Kissinger Meets Syrian Pledge To Continue War

DAMASCUS (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger brought his shuttle diplomacy to Damascus today to seek an end to the Israeli-Syrian fighting on the Golan Heights but ran into a Syrian pledge to continue the battle until every inch of Syrian territory is rid of "the Zionist evil."

Kissinger was the target of an assassination plot on his last visit to Damascus in January, and security today was unprecedented. He also was traveling about the city in a second bullet proof Cadillac flown in from the United States. A bullet proof car also was flown to Israel. Kissinger had a last minute conversation in Tel

Aviv with Prime Minister Golda Meir before flying here for his talks with President Hafez Assad. "We seek security and peace and not the imposition of views of any party on any other party," Kissinger said after the meeting with Mrs. Meir. Maj. Rifaat Assad, brother of the Syrian president and commander of the special troops battling Israelis on Mt. Hermon for the 53rd consecutive day, told the Beirut newspaper Al Yom today the fighting would continue until the Golan Heights are liberated completely. "The fighting will not be abandoned until Arab land is rid of the Zionist evil," he said.

Israel has said there must be a cease-fire on the Golan Heights before there can be "meaningful negotiations" on a troop disengagement program. Syria, backed by Soviet arms and money, has rejected disengagement until Israel gives back "at least some of the Golan Heights captured in the 1967 War."

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban cautioned after the talks with Kissinger. "We do not have an agreement in our pocket at

FBI, Police Raid SLA Apartment

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The FBI and police Thursday night raided an apartment apparently used as a hideout by the Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers of Patricia Hearst until less than a week ago.

The FBI said they found terrorist slogans scrawled on the walls signed by "Tania," the name Miss Hearst said she adopted when she decided to give up her former life and join the tiny terrorist sect which kidnaped her Feb. 4.

Authorities said they discovered clothing and other articles that indicated the SLA had occupied the apartment less than a week ago.

The raid on the apartment came slightly more than 24 hours before a deadline for the safe return of the 20-year-old newspaper heiress in order for the SLA to win another $4 million food ransom for the poor.

(See related story, Page 2) A blind woman who lived below the SLA hideout said today she heard "all kinds of phone calls" from the apartment.

"I could hear money fall like in gambling," said Mrs. Lola Evans. She said she never heard the occupants use any names.

Mrs. Evans said she told FBI agents during the raid that she heard a man walking all night.

"I thought something funny was going on here," she said, but she never suspected it was the SLA.

Authorities were directed to the apartment by the building manager, who said he called police to investigate a "suspicious occurrence" at the third floor apartment.

The apartment building is located in San Francisco's "Western Addition" district about a mile west of Civic Center and only a few blocks from the garage where two cars used by the SLA in a bank robbery April 15 were left abandoned.

Authorities Release 4 'Zebra' Suspects

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police Thursday night released four of seven suspects in the San Francisco "Zebra" slayings of whites for "insufficient evidence."

But in Washington, D.C., Mayor Joseph Alioto said the four no longer held may be called before a grand jury investigation of the random killings of whites and a possible connection with a mysterious murder cult called the "Death Angels."

An attorney for the three suspects still held said he thought they would also be released.

"They just didn't have the evidence and I would say they don't have it in the other three," said attorney

Clinton White, who was hired by Black Muslim Temple 26 to represent all seven men after their arrests in a massive police dragnet Wednesday.

Alioto, who met with U.S. Attorney General William French Smith, said afterwards he had appealed to Saxbe to begin a federal investigation of the Death Angels, which he said were dedicated to the murder and mutilation of whites and dissident blacks.

In the Zebra killings, at least 12 white persons were shot and killed at random over a five-month period on San Francisco streets.

White said the figure could go much higher, to 80 or more killings and assaults throughout California.

The four who were released will probably be brought before a grand jury, Alioto said. But later he modified his statement to say they "might be" called.

White said all seven suspects appeared in a police lineup and their photos were shown to witnesses.

A spokesman said those released were Tom Manney, 31, Douglas Burton, 22, Clarence Jamerson, 27, and Dwight Stallings, 28.

Work Crews Pick Up Trash For Clean-Up

Fifteen more loads of trash were hauled away yesterday from Ward 1 on the second day of Pampa's annual month-long Spring Clean-up campaign.

R. B. Cooke, public works director, said the work crews will continue in Ward 1 through next Tuesday before moving into Ward 2 on May 8.

Maryland Court Disbars Agnew For Dishonesty

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — Maryland's highest court has disbarred former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew for "fraud, dishonesty and deceit."

To do otherwise, the Maryland Court of Appeals said Thursday, would "constitute a travesty of our responsibility."

Rather than stand trial on charges involving a kickback scheme during his years as vice president, governor of Maryland and Baltimore County executive, Agnew resigned as vice president and pleaded no contest to evading federal income taxes of $13,551.

Agnew had asked that he be temporarily suspended, rather than being disbarred. He asked a special three-judge panel hearing the case Dec. 18 "not to strip me of my livelihood. I can resume a useful place in the practice of law after my suspension," he pleaded.

But the Court of Appeals concluded that "This crime which involves moral turpitude... is infested with fraud, deceit and dishonesty."

To Elect Candidates Voters To Go To Polls For Primaries Saturday

By CLAY LIVELY
Voters go to the polls tomorrow to select candidates for the November general election in both the Democratic and Republican party primaries.

On the Republican party primary ballot, besides candidates for office, there are three referendums on which voters can express their opinions. They deal with the right to work law, personal and corporate income tax and pari-mutuel gambling.

Those voting in the Democratic primary have one referendum to vote on. It deals with the pari-mutuel wagering question.

The referendums are of a straw vote nature and are not binding in any way. They were placed on the various ballots so legislators could find out "which way the wind blows" on the issues.

Only two offices are contested on the Gray County Republican ballot and they are both at the state level.

Odell McBrayer and Jim Granberry are involved in a tussle for the Republican gubernatorial nomination and Troy Skates and Gaylord Marshall are both seeking the nomination for lieutenant governor.

In the Democratic party at the state level, four candidates are seeking the party's nomination for governor. They are Frances "Sissy" Farenthold, W.H. "Bill" Posey, Steve S. Alexander and incumbent Dolph Briscoe.

Farenthold is the only one given even a slight chance of unseating Briscoe for the nomination. She was second in the 1972 Democratic primary balloting for governor and lost to Briscoe in a run-off in June of that year.

Running for U.S. Congressman from the 13th District in the Democratic primary are Jack Hightower, state senator from Vernon; Ray Ruffin, a band leader from Amarillo; and neurosurgeon Louis A. Finney, also from Amarillo.

Bob Price of Pampa, current U.S. representative from this district, is running unopposed in the Republican primary.

There are several other offices being contested in the Democratic primary. At the local level, Murl Winegeart is seeking to unseat Don Hinton for the county commissioner, Precinct 2 nomination.

Margaret McPhillips is challenging E.L. "Ed" Anderson for justice of the peace, Precinct 2, place 1.

In Precinct 4, incumbent Mary Dwyer of McLean is seeking nomination to the county commissioner post. She is challenged by John Guill, Ted Simmons and Britt Hathaway.

Incumbent Margie Prestidge and Mary A. Crutcher are running for the Precinct 1 justice of the peace post.

In the Democratic party at the state level, Bob Bullock and Hugh Edburg are seeking the nomination for comptroller of public accounts while Donald B. Yarbrough is challenging long-time state treasurer Jesse James.

Incumbent John C. White is favored to withstand the challenge of Herbert A. "Peanut" Schroeder for commissioner of agriculture.

C.A. Kelly and Mack Wallace are running for an unexpired term on the railroad commission. Wallace is currently serving on the commission by appointment.

After the polls close Saturday, both the Democratic and Republican parties will conduct precinct conventions beginning at 7:15 p.m. The conventions will be held at the precinct voting places.

Those voting tomorrow automatically entitle themselves to be a delegate at their precinct conventions.

Voting places and precinct convention locations for the Democratic party are:

Precincts 1 and 6, Lefors Civic Center; Precinct 2, Baker School; Precinct 3, Grandview School; Precincts 4 and 5, McLean; Precinct 7, Horace Mann School; Precinct 8, Austin School; Precinct 9, Wilson School; Precinct 10, Courthouse; Precincts 11 and 13, County Annex Building; Precinct 12, Lamar School; and Precinct 14, Travis School.

Those casting ballots in the Republican primary will vote and attend the precinct convention in the Austin School cafeteria.

OF GIFT SHOP Suspects Charged In Burglary Case

Pampa police have two persons in custody today charged with the burglary late Wednesday or early Thursday of Holmes Gift Shoppe, 304 S. Cuyler.

They are Susie Elois Beck, 21, and Blake M. Jameson, 20, both reportedly of Pampa.

The Gray County Sheriff's office arrested a third party in connection with the incident. That person's name was not available at press time today.

Detective J.J. Ryzman of the police department said the arrests culminated a joint investigation by police and sheriff's officers.

Most of the merchandise taken in the burglary, valued around $1,400, has been recovered, Ryzman said. Among the items taken were three television sets, two stereo tape players, two recorders, two radios, numerous watches and other smaller items.

Entry into the building was apparently made through an air-conditioning vent located on top of the store. Residents in the area were questioned and none heard any noise or disturbance at the time the burglary occurred.

It is not known at this time whether or not there is any connection between the Holmes burglary and another which took place the same night, officials said.

Hughes Automotive, 115 N. Ward, was broken into through a window on the southeast side of the building after a screen had been torn loose.

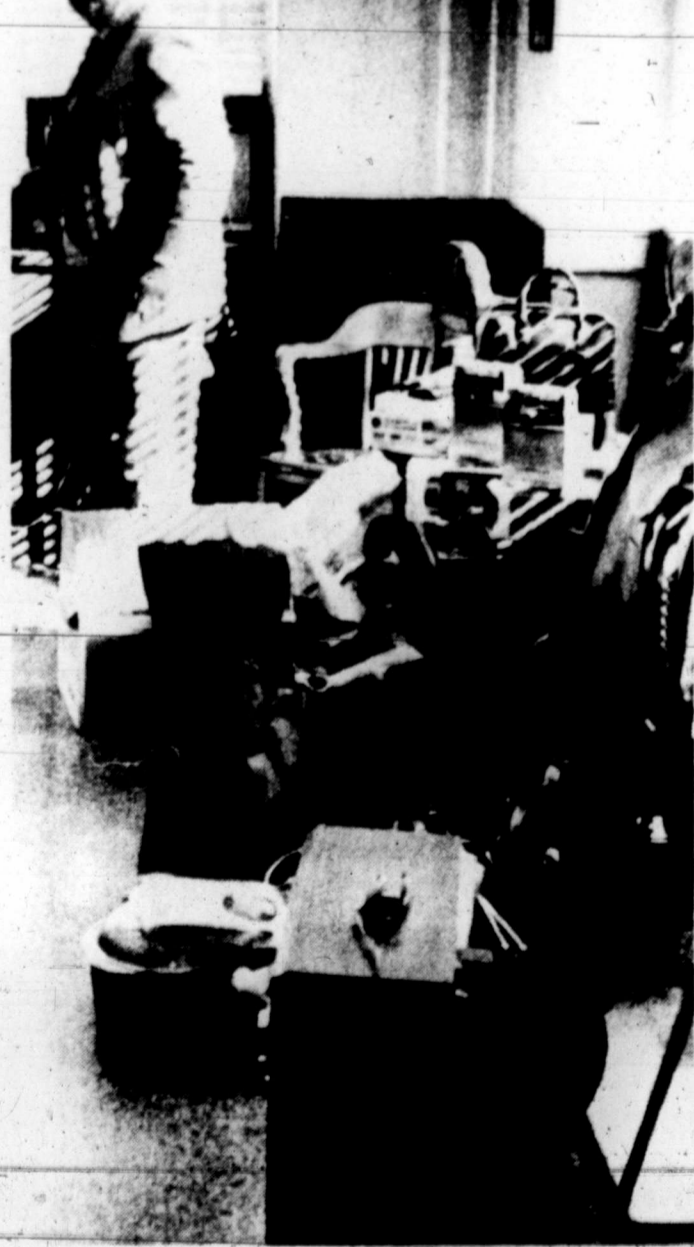

A beauty shop in the building was completely ransacked, reports said, and $75 in cash and about 300 personal check blanks were stolen.

Also taken in that break-in were a $30 carburetor, a $30 extension phone, a $20 hair dryer, 29 arrows and a television set valued at $100.

Scouts To Hold Show Saturday

Boy and Cub Scouts from Pampa will hold their annual scouting exposition from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday at the National Guard Armory.

Admission to the show is $1, with the proceeds going into the scouting programs. In addition to the scouts, the local television Explorers Post will also sponsor an exhibit.

WITH THE GOODS — Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan glances over some of the items recovered from a burglary of Holmes Gift Shoppe late Wednesday night or early Thursday. Authorities have charged three persons as suspects in the case.

Pampa Key Club Presents Awards

The Pampa Key Club honored three Pampa High School youths Thursday night at its annual officer installation banquet at First United Methodist Church.

Randy Cain, recently elected president of the National Distributive Education Clubs of America organization, was named Student Leader of the Year.

Cain, who served as state DECA president during the current school year, was not present to accept the award. He is still in Chicago getting training for his national president's role.

The Sandy Nininger Award, given to a student for his or her total accomplishments while in high school, was presented to Nancy Palmer.

Miss Palmer also was not present to receive her award. She is currently in Austin competing in state University Interscholastic League spelling contests.

Robby Chafin was named

AT REDUCED FEE Rabies Vaccination Services Offered

Vaccination service against rabies will be offered by Pampa's three veterinarians at a reduced fee for one week starting tomorrow as part of the observance of Rabies Prevention Week in Pampa.

City Manager Mack Wofford today appealed to dog and cat owners to have their pets vaccinated during that period.

Health officials say the greatest danger is ignorance of the subject of rabies.

Persons bitten by rabid animals are forced to go through painful treatments to avoid death from rabies.

A city ordinance requires that all dogs and cats be vaccinated once a year. The regular fee for vaccination is $4. During the next week it will be reduced to $3.

Veterinarians participating in the annual rabies vaccination campaign are the Royle Animal Hospital, 1238 E. Frederic, M.W. Horne, 1329 S. Hobart, and the Hendrick Animal Clinic, 1912 Alcock. Dr. Kenneth Royle of the Royle Animal Hospital estimated there are from 10,000 to 12,000 dogs and cats in Pampa, and that not more than 50 percent of them are vaccinated each year.

Health Organization, 70 percent of the pets should be inoculated against rabies to insure against a possible outbreak of the dread disease.

Records at City Hall show that about 30 animals are impounded each week in Pampa.

During the last fiscal year 1,650 were impounded. Of that number only about one percent were bailed out by their owners. If found and vaccination fees are not paid, the animals are destroyed.

Earl Wilson

The way taxes are now, you seldom hear any more about a girl getting married for money. The shrewd father sends his kids to an out-of-town school, so he won't have to do their homework... A bride said she's still getting adjusted to being married: "I'm not used to being whistled for, instead of at"... Someone described a dull writer: "People wouldn't finish reading a kidnap note if he wrote it"... Middle age, says the cynic, is when you get winded going upstairs — even on an escalator. Pressmen Striking Dallas Newspapers

DALLAS (UPI)—Picket signs went up around the Dallas Times Herald and Dallas Morning News Thursday as members of the printing pressmen's union went on strike, ending nine months of negotiations.

Officials of both newspapers said they would continue publication "with as little inconvenience to both advertisers and subscribers as possible."

Both papers said the 200 members of Pressmen's Local 21 struck because of management's desire to abolish "manning," a practice that lets the union determine how many men will work at each press.

The union called the strike an unfair labor practice work stoppage and indicated unfair labor practice charges would be filed with the National Labor Relations Board.

The Dallas Morning News and the Dallas Times Herald have announced to the representatives of the Dallas Pressmen's Union No. 21 that effective at 3 p.m. today they intend to unilaterally abolish the basic working conditions that have existed in their pressrooms since 1913, union president Charles Turner said.

The union has made numerous compromise proposals and they have all been rejected out of hand. Since the union is willing to continue bargaining and to make further proposals for resolving the dispute, the action of the companies constitute a flagrant unfair labor practice.

The papers said manning was detrimental to modern newspapers and affirmed their intentions to continue publishing.

STUDY IN CONTRASTS — A little bit of cleaning up can make a big difference, as shown in these pictures of two alleys only one block from each other on the west side of town. The aim of the recent Pampa Environmental Beautification Foundation's "Make Your Alley Fresh as a Daisy" project was to improve the appearances of city alleys. Further efforts toward that end can be completed during the city's annual clean-up campaign currently underway.

Area Lions Meet Held At Dumas

Members of the Pampa Lions Clubs will join some 450 to 500 Panhandle-area Lions in Dumas this weekend for the annual District 2-T1 convention hosted by the Dumas Noon Lions Club.

Guest speaker for the three-day convention will be William C. Chandler, Montgomery, Ala., a director of Lions International.

Chandler will speak at the Lion's district governor's banquet Saturday evening.

Registration began at 9 a.m. today at the Kona Kai Inn, with a golf tournament held at the North Plains Country Club.

Tonight a western barbecue and western dance will be held for members and their wives.

On Saturday morning, the Borger Lions Club will host an 8 a.m. breakfast for Lions Gov. Larry Fuller.

Business meetings chaired by district Gov. William T. McMinn of Amarillo will be conducted Saturday morning, followed by a noon luncheon.

Business meetings will resume in the afternoon, followed by a 5 p.m. reception for Chandler.

A banquet and ball will be presented Saturday night.

The Friona Lions Club will host the Sunday morning breakfast in honor of Lt. Gov. Charles Allen, followed by church services and a necrology service at 11 a.m. with Rev. Joe Gilmore as speaker.

The Lions queen pageant will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Dumas High School auditorium, followed by a reception for the incoming district governor and the district sweetheart.

SLA's Deadline Midnight Today

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Symbionese Liberation Army has until midnight tonight to release Patricia Hearst or forfeit a $4 million food giveaway to the poor.

FBI agents are on a special alert basis, anticipating action by the SLA, which has been criticized by various leftist groups for kidnaping Miss Hearst, killing Oakland school chief Marcus Foster and robbing a San Francisco bank.

Miss Hearst, 20, was abducted Feb. 4 by the terrorist organization and in a message to her parents April 3 announced she would "stand and fight" with the SLA rather than be freed. Her father, Randolph A. Hearst, said his daughter is a victim of "mind control."

If Miss Hearst isn't released today, the money put in escrow by Hearst and the Hearst Foundation will be returned to the foundation.

Security remained tight around Hearst's suburban Hillsborough home Thursday night. Private guards were posted and new locks have been installed on the driveway gates and some doors.

Be Careful About How You Vote!

Revealing the vote you cast in tomorrow's primary election could result in your being fined up to $500. Voting in more than one primary on the same election day could get you shelling out from $100 to $500.

Those are just two of the many laws governing what you may or may not do (mostly may not do) in elections in the state of Texas.

Other practices prohibited include:

- Use of coercion to influence a vote or to prevent voting can cost $1,000 and a year in jail.
- Bribery is a third degree felony. Paying someone to vote or not vote a particular way could result in a $2,000 fine and up to 10 years in prison.
- Voting more than once, $100 to $500 fine.
- Illegally voting more than once in the same or different precinct, up to $500 fine or 60 days in jail.
- Voting if not qualified to vote: two to five years in prison.
- Instigating illegal voting: $100 to $500 fine and up to one month in jail.
- Falsely swearing as to your qualifications to vote: two to five years in prison.
- Procuring a voter to swear falsely: up to $3,000 or up to three years.
- Falsely impersonating another voter: three to five years.
- Revealing the vote which you have cast on your ballot: $500.
- Making a substitution for the ballot handed you by the election judge: $500.
- Employer refusing an employe the privilege of going to vote, or subjecting the employe to penalty or deduction of wages: $500.
- Election judge, clerk or other person telling the voter to cast his ballot in a particular manner: $200 to $500, 10 to 30 days in jail.

J.C. RANDALL

Reception Set In Honor Of J.C. Randall

Ex-Carver High School students and St. Mark Christian Methodist Church will host a retirement reception Sunday for former Carver High principal James C. Randall, currently serving as assistant principal at Pampa High School.

"Prof" as he is referred to by most of his ex-Carver students, is retiring after 26 years of service here in the Pampa school system.

Randall came to Pampa in 1948 as principal of CHS and served in that position until the school was closed to comply with desegregation plans. After the school was closed, he served as a visiting principal until he was assigned as PHS assistant principal.

The general public is invited to attend the reception at the St. Mark Fellowship Hall, 406 Elm, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

WD Lions Club Conducting Sale

WHITE DEER — The Lions Club of White Deer is holding a garage sale today and tomorrow for the benefit of Girlstown, USA.

The garage sale is being held just south of the Post Office on Main Street and includes a little of everything — from clothing to appliances.

Everyone is invited to attend and join in the effort to back Girlstown.

A branch of Girlstown is located on US Highway 152, five miles southeast of Borger.

The garage sale was begun last Friday and Saturday and was carried over again this week. All of the Lions Clubs of District 2-T1: Lions International, are backing a building project to construct permanent brick buildings for Girlstown.

Nixon Takes Swing Into Western States

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon takes off on a two-day Western swing today aimed at demonstrating he still has a reservoir of grassroots support despite the Watergate scandal.

While Congress is weighing what evidence of presidential complicity is contained in the excerpted transcripts of his private conversations, Nixon will be testing public reaction in appearances at Phoenix, Ariz., and Spokane, Wash.

Accompanied by Sens. Barry Goldwater and Paul J. Fannin and three other members of the Arizona congressional delegation, President and Mrs. Nixon are scheduled to arrive in Phoenix in midafternoon for an evening rally at the 14,000-seat Phoenix Coliseum. The speech, before an audience raised by Arizona Republicans, is his first appearance outside Washington since publication earlier this week of the transcripts of 48 conversations with key aides on the Watergate affair.

The President has claimed the excerpts show he knew nothing about plans for breaking into the Democratic National headquarters and did not participate in efforts to cover up the complexity of his key aides.

The only member of the Arizona delegation not accompanying Nixon is Democratic Rep. Morris K. Udall, who will be addressing a Phoenix meeting of Democrats from nine Western states shortly after Nixon's speech.

Library Group Sets Book Fair

Lovett Memorial Library will be the scene of an all-day second-hand book sale tomorrow beginning at 9 a.m. and ending at 5 p.m.

Mrs. M. McDaniel, Friends of the Pampa Library president, announced today.

The Book Fair is a Friends-sponsored project to raise the necessary funds for the purchase of motion picture and sound equipment for the library.

Mrs. Joe Donaldson, chairman of the sale, said that around 4,000 books and magazines will be offered at prices as low as 5 cents for paperbacks and 1 dollar and under for hardcover books.

In order to make selections easier for the buyer, books will be grouped according to type such as novels, children's books, reference, religious books, etc.

Patrons of the sale are asked to enter the library at the north door to the main conference room on Kingsmill St.

Mainly About People

Price Seeking Embargo For Beef Imports

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressmen Bob Price Thursday introduced legislation with a number of co-sponsors to require the President to impose an immediate embargo on beef imports as a means of saving the U.S. cattle feeding industry from further severe economic loss.

Price wrote President Nixon April 8 urging him to impose a 180-day beef import embargo and to rescind the presidential order lifting beef import quotas.

Now Price, a member of the House Agricultural Committee, has introduced legislation designed to force the President to take that action.

"The American feeding and beef producing industries have suffered severe financial losses," Price said. "Low prices for fat cattle on the hoof have persisted since last fall and cattle feeders have sustained consistent and severe losses sometimes reaching as much as $200 a head."

"If this situation is not reversed, that industry, which provides a significant portion of the American diet, will be seriously damaged."

"An immediate embargo on beef importation would be very helpful in bringing stability to the beef market and aid the continuation of supply of America's number one food to consumers at a reasonable price."

Rollover Injures Canadian Man

AMARILLO — An 18-year-old Canadian man remains in critical condition here today with injuries suffered in a one-car rollover on U.S. 60 Wednesday evening about seven miles east of Miami.

Steve Gaston, the driver of the car, was injured when the vehicle apparently went out of control, left the highway and rolled down an incline. Gaston was thrown from the car, which then caught fire.

The victim was first treated at Highland General Hospital in Pampa. Gaston suffered internal injuries in the accident, but was reportedly showing improvement today.

Boys Hospitalized In Cycle Accident

Two young Pampa boys are in satisfactory condition today in Highland General Hospital being treated for injuries suffered last evening in a motorcycle mishap.

Marty Garner, 12, 1808 N. Dwight, was reportedly doing "wheelies" in a vacant lot east of Travis School on his cycle when 11-year-old Donald Snow, 1121 Craine, ran in front of the bike.

The motorcycle hit Snow, reports said, and both boys were thrown to the ground. They were taken to Highland General by a Metropolitan Ambulance unit.

He Rebutts Arguments
Theta General Manager John W. Atwood attempted to rebut arguments that pay TV could play havoc with the networks, the movie industry and particularly exhibitors, and advertising-sponsored sports.

Under FCC safeguards, he said, pay TV movies cannot be shown until they have had a general release in theaters. They cannot be put on pay TV once they are two years old.

The FCC decreed that series type programs "with interconnected plot or substantially the same cast of principal characters," such as "All in the Family," cannot be cablecast.

It's peanuts so far. But no one is taking lightly Atwood's prediction that this is the first important "beginning" and that there will be at least 33,000 subscribers in Los Angeles within a year.

Quirks In The News

GET UP, TREES

CAM, England (UPI) — Seventy village children marched into a nearby woods Wednesday and knocked on the trees in a revival of ancient custom.

They knocked on the trees to rouse them from their winter's sleep.

IT'S TIME AGAIN

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — A frog named "Jaworski" will be Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke's entry in the International Jumping Frog Jubilee May 16-19 at Angels Camp.

The century-old frog jumping contest was inspired by Mark Twain's short story, "The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County."

BOND MEDALS SOLD

LEICESTER, England (UPI) — An auction house has sold one of James Bond's medals for $228.

James Bond was a bombardier in the Royal Foot Artillery at the Battle of Waterloo in 1815.

THEY'RE ALL THE SAME

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Fireman Paul Lancy has flunked the vegetable test.

Sent out from the Powell Street Engine Company to buy zucchini for dinner, Lancy returned with a bag of cucumbers.

Lyle Debolt

Succeeds Dad

ODESSA, Tex. (UPI) — Lyle Debolt, 40, succeeds his father as publisher of the Odessa American.

V. L. Debolt died Saturday.

C. H. Hollis, chairman of the board of Freedom Newspapers, Inc., said Wednesday Debolt will move back to Odessa in several weeks with his wife and two sons from North Carolina, where he is general manager of the Kinston Daily Free Press.

He worked in Odessa from February, 1973, until last September when he was appointed to the North Carolina job.

Debolt is a native of Duluth, Minn., but moved to Odessa with his parents in 1947 and attended high school in Odessa.

He was graduated in 1955 from North Texas State University and after college was an Air Force pilot.

Debolt joined the First National Bank of Odessa in 1957 but in July, 1971, resigned from the bank and entered the Freedom Newspapers management training program with the Valley Morning Star in Harlingen.

"They look the same to me," he said. Tillerman Doug Robbins said, "He won't do any vegetable shopping for us anymore."

AN EYESORE

SHILOH, N.J. (UPI) — The gasoline pumps of Bill Noyes' Exxon filling station are so ugly, state officials ruled, they should be moved back off the main street of this farming town.

Noyes, who has run the same service station in Shiloh since 1942, says the pumps will stay right where they are. He has taken the matter to court.

The state Transportation Department has said the pumps are an eyesore and want them moved under the Sign Encroachment Removal Program, partially funded by a 1965 federal law inspired by Lady Bird Johnson's highway beautification program. Usually only billboards are ordered removed from the roadside.

SISTERS POLLED

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Women's lib crusaders at the Agriculture Department are polling their sisters on how best to fight the "Miss USDA beauty contest, a long-standing departmental function.

"Some employes might like to see men in their swim trunks along with women in their bathing suits," said Maxine Sparks, president of the Women's Action Taskforce.

Alumni Meeting Starts Trip Down Memory Lane

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nothing can match an alumni reunion for starting one down memory lane—enjoying the trip and yet realizing with a stab how the years slip by.

Where did the time go, you ask? Don't try to answer. It only means you're getting older, although I prefer today's attitude. "You're not getting older, you're getting better."

Reunions are great for putting one at a loss also in trying to answer the question, "What ever became of —?" And "Remember when?" You confess you don't know what ever became of and don't remember when.

Another thing about reunions to throw you are all those people who have total recall of names and faces while you stare blankly at them, shaking hands and trying to read their name plates without getting out the glasses. Wish they'd print the names in larger type!

Returning to Campuses

This thing about reunions comes to mind because the other evening I participated in one, just as millions of you are also returning to campuses around the nation this time of the year for a dip into nostalgia.

For me, it was revisiting my alma mater, Marshall University, at Huntington, W. Va., and attending the alumni association's annual banquet. There were awards and recognitions. And of course, speeches—interesting in their variety.

Prof. W. Page Pitt, retired head of the department of journalism, honored for distinguished service, said he felt very, very young when he thought of a neighbor of his in Stewart, Fla., his wintertime residence.

"He's a senior, senior citizen... he's just finished his 10th book, and he's only 94," said the man who started me into writing as a career.

Seizure Fought

DALLAS (UPI) — Mrs. Emma Lopez, a 63-year-old widow who lives on $248 a month Social Security payments, is asking U.S. District Court to prevent her residence from being seized for an unpaid "home improvement" note.

The suit which Mrs. Lopez filed with Judge Sarah T. Hughes challenges the Texas law allowing a firm to foreclose without notice or providing opportunity for a court hearing.

Her suit, filed with assistance of Dallas Legal Service, also asks help for 200 other home owners. The suit names as defendants Securities Savings Association and Orem Service Corp., no longer in business.

Then as association president James L. Farley was ending the evening, a hand in the audience went up. A voice wanted a few final words.

The voice, steady and clear without benefit of a microphone, belonged to Mrs. Bertha Filson, 91, a former teacher and county superintendent and now president of the Pleasant chapter of the association.

She'd graduated in 1901 from what was then Marshall Academy and she just wanted us all to hear about her first alumni dinner.

The opening course "was something called bouillon, and in those days many of us didn't know what bouillon was. To further confuse us, it was served in coffee cups. So my table companion and I asked for the sugar and cream. It was hot, so we thought it must be coffee."

"Well we stirred it, and we drank. Now you know why I'll never forget the first alumni dinner I ever attended."

Everyone Still Agrees Pay TV "Has Potential"

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Pay television has been kicking around in various guises and shapes for the past quarter century. Everyone agrees it has "a tremendous potential."

But, for one reason or another, it has remained fragmented and without any real momentum. There are 11 pay television companies in the United States but their market is limited to 38 of the smaller cities.

Last week pay TV moved into the Los Angeles area for the first time and the television, entertainment, exhibitor, sports and advertising industries will be watching closely.

Theta Cable Television is offering subscribers recently released major motion pictures—eight a month at an extra cost monthly of $6.95 cents per home.

The first two films offered were "Save The Tiger" and "Play It Again Sam."

Serves About 63,000 Homes
Theta has about 63,000 homes hooked into its cables which hitherto have been offered a smorgasbord of educational programs, Spanish lessons, high school sports, a TV auction, a psychologist call-in show, news and weather and ancient movies, 10 or more years old.

A Theta spokesman said about 1,800 homes had been signed up for the commercial-free, uninterrupted movies.

That is not about to propel any executives from the towers of Rockefeller Center or Madison Avenue. It is the long promised potential that could shake up a few board rooms.

For one thing, Theta is owned 50-50 by Hughes Aircraft Corp. and TelePrompTer Corp.

Howard R. Hughes reportedly has a 17 per cent interest in TelePrompTer which means that the eccentric billionaire controls the operation, and anything that Hughes gets

Gay Gingham Posey Basket

Build it from a CRAFT PATTERN

GAY GINGHAM POSEY BASKET
The freshness of a spring morning is exemplified by this pretty basket of gingham flowers. When you have finished your basket and flowers, you won't believe that you made them so quickly with such professional results. The flowers are made of new water-resistant, crisply finished taffeta ribbon in spring shades of orchid, green, pink, orange, and blue. The leaves are of satin spring green, and make - believe ribbon delphiniums provide the "line material" in the arrangement. The easily made basket may be used for other arrangements and also dismantled to fold flat. A tiny velvet bee with nylon wings and "wiggly" eyes sits atop the basket handle. The basket is 7 inches-long and the tallest "flower" about 10 inches high. Order Craft Kit K-1404.

Dear Abby

Fear for safety stops Good Samaritan acts

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Can you or anyone in your vast reading audience provide a solution to a problem which saddens me? Because of the frightening increase of crime, in order to protect myself, must I now refuse to lend a helping hand to a brother or sister in apparent need of help? If I am driving along the road and see a car stalled by the roadside, and a woman tries to flag me down, must I ignore her plight and keep going because I fear it might be a trap to rob me? Or if a stranger, apparently hysterical, rings my doorbell and asks to use my phone to call the police and ambulance to report an accident, must I say: "Sorry, no," because he might be trying to set me up for a holdup or kidnaping?

I have always felt that I was my brother's keeper. Not anymore. I and millions of others await your reply.
TAKING NO CHANCES

DEAR TAKING: If someone tries to flag you down on the road, keep going. But stop at the first telephone and report it to the police or highway patrol. Under no circumstances should you open your door to a strange man, woman or child. Don't ignore them. Offer to make a call and summon help.

DEAR ABBY: My father wants to get a motorcycle. My mother and I (his only daughter) think he wants the fun of being a teen-ager again, but he claims a motorcycle is the answer to the gas shortage. I am more afraid of his getting hurt than anything else. He's 47 and has to drive 40 miles on the freeway every day to get to work and back. My brothers are on his side, and my mom and I are against it.

This is causing a lot of arguments in our house. How do you feel about a man Dad's age buying a motorcycle when he's never ridden one before in his life?
CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: Same as you, but your father is an adult and must be aware of the dangers as well as the advantages. You've spoken your mind, now be quiet. And for heaven's sake, if he should get into an accident, resist the urge to say: "I told you so."

DEAR ABBY: How can I open up my son's eyes to something before it's too late?

Sonny is 28, and he's marrying Sally, a 26-year-old widow with a child. Sally was married at 20, and had a baby at 21, and her husband was killed in an accident when she was 22.

Because Sally was orphaned young, she never knew her mother, so she became very close to her mother-in-law. After Sally's husband was killed, she and the baby moved in with the in-laws and they've lived there ever since.

I have told my son that since it isn't proper for a widow to have a gala wedding, he should insist on a small quiet ceremony with none of Sally's in-laws present, but he said whatever Sally wanted was all right with him. Well, Sally is having all her first husband's family, and I'm afraid with all the memories of their dead son they will turn the wedding into a funeral.

I don't want to be a meddling mother-in-law, but I want my son to realize that unless Sally breaks those strong ties with her past, their marriage doesn't stand a chance. So how should I do it?
TOUCHY SUBJECT

DEAR TOUCHY: If you don't want to be a meddling mother-in-law, the advice from here is—don't meddle.

WEDDING-ENGAGEMENT DEADLINE

The following deadlines and procedure on wedding stories will be as follows: For a wedding story to appear in a Sunday edition, information and picture must be turned in to the women's editor by 5 p.m. on the Monday BEFORE the wedding. All wedding stories submitted after that time will appear during the week. Engagement announcements must be submitted by 12 noon Wednesday to appear in Sunday's edition.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

SATURDAY, MAY 4

Your birthday today: It is the unexpected developments that make your life highly interesting and satisfying all year. Bright ideas enhance your earning capacity at several points; each phase should be treated as a temporary bridge to a differing future. Relationships are dependent altogether on what you make of them, subject to change. Today's natives are well-meaning, industrious people who like to pursue idealistic programs, often attract public attention.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Uncomfortable as some of this weekend's decisions seem, much benefit can come of them. Select the simplest way which leaves you free to function efficiently.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Some people belatedly notice what you had thought they knew all the time, and there's a scramble to catch everybody up to current facts.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Some people belatedly notice what you had thought they knew all the time, and there's a scramble to catch everybody up to current facts.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Get busy yourself instead of unloading the job on somebody else. Discussions go only so far before deepening into arguments. Don't oblige!

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Think of today as a time for repair and maintenance, devote more to the workings of your daily living rather than to mechanical things you use.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: In rearranging your own mind to take into account recently achieved facts, be sure that you bring along those who need to know where you stand.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: There's no clear path laid out ahead for anybody today. Feeling your way is just as good as any other approach, within reason.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: It's just as well you start early and get as much done as the situation admits before the interruptions begin. Impulses create blunders.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Friends find special reasons to infringe on your time. Even so, maintain an even pace, avoiding abrupt comments. Your health deserves the best of care.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: There is pressure to go along with someone else's schemes which are not compatible with your best interests. Your own intuition may get you an argument.

Cancer [June 21-July 20]: Home affairs run collision course with vocational obligations. Make any adjustment that will work for now and leave you free to read-just further later.

Leo [July 21-Aug. 20]: Just doing something isn't the solution today; it's first being honestly what you are, then selecting some simple Opening lead: Two of ♠.

West, in guessing position, elected to open the duce of trumps (in retrospect, a diamond lead would have turned out to be the best lead for his side). Declarer thought for a moment, and put up dummy's ace. As is evident, he caught East's king.

Had West not led a trump, declarer, left to his own resources in attacking the trump suit, would undoubtedly have finessed against West for the trump king. But it seemed inconceivable to declarer that West was leading the trump deuce from an original holding of either the doubleton K-2 or the tripleton K-10-2, since either of these leads could be costly to West. So declarer concluded that East was the possessor of the trump king. Hence his play of the ace.

At trick two declarer led a trump to his queen, picking up West's ten-spot. Next came the queen, king, and ace of diamonds, eliminating diamonds from both the North and South hands. This was followed by the ace of spades and the nine of spades. West winning the latter lead with his king. Spades had just been eliminated from both the North and South hands.

West now had no choice but to lead a club: if he led a spade instead, it would be ruffed in dummy as South would discard the four of clubs from his own hand. Declarer would now avoid the loss of a club trick by later taking a successful finesse against West's king.

And if West had led a low club instead, a low one would be played from dummy, and South would win the trick with his ten. Again South would avoid the loss of a club trick by finessing against West's king.

But West, after winning his spade king, led the jack of clubs, the board's queen taking the trick. It now became impossible for declarer to avoid the loss of a club trick to either West's king or East's nine. So declarer made just one overtrick, instead of the two he would have made if West had misdefended.

"AT WIT'S END"

Today at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City, a woman will be honored as Mother of the Year.

If tradition prevails, she will be a gentle-faced, white-haired lady who has borne five or six children who have all reached some degree of success. (One I remember delivered three doctors, a nun and a symphony conductor.)

If it is any consolation, it is a contest that boasts more losers than any other competition in the world.

Some of you today may be asking yourself, "Why not me? Where did I fail as a mother?"

To soften the hurt, I offer up this column to the Mother of the Year losers.

You knew you blew it when:

You found three dozen diapers in pre-soak and your baby is class valetictorian.

You scolded your son for getting a D in Tragedies of Shakespeare and he grabbed the report card and said, "I didn't know I was taking it."

Your cleaning lady came out of your son's bedroom and said, "That room doesn't need bleach, it needs an exorcist."

You volunteered to take the third grade to a ballgame and lost three of them in the school hallway enroute to the car.

You applied for a part-time job in a department store and listed your status as "single."

You were the first woman in your block to open a "charge" at Jack-In-The-Box.

You went to an Open House at school and gave your right name.

You wore white socks in public.

You were the only mother who made your son wear boots on a rainy day.

You took your son to the emergency ward and couldn't remember his age.

You received a rain bonnet from your 17-year-old for Mother's Day that was stamped "Complimentary, Citizens Bank."

Your family saw a three-layer cake (1½ inches high) cracked down the middle and held together with toothpicks and inquired, "Whose birthday is it?"

Your "achiever" wants to be a tax deduction when he grows up.

When you try to write your acceptance speech for Mother of the Year and someone has used up all the dust for phone numbers ... try harder next year.

Less Meat Last Year

As always, Americans consumed all the available meat produced in the country during 1973, but the supply was down substantially from 1972. Total production—and consumption—was down six percent, from 37 billion pounds (carcass weight) to 34.9 billion pounds. On a per capita basis, consumption was down from 188.9 pounds to 176.7 pounds—the lowest since 1966, when per capita consumption was 171 pounds.

Here's Airtight Way To Cut Waste-And Your Food Cost

Chicago (NFS)—As the cost of practically everything in the food store keeps going up, so does the cost of needless waste at home.

And while there's little you can do about grocery prices, there may be steps you can take to keep waste to a minimum, according to Pauline Church, home service advisor for the Republic Molding Corporation, Chicago.

To help concerned homemakers in their continuing battle to keep foods at their best, in flavor, appearance, and nutritive value, Mrs. Church offered some easy-to-follow advice.

"EVEN IN newer refrigerators with various temperature zones and special compartments, it's important to keep most foods well covered to prevent transfer of odors or flavors and to keep them from losing or absorbing moisture," she pointed out.

"With a no-frost system, in fact, such protection becomes more essential than ever, since circulating air tends to dry out food faster," she added.

To save time as well as money in the long run, consider investing in an assortment of airtight containers such as Freezettes, to be cleaned and re-used indefinitely.

Available in over 30 shapes and sizes, including one specially designed for bacon and another to keep lettuce crisp,

"Beefing Up" Consumption

The long term consumption trend in this increasingly affluent nation is up—which means eating more meat, particularly beef. By 1985, U.S. per capita consumption of beef is projected to be 140 pounds up from the 116 pounds we were consuming in 1972. Multiplying the jump in per-capita consumption times the increased population expected in 1985 indicates that beef demand will increase by about one-third in less than a dozen years.

Freezettes are made of sturdy, dishwasher-safe plastic in translucent frost white.

CHECK REFRIGERATOR contents often, not just when making-up your grocery list, to be sure leftovers are eaten rather than allowed to spoil.

"If you find little dabs of two or three different vegetables, consider adding them to a tossed salad or to a can of soup for an easy-quick lunch," Mrs. Church suggested.

DON'T CROWD your refrigerator with items that can be stored just as well on cupboard shelves. For example, there's no need to keep salad oil and hydrogenated shortening cold if it's to be used up within a matter of weeks.

ANY FOODS stored in cabinets should be tightly sealed, both to maintain freshness and to prevent infestations of insects or other pests, according to the home service advisor.

"If a box has been opened and can't be resealed, transfer contents to an airtight Freezette container," she suggested.

Great When Ground
 Since less tender, and therefore less demanded, cuts of beef are used for grinding, ground beef bears a price tag appropriate for economical meals. Grinding makes tender meat out of a less tender cut while retaining that popular beef flavor and important nutrients.

The Pampa Daily News
A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Avoidance Of Repression

Liberals sometimes express the notion that conservatives are out to restrict freedom.

We believe that impression to be erroneous. What conservatives strive for is not easily defined because the term "conservative" is related to particular cultures. What may be conservative in North America might be outrageously liberal in Latin America. In general, we would say that a genuine conservative is a person who wishes to retain the particular values of any culture that he happens to be a part of.

Both conservatives and liberals sometimes make mistakes. Both betray the goal that they philosophically seek. The liberal believes he can liberate human beings by enlarging government. When he sees that a given government has gotten as big as it can get and yet liberty is stifled, he says that particular country is going through a phase and that better times are just around the corner. The liberal thus becomes an apologist for repression on grounds that he believes the repression is temporary.

The conservative, on the other hand, tends to endorse temporary repression as an expedient to prevent the loss of a cherished tradition. For example, he might call for censorship in order to repress an outbreak of pornography. He seems to believe that out there in the countryside somewhere is a vast white-haited "silent majority" which will guarantee that censorship will cease with the sinister and not seep over to the sacred.

In reaction to the liberal and the conservative, along comes one who calls himself a libertarian. Typically he is long on theory and short on experience, vocal on philosophy and silent on history. As with the liberal and the conservative the libertarian has a characteristic frailty. Believing in a minimum of law, he gravitates to the idea that zero law is as minimum as you get. But of course, history shows that anarchy is the forerunner of repression. The Muscovites, for instance, established a reputation for having strong anarchical tendencies before establishing the most repressive regime in modern times.

The distinction that The News long has made is to follow moral laws, and to avoid the accumulation of man-made laws. We defined moral laws as consisting of the Human Relations component of the Ten Commandments. This is not to deny the other Commandments, but they are between man and God, and hence are not subject to direct civil application.

The suggestion would largely put the Legislature out of business, but would that be bad? Its function would become merely to formulate statutory language that applies moral principles to current circumstances. It would not be able to create new crimes or prescribe penalties for unnamed crimes, as it now does. The net effect would be that the branch would have a relatively stable body of law to interpret and implement. Stable, moral laws, few in number, known give the individual a sure guideline for behavior, safeguard durable traditions without repressing liberal challenges to some traditions that may not be so good.

ALL THAT GLITTERS

'Bleeping' Of The President

By VIC GOLD
MEMO TO MR. NIXON: As you know, in a recent column that (bleep) Jack Anderson quotes some (bleep) blabbermouth who claims he was shocked by the language you use around the Oval Office. Where did he hear it? Listening to one of those (bleep) Watergate tapes.

According to Anderson's source, your private shop talk is at times "unprintable." It makes Harry Truman's so-called barracks bleepings sound like Boy Scout chatter. He even compares your profanity per sentence to that of an X-rated movie.

In light of this information, some critics now contend that the reason you've been so (bleep) adamant against releasing those tapes is that you're afraid those (bleep) Capitol Hill Democrats and the (bleep) news media will try to make a big (bleep) deal out of all that trashy talk coming from the country's No. 1 citizen.

Now, Mr. President, if there's anything to that theory I, for one, think you're making a big (bleep) mistake. Because, take my soap-washed word for it, those bleeps are Gallup popularity points in the bank.

Oh, it's true, all right, that a strong Victorian ethic still runs through the semantic arteries of our body politic.

This means that most of us have been brought up to think that profanity reflects weakness in character. You know, like listening to private conversations on subpoenaed tapes, then blabbing about it.

And it's also true, Mr. President, that you tried to exploit just that hypocritical strain during the 1960 campaign by deploring some typical Harry Truman profanity. You did it in that first debate with Kennedy, remember? It seemed shrewd at the time, something which would, in John Ehrlichman's later phrase, play well in Peoria.

But as you know, it wasn't shrewd at all. Kennedy defended Truman's bleeping and came through the TV tube as the kind of sleeves-up swearing man that a blue-collar voter might enjoy a beer with. More so than with any prissy fellow who gets huffy about man-to-man shop talk.

You see, Mrs. President, although Harry Truman wasn't really the most popular man ever to sit in the Oval Office, I would bet my (bleep) that a subliminal Gallup survey could prove that his profanity got him more support from the blue collars than he lost among the cucumber sandwich crowd.

And before Truman, what about Franklin Roosevelt?

Remember the time he complained from an election booth that his (bleep) voting machine wouldn't work? Sure, there were resolutions expressing the horror of various cucumber sandwich clubs across the country. But on balance, the incident was a plus for FDR. It humanized his image.

Go back even further. How about the profane verbal ways of Teddy Roosevelt, Abe Lincoln, Andrew Jackson — right on back to our first presidential bleeper, George W. And speaking of Georges, if profanity is all that harmful to public images, explain the popularity of your own favorite, Ole Bleep 'n Guts Patton? The original 20th century X-rated hero.

No, Mr. President, if those tapes have been held back, even partially, because of the profanity therein, you don't understand the politics of profanity in Peoria any better today than you did in 1960. Believe me, Jack Anderson did you a real favor, telling the world you're a helluva cussler. You ought to thank him for it — despite the fact that in recent years he's run a column or two that led you to call him a (bleep), (bleep) and even, on one occasion, a BLEEP.

INSIDE LABOR

Labor Union Chiefs Worried

By VICTOR RIESEL
WASHINGTON — Inside labor's political executive suites they're waging that Dick Nixon will not "finish out" his term. But the wish may be fathering the thought of the shrewd pragmatic strategists who lead and finance the liberal-labor-Democratic coalition which hopes to put a union-label President in the White House in 1977.

In the recent past their drive to purge Nixon has been more passion than politics. Now the personal pique suddenly is second to political realism. Why?

Because their private closed-door analysis, based on their own polls, shows Dick Nixon to have been an asset and not a liability to the unsuccessful Republican candidates in the recent by-elections.

And they believe he will grow in political appeal as he more and more becomes the underdog. And stronger as the April 15 tax-paying day resentment recedes.

In private, strategists who control labor's complex of Committee on Political Education general campaign machinery, the youth operation, the black A. Philip Randolph Institute network of more than 110 chapters and the senior citizens' groupings now believe "Watergate" wasn't much of an issue in the past five special elections.

"We fought those campaigns on an old-fashioned Truman-Kennedy-Johnson liberal-labor-Democratic party line approach," says one of the brightest of labor's political chiefs.

"There was no new rhetoric, no new politics and no new appeal. We put the emphasis on the economy, prices, the gas shortage, the sudden unemployment and all the other irritations from high prices to short supplies. Certainly we shouted about Watergate. But that's not what won for us. We poured in everything we had, but we were fortunate these were midterm elections during an energy crunch."

Certainly there were four defeats for the Republicans. Certainly the labor people can claim victory in areas which have been with the Grand Old Party since the gaslight mauve decade. But closer, slower, more detailed reports to the insiders don't disclose much actually to comfort the labor-liberal-Democratic coalition as they now prepare to campaign for the re-election of their new incumbents in the fall in the four now infamous districts.

For example, in the first special election centering on Johnstown, Pa., the Democratic candidate, John Murtha, Jr., won by 122 votes. Thus a swing of 75 votes would have carried the district by a razor edge for the Republican.

In the so-called Jerry Ford district, where the labor coalition was joined by thousands of active unemployed members of the hard-hit auto union (Michigan's Fifth) a swing of 4,000 votes would have won for the Republican Richard VanderVeen.

In the Cincinnati (Ohio's First) congressional race,

Congressman Tom Luken would have lost if some 2,500 would have swung from him. This was a complex election. There were many local issues and feuds not nationally reported.

And in the last balloting, Michigan's Eighth District, into which President Nixon forayed, the victor, Congressman J. Bob Traxler, was immensely helped by recent reapportionment of the area which gave him a heavy industrial vote. The new precincts virtually won for him.

Even at that, Traxler won by only some 3,000 votes because Nixon cut him during the brief thrust into the area. Thus a swing of 2,000 votes would have won for the Republican.

This is what is bugging the labor strategists. They're not counting the old Republican vote which didn't come out. In private, they're counting the ballots cast.

And they're asking their own people: "Will early wins carry to November?"

In one of their in-house publications they ask rhetorically: "The real question is whether this bent in the electorate will be sustained through Election Day, Nov. 5."

Their concern can be summed up in the fact that next November voters on the ballot booth line will not be consumed with hostility and frustration over having waited hours that morning or previous evening on the gas filling station line. And why didn't Congress do something about high prices? And if Dick Nixon still is in office will "underdogism" make him a strong vote-getting figure as he rattles the hustings?

So labor's high command not only wants Nixon out of the White House, but out of politics by the fall.

Bully For Us!

According to figures recently issued by the United Nations, the Soviet Union, East European countries and China, in 1972, provided a combined total of $1.7 billion in economic aid to the less-developed countries of the non-Communist world—$100 million less than in 1971.

What the United Nations report failed to mention is that in fiscal year 1972 the United States dished out approximately $13.5 billion for the same purpose. Moreover, the Communists usually extract a "pound of flesh" in return for anything they do. The United States will extract its "pound of flesh" from American taxpayers.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Committee's Inaction Challenging Question

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
WASHINGTON — Behind the rancorous political, legal and other hassling enveloping the House Judiciary Committee is an increasingly challenging question.

What is being done or contemplated about the hundreds of documents, tapes and other material accumulated by the committee in the six months it has presumably been working on impeachment? Plus the 1,200 pages of edited tape transcripts turned over to the committee by the President?

Compounding this perplexing enigma are the constant new demands of chairman Peter Rodino, D-N.J., and his chief counsel John Doar for still more "evidence." Even before one of their deadlines had expired, they stridently called for additional data and set another deadline.

This extraordinary situation of piling up a mountain of "evidence" while seemingly doing nothing with it is drawing mounting fire from key committeemen.

Rep. Lawrence Hogan, R-Md., is making no bones of his impatience and frustration. The continuing lack of activity doesn't make sense to him, particularly in view of the huge mass of material already in the committee's possession, its big staff of more than 11 lawyers, and expenditure so far of $1 million — and another $733,000 requested.

"Maybe Chairman Rodino and Doar have some idea of what's in those hundreds of documents," Hogan told this column, "but if they do, they're the only ones. We committee members are completely in the dark. We have seen none of this material, and have been given no information about it; no analyses, no summaries, nothing."

"Yet Rodino blames the committee for delaying things. That simply is not true. Only today Rodino is quoted as saying, 'If the White House stalls on responding to the committee's requests, I don't see how we can start examining the evidence.' I say that's ridiculous."

"Why can't we start looking at what we have already got. There is no lack of it. We can begin working on it, and we can get to the rest when it comes. Just sitting on our hands and doing nothing while bellowing for more data is absurd. All that's doing is making headlines."

What's Behind It

One possible explanation for this curious stalling is that Rodino and Doar, and their huge legal and research staff, have uncovered no basis for impeaching the President and are strenuously scrounging around for more "evidence" in the hope of striking pay dirt.

"That could be," conceded Rep. Hogan when asked about this backstage report. "Two facts are indisputable: they are constantly asking for more material; we committee members know nothing. We're just props — and I'm getting thoroughly fed up with that. And so are other committeemen. It's time we did something other than trigger sensational 'confrontations' with the White House."

"We were given a job and we should get on with it. We've been at it six months, and the way things are going it's anyone's guess when we'll finish it."

Vigorously echoing these views, Rep. O.C. Fisher, Texas Democrat, and third ranking member of the powerful Armed Services Committee, sharply berated the Judiciary Committee for producing no results.

A 30-year congressional veteran and one-time district attorney, Fisher, in effect, demanded the committee "fish or cut bait."

"Although in the six months the Judiciary Committee has been considering impeachment charges," said Fisher, "it has held no hearings and made no findings. Yet people in and out of Congress are sounding off and jumping at totally unproven conclusions. That is being done even before there is a consensus as to what constitutes an impeachable offense.

"We all know that impeachment of the President would shake this nation to its very foundation, and the vibrations of such a drastic action would reach around the world. Yet there are people, including members of Congress, who would get rid of a President they don't like as they would get rid of a football coach they disliked. Such an attitude is lynch law, and irresponsibility at its very worst."

"My constituents think six months is long enough for the Judiciary Committee to consider impeachment charges. If impeachment is to be voted on, my constituents want it done forthwith so that the nation may be spared further punishment and that operation of our government can get back on the track."

Cautiously added Rep. Dale Milford, another Texas Democrat and World War II veteran:

"Enough of this junk is enough. I did not vote for President Nixon and I disagree with much he has done in government. But he is the President, and the fact that I disagree with him is not grounds for impeachment. And neither is the fact that he has a feud with the press."

"Nowhere in the Constitution or the law is there any provision for trial by public opinion. That is what has been going on, and I'm sick and tired of it."

Stoking The Fires
The leftist Americans for Democratic Action (which ardently supported the radical presidential candidacy of Sen. George McGovern in 1972) is not only vigorously clamoring for President Nixon's impeachment but waging a nationwide propaganda campaign to pressure Congress to vote that.

The drive is all spelled out in a communication sent to ADA members and contributors.

Significantly, it is signed by the present ADA head — Rep. Donald Fraser, D-Minn., who will be sitting in judgment on any charges against the President that may be submitted by the Judiciary Committee.

Fraser isn't the only ADA official in that position.

Three other House members are on the ADA board of directors — Reps. John Conyers, D-Mich., who is on the Judiciary Committee and until recently openly advocated impeachment; Patsy Mink, D-Hawaii, another partisan critic of the President, and Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex.

Throughout Fraser's impeachment thumping letter, the Minnesota radical stresses the need for money.

"Send ADA money," he bluntly urges. "As much as you can, and as quickly as you can. We must continue to wage a massive education campaign. Distribution of special reports takes money. The impeachment phone bank takes money. Events break quickly and you must respond quickly. Your check is important; send it now."

Among ADA's impeachment activities listed by Fraser are:

Distribution of 500,000 copies of a booklet, "The Case for Impeachment"; distribution of 250,000 copies of special impeachment issue of "ADA World"; organizing public impeachment meetings and "special media campaigns to present our views to TV and radio audiences and to readers of the country's newspapers"; organizing grassroots phone banks "for quick action and dissemination of impeachment information";

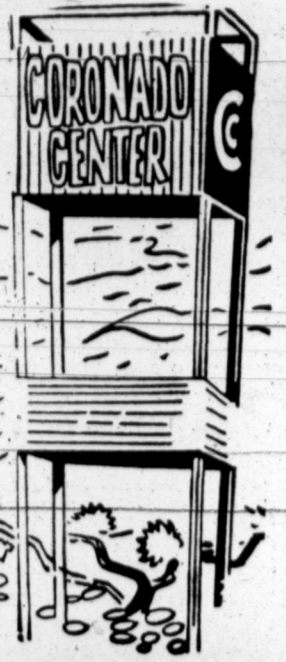

"ADA is hard at work," declares Fraser. "We are doing our utmost, but it is not enough. What we have accomplished is impressive, but a great deal more is urgently needed. The impeachment of Richard Nixon is not yet certain. We must leave no doubt about that."

Cheap Water Lures Like Pot Of Gold

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—Good, cheap water is important any place, but in the water-short West it is the lure of a pot of gold. Texas Tech University researchers believe the increasing demand for high quality water can be met in the future only by multiple reuse of available supplies. "It's a common practice for industry, but reuse for recreational purposes requires a higher quality water," said Dr. Dan M. Wells, director of Texas Tech Water Resources Center. The university's Water Resources Center is ready to undertake a project which could lead to a valuable source of good quality water—municipal wastewater purified in part by a natural process. Try Out in Miniature The national Office of Water Resources Research has approved the project to "try out" in miniature the Lubbock Lakes Project designed to provide seven recreational lakes in the Yellow house Canyon which runs through the city," Wells said. The research project should determine the feasibility of reusing municipal wastewater for recreational purposes. An advantage is that the wastewater to be used not only has been treated by conventional processes for sewage, but it also has been used for irrigation purposes prior to its use for recreation. "The cropland through which it percolates helps to purify the water by acting as a filter," Wells said. A principal investigator helping Wells is another civil engineer, Dr. Robert M. Sweazy, assistant director under Wells. City Wastewater Now Used Throughout the Southwest, increasing numbers of cities are using treated municipal wastewater for irrigation of agricultural crops," Wells said. "Eighty municipalities in the West Texas area, for example, use wastewater for this purpose now—and the practice is spreading to less arid regions of the future." In addition to irrigation uses, however, the increasing demand for high quality water, according to Wells, "can be met in the future only by multiple reuse of available supplies." The cost of conventional treatment processes continues to be prohibitive, he said, while the process proposed by the Texas Tech project offers promise for multiple reuse with practically no additional cost. Series of Ponds The Lubbock project calls for a series of nine small ponds to be built on the Texas Tech farm on the university campus. One row of ponds will serve as a control system with no treatment provided. Conditions in two other sets of ponds will be varied from time to time to test the effects of changed physical or chemical conditions on the water quality in the system. Additions which are to be tested include increased quantities of nutrients, urban runoff which can be obtained from a nearby playa lake, treated sewage, copper sulfate and other algicides to control plant growth, the water containing lower concentrations of nitrate than the pumped water. Fish to Be Tested Biological measures to control populations of algae also will be taken as well as any other tests which might appear appropriate in determining what might be necessary to get a high enough water quality to grow edible fish and provide safety for swimming or other water recreation.

It Sims To Me...

By PAUL SIMS
Sports Editor

Pampa golfers have been 'going at it strong' for a while now, due to the spring warmup, and a few of those golfers have been getting their games in tune for upcoming tournaments.

This weekend, Huber Country Club in Borger is hosting the American Petroleum Institute (Panhandle chapter) Scholarship Handicap tournament, the first of several spring tournaments which will involve Pampa linksters.

The tournament, which will have a championship flight playing scratch medal play and a 10 blind-bogey handicap flights, begins Saturday morning and winds up Sunday. There will be 18 holes of golf each day.

Entry fee is $13 and should be paid to any API officer. All proceeds will go into API's scholarship fund. The scholarships this year will be given to two students in the chapter who are dependents of Panhandle-section API members.

Of prime interest to city golfers is the Pampa Men's City Golf Tournament, a jointly sponsored affair of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce sports Committee and Celanese Chemical Company, May 18-19 at the Pamcel Golf Course.

The city tournament, which was played for the first time in 10 years last year, will consist of five flights (16 players in each one) playing 36 holes of stroke play. Last year, the golfers played match rounds and the event was held on two separate June weekends.

"The field will be limited to about a hundred so I'd advise people to get entered now," said Bill Ellis, tournament director. Entry is six dollars.

Practice rounds will be played on the evenings of May 15-17 at the Celanese course.

Les Howard won successive city titles in 1962-63 and the tournament was then discontinued until last year when Eddie Duengel won the championship. He defeated Jim Simpson, two and one, in the finals. David Parker won the championship flight consolation and was tourney medalist with an even par 70.

Those three are expected to play this year and will be favored in the championship flight along with Max Hickey, one of the city's golfers.

Pampa Country Club, according to assistant pro Sherwin Cox, will have its busiest tournament schedule ever this year. The schedule opens with the Men's West Texas June 20-23.

The two other large events PCC will host are, of course, the Tri-State Seniors July 22-26 and the Top O' Texas Invitational Aug. 30-Sept. 2.

Pampa's lady golfers in the Panhandle Association, who competed at Clarendon Thursday in the first round of the Ladies Panhandle Association competition, will participate in the Panhandle Women's Tournament Sept. 10-13 at Pampa Country Club.

Due to the number of major tournaments and the construction of PCC's new watering system, two tournaments — the Club Partnership and the Club Championship — usually played in late July or early August, have been postponed.

Memphis To Vote On WFL Franchise

MEMPHIS (UPI) — Unless the National Football League makes a definite, public commitment to place an expansion franchise in Memphis, the city is expected to vote Monday on bringing the Toronto franchise of the World Football League to town.

Officials of the Toronto Northern met Thursday with Mayor Weth Chandler and members of the Memphis Park Commission and discussed a contract for the Toronto club to lease the 51,000-seat Memphis Memorial Stadium.

exclusive lease over the weekend so that it could be presented to the park commission for a vote Monday.

"Our timetable is this," said Herbert Solway, chairman of the board of the Toronto club. "Sign the lease on Monday, hold a press conference and move to Memphis. We will start practice the first week in June."

Toronto is being forced out of Canada by the Canadian government, which is passing legislation prohibiting the new league in order to protect the existing Canadian Football League.

The plans could change, however, if the NFL makes a firm commitment on an expansion team. Millionaire businessman Ned Cook was to meet NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle today, Chandler said, to discuss the situation.

Raider Coach To Give Talk At Buck Fete

WHITE DEER — White Deer athletes will be honored and Jim Carlen will be the featured speaker, highlights of the White Deer All-Sports Banquet at 7:30 p.m. today at the White Deer School cafeteria.

Carlen is head football coach at Texas Tech University and a talented speaker.

The banquet is sponsored by the Lions Club of White Deer and Skellytown.

AFTER LOSING WALTON

Cougars May Remain At Carolina

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — Ted Munchak, owner of the Carolina Cougars based here, and the club's general manager, Carl Scheer, were expected to reach a decision today on the future of the American Basketball Association franchise.

Scheer said Thursday night he would meet Munchak in Atlanta, discuss

PHS, Amarillo Tangling For 2nd Place Today

The Pampa Harvester baseball team, not in the running for the district championship, can wind up the season with its highest winning percentage in years as the Harvesters play Amarillo High at 4 p.m. today at Optimist Park.

Pampa is 14-9 for the season and 5-4 in district play after a 7-3 upset loss to Palo Duro Tuesday in Amarillo. Amarillo High is 12-9 and also 5-4 so the game is in reality a chance for either team to finish second in district.

The Caprock Longhorns, owning an 8-1 record in 3-AAAA games, are the district champs after disposing of Borger Tuesday.

Tuesday, Amarillo lost to Tascosa, 7-4. When the Sandies and Harvesters met April 16, Pampa lost 4-0 as Amarillo pitcher Mark Parsons gave up only six hits while striking out 11. It was only the second time this season Pampa had been shut out, the first being when Altus, Okla., blanked Pampa, 7-0, at Pampa.

Trevino Leading Nelson

DALLAS (UPI) — Lee Trevino says he has whatever it was that was bothering him out of the way now and he is ready to play some golf.

Trevino demonstrated that fact for nine holes Thursday, but to win the Byron Nelson Golf Classic he is going to have to overcome the fellow he refers to as his soul brother — Homero Blancas.

because he overcame a bad start with four back nine birdies to shoot 69. "I hit only one bad shot all day," Trevino said. "I shanked my tee shot on the eighth and it cost me a double bogey." But those four birdies on the back side got Trevino back in gear, something he needed since he finished last a week ago in the Tournament of Champions.

Agitate Favored

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Agitate, the California Derby winner, was flown east to win the Kentucky Derby and trainer Jim Jimenez said today he still was sure the colt would.

"If I didn't think I had the best horse, I'd stay in California," said the trainer who has seen several Kentucky Derbies but never started a horse in one before.

"I don't know if this horse has run his top race yet. He was an easy winner of the California Derby. Bill Shoemaker does not use up his horse more than he has to. The race hasn't drained him any and if we have any luck at all in the race, he's the one they'll have to beat," Jimenez confidently predicted.

Advocator was the last of the starters to arrive at Churchill Downs.

Agitate is third choice in Saturday's Kentucky Derby which not only will be the richest but the most congested as well. It will be worth $326,500 with $274,000, an American record, going to the winner. It is a record field.

Judge and Cannonade, an entry trained by Woody Stephens, is favorite at 8 to 5. A second coupling of Rube The Great and Accipiter, which Stephens used to train, is second choice at 9 to 2.

J.R.'s Pet, Little Current, Ga Hai, Triple Crown, Buck's Bid, Flip Sal, Destroyer, Sir Tristan and 10 field horses—Lexico, Consigliori, Sharp Gary, Bold Clarion, Crimson Ruler, Pat McGroder, Confederal Yankee, Hudson County, Set n'Go and Gold And Myrrh complete the field.

Amarillo High's leading hitters are second baseman Marty Hamrick, third baseman Chip Biggers, rightfielder Jesse Parrish and first baseman Mitch Gentry.

The Sandies will pitch Biggers, who is 5-3 for the season with a 2.50 earned-run average. Pampa will counter with David Edwards, 5-1 and a 2.10 ERA.

Pampa coach Ronnie White has indicated he will use most of his entire roster today.

each fired 67s and at 68 were Ray Floyd, Jim Simons, John Mahaffey and Rick Rhoads.

A large group jammed in with Trevino at two under par including Billy Casper, Ben Crenshaw and Bobby Nichols.

Arnold Palmer was at 71. Leading money winner Johnny Miller and Jack Nicklaus were not in the field.

"I like to get in front early," Blancas said. "It seems when I can get under par the tendancy is for me to make more birdies. I'm a streak player."

But Trevino said the birdies might become harder to find beginning today and particularly in the third and fourth rounds.

Blancas weaved his 65 over the Preston Trail Golf Course by running in two eagle putts on the back nine and saving par on five other occasions with one-putt greens.

"It's fun when you can get the ball close to the hole and make all the putts," said Blancas, who has no tour victory to his credit in the past 13 months.

Two strokes back of Blancas came the international group of Australians Bruce Crampton and Bruce Devlin, New Zealander Bob Charles and Bobby Payne of Mount Vernon, Ill. They blew all but one run of an 8-

7 decision over McKeon's Kansas City Royals.

The only other two major league games scheduled, Atlanta at St. Louis and Cincinnati at Pittsburgh, were rained out.

Hiller Struggles Detroit ace Joe Coleman, 5-1, cruised into the seventh inning with the 8-0 lead, left in the eighth and watched as John Hiller struggled to preserve the victory for the Tigers, their fifth straight.

The loss was the Royals' fourth in a row.

"Coleman was breezing along and you figure with his knowhow, you're home free," said Houk. "Those are the kind of games that kill you if you lose 'em."

Hal McRae started the Royals' comeback with a two-run homer in the seventh. When Amos Otis opened the eighth with a double and Coleman walked John Mayberry and Richie Scheinblum in succession, Houk called on Hiller. Fran Healy delivered a two-run single and Willie Horton dropped Cookie Rojas' fly to load the bases again.

"I thought when Horton dropped the ball, we were in," said McKeon. "But it didn't work out that way."

Tigers Lead Out McRae whacked a sacrifice fly and another run scored on Frank White's groundout. But Fred Patek thumped a runcorsing single and the Tigers led by only 8-7.

Hiller bore down, however, and induced Jim Wohlford to hit an inning-ending groundout.

Jim Northrup slammed a two-out homer in the ninth to give the Tigers a much-needed insurance run.

He was the winner. "Everything looks down. It looks like the end of the world, but it's not," said McKeon.

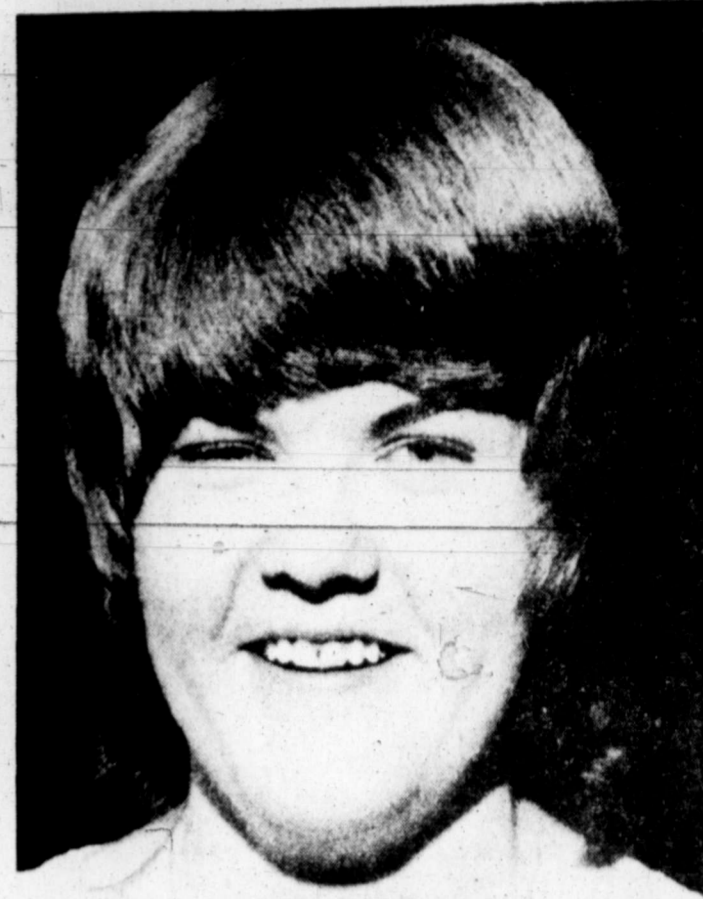

He was the loser. Houk's Detroit Tigers blew all but one run of an 8-

7 decision over McKeon's Kansas City Royals.

Detroit Receives Scare As Kansas City Rallies

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Ralph Houk and Jack McKeon were on opposite ends of the baseball spectrum after Thursday night's lone major league game.

"I never figured to get into that kind of mess," said Houk.

He was the winner. "Everything looks down. It looks like the end of the world, but it's not," said McKeon.

North Texas' Terry Trying For 7 Feet

TULSA, Okla. — If Temoor Terry's success pattern continues for another three weeks, he is a certain bet to establish a new record in the Missouri Valley Conference high jump.

Even if he peaks out he stands a good chance of breaking the standard set jointly in 1971 at 6-8 1/4 by Randy Crady of Bradley and Steve Butler of West Texas State.

Terry, a Wichita State senior, cleared 6-11 at the Drake Relays last weekend to mark his seventh straight week of improvement since he switched over to the Fosbury Flop style. Prior to that, while using the conventional roll, he was an average 6-4 jumper.

The new found success for the Shocker senior began near the end of the indoor season when his field events coach at WSU, Joe Blaney, convinced him to try the flop. His first effort was 6-4 at a dual indoor meet and then he improved to 6-6 at the Valley indoor championships to win fourth place.

The outdoor season began with the Wichita State Invitational and he cleared 6-8, a new WSU record. The following week at the Texas Relays he went 6-9, and followed that with a 6-10 effort at the Kansas Relays. Then, of course, it was 6-11 at Drake.

"Before I started flopping, I set my goal at 6-8," said the 5-foot-10 Terry. "But I went 6-8 right off, so now I've set it at seven feet. That will probably be my biggest challenge... clearing seven feet."

If he reaches that goal, which is almost certain, he will become only the second high jumper in the history of the Valley to clear seven feet. Drake's Rick Wanamaker did it at the 1970 outdoor championships, but the record had to carry an asterisk on the Valley books because the event was moved indoors because of bad weather. Terry will have one more go at it before the MVC championships at Denton, when he competes in a triangular against Oklahoma and Arkansas this weekend.

While he was enjoying his success in the high jump last weekend, he relinquished his conference lead in the long jump to Drake's Steve Cady who has now recorded a leap of 24-3 compared to Terry's 24-2.

West Texas State's Dennis Briggs upped his league shot put mark to 54-11 at the Wayland Baptist Invitational, and Wichita State's Jim Podrebarac hit 53-6 at the Southwestern Relays to rank second.

Randy Smith of Wichita State bettered his seasonal mile time to 4:08.5 finishing second at Drake, and New Mexico State's Stacey Price hit 14.4 in the 120 highs to better his previous standard by two-tenths of a second.

The big story in the 120 highs, however, came at Drake where Wayne Franklin of Drake beat his arch rival, Joe Jubert of North Texas State, in a head-to-head battle. Franklin clocked a wind-aided 13.8, Jubert finished at 14.4.

West Texas State, SMU Fall

DENTON, Tex. (UPI) — North Texas State won 11 of 17 events Thursday to beat West Texas State and SMU in a track meet.

The Eagles totaled 94 1/2 points, WTSU had 40 and SMU 26.

One Fouts Field record tumbled as North Texas triple jumper Abe Brown hit 49-7, seven inches beyond the mark he set last year.

Buccaneer Music Festival At Corpus Christi

On The Plaza At The Alamo

THE PAMPA HIGH SCHOOL band's trip last week to Corpus Christi — "The Shining City on the Gulf" — will be remembered for quite some time by both members of the band and those who accompanied them. The "Pride of Pampa" was among 43 bands invited to participate in the Buccaneer Music Festival and, under the direction of Jeff Doughten and assistant director David Fennell, the PHS band earned a Division I rating for its May 26 performance. It was the second Division I earned by the band in slightly more than three days. The band garnered I ratings in both concert and sight-reading in University Interscholastic League competition the morning of April 24 before leaving that same day for Corpus Christi. Coupled with a I in UIL marching competition last fall, the two I's this spring gave the "Pride of Pampa" sweepstakes honors. While in the city on Texas' Gulf Coast (after, of course, the work was completed) the band and the trip sponsors had plenty of time for relaxation and just "havin' fun." A trip last Saturday for several hours of swimming in the surf and sun-bathing (Ouch!) on Padre Island, was followed by a night boatride on Corpus Christi bay, highlighted by a fireworks show visible over the bright lights of the city. On the journey down, the band enjoyed a stop-over in San Antonio, where they toured the Alamo and Breckenridge Park zoo. Whatever else one recalls about the trip — the long hours spent on buses there and back immediately comes to mind — everyone who went, has to admit they had a great time.

JUDGE PARKER

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH He's Bothered By Unusual Rash

By G.C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a boy, 16, and have a rash similar to "jock itch" except the skin has darkened to a light brown. Occasionally there are pimple-like sores. They itch, too.

The itch is unbelievable and will not go away. I have used talc, medicated powders, creams, ointments, alcohol and peroxide and nothing even dents the problem. Perspiration is a yellowish color.

I have had this for a year but I just couldn't go to a doctor. Please try to diagnose this and advise some kind of medication.

I can sympathize but it would be utterly pointless for me to try to diagnose a condition I haven't even seen — as pointless as your trying those hit-or-miss remedies which, after a year, haven't helped.

I urge you to see a dermatologist — a skin specialist. You don't tell me why you "just couldn't go to a doctor," but I presume it is shyness on your part. Once you've been examined, you'll realize that there's nothing to it. The doctor does it every day.

With most skin problems, it is virtually impossible to tell what type of problem it is until the doctor has seen it — and there can be drawbacks from waiting too long and trying too many home remedies.

Not that people don't keep trying to do it themselves. Any dermatologist can reel off experiences with cases in which the patient has first tried all sorts of things himself, and sometimes the remedies merely create new irritation so the doctor has a hard time figuring out what the original trouble was.

So take a tip from me, and go to a doctor now.

As to possibilities that fit the general situation that you describe, there are many. One is allergy to a supporter, if you wear one. Funguses or yeast infections can cause such trouble, too. Or possibly even a detergent used to launder your shorts.

But you need a skilled eye to help you find out just what.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have detected an odor from aspirin after I have had it for some time. Is there any way to tell when a tablet, pill or capsule is bad? Would it hurt a person to take?

In time aspirin (chemically, acetylsalicylic acid) breaks down and you get the acetic acid odor, like vinegar. At that point, I would throw it out. I cannot say that it would be harmful but it might be more irritating, and in any event it is no longer entirely aspirin.

As a general rule as to when to discard pills, tablets and capsules, discard if they change odor, color, or in any other respect. (Some have quite a distinct odor when fresh, so it is the change, not the presence of odor, which is important.)

If I had my way, patients would destroy all prescription medications once the need for them is over. It would end the temptation to give them to someone else "because your symptoms sound just like mine did."

Most particularly, antibiotics, if any are left over, should be destroyed. Reason: small doses of antibiotics encourage the growth of germs that have mutated — developed a resistance to a certain type of antibiotic.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter recently had surgery for a perforated bowel but the surgeon did nothing about an ovarian cyst. Should that have been removed at the same time?

A question I can't answer without knowing a lot more than you have told me. My presumption would be that the cyst, while present, probably was of a small harmless type.

A perforated bowel, however, is an emergency. Whether to remove the cyst while handling an emergency would have to depend on the surgeon's judgment, and I would have to assume that he had good reason for what he did or didn't do.

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching, and other rectal problems, write to Dr. G.C. Thosteson, Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, requesting a copy of his booklet, "The Real Cure For Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT Broadway Columnist Burdened

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — A Broadway columnist has so many burdens to bear, his shoulders must be very broad. (My shoulders aren't — but my stomach is.)

Well, Sammy Davis leaped up and led a standing ovation at "Let My People Come" at the Village Gate, with Mrs. Davis and Georgina Spelvin also cheering. Bob Dylan was there, too, making it a big afternoon on Bleecker St.

Should I fail to report it because the author is Earl Wilson Jr.? (People tell me he's a genius. But why do they always add, "You know, geniuses have very ordinary fathers.")

Fan Mail: "Why is it in your idiotic, insipid reviews of cafe acts you don't rap the lousy ones like a biggie that opened recently, and just praise the good ones who aren't that good? Jack Carey, Bronx." (Dear Jack, That's why they call me Mr. Lovable.)

They say that I brag about Ohio — but Ohio never brags about me. That my tailor hides when I'm seen in my dinner jacket because it always has a lot of my dinner on it... that my idea of a great dramatic actress is Edy Williams.

But to prove my grasp of big news stories, how about this? Barbra Streisand from Brooklyn was given a palomino quarter-horse for her 32nd birthday by her boy friend hair stylist John Peters, and is taking riding lessons, and any day will fall on her nose with God knows what result to her career.

Serious Note: Crooked judges and crooked lawyers are getting to be celebrities. Top people are starting secret investigations of the judgeship picture and legal profession to end corruption. Certain lawyers are already being scrutinized, but if they're as sharp as I suspect, they already know they're being spied on.

"I want to talk to you about your book," said Marilyn Monroe's employer on her last film, Peter Levathes, when I met him recently. I thought, "Oh, here it comes!"

"You're the first one to have it right," he said. "Marilyn was terrified of being unable to sleep. She needed sleep to keep her beauty. She took sleeping pills, forgot whether she'd taken them, woke up, took some more. She wasn't despondent, she was going back to work. It was all due to getting her beauty sleep."

And here are some more gripes about Show Business: Comedians who chide you for not laughing at their stale jokes... Stars who keep you waiting 20 minutes after you've rushed to be on time... Entertainers who won't permit service while they're on. Who do they think they are? ... Bread-and-butter charges — when you don't eat bread — and — butter 'cause you're on a diet!

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Gary Merrill came down from Maine to plan a summer tour in "Born Yesterday" playing the junkman though in the original cast 28 years ago he played the young reporter.

Merrill said at L'Escargot he wants to run for national office on a Democratic ticket as "an honest actor" ... Latin singer Antonio Prieto was intrigued when a girl threw a hotel key on stage at Chateau Madrid till he found it was from a hotel in Chicago ... Ben Vereen returns to "Pippin" soon after finishing "Funny Lady."

Secret Stuff: A sage of Broadway, nearing 80, temporarily split from his wife of almost 48 years, but say they've not patched it up ("Enough is enough") ... Time Rushes On: Carroll Baker's son Herschel Garfield will enter Yale in the fall ... Ann-Margaret's 33rd birthday gift from husband Roger Smith: a sleeveless black mink coat ("Maybe she'll get the sleeves next year") ... Oakland A's star Reggie Jackson, at the Stage Deli, sent a round of celery tonic to another diner, Flip Wilson.

Show Biz Quiz: What singer was known as the Loch Lomond Girl? Ans: to yesterday's Walter Huston, Kirk Douglas and Cesar Romero all played the Doc Holiday character.

Quartet at the Ginkgo Tree: The Paul Newman and the Robert Redford ... Ron Liebman of "Super Cops" turned down the lead in a proposed TV series based on the film ... Mark Spitz '11 be a TV commentator at the next Olympics games.

Henry Fonda has a heart rhythm disorder — NOT a heart attack — and will be hospitalized for another week, but is out of Intensive Care and able to see his wife Shirlee and son Peter (Jane's arriving from Vietnam via Paris). No other visitors, no calls, no flowers. His doctors hope he'll open in "Clarence Darrow" in Boston next week ... The Henny Youngman — phone company dial — a joke gimmick drew lots of calls, and will be continued. Joey Adams is the next "phone attraction."

I'D RATHER BELIGHT Today's Best Laugh: Singer Denis Martin told of the horse player who had a nightmare. Dreamt he was shipwrecked and went a week without food, water or a winning bet.

Wish I'd Said That: The first few days of a strict diet are like a bunion — it doesn't show, but you can't forget it.

Remembered Quote: Up-to-date definition of a bargain: "Anything that's the same price today it was yesterday."

Under Twenty

By KURT LASSEN

Nostalgia still looks like bug business. "The Lords of Flatbush" is a film dealing with a young gang on the streets of Brooklyn in the 1950's and is complete with an original score featuring the '50's sound.

Then there's "That's Entertainment," a collection of MGM's greatest film musicals since the advent of sound. Among narrators for the film are Liza Minelli, Fred Astaire, Gene Kelly, Frank Sinatra, Debbie Reynolds, Bing Crosby, James Stewart and Elizabeth Taylor.

A couple of years ago when we were talking to Gladys Knight she was bemoaning the fact that she and her Pips hadn't had a hit record in some time despite their success as personal appearance stars.

Now they're among the hottest names around and their upcoming soundtrack album for the film "Claudine" should keep their string of hits going.

Wacky names for groups! How about Quacky Duck? Two of the members are sons of Tony Bennett. They're getting raves and getting ready for their first album, "Media Push." Kool and the Gang took another single from their hit album, "Wild and Peaceful" and sold 400 thousand copies before it was released! It's "Hollywood Swinging" and "Jungle Boogie," which won a gold record, and "Funky Stuff" both from the album.

Another crime syndicate picture on the way. Robert Duvall, who won an oscar nomination for "The Godfather," will star in "The Outfit." "Tom Sawyer," stars Jeff East as "Huck" and Paul Winfield. Roberta Flack sings "Freedom" in the film.

Seals and Crofts are riding high. Their album, "Unborn Child," has been certified gold by sales of one million dollars. Their two previous albums, "Diamond Girl" and "Summer Breeze," went all the way to platinum, meaning sales of one million albums. They're currently on a four-month national tour.

Jay Dee is a new, young soul singer worth listening for. His single, "Strange Funky Games and Things," has just been released. (Distributed by Columbia Features, Inc.)

Pope Paul Proclaims Holy Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pope Paul VI has proclaimed the year beginning Pentecost Sunday, June 10, as a "Holy Year," a traditional observance aimed at the interior renewal of the person.

In practice, Holy Years, marked about every 25 years in modern times, have been purely spiritual, "a manifestation of profound piety and of the unity of the Church," according to Vatican Secretary of State Cardinal Jean Villot.

But this year, while the emphasis will still be on the life of the spirit, it will also be directed outward, emphasizing reconciliation, Christian unity and the search for peace.

A Remarkable Parallel. American Catholics will find a remarkable parallel in a document written by Rabbi Marc H. Tanenbaum spelling out the origins of Holy Year observance in the celebration of the Jewish Jubilee year.

The Jubilee is described in the Old Testament book of Leviticus: "And you shall hallow the fiftieth year, and proclaim liberty throughout the land unto all the inhabitants thereof; it shall be a jubilee unto you; and you shall return every man unto his possession; and you shall return every man unto his family."

According to Tanenbaum, who serves as national interreligious affairs director, the Jubilee "had for its aim the emancipation of the individual from the shackles of poverty, and the elimination of the various economic inequalities in the Jewish Commonwealth in accordance with the demands of social justice."

Lefors Church Will Conduct Gospel Services

LEFORS — The Church of Christ of Lefors will have a series of Gospel Meetings May 6 through 12 with Mr. Don Deffenbaugh, minister of the Hillcrest Church of Christ, Neosho, Mo., preaching.

Services will be at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday and at 10:45 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday.

Minister of the Lefors Church of Christ is Mr. Ronald Lamb. Neal Cates is the song director. All are invited to attend the services.

Pentecostals Continue Study, Schedule Revival

The United Pentecostal Church invites Pampans to attend a four-night revival beginning May 8, with Rev. David Elms as speaker.

Brother and Mrs. Elms are from San Diego, Calif., and are well-known evangelists. Anyone who likes good singing should come and listen to Mrs. Elms beautiful voice. Rev. Elms will be speaking Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights and at the Sunday morning and night services. You are invited to come out and share the blessing of God with us.

The church will continue its studies this Sunday in I Cor. and II Cor. of "The Saints Way." This Sunday's lesson title is "The Blessings of Suffering."

Another Impeachment. DES MOINES, Iowa — A little known fact about impeachments: William Worth Belknap, a native of Iowa, was charged with corrupt conduct by the House almost 100 years ago. Belknap was Secretary of War in President Grant's cabinet and his troubles started when he ran up huge debts.

Unable to pay, he started making deals with his creditors to give them control of trading posts. Although the House impeached Belknap, the Senate acquitted him, but only after he had resigned.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Highland Baptist Church

REV. M. B. SMITH
Pastor

In days long ago, God spoke to Solomon a truth that we need to hear, and reconsider, in this day.

"If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land." II Chronicles 7:14

Someone has said that prayer is the Christian's vital breath, the Christian's air. I am afraid that this is not true in the lives of many people in this day who profess to know the Lord Jesus Christ. Far too many people are without prayer in their lives.

These days in which we live are days when evil is rampant, and the needs of people are exceedingly great. There is a great need for us to hear the Lord say, as he said to the Nation of Israel in other days — "Come now, and let us reason together, saith the Lord; though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool." Isaiah 1:18

God used Jeremiah, the prophet, to say, "Stand ye in the way, and see, and ask for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and ye shall find rest for your souls. But they said, we will not walk therein." Jeremiah 6:16

I would challenge you to —

A. Humble yourselves

B. Call upon the Lord for forgiveness for sin

C. Walk in OLD PATHS of service to God

D. Find God's peace and assurance

Did You Know This About OUR RELIGIONS?

Conference Calls Become Part of Church Ministry

A new venture in ministry to the aged and shut-in is being provided in many large city churches across the country. Telephone "conference calls" are arranged for groups of about a half-dozen such people, along with the pastor or one or two lay volunteers who let the lonely people talk with each other and hear about events that are taking place in the church family.

It is not a substitute for pastoral visitations, but is instead a broadening of the church outreach.

Question: A daily newspaper report stated that a Roman Catholic bishop took part in the "laying on of hands" at the consecration of a new bishop of the Episcopal Church recently in Albany, N.Y. Is this true? Has it ever happened? — Syracuse, N.Y.

Answer: It is not true. Three Roman Catholic

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

So Jacob left Beer-sheba and journeyed toward Haran. That night, when he stopped to camp at sundown, he found a rock for a headrest and lay down to sleep, and dreamed that a staircase reached from earth to heaven, and he saw the angels of God going up and down upon it. At the top of the stairs stood the Lord. "I am Jehovah," he said, "the God of Abraham, and of your father Isaac. The ground you are lying on is yours! I will give it to you and to your descendants. For you will have descendants as many as dust!"

Genesis 28:10-14

For the free gift of eternal salvation is now being offered to everyone; and along with this gift comes the realization that God wants us to turn from godless living and sinful pleasures and to live good, God-fearing lives day after day, looking forward to that wonderful time we've been expecting, when his glory shall be seen—the glory of our great God and Savior Jesus Christ. He died under God's judgment against our sins, so that he could rescue us from constant falling into sin and make us his very own people, with cleansed hearts.

Chinatown Overcrowded

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The city is planning a $9 million housing project of about 200 dwelling units in Chinatown, to provide new housing at suitable rents to relieve what all must agree is the worst overcrowding in the city.

Rodino Responds Negatively To Transcripts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Following is the text of a statement Wednesday by House Judiciary Committee chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., in response to President Nixon's issuance of edited transcripts of the subpoenaed Watergate tapes.

To this point in our proceedings my statements and my actions have been dictated by the responsibility I owe to the committee, to the House under its resolution, and to the people under Article I, Section 4 of the Constitution. I shall continue to follow this course.

Because of my great respect for the office of the President and for the dignity of the House of Representatives, I, at every turn, as chairman of this committee, have sought to avoid precipitous action in our search for the truth in the matters inescapably before us.

I regret that while we demonstrated time and time again that we were not seeking any confrontation with the President of the United States, we were only seeking evidence—the best evidence—evidence, the relevance of which under the Constitution and the resolution only we can determine—that we have been delayed by the President.

There is no question that, whatever else the President may have done or been thought to have done on Monday evening, and whatever individual members of this committee may think of the merits of that action, the President has not complied with our subpoena. We did not subpoena an edited White House version of partial transcripts of portions of presidential conversations. We did not subpoena a presidential interpretation of what is necessary or relevant for our inquiry. And we did not subpoena a lawyer's argument presented before we have heard any of the evidence.

We did subpoena specific documents of specific facts of specific relevance to our inquiry. We had hoped and expected the President lawfully to comply. The President did not.

Under the Constitution it is not within the power of the President to conduct an inquiry into his own impeachment, to determine which evidence, and what version or portion of that evidence, is relevant and necessary to such an inquiry. These are matters which, under the Constitution, only the House has the sole power to determine.

Former Attorney General Elliot Richardson said last Sunday that the supplying of edited transcripts would be an insufficient response to the subpoena. "I think," he said, "the Judiciary Committee has a right to know what has been omitted, in effect, and to exercise some independent judgment as to what is relevant to its purposes, and I don't think that for the President unilaterally to furnish what he thinks is relevant and say 'That is all you get' is a sufficient response to the subpoenas."

Furthermore, the procedure suggested by the President for Mr. Hutchinson and me to come to the White House to review the subpoenaed tape recordings to determine the relevance and accuracy of the partial transcripts is not compliance with our subpoena.

The subpoena issued by the committee required materials covered by it to be delivered to the committee in order that they be available for the committee's deliberations. There was good reason for this. It is not simply a question of the accuracy of transcripts or even of the relevancy of omissions, although both factors are obviously critical. The procedures followed by the committee must be such that all committee members—each of whom has to exercise personal judgments on this matter of enormous importance to the nation—and ultimately all members of the House of Representatives, are satisfied that they have had full and fair opportunity to judge for themselves all the evidence. It is therefore mandatory that the committee not depart from the ordinary and expected process in the way the President suggested, or in any other manner that might suggest the intrusion of secret accommodations, or raise new questions about the thoroughness, fairness and objectivity of the committee's work.

Our proceedings must be clean and straightforward and complete if we are going to restore fundamental confidence among all of the people in the integrity of our institutions. After all of this time, after all of the arguments, after all of the confusion, it is essential that these proceedings be absolutely straightforward and not equivocal, in any way. The President's suggestion that the committee have only the transcripts is not something that I or any member of the committee can explain to the American people. It would only raise questions about the committee's inquiry. The committee must follow the appropriate, the proper, the lawful way as it moves ahead.

Investment Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The mood of the market is indifference with investors exhibiting more interest in the Watergate tapes than the stock ticker, says E. F. Hutton & Co. The Transportation Index, often a bellwether, showed strength in Tuesday's session, although the Interstate Commerce Commission's denial of a railroad rate hike at the close could weaken the transportation group's performance, the firm says. "The market again appears to be sold out but apparently needs some new development to get investors off the sidelines and result in the volume necessary to sustain an advance," it adds.

The firm says the Federal Reserve board has repeatedly indicated it is aiming at a 5 to 6 per cent growth rate for the money supply this year which will not provoke a recession. "The decision to hold the monetary growth rate down is a necessary requirement if there is to be any chance of reducing the inflation rate during the second half of the year," it adds.

Chase Manhattan Bank says it is "still expecting that 1974 will be recorded as a recession year, both because real GNP will decline during the first and second quarters and because, due to the 5.8 per cent decline in real growth last quarter, the whole year will show a negative rate of increase." The bank predicts wage hikes will average over 7 per cent this year and 9 per cent in 1975 with prices climbing roughly 6 per cent throughout 1975 and into 1976.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., proposed the other day that 16 government agencies be abolished on grounds they are useless or inefficient.

I don't think there is any doubt the government could stand to lose a few agencies. Any one can tell just by looking at it that it has an agency surplus.

And it is a well-established historical fact that governments last longer and function better if they avoid taking on excess bureaucracy.

But bear in mind the U.S. government is close to 200 years old. For it to go on a crash reducing program, losing 16 agencies overnight, as Proxmire proposes, might be too great a shock to its system.

Should Be Gradual
A young government could drop that much bureaucracy with no harmful effects. But when a government is getting along in years, it should thin down gradually.

I recommend that Proxmire and other members of Congress obtain a copy of "Dr. Fatkin's Revolutionary Reducing Plan," subtitled "The High Commission Way to Streamlined Governments."

Dr. Fatkin has patterned his book after "Dr. Atkins' Diet Revolution," a long-time bestseller that introduces a new concept to losing weight.

Rather than have you cut down on calories, as in conventional diets, Dr. Atkins puts the blame on carbohydrates. Which aren't very tasty anyhow.

Similarly, Dr. Fatkin attacks the conventional view that the main cause of excess bureaucracy is an imbalance of regulatory commissions.

The real culprit, he insists, is an overabundance of advisory councils.

It has long been assumed that bureaucratic obesity begins when the government has more regulatory commissions than there are matters that need regulating.

He Touches on that Point
Proxmire himself touched on that point in his statement advocating abolition of the 16 agencies.

Even if all rail, road and barge transportation in the United States were ended, the bureaucracy of the Interstate Commerce Commission would no doubt continue to survive," he said.

But under the reducing plan advocated by Fatkin, Congress could go on creating regulatory commissions any time it felt the urge.

The spread of regulatory commissions alone contributes little to nothing to bureaucratic extension, according to his theory.

Rather, the governmental structure expands in direct proportion to the increase in advisory councils.

Fatkin claims that under his reducing plan the government would lose about two agencies a week until the bureaucracy stabilizes at a level that is normal for its height.

proportion to the increase in advisory councils.

If you make good grades at school

You're the one we want

(especially if you plan to go to college)

We've noticed it. Our best carriers all seem to be above-average students. Perhaps it's because in the daily management of their routes, they apply the lessons they learn in the classroom. Like arithmetic in making change and in keeping a record of their profits. Or, maybe it's because newspaper route management is just one of those things a good student can do well. In any case, if your grades are A's and B's and you plan to go to college, we want to hear from you. We can show you how to build a savings account that can be a help when you get there. Why not get started today... by calling us. There may be a route available in your neighborhood.

Mainly About Wheeler

By RENA SIVAGE
Mrs. Lillie Hunt spent the weekend in Pampa with her daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Davis. She reported a very enjoyable visit.

Mrs. Jeannie Wagner, David and Dena, spent Saturday in Pampa with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Lovelace. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Lovelace and Jeannie's sister and family from Oklahoma City were Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wagner, David and Dena.

We would like to extend to the Briscoe and Allison communities the very deepest sympathy on the loss that they have had the past week. On Sunday night a week ago the Assembly of God Parsonage at Briscoe was destroyed and then this past Sunday night the High School at Allison was completely destroyed by fire.

There are so many things of the schools that cannot be replaced by insurance, for instance, all of the high school pictures that hung in the halls, the basketball trophies that Allison has won, but this community will always remember that they held a trophy for winning State Basketball for the girls back in the 1930's.

A school is a building of four walls with tomorrow inside — a store with knowledge on its shelves. A school is a building with a mind, a building that questions and explores — and probes.

A school is many things. It is a glow in a teacher's heart. It is a question in a young boy's eyes.

It is the echo of children's laughter at recess time — the time of bells in busy hallways — a choir of young voices raised in husky song. A school never dies. It can be crippled by time, blackened by fire, shaken by unbelievers, threatened by zealots and bigots and weakened structurally through the years.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sivage and Mr. and Mrs. R.D. Johnson spent Sunday in Pampa in the home of their son and brother, Mr. and Mrs. R.O. Johnson. Other visitors there were Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Jochetz and Gary Ray Johnson of Amarillo and Miss Jaime Ruth Pitman of Hereford.

We would like to extend sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wood on the loss of his sister, Mrs. Mayberry, at Wellington. The Wood's were in Wellington for the funeral services.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Holdeman were visitors in Pampa and White Deer Sunday. They visited with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Atherton and girls in Pampa.

This writer, a graduate of Kelton High School, has been trying to locate members of her graduating class and was quite surprised Friday when she received a letter from the yacht SUNDAY launched at Acapulco, Mexico. It was from one of the members of that class, Josephine Poole Podbreger. She would like to share this letter with all former residents and classmates. Dear Rena:

We are anchored out in the beautiful Acapulco Harbour on our 44-foot yacht. Does that sound like something that a little Texas farm girl — Josephine Poole would make up? I know I have to pinch myself sometimes to know that it is really happening to me. The day we launched our boat (July 6, 1971), I was christening it with champagne — it all seemed unreal to me. But we have been living aboard and traveling since June, 1971, so now I know it is our world and a wonderful life it has been, too.

On our first cruise we went to British Columbia from San Francisco. We went up the Coast of California, Oregon, Washington, up the Straits of Juan de Fuca — on to anchor at Victoria in front of the beautiful Empress Hotel. We spent from June to Sept. 22 cruising the waters of British Columbia. It was beautiful every mile of the way. We left Sacramento after visiting with our four children and four grandchildren and all our friends and relatives. We sailed from Sacramento to Manzanillo, Mex. and back to San Diego. We were gone from Oct. 1972 to June 12, 1973. We thoroughly enjoyed Mexico and all the people along the way. We're always amazed at the number of people who are out doing just what we are. Given up their comfortable homes, security, jobs at home and just traveling. However it takes a special kind of person to be able to do this.

After arriving back in San Diego, we found a Marina to keep our boat for the summer and went home to Grass Valley to see our children and friends. We had lived in Grass Valley for over 25 years and had leased our new home to friends. I had told Bill I didn't want to sell it for two years until I was certain I would like boat life and traveling. We sold it, furnished, while were there so now the boat is our home. We stayed the summer in San Diego preparing for our new trip. You have no idea what it involves getting everything aboard for a journey like this — as this time we left with the idea that we would be gone two or three years so needed enough staples and spare parts for the boat to go anywhere in the world. Food prices are terribly high in Mexico as they are in the U.S. Fresh fruits and vegetables are very expensive, but that is all, meat is higher in the States. Of course the average Mexican is still eating tortillas (2.2 lbs. for 20 cents), beans and rice. We eat our share of tortillas as we really enjoy them.

We left San Diego Jan. 9 to come on this cruise and have traveled slowly to Acapulco. We will leave here by the end of April and travel fast to Costa Rica that is where we are heading now and that is where we will probably spend the summer. Then we plan to go on to Tahiti and maybe New Zealand and Australia. We have a Honda aboard so when we arrive in a town we take it ashore and can really get around to see everything and do our shopping. Sure fun riding it, also.

Now to tell you a little about our boat. It is a 44-foot ferro-cement Ketch, which my husband constructed. We had had 17-foot and 29-foot sailboats before, which we learned to sail in, and our children enjoyed it while they were growing up. We also had a 33-foot Commercial salmon trawler which my husband and two of the boys worked up and down the California Coast, so we know the ocean well. By the time he built our boat we knew just what we wanted to have all the comforts of home.

It sleeps five people, has a very comfortable galley, stove with oven, freezer, refrigerator, double sink and a bath with shower. My husband, Bill, and I handle the boat all alone as we like to be alone. We have an automatic pilot which does all the steering for us whether we are under sail or power. We can travel about 120 to 140 miles in 24 hours so we cover lots of water every day, but very slowly. We fish and catch fresh fish most every day. We have a pressure cooker and can our own tuna — have canned 42 pints on this trip — so at the price of tuna, we have made (or should I say, saved lots of money) anyway, we enjoy tuna and all the many varieties of other fish that we catch.

Acapulco is the most beautiful place we have been so far in Mexico. It is just beautiful at night with all the bright lights from the many beautiful hotels. We are anchored right in the harbor with the huge hotels on all sides of us. We attended a Folklorio Ballet Wednesday night at one of the new Cultural Centers. It is prettier than any big center we have seen anywhere. A beautiful show.

My brother, Ed (Edward Lee Poole, also a graduate of KHS and former County Attorney in Wheeler County, Amarillo) forwarded your letter on to Sacramento to our daughters. She forwarded it to us. We have a Ham radio aboard and keep in contact with Grass Valley and Sacramento where our daughter lives. All our mail goes to her. Our permanent address is hers. You can keep in touch with the address on my envelope, however, I will probably be too far away to come back to a reunion.

Haven't been back to Texas since March 1967 when Mama died. Nell lives in Scottsdale, Ariz., Lloyd lives in Las Vegas, Nev. and the rest of the boys live in Texas.

Ed has been trying to contact us, needed me to sign some oil lease papers on our farm in Texas. Said they had struck gas on one place near ours. It would be great if we struck it rich on that poor old sandy farm wouldn't it?

Ed and Helen do a lot of traveling. They are going to Russia this summer as they have been to practically all other countries. Want to meet us somewhere so it will probably be Tahiti as they haven't been there — so maybe next summer? Helen got bored being a society lady so she is a music instructor in one of the Amarillo schools.

Must close. Write to me again as it was fun hearing from you.
Love,
Jo & Bill

AUSTIN — Some time ago, our column mentioned problems a few Texans have had with in-state land deals.

Other Texas consumers have expressed concern about promotions for out-of-state land developments and how to avoid difficulties in such transactions.

Responsible land developers are concerned, too. They say the keys to avoid trouble with out-of-state land buyers are to deal with a reputable company or individual and to investigate carefully before entering into any agreement or commitment.

It's always a good idea to view any land development in which you're contemplating making a sizeable investment. If it's worth several thousand dollars of your money, it's worth the extra cash and time it would take to see it.

But what makes such rules difficult to follow in purchasing land in another state is that it is sometimes impossible to travel to the state to investigate the property, and the company offering the deal may be unknown to the consumer.

If, for some reason, you cannot inspect land that you are considering purchasing, you CAN find out certain things about it by asking the land developer for a property report.

Since passage of the Interstate Land Sales Act, developers of tracts of more than 50 subdivided lots that are promoted as a unit must file a property report with the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

This report gives the exact location of the land, clearly outlines the method of financing to be used, tells how much money is backing the project, and discloses whether or not the promoter actually has clear title to the land.

It is unlawful to use interstate commerce or the mails to promote, sell, or lease lots without adhering to terms of the Act. If you buy out-of-state land, are promised a property report, and don't get one, you have the right under the Act to file suit for your losses.

The best way to avoid such difficulties, however, is to be on guard if an interstate land promoter cannot provide a property report or tells you you don't need one. That golden opportunity he's offering you could be a bit tarnished.

In a recent case involving sale of land in Florida and Arizona, the Federal Trade Commission has provisionally accepted a consent order in a case involving a large land sales and development firm.

The order, agreed to by

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

the company, could provide restitution in the way of money or substitute lots to thousands of consumers who purchased land for retirement or vacation homes because of what the FTC contends was deceptive advertising of worthless land.

According to the FTC, many of the land sales took place at promotional dinner parties where movies showing an attractive, developed area led buyers to believe that the land they purchased would be similar. In fact, some of the lots were under water, others had no sewer or water systems, and there was no assurance that planned developments would take place.

Attorneys in our Consumer Protection Division have had reports from other states that auctions are being used to sell worthless out-of-state land. The excitement of competing with other bidders can cause more buyers to spend far more than they ever intended, and often far more than the land is worth.

The customary mode of operation for such itinerant land promoters is "hit and run."

They rush down to the bank the next morning after a sale, cash all checks, then leave town.

Many buyers later find that they are left holding deeds for land that may be not only hundreds or thousands of miles away from them, but what is worse, many miles from the nearest electric cable or sewer connection.

So if you're considering the purchase of out-of-state land that you can't see prior to the sale, ask for a property report. You can also check with the Department of Housing and Urban Development for possible information about the land promoter.

If problems arise, get in touch with attorneys in our Consumer Protection Division or your local county or district attorney.

Exquisite Tact SYDNEY (UPI) — The Australian manager of a Japanese company and his wife were dining recently aboard a Japanese ship berthed in Sydney Harbor.

During a pause in the conversation, before the main course, the wife absent-mindedly plucked a wax-impregnated fish from an ornamental bowl and began to eat it.

The Japanese hosts, with perfect manners, immediately joined her and finished the lot.

Milk cow numbers are decreasing in November, 1973, there were less than 12 million cows providing milk for the country's population of over 200 million people. That represented a drop of three percent over the year before.

 HOW CAN A MIDDLE-AGED, NEAR-SIGHTED, BALDING GUY WITH A FAUNCH, PUT DOWN MR. AMERICA?
 TELL HIM HIS OLIVE OIL IS RANCID.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Velma thinks I am the enemy of wives, despite the fact I constantly show them how to beat the paramour at her own game! Tearfully you wives beg me to help you win back your mates from predatory sirens, yet when I do so, why call me your foe?

CASE A-623: Velma R., aged 39, is very disgruntled. Dr. Crane, she challenged, "why do you pick on us women all the time?"

"Why don't you criticize your own sex and tell them to behave properly?"

"You seem to be an enemy of us faithful wives who try to rear our children properly, for you side with the husbands all the time."

"Why don't you tell husbands to resist temptation and remain true to us wives?"

FRIEND OF WIVES

Wives, I am one of your best friends on this earth! So wake up to reality and face the facts.

You deluge me with 1,000 letters per day, begging for advice on how to win back your straying mates.

Tear stains often are on your letters as you plead for suggestions on how to get your husbands to give up their clandestine affairs with paramours.

When I show you exactly how to do so, then why call me an enemy?

And if I tell you the real culprit who is sabotaging your former happy home, is that woman who stares back at you when you look into your bathroom mirror, be grateful instead of hateful!

Sirens don't steal your mates away from you!

No, indeed.

You stodgy wives DRIVE your own mates into the arms of those poaching sirens, even though unwittingly!

The Almanac

Today is Friday, May 3, the 123rd day of 1974 with 242 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Taurus. Danish-American journalist and civic reformer Jacob Riis was born May 3, 1849.

On this day in history:

In 1919, U.S. airplane passenger service began when Robert Hewitt flew Mrs. J. A. Hoagland and Miss Ethel Hodges from New York City to Atlantic City.

In 1933, Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross was sworn in as the first woman to become director of the U.S. Mint.

In 1940, Congress proclaimed the third Sunday in May as "I Am an American Day."

In 1968, the United States and North Vietnam agreed to start peace talks in Paris.

How?

By thinking your husband must feel just the way you do about sex!

Husbands don't think like you wives.

And their appetites for boudoir calories are far greater than yours, just as their gastric hunger at the dinner table far exceeds yours!

So get wise to masculine psychology the way the sirens and "Call" girls do.

Beery, Wife Lead Life Of True Ranchers

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Noah Beery Jr. is a regular in the "Doc Elliot" series with Jim Franciscus. He also takes time out to play top roles in motion pictures. His latest is "Walking Tall," one of the surprise hits of the past year.

Beery, 57, is the son of the late great character actor, Noah Beery, and the nephew of the immortal Wally Beery. Despite such overwhelming forebears, Noah Jr. has scratched out more than 200 movie roles and three previous television series on his own.

He starred in "Circus Boy," "Riverboat" and "Hondo."

Beery and his second wife, Lisa, lead the life of true ranchers. In addition to more than 100 head of cattle, they keep goats, chickens, sheep and pigs on a 2,000-acre spread near Tehachapi, Calif.—a two-hour drive from Hollywood.

Unique Home

Lisa and Noah have been married seven years. Each had a family before they got together. Noah's two sons and daughter are married and live in the Los Angeles area. His son, Buck, is a third-generation actor in the Beery family.

Lisa's sons Page, 15, and Sean, 11, live at the ranch and commute 20 miles to school each day.

Beery bought the ranch 23 years ago for $18 an acre. The property is now worth $600 per acre so it is safe to assume there will never be any benefits for Noah Jr.

Their home is made up of an old gasoline station, garage and motel that once stood along an intercontinental highway back in 1910. It has been fixed up and decorated with western-style antiques and a number of colorful Navajo rugs which Lisa bought.

Makes Own Butter

Their barn has been converted from an old dance hall that once attracted cowboys and oil field workers in the area more than a half century ago.

The acreage, for the most part, is grazing land. But about 50 acres are given over to growing vegetables. Called the Bear Mountain Ranch, Noah says proudly it is self-sufficient.

Lisa cooks on a 40-year-old stove, half of which still burns wood, the other half butane. She makes her own butter and lives in blue denim most of the time. She still hangs her clothes out to dry in the sunshine in preference to buying a mechanical dryer.

Beery keeps an apartment in Hollywood in which he lives when he's working on the show. He has other business interests that generally bring him to the city once or twice a week.

Horses Roam Ranch

On vacations the Beerys travel to Europe or Mexico. Noah is a collector of western art. He owns several original paintings by Charles Russell and many original bronze works.

The Beerys entertain infrequently because their Hollywood friends are disinclined to drive two hours for dinner. Others complain that their two-mile-long driveway is too rough to negotiate. "That driveway keeps out the casual droppers-in," said Noah, grinning.

They have their own water supply from old natural springs, aided by three windmills which also provide a source of power.

Enormous oak trees cover much of the property.
