DIVORCEE DIES IN RESTAURANT

Mrs. Lucille Fray Found Dead Later by Deputies

TULSA, Okla., May 4.—(AP)—Believed to have slain his wife, Mrs. Lucille Fray, 25, at her Tulsa home, and then to have killed his divorced wife, Mrs. Laura Fray, 35, at Jenks, Okla., early today, Charles Fray, 37 former Jenks ice manufacturer, was himself probably dying at a hospital here from a bullet received in resisting arrest.

Both women were killed by shot gun charges. Mrs. Laura Fray, the divorced wife, was killed in the restaurant she owned, at 12:30 this morning. She was awakened by some one breaking down the front door. Taking a revolver, she went to the front of the restaurant to investigate. Her head was blown off by a shot gun charge fired by the intruder.

County officers were notified, and went to the home of Fray's mother, Mrs. Anna Fray at Jenks. They found Fray hiding behind a door. He fired a shot gun at A. G. Curtis, Jenks town marshal, striking the officer in the shoulder. Bill Pinion, deputy sheriff, dropped Fray with a revolver shot in the abdomen.

Fray was brought to Tulsa and several hours later, officers going to Fray's Tulsa home found that Mrs. Lucille Fray, the second wife, had been shot through the abdomen by a shot gun charge.

NO SMOKE, NO FIRE DESPITE ALARM TODAY

Blaze Was Out When Department Finally Found Right Place

"After a search which covered three streets, the fire department this morning located a fire in the Country club addition. The department is working under difficulties with the streets not numbered, and some not named, and if the fire department is going to serve the citizens it must have more co-operation." Chief Ben White said this morning after the call.

"A call is received that a fire is in a house owned by so and so in a certain addition and the party then hangs up leaving the firemen to hunt that house. If the department is to give service it must receive more specific instructions."

The automobiles again are commencing to follow the trucks, and from now on every offender will be turned over to the officers.

The call received this morning was from Dr. McKeen's residence in the Country club addition, where a gas stove had ignited a shelf over the stove. The fire was out when the department arrived.

BATTLE RAGES AS CHINESE MASS ON JAPANESE TROOPS

PEKING, May 4.—(AP)—The Japanese legation stated this afternoon that the Chinese had failed to abide by their agreement to evacuate the Japanese settlement at Tsinanfu at seven o'clock this morning. At 11 o'clock, Chinese troops massed on the eastern border of the settlement and attempted to rush those who were defending it. Fighting was resumed and was still continuing at two o'clock this afternoon.

SHANGHAI, May 4.—(AP)—Tsai Kung-Hsin, who only yesterday was appointed Nationalist commissioner of foreign affairs at Tsinan, and his staff, have been killed by Japanese soldiers, says a message to King Wen-Szu, Nationalist foreign affairs commissioner at Shanghai.

TOKYO, May 4.—(AP)—Official dispatches from Tsinan today said that the Chinese nationalist forces re-opened their attack at 2 a. m., today when large numbers attempted to rush the Japanese line of defense.

Japanese and other foreigners living outside the town were reported to have been massacred. Because of unsettled conditions, the extent of the outrages could not be learned.

The fighting continued intensely for three hours, after which it diminished.

The Japanese Navy office ordered warships to proceed to various ports along the Yangtze river and in South China today as a precaution against anti-Japanese outbreaks such as have occurred at Tsinan-Fu. Four additional destroyers were ordered to Tsinan.

TOKYO, May 4.—(AP)—With forty-six Japanese soldiers slain and many Japanese civilians murdered in Tsinan, capital of Shantung, the Japanese government moved rapidly today to deal with a serious situation.

The cabinet decided to order a mixed brigade of about 2,000 soldiers from Dairen, Manchuria, to Tsinan.

Japanese wireless reports from Tsinan stated that the Japanese commander there conferred with general Chiang Kai-Shek, commander-in-chief of the Nationalists who occupied Tsinan on May 1.

Japanese troops were protecting all foreigners as well as their own nationals in the city. It was assumed therefore that the Americans who had remained there after most British and American residents were to Tsinan were inside the protected area. The Japanese commander was hopeful that order would be restored soon.

Six Japanese officers were included among the 46 members of the Japanese expeditionary force who were killed. Many were wounded. No estimate was available of the Chinese casualties although they were believed to be heavy.

Japanese civilians were stated to have been massacred to the east of the city.

Japan sent a large force into Shantung before the Nationalists drove the were to protect Japanese nationals and their commander insisted that the railway between Tsinan and Tsingtao be kept open during hostilities between North and South China.

It was understood that the Japanese reached an agreement with the Nationalist leaders after the occupation of Tsinan, but later word came that the Nationalist command was unable to restrain his men who were looting the city promiscuously.

Although latest dispatches were hopeful that the worst of the trouble was over, Chinese were stated to be looting within the confines of the international settlement as late as last night.

Nationalist headquarters said that news of these happenings was suppressed in order to avoid exciting the troops. They claimed that later, however, Nationalist soldiers were fired upon by Japanese troops as the Nationalists were passing through the streets. The Nationalist returned the fire and a general melee followed in which there were many casualties, both of soldiers and civilians. This precipitated more serious clashes.

Dispatches from Osaka, Japan, today said that the Chinese-Japanese fighting overshadowed the political situation in Japan which resulted from the introduction of a motion of non-confidence in the home minister in the Diet. Newspapers were filled with war office reports from Shantung and these indicated that a thousand southern Nationalist soldiers were looting Tsinan.

Dispatches from the Panhandle territory, the Danciger Oil and Refining company's No. 1 Crank in section 163, block 3, is making about 200 barrels of 45.5 gravity oil following a shot of 160 quarts. This is the highest gravity oil in that field. About half a mile from the well in the same section the Guernsey Oil company's No. 2 is making 70 barrels a day cleaning out following a shot.

Just inside the Western line of Gray county the Empire Gas and Fuel company's No. 1 Dater in section 236, block B-2, made a slight spray of oil from 3,010 feet with the hole bottomed at 3,015 feet. The 6-inch casing is being re-cemented and the well will be drilled in soon.

In the LeFors district the Plains Drilling company and Ray and McCadden's No. 1 Chapman has a hole full of oil at 2,777 feet and is shut down for work.

On the north fork of the Red river the Sullivan et al's No. 1 S. A. Cobb in section 64, block 25, sprayed 44.5 gravity oil from 2,519 to 2,522 feet and the well shut down for storage. This well is in the area opened by the McCauley et al's well some months ago.

Wells holding the interest of oil operators in the Gray county field include the Eslick, Reiger and Sines No. 1, Maggie Hopkins in section 84, block B-2, three miles south of production on the Jackson lease, which is drilling ahead at 3,110 feet following two shows of oil.

PREMIUMS NOW GIVEN BY BELL FOR SWEET OIL

Best Crude in Demand in Hutchinson and Gray Counties

DANCIGER WELL AT 200 BARRELS

Semi-Wildcats Have Showings of Much Interest

Panhandle operators are more optimistic for an oil price raise as a result of the Bell Oil and Gas company's offering a premium for about 300 barrels daily in the Gray and Hutchinson fields. A premium of 5c a barrel for 175 barrels of the Dan A. Japhet production in Hutchinson county was offered and a 7 1-2-cent premium was offered for 600 barrels of the "sweet" oil from the Gibson Oil company well in the McGee pool, Gray county.

So far as leasing is concerned, Moore county appears to be getting the noteworthy play. However that is not a strike one. Leasing in other areas continues about normal with Gray county getting a big share of the lease and royalty trades.

The completion report from the Panhandle field did not show any outstanding wells for the week, although more wells were completed than normally.

In Gray county, east of the McCone well pool in semi-wildcat territory, the Danciger Oil and Refining company's No. 1 Crank in section 163, block 3, is making about 200 barrels of 45.5 gravity oil following a shot of 160 quarts.

This is the highest gravity oil in that field. About half a mile from the well in the same section the Guernsey Oil company's No. 2 is making 70 barrels a day cleaning out following a shot.

Just inside the Western line of Gray county the Empire Gas and Fuel company's No. 1 Dater in section 236, block B-2, made a slight spray of oil from 3,010 feet with the hole bottomed at 3,015 feet. The 6-inch casing is being re-cemented and the well will be drilled in soon.

In the LeFors district the Plains Drilling company and Ray and McCadden's No. 1 Chapman has a hole full of oil at 2,777 feet and is shut down for work.

On the north fork of the Red river the Sullivan et al's No. 1 S. A. Cobb in section 64, block 25, sprayed 44.5 gravity oil from 2,519 to 2,522 feet and the well shut down for storage. This well is in the area opened by the McCauley et al's well some months ago.

Wells holding the interest of oil operators in the Gray county field include the Eslick, Reiger and Sines No. 1, Maggie Hopkins in section 84, block B-2, three miles south of production on the Jackson lease, which is drilling ahead at 3,110 feet following two shows of oil.

The Tobias et al's No. 1 W. H. Taylor in section 10, block B-2, seven miles south of LeFors in wildcat territory is drilling ahead at 2,550 feet with 6,000,000 feet of gas. The first show was picked up at 2,405 feet and as deepened continued to increase.

The Spartan Oil company's No. 1 Hopkins in section 85, block B-2, one mile north of the Eslick well, is shut down at 2,852 feet with a flow of gas first picked up at 2,730 feet.

The Delmar Oil company's No. 1 Foster in section 55, block B-2, in wildcat territory, set the 8-inch casing at 2,145 feet and drilling ahead at 2,175 feet.

The Purple Sage Oil company's No. 2 E. B. Johnson in section 2, block 2, five miles northwest of Alameda, has the hole full of oil and a fishing job at total depth, 2,870 feet.

The Scott and Travis, Chapman in section 70, block 25, picked up a show of oil at 2,770 feet and shut down awaiting orders.

The Phillips Petroleum company's No. 3 Riley in section 88, block B-2, had a show at 3,180 feet but is drilling ahead at 3,320 feet for an experimental test.

Revived Fall Event Will Include Large Panhandle Territory

Launching a major project at the same time it expressed appreciation of the management of Scott Barcus and welcomed George W. Briggs of Eastland, the Chamber of Commerce last night voted to revive the Pampa fair and to plan immediately for the inauguration of this important institution.

J. H. Lavender, acting president in the absence of M. K. Brown, was instructed to appoint a committee of five to carry forward preparations for the fair. He will announce the personnel of this committee soon. "Grow now for the Fair", will be one of the mottoes used in urging citizens of this territory to prepare exhibits for entry next fall.

The old fair board composed of Joe Smith, president; Lewis O. Cox, secretary; P. P. Reid, treasurer; Mrs. Maggie Hopkins, and Mrs. Clem Davis, has about $800 in the treasury with which to begin immediate work. Mr. Reid, staunch booster for the fair, announced the resignation of himself and Mr. Cox and suggested reconization of the board.

Last night's meeting followed a well prepared and served banquet at the Pla-Mor.

"It takes more than your dollars to build a city—it takes you," declared Chairman Lavender in opening the discussion.

His enthusiastically recalled outstanding events of the year, praised individual workers, and showed how Pampa, with natural advantages for

A resolution recommending to the Interstate Commerce Commission that the Kell railroad project be taken over and completed by the Santa Fe system was passed by the Chamber of Commerce last night on a motion by F. P. Reid. This action followed a suggestion by Frank Kell. A hearing will be held in Washington May 10. That Pampa will profit by the Santa Fe's proposal was emphasized.

Needs More Members The W. T. C. C. has 9,000 members, and is now taking memberships for 1928. Its work recently is being greatly expanded and an enlarged roll is needed.

"Pampa Prepare for Prosperity," was the "text" of an address by the new manager. Pointing to work already done in this direction, he mentioned Pampa's wide streets, excellent paving, fine hotels, good church organizations and plants, fine school system, and nice homes. He praised Pampa as a "livable place."

The needs are apparent, however, he said, for setting aside of work sites, building of more rent houses, providing of more office space, and development of poultry raising and dairying. He advocated employment of an agricultural agent and a county home demonstration agent, declaring these workers could do more than any other agencies in the next five years to bring about diversified and intensified farming. He heartily approved the fair proposal and characterized exhibits as vital to publicity.

"We want publicity, but publicity based on facts and achievement," he asserted. "Datelines must be based on accomplishments, otherwise the reaction of the readers will be harmful."

He told of what a friendly spirit with regard to neighboring towns can accomplish, and said he would stress good will in his program.

"I am no miracle worker," conceded Mr. Briggs, "and I believe in co-operative work as the basis for accomplishments."

Before adjourning, the C. of C. membership passed the fair resolution and heard A. Gordon tell of plans for an office building to be constructed on the Davis corner "according to the needs of the city."

WOMAN BURNS TO DEATH ODESSA, Mo., May 4.—(AP)—Mrs. Carrie Chapman, 52, Chicago, was burned to death and her son, S. W. Chapman, 23, and Mrs. Elizabeth Grafwel, 55, both of Chicago, were injured today when their motor car plunged over an embankment and caught fire near here.

GIRL ALONE

BY ANNE AUSTIN

CHAPTER XLII
Very gently David undressed Sally's hands, that locked convulsively about his neck. His eyes were dark with pain as Sally, hurt and resentful, thrank from him.

"You're glad to get out of it!" he accused him. "You were only marrying me because you were sorry for me; you can't fight for me now, because you're glad to be free."

"Sally! You don't know what you're saying!" David interrupted her sternly. "You know I love you, that I've thought of nothing but you since we met in Carman's lane, of course I want to marry you, and will be proud and happy to do so, if mother will consent."

Sally's face bloomed again. She seized her mother's hands and held them hard against her breast as she pleaded: "You see, Mother? Oh, please let us go on with our marriage! David and I will love you always be so grateful to you— Listen, Mother! You'll have a son as well as a daughter—"

"Don't be absurd, Sally!" Enid commanded abruptly. "When you were indeed a girl alone, with no family, no prospects, nothing, a marriage with David would undoubtedly have been the best thing to you. But now— it's ridiculous. This boy has nothing. You would be a burden upon him, a yoke about his young neck that should not be bowed down by responsibility for several years. You're both under a cloud. I understand that he cannot return to college or go back to his grandfather until this trouble is cleared up. What did you two children expect to do, once you were married?"

"I expected to work at anything I could get to do," David answered with hurt young dignity. "I have finished two years of college education, a strong body, and I love Sally."

Enid Barr leaned across Sally and touched David's clenched fist with the caressing tips of her fingers. "You're a good boy, David, and Sally, the orphan, the girl alone, would have been lucky to marry you. But you understand, don't you? She's my daughter, will be legally adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Courtney Barr. Anyone in New York could tell you what that means. She will have every advantage that money can offer her— finishing school or college, if she wants to go to college; travel, exquisite clothes, a place in society, a mother and father who will adore her, a girlhood rich with all the pleasures that every normal girl craves. Help me to give her these things, David. Things you would give her if you could!"

"This is all nonsense!" Mrs. Stone spoke up sharply. "You know perfectly well, Mrs. Barr, that these two foolish children can't get married without your consent. I for one, think you're wasting time. Simply put your feet down and take your daughter home with you."

Sally flushed angrily and struggled to rise, but David held her back. "You'll have to go with her, darling. Remember how you've always wanted a mother? You have one now, and she wants you with her, wants to make up to you for all you've missed."

As only mute rebellion answered him, he wisely changed his tactics: "Do you think you could ever be really happy, darling, knowing that you had hurt your mother, cheated her of the child for whom she has grieved all these years? She'll never have another child, Sally, and she needs you as much as you need her."

When Sally's mouth began to quiver with new tears, Enid Barr took the girl in her arms. At last Sally raised her head and searched her mother's face with piteous intensity. "Do you really need me?" she cried. "You'll love me— be a real mother to me? You don't just want me because it's your duty?"

Tears clouded the clear blue of Enid's eyes as she answered softly: "I'll be a mother to you, Sally, not because it's my duty, but because I already love you and will love you more and more. If I had searched the whole world over for the girl I would have liked to have as my daughter, I could not have found one who is as sweet and pretty and dear as you are. I'm proud of my daughter, and I shall hope to make her proud of me."

"Then—I'll go with you," Sally capitulated, but she added quickly. "If David will promise not to love any other girl until I'm old enough to marry him."

"Then—I'll go with you," Sally capitulated, but she added quickly. "If David will promise not to love any other girl until I'm old enough to marry him."

Over Sally's head, cradled against her mother's breast, Enid Barr and David Nash exchanged a long look as if measuring each other's strength. David knew, then, and Enid meant him to know, that Sally's mother had far different plans for her daughter than any that could possibly include David Nash.

"I'll always love you, Sally," David said softly as he rose from the sofa. "I'll always love you, Sally," David said softly as he rose from the sofa.

Sally struggled out of her mother's clasp and sprang to the boy's side just as he was reaching to the little center table for his hat. "Where are you going, David? Don't leave me yet! Oh, David, I can't bear to let you go! How can I write you—where? Tell me, David! Oh, I love you so I feel like I'll die if you leave me!"

"Define it of the tight-lipped disapproval of Mrs. Stone and of the anxious signal which Enid's blue eyes were flashing him, David put his arms about Sally and held her close, while he bent his head to kiss her.

"You can write me here, general delivery. I'll stay here for a while, I think, until I can make plans—"

My husband is in Capital City now, David," Enid interrupted eagerly. "I am going to have him intercede with the authorities for you. You can return to Capital City as soon as you like. There'll be no trouble. I promise you it is the only thing we can do to repay you for your great kindness toward our daughter."

"Then you can go back to college, David," Sally rejoiced, her eyes shining through tears. "And when you've graduated and— and gotten your start, we can be married, can't we?"

"If you still want me, Sally, darling," David answered gravely. "Thank you, Mrs. Barr. You'll— you'll try to make Sally happy, won't you?"

"I promise you she'll be happy," David answered, giving him her hand. "May I speak with you alone a moment?" she added impulsively, and linking her arm in his drew him toward the door that opened into the

IT WAS MOTHER'S DAY

None Is So Beautiful as Mother's Day!

Mother was the queen while roses red and carnations pink were laid upon her lap. She had a blessing for the son as he put his arm about her and murmured endearments that ever make her happier.

The daughter leaned close, her cheek pressed to Mother's as she whispered words of love. Mother's day is sacred for mother and wonderfully beautiful in the thoughts that grow on that day. Too soon such a day is forgotten.

CIVIC NOTES — George Briggs, new Chamber of Commerce secretary, is an apostle of inter-community good will. He believes in being friends first and business men second.

It makes a good impression when a delegation goes to a celebration or program in another town and lends hearty applause, says the new citizen. He points out how Lubbock, trying to get Texas Tech, was supported by nearly all the smaller neighboring towns.

The die is cast; there is to be a fair here next fall. It should not be merely a local fair, but one for the entire upper plains. Fairs are built on sectional interest plus local sacrifice.

A prominent visitor in New York says Chicago envies Gotham her subway system. Well, it is good training for mayhem. Buddha would be 2472 years old in May. And probably he would say he did it by smoking opium.

Pampa has been passing through a series of changes—in form of government, personnel, etc., and there have been delays in several matters of long standing. The lack of house numbers is a constant source of civic annoyance and embarrassment.

A city without an indoor basketball court in this advanced age is an oddity. Pampa can get out of this class in the near future by approving the very necessary school bond issue, part of which will go for an adequate gym.

Pampa is given credit by all who know for having made the most progress, as citizens led by the Chamber of Commerce, in the last twelve months. B. Frank Bennett, assistant manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, is stressing this fact in his numerous addresses.

Yeah! But You Oughta See the Other Fellow which are distinctive.

Conventions are assets or liabilities according to the reactions of the delegates attending. Pampa must cultivate her best convention smile and handshake for the meetings soon to be hers—including the district meetings of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and of the American League, and the Panhandle Press Association one year from now.

We have much to show, but nothing more important than our own personalities. Proverbial Panhandle good will and hospitality will turn the trick. We have both.

Japan will spend $8,220,000 in November for the coronation of Emperor Hirohito. And Japan doesn't produce so much oil, either.

Isn't it about time for some clever fellow to cast his vote for Major Hoople for president?

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—The original public domain was created through cession by the original thirteen states of 260,000,000 acres of their land holdings between the Allegheny Mountains and the Mississippi.

The Louisiana Purchase of 1803 and subsequent territorial acquisitions increased that acreage about seven times. Our public lands always have been in "the west," for before the government was formed all the land in the north and eastern sections had been divided.

Earliest laws governing the public domain permitted speculators and large investors to obtain huge tracts for small sums. There was no qualification requiring that the purchaser be a bona fide settler and the absentee landlord system soon spread over a wide area of what had been the domain.

It appears from available records that speculators and land companies bribed congressmen, state legislators and land office officials from very start. In 1795, for instance, the Georgia legislature sold several million acres of land to four large companies and so loud and widespread was the accusation of bribery that the people of Georgia elected an almost entirely new legislature which rescinded the sales. After Georgia later ceded this land to the federal government, land companies lobbied for 20 years for federal reimbursement—and got it!

Meanwhile, in Washington, the Ohio Land Company had received 100,000 acres by act of Congress in 1792. It bought some 900,000 acres for $650,000, and instead of paying in money, tendered at face value government certificates and army land warrants purchased at very heavy discounts.

Ohio being directly in civilization's westward line of march, the company was able to sell to settlers with enormous profits. Meanwhile, some state legislatures and individuals were complaining at this practice of delivering choice lands, with their timber, minerals and farm sites, into the hands of such land companies.

In 1796 Congress "reformed" that policy with a law providing for sale of public lands on credit. This, it was held, would enable the poor settler to get land on equal terms with the big fellows.

But the speculators went right on obtaining vast tracts by the simple process of bribing land officials to withhold the best areas and to allow "dummy" settlers first choice. Later, when these lands came into great demand they were sold at greatly advanced prices. The speculators then paid the government out of the profits or evaded payment altogether. In 1824 the Illinois legislature complained that non-resident speculators had the best land.

There was a Senate Public Lands Committee in those days, too. It reported in 1834 that combinations of specula-

Double Bill Is Arranged by Club For Monday Card

A double main event is booked for Monday night at the Pampa Athletic club with four of the best boys in the Southwest on the card. For the ten-round event Eddie Dwyer, 144 pounds, the Brown Panther of Kansas, will meet Jack Doss, 140 pounds, now living in Pampa. The second main event will be eight rounds between Sgt. Sam Riley, 148, pounds, of Lawton, who will stack up against Floyd Barnes, 152 pounds, of Hot Springs.

The other events on the card will bring together Rusty Cahill and Art Vitaton in six rounds and Jack Morrison and Jimmie Hudson.

Dwyer, undisputed welterweight champion of the Southwest, is a veteran at the game and one of the best. He has beaten such boys as Pat Corbett, Bat Chico, Bob Mandell, Joe Koffer, and other top notches. He stayed ten rounds with Sammy Mandell, champion of the World, last year and gave him one of the hardest battles of his career.

Jack Doss is also a top notcher with a long record of knockouts. He carries a punch in either hand as was shown here when he defeated Kid Granite and Billie Springfield in two sensational battles.

When it comes to a battler, Sammy Riley is in a class by himself. He is clever, tough and a hard hitter, packing a sleep punch in either fist. He showed his gameness here when he came back and stayed five rounds with Bob Mandell after being fouled in the opening round. He has beaten Fred Whittington, Clyde Hull, and other good boys.

Barnes comes with a knockout over Monte Bey and Kid Fay and a recent decision over Art Dula of Fort Worth. He is a two fisted fighter and never lets up until the last gong.

Rusty Cahill and Art Vitaton are all set for the six-round special event and something is going to happen as there is no love between these two boys. They are going in to finish the bout in a hurry and a K. O. is predicted.

58 Miles Ahead of Marathon Men in Race Today

PONTIAC, Ill., May 4.—(P)—This was "der tag" for the "iron men" and walkers in the trans-continental bun-derby.

The most distant control since the race began at Los Angeles 62 days ago faced the cross-country runners today, a 58-mile stretch from Pontiac to Joliet, Ill.

Peter Gavuzzi of Southampton, England, still leads the field of 71 runners with a total elapsed time of 376-21:52 for the 2,300 miles. Five hours, 19 minutes and 36 seconds behind him was Andrew Payne, Claremore, Oklahoma youth, holder of second place.

Jack Dempsey and Wife Will Go On Stage

NEW YORK, May 4.—(P)—Jack Dempsey and his wife, Estelle Taylor, are to tread the boards of Broadway under the tutelage of David Belasco next fall.

The former heavyweight champion and his movie actress wife have signed on the dotted line with Sam H. Harris to appear in "the big fight" at Broadway theatre. Mr. Belasco will direct the show in rehearsals starting some time in August. It is scheduled to open in September.

Mr. Harris said the contract called for the highest salaries ever paid in any theatrical production.

Harry Ray of Los Angeles led the field in yesterday's 34.7 mile lap from Normal, Ill., to Pontiac, running and walking the distance in 4:05:21. He is in thirteenth place.

Lightweights Are Interested in Fight of Two Contenders

NEW YORK, May 4.—(P)—Joe Glick, hard punching New Yorker, who not so long ago had the junior lightweight champion, Tod Morgan, on the floor only to lose later on a foul, meets Lope Tenorio, sensational Filipino 135-pounder, in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight. Tenorio won a decision over Glick in a recent match at Cleveland.

Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, and Jimmy McLarnin, Pacific coast knockout artist who meets Mandell in a title match here May 17, will occupy ringside seats with the idea of getting a line on the Filipino's style of milling. McLarnin has promised Tenorio a shot at the title provided he succeeds in detroning Mandell.

MIAMI, Fla., May 4.—(P)—The scheduled bout between Tommy Loughran, light-heavyweight champion, and Tex McEwen, Canadian heavyweight, here last night was cancelled because of poor attendance.

Less than $500 worth of tickets were sold and the entire card was cancelled.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: Greatness through service. Scripture lesson: Mark 10:35-45.

35. And there came near unto him James and John, the sons of Zebedee, saying unto him, Teacher, we would that thou shouldst do for us what-so ever we shall ask of thee.

36. And he said unto them, What would ye that I should do for you?

37. And they said unto him, Grant unto us that we may sit, one on thy right hand, and one on thy left hand, in thy glory.

38. But Jesus said unto them, Ye know not what ye ask, and ye are able to drink the cup that I drink? or to be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?

39. And they said unto him, We are able. And Jesus said unto them, The cup that I drink ye shall drink; and with the baptism that I am baptized with ye shall be baptized.

40. But to sit on my right hand or on my left hand is not mine to give; but it is for them for whom it hath been prepared.

41. And when the ten heard it, they began to be moved with indignation concerning James and John.

42. And Jesus called them to him, and saith unto them, Ye know that they who are accounted to rule over the Gentiles lord it over them; and over them.

43. But it is not so among you; but whosoever would become great among you, shall be your minister.

44. And whosoever would be first among you, shall be the servant of all.

45. For the Son of man also came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many.—Mark 10:45.

Introduction
Jesus had been making it very plain to the disciples that a crisis was at hand; and here at Jerusalem. In his talk, there had been references to the Kingdom. They should have understood that it was a kingdom of the spirit that he had in mind; but they did not see; were not able to break away from the materialistic conception of the Reign of God in a revived Davidic, Maccabean state that so many of their compatriots cherished.

If he was in the very near future to establish his kingdom, what about its honors? It is one of the correct experiences of Jesus' career that just now, when the shadow of the cross began to fall densely across his path, he had to see them disputing about honors and rewards.

Ambition of James and John—V. 35
"And there came near unto him James and John, the sons of Zebedee. Salome, their mother, was with them, and, according to Matt. 20:20, she was their spokesman. She was one of the devoted women who followed Jesus and ministered to Him and His disciples, and she prefaced her request with a profound obsequiousness, "worshiping him." "Saying unto Him, Teacher, it was not as a teacher that Christ was approached, but as the coming King of the kingdom of God."

It was about which Jesus talked so often. His words had sunk into the ambitious souls of Salome and her two sons, the "sons of thunder."

"We would that thou shouldst do for us whatever we shall ask of thee." The disciples expected Jesus to make some such grant as King Ahasuerus made to Esther (Esth. 5:3); but our Lord was no Eastern despot, no barbaric monarch; the exercise of reason when he gives. He promises to grant whatever he desires; but only when he abides in us, guiding our desires, so that the issue may be happy (John 15:7).

A Foolish Request Granted—v. 39.
"And Jesus said unto them, The cup that I drink ye shall drink; and with the baptism that I am baptized with shall ye be baptized." How like many of our prayers, their foolish request!

"His words were thus fulfilled; John the beloved disciple, lived to be the last survivor of the twelve, drinking long and often of that bitter cup of death, with that baptism of blood; a martyr in will but not in effect. James, after his eleven years of ministry, drinks, and is baptized, even to the martyr's death. So their Lord's prophecy is fulfilled. That is his gift on earth to those who ask to be next him in glory. A poor gift, as the world might take it; and yet, was it not glory? Who does not envy those who were counted worthy to suffer and to die for the name of the Lord?"

Worldly Greatness—v. 25.
"Ye know that they who are accounted to rule over the Gentiles lord it over them." He says: the worldly ideal of a kingdom is, as "ye know," to exercise authority over men; domination; the master above his subjects, ruling them; by the power of personality, or ancestry, the greater lord he is; world rulers, like Alexander, Trajan, and Napoleon; at the top of the heap. Jesus does not here condemn this method of exalting one's self; but he personally had rejected it, at the temptation of the wilderness, and among you, my disciples, he declares, it is not to prevail.

Greatness Through Service—v. 44
"Whosoever would be first among you, shall be servant of all." What then is the principle of greatness in his kingdom, the way in which high rank is to be attained in it? Service. Whosoever would be great among you must be your servant; and whosoever wants to hold first place among you let him become your slave. Our English version loses the force of the two words "servant" and "slave." Servants were paid and performed the nobler tasks of the household; slaves did the meaner, menial work, and ranked at the bottom of society. Jesus here is reviv-

A poor gift, as the world might take it; and yet, was it not glory? Who does not envy those who were counted worthy to suffer and to die for the name of the Lord?"

PRAYER FOR THE DAY

Grant us, O Lord, the strength today
For every task which we shall face
Teach us the kindlier word to say
Which lifts us from the commonplace,
And let us in some little way
With thoughtfulness our journey grace.

Through every day with care is rife
And each must go where duty leads,
Through the tumult and the strife.
The constant press of earthly needs.
Teach us to use the gift of life
For something more than selfish deeds.

Strengthen our faith against despair,
Renew us will to play the friend,
Increase our love of what is fair,
Let graciousness our speech attend.
Help us to play the man and bear
Our burden still this day shall end.
—Edgar A. Guest.

Interesting Meeting Is Held Wednesday By Christian Society

The Christian Missionary Society met Wednesday afternoon in the church. Mrs. C. E. Hutchins was leader of the subject of study, "That They May Be One." Mrs. Harry Marbaugh spoke on the subject in an enlightening manner, explaining that although every snowflake, every tree in the forest, and every grain of sand were different—it took each and every one of them to make the one mass. Using further illustration, Mrs. Marbaugh stated that it was the same with life; that men are different, but together they make the world, and Christ is the pattern of mankind.

Mrs. Hutchins spoke of the "Interpreter's House" which was held in Geneva with 400 delegates from eight denominations. The "Federal Council of Churches" was discussed by Mrs. Hugh Isbell. This council consisted of 28 Protestant communions, and church affairs of a nation were considered. "Missionary Education" was discussed by Mrs. Will Kinzer, who told of the amount of good that the church does in sending literature to the churches, Bible schools, missionary societies, and young people's societies.

During the business session, an election of officers was held with the following taking office: Mrs. James Todd, president; Mrs. C. E. Hutchins, vice-president; Mrs. R. W. Mitchell, secretary; Mrs. DeLea Vicars, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Thomas, Texas Mission study; Mrs. Will Kinzer, literary secretary.
