Optimists Plan Respect For Law Activities

"Respect for Law Week," an annual observance sponsored by the Optimist Club of Pampa, has been proclaimed by Mayor R.D. Wilkerson, for May 1-7 to focus upon the related year-round activities of the 112,000 member voluntary service organization.

Through the Respect for Law program, Optimist clubs in the United States and Canada have been exerting positive leadership by encouraging citizens to become actively involved in combatting crime.

According to the Optimists, the first step in creating a climate in which respect for law can exist is through establishing full cooperation between citizens and their local law enforcement officers. In areas where this cooperation has been accomplished, a measurable decrease in the rate of crime has been noted.

Optimist International's Respect for Law program was initiated nine years ago in reaction to public apathy towards the increasing problems of crime. Since that time, Optimist clubs and other civic groups throughout the United States and Canada have become actively involved in programs and projects to combat disrespect for law and public apathy towards crime.

The Optimists are quick to point out that their program does not reflect a blanket endorsement of the practices and personnel of all law enforcement agencies — but does emphasize the need for citizens to demand good law enforcement and to offer cooperation in every possible way.

President Truman Lowrance asks all citizens to join with the Optimist Club in this observance. "Good law enforcement cannot be the responsibility of police officers alone. Your help is needed."

In his proclamation, Mayor Wilkerson noted that "crime and its effect upon the lives and property of our citizens continues undiminished, despite efforts by government, citizens' organizations and many individuals."

He also said "the problems of crime touch and affect all segments of our society undermining and eroding the moral and economic strengths of our communities and their citizens."

There is still a reluctance on the part of many citizens to involve themselves in actions to insure the protection, rights and wellbeing of their fellow citizens," he continued.

The mayor in the proclamation asked "all citizens of Pampa to join with the Optimists in carrying the message of respect for law to other citizens, and by example, exercise responsible citizenship."

The Optimists will hold a banquet in honor of the law enforcement officers at 6:30 p.m. Monday, May 6, at the Optimist Bldg.

Jury In Conspiracy Trial Still Reviewing Evidence

NEW YORK (UPI)—The jury in the criminal conspiracy trial of two former Nixon cabinet officers carefully reviewed conflicting testimony Saturday, then concluded a total of 23 hours of deliberations without reaching a verdict.

The jury of nine men and three women completed their second full day of deliberations at 7:15 p.m. The panel will resume at 10 a.m. Sunday.

Most of their efforts Saturday were spent reviewing the conflicting testimony of defendant John N. Mitchell and major prosecution witness Harry L. Sears.

Sears, a prominent New Jersey Republican and one time fund raiser for Nixon, testified he conferred with Mitchell in late December, 1972, about a subpoena that was to be issued against Sears' boss, Robert L. Vesco.

The jurors requested a re-reading of Sears' testimony that he had discussed with Mitchell the issuance of a subpoena for the international financier to testify before the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Mitchell, former attorney general, and Maurice H. Stans, former commerce secretary, are accused of impeding a major SEC fraud investigation of Vesco in exchange for Vesco's secret $200,000 cash contribution to President Nixon's 972 re-election campaign.

The jury also had asked for a re-reading of Federal Judge Lee P. Gagliardi's instructions on credibility.

Judge Gagliardi re-read such legal points as: "How did the witness impress you? Did his version appear straightforward and candid, or did he try to hide some of the facts? Is there a motive to testify falsely?" Sears, a prominent New Jersey Republican, was a co-defendant in the case but testified for the prosecution under a grant of immunity.

In his testimony Sears said he and Mitchell discussed the possibility of Vesco disclosing the contribution to the SEC and agreed such a disclosure would have a "devastating impact" on the President's chances for re-election.

Vesco appeared before the SEC in mid-October after his subpoena had been delayed and invoked his constitutional privileges in refusing to answer questions. Sears testified that when he notified Mitchell about this development, the former top lawman replied that he was "relieved."

WITH STATE PRESIDENTS Vocational Clubs To Hold Banquet

Two presidents of state organizations for youth will address the annual employer-employee banquet for the vocational clubs of Pampa High School at 7 p.m. May 6 at M.K. Brown Auditorium.

Randy Cain, PHS senior and state president of the Texas unit of Distributive Education Clubs of America, will join with the state Future Farmers of America president, 19-year-old Bobby Tucker of Mineola in speaking for the banquet.

Cain, also serving as honorary president of the local DECA chapter, ends his term with the state unit this year. He is currently in Chicago to campaign for the presidency of the national DECA organization.

Other survivors include his mother, Mrs. Homer Cooper, Duluth, Minn.; three brothers, William, Leo and Eugene, all of Flint, Mich.; and three sisters, Mrs. Viola Johnson, Duluth, Mrs. Zella Zeeman, Mesa, Ariz., and Mrs. Libby Joyce Pillar, Washington D.C.

DeBolt was married June 4, 1932, in Duluth. He began his newspaper career in 1933 when he took a job as merchandising man in the advertising department of the Duluth Herald and News Tribune, a member of the Ridder Newspaper Group. He later became national advertising salesman for the Duluth paper.

United Press International In the bloodiest fighting since the October Middle East War, Syrian gunners Saturday poured artillery shells onto a group of Israeli soldiers in the Golan Heights and an Israeli helicopter crashed while trying to rescue them.

Artillery and tank clashes erupted along the entire length of the volatile Golan Heights cease-fire lines on the eve of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's sixth diplomatic "shuttle" to the Middle East.

The Israeli military command said 14 soldiers were killed in all, eight in the shelling and six in the helicopter crash. Another seven were wounded in the shelling attack, it said.

The crash, the second in eight days, killed the crewmen and a medical team. The command said the crash was accidental.

Israeli television said the soldiers killed in the shelling were in armored personnel carriers.

The Israeli command also said an Israeli unit patrolling northeast of strategic Mt. Hermon killed two Syrian soldiers in a brief firefight. It said the Israeli unit suffered no casualties.

Syrian communiques reported artillery and tank battles throughout Saturday around strategic Mt. Hermon and along the Golan front line on the 47th consecutive day of fighting on the bitterly contested Heights.

A Syrian communique broadcast at 9:15 p.m. (2:15 p.m. CDT) said fighting ended on the Golan Heights at 6:45 p.m., but was still continuing on Mt. Hermon.

Our artillery continues to bombard enemy positions on Mount Hermon with heavy and concentrated fire," the communique said. It said Syrian gunners scored direct hits on two Israeli tank and armored vehicle convoys and "thick billows of black smoke were seen rising from them."

The Syrians also silenced Israeli fire in various parts of the front and scored direct hits on several Israeli positions and artillery emplacements, the communique said.

Earlier the Israeli national radio quoted field officers as saying the intensity of fighting on the Golan slopes had dropped off from the previous week.

Damascus communiques said Syrian artillery and tanks concentrating their fire on Israeli positions along the Heights and strategic, 9,232-foot Mt. Hermon.

But Syrian communiques of the past few days also indicated an easing of the intensity of the clashes which have been going on for 47 consecutive days.

Kissinger is leaving Washington Sunday for another round of negotiations in the Middle East, hopeful that with Soviet support he can arrange a disengagement of Syrian and Israeli military forces on the smoldering Golan front.

He flies first to Geneva, where he will meet Sunday night and Monday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, then heads for Cairo and will not begin his Tel Aviv-Damascus shuttle negotiations until late in the week.

Area residents are preparing for the political party primaries in state elections next Saturday, with very little excitement in the air.

Candidates have either been ignoring each other (as Gov. Dolph Briscoe has been doing with his opponents) or being cautious with their pronouncements in the wake of the various accusations of corruption and amorality which have marked the political disclosures of the past couple of years.

A check with the Gray County clerk's office late Friday afternoon showed that 96 absentee ballots had been cast, with the deadline for voting absentee being Tuesday.

In the recent school board election locally, 290 absentee ballots were cast. Of the absentee ballot total to date, 82 were cast in the Democrat primary and 14 in the Republican section.

The primary elections are being held to select party nominees for the general election upcoming in November.

For the primaries, a registered voter may vote in only one of the political party primaries. They are required by the Texas Election Code to vote only in that party's primary and run-off elections.

In the general election, however, voters may choose among candidates from any of the parties having candidates.

Questions on matters relating to the primary or general elections may be directed to Harold Comer, Gray County Democratic chairman, at 665-5774, or Dr. Julian Key, Gray County Republican chairman, at 665-3328.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Thousands of persons, accompanied by rock music, streakers and the fragrance of marijuana, marched on the Capitol Saturday seeking speedy removal of Richard Nixon as President.

The mood of the crowd, estimated at 6,500 persons by police, was spirited but good natured. For many, politics took a back seat to enjoying a pleasant outing on a warm spring day.

The impeachment march was the first major protest in Washington since Nixon's second inauguration in January 1973.

Chants of "Throw the Bum Out" and "No More Years" bounced against the walls of the Capitol. Signs read "Pick out your drapes, Mrs. Ford" and "Jail to the Chief."

A Youth International Party (Yippie) contingent started its march near the White House, and was nearly outnumbered by tourists. But its numbers swelled when it joined the National Campaign to Impeach Nixon on Pennsylvania Avenue for the march to the Capitol.

The train of people was led by an Edsel automobile, a Ford Motor Co. product, with a vice presidential seal on its side and drawing a cage with a figure representing Nixon behind the bars.

Five persons streaked through the crowd, wearing nothing but Nixon masks.

Many of the march sponsors hailed from the antiwar protest days of the 1960s.

An expressway (explains Wayne Mackey) is a highway with three lanes — a right lane, a left lane, and the one you're trapped in when you see your exit... A visitor just back from a resort area says he decided not to do any gambling there: "I got a little suspicious when I saw one player using monogrammed dice..." A parent said he was sending his two sons to camp this summer, and the parting would be sad: "I hate parting with the $2,000." (For more laughs see Earl Wilson on Page 6.)

ARTISTS OF THE YEAR — Displaying some of their art works are Mr. and Mrs. Walton W. Bailey, 2115 Chestnut, named artists of the year Saturday at the annual Pampa Fine Arts Association banquet at the Pampa Country Club. Mrs. Bailey displays a couple of her oil paintings, while Bailey shows some of his woodcarvings. The association also recognized Mrs. D.D. Payne, 1616 Christine, as patron of the year for obtaining the Cowboy Hall of Fame exhibits for the Chamber of Commerce banquet.

19 Paintings Taken In Armed Robbery

BLESSINGTON, Ireland (UPI) — Police set up roadblocks, sealed off air-sea and road links out of the country and called in international assistance today in the search for an armed gang and the record $20 million worth of paintings they stole Friday in the biggest armed robbery on record.

A farmer found an abandoned car Saturday near Cashed in County Tipperary which police said they believed was the vehicle used by the art raiders. Cashed is 70 miles from Blessington.

A police spokesman said vehicles were being checked throughout the Irish Republic and at the border with Northern Ireland. He said special units had been dispatched to inspect air and seaports.

He said both Scotland Yard and Interpol, the international police organization had been asked to cooperate in the recovery of the 19 Old Masters taken at gunpoint Friday night from the home of British diamond millionaire Sir Alfred Beit.

Among the stolen paintings were three by Rubens, two by Gainsborough and one each by Goya, Hals and Vermeer.

One painting, Goya's "Woman in a Mantilla," is considered priceless, and another, Vermeer's "Lady writing a letter, with her maid," is valued at $7.2 million, police said after conferring with art experts.

Pampans turned out yesterday afternoon at Perry Lefors Airport in the first of a series of "Pampa Airport Days."

The observance from 4 to 8 p.m. included $2 and $4 plane rides, drawings for free plane rides, a chili supper and bake sale.

Budd Nunn, a local pilot, said the event was sponsored by pilots, members of their families and Gene Gatewood and Clarence Swindle, co-owners of Pampa Aircraft, Inc., and operators of the county airport.

Money raised in the event is to be used for improvements in the airport lounge. Future Airport Days are in the planning stage, Nunn stated.

"We want people to know what a fine facility we have in Pampa," Nunn said. "Businessmen flying into Pampa from other cities tell us how much better our airport is than in many cities much larger than Pampa."

Sherman: Governor For A Day

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI) — Sen. Max Sherman, D-Amarillo, was honored as "Governor for a Day" Saturday, and one Senate colleague said Sherman's record was "excelled by none."

Commissioners To Set Wages

Each year the governor and lieutenant governor either leave the state or go into hiding to allow the president pro tem to serve as governor for 24 hours. Gov. Dolph Briscoe was in East Texas Saturday but hardly hiding.

He was campaigning for renomination in next Saturday's Democratic primary.

"I can tell you, I have never served with a man I have higher regard for than Max Sherman," said Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr., D-Paris, dean of the Texas Senate, who presided at the ceremonies.

"He's A Credit" Sherman was sworn in by Judge James G. Denton at Bivins Library.

"He's a credit to this district," Aikin said. "He's hanging up a record in my humble opinion that has been equaled by few and excelled by none."

Sherman, 39, serving his second term, emphasized unity in his remarks following the administration of the oath of office.

"Even a governor serving for one day should try to emphasize the fact that we have a great state, and we need to bring together all the interests we have in trying to work in state government," Sherman said.

Dr. Lloyd Watkins, president of West Texas State University, hinted in a speech at the ceremony that Sherman will rise higher in Texas politics.

Sherman, 39, was elected president pro tem by his fellow senators in December, which put him third in line in succession to the governor.

COUNTRY MUSIC

By PATRICK CARR
One of the funniest things about one of country music's funniest outfits, the Statler Brothers, is they aren't brothers.

Another funny thing is that none of them is called Statler. "We took our name name off a box of Statler tissues," says Brother Harold Reid. His real brother, Brother Don Reid, adds, "We could have been called The Kleenix Brothers."

While the group's name is fictitious, everything else you hear about them is probably true. They sing some of the sweetest harmonies heard on the airwaves today.

They don't drink liquor, and they spend more of their free time pursuing the virtues of the past, just like in that "Carry Me Back" album. "That wasn't just some smart idea from some smart promo man."

Harold and Don Reid, Phil Babbles and Lew DeWitt all grew up in the same small, picturesque Virginia town of Staunton, whose main claim to fame is that Woodrow Wilson was born there. Now, after they've made a string of hot-selling albums, the townsfolk are more apt to identify with the Brothers than the President.

Since 1970, the Statler Brothers have hosted a "Happy Birthday U.S.A." celebration outside town, and their celebrations make the usual small town Fourth of July fete look just like a small town Fourth of July fete. The festivities begin with Gospel singing and a Vesper service the night before.

The next morning at 10, a parade steps off from Gypsy Hill Park and the fun, fireworks, and family-oriented entertainment doesn't stop until midnight. A variety show featuring the Statlers' guests (and themselves, naturally) rounds it out. This year Bill Anderson and the Po' Boys will be on hand.

The Reids stress the informality of the affair and the fact that it's free. In case you're interested, Staunton is located smack in the middle of Virginia at the intersection of Interstates 81 and 84.

When they're not busy getting the Fourth of July together, the Statlers are off logging countless hours of road travel. Holiday Inns, recording dates, and so on. And when they're not doing all that, which isn't too often, they're to be found hanging out in each other's homes for an evening of old movies from their private collection.

When we last spoke to them, they were gloating over their latest acquisition, a rare print of the original German version of "Dracula." The bulk of their collection, however, deals with the American cowboy films and related memorabilia, the inspiration for their recent hit, "Whatever Happened To Randolph Scott?"

"We like all those old things," said Harold, "because they take us back to a simpler time when good always triumphed over evil."

The four of them — Don, Harold, Lew, and Phil — have fond memories of sitting in the cool dark of Staunton's movie palace when they were kids, watching their heroes gallop across the screen and lay waste to the bad guys.

The titles of their albums and singles bear witness to this concern for bygone days: "Carry Me Back," "The Class of '57," "Pictures of Moments to Remember," "Country Music Then and Now," the last one featuring a take-off on a rural early morning Saturday radio show.

Incidentally, the Statlers have now found out what happened to Randolph Scott. He's alive and well and living in total retirement in Los Angeles, looking — at 76 — pretty much as he looked in his last movie, "Ride The High Country," which was shot in 1962.

The Statlers were invited to visit him after he heard and liked their "Whatever Happened To Randolph Scott?" single. They exchanged autographs while Scott regaled them for an hour and a half with anecdotes about the making of the old cowboy movies.

And as Don Reid put it after the meeting, "Nothing has happened to Randolph Scott. He's doing just fine. The question is, whatever happened to all of us? But then, we have a generation of sons, and we'll let them answer that."

Cosmonauts Plan To Socialize

HOUSTON (UPI) — The American and Soviet spacemen who will meet in orbit July, 1975, plan to have social dinner hours in each others spacecraft along with work on five joint scientific experiments, one of the cosmonauts said.

Cosmonauts Aleksey A. Leonov and Valeriy N. Kubasov said at a news conference with their American counterparts that training for the first international spaceflight is proceeding well. The spacemen have been working primarily on their procedures for moving from ship to ship since their arrival at the Johnson Space Center April 15.

The commander of the Apollo craft which will dock with the Soviet Soyuz Thomas P. Stafford, said they have cut the transfer time by over two-thirds since the training began. To move between the linked spacecrafts the crewmen will have to first stay in a docking compartment that equalizes the pressure between the ships.

Almost half of America's cars have air conditioning.

Briscoe Wants Landslide, Sissy Watches Straws

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe is looking for a landslide and Frances Farenthold is watching straws in the wind which she says may indicate an upset victory in her showdown with Briscoe for the Democratic governor nomination.

The low-key campaign, run without billboards for either major candidate and only minimal television advertising, is still the highlight of the party primary elections Saturday.

Briscoe, who defeated Farenthold two years ago in a runoff, wants a bigger margin this time to send him into a four-year term.

"You just don't run for governor without pulling all the stops," said Briscoe campaign manager Ken Clapp.

After A Landslide
"We want a landslide.

That's what we're after. But Mrs. Farenthold, who has not even been able to raise $60,000 needed to get a series of already needed "it's a different kind of year, no doubt about that."

Most political observers, anticipating her problems raising money and some discouragement voiced by some old Farenthold campaign workers early in the year, have maintained she doesn't have a chance to upset Briscoe.

Mrs. Farenthold disagrees.

"We don't have any polls," she said in an interview at her state campaign headquarters, "and there may be a subtle distinction between straws in the wind and wishful thinking, but I have seen some encouraging signs." She said crowds at her campaign rallies this year are larger than in 1972 when she upset incumbent Gov. Preston Smith and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes to get into the runoff with Briscoe. She has also spent more time in East and West Texas — areas where she was weakest in 1972.

"It's a quiet campaign. I'll grant you that," she said. "But I don't think it should have been written off as some of those writing

SSI Confusing, Vowell Claims

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas Welfare Commissioner Raymond Vowell said federal officials have families of thousands of needy blind, disabled and elderly Texans in states of near panic because they don't know if their bills for nursing home care will be paid by the government.

"The failure of the Social Security Administration (SSA) to fulfill its contractual responsibilities has resulted in much human suffering due to the inability of the SSA to communicate to the state that the individual is eligible for (supplemental security income) payments," Vowell said in a letter to Washington.

The Texas welfare chief complained to Caspar W. Weinberger, secretary of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, about administrative foulups since federal officials took over about it did in the beginning. The central issue in the race by both candidates has been Briscoe's record; he says it's good, she says it's bad.

The governor contends he has kept a series of campaign promises dealing with auto insurance rates, crime, increased job opportunities, reformed drug laws and no new taxes. "I challenge that media campaign of 'I kept the promise,'" Mrs. Farenthold assistance payments to the elderly, blind and disabled.

"Families of aged, blind and disabled individuals needing care in nursing facilities are in a state of near panic because SSA has been slow in acting on their SSA claims or because the SSA eligibility decision has not been transmitted to the states," Vowell said in a letter to Weinberger.

"These families do not know if the state will be able to pay for such care based on SSA eligibility."

said, "All I'm contending is that his administration has continued the practice of business as usual. What we've seen manifest in his administration is that there hasn't been any change, it is still government by campaign contributor."

She says Briscoe has ignored a number of his 1972 campaign promises, including the one on development of mass transit.

Others Not Contenders
Two other candidates in the race, Steve Alexander of Waco and W.H. Posey of Houston — are not expected to be factors unless they can draw enough votes between them to throw Briscoe and Farenthold into a runoff.

Both major candidates are fighting a wave of voter apathy most commonly blamed on citizen disgust with government because of repeated state and national scandals.

Obnoxious Driver Subject To More Traffic Deaths

CHICAGO (UPI) — The socially obnoxious driver is more likely to die in a traffic accident than is a socially well-adjusted driver, according to a report in the Archives of General Psychiatry, a publication of the American Medical Association.

A research team studied the records of 50 men who died in traffic accidents in the Baltimore, Md., area over a four-year period and found that the "socially obnoxious" driver is more likely to become a traffic fatality than is a more balanced individual.

The researchers reported that drivers who, in social circles, were belligerent, negative, inclined to talk to excess, hyperactive and beset with emotional problems had a greater likelihood of dying on the roadways.

The report also noted that such persons also had a high record of traffic violations and were more likely to be drinking at the time of their fatal accidents.

Alcohol was found in the bloodstream of three-fourths of the victims studied, while half of those studied had consumed enough alcohol to impair their driving ability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Cheap Government Dream

More and more people are beginning to realize that asking the government to do something is the most expensive way possible of getting it done. That realization is encouraging but, according to a little pamphlet entitled "It's Your Money" published by the Economics Press Inc., Fairfield, N.J., far too few realize just how expensive governmental projects really are.

In an effort to bridge that information gap, the pamphlet put the government in the business of selling coffee to the public at the advertised price of five cents a cup. But that, the pamphlet emphasized, would be just the beginning. Due to inefficiency, red tape, lack of incentive, lack of competition and bureaucratic puff, the real price of each cup of coffee sold to the consuming, tax-paying public would be in the neighborhood of 45 cents; that is, the advertised five cents, plus 20 cents in subsidizing taxes, plus another 20 cents in the hidden tax of inflation.

Already, the pamphlet pointed out, citing data provided by the Tax Foundation, the various levels of government taxes take more than $33 out of every $100 earned by the average American. The average employed person in this country works about two hours and 45 minutes out of each eight-hour day just to pay taxes.

Would you like to pay even more in taxes, say $40, $50, $60 out of every $100? The pamphlet asked. If so, all you have to do is keep on asking government agencies to do things for you. The bureaucrats running those agencies will be happy to oblige.

And don't make the mistake, the pamphlet went on to warn, of believing that the increased tax burden will be shouldered by someone else. It won't. If and when government spending for projects increases, the cost of that increased spending will be shared by everyone. Higher incomes are already so heavily taxed that, if the government confiscated all taxable income over $10,000 — took every cent of it — it would only provide enough additional money to run the government for less than two months. That's all.

So, who's going to pick up the tab for additional governmental projects? The pamphlet asked. Face it, you are. And if you don't pay it in increased overt taxation, the bill will be collected in the form of monetary inflation; the hidden tax which shrinks your paycheck while you sleep.

Nickel government coffee? There just isn't any such thing!

Keep On Truckin'

A truck driver's life is not an easy one. For them, the old saying about time being money is especially true.

Highway speed restrictions and fuel shortages, which necessitate more frequent refueling stops, along with higher prices for fuel when they can get it, have cut into their paychecks. Most people except possibly those motorists who have been staided for hours on interstates because of trucker blockades, sympathize with their plight.

Yet all of us, even if the more pessimistic predictions about the extent of the energy crisis don't come true, are going to feel the pinch. All of us are going to have to change our habits and ways of doing things, and all of us are going to be hit in our pocketbooks. The truckers just happen to have been the first to feel the impact.

It's too late to wish we had adopted the system they have in South Africa, where all intercity freight is carried by rail and trucked deliveries are limited to 30-mile ranges.

If truckers are allowed to shut down such a vital part of the nation's transportation system, what about workers whose earnings may be reduced, or jobs eliminated entirely, because of shortages of power or petrochemical raw materials?

If truckers get their way are permitted to travel at 65 miles an hour (and there are conflicting arguments about whether diesel engines are more efficient at high speeds), what about the salesman who must drive at 55 and to whom time is also money?

It's tough being a trucker. But it's tough all over, and likely will be for a long time to come.

The Opera 'Culture Vultures'

By GARRY WILLS
NEW YORK — Maria Callas has been appearing (and non-appearing) on stages and television stations around the country. She is opera news even when she is no longer singing operas. Mike Wallace wants to hear from her how much Aristotle Onassis loved her once, and Barbara Walters learns why she never met Mrs. Onassis.

It has been publicly argued that opera needs Maria Callas, no matter what shape her voice is in, just as boxing needs Muhammad Ali — for extraneous glitter, mild scandal, and a love-hate relation with the public. Her fans here at Carnegie Hall, in her last New York concert of this ill-fated tour, obviously agreed. At one pause in the love-fest, an acolyte shouted, "You are opera!" If so, then opera does not have much to do with the human voice. But it is not so.

I know we were warned not to go near Callas for her singing anymore. One must go for the acting — and there, by golly, it was. She pointed as Elizabetha. She folded her hands as Santuzza. As Carmen, she put her hands on her hips, and brought the house down. Her voice wobbled in and out of pitch (and existence) in the "Suicidio," but her finger was steady as Fate's.

She also walked — more of that than anything, and it got her her best hand. Most of her "acting" went on during the long walks in and off and around while the applause gave us the real acoustic fireworks of the evening. There was her, "Who are you applauding for?" act — "Oh, me!" And her, "I am dreaming here by the piano and I bet you cannot wake me by sheer noise." And her, "I have plucked this single rose from all these bouquets just for you." Not to mention her, "I'm pained that I must leave you."

But she went through the pain over thirty times in the evening. Each exit was a bid to be recalled — but not to sing. She had to leave (several times) after each venture into song, and she nicely timed her one encore, after a sparse program, to meet a demand that had mounted through eighteen minutes of abject cries and masochistic adoration of her flirtatious refusings. Make them beg. They love it.

I had not realized, before, how terribly apt is the phrase "culture vultures." For Callas, as for Judy Garland in her vivid decline, or for Marlene Dietrich in her suspended semi-animation, there is a ghoulish delight in honoring the shrunken person as her talent withers. One got the impression, after hysterical acclaim for painful caricatures of the former Callas, that this crowd would applaud ten times more if one of her arms fell off in mid-aria — to encourage her, to show these people were with her through any hardship.

The bully boys in velvet coats were out, and their bracelets made weird music as they ravened down to the footlights afterward. Just one quaver more; another out-of-breath grimace; or more barking from the wheezy pet of a burnt-out tenor she led around on all-but-visible leash. Her fans cried out for such a leash, if not for lashings; and they turned with sneers and obscenity on a mile little lady who asked a pack of them to sit down so she could see the lady do her walk — the main part of the show, after all.

There was something profoundly upsetting about the evening. It might even lead one to think there is something profoundly wrong with opera itself. Yet this cultist mutual exhibitionism is not opera — only its poor-side glitter, only one bright career's sad aftereffect. In short, just what opera does not need. (Copyright 1974)

Red Ambassadors Honored

By VICTOR RIESEL

NEW YORK — Simply the invitation said came to the "Luncheon Honoring United Nations Ambassadors of the Eastern European Group, Cuba and the Mongolian People's Republic for their advocacy of Friendship Among the Nations and World Peace." At the Waldorf Astoria Grand Ballroom, no less.

Among the especially honored UN ambassadors scheduled to speak were the Soviets' Yakov Malik, who had been pushing the Security Council into an attack on Israel; Peter Florin from the German Democratic Republic; Tsevegshavyn Puntsagnorov, from the Mongolian People's Republic; and Cuba's Ricardo Alarcon Quesada. In advance the press was warned that the speakers could not be covered — close session though 1,200 tickets were sold.

Among the official American greeters and sponsors were several militant thinkers such as Abe Feinglass, who does rather well as a national vice president of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters (AFL-CIO), drawing 50,000 capitalist dollars in salaries and expenses annually.

Where but in a democracy such as ours could such a gathering be held? The nations presented by all the most prominent ambassadors daily pour out vitriolic anti-U.S. "anti-imperialist" propaganda. Some of these Communist nations pipe terrorist literature into the Americas by the ton. Some have been arming enemies of the U.S. and supplying ultra-sophisticated war materiel to armies which have fought American troops as well as the soldiers of our allies.

And then there were the ambassadors, also honored, from such active enemies of the U.S. as the People's Republic of Bulgaria.

Of course the most actively dangerous, and I use the word advisedly, Communist nation honored is Cuba. The FBI is on record as reporting that "the Cuban mission to the UN was the focal point of Cuban intelligence activities directed against the U.S."

Further, Fidel Castro's Cuba is the center of vast distribution of blueprints for the new terror. This pours out of something called the Tricontinental Press, which is the propaganda arm of the Tricontinental Congress headquartered in Havana.

This steady flow of violent literature isn't merely the encouragement of hijackers such as the three Ohio men who seized a Southern Airways plane at the Birmingham (Ala.) airport in November 1972 and are still living well in Cuba. Incidentally, Castro still has the $2 million worth of cash ransom paid by the airline.

The literature leads right to the abandoned headquarters of the Symbionese Liberation Army. Such neo-revolutionary material, for example, as the widely distributed "Mini-Manual of the Urban Guerrilla," written by the late Carlos Marighella. It is the violent New Left's bible and is being carefully studied these days by Atty. Gen. Saxbe.

After considerable "symbionism" in Brazil, Marighella was killed by the Sao Paulo police. But he is as much a hero now as Castro's Che Guevara, also killed in Latin America.

The mini-manual was translated into English, reprinted by the thousands by Tricontinental Press, shipped into the U.S., redistributed here in "Babylon" by the Black Liberation Army, now becoming more daring, dispatched to the San Francisco Bay area, picked by the SLA and studied.

There's more. The Tricontinental Congress prints anti-American posters inciting to riot. The congress itself was created in 1968 to arouse Asians, Africans and Latin Americans against the U.S. One reputable intelligence specialist said in 1971, "I think this organization has played an important role in the development of the New Left of the U.S., specifically within factions of the SDS and the Black Panther Party."

But why honor these ambassadors for their advocacy of friendship among the nations and world peace?

As for Mr. Feinglass, he might try to find a free, democratic trade union in the nations he's been honoring. Or tolerance. Or free thought. (All Rights Reserved)

Break For Good Guys

By PAUL HARVEY
When you are the victim of a crime your first impulse may be to seek revenge, but your real need is for reparation, compensation, money.

The guy who raped you or shot you or beat you up or robbed you — he, if caught and convicted, is going to prison where you will be further punished with additional taxes to pay for his clothing, food, housing, recreation and education.

But you, the victim, are left with minus nothing. You probably are suffering physically, surely are suffering mentally. You may have lost salary at the same time you had added medical bills. You had to take further time off from work to testify in court.

In other words we're doing it backward — compensating criminals and penalizing their victims.

Illinois has begun to offer some help for the victims. Illinois, since passage of the Crime Victims Compensation Act, may reimburse the victims of violent crime for medical bills and loss of earnings up to $10,000.

Additionally, if an Illinois citizen is hurt or killed while helping a crime victim or while helping a lawman his family receives some compensation.

Granted, compensation for victims places a further burden on Illinois taxpayers, yet it's refreshing to realize that a portion of your taxes now compensates the good guys instead of just warehousing the bad ones.

The Illinois act, in effect since last October, allows you to file a claim only if you have co-operated with law enforcement officers. Hopefully, this will encourage more people to file complaints, to testify in Further, many an intelligence chap can tell you that the "German Democratic Republic" is the site of Black September planning and an exchange "point" for international terrorists. Also "a financial depot." They cross over through West Berlin despite efforts of the police on the anti-Communist side and so filter into West Europe. They've run an international terrorist "congress" in London.

The luncheon was organized by the "New World Review" and a special committee of sponsors. In our land, I presume this is their privilege. What would happen if we tried honoring anti-Communist leaders in Havana or in the Mongolian People's Republic?

Rearview Mirror

By TEX DEWEESE
Editor Of The News

ONE OF our local public officials who shall go unidentified at this point in time, as they say in Washington, handed us an old newspaper clipping the other day with the heading: "What's Happening to Our Nation?"

It was a reprint from a file on "Communist Rules for Revolution." The article explained the file was obtained by U.S. Armed Forces in Duesseldorf, Germany, "way back in 1919. Here are the rules it set forth:

"1. Corrupt the young, get them away from religion. Get them interested in sex. Make them superficial. Destroy their ruggedness."
"2. Get control of all means of publicity and thereby:

"1. Get people's minds off their government by focusing attention on athletics, sexy books and movies, and other trivialities."
"2. Divide the people into hostile groups by constantly harping on controversial matters of importance."

"3. Destroy the people's faith in their leaders by holding the latter up to contempt and ridicule."
"4. Always preach true democracy but seize powers as fast and as ruthlessly as possible."

"5. By encouraging government extravagance, destroy its credit, produce fear of inflation with rising prices and general discontent."

"6. Foment unnecessary strikes in vital industries, and foster a lenient and soft attitude on the part of government toward such disorders."

"7. Cause the registration of all firearms on some pretext, with the view of confiscation and leaving the populace helpless."

"8. Reproduction of the 35-year-old file for revolution triggers a question: Does there seem to be some parallels to the current trend of action and events around the country?"

"9. Cause the registration of all firearms on some pretext, with the view of confiscation and leaving the populace helpless."

office in Gray County. Election of county and precinct Democratic candidates will be tantamount to election in November. The GOP primary relates only to state and congressional district candidates.

Gray County voters will elect a district judge, district clerk, county judge, county clerk, county treasurer, county commissioners in Precincts 2 and 4, justice of the peace in Precincts 1, 2 and 4, a county school superintendent and a county surveyor, along with Democrat and Republican precinct chairmen.

Only contests for any of the major posts will be in Precinct 2 where Murl Winegart is attempting to unseat incumbent Don Hinton for county commissioner and in Precinct 4 where John Guill, Ted Simmons and Britt Hathaway will try to unseat incumbent county commissioner Mary Dwyer.

None of the following has an opponent on the Gray County Democratic ballot:

Grainger McIlhenny for district judge, Helen Sprinkle for district clerk, Wanda Carter for county clerk, Jean Scott for county treasurer, Rena Bell Anderson for county school superintendent and Gene Barber for county surveyor.

There will be contests in justice of the peace races in Precinct 2, Precinct 1 where Mrs. Margaret McPhillips is contesting for the post currently held by Ed Anderson, and in Precinct 1 between incumbent Marie Prestidge and Mary A. Crutcher. Ernest Beck is unopposed for justice of the peace in Precinct 4.

THERE HASN'T been a whole lot of publicity about it, but there will be something else on the Texas primary election ballot.

Both Republican and Democrat ballots will give Texans a chance to vote for or against permitting the State Legislature to enact a law providing for pari-mutuel betting on horse races.

The Republican ballot also will have two additional referendum votes. One will be that the Texas Constitution contain a provision requiring approval by all voters in a statewide referendum before the enactment of any state, personal or corporate income tax; and that the Texas Constitution contain a right to work provision.

Troubled With Water Under Door? Use Drip Cap

By HERMAN BAUM
Dear House Doctor:
There is a small canopy high above my back door, but this does not prevent blowing beneath the door when our heavy summer rains come in from the west. A neighbor suggested that weatherstrip may help, but perhaps you have a better idea.

ANSWER — Weatherstrip helps sometimes. To be effective, it is placed on the outside of the door and tight against the threshold. This usually makes the door difficult to open and close. A better idea is to install a drip cap on the door.
An effective drip cap can be easily made from a piece of wood, about three inches wide and with a length equal to the width of the door. Cut 45-degree bevels on two edges and attach it to the bottom of the door with wood screws.

Locate the drip cap so that it barely clears the threshold when the door is opened and closed. It is a good idea to place a small bead of caulking along the beveled edge that contacts the door before attaching. There are several designs of metal drip caps that are available at hardware stores. These are no more effective than the wood drip cap, although they may have a better appearance.

One type illustrated requires that the door be removed as fastening to the bottom of the door as well as the face is required, but this is easily done by removing the hinge pins.

The other type illustrated has a rubber insert in the bottom. Thin fingers on this insert wipe against the threshold so that it acts as weatherstripping as well as a drip cap. Our tests showed this design to be highly effective.

water loop system so that hot water is always at the faucet, thus conserving the hot water that remains in the pipes when the faucet is closed?
—E.H.L.
ANSWER — Loop systems are used in hotels and office buildings where hot water is drawn from a considerable distance. In a home, the energy loss will be far greater with a loop system than will be lost by allowing one or two quarts of water to cool in the pipes.

LOG CABIN
Dear House Doctor:
What do I use to seal the spaces between the logs of a log cabin? I tried plumbers' oakum, but it did not work out well.
—J.R.
ANSWER — Portland cement mortar is used for this purpose. Drive nails part way into the logs to form a bond for the mortar, and then apply the mortar over these.

Many fighter planes in World War I had rotary engines.

Business Today

By LEROY POPE
UPI Business Writer
NEW YORK (UPI) — Kidnaping of business executives or members of their families is posing a severe challenge to industrial security firms as well as to the police.
It's also causing plenty of uneasiness in executive suites, says George Held of the century-old ADT Security Systems, Inc.
"It's a global hazard for big business, much worse in Argentina for example than in the United States," Held said. However, reported kidnapings rose in the United States from 1,181 in 1969 to nearly 1,700 last year, not including children abducted by one parent because of a marital row.
Held said business executives and their families are by far the most frequent targets of kidnapers. Jewelers are the most victimized; bank officers, next.
"There is absolutely no effective way to prevent kidnaping entirely," he said, but firms like ADT, Burns, Pinkerton's, Guardmark and others do have ways to reduce the peril. Gov. Ronald Reagan of California has suggested that it be made illegal to pay ransom to kidnapers but the security firms feel this is not the solution to the practice.

In the United States these firms are concentrating on preventing kidnapings from the home and fake kidnap extortion plots centered on the home.
In the faked kidnap plot, the criminal takes advantage of the family's absence from home and perhaps cuts the telephone line. Then the father is contacted at his office and ordered to pay a large sum within an hour. "Often he is panicked into paying and then discovers his wife and kids were safe all along," Held said. "This can be prevented by installation of the proper electronic surveillance equipment in the home."
About 25 per cent of all kidnapings in the United States occur at the victim's home, Held said. Some but not all of these also can be thwarted by the installation of certain electronic surveillance devices that will give a quick alarm and may bring police to the scene before the kidnapers get away with their victim.
Held admitted this equipment is new and ADT and the other security firms cannot yet show a record of proven cases of its effectiveness.

R.J.H. — When repairing the grout joints in ceramic tile, the old grout must be raked out to a depth of about one-quarter inch. New grout is a white powder that is mixed with water to form a soft paste. This is wiped into the joints.
K.R. — Sheet metal screws usually hold in a hollow core door. Use the largest diameter screws that will pass through the holes in the nameplate that you intend to attach.
Ms. J.S. — The gurgling noise coming from the bathtub when the toilet is flushed is caused by improper venting of the waste pipe. It is doubtful that the plumber who installed the new faucets is responsible for this.

GLOSS ENAMEL
Dear House Doctor:
Four years ago, my plastered walls and ceilings were painted with gloss enamel. What procedure is necessary to use a flat finish now?
—Mrs. M.N.
ANSWER — If all that interests you is to kill the gloss on the enamel, wash the walls with a solution of one-half cupful of trisodium phosphate dissolved in a gallon of warm water. Be sure to wear rubber gloves.
If you are redecorating, apply a bonding agent such as Wilbond. This is applied to a small area immediately before applying the new paint. It momentarily softens the surface so that the two paints bond firmly together. You could sandpaper the surfaces, but this is a lot of work.

The U.S. airlines fly trillions of miles every year and their accident record is one of the best in the world. This is why airline accident insurance for the traveler is so inexpensive. The accident rate is extremely low for the number of miles flown.
During the time when all these miles are being flown accident free, the airlines are also carrying over 2-billion tons of hazardous cargo every year. Hazardous cargo includes radioactive isotopes, explosives, flammable and corrosive chemicals.
In all those miles that have been flown there have been only three known incidents where passengers may have been endangered by hazardous cargo.
Two weeks ago officials learned that passengers on an airline serving the Eastern seaboard may have been exposed to radiation from improperly packed radioisotopes carried in the baggage compartments of aircraft.
Of greater concern is the amount of exposure of some 50 ground personnel who were in close contact with the isotope container. A reading of 900 Roentgens was recorded within six inches of the container when the leak was discovered. A dose of 500 Roentgens over a period of one hour can be fatal.
This is only the second known case of possible radiation exposure aboard a commercial airliner. Passengers on a flight of the same airline in 1971 may have been exposed but there have been no apparent injuries.

A crash of a cargo jet in 1973 may have been caused by leaking acid from an improperly packaged shipment. That accident plus the two radiation incidents has caused an uproar among the airline pilots who have asked the FAA to impose a ban on the shipments of all hazardous materials on passenger aircraft.
Responsibility for regulating the shipment of hazardous materials is under the Transportation Department and, while Congress is preparing to investigate the latest incident, the accident-free record of shipments of hazardous materials stands as one of the outstanding accomplishments of the U.S. airlines.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

Model Starting Film Company

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — Genevieve Gilles, the cool, pretty blonde Paris model who was Darryl Zanuck's companion for seven years, makes news on her own. Still in her twenties, and becoming an American citizen, she starts her own film company.

"Gillwood," the first woman executive producer in a couple of decades.

Decidedly feminine, but firm in her opinions and good at business, Genevieve has committed herself to a $1-million budgeted picture, "Julie of the Wolves," which Genevieve with her French accent pronounces as "Julie and the Wolves."

It's a celebrated, prize-winning children's story by Mrs. Jean Craig George, about an Alaskan girl who starts across the tundra to San Francisco. She gets lost and gets hungry and becomes a member of the wolf pack.

"I went to visit the wolfs in Achorage," Genevieve said the other day at the King Cole Room. "It was 25 below zero. The Navy gave me heavy clothes to see the wolfs. We are rounding up all the wolfs in the country and the wolfs are auditioning for the parts. Not only the wolfs but the girls, we are auditioning."

Genevieve made it seem a lark (instead of a wolf-chase). Before Darryl Zanuck became very sick and retired to Palm Springs, Genevieve went to projection rooms constantly with him. "All those nights I spent in the darkroom!" she said.

They discussed what was right in films and Genevieve got a great education from the master. After seeing pictures, they would go to dinner at 21 or Trader Vic's and discuss further what they had already discussed, while Zanuck would have an after-dinner cigar.

Genevieve got together with Tom McGowan who helped produce "Born Free" and they are looking over the 125 "tractable wolfs" in the country for a huge black wolf who will play the Alpha wolf, Amaroq, the star of the film.

McGowan keeps telling her that wolfs aren't any more dangerous than dogs. They found three girls in their teens (one from Alaska) who are up for the role of Julie.

"Why don't you play it?" I asked Genevieve.

"I am too young for it," she smiled.

"Have you given up acting?"

"I don't know yet. I have to find the right story. I never give up anything. When I want something, I always get it."

The three girls must find out how they get along with "the wolfs," Genevieve said. They will have to go through extensive training and then face a Purdue professor of animal behavioristics, Eric Klinghammer, a wolf-man, who'll decide which one is best at handling wolfs, because the winner will actually be living with wolfs.

One girl is 13, the others are nearer 20. They will shoot near Point Barrow in June when the temperature is around the mid-20s (above zero). McGowan says it will be "a dirty hands picture."

"There will be no caviar and champagne and suites there," Genevieve said remembering the happy days at Cannes. "Is no hotel. You're with the Navy."

"Twenty four hours of daylight," McGowan mentioned.

"Zis book," Genevieve said "will become a family picture with a lot of taste, a touch of class. I have to make it a success because it is already translated in eight languages. I don't want to be involved in any sex, blood of violence films for my first production."

Genevieve said she became an American last year.

"My friends had nothing to say about it," she said. "I always do what I want to do. Why did I? Because America is the most powerful country."

Genevieve and Tom McGowan are working closely together. "We work together, it's like making a baby," she says. They call the girl's experience with the wolf pack, "the love story of survival."

A strange thing is that hardly anybody uses the word wolf in the sense of being a womanizer. "Nobody's afraid of the big bad wolf," as Genevieve points out.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH
Audible Rumbblings In The Innards

By G.C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I don't have most of the problems people ask you about but I have one question. I realize it is comic relief, but there is a limerick that always tickled me:

As I sat by the Duchess at tea
It was just as I thought it would be.
The rumbles abdominal
Were simply phenomenal
and everyone thought it was me!

What makes this audible rumbblings in our innards? Whence the actual noise?

—Mrs. G.H.R.

The noise is called borborygmus (plural borborygmi) and it is the cascading of fluid contents and/or gas through an overly active bowel. Remember that when food has left the stomach it has reached a fluid or at least semi-liquid consistency.

In its course through the small intestine and then the large colon (bowel) this fluid moves down, up, across and down again, some of the time in a spiral course.

If it moves along gently and smoothly, that's fine. But if the bowel is somewhat overactive, it can cascade from one segment of the bowel into another with the gurgling sound the Duchess produced.

Many times the victim may be an air-swallower, without realizing it. (Air swallowers rarely do.) So bubbles of air do their part.

In a great many cases, nervous tension increases the motility of the intestine effective, but correct timing is essential.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I recently suffered an attack of gout. I was cautioned to avoid organ meats and fish in my diet. Are there any other dietary precautions?

—Mrs. J.M.

The organ meats (liver, kidneys, heart, sweetbreads, etc.) are high in purines and hence should be avoided by gout patients. A flat prohibition of fish is not warranted, because some are high in purines and others are not. Roe, sardines and anchovies should be avoided, but other fish can be eaten in moderate servings.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you explain what the "morning after" pill is? When is it taken? How long after intercourse? Where can they be obtained? Do you recommend use? Is it effective?

—N.G.

This is a high-estrogen medication, started 24 to 49 hours after intercourse and continued for five days.

It is used as an emergency measure to prevent pregnancy but is NOT recommended as a substitute for accepted birth control methods. The possible consequences of continued use are open to suspicion.

The medication is provided at many college or university dispensaries, or by your own physician. It is strictly a prescription medication, not an over-the-counter drug store item.

The treatment is

Boating

NEW YORK (UPI) — A waterspout is one of those perils of the sea that a pleasure boater rarely encounters, but he would do well to remember that they are dangerous and destructive.

These phenomena occur on all oceans, but they also can be born on rivers and lakes. On Lake Erie, for example, seven were spawned in one morning alone in 1928. A waterspout that swept over Lake Wascana in western Canada sucked up an estimated half million tons of water, lowering the water level two feet.

Waterspouts can form at any time, but they are mostly prevalent from May to October. They can erupt on sunny or cloudy days, in warm weather or cold, during day or night, or in still or stormy weather.

One of the most fertile breeding grounds is an area stretching from the Gulf of Mexico to the Bahamas and up the Gulf Stream. Last year, more than 125 spouts were reported in waters around South Florida alone.

According to weather experts, waterspout formation requires the presence of layers of air with contrasting characteristics of temperature, moisture, density and wind flow. Complicated energy transformations produce the waterspout vortex.

If a waterspout is sighted, be wary of more in the same area for they often travel in families. If the proper conditions exist, there can be a half dozen spawned, although not all may descend to the water.

Spring Training Starts Monday

By PAUL SIMS
Several question marks bothered John Welborn, new Pampa head football coach, when he first arrived here but most of those are no longer question marks. And Welborn anticipates the remainder of those problems will disappear in the next three weeks as Pampa High School and ninth-grade footballers begin spring training Monday.

"When I first came here," said Welborn, "I wasn't sure we'd be able to platoon. But now I think we can. I also wasn't sure about attitude — how much the players were willing to work to try to win."

"We've had a number of players have a change in attitude."

Welborn added, "Four or five weeks ago, I didn't know how we'd compare (to the other district teams), but now I believe that with a little luck and with our potential, we could be right in the thick of things; we could be a competitor."

The aforementioned areas have been settled in the past four months in Pampa High School's off-season football program, which entailed approximately an hour each school day.

But off-season programs do not involve contact and a great deal of work — two things needed for a squad to develop. So, starting Monday and lasting three weeks, District 3-AAAA schools will be involved in contact, drills and various exercises, all of which are part of spring training.

For Pampa, the three-week period will end May 18 with the 7:30 p.m. Green and Gold scrimmage, which is the highlight of the Harvesters' spring grid program.

"Next year's ball club will be made this spring," said Welborn. "We're going to work with people in positions to see where they can play. Right now every position is up for grabs."

Charles Holding One Shot Lead

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (UPI) — New Zealand southpaw Bob Charles shot a five under par 67 Saturday to overtake diminutive Buddy Allin and grab a one shot lead with a 54 hole total of 209, seven under, in the $200,000 MONY Tournament of Champions.

The 59-year-old Charles, who started the day with a four stroke advantage over Miller Barber and Gene Littler and a seven shot edge over Charles, bogeyed the 15th, 16th and 17th holes and finished with a three-over 75 for a 210 score following opening rounds of 66 and 69.

The 38-year-old Charles, who announced last year he was leaving the PGA tour because the American courses were too long for him to handle, tamed the 6,855-yard La Costa Country Club layout with nines of 32-35.

Charles' round included six birdies and a single bogey. He had a 25-foot birdie putt on the par three, 181-yard seventh and made 15-foot birds on Nos. 6 and 17.

"I guess there's hope for

Brew 9, Twins 0

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Jim Slaton allowed only four hits and George Scott drove in three runs with a homer and a single Saturday to pace the Milwaukee Brewers to a 9-0 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

Scott drove in one run during the Brewers' four-run third inning with a single to centerfield which scored Don Money. Scott's first homer of the year in the fifth, a 440-foot shot over the centerfield fence, scored Johnny Briggs who had walked.

Braves 5, Cubs 2

ATLANTA (UPI) — Atlanta's Roric Harrison, with help from Danny Frisella, withstood three Braves' errors and pitched his team to a 5-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs Saturday.

Harrison gave up both Cub runs in the seven innings he pitched while Frisella came on to pitch hitless ball over the final two innings.

Dodgers 5, Expos 2

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Ron Cey ripped a two-run homer in the sixth inning and Bill Russell added a solo blast in the seventh Saturday to provide Los Angeles with its fifth straight victory as the Dodgers trimmed the Montreal Expos, 5-2.

Southpaw Al Downing teamed with former Expo Mike Marshall to limit the East Division leaders to four hits in picking up his first win after two losses. Downing had to survive a shaky first inning when Montreal loaded the bases with none out.

Royals 10, Sox 3

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Fran Healy blasted a two-run homer, capping a four-run first inning Saturday, as the Kansas City Royals throttled the Boston Red Sox, 10-3, behind the seventh-inning pitching of sinkerballer Al Fitzmorris and Doug Bird.

The victory was the Royals' fourth in five games and the loss was Boston's fifth straight on the road.

But off-season programs do not involve contact and a great deal of work — two things needed for a squad to develop. So, starting Monday and lasting three weeks, District 3-AAAA schools will be involved in contact, drills and various exercises, all of which are part of spring training.

For Pampa, the three-week period will end May 18 with the 7:30 p.m. Green and Gold scrimmage, which is the highlight of the Harvesters' spring grid program.

"Next year's ball club will be made this spring," said Welborn. "We're going to work with people in positions to see where they can play. Right now every position is up for grabs."

The program will have an emphasis on platooning, which was a successful Welborn technique at Shawnee, Okla., High School. Platooning involves separate teams on offense, defense and the specialty squad. In Pampa's case, there will be three separate teams, which will be unique in this district.

Freshmen, throughout the program, will work against freshmen only, according to Welborn, who added, "unless we have an extremely talented freshman."

Approximately 80 boys have checked out equipment so far and the Pampa coach anticipates that number will get larger within the next couple of days.

Monday, players will work on fundamentals and running the option. "Every youngster will have a chance to perform," said Welborn.

"We start with a warmup period, a relaxed situation, half-speed type thing for about 10 minutes. Then for five minutes we'll go into quick cal (calisthenics)."

Following the exercises, the team will work on fundamentals, such as stance, blocking, tackling and lining up, for approximately 15 minutes. Then the team will work on the option for 20 minutes, which will be followed by a switch for 15 minutes. The switch will let the defense move the ball while the offense plays defense.

The reason for that, said Welborn, is so every player will be able to play both offense and defense, should the need arise in a game because of an injury or other situation.

At approximately 4 p.m. and lasting for 20 minutes, the offense will go full speed against the defense. That will be followed for 15 minutes with the defense running the ball full speed.

At 4:35 p.m., each team (offense and defense) will get one sustained drive, which begins on the 30-yard line (70 yards for a touchdown). That drill will end each day's session.

Welborn will be without the services of two line coaches, James Kauffman and Eugene Jennings, in spring training. Kauffman has accepted the position of first assistant at Duncanville while Jennings will be going to Farwell as head coach and athletic director.

The new Pampa head coach will not have any replacements here until after the current school year is over. Bill Balcomb, Phil Pirkle and Lou Allred will be coming to Pampa from Shawnee, probably in June.

meanwhile, defending champion Jack Nicklaus, the pretournament favorite who is looking for his fifth T of C title, got back into contention with a three under 69. He was bracketed at 212, four under, with Australian Bruce Crampton and Billy Casper, who shot 69 and 68 respectively.

"I was a couple shots lower today," said Nicklaus, who shot a 72 Thursday and a 71 Friday. "Maybe I'll be a couple shots lower again tomorrow and have a chance."

Last in the field of 25 of pro golfers was Lee Trevino at 228, 19 shots behind the pace-setting Charles.

Martin's comments to Brinkman were a carry-over from a dispute which arose following one of Brinkman's calls in the Rangers' 4-3 loss to the Yankees Friday at Shea Stadium. With runners on first and second base and two out in the fourth inning of Friday's contest, Rangers pitcher Steve Hargan walked Jim Mason on a 3-2 pitch Martin and a number of the Ranger players protested the call and at the end of the inning third baseman Jim Fregosi was thumbed out by Brinkman, who was calling balls and strikes behind home plate.

Upon being ejected Saturday, Martin came storming out of the dugout and kicked dirt repeatedly on Brinkman until Frank Lucchesi, one of the Rangers' coaches, and three other umpires rushed over to intervene.

Last year, Brinkman's first in the American League, he and Martin also had a major run-in. Martin was managing the Tigers at the time.

The victory was the Royals' fourth in five games and the loss was Boston's fifth straight on the road.

Fitzmorris, 2-0, recovered from a shaky start when he yielded two runs in the first to beat Boston for the second time this season. Bird thumbed him with the bases loaded and now out in the ninth and got Terry Hughes to strike out and Rick Miller to bounce into a game-ending double play.

meanwhile, defending champion Jack Nicklaus, the pretournament favorite who is looking for his fifth T of C title, got back into contention with a three under 69. He was bracketed at 212, four under, with Australian Bruce Crampton and Billy Casper, who shot 69 and 68 respectively.

Astros Clip Pirates On Nation-Wide TV

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Graig Gross' game-opening single triggered a five-run Houston first inning and the Astros breezed to a 10-7 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday in a nationally-televised game.

The Astros batted for 23 minutes in the first inning, sending 11 men to the plate and two Pirate pitchers to the showers. Gross singled, moved to second on a single by Roger Metzger and scored on Cesar Cedeño's double off the leftfield wall.

Bob Watson drew an intentional walk to load the bases but was forced at second on Lee May's grounder to short, with Metzger scoring.

Cedeño scored the third run of the inning on an infield single by Milt May and that was it for starter Bob Moose, who suffered his third defeat in four decisions. His replacement, John Morlan, walked Doug Rader to fill the bases and Tommy Helms drove in May with a single to center. Winning pitcher Tom Griffin grounded to first. Milt May scoring the Astros' fifth run on the play.

The Pirates got a run back in the bottom of the first on a single by Richie Hebner, a walk to Willie Stargell, and a two-out single up the middle by Dave Parker.

The Astros tagged Pittsburgh reliever Jim Sadowksi, appearing in his first major league game, for two runs in the third when Rader singled, Gross walked and Metzger lined a triple into the rightfield corner.

Houston added two runs off Bruce Kison, the fourth of five Pirate pitchers, in the sixth. Watson led with a single and scored on a double by Lee May. Bob Gallagher, running for May, moved to third on a fly-out and scored on a sacrifice fly by Rader.

Pittsburgh scored two more runs in the ninth on three singles, a double and a wild pitch.

CHOPPED GROUND BALL — Junior third baseman Mike Adair swings at a pitch from Borger hurler Don Keener and chops the ball to the first baseman, who threw to third to force out Tyler Drinnon, in the second inning of Pampa's 3-2 win over Borger Friday in Pampa. The Harvesters, 14-8 overall and 5-3 in district, will travel to Palo Duro Tuesday. (Photo by Bill Kincaid)

Aeros Trailing 1 Game In Playoffs

HOUSTON (UPI) — There will be more than one score to settle between the Houston Aeros and Minnesota Fighting Saints and that's why a record 17,000 fans are expected to show up in St. Paul for Sunday's fourth game of the WHA playoff series.

The Aeros, who flew north Saturday after a week's rest for aging Gordie Howe and crew, hope to, even the semifinal series at two games.

Minnesota's center Mike Walton, who suffered a broken nose in the last encounter, now has some bruised feelings toward the WHA office.

"I get fined $200 and suffer a broken nose and he (John Schella) gets a $50 fine and doesn't even get out," Walton said this week.

As late as Friday Schella said he has not been contacted about any fine, and the league office only said the incident last Sunday was under investigation.

The fisticuffs likely will return to the St. Paul Ice Sunday night as will several Aeros' players slowed previously by the flu.

Chapman Wins Dart Throwing Championship

LONDON (UPI) — American and Swedish challengers to British darts supremacy bowed out in the quarter-finals Saturday and a hometown man won the world championship of darts.

Al Lippman, Philadelphia, Pa., the U.S. Open champion, and Tom Baverfeldt of Stockholm, the Swedish Open champion, invaded the game most at home in the smoky confines of a British pub and ran up against sectional champions from 10 British and Irish districts.

Peter Chapman, a 45-year-old gardener who throws his darts at the Bird in Hand pub at Henley-on-Thames, won the title in a close match with Paul Gosling, 25, of Cornwall.

More than 17,000 enthusiasts turned the great Victorian pile of Alexandra Palace into the world's biggest pub for the occasion.

By the time actress Diana Dors finished presenting trophies the palace's giant hall was awash in beer cans and broken plastic cups.

This was Lippman's second attempt at what is formally known as the International Darts Championship, sponsored by the News of the World newspaper, but which is "the big one, the number one" darts tournament world-wide, Lippman said.

Trophies Presentations Highlight Dolphin Swim Banquet Thursday

The Pampa Dolphin Swim Club's annual banquet was held at the Red Keys Restaurant Thursday night. Trophies and awards were presented to the Dolphin swimmers for their accomplishments during the 1973-74 year.

Approximately 100 people attended the banquet which followed a successful year for the club. At the end of the season, over thirty swimmers were actively participating in the program which doubles the size of the team from the preceding year.

Scott Smith was awarded the first place trophy for improvement points for the club year. Second and third place trophies were presented to Kris Douglass and Cary Smith respectively.

Stacy Williams and Reid Steger tied for fourth place in that competition. Those awards were presented to swimmers who bettered their own individual best times in meets and time trials entered.

The club also presented a trophy to Miss Douglass, the individual member of the team who earned the most team points for the Dolphins in meets entered during the year. Reid Steger finished second, Richard Steger third, Clay Douglass fourth and Cary Smith fifth.

Richard Steger was awarded four trophies for "A" times earned during the year. He qualified in sanctioned AAU meets in the 50 back, 100 back, 100 breast and 200 M.

Ted Brown was presented two trophies for "AA" times gained during the year in the 1650 free and the 500 free. He competed in Dallas this past weekend in the Texas Age Group Swimming Championships, finishing eighth in the 500 free and fifth in the 1650.

All of the swimmers attending the banquet received attendance and participation awards. Kris Douglass, Tony Hartin, Cary Smith, Clay Douglass, Richard Steger, Reid Steger, Stacy Williams, Stacy Ward, Shawn White and Jim Stallings received the first group awards for their attendance and participation.

A second group of swimmers also received participation awards. Those were Sam Gilbert, Tim Hartin, Robbie Hill, Richie Hill, Rob Williams, Chris Alexander, Ronnie Gibson, Scott Smith, James White, Chad Ward and Thad Ward. Other swimmers, most of whom started the program during the year, were also honored. They were Mark Alexander, Gay Carter, Jill Speck, Angela Currier, Joe Gracey, Susan Currier, Bryan Smith, Brandi Ingram, Kevin O'Neal, Jerri Ann Carter, John Carter, Teresa Glascock, Raymond Hill, Kim Campbell and Robin Hill.

The Pampa Harvester swim team and their coach, Bonnie Grantham and athletic director Ed Lehnich attended the banquet as guests of the Dolphins.

Coach Grantham presented the Most Dedicated Harvester Swimmer award for the year to Ted Brown and the Most Improved Swimmer award to Scott Smith. She indicated that the high school swim team, in its first year of organized competition, had 12 swimmers and that she has been advised that 28 swimmers have signed up to try out for next year's team, which indicates an increasing interest in the program and in swimming in Pampa.

Dolphin swim team workouts will continue through May 20, at which time the team will take a summer break. The club will be reorganized when school starts in August and any person interested in participating should contact either Malcolm Douglass or Ruth Steger regarding next year's program.

Beginning next year, there will be two programs available. One 30-minute session for beginning competitive swimmers and an hour session for the more advanced swimmers.

Browning Paces SMU Red To Win

IRVING, Tex. (UPI)—Danny Browning punched across from nine yards out with 36 seconds left Friday night to give the Reds a 35-28 victory over the Blues in the final Southern Methodist spring intrasquad game.

Browning rushed for 67 yards on 12 carries and teammate Brian Duncan gained 75 yards on 15 attempts. David Bostick of the Blues had 101 yards on 14 attempts and two touchdowns.

Quarterback Ricky Wesson scored on a one-yard plunge for the Blues and John Blackburn hit on a three of six passes for 62 yards for the Reds.

"We'll be a tougher football team," Coach Dave Smith said. "I'm not saying we'll win more games than we did last season, but we will definitely be a better team."

Smith said he had made no decision on a starting quarterback.

Jennings Leaving

Line coach Eugene Jennings is the second Pampa football assistant to resign his position and accept a job elsewhere.

Jennings has accepted the position of head football coach and athletic director at Farwell High School in District 3-A. He will leave Pampa at the close of the current school year.

Jennings is replacing Toby Booth, whose teams have been unsuccessful the past two seasons.

"Farwell has a winning tradition and they were looking all over for a coach. They interviewed 40 applicants for the job. I feel real fortunate to get it," said Jennings, a Pampa coach for the past year.

It will not be the first time Jennings has been a head football coach as he came to Pampa in March, 1972, from Silverton, where he was the Owls' chief. Prior to Silverton, he had stints at Ingleside and Belton as an assistant.

About Pampa, Jennings said, "It was a beneficial experience. I'll miss working with the kids I've coached and with the high school administration.

"I think it (the Farwell job) is a real good opportunity and it's a chance to be a head coach again. At Farwell, I think we've got some fairly good material. And it has extremely nice facilities for a Class A school."

The Farwell Steers are in the same district as state runnerup Vega, Hart, Bovina, Springlake - Earth, Kress and Sudan.

Manager, Harvester Lanes

Here are some rules for study and application. I find that many of us forget our bowling etiquette and need to be reminded of it in a friendly way.

1. Be on time and prepare to take your turn on the lane, but remember that the bowler to your right has the right of way. This means to be on the pair of lanes with shoes on and ball in hand when it's your turn and not off visiting some place. By the bowler on your right having the right of way you might also look to your left and see if that bowler is addressing the pins. If so, let him go ahead. You don't need to wait for someone two or three lanes down, though.
2. Stay on your own approach at all times and return to the back of the approach after each delivery. Often times people will try to run out to the sides with the intention of helping the ball down the lane. It doesn't work that way so be careful not to get in front of another bowler. After delivering come off of the approach and wait behind the ball return for the ball. There are bowlers that use the entire approach and it's a great distraction to be standing beside them.
3. Don't try to race the bowler on the next lane to the foul line. This does nothing but throw each of you off. It won't take any longer, in most instances, to wait.
4. Don't harass your competition, but praise them for their achievement. A little friendly joking is fine but to dig and bug your opponent is really unsportsmanlike. We have some new bowlers who need a pat on the back and a word of encouragement. Our regular bowlers like to hear a good word too.
5. Play the game to win, but be a good loser. All of us have known what this means but it is sometimes a problem applying it. Winning is the name of the game but try to be a gracious loser because you can't win them all as much as you'd like to.

Let's all do our part to make our bowling an enjoyable pastime.

Now here are the scores: Men: G. Vaughn 257-609, L. Braswell 206-220-598, J. Evans 256-573, 532, D. Wallace 540, M. Mayes 559, R. Parnell 570, A. Dick 530, R. Loter 222-204-580, L. Loter 234, J. ## SETS 2 RECORDS Junior High Track Team Captures 2nd

CANYON — Hard luck beset Pampa Junior High's ninth-grade track team Friday here as two tracksters sustained injuries which resulted in scratches in three events as Pampa settled for second place behind Hereford LaPlata in the Junior High District Track Meet.

Brian Bailey scratched in both the 220 and long jump because of a leg injury and Benny Fallon, who captured first in the broad jump, broke his arm in the event and was scratched from the 330-yard intermediate hurdles.

Pampa racked up 88 points, including 40 by winning four first-place medals, and placed behind LaPlata, which managed 102. The three schools closest to the leaders were Perryton, 85; Dumas, 64, and Plainview Red, 54.

David Caldwell placed first in the shot with a 56-4 throw and Matt Hudson finished second with a 54-7 toss. Caldwell then set a new record in the discus, winning with 175-11.

Pampa's Phil George high jumped 5-11, which won the event and set a record. Don Hughes cleared 5-8 to place third.

In the long jump, Fallon did 19-9 to win and George placed fifth with 17-4. On Fallon's final jump, he fell backwards, landing on his arm and breaking it. Bailey was originally entered in the long jump but the leg injury kept him from competing in the event.

Ricky Van Hooser placed second in the 880 with 2:11.0 and Ricky Moore captured fifth in the 440 with 56.4. Caldwell and Bailey placed fifth and sixth respectively in the 100 while Caldwell won fifth in the 220 and Bailey could not run.

Don Hughes placed sixth in the 128-yard high hurdles with 17.1. In the 330 intermediates, Barry Phipps of Dumas won the event. Fallon beat Phipps last week in the North Zone Meet.

Pampa's 440-yard relay team of Bailey, Caldwell, Eddie Brown and Moore ran a 4:6.3, good enough for third.

Pampa's eighth-grade entered five boys in the meet. Vern Cave placed third in the shot put, the 880-yard relay team of Todd Chumbley, Dean Smith, Mark Coufal and Ray Lueducke finished fifth and the 440-yard relay team (same members as the 880), captured sixth.

Pampa's eighth-grade acquired 13 points.

The meet closes out Pampa Junior High's track season.

"The thing that I was proudest of," said Coach Harold Moore, "was the fact that at a point it would have been easy to have given up. It's easy to run hard when you're ahead, but the real winners can get up off the ground and keep going.

"I feel that this is the test of winners and I feel like this is what our young men did."

Tealer, Depanon Are Top All-Stars

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Dennis Tealer of the south squad and Jay Depanon of the north are the top shooters on the Texas High School Coaches Association teams for its all-star basketball game this summer.

Tealer, of Gonzales, has an average of 29.4 points per game and Depanon, of Friendship, a 22.3 average.

Jerry Tyson of San Antonio Roosevelt will coach the south team and James Cagle of Midland the north in the July 31 game at Hofheinz Pavilion at Houston.

Harvesters Nudge Dogs With 7th-Inning Base Hit

Pinch hitter Gary Davis singled in the bottom of the seventh inning to drive in Rick Bigham from third base as Pampa edged the Borger Bulldogs, 3-2, Friday afternoon at Pampa's Optimist Park.

The victory keeps Pampa, with a 5-3 record, two games behind Caprock, 7-1 after an 8-5 win over Tascosa Friday. In the other district game, Palo Duro whipped Amarillo High, 14-5.

With the Harvesters leading, 2-1, going into the seventh inning, Borger scored to tie the game and force Pampa to bat in the bottom of the frame. Harvester catcher Ron Willett dropped the third strike on Dean Florer, who reached first on the catcher's error. A base hit by Chuck Kelley moved Florer to third and a fielder's choice scored Florer on the next play.

Pampa, in the bottom of the inning, came back as second baseman Bigham singled and advanced to second on a sacrifice bunt by shortstop Toddy Black. Davis, who pinch hit for Willett, batted in the run, lining a single to the outfield.

Pampa acquired its 2-1 lead with two runs in the third. Borger got one in the fifth.

The Harvesters' third-inning tallies came as Bigham doubled, Black reached on an error by shortstop Richard Tabor, Tyler Drinnon singled to knock in Bigham and Robby Harris singled to score Black.

David Edwards got the win for Pampa, pitching seven innings, giving up five hits, walking two and striking out 12. Heis now 5-1 for the season.

The losing pitcher was Don Keener, who relieved starter Gary Benton in the third. Kenner yielded eight hits and all three Pampa runs. He struck out four and walked one.

Pampa, 14-8 for the season, will travel to Palo Duro Tuesday.

Yankees, Cleveland Deal 7 Players

NEW YORK (UPI)—The last link to the New York Yankees' famed wife-swapping incident a year ago has been neatly severed.

Fritz Peterson, the principle figure in that episode, was traded to the Cleveland Indians Friday night as part of a seven-player deal that involved six pitchers and a potential All-Star first baseman.

The Yankees, obviously not subscribers to the theory that pitching is 90 per cent of baseball, unloaded 40 per cent of their pitching staff by sending starters Peterson and Steve Kline along with relievers Fred Beene and Tom Buskey to Cleveland for starting pitcher Dick Tidrow, reliever Cecil Upshaw and first baseman Chris Chambliss.

The deal, which began unfolding months ago, was consummated in the seventh inning of Friday night's game between the Yankees and the Texas Rangers and Yankee General Manager Gabe Paul indicated the club might have a few more deals in the works during the next few days.

Reaction of Shock
The immediate reaction among the Yankee players was one of shock, but Peterson, a 32-year-old left-hander who had fallen out of favor with Manager Bill Virdon, was looking forward to a change of scenery.

"I had asked the Yankees to trade me this spring," Peterson said.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite continued turmoil in the area, students of Middle Eastern antiquity have managed to salvage another set of ancient Dead Sea scrolls.

As many readers are aware, the parchments presently being restored appear to be a sequel to the Biblical account of the origin of the Ten Commandments.

But some scholars believe the scrolls deal with another event entirely.

To refresh your memory, they tell of a chosen leader named Mozus, or Mozis, who descends from a mountaintop with two stone tablets supposed to bear 10 communications from God.

However, two of the communications are missing and a third has been partially expunged.

Mozus, or Mozis, explains that the missing communications never existed and that the deleted portion was accidentally obliterated by a stonemason named Rosh Muri.

This leads to a fierce dispute between the chosen leader and tribal elders, some of whom seek to have him banished into the wilderness. So far, so good.

Later translations now available show that the chosen leader was sorely beset by two zealous scribes, each interpreting the law according to his own lights.

One scribe, Jawar of Skee, insisted the two tablets that Mozus, or Mozis, brought down from the mountain were too fragmentary to provide a clear understanding of God's will.

He demanded that the chosen leader return to the peak and bring forth 64 additional communications. But Mozus, or Mozis, protested that these tablets were too heavy for him to carry.

The other scribe, Dai or Dor, likewise regarded the two tablets as inadequate.

He demanded that Mozus, or Mozis, turn over to the elders 42 additional communications, that they might better judge what God wanted them to do.

And Mozus, or Mozis, was exceedingly wroth.

He likened the two scribes to fishers who cast their nets upon the waters knowing not what might lie beneath the waves.

Whereupon the chosen leader went forth among the multitudes and spake unto them saying that the communications already in the hands of the elders contained all that they needed to know.

This is as far as the scrolls have been translated, so it is not yet clear whether the Lord was on his side.

But it looks as if Mozus, or Mozis, is going to need all the help he can get.

DESPITE EISENHOWER'S RULING

Prisoner Hoping For Clemency

LA TUNA, Tex. (UPI) — Richard A. Hagelberger, sentenced to be hanged for murder 22 years ago, hopes his record as a model prisoner will convince President Nixon to set him free.

Hagelberger, 41, has 33 years left on a sentence commuted to 55 years by President Dwight D. Eisenhower. In commuting the sentence, Eisenhower "expressed the hope that no future president would grant any further clemency," according to U.S. pardon attorney Lawrence M. Traylor.

Eisenhower's vice president is now president, but Hagelberger hopes last week's decision by the Supreme Court to consider the case of another prisoner whose sentence Eisenhower commuted with a "no clemency" provision will help his plight.

Executive Clemency

"I know that executive clemency is my only recourse," Hagelberger said. "The past and present connections between Eisenhower doesn't brighten the picture any. I know I can only hope my record for the past 21 years will help compensate for this."

Hagelberger, an Army private at the time, was sentenced to be hanged for the murder of two German civilians.

"I have never claimed that I was not involved in a crime, and a serious one at that," Hagelberger said. "But I do believe at this time I should be given the chance to prove that my involvement in the crime was not intentional and nothing like it would ever happen again. I believe I could become a useful, productive citizen if given the chance."

Hagelberger has arranged to live with his sister and her husband on a farm outside of Seminole, Tex., if he is pardoned. He also has arranged for a job.

Regretful and Sad
"I know that it is not enough to say I am sorry for what I did," he said. "Neither does keeping me in here help any. The only way that I can show I am sorry and regret my past is by becoming a good citizen."

Hagelberger has earned an exemplary work record in prison, so good in fact that he has been transferred to a medium security visit and is allowed supervised weekend furloughs to visit his sister.

STORE STUFF ON TOP OF

Yes, an electric water heater is the only one you can store stuff on top of. There's no flue or vent, all you need are water pipes and an electrical outlet, so you can put an electric water heater almost anywhere you need hot water fast. Put one under the kitchen sink, next to your laundry facilities, even in the bathroom! An electric water heater is insulated on all sides. That keeps the water hot and makes the tank cool to the touch so you can even store stuff all around your water heater, when it's electric!

'Eating For Health' Culture Club Topic

Mrs. J.J. Rance was hostess to the Civic Culture Club, April 23 in the Flame Room. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. A.D. Hills. After the reading of the minutes by Mrs. Carl Smith, secretary, and the treasurer's report by Mrs. George Neef, Mrs. Hills announced the progress of the commemorative plate sale. She also drew the attention of the club to the "Friends of the Library" Week's activities.

Mrs. A.B. Cross shared the contents of a letter she had received, asking for the nomination of an outstanding young civic worker in the community. Mrs. W.F. Taylor extended a cordial invitation to the members of the club to the May 3 Wayside Celebration.

Mrs. D.A. Rife introduced Mrs. Emmett Osborne, whose program was "Eating for Health."

"A well-planned meal," Mrs. Osborne said, "is (according to a well-known rhyme): Something soft and something crisp should always go together. And something hot with something cold, no matter what the weather."

Something bland needs the complement of something with tang and nip. Follow these rules and all your meals will have taste appeal and zip.

Planning allows the necessary time for preparing foods so it becomes an enjoyable activity rather than a chore. Preparing food artistically and tastily can be as satisfying as the artist's creation on canvas. Today with the price of food as high as it is, and it is going higher, we need to really plan and study to know what is the best buy and what gives us the best in nutritional values. Careful planning and avoiding waste can mean a great saving as well as better care of yourself and your family, she told.

Planning includes economical-type buying of foods, arranging for their use in later meals and avoiding unnecessary waste. Try to shop with a written, planned list — and not in a rush. Read labels and compare ingredients and cost per ounce, etc., she continued.

"Let's look at the Basic '7': each day include foods from each group. Group one: Green and yellow vegetables: dark green or bright yellow, fresh, frozen, canned. One or more servings a day — can be eaten raw; necessary for normal growth, good skin condition, and to prevent night blindness.

Group two: Citrus foods. Oranges, tomatoes, grapefruit. One or more servings a day of any one of the citrus fruits, tomatoes, raw cabbage, or salad greens are essential for healthy connective tissue, strong and elastic blood vessels, and to prevent bleeding gums.

Group three: Potatoes and other vegetables and fruits. Two or more servings a day — raw, dried, cooked, frozen, canned. Necessary for growth and normal function of the body.

Group four: Milk and milk products (cheese, cottage cheese). Milk may be skim or whole, dry or liquid, evaporated or condensed. One and a half pints to one quart of milk for each child per day. One pint per day for adults. Vitamin D milk is especially valuable for children. Can be used in cooking to assure family getting this quota. This builds strong bones and teeth.

Group five: Meat, poultry, fish and eggs. One serving of meat, poultry or fish daily. Liver once a week. Occasionally dried beans or peas can be substituted for meat. We should limit eggs to not more than 4 per week. This group of foods necessary for normal rate of growth and repair of body.

Group six: Bread, flour and cereals: Three or more servings a day: whole-grain or enriched flour and restored or enriched cereals for minerals and vitamins. Protein-rich foods are as a rule more expensive. Breads and cereals, less expensive, can also be depended on for part of the daily protein needed, especially so when served with milk. This group necessary for energy and normal growth, healthy nervous system and skin, and to stimulate appetite.

Group seven: Butter and fortified margarine. Use for a spread and in cooking. These fats contribute food values other than calories. Necessary to promote growth. Builds resistance to disease.

How to explain why religion isn't free

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: As a newly ordained minister I frequently find myself in the uncomfortable position of having to explain why the church is always asking for money.

One of my parishioners told me that some years back you had a letter in your column which posed that very question, and your answer was the best.

Can you please try to locate that letter, and print it again? Gratefully,
A PREACHER

DEAR PREACHER: I've found it. And here it is:

"DEAR ABBY: We are not overly religious people, but we do like to go to church once in a while. It seems to me that every time we turn around in church, we are getting hit for money. I thought religion was free. I realize that churches have to have some money but I think it is getting to be a racket. Just what do churches do with all their money?"
CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: Even priests, ministers, and rabbis must eat. And since they work full-time at their tasks, the churches must support them. Staff, professional choir members, and musicians also must be paid. Buildings must be maintained, heated, lighted and beautified. [And, of course, first they must be built.] Custodial staff must eat and feed their families. Most churches engage in philanthropic work [aid to needy, missions, and education]; hence, they have their financial obligations. Even orchids, contrary to folklore, do not live on air. Churches can't live on air, either. Religion, like water, may be free, but when they pipe it to you, you've got to help pay for the piping. And the piper!"

DEAR ABBY: Before a trip last year I bought my husband a bikini swim suit. He wore it to the beach and you should have seen the heads turn. He has a great physique and looked gorgeous.

My problem is, he won't wear it again. He says men shouldn't wear anything so revealing in public. When I remind him that he wore it on our vacation and attracted a lot of attention, he says: "They were laughing at me. That's why I'm not wearing it again."

Abby, we've finally liberated women so they can wear next to nothing and get away with it. Why not men?

Maybe if you gave your approval he'd wear that sexy-looking bikini again.
BETTY

DEAR BETTY: Get off his gorgeous back. Women who reveal too much lose much of their appeal. And that goes double for men.

DEAR ABBY: My grandson, a high school senior, and I have been going round-and-round on this one:

I sent his sister, a college student, a birthday card by mail. He said he intended to give her her card when we met to take her out to dinner on her day.

My opinion was that he was skirting the outer edges of propriety in handing his sister a birthday card. He said it didn't make any difference and suggested I write to Dear Abby for her opinion.
GRAMP

DEAR GRAMP: I'm with your grandson. It doesn't matter if a congratulatory message is delivered by mail, the king's messenger or in person. It's being remembered that counts.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69706, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212.

Cotillion Members Present Opportunity Plan Donation

Twentieth Century Cotillion Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Al Smith with Mrs. Dan Puckett, hostess. Harvey Allen, President of the Opportunity Plan, Inc., and Milton (Buff) Morris, founder and Executive Vice-President of Opportunity Plan, Inc. were present to accept a check in the amount of $2200 from Cotillion members as a result of their annual Antique Show and Sale.

Morris told members that their division alone had helped 43 students in the past 11 years, and they now have 13 students still in school. There are 17 previous students still paying back to the fund and there were no delinquents.

The Opportunity Plan has helped 153 students from Gray County (including White Deer, Lefors and Skellytown).

Other guests attending were Anastasia Mama from the Island of Cyprus and her Pampa mother, Mrs. Earl Davis. Anastasia is an American Field Service exchange student and has been in Pampa since last August. She brought many pieces of handwork with her and told of her life on Cyprus and her family. Refreshments of lemon pound cake and banana split cake and coffee were served to 17 members and four guests.

The last meeting of the year will be a salad luncheon to be held in the home of Mrs. Jim Campbell, May 7 at 1 p.m. All members are asked to bring a salad.

FASHIONETTES

A woman can glitter and gleam in this fall's evening flash-ons, as Mildred Sullivan calls them. She is director of the New York Couture Business Council. The flash-ons include: satin pajamas in black or in neon-like brights, often with a '30s jacquard patterns. They include glittering knit separates in patterns of many colors, subtle gleams of silk jacquard in elegant put-togethers, long dresses, cut velvet blousons shot with gold. "All that glitters looks great... for understated evening glamor," says Miss Sullivan.

Girl watchers will hail "the return of the leg at night" for fall and winter. It's returning via the short evening dress. But more than the leg is returning. Shoulders were bared by most of these dresses seen during previews of fall and winter clothes in New York.

Library Notes

By MARY FATHEREE
National Library Week is officially ended, but the Friends of the Pampa Library's real effort is just beginning now that the Book Fair is only a week away.

Donations of books and magazines are still coming in—and Book Fair chairman, Mrs. Joe Donaldson, expects that around 4,000 books will be offered for sale next Saturday, May 4, in the main conference room of Lovett Memorial Library.

The sale is open to the public between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Patrons of the sale are asked to enter the library at the north door opening on to Kingsmill street.

Mrs. Donaldson says that books will be grouped according to type, and magazines according to the specialties they feature, so that the buyer will find it easier to make selections.

Many of the books are priced as low as 5 cents, and no single volume is priced higher than $1.

No one will want to miss this chance to enrich his home library and at the same time to help to provide our public library with new equipment. So come to the Book fair, Saturday, May 4.

Mrs. James Malone gave such a delightful review of Celestine Sibley's "Sweet Apple Gardening" Tuesday, that all of us who heard her rushed home to our hoes and seed packets with fresh resolve to start digging right away.

After various attempts at organic gardening and such esoteric arts as Japanese flower arranging, the author decides to return to the old-fashioned methods that have always brought pleasure to her family, her friends, and herself.

Anyone who has ever worked with flowers and other growing things can empathize with the author in her successes—and in her failures.

Friends of the Pampa Library held its annual meeting for the entire membership last Monday and elected the following officers for the coming year: president, Mrs. M. McDaniel; vice president, Mrs. David Fatherree; secretary, Mrs. Homer Johnson, and treasurer, Joe Page.

Arts And Crafts Told To Varietas

Mrs. L.B. Penick presented the program for Varietas Study Club at the home of Mrs. Otis Nace on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Clyde Ellis, president, presided.

Mrs. Jack Morrison was welcomed as a new member.

Plans were made for the salad luncheon to be held at the home of Mrs. Ellis at noon on May 14.

The program was on arts and crafts and carried the sub-topic, "Happiness is a Hand-Made Article." Mrs. Penick spoke on "Do Your Own Thing" and discussed the various types of hand work in the past and the present. She stressed the fact that any creative work is considered as art, including cake-baking, flower-raising, or song-writing, as well as the making of decorative articles—and that happiness is a by-product of creative activity.

telling where each originated and the purpose for which it was created. She then listed the kinds of work that are now being done in the making of hand-crafted articles, showing examples of each kind. She discussed picture-making, transferring, kinds of crochets, pearlizing, needle point, weaving, quilt-making, and others. Her exhibit included pictures, crochets, calendars, purses, illustrations of early American and oriental hand work, and many others.

Following the talk, club members exhibited the hand work which they had brought, showing quilts, afghans, ceramic pieces, crochets, pillows, purses, and others.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

MONDAY, APRIL 29
Your birthday today: Getting down to basic causes, knowing and understanding them, forms the guidelines for your year. It is a time to jettison everything that has failed of its purpose, and a test of your wisdom in recognizing whether it has. Any drawback you suffer is generated from within.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Concentrate on a new start, particularly with creative projects. Being early puts you ahead of the crowd, gives you wider freedom of action.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Clean house today, literally and figuratively. Whatever can be brought to conclusions should be. Gather old friends for long talk, nostalgic interests revisited.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Routine can be taken as a pleasant relaxation if you are accurate and thoughtful of details as you go. Social contacts are favored, day and night.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Planning, yes; action, maybe or better, no. It's not a day to go off on a mad tangent. Share the nicer things of your life this evening.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: With everybody else being pleasant and doing nothing more than is necessary, it's largely up to you to supply the energy for your own prosperity.

SUNDAY, APRIL 28

Your birthday today: Productivity, however you achieve it, is the main factor this year. Old solutions do not resolve new problems, and nearly all of the difficulty is of sorts which until now you have been spared. You may find enough of a path thru the tangles to blaze a trail for many others to follow. Keep notes, confide in people as you go. Today's natives are intense, apt to take a course contrary in direction and intent merely for the sake of difference.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Home and its immediate area is far enough for your roaming this Sunday, and complex enough a blend at that. Uneven forces keep things lively.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Be critical of written or printed commentary, but not of people's thinking or beliefs. Improvisation, one of your natural talents, serves you well.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Resolve question relating to work then you are quite free to make the most of this Sunday. Several phases or moods are probable, so you needn't be upset by passing trivia.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: The less significant the reason, the more likely it is to be used as a marker in a psychological game. If you can spot the game and stay out of it so much the better.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Your solitude is occupied with reflection, thinking. Skip any recriminations—there's no basis, since whatever has come to pass is not all of your doing.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Make your plans known to everybody concerned before each one develops a conflicting scheme. You'll forego some routine companionship, in any case.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Your money should remain

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: You tend to jump first in one direction, then another. If you will accept things as they actually are more than what they might be, it can be a delightful day.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: While social and business connections seem quiet, uninspiring, your endeavors rack up quite a great achievement which carries on for the long future.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Nothing is gained by scrapping achieved progress or skimming on the costs of keeping things going. Making the already existing plans go is your chore.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Revisions of your whole viewpoint are needed. Figure out what is best instead of just plunging in and doing something without plotting your course.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: A drastic move can very well wait a few more days, may prove unnecessary. Get the facts all into the record; gather notes, figures, and line up your plans.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Expect nothing special or unusual today; be content to retire old obligations, carry out promises. Group discussions explain away vague discrepancies.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Much can be done to make way for a brighter future; dispose of old nuisances, unwanted materials, obsolete possessions of any sort. It's a good working day.

strictly under your own exclusive jurisdiction, however difficult the task of keeping it that way may turn out to be.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Digressions from intended subjects bring up comment. Keep your story straight before wandering into other reports, avoid confusion and wasted energy.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Take the time to check things out, read details yourself, pay attention to what you are promising as well as what you are promised.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Anything will do to set off endless rounds of discussion, even though you're not called on to start. Side effects: Benefits from better understanding.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Now comes the harvest of some of your theories. Be happy if the people who care take the trouble to sort things out and forgive whatever they do not understand.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Travel, information from a distance does not bring expected results. Anything mechanical or electrical should be used with caution, instructions followed implicitly.

It's the curds that make the cheese, but what happens to the whey? Why, the watery residue that's left after the curds have been pressed out from the milk, is very nutritious. It's long been used for animal foods (just check the label on your dog food package!) but now University of Maryland researchers have come up with something different. They added sugar, lemon and lime flavors to whey and came up with daiquiri and whiskey sour mixes. By adding whey to fruit-flavored drinks, they can make them more nutritious.

Randy Cain Speaks To Twentieth Century Club

The Twentieth Century Club met in the home of Mrs. Loyd Hamilton. Mrs. Gene Steel, president, presided. Mrs. Rex Rose opened the meeting in leading the members in the club collect and the Pledges to the American and Texas flags.

Mrs. Tom Wilkinson, secretary, called the roll and read the minutes of the preceding meeting.

Mrs. Stowers, incoming president, announced that the Twentieth Century club will be the hostess club for the Presidents Brunch this coming September. Mrs. Tom Wilkinson was named Menu Chairman. Mrs. Luther Robinson will have charge of the program.

Randy Cain was introduced to the club members by his grandmother, Mrs. Frank Culbertson. She told the ladies that Randy is serving as state president of the Distributive Education Clubs of Texas and will seek presidency of the national DECA organization during its convention starting this weekend in Chicago. This Pampa Senior will also compete for the title of outstanding DE student in a national level.

Randy explained to the ladies the structure of the DECA program on a local level. He said the program enabled a student to explore the career in which he is interested. One hour of classroom work is required each day plus a minimum of twenty hours a week on the job training. The student is graded by his employer and also on his classwork. The DECA program also works in the community. This past year they did a survey on Pampan's buying habits.

This survey is invaluable to our merchants and would have cost our Chamber of Commerce at least $2-thousand dollars had it been done by professionals. Randy also told of the program on a District and National level. Students have opportunities to compete in a number of contests. Salesmanship, Speech, Display and Job interview are some. Pampa students have done very well in the above mentioned. At these Conventions the DECA members share their knowledge and are inspired by the ideas of other young men and women.

Refreshments were served to 19 members and two guests, namely, Mrs. Laura Stowers and Mrs. Susanne Patterson.

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

By FRED KARPIN

A most enthusiastic bridge player was the late Karl T. Compton, world-renowned physicist and former president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In his address to the 1948 graduates of M.I.T., he stated that many years earlier the net result of 40 letters he wrote applying for a job was one offer of an instructorship at $600 per year at the University of Colorado.

"I felt very much discouraged," said Dr. Compton, "but finally the problem was solved, not because of any competence of mine as a physicist, but because I had been a pretty good bridge partner for another graduate student who had been the assistant of a man just selected as president of a new college. He wrote in my behalf to the new college president, and I suspect he said something like this: 'If you haven't as yet selected your physics teacher, I can recommend a pretty good bridge player.'"

Here is an example of Dr. Compton in action. He was sitting South.

Both sides vulnerable.

South deals.

Opening lead: Ten of ♠.
 Dr. Compton won the opening lead with his king of clubs, after which he cashed the ace and king of trumps. To trick four he led the jack of hearts out of the dummy. When East followed suit with his four-spot, Dr. Compton performed played the king. As is evident, the king won the trick. Eventually, East made his diamond king, for the defenders' only trick.

As can be observed, if East had taken his ace of hearts, the slam contract would have been defeated. But, as East viewed the situation, it might well have been that South possessed the doubleton K-x of hearts, and that if East played low (as he did), South would have to guess whether to put up the king (hoping that East had the ace), or to play low (hoping that East had the queen). And East was not going to eliminate South's guess by putting up the ace.

From Dr. Compton's position, the lead of dummy's jack of hearts—to create an illusion—was the correct psychological play. If he had led a low heart instead, East might well have played his ace. There would then have been no story to tell.

Mrs. Stallings Is Culture Club Hostess

The Twentieth Century Culture Club met Tuesday, April 23, in the home of Mrs. J.M. Stallings, 1724 Grape. Mrs. Doyle Osborne was co-hostess. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Ross Buzzard, president.

Mrs. Stallings, program chairman, read a poem of her own composition, which was dedicated to the members of the club in appreciation of their programs for the year. She then introduced the program for the day, "Broth and Cloth," which was given by Mrs. Milo Carlson and Mrs. WYATT Lemons. Mrs. Carlson's subject was "The Food We Eat - Where On Earth Did It Come From?" She had prepared an interesting game, listing fruits and vegetables of all kinds, and asking the members to name the region, from a world map, where each food originated. She then revealed some very interesting facts about each of the foods, including the place of origin of each one.

Mrs. Lemons gave a short introduction regarding the Music Man HOLLYWOOD (UPI) - Composer-conductor Jerry Fielding, of "The Wild Bunch" and "Straw Dogs" fame, will conduct the musical score for "The Outfit," a Carter DeHaven production.

In 1966, the average hourly wage of a production worker was $2.72 an hour. By 1972 it had risen to $3.81 an hour. At the same time, it took 11 minutes of work in 1966 to make enough to purchase one-half gallon of milk at the store; in 1972 it took 9.4 minutes of work to make enough to buy that one-half gallon of milk.

unlimited array of fabrics we have today to choose from, for making clothing, decorating the home, etc. She then showed a film, entitled "A Tale of Two Costumes," from Leiter's, Inc., who sell designer fabrics from all parts of the world. The film featured a leading fashion designer, Fausto Campuzano, as he constructed two costumes, a daytime two-piece suit and a long-skirt evening costume; both were made from one pattern, with slight modification.

The narration explained in detail each step in the construction of the garments. His selection of fabrics and his techniques in fitting and sewing them were an interesting insight in the profession of fine fashion design.

Members present besides those mentioned were Mmes. J.L. Chase, J.R. Donaldson, M.K. Griffith, E.W. Hogan, Myron A. Marx, B.R. Nunn, James A. Poole, E.E. Shelhamer, L.J. Zachry, and an honorary member, Mrs. V.L. Hobbs.

Napping Good Idea

Chicago (NFS) - The Chinese have a word that may explain their imperturbability, advises Sally Ames, sleep consultant to the Spring Air Mattress Company, Chicago.

Reporting on an article in the journal, Medical Opinion, Miss Ames says: "The word is hsiuhsi (pronounced shew-shee), which is the universal practice in China of noontime napping."

According to the article, she says, nearly everybody in China takes a noontime nap, and she thinks it may be one of the reasons why the Chinese appear to be serene and relaxed.

Pointing out that most physicians in this country prescribe a midday snooze for heart patients, Miss Ames says: "It is relaxing, and if you can, try it."

A Good Landscape Pays

COLLEGE STATION - "Any way you look at it, a well-planned landscape is a good investment."

That's the contention of Everett Janne, landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"In addition to providing beauty, a $200 investment in trees and shrubs can bring a return of $1,000 within 10 years," says Janne. "And on the real estate market, a well-landscaped house or apartment building sells faster and at a higher price than one that is not landscaped."

Although it is best to draw up landscape plans before a house is constructed in order to take advantage of existing features, it is never too late for landscaping. Existing plans can also be renovated at any time.

"When a new house is being built, landscaping funds should be included in the budget," advises the Texas A&M University System specialist.

A simple plan, drawn up before any planting is done, can aid in developing the various yard areas to their fullest potential.

"In making landscape plans, let simplicity lead the way," suggests the horticulturist. "Remember that a tree or shrub must have adequate growing room to reach its full potential. Also, keep in mind the amount of maintenance you have time for."

Most homeowners first consider the front area, or approach to the house since it provides the setting. However, don't hid the house by planting a forest, cautions Janne.

"The outdoor living area should receive major emphasis. It should meet the special needs and interests of the family members and be readily accessible to the indoor living area."

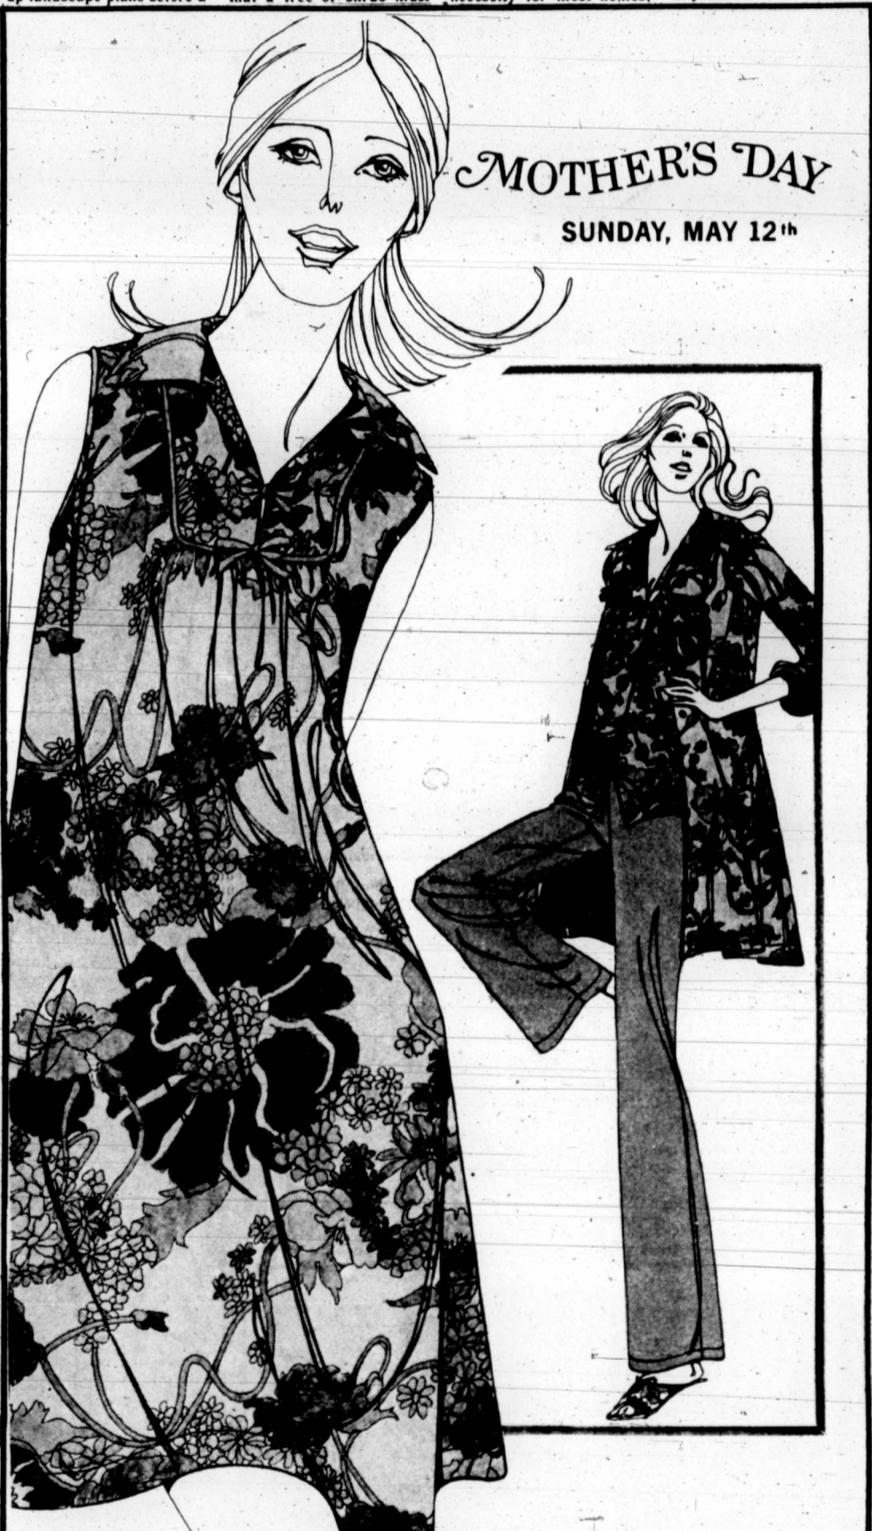

The service area, a necessity for most homes, may include space for a garbage can, tool storage, compost pile and drying facilities. It is usually screened from public view and should be convenient to the kitchen, utility room and garage.

For help in drawing up a suitable landscape plan, consult a professional landscape architect or obtain reference books from the garden section of a library or bookstore, adds Janne.

Texas, known for its wide open prairie land, has cut nearly a million board feet of lumber per year for the past 30 years.

The Cancer Seminar in Amarillo May 1 at the Hilton Inn is open to the public. If you can not attend all day, you might want to attend part of the day's activities. I have copies of the program and would be happy to mail them to anyone interested.

Plant flowering bedding plants now — and enjoy them all spring and summer. Setting out started plants provides a display weeks sooner than if starting from seed. They offer a wide range of growth habits, sizes and flowers. For example, some zinnias are three - feet tall with single flowers measuring about six inches. In contrast, another zinnia matures at less than eight - to 10 - inches in height and features clusters of tiny button flowers, scarcely an inch across.

Popularity of the begonia has risen recently. Well adapted to much of Texas, begonias thrive in partially shaded areas. In addition to use as bedding plants, recently introduced hybrids and improved strains do well in pots and hanging baskets.

When transplanting a bedding plant of any kind, handle the roots carefully. Subject them to as little injury as possible. To separate plants purchased in bands, trays, or flats, slice downward in the soil between plants. Lift out each plant with a block of soil, and set into a planting hole.

For best results, water trays or flats the evening before transplanting them.

As for mulches, they reduce moisture evaporation from surface soil and make weeds easier to pull up.

Mayor R.D. Wilkerson has signed a Proclamation proclaiming the week of April 28 - May 4 Beta Sigma Phi Week in Pampa. During the week Founder's Day will be observed celebrating the 43rd year of existence.

Beta Sigma Phi, a social, cultural and service organization has 250,000 members in 10,500 Chapters organized in 24 countries of the free world. The organization is not connected with any school or college. It is non-political and non-sectarian. The keynote of Beta-Sigma Phi is friendship.

Chapters of five different degrees meet the growing needs of various age groups. Members are active in small Chapter groups and each Chapter adapts the plans for social, civic, and service and cultural activities to fit the interests of its own members. Pampa has six chapters including Phi Epsilon Beta, Upsilon, Rho Eta, Xi Beta Chi, Xi Theta Iota, and Preceptor Chi. All these chapters are tied together by the Pampa City Council comprised of representatives of each of the six chapters.

Internationally the chapters have created three special funds: The International Loan Fund, through which members help one another; the International Endowment Fund, through which vast sums have been donated to cancer research; cystic fibrosis, homes for underprivileged children, and many other causes; and the Exemplar Fund, which helps to support Literacy Village in India.

Locally the individual chapters participate in many of the charitable drives and ventures of the city. As combined chapters, under the direction of City Council money is raised each year in order that Beta Sigma Phi may present a scholarship to a deserving Pampa High School senior. The New Year's Eve dance has become an annual project to raise this money.

BSP SCHOLARSHIP — Darrell Carey, 18, son of Mrs. Myrtle Carey, 701 S. Ballard, receives word from Beta Sigma Phi members that he is the recipient of the $1000 scholarship the local chapters present each year to a graduating Pampa High School senior. Darrell plans to attend West Texas State University and study law. Others in photo are from left, Mrs. Nita Hill, scholarship chairman; Mrs. Valta Trusty, City Council president; and Mrs. Debbie Stokes, City Council president-elect. (Photo by Bill Kincaid)

This year's recipient is Darrell Carey. The Founder's Day celebration on April 30 at the Pampa Country Club marks the 43rd anniversary of the founding. The organization was founded in Abilene, Kan., by Walter W. Ross. The anniversary will be observed by the six chapters here in Pampa and by all other chapters around the world. Among the awards to be presented will be the Outstanding Girl of the Year of each chapter.

Pampa Beta Sigma Phi's also honor one outstanding Pampa woman as The Woman of the Year at a tea in April. This year's most deserving recipient is Mrs. Louise Sewell.

Fatigue blamed for accidents
NEW YORK (UPI) — Most accidents happen at mid morning and mid afternoon. Many of these can be blamed on fatigue. That's why a University of Illinois safety specialist recommends the relaxation of a "coffee break."
Excessive noise leads to fatigue and hence helps cause accidents, says the expert, Ordie L. Hogsett, in an article in the Journal of the American Water Works Association. Anger also makes people more accident prone. Hogsett says it reduces vision, perception and judgment.
Clothes pests
CUPERTINO, Calif. (UPI) — The California Fabricare Institute says moths and silverfish are waiting for your clothes whether or not they're wool. The Institute says any fabric with food or dirt spots on it is delicious to the gambling vermin.

Vocational Aid Project Prepares For Better Jobs

The Altrusa Club of Pampa met in Coronado Inn April 22, with president, Mrs. C.L. Sullins, presiding.

Committee reports were given. Mrs. Malcolm McDaniel reported on the Founders Fund Vocational Aid project of Altrusa International. The purpose of this project is to train women in preparing for new or better jobs. The minimum grant is $50 and the maximum is $350. Mrs. Haythen Smith, the present recipient, now in training at Highland General Hospital, was introduced by Miss Rosemary Lawlor.

Miss Ila Pool gave a summary of the history of Altrusa International which was organized in Nashville, Tenn. April 11, 1917. It was patterned after the Kiwanis Club which was then two years old.

In addition to the FFVA project, Altrusa International has another project known as Grants - in - Aid. Each local club aids in providing grants to train foreign students in special graduate courses.

Included in the history Miss Pool told the local Altrusa Club and Mrs. Inez Carter have presented 47 scholarships to senior girls. A high school girl, called the Altrusa Girl, is honored each month.

Here's a meatless, hearty snack which will please all members of the family. Cheesy Onion Broil. Saute 2 medium onions, thinly sliced, in 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) of butter, seasoned with 1/2 teaspoon salt. Butter 6 slices of toast and place on broiler pan. Spread each slice with 1 tablespoon chili sauce, then divide onions over toast. Top each with a thick slice of Cheddar cheese and broil until the cheese melts.

have received the Founders Fund Vocational Aid grants. Other Altrusa projects include Senior Center, Career Clinic, Arthritis Foundation, Genesis House and contributions of time and money to other projects.

Mrs. Irl Smith prepared and presented a skit, "Pantaloons Prissies" to advertise the Leadership Training Seminar to be held in Odessa May 4, with Miss Vermell Meador as chairman.

It's the season for salads as the weather turns warmer. But a salad is often only as good as its dressing. Here's a zippy concoction that will bring out the best in your crisp vegetable combinations: blend 1 1/2 cups of cottage cheese with 1/2 cup French dressing, 1/4 cup crumbled Blue cheese and 1 tablespoon prepared mustard. Chill well before using. Keep covered in a jar.

Mrs. Langford was in charge of the meeting and she announced that the regular Royal Service will be next Wednesday, May 1. This will be a luncheon at 12 noon and study at 12:45 p.m. at the church. She also reminded the group of the creative arts contest and that Mrs. Chuck Eckhart is chairman for this.

The group gave donations for the April mission action project. This is to assist in an EEG test for a Pampa child in a foster home.

Mrs. John Glover taught the Bible lesson from Luke 4 "Jesus Announces His Ministry" was the theme of the study.

Attending the meeting were Mmes. David Hutto, Bob Muns, Stovall, Allen, Glover, Langford and Miss Everly.

Investment Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Last week's short-lived upward flurry has quickly resulted in a sharp selloff which has brought most major averages to their lowest levels since this intermediate decline began in early March.

Merkin & Co., Inc. Several of the major averages have hit their lowest levels of the year, it continues, so any strength over the next two weeks could lead to a substantial upward move while marked weakness could result in a severe decline. "Traders are advised to remain on the sidelines until the technical picture has been clarified," the firm adds.

Stepped-up borrowing by the developing nations may put a heavy strain on Eurocurrency markets unless creditworthiness is properly assessed, according to Continental Bank of Chicago. "One half of the more than $80 billion debt outstanding of developing nations is concentrated in 10 countries, and another 12 countries account for an additional 25 per cent," the bank says. Debt servicing costs for the developing nations have topped $17 billion a year and further borrowing is expected to increase this burden," it adds.

The average tornado in the United States does its damage along a path of about four miles, National Geographic says.

1 Card Of Thanks

LEONA STURGILL
Safely Home
I am home in heaven, dear ones. All's so happy, all so bright. There's perfect joy and beauty in this everlasting light. All the pain and grief are over. Every restless tossing passed. I am now at peace forever. Safely home in heaven at last. Did you wonder I so calmly? Trod the Valley of the Shadow? Oh, but Jesus' love illumined Every dark and fearful glade. And He came Himself to meet me In the way so hard to tread. And with Jesus' arm to lean on, Could I have one doubt or dread? Then you must not grieve so sorely, Or I love you dearly still. Try to look beyond my shadows, Pray to trust our Father's will. There is work still waiting for you. So you must not idle stand. Do your work while life remaineth. You shall rest in Jesus' land. When that work is completed, He will gently call you home. Oh, the rapture of the meeting! Oh, the joy to see you come.

WE WISH to express our sincere appreciation and deep gratitude to our many friends and neighbors for their beautiful floral offerings and gifts of food and especially Dr. W.R. Whitwell and Rev. Earl Maddox and Rev. Otis Russell for their words of comfort and deeds of kindness at the loss of our darling mother. May God's richest blessing rest upon you.

In our column last week we reported that Gov. Dolph Briscoe, on April 16, had received and accepted for action on his part, the new recommendations for a current and future Texas Water Plan prepared by the Water Task Force.

The plan included both short and long range proposals for solving the water problems of the State of Texas.

In his acceptance the Governor appeared before the Task Force on Water and gave his ideas for putting the plan into effect. Today we are carrying a further portion of his acceptance speech.

"An example of this are the new and different demands which the production of coal and lignite in our state will impose. This is a new development in our state, precipitated by the world wide energy situation.

"I believe it gives us unparalleled opportunities, but water will be necessary to assure that lands where mining has occurred are maintained at environmentally acceptable levels. My administration has initiated a program for these areas to assure that we not only protect our environment, but that we positively enhance it.

"We must continue to accelerate our efforts to protect and improve water quality conditions throughout Texas. Congressional action over the last several years shows a national concern paralleling our state concern with restoring the quality of the environment where it has been damaged, and with enhancing the liveable environment on which we rely.

"Administration of some of these federal acts has caused frustrating, costly and sometimes counterproductive state-federal-local interaction.

"For example, new guidelines from the federal Environmental Protection Agency raise specters of demands for cooling water at electrical generating plants that cannot be realistically achieved in our state. Where water supplies are limited and must be husbanded and conserved, the rationale of the EPA as expressed in these guidelines does not appear to be acceptable, and we must make our views known at the federal level.

"We must, and will, however, continue to work in a spirit of accommodation with the involved Federal agencies. They have a difficult task because of the statutory duties and time deadlines imposed on them. Our position is one of cooperation. Where we believe it is needed, we will provide helpful and constructive criticism.

"I have spoken to you before of my views on the importance of irrigated agriculture to the economy and social well-being of this state. Within the last ten years, we have seen the national and world-wide agricultural picture turned upside down.

"Unfortunately, at the federal level, the report of the National Water Commission was conceived before these emerging trends became evident. The Commission's report sets forth conclusions of utmost significance as to the role of irrigated agriculture in this country.

"In effect, the report is a document reflecting history, with no awareness of agricultural food and fiber

Lower Valley Could Use Range, Feedlot Industries

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—The range and feedlot industry could have a great economical impact on the Lower Rio Grande Valley and should be encouraged to move into the area, an agricultural economist said Thursday.

Dr. John Adams of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station said a study shows a range and feedlot industry amount to $4 million annual could have the greatest affect per dollar of any industry studied. For each dollar of increased production the industry could generate a total gross output of $2.68 conditions as they exist today. I do not believe that Texas can passively accept the implementation of the policies that might develop through adoption by the Congress of the National Water Commission's findings.

"Because of this conviction, I have directed my staff to begin a vigorous re-examination, in the light of present conditions of the analyses that were the basis of the Commission's conclusions and recommendations regarding irrigated agriculture.

"We will be working with this Task Force, and with interested and informed groups throughout Texas and elsewhere in the nation, to make certain that the place of food and fiber production generated by irrigated agriculture is properly documented and supported by comprehensive study based on today's real-life situation.

"I think we are at a point where we must address squarely the role our ground water resources play in the overall water resource picture. As you know, I believe very strongly that management of all resources should be exercised at the most local level of government where that responsibility can be undertaken effectively."

of which 78 cents would be added to each household in profits and wages, Adams said.

Other industries the study showed could boost the valley's economy were textile and leather, chemicals, drugs and related products, canned-frozen-preserved foods and petroleum refining. The criteria used in selecting the industries included raw materials and labor supplies, markets, transportation costs and the total impact of industry as related to existing industries.

By FOSTER WHALEY

A new definition for a STREAKER — A cattle feeder leaving town with all of his possessions.

CATTLE ON FEED REPORT

The recent 23 state cattle on feed report had some block busters in it. Some very favorable and some unfavorable.

The favorable — Eight percent fewer cattle on feed than a year earlier; 22 percent fewer cattle placed on feed in March in the seven main cattle feeding states; 12 percent fewer placed on feed in the 23 states for the first three months of 1974; only 80 percent as many on feed weighing less than 500 pounds; only 81 percent as many weighing 500-699; and only 88 percent as many weighing 700-899. There were 103 percent as many in the weight group 900 to 1099 pounds. Most of these are believed to be in the upper end of the 1000 pound weight group.

The block buster that is still the strong depressant on the market — there are 189 percent as many weighing over 1100 pounds as a year earlier.

Of course the report was as of April 1. We would hope many of these over-weight cattle have since been moved to market. In numbers the over 1100 pound group represents only seven and one-half percent of all cattle on feed. There are 973 thousand head of over 1100-pound cattle as compared to slightly more than 13 million on feed.

Cattle feeders plan to market six million head of finished cattle in April, May, and June. At this rate the overweights could be eliminated in a three- to four-week period.

THIS AND THAT

Marie Edgerton, secretary, First Baptist Church, telephone 669-3348, says the bees have swarmed and moved into a portion of the Baptist Church. She is anxious to give this uninvited beehive to someone.

Wrecking crews are to move in and clear the old burned out church away on May 1. So call Marie and she will show you where the bees are. But when you start to take the bee swarm away, she does want to get at least a half block away.

WINTER WHEAT CROP

With the exception of the 1973 summer fallow land — the 1974 dryland winter wheat crop is gone. The last three weeks of dry, windy weather has just about fixed it. Some of the wheat is still holding in the eastern part of the county where more rainfall was received last fall and this spring. If you don't produce any wheat, the price doesn't make much difference. A very small percentage of Gray County wheat farmers have ever had the joy of selling five dollar per bushel wheat. No one knows — but five dollars might not be on the scene for the next two decades or ever. World demand and ability to pay with American dollars will answer this question in time. We have the ability to produce in these United States over three times our domestic needs.

In 1969, French President Charles de Gaulle resigned after being defeated in a referendum.

Lubricating Oil Shortage Hurts Irrigation Wells

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Irrigation wells in drought stricken West Texas may be forced to close down because of a shortage of lubricating oils for their pumps, Rep. Bill Clayton, D-Springlake, said.

Clayton said the wells are essential to much of Texas' crop production, and require regular applications of the lubricant to keep their pumps working.

He and a number of other legislators have asked the Federal Energy Office to reassess its priorities on lubricating oil.

While new guidelines are being written, Clayton said the priority changes probably will not go into effect until June 1. He said many areas of the state will be completely out of lubricating oil before then.

Clayton said he is encouraging all dealers and distributors who are running out of lube oil to contact the Fuel Allocation Division of the Texas Railroad Commission to find out if additional lubricants may be available to them.

4-H Club News

By AUDETTE KINCAID
Gray County was well represented in Saturday's District 1 4-H Eliminations Contest in Amarillo.

In the senior division (ages 14-19) five contestants from Gray County won the right to compete in the state finals at the Texas 4-H Roundup at College Station June 4-6.

Ray-Lynn Dillman and Dana Smith took top honors with their community improvement demonstration on "Energy Conservation in the Classroom," while Elaine Webb beat all competition in the money management educational activity by discussing teen consumerism.

Stephanie Eastham's "Journey to Good Health" placed second in Food and Nutrition — Let's Speak Out, while Mollie Carlton garnered runnerup honors in the home environment educational activity with her discussion of windows and draperies.

In the junior division (ages 9-13) Robbie Cochran and Lance Brooks swept top honors in dairy demonstrations with a method demonstration called "Moo and Me," while the winning landscape horticultural demonstration was Amy Brainard and Janel LaFon's discussion-exhibit on "Terrariums."

Monte Hopkins and Danny Wien finished second with their natural resources demonstration on the values of snakes.

Placing third were Linda McKay in the clothing educational activity, Bobbie Skaggs in Food and Nutrition — Let's Speak Out, Jamie Greene in the home environment educational activity, and a team of Mexican hat dancers — Misty Alexander, Dixie Eudey, Lisa Moxon, Lori Ann Watson, Cindy Hannon, Valerie Pangle, Barbara Holley, Laura Pangle and Tonya Owens — in Share the Fun competition.

John W. Gage, Roche food-nutrition marketing manager, said other findings in the study were: nutrition ranked second to price as a food-buying concern; the homemaker wants more nutrition information on food labels; she feels she gets little help in carrying out her responsibility to ensure her family's good nutrition.

Technically, 24 of the 38 contestants from Gray County won last Saturday. Since some 575 boys and girls from 22 counties were competing for honors, it is easy to see that Gray County was very well represented. But in reality, more than 24 4-Hers won: Every boy or girl taking part in either the county or the district competition came out a winner, since the contests helped develop leadership talents, built poise and self-confidence, and taught greater skills over a wide range of fields and activities.

The fine showing could not have been possible without the work and dedication of the 4-H contestants; the encouragement and understanding of their parents; and the wonderful help and assistance they received from Mrs. Paul Bowers and Mrs. Jewel Walker, who donated much of their time to give speech training to the contestants, and from Allen Kigore, Wayne Stedum and the PCTV staff for video taping the performances.

Carol Watson also deserves special recognition for her work as an adult leader with the hat dancers.

Thank you!!! It should also be noted that Gray County actually had four additional winners in the district eliminations, since Hank Jordan, Chris Skaggs, Phil George and Clint Coats placed third in the livestock judging conducted April 6 at West Texas State University.

Family feeding

NEW YORK (UPI)—The lady of the house has been losing the control she once had over her family's nutrition, according to a study conducted by Hoffmann-La Roche, which blames fast food restaurants, food faddism and crash diets for the development.

John W. Gage, Roche food-nutrition marketing manager, said other findings in the study were: nutrition ranked second to price as a food-buying concern; the homemaker wants more nutrition information on food labels; she feels she gets little help in carrying out her responsibility to ensure her family's good nutrition.
