Saxbe Believes Patricia Was 'Willing Participant'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Patricia Hearst today was described as a willing participant in the raid on a bank by her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers.

Attorney General William B. Saxbe said he has concluded that Patricia was "not a reluctant participant" in the $10,000 robbery of a branch of the Hibernia bank Monday.

Earlier a guard who witnessed the robbery said Patricia left little doubt she would use her gun in the holdup.

The FBI has obtained four robbery warrants against known SLA members in the robbery but has named Patricia only as a material witness because of evidence that she may have been forced to participate.

Saxbe in Washington said he reached his conclusion from "the way she behaved, the number of people in the bank who observed her behavior, the testimony of witnesses and actions within the bank."

Earlier, U.S. Attorney James Browning and FBI Agent in Charge Charles Bates said in San Francisco that photographs taken by hidden bank cameras showed one of the robbers holding a gun on Patricia, who also was armed.

Saxbe called the terrorist SLA members "common criminals" and under questioning said he felt the same way about Miss Hearst "as a part of it." He said he did not agree with those who had said she was forced to take part in the robbery.

Patricia, who was kidnaped Feb. 4, is the daughter of Randolph A. Hearst, President and Editor of the San Francisco Examiner, and granddaughter of the legendary newspaper giant William Randolph Hearst.

The bank guard, Edward Shea, 66, told UPI that Miss Hearst "was pretty wild, giving out vindictives and orders and all that, saying she would shoot the first guy that moved, calling everybody an m.f. and everything else."

"There was no doubt in my mind she would shoot," Shea said in an interview with KRON television.

President Nixon To Study Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although there's "no reasonable doubt" that Lt. William L. Calley murdered at least 22 Vietnamese civilians in the massacre at My Lai, the secretary of the Army has cut his sentence in half — from 20 to 10 years.

The case is now before President Nixon for review.

It never was determined exactly how many civilians died at My Lai. Estimates were between 300 and 400 and ranged as high as 500.

Calley was accused of either personally killing or directing the killing of 102 civilians, and a six-man court-martial board found him responsible for "at least" 22 of the deaths.

"There is no reasonable doubt in my mind that he perpetrated the act for which he stands convicted," Army Secretary Howard H. Callaway said Tuesday.

But he reduced the sentence, an Army spokesman explained, on the basis of an opinion by a military clemency board that the 30-year-old officer has been a well-behaved prisoner with a reasonable prospect for rehabilitation.

Of 13 men initially charged in the massacre, five were brought to trial, including Calley's superior, Capt. Ernest L. Medina. All but Calley were acquitted. The Army also charged 13 officers with trying to cover up the case but none was convicted.

President Nixon said nearly three years ago he would personally review the Calley case when military reviews were finished. The Pentagon sent the case documents to the White House Tuesday.

Callaway said in a statement: "These acts of murder and assault against unarmed civilians are so abhorrent to those who accept the fundamental legal and moral basis for this republic that they cannot be condoned or forgotten."

Calley Should have Known — He said that while there were "mitigating circumstances" indicating Calley might have sincerely thought he was only following orders, he agreed with the courts that Calley should have known any such order would have been illegal.

TO VIEW PAMPA NEEDS

HUD To Survey Housing Shortage

A survey will be made in Pampa by the federal Housing and Urban Development agency to determine the best possible solution to the city's housing shortage.

This development came at a meeting today of the Chamber of Commerce and Pampa Industrial Foundation Committee appointed several months ago to study the housing situation.

Don Earney, director of HUD's Lubbock office, attended the meeting in the chamber conference room this forenoon and offered to conduct the local survey.

Melvin Kunkel, chairman of the sub-committee appointed a month ago to give the matter further study, reported today on the mobile home possibility as one solution.

Earney told those at the meeting he would send two men from his department to Pampa next week, possibly Monday, to conduct the survey on the needs not only for a mobile home subdivision, but for single family homes and apartment buildings.

Persons attending today's meeting indicated much interest in the construction of a mobile home park or subdivision.

HUD, according to Earney, would make a loan for a mobile home park of at least 100 units.

Earney said it would take probably a week to finish the HUD survey from which it would be determined whether the federal agency would approve a loan for the project.

Earney told members of the committee Pampa is not alone in facing a housing shortage.

"All of West Texas has the problem," he said. "This area of the country is booming and is going to continue to boom."

He said the reason for that lies in the fact that West Texas produces enough food to feed the nation, has all the energy it needs and has the finest people in the country.

"Our area is in for the most tremendous growth ever within the next decade," Earney added.

Also attending today's meeting were three representatives of mobile home sales companies who said they will aid in the HUD survey where possible.

Kennedy Visiting With Tito

BELGRADE (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., put international issues such as East-West detente at the top of the agenda today in talks with Yugoslavia President Josip Broz Tito.

Kennedy, who flew to Belgrade Tuesday night on the second stop of a fact-finding tour of Eastern Europe, also scheduled a trip to nearby Avala Mountain and a television recording session during the morning.

"I believe what happens here is of great importance and consequence for relations between East and West," Kennedy said on arriving in Yugoslavia from Romania, the first stop of his three-nation tour.

Kennedy has received red carpet treatment in Belgrade and Bucharest, meeting for more than two hours Tuesday with Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu.

Kennedy and his wife, Joan, were lodged during the first two stops at special government villas, far more plush than the luxury hotel used by Commerce Secretary Frederick Dent on a recent official visit to Bucharest.

Diplomatic sources said Kennedy's talks with Tito centered on international issues such as the new climate created by detente — the same topics discussed with Ceausescu.

The sources said Mrs. Kennedy, who looked pale and unsteady on arriving, would probably rest today. She was helped from the plane at Belgrade by her husband and U.S. Ambassador Malcolm Toon.

At the airport, Kennedy reminded newsmen of his visit 11 years ago. "I'm delighted to be back in Yugoslavia and remember well my previous visit in 1963."

Bystanders cheered him as he stopped to shake hands. One man shouted "Just a minute, sir" as the senator was leaving. Kennedy replied, "You mean, you want a speech?"

Laketon Processing, Inc. Starting New Operations

A new industry to serve the Top O' Texas area was announced today by James L. Crouch, president of Laketon Processing, Inc., and the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and Industrial Foundation.

Laketon Processing, Inc.,

a locally owned corporation, will produce tankage tallow and pet foods as its main products. The new company will process dead animals from feed yards, farms and ranches in this general area. A hide vat and storage area will also be a part of the operation.

Crouch said the plant will give immediate service in picking up dead animals in the Top O' Texas area and the carcasses will be processed that day.

The plant, which is located at Laketon 19 miles east of Pampa, will employ six to eight people to begin with and will expand as the business justifies.

The new and fully automated equipment has a daily potential of processing up to 500 animals per day, according to Crouch.

The pet foods to be manufactured will be marketed throughout the United States.

Officers of the corporation are James L. Crouch, president; Rex McAnelly, vice president, and Leroy Frazier, secretary-treasurer. Paul C. Crouch is chairman of the board.

Both Paul and Jim Crouch have had many years experience in packing house and rendering operations and are well versed in the business.

IN KENT STATE DEATHS Court Upholds Families' Right To Seek Damages

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled today families of students killed and wounded in the 1970 Kent State shootings can press federal damage suits against Ohio officials and National Guardsmen.

Two lawsuits had been dismissed in lower courts on the grounds that the state of Ohio was the real defendant and the 11th Amendment to the Constitution banned suits by individuals against a state.

But the high court, in an 8-

0 decision written by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, said the amendment does not prohibit in all cases a defendant seeking damages on the grounds of being deprived of a federal right by a state official under state law.

Justice William O. Douglas did not participate in the decision.

The court did not rule on the merits of either suit. It merely reinstated them in the U.S. District Court in Cleveland.

Four students were killed and nine others were seriously wounded May 4, 1970, on the Kent State University campus when National Guardsmen opened fire on a group demonstrating against U.S. ground forces being sent into Cambodia.

A federal grand jury in Cleveland on March 29 indicted eight former National Guardsmen on charges of violating the civil rights of those killed or wounded.

The guardsmen, all enlisted men, were charged with "willfully assaulting and intimidating demonstrators ... by firing in their direction and violating the constitutional rights not to be deprived of liberty without due process of law."

Families of three of the dead students filed the two suits. They told the Supreme Court that a ruling against them in the highest court in the land would remove their last opportunity for redress.

School Board To Swear In New Members

Sam Anderson and Bill Arrington, elected to the Pampa Independent School District Board of Trustees in the April 6 election, will be sworn in tomorrow at the April meeting of the board at Carver Center.

Prior to the administration of the oath of office to the two new members, the present board will consider several personal recommendations, including raising the salary of PHS basketball coach Robert McPherson's salary $2,000 per year and paying Betty Chamberlain $300 for her work with the girls' track team.

Following those personnel considerations, the board will be re-organized and other regular business will be taken up.

Anderson and Arrington will replace Warren Hasse and Dorothy Stowers on the board.

Hasse has been a member of the board for several years and did not run for re-election this year. Mrs. Stowers was appointed to the board in January and failed April 6 in her bid to become the first woman elected to the board.

Nixon Prestige Sustains Blow

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's prestige suffered another blow Tuesday when the Republican congressional candidate he personally campaigned for in Michigan last week was upset by a Democrat who made Watergate and the President the main issues.

Three hours after Nixon returned from a five-day respite in Florida, he learned of the defeat of James M. Sparling in Michigan's 8th Congressional District special election. Many observers considered the race in the traditionally Republican district a referendum on the President's popularity.

Democrat J. Robert Traxler, running better than expected in the rural areas where Nixon campaigned last week, becomes only the second member of his party to represent Michigan's "thumb" area this century.

Sparling's loss was the fourth by a Republican in the five special elections this year and may signal other GOP candidates that Nixon's campaign help in the November elections would be an albatross around their necks.

Stans Testifying In Perjury Trial

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans, who says there were at least 30 men of money who contributed as much or more to the 1972 Nixon campaign than the international wheel-dealer Robert L. Vesco, was called as the final big witness in the Mitchell-Stans trial today.

Optimists Hold Annual Bicycle Safety Week

Pampa Optimist Club is conducting its annual Bicycle Safety Week through Saturday in an effort to teach cyclists and motorists the basics of bicycle safety, according to Carroll Jones, Optimist vice president.

Mayor R.D. Wilkerson has proclaimed the safety week to be a community-wide observance and has urged "all citizens of Pampa to cooperate with the Optimists' efforts to make Pampa a safe city for cyclists."

To aid cyclists, the Optimists have set up an inspection and registration program at Coronado Center from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday. All persons having bicycles may have them inspected to insure mechanical safety and register them with an identification number to be used in case the bike is lost or stolen. There will be no charge for the service.

Bike Safety Week has been set aside by the Optimists to stress intelligent coexistence of motorists and children on the streets and highways.

Slide Rules Awarded To Area Seniors

AUSTIN — Texas Chemical Council this spring is awarding slide rules to graduating seniors from 145 Texas high schools because of their excellence in chemistry, science and math.

Karen Williams of Pampa and David Irvin Saxon of White Deer High School are area students being awarded slide rules by the Council.

Miss Williams is planning to major in pharmacy in college while Saxon is still undecided what his major will be.

Those receiving the rules were selected as the "outstanding seniors" from their schools in the science-chemistry-math field. Selections were made by principals and science department heads on the basis of scholarship, imagination, and scientific aptitude. Only one student per school could be nominated.

Slide Rules Awarded To Area Seniors

Texas Chemical Council President John T. Files of Houston said this is the 20th consecutive year for the council to make slide rule awards. He said the intent of the council is to encourage the state's outstanding high school students to pursue a chemical career or to continue studies in the science field.

In addition to receiving the slide rules, the award winners have been invited by the Texas Chemical Council to participate in an essay contest, with the winning writer and his school to split equally $1,000 in cash awards by the Council. The Council is an association of 61 chemical companies which have manufacturing facilities in Texas.

Visco Chemicals Div., Natco Chemical Co., will furnish the door prize.

Nixon Urges Jobs For Needy Youths

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Officials of federal departments and agencies have been directed by President Nixon to provide as many jobs as possible this summer for young people, particularly "needy youths."

In a memorandum, the President said: "Many of our young people in America look forward to summer with both the hope and need for summer jobs. We in government have an opportunity to assist them in their efforts to find that employment."

Saigon Limits Helicopter Flights For Communists

SAIGON (UPI) — Military sources said today that 506 Communists and 61 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed in a two-day battle around a government ranger base in the Central Highlands, the heaviest losses since last year's ceasefire.

In Saigon, spokesmen for the government and the Viet Cong said South Vietnamese helicopters today canceled all helicopter trips by Communist officers, effectively isolating 200 Viet Cong in a camp just outside the capital.

Military sources in Saigon said about two regiments of North Vietnamese regulars, 5,800 men at full strength, overran the highlands ranger base Monday and then fought a two-day running battle with about 600 government troops.

Sen. Hightower Offering Full-Time Representation

By CLAY LIVELY

State Senator Jack Hightower was in Pampa yesterday as part of his latest campaign swing through the Panhandle in advance of the May 4 Democratic primary.

The candidate for the 13th Congressional District, hoping to win the Democratic nomination in the effort to unseat Republican U.S. Representative Bob Price in the November general election, said his primary reason for entering the race is his belief that the district has not had "effective full-time representation in the past several years."

"I've had 10 years experience in the Texas Legislature," Hightower said. "I think that qualifies me for the position I've lived in the district all my life and I'm well acquainted with the people and the economic needs of the district."

A United States Congressman is the only direct link the people have with the federal government, the only one responsible immediately to the people. When we do not have effective full-time representation, well then, we're the losers."

"Asked about the water crisis facing the Panhandle, Hightower said it is a very real issue because, "unless our leaders act, we know we're going to have real problems with water in the very near future. We can't provide water for the Panhandle and West Texas unless we work with other states and that is going to have to be done through the federal government."

Hightower said he felt it was wrong for the federal government to, in effect, wash its hands of the problem and say that Texas' water shortage is solely Texas' problem and responsibility.

He said he felt the plan to transport water from the Mississippi to Texas was a good one at the time it was prepared, in light of its plans for construction and the transportation of the water, but such a plan would be hampered at the present time because of the energy crisis.

Hightower also said there is potentially a real crisis in Texas agriculture particularly and in the nation as a whole because of the fact that while prices to farmers for their products continue to go down, their costs for purchasing fuel, fertilizer, equipment, seed, feed grains and everything else continue to increase.

Hightower said he believes he is the one of all the candidates running for the 13th Congressional District seat, who can give the district the "effective full-time representation it needs." Believing that, he said "I felt obligated to offer myself as a candidate."

"The other candidates (in the Democratic primary) are completely without qualifications," he said. "One — a marriage neurosurgeon Louis A. Finney is a physician and has been in the practice of medicine his entire adult life and the other (Ray Ruffin of Amarillo) is a band leader. Neither had any governmental background at all."

Hightower again cited his experience as making him the most qualified candidate for the congressional seat.

"The same things they have in the U.S. Congress we have, maybe to a lesser degree, in the Texas legislature."

Hightower is campaigning in the eastern half of the Panhandle this week after touring the western half last week.

TV Notes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gary Collins and Diana Muldaur have been assigned the leading roles in Screen Gems' new "Born Free" series that NBC will present during the 1974-75 season. They have the roles of George and Joy Adamson, the African lion experts, and the series is based on her book about lioness Elsa and her offspring.

The musical soundtrack for ABC's two-part drama, "QB VII," broadcast over two evenings for a total of six and a quarter hours, has been released for sale by ABC Records. Jerry Goldsmith, composer of many motion picture scores, conducted, arranged, scored and produced the new album. A 70-piece orchestra and sections of the Vatican Choir were involved in making it.

Richard Burton will play Winston Churchill in a "Hallmark Hall of Fame" drama to be aired by NBC next season. "Churchill: Walk with Destiny" is a 90-minute teleplay that covers the pre-World War II years when the statesman was out of favor in England and predicting that catastrophe was just ahead. The climax is in 1940 when he was called to be Prime Minister at a time of extreme crisis. Burton will be remembered as supplying the voice for Churchill's words in a documentary series, "The Valiant Years," more than a decade ago.

THE MOTHER EARTH NEWS®

... it tells you how

Despite rosy projections by the "experts", it's a sure bet that heating oil, electricity, wood and coal (all of which jumped sharply in price last winter) will cost more than ever this coming fall. Figure on spending more money to keep your house warm, then, unless you switch—completely or in part—to a source of "alternative" energy... such as sunshine.

That's not as far-fetched as it may sound. William A. Shurcliff—of Cambridge, Massachusetts—for example, says that the simple solar heater shown here can be built for about $70.00 and installed quite easily in any window on the south side of a building. Incredibly enough, Shurcliff claims the unit will deliver an average of 7,000 British thermal units of heat per hour (or 35,000 Btu per day) in the month of January in Massachusetts.

To put the heater into operation, you simply open the lower sash of the window and pull the collector's septum-tongue one foot into the room. Cold (60° F) air in the house then travels downward (south) along the lower plenum, around the foot of the black septum, back up along the sunlit upper plenum and (at a temperature of 85° F) re-enters the room. The sash is closed at night.

This supplemental heater has some "fail-safe" features that keep it from sucking warmth out of your house if you forget to close its window on heavily overcast days or in the evening: [1] even on gray days, the sky itself delivers some radiation to the unit, [2] the collector is insulated on all sides so that it retains heat and [3] if the air in the collector is cooled, it merely becomes more dense and sinks to the unit's bottom... instead of flowing back into the house.

Of course this supplemental heater is just that—supplemental—and, on an average winter day, will supply only about 15% of a residence's heating needs. But that's not bad for a $70.00 unit that you can haul home on top of your car and assemble with simple hand tools.

For more information about the construction of William Shurcliff's supplemental solar heater, send 10¢ and a stamped, self-addressed long envelope to THE MOTHER EARTH NEWS®, in care of this paper. Ask for Reprint No. 181, THE SHURCLIFF SOLAR HEATER.

Highway 60 Boosters Set Annual Convention Series

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. — From this community of about 10,000 people in northeastern Oklahoma's Green Country, U.S. Highway 60 stretches westward for over a thousand miles through Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

A similar distance is covered eastward through Missouri, a tip of Illinois, Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia before fascinating Highway 60 reaches Virginia Beach on the Atlantic Ocean.

Several hundred people — national officers and board members, state leaders and other boosters of U.S. Highway 60 — from the 10 states touched by "scenic 60" will be gathering in Bartlesville on Friday, April 26, and Saturday, April 27, to hear highway progress reports and discuss future improvement goals.

The round of meetings will be kicked off by a gathering of board members Friday with further sessions to be scheduled Saturday as needed.

It cares KENAI, Alaska (UPI) — The masthead of The Cook Inlet Courier says that the weekly is "The only newspaper in the world that gives a dam about the Kenai Peninsula."

Pioneer union GEORGETOWN, Guyana (UPI) — The first trade union in Guyana and in the British West Indies was formed in 1919 by Hubert Nathaniel Critchlow, a waterfront worker. It was called the British Guiana Labor Union.

Gov. David Hall of Oklahoma will keynote the annual convention banquet on Saturday evening, April 27, in the American Legion Convention Center. A crowd of over 400 persons is anticipated as many Oklahoma citizens interested in good roads join with Highway 60 Association members from across America at this closing event.

Presiding for all activities will be Buford Richardson of Socorro, New Mexico, national president of the U.S. Highway 60 Association.

Convention activities prior to Saturday's banquet will center around the Holiday Inn of Bartlesville. The two-day meeting opens with a Highway 60 Association board of directors session and an evening buffet on Friday, April 26.

Saturday activities will not be confined to meetings. National and state officers and board members will enjoy a western barbecue lunch at Woolaroc Ranch and will tour Woolaroc Museum, a nationally known mecca for Indian and pioneer art, as well as the National Y-Indian Guide Center, also located there.

The enthusiasm of Bartlesville leaders as hosts for the U.S. Highway 60 Association national convention is heightened by several miles of improvements underway, excellent prospects for additional improvements and a possible new, improved Highway 60 routing between Bartlesville and Pawhuska, 28 miles to the west.

Bill Doenges, Oklahoma president for the Highway 60 Association, is general chairman for the U.S. Highway 60 Association convention. He is being assisted by many Bartlesville Area Chamber of Commerce leaders.

Dear Abby

Long-time worker wants 'divorce shower'

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY For years I have contributed to office collections for coworkers on the occasion of their engagements, marriages, anniversaries, births, deaths in the family, new homes, etc.

My wife and I separated a year ago, and I've been rooming with another man since then. Now I'm getting my own apartment, and I need all the things a couple needs to set up housekeeping—sheets, towels, dishes, appliances, etc. [My wife took everything when we split up.] Since I can't afford to buy all these things at once, I have proposed a "divorce" shower at work. It might even be appropriate for the gifts to be used items, since it's a second start for me.

The general reaction in the office was favorable, but some were on the fence. We agreed to abide by your advice as to whether this idea was too outrageous or actually a sensible way to help me out with a problem. POTLESS

DEAR POTLESS: The idea makes a lot of sense to me. But you shouldn't "propose" the shower yourself, anymore than a bride should "propose" her own shower. [P. S. Yours is not actually a "divorce shower." It's a miscellaneous shower for a man who's setting up housekeeping and doesn't have a pot.]

DEAR ABBY: I work in an office building. There's a woman down the hall who smokes about a pack of cigarettes a day, and she burns every one of them!

She knows there are several smokers in this office, so she runs in just about every 30 minutes and asks if "anybody" has a cigarette.

I asked her why she didn't buy some, and she said: "I'm not supposed to be smoking at all, and if I buy them I'll only smoke them." [I wonder what she thinks she is doing with the cigarettes she burns off us?]

Is there some real sharp answer we can give her when she comes in here to bum a cigarette? SUCKER

DEAR SUCKER: Don't look for a "sharp" answer. Tell her if she's going to smoke she'll have to buy her own. That's sharp enough.

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating Henry for six months. He says he does not have a telephone at home. I do not have the phone number of the night or day jobs where he works. He says they allow only emergency calls, so he does all the calling.

One day I asked him where he lived and he said: "I can't give you the address because I'm moving right now." When I asked him where to send his Christmas card, he said: "Just hand it to me."

I have never been introduced to any of his friends, and he says he doesn't have any family.

Once I came right out and asked him if he was married, and he said no. He is always telling me I ask too many questions. I have a feeling he is not being honest with me. There are things I would like to know about him because I am falling in love with him. Why do you think he's so secretive? IN THE DARK

DEAR IN: It's just a wild guess, but I'd say he's either married or living with someone. Unless he's willing to let you know where he lives and where he works, you'd be wise to forget him and look for a man who's not afraid to answer a few simple questions.

MRS. JOHN ALLAN MORRIS
...new Miss Jamie Sue Dale

Dale-Morris Vows Read In White Deer

Miss Jamie Sue Dale became the bride of John Allan Morris April 2 at 7 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church of White Deer.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Dale of Fritch, and the bridegroom is the son of John T. Morris of White Deer.

THE CEREMONY
The Rev. Marvin Roark, pastor, officiated for the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with three basket arrangements of spring flowers flanked by a pair of seven-branched candelabra.

Mrs. Jerry O'Neal, organist, provided traditional wedding selections and accompanied Melony Lockridge and Susan Scott as they sang "The Wedding Song."

THE BRIDE
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal floor-length gown of mirlamist and re-embroidered Venice lace, designed with a high rounded neckline, empire waistline and long Bishop sleeves and bell skirt. Inserts of the lace enhanced the neckline, bodice and sleeves and a pleated ruffle complemented the neckline and hem line of the attire.

Her mantilla of imported illusion, with a border of matching lace, fell from a lace coil and ended in a sweeping chapel-length train. She carried a bridal bouquet of spring flowers centered with an orchid.

ATTENDANTS
Mrs. Thomas Lester of Pampa, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor and bridesmatron was Mrs. J.C. Lord, Tulsa, Okla., aunt of the bride.

They wore identical floor-length dresses of white sheer with embossed flowers of the bride's chosen colors of pink, blue, yellow and green, and styled with an empire waistline, sweetheart neckline and Bishop sleeves. They carried baskets of spring flowers with velvet bows and streamers and flowers in their hair.

Serving his brother as best man was Terry Morris of Houston. Randy Dale of Fritch, brother of the bride, was groomsmen. Seating wedding guests was Thomas Lester, Pampa, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Rick Youngberg of Austin.

RECEPTION
Following the ceremony, a reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church. The serving table was covered with an off-white lace cloth, approximately 60 years old, and belonging to the bride's great-grandmother.

A basket arrangement of spring flowers centered the table and the three-tiered wedding cake was topped with spring flowers. Miss Betty Doises of Lubbock, assisted at the punch bowl and Miss Andrea Jones of Groom, served cake.

For the wedding trip to San Antonio, the bride wore a floor-length green dress and carried the orchid from her bouquet.

The couple will reside in Austin where the bride is presently employed by a barber shop and the bridegroom attends the University of Texas.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS
Attending the event from out-of-town were grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. John Myrick, Jet, Okla.; great-aunt of the bride, Mrs. Jerold Wilson, Jet; cousin of the bride, Mrs. Dean Wieghers, Leati, Kan.; great-aunt of the bride, Mrs. Oren Ames, Leati; and Charles, Janette and Johna Sue Lord, all cousins of the bride, Tulsa.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Magnesium Is Important To Good Health; Even To Life!

Sooner or later they are going to find out, as surely as you are you, what we should eat in order to stay young forever, and I wish they would hurry up! I think most folks are now aware of the importance of diet in health and beauty, especially how valuable those vitamins and minerals are.

We know that studies have shown many persons to be deficient in iron and calcium. We have not seen as much about magnesium, yet this mineral is essential to health and even to life. Not only is it a necessity for our everyday well-being, but magnesium therapy has been used with dramatic results in some cases of emotional and mental disturbance.

Who is a candidate for a deficiency? Well, we all are unless we watch it, because this mineral, while widely distributed in foods, does not occur abundantly in many. Besides that, the items which are rich sources are not the most usual ones on many menus.

Some of the richest sources of magnesium are nuts of all kinds, oatmeal, blackstrap molasses, seeds, corn meal, whole wheat, peanut butter, soy beans, sesame seeds and wheat germ.

Many persons do not like these foods or do not eat them because they are high in calorie count. Some less rich but less fattening sources are brussel sprouts, string beans, okra, peas, brown rice, carrots and blackberries.

The everyday, garden variety symptoms of magnesium deficiency such as chronic fatigue, extreme drowsiness, insomnia, muscle spasms, nervousness and the inability to "copy" are familiar to millions of people. Someone has called this the "Housewife Syndrome."

Alcohol speeds up the excretion of magnesium from the body, so the alcoholic is a prime suspect for this deficiency. Diuretics flush magnesium out. Anything which causes an unusual loss of fluid is also a good way to lose magnesium.

High protein and calcium foods increase your need for magnesium, but unfortunately provide us with very little of this mineral.

The best sources of various vitamins are given in the leaflet, "Vitamins in Your Diet." For your copy, send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Josephine Lowman in care of The Register and Tribune Syndicate, Des Moines, Iowa 50304.

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

By FRED KARPIN

The type of "play" situation featured in today's deal is a recurring one, and is often mishandled by the less-skilled bridge player. The hand arose in a rubber-bridge game.

Opening lead: Ace of ♠.

North's raise to four spades was a poor call, considering that his spade support was, at best, normal. He should have rebid three notrump. Had he done so, his partnership would probably have arrived at a slam contract in notrump, at which contract 12 tricks would have been there for the taking: two spades, two hearts, four diamonds, and four clubs.

After his ace of hearts had won the opening lead, West continued with a low heart.

South's jack winning. A low trump was then led to dummy's ace. On this lead West dropped the queen.

Declarer now thought for a while, trying to decide whether West possessed the singleton queen, or whether he had falsecarded from the doubleton Q-J. When he next returned the spade five, and East followed with a four-spot, South elected to insert his ten, finessing against East's hoped-for jack. West's jack of trumps now took the setting trick. And, to sort of rub it in, West then led another heart, which East ruffed. So South went down two tricks.

It was, of course, quite conceivable that West's queen of trumps was a singleton. But declarer gave no thought to the extension of this possibility. If the queen were a singleton, then East had been dealt the J-7-4-2. And, in this presumed set-up, even if South's finesse of his ten-spot against East's hoped-for jack had won the trick (in theory), then East would still have the doubleton J-7 remaining. Thus East would always make his trump-jack-for-the-setting trick.

Therefore, as declarer should have viewed the situation, his sole hope of fulfilling the contract depended on West's queen being a falsecard. Specifically, unless West had started with the doubleton Q-J, declarer was sunk. Hence, on the second trump lead South should have put up his king — and everything would have been lovely.

Study Cash Flow If You Want Best Return On Money Saved

Chicago (NFS) — By managing your savings properly, you should be able to increase the income from interest, says the head of a leading Chicago area savings institution.

"Management is especially important in these days of rapidly changing interest rates," says John L. Domeier, president and chairman of Oak Park Federal Savings and Loan Association, Oak Park, Ill.

However, there's more to managing savings than putting your money into an account that pays a high interest rate. You should also correlate your choice of account with your short-term and long-term need for money.

"SO THE FIRST thing to do is determine your cash flow pattern, which really means setting down when your money comes in and when you have to pay it out," Domeier said.

For most people, money coming in means wages or salary. As a minimum, whatever can be saved should go into a passbook savings account. These are best suited for short-range savings, since they allow you to add or withdraw funds in any amount at any time.

"By keeping the funds you'll need in 90 days in passbook accounts, you'll have ready access to the money and still earn interest, which at most S&L's is 5 1/2 per cent," he said.

FOR MONEY that you can afford to invest for longer periods, savings certificates are available for various periods, from 12 months up to four years. The longer the period, the higher the interest paid.

"Certificates require that you invest a minimum amount, which can range from $1,000 for 12-months to $5,000 for four years," Domeier said. "Thus, the long-term certificates are best for savings that you won't need to draw on for some time, such as a college education or retirement."

While you may not have the minimum amount currently available to invest in a high-paying certificate, you can accumulate funds in a plan that requires a smaller amount. Then, at the appropriate time, you can shift into the larger certificate.

FOR EXAMPLE, you can do your basic accumulating in a passbook account paying 5 1/2 per cent. Then, when you accumulate $1,000, shift that amount into a 12-month certificate paying 6 1/2 per cent. Save another $1,500 in the passbook account. Then add that $1,500 to the $1,000 in the 12-month certificate and shift into a $2,500 four-year certificate at 7 per cent.

You can keep repeating this process, accumulating small amounts in your passbook account, then transferring the funds you are putting aside for long-range needs into savings plans that pay a higher rate of interest.

"This way, you always have available short-term funds in your passbook, while you are getting the most for your long-range money in the certificate plans," Domeier said.

For this type of savings management, it's important to keep track of certificate maturity dates so you can advise the savings institution to redeem or re-invest the funds at the proper time in the plan of your choice.

Your Horoscope

By Jeanne Dixon

THURSDAY, APRIL 18

Your birthday today: Your year begins with much promise, and overestimation of probable results. It slowly develops that you make for yourself all the really worthwhile changes. An unwavering focus on business and career helps you most early in your year, while strengthening relationships are featured in the later months. Today's natives value honesty and candor, frequently pursue impractical schemes. The sense of sight plays a distinct part in their experience.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Advice tends to be based on unrealistic assumptions, qualifying factors in background of adviser's life. Keep looking for the rest of the story.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: It should be fun to watch the schemes and adventures of friends, or even to join where you're sure what the game is. Leave financial maneuvers to experts.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Peculiar conditions may not be obvious but do exist. There's a premium on thinking things through, seeing where your present course leads.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Confusion is inevitable today. Your sense of humor makes the difference between out-and-out disagreement or passing matters off with a smile.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Somebody close to you makes an impulsive move which upsets several aspects. Discount a great deal of what you hear; rely on your own confirmed information.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: The comfortable path of certainty is subject to some awkward detours. Today there is doubt as to the intentions of people who are at cross-purposes.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Cooperation exists to the extent you and your associates are willing to make sensible use of it. There is an excellent prospect for improving earnings.

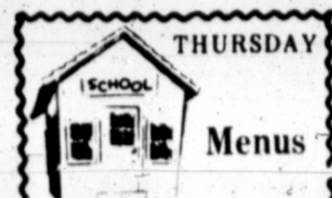

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Everybody is doing the best he can. Be wary of a charming acquaintance with a glib story. Your creative endeavors include some intriguing new ideas.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Find some way of sharing your favorite pastimes. A holiday from business transactions may actually save you money by relieving personal tension.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Keep your activities out in the open. Conservative and relatively new ventures are susceptible to mistakes, human error. Romance blooms tonight.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Idealistic daydreams dominate many people's attention. You may inspire odd purchases. Your own responsibilities are about all you can watch over today.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Use your judgment rather than simply following whatever happens to be "in." Money gets away from you easily, leaving little to show for the exchange.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH Insulin Still Needed For Diabetes

By G.C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: When a person's blood sugar is normal, does he or she have to continue with insulin?

Is it possible for him ever to quit taking insulin? My diabetes started in later years and I have been doing very well. My insulin intake is only 20 units of U-40 Lente.

—Mrs. G.P.
Let's start by pointing out that too much blood sugar was what proved that you had diabetes in the first place. Having the level normal now is BECAUSE you are taking the insulin and, obviously, eating in such a way that you do not get and do not produce more sugar than the insulin can enable you to use up. (Good for you!)

Just stopping the insulin would mean that, on the same food intake, your sugar level would start to rise, and that is exactly what has to be avoided. It is possible in some cases, although not the usual practice, for a person to stop insulin and substitute one of the oral diabetes pills which reduce sugar level. This is not successfully done in any great number of cases. Just some. In any event, ordinarily the oral medications are tried first to see if they will suffice, unless in the physician's judgment the case demands insulin from the outset.

But in any event, why upset the apple cart when you are doing so well the way things are? The ultimate aim in treating diabetes, in keeping it under control, is to keep the blood sugar level normal and avoid complications.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A friend seems to have some peculiar ideas about "the pill," that it makes women sterile, that it makes them unsexed, that it may cause deformed babies, and that it is generally bad for a person.

Is this true? I have been on the pill for over a year and was not told of any serious side effects. Your friend's ideas are, as you say, "peculiar." She is not correctly informed, and is wrong on all four points. There are a few possible side effects in some women (saturated) fats in the diet and substituting vegetable fats makes sense in the light of what is known about cholesterol — but that does not mean that the vegetable oils will "dissolve" cholesterol in the blood. In any event, linseed oil wouldn't be my choice of a vegetable oil, since there are plenty of others available at the grocery store.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois, 60120 for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, Dr. Thosteson regrets that he cannot answer individual letters, but whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT Twins Have Made Life Merrier

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — They were identical twins from Bisbee, Ariz., and they made life merrier around Broadway and Hollywood.

But Bob and Leonard Goldstein never became cowboys or sheriffs even though they did come from Cochise County. They called themselves "No-Gun Goldstein" and each bragged that he was the fastest bagel-slinger in the West.

They would have made some joke of the fact that Bob, the older of the twins (by a minute), died at past 71 in London and is being buried alongside his twin brother Leonard's plot in Beverly Hills.

We all know of the power of twin sisters, especially blondes. But these twin brothers worked the twin gimmick pretty good. Being major movie producers, they had access to girls. Many a lass after a relationship was told by Bob: "You must have me confused with my twin brother Leonard."

Bob functioned many years in New York. Leonard in California. People leaving L.A. seeing No-Gun Goldstein bidding goodbye would wonder how No-Gun Goldstein could be greeting them in New York.

Leonard once arrived in NY to find Bob had just left his barber. Leonard went immediately to the barber and requested a shave from the barber who had (seemingly) just given him one.

Once Leonard (who died Smoking personalities) TUSCON, Ariz. (UPI) — A University of Arizona psychologist, in personality tests on 361 subjects, has found significant personality differences between smokers and non-smokers.

Dr. Richard W. Coan has concluded that smokers tend to be more extroverted, liberal, open to experience, spontaneous, anxious, and prone to distress or disturbance on occasion. Non-smokers, on the other hand, are more introverted, rather well adjusted, planners, and generally not too anxious.

(over Sam's, 64th and 2d Av.) to wall-to-wall fans including Lionel Hampton who entertained free. To a fan who yelled "Play it again," Buddy retorted, "You should have listened the first time, loudmouth!"

Lena Horne applauded Novella Nelson at Reno Sweeney's... Marlene Dietrich and Rudolf Sieber will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary May 13 (that's 50, honey) ... There's a Godfather Limousine Service in Brooklyn (Motto: "We take people for rides") ... The Uris Theater where Sammy Davis opens April 23 will offer Harry Belafonte and the Fifth Dimension later.

Can one-liners be poetry? William Cole says yes and has a new book "Poems One Line and Longer." A slightly longer poem by Samuel Hoffenstein to his lady says: "When you're away, I'm restless, lonely. Wretched, bored, dejected, only Here's the rub, my darling dear, I feel the same when you are near."

Bill Hickey of the B'way show "Thieves" was injured so director Charles Grodin (who co-starred in "Heartbreak Kid") took over... Lynn Redgrave's comedy "My Fat Friend" now has a $150,000 advance and is building.

Show Biz Quiz: In what film did a future Senator and Governor appear as father and son? Ans. to yesterday's: Nelson Eddy appeared without Jeannette MacDonald in "Phantom of the Opera," "Rosalie" and "Chocolate Soldier."

I'D RATHER BE LIGHT TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: You know that dollar has really depreciated, notes John Markus, when you have to use contract credit cards to charge something. WISH I'D SAID THAT: Marty Ragaway described filling out your income tax as a "do-it-yourself mugging."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "A road map is a piece of paper that helps you get lost." EARLS PEARLS: Shelby Friedman mentioned an aging actress: "She's been around since the days when Mae West wore a training bra."

Virginia Graham's hosting the "Middy" TV show, and someone asked, "Is it a talk show?" A friend said, "Well, for Virginia it's a talk show. For everybody else it's a listen show." That's earl, brother. All Rights Reserved.

Under Twenty

DEAR ASTRID
By ASTRID CARSON
Dear Astrid: I am 16 years old and I love this man who is 22. He lives in Atlanta and I don't live there any more. When he's around he acts as if he really cares for me. I don't see him that much since I moved down here. What should I do? —Lonely

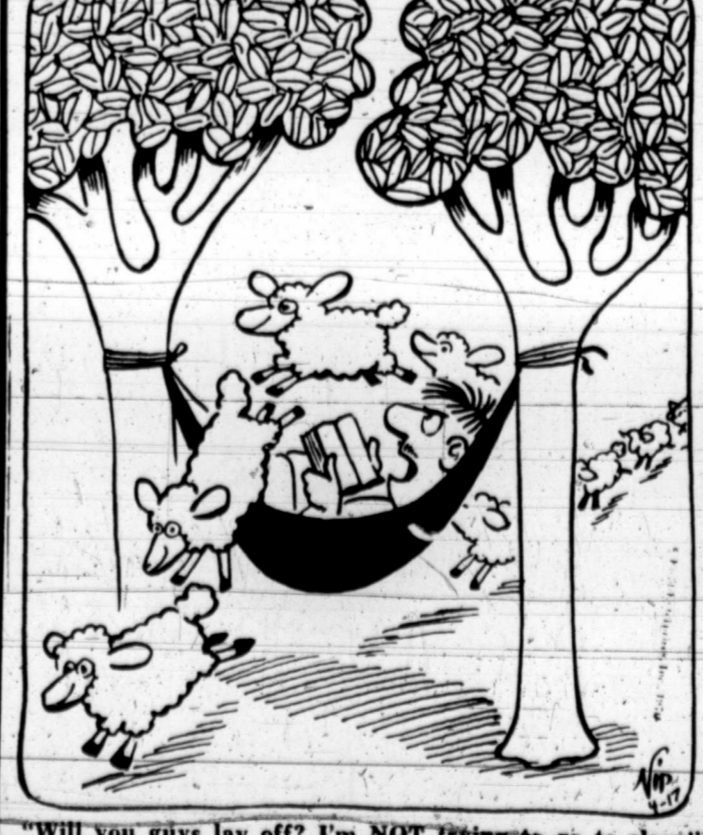

Dear Lonely: This may be a good time for you to begin making friends with some boys closer to your own age. There isn't anything wrong with the age difference between you and the man you like as long as you are mature enough to handle it. There is a hint that perhaps he doesn't feel as strongly about you, as you do about him or you'd be in closer contact. At your age you shouldn't be sitting around waiting for infrequent dates. Give yourself some exposure to others.

Dear Astrid: I've got a real problem. My parents want a divorce but my mother says she can't do it because of the expenses I'm responsible for. My father says if they get divorced he won't do anything for me or my brother and sister. My mother is worried sick and at the same time she makes us feel guilty because she can't do what she wants to do.

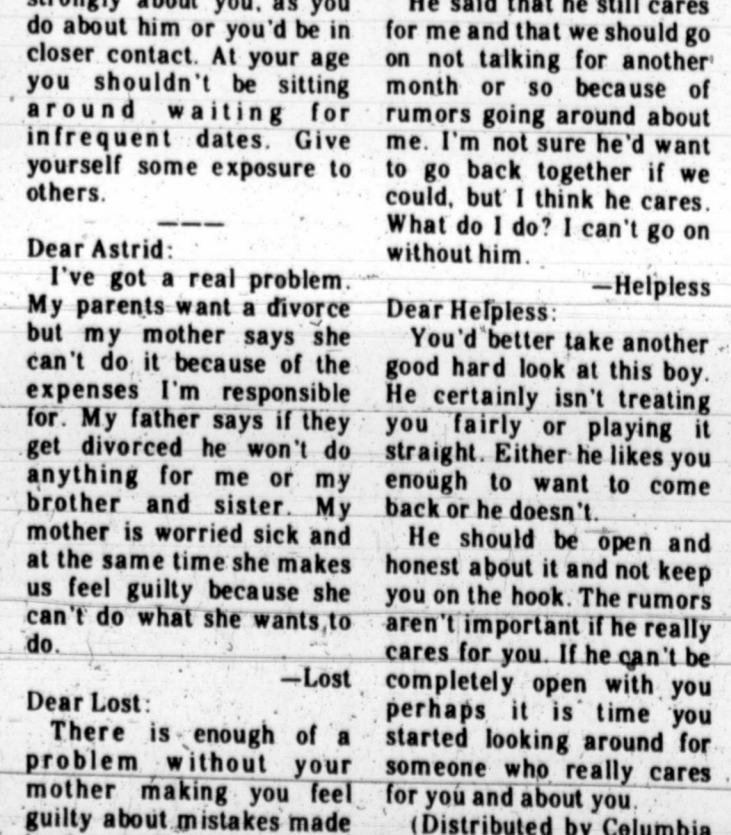

Dear Helpless: You'd better take another good hard look at this boy. He certainly isn't treating you fairly or playing it straight. Either he likes you enough to want to come back or he doesn't. He should be open and honest about it and not keep you on the hook. The rumors aren't important if he really cares for you. If he can't be completely open with you perhaps it is time you started looking around for someone who really cares for you and about you.

Dear Lost: There is enough of a problem without your mother making you feel guilty about mistakes made by her and your father. It

Inflated Dollars Eat Profits

As every farmer knows, if this year's harvest is all consumed, leaving nothing for seed, there will be neither planting nor harvest next year.

As that axiom applies to farming, so does it apply to the rest of the economy as well. Capital, saved from profits, is the "seed corn" of tomorrow's production.

It is necessary to point out this elementary economic fact because, unrealized by most people, the governments of the world (ours included) are in the process of devouring the capital "seed corn" upon which tomorrow's production depends.

But by far the most harmful and destructive of all is inflation. Inflation has been called "the great deceiver" and with good reason. More often than not, by the time it is realized what the damage really is, it is too late. Capital, depended upon to replace worn out or obsolete machinery and raw materials at inflated prices, and to pay rapidly rising wage rates, is found to be insufficient for those purposes.

Under the thrust of inflation, profit margins thought to be adequate for capital accumulation and future production turn out to be "paper profits," figures on paper, little more.

As an indication of how far the destructive process has already gone, economist Peter Drucker, in answer to the question, "Is business making enough profit to meet its capital needs?" warned in a recent issue of Nation's Business:

"No, profits are too low in relation to job needs. I do not know a single business in this country or in any other that has made a profit in the last 10 years. If you adjust accounts for inflation, all of them have paid out capital.

earnings of $574 million, or $5.65 a share."

Quite impressive, without doubt. But read on:

"Of the $275 million worldwide earnings gain, more than three quarters came from operations outside the United States, and over half of worldwide gain resulted from a single factor in the foreign area: the weakness of the U.S. (inflated) dollar relative to various other currencies during most of 1973. Thus, the conversion into U.S. dollars of the profit - and loss statements of Mobil affiliates in strong - currency countries had the effect of increasing our total earnings by about $150 million. Without the currency conversion gains, Mobil's worldwide earnings would have risen by 22 percent, instead of the nearly 49 percent we reported."

That statement means that a $150 million paper "profit" in inflated dollars vanished into thin air when translated into capital purchasing power upon which tomorrow's production depends.

Just as you cannot harvest a crop without seed, you cannot fuel a dynamic economy and provide jobs with paper profits counted in inflated dollars.

ALL THAT GLITTERS

Leon, Washington Social Lion

By VIC GOLD

Rona Barrett, you're wasting your time in Tinseltown. Come East, baby, come East. The instant-celebrity and party honoree of the year - you won't believe this but check the national capital social pages - is none other than that plain old country lawyer from Houston, Leon Jaworski.

You heard me right, Rona. I said Leon Jaworski, the Watergate special prosecutor, Archie Cox (remember him?) was a bow-tied square from Bahston who disappeared into the law stacks when the sun sank behind the Potomac. Caesar's wife being above suspicion, you know. But not his successor. That Leon, he's a social lion.

Assigned to what we've been told is the solemn business of bringing public justice to bear in the Watergate cases, our special prosecutor is finding time to be "honored" at gala parties thrown by the power-climbers and celebrity-hustlers and Georgetown.

The word is out: get Leon to a party and your social credentials are made. In fact, judging from those social page photos of our beaming special prosecutor and his hosts, you'd hardly guess Watergate is a solemn business at all.

Now, of course, Leon doesn't let just anybody throw a party in his honor. The hosts are all old friends from Texas, with nuthin' on their minds, honey, 'cept prairie wide affection for a buddy who's made good. Oh, sure, they might be lawyers with Washington offices or high-ranking government officials, but that doesn't necessarily mean they have special axes to grind.

Why, Rona, what in the world would lead anybody to believe Washington, D.C. is THAT kind of town? What's happening to this country when a Texan can't throw a party costing several thousand dollars in honor of an old friend?

So who said Watergate is a social drag, Rona? Not when you can read this, alongside a photo showing a group of fun-loving party-goers "enjoying a laugh at a party honoring Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski."

Above the din caused by a Dixieland band, "the story continued," and the customary Washington party atmosphere of everyone speaking at once.

But why go on? You get the point. Dump Robert Redford and come East quick, Rona, before the Great Jaworski asks himself some night, between smiles for the cameras: "Leon, just what in hell are these people HONORING you for? Indictments? Convictions? Breaking Archie Cox's record for days on the job?"

Oh, it could happen, all right. They tell me he came to Hollywood East, Leon was a common-sense fellow. But now? Well, let's sum it up this way, baby. Your nation's capital is no town for Caesar's wife. (Copyright 1974).

WATCH ON WASHINGTON

Connally Innocent Participant?

By CLARK MOLLENHOFF

WASHINGTON - Handsome, articulate John B. Connally's reputation as a clever political operator has drawn him into a danger zone surrounding the milk fund scandals.

Some Republican congressional leaders insist privately that Connally's admitted involvement in White House advocacy of the controversial decision to boost dairy price supports in March, 1971, will be enough to stop his presidential bandwagon from ever getting underway.

They note he may never be able to separate his price boost talks with President Nixon from the actual contributions of the Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI) to the Republican and Nixon campaigns during the same period.

The 57-year-old former Texas governor could be an innocent participant in what is now generally regarded as an unsavory political deal. However, this stance doesn't fit well with his political sales pitch of being an effective, know-how leader.

Connally's political experience, easy confidence and charm made him an instant political force with the inexperienced, insecure inner circle in the Nixon White House.

That image of strong leadership and influence also caught the attention of the AMPI leaders, who wanted to overturn an Agriculture Department decision to hold the line on dairy support prices.

The AMPI lobbyist boasted about the ability to put together a $2,000,000 political fund for the re-election of President Nixon at the same time the AMPI was bringing pressure on the White House to overrule Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin.

AMPI lobbying and political contributions took place during the same time as President Nixon's decision to boost dairy price supports. But, both the White House and the AMPI vociferously deny there was any quid pro quo.

Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski's office already has approved a massive investigation of the so-called "dairy deals." Federal grand jury indictments have been returned against two representatives of AMPI, charging perjury in their testimony relative to the handling of political funds.

Although there is no indication that Connally might be charged with crimes, the indictment of any further AMPI or public officials will bring new attention to the subject, with the possibility of Connally appearing as a witness or being mentioned in the testimony.

Such attention or notoriety isn't helpful to a presidential bid.

Watergate Committee was forced to cancel its plans for public hearings on the milk fund scandals. However, Chairman Sam Ervin (D-N.C.) has been pulling together documents and testimony in closed sessions.

The final report on the Senate Watergate Committee is slated for release May 28, and it will include factual recitation of the milk fund scandal and some mention of Connally.

The White House had admitted that Connally recommended dairy price support increases despite a March 12, 1971, decision by then Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin that no increase could be granted.

The White House has acknowledged that Connally made a forceful and persuasive argument for the increases at a March 23, 1971, meeting with Mr. Nixon and other key administration officials.

That was the day Mr. Nixon met with AMPI officials, with their influential political lawyers and later directed Hardin to take steps to boost dairy price supports.

As if Connally's advocacy of the increase in dairy price support was not in itself a sufficient political problem, there also is testimony that AMPI representatives tried to deliver $10,000 in cash to Connally for political use three or four months after his advocacy.

Jacobson, a former White House lawyer in the Johnson Administration and a long-time friend of Connally, was given the $10,000 "for the use of Mr. John B. Connally," at a time when Connally was heading the "Democrats for Nixon."

Jacobson is reported to have said he offered the money to Connally on two occasions, once in 1971, and once in 1972, but that Connally refused to accept it both times. Jacobson said he then kept the $10,000 in cash in a bank safe deposit box and never touched it until the FBI retrieved it in connection with a criminal investigation of AMPI funds in the fall of 1973.

Connally admits being offered the money at least once in June or July of 1971 for use for political candidates he would select, but he says he turned it down.

That seemed to end it until the special prosecutor's office approved a federal grand jury indictment of Jacobson on a charge of lying to the grand jury on his handling of the $10,000 cash fund. Specifically, he is accused of perjury in testifying that he placed the $10,000 in a safe deposit box at the Citizens National Bank of Austin in 1971 and never touched it until the FBI checked the box in late 1973.

Watergate prosecutors have obtained the White House tapes of a telephone call between President Nixon and Connally dealing with the 1971 increase in dairy price supports. The Nixon-Connally tapes will undoubtedly be a focal point of the House Judiciary Committee investigation of whether President Nixon should be impeached.

The facts that emerge may be totally consistent with the explanations that Connally has given. But, it isn't helpful to his political aspirations to be brought back into the spotlight with even a minor role on the fringe of Nixon administration Watergate problems.

THE GOVERNMENT EXPLOSION

It is fashionable to blame today's obvious and widespread public disenchantment with government in the United States on the "Watergate scandal." In fact, the trend toward a sharp decline in public confidence in government began well before "Watergate" and is the result of cumulative experience with ever-growing spending and ever-mounting problems. Our people are learning that government intervention does not solve most problems, but instead compounds them.

The increase in the cost and activity of government in the life and work of our country within recent memory is staggering, even frightening. In 1929, for example, the entire federal budget totalled less than $3 billion. This year's budget is $300 billion, a 10,000 percent increase. From 1929 to 1973, government grew 130 times as fast as population. Even when inflation is fully taken into account, the figures remain appalling. In 1929 the federal government took 2.5 percent of our Gross National Product while state and local government took an additional 7.4 percent, a combined total for all government of about 10 cents on every dollar earned. Now the federal government takes 21 percent of our Gross National Product and, when the cost of state and local government is added, one dollar in every three earned (32.2 percent) goes to government.

What have we gained from all this? A nation confused, unsure of itself, beset by troubles of every kind. The more tax money government spends, the worse conditions seem to become. It's time to start turning money back to the people so that they can solve their own problems.

Democracy is ever eager for rapid progress, and the only progress which can be rapid is progress down hill.

Scoop Would Ban Suez Canal To All Warships

By ROBERTS ALLEN

WASHINGTON - Powerful bipartisan demand is developing in Congress for the demilitarization of the Suez Canal.

Failure to do that will inevitably lead to Russian domination of the Persian Gulf area, flanked by oil-rich Iran, Kuwait, Abu Dhabi and other weak Arab countries, and the Indian Ocean.

With the U.S. preparing to spend an estimated $75 million to clear the crucial waterway closed since the 1967 war, it is being vigorously contended the time is ripe to press for a categorical agreement to ban all warships, including those of the U.S. and the Soviets.

The administration will have to come to Congress for funds to finance the Suez operation, and it is argued this will open the way for Congress to insist on demilitarization.

Two factors are being forcefully stressed: (1) Reopening of the canal is the principal objective of the Kremlin, and the primary reason for supporting the disengagement of Egyptian and Israeli armed forces.

(2) Reopening of the Suez will greatly implement Russian naval strength from the Mediterranean to the Indian Ocean, while adversely affecting the U.S. Menacing Contrast

The latter point particularly is singled out by Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of both the Arms Control Subcommittee and Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations - who is spearheading the bipartisan insistence on demilitarization guarantees.

Reopening of the Suez will substantially reduce the transit time and distance that the Russian Black Sea fleet must cover for deployment in the Persian Gulf - not by a few percentage points and a few miles, but by over 70 percent and from 11,500 down to 3,200 nautical miles. The effect of this reduction in time and distance will enable the Soviet fleet to quickly reach the Persian Gulf where it would outnumber anything we could deploy in that vital region.

Further, with the airbase Russia recently obtained in Somalia, it would be in a position to provide air cover for its naval operations.

In direct contrast, opening of the canal will be of little consequence to the U.S.

"For our part," points out Jackson, "we cannot make comparable use of the canal. The sailing distance from the east coast of the U.S. to the Persian Gulf, in excess of 11,000 nautical miles, would be reduced to 8,000 nautical miles - a doubtful proposition at best."

Further, the carrier task forces on which our naval power largely depends are, for the most part, unable to use the Suez because it is neither deep nor wide enough to accommodate our carriers.

Net effect of these facts is that vital sources of energy at the disposal of weak and potentially unstable governments in this area would come under increasing Soviet influence in the best of times, and in crisis situations only Russia would be in a position to bring substantial military power to bear.

Privately, Pentagon leaders make no secret they strongly support these views.

Whether that will have any effect in inner White House councils is doubtful. Secretary of State Kissinger has given no indication he favors doing anything about demilitarizing the Suez.

As he largely determines foreign policy, that apparently means that so far as he is concerned nothing will be done about this momentous issue. As a consequence, that will leave it up to Congress to get results.

How effective the legislative body can be only time will tell.

Behind the scenes, forceful pressure is being exerted to that end. In this unpublicized effort, led by Sen. Jackson, he is warned that failure to demilitarize the Suez would be "prejudicial to our national security, the stability of the oil-rich Persian Gulf, and be a stimulus to an arms race in that whole pivotal region."

"THE AMERICANS ARE OFFERING TWO PANDAS FOR SOME OF THEIR WHEAT BACK."

It Sims To Me...

By PAUL SIMS
Sports Editor

Thirty-seven Pampa area athletes will have shots at making a trek to Austin the second weekend in May as regional track meets will be held this Friday and Saturday in both Lubbock and Odessa.

The 37 tracksters qualified on track teams from Pampa (five), Lefors (eight), Perryton (four), White Deer (seven), Wheeler (one), McLean (three), Groom (five), Miami (one), and Canadian (three).

AAAA, A and B schools, which will send their regional qualifiers to Lubbock, are Pampa in AAAA, White Deer, Wheeler, McLean and Canadian in A, and Groom, Lefors and Miami in B. Perryton, a District 1-AAA school, will compete in Odessa, which is hosting AAA and AA teams.

Those who place either first or second in the regional meets earn the right for state competition, set for May 10-11 at Austin.

The Pampa area will send athletes to regional in each of the 14 events.

Here are the running event qualifiers:

In the 880-yard run, Noel Hansen of Pampa will be one of the top AAAA contenders at Lubbock. Hansen, who has not lost a race this year, ran a 1:58.3 in the Amarillo Relays for his best time ever and a week later, won first place in the district meet, turning in a 2:00.9.

The Pampa half-miler is noted for running just fast enough to beat his competition. So Coach Scott Dunnham anticipates another career best in Lubbock because of the expected caliber of those entered in the 880.

Perryton will send two — Steve Rima and Randy Davis, who ran 2:04.6 and 2:05.4 respectively in the district meet — to Odessa.

In the 440-yard dash, Pampa's Steve Mathis, who won district in the event with a 52.5 despite a pulled hamstring, is the best in the area in the open quarter. Other quarter-milers in the regional affair will be Groom's Earnest Baggerman, first in the District 2-B meet with 54.1, and Clifton Britten, who trailed his Groom teammate by 1.9 seconds in the district meet.

Two area sprinters will be entered in the 100 — Miami's Ken Jenkins, his team's only qualifier with a 10.4 dash, and Groom's Stan Britten, who qualified by placing second behind Jenkins with 10.6 seconds.

In the 220, only Lefors' Robert Gifford (23.5 in the 2-B meet) will represent the area. He finished ahead of Follett's Dana Ehrlich by six-tenths of a second.

The only milers who will be going to regional are Wheeler's Don Chapman, who won the event in the 2-A meet with a 5:02.0 run, and Perryton's Brady Yeary, who set a school record with a 4:44.4 time. Chapman will be the only Mustang trackster making the Lubbock trip with Coach Billy Wiggins.

Pampa's Howie Lewis heads the list of hurdle qualifiers. The 6-5 Pampa junior nipped Berger's Glenn Gray by .05 seconds in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles at the 3-AAAA meet two weekends ago in Pampa. Lewis turned in a 40.5 in the race.

Other hurdlers from the area going to Lubbock are Dwight Keith of Lefors in both the intermediates and 120-yard highs, McLean's Joe Ray Riley in both hurdles and White Deer's Ricky Wheeler in the highs. Keith captured first-place ribbons in both the hurdles in the 2-B meet with 42.3 in the intermediates and 15.8 in the highs. Riley also captured two firsts (in 2-A) with 42.1 and 15.1. In 1-A, Wheeler qualified with 15.8, good enough for second place and his best time this year.

In 2-B's sprint-relay event, Lefors won with 47 seconds flat while Groom took second, one-tenth of a second slower. Those teams will be the only sprint relay entries in regional competition from the Pampa area.

The Lefors team (in order of running) will probably be Mike Crain, Barney Sawyer, Gifford and Greg Beck. Groom coach Don Sessom is of yet undecided on whom he will enter in the 440 relay. Stan Britten, Chris Britten, Tony Treadwell and Monte Weatherly ran in the district meet, but Sessom says Baggerman might run the second leg instead of Britten at Lubbock.

In the mile-relay, Pampa's team of Hansen, Lewis, Chuck Quarles and Mathis has a good shot at qualifying for state. The quartet, hampered by Mathis' leg injury, still won first place over Amarillo Palo Duro by two-tenths of a second in the district meet as the Harvesters ran their fastest time of the season, a 3:25.8.

Dunnham says the team might run a 3:22 if pressed by stiff competition.

Lefors' mile-relay team of Keith, Barney Sawyer, Crain and Gifford won first place in district competition while White Deer's Danny Joe Stephenson, Dean Wheeler, Paul Garcia and Danny Sandlin finished second behind Sunray in its district meet.

Those are the area's running qualifiers in the running events. Field events will be included in Thursday's It Sims To Me.

UNKIND CUT

PLACENTIA, Calif. (UPI) — It has to be the unkindest cut of all — naming a street for John Wooden in the town where Bob Boyd lives.

Boyd has lived in the shadow of UCLA's basketball wizard since 1966 when he started coaching basketball at the University of Southern California.

Now the city father of this small Orange County community, at the urging of City Administrator Edwin Powell, are talking about naming a street after Wooden.

"They'll probably want me to cut the ribbon," said Boyd, who has lived here since last June.

To compound the whole thing, there is even talk of naming another street after Wooden's wife, Nell. The Woodens live in Santa Monica.

MIX NAMED

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Ron Mix, 35, onetime American Football League standout and more recently legal counsel for the San Diego Chargers, has been named general manager of the Portland Storm of the new World Football League.

"This is a major move in solidifying our club and establishing a base towards getting some established NFL players to jump to our team in the World Football League," said Storm owner Bruce Gelker.

Gelker announced Mix's hiring at a Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday.

GARY TO SPAIN
LA Manga, Spain (UPI) — Newly crowned Masters champion Gary Player arrived at La Manga Tuesday eager to add the Spanish Open to his long list of worldwide championships.

Natally clad in the black for which he is so well known in the world of golf, the muscular little South African, tired but bouncing after only seven hours sleep, changed quickly and went to measure and play La Manga south course where the $65,000 tourney begins Wednesday.

Indy Field At 58 Cars

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Five more entries for the May 26 Indianapolis 500 were received Tuesday afternoon, bringing the field to 58 cars.

Indianapolis Motor Speedway President Tony Hulman said he expected about 65 cars to be entered. The entry deadline was midnight Monday but those postmarked before then will be accepted.

Among those expected in the mail yet were entries from the Vel's-Parnelli Jones team.

Five entries, which arrived Tuesday afternoon included three from the Roger Penske team and two from the Roy Woods racing team.

Penske's entries included Drake-Offy McLarens for Gary Bettenhausen of Monrovia, Ind., and Mike Hiss of Tustin, Calif., plus a Drake-Offy Eagle with no driver assigned.

John Mahler, Newport Beach, Calif., was listed to drive one of the two Drake-Offy cars entered by Woods, of Marina Del Rey, Calif. No driver was named for the second machine.

Sandies Nuff PHS In District Clash

AMARILLO — Joe Watkins singled Mike Adair home in the fourth inning but the Pampa run wasn't enough as it came with the Sandies in front, 2-0, and Amarillo High went on to down the Harvesters, 4-1, Tuesday afternoon at the Sandiefield.

The loss drops Pampa, 3-2, a game back of Amarillo

High, 4-1, and Caprock, 4-1, which beat Palo Duro, 3-1, Tuesday. The Harvesters are now 12-7 overall and had won three straight district games before the loss to Amarillo.

"It didn't hurt us real bad," said Pampa coach Ronnie White. "If we can win our next two (against Caprock and Tascosa), we'll be in pretty good shape."

The Sandies scored in the first inning after Marty Hamrick reached on an error by third baseman Mike Adair. Pampa pitcher Dennis Edmondson, who threw well in defeat, balked Hamrick to second and then wild pitched him to third.

Scott Woolrey hit a sacrifice fly to rightfield to score the running.

Amarillo added a run in the third when Rick Nelson, who had reached base when hit by a pitch, advanced to second on a sacrifice bunt by Hamrick. Chip Biggers singled to leftfielder Tyler Drinnon, who couldn't handle the ball as the run scored.

Pampa's run in the fourth came as a result of Adair striking out and making it to first as catcher Rick Nelson dropped the ball. Mark Parsons, who pitched the entire game for the Sandies and got the win, tried to pick Adair off first but a bad throw put the Pampa third baseman on second.

Hamrick scored on Biggers' double down the leftfield line.

Edmondson, who is now 3-2 for the season, went the distance for Pampa and yielded only two earned runs and three hits. He retired the last five Sandie batters. Edmondson walked only one and struck out four.

Parsons, who is 6-3 for the season, gave up five hits and three walks while whiffing 11 Harvesters.

David Edwards, 4-0 on the year, will start Pampa's next game (Friday at home against Caprock).

Cage War Raging As ABA Files Suit

NEW YORK (UPI) — "We are at war," American Basketball Association Commissioner Mike Storen declared three months ago at the All-Star game when it had become obvious that the hoped-for merger with the National Basketball Association was going nowhere.

The ABA loaded its cannon with some heavy ammunition—a $300-million antitrust suit that's still a long way from being resolved—and now the seven-year-old league, borrowing a little strategy from the fledgling World Football League, is hitting the NBA with an open raid on their talent.

Golden State's Cazzie Russell will be among the first players chosen today and Atlanta's Pete Maravich will be another. So will Portland's Geoff Petrie, Chicago's Cliff Ray, Buffalo's Bob Kaufman and New York's Henry Bibby. Fifty NBA players in all will be selected by the 10 ABA teams, who hope that at least a few of them will eventually sign. The targets of the ABA will be NBA players who have played out their option, have three years or less remaining on their present contracts or who are dissatisfied with their current terms.

Memphis, owned by Charlie Finley, and Virginia, owned by Earl Foreman, will flip a coin to determine which gets first choice. Denver picks third, followed by San Antonio, Indiana, Carolina, Utah, Kentucky and New York.

"I'm hoping that the clubs won't choose NBA players just because of their names," Storen said.

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Jackson Bangs Oakland Past Chicago As Wood Loses 3rd

United Press International
Reggie Jackson has a way of making Wilbur Wood knuckle under. Jackson, one of baseball's premier power hitters, probably hits the left-handed knuckleballing ace of the Chicago White Sox better than any other American League batter and he does it with gusto.

Jackson tagged his ninth career homer off Wood Tuesday night, lifting the Oakland A's to a 4-3 victory and handing the Chicago ace his third loss in four decisions. It also marked the seventh consecutive time the A's have beaten Wood. "Either he makes me look bad or I hit him good," says Jackson about his personal duels with Wood. "Hitting against him is a matter of timing but that's easier said than done because we all know what a fine knuckleball he throws. Sure, I've hit some homers off him but he has struck me out a few times, too."

Others Like It Too
Jackson wasn't the only member of the A's to find Wood's soft stuff to their liking Tuesday night. Sal Bando also got to the paunchy southpaw for a two-run homer and Angel Mangual connected for a triple as the A's handed the White Sox their eighth loss in nine games.

The A's, meanwhile, got away with using reliever Paul Lindblad as a starter. Lindblad went the first 6-1-3 innings to gain the victory while Rollie Fingers pitched out of an eighth inning jam to record a save.

In the only other AL games, Minnesota blanked California, 6-0. Cleveland edged Milwaukee, 3-2. New York topped Boston, 2-1, and Texas nipped Kansas City, 3-2.

Los Angeles defeated Cincinnati, 5-3, in 11 innings. Houston blanked San Francisco, 4-0. Atlanta topped San Diego, 4-2. Montreal downed New York, 4-1. Philadelphia

Indians 3, Brewers 2:
John Lowenstein scored from third base in the eighth inning on Jim Colborn's third wild pitch of the game, enabling the Indians to defeat the Brewers. Lowenstein doubled to open the eighth, was sacrificed to third and scored when Colborn uncorked a wild pitch.

Phillies Are 'For Real', Beat SL For 5th Straight

United Press International
Dave Cash thinks the Philadelphia Phillies are "for real." Also that it won't be long before Philadelphia fans think the same of him.

"It's coming... we're really close," chortled the 25-year-old second baseman after the Phillies beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 10-3, Tuesday night for their fifth straight victory. "As soon as these guys learn how good we are, there is no telling what we can do. Right now we can play defense with anybody."

Philadelphia fans were less than enthusiastic when the Phillies acquired Cash from Pittsburgh in a winter trade because they doubted his defensive ability. They started to warm up to him Tuesday night, however, when he had three hits and drove in three runs in addition to robbing Ken Reitz with a fine defensive play in the ninth inning.

The Big Thrill
"Taking that hit away from Reitz was the big thrill," Cash added. "I take pride in my defense. I know I have to prove to the people in Philly I can play both sides of this game. Some people say I can't play defense but I have the statistics to prove I can."

Cash, who raised his batting average to .289.

Oilers To Have Tough Schedule Including Dallas, 2 With 'Skins

United Press International
Here's a recipe for a Houston Oilers sandwich. Take two games with the Washington Redskins 11 days apart, stick a game with the Oilers in the middle of it and serve it to the Dallas Cowboys.

That's what the NFL did when it came up with the 1974 schedule.

According to the schedule released Tuesday, the Cowboys and the Redskins will not meet until the second half of the season. The first game between the two powers of the NFC East will come Nov. 17 at Washington and will be the 10th game of the season for both teams.

They play again 11 days later in a nationally televised Thanksgiving Day affair in Texas Stadium.

Between those two contests, the Cowboys play at Houston.

For the first time since the NFL began scheduling Monday night games for the benefit of television, such a game will not be played in Dallas. And the Houston Oilers, for the second straight year, will not appear in a Monday night game.

The Nov. 24 meeting between Dallas and Houston in the Astrodome will be the first regular season confrontation between the clubs since the 1970 season, and only their second game since the merger of the NFL and AFL.

Dallas won that 1970 game, the last game of the regular season, by a 52-10 count. The victory clinched a playoff spot for the Cowboys, who later advanced to the Super Bowl before losing to Baltimore.

All 14 of Houston's regular season games this season will be played on Sunday, but Dallas will have four non-Sunday games.

The Cowboys will play in a Monday night contest at Philadelphia Sept. 22 and will conclude the season with two Saturday contests against Cleveland (Dec. 7) and Oakland (Dec. 14) in addition to the Thanksgiving day game.

The Dec. 14 game at Oakland will be a nationally televised evening contest.

Milwaukee Takes Playoff Advantage By Romping Past Chicago Bulls, 101-85

International
The Milwaukee Express looks like it'll make a quick stop in Chicago before proceeding to Boston for the National Basketball Association championship playoff series.

Milwaukee romped past Chicago, 101-85, while Boston flattened New York, 111-99, Tuesday night to lead their respective series. The Bucks are 1-0 and the Celtics 2-0.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Bob Dandridge each scored 25 points for Milwaukee as Chicago appeared to be suffering an emotional letdown after the trying seven-game quarter-final series with Detroit.

"This is a thinking man's series but tonight we didn't think at all," complained Chicago Coach Dick Motta.

"We were mentally and physically flat. If we don't get more intensity into our game, it's going to be a very short series."

Milwaukee's defense handcuffed high scoring forwards Chet Walker and Bob Love, holding them to a total of 30 points.

Boston, revving up for its first title series in five years, also used tough defense to shackle New York. The Knicks were held to 14 points in the third quarter while the Celtics dominated the boards and scored 35 points in the session.

John Havlicek was high for the game with 27 points, including a sensational 19 in the first quarter that fell just three short of Elgin Baylor's record for one period in a non-final playoff game.

"I had the hot hand. I was the trailer on a few fast breaks and got lucky," Havlicek says. His "luck" consisted of seven straight baskets late in the opening quarter.

Walt Frazier, New York's leader with 21 points, claims "we just haven't played our game yet. They were gambling a lot, leaving guys open, while burning us on the break. We had to struggle for our points while it came easy for them."

Earl Monroe, faced with the prospect of four straight defeats, shrugged and said that "if you got to lose, you might as well lose quickly."

Coming back from a 2-0 deficit has been accomplished previously. The Knicks know that nobody has ever won an NBA title after trailing 3-0.

Boxer Trial Set For June 4

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UPI) — Featherweight boxer "Irish" Frankie Crawford, a one-time contender for the world title, is scheduled for trial June 4 on charges he used threats to attempt to collect an alleged debt from actor Robert Conrad.

Crawford pleaded innocent Monday in Superior Court.

He is accused of using the telephone to threaten Conrad with "underworld characters" to collect $7,000. Conrad, the star of the television series "The D.A." and "Wild, Wild West," has denied owing the money.

Crawford, who is free on $1,500 bond, was arrested at his Burbank home Jan. 22. The actor reportedly told police Crawford called his home in mid-January and demanded payment of the alleged debt.

Crawford had a professional record of 39 wins including 18 knockouts, 15 losses and five draws. He fought for the world featherweight title in 1970 and 1971 and lost both matches.

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Red Auerbach, with 30 years in the business, grants you he has not only had some good ones, he has had some great ones.

A long string of names rush to mind like Bob Cousy, Frank Ramsey, Bill Sharman, K. C. Jones, Sam Jones and more recent ones like Tom Heinsohn, trying to guide the Boston Celtics to their 12th NBA championship. John Havlicek and Dave Cowens.

Red Auerbach can tell you some wonderful stories about all of them, but when you ask him who was the best of the whole lot, which one was the greatest all-around performer he ever had or ever saw, he laughs because the answer is so obvious, to him, anyway.

"Bill Russell," says Red Auerbach when he stops laughing. "He was the most devastating force in the history of the game. He also had the most significant impact on any team."

More than Wilt Chamberlain?

"More than anyone," emphasizes the Celtics' president and general manager, "removing the cigar from his mouth to make sure you get it right."

"You wanna know what a Russell can do for you? I'll give you an example. One year I took an All-Star team to Yugoslavia and they had this one big guy who was their best player. Before the game, I go over to Russell and say to him 'this guy is your responsibility and if he scores so much as a single point, I'm gonna break your neck!'"

"Six times the big Yugoslav goes to make a shot and each time Russell brings his arm up like this," Auerbach demonstrates, "and blocks the shot."

"When he does it the seventh time, this guy gets so mad, he grabs the ball after the whistle and throws it against the backboard as if it was a baseball."

"The eighth time the Yugoslav tries, Russell blocks the shot again, and the guy curses. Not only that, he kicks the ball, draws a technical foul and carries on so much, he's outta the game. That's what a Russell can do for you."

Auerbach coached 20 years. When he quit as coach of the Celtics after the 1966-67 season, he named Russell as his successor, the first black coach in the NBA.

"He's Truly Color Blind."

"I don't even wanna talk about it because it isn't even worth discussing," says Auerbach, who is truly color blind. "I guarantee you Bill Russell's color had absolutely nothing to do with his getting the coaching job. I just felt he could handle it, that's all."

Oddly, while most people are aware Auerbach signed the NBA's first black coach, they are not so familiar with the fact he also signed the league's first black player, Chuck Cooper of Duquesne, in 1950. Nobody talks about Chuck Cooper; all they talk about is Bill Russell.

Russell now is general manager-head coach of the Seattle SuperSonics.

Top O' Texas Bassmasters Garner 3rd At Toledo Bend

TOLEDO BEND — A six-man Panhandle team, including three Pampans and a Lefors man, placed third overall in the 15-team Top Six Bass Tournament March 30-31 at Toledo Bend Reservoir on the Texas-Arkansas line.

The team, Roy Alderson of Lefors, Ralph Busse, Clarence Horton and Lee Fraser, all of Pampa; Richard Bieleu of Borger and Mike Hardin of Stinnett caught approximately 57 pounds of bass and were only 10 pounds out of first place in the team competition.

Every bass club in the state competed in the tournament. Thirty places were played.

Bieleu placed fifth in the individual competition with a catch of 21 pounds, six ounces. Alderson was 17th and had a six-pound, three-ounce bass, which was only three ounces off the tourney's largest fish. Hardin was 27th in the 88-man field.

The Top O' Texas Bassmasters (name of the Pampa-area team) will next compete Sunday at Foss Lake in western Oklahoma.

Social Security Q And A

(Have you a question about social security? Address it to Howard L. Weatherly, Branch Manager, Social Security Administration, 1541 N. Hobart, Pampa, Texas 79065. You will receive an answer in this column or by mail.)

By H.L. WEATHERLY WEATHERLY Q. I received social security retirement benefits and have a son who was in an auto accident when he was 19. As a result he is totally disabled. I was told he wasn't entitled to social security benefits because he did not become disabled before he reached 18. Is this correct?

A. Not any more because the law has been changed. Your son may now be entitled because he was under age 22 when he became disabled. You should contact the social security office at once and file a new application.

Q. My husband and I recently divorced. Will I be entitled to social security on his record when I'm 62?

A. You may be if you were married for 20 years. There is no longer a support requirement for divorced wives or widows to qualify for benefits.

Q. I am 43 and disabled. My husband can only work part time. Am I eligible to apply for social security?

A. You should contact your social security office right away. To qualify for social security disability payments, you must have a certain amount of work that is covered by social security.

However, even if you have never worked in covered employment, you may be eligible for Supplemental Security Income payments. If your husband works only part time because of a disabling condition, he should also talk with the social security people about filing for benefits.

Graffiti, Western Look Mark New Fashions

By WALTER LOGAN NEW YORK (UPI) — The hideous graffiti that defaces the New York subway system has now become an art form that appears as decorations on men's sports shirts for fall. And a lot of manufacturers have decided to sell fully constructed suits for less than $100.

The older man is going in for the western look so popular with the younger generation — but his are looser fitting, a bit boxier to cope with the inches added to the waistline since he left college. It adds up to an older generation Marlboro man.

Those were some of the highlights of the semi-annual musical fashion show produced by the National Association of Men's Sportswear Buyers (NAMS) to guide the hundreds of buyers gathered in New York to try to figure out what kind of men's wear will sell in their stores this fall.

The most spectacular things shown were sports shirts, starting with the graffiti look that translates as art deco. The western look with yoked shoulders and snap fasteners dominated the scene but forward fashion houses decorated their shirts with Art Moderne, futurism, bright florals on dark grounds and Op art. Printed knits for mature men tended more toward conventional bird and floral designs.

In addition to the printed shirts there were a lot of printed knit T-shirts—and with messages. However, the newest rage was the female form divine—in period costume, in chorus lines and a bit of mild nakedness here and there.

With prices soaring out of hand the most welcome news is the under $100 suit. Most of these are machine-made in America by sportswear houses that have gone up through the unconstructed and semi-constructed suit into lined and detailed clothing.

Old line clothing houses meanwhile are going after the growing trend toward sports wear and are showing more blazer suits and suits with matching and contrasting trousers. And almost everybody is showing vests for fall, many of them reversible.

Natural fibers such as cotton and wool have become extremely expensive and the trend for fall is toward polyesters and combinations of natural fibers and polys. Woven fabrics have largely taken over from double knits in suits but most of the slacks shown were double knit.

Some of the other fall fashions as shown at the NAMS show:

Dress shirts—Most lines have added a tapered look, slim and European. The shirt people have rediscovered pastels and there were soft blues and tans and greens popular a decade ago. There also are a lot of new stripes, regimentals, wide tracks stripes, tone-on-tone etc. The four-inch collar was still tops but there was a trend to shorter collars with a wider spread.

Neckwear—Since suits and shirts are adopting a more placid approach to life styles are getting a bit wilder. There were regimentals for traditional clothes, sporty beefy looking ties for the sports combinations. Art Deco and other sophisticated prints for the slim European look clothing. The knot area of ties were a bit slimmer.

Sweaters—The big new look is the cardigan with a shawl collar and the best combination was with a turtle neck underneath.

Outerwear—This is where the Marlboro look came into its own. For more mature men the trend was toward slightly longer jackets.

Business Today

By LEROY POPE UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — A man in Florida was painting his house during his vacation when he was injured by an auto accident.

His vacation ran out while he was laid up but, under Florida's no-fault insurance law, State Farm Mutual Insurance Co. paid for a professional painter to finish painting the house in addition to his other losses from the accident.

Under Massachusetts' no-fault law, a 38-year old Dorchester man collected $2,000 of a $2,301 medical and hospital bill when he was injured by a hit-run driver even though neither he nor any member of his family had auto insurance.

The payment came from the assigned claims fund set up by the law. This case was reported by the Travelers Co.

Under the older insurance system, neither of these persons would have been able to collect significant sums.

Some Opposition Opposition to no-fault both by lawyers and some insurance companies has diminished greatly because, as actually passed, the restrictions on the right of accident victims to sue for injuries and damages are less severe than originally proposed. However, it is still contended by some that these restrictions are too strong. And some critics say no-fault laws let drunken and careless drivers off too easily.

Aetna of Hartford and Liberty Mutual of Boston report a number of other claims paid off swiftly under no-fault in which payment would have been improbable or long delayed under the old system. These cases are from Massachusetts and Florida.

the states with the longest no fault experience. Aetna said the biggest no-fault advantage is the wage replacement benefit.

One Aetna policyholder who was laid up six months by an accident would have lost her home except for this. Her employer did not continue her wages and she had no disability income insurance—but she collected under the no-fault law. Aetna also recounted how a Boston fireman who had used up his year's sick leave then was hurt in an auto accident. No-fault payments became the sole support for his wife and eight children.

Cover Household Help A Boston lady collected $2,000 for lost income when she broke her ankle stepping out of her car. Aetna paid a Florida housewife $1,004.90 to cover a little over two months of household help while she recovered from accident injuries.

In a case like that of the Massachusetts hit-run victim, the no-fault assigned claims fund in Florida paid a migrant farm worker with eight children $5,000 when he was injured in a highway accident. Aetna said he couldn't have collected a penny for loss of income under the old system.

Aetna said that just as important is the fact that no-fault payments are swift. In the old tort system for collecting major insurance claims, payment sometimes came too late — or never. Backlogs of court claims delayed trial for a minimum of two years in the big cities. "Such delays forced many claimants into debt and others tragically had to postpone rehabilitation treatments that should have started at once to be successful," an Aetna spokesman said.

Parker Opposes Limiting House Speaker Terms

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Rep. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, said Tuesday he does not go along with the idea of limiting Texas House speakers to one term in office.

Parker, who called a Capitol news conference to discuss the speaker's race and claim the lead in the number of firm commitments of support, said speakers should not be limited by law.

Asked if he would vow not to seek a second term if he is elected speaker in 1975, Parker replied "no, that was the only so-called reform bill that I voted against, and it was declared unconstitutional."

"The evil is not inherent in a speaker serving two terms. The evil is in using the power of that office to get a second term," Parker said.

He claimed 39 firm commitments from present House members, and said he has 55 pledges of support if candidates and "second pledges" are counted.

Parker also claimed he has taken the lead among the speaker candidates in financial disclosure, and called on other speaker hopefuls to file detailed personal financial statements and open their House telephone expense records to the news media.

The Woman's View

By GAY PAULEY UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — As revealed in a Girl Scout contest, the concerns of a group of 7 to 17-year-old girls come over loud and clear. They're concerned about peace in the world, about ecology, about racial discrimination.

"Let's Spread Peace" was the slogan of Lillian Ann Mozer, 10, of Morton Grove, Ill. Her message was on a wall hanging of terry cloth base which included not only the letters in-yarn, but an illustration of a slice of bread, made of styrofoam, being spread with the word "peace."

Lillian's other materials included aluminum, for the knife, and fringe, for trim. Lillian was one of two first award winners in a "Letters to the World" contest sponsored by the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

The other first went to Debbie Blanchard, 14, of Cohoes, N.Y. Her entry was a popoese-like figure, three-dimensional, done in cloth, yard and lace. Its message: "Humanity Yearns for Harmony."

The national wall hangings contest was sponsored jointly by the American Crafts Council and American Girl magazine, the Girl Scout publication. The Metropolitan Museum of Art's Junior Museum Studio has the results on exhibit, the first such of its kind in Met history.

Peace was the motif of several other hangings, including one done by Bernetta J. Abramson, 17, of New York, who spelled out "Peace. Let It Be" in red felt, cut in the shape of a guitar, with a dove cutout to accent the message.

One of the most imaginative entries belonged to Sue Schreiber, of Mt. Vernon, N.Y., who won honorable mention with her "Love Comforteth Like Sunshine after Rain," complete with a white felt cloud and the sun pecking over it.

Other honorable mentions went to: Debra Jager, 9, of Huntsville, Ala., who used a burlap base with yarn forming the silhouette of a bird and carrying the message: "Help Protect Wildlife."

Patricia Gray, 13, of Fort Thomas, Ky., used cloth, tie dyed, to depict a silhouette of a burned-out forest and the message: "Is Anybody There, Does Anybody Care, Does Anybody See What I See?"

Barbara Pontius, 13, of North Canton, Ohio, used felt, yarn, foil, and stuffed cloth to spell out an anti-discrimination message: "Day and Night Aren't as Different as They Seem."

Classical records

By WILBUR G. LANDREY NEW YORK (UPI) — Aaron Copland's music needs no introduction. With justification there has been plenty of it both in the concert hall and on records for some time. But two new records merit mention.

Both are in the Columbia Modern Music Series and are of Copland directing and performing Copland.

On one he conducts the music for the complete ballet of Appalachian Spring (M 32736). It is the first recording of his original version scored for 13 instruments rather than the version usually recorded with a larger orchestra.

Copland says on the jacket that he scored the work for 13 instruments because of the limited size of the hall in the Library of Congress. It was commissioned for Martha Graham and her company to be performed there.

Fascinating Bonus Only later did he make it into a suite and rescore it for full orchestra.

He says that he had some hesitation in reviving the 13-instrument version because he thought it might sound too thin. But he was persuaded and came to the conclusion that he was right to do so.

I can only agree. It has a quality and a sound of its own that is personal and moving.

A fascinating bonus with the record is a smaller 8-inch disc of Copland rehearsing the players for the recording along with his comments and instructions.

Dvorak's Enduring Work The second Copland record (M32737) has him at the piano playing his sonatas for violin and piano with Isaac Stern on one side and playing the duo for flute and piano with flutist Elaine Shaffer on the other. Side two also has the short Nonet for Strings.

They come for widely separated periods—the sonata for violin and piano composed in 1942-43—in what Copland calls his "plain" period of the early 40's, the little performed nonet composed in 1960 and the duo composed in 1970-71.

Anton Dvorak (1841-1904) was persuaded by the wife of a grocery tycoon to come to the United States in 1891 as director of the National Conservatory of Music in New York.

Perhaps the most enduring result of his three years in America is his "New World" Symphony—his last and most famous—using materials from both Indian and Negro music.

Stokowski Explains Through the war dances and the spirituals, however, is heard Dvorak's tremendous longing, in a far away land, for his native Bohemia, and that is how the music has always sounded to me.

Leopold Stokowski first recorded the New World with the Philadelphia Orchestra grouped around an acoustical recording horn in 1917. RCA has not gone that far back but it has taken his first electrical recording of the work 10 years later in the first Musical Masterwork Series (M-1) and re-issued it in an excellent tandem with Stokowski conducting the same work in 1973 with the New Philharmonia Orchestra (CRL2-0334).

A fascinating footnote on the earlier record is Stokowski at the piano explaining the themes of the symphony. The sound on the earlier record is not all that bad.

A contrast is Rafael Kubelik directing the Berlin Philharmonic in the same work (Deutsche Grammophon 2530 415), a slower, more sumptuous version of "Aus der Neuen Welt" with less artistic tension and perhaps excitement.

Santiago, Chile's capital, has 2,586,212 inhabitants.

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

WORRY CLINIC

Wives don't realize the homosexual secret that I have exposed today. For their normal passive erotic role scares a husband by the age of 40. Note the 4 alternatives that then threaten their marriage. It takes boudoir cheesecake and more active female seduction to beat homosexuals!

CASE A-609: Rev. Roland asked me to address a clergymen's seminar on "Marriage Counseling." "Dr. Crane," he telephoned, "we'd also like to learn why homosexuality is so prevalent."

"And why do some married men later turn to homosexuality?"

HOSEXUAL SECRETS

One basic homosexual secret needs wider exposure. It deals with the lower erotic verve of many men, due either to the effects of cigarettes or possibly the ingested female sex hormones fed to cattle and poultry to tenderize such meat.

Even the usual virile husband gets very little active cooperation from his wife in the boudoir; for wives are normally modest and passive.

The vigorous husband's 100% aggressiveness, when added to his wife's zero, makes a total of 100%, which is vital for successful union.

But when a less virile male (maybe but 75% or even 50% aggressiveness) tries to mate with an uncooperative female, there isn't that 100% verve required for success. If, however, this 75% erotic male enters into a homosexual relationship with even a 25% active male, the total of 100% is obtained, and he can function.

Remember, even the more feminine type of homosexual male is far more aggressive than the usual diffident, stodgy wife!

So males of weak libido gain more satisfaction out of homosexual unions!

But enticing feminine boudoir "cheesecake" and more active wifely cooperation would prevent such homosexuality!

Alas, many husbands as they approach the age of 40 find that their own 100% erotic ardor has waned maybe to but 75%, which is not enough to maintain happy marriage unless the wife then adds at least 25% extra seduction to their union.

Often such married men then turn to either a "Call" girl or some outside paramour who at least affects that extra 25% ardor in the boudoir.

But many such husbands ultimately seek an affair with another male and enter upon a homosexual relationship.

For even that "feminized" male member of their homosexual union will show 25% to 50% more erotic aggressiveness than does the usual diffident wife.

Remember, whoever can make a man function erotically, is likely to win his future favors in the bedroom!

If a stodgy wife fails to serve enticing boudoir cheesecake and thus permits their combined erotic total to slip below that 100% figure, she is likely to face one of these possibilities:

- (1) Her husband seeks an affair with a paramour.
 - (2) He is driven into pornography or stag movies to boost his waning erotic verve back to that 100% figure.
 - (3) He enters into a homosexual relationship.
 - (4) He seeks a divorce.
- Even an idealistic, "poetical" type of wife must face reality and recognize that a husband with a deflated erotic ego is a threat to the continuation of their happy home!

"God helps those who help themselves," runs a pioneer maxim.

So I release this type of expose to help alert you smart wives so you can avoid divorce and continue happy through your Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Don't blame me, therefore, if your stodgy boudoir indolence leads to a divorce!

Wake up, and send for my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Sex Club, 806 N. 10th St., Indianola, Iowa 52601. Enclose a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill Attorney General

AUSTIN — Consumers shopping for furniture may have encountered some confusion in the past few years, what with plastics that seem to be wood, vinyl that appears to be leather, and marble dust that looks like slate.

In addition, there's pressure-sensitive paper that simulates just about anything. All of these have given consumers a wide range of choices between natural and synthetic furniture materials, but sometimes it has been difficult to tell at a glance exactly what you're getting for your money.

Some unscrupulous dealers have taken advantage of the proliferation of terms for furniture materials to deliberately mislead the public.

For example, attorneys in our Consumer Protection Division recently settled a complaint from a woman who purchased a bedroom suite advertised as "all wood" only to find out when it was delivered that just the visible parts were constructed of wood. The rest were of glazed fiberboard.

But furniture-buying consumers should find it less confusing to shop for what they want since new Federal Trade Commission guidelines for the furniture industry went into effect in March.

Advances in technology have greatly changed the types of materials used by furniture manufacturers since the previous FTC guidelines were set out in 1963. This, plus what the FTC terms "misleading advertising and other deceptive practices" among a few members of the furniture industry were the reasons for the revision of the guidelines.

One major change is that "affirmative disclosure" is required. My assistants say this means when any material is used to simulate a more expensive one it now must be identified on furniture tags and in catalogs, brochures, and advertising.

And if furniture has a "veneer," the term used when a more expensive wood is glued to another type of wood, this fact must also be disclosed. So now if you buy a "maple captain's chair" you can be sure it's maple through and through, not maple veneer or oak or some other wood.

Terms such as "French (or Italian) Provincial" or "Mediterranean" can still be used, since most people realize such phrases describe the style of the furniture rather than its origin.

But terms such as "Danish" or "Spanish" cannot be used to indicate style. Instead, "Spanish style" or "Danish design" or some other phrase must be used if the item doesn't actually come from that particular country.

The new guidelines tend to discourage the widespread practice many retail furniture stores followed of removing the manufacturer's tags and substituting their own. Now, if the manufacturer's tag is removed, it must be replaced with one that provides the same information about materials and construction.

FTC guidelines also state that results of tests made on upholstery fabrics must be clearly disclosed in language the lay person can understand.

Our Consumer Protection attorneys say that while these guidelines will not prevent every misleading or deceptive trade practice encountered in shopping for furniture, they will be of great assistance not only to consumers but to the large majority of reputable furniture manufacturers and retailers.

They remind mobile home purchasers that furniture sold with mobile homes should also carry labels that give information about its construction and composition.

And they suggest that consumers always ask to see product labels, that they check carefully on warranties, and that they inquire about how to care for the fabric on any upholstered furniture they purchase. In this way, they may avoid consumer problems later.

American Bike Month Planned

Never before has American Bike Month, celebrated this May for the 18th consecutive year, meant more to Americans of all ages. It is more than just a month to rejoice in the pleasure of driving a bicycle in the great outdoors.

America is at the threshold of a new age for the two-wheeler. Federal legislation, state legislation, problems with energy, gasoline prices, et al points to the increased need for the bicycle as a legitimate means of transportation.

There is little doubt as sales have zoomed to 13.9 million in 1972 and an astounding 15.3 million in 1973 that Americans are adopting the bicycle. There is every indication that the trend is continuing and sales of 16 million in 1974 are quite possible, according to the Bicycle Institute of America.

The American bicycle industry, more than ever before, is serving the consumer during American Bike Month this May. With more bikes, perhaps 70 million in America, and more cyclists, certainly more than 100 million, there is urgency for calling attention to more bikeways and more bicycle safety education.

The passage of the Federal Aid Highway Act of 1973 opened the highway trust fund to $120 million over the next three years for bikeway construction. State after state is leaping on the "bikeway" introducing new bikeway legislation, much of it calling for funding.

Some states are also seeing the light as regards an equally important area — bicycle safety legislation. Illinois, Maryland and New York got the jump on safety education but many others are following suit and the American bicycle industry is jumping into this educational void with both feet.

Virtually every accident statistical survey points to the bicycle driver or the motorist as the culprit. Either they both violated the rules of the road or they were guilty of another unpardonable error, failure to make sure their respective transportation vehicles were properly maintained.

Cyclists of all ages have to be made aware of the bicycle rules of the road. With bikeways cropping up in every state in the union, it is mandatory that adults and children alike understand safe driving rules and observe local traffic ordinances.

American Bike Month in May may also experience another historic event. Since 1971, products of the Bicycle Manufacturers Association of America have been made under a voluntary safety standard, BMA-6, considered by some experts as the finest standard of its kind in the world.

Well, there is a chance in May that the long-awaited federal specification for bicycles from the Consumer Product Safety Commission will be published. There is no doubt that BMA-6 bikes will easily comply with the federal regulations, but all bicycle dealers and consumers will have to be aware of the wide implications of a federal standard for bicycles.

American Bike Month in May is indeed an exciting time.
