the bogus pacifists, who he asserted were the most dangerous of all. "They include the reds, the yellows, the pinks and the greens," he said. "They go about like sheep in wolves' clothing, using the cloak of peace to cover their plans for revolution." "But in spite of the united efforts of all the pacifists," he declared, "Congress has just enacted into law the biggest preparedness program in history. Not a member of the House or Senate dared rise and oppose this program on grounds of pacifism." At one point in his speech General Hagood, who was popular with Negroes in the army because of his interest in them, brought a roar of laughter with a story about himself. He said he was once in civilian dress in a large city and was surprised to be saluted and addressed by a negro soldier who he failed to recognize but who called him by name. "Were you with such and such infantry?" he asked the negro, trying to learn how he knew him. The reply was in the negative. It was the same with several other negro detachments which he had commanded. "Now, huh," the negro answered to each question. "Well then," the general said, "how is it that you know me?" "Well, general," was the answer, "all us niggers knows you as the 'father of all the colored boys in the army.'" The general asserted his own stand on military defense in no uncertain terms. "I am not one who can visualize our people waiting around a year until we can mobilize our man power and industry (in time of war)," he said. "We have three million machine guns and rifles. They are the kind used in the Argonne. They may not be the latest model but they will go off if you pull the trigger. We have plenty of three and six-inch artillery. We have plenty of ammunition, most of which, thank God, is still good. We have the American Legion and the sons and grandsons of the Legionnaires coming on." America's problem is not to tinker around with a little seventeenth century army of regulars and national guard. (He said the U. S. army ranked 17th among world powers.) Then he brought his plan of national defense. "It consists," he said, "in devising simple and effective methods by which all our young men can be called out immediately when the emergency comes; can be instantly armed and equipped with what we have got; can be rapidly trained in the great essentials, and can be given the chance to fight as they go."

YOU AND YOUR Nation's Affairs

Politics in California By ERIK MCKINLEY ERIKSSON Professor of History, University of Southern California To the casual observer the most impressive feature of the recent primary election in California was the elimination of the Roosevelt endorsed Senator William G. McAdoo, Mr. McAdoo for six years a star and proved himself one of the most faithful of those supporting the President. He could be depended on to approve any measure desired by the leader of the New Deal. For example, he was in full accord with the scheme to pack the Supreme Court. During the pre-primary campaign he openly boasted of the support he had given to the President in the fight to gain control of the federal judiciary. Having enjoyed almost complete power to distribute the federal patronage in California since 1933, Senator McAdoo had built up a powerful political machine in the state composed largely of office holders. This fact, together with the personal support of President Roosevelt, made him a favorite for the senatorial nomination. The professional bettors, usually shrewd in such matters, indicated him as a 2 to 1 favorite on the day before the election. In spite of the odds in his favor and despite the fact that he had been a figure of prominence in national politics since the beginning of the Wilson administration, he was soundly beaten by Sheridan Downey who was hardly known outside of his state. What was it that produced this phenomenon? Many interpret the result as evidence of the desire of the "stars" of the Democratic party to be free to select their candidates for office without presidential dictation. Unquestionably this was a factor and, when coupled with the action of the South Carolina voters on the same day in renominating Senator Smith who had been marked by the President for "putting a beam in the eye" of the opposition, the nomination of Downey was in no sense a repudiation of the Chief Executive. Throughout his campaign for the senatorial nomination, Mr. Downey had tried to outdo his chief opponent in professing loyalty to President Roosevelt. On the eve of the election he issued over his signature a statement in which he promised that if elected he shall raise my voice in the courts of the Nation in support of the ideals of President Roosevelt. Mr. Downey's success must be ascribed to some other cause or causes than a feeling of antipathy on the part of California Democrats towards the President. It must be recognized that Mr. McAdoo alienated powerful support when he refused to recommend for reappointment Peira Hall as the United States District Attorney at Los Angeles. Thereupon Mr. Hall threw himself in the fight on behalf of Mr. Downey, thereby causing many Democrats to desert Senator McAdoo. Furthermore it must be recognized that Mr. Downey by his open friendship with the Townsend pension scheme gained much support. Not only did the Townsendites consider him their candidate but he was also supported by those who hope to force upon California the 33rd Every Thursday pension plan. In addition he was supported by the remnants of the 33rd group who controlled the Democratic party in the state in 1934. Likewise he had the endorsement of the Thos-Mooney factor, who have become increasingly numerous in short. Mr. Downey was nominated chiefly by the left wing elements of his party. The election in November will see him pitted against a Republican whose views are fundamentally different. His voters will have a real choice between a self-styled liberal free to select their candidates for office without presidential dictation. Unquestionably this was a factor and, when coupled with the action of the South Carolina voters on the same

NORSEMEN HAVE NINE LETTERMEN BACK FROM 1937 TEAM

PAMPANS WILL BATTLE BEEFY LINE FRIDAY

The Harvesters will face another big line Friday night when they square off against the Norsemen of Northeast High school, Oklahoma City.

The Norsemen have plenty of big boys in the line positions. The backfield is comparatively light. This week Coaches Mitchell and Prejean have been emphasizing such fundamentals as blocking, tackling in practice. Considerable time has been devoted to building up a pass defense, the lack of which contributed to the 23 to 3 defeat of the Harvesters last Friday night by Riverside of Fort Worth.

Northeast high is the newest high school in Oklahoma City. It opened its doors the first time in 1937. It started its football team last fall with only two boys of any previous experience.

Last year the team won five and lost four games, including defeats by Tulsa and Norman. The team began practicing Sept. 1 this year, conforming to a rule adopted by Oklahoma schools. The team played Concho Indian school last Friday.

Coach of the Norsemen is McManis who was formerly line coach at Southwestern Teachers college, whose teams used to play the West Texas Buffaloes of Canyon.

Best linemen on the team are Miller, guard, 145; Morris, tackle, 170; Singley, end, 145; and best backs are Aikin, 155; and Stewart, 140, both of whom kick and pass. The Harvesters will likely have a good opportunity to try out their new pass defense because the Norsemen were famous as passers last year, and they have nine lettermen back this year.

Line runs from short punt and single wing back formations. The Harvester casualties may see service Friday night. Hessey is again in uniform, and Carr has been running plays.

Donkey Ball Game To Be Played In LeFors Tonight

LeFors, Sept. 21—Clad in dresses the men teachers of LeFors will compete against the Allstar teams composed of local oil company superintendents and workers in a game of donkey baseball to be played here at 8 o'clock tonight at Shaw park.

On the absent-minded professor's team will be John Foubure, James Horace Dinean, Francis Smith, "Bismarck" Rex Reeves, D. V. Biggers, John Rankin, Sa McClelland, A. J. Hill, E. L. McCluskey, and Cecil Brown.

Among the players on the Allstars will be Charlie Pechacek, Hank Wade, Tom Graham, Stormy Jordan, Jake Leggett, Bill Smith, Glen Thompson, and Kimble Neal.

Donkeys for the game are furnished by the Dallas Texas Ranger Donkey Baseball team.

Admission to the game will be 25 and 10 cents, with the proceeds going to the benefit of the LeFors Pirates.

It is said that one of the reasons given by Louis XIV for the building of the great palace at Versailles was that it would provide employment for 30,000 workmen over many years.

First Fatality

Princeton football hopes received a big setback for 1938 when Bill Lynch, Tiger fullback from Birmingham, Mich., died from a heart attack at the conclusion of a light practice session. Lynch, 22, who also was a star track man, having toured Europe with an American A. A. U. squad this summer, was the first collegiate grid fatality of the season.

Red Sox and Indians in Second Place Struggle

Candid Camera Fiends Have Day

Candid camera enthusiasts shot to their hearts' content when they were allowed on the field and in the dugouts of Sportsman's Park, St. Louis. A Camera Day was declared, and lens jads and lassies swarmed all over the place, making the noble athletes pose in every possible manner. It was one way of having the games photographed and to get someone to come out and see them play. Douglas Rowland, Robert Fisher, and Jack Halloran, left to right, mug infielder Roy Hughes, left, and Pitcher Ed Linke from the top of the dugout.

LIONS BECOME 'OLD MEN' AS ROTARIANS WIN GAME 8 TO 3

The battle is over, and a civic club champion has been crowned today as softball citizenry recounted how the Pampa Rotarians gowned the Pampa Lions 8 to 3 out at Recreation Park last night before a roaring crowd of fans who paid to see the game. The paying customers didn't feel so badly about it, though, because the money was all turned over to the Salvation Army.

Ed things about the whole affair is that the Lions again had to bow to a trouncing at the hands of the bragging Rotarians who already had handed the Lions a 20 to 5 defeat earlier in the season.

These fellows you saw limping down the street today were members of one or the other of the two clubs. The night was filled with arguments but nobody was injured. Police said the game was fairly ordered considering the make-up of the two teams.

One nice thing about it, even the players had to pay to get into the park.

FRIENDLY BEE
DES MOINES, Ia., (AP)—A bee flew into Mrs. C. R. Treanor's car and settled on her hand.

While trying to shoo it away, Mrs. Treanor lost control of the automobile which crashed into a viaduct pillar.

Mrs. Treanor and her daughter Jerry, 6, were taken to a hospital.

But a bee sting was not among the injuries.

According to the Pittsburgh papers, Sonny Martin, Pittsburgh, knocked out Sonny Martin, Florida, the other night. . . . Are you listening, Mr. Ripley? . . . This is golf for you: The other afternoon Bill Brickley, only a eagle on the 475-yard 18th hole of the Rockway course, Kitchener, Ont., but his partner, Lloyd Tucker, took the hole away from him by sinking his approach for a double eagle two on the par five hole. . . . Ouch! . . . Julian Black and John Roxborough, managers of Joe Louis, have gone into the light-heavyweight business and are grooming Dave Clark of Detroit for John Henry Lewis' crown.

SAINTS STOP BOWER
ST. PAUL, Sept. 21 (AP)—St. Paul's American Association Champions returned home today still in the running for the Shaughnessy playoff championship and a chance at "Little World Series" honors. The Saints stopped the rush of the Milwaukee Brewers and their ace pitcher, Whitlow Wyatt, last night by winning the fifth game of the series, 5 to 4. It was St. Paul's second triumph. The clubs meet again tonight. Kansas City has disposed of Indianapolis in the semi-final.

THREE FIRST STRING PONIES OUT OF GAME

(By The Associated Press)
Slam-bang scrimmage sessions designed to prepare Southwest conference football squads for opening games this week had more than one coach lamenting the loss of key men to 'ay.

Marty Bell, Southern Methodist minor, was hit hardest with three first-stringers definitely out of the game with North Texas State Saturday. Charlie Busacker, passer and punter; John Coppedge, halfback, and Jack Sanders, regular tackle, were those on the shelf. Two others are on the dubful list.

Baylor university counted Fred Graham, letterman back; Milton Merka, leading sophomore back; and Frank Marx on the injured roll. Paul Smith, sophomore fullback, was alling at Texas Christian university where another soph, Connie Sparks, was given a starting berth for the game with Centenary. He will do the punting.

Ralph Alwood, quarterback, was out of the game with the Oklahoma Aggies with Gloyd Lyon drawing his assignment for the Arkansas Razorbacks. Lyon is just recovering from an injury of his own.

Coach Dana Bibb of Texas University apparently had picked Bobby Moore, a sophomore, to take the place of Halfback Charlie Haas, out for the season with an injured shoulder.

Texas A. and M. worked at light pass defense and blocking as the Cadets tapered off for their opener with Texas A. and I. Saturday. No injuries were reported.

Jake Schuehle and Ernie Lain made Coach Jimmy Kitts happy at Rice as they smashed over four touchdowns against the second team. Schuehle got three of them. Ollie Cordill, backfield star, returned to the line-up after an absence of several days due to a shoulder injury.

BIDS for SMILES

An old physician of the last generation was noted for his brusque manner and old fashioned methods. One day he received a call to attend a sick baby and when he had examined the child he prescribed to the mother that she use castor oil.

"But 'doctor," she protested, "Castor Oil is such an old fashioned remedy."

"Madam," replied the physician, "babies are old fashioned things."

"But my town was the coldest another claimant for 'coldest town' said. "You know that statue of Abraham Lincoln with his hand on the back of a chair?" Everyone nodded. "Well," he said, triumphantly, "it was so cold he had to put his hands into his pockets."

Entering the kitchen several times just as her cook was going home for the night, the lady of the house had thought that she had seen the jolly colored woman stuff empty grapefruit hulls into her black bag. She had never been sure enough to remark about it, but one night she had arrived in time and actually confirmed her suspicions. It was peculiar enough that was curious so she asked.

"Maggie, why do you carry those empty grapefruit hulls home with you?"

"Well, ma'am, I'll just tell you. They do make my garbage at home look so stylish."

Missions Hold 2 to 1 Margin

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 21 (AP)—The Beaumont Exporters, who led the Texas league campaign by a healthy margin over the San Antonio Missions, found the Padres quite different in the Shaughnessy playoff today as they squared off for the fourth game of the championship series.

San Antonio held a two-to-one margin in wins as a result of a 4-3 victory last night in which Mill Brynes was the hero. Brynes singled in the ninth to drive in Art Scharlein with the winning tally after the teams battled to a tie in the fourth, the score remaining 3-3 until the final.

Willie Turnesa's Putter Returned

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 21 (AP)—Willie Turnesa's "Mary Ann," charmed putter which he lost in the excitement of winning the national amateur golf championship, speeded to Turnesa's home in Elmford, N. Y., today aboard a mail train.

An unidentified man telephoned a Pittsburgh newspaper (Post-Gazette) last night and admitted he had picked up the putter after it had fallen out of Turnesa's bag at the conclusion of Turnesa's title match with Pat Abbott last Saturday at Oakmont. The caller added that the club was on its way to the amateur champion.

Sydney Wood To Play Don Budge

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 21 (AP)—If rain doesn't interfere, Sydney Wood will clash this afternoon against Donald Budge in the semi-finals of the national singles tennis championship.

It may be the best tennis match the tournament has ever seen and then again it may be pretty awful. Either way it is the most interesting match of the day, outshining the other men's semi-final, Gene Mako vs. Jack Bromwich, and the lone women's fray, Alice Marble against Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fryban. Rain forced postponement of the semi-finals since last Saturday.

Floods Menace New England Lowlands

BOSTON, Sept. 21 (AP)—New England streams swollen by a four-day storm which caused ten deaths, two train derailments and a number of injuries, presented today a new flood menace in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Connecticut.

In Rhode Island, state officials moved to guard the Blacksone and Woonasquacket valleys against the possibility of collapsing dams as the Blacksone river flowed three feet above normal and the Woonasquacket was two feet above ordinary flow level.

Lowlanders in those valleys prepared to move out, while in Massachusetts, residents of Barre Plains near the rising War river, already had evacuated homes flooded by water at a depth of six feet.

Manufacturing plants in two Massachusetts communities were closed. One hundred fifty workers were made idle in Gardner when water flooded five factories. Southbridge plants closed with engine rooms under water.

Connecticut, drenched by virtually steady rain now in its fifth day, was confronted today with the worst flood conditions since May of 1936.

Exercise 'Boy' for Her Daddy

At Belmont Park, before and after school, Phyllis Reuther finds something vastly more exciting than books. Phyllis, who is 12 and wants to be a trainer like her father, Phil Reuther, is a crackjack exercise "boy."

That overwhelming victory overshadowed everything in the first round flight, including the defeat of the six-time former champion, Glenna Collett Vare. It overshadowed the performance of Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N. C., the defending champion in eliminating the Canadian titleholder, Mrs. Eric Phillips of Lambton Mills, Ont. Mrs. Vare was swept to the sidelines by 18-year-old Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga.

As the field of 32 survivors got away on the second and third flights of the 218-hole rounds today, the Minneapolis red-head, and Mrs. Page, 31-year-old housewife, were ranking favorites to wind up as finalists for the championship Saturday.

Warriors To Play Pirates Friday

LEFORS, Sept. 21—Winners of their games last week, the Pirates of LeFors and the Warriors of Miami will be set to determine which team can continue its victorious march, when they play at 8 o'clock Friday night at Shaw park here.

Last week LeFors bowled over Clarendon 26 to 6 while Miami whipped Kelton 6-0.

Coach Daniels' Miami team is composed almost entirely of new men, with Pursley, right halfback, and Craig, 180-pound fullback, as the outstanding players thus far in the season.

LeFors has been polishing up its offense and making improvements in blocking during the week.

Berg Beats Mrs. Davey 10 And 8

CHICAGO, Sept. 21 (AP)—The prize ring had its "killers"—notably Jack Dempsey. Now women's golf has one in harmless looking Patty Berg of Minneapolis.

Miss Berg, with her red hair and freckled face, and just 20 years old, looks tame enough until she starts swinging her clubs. Then she is ruthless. In a mighty blast of just 42 shots at Westmoreland Country club yesterday, Patty smothered Mrs. Myron Davey of Washington, D. C., 10 and 8 in as crushing a defeat as any women's national tournament has ever produced. She won ten straight holes.

That overwhelming victory overshadowed everything in the first round flight, including the defeat of the six-time former champion, Glenna Collett Vare. It overshadowed the performance of Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N. C., the defending champion in eliminating the Canadian titleholder, Mrs. Eric Phillips of Lambton Mills, Ont. ## De Correvont To Gallop Saturday

CHICAGO, Sept. 21 (AP)—Bill De Correvont, the nation's most highly publicized 1937 prep football player, will gallop again Saturday on a college gridiron.

In it De Correvont will make his collegiate debut as the freshman's left halfback.

After all fixing a ticket wasn't so important. The boys hadn't actually been involved in an accident. A traffic violation was not a serious offense...

Monday came quickly enough: a day of brilliant sunshine, of trees still more green following the week-end rain...

Pat approached one of the sergeants before the day's sessions began. She couldn't bring herself to go to Tom after his kindness the other evening...

The big office grinned and winked. "Sure, it's done every day, and it's not complicated."

The paper campaign over the Saturday hit-run case had resulted in more stringent tightening of traffic regulations...

notes. Tom's words would make good copy, she supposed, even though she felt a little shiver of possessive pride...

Across the red and white checked table down in the little restaurant where Tom took her during the lunch hour...

"Drama—yes, that's it," she repeated. "For instance that horrible accident Saturday. What will happen to the driver if he's caught?"

"When he's caught, you mean," Tom corrected with a tightening of his jaw. "Oh, he'll slip up before long. The police will get a break and they'll find him."

ment to get his client off with a jury trial.

TOM lighted a cigaret and leaned back with a smile. "After all we're getting serious and we've decided not to talk business."

Larry phoned shortly before it was time to leave for the day. "Pick you up around five," he said.

"A nice quiet morning," he said while studying the menu. "But as it is we're here and for a little while we can forget traffic."

"I know how you feel. We see a slice of life here every day. There's a suspense, a tenseness in the drama of a court. We're sort of behind the scenes and it gets you eventually."

"Ordinarily that would have sent her bubbling over with eagerness, with the thrill of a new car that could be used on their honeymoon. But now a strange chill settled about her, again that tingling sensation of an unknown fear."

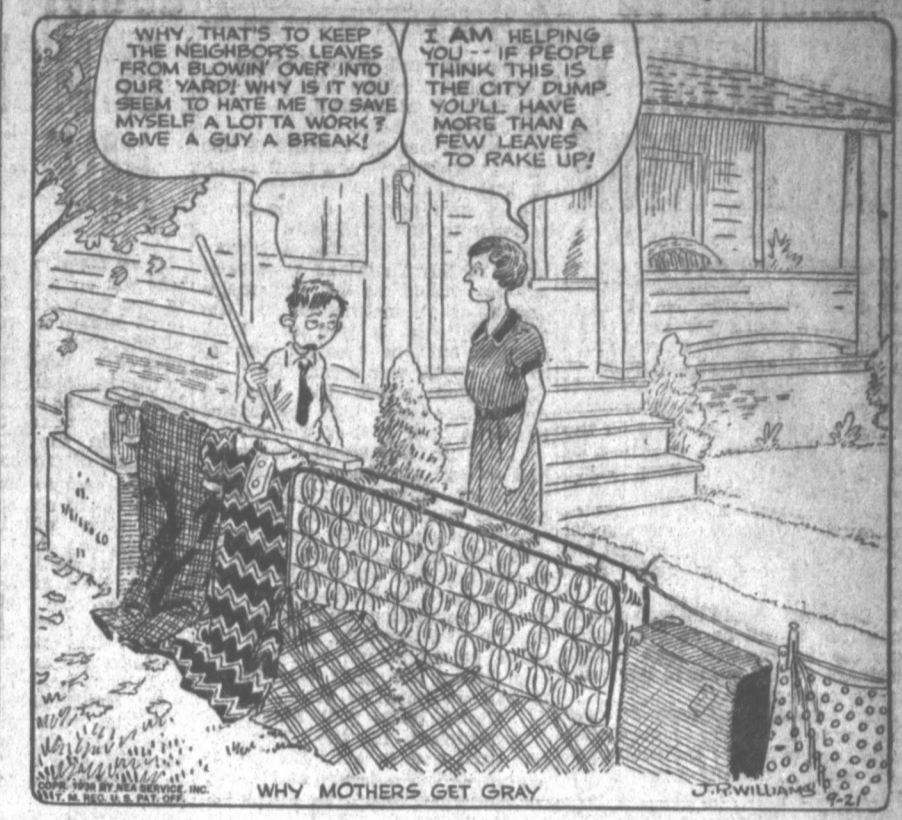

Larry's voice was terse and calm as he spoke. "Well, how were things today? Busy? I suppose. Many drunk drivers?"

"You're still an innocent child at heart, darling," he said. "Those same boys could probably be swung around just by a pretty pair of eyes like yours."
