Goodfellows Anxiously Urge Pampanos To Adopt Families For Christmas

MEXICAN SLAYER HELD IN JAIL

300 Names On List And Only 4 Days Left

More Families Are Added Than Are Taken Off

There is a crisis written on the books of the Goodfellow club over in the corridor of the city hall, and tragedy may or may not result from it—depending on the generosity of Pampanos.

There is a crisis because there are still 300 names of needy families on the list—families that represent hundreds of underprivileged children. There is potential tragedy, stark and pitiable, because these children may be denied their right to enjoy the glad surprise and happiness that should come at Christmas time to all children.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—President Roosevelt sounded the keynote of a week of pre-Christmas festivities today in a message to the Boy Scouts of America.

The message, made public by Chief Scout Executive James E. West, suggested that "all of us do a good deed for some other person, especially for some one who is less fortunate than ourselves."

The president will extend formal Yuletide greetings to the nation Saturday in a ceremony at which he will light the national community Christmas tree in Washington.

Following her 13-year custom, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will distribute gifts to 36 boys and girls under 12 years of age tomorrow at a Christmas party at the headquarters of the New York Women's Trade Union League.

There is a crisis because only a few, a disconcerting few, individuals have taken names off the list. Practically all the churches in town and many clubs have adopted families for Christmas, but individuals are not taking off the names as they did last year.

Unless they do, American Legion sponsors say there will be no Christmas in the homes of at least 150 needy Pampa families. It will be just another day at home for them—a day of beans and bread and molasses; a day in which their children will bitterly reflect that Santa Claus forgot the poor and visited only the children whose fathers have jobs.

Today, the Legion anxiously implored individuals to adopt the names as soon as possible—there are only four more days until it will be too late. The Legion estimated that there are at least 150 families in Pampa who could afford to adopt a family. More names were added Saturday to the list than were taken off, it was reported. Only a few adopted families this morning.

The Goodfellow organization fervently hopes that tomorrow will see a horde of Pampanos lined up before the desk in the city hall.

THE LITTLE BOY NEXT DOOR

That little boy and many others may be without the good things that should make Christmas the best time of the year—unless you do your part. Give to The News Christmas Fund, and help keep some kid believing in Santa Claus.

Lawyer Admits Coster's Order For Army Rifles

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—A Boston lawyer swore today he drafted, at the behest of P. Donald Coster-Philip Musica, a contract for the purchase of Lee-Enfield rifles by McKesson & Robbins, Inc., and Standard Oil of England.

The lawyer, Frederick Wingersky, made his statement to Assistant State Attorney General Ambrose V. McCall, conducting an inquiry into the affairs of the $7,000,000 corporation. Coster-Musica committed suicide Friday when he was exposed as a notorious swindler of a quarter-century ago.

At the same time Brien McMahon, assistant U. S. attorney general, arriving from Washington, described Coster-Musica as probably "the biggest illicit liquor dealer in the country."

McMahon came here to co-ordinate the investigations of federal agencies interested in ferreting out the mystery behind Coster-Musica and the $18,000,000 shortage in the firm's crude drugs department which he operated.

Investigation has been placed on the gun-running angle by investigators who have advanced the tentative theory the missing assets might be in the form of unpaid bills for shipments of guns and ammunition.

Coster-Musica, according to McMahon, had connections with practically every big name in the nation's underworld.

"There also seems to be some indication of illegal dealing in arms," McMahon said, "and the violations are probably not confined to the jurisdiction of New York. There is apparent violation also of several other laws."

Mrs. FDR Defends Private Lives Of Roosevelt Family

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt vigorously asserted today the right of a president's wife and children to live their own private lives.

Discussing at her press conference her own acceptance of a place on an insurance company's board of directors, Mrs. Roosevelt put the question up to the people of the United States.

Do they want the children of a president to be the type who do not want to earn their own living? she asked.

And does the nation want a president's wife to give up all of the interests she had built up?

Mrs. Roosevelt said she often had wondered whether the people of the country realized that a president's family must go on with their normal lives while he is in the White House.

Mrs. Roosevelt stressed the fact that no member of the White House family, not any person in the government, should ever use his or her position to ask for special favors.

$1,000 Expected As Receipts Of 'Flower Bowl'

Receipts of the Flower Bowl football game, played here Dec. 8 between the Phillips-Borger civic clubs team and a team representing the civic clubs of Pampa, are expected to total $1,000 when the accounting is made. Hol Wagner of the Rotary club of Pampa and co-chairman of the executive committee for the game, said today.

Money from ticket sales has already been turned in by the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs of Pampa, but returns have not been made by the Lions club. The Kiwanis club turned in $171 and the Rotarians $195.

Bob Grimes of Borger, co-chairman with Mr. Wagner on the executive committee, has not announced the total amount of ticket sales by Phillips and Borger clubs, and to date no time has been set for an accounting and division of the proceeds.

Of the total proceeds, after expenses are deducted 60 per cent is to go to Borger and Phillips and the remaining 40 per cent to Pampa. Borger and Phillips have the larger share on account of their expense in coming to Pampa to play the game.

Pampa's share of the proceeds is to go into the club's underprivileged children's fund, that of Borger and Phillips for band uniforms.

Policeman Nails Man With Flying Tackle In Race

Lawrence Flaherty, night city policeman, brought his football training into use last night in a foot race that ended with him making a flying tackle that nailed his man to the ground.

The race started when Officers Flaherty and Jeff Guthrie arrested a man alleged to have been intoxicated. He turned out to be quite an athlete and broke away from the officers by turning a flip. The officers caught him but he broke away again and another race took place.

After three breaks the man was placed in the police car but upon reaching the police station, he jumped from the car and landed running. Officer Flaherty must have doped the move in advance because he was on the ground about the same time.

The chase ended across the city hall lawn when Officer Flaherty made his flying tackle.

France To Support Britain To Limit

PARIS, Dec. 19 (AP)—Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet told the Chamber of Deputies today that "in case of unprovoked aggression all the forces of France—on land, sea and in the air—spontaneously and immediately would be utilized for the defense of Great Britain."

During a brief review of foreign affairs Bonnet made plain that France, at the same time, expects Britain to do likewise.

"The foundation of our diplomatic action remains the Franco-British Entente," he said. "If one of the two nations should be the object of unprovoked aggression, the other certainly would not hesitate to come to her aid."

"How could it be otherwise when it is a question of two nations like France and Britain whose relations, following the expression of Chamberlain, 'are so close they surpass simple juridical obligations because they are founded on an identity of interests.'"

12 Killed In Road Wrecks In Week-End

Three Die When Car Hits Motor Train Near Paris

Twelve Texans met violent deaths over the weekend, ten of them perishing in highway smash-ups.

Killed outright in a car-motor train collision were Billie and Buster Smith, brothers, about 16 and 18, and Gene Hobbs, about 16, all of Ambia community. Their companion and driver of the car, Woodrow James was "doing fairly well" today in a Paris hospital.

Witnesses said the driver of the car apparently was unable to stop as the boys approached a railroad crossing on a downgrade. The crash uncoupled the two-coach train.

Paul Kelley, about 30, a Palestine carpenter, was fatally injured when a car struck him on a street Saturday. He died today.

Walter Russell, 20, of Denison, died shortly after a car in which he was riding turned over near Aubrey. Austin Lee Fortner, 18, of Westminister, student in Blue Ridge high school, died yesterday from gunshot wounds he suffered while hunting rabbits. His death was attributed to the accidental discharge of a gun. He will be buried today at Westminster.

Mrs. Sarah Truss, 75, an invalid, burned to death when her home at Greenville caught fire, apparently from a heating pad. She was found in her bed, badly burned.

Mrs. Katherine Heye, 45, of Galveston, was killed in a collision on the beach there. James Ruskin Bailey, 48, of Houston, was charged with murder without malice in a complaint filed by County Highway Officer Walter Thibodeaux.

Two San Antonians, Mrs. H. B. Monroe, 33, and her stepdaughter, Loraine Mallard, 13, were killed near Texarkana, Monroe, an employee of the San Antonio city water board, said another car struck his machine, Hazel Matthews, 18, of Elkhart, was killed near Huntsville when the automobile in which she and her escort were riding was in collision with a stalled car.

Melvin Hafman, 22, of Richards, Texas, suffered minor injuries, water board, said another car struck his machine, Hazel Matthews, 18, of Elkhart, was killed near Huntsville when the automobile in which she and her escort were riding was in collision with a stalled car.

At Beaumont, 18-year-old William Howard was killed as he was struck by a hit-and-run driver. A suspect was arrested.

Artis Says Phooey To Claremore, Okla.

SANTA FE, N. M., Dec. 19 (AP)—Phooey to Claremore, Okla., from Randall Davey.

Davey, Santa Fe artist who painted the Will Rogers memorial mural for the Claremore post office as a federal arts project, answered criticism from Claremore that his painting was a "hodge-podge and not enough Will Rogers."

If the mural was good enough for the division of painting and sculpture of the federal arts project, it's good enough for Claremore, said Davey.

Of Mrs. Ida K. Birdwell, Claremore civic club leader who was one of his severest critics, Davey said: "If Mrs. Birdwell is to be the spokesman for Claremore, it might be well for her to study more diligently those subjects more suitable to her capacity for understanding."

MRS. COSTER

In a state of collapse after her husband's suicide is Mrs. Frank Donald Coster. Her brother said she had no idea Coster was in reality the swindler, Philip Musica.

U. S. Loan To China Protested By Jap Minister

TOKYO, Dec. 19 (AP)—Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita today declared the $25,000,000 loan granted Friday by the United States export-import bank "would be a very dangerous political gesture."

"The loan necessarily will lead to prolongation of the Chinese-Japanese conflict and naturally to the inconvenience of third powers," Arita asserted at his first press conference since induction into office Oct. 29.

He termed the loan, granted by the American government agency last week, "an inopportune and regrettable act on the part of the United States which has far exceeded with understanding."

"If, as the United States press reports, it is a political gesture on the part of the United States against Japan," the foreign minister asserted.

"Japan may regard the loan as really intended as a form of economic pressure by a powerful economic unit. It would prove quite contrary to what is expected by the United States."

In response to a question, however, Arita said he was "rather inclined not to regard it as a political gesture."

But he asserted that "at least the Japanese people undoubtedly will find it new ground for strengthening the proposed new order in East Asia" through which the Japanese have indicated their intention of linking Japan, China and Manchoukuo in an economic and political bloc.

Arita declined to comment on the speech made Nov. 28 by Lieut.-Gen. Eiki Tojo, then vice-minister of war, saying war with Soviet Russia is inevitable.

Mail Heaviest In History At P. O.

The time when Uncle Sam's men "burn the midnight oil to handle the avalanche of holiday mail and packages has arrived at the local post office, Postmaster C. H. Walker reported today.

Incoming mail today was about the heaviest in history, more than 100 sacks arriving on the first two trains to reach the city. That is more than double the normal amount, he said. Two delivery trucks instead of the usual one are hauling packages over the city.

Faced with handling nearly a half million pieces of mail this week, Postmaster Walker urges Pampanos to cooperate by doing their mailing today or tomorrow regardless of the distance the package or letter has to travel.

Those unable to mail packages or parcels until a later date are advised to use air mail special delivery.

From early this morning until noon long lines formed at all windows in the office, mailing and receiving packages, buying stamps, etc. An even bigger rush was anticipated during the afternoon, Postmaster Walker said. All available clerks are at work already.

Kidnaped Girl Kept Ignorant Of 2 Killings

Youth Says He Was 'Crazy Drunk On Whiskey, Beer'

AUSTIN, Dec. 19 (AP)—A slight young farmhand who flew in a drunken frenzy the parents of the girl he loved was held in jail here today for safekeeping by officers who feared to take him to the West Texas town where he committed the crime.

The state announced it would seek the death penalty for the laborer, Frank Salazar, who abducted his enamored and fled here after shooting Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kennedy of Miles, Texas, and fracturing the skulls of their two daughters with an ax.

The Mexican still protested his love for Wilma Kennedy, 16-year-old pretty blonde, as she left for home, insisting she did not care for him; that she wanted only to hurry to the bedside of her young sisters, who lay 36 hours in their blood-spattered home before aid came.

"At 3 a. m. today Wilma was brought to the home of her uncle Earl Kennedy, who lives near Miles. Although she begged officers to let her see her gravely-wounded sisters, she was not permitted to do so.

"Hospital attendants said the younger sister, Faye, had 'only a very slight chance to live' and that Imogene, 13, had a fair chance but only that."

Through a sequence of wild events, Salazar had kept the girl ignorant of these crimes. He had never before had gotten in trouble, except "once when I got caught in a poker game."

He shot the Kennedy watchdog to insure stealth of his movements; shot Kennedy and robbed him; shot Mrs. Kennedy; forced Wilma outside and tied her while he returned to the house and attacked the other children; stole the Kennedy car and kidnaped Wilma.

Drove To Austin

The parents apparently were killed instantly, but the wounded girls, Mrs. A. and Imogene, 13, lay in critical condition until an uncle happened on the scene Saturday morning.

Salazar and the girl drove to Austin, where the Mexican took refuge in the home of a sister Friday night. Saturday afternoon he took the girl to the residence of

Neath's Condition Reported Improved

A bulletin issued by attending physicians this afternoon revealed that Howard Neath's condition is slightly improved but that he is not out of danger. Mrs. Neath and daughter Mary Lou were reported resting and continuing to improve.

The Neath family suffered severe burns when their home at the Humboldt camp three miles west of Pampa burned late Thursday night. Mr. Neath was so badly burned that his condition was pronounced critical and little hope was held for his recovery.

100 Voices To Sing In Messiah Tonight

Amarilloans will divide the honors in singing the solo. However, Pampanos may look forward again this year to the bass solo of Fidel Reyes, Mexican Christian minister of Amarillo. The Rev. Reyes annually thrills thousands in the three cities in the singing of the bass aria, "Thou Saith the Lord of Hosts." Another of the soloists will be Mrs. Otis Truelove, Amarillo soprano, who has sung in the Messiah for years.

The out-of-town singers will number 43, according to Mr. Aldrich, who will come from Amarillo, Hereford and McLean. Admission to the Messiah will be free, but an offering will be taken at the intermission. Proceeds will go to charity after expenses have been paid.

Radio Station KFDN will broadcast the famed oratorio in its entirety.

The Pampanos who will sing tonight are as follows: Meses, Alex. Schneider, J. W. Garman, W. A. Bratton, Arthur Pescoc, Leo Southern, Bob Roberts, G. C. Dodd, Bob Thomas, Garman Jones, Don Leitch, Lloyd Roberts, J. T. Engle, H. C. Price, S. S. Ripley, Joe F. Wood, Clyde H. Lively, H. A. Yoder, Jack Skelly, Irl Smith, Lester Aldrich.

AAUW Tea Given For Members And Guests Saturday

A Christmas tea honoring presidents of the women's clubs and guests was given by the American Association of University Women Saturday afternoon in the city club rooms.

Decorating the entertainment rooms were attractive arrangements of holly and tall tapers. The lace-covered table was centered with a bouquet of ferns and brightly colored tree balls. Individual corsages of holly were presented to each member and guest.

The committee in charge of arrangements included Mrs. Robert H. Sanford, Mrs. Jeanette Stennis, Mrs. Dudley N. Stiel, Mrs. Bernice Larsh and Mrs. Robert Boshon, who poured tea, were assisted in serving by the third year home economics girls of the high school.

Mrs. Fred Roberts, president, welcomed the guests and introduced the club presidents and Mrs. Perry C. Gaut, program chairman. Included on the program were piano selections by Mrs. Madeline Tarpley Rowntree and three well-known carols—"The First Noel," "Silent Night," and "Holy Night," by Adams, which were sung by a sextet composed of Misses Helen Martin, Winifred Wiseman, Rose Park, Edna Sears, Margaret Williams, and Georgia Wilson. Miss Pauline Stewart played the accompaniment for the latter number.

Mrs. Roberts reviewed Anne Morrow Lindbergh's latest book, "Listen to the Wind," another exciting account of an airplane flight with her famous husband, Mrs. Lindbergh serving as radio operator and co-pilot. Mrs. Roberts pointed out that the story would have been fascinating and exciting had it been about some unknown persons instead of the world famous Lindberghs. She agrees with the critics that Anne Morrow Lindbergh deserves recognition in her own right as an author of first rank—not just because she and her husband are famous men and the wife of another. She especially recommended the book to those who enjoy style and choice of words, literary craftsmanship, above the plot. Mrs. Roberts read freely from the book and gave interesting light on the author's personality. The book is "Listen to the Wind" planned in their flight-henches, the title.

These present were Mrs. E. H. Dunbar, J. P. Wehrung, Ivy E. P. C. Leach, Marvin L. Lewis, C. W. Briscoe, Jr., L. C. Neek, Hol W. Wagner, William Boyce, George P. L. K. Stout, J. E. Austin, H. B. Lander, B. Lederer, R. W. Tucker, Perry Gaut, Clifford Braly, George Waistad, Alex. Schneider, W. Purviance, Glen Pool, Carl Wilson, Hugh Anderson, Claude Lard, J. B. Mason, M. O. Fickett, H. W. Mathews, E. M. Boughton, M. S. Lamb, C. C. Wilson, W. A. Brining, L. L. Son, Dudley N. Stiel, Robert H. Sanford, and Fred Roberts.

Misses Bernice Larsh, Alice Short, Jean Barnes, Lillian Thrax, Helen M. Martin, Kayce Park, H. H. Massengale, Pearl Spangh, Mary Reeve, Josephine Thomas, Ruth Batton, Vida Cox, Margaret Williams, Winifred Wiseman, Madge Sears, Jeanette Stennis, Pauline Stewart, and Georgia Wilson.

"LITTLE CO-ED RIDINGHOOD"

Although designed primarily for college girls, this smart wool jersey dress with a hood which can be worn up as shown, or down to form a soft shawl collar, is ideal for any woman to wear autumn weekends in the country or in an open roadster.

The jersey is soft as an angora kitten. Twisted metal buttons and cleverly concealed pockets are the only trimming. The hood is formed by closing the slide fastener up the center of the two-part collar.

American designer Charles A. Mour created it.

Marriage Of Miss Baker And J. L. Vernon Announced

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Hazel Baker, daughter of Mrs. Casar Baker, and J. L. Vernon, which was solemnized December 13 in the home of the officiating minister, the Rev. C. Gordon Dayless, pastor of the First Baptist church here.

The bride's mother attended the couple. Mrs. Vernon was graduated from Pampa high school in 1933. Mr. Vernon, who is the son of E. E. Vernon of Pampa, has made his home here since 1930.

The couple will be at home at 110 North West street.

Seven-Up club members were entertained with a waffle supper in the home of the club president recently.

A new member was initiated into the club after which Christmas gifts were exchanged among the members. The Christmas motif was carried out in the decorations of the room and table.

The group concluded the evening's entertainment with a theater party. This is the final meeting of the club until early next year.

Mrs. Bogan Hostess At Annual Holiday Program For Club

McLEAN, Dec. 19.—An annual Christmas program was given in the home of Mrs. W. E. Bogan recently. The entertaining rooms were decorated in keeping with the Christmas theme.

Mrs. Bob Thomas was leader for the afternoon. Mrs. Clyde Magee gave the history of the song, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," which the club sang. With Mrs. Carl Jones at the piano, Mrs. Magee sang "Star of the East," and Mrs. C. A. Gray and Mrs. C. B. Brandon composed of Mrs. C. B. Brandon and Mrs. Thomas sang "The Little Old Manger," after which Mrs. Thomas sang "O Star of Bethlehem," with Mrs. Magee at the piano. The program was concluded with the group singing "Silent Night."

Gifts were exchanged from a beautifully decorated tree.

Refreshments of green and red salad, individual creamed chicken pie, fruit cake with whipped cream, and coffee were served to Mesdames Creed Bogan, S. A. Gossins, H. W. Finley, J. B. Hembree, A. W. Hicks, Roger Powers, June Woods, the hostess, and those on program.

Venado Blanco Club Has Holiday Event In Home Of Member

WHITE DEER, Dec. 19.—Venado Blanco Study Club held the Christmas party recently at the home of Mrs. C. B. Shunn with Misses Gladys Holley and Odessie Howell as hostesses.

Mrs. Ray Veale, chairman of the park committee, announced that a fund of $1,000 has been approved by the commissioners' court for a park in White Deer. Development of this park was the major project adopted by the club for this year's work.

Plans were made for Santa Claus to visit every home in town where there are small children, one night during next week.

Chinese checkers afforded the evening's entertainment and gifts were exchanged.

Members present were Mesdames C. B. Chunn, Junc Duval, H. M. Howell, E. C. Morris, M. A. Powers, Ray W. Veale, Jim Miller, and B. R. Weaks; Misses Eleanor Ansley, Lee Christine Cousins, Elisabeth Deal, Claudia Everly, Emma

Junior Class At Alanreed Attends Show Recently

ALANREED, Dec. 19.—Junior class of the Alanreed high school attended the show, "Valley of the Giants," last week.

Members of the class who attended were Norma Rue Bryant, Beatrice Wetzel, Velma Davis, Christine Kennedy, James Brock and Billy James Craft. They were accompanied by J. Lewis Ellison, sponsor, and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Kennedy.

Bridge Members Have Club Party

SKELLYTOWN, Dec. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Statton entertained members of the Thursday Night Bridge Club at their home in the Skelly camp.

A Christmas motif was used in the decorations, favors, and prizes which were awarded to Mrs. T. B. Parker, high for ladies; and John Stuart, high for men.

Refreshments were served to Messrs. and Mrs. John Stewart, Marshall Coulson, T. B. Parker, Chester Strickland, Henry Johnson, and the host and hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Strickland will entertain the club at the next meeting.

Trebble Clef To Have Christmas Social Thursday

A program of Christmas carols was presented by the Trebble Clef Club Sunday afternoon in the annual radio broadcast over station KPBN.

Numbers by the entire chorus, a quartet, trio, and solos were included on the program as well as Christmas scriptures which were read by the Rev. Robert Boshon.

On Thursday afternoon at 7:30 o'clock in the city club rooms the group will have a Christmas program and social hour with Mrs. Warren F. Creaney, Mrs. Charles Dienkel, and Mrs. Leo Southern as hostesses.

Mrs. Harry Hoare is to be director of the program on "Nationalism and Folk Music." A topic, "Nationalism in France," will be discussed by Mrs. Alex Schneider.

Musical selections will include folk songs, two negro spirituals, "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes," and "Swiss Skating Song," by the A Cappella choir octette. A musical reading, "The Story of Christmas," will be given by Miss Rosemary Arnold.

Vocal solos will be sung by Mrs. J. W. Garman who will present "Salve's Song" by Greg and Lester Clemmons who will sing "Song of the Flea" by Mousborgsky and "Where'er You Walk" by Handel.

Christmas Seals

We hear strong pleas for continued efforts to reduce the terrible toll in motor car accidents and fatalities.

We should continue to stress the importance of safe and sane driving when on the highways.

But we have other enemies, many of them insidious and invisible, while many cases the motorist can be seen in time to get out of the way.

Do you know while automobile accidents kill about 35,000 persons annually in our nation, we still have a disease that kills many times more?

It is tuberculosis, sometimes known as the white plague, other times as consumption. It is startling to realize that despite the tremendous decrease in the death rate from tuberculosis, we still permit this disease to kill MORE THAN TWICE as many people every year as are killed in motor accidents.

Yet tuberculosis is easier to stay away from than a fast car on the highway. The cause of tuberculosis is a germ, discovered by Dr. Robert Koch of Berlin in 1882. Tuberculosis is spread directly from one person to another, through sneezing, coughing, etc. Tuberculosis is a communicable disease. It is not inherited.

Knowing all we know about tuberculosis now—how it can be prevented and cured—we all should take a more deep and lasting interest in the fight constantly carried on to rid our country of a disease that kills 40,000 of our children and young adults each year—killing a total of more than 70,000 altogether.

The fight against tuberculosis is financed solely by the gay little Christmas Seals. They cost but a penny each. If you haven't bought yours yet, you can get them at the county school superintendent's office in the courthouse.

With a Floy, Floy!

Not the least of the indignities endured by the American cop is the appellation "flat foot."

But now it appears that the implied reflection is unfounded—even if he has flat feet.

Three Newark, N. J., Negroes asked the police department there to waive its ban on flat feet so that they might take the examination for police recruits.

To support their plea they brought along star sprinter and twice-winner of the national pentathlon, Eulace Peacock. Peacock's fleet feet were flat as pancakes.

"NEW INDUSTRIES" (N. Y. Times)

We frequently hear it said that what is necessary to restore good times is the creation of some "new industry"—the equivalent in our day of the railroad, the automobile and the motion picture industries in their own respective early periods.

Prophets of gloom tell us that without such a "new industry"—and they profess to see none on the horizon—capitalism is doomed. The question has come up again in a somewhat different form with Charles F. Kettering, vice president of the General Motors Corporation, telling the Government's monopoly committee in the course of his stimulating testimony that the big problem facing the nation is how to create new industries to put idle men and money to work.

No sensible person would argue against either the importance or the value of new industries. They are part of the very substance of material progress; they help the world to live more fully and to satisfy a greater range and variety of wants. But it is not true either that their existence by itself insures recovery or that recovery cannot come without them.

It is frequently overlooked that in recent years we have developed a fairly large number of important or potentially important new industries—radio, television, rayon, airplanes, oil furnaces for homes, air-conditioning—name a few at random. Some of these have seemed to expand almost as if by depression had never existed. Last August, for example, the rayon industry was employing three times and the aircraft industry seven and a half times as many persons as either employed in the 1923-1925 period.

To such industries we must add the manufacture of things like calculating machines or mechanized farm implements, which, while not exactly new, have been improved to the point where they are being much more widely bought and used than formerly. As long as organized research and mechanical and chemical progress continue, we seem likely to find new industries constantly emerging.

But there is a serious question concerning the purely economic effect of new industries. To the extent that they merely fill a new consumptive demand, they may deflect consumption to the new object rather than increase the total of consumption. There can be no doubt, for example, that the growth of the rayon industry has been a large extent at the expense of the cotton and woolen industries of the silk industry. Even the growth of the automobile has been to some extent at the expense of other industries. There are statisticians, for example, who will offer to show that the automobile grew to some extent at the expense of housing. This is merely another way of saying that all objects are in potential competition with one another and that the consumer's dollar that is spent on one of them cannot be spent on another. The naive view that the nearly half a million workers in automobile factories, or the six million estimated to be employed directly and indirectly in highway transportation, would now all be out of work if the automobile industry had never come into being has only to be stated clearly to be a fallacy.

There are several important ways, however, in which new industries may greatly increase economic well-being. They may arouse a desire for ownership of the new product that did not exist for older products, and stimulate individuals to increased saving power to gratify that desire. They may mean increased consumption because they mean reduced production costs and lower prices; that is one reason for the success of rayon. The new industry, untrammelled by old productive traditions, may be so organized and mechanized that the efficiency of labor employed in it will be much greater than in the fields that labor has deserted. Finally, many new industries speed up the whole process of production. The automobile, for example, through the truck and through all its commercial uses, has been a capital as well as a consumption good, an instrument for speeding up all industry by accelerating transportation.

But let us not forget that even without new industries there are still enormous unfulfilled needs in our population for the products of old industries. The possible quantitative increase and qualitative improvement in housing alone, for example, is tremendous.

COTTON MARKETING QUOTAS

The election last Saturday, showing that approximately 84 per cent of the cotton producers voted for a cotton quota, is something that should be given thoughtful consideration by every man who believes in the system of free enterprise, or that minorities have certain inalienable rights that cannot be interfered with by majorities.

What Does A Quota System Mean?

If the system of establishing quotas for different lines of businesses becomes established, it certainly will interfere with progress.

Let us take an illustration. Suppose the automobile manufacturers establish certain quotas based on past history as to how many automobiles each corporation shall produce and sell. This would mean that if some particular manufacturer had a way of producing a car that would give twice the service as the other competition, he could only produce his quota. He could not grow and expand, as he would if he were not controlled by quotas.

A radio manufacturer would be limited the same way; a man who was breeding the best of cattle would be limited in the same way; a man who knew how to farm better than the average would be limited in the same way. In other words, the efficient could not grow as rapidly as they can under the approach to the free enterprise system.

If the quotas as a whole are established on all production, it means that we are entirely changing our form of government, under which we made such remarkable progress for 150 years. It would eventually mean that men would be born into certain lines of work and they would have to follow that, since they could not go into a new line of business and comply with the quotas of the new line of business they wanted to go into.

It is astounding that the people should even consider this artificial limiting of the rights of a citizen. When it is started, it leads eventually to complete regimentation and domination by the government. It is doubtful whether any nation ever made much progress by such regimentation.

SINCLAIR'S STATEMENT AS TO BANK SYSTEM

The other day, I mentioned what Upton Sinclair had said in regard to the American banking system. It was: "The American banking system is the most perfect contrivance yet devised by the human brain for making the rich richer and the poor poorer."

In connection with this, I said that this statement shows that Sinclair was thinking clearly along some lines. I do not want to leave the impression that this statement of Sinclair's is literally true. What I was trying to say was that the banking system permitted a great deal of harm to society and was one of the prime factors of our economic and social troubles.

I do not believe it is true that the banking system has made the poor poorer because we always have people just as poor as it is possible to be. The banking system has made a great many of the middle class who happen to be in debt, very much poorer. And it is doubtful whether the banking system has made the rich richer. It temporarily made some people richer. But any system that makes the great middle class poorer, in the long run, does not make anyone richer. It eventually destroys them.

So, his statement has to be taken with proper interpretation. The conclusion that the banking system is very dangerous and damaging to the welfare of society, is certainly true, if this is what Sinclair intended to say.

THE SELF-APPOINTED HUMANISTS

If one will analyze these people who are constantly attempting to eliminate poverty, it will be found that these are the very ones who are doing nothing to eliminate poverty. They think it can be eliminated, but they want someone else to eliminate it, by permitting them to pass laws. These men, with such large "hearts" who are so perturbed about poverty, are certainly the men whom Jesus described as Scribes, Pharisees and Hypocrites. They say but do not.

Behind The News Of The Day

By JOHN T. FLYNN

The principle of incentive taxation now being discussed by a Senate committee is almost as old as the government. Tariff legislation is, of course, incentive taxation. It is a taxation imposed in such a way as to encourage production.

But a more direct type of incentive taxation is in effect in New York State and New York City now. As far back as 1921 the City of New York, under a state statute, passed a tax exemption law to encourage new building. At the time residence building had come to a standstill. The city was faced with an acute housing shortage. But labor rates and labor rackets, material prices and material rackets and contractor agreements had tied the building business in such a knot that building ceased.

RESULTS CAME HURRYING To encourage building the city exempted from taxation for a period of 10 years the improvements in the case of any dwelling structure to the extent of $6000 per dwelling unit. The effect on home building was immediate. The day following the passage of that tax exempt law the builders lined up in droves with their plans before all the building offices of the city to file their blueprints. The city went off on such a flight of house and apartment building as it had never seen before.

The law was far from a perfect law. It was not passed to stimulate business but to get the city out of the most serious housing jam it had ever known. Later that law was amended and improved several times so as to limit the tax benefits to low-cost tenements and then only for limited dividend corporations. But the law is still in existence.

The idea, of course, is to extend this plan to other lines of industry. The New York City tax exemption law amounted to a 2 1/2 per cent subsidy for 10 years and made a considerable difference, of course, in the cost of the house.

One may well doubt if the tax exempt law would have done so much if at the same time Samuel Untermyer had not broken up the labor and contractor rings that strangled the building business.

THREE KINDS OF TAX CONTEMPLATED

One idea proposed now for all industry is to divide the federal taxes into three grades—normal, surtax and super-surtax. The normal and surtax taxes would apply to all. But the super-surtax would be subject to numerous deductions for the purpose of en-

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Jeanette MacDonald's legs—should a prima donna have limbs?—are being unveiled again in "Broadway Serenade," first time since the earthquake—meaning "San Francisco." Leading man, instead of Nelson Eddy, is non-warbling, Lew Ayres. I like Lew's self-description: "Until about a year ago I was strictly a lapel actor. Oh, that's the kind of heavies are always grabbing and holding up by the lapels."

John Miljan is a heavy who runs true to type. Meanest of villains on screen, in real life he plays devoted papa. Sunday excursions—to see trains—with his 6-year-old boy. This Christmas he's taking an extra apartment so he can set up ALL that electric train. Miljan signed at Warner's for 10 weeks to play in "Juarez," and so far has done two others before starting in "Juarez."

Those two old friends, Richard Dix of the movies and Sam Houston of history, are getting together in "Wagon Westward." This is to be "Independent" Republic's challenge to the "majors"—meaning they'll spend money on it. They must mean it, because Sam Goldwyn offered them $100,000 more than their screen treatment cost—and they nixed the bid. Goldwyn wanted it for Gary Cooper. Dix vetoed for Gary Cooper. Dix vetoed the role six months ago, accepted the revised script, and is pleased as a juvenile with his first close-up—because he claims he knows more about Sam Houston, except for historians, than anybody in Hollywood.

Cooper, by the way, sends this one back from England where he and the missus are visiting. Gary revisited Dunstable Downs school, in Bedfordshire, which he attended when he was nine years old. Classes were in session, but Cooper encountered one cap-and-gown master shuffling along a familiar path. The master looked up from meditation (this is Gary's yarn, remember) and said, "Ah, yes, Cooper, you've grown some since I saw you last. And—er—if you recall there are still four pages of translation due me." With which the professor resumed his stroll. Which reminds me, isn't the West where men—and yarns—grow tallest?

Norma Shearer is the "white ghost" of any set she works on. Uses no make-up but powder. Two sweet young things: the child stars of yesterday's "These Three," Bonita Granville and Marcia Mae Jones. And both have lived up to the predictions of success then made for them.

Robert Donat credits the late Irving Thalberg with inspiring his success. King Vidor, the director, has just received a copy of Donat's life story, in which is related Thalberg's visit to watch Donat rehearse at a rural theater in 1931. "I was told he was in front and although Thalberg never knew, it was his visit that proved such a vital thing in my life," Donat wrote. "He gave me the courage to go on believing in myself, to keep on fighting."

But it was Edward Small who first brought Donat to Hollywood—for "The Count of Monte Cristo." And Thalberg's company (Metro) didn't get him until "The Citadel."

unless many other adjustments were made. And then there is always the question whether a tax exemption on one group of enterprises would not be a tax penalty on all others who have to compete.

Today this one congratulates the singers in The Messiah for to present that oratorio is a fine achievement. Especially do Mrs. May F. Carr and Lester Aldrich deserve praise. They are the ones who were determined that The Messiah should be sung again this year. Mrs. Carr played the accompaniment the first time The Messiah was sung in Pampa about seven years ago and she is playing again this year. It was Mrs. Carr who started the singing of the Messiah here. To her more than anyone else goes the honor of making the Messiah a Pampa institution. The Messiah is the universal news of the month. It was sung at Boston Sunday and today. The London Philharmonic and the Royal Opera choir performed the Messiah Dec. 17. It will be sung in Carnegie Hall Dec. 20. It has been presented in Washington. Since 1871, the Apollo club of Chicago has sung the oratorio. Christmas season without the Messiah has come to be unthinkable to tens of thousands throughout the world. Its strains add to the content of many mentalities an ever-recurring source of inspiration and encouragement. In times of stress there may come through the halls of memory the tenor air, "Comfort Ye My People." In times of quietude Bethlehem shepherds once sang re-echoes in the strains of the Pastoral symphony.

Tex's Topics

In a world which sometimes seems to have too little of sentiment, it is occasion for regret that New York's dead letter office receives fewer letters to Santa Claus each year. Perhaps we wrongly interpret this phenomenon, but it would seem to point to a certain unhappy peculiarity in the modern child that finds the Christmas saint a bit of a bore. But—happy thought—may be it means that more Dads are able economically to play Santa Claus to their children. Anyway, the dead letter office clerks can get home earlier at night.

More like war than sport, write amazed French sports editors after viewing Jim Crowley's football teams in action at Paris. Well, thousands of young stalwarts and millions of spectators let off steam annually in American stadia that way and we don't want to be smug about it but it seems to us it's a better idea than those "war games" Europeans "play" at every so often when generals and dictators have to let off steam. The roster of Crowley's two teams isn't at hand, but it's a safe wager there were boys with Jewish, German, Italian, Slav or what have you blood in their veins playing side by side on that Paris football field, and all having a swell time.

Attaboy, Alf. The wires carry the news that you went Lambeth Walking with Senora Carlos Concha, wife of Peru's foreign minister, at a night club interlude in the Lima huddles. When the boys back home in Kansas read that Alf Landon trucked on down with the senoras and the senoritas it may do more for Pan-American accord than all those speeches the wires have been carrying. Now, if you could just cut loose and show our South American friends a carcosa or a rumba maybe they'd sign up for life. You might suggest to "Cord" Hull that he break out with a Tennessee jig done to mountain music if the delegates are too hard to crack.

If there is still room left, we nominate for the "who cares" department the Countess of Pembroke, who refuses to curtsy to the Duchess of Windsor and who chides her colleagues in British aristocracy for doing same. Described as an expert on court etiquette, the Countess of Pembroke is reported to have reproved Lady Diana Cooper and another lady for a genuflection in the direction of the exiled Duke of Windsor's wife at a Paris cocktail party. And just when things were being patched up beautifully for an early return to England of Edward and his Wally-shame!

Carbon Source Of Sun's Heat, Cornell Claims

ITHACA, N. Y., Dec. 19 (AP)—Discovery that carbon is the source of the sun's heat was announced today at Cornell University.

On earth man burns only the outside of the carbon atom. In the sun, this atom's nucleus "burns." The nucleus gives many million times more heat than the "outside." How the sun can give so much heat without burning up has been one of the great puzzles of science. Scientists find that its size and heat are not even diminishing over millions of years.

The new solution was given by Professor H. A. Bethe, of the Cornell physics department. He described it while discussing the report which this week brought him the Morrison prize of $500 for the best paper on solar and stellar energy.

"To supply the heat radiated by the sun in a single second," he said, "ten million billion tons of coal would have to be burned." Dr. Bethe described the recent discoveries in disintegration of atomic nuclei by the impacts of other nuclei. The popular name for this is atom smashing. The disintegrated atoms recombine, and in doing so release enormous amounts of heat or other forms of energy.

Dr. Bethe said it has been generally assumed that such disintegrations supply the heat of the sun. But nobody knew which kind of nuclei was the fuel.

Restrictions Put On Hungarian Jews

BUDAPEST, Dec. 19 (AP)—New restrictions on Hungary's Jews, possibly including limiting their voting rights, were in prospect today as the cabinet gave final touches to a bill for the control of Jews to be introduced in parliament Friday.

This coincided with the arrival of Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, who came, to give Hungary the benefit of "Fascist experience" in dealing with the Jewish and domestic problems.

(Fascist Italy is carrying out a restrictive program against Jews, following in some respects the example of Nazi Germany.)

In official quarters it was said that social economic restrictions to be proposed in the bill would be far more sweeping than Hungary's present legislation concerning Jews, which limits their participation in business and the professions to 20 per cent of the total engaged in any calling.

FIGHT FIRE WITH SCOOPS

ST. JOHN, Kas. (AP)—Grain scoops were the only fire-fighting "implements" available when a prairie fire broke out near Rattlesnake creek recently. Hastily recruited farmers grabbed the big shovels and began scooping water from the creek onto the flames, halting them after they burned over 60 acres of meadow land.

The Capital Jigsaw

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Dec. 19 (AP)—Gov. James A. Alford is going to "school" again. In his office at the capitol and at the mansion, he is "boiling" at law studies, harder than he has in a long time. It's federal law he's studying, and the reason, obviously, is that pretty soon he's going to be a federal judge. Soon after he completes his second term as governor, Jan. 17, he will take the bench of a new federal district court created for South Texas, and thereafter maybe the remainder of his active life, will preside in federal cases and interpret federal law.

On the hardwood desk in his office rests a big book on Federal law, written by United States District Judge William H. Atwell of Dallas, while in a nearby bookcase are similar volumes by other authors.

During the recent political campaign, Gerald C. Mann, attorney general-elect, said that if elected he would write above the door of his office the words: "I sacrificed no principle to gain this office, and I'll sacrifice no principle to keep it." The words were his campaign motto.

A group of his friends has prepared a plaque upon which the words are carved and plan to present it to him soon after he moves to Austin.

There's a knotty matter of finance which Gov. Alford and Governor-elect W. Lee O'Daniel are going to have to work out.

It involves the fact they will be governors of Texas on the same day, Jan. 17. Alford will be governor until noon when O'Daniel will take the oath of office.

The question they will have to get together on is, who will receive the governor's pay for that day.

The governor's salary is $12,000 a year, or figured on the basis of 365 days, is $32.87 a day.

"I don't know who will get the money," Gov. Alford said when asked to throw a little light on the situation.

"But I do know that I need it. Maybe we will split it, I'm willing."

"Little" is their name; also "Jack," and because of this confusion sometimes results.

G. H. Little is a state representative from Amado. W. A. Little is the director of the old pension system under the board of control. Both are called "Jack."

During a session of the legislature it is not unusual for their mail to be mixed. The Amarillo man may receive a letter starting off like this: "Say—This month is half over and my pension check still hasn't come. Will you please, 'et cetera.'"

Or the pension director will open one dealing with a bill the cattle industry wants.

The outcome of any mixup always is happy, however, the Littles just exclaim over which had gone to the wrong person.

A story is making the rounds in Austin of a railroad commission employee invited in San Antonio to attend a banquet one night for G. A. Jerry Sauer, who will be a member of the cabinet in January.

The employee accepted a ticket to the dinner from a friend and made arrangements to join the testimonial affair.

On the way through the hotel lobby a little later he saw a newspaper story from Austin listing names of several employees who would be replaced. His name was on the list.

The employee looked up the friend and told him he wouldn't need the ticket.

"But," said the friend, "you just said you would go to the dinner."

"Yes," replied the employee, "but that was before I read this story. I've got other business now."

The head of an important division of the commission, who also has lost his job as a result of new patronage distribution resulting from the defeat of Commissioner C. V. Terrell by Sadler, was asked what he planned to do in the future.

"Why," he said, "I'm thinking of starting a re-settlement project for former employees of the commission."

"Bible Plan" seems stronger than ever with students at the University of Texas, although the Longhorn football team this season won only one and lost eight.

A recent poll gave 88.2 per cent of students questioned answering "yes" when asked if they favored continuing the plan.

A year ago found only 68 per cent favoring it.

Another question this year was, "Do you believe the plan will ultimately reach its goal?" A total of 81.9 per cent replied affirmatively.

Under the "Bible Plan" football players who also want a good education are invited to come to the University. Educational advantages of the school are stressed.

If such youths need financial help, they are assisted in finding bona fide jobs. If they receive money, they have to work for it.

Forty Scouters To Be Given Awards

Forty men who completed a Boy Scout Leadership training course two weeks ago will receive certificates at a dinner in the basement of the Schneider hotel at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

Spencer for the evening has not been announced. The program will be brief and everyone who took the course is urged to be present.

Men attended the training course from Pampa, McLean, Groom and Panhandle.

Harvesters To Play Green Tomorrow Night

Strong Bucks To Play Here On Wednesday

Valuable experience gained in the Flatview basketball tournament and a "review" workout this afternoon, should put the Harvesters in fine fettle for their game here tomorrow night with Green.

Wednesday night, the Harvesters will clash with White Deer's strong Bucks who nosed out the LePore Pirates, ranked on of the most powerful teams in this district.

Otus Mitchell reported today that the tournament did the Harvesters "a lot of good." The boys got off to a slow start and lost the game to Canyon 40 to 17. Nobody could hit the basket—not even Andis who made only a few points.

Canyon won the tournament from Quitique after eliminating Amarillo's Sandies in four extra periods of play. That will give you an idea just how good Amarillo is this year. It is reported the basketball team here has been practicing nearly ever since school started, Canyon and Amarillo are in the same district. Last year Canyon won the district and went to the region.

Grover Lee Heiskell, forward showed much improvement in the tournament. Pete Dunaway won the all-tournament guard gold basketball, and Bob Andis missed being on the all-tourney team by one vote. Aulls showed great improvement in the last game, particularly in snatching rebounds. All of the boys got off to a slow start in the first game and were as badly off as Canyon was on. They showed improvement in each game.

Coach Mitchell is considering switching Aulls to center, and A. C. Miller, who has been playing center, to a forward position. If that does not work he may try something else. He is wondering if Miller may not play the forward position better than he does the center, including the pivot job. Miller has been holding his own at center, but the coach thinks he may do better at the forward berth.

On January 27, the Harvesters will play the Turkey Turks in their annual game.

The Harvesters have defeated Miami twice, Groom, Perryton, Floyd, Plainview F. F. A. and lost to Canyon.

Kern Says Skibos Will Beat Frogs

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 19 (AP)—Ed Coach Bill Kern and his Carnegie Tech Skibos, scheduled to arrive at Bay St. Louis, Miss., today where they will train for their Sugar Bowl game Jan. 2, stopped here long enough to predict victory over T. C. U.'s Horned Frogs.

Kern took time off from chatting with Vanderbilt's Head Coach Ray Morrison, to predict jokingly his charges would crush the Texans 72 to 63.

Changing to a more serious vein, he altered his forecast by declaring:

"We really expect to win, how I just don't know. T. C. U. will outweigh us 20 pounds to the man. They've got a big, stout line and we've heard so much of little Davey O'Brien that we've come to regard him as a monster with long horns—but we intend to stop him."

Corpus Christi Favored Over Webster And Pals

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF, Associated Press Staff.

Harry Stiteler, whose ability to absorb the intricacies of the game of football from the sidelines brought him to the portals of a state school-boy championship his first season as a class A coach, leads his Corpus Christi Buccaneers to Dallas next Monday to battle Lubbock for the interscholastic league's top prize.

His 133 pounds didn't pack the power for varsity football at Texas A. & M. college, but he became a close student of it while riding the ranch until they called for reserve quarterbacks. He stepped into class 3 coaching ranks and in four years won four district titles and three regional crowns while tutoring Smithville's teams. Last year Temple tried to sign him but Smithville wouldn't release him from his contract. Corpus Christi later managed to get him.

Stiteler's swash-buckling crew, one of the most powerful units ever produced in South Texas—and rated the strongest team in the history of Corpus Christi—rolled over Temple's upstart Wildcats 20-7 last week and the way they did it makes the Bucs at least an even bet to beat the mighty Westerners for the championship.

Lubbock, meanwhile, was taking out the mighty mites of Masonic Home, 20-6, for the Westerners' eleventh victory in 12 starts and ending at Temple Saturday, officials of Corpus Christi and Lubbock schools decided to play the title game at Dallas. Yesterday the interscholastic league executive committee made an exception to the rule that calls for elimination games in consecutive weeks and allowed the contest to be set for 2 p. m. next Monday at the Cotton Bowl stadium. It's the fifth state final game in six years for Dallas.

Corpus Christi holds the season's scoring record in class A ranks with 446 points to 79 for the opposition and has won 12 out of 13 games. The other tilt was a scoreless tie with Temple in a non-conference struggle back in September.

Lubbock, a heavy favorite for the title until this week, has beaten all Texas teams played. The only loss on the Western record was a 14-13 tie at Oklahoma City. The day of that game a Lubbock regular was stricken with appendicitis and had to undergo an operation.

Lubbock has scored 245 points to 78 for the opposition. The Bucs rely a great deal on power but this is more pronounced with the Westerners who will probably slightly outweigh Corpus Christi. Corpus features deception and has a strong passing game—something Lubbock had trouble with last week against Masonic Home. However, the Westerners came near solving Gene Keel's aerial magic in the second half.

It's the first time in the finals for Lubbock but Corpus Christi played for the title in 1934, losing to Amarillo's great team, 48-0. The Bucs have beaten Amarillo in final times an' semi-finals five.

A crowd of from 20,000 to 35,000—if the weather is favorable—was forecast today by P. C. Cobb, athletic director of the Dallas schools, who has charge of staging the game here.

followed his observation that Nova looked "mighty good" by wondering whether the Californian always cocked his left. . . . "Looks like a good, sharp hitter might find a hole there," the champion opined. . . . "I'm a lefty and I used to take a little run at the ball before I swung," said J. Donald. . . . "This is practically the same effect as the backhand."

Tennessee, a rushing team, and Oklahoma, a passing team, figure to put on the most exciting football game when they meet in the Orange Bowl. . . . The Vols picked up 2,284 yards rushing to the Soomers' 1,330. . . . But Oklahoma completed 50.7 per cent of its passes to Tennessee's 43 per cent.

Tunisia, a French protectorate, has an area of 48,300 square miles.

Louisiana farmers bought 20,000 bushels of corn for planting in 1938 compared with 8,000 bushels the year before.

McSpaden hadn't won a big money tournament in three years until yesterday, when his final round of 69 brought his 72 hole total to a five-under-par 275.

But even then he was not sure of winning, and spurned congratulations until he saw Henry Pickard of Hershey, Pa., fall by a stroke to catch him at the pay-off line.

Pickard won $1,250 for finishing second. Johnny Evlita of Coral Gables, Fla., a former P. G. A. champion, was next in line with 279 to earn $1,000.

Sam Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., the year's leading money winner, boosted his total by $375 when he tied Jimmy Thompson of Shawnee, Pa., at 282, but he failed to go over the $20,000 mark.

Modification Of Three-Second Rule Adds New Life To Pivot Play, Keogan Claims

Second of 20 instructive basketball articles by nationally-known coaches.

By GEORGE KEOGAN Coach, University of Notre Dame SOUTH BEND, Dec. 19—I am glad that the rules committee gave new life to the pivot play by junking the rule which prohibited a player from taking a position within the foul-line territory for more than three seconds.

Under the new ruling a man may stay in the middle part of the foul zone as long as he wants to, just so he does not have possession of the ball for more than three seconds.

It is no doubt came from the professional game, where men like Dutch Dehnert and Jos Lopchick worked it so effectively.

It is a simple type of offense which demands a good, and usually big, ball-handler, with fast men ready to break around him once the ball is worked in.

Some really fine pattern work can be formed with this type of offense.

No style of play affords more variation, fine passing, and cutting. Everything, of course, depends on the pivot man.

If you get a high-caliber ball-handler in the pivot you have an offense that is difficult to stop. He can get the ball to a team-mate who may cut across or around him.

He may pass it back to a guard if a shot from just beyond the foul line.

He may pivot or take a shot himself.

McSpaden Wins $2,500 Tourney MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 19 (AP)—Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Winchester, Mass., headed toward the Western golf circuit today with the $2,500 first prize of the $10,000 Miami open in his pocket, and his confidence restored.

McSpaden hadn't won a big money tournament in three years until yesterday, when his final round of 69 brought his 72 hole total to a five-under-par 275.

But even then he was not sure of winning, and spurned congratulations until he saw Henry Pickard of Hershey, Pa., fall by a stroke to catch him at the pay-off line.

Pickard won $1,250 for finishing second. Johnny Evlita of Coral Gables, Fla., a former P. G. A. champion, was next in line with 279 to earn $1,000.

Baer Only Man Left To Fight Bragging Nova

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—Sad but true, the heavyweight situation once more is in the large, playful paws of Maxilian Baer.

Max is the only heavyweight, outside of champion Joe Louis, capable of making a good match for Lou Nova. Nova became the division's man of destiny Friday night when he whipped Tommy Farr, but he is not ready to step into the same ring with the champion.

If Lou beats Baer, no easy task, he will have cleaned up the field with the exception of barrel-bult Tony Galento, and can move into a title bout with the best record of any challenger.

Should Baer win, Mike Jacobs' oratory and the silent but strong pull of a large wad of greenbacks will bring Baer and Louis together again. Nor is this too distant a possibility. Baer has beaten better men than Nova.

Lou is especially anxious to meet Baer. Before leaving for his home in California and Christmas dinner with his wife, he pleaded with Jacobs. "Get Baer for me, I'm ready for him."

"Yeah, I know I haven't fought a hitter like him, but I'd make him miss," he continued. "I'd fight him like Louis did. Let him laugh and clown around. I'd keep jabbing him and I'd keep pulling up points. I can beat him."

So Mike wired Anell Hoffman, Baer's manager. There has been no answer yet but the industry hereabouts feel certain Max will rise to the bait and enter the ring for the first time since the night last February when he battered Farr for 15 bloody rounds.

BITS ABOUT BOWLING

Tuesday night bowlers will roll their second last games of the preliminary schedule tomorrow. After next week the bowlers will be divided into Class A, B, and C division and leagues will be revised for the playoff stretch.

The schedule for Tuesday night follows:

7 p. m.—Cabot vs. Dr. Pepper, alleys 1 and 2; General Adms. vs. American Legion, alleys 3 and 4.

9 p. m.—Schneider Hotel vs. Diamond Shop, alleys 1 and 2; Thompson Hardware vs. Nehl, alleys 3 and 4.

Two Pampa bowling teams dropped games to Amarillo bowlers on Monday afternoon. The Amarillo Garage and Storage five won two out of three games from the Pampa All Stars while Wagner Jewelry of the Amarillo women's team took two out of three from a visiting quintet.

The All Stars really got to rolling in the last game and chucked up a total of 1,003 pins in winning their one contest. Wright of the Amarillo team was high man with a three-game total of 643. Bag Baxter lead the Pampa team with 606.

Mrs. Bert Howell of the Pampa team was high in women's match. She rolled 489.

Rice Eleven Voted No. 2 Sports Disappointment; Pirates First

By HERBERT W. BARKER NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—Chief sports disappointment of 1938, individually and collectively, were the Pittsburgh Pirates who kicked away the National League pennant in the last three weeks of the season.

Fourteen of the 70 sports editors participating in the eighth annual Associated Press poll picked the Pirates' flop as the year's outstanding disappointment and five more made it No. 2 on their list. With points awarded on a 3-2-1 basis as each participant picked three disappointments, the Pirates' collapse received a total of 52 points.

Close behind at 49 was Rice's football team and its backfield ace, Ernie Lain; 48 a sophomore, Lain had led Rice to the Southern conference championship in 1937 and the Owls figured to be strong national contenders in 1938. But neither Lain nor the team as a whole clicked consistently and the Owls finished with four victories in ten starts.

Ranking next on the "disappointment parade" was Max Schmeling for his failure to repeat his 1936 victory of Joe Louis, followed by Dizzy Dean, who was of little use to the Chicago Cubs until the end of the 1938 season.

The tabulated results:

Disappointments: Firsts 7P Pittsburgh Pirates . . . 14 52 Rice football team . . . 15 49 Max Schmeling, Ger. hwt. 8 29 Dizzy Dean, Cub p. . . . 6 27 1/2 Washington fbl. t. . . . 5 20 Chicago C. in W. Series . . . 3 16 Cleveland Indians . . . 2 9 Al Hestek, mwt. box . . . 3 9 St. Louis Cardinals . . . 2 7 Lou Gehrig, Yankee's first baseman . . . 1 7

Disappointments: West Virginia football team; New York Giants; U. S. Walker cup team.

Three points: Detroit Tigers; Boston Bruins in hockey playoffs; Pitt football team; Columbia football team; Freddie Steele, middleweight boxer; Illinois football team; Indianan football team; Whizzer White, pro football player.

Two points: University of Texas football team; "Mysterious" Montague, golfer; Ohio State football team; Nebraska football team; Bob Feller, Cleveland Indians pitcher; the Tony Galento-Harry Thomas fight.

Other heavyweight rankings were in this order: Willie Reddick, Roscoe Toles, Arturo Lovell, Clarence (Red) Burman, Buddy Knox, Gus Dorazio and Tony Musto.

Three other fighters, Alex Kettles of Chicago; Tommy Farr and Wild Bill Boyd of Birmingham, Ala., received honorable mention. Bob Factor was denied a rating, the committee said, because of his failure to meet Red Burman.

As king of the middleweights, the association chose Solly Kreiger of Brooklyn, N. Y., with Freddie Apostoli as the ranking contender.

O'Daniel Plans Textile, Cheese, Iron Factories

FORT WORTH, Dec. 19 (AP)—Textiles, cheese, iron and shoe leather are viewed by Gov-elect W. Lee O'Daniel as items in his industrialization program for Texas.

Returning from a tour of Michigan and Ohio yesterday, O'Daniel said he was accompanied by a representative of a $50,000,000 New York plant in the South, preferably in Texas or Louisiana.

O'Daniel conferred with J. L. Kraft, head of a cheese corporation, who told him that the firm already has 22 cheese factories in Texas and is considering the establishment of others.

The Governor-elect quoted Kraft as saying he would "build a cheese factory at any point in the state where there are 3,000 milk cows within a radius of 25 miles."

The manufacturer also was willing to finance farmers in increasing the size of their herds, the Texan reported.

Henry Ford, auto magnate, asked for iron ore samples from Texas and said he would come to Texas next summer in connection with the manufacture of low-priced farm machinery, O'Daniel said.

The establishment of a tanning plant is under consideration in Texas, A. B. Fletcher of St. Louis, general manager of the International shoe company, told the Governor-elect.

White O'Daniel was in Detroit he conferred with Oscar Powell, executive director of the Social Security Board, who, O'Daniel said, is "thoroughly in accord with our efforts to take care of the old folks."

Race Betting Will Be Issue In New Term

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL. AUSTIN, Dec. 19 (AP)—The need for additional revenue will be urged at the upcoming general session of the legislature as a reason for liberalizing the most controversial of Texas' "moral" laws.

One of the laws prohibits wagering on horse racing and the other forbids the sale of hard liquors except in packages. The argument will be heard that re-legalization of pari-mutuel betting and authorization of liquor sales by the drink, both on a county option basis, will help provide cash for old age assistance and other expanding state services.

The pressure for increasing the state's income may also lead to increasing the taxes on slot and marble machines, but not question of loosening restrictions on such devices are likely to be involved.

Regarding the probable outcome of moves by "liberals," a sharp difference of opinion has been observed among members of the legislature. Rep. J. E. Winters, free of Houston said a horse race re-legalization bill would be introduced and predicted W. Lee O'Daniel would sign it.

Senator G. H. Nelson of Lubbock, author of the measure, is regarded as an important factor. Ever since he stated months ago he had an "open mind" concerning the racing question, advocates of re-legalization have been hopeful.

Opponents of race track betting, pointing to the fact that the governor-elect is an active member and that his closest advisor, Carr P. Collins, is a prominent Baptist and president of the Dallas Council of Churches.

A year and a half ago, the House of Representatives voted overwhelmingly to knock out horse racing, but the Senate approved the death sentence only by a close vote. Opponents of legalized wagering argue there is no reason to think the attitude of the House has been altered, but others express belief many Representatives will change positions if the pressure against horse race betting is relaxed by the new executive.

In the opinion of some, pari-mutuel re-legalization may be aided by the existence of the anti-bowling law, enacted when race track wagering was banned.

In the last general session, the legislature almost passed a bill legalizing liquor drink sales. The House enacted the measure after a hard fight, but the bill died in a Senate filibuster.

Probe Of Musica's Vast Arms Smuggling Plot May Uncover Important Persons

FDR Will Ask Congress To Strengthen Act. WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—President Roosevelt intends to ask Congress early in January to extend the Social Security act.

White House officials said today the chief executive intended to send a special message "relative to the extension of coverage and the strengthening of provisions of the Social Security act."

Presumably the message will transmit to Congress a copy of the report carrying recommendations of the social advisory council.

The council made public Saturday recommendations that the insurance coverage be widely extended.

White House officials said possibly national defense also would be the subject for special message but that has not yet been determined.

Mr. Roosevelt called in a group of government officials today to discuss defense problems. Those on the list were Chairman Edward J. Noble and Robert H. Ely of the Civil Aeronautics Authority; Louis Johnson, Assistant Secretary of War; and Aubrey Williams, Deputy WPA Administrator.

There were indications that President Roosevelt would embrace rural recommendations in his general message. The railroad situation also engaged his attention today in a conference with Carl Gray and George Harrison, members of a special board which is attempting to find some solution for the plight of the carriers.

Farmers Reject Tobacco Quotas

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—The farmers' attitude toward the new deal agricultural program appeared clouded today by rejection of tobacco marketing controls shortly after quotas had been approved for cotton.

Administration critics argued that the crop control law had been repealed by growers in 14 states, who defeated existing quotas Saturday for burley and dark type tobacco.

A majority was returned in behalf of the controls, but the favorable vote of two-thirds of the participating farmers—as required by law—was lacking. Producers of flue-cured tobacco and rice previously had turned down quotas.

Administration supporters, lumping the votes in those four referenda with the recent cotton election, contended the totals offered proof that participating farmers actually approved existing legislation.

These figures, using latest tabulations as a basis, showed that 1,602,737 ballots were cast. Only 374,035, or about 24 per cent, were negative votes.

Virtually complete returns from Saturday's referenda gave burley tobacco quotas, 121,775; against, 75,501; per cent in favor, 61.2.

Dark type for quotas, 24,250; against, 15,846; per cent in favor, 60.5.

Rocketfeller Kin Makes Her Debut

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—The federal government opened a coordinated probe today into what international arms smuggling plot which officials predicted would get co-conspirators "equally as important" as Philip Musica, arch-swindler of his time.

As authorities began an extended probe into the $18,000,000 shakedown in the crude drugs department of the McKesson & Robbins corporation—Musica himself lay in a Brooklyn morgue.

With his widow virtually the only mourner, he will be buried in a guarded ceremony during the day in the Cypress Hill cemetery in Queens, near his father, Antonio Musica, an immigrant Italian barber.

The distinguished-looking, 61-year-old ex-convict, who as "F. Donald Coster" became head of the world's third largest drug business, ended a lifelong career in deception by blowing his brains out, remained in death the key enigma in a case of baffling complexity.

Although a number of other angles remained unexplored, Acting U. S. Attorney Gregory P. Noonan said representatives of the six federal agencies in the co-ordinated inquiry would lay "special emphasis on the arms-smuggling phase of the investigation."

Noonan said these and other government agencies also would probe thoroughly the case of Musica, convicted in the $1,000,000 "human hair" fraud in 1933, used part of the $18,000,000 missing McKesson & Robbins funds to pay off blackmailers who threatened to disclose his identity.

Another lead of possible national repercussions was the theory held by most investigators that Musica's empire of swindles and his reported traffic in munitions were safeguarded by political protection—bought with stolen millions.

Federal authorities disclosed that their chief clue in the arms smuggling inquiry was a recent letter to George Musica, alias "George S. Dietrich," assistant treasurer of McKesson & Robbins, ordering 250,000 rifles and 250,000,000 rounds of ammunition.

Investigators said they had not yet established the true identity of the man who wrote the letter. George Musica, 47, scheduled to be brought here from New Haven, Conn., during the day, will be questioned with the other surviving brothers, Arthur, 44, alias "George Vernard," Canadian agent for the drug firm, and Robert, 39, alias Robert Dietrich, purchasing agent for the firm's Bridgeport, Conn., plant.

Each is held under $100,000 bail on charges of violating the federal securities act.

Nearly 500,000 weddings take place in England annually.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS. The Commissioners' Court of Gray County, Texas, will receive bids addressed to the County Auditor, Pampa, Texas, until 2 p. m., January 2, 1939, for the following items:

SERIAL STORY

SKI'S THE LIMIT BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

COPYRIGHT, 1938 NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday Sally is injured. Dan even more so. Will he accept help from her since she caused the accident?

CHAPTER VII

SALLY recovered from the shock of her tumble much more quickly than Doctor Barnes had anticipated. He did not know that her speedy recovery was due to her determination that she must get better so that she could see Dan.

She would not go away without seeing with her own bright eyes how Dan was. Yet, she knew that he had forgiven her. Sally's father had talked with Doctor Barnes about the boy. They had agreed upon a consultation with a famous surgeon from Boston. Nothing was to be spared for the lad who had done so much for Sally, Sam Blair maintained.

Upon Sally's insistence, Dan's benefactor's name was kept secret. She was afraid he would refuse any assistance—even to see the surgeon from Boston—if he knew who had offered to send for him. Sally knew Dan Reynolds' stubborn pride. He was to be told that some unknown person, a gentleman who had taken an interest in him because of his skiing ability and possibilities for Olympic entry, had offered to stand all expenses. Dan must never know that this man was Sally's father and that Sally, herself, was behind all this.

At last the day came when she was allowed to pay Dan a visit. She had looked forward to it so eagerly, so hopefully, that she was not prepared for the shock of her first glimpse of him. Could this be Dan, this thin, weak, white man, head swathed in bandages, gray eyes staring and enigmatical, one leg stretched straight and stiff before him, in its cruel, cumbersome cast!

"You mustn't stay too long or get him excited," the nurse cautioned before she closed the door. Sally had an impulse to call her back. She was not sure she wanted to be left alone with Dan. Not sure she had the courage to face him.

She had waited so long for this moment and now she did not know what to do, what to say. There seemed only one thing, and so she said it as simply, as quickly as possible.

"Dan... can you ever forgive me? I'm so dreadfully sorry." So sorry that her heart was wrung with despair, that she could have knelt down beside him, giving way to an abandon of grief and remorse.

If only he would not look at her like that! Without any expression in his grave eyes, any hope in his white face. He lifted one hand, let it fall weakly onto the cover again. He made an attempt at a smile, an attempt that brought tears to her eyes.

His voice was little more than a whisper. "That's okay," he said. "I don't blame you. For the accident."

SALLY knew that he meant it, for Dan was not one to say anything he did not mean. Yet, she knew that there were other things, unspoken, sharp barriers between them, that he could not forgive. Her deceit. The fact that she had laughed at him. The dare that had begun the beginning of their odd friendship. He was too big, too fine, to blame her for what she had done to him physically. But now he never would believe in her again.

"You're going to be all right again," Sally said. She wished her voice sounded more convincing. "Doctor Hartford—he was the Boston surgeon—says you'll be as right as ever—in time."

Dan nodded slowly. His expression still blank. His grave eyes seemed to echo that "in time." What would he do until then, this boy who had been so swift, so sure on his feet?

"You mustn't worry about anything," Sally said. Oh, if only she could tell him that she would like to spend the rest of her life making this up to him!

He did not attempt to answer that. It was as though he felt there were no answer. After a moment of silence he said in the same low tone, "And you—are you okay, Sally Blair?"

Sally nodded; her throat was so tight she was not sure she could trust herself to speak. Yes, she was all right. That was the worst of it. Gladly she would have exchanged places with this boy, if only she could have.

"You... you haven't forgiven me—for the other?" She could not go away, say goodbye, without asking that. Her dark eyes pleaded with him to be merciful in his answer. "For deceiving you, Dan. For being such a blind, stupid, little idiot."

"That doesn't matter now," Dan said. His look met hers, but then he turned away.

Sally knew what he meant. He felt that their worlds were farther apart than ever.

"I meant—everything that I said. About liking you, Dan." Sally's voice faltered. It was no use; nothing she could say could break down the barriers between them. "I'm sorry I called you a coward."

HE raised his hand again, in an erasing gesture. He made another attempt to smile. "Please," he murmured. "It doesn't matter, really it doesn't." Then just for a flash this boy, whose pride was so stubborn, whose courage was so great, let her glimpse the bitterness in his heart. "Nothing matters a great deal. You see, I don't believe I shall ever ski again."

"You mustn't say that!" Now Sally did kneel down by his bed, a swift, impulsive movement. She caught one of his hands in hers, clung to it. "Of course you'll ski again! Doctor Hartford has promised that you will! Not right away, of course. Not for years, perhaps..."

"Years!" Dan said. And his voice sounded strong, but only because of the bitterness it contained, the awful despair. He even managed a little laugh. "Years... That will be too late," he said.

"You mustn't say that," Sally said again. But she knew that he was right. The years could slip by so quickly. There would be other boys to win points for their college, to carry off honors of the meet. Others to become champions, be hailed for the Olympics.

The nurse stood in the doorway. Sally's time was up. She raised Dan's hand to let it rest a moment against her cheek, reluctantly let it go. "Goodbye, Dan." For a little while, her heart said. It could not be forever; she could not have endured it, if it had. "You'll see some day—that I'm right." "You'll believe in me. I'll make it up to you, she wanted to add. But she knew there was no use in saying such things yet. Maybe the years would take care of that, too.

"And good luck," she added softly. "You're going?" Dan asked. His gray eyes looked at her. She was so lovely, so youthfully sweet. He turned his head away, as though he could not look at her any longer. "Goodbye, Sally Blair," he said. "It's been nice—knowing you." A smile trembled on his lips. That was the way to say goodbye, lightly, gaily, gallantly—as Corey, or the boys of Sally's glamorous bright world would have.

But it was not Sally's way now. She bent swiftly, before she turned to leave, kissed Dan Reynolds goodbye, her fresh soft lips brushing lightly, yet lingeringly, against his.

Pensions Will Be Big Issue In 44 States

CHICAGO, Dec. 19 (AP)—Legislatures of 44 states join Congress starting next month in attacking the pressing tax, pension and revenue problems of the nation.

Forty-three legislatures were scheduled to meet next month, and Florida's in April.

A survey by the council of state governments, announced today, indicated the emphasis would be on social security and welfare bills, with labor, civil service, marriage law revision and increased support for schools high up on the states' agenda.

Liberalized old age pension measures were expected in California, Minnesota, Nevada, Vermont, Washington, Maine and Indiana. Massachusetts will consider reducing the pension eligibility age from 65 to 60, and Colorado and North Dakota will debate financing of their pension plans of $45 and $40 a month, respectively.

The survey showed that bills to extend coverage of unemployment compensation laws would be up in New Hampshire, Oklahoma and Vermont, and that Connecticut, Colorado and Vermont would consider improvement of welfare facilities.

Tax proposals likely to appear included sales tax bills in Texas and Massachusetts and possibly in Nevada and Oregon; a sales tax increase from four to three per cent in Missouri; state income tax bills in Maine and Connecticut; a business and occupation tax in Colorado; a one-third corporation tax in New Jersey.

Bills for reduction of gasoline taxes were probable in Oklahoma, Nebraska, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

The survey said wage and hour law proposals were considered certain in Connecticut, California, Iowa, Massachusetts, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Utah and Vermont.

Civil service bills were due in Alabama, Georgia, Minnesota, Iowa, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas. Seven states—Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Missouri, Ohio, Virginia, and Vermont—planned to enact laws requiring pre-marital physical examinations. Ten states now have such laws.

Under school proposals, Illinois will consider consolidation of some smaller school districts, and bills for state school support were due in Connecticut, Florida, Iowa, Minnesota, Nevada, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Utah and Washington.

The Senate of Erie by a 38-15 vote declined to elect Senator Patrick Baxter to position of vice-chairman because he had not a competent knowledge of the Irish language. There was no other nomination.

'Guard Against Syphilis' To Be Slogan of Social Hygiene Day

AUSTIN, Dec. 19—'Guard Against Syphilis' is the slogan of National Social Hygiene Day to be observed throughout Texas on February 1. The day will be marked by meetings to highlight community campaigns against syphilis and will focus public attention on vital steps in the conquest of syphilis, according to Dr. George W. Cox, State Health officer.

Evidence of interest in the forthcoming event, the third annual observance in the current attack on syphilis, point to a larger demonstration than those of previous years, Dr. Cox said.

Increased activity and interest on the part of official and voluntary health and welfare agencies, civic groups, service clubs, women's organizations, churches and schools is expected.

Defining the objectives of the 1939 attack in terms of the slogan, these points were said to underlie present national state-wide and community planning in social hygiene.

Guard against syphilis by telling the American people about this dangerous disease—how it can be prevented and cured.

Guard against syphilis in youth, the age of greatest incidence, by strengthening the efforts of church, home and school to provide better facilities for sex education, character development, and preparation for marriage; and by correcting com-community conditions which threaten the health and welfare of young people.

Guard against syphilis in marriage and childhood by encouraging good laws—and their observance—requiring examinations for all those about to marry and for all expectant mothers.

Guard against syphilis by attacking quackery, an arch-acceptance of disease.

Guard against syphilis by supporting adequate voluntary and official health programs, both state and local.

CAIRO (AP)—Tear gas bombs will be used in future for subduing mobs and demonstrators, because of complaints that truncheons and clubs cause too many injuries.

The city police has created a special tear gas section, and men are being trained under the supervision of their Commandant Sir Thomas Russel Pasha.

A 10-ounce package of pitted dates will measure about one and one-half cups.

Since lambs and sheep are easily dressed, it is possible to have this good fresh meat often on the farm.

Seventy-five per cent of the young people of high school age in the United States have faulty posture, according to the American Posture League.

A strain seemed in the distance and people ran from their houses in the direction of the loud crash that had reached their ears.

The library with all its books and reading material is becoming more popular—too popular, in fact, for the benefit of some students.

Going to the library is very worthwhile if a student really uses it, but if he goes there to get his English or arithmetic and other lessons and never uses the library, he is depriving a student who wishes to use the library of going there.

Weather Determines Polish Christmas This question may startle you at first, but what would a cloudy night on Christmas Eve in Poland mean?

The Serbians who live in Serbia, not in Germany, keep open house for three days after Christmas is over and everyone, friend or foe, is welcome.

Another peculiar custom is that in Italy there are no evergreens at Christmas because the pagan customs weren't encouraged; and by the way, the reason there are Christmas trees comes from German origin.

Another interesting fact about Christmas is that our good old Santa Claus—the fellow who gets out in his face coming down the chimney—was originally a part of the St. Nicholas festivities in Europe that were held on December 6; but anyway, Christmas and St. Nick will keep on existing and making people happy, making no difference where it originated or how.

Students Entertain At Rotary Luncheon Several high school students took part in the entertainment for the Rotary club luncheon last Wednesday.

Jeanette Lively played several numbers on the piano and Douglas Stark, accompanied by his brothers and sister, performed on the baritone horn.

A one-act play, "Dust of the Road," was given by the high school play directing class and was directed by Kenneth Carman.

Speaking of ear muffs, Miss Branon was trying to decide which color to buy. She couldn't make up her mind whether she wanted the red, white or green ones, so she bought them all. Oh, these women.

Mr. Mann has that old Christmas spirit and he's wearing a piece of it to show it.

Fifteen Instructors To remain in Pampa

Faculty members of Pampa High school have been making plans to attend various cities during the Christmas holidays. Lambert Marks, head of the foreign language department, is planning to visit Los Angeles, California, which is sometimes referred to as the "city of angels."

Other teachers planning to visit out of the state are: B. G. Gordon, Fort Cobb, Okla.; Aubred Steele, Altus, Oklahoma; Mrs. J. B. Austin, Wilson, Oklahoma; and Oklahoma City and Miss Charis Hill, Portales, New Mexico.

Those to visit in Texas include: R. A. Selby, supervisor of instruction, Silverton; Miss Opal McKay, Lamesa; Harry Kelley, Sylvestor, Cirico and Big Springs; Winston Savage, Canyon; Miss Clarine Branon, Commerce; Tom Herod, Strider; Miss Eugenia Johnston, Atlanta; Miss Anne Louise Jones, Warthan; Miss Margaret Jones, Bartlett; Miss Gracie Fern Latimer, Higgins; Miss Alice Short, LeFors; Miss Louise Warren, Plainview; B. R. Nuckols, Amarillo and R. H. Sanford, Taylor.

WTSC Band Plays At Assembly Hour

West Texas State college band, composed of 43 members, directed by Charles Crane, entertained at the Pampa High school students last Friday in assembly.

Conference Grid Games Arranged

Two home games and two out of town games will make up the Harvester conference schedule for next week. The schedule was arranged at a meeting of school officials and coaches last Monday at Plainview.

Decorating of Boxes Directed by Council

Further plans were made for the White Christmas program tomorrow when the student council met last Tuesday after school. A committee was appointed to look after the decorating of the gift boxes.

Harvesters Will Get Reversible Jackets

For the first time the Harvester football team will be awarded jackets instead of sweaters, according to present plans.

Germans First Used Trees on Christmas

Where did the idea of decorating a fir tree, such as the one in the hall, originate? The idea of using a fir tree in celebrating Christmas was started in the Scandinavian countries and in Germany.

Students Entertain At Rotary Luncheon

Several high school students took part in the entertainment for the Rotary club luncheon last Wednesday.

Jeanette Lively played several numbers on the piano and Douglas Stark, accompanied by his brothers and sister, performed on the baritone horn.

A one-act play, "Dust of the Road," was given by the high school play directing class and was directed by Kenneth Carman.

Winston Savage was in charge of the program.

We Three Kings

We Three Kings of the Orient are, Bearing gifts we traverse afar, Field and fountain, Moor and mountain, Following yonder star.

Gaspard: Born a king on Bethlehem plain, Gold I bring to crown Him again; King forever, Ceasing never, Over us all to reign.

Melchior: Frankincense to offer have I, Incense, a dainty high; Prayer and praising, All men raising, Worship Him God on high.

Balthazar: Myrrh is mine; its bitter perfume Breaths a life of gathering gloom; Sorrowing, sighing, Bleeding, dying, Sealed in a stone-cold tomb.

O, Star of wonder, Star of night, Star with Royal beauty bright, Westward leading, Still proceeding, Guides us to Thy perfect light.

Glorious now behold Him arise, King and God, and Sacrifice; Heav'n sings Alleluia! Alleluia, The earth replies, J. H. Hopkins, Jr.

Over 200 Voices Will Be Heard in Messiah

Over 200 voices will be blended together tonight in the production of Handel's Messiah to be given at 8:30 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

The Messiah is an oratorio of the life, death and resurrection of Christ and is climaxed with the famous Hallelujah chorus.

This is the sixth year the Messiah has been produced in Pampa by members of the Pampa Civic choir, with the help of the Amarillo Civic choir, under direction of Lester Aldrich, voice instructor.

The audience was composed mostly of parents. Guests from Canyon were Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Savage, Arvo Goddard and Jay Plank.

Choir to Perform On Two Programs

The A Cappella choir will take part on two Christmas programs. The choir will sing at the Christmas assembly tomorrow and have 15 minutes on the Community Christmas tree program tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock.

ATTENTION JUNIORS! Try-outs for the junior play are tentatively set for tonight at 7:00 o'clock in the dramatics room.

Debating Group Elects Officers

Dorothy Jean Gibson was elected president; Jack Hessey, vice-president; Donna Day, secretary; Rosemary Arnold, librarian; Peggy Williams, reporter and Leonard Earl Walker, typist, at a meeting of the debate club held last Thursday at 7:00 p. m. in room 202.

Those present at the meeting were Erlene McMillen, Donna Day, Virginia Fore, Dorothy Jean Gibson, Vaughn Darnell, Nell McCullough, Jack Hessey, Rosemary Arnold, Leonard Earl Walker and Peggy Williams.

No definite debates have been scheduled as yet for the club, states the sponsor, O. F. Shewmaker.

Recognition Won By Keeping Rules Of Good Posture

"Posture means Lynn Fontaine leaning back in her chair, or Billie Burke floating down a starway. It means Helen Jacobs running to the net for a kill, or Lou Gehrig putting one over the fence," says Janet Lane in her book, "Your Carriage, Madame!"

Girls, it doesn't take a second Miss America to be well groomed, not even money and swell duds. "You have it in you," says Miss Lane, "be free and easy."

Things to remember for good posture are: don't be a sway back; do not slump; shoulders back; walk in a straight line, don't use the common "duck waddle"; don't tilt forward when walking; and hold abdomen in. Correct line-up figure should always be "ear to ankle line."

P.H.S. Band Presents Concert to Parents

Under the direction of Winston Savage, the high school band presented a concert last Tuesday evening displaying various types of swing, marches, novelty numbers and classics.

The audience was composed mostly of parents. Guests from Canyon were Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Savage, Arvo Goddard and Jay Plank.

Guest artists were five members of the Stark family who played two numbers, arranged for them by Douglas Stark, member of the band.

Proceeds of the program were used to entertain the Buffalo band of Canyon at a luncheon given Friday in the high school cafeteria.

All foreign language classes under the instruction of Lambert Marks are singing songs in the language they are studying.

Merrill Hazard, Clarabel Jones, Dorothy Jane Day and Arline Elliott, presented two numbers to a local church program last Sunday. Accompanied by Jack Andrews on the piano, the four sang "Silent Night" and "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing." All the students are members of the second year Spanish class.

White Christmas Program To Be Presented Tuesday

Cage Schedule Announced for Present Season

District Meet to Be Held February 17-18

"This year's Harvester basketball team hopes to be as successful in winning the district meet, which is to be held here on the days of February 17-18, as last year's team," states Coach Odus Mitchell.

Last year the Harvesters played 45 games and lost only eight. Four of which were to Berger, the team that they defeated in the finals of the district meet for the championship.

This season the Harvesters have played four games and lost only one, which was to Abernathy.

The Harvesters will again tangle with the Abernathy team here on January 6, which will be during the week after the Christmas holidays. Students are urged to attend.

The schedule for the Harvester basketball squad for the rest of the season is as follows: December 20—Groom, here. December 21—White Deer, here. January 6—Abernathy, here. January 7—Amarillo, here. January 12—Plainview, here. January 16—Ozark Hillbilles, here. January 17—Panhandle, here. January 24—Berger, here. January 26, Lubbock, here. January 27—Amarillo, here. January 31—Berger, here. February 3—Lubbock, here. February 4—Plainview—here. February 17-18—District meet, here.

Gleanings

Students of McMurry college in Abilene publish "The Gallon," a literary magazine twice yearly. This magazine, which has been ranked high in the Texas Intercollegiate Press association contests each spring, is included in the students' activity fee.

Slinky, slimy, little worm, How you twinkle when you squirm Down beneath my skin so deep While in my quiet grave I sleep.

Oh, thy grimy parasite, Chinthy bones with all thy might, But when on my brain you carve Alas, my worm, you will starve. --McMurry War Whoop

After an illness of over a week, R. E. Fisher, superintendent of Corpus Christi schools, is reported well on the road to recovery.

A tour of Alaska, Canada, and parts of the United States this coming summer has been planned under the direction of Col. Ralph Beck, director of the Highlander band at Dallas. The band will be made up of skilled high school musicians from all over the United States.

You see a beautiful girl walking down the street. She is singular and you are non-invasive— You walk across to her and she is well— So you become dative—if she isn't objective, You become plural, And you walk home together. Her mother is accusative and you become imperative— You take of the future and she changes to objective— You become masculine and kiss her— Her father becomes present— And you become past participle.

Merry Christmas To All, Says Sone

"I am wishing all the teachers and students a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year," says L. L. Sone, superintendent.

Mr. Sone intends to remain at home this year because he considers it a privilege to be at home.

"I think it is very nice that we consider other people and their welfare at Christmas," stated Mr. Sone when asked what he thought of the school's participation in White Christmas.

Mr. Sone says nearly all of the rooms in the four ward schools have Christmas trees and that all of them are instilling in the minds of the young boys and girls the idea of Christmas and the Christmas spirit.

If Santa brings Pampa High school a present this year he wants it to be a scheduled football game with Corpus Christi High school for the season of 1938. His second choice is another game with Fort Arthur.

Homerooms Will Contribute Boxes

In observing the yuletide season, a special White Christmas program will be presented tomorrow afternoon at 1:45 o'clock.

During musical numbers by a brass quartet, home room representatives will place White Christmas baskets on the stage near a decorated tree.

"Dust of the Road," a Christmas play, will be presented by members of the play directing class. The parts of Prudence and Peter Steel, a young married couple, are played by Betty Sue Price and Jimmy Mosley. A tramp is portrayed by John Edwin McConnell. Dick Kennedy is in the role of an old man.

Following the play a trio composed of Mrs. Mae Foreman Carr at the piano; Lambert Marks, flute and Herbert Miller, violin, will present a group of musical numbers.

Reverend Robert Boehm of the Presbyterian church will read the original Christmas story.

The A Cappella choir will present a short concert to close the program.

Harvesters Beat Miami and Groom

The Harvester basketball team won both of its games played last week. They also played in the Plainview tournament Friday and Saturday. Bob Andis led the scoring both games with 18 points against Miami and 16 against Groom.

Groom Heiskell made nine points the first night and eight the second. Miller scored off and on from the center position. Kenneth Kyle showed much improvement in the Groom conflict and will probably be in the starting line-up in some of the season's later games. Substitute Nevin Johnston scored a field goal the first night.

In the Harvester-Warrior game Miami's right guard, Cunningham, did most of the scoring with one field goal and two foul shots. He was taken out on personals.

The second team preliminary of the Groom game was won by the Harvester B team, 27-4.

Tomorrow evening the Harvesters will again meet Groom in the local gymnasium. The following night will play White Deer here.

Test in Reading To Be Given Soon

Plans are underway for a reading test to be given soon after the Christmas holidays in all high school English classes, according to R. A. Selby, director of instruction.

Miss Margaret Jones, head of the English department, and D. F. Osborne, principal, are working with Mr. Selby in giving the tests to find the reading rate, comprehension and word knowledge of each student.

These tests have been given in Junior High school and may be given in the elementary schools later on.

Homemaking Girls Serve A.A.U.W. Tea

Six girls from the homemaking department assisted in serving at the A. A. U. W. tea given for the presidents of the clubs and the club's guests last Saturday afternoon.

Those who served are Mary Jean Hill, Helen Chandler, Roberta Bell, Helen Harris, Elizabeth King and Nannie Lee Epperson. The third hour food gifts prepared the refreshments.

Those on the program committee are Mrs. R. H. Sanford, Mrs. Dudley Steele and Miss Jennie Stennis.

Four girls of the Homemakers club acted as waitresses at a banquet given at the home of Mrs. Taylor, Betty Lou Batten, Irla Williams, Hazel Claxton and Lee Fender.

Sophomores to Play Amarillo January 6

The Pampa Sophomore basketball team, coached by Bruce Barton, will play their first game January 6 with Buchanan Junior High of Amarillo at Amarillo.

Sam Houston of Amarillo was champion of the tournament last year, with the Pampa Sophomores second and Central High of Amarillo third.

The schedule for the Guerrillas has not been arranged yet, states Coach Bruce Barton.

The Sophomore schedule is as follows: January 6—Buchanan, at Amarillo. January 10—Central of Amarillo here. January 13—Sam Houston at Amarillo. January 24—Pampa Junior High at Pampa. January 27 and 31 are open dates. February 3—Pampa Junior High at Pampa. February 7—Sam Houston of Amarillo here. February 10—Central at Amarillo and February 14—Buchanan at Amarillo.

Tusk Discovered By Science Club

LUBBOCK, (TSP)—Discovery of an elephant tusk protruding from a vertical cliff was made recently by the science club of Lubbock High school on a field trip made to Buffalo Springs. W. C. Watts, sponsor of the club, stated the tusk may be either a mammoth or a mastodon, both extinct members of the elephant family, but expressed belief that it is that of the latter.

Thank you, Merry Christmas P. B. Don't forget dear old Pampa High school when it comes to dishin' out the interscholastic awards next spring. M. C.
