

Mother Earth News

By J. SHUTTLEWORTH
 We've been hearing so much bad news lately — Watergate, fuel crisis, a coming mineral shortage, strikes, rising crime rates, unemployment, inflation — that we may well be overlooking some of the extremely positive movements that are taking place in our society.

And then, again unlike a typical developer, you do not bulldoze off every tree, level the tract and break it up into neatly spaced lots. What you do is you walk around on the land and you and everyone will plant his or her part of the garden. And you'll construct your community shop and the first project your group undertakes may well be the design and fabrication of solar energy collectors and windplants and methane generators and other "alternative" energy equipment that will make your new community completely power self-sufficient.

And you might even establish your own school and church and turn your people's common interest into a business that the group controls and which will eventually provide a cash income for every family in your settlement.

A dream? Well, maybe the "ever and ever" part is a dream. It's still too early to tell. But the rest is happening or starting to happen in Oregon and Missouri and Vermont and North Carolina and almost every other state in the Union.

It's exciting and it's working and it's not being done by big government or big industry. It's being done right now by little people of good faith... folks who are just plain fed up with the shenanigans of the oil barons and the politicians and the city planners and the other so-called "leaders" of the world... people who are rolling up their sleeves and starting to build a better world tomorrow, right now, today.

If you'd like a "guided tour" through The Society Of Brothers' toy-making settlement in Pennsylvania — an intentional community much like the one outlined above — send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed long envelope to The Mother Earth News, in care of The Register and Tribune Syndicate, Des Moines, Iowa 50304. Ask for Reprint No. 51. Society of Brothers.

In 1973, James McCord, former security chief for President Nixon's campaign committee, told a Senate investigating committee that White House counsel John Dean and Jeb Stuart Magruder, Nixon election committee official, knew in advance of the Watergate bugging.

Guest Shot HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Cameron Mitchell's first role since declaring bankruptcy in February is a guest spot in "The Impostor" for Warner Bros.

INTENTIONAL COMMUNITIES

just as important in the year 2074 as they are right now.

One of those movements is the revolution that has already started taking place in the way we plan our communities. No, this new wave is not filtering down from the architects or the building industry or the government agencies or any of the other organizations and groups that are supposed to be setting trends in the field.

The revolution is coming from the grassroots up — from little people who — tired of watching the cities die and the countryside be plundered — have decided to take matters into their own hands.

The renaissance in community design that I'm talking about, I must admit, is still a hard movement to put a handle on. It has blossomed almost overnight on a hundred separate locations and it's already taken as many different forms.

But it's so exciting and such an important development that I want to paint a composite picture that will give you the essence of what's happening.

OK Here's how to build a community of comfortable, commodious homes. A community that will hang together and never degenerate into just another urban slurb. A place of green grass and tall trees and good living forever and ever.

First you round up a group of folks who really like and trust one another and who want to live and work as an extended "tribe." It helps if everyone — every family — is involved in the same thing: crafts or theater or communications or furniture making or whatever. None of this business of haphazardly throwing people up against each other just because they can afford to buy adjoining lots.

Then, just like any developer, you buy a chunk and. But unlike the typical payment attention to what its topography and its soil types and its native vegetation and its climate have to tell you. And — first and foremost — you reserve a large chunk of the best acreage for a big organic garden and orchard. And you set aside other areas for things like a small lake and a community barn.

And, finally, you start constructing your homes on — and only on — the natural building sites of the land that has been put in your trust. If you use good judgment, you'll probably be able to set each house out of sight of every other.

And you'll build those homes — not of aluminum and plastic and asphalt and fiberboard but of wood and stone and earth. Natural materials, native to the region. And, whenever possible, you'll recycle usable lumber and beams and bricks from old structures.

And individually and collectively, you'll fabricate your houses yourself. You'll invest a part of your lives directly in the construction of the buildings in which you'll live and you'll hire very little or no outside labor.

And when the houses are up, you'll build the barn and put in the lake and some hiking, horse and bike trails

Vote For Sam Anderson For Pampa School Board April 6th Election

Dear Voter,

My willingness to serve as trustee for the Pampa Independent School District is deep rooted. With two young children to be educated, I feel the quality of education in our schools is in jeopardy. This concern is due primarily to a dark cloud that covers our community and prevents a spirit of cooperation from existing between board members, teachers, and administrators. Without this cooperation, we cannot progress.

While it is apparent we have potentially one of the most excellent school systems in the state, staffed by highly qualified personnel, it is also apparent that we suffer from the lack of administrative leadership.

My philosophy is that government is the servant of the people and not their master. Within established procedures, circumstances can be changed for the betterment of all. To this end, I pledge, if elected, to strive for a more wholesome, cooperative atmosphere.

I solicit your vote to insure the progress of our schools.

Sincerely,
SAM ANDERSON
 Candidate for Pampa School Board

Boy's Best Friends In Prison

By MICHAEL O. WESTER
 INDIANOLA, Okla. (UPI) — Some of 13-year-old Dennis Miller's best friends are in prison.

Dennis has only one kidney. And when inmates at the Oklahoma State Prison found out about it they wanted to help him.

The prisoners' challenge already is being met. The McAlester bank said it has $2,700 in the fund. A Boy Scout benefit and a musical hootenanny have provided the additional money. But the inmates hope to get more.

Jim Sheppard, Dennis' stepfather, is a self-employed truck driver and the family is really feeling the pinch of the gasoline shortage every day.

"Some of the fellows got together and established a fund to help pay part of Dennis' expenses," said inmate Joseph Petti. "We have had numerous offers from inmates to donate kidneys and blood, but what we need right now is money."

"The guys gave freely and generously, but there's just isn't much money around a place like this," Petti said. "One man gave 37 cents, all he had."

Jim drives locally and hauls for the county when he can, but with the gasoline shortage it sure seems like we can't get enough work."

"What the men have done is real nice."

12th Annual Antique Show, Sale

The 20th Century Cotillion Club of Pampa will sponsor its 12th Annual Antique Show and Sale in the Heritage Room of the M.K. Brown Auditorium March 29, 30 and 31. The 1974 show will feature everything antique from primitive and cut-glass to dolls and furniture, and will be open Friday and Saturday from 10:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m.

All proceeds from ticket sales again will go to the Opportunity Plan, Inc., at West Texas State University, a student loan plan that assists worthy and financially troubled students through approved college or trade schools.

The Opportunity Plan, Inc., is comprised of 42 divisions, of which the local club's fund is one division. The fund grows through contributions only, as there is no interest involved.

Because of the rotating nature of the funds, the Cotillion Club account, which totals $12,657.81 from the past 11 antique shows, has enabled 38 students to use the money for their education. As funds are repaid to the account, other students are then able to borrow.

According to Milton (Buff) Morris, director of the Opportunity Plan, more than 2,800 students from virtually every town in the Texas Panhandle have been recipients of the loan aid. The Pampa fund now has 15 students using the money to complete their education.

Tickets to the show are $1 and are available from any 20th Century Cotillion member or at the door. Mrs. Ed Maglaughlin is show chairman, with Mrs. Dan Puckett as co-chairman and Mrs. Gene Hanks as publicity chairman.

Dealers who will be on hand for the show this year include: Margie's Antiques, Mid-West City, Okla.; Ole Timey Shoppe, Keller, Tex.; Tempting Treasures, Perryton; The Bunkhouse, Pampa; This 'n That, Liberal, Kan.; Rocky's Ole Time Shoppe, Chickasha, Okla.; Whimsey, Amarillo; Zigler's Antiques, Oklahoma City.

Also Carter's Antiques, Pampa; Tole Shockey, Oklahoma City; Palmer's Antiques, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Jettie's Antiques, Spearman; Marcell's (Marcel) Hudson, Pampa; Treasure Chest, Guymon, Okla.; Eddie's Antiques, Albuquerque, N.M., and Bob Welch Antique Center, Englewood, Colo.

Program On Arts and Crafts Presented To Civic Culture Club

The Civic Culture Club met in the home of Ms. Chester Williams with Ms. A.D. Hills, president, presiding. Ms. D.A. Rife was elected club representative with Ms. Teresa Reed, alternate for the District meeting in Borger April 2 and 3.

The program on Arts and Crafts was presented by Ms. George Neef. She told, there are many arts, each manifests itself in many different forms. Each form appeals to many people. Do each of these people get the same thing out of each form of art?

Of course not, nevertheless, each artist shapes his creative work more or less for a certain audience. There are few artists who create merely for the joy of creating — fewer than we are led to believe. If artists were truly creating just for the joy of creating, they would not waste so much effort in securing an audience. On the contrary, they produce for you and me and others like us, consequently, they must use our language and employ techniques to which we are sensitive, she stated.

You don't have to be an artist to enjoy the beauty around you. You don't have to be an artist to enjoy the beauty of flowers, trees, an early morning sunrise or a beautiful sunset, she concluded.

At the close of the program the members displayed their art work.

Members present were: Mmes Irvin Cole, A.B. Cross, A.C. Houchin, Carl Patten, J.J. Rane, D.A. Rife, Carl Smith, H.W. Waters and Emmett Gee.

Sugar Riches
CLEWISTON, Fla. (UPI) — First commercial production of sugar in this country took place in the early British colony of New Smyrna on Florida's east coast. Today Florida accounts for more than 7 per cent of the nation's sugar needs, according to the Florida Sugar Cane League.

Record Catch
PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Oregon fishermen have completed a record annual shrimp catch, accompanied by record prices.

Landings of 24.1 million pounds greatly outdistanced last year's harvest of 20.9 million pounds and was two and one-half times greater than the 10-year average catch. Prices paid to fishermen were twice what they were three years ago, reaching 22 cents per pound.

COLLEGE STATION — Embroidery adds a new dimension to fashion creativity while "padding" the clothing budget, one authority points out.

She's Mrs. Becky Culp, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Embroidery appears on pockets, cuffs, yokes, collars and accessories — representing the newest, fun, inexpensive way to decorate clothes.

"Popular denim and western look garments offer a 'natural' for embroidered motifs," she noted.

The specialist described machine embroidery as "fast and durable — letting homesewers create designs with zigzag and multi-stitch machines and attachments. Instruction manuals furnished with the machine describe specific procedures."

Hand embroidery, on the other hand, challenges the imagination — while teaching coordination and use of needle and thread, Mrs. Culp said.

"Simple and complex stitches or designs require the same basic tools — needle, thimble, scissors and thread.

"To make threading easy, select crewel or embroidery needles with long eyes.

"For thread, six-strand embroidery floss — which can be divided for the desired appearance — is the most popular."

Art departments and pattern companies offer iron-on transfer designs for embroidering, the specialist added.

"Or, a homemaker can create an original. Coloring books, fabrics, nature and the environment can furnish many inspirations."

To transfer an original design, place sketched design on top of dressmaker's carbon paper.

Fashionable Embroidery Reflects Creativity

The carbon paper's shiny face should be next to the right side of the fabric. Position as desired.

"Using the blunt end of an orangewood stick or similar object, trace over design. If it's too light, go over lines with a pen or pencil — markings will be hidden on the finished product."

Considered a clothing budget aid, embroidery can update last year's wardrobe or camouflage stains and tears, the specialist added.

"In addition plain jeans and other items can be purchased at a savings and then embroidered.

"This represents a creative, artistic use of leisure time," she concluded.

BUYING CLOTHES
Give clothes the once over before buying. Construction not only affects how a garment looks when being worn, but how long it will wear, points out Mrs. Vivian Simmons, clothing specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

QUALITY PORK
Bacon and whole hams maintain quality when refrigerated, left in original wrappings, and used within a week, says Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

MEAT BONES
Meat bones indicate preferred cooking method. A T-bone, rib bone, pin bone, flat bone or wedge bone indicates relatively tender beef — good for broiling or roasting, notes Sally Springer, foods and nutrition specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

With more and more factory-built housing units, it's important to assure a structure meets code requirements of that location, emphasizes Anna Marie Gottschalk, housing and home furnishings specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Pregnant daughter wants big wedding—help!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have just received a letter from our daughter informing us that she is three and a half months pregnant. She and her boyfriend want to wait "a few months" before getting married as they are both in college and it's not convenient for them to come home now.

Our daughter says she wants a big church wedding and asked if her father would give her away. My husband and I feel they should get married right away. We do not want to be subjected to the embarrassment of inviting our friends and relatives to a big church wedding "in a few months" when the bride will be noticeably expecting. Also, should a father be expected to give away what has obviously been taken? CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Tell the lovebirds that if they want a big church wedding they should fly home at once. And the sooner the better. If they decide to wait a few months, an intimate family wedding with a minimum of hoopla would be in better taste.

DEAR ABBY: I haven't been able to sleep very well. You see, I did a little creative bookkeeping on my income tax by way of "deductions." Any suggestions? INSOMNIAC

DEAR IN: Send the internal revenue department a check for $500. And if you still can't sleep, send 'em the balance.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who has been widowed about a year. [I am also a widow.] Bernice is very attractive and good company and she is not hurting at the bank, but she has one hangup which I think is ridiculous. She refuses to go anywhere without a male escort.

There are places where single women go together—concerts, dinner and the theater—but Bernice says she would rather stay home than be seen with "the girls." She claims it is bad for her "image." She seems to think if she's seen in the company of other women she will give the impression that she can't get a date.

Do you believe if a woman is seen with other women it will hurt her chances for getting a man? What's the matter with Bernice? Or am I wrong? BERNICE'S FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Bernice should be less concerned with her "image" and more concerned with her future. If a woman wants to get into the social swim and doesn't have a date with a man, she should go with the girls. She won't meet anyone sitting at home, and besides, one of the girls may have a brother.

How to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 122 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212 for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Nutrition Labeling

COLLEGE STATION — Nutrition labeling offers consumers a new way to identify nutrients in food products, one nutritionist said this week.

She's Mrs. Mary K. Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Some products already feature nutrition labeling, as developed by the Food and Drug Administration."

"But by 1975, food processors must put nutrition information on labels of all products with added nutrients — and products making a nutrition claim," the specialist said.

Other nutrition labeling will be voluntary, she added.

"With nutrition labeling, consumers can compare nutritional value of various brands — to get more nutrition for the family food dollar."

"In addition, it simplifies counting calories and selecting foods for special diets (prescribed by doctors)."

"Nutrition labels will list and give amounts of calories, proteins, carbohydrates, fats, vitamin A, vitamin C, thiamin, riboflavin, niacin, calcium and iron — besides the usual name, net weight and ingredients.

"Optional listing may include cholesterol, fat and sodium. These would especially benefit those on special diets," Mrs. Sweeten repeated.

Since nutrition information is on a per-serving basis, labels must give serving size — such as one cup or two ounces — and number of servings the package contains.

For each serving, nutrients will be listed in grams. (One ounce equals 28 grams.)

"The U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance of a food — a percentage figure appearing on labels — is the amount an adult needs for good health," the specialist explained.

Topel on TV HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Israel's Topel will star in the new 20th Century-Fox television series, "Only in America" for ABC-TV — the story of a Jewish immigrant family in New York, circa 1912.

Consumers And The Product Safety Commission

COLLEGE STATION — The Consumer Product Safety Act expands the federal role in protecting consumers against "unreasonable" product hazards, one authority says. She's Mrs. Doris Myers, home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"This act centralizes existing product safety responsibility into a single, government agency — the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC)."

"In operation since May, the commission has jurisdiction over some 10,000 products."

"Of these, the commission lists 369 product categories that pose the greatest threat of injury. In a year's time, the top 50 products alone were responsible for 3.6 million injuries to children — injuries requiring treatment in hospital emergency rooms."

The specialist explained that CPSC's jurisdiction covers many household products and appliances, architectural glass, fabrics, toys, product packaging and other consumer items.

"However, it doesn't have authority over items regulated by other federal agencies — such as foods, drugs, cosmetics and certain toxic substances such as insecticides."

Consumers have a responsibility to inform the commission about personal, hazardous experiences with products, Mrs. Myers noted.

To contact them about a product safety problem, write the Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C. 20207.

"After receiving numerous complaints about a product, they will investigate — and this could lead to a new product safety regulation."

"However, the commission must act on such requests within 120 days."

Any interested individual or consumer organization also can request the commission to issue, change or revoke a product safety regulation, she added.

Music Teachers Study Lives of Composers

The March meeting of Pampa Music Teacher Association was held in the studio of Mrs. Darville Orr. Mrs. Harold Starbuck opened by leading members in the "Piano Teacher's Prayer."

The program was presented by Mrs. Gary Henderson on the lives of several composers and their music.

A brief sketch of the life of Benjamin Goddard, a romantic composer, was given by Mrs. Starbuck. She told, during his brief span of life (46), he wrote a series of chamber compositions, trios and string quartets, operas, and many songs. His first opera "The Jewels of Jeannette" was held in Paris in 1878.

A brief biography of the life of Russian Composer Rimsky - Korsakov was given by Mrs. Orr. In 1871 Rimsky - Korsakov was made professor of composition at the University of St. Petersburg, she stated. When he became inspector of marine bands, he grew to know wind instruments so well they later featured prominently in his orchestral scores, the speaker concluded.

Mrs. Henderson told about Franz Schubert, who lived most of his life under the shadow of Beethoven's greatness. By the time he was 18 he had written over 150 songs and at the age of 31 over 600 songs, many piano pieces and nine symphonies. He died of typhoid fever at the age of 31.

Musical selections by the composers were played. Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. Orr played "Song of India" by Rimsky - Korsakov, "Berceuse" (Jocelyn) by Benjamin Goddard and "Romanze" by R. Schumann were played by Mrs. Starbuck and Mrs. Orr. The program closed with a duet "Serenade" by Franz Schubert played by Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. Starbuck.

Members and guest adjourned for a luncheon at Furr's. Those present were Bill Haley and Mmes. Gary Henderson, Lois Fagan, Starbuck, Darville Orr, Calvin Whitley, and W.M. Cooper.

Brick Uses, Costs Vary

COLLEGE STATION — A brick may be a brick, but how it's used — and what it costs — varies from one section of the country to another.

"The National Association of Home Builders conducted a study in more than 175 cities, and the findings may be helpful to consumers and builders alike," according to Mrs. Jane Berry, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Findings include cost and amount of brick used in single family homes in 40 cities.

"According to the study, each home contained an average of 7,328 bricks — although amounts varied widely with the different styles.

"For example, in Sacramento only 490 bricks were used in a typical house, because most of the outside was covered with stucco.

"In contrast, homes in southern cities — where brick finishes are most popular — contained from 11,000 to 13,650 bricks."

Turning to costs, Mrs. Berry noted the average in-place cost of brick veneer in the 40 cities was $1.231 — based on an average cost of $168 per 1,000 bricks.

"The cost of bricks, excluding labor, was between $40 and $50 per 1,000 for all cities except one.

"The highest in-place costs were found in cities in the northeast and north central section of the country. In Camden, N.J., costs were $279 per 1,000.

"The lowest in-place brick costs were recorded in Montgomery, Ala.," the specialist noted.

LOSE 10-20-30 POUNDS! Easy To Lose Lbs. Fast With New Vitamin 'E' Diet

HOLLYWOOD (Special) — New scientific discoveries have produced a Vitamin E diet that quickly works wonders on overweight people, and reportedly is gaining great popularity across the country with glowing reports of easy weight loss "while still eating almost as much as you want." Those who follow the simple Vitamin E diet report an average loss of at least a pound a day and even more without exercise or starvation. Nutritionists' files are bulging with happy testimonials from formerly overweight people who are now trim and slim again. Best of all, you can still eat almost as much as you want of the "forbidden foods" like steak, chicken, fish, sauces, gravies, bacon & eggs and still lose weight. Chewable (candy-like) vitamin E tablets, as used in the diet plan, contain a new scientific combination of ingredients that quickly curbs and controls the appetite, while also giving the wonderful benefits of Vitamin E which is so essential to good health. The use of the new Vitamin E Diet tablets, and foods prescribed in the plan will, through natural action, act to help your body use up excess fat. According to recent clinical test, a person who is deficient in Vitamin E or Protein "will double the speed of fat utilization" with the use of Vitamin E. E-DIET AVAILABLE To get a copy of this highly successful diet and E Tablets, send $5.00 for 10 day supply (or $7.00 for 20 day supply) or $10.00 for 30 day supply to: Vita-E Diet, Dept. Fathers— A Source of Protection

COLLEGE STATION — From their fathers, children need and want protection — from both external and internal forces, one authority noted this week.

She's Dr. Jennie Kitching, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"However, deciding how much protection is enough — or too much — plagues many parents.

"So, many look for a sensible middle course — somewhere between extreme strictness and great leniency.

"If a child is to grow up able to live and participate in a democratic world as a mature, responsible person, friendly cooperation is the desirable key in family living."

For example, a youngster engaged in a minor wrongdoing may declare, almost with satisfaction, "Gee, I'll catch it when my dad finds out."

Deep within, the child probably feels that "Dad will make me stop, even if I can't stop myself," she said.

"If there's no one to make him stop, then responsibility for his actions may become overwhelming — or he may lose altogether his slow gains in conscience made through the years," she said.

Heavy-handed authority may defeat its purpose, the specialist warned.

"Being a 'pal' isn't the answer, either.

"Instead, in the so-called 'middle course,' a father can be friendly with his children — without being a pal," Dr. Kitching said.

"As such, he can talk with them in father-son or father-daughter fashion, admit his limitations — even ignorance on some matters — and still remain essentially a father."

Children also like hearing about the times "Daddy" did foolish things as a boy. Knowing he was a mischievous boy who grew up to be responsible gives them a hope they can do the same.

In this "middle course" relationship, the father is a person who is somewhat stronger, wiser and better able to control himself — or a situation — than another boy or girl.

However, this doesn't mean a father must stand on dignity — or that he can't take a little teasing or wholeheartedly enter children's play at times, the specialist said.

"A father doesn't have to be a perfect example 24 hours a day, every day. Nor should he set unattainably high standards of behavior for his children.

"Realistic standards that can be reached by normally forgetful, harum-scarum boys and girls — without excessive pressure — are much more healthful."

Turning to extreme strictness, Dr. Kitching said that a stern father whose rules can't be questioned — and whose every word sends the family running to please him — faces two disadvantages.

"First, if completely successful in teaching thoroughgoing obedience, his children may look for an absolute authority all through life — to tell them what to do in every instance.

"As a result, they may never develop independence of thought and action — or self-respect.

"Or, these children could grow up being against everything — rebelling completely against authority in any form."

On the other side of the coin, men who have only "pal relationships" with their children actually may destroy all essence of fatherliness, the specialist said.

"Although momentary rivalry in a game or sports event is fine, problems can occur when a father unwittingly competes with his child for attention, for example."

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

By FRED KARPIN

At the 1st Annual Bridge Tournament held at Monte Carlo, Monaco, in the spring of 1973, the language barrier was quite evident, especially to the Americans, very few of whom spoke French, the official language of the tournament. But, somehow, this obstacle was overcome, although there were quite a few "unintended" bids made.

A classic example of overcoming the language barrier occurred at the World Bridge Olympiad of 1964, when a tournament director, sensing a language difficulty, paused at the table where Brazil was playing Australia.

"Would you like an interpreter?" he inquired courteously.

"No, thank you," came the equally courteous reply from one of the Australians. "We all speak Hungarian."

A former Hungarian who came to be one of our nation's top players was the late Ivan Erdos. Here is a deal that Erdos once played. He was sitting in the South seat.

Neither side vulnerable. South deals.

NORTH		EAST
♠ Q 7 3	♥ Q J 7 2	♠ 6 5 4	♥ 9 8
♦ K 5 4	♣ 8 6 2	♦ J 10 9 2	♣ 10 9 7
♠ 10 6 5 4	♥ 8 3 2	♠ A K 8	♥ A K 3
♦ J 8 3 2	♣ Q	♦ A 6	♥ A K 9 7 3

The bidding:
South West North East
3 NT Pass 6 NT Pass
Pass Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ♠.

After the dummy came into view it was perfectly obvious to Erdos that the club suit offered him the sole hope for the creation of the needed twelfth trick. It was equally apparent that his chances were good, for the five outstanding clubs figured to be divided 3-2.

It was his intention to cash the ace and king of clubs, after which he would lead a third club, conceding the trick to the defenders. Both of his remaining clubs would then be high (if the missing clubs were divided 3-2).

He captured the jack of spades with his king, and next cashed the club ace. As can be observed, West dropped the queen. Had Erdos followed through with this original play of then cashing the king, he would have gone down, since East would then have had two club winners.

But appreciating that the queen might well be a singleton, his next play was the three of clubs to dummy's eight, East taking the trick with his ten. East returned a spade, dummy's queen winning. The board's remaining club was now led, and East's J-5 was trapped by declarer's K-9.

Thus it is demonstrated that at the bridge table one is often forced to change horses in midstream.

Ordination Plea
NEW YORK (UPI) — Ordination of women is a natural step, says Sister Dorothy Donnelly of the Jesuit School of Theology of Berkeley, Calif., and she described herself as very disappointed that the Vatican Commission on Women in the Church and Society had failed to discuss the subject at its meeting in Rome recently.

The president of the National Coalition of American Nuns said in a story in the National Catholic Reporter that "women are among those on the front lines of ministry. Mean while, the sacramental system is back at the ranch." She said the Holy Spirit is calling women, giving them the gifts of ministry and "the task of the church is to confirm the gifts, not to suppress them."

Your Horoscope

By Jeanne Dixon

SUNDAY, MARCH 24
 Your birthday today: This year will see dramatic development in any reasonably organized program of self-improvement. Spiritual growth almost comes spontaneously—you help it along with regular meditation. Material affairs thrive readily as you put in normal work effort. Today's natives have an eye for the beautiful and are willing to contribute toward its maintenance in personal service as well as sharing of resources.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: This Sunday lends itself to mental pursuits, your favorite hobbies, light or minimal physical activity. It is also important to maintain connections.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: A pleasant episode can be shared with those nearby today. You have to supply the energy that sets things in motion. Events don't simply happen of their own accord.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Instead of valiantly struggling to keep them busy this Sunday, try letting people be themselves and just watching to get to know them better.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Altho you may not be as full of vim and vigor as you usually are, you can get a great deal in the way of personal projects accomplished today.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: The analysis of past incidents yields surprising insight, stirs you to planning a more definite future. Information from or about someone you care for should set your mind at ease.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Assume a fresh start begins when you arise on this quiet Sunday, and strive to make it a good one. Avoid squabbles or quibbles over trivia.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Carry your full share of the community customs. There is little to do, no rush to do it. Much is to be gained by viewing life in the most optimistic terms.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: A few details may need to be corrected or brought up to date, but do not get anything started you cannot finish alone before the day is out.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Offer an early invitation, gather old friends to join in familiar pastimes. Let home life follow its usual patterns.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Perhaps it's spring, perhaps it's your own serenely personal approach—this is an good a time as any to announce new policy, a new status in your world.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Let your friends assume much of the leadership on this easygoing Sunday. Just go along for the pleasure of their company and enjoyment of the ride.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Subjective self-sustainment describes the mood of the day, altho there is apt to be little solitude for exercises which stretch the mind.

ly and relatives are inclined to be inconsistent in whatever they do or say.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: In the course of today's work, you find facts and figures that had escaped you before, and a clearer view of your prospects emerges.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Your natural tendency to avoid close identification with any particular category of people now helps you. Hasty moves are not favored.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Traditional methods are that way because they work. A low spot in your lunar cycle is coming soon, so take it easy wherever you can, accepting no extra obligations.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Disagreements between partners are amenable to resolution, while a falling out among friends becomes more acute. Stick with conservative approaches.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Select well-established routines, neglected items for today's major effort. Personal factors enter, getting in the way of pursuit of career.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Theory again lacks the essential subjective components needed for solution of today's tangles. Temptations to abrupt extremes are to be resisted.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: The unexpected detail crops up in practically everything you try to do today. Fluent cooperation is available on all sides for a reasonable asking.

"AT WIT'S END"

By ERMA BOMBECK

By ERMA BOMBECK
 I read something the other day that almost made my heart stop beating.

Rep. Morris K. Udall from Arizona predicted in his newsletter to get ready for shortages in wool, cotton and synthetic fibers that will cause clothing prices to soar. Then he added, "There is even talk of rationing blue jeans."

If blue jeans become any tighter, any more faded, any more worn, or any less available, teenagers are going to have to go through life sitting under a table.

Believe me, this nation cannot stand another "jeans" cutback. In Russia, they are paying $50 a pair for faded, worn jeans from the United States (which is a 100 per cent markup over what they paid for our wheat).

I didn't realize how serious the situation was until my daughter dragged me into a fashionable department store last week.

"Do you have any old secondhand jeans?" she asked.

"Didn't you see the sign?" she asked. "NO JEANS TODAY. OPEN FOR SERVICE ONLY."

"I wouldn't ask only I'm pretty desperate," said my daughter. She took off her coat and turned around to reveal her underwear coming through the seat.

"We have a few jeans for regular customers only," said the clerk stiffly, "but I'll show them to you. Now here's a pair that went through eight owners, two communes, and a rock festival. You'll notice the seat is seasoned and is so smooth it's about ready to break through. There's a patch over one knee, the hems are raveling and they've been bleached over 800 times."

"I love them," squealed my daughter. "How much?"

"$30."

"Thirty dollars!" I gasped.

"Minus your trade-in," she amended.

"What trade-in? You mean that pair of grubby pants that are disintegrating before our very eyes?"

"You'd be surprised what they will bring after they've been bleached a few more times and patched. With the shortage, we take what we can."

I had to ask, "Where did these jeans come from?"

"Well, as you know teenagers put on a pair when they are 12 and don't take them off again until they are 19, so you see..."

"Where did they come from?" I persisted.

"A girl who just turned 20 and went to a convent. Do you want me to put them in a box?" she asked.

"No, they can walk," I said miserably.

BLUEBIRD HOUSES
 The attractive bird houses pictured are intended to fill the need for bluebird housing, since natural nesting spots are fast disappearing. Their natural habitat is a wooded area where they use cavities of dead trees and old woodpecker nests. Lacking these, experiments have proven that they will nest in houses similar to ours. They are interesting designs, built with good ventilation and removable bottoms for easy cleaning. They should be placed in a sunny location near fruit trees or wild berry bushes.

You may have room for only one house in your yard. Since these birds want privacy, the houses should be spaced at least 100 yards apart. By housing these beautiful birds, fast becoming rare, you will be rewarded with their color and song and benefit from their consumption of more than twelve different varieties of beetles, worms, and other insect pests. Build the houses from pine boards and molding by following Craft Pattern 318 which includes full size drawings and all construction details.

a colony of the birds in your yard. Recent studies have shown that martins will rid an area of thousands of mosquitoes and other insects in one day. This nine-room house will be an eye-catching addition to your yard also. Built of 1/4-inch plywood with interlocking construction, it is not too heavy to handle, and a special pivoted pole makes raising and lowering the house a fairly simple job. Its measurements are 26 1/2 inches wide and 33 inches high. Order Craft Pattern 1314 for full-size patterns and construction details.

Trees Are Environmental Bargains

COLLEGE STATION — Trees are our biggest environmental improvement bargain and offer homeowners many benefits," says Dr. William Welch, landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Trees furnish protection from extreme heat, cold, wind, drought and floods. At the same time, they reduce air and noise pollution while providing shelter and food for birds, animals and man."

A source of year-round beauty, trees also increase property value and indicate community pride, points out the Texas A&M University System specialist.

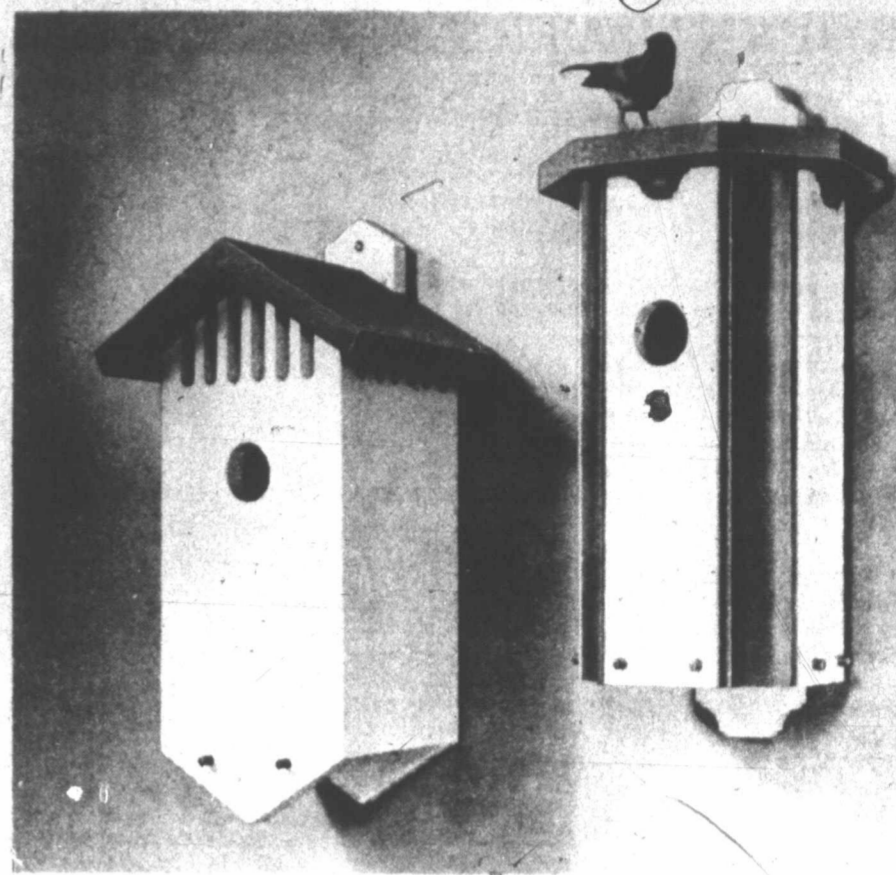

In general, planting a tree demonstrates a feeling of continuity with the past — and anticipation for the future, notes the horticulturist. When cared for properly, a well-placed, carefully selected tree provides pleasure for many generations.

Careful selection involves choosing trees adapted to the area — and which meet specific needs, adds Welch. And now — late winter and early spring — is a good time to set out trees for most of Texas.

County Extension agents have specific information on selecting and caring for trees.

Household Hints

Some energy-saving tips for those toiling in the workshop, the yard, the garden — from Uncle Sam's Federal Energy Office:

- Maintain electrical tools in top operating shape, clean and properly lubricated.
- Keep cutting edges sharp. A sharp bit or saw cuts more quickly and uses less power. Oil on bits and cutting compounds on saws also reduces power required.
- Use hand tools in workshop.
- Remember to turn off shop lights, soldering irons, glue pots, and all bench heating devices as quickly as possible.
- When buying power tools, purchase the machine with the lowest adequate horse power for the work it will do.
- Save all workshop wood cuttings and burnable yard wood for the fireplace.

FASHIONETTES

By United Press International
 Fashion has been gravitating toward a more romantic look and this season that movement is showing up clearly. Embroidered trim helps to soften the tailored mood in coats, suits and dresses. It also pulls together the important matched blouse and skirt, giving it continuity and a one-piece dress feeling.

Embroidery does a great deal to help impart a graceful, soft mood. Look for well-placed embroidered touches on that perennial fashion favorite, the shirtdress, for spring.

The lingerie look, with its embroidered lace is making fashion news in camisole tops that peek out from under blouses and dresses for spring.

Many of the spring, 1974, fashions call on borders to give them dimension. More often than not these borders are embroidered, using mini prints in florals, figuratives and geometrics.

Anything for spring with an Art Deco flavor, in both borders and all-over embroidery, continues strong for spring.

Throughout history clothing designers have depended upon embroidery to give fashion elegance and dimension. The Chinese used it extensively as long as 3,000 years ago. In more recent times, royalty, nobility and church hierarchy demanded embroidery to give costumes distinction and opulence.

News this spring is nostalgia in sleepwear with the little girl look of ruffled pinafores, crisscross back straps evoking an era long past.

The most popular junior dressing, sometimes unisex, features denim — with great dollops of embroidered panels featuring tropical fantasies or western landscapes.

DR. JEAN MAYER'S "Food for Thought"

By DR. JEAN MAYER
Professor of Nutrition
Harvard University

Does your supermarket have unit pricing? Do you like the new "less fat" hot dog? Do you have a shut-in relative or elderly friend who gets "meals on wheels"? Do you have a child who gets free lunch at school? Do you look for the date stamped on milk cartons and bread wrappers? Do you feel more confident about the list of ingredients you now read on the label of the foods you buy?

If you answered a "yes" to any of those questions, then just wait: there should be more good food and nutrition news to come.

All the programs I've mentioned were originated — or expanded or improved — as a result of the first White House Conference on Food, Nutrition and Health in 1969. Now the Select Senate Committee on Nutrition has asked me (as chairman of that first conference) to organize a National Nutrition Policy Conference to be held this coming June in Washington. The aim of this national conference is to find out just how far we have come since 1969, and where we ought to go from here.

Sen. George McGovern, Chairman of the Senate Committee and Sen. Charles Percy, its ranking Republican member, with their committee colleagues, want to find out what steps should be taken next to improve the overall nutrition of the American people — in terms of legislation, rule-making and regulation, administrative actions, voluntary programs, and so on.

Participants of the conference will include consumer representatives and trade experts, farmers and food industry leaders, nutritionists and physicians, public health experts and educators, mass media representatives and just plain people.

When we met five years ago, the nation had just become quite conscious of the prevalence of hunger and malnutrition due largely to poverty. The best "estimate" was that 20 million Americans were too poor to get an adequate diet. Of these, only four million were receiving any governmental help, and that wasn't much.

Today, 11 million people are using food stamps (the number will be 17 million by spring); and the last recipients of restrictive "commodity" items are being switched to stamps where they can have freer choice of what they wish to eat. What's even better, the food stamp recipients can "buy" about $140 worth of food per month (for a family of four) on a schedule of payments that ranges from zero for the very poor up to no more than 30 percent of net income for the less poor.

The 1969 White House Conference also initiated a number of helpful programs for all the rest of us average consumers. One accomplishment was a review of the safety of all food additives, including those that had always been generally regarded as acceptable and safe. Another improvement was unit pricing, which tells you how much you are paying per pound (or per piece or per pint) regardless of the particular size of the package. That makes it a lot easier to budget and wisely spend your food dollar. Then there is easy-to-understand open dating of perishable foods in place of those previously mysterious hieroglyphics that only the store manager could decipher as well as ingredient listing on labels.

Starting this year, package labels on a vast number of foods also will tell you how many calories and how much of each important nutrient you are getting per serving. Some labels also will show the percentage of key ingredients (such as how much beef in the can of beef stew, or how much turkey is in the frozen turkey pie). Oils and shortenings that claim they are "made from polyunsaturates and how much saturated the exact percentage of polyunsaturates, and how much saturated fat is also mixed in.

These are some of the results from the conference I chaired five years ago. This year's National Nutrition Policy Conference will try to find out how to go farther and better.

We will examine our food and nutrition problems — and opportunities — at home. And the conference will look into the need for nutrition research and support as well as increased education and nutrition services. We will also explore America's unequal ability to efficiently produce vast quantities of food as a bulwark against world famine, and the impact of this unique resource on the world economic and political scene.

In particular, we shall seek to make sure that we never again find ourselves in the situation where — unregulated by our Government — a few large agricultural trading companies can sell one-half of our wheat crop to the Russians or Chinese, leaving us with shortages and with skyrocketing prices at home and no leverage abroad for our foreign policy negotiations and no reserves with which we could aid our starving friends.

Dig Out That Chicken Recipe

Got a favorite chicken recipe? Then you should enter the 25th Anniversary Celebration of the National Chicken Cooking Contest. One finalist from each state and D.C. will win an expense paid round trip to Winston-Salem, N.C., July 25 for the national cook-off, $100 cash and a chance at $25,000 in cash prizes.

The National Broiler Council states that entries must include chicken, whole, cut-up or in parts, at least one teaspoon of Ac-cent and ¼ cup of Mazola corn oil.

Send recipes by April 1 to the National Chicken Cooking Contest, 614 Madison Building, 1155 15th St., N.W. Washington, D.C. 20005. If name, address, birth date and telephone number are written on the front page of the recipe, an official entry form is not required. Contestants must be 18 years or over.

A cookbook of 101 winning recipes can be purchased by sending 50¢ to the contest address.

Honey-Mint Spiced Chicken

1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in serving pieces ¼ cup Mazola corn oil
½ cup flour ½ cup honey
1 teaspoon Ac-cent flavor enhancer 1 teaspoon dehydrated mint leaves
2 teaspoons salt ½ teaspoon pumpkin pie spice

Mix flour, flavor enhancer and salt in bag. Add chicken, one piece at a time, and shake to coat. Heat corn oil in electric skillet at 350°. Add chicken and brown on all sides. Mix together honey, mint and pumpkin pie spice. With chicken skin side down, brush one-half of honey mixture on pieces. Cover and cook at 300° for 15 minutes. Turn chicken; brush on remainder of mixture. Cover and continue cooking another 15 minutes or until done. Garnish with mandarin orange slices sprinkled with a dash of pumpkin pie spice and fresh mint sprigs.

Makes 4 servings.

Why Grow Old?

Colleges Are Giving Credit For Your Life Achievement

The "in" group is in school. I am thinking of the tremendous number of mature women who are either preparing to return to work after many years away from the job or are taking the plunge for the first time.

My mail has told me that many women are going back to school and that adult education has expanded greatly, but I had no idea of the scope of the movement until I investigated it.

Did you know that there are more than half a million women over 30 on college campuses today, and that there are 2,000 schools offering continuing education for the mature woman?

These include junior colleges, four year colleges, technical schools, and hospitals. The range of available courses is vast. Some are arts and sciences, some crafts and fine arts, some medical, educational, technical, clerical, or teaching.

Institutions often make it easier to continue education by giving credit for volunteer work done for non-profit organizations, or for life achievement.

In 1962, Sarah Lawrence College in New York started a program providing women with counseling assistance and refresher courses proper to admission.

Earlier, in 1960, the University of Minnesota formally organized a facility specifically committed to making the resources of the university more efficiently and effectively useful to adult women. It is now called the Minnesota Planning and Counseling Center for Women. It highlights individual counseling and information services for women at all levels of education. Women are referred to both educational and employment opportunities throughout the local metropolitan area.

After these pioneers broke ground, continuing education for women boomed. General orientation workshops and courses were developed in response to a widespread demand from adult women interested in entering or reentering the work force.

These courses typically provide guest lecturers on careers, information about educational courses and volunteer work, counseling on both group and individual basis, and placement assistance. An example is at the University of Northern Iowa (Cedar Falls) where counseling training focuses on the needs of mature women.

Many colleges have started identity courses. The colleges take a group of women and a counselor, and for five or six weeks they sit around and talk about what they'd like to do and what they're equipped for, or which direction they would like to go.

This week I will bring you lots of information about what to do if you are interested in going to work outside your home or in going back to school.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Bothered By Daughter's Height

By G.C. THOSTESON, M.D. Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband and I both are tall, over six feet, and assumed all our children would be tall. When our firstborn was about six weeks old her pediatrician said, "Well, when she get to be about 11 or 12 years old I would give her medication to keep her from growing those last few inches." This doctor since has left, and our children, four girls, are getting to that age. The oldest is 12 1/2. Our doctor doesn't know anything about this procedure and referred us to a pediatrician whose nurse called and said this doctor didn't bother with this area but he had heard of a few cases. The nurse said he didn't want to take the risk, but when I asked what risks she didn't know. It's confusing to have one doctor suggest it and others either don't know or don't want to handle it. —Mrs. P.D. It's no crime to be tall, but you imply that a dozen years ago, when your first child was just a baby, you made up your mind you didn't want her to be tall. Why? Was being tall such a psychological handicap for you? How does your daughter feel about it? And your other daughters? It is my feeling that you should get your motives clearly in mind before making any decision, and consider primarily what your daughter's wishes are, or will be. So, you see, I have a rather strong prejudice in favor of letting nature decide such matters as how tall we are. But at the same time I have to respect your views even if they differ with mine, and I'll tell you what I can about preventing tall girls from becoming tall girls. It involves some tampering with the endocrine (glandular) system — and I think most doctors will agree that such tampering should not be done except by experts very familiar with the endocrine glands. Large doses of the female hormone estrogen are given (usually somewhere between the ages of 8 and 12). This is done to close the epiphyses (ends) of the long bones, because that is where growth occurs, and when these ends close — no more growth. To put it another way, these large doses of estrogen are given before comparable amounts appear normally in the body. You might say it is a way of artificially bringing on physical maturity a little earlier, since growth (height, that is) ceases as one reaches maturity. Growth has been controlled by as much as two to five inches by this method. One problem is that such large doses of estrogen may cause uterine bleeding, although this can be controlled — with progesterone. Whether the advanced maturity time causes other and different psychological problems for girls of that age is another question. I would suspect that the emotional attitude of the girl would be important, but I cannot give you any very specific information on this because I don't know. Can there be other side effects from such a use of hormones? Again I am not prepared to say. But before you decide to go ahead, I think it would be wise to consult an endocrinologist (probably having to go to a medical center larger than available in your town) or at least to consult a gynecologist. I'd assuredly want the treatment supervised by an expert who has had experience with such cases. —J.S. First: Yes. Second: No. Note to Mrs. G.J.H.: The cause of psoriasis has not yet been determined. By colitis is meant a variety of intestinal ailments from very serious to merely uncomfortable. For a better understanding of its causes and treatment, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120 for his booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed (use zip code) envelope to cover cost of printing and handling. Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible. Copyright 1974 Field Enterprises, Inc.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

Schell Up Against Oscar Again

By EARL WILSON NEW YORK — Maximilian Schell is going up against the Oscar again — and as he waits to see whether the picture he produced and directed, "The Pedestrian," wins Best Foreign Film, he may be remembering back to the 1961 Oscar derby when he snatched the Best Actor trophy from Spencer Tracy. Charles Boyer, Paul Newman and Stuart Whitman. "It was for 'Judgment at Nuremberg,'" he said the other afternoon — having some tea and a glass of wine at the Wienerwald while one of the German waitresses was telling him she was "just a little girl" when she saw him do "Heidi." That was the year that Sophia Loren won Best Actress for "Two Women" and "West Side Story" was adjudged Best Picture. Max Schell remembered his speech. "I don't think one should prepare a speech," he said. "I told them: 'When I first came to the United States, a customs man received me in a wonderful way. He said 'Good luck, boy,' and tonight I can tell him I had it.'" Schell has been accused by some friends of having turned sane — not insane as many actors do when they get over 40. He's become enamored of directing and producing (digging up the money). "You're sure they said 'sane'?" he said. "Yes," he agreed. "some of them do overestimate their fame or believe the prices that are paid them. Producing is a really huge job, a painful job, and the most painful was signing the checks at night and getting ready for the next day's work. It cost about a million dollars to do 'The Pedestrian' — and if I would get paid, it would cost a lot more." "Oh, no, I got money from 11 different sources. The kibbutz. (A TV exec called it 'sort of an Israeli Waltons') ... Among the items being auctioned off April 1 for the Off-Off-Bway Manhattan Theater Club will be the red velvet mask Arlene Francis wore on 'What's My Line'." Will Holt, who wrote the book for the Andrews Sisters' musical "Over Here," is putting together a cafe act for his wife, comedienne Dolly Jonah. Actress Carolyn Jones' next book will be titled "Diary of a Food Addict." Clifford Irving reportedly has offers to do TV commercials. I'D RATHER BE LIGHT Today's Best Laugh: Leo Fuchs of "Here Comes the Groom" tells of the man who pleaded with his doctor. "I need help ... I talk to myself all the time! And this is serious — because you know what a bore I am!" Wish I'd Said That: The late Joe E. Lewis offered this philosophy: "Keep your head when all about you are losing theirs — and you'll be the tallest drunk in the joint." Remembered Quote: "A woman should have a least two friends — one to talk to, and one to talk about." Earl's Pearls: "If I could do it over again," a man said, "I'd marry a Japanese girl. Because they're graceful, obedient, attractive — and your mother-in-law in Yokohama." Saxophonist Bud Freeman recalls in his book "You Don't Look Like a Musician" that in the 20s he worked in a tough cafe owned by gangsters. He was nervous, until one of the owners told him, "Don't worry — nobody in this joint'll hurt you unless he gets paid for it." That's earl, brother. All Rights Reserved.

Well the ink hadn't dried good on my article last week when it was pointed out that Johnny Johnson wasn't the only person using a silage program.

Raymond Maddox and Dean Burger are two others that utilize silage. Although I overlooked Dean, I did know he used silage. I was of the opinion that Raymond Maddox had long since quit the ensilage business because of lack of labor in putting the ensilage up. Raymond tells me he does the whole thing by himself without the benefit of outside labor.

Anyhow, we feel these guys are on the right track. With gain cost exceeding 50 cents in feedlots, you are definitely going to see some cheaper ways of gaining cattle. I've never been too sold on ensilage to start small calves, but when properly supplemented it apparently works well. Ensilage definitely has a place in trying to cheaply and efficiently take 400 pound calves to the upper end of 600 pounds. Watch the trend develop!

LAST WEEK'S RATION

About the middle of last week I had the chance to see about 200 calves that had been placed on the ration I suggested in my last column. These calves were really going to town. They might be consuming a little more feed than I suggested. Keep in mind you can edge the salt up another 25 pounds and take out equal amounts of milo. The ration is a real pretty ration. The cottonseed meal is real visible: In my opinion this has your 20 percent sweet cubes beat all to pieces. The main thing it is most competitive price-wise and is self-feed. You save on labor in feeding. The cattle need little attention. The reason the ration will cost you much less than a 20 percent sweet cube is all the labor and other added cost of sacking, cubing, and extra handling. Cubing makes a feed more attractive but adds nothing from a nutritional standpoint.

CATTLE ON FEED REPORT

Cattle placed on feed were down 20.5 percent in February as compared to February 1973; down 1.4 in January as compared to a year earlier. Down 23.6 percent in December compared to a year earlier. Other 1973 months compared to year earlier look like this: November down 8.3, October down 19.9, September down 23.6, August down 5.2; July down 11.3, June down 7.3, May down 8.6; April (girlcott month) down 20.5; March up 5.3, February down 6.5 percent and January '73 up 2.5 percent.

Don't overlook the fact that February of '74 placements on feed were down 20.5 percent compared to February 1973, and that February '73 was down 6.5 percent compared to 1972. So, you can see the affects of the recent cattle price depression on cattle feeders going back into feedlots. Actually, placements of feed in February 1974 are down about 27 percent compared to same month 1972.

There are still plenty of overfed cattle in the Panhandle feedlots.

The word is getting through to the consumer and, more importantly, to the beef retailers of the plight of the cattle feeding industry. It is believed the last thing the retail industry wants to do is cripple the cattle feeding segment to the extent an extreme shortage of beef will result. This is why I believe the worst is over. Retailers are going all out to merchandise beef. They are cutting their margins. It's the time of year beef starts moving. The energy crunch is receding in the background. There are better days ahead.

Feeders should cut loose from these extremely overfed cattle and write it off as bad experience. Whether you know it or not, it costs well over 60 cents per pound today to put another 50 pounds on these cattle weighing over twelve hundred pounds. Lets move 'em so you will have plenty of time to lick your wounds.

Farmers Can Solve Crisis

DALLAS (UPI)—Thirty years after the beginning of the end for agriculture's biggest crisis in Texas, another is arising. The man who solved the first crisis says the American farmer can solve the new one.

"There is going to be a fertilizer shortage," said Dr. C. L. Lundell of Dallas. "There is going to be another cost squeeze. The doomsayers say there are going to be shortages of farm products."

Those "doomsayers" have variously predicted bread costing a dollar a loaf, if any wheat is available at all, or beef will become expensive and then unavailable.

"But knowing the American farmer and the capacity of our land to produce, I say it will be just a matter of years before we're back on the surplus end of it," Lundell said. "The American farmer is the most efficient of all the producers in the American economy. When he is challenged, he produces and produces and produces."

Lundell primarily among Americans is qualified to talk about the quality of America's farmers and the nation's farmland.

It was Lundell and the late Dr. Umphrey Lee, then president of Southern Methodist University, who led a task force begun March 1, 1944, against the bankrupt blackland country of North Central Texas. Lundell, Lee and the Texas Research Foundation at Renner in Collin County gave the blackland the fertility it had lost during a century of being "cottoned out" and created new grasses and planting techniques which, literally, revolutionized agriculture throughout the Southwest.

"I think it was one of the great accomplishments of free enterprise in this country and will be

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS

For the past two weeks this column has carried the major portion of the address of Gov. Dolph Briscoe to the Texas Water Conservation Association March 1.

Today we are carrying the first portion of the address by Texas Congressman Ray Roberts before the association membership. Congressman Roberts is carrying a major portion of the legislative load in Congress for Texas in the water legislation field.

"This is a great day for me. No greater opportunity can come to one who has devoted most of his legislative life to this subject of water than that of being able to meet with wise and knowledgeable and influential people in this great state.

"As Chairman of the Water Resources Subcommittee, I, of course, have an interest and a responsibility. But as a Texan, we have an awesome responsibility. You do an outstanding job for Texas, and that job becomes more and more important with every passing day. Water conservation is particularly important at this time because I am convinced that unless we approve a strong water resources development program, our nation will face a major crisis in its water supply. If present trends continue, entire regions of our nation will be without enough water of sufficient quality to sustain life. Our growing population and economic development is applying great pressure to our supplies of quality water. The problem has gone virtually unnoticed, but it does exist.

"The problem is that the nation's water supply is not uniformly distributed in time or place. We are continually faced with too much water in time of flood and equally damaging shortage during periods of drought. So, the crisis that we face is not one of total quality, but one of gathering, storing and delivering water where and when it is needed. Studies for the Commission on Population Growth and the American Future show that water deficiencies can be expected in eight of 22 water regions in the U.S. by 1980 if water resources development does not adequately continue. Just recently, the Congress passed and sent to the President the Water Resources Act of 1974. This act, which originated in my subcommittee, contains a number of provisions which are of great significance to water resources development.

"One of these provisions concerns the principles and standards needed in the evaluation of water resources projects. House and Senate Conferees adopted the House provisions on this subject, which enacts into law the 1968 interest rate formula of the Water Resources Council. This is the formula which existed prior to the new formula which became effective last October. In adopting this provision, the Congress repudiated the authority which it had earlier given the Water Resources Council to set the interest rate formula.

"I am well aware, however, that the interest rate to be used in project evaluation is only one part of the overall picture. There is a need to take a good hard look at the entire subject of water resources project formulation and evaluation.

"For this reason, the President is directed to submit to the Congress, with his recommendations, a report on the principles and standards to be used in water resources projects evaluation, the interest rate to be used, and appropriate federal and non-federal cost sharing for such projects. This will give the Congress the information it needs to examine project formulation and evaluation.

"Another significant innovation in the act is that major projects are no longer authorized through construction, but only through what is called the Phase I Design Memorandum Stage of advanced engineering and design which immediately precedes construction.

"It is at this stage when the final decisions on the details of project formulation are made. By bringing the project back for construction authorization at that time, we will be in a position to pass on the project with adequate knowledge of all of its details and ramifications. This is important because, as you know, a project can change considerably between the time it is authorized and the time it is constructed—and when I recommend a project for construction, I expect to know exactly what that project involves."

Planting "In High" In Southern Texas

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Spring planting is in "high gear" in the southern half of Texas, with well over half the corn and sorghum acreage already planted in a number of counties. Cotton planting is in full swing in South and Southeast Texas, with rice planting underway in the Coastal Plains.

The planting season is making good progress, according to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, although rain will be needed in western and northern areas before planting starts. Preplant irrigation is underway in the irrigated areas of the High and Rolling Plains and Far West Texas.

Recent rains in the plains and in parts of Southwest Texas should improve small grain crops although more moisture is needed. Grazing is improving in the areas that received rain. Livestock are being held from small grain fields intended for a grain crop.

The warm spring weather is boosting grass growth on pastures and ranges in eastern areas and in the Coastal Plains. However, grazing is still very limited in western areas due to lack of moisture. Feeding is heavy in those sections. Livestock across the state are in fair to good condition. Some lice and tick problems exist in eastern counties.

Commercial vegetable planting continued to make good progress in the High Plains and in East Texas. Also, potato planting continued in Knox County, and tomato plants were being set in fields in Central and East Texas.

Harvesting of citrus, carrots and cabbage continued in the Rio Grand Valley.

"Another significant innovation in the act is that major projects are no longer authorized through construction, but only through what is called the Phase I Design Memorandum Stage of advanced engineering and design which immediately precedes construction.

Something To Cry About... Sheep and Lambs On Feed Are Down But Up... Livestock Slaughter Increases... Feeder Cattle Prices Decline.

If you like onions (and who doesn't) here's something to cry about. The Texas spring onion crop for 1974 is forecast at 18 per cent above last year's crop. This year's spring crop is expected to be the largest since 1967 and the third largest on record.

Peak movement of the crop is expected in April. The quality of the crop appears to be excellent in the Rio Grande Valley. Harvest in the coastal bend area is expected to get underway in April. At Laredo, the crop is making good growth with the first harvest due during the early part of April. In the San Antonio-winter garden area cold weather has reduced stands some. But the crop is making good progress and harvest is expected to get underway there in April or May.

Acres for harvest this year are estimated 21,000, which is an eight per cent increase compared to a year ago. Yield per acre is expected to be up nine per cent from last year.

A 53 PER CENT increase in sheep and lambs on feed is noted by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service as of March 1 compared to 1973. Drylot sheep feeders with a lot capacity of 2,000 head or more had 113,000 sheep and lambs on feed for slaughter as of March 1. This is four per cent below the number on feed as of February 1.

Current intentions to market are: March 46,000; April 44,000; and May 23,000. April and May intentions are incomplete because additional lambs could still be placed on feed and marketed during this period.

RED MEAT production in Texas increased four per cent compared to a year ago. A total of 201,000,000 pounds of meat was produced in the state during January.

Cattle slaughtered numbered 317,000, calves 8,700, hogs 131,000 and sheep and lambs 116,000 head. Cattle and sheep and lambs increased but calves and hogs dropped below a year ago.

Nationwide, commercial production of red meat was two per cent more than a year earlier and 12 per cent more than December of 1973.

FEEDER cattle prices are being affected due to losses of feedlot operators. This has been happening since mid-January. A number of reasons are listed as the cause of this new round of confusion in the livestock industry.

Compared to fat cattle prices, feeder cattle were over-priced.

The number of feeder cattle available is also another cause for the feeder cattle price situation. January sales of cattle and calves at Texas livestock auction markets were 17 per cent above a year ago. Most of these were feeder cattle.

Another weakening factor for feedlots was a drop in the fed cattle market. Choice 900 to 1,100 pound steers sold direct from feedlots averaged $50.45 per hundred weight during the first week of February. By the last week of the month, prices had dropped 13 per cent to around $44 per hundredweight.

Feedlot operators, meanwhile, are losing $135 to $155 per head, which is $35 to $55 per head more loss than they experienced in late 1973.

FARM export totals are rising again. Agricultural exports for the fiscal year ending June 30 are expected to total about $20 billion. This would be almost $1 billion above the estimate made last November.

The $20 billion export figure would also be almost $7 billion above a year earlier.

Grain Reserve Report Due

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The joint House-Senate economic committee will soon announce a recommendation that Congress move "promptly" to pass legislation creating a national grain reserve. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey says.

The Minnesota Democrat, a leading backer of plans to set up a government-controlled reserve, made the disclosure yesterday as a Senate Agriculture subcommittee opened hearings on Humphrey's reserve bill and other similar measures.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz testified that while he favors carrying reserve stocks here and abroad, he wants U.S. stocks carried privately by farmers, processors, millers and traders. Getting the government back into the business of storing grain would create a threat of consumer-dictated grain sales to depress farm prices. Butz claimed.

Humphrey, one of a number of Midwest Democratic lawmakers who have been trying for years to write a food reserve law, said growing interest in warnings of possible world food shortages has increased the backing for a reserve program.

"Being a realist, I know pushing such a proposal through the Senate will be an uphill battle," he conceded. "But I want to serve notice that I do intend to push—and this year—for full Senate consideration of my proposal."

If the Senate Agriculture Committee rejects his plan as it has in the past, Humphrey said. "I will find a way to take it to the floor and to the American people."

Under Humphrey's bill, Congress would spell out a minimum level of desirable national reserves including 600 million bushels of wheat, 40 million tons of feed grains, 5 million bales of cotton and 150 million bushels of soybeans. If total stocks fall below those levels, the government would buy supplies to cover part of the reserve need. On wheat, for example, the government would hold 200 million bushels.

Clovis Dealer Charged With Act Violation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Clovis livestock dealer has been charged with violating the Packers and Stockyards Act requiring dealers to maintain a solvent financial position, the Department of Agriculture said today.

The USDA said Boyd Colbert, who purchases livestock in eastern New Mexico, western Texas and southeastern Colorado, could temporarily lose his registration as a livestock dealer if found guilty of the charge.

The USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration charged in its complaint that Colbert failed to pay for livestock when due and owed more than $331,000 for livestock purchased in October.

It said the Packers and Stockyards Act required livestock dealers to "promptly" pay for livestock when purchased unless credit was arranged for in advance of the sale.

N.M. Ag Head Tells Committee Funds Needed

LAS CRUCES, N. M. (UPI)—The head of the New Mexico State University Agricultural College told the University Study Committee additional funds were needed to meet agricultural research expanded by the state legislature.

Agricultural Dean Phillip Lyndecker said measures approved by the recent legislative session called for research beyond the capabilities of the school's experimental stations at the present level of state funding.

Lyndecker, meeting with the committee in Las Cruces Thursday, said agriculture represented an industry that regenerated $740 million in New Mexico annually.

NMSU Financial Aid Director Greeley Myers told the committee additional funds were needed to generate financial aid for students of New Mexico colleges. He said the state should consider funds to compensate for a cut in federal funds for work-study programs, state supported student employment and appropriations for cooperative educational programs.

North Carolina State, Marquette Advance Bruins Blow Advantage In 2nd Overtime Period

Greensboro, N.C. (UPI) — Twice, seven-time NCAA basketball champion UCLA appeared to have an eighth straight title locked up.

But the Bruins' dynasty came to a fitful close Saturday when top-ranked North Carolina State battled from 11 points back in the second half and seven points down in the second overtime, ending UCLA's incredible 38-game NCAA tournament winning streak with an 80-77 victory.

UCLA, despite 29 points and 18 rebounds by Bill Walton, simply lacked the killer instinct.

North Carolina State's victory reversed an 84-66 setback by UCLA at St.

Louis on Dec. 15. The Wolfpack will carry a 29-1 record into the Monday final against Marquette (28-4), which scored a 64-51 victory over Kansas in the "other" semifinal game.

Another Walton, this one six-foot sophomore Lloyd Walton, sparked the Warriors on a ninepoint spree early in the second half for the victory over Kansas.

UCLA, which Monday night will not be playing in the NCAA championship game for the first time since 1966, erected 49-38 and 57-46 leads in the second half.

Then the Bruins spurred with seven straight points in the second overtime to take another seemingly insurmountable lead, 74-67, with 3:27 to go.

But they couldn't stave off the Wolfpack and their gang heroes — David Thompson, Tom Burleson, Tim Stoddard, Morris Rivers and the smallest of all, 5-5½, Monte Towe.

A capacity crowd of 15,829 in Greensboro Coliseum helped, too.

Here's how the final North Carolina State rally evolved:

Towe hit a pair of free throws with 3:23 to go before Tommy Curtis nailed one for UCLA at the 3:11 mark.

Thompson cut the margin to 75-71 on a tip with three minutes to go. Curtis was called for charging, and Burleson tipped in Thompson's missed shot with 2:16 to go.

Burleson was fouled with 1:38 remaining and made the first shot. Stoddard fouled out with 1:13 to go, but Dave Meyers missed the first of a one-and-one opportunity.

Thompson rebounded and flipped in the go-ahead shot with 53 seconds left for a 76-75 lead. The junior Shelby, N.C., was fouled with 34 seconds left, tossed in free shots and the Wolfpack coach Norm Sloan was a comeback winner.

Sloan said in the dressing "before the season I told the team that we had a chance to be one of the greatest basketball teams of all-time. I'm not making that claim now though. This is an exceptional bunch of young men. Pressure never seems to bother them. They never give up."

UCLA coach John Wooden, after remarking on the brilliance of the nationally televised contest, said some of his players might not play in Monday night's third place game against Kansas.

Warriors Stop Jayhawks, 64-51

Greensboro, N.C. (UPI) — Sophomore guard Loyd Walton, playing with three fouls, inspired a nine-point burst early in the second half Saturday, propelling Marquette to a 64-51 victory over Kansas in the semi-finals of the NCAA basketball tournament.

Top-ranked North Carolina State met seven-time and defending champion UCLA in the second semi-final.

Walton, the Warriors' playmaker and leader of the swarming press, left the game with 11:06 remaining with four personal fouls. But, by then Marquette had the game in hand, 41-33.

Kansas led, 29-26, when the Warriors started their spree with 18:01 left on a bucket by Earl Tatum. Then came the big play. Walton stole an in-bounds pass and turned it into a layup for a 39-29 Marquette lead with 18:34 to go.

That seemed to stun the Warriors into action and Marcus Washington pumped in a fielder, while Maurice Ellis connected with a free throw and Walton finished the blitz with another steal and layup for a 35-29 lead with 14:32 remaining.

Marquette's pressing defense did the rest, building a 53-39 margin with 4:25 left.

Maurice Lucas led Marquette with 18 points, while Marcus Washington added 18 and Tatum 14. Rick Suttle tallied 19 for Kansas and Roger Moringstar got 10.

The Jayhawks took a 24-23 lead to the dressing room at halftime, after trailing most of the first 20 minutes.

The Big Eight champions outscored Marquette, 10-2, in the last 6:04 after the Warriors built a 21-14 lead. In the last six minutes, however, Marquette's lone points came on a bucket by Maurice Lucas with :55 seconds left.

Norm Cook started the Kansas comeback with a pair of free throws. Suttle added two more free shots with 5:15 left and Moringstar and Suttle canned buckets to give Kansas its first lead with 1:38 to go.

Jacksonville Loses In NIT Semifinals

NEW YORK (UPI) — Purdue's Boilermakers became the first Big Ten team to reach the finals of the National Invitation basketball tournament Saturday by trouncing Jacksonville 78-63 in a semifinal at Madison Square Garden.

The Boilermakers thus qualified to meet the winner of the second semi-final between Utah and Boston in the nationally televised final round Sunday afternoon.

Held to a 36-36 tie at the half, Purdue came to back to riddle the Dolphin defense with perfectly executed pattern plays, clicking off a 10-point burst that gave them a 12-point margin with eight minutes left in the game.

The Dolphins never really got going in the second half. They made only 10 of 48 field goals attempts in that half for a 20 pct. shooting average and coach Bob Gottlieb later said that his was a "very tired basketball team."

Utah Runs By Boston College

NEW YORK (UPI) — Exploding loud enough to be heard in Salt Lake City, Utah's high-scoring Redskins reeled off 69 points in the second half to beat Boston College, 117-93, in the nightcap of the NIT semifinals Saturday at Madison Square Garden.

Utah thus moved into the final against Purdue, which jolted Jacksonville, 78-63, in the opener of Saturday's doubleheader played before 12,106.

Leading 48-45 at half-time, the Utes charged out on the floor as if they were fired up, outscoring Boston College 18-2 in the first 5½ minutes of the second half and never let up the pressure. Mike Sojourner, with 29 points, Tickey Burden, with 28, and Tyrone Medley, with 17, accounted for 74 of Utah's total points.

Bob Carrington, Boston sophomore, was high man for the losers with 33 points, 25 of which were tallied in the first half. Utah's three-game total of 311 points is a new team high for three games in the NIT — topping the 294 registered by Bradley in 1957. The Redskins, needing only 44 more points to become the NIT's all-time scoring leaders, are a cinch to break the mark Sunday. St. Bonaventure's 1960 unit is the current record-holder with 354 points.

FOR PAMPA Non-District Play Ends With Doubleheader Split

By PAULSIMS

Pampa jumped out to a 4-1 lead in the first inning and went on to down the Altus, Okla., Bulldogs, 7-2, and then Raymond Prince yielded only four hits to Pampa as Altus took the second game, 7-0, in baseball action Friday at Optimist Park.

The split gives the Harvesters a 9-5 record in non-district games. The Harvesters open district play against the Caprock Longhorns Tuesday in Amarillo.

Only one game was originally scheduled for Friday but the threat of bad weather for Saturday forced the two games. Saturday's doubleheader was cancelled as the predicted cold front moved into the Panhandle.

Prince, who pitched brilliantly in the second game, started the opener for the Bulldogs and lasted only two-thirds of an inning.

Pampa, behind 1-0 going into the bottom of the first, got four runs on walks to Steve Lockett and Roy Morris, an error on shortstop Don Childers as Mike Adair reached base and singles by Bobby Hendricks and Rick Bigham.

Pampa added three runs in the fourth on a triple by Hendricks, single by Bigham, an error on third baseman Joe Gobel, a fielder's choice which put Pampa pitcher David Edwards on base and walks to Rick Smith and Lockett.

Altus brought in its third pitcher — Mike Hall — in the inning.

The Bulldogs scored their second in the top of the seventh as Rod Boley smashed a 350-foot home run over the left field fence.

Edwards picked up his second win without a loss for Pampa, giving up six hits and no walks while striking out four.

Prince got the loss for Altus.

However, the hard-throwing Oklahoman spelled disaster for the Harvesters in the nightcap as he hurled four hitless innings before Bigham singled to right field.

By that time the Bulldogs were up 6-0 after getting two runs in the first, one in the second and three in the fourth.

Altus scored one more in the fifth on singles by Don Starr, Gobel and Kent Kirby.

The visitors were helped along in the game by four Pampa errors.

Morris went the distance for Pampa and was tagged with the loss, his second of the season compared to one win. He gave up nine hits and four walks and struck out three.

Prince walked four and whiffed 14 Harvesters to pick up the shutout.

Cold Weather Cancels Meets

Track meets at Borger and Dumas, which were to involve Pampa High School and Pampa Junior High, were called off due to the cold weather in the Panhandle Saturday.

Pampa High coach Scott Dunnam was notified at approximately 9:30 a.m. that the North Plains Relays were cancelled. The Harvesters worked out at the high school since they were unable to compete.

"We had a good workout; we're not going to be too far behind," said Dunnam, whose team competes in the Amarillo Relays Friday and Saturday.

In Dumas, sleet and cold postponed the Dumas Junior High Relays, which will possibly be held Wednesday.

PJH coach Harold Moore said he did not know if Pampa, which went to Dumas today, will make the trip back.

Taff Pleased After Workout

WACO, Tex. (UPI) — Coach Grant Taff praised both his defensive and offensive units Saturday after a spirited two-hour scrimmage which capped the second week of spring football training.

"We're not ready to play Oklahoma (Baylor's opener next fall) by a long shot, but I saw a lot of things out there that pleased me. We are making distinct progress every week in every phase of the game."

Taff said the defense "showed me lots of fight as a unit. I am interested in individuals, naturally, but it was that cohesiveness that I liked. As for offense,

Tech, Buffaloes Capture Six Firsts

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Texas Tech and West Texas State each captured six first places Saturday at the annual Texas Tech invitational track meet.

Red Raiders won four of the five relays and set records in the two mile relay and distance medley relay.

West Texas State scored big in the field events where Dennis Briggs won the shotput, discus and javelin.

In the junior college division, Ranger won five firsts and New Mexico Junior College, four.

Lefors Fights Off Weather To Win 2nd At Canyon Meet

CANYON — The Lefors Pirate track team turned in its best performance of the season Saturday, finishing second in the Buff Relays here.

Cold weather (it was 17 degrees at the start of the meet) marred the track meet but the Pirates still managed 119 points to finish behind only Hart, which racked up 134.

Hart was led by sprinter Jimmy Brown, who won the 100 and 200, ran on the sprint-relay team, which won first place, and placed second in the long jump.

Lefors was led by Larry

Rowe, fourth, 5:42.2, and Mike Johnson, sixth.

Fifteen teams competed in the meet. In third place, well behind Hart and Lefors, was Follett with 69 points.

Miller Scores Hole In One, Leads Heritage Golf Classic

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (UPI) — Johnny Miller, aided by a hole in one, sat on a 10 stroke advantage and appeared set for a runaway lead when his concentration wavered on the back nine, forcing him to settle for a 1-over-par 72 and a four-stroke lead after three rounds of the $200,000 Heritage Golf Classic.

Miller stood seven-under-par at 207 for 54 holes, and must be favored to register his fourth victory of the year Sunday, even though he dropped five strokes to par coming home when he started thinking about UCLA and how it was making out against North Carolina State in the NCAA basketball semifinals.

Dick Crawford fashioned a 66 over the tough 6,655-yard Harbor Town course to tie Tom Weiskopf and Gibby Gilbert on 211.

Weiskopf had a 67 and Gilbert 68.

At one-under-par, six strokes off the pace in the chase for the $40,000 first prize, were Len Thompson and Tom Kite.

"I was more worried about UCLA than I was my golf," said Californian Miller. "I just lost my concentration."

Miller, the year's top tour money winner with $100,000, was 12 strokes under par at the turn as he ceded the 167-yard, par-three seventh hole with a four iron.

Then, with identical 67s already under his belt in the first round and an apparent runaway in his mind, the

SPORTS FANS!

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You By B.F. Durman

Here's a tough golf question ... As you probably know, in the old days, a player's wooden and iron golf clubs had names in addition to numbers ... When the old-timers played, they often called the clubs by their names ... Now, see if you can supply the names for these clubs: No. 2-wood; 3-wood; 4-wood; 5-iron; and 9-iron ... The 2-wood is the brassie; the 3-wood is the spoon; the 4-wood is the club; the 5-iron is the maul; and the 9-iron is the niblick ... That should bring back memories for some of you older golfers.

Ever wonder where the word "golf" came from? ... Although golf was developed in Scotland, it was the Dutch who gave the sport its name ... The word "golf" is a Dutch word meaning a club with which to hit a ball.

Here's an oddity ... Babe Ruth played one season of minor league baseball before he was brought up to the majors, and in that one season, he hit only ONE home run ... It's true that Ruth was a pitcher as well as an outfielder in those days ... But even so, isn't this odd - here is the man who became the greatest home run hitter of all time, and yet he was able to belt only one homer in his entire first year of professional baseball!

I bet you didn't know there's a safety belt of steel inside the MICHELIN tire ... It carries a warranty of 40,000 miles of tread wear (many owners get more).

PHS Girls Golf Team Moves Into Sixth Place

BORGER — Pampa High's girls golf team fired a four-girl score of 421 and moved into sixth place after two rounds of district competition Friday at Huber Country Club here.

The Pampa team, coached by Tommy Lindsey, was in seventh place after last week's 433 in the opening round.

Amarillo Tascosa shot a 377 Friday and kept its first-place standing with a two-round 745.

Following Tascosa are Amarillo High "B", 370-763; Amarillo High, 391-778; Palo Duro, 406-810; Borger, 394-812; Pampa, 421-854; Tascosa "B", 436-885; Borger "B", 490-921; Caprock, 460-932; and Palo Duro "B", 454-938.

Pampa and Caprock are not competing for the B-team championship since they do not have enough players.

Pampa's scores Friday were Debbie Thompson, 98; Gail Simon, 102; Serena Shearer, 112; Gisele Hudson, 109; and Paula Simpson, 120, which was not counted in the team's total.

Although the B-team is not playing for the team title, four Harvesters competed Friday on the B-team.

Those were Linda Howard, 131; GERALYN HILLS, 129; Sharon White, 109, and Jeffie Suttle, 120.

Miss Thompson is in sixth place and in the running for medalist honors. She has a 193 overall.

Babe Ruth Tryouts Tuesday-Thursday

All boys who will be 13 prior to August 1 and not over age 15 are invited to attend Babe Ruth baseball tryouts Tuesday through Thursday at Optimist Park.

Participants must make at least two of the three tryouts to be eligible.

The tryouts will start at 5:30 p.m. on each of the three days.

High is leading the individual play with 175. She is followed by Patty Loehr of Tascosa, 177; Sharon Boykin of Amarillo "B", 187; Donna Avery of Tascosa, 188, and Joyce Hooper of Borger, 191.

Lindsey was not displeased with his team's play Friday. "The girls played well enough to advance one spot. Sharon White played well on the B-team.

"If we could just get four scores below 100, we could advance several places. The girls are capable of doing this if they will apply themselves," said the Pampa coach.

Pampa will compete in the Borger Invitational tournament Friday. District play will resume April 5 at Pampa Country Club. The fourth and final round is scheduled for April 19 in Amarillo.

OFFICIALS SAY

Suspension Failure Kills Peter Revson

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — A suspension failure on his British Ford UOP Shadow caused the crash which killed American millionaire racing driver Peter Revson, officials said Saturday.

"The car jackknifed and left the track," said Francis Tucker, chairman of the South African Motor Racing Club. "It was the car's suspension that failed."

The burned and broken body of the 35-year-old Revson, nephew of the founder of Revlon cosmetics, lay in a Johannesburg mortuary. Officials said an autopsy would be held before it is shipped back to the United States.

Doctors said Revson was wearing a gold locket from dethroned Miss World Marjorie Wallace inscribed, "If Not For Me—Marji," when his car crashed into a guard rail at Kyalami racetrack Friday.

Miss Wallace's sister said she was to have left the United States for Johannesburg this weekend to visit Revson.

Miss Wallace, 20, of Indianapolis, was dethroned by pageant officials this month because of "unfavorable publicity" involving former British soccer star George Best.

Officials said the South African Grand Prix, for which Revson was practicing when he was killed, will go ahead as scheduled March 30.

From The Channel by Gil Wuest, Manager, Harvester Lanes

This week's column is titled THE STROKE AND TIMING, or like they say, "different for different folks."

Just what is timing and why is it so important? The most logical answer would be simply: timing is the bowler's ability to release the ball out past the foul line naturally without having to force it. It sounds very simple, yet it's 80 percent of good bowling by any standards.

To achieve this timing, a bowler must develop a smooth, free-swinging pendulum of a clock swing. This would be very easy if it were not necessary to take a number of steps. This is why we say — develop a smooth pendulum swing, then fit the necessary number of steps to this swing.

From the start or stance position, to the release at the bottom of the arc and up into the follow through, these coordinated movements are called: the stroke.

If you do not already have a pendulum swing, do a little experimenting. Raise or lower your stance position. A good stroke begins with a good push-away. A faulty push-away "the point of no return," and some feel strongly that a good start assures a good finish. I cannot go that far, but a faulty start can certainly lead to trouble.

Experiment until you find the one that fits you best, the one that gives you the feeling of the best stroke and is therefore the most comfortable. There is no set pattern on this. Some must put a little zip in the down-swing, others must move the swing a little slower.

Next week we will elaborate more on this subject.

Here now are some good bowling scores by our league bowlers. MEN: B. Horton, 224-572; B. Hobdy, 511; B. Hobdy, 201-204-565; G. Vaughn, 235-373; J. Achord, 212-561; T. Beck, 212-201-589; J.R. Davis, 530; B. Epperson, 557; H. Coker, 514; G. Wuest, 572.

Parks And Wildlife News

By J.D. PEER

A traveler going across the Texas Plains from North to South will see an increasingly larger area of cleared, open pasture and farmland. The observant traveler will also note fewer quail, deer and rabbits along this same route.

The decrease has been discussed, studied and there is only one valid reasonless habitat.

Grassland is being cleared of all brush and some even broken up into farmland.

The normal chain of events starts with the necessity to make a living from the land. Next, the land is cleared and crops planted and harvested. It is at this point that some landowners as well as the sportsmen notice the lack of wildlife. This is especially true if chemicals were used indiscriminately and weeds, and fence rows were burned off.

Many landowners are avid hunters and fishermen and they want to know what to do to their land to increase the holding capacity of deer, quail and other wildlife.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Dept. has been aware of the loss of wildlife habitat and now offers a service to the landowner free of charge. George W. Litton, a trained, experienced wildlife biologist, has been assigned the duty of extension biologist for the Texas Plains. A written request from the landowner wanting assistance of habitat improvement must be sent to Mr. Litton, Box 153, Sweetwater, Texas, 79556.

Mr. Litton will notify the landowner of receipt of the letter and setup a meeting to discuss and look over the land.

Dolphin Swimmers Win Dual Meet With Amarillo

The Pampa Dolphin Swim Club team, paced by Scott Smith and Cary Smith in the Boys 13- and -over division and Teresa Glascock in the Girls 13- and -over division, outscored the Amarillo Aquatic Club, 547-392, in a dual meet Saturday morning at the Pampa Youth Center.

Scott Smith racked up 26 points in his division by capturing first in the 100-yard breast stroke, second in the 200-yard intermediate, third in the 100-yard butterfly and 50-yard free and fourth in the 200 free and 100-yard backstroke.

The other Smith placed second in the oldest division with 22 points. He won the 100-yard backstroke and placed third in the 100 free and 100 breast, fourth in the 100-fly and fifth in the 200 intermediate and 50 free.

Miss Glascock won the oldest girls division with 25 points. She did not place first in any events, but earned second in the 100 breast, third in both the 100 back and 100 fly and fourth in four events — 50 free, 200 free, 200 intermediate and 100 free.

Pampa's top point getters in the Boys 11-12 division were Chris Alexander, 38, and Richard Steger, 29. In the same age bracket for the girls was Kris Douglass with 45 points.

In Boys 9-10 division, Clay Douglass scored 42, and in the girls 9-10 class, Stacy Ward and Stacy Williams compiled 33 and 28 respectively.

Reid Steger racked up 35 points to win the Boys 8- and -under. He was followed by Rickie Hill with 22.

The Pampa Dolphins are coached by Malcolm Douglass. "It's the first time we ever beat them," said Douglass following the meet.

People keep saying I was born with a silver spoon in my mouth," he'd say, then come right back: "Maybe I was, but when I turned 21 it was pulled out. I remember when I made my decision to go racing. Most people in my family said I didn't have enough of my own money and I'd soon be back working in the business. But I felt like I could make a living racing and wanted to prove it."

Peter Revson proved it and then some.

Acknowledged as the leading road racing driver in the United States and one of the foremost drivers in the world, the affable, easy-going Revson won both the British and Canadian Grand Prix in 1973 — no small accomplishment in itself — and the year previous he finished fifth in the world drivers' championship ranking behind only Emerson Fittipaldi, Jackie Stewart, Dennis Hulme and Jacky Ickx.

Revson won the pole position at Indianapolis in 1971 and finished second that year to Al Unser. He was getting ready for his sixth try at Indianapolis in May, a track his father had never seen him compete on.

Revson always felt he wasn't racing as much as he would have really liked to, and although he generally was even-dispositioned, he would get upset when anybody suggested that as The Man Who Had Everything, he didn't

Khrushchev To Offer Disclosures

By LEO GRULIOW
 Christian Science Monitor
 Two books containing fresh disclosures about the Soviet Union are in store for American readers.

In June, Harper & Row, is to publish the American edition of Alexander Solzhenitsyn's "The Gulag Archipelago, 1918-1956," the searing history of the labor camps which caused Solzhenitsyn's expulsion from the Soviet Union.

In June, Little, Brown and Co., a subsidiary of Time, Inc., is to issue a new volume of memoirs by Nikita Khrushchev, who tried to right the wrongs of Stalinism and directed the Soviet Union's destinies for a decade.

Khrushchev, who passed on in 1971, left his memoirs in the form of 180 hours of tape recordings which he dictated secretly during his four-year retirement.

Tapes Given to Library
 The existence of the tapes was disclosed when Time presented them to the Oral History Collection of Columbia University. Time did not explain how the tapes came into its possession, but vouched for their authenticity by submitting a report from voiceprint experts stating that the voice on the tapes is Khrushchev's.

A previous volume of memoirs, entitled "Khrushchev Remembers," appeared in November, 1970. It was acclaimed as a breakthrough in recounting what went on inside the Kremlin during Khrushchev's rise to power.

But at that time many of Khrushchev's disclosures had to be omitted to protect persons concerned in the story or involved in recording the tapes and bringing them out of the Soviet Union. Now that some of these individuals have passed on, including Khrushchev himself, much more is being disclosed in the new volume.

"Khrushchev Remembers: Last Testament,"

The new disclosures cover his period in office, 1954-1964, and shed light on his colleagues in the Kremlin, how policy was decided, and his negotiations with President Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson.

Khrushchev gives his version of the "kitchen debate" with then Vice-President Richard Nixon and discusses the U-2 incident in which the downing of an American reconnaissance plane over Soviet territory disrupted plans for a summit meeting with President Eisenhower.

Khrushchev also relates the famous incident in which he banged his shoe on the desk at a United Nations session. He presents what is reported to be a hilarious description of his tour of the United States.

The memoirs include Khrushchev's inside account of the Sino-Soviet split, his assessment of Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung, and his dealings with leaders of Hungary, Poland, and Rumania, where the Kremlin met open and covered resistance.
