New Ordinance Regulates Peddling and Creates Restricted Zone

LICENSE MUST BE BOUGHT IN FUTURE TRADE

Local Firms Excepted in Measure, Also Farmers

ORDER TAKING NOT HAMPERED

Law Written From Standpoint of Its Legality

An emergency ordinance regulating peddling in the city was passed by the commission Monday evening and will go into effect upon publication. The measure grows out of a need long recognized and follows lengthy studies by the Pampa Business Men's association and city officials.

It will henceforth be unlawful for any person or firm to peddle, or to auction any kind of merchandise within a district described as follows: Beginning at the intersection of Gillette and Frances streets; thence down Frances street in a southerly direction to Gray; thence down Gray street in a southerly direction to the Santa Fe Railway track; thence down the Santa Fe railway track in a northerly direction to Russell street; thence down Russell street in a southerly direction to Tuke street; thence down Tuke street in a northerly direction to Gillespie; thence down Gillespie street in a northerly direction to Frances street, the point of beginning.

In this restricted zone there may be no peddling, crying of wares for sale or promotion of any kind, with the exception that persons or firms who are occupying a regularly established business house or lot within the said district shall not be subject to these provisions. This exception also includes drummers and commercial travelers representing duly and regularly established wholesale houses operating under the laws of this or any other state, and selling purely and only from sample or merely taking orders.

Hereafter no person or firm can peddle, detail, or auction merchandise within the city limits without a license issued by the city secretary. With the exception that this provision does not apply to regularly established local business houses, to commercial travelers selling altogether from sample or order, nor to persons peddling produce which they have raised themselves. The latter provision, however, does not apply to the restricted zone.

Pedestrian peddlers must pay an annual license of $2.50, and those whose vehicles must pay $5.

Violations constitute misdemeanor offenses, and each day's operation without a license is a separate offense.

The ordinance is designed to regulate the heretofore promiscuous peddling and hawking and to provide a measure of protection for local merchants who pay taxes, rent, and other overhead expenses. Constitutional limitations have been observed.

THREE SEAMEN LOST

NORFOLK, Va., May 9.—(P)—The fate of three men, who yesterday pulled off Virginia Beach in an effort to rescue a shipmate who had been washed overboard by a wave, was unknown here today. Last reports said the men were being tossed about in a northeast gale while the man overboard got near enough to the steamer to be pulled on deck.

Don C. Hughes and L. W. Lowe of the Empire Gas and Fuel company with offices in Amarillo are here while visiting the company's Daurer well.

THE WEATHER

WEST TEXAS—Tonight and Thursday partly cloudy; colder in the Panhandle Thursday.

CHINESE WAR UNDER TRUCE

Chang Tso-Lin Halts in Effort to Appease Japan

LONDON, May 9.—(P)—Chang Tso-Lin, the Northern dictator, sent out a telegram to all civil and military authorities throughout China today, a Reuter dispatch from Peking says, proclaiming a temporary cessation of the war between the Northerners and the Southerners, because of the critical situation which has arisen between Japan and China in Shantung province.

Chang's telegram declared that civil war had been in progress in China for several years, while Communists had been attempting to ruin the country. He always apprehended that the war might impair China's friendly relations, and unfortunate incidents now had happened. Accordingly he issues orders to cease hostilities in order to save the country.

TWO FLIERS KILLED

TEREBORO Airport, Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., May 9.—(P)—Lieutenant Royal V. Thomas, who recently tried for an endurance record in the Bellanca monoplane Reliance, and a man named Westvelt, were killed today when the plane crashed at this field.

STERLING PLAN APPROVED

GALVESTON, May 9.—(P)—The Galveston County Mainland Chamber of Commerce meeting at Dickinson last night, endorsed the plan of R. S. Sterling, chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, for a bond issue of $350,000,000 to develop a connected system of state highways to be financed by the gasoline tax.

POSTAL CLERK NEEDED

A civil service examination for the position of clerk in the Pampa post office will be held soon, it was announced here today. Applications must be submitted before June 1. Further information may be obtained at the local office.

PHYSICIANS ASSEMBLE

GALVESTON, May 9.—(P)—Several important legislative matters, including a request that the state legislature appropriate funds for two psychopathic hospitals, were to be considered by approximately 1,000 physicians of Texas, attending the convention of the state medical association, which opened Tuesday.

SLATON MAN TAKES OFFER AND TELLS BOARD HE WILL MOVE TO PAMPA JULY 1

Acceptance by Odus Mitchell of Slaton high school of the position of coach at Central high was confirmed this morning in a telegram to the board of education.

Under the terms of his contract, he will, with Mrs. Mitchell, move here July 1 to begin laying plans for an athletic program for next term and to get acquainted with Pampa boys. He also will make preparations for the annual pre-school training camp.

Mitchell's Slaton football squad last year defeated Canyon after the Eagles had walloped the Harvesters, and to repeat that performance this year would mean a district championship. Canyon will offer even more formidable rivalry this year, having retained her great eleven almost 100 per cent.

The new coach is known as the greatest athlete ever produced at Canyon Teachers college. He starred in football, basketball, baseball, track, and gymnasium work. Passage of the bond issue to be voted upon May 31 would assure him an adequate gymnasium for basketball practice and games.

Mitchell took all the physical training courses offered at the Teachers college, with a view to establishing athletics as a definite high school activity for every student. Given a gymnasium, this work can be established in a manner now impossible.

BRIGGS IS NEW SECRETARY OF FAIR--BOOSTER TRIP PLANNED

Amusements Will Comprise Much of Activity This Year—Old Fund Is Stimulus to Early Work

Pampa will have another fair. The Chamber of Commerce fair committee met in the chamber rooms yesterday afternoon and set October 11, 12, 13 as the date for the fair. George W. Briggs, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, was appointed secretary of the organization.

Several communities were appointed and will be announced in a few days. Amusements will be large features of the fair this year. The officers of the association will make county and community visits in the near future in the interest of the fair.

With a considerable cum of money in the treasury from the last fair held in 1925, the organization will be pushed rapidly forward.

The central committee is composed of Joe Smith, chairman, F. P. Reid, W. R. Campbell, R. G. Christy and J. L. Lester.

Oil Bureau to Be Subject of Meeting Tonight

There will be a meeting of oil men and other interested persons at the Schneider hotel tonight at 8 o'clock, when B. Frank Bennett, assistant manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, of Amarillo, and George Briggs, local manager, will outline the work of the W. T. C. C.

Plans and accomplishments of the Oil and Gas division of the association will be freely discussed by the speakers and oil men of this territory. The W. T. C. C. has a big program in the interest of the oil men.

University Scribes Edit Daily Papers

AUSTIN, May 9.—(P)—Following their annual custom, Texas university journalism students Wednesday edited the stateman, afternoon, and will supervise editions of the American tonight.

Miss Everett Love, Lubbock, was managing editor of the Stateman; Miss Brownie Bradford, Palestine, was her chief aide, and Dale Miller, Corpus Christi, was city editor.

DEATH SENTENCE AFFIRMED

She Helped Ford

Mrs. Samuel Ford, aunt of Henry Ford, now lives quietly in Detroit. When Ford was a boy he frequently went to her for a dollar or two to help develop some mechanical idea with which he was tinkering. He got it, and maybe that's why she is said to be his favorite aunt.

HIGH VOLTAGE FAILS TO KILL

Two Local Men Live Through Heavy Shocks

During the last two weeks two men have taken 6,600 volts from a high line and are alive to tell of their experiences. This morning while working in front of the Pampa Lumber company, George Eberly, an employee of the Texas company, telephone department, came in contact with a high line carrying 6,600 volts.

He was rushed to the Pampa hospital, where he is in a critical condition but hope is held for his recovery. His head came in contact with the Southwestern Public Service company's high line. Grounding from his right hip. He did not lose consciousness.

Last week E. M. Culbertson, an employee of the Southwestern Public Service company, came in contact with the high line from Amarillo, while working near the Roxana camp and took the 6,600 volts, which failed to throw him from the pole. He was preparing a cross arm for a lightning arrester when his hand came in contact with the high line.

The current went in his hand and out to ground from his right leg. He is able to be out today and seems little the worse for his harrowing experience.

It is a miracle that both men were not killed instantly as it only requires 1,800 volts in the electric chair.

Briggs Is Speaker at Rotary Luncheon

George W. Briggs, new manager of the Chamber of Commerce, gave an interesting address before the Rotary club at the regular dinner today in the Schneider hotel. He spoke on the spirit of Rotary and its advantages.

C. L. Thomas spoke on the Rotary convention at Lubbock and the part the Pampa club played. A duet song was led by DeLea Vicars.

Visiting Rotarians were Roy M. Walker and Joe G. Farley of Panhandle; W. J. Hale, Childress; Harry G. Finley, Ft. Collins, Colo.; B. Francis Penness, Amarillo, and Jim Williams of Mission.

D. P. Seay, of the Morrow-Thomas Hardware of Amarillo, was a business visitor here yesterday.

A. L. Frigmore of Pawhuska, Okla., has taken up his duties with the Gray County State bank here.

Acquitted Killer Slain

By Relative of Victim On City Streets Today

SWEETWATER, May 9.—(P)—Charley Wells, 30, a cattle buyer, was shot to death on a street here today. Bert Trammell surrendered to police a few minutes later. No charges have been filed and Trammell has made no statement.

Wells recently was acquitted of murder in connection with the slaying of Phillip Trammell, nephew of Bert Trammell, here a year ago.

Sam Clark, deputy sheriff of Winters, who was with Wells at the time of the shooting today, said that he and Wells had just left a restaurant. Trammell, Clark said, stepped out of an automobile with a shotgun. "I heard a shot and Wells fell," Clark said. "He started crawling toward a tailor shop and another shot was fired, striking him in the hip. He then crawled into the pressing shop and a third shot was fired, striking him in the top of the head."

Clark said no words were spoken before the shooting, but that Wells pushed him away when he saw the man with the shotgun.

Bert Trammell, a farmer and breeder of polo ponies, is the son of the late Tom Trammell, pioneer banker and railroad builder in West Texas.

Negro Is Shot Through Shoulder

Claude Granberry, negro, was shot through the shoulder this afternoon in a fight with E. J. Grice, also a negro. The fight started in a house at the rear of the old Schneider hotel and ended in a pistol duel.

The injured negro pulled a gun and twice missed Grice, who took the pistol away from him, and in the affair another shot was fired, striking Granberry.

Grice is in jail, but no charges have been filed. Granberry is in the Pampa hospital.

Len Small Would Confer Home Rule Act Upon Chicago

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 9.—(P)—Governor Len Small today issued a proclamation calling the general assembly into extraordinary session May 15, to confer "home rule" upon Chicago and apportion the $6,000,000 collected under the unconstitutional gasoline tax among Illinois' 102 counties.

Eight-Year Tenure Rule For Bishops Is Abolished Today

KANSAS CITY, May 9.—(P)—The eight-year maximum tenure rule for Methodist Episcopal Bishops in areas in the United States was abolished by the quadrennial general conference of the church here today. The delegates voted 490 to 256 that the success and qualifications of a bishop should be considered in assigning areas rather than limiting him to eight years in an area.

The eight-year tenure rule, adopted at the 1924 conference in Springfield, Mass., had been announced as one of the major problems of the present general conference.

BANK BURGLARY FAILS

FOR WORTH, May 6.—(P)—Yeggmen were unsuccessful in the attempt to rob the Smithville State bank at Smithfield 13 miles northeast of here, Tuesday night. The safe was dynamited, but the charge was not of sufficient power to break the vault.

The postoffice at Smithfield also was entered and about $5 taken. It was believed that the same robbers were responsible for both.

HOOVER SPEND $200

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(P)—Herbert Hoover underwent a searching examination today at the hands of the Senate campaign funds committee, testifying that his personal expenditures might total $200, and telling his interrogators at one time that he wondered if they were not dealing in a "pretty low type of street slander."

Frank Dillard, president of the B. O. Oil company, returned yesterday from a business trip to Tulsa.

WATSON WINS OVER HOOVER

Secretary's Man Asks Second Choice Rating

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 9.—(P)—Admitting defeat, Oscar G. Follinger, manager of Herbert Hoover's presidential campaign in Indiana, this afternoon issued a formal statement congratulating Senator James E. Watson on his victory and calling upon the Senator "to release Indiana's 33 delegates after Watson's name is dropped" at the national Republican convention.

Scout Officials Well Received in Neighbor Towns

Scott Barcus, chairman of the new Panhandle district of Boy Scouts, and E. D. McIver, executive, visited with the Rotary club at Canadian yesterday at luncheon. It was the first official visit of the officer since the new district was established.

The two men gave interesting addresses on why they were interested in Boy Scout work and explained the plans of the organization.

They visited with the Chamber of Commerce at Miami last evening on their way home from Canadian and were enthusiastically received.

Gas Men Study Pipeline Corrosion

DALLAS, May 9.—(P)—Pipeline corrosion, which is said to cost gas companies hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly, was studied here today at the convention of the Natural Gas Association of America, which went into its second day's session.

The discussion was led by W. G. Hagan of the East Ohio Gas company, Cleveland, who said that the problem of corrosion cannot be completely solved without a thorough analysis of the soil in which the pipe is laid.

He referred to various methods of pipe preserving, among which are preservative paints and wrapping. The methods used in the long distance lines in Texas also were studied.

FIREMEN DIED AT POSTS

MINNEAPOLIS, May 9.—(P)—The bodies of two firemen who died at their posts were recovered today.

While fighting a blaze which destroyed a two-story store and office building last night, the floor collapsed, throwing captain William R. Marden and Archie N. Lawrence into a smoke-filled basement. The terrific heat balked all efforts at rescue for several hours. Death was due to asphyxiation. Four other firemen had their injuries treated at a hospital.

AMONG THE UNCERTAINTIES of this highly unsettled season is that of the wheat crop of the Southwest. While in the immediate Pampa area the crop is luxuriant for this time of year, one does not have to go far in any direction to find fields needing moisture.

J. F. Jarrel, manager of agricultural development for the Santa Fe system, says that an accurate forecast of the prospective wheat yield must await developments in the month of May. He finds that Kansas, leading wheat state, has 13,000,000 acres planted in the crop.

Increased acreage will bring two-thirds of the total U. S. crop into the states of Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Colorado, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, and California. General growing conditions in these states are admittedly the equal of this period of 1926 and much superior to those of last year.

Prince Carol of Rumania went to England to take a rest. The burdens of being a Rumanian prince in Paris must be distressing.

A man in Pennsylvania voted for Harry Sinclair for president. No heat prostrations have been reported yet from that state, however.

Recent government reports indicated a world shortage, sending prices upward, but the acreage is so enormous that weather reports tend toward constant fluctuation. Proper marketing will bring good returns, and in this regard the well organized Canadian farmers will profit most as usual.

Winter kills, poor stands, and crop abandonment have served to encourage diversification, and the one-crop system is losing ground in the Southwest, despite good markets and crops in occasional years.

SEVEN SOCIAL SINS

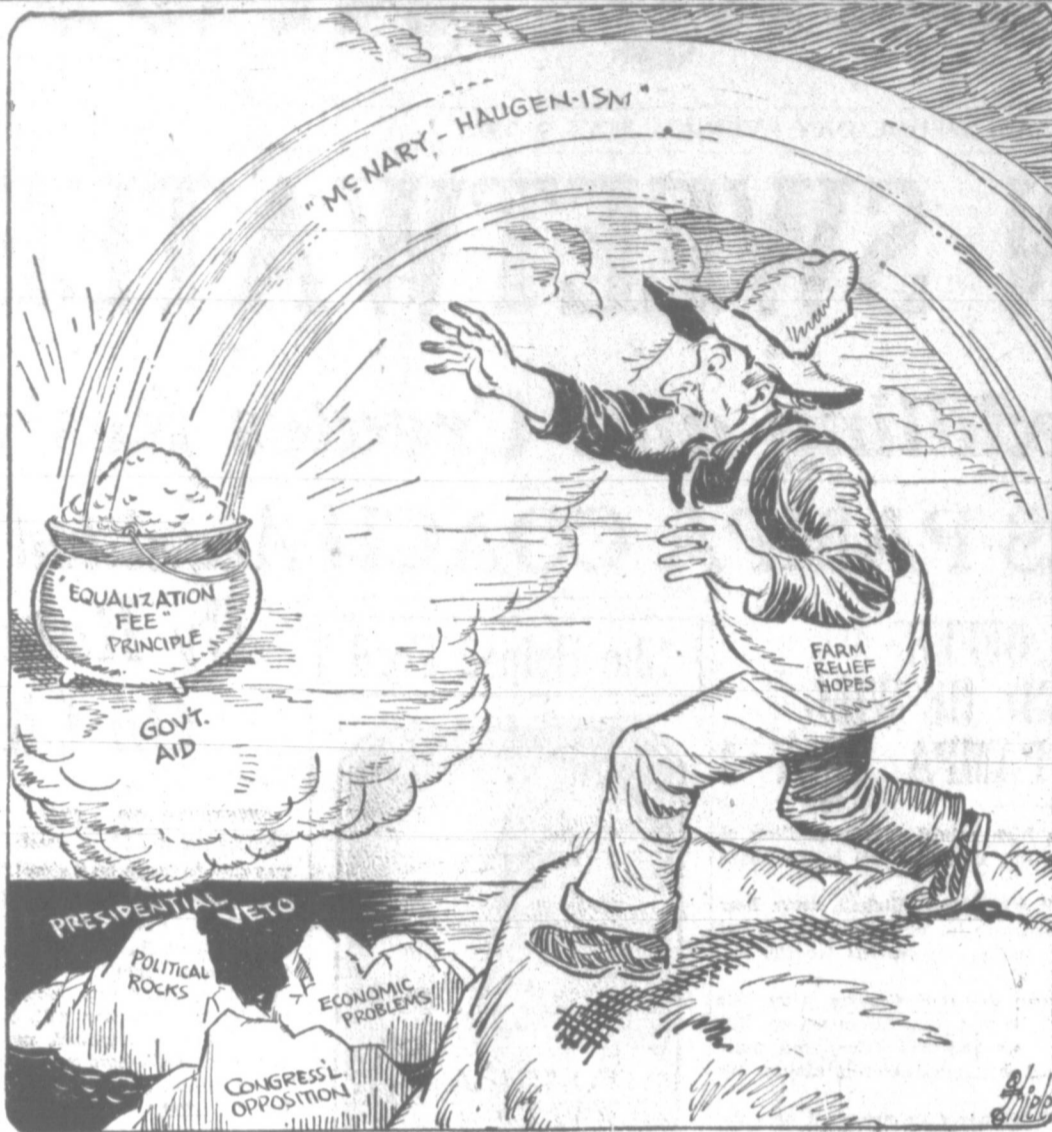

The English language is not very compact, a truth which only in part accounts, however, for the long-winded discourses often heard and read.

A series of sermons could be written on the seven social sins outlined by the Rev. Canon Frederic Lewis Donaldson. Here they are:

- 1. Policies without principles.
2. Wealth without work.
3. Pleasure without conscience.
4. Knowledge without character.
5. Science without humanity.
6. Worship without sacrifice.

Very often the application of a rule is more vital than the rule itself. Hewing to a rule may be cruel, and Puritanism long ago was shown in its true light. The second social sin mentioned should not be misinterpreted. The love of money, not money itself, is a source of evil. Inherited wealth is entirely legitimate, and the administration of a large estate may not involve physical work. It is a social sin, however, to misuse defenseless human beings in the acquirement of it, and in this sense wealth without work is sinful. The other points are self-explanatory.

The old gentleman, before and since his retirement, has been accused of a great deal more than looting the naval oil reserves. He has been charged with favoring his friends as he hastened to open up the oil and coal lands and to have violated frequently the law in disposition of these and water and other rights.

Indians and their friends charged that the Fall-endorsed Bursum bill of 1922 would have robbed the Indians of all or most of their property, amounting to more than a billion dollars. The General Federation of Women's Clubs and other organizations lobbied successfully to beat the bill and the storm of criticism helped hasten Fall's exit from the cabinet the next year.

Having obtained the naval coal reserves from the Navy Department through executive order and handed them to favored interests, Fall then went after the navy's oil. When he took office, the navy had five reserves—petroleum reserves at Elk Hills and

KIDNAPERS ARE BLAMED FOR MISSING YOUNGSTER

$5000 Reward Spurs Search For Michigan Tot

PONTIAC, Mich., May 9.—Harry Monson and his wife are not rich. But they are willing to go into debt for the remainder of their lives if $5000 will restore their missing 4-year-old son, Norman.

Norman has been gone for more than a week, and his father and mother believe he has been kidnaped. So they are offering a reward of $5000 for his safe return—offering it although $5000 looks almost like all the money in the world to them. All Michigan has joined in the search.

Police searched the city. Farmers living on the outskirts of town told of seeing a man leading a weeping child through a desolate stretch of marsh and woodland, and the vicinity was combed thoroughly; but no clue was found.

The father hired private detectives. Once they thought they were near success; they had a "live tip" that a man held for some petty crime in an Ohio city could tell them about the supposed kidnaper. They hurried to see him, and the hopes of the Monsons rose. But the "tip" was false. The detectives returned empty handed.

At first the police believed the boy might have met with an accident. They have abandoned that theory now, however, and are convinced that he was kidnaped either for ransom or revenge—although Monson knows of no one who might hold a grudge against him.

The Monsons have been busy figuring lately—figuring how to raise the $5000 they are offering as a reward. They have decided to mortgage their home, although that will put them in debt for years.

Police and detectives are fairly swamped with "tips" phoned in by citizens. To date every one has proven fruitless, but none is considered too fantastic to investigate. The officers hope that sooner or later one of these wild clues will bring results.

Norman Monson, 4, who is mysteriously missing.

The Endeavor will meet once each month on Saturday afternoons.

Following organization of the Endeavor, the group was entertained with a picnic on Mrs. Green's farm east of the city. Games were played, and a Weiner and marshmallow roast was enjoyed. Mrs. W. F. Clausen assisted Mrs. Smith in entertaining the group of 15 children.

Christian Endeavor Convention to be Held in Amarillo

The State Christian Endeavor Convention will be held in Amarillo June 13 to 17 inclusive. The entertaining churches of the convention are the Central Presbyterian church, First Christian church, and West Amarillo Christian church. The convention headquarters will be in the Central Presbyterian church at 11th and Harrison Streets.

One of the features of this convention which will set it apart from others is that the whole convention will be under one roof. The New Central Presbyterian church will adequately care for all sessions, conferences, study classes, committee meetings, and the Junior and Intermediate sessions. The beautiful auditorium with its great organ and chimes will be used for the main sessions.

The social program of the convention will be full of good things. The "Big Banquet" which is the main feature of the social program will be held in Fellowship Hall. This banquet will be on Saturday night, June 16th and it is one of the features of the convention which is looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure because it is here the young people from over the state enter into a great fellowship meeting, singing their songs and giving their yells.

The education program will include bible study each morning. There will also be conferences and study classes on Christian Endeavor methods, leadership training, vocational training, music, missions, and many other subjects interesting to the young people. The general theme of the convention will be "Crusade with Christ."

ANNE AUSTIN AUTHOR OF "SAINT AND SINNER"

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Ward of the state orphanage since she was four, Sally Ford is "farmed out" to Clem Carson the summer she is 16, and meets David Nash, athlete and student who is working on the Carson farm during his vacation. David hits Carson when the farmer makes insulting remarks about his friendship for Sally. David and Sally run away and join a carnival. David as Cook's helper and Sally disguised as "Princess Lalla," crystal gazer.

In Capital City, location of the orphanage, Sally is recognized by one of a crowd of little orphans, championed by a beautiful woman. Quick work on the part of the Barker saves Sally. She learns from Arthur Van Horne, an ex-convict, who annoys her with his attentions, that the beautiful chaplain is Enid Barr, wealthy New York matron.

In another state Sally and David become dance partners. One day Sally finds herself confronted with Mrs. Stone, matron of the orphanage, who has followed Sally to the distant state. David and Sally run away from the carnival and are "half-married" when Mrs. Stone and Enid Barr rush in and stop the ceremony.

Enid confesses she is Sally's mother and that she believes until recently her child was dead. In Kansas City Sally meets Courtney Barr, the judicially minded husband of Enid, and he tells her that to protect Enid's reputation she must not enter their home for two years. These two years she spends in a fashionable southern finishing school and at a mountain camp, learning all that a prospective debutante should know. Her heart yearns for David, and though she keeps her promise not to write to him, she does not forget her mother's agreement that David is to be invited to her coming-out party.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLV

Color—all colors swirling together in a mad kaleidoscope of incredible beauty; and muted, insistent throbbings of a violin played by an unseen artist; the rosy glow of light which apparently had no source; the rustling whisper of silks; the polite, subdued buzz of middle-aged conversation; the shrill-but musical clamor of very young voices; the subtle, faint odor of French perfumes; the stronger, more sickening odor of too many hothouse flowers.

Sally Barr, who had been Sally Ford, was "play-acting" again. She was playing the role of a society debutante. She was "play-acting," and enjoying it, with a sort of surface enjoyment that made her look the perfect picture of the popular and beautiful debutante.

She knew that her cheeks were like tea roses, her sapphire eyes as brilliant as the jewel whose color they had imitated so perfectly. She knew that her wind-blown bob of gleaming, silky-soft black hair was ravishing, that her "period costume" of sea-shell pink taffeta and silver lace, made so finely expensive by its intricate embroidery of seed pearls, was the most beautiful dress worn by any debutante of the season so far.

She knew all these things because the obviously ecstatic compliments of the other girls had told her so, because Enid Barr, her mother, who all these people thought was only her adopted mother, was luminous with pride and joy in her, because over Courtney Barr, with whom she still felt ill-used, looked like a pouter-pigeon L. his possessive satisfaction.

But Sally Barr was play-acting and the Sally Ford she had been looked on in a skimpy little white lawn dress decorated with five-cent lace, and watched the performance with critical eyes, or, rather, watched as often as these hungry, desperate eyes turned away from the door, unable to bear the sight of newsmen, because none of them was David.

The Sally Ford in the skimpy little white lawn dress which the orphanage provided for Sundays and on rare dress-up occasions wondered how these strange, glamorous people could do see her beneath the sea-shell pink taffeta with its silver lace and precious seed-pearl embroidery. And this Sally Ford whom they could not see kept telling herself over and over that her dreams had come true, she had a mother who was rich and beautiful and tender and wise—nearly always wise—except about David; she was living in a mansion more magnificent than the orphaned "play-actress" had ever been able to conjure; she was beautiful and popular; these strange people who were "in society" were here because Sally Ford—no, Sally Barr—was making her debut, was being accepted as one of them.

She told herself these things and her eyes again darted to the door, hungry for the sign of a penniless, 23-year-old farmer boy who would be as much out of place in this ballroom among these strange, glamorous people as Sally Ford in her skimpy little white lawn dress.

Three words hammered the staccato message ceaselessly on her listening, watching nerves: "Coming. Thanks, David! Three words which had broken the silence of two and a half years. Coming—thanks—David—Coming—thanks—David—

"Darling, this is Mrs. Allenby, a very old and dear friend of mine," sweet, little-girl smile and Sally Ford noted the success of it critically as the funny, dyed-haired little old lady passed on down the receiving line. Coming—thanks—David—But, oh, was he coming?

She stole a glance at the tiny watch set in the circle of diamonds which banded her bare arm just below the elbow. Half past 11. Dancing would begin at 12. She had been smiling and giggling and looking sweet and demure or provocative and gay since eight o'clock when the dinner for the debutantes had begun.

How much longer could she keep it up? It was really absurd for them to suppose that she could go on like this until three or four o'clock in the morning, when her heart was broken—

"Mr. David Nash!"

Nothing, no one could have held her. The words had scarcely left the butler's lips when Sally reached David's side, her full skirt, lengthened to the tips of her slippers by the frosty silver lace, billowing like sails at the mooring of the snug little bodice.

She seized his gloved hands, her boy-widened eyes blazing over his face, his adored, so well-remembered face.

"Oh, David! David! I thought you weren't coming! I'd have died if you hadn't come!" She stepped back a pace, her small hands swinging his as she were a joyous child and there were no one else in the ballroom at all. "You look older, David! You haven't been sick? You worked too hard to finish college? Oh, David—"

His eyes laughed at her through a barrier of embarrassment, and his startlingly grim young face softened. It was true that he looked much older; boyishness had left him, and Sally could have screamed out her pain that this was so. He was thinner, or appeared to be, in his perfectly fitting evening clothes. Odd to see him dressed like that, she thought, near to tears.

She had seen him in overalls and cheap "jeans" and in decent but inexpensive tweeds. She had seen his big-muscled arms bare, the summer sun gilding the fine hairs upon them; she had seen him sweating over the cook stove in the privilege car of Bybee's Bigger and Better Carnival Shows, stripped to a thin cotton undershirt.

But she had never before seen him like this—immaculate, correct, of a pattern, apparently, with all other well-dressed young college men. And she was illegally hurt, felt as if the correctly stiff bosom of his shirt was a veritable wall between the old David and the old Sally—

"They've cut off your beautiful hair," were his first words.

She stood still, her hands slowly releasing his, feeling his eyes rove over her, as hers had swept over him, and she did not need to look into his eyes to find that he was withdrawing from her, alienated, bewildered, saddened.

She wanted to cry out to him, to beat his breast with her hands; "It's David! David! Sally Ford underneath Sally who loves you better than anything in the world." But she did not say it, for Enid Barr was at her elbow, and it was her mother's coldest, most polite voice that was welcoming David.

"We're so glad you could come, Mr. Nash. Did you have a pleasant journey? I'm glad, Sally, you must come back into the receiving line, darling. I'll introduce Mr. Nash."

The next hour was an almost unbearable eternity to Sally. But she "play-acted" through it—gave the tips of her fingers to late comers, smiled, murmured appropriate phrases which Enid had painstakingly taught her, opened the ball, when at last the receiving line broke up; danced in rapid succession with the most importunate of her male guests; for Enid, reluctantly according to the new informality, had not insisted upon dance cards.

But all the time her eyes were darting about on their quest for David. She spotted him at last, near the door of the ballroom, moodily listening to whatever it was that Courtney Barr was saying in his most unctuous, weighty manner.

"Please—I'll be back soon!" Sally gasped to her amazed partner, and broke from his grasp.

She did not in the least care that curious glances and uplifted brows followed her fleet progress across the crowded ballroom floor. Her white attention was given to David, David who looked ill-at-ease and wretched—

"Aren't you going to dance with me?" she cried as soon as she reached him and her adopted father. You mustn't let Father monopolize you. Come, before the music stops."

Unsmilingly, David took her into his arms, gingerly, as if he were afraid of crushing the precious dress.

"Do you remember the other time we danced together, David?" she whispered.

T. C. U. EDITOR TO TOUR ORIENT THIS SUMMER

FORT WORTH, May 9.—With 100 students from universities throughout the United States, Ames Melton, Ft. Worth, editor of the Texas Christian University student newspaper, "The Skiff," will leave as soon as a school is out for a tour of the Orient.

This student tour will be under the leadership of Upton Close, noted lecturer and authority on Oriental af-airs. He is the author of "The Revolt of Asia," and "Land of the Laughing Buddha," as well as many other books. He has restricted the group of students to 100 so that they may be under his personal supervision.

Leaving Seattle, Wash., June 11, the tour will last four months. Japan, China, Korea and Manchuria are the countries to be visited and studied.

Melton, who will receive his A. B. degree from T. C. U. in June with law as his major, is not only editor of the student paper but president of the Press Club and Sigma Tau Delta, national English fraternity, and a member of the Bryson Club, "T." Association. He will be an assistant in the journalism department at T. C. U. next year.

hands from his shoulders— "You must forget me, Sally, or remember me only when you remember Sally Ford and Pitty Sing and Jap and Pop E-bee. We all belong together to your memory, and none of us belongs in Sally Barr's life." His voice was steady, heavy, not the young, tender, musical voice that had made love to her during the carnival days.

She took a backward step a little ungracefully and the face she lifted bravely for whatever blow he was going to deal her was pinched and white, the eyes blueblack with pain. "Don't you love me any more, David?"

"I'm a poor man and I'm not a fortune hunter," David answered grimly. "I don't know Sally Barr."

She shrank from him then, backward step by step as stricken so white-faced, that the boy clutched his hands in agony.

"They were still staring at each other when the door opened, and an almost forgotten but now shockingly familiar voice sang out noisily, 'Hello!'"

"Probably Proctor told me I'd find you here, Sally."

Markets

CHICAGO, May 9.—(P)—Dry weather complaints from the American and Canadian Northwest with dust storms in the Dakotas and Minnesota led to early high prices today for wheat. There were also reports that very low temperatures in Middle Europe are delaying crops.

Opening unchanged to higher, wheat later scored upturns all around. Corn was easy, starting 1-8c to 3-8c up, but afterward showing setbacks. Oats were firm. Provisions tended to tag.

Man Shoots Wife, But "Stella" Not Yet Identified

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 9.—(P)—"I did not like to do this but Stella drove me to it" was the vague explanation of why Richard Shuster dangerously shot his wife in the side and then killed himself in a soft drink stand here last night while the couple apparently were engaged in amiable conversation.

These words were contained in a note found in the man's pocket and Stella remained unidentified.

JOURNALISTS REWARDED

LIONS WIN HONORS

By virtue of having won fourth place in a state attendance and membership contest, the Pampa Lions club has been given five railway passes to the coming state convention at Wichita Falls.

The convention will be on May 21 and 22. Local delegates have not yet been designated.

J. M. Dodson, of the Gray County State bank, is attending the annual State Bankers convention in session at San Antonio, this week.

Mrs. M. K. Bulin, who has been seriously ill in the hospital since February 11, was able to leave today for Sapulpa, Okla., where she will visit with her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bulin.

Editor Kidnaped and Told to Stop His Publication

NEW YORK, May 9.—(P)—Richard Austyn Granville, 20-year-old editor of the Sunday Flash, a new tabloid newspaper, who was reported to the police as missing on Saturday, was tossed from an automobile on the lower East Side early today.

Granville, who was uninjured, said he had been kidnaped on Friday and held captive by several men who desired to suppress his paper.

The newspaper, which made its first appearance two weeks ago, did not appear last Sunday.

The editor told the police that a man six feet tall dressed in black clothes and wearing a black hood had called at his hotel; and at the point of a gun had ordered him to stop publication. When he refused, he said, the man ordered him to accompany him under threat of death. A short distance from the hotel they met two other men and after entering a taxicab he was blindfolded and his lips sealed with adhesive tape.

They drove about the city for about 25 minutes, he said, and then he was led to the second floor of a building where the blindfolded and gag were removed. He was locked in a dirty room, lighted only by candles and a window boarded, and in the five days was given only ham and egg sandwiches to eat, and coffee. Last night, he said, the men again blindfolded and gagged him, placed him in a taxicab and again drove about the city for 25 minutes before he was thrown out of the cab.

Lionel Hamady, who was seriously injured in a fall at the Pampa Refining company Monday morning, underwent an operation at the Pampa hospital this morning and hope is held for his recovery.

Dr. Nicholas Buys News' Model Home

Dr. W. P. Nicholas, local dentist, has purchased the Pampa Daily News model home, on North Gray street, just completed by Chas. A. Symonds, local building contractor, who made the sale.

The beautiful model home was begun March 1 by Mr. Symonds, a builder in Pampa and beautiful home Sunday afternoon and evening more that 600 persons, went through the home. It is complete in every detail. The purchaser has been a resident of Pampa for the last two years and has done considerable building himself, but states that the new model home is so perfect that he bought it to live in.

Erinett Whitmeyer is in a serious condition at the hospital. He was seriously burned while at work on the sewer line last week.

TEXAS FOR HOOVER

DALLAS, May 9.—(P)—Republican state headquarters here today announced that a sufficient number of votes had been obtained in county conventions yesterday to assure a majority of delegates instructed for Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, at the state convention here May 22. The state executive committee, led by National Committeeman R. B. Creager, has been decidedly pro-Hoover during campaign preliminaries.

Cats Are Downed in Drive For Another Pennant

(By The Associated Press) Undisturbed by politics, Texas teams yesterday continued their chase for the pennant, and as a result the Houston Buffs today rested on the top rung of the ladder. Fort Worth having been ousted by the loss to San Antonio Bears, while Houston was downing the Dallas Steers.

The only other change in the standing regular when Shreveport bested Beaumont to crawl into sixth place, the Steers dropped to seventh. The Houston Buffs, home for a long stay, opened with a 5 to 1 win over the Steers.

Dana Pillingim, pitching at home, stopped the Fort Worth aggression's march for another pennant, letting the Cats down with seven hits and one run while the remainder of the San Antonio Bears were getting 16 hits and 11 runs off Burns.

Tied at three all when they went into the ninth inning, the Shreveport Sports got away for four runs, enough to win their game. At Beaumont Hanses of Beaumont, pinch hitting took a last shot for the Exporters and slammed out a homer, but the paths were clear ahead of him.

Red Eldrer, Wichita Falls, newcomer, in his first game with the Spudders at Waco proved the stumbling block for two cub pitchers and got four hits out of five tries, including a home run. Steengrafe, although tapped for 12 safeties, kept them well scattered and won, 9 to 3.

BASEBALL INJURY FATAL

WICHITA FALLS, May 9.—(P)—Noah Shelborn Gore, age 9, died Monday as the result of injuries in a baseball game here on May 1.

The boy and companions were playing ball on a vacant lot when a batter allowed the club to slip from his hands and it struck young Gore behind the ear.

Funeral services were held Tuesday with newsboy companions as pall bearers.

Old Question to Be Settled Soon at Pla-Mor Event

Can a boxer defeat a wrestler? It will be proven yes or no at the Pla-Mor auditorium tomorrow night when Joe Kopecky, well known wrestler, takes the ring against Warnie Smith, Smith will wear light gloves and will attempt to K. O. Kopecky before that worthy can get a fall.

The rough and tumble artist is willing to take on ten boxers and throw them within three rounds each. Several local boxers have accepted the challenge, but Smith thinks he can do the trick himself.

The main event will be a finish wrestling match between Matty Matsuda, world's champion, and a Jack Smith, contender. Both men will step into the ring weighing 145 pounds and something is going to happen. Matsuda will have his diamond studded belt here on display. He has held the belt for more than six years against all comers and thinks he can do the same against Smith.

Mehlhorn Leads British Open Golf in First Round

SANDWICH, Eng., May 9.—(P)—"Wild Bill" Mehlhorn, unattached professional from the United States, took the lead among early finishes in the first round for the British open golf championship with a snappy 71.

Mehlhorn slipped in one stroke under Gene Sarazen, Flushing, N. Y., pro, who had returned a card of 72.

"Wild Bill," who at times can take his wildness or leave it alone, showed the way to the big qualifying field on the first round Monday when he led with 72. He fell off to 82 in the second qualifying round yesterday but came back today to play steady golf all the way around.

Walter Hagen compiled a score of 75. Bob Stuppel, Chicago pro was erratic today and needed 82.

Johnny McHugh, California amateur, had a score of 79 in the first round, running into a flock of trouble coming home after he had gone out brilliantly. The San Francisco lad finished with two 6's.

Abe Mitchell, long hitting British professional, and a ranking favorite to win the championship, took 78 on his first round, as did Harry Vardon. Thomas Barber was the low scorer among the first British representatives to finish with 77.
