INSISTS PRESIDENT INNOCENT

Ford Meets With Nixon Before Resuming Tours

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford, apparently embarked on a harder line on the administration's handling of Watergate, conferred with President Nixon today before resuming his most ambitious, one-month speaking tour since taking office.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Nixon did not bring up the question of resignation during the hour-long meeting because Ford "knows very well the President's intention and feeling on the matter and that the President intends to complete his term."

Warren said the two leaders had a "good talk" about domestic and foreign policies of this country, including inflation and the President's new housing program.

Phone Company Braced For Mother's Day

It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas at the phone company.

Southwestern Bell operators haven't braced for so many long distance calls since last Dec. 25.

"This Sunday being Mother's Day, we're expecting some 2,205 calls to be placed over the long distance network from the Pampa area," Gary Stevens, manager, said. The manager said 17 operators will be on duty Sunday to assist as needed. "The best way to assure that your calls go through," he said, "is to dial direct anytime Sunday before 5 p.m. Rates are lowest then, and customers will avoid the massive calling crunch that we expect will occur between 5 p.m. and 9 p.m."

This year Southwestern Bell expects 1,145,000 long distance calls to be placed on Mother's Day statewide, compared to 1,067,000 calls made in Texas last Christmas Day.

The meeting followed some of Ford's strongest statements yet on the scandals and the way they were treated at the White House, although he insisted that Nixon is innocent of any impeachable offense.

Bill Roberts, Ford's deputy press secretary, was asked just prior to the meeting if Ford's stronger comments, at Charleston, Ill., Thursday, meant the vice president was pulling his support away from the President.

Roberts said that "the idea was not to pull away from the President," but that Ford in his speeches "really is seriously concerned about the loss of confidence in the presidency and in Congress."

He said that it was quite possible the vice president would follow a similar theme in a busy schedule of speeches this weekend.

In Thursday's widely publicized speech at Eastern Illinois University, Ford referred to a "grave situation" caused by "a continuous series of revelations and reports of corruption, malfeasance and wrongdoing in the federal government, not the least of which is the sorry mess which carries the label of Watergate."

The Nixon-Ford meeting took place in the President's hideaway office in the Executive Office Building next door to the White House. Nixon gave a cheery "Good morning!" to a reporter who greeted him as he walked across a street to the EOB.

Ford's heavy May itinerary started on the 6th in New York City and will total 34 appearances in 11 states. He has received at least 500 speaking invitations since taking office Dec. 6.

His tight schedule after seeing Nixon called for a flight to Buffalo, N.Y., for a news conference, a luncheon appearance with Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan before the Building Trades Association, fundraising speeches for Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., and two private receptions.

Ford flies directly from Buffalo to College Station, Tex., where he will speak at the Texas A&M University commencement Saturday morning.

Winding up a swing in Illinois Thursday, Ford predicted that, if exonerated, Nixon can retain public trust.

"To me, I see overwhelming evidence—and this includes what I consider to be the truth from other sources—that the President is not guilty of any impeachable offense," Ford told a University of Chicago news conference.

A mother's patience is like toothpaste in the tube—it's never quite all gone.

The difference between a married man and a bachelor (says the cynic) is that a bachelor can't find things he put away—while a married man can't find things his wife put away. Strange how the key to a girl's heart so often fits a Cadillac too. Taffy Tuttle complains that she's been trying to play golf for a year, and all she's learned so far is how to drive a golf cart. Bicentennial Group Schedules Meeting

The Texas Panhandle Bicentennial Committee will meet in Pampa at 2 p.m. next Wednesday in the White Deer Land Museum.

Committee members from Panhandle cities and towns will report on progress being made in their communities for observance of the nation's 200th birthday.

Tomorrow is the deadline for submitting entries in the art contest for designs to be used on the bicentennial commemorative coin.

Committee Told Nixon Involved In Watergate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Only one day into its impeachment hearings, the House Judiciary Committee has been told that President Nixon may have been more intimately involved in Watergate than he ever has acknowledged.

Kissinger Hopeful Of Talks

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger held more than three hours of talks today with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, then flew into Tel Aviv where there was increasing optimism for an early agreement with Syria to end the fighting in the Golan Heights.

Shortly after Kissinger left Cairo, Egyptian officials said they expected Kissinger to engage in "very intensified" talks over the next four days or so. This implied Kissinger had hopes of achieving a Syrian-Israeli disengagement agreement before returning to Washington.

Deputy Israeli Prime Minister Yigal Alon earlier in the day expressed optimism that a Kissinger-engineered agreement was in sight but said his government will offer no more concessions to Syria.

American officials with Kissinger have been less optimistic although admitting some progress. "I would not be surprised if we reach a separation of forces agreement with the Syrians soon," Alon said before flying to London for talks with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

In a speech earlier today at a kibbutz near the Sea of Galilee Alon had said: "I think something has gotten moving. Maybe the chances are 50-50 and now it depends on which 50 will win."

Kissinger and Sadat gave no briefing to the press at the end of their talks and a working lunch at Sadat's private residence at Giza, on the banks of the Nile, on Cairo's southern outskirts.

Kissinger's visit to Egypt—the third on his current Middle East tour—lasted two hours longer than expected.

American officials said Kissinger would remain in Israel all day Saturday and that he expected to return to Damascus on Sunday. There were indications earlier Kissinger might return to Washington on Tuesday.

A high American official described the Israeli-Syrian negotiations as tougher than Kissinger's long efforts to settle the Vietnam War and said a troop disengagement accord was not even at the halfway point.

The inference that Nixon had at least general knowledge of the Republicans' illegal plan to conduct espionage against the Democrats came behind closed doors from John M. Doar, the committee's chief impeachment counsel.

Methodically—in a session characterized later by Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr., R-N.Y., as "sober"—Doar read from a thick, black looseleaf notebook called "Book 1."

He presented evidence for two and a half hours to the first congressional hearing in 106 years into the possible impeachment of a president.

The event itself was undramatic. But the hearing became one more source of pressure on a besieged Nixon.

On the hustings in Illinois, Vice President Gerald R. Ford no longer claimed he could find no evidence of presidential wrongdoing in Nixon's Watergate transcripts.

And in Congress Republican leaders did not shy from discussing the consequences—on the party and the nation—of a presidential resignation.

In the high-ceilinged Chamber of the House of Representatives, the Judiciary Committee hearing room, Doar focused attention on events which occurred in the Oval Office before the June 17, 1972, Watergate break-in.

On March 30, 1972, Jeb Stuart Magruder, then running the Committee to Re-elect the President, met with John N. Mitchell at Key Biscayne, Fla. Magruder testified later that Mitchell at that meeting approved a modified version of G. Gordon Liddy's "intelligence-gathering plan."

Magruder then met with H. R. Haldeman, White House chief of staff, upon his return to Washington. On April 4, Nixon met first with Haldeman, then with Mitchell, then again with Haldeman.

Three congressmen said Doar indicated Nixon might have been told of the Liddy plan—but not of plans for the actual Watergate break-in—at that time.

Nixon always has insisted he had no prior knowledge of the break-in.

The committee now may subpoena the April 4 tape—one that it already has requested. The White House said Tuesday it would give the committee no more Watergate evidence, feeling the panel has "the full story."

"We've got to get that tape," said one member after hearing Doar.

Magruder then met with H. R. Haldeman, White House chief of staff, upon his return to Washington.

On April 4, Nixon met first with Haldeman, then with Mitchell, then again with Haldeman.

Three congressmen said Doar indicated Nixon might have been told of the Liddy plan—but not of plans for the actual Watergate break-in—at that time.

DESPITE USDA PREDICTIONS

Regional Wheat Farmers Expect Lower Production

By CLAY LIVELY
The United States Department of Agriculture has predicted that the 1974 winter wheat crop will reach 1.612 billion bushels, 27 percent above last year's record crop of 1.270 billion bushels.

Farmers in this area, in the rest of Texas, and in western Oklahoma and eastern New Mexico, however, know that if there is going to be any increase at all, the slack in those areas is going to have to be taken up elsewhere in the nation.

"Dryland wheat is just practically all gone," Gray County Agent Foster Whaley reiterated today. "There are some few summer fallowed patches left in the eastern part of the county, but at least 90 percent of the wheat following wheat is gone."

"There is also going to be some irrigated wheat cut. It's looking fair to good right now, but the lack of rain will make it do less than what you'd expect."

Whaley said the wheat situation is not any good anywhere in Texas. On a trip to College Station around Easter ("right through the wheat belt of Texas") Whaley said he saw a lot of wheat being grazed out around Vernon and Marlin, and "that was at a time when wheat was at $4 a bushel."

The county agent said, "I'm going to make a bet that wheat production this year (in Texas) won't be one-third what it was in 1973. It probably won't be half of what 'as."

The Agriculture Department has projected that wheat production will be down in Texas from 98,600,000 bushels last year to an estimated 69,300,000 in 1974.

Whaley and quite a few others think that projected decrease is conservative to an extreme.

Santa Fe Railroad manager in charge of agricultural development R.I. Cross was not available for comment on the situation today at his Amarillo office. He and his assistant have been on the road this week in New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas observing the wheat situation in those states.

Cross has reportedly projected a decrease in Texas winter wheat production of nearly 50 percent down to around 46 or 48 million bushels.

Knowing that Texas is going to produce much less wheat this year than in 1973, the Texas Wheat Producers Board is planning to finance expanded research projects to try to keep a situation such as the state is in now from arising again.

Besides the drought conditions which have plagued Texas all this past winter and spring, other factors have contributed to the decline in wheat production.

Among those factors are insect damage and wheat disease. The board is also concerned with the development of drought-resistant strains of wheat.

A budget of more than $150,000 has reportedly been approved to carry out the research programs, as well as market development and service programs for the board.

Having Trouble With Parking?

Have you been having trouble getting the car door open when angle parking between two cars downtown? Not enough room to get out comfortably?

Following many complaints about it from motorists, the city is remedying the situation.

Parking stripes in the downtown business district are being repainted—and they are being placed farther apart.

City Manager Mack Wofford said today the street department is widening the space between parking lines to a minimum of 12 feet at the curb.

Motorists are urged to park carefully between the lines, not with one or two wheels directly on the line.

AT PHS FIELDHOUSE

Choirs To Hold Annual Spring Festival Tonight

The annual Pampa school choirs' Spring Festival will be tonight beginning at 8 o'clock at Harvester Fieldhouse.

Choirs from the six Pampa elementary schools, Houston Middle School, Pampa Junior High and Pampa High School will participate in the festival. Fifty band students will accompany two of the massed choir numbers on the program.

Each of the elementary choirs will present one number each, followed by several numbers by the Houston (7th grade) choir.

The eighth and ninth grade choirs from Pampa Junior High will then present several numbers each.

Choirs from Pampa High performing will be the Sophomore Girls, the Mixed Choir and the Concert Choir. Choir director John Woickowski will direct a massed performance in the festival as well as combined boys program, junior high through high school.

Mrs. Louise Richardson will direct a massed number of the Sophomore Girls, Mixed Choir and the Concert Choir. She will also direct a combined girls program, junior high through high school. A total of nearly 800 choir students will participate in the festival.

A presentation of flags by 50 Boy Scouts will open the program. The flags are being donated by the Pampa High School Key Club.

Superintendent James F. Malone will give the welcome to begin the festival. Master of ceremonies for the program is Warren Hasse.

Clean-Up Campaign Gets Going In Ward 2 Areas

Making Pampa a cleaner and more beautiful city is the objective of the annual Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up campaign now in full swing.

City and Chamber of Commerce officials continue to urge the placing of trash and debris in alleys to be picked up by city clean-up crews.

The campaign will run through May 28. The pick-up trucks are spending one week in each of the city's four wards.

It started in Ward 1 on May 1 and 88 loads were hauled away during the first week.

This week the trucks are in Ward 2 and will be there through next Tuesday. Sixteen loads of trash were picked up yesterday, making a total of 30 loads for the first two days in Ward 2. The total since the campaign on May 1 is 121 loads, Cooke said.

The clean-up drive will continue in Ward 2 through next Tuesday and move into Ward 3 Wednesday, May 15.

The month-long campaign will be concluded in Ward 4 starting Wednesday, May 22.

Only One Day Left In Vaccination Drive

Only one more day remains for Pampa residents to take advantage of lower prices for vaccinations of dogs and cats by local veterinarians as part of the city's annual Clean-Up Campaign.

Vaccination service against rabies is being offered at a reduced fee of $3 (compared to the regular $4) through tomorrow as part of Rabies Prevention Week.

Although veterinarians note there hasn't been major outbreak of rabies in many years, the possibility always exists, especially when large numbers of cats and dogs are not vaccinated against the disease.

A city ordinance requires that all dogs and cats be vaccinated once a year.

A survey of veterinarians indicated fewer animals have been vaccinated this year than in the past few years.

Veterinarians participating in the annual rabies vaccination campaign are the Roysse Animal Hospital, 1238 E. Frederic; M.W. Horne, 1329 S. Hobart, and the Hendrick Animal Clinic, 1912 Alcock.

Local officials estimate there are between 10,000 and 12,000 dogs and cats in Pampa, with no more than 50 percent of them vaccinated each year.

According to the World Health Organization, 70 percent of the pets should be inoculated to insure against a possible widespread outbreak of the disease.

FOR THOSE IN NEED

Salvation Army Provides Resources To Give Help

For the modern Christian, the Salvation Army functions as an extra pair of hands. However humane a believer may be, he or she may lack the resources to know who is in need and how to offer the right kind of help.

Here in this community and throughout the world, there are many people the Gospel would never have reached — and many desperate lives which would not have been blessed by the works of mercy — except for the compassionate work of the Salvation Army, local commander Lt. Phil Murphy said.

From its foundation in the London slums of 1865, the Salvation Army has always followed the principal that preaching the Gospel of salvation and improving the human social condition are inseparable objectives.

"Led and sustained by the Holy Spirit, the Salvationist directs ingenuity, energy and love to human needs," Lt. Murphy said.

Although the Salvation Army is a Christian movement with the primary purpose of leading souls to God, its skilled help is available to all in need, without regard to religious persuasion, he added.

National Salvation Army Week, May 13-19, is an opportunity for all Christians to thank God for the Salvation Army.

"The influence of these dedicated men and women — their spiritual and humanitarian ideals — is a blessing to this and every community, a worldwide force for good and an inspiration to all Christians," Lt. Murphy concluded.

Ochiltree Seeks Assistant D.A.

PERRYTON — Ochiltree County Commissioners this week authorized 84th Judicial District Attorney Stephen F. Cross to apply for a grant from the Criminal Justice Council to cover the salary of an assistant district attorney.

The application will be for a $48,000 grant to pay the salary of the assistant DA and a secretary.

The county commissioners agreed to supply $1,000 for office space and equipment if the grant for the assistant DA, said necessary by Cross because of the heavy caseload, is approved by the CJC.

Results of the application will not be known until early 1975.

Carl Combs, Liberal, Kan.; a sister, Mrs. Lewis Forrester, Gilmer; two brothers, J.W. Combs, Amarillo, and D.S. Combs, Grand Prairie; and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at Las Cruces.

Trudeau Begins Campaign Drive

OTTAWA (UPI) — The controversy over Canada's economy, a disagreement which toppled Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's government, was the key issue today as campaigns got under way for the July 8 national elections.

Trudeau pledged a "vigorous" tough campaign for reelection Thursday, based on his proposed budget. The House of Commons rejected the budget Wednesday, bumping Trudeau's Liberal party government out of power and forcing new elections.

Leaders of both the Conservatives and the New Democratic Party (NDP), opposing groups who united to defeat the minority Liberal government in the House of Commons, 137-123, said their campaigns would deal mainly with the rising cost of living.

Both groups criticized Trudeau's proposed budget as inflationary.

Gov. Gen. Jules Leger dissolved the 29th Parliament at the request of the government Thursday, and Trudeau set July 8 as the date for Canada's third national election in six years.

WORLDWIDE INSTABILITY?

Scandals, Economic Ills Troubling Governments

United Press International Scandals, political fragmentation and economic headaches are troubling governments across the world and threatening to bring down others.

Although worldwide parliamentary instability is difficult to pin on a single cause, there's no doubt voters throughout the world are fed up with "business as usual" politics.

In France, the Gaullist party lost control of government in a May 5 presidential runoff vote after 16 years in power. Gaullist candidate Jacques Chaban-Delmas placed a poor third with only 15 percent of the vote.

A sex-and-spy scandal this week brought the resignation of Nobel-Prize winning Chancellor Willy Brandt, who improved West Germany's relations with the Soviet bloc while maintaining close ties to the United States.

Lost Vote
In Iceland, the leftist coalition government of Premier Olafur Johannesson fell Thursday in an internal dispute over how to control inflation and crank up a stagnant economy.

In Canada, Prime Minister Elliot Trudeau's minority government fell from power Wednesday after losing a noconfidence vote in parliament over economic policies.

In Australia, where there is widespread dissatisfaction with rising living costs, the first Labor party government in a quarter-century has been forced to call a midterm election for May 18 in a bid to get a majority in parliament.

Democracies are not the only ailing governments in Europe. Portugal's authoritarian rightist regime was ousted by a military coup April 25 and the one-man government of Spain's Generalissimo Francisco Franco is worried about pressures for political change spilling across the border.

In Italy, which has had 36 different administrations in the past 31 years, political analysts say the current caretaker coalition would have severe trouble in forming a new government if voters refuse to repeal a controversial, three-year-old divorce law in a referendum Sunday.

Police Studying School Break-In

Police are investigating a break-in at Baker School, 300 E. Tuke, Wednesday night or early Thursday in which a fire extinguisher was sprayed on library books and a small amount of cash was stolen.

Entry into the building was apparently gained through a window at the southwest end of the library.

After spraying the library books with the extinguisher, the burglar or burglars then went into the main office of the school where $40 in change, some bills and postage stamps were taken from a metal box.

Also taken was $10 from a bank bag and several dollars from a drawer in the principal's office.

A soft drink machine in the teacher's lounge was broken into and cash taken from it. Several soft drink bottles were emptied on floors in the school.

Damage to books in the library was reported to be light because the fire extinguisher was of the powder type, not liquid. Approximately $50 in damages was done to a sliding panel door in the school office.

Nursing Center Gets Renovation

Pampa Nursing Center is undergoing a renovation. The facilities will be remodeled, new furniture added and new programs implemented in the near future.

A social services and activities program has recently been added to provide interesting and useful projects for the residents. Activities will include arts and crafts, talent contest, sing-a-longs, parties and dances.

The center will appreciate any organizations or individuals who could give of their time to participate and make this a community-wide effort.

Please contact the center if you have a special talent you would like to share with our residents. Vickie Phillips, social services director, said.

Fifty-two accidents, involving seven injuries, were investigated by Pampa police in April.

The total number of accidents investigated for the year through April stands at 245, with 36 injuries reported.

Total for the same period last year was 246 accidents and 32 injuries. There were no fatalities for either period.

Property damage in April was estimated at $26,178, with damage for the year estimated at $93,419.60.

Officer Reports Bomb Explosion

An explosion of some sort was heard about 9:30 p.m. last night in the vicinity of West and Foster Sts., police reports said this morning.

An officer on duty investigated the occurrence, heard at the police station and at other locations.

In his report he said the explosion was apparently made by a homemade bomb of some sort, set off on a dirt pile near Crossman's Car Wash.

A group of youths was reportedly gathered in the area at the time of the explosion.

HOUSEWIFE, TEENAGERS Sunday School Teacher Charged With Murders

KERMIT, Tex. (UPI) — A 25-year-old Sunday school teacher has been charged with the murders of a West Texas housewife and two Oklahoma teenagers, the abduction of a 16-year-old girl and is being investigated for other unsolved murders that follow a similar pattern.

Tommy Rae Kneeland, a Sunday school teacher at Hurst Christian Church, was transferred Thursday from a jail in Fort Worth, Tex., where he was charged with abduction, to the Winkler County jail in Kermit where three murder charges have been filed against him.

and the stabbing-murder of a young housewife killed at Tarrant County Junior College in Fort Worth where she attended night school.

The Rev. Robert Owens, pastor of the Hurst church where Kneeland has been a member for two years, said Kneeland worked in the church's youth department, served on the bus committee, helped to keep buses in working order and drove the church's buses.

"We can't imagine him doing anything like that," Owens said. "I just talked with him as his pastor. But he is one frightened kid."

Kneeland had been a suspect in a number of unsolved killings since his arrest on abduction charges and his appearance in a lineup earlier in the week.

Peace Officers, Rattlesnakes

CLAIREMONT, Tex. (UPI) — A handful of peace officers gathered at the Horace B. Wood Ranch in Kent County the first week in May, 1949, to test their shooting eyes and rid the area just off the Texas Caprock of part of its diamondback rattler population.

The gathering of peace officers has grown to become an annual get-together of the Caprock Peace Officers Association. It attracts up to 350 peace officers from all over West Texas.

The 26th annual rattlesnake rodeo begins Thursday, only a few miles from where it began over a quarter century ago.

Cecil Fox, a retired game warden from Spur, will be on hand again to greet all the peace officers and run the annual roundup. He has been president of the association from its beginning in 1949.

Each year Fox gives a demonstration on how to "milk" a rattler — or how to extract the venom from the snake.

The lawmen enjoy visiting and swapping information and experiences. No one has ever been bitten by a snake or received a gunshot wound during the daylong event.

Highlight is the pistol shooting at live rattlesnake targets.

The shooters are divided into 10 groups — including various types of law enforcement officers, Department of Public Service personnel, lawyers and judges, preachers, experts and professionals, and guests.

Winners in paper target shooting from each group enter a final shoot at live rattlesnakes for the grand prize.

A hit in the head of the wiggling reptile is worth 10 points; a hit anywhere else on the snake's body nets five points.

A barbecue luncheon will be served and trophies and prizes will be awarded to various group winners and the overall grand champion.

This year the top award is a pair of boots.

"The 'rodeo' was held at the Wood Ranch for years. One year it was held in Spur and this is the second time it has been held in Clairemont.

Investment Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — While recent trends in the money market do not as yet provide much reason to cheer, the commodity market may be indicating a better picture of the inflation front," says E. F. Hutton & Co. The Dow Jones commodity futures index, which peaked at 365 in late February, hit a new 1974 low Tuesday closing below the 300 mark, the firm notes.

"Some food and related issues could be beneficiaries of lower commodity prices and have been acting better in recent sessions," it adds.

Psychological conditions are ripe for the end of the long bear market, according to Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith. Sellers have had their chance to sell and selling pressure is falling off, leaving most stocks in a solid-out position, the firm says.

"Investors feel too beaten to get back into the market," it adds, "but that feeling will dissipate." The firm urges investors to accumulate stocks for the long-term rather than running the risks of short-term trading.

The stock market has ignored good first-quarter earnings results in most areas and focused on bad news and negative events.

says Fraser Management Associates of Burlington, Vt. But if the market has discounted future pessimistic news, "then we would expect a slow but continuous lifting of stock prices as future events unfold in a more positive manner," the firm says.

This gradual upswing may eventually lead "to what could be a strong buying stampede by institutions and individuals," it adds.

"When leading economic indicators are examined in inflation-adjusted constant dollars, it is evident that the economy is still slowing down," according to Wright Investors Service. The Bridgeport, Conn. firm says the Federal Reserve Board's tight money stance and soaring interest rates are "converting the aftermath of the energy crisis into a recession." By the fourth quarter the situation should improve, it predicts, and "real" economic growth can then be resumed.

Future Home & HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Anthony Quinn, who sold his Beverly Hills home to make his permanent residence in Rome, has built a new abode in Greece which he plans to establish as his future permanent home.

Yearly License Plates Arrive For Storage

The 1975 Texas license plates, those first-of-a-kind that state residents will keep for a five-year period, arrived recently at the Texas Highway Department Amarillo District Office, 5715 Canyon Drive.

The plates will be stored at the district warehouse until November when Highway Department maintenance forces will distribute the tags to the tax collectors in the 17 Panhandle counties under the Amarillo District's jurisdiction.

Giving vehicle identification in black letters against a white background, the plates have places for stickers that will be issued annually through 1979.

In 1976, instead of buying a new license plate, motorists will purchase a 1-by-1-inch adhesive sticker that will be placed on the upper left corner of the plate. In 1977, the sticker will be stuck to the upper right corner, then alternated for the following years.

In addition to its new design, the five-year plate includes the use of vowels for the first time. Since 1965, when the three-letter system was adopted, only consonants were used.

The entire alphabet is now employed due to the ever-increasing number of motor vehicles. For example, the first 1975 license plate is AAA 10.

R. W. Townsley, director of the Motor Vehicle Division of the Texas Highway Department, said the five-year license plate will save Texas taxpayers an estimated $10.5 million over a four-year period, since annual license plate production will no longer be necessary.

Electric Co-ops MANILA (UPI) — The U.S. Agency for International Development (AID) has announced joint plans with the Philippine government to set up 36 electrical cooperatives in scattered areas of the country within the next three to four years to service about five million rural people.

Or take Nixon's outburst

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — As President Nixon predicted, the Watergate tape transcripts provide numerous opportunities for reading between the lines.

But even more numerous are the opportunities for reading between the parentheses. It turned out that many parts of the conversations recorded at the White House were (inaudible) or (unintelligible). Not to mention the places with (expletive deleted).

Just as nature abhors a vacuum, the human brain abhors a blank. Anyone reading the transcripts finds his brain involuntarily trying to fill in the parenthetical gaps.

This puts the brain under a heavy strain, for the White House blue pencil operator gave no clues to assist the brain in reconstructing the expurgated passages.

Dashes Would be Better. It would have been helpful if the blue pencil operator had been a dash man. The use of dashes to represent the letters of a missing expletive would have made reading between the parentheses far less difficult.

Take John Dean's comment that Judge Sirica, in sentencing the Watergate defendants, "can be a (characterization deleted) as far as the whole thing."

Had that passage been rendered as "can be a (—) as far as the whole thing," the brain would have known that Dean was characterizing the judge as a "swell guy."

Florida produces more than one-third of the world output of marketable phosphate rock.

about the Ellsberg break-in: "What in the (expletive deleted) caused this?" Had that been transcribed as "What in the (—) caused this?" the brain would have deciphered Nixon's question as "What in the everloving blue-eyed world caused this?"

But as the transcripts stand, the brain is pretty much on its own. When one reads "Oh (expletive deleted)," the brain doesn't know whether it is dealing with profanity, vulgarity or some slang expression, like "Oh horsefeathers."

Even More Taxing. Filling in the inaudible and unintelligible portions is even more taxing. About the only thing that can help is being around someone who mumbles a lot.

Fortunately, I once had a mumbling uncle. Only three words of every 10 he uttered were discernible by the human ear. But, with practice, I finally got to where I could catch the drift of what he was saying.

That experience proved invaluable to me in comprehending portions of the transcripts.

Take the place where Ron Ziegler says he has "two options" in what he can tell the press: "One would be to say that (unintelligible); the other would be to say the (unintelligible)."

Thanks to my mumbling uncle, I immediately recognized Ziegler's options as "no comment" and "that information is classified."

Florida produces more than one-third of the world output of marketable phosphate rock.

Iceland's Leftist Coalition Resigns, Plans Elections

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (UPI) — Prime Minister Olafur Johannesson announced the resignation early Thursday of Iceland's leftist coalition government, which includes the Communists, and called for new elections next month.

Johannesson dissolved the Althing (parliament), but said his minority coalition would stay on in a caretaker status until a new government has been formed.

In a speech to the 60-member legislature, Johannesson said the breakup of his three-party coalition came because of a dispute over economic policy.

Government sources said Johannesson's Progressive party and the Communists could not gain the support of the Liberal Left party, the third partner in the ruling coalition, on economic measures.

Johannesson formed his leftist coalition in July, 1971. Bjoern Jonsson, Liberal Left minister of communications and social affairs, resigned last Saturday, saying he could not support a government proposal for wage ceilings and a price freeze to counter inflation.

Before the resignation, the Progressives and Communists had three members each in the cabinet and the Liberal Left party had two representatives.

One of the coalition's prime objectives was the phasing-out of the American-operated air base at Keflavik, established in 1951 under a bilateral defense agreement. The United States uses the base to keep watch on Soviet naval activities in the North Atlantic.

The government has also been embroiled in a "Cod War" with Britain over fishing rights in waters surrounding Iceland.

New Tax Law Coming?

Proposals to revise the nation's laws governing taxes on personal income will probably be in vogue in the coming congressional sessions.

Politicians frequently talk about "tax reforms," but that usually is merely a form of headline hunting. We doubt any of them expected any serious action.

But now, the grip of the Internal Revenue Service has encircled the highest elected official in the land, and public attention to this turn of events will surely give the lesser office holders reason for concern.

Republican tax payers who remain steadfast in support of President Nixon will be wondering about the tax returns of Mr. Nixon's critics in the house, senate and in other political positions.

Politicians are the elite of American society. They receive extremely high salaries and "fringe benefits" which, if the same were received by private individuals would be subject to scrutiny by the income tax people.

The spotlight on President Nixon's "underpayment" of more than $400,000 gives the impression, rightly or wrongly, that people in high political office just might be getting less scrutiny by the IRS than do the taxpayers in general.

We have noted that the people seem to get upset most about profits they consider "excessive" and about people who pay little or no income tax.

Higher profits of oil companies in the last quarter of 1973 almost brought on revolt.

The reaction in neither case was justified, but the emotionalism was a signal to politicians. For emotionalism is the stuff political action feeds upon. So a new element is injected in political campaigning and in the great game of remaining in office.

The fact of the matter is that there are too many variables in the administration of the income tax laws, and depending upon how the stories are told, a politician can be made to look bad in the public eye if some questions about his payments are raised.

Certainly no one wants to pay more taxes than he is legally obligated to pay, so his tax consultants look for every opportunity to help him avoid taxes. That is quite proper.

But what makes the more affluent, especially politicians, vulnerable to negative public reaction is the fact that the overwhelming majority have only their wages to report, and the government already has extracted its cut. This generally is more than is actually due, so they get a refund, an effective psychological trick. But when they get the idea that someone else, earning more was paying less, they become upset.

Just how the politicians will handle this new problem remains to be seen, but it is a safe bet they will do their best to eliminate any situation that may provide an opportunity for their opposition and for the tax payers generally to place them in an unfavorable light.

INSIDE LABOR

'Black Mafia' Seen As Danger

By VICTOR RIESEL
WASHINGTON — There is a sprawling, powerful, intricately organized "Black Mafia" seeping across the land.

In some areas — South Florida (especially Miami), Philadelphia, Northern New Jersey, and even in a few New York and Detroit precincts — it is as powerful as the traditional organized crime combines. These "organizations" are not merely neighborhood bands running numbers banks in the nation's ghettos. Instead they rival or work with the white "national combines."

Basically they make their hundreds of millions of dollars by running narcotics, coordinating with the "Cuban Mafia" in South Florida and in the Philadelphia - New York - Northern New Jersey metropolitan area.

But the Black Mafia now is a sophisticated movement. It buys real estate. It moves into legitimate business.

And it is beginning to move steadily enough inside labor. Make no mistake about this. For some time now it has been a "touchy" subject. The semantics are sensitive and searing. But then, discussion of all criminal families are.

There is considerable sensitivity over the use of the word Mafia. But there is no other easily recognizable synonym. Thus in the still unreported details of the confidential document labeled "United States Attorneys' Advisory Committee to the Attorney General of the United States: Report of Subcommittee on Dept. of Justice Field Office Operations; Organization Concepts and Relationships with United States Attorneys" (dealing with the anti-organized crime strike forces) the following appears:

"Messrs. Petersen and Lynch (heads of the Justice Department Criminal Division and Organized Crime and Racketeering Section, respectively), however, describe the existence of 'Jewish syndicates,' 'Syrian syndicates,' 'Chinese syndicates,' etc., and regard them as of equal 'syndicate' stature within a particular district as the classic 'family' of the 'Mafia' or 'La Cosa Nostra.'"

The references here are to the remnants of Murder, Inc., and the latter-day New York - Miami - Cleveland combine once reportedly headed by the aging Meyer Lansky now awaiting his end in Hallandale, Fla.; to the St. Louis mob which drove the Sicilian crowd north to Detroit; and to the growing narcotics and criminal Oriental combines spouting in San Francisco and New York's Chinatowns.

Certainly this is no reflection on the Oriental community with, for example, its 30,000 skilled engineers; or upon the smaller Syrian communities or the larger Italian or Jewish population.

Nor should there be any insult taken by any ethnic group which finds itself besieged by what must be considered unfortunately routine American gangsters.

In this racketeering arena, as wave after wave of ethnic mobs rise and battle each other, the black force is the newest. It is working in tandem with Cuban combines. The latter runs the supplies. The former then feeds them to the traditional Mafia or distributes the narcotics, the gambling moneys, even the labor power by themselves without asking or needing permission of the garden variety Mafia "families."

Recently this was most articulately put by Lt. Alan Richards, supervisor of the Narcotics Investigation Section, Organized Crime Bureau, Dade County, Fla. Richards told the New Jersey State Commission of Investigation, directed by the crusading Marty Holloran, that:

"They (the Black Mafia) are financed independently without the approval or backing of the Northern organized crime syndicates..."

"For too long we have belabored the theory of organized crime cartels as the controlling factor of all highly organized and specialized criminal activity in this nation."

"The Black and Cuban organizations of South Florida are as well organized, although admittedly on a smaller scale, than any so-called organized family. They operate through force and fear, engage in corruption of public officials, amass huge profits and also invest in legitimate businesses (sic)."

"They are ... to be considered a viable and highly organized self-perpetuating and insidious threat to the health and welfare of this nation..."

"A typical black organization closely resembles that of the stereotyped organized crime family."

Another specialist, Arthur Lewis, Regional Director of the Drug Enforcement Administration for the Philadelphia - New Jersey area, testified that "we are also finding violators who ship heroin into Atlantic City (N.J.) and Detroit, who are calling themselves the 'Black Mafia,' the 'Family,' or the 'Organization.' These groups have money, power and are rapidly gaining more influence. They are operating on an interstate and international level."

"Render unto Caesar only that which is Caesar's. If Caesar wants more than his share, vote for Brutus."

INSIDE WASHINGTON US-Soviet Deals Only Part Of Detente Policy

By ROBERTS ALLEN
WASHINGTON — If you're not aware of it, you should know there is infinitely more to detente than "playing footsie" with Russia.

"Detente diplomacy" is not only the all-dominating precept of U.S. foreign policy, but it is worldwide in range and purport and involves vast and far-reaching strategic, trade, financial and other commitments and undertakings.

The overall global scope and immense magnitude of detente are never spelled out by the responsible authorities — notably Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, both the architect and managing director of this fateful policy. But the nature and intent of the individual facets are no secret, as follows:

RUSSIA — SALT II nuclear arms agreement (now in process of negotiation in Geneva) under which the U.S. apparently will make further concessions on these weapons. Also greatly expanded trade and credits — notwithstanding the overwhelming bipartisan congressional opposition to that unless the Soviet Union moderates its harsh emigration restrictions.

In other words, whatever happens to the trade reform bill, passed by the House last December with the Jackson amendment and now pending in the Senate Finance Committee, the administration proposes to go ahead in enlarging commercial bonds with Russia.

MIDDLE EAST — $250 million in economic aid to Egypt, part of it to finance the clearing of the Suez Canal — although the reopening of this waterway will be of immense strategic value to the Soviets by slashing the distance its Black Sea Fleet has to traverse for deployment in the Persian Gulf by more than 70 percent, from 11,500 to 3,200 nautical miles.

The effect of such reduction in time and space will be to enable the Red fleet to quickly reach the Persian Gulf where it would outnumber and outgun any force the U.S. could deploy in that crucial region.

Also Export-Import Bank financing to Kuwait to purchase a number of giant passenger planes for its national airline — despite tiny Kuwait's billions from oil profits.

Also, still undisclosed millions in economic aid for Syria. Inside word is this could run as high as $50 million.

More Detente
INDIA — $100 million in various economic aid — although earlier this year the State Department wrote off $2.2 billion of a $3.2 billion debt owed by India, which in recent years has been carpingly critical of the U.S. while fawningly favorable to Russia.

Congressional outrage at the huge debt cancellation was so vehement that legislation was rushed through barring such arbitrary bureaucratic action without advance notice to Congress.

CUBA — Authorizing U.S.-owned firms in Canada, Brazil and Argentina to sell many millions of dollars worth of trucks, tractors and other agricultural and transportation equipment to the Castro regime. This soft-pedaled move will be followed in a few months by a spectacular meeting between the bearded Communist dictator and Secretary Kissinger — in Havana. Proclaimed aim of "this dramatic get-together will be to "normalize relations between the two countries."

PANAMA — The recent fanfare "commitment" (signed by Secretary Kissinger in Panama) to negotiate a treaty which, in effect, would give that dictator-ruled country eventual sovereignty over the strategic Canal. Discussions on such a pact are now secretly underway with the leftist Torrijos regime — which seized power by armed force in 1968, and is the 59th government in the 60-year history of Panama.

Pertinently notes Rep. H.R. Gross, R-Iowa, a ranking member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, "For six decades, the safe, efficient and equitable operation of the Canal has given Panama, the United States and all other countries benefits beyond calculation. In view of that, how can Dr. Kissinger improve the control and operation of this vital waterway by turning it over to the Communist-dominated Panamanian dictatorship that could be overturned tomorrow?"

Detente In Action
Striking illustration of the extent to which the U.S. is going in "detente" with Russia is what happened on that one-sided Security Council resolution condemning Israel for its reprisal attack on Lebanon — while carefully not denouncing the Palestinian terrorist massacre of 18 Israeli women and children which precipitated the retaliatory raid.

U.S. support of that glaringly partial resolution was a complete reversal of policy.

Just one year ago, the U.S. flatly balked at approving a similar resolution.

That also assailed Israel for striking back at Lebanon following a murderous guerrilla assault. In explaining this stand, U.S. Ambassador John Scali declared the U.S. rejected the resolution because it was not even-handed and failed to censure the Palestinian atrocity which provoked the Israeli reprisal.

The marked switch in position is directly related to the "detente diplomacy."

It is part and parcel of "playing footsie" with the Soviets — as significantly evidenced by the following facts:

Russia was a prime backstage mover in seeking a United Nations crackdown on Israel. It was Moscow's way of demonstrating "friendship" for the Arabs, and indirectly swiping at the U.S., leading ally of Israel.

But a heavily one-sided resolution, drafted by the Arabs and the Soviets, was importantly revised by the representatives of four Western countries — Britain, France, Australia and Austria. They included specific condemnation of the terrorists' massacre of women and children at Kiryat Shmona.

This addition was approved by Ambassador Scali.

In fact, he indicated that without such express disapproval of the terrorists, the U.S. would either abstain or veto the resolution.

H. L. Hunt Writes

ANTI-HIJACKING

There hasn't been a successful hijacking of a scheduled airliner in the United States since Nov. 10, 1972. This safety record is the direct result of anti-hijacking procedures. These procedures include metal detectors, individual searches of hand luggage and custom-built X-ray equipment. Through these screening procedures, some 60,000 weapons have been detected, including 2,162 guns and 23,280 knives. Guns have been found in hollowed shoe heels and even in women's wigs.

Though some passengers complained about these searches when they were first begun, the results have virtually silenced criticism. In 1972, the last year before the procedures were ordered, there were 31 hijack attempts. The last occurred when three men forced a Southern Airlines jet to fly to Havana, wounded the co-pilot and caused an elderly man to have a heart attack.

Federal Aeronautics Administrator Alexander Butterfield says of the program: "I don't want to see the program stopped, because hijacking still occurs all over the world, and if we let it up it will come back here. There's no end to the arrests which are made and the weapons confiscated."

The primary purpose of government is to protect the lives and property of citizens. By ordering these anti-hijacking safeguards, the government, with the cooperation of the airlines, has fulfilled this purpose. This shows that crime can be prevented if firm steps are taken against it.

Dirge For Controls

Senator Muskie, the cry-baby from Maine who wept for the TV cameras while standing in the snow in front of a newspaper office, is now shedding another tear.

This time he mourns the demise of wage and price laws.

He claims the fault with the late regulations was in the administration and not in the controls as such.

He is 50 per cent right. The fault was in both.

Endeavors to apply such political force to the marketplace have a history of at least 1600 years. Not once have the curbs been administered successfully. Wage and price fixing does not work because it can't work because it promotes scarcity, and scarcity drives prices up.

The moaner from Maine may lament the matter until salty tears melt the snow at his feet, but all his grief will not dissolve the cold hard truth. Wishing and wailing will not bring an impossibility to pass.

ALL THAT GLITTERS

Hollywood West - And East

By VIC GOLD

WASHINGTON — The Sundance Kid was in the audience last week when the House Judiciary Committee met to consider and narrowly reject the White House counteroffer of transcripts instead of tapes. Herbert Redford was a visitor on Capitol Hill, soaking up atmosphere and data in preparation for his planned film production of Woodward & Bernstein's book about the Watergate scandal.

Did Redford pick up anything of value? Some fresh insight to help him decide the direction his Watergate film should take? I doubt it. Unless, of course, after reading that 1,300-page transcript of presidential conversation under pressure, the Kid came to appreciate the limitations of art and opted for abandoning his project.

This is no aspersion on Redford's talent, intellect or professional capacity to absorb atmosphere or data. Nor is it meant to reflect on the quality of Woodward & Bernstein's book which, judging from excerpts published to date, will probably become a bestseller. It's simply to recognize that if ever there's been a case in which cinematic art can't hope to imitate life, Redford is stuck with it. Better he bought up the film rights for the Hundred Years War.

Of course, even Watergate, Hollywood wasn't able to do any better by the world of Washington politics than it's done by the old West. This goes all the way back to those relatively uncomplicated years when Frank Capra was romanticizing the political process with his Jimmy Stewart, white vs. black-hats story, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington."

Odd, isn't it, that Hollywood West can't come to grips with the reality of Hollywood East? Because both cities, after all, deal in the same commodity — the making and dissemination of myths.

As for the consuming public, Americans have gone along with the game, being of two minds about their politicians: one romantic, the other cynical. Thus, we typecast the men who seek power in Hollywood East and end up with cosmetic-thin public figures who play assigned roles behind actors' masks. Ironically, it was the man who had dedicated his every waking hour for 30 years to polishing his role — an actor who outdid even his self-exalting predecessors in projecting the image of the President-as-Zeus — who blew the myth. Not voluntarily, to be sure, but out of urgent political necessity, Richard Nixon did more last week to dispel Potomac mythology than a hundred Woodward & Bernsteins, working in tandem a dozen years, could have.

In the aftermath, we have been deafened by gasps of sanctimony from those who would cast themselves in exalted roles. But does anyone truly believe that a transcript of conversations coming from, say, the Democratic Caucus or Ted Kennedy's sanctum sanctorum would bring us the words of men speaking to each other, Carianus-like, in iambic pentameter? No, those White House transcripts, expurgated and all, may not be what the Judiciary Committee needs to proceed toward impeachment. But those 1,300 pages should be required reading in every American high school civics class. With a foreword, noting that what follows isn't the aberration of a single man and administration, but rather politique-verite, Gray-Hat and-clay-feet variety, off-camera and backstage.

So Richard Nixon, for one, has been shorn of his actor's mask. Too bad that can't happen to 600 other would-be gods I could name. It would be quite a show — whether or not Robert Redford was able to get it onto film.

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

By FRED KARPIN

In today's deal there is featured another example of what is meant by "expert play." Our hero is the South declarer.

Neither side is vulnerable.

The bidding:
 North East South West
 1♥ 2♠ 3♣ Pass

 5♣ Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Ace of ♠

North's opening bid was a distinct overbid, as was his subsequent raise to five clubs. East's two spade overcalls was a pre-emptive call known as the "weak jump overcall," and showed a fair six-card suit with little or no outside strength.

After cashing his ace and king of spades, West led a heart. Dummy's ace winning. Declarer then led a low trump to his ace — and West discarded a heart. The bad news in the trump suit gave declarer something to think about. He would have to lead trumps from dummy twice more to capture East's remaining J-9-6; and he would also have to try to avoid losing the spade which he still had left in his hand. He found the winning solution.

At trick five he led the diamond deuce, inserting dummy's ten when West played low. As is evident, the ten won the trick. Next came the ten of trumps. East covering with the jack, and South capturing the trick with his king. Now the five of diamonds was led to dummy's queen, after which the board's remaining trump was led. When East followed with the six, South inserted his seven. The queen of trumps then felled East's jack. That took care of the trump situation.

South now played his three remaining trumps. This was the position prior to the lead of South's last trump: South had the eight of spades, the king of hearts and the five of trumps. West had the queen of hearts and the J-8 of diamonds. Dummy had the heart jack and the A-3 of diamonds.

On the lead of South's last trump (at trick 11), West found himself in the throes of an inescapable squeeze: if he discarded his queen of hearts, dummy's jack would become promoted into declarer's game — going trick. And if, instead, he tossed away the eight of diamonds (unguarding his jack), once again he could not prevent declarer from making his eleventh trick. In this latter case, declarer would next lead his diamond king, felling West's jack as he overtook the trick with dummy's ace. Dummy's three of diamonds would now be a winner, and declarer's game — going trick.

Dear Abby

Widowed mother sets bad example?

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My mother is 59. Six months ago, Dad died after a short illness and she was so despondent she said she didn't want to go on living.

Well, somehow she got the strength to live because suddenly she tells us that she met a man and he asked her to go to Hawaii with him! I should have said something then, but I was glad she wasn't despondent anymore. She said this man asked to marry her, but she refused because she didn't know him well enough. Can you beat that!

The whole family is divided over this. I disapprove, but haven't the courage to say so. I think she's setting a bad example for the younger people in the family. My brother tells me not to be such a prude. He says we should thank the good Lord she isn't crying all over us and wanting to move in.

How do you feel about it, Abby? Does age make any difference? I wouldn't want my 23-year-old daughter going to Hawaii with a man and no wedding ring. Why should I feel any different about my mother?

DEAR CONFUSED: Every adult has the right to pursue his [or her] own lifestyle. You may disapprove if you wish, but you haven't the right to impose your values on either your adult daughter or your mother.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl who lives next door to a lady who has two little kids. One is a year old and the other is three.

On Saturdays, this lady comes over here and asks me if I will watch her kids while she goes to the shopping center. I always say yes, and she leaves me with the kids for sometimes three or four hours. When she comes back, she tells me how much she appreciated it and gives me a couple of candy bars.

I think she should pay me at least 50 cents an hour like any other sitter gets, don't you?

I have hinted around, but she doesn't take the hint. Is there any way I can tell her without appearing hungry for money?

DEAR UNPAID: Quit "hinting around," and come right out and tell her that you think you are entitled to a sitter's pay. And don't be bashful. You're entitled.

DEAR ABBY: What do you call a person who counts and measures everything? He counts the number of steps as he goes upstairs, and the number of steps he takes to go to the garage.

His shoes must be lined up perfectly in his closet and all his suits have to be hung a certain way, precisely. He places everything in his drawers in a certain order and he keeps them that way. He even keeps the money in his wallet in a special order, with the pictures facing the same direction and the same denominations together.

I have searched the libraries and cannot for the life of the come up with that special name. Other than a "nut," what is he called?

DEAR W. R. A.: Compulsive?

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

SATURDAY, MAY 11
Your birthday today: Finds you on the move, active-symbolically if not physically. The whole year is one of simplification, in which all projects are more closely coordinated, easier to manage. Decisions are to be made swiftly, as you go. Relationships are tested by stressful moments, need your steady concern. Today's natives generally have the competence for thrift and are willing to work toward remote goals.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Whatever business is to be done should be straight-forward, completed readily. Direct approaches are favored — ask for what you want and need, get a prompt answer and go on from there.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Make a definite effort at communication today. New studies, self-improvement activities are featured; but take on no more than previously scheduled, stop at an early, convenient opportunity.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: When in doubt, don't. A proper choice practically makes itself—wait for inspiration. There's a mystery to dig out, and now is a good time to do it. Gather good friends for a lively evening.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Personal enterprises thrive today despite some lingering uncertainties. Fill any gaps with useful routines, tidy up home and work place. Be thoughtful, gentle toward your loved ones.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Whatever you do now attracts immediate attention where you least expect it. You can specialize in making exceptions from long habit—just be deliberate, call your shots.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: It's by and large a satisfactory day—if you can accept things as they are for the moment. Change is quite feasible very soon, and along with it "luck" is indicated.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Instead of finding temporary disagreement difficult, see it as an educational opportunity for you and your loved ones to learn new cooperation.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Personal involvement is the theme of the day. Getting away from it all is either impossible or undesirable. Make the best of it for all concerned, settle uncertainties wherever you can.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Extra work done by today pays high dividends; just so it's your own ideas, your own effort with none of your friends involved. Conditions change with the hours; pace yourself.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Creative enterprises are prominent, should get your first attention despite distraction. Family problems are complex and perhaps better resolved if you can stay out of the middle.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Now is the time for you to sell an idea, persuade your associates to reorganize, gather resources for a fresh venture. Avoid legal entanglements, hassles.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Old friends bring new friends—gather resources for a neat weekend of just enough to go around, something for everybody, and some extra rest for yourself.

Careful Shopping Saves On Family Food Budget

NEW YORK (UPI) — Newlyweds showered with rice might find the grain more welcome as a gift. Rice is among many staple foods whose prices have increased enormously in the past year. Current costs can make a new family's grocery shopping trips a nightmare, especially if the budget is small and the wife has a fulltime job.

It's axiomatic that small packages (or cans or jars) of food cost more than large ones. The price of packaging varies so little. It's also axiomatic that convenience foods cost more than the same ones made from scratch.

But for busy cooks, the added cost sometimes may be offset by greater convenience, says Ruth Hodgson Klein, a Cornell University cooperative extension specialist.

Costs Compared
It's just a matter of choosing the least expensive of two or more prepared products, she said in an interview.

Mrs. Klein, a working wife, bases her theory on information she and Jean I. Hahn gathered for a slide presentation prepared for Cornell's consumer education program.

They compared the cost per serving of a five-ounce can of ready-to-eat pudding with a five and one-half ounce serving made from an instant mix. The ready-to-eat kind sold for about 17 cents, or nearly three times as much as the instant variety made with added nonfat dry milk.

If time is going to be important, hear this: raw rice is the cheapest form of the grain, instant rice is next cheapest, followed by rice mixes and frozen, prepared rice in a pouch.

Savings on Cereals
Mrs. Klein also said pouch-packed vegetables, in general, are double the price of their frozen, uncooked counter-parts.

Big savings are possible on breakfast cereal, provided you buy large packages of unsweetened ones. Individually packaged dry cereals can be as much as twice the price of a large package, and sugar-coated cornflakes are far costlier than the plain kind.

But some cake mixes may be no more expensive than making your own from scratch. Many mixes sell in such volume that their prices are relatively low.

Bake-and-serve refrigerated biscuits are only slightly more expensive than biscuits made from a mix, and the mix costs about as much as the ingredients for scratch ones.

Instant Coffee Cheaper
Frozen concentrate is the cheapest form of orange juice, Mrs. Klein said. It's followed closely by the chilled, dairy case type. Freshly squeezed juice is by far the most expensive.

Canned fruit cocktail often is cheaper than fresh, because it takes a pound of either fresh peaches or pears to make enough to fill a can. These two varieties are the main fruits in the canned product.

Instant coffee is cheaper per serving than ground roast coffee. The smaller the jar, the more you pay per serving.

When the price per pound of a bony meat cut like spareribs is as high as ground chuck, or higher, chuck is the better buy. You'd need one and a half pounds of the ribs to make two servings, but only half a pound of ground meat.

P.S. — Mrs. Klein said careful shopping may save only pennies on individual food items, but in a year they can add up to 10, 50 or even 300 per cent.

Who stands where in the receiving line, according to etiquette experts: The mother of the bride is hostess and is always first in line. If the bride has no mother to receive for her, a close female relative usually fills this spot. The bridegroom's father's participation is optional. If he is included the order is like this: the bride's mother, then her father, near the bridegroom's mother, then his father, the bride, the bridegroom, maid or matron of honor and then the bridesmaids.

NEAT KNIT TRICKS — Floral printed sweater dress by Betsey Johnson for Alley Cat is of tapestry patterned pure cotton knit from Richline Knitting Mills. Soft, comfortable, body-skimming design has belled sleeves and side vents.

Puffiness Around Ankle Bone

By G.C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: Sometimes in your column please include a letter concerning the causes of swelling or puffiness around the ankle bone.

I have had this problem more so in the past five or six years. I am 54. I do not have a job that requires an unusual amount of standing. My ankles are worse at night than early in the morning.

—Mrs. J.T.
The problem is not uncommon, and generally speaking it is more common in women than in men.

It can be the result of many conditions, especially in pregnancy or in diseases of the kidney or the heart. However, since these conditions would probably have exhibited themselves in other ways, they might be ruled out in your case.

Such subtle swelling, though, generally implies a disturbance in the circulation of the legs, and since circulation does tend to lessen in the extremities with the years, this might be your problem.

Such swellings often are associated with varicose veins, but are just as often found to be caused by such simple things as tight circular garters or girdles. And don't rule out obesity as a factor either.

If you do not visit a doctor regularly, symptoms such as the swollen ankles could be a gentle signal for you to get a checkup to determine the definite cause or causes.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had a miscarriage eight months ago. I didn't have a D. and C. since the doctor didn't think it was necessary. Is it possible I can't get pregnant through not having a D. and C.? I haven't had a discharge or any pain.

—Mrs. R.K.
Sometimes some tissue may remain attached to the uterus after a miscarriage and prevent pregnancy, even though causing no symptoms. I'd talk it over with your doctor; he didn't think a D. and C. was necessary, but having a D. and C. would eliminate that possibility as a cause.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: About six or seven years ago I had pancreatitis and peritonitis and was told I could never have any alcoholic beverages again. I have abstained but have found from experience that an occasional drink doesn't bother me. I am wondering if I could not now drink socially without a recurrence of that dreadful disease?

—J.W.
Pancreatitis can be caused by alcohol in something like 40 percent of all cases — and even a pancreas damaged from some other cause is bound to be sensitive to alcohol.

Evidently you have abstained — except once in a while. And got away with it. But that doesn't mean that you can keep on getting away with it.

For one thing, if you start letting down the bars, it would be possible to get enough alcohol at one party to do some damage. For another, even a little bit of alcohol on frequent occasions can add up.

My advice is to go back on the wagon and stay there. You aren't going to know when you have passed the "safe" level until after you have passed it and the damage already occurred.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you comment on the benefits of taking cod liver oil for arthritis?

—Mrs. R.F.
I don't know of any benefits from that.

Note to Mrs. M.S.G.: Osteoporosis is a loss of density in the bones. It does NOT lead to cancer of the bone. But the softened bone can cause changes in joints and be painful.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. Dr. Thosteson's booklet discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications. For a copy of "How You Can Control Arthritis" write to him, Dr. G.C. Thosteson, Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

The Sammy To Join The Oscar

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — There's a new award to join the Oscar, the Tony, the Emmy and the Grammy — "the Sammy" — a sculptured figure of Sammy Davis, its first recipient, as "the Star of the Year."

The Fight for Sight gave its first one to Sammy after his sensational show at Avery Fisher Hall for "Lights On" — 24 hours after he broke all B-way records for business at the Uris Theater for two weeks.

Sammy in a brilliant curtain speech at the benefit said a woman fan kept shouting in his ear, "Are you still Jewish?" He replied, "Yes, lady. I have been a black Jew for 18 years. I have been black for seven years — and before that I was colored." The audience was in bedlam as Sammy ran around the stage chugging after that.

Morty Guntz remarked that "President Nixon has gone on all the TV programs but 'To Tell the Truth'." Sammy Cahn brought Dean Martin up to date: "I Didn't Know What Time It Was. I drank my watch" ... Joan Rivers claimed hilariously that second wives always do better than first wives (except the husband is more worn out by that time) ... The second wife glares at a ring the first wife would have loved and says, "What kinda trash is THIS?"

Carol Channing and Julie

Styne, Tony Bennett, Sid Caesar, the Andrews Sisters, Soupy Sales, the Luv Machine, Mike Gallo, four girls from "Irene," Enzo Stuarti, Jane Powell, William B. Williams, Fred Collins, Hal Tulchin as director, and Tommy de Maio's costumes gave us the best show we ever had — and the party at Johnnie's Italian restaurant ran on for hours.

Richard Burton's flirtin' with young gals triggered Liz Taylor's divorce flash. She was humiliated. Burton still intrigues ladies. Clos Normand restaurant owner Robert Treboux said his wife, who hasn't mastered English, said, "Poor Mr. Burton is sicker than we thought. He not only has influenza, but a friend tells me he has charisma."

A group of 50 girls from Smith College saw "Over Here" and went backstage to see one of their alumni — John Driver, who was one of the first men admitted to the school in the '60s ... Jimmy Dean is starring at the Desert Inn & Country Club in Las Vegas ... Former bandleader Jan Gerber, 80 soon, is proud that his dir. Janis is directing his orchestra, keeping the name alive ... David Steinberg said the man who claimed to be Donald Segretti at ringside at Jimmy's — WAS Donald Segretti.

New feud: Actors Oliver Reed and Richard Harris. I'D RATHER BELIGHT Today's Worst Pun: They tell at Roseland of the doctor whose handwriting was so bad that female pharmacists voted him the town's most illegible bachelor.

Wish I'd Said That: To keep your figure from going to pot, says Henna Arond Zacks, "When you see food, tell yourself, 'Want not—Waist-not.'"

Remembered Quote: "Women who insist on wearing the pants in the family sometimes find other women are wearing the mink."

Earl's Pearls: A prominent lawyer says some of his clients use the "How - Come Doctrine": "When I mention certain things that can't be done in court, they ask, 'How come Perry Mason can do it?'"

How quickly they forget. A diner claimed at Barney Google's he'd seen a bumper sticker reading: "Impeach What's-His-Name." That's earl, brother. All Rights Reserved.

Under Twenty

By TOM WILLIAMS
Joan graduated college two years ago with a bachelor's degree in social welfare.

"I was able to get a starter's job with that degree," she says, "but to get anywhere you really need a master's. I'm going to school nights to get it because I enjoy social work and plan to stay with it as my career."

Joan's evaluation of her situation is right. A bachelor's degree is good for starters, but the master's is necessary for any meaningful assignments. Joan has a partial scholarship, one of many available in the field to encourage young people to seek careers in social work.

Employment opportunities in the field are expected to be very good for the next decade. Experts in the field predict that the supply of social workers with a master's degree will be below the number required to fill vacancies and new job openings.

The development of a more complex urban society has greatly increased the need for organized social services. Social workers provide the link between the services and the individuals and families who are not able to provide for themselves or who need assistance in solving problems.

More than 170,000 social workers are presently employed; about 60 percent in federal, state, county and local government agencies. Most of the remainder were in voluntary or private agencies. The average starting salary paid in 1971 was about $6,600. Based on increased education and experience, salaries ranged up to about $12,000 per year.

Social work has traditionally offered career opportunities to both male and female graduates. In recent years the situation for women has increased insofar as supervisory and managerial opportunities are concerned.

Baseball games, a barbecue dinner, Amarillo Giant manager Steve Daly, the "World's Fastest Human" and a Hall of Famer — they're all a part of the Optimist Club's Opening Day baseball ceremonies Saturday at Optimist Park.

This year's Opening Day will be the biggest — in every way — in the 12-year history of the ceremonies. Over 2,000 people are expected to be on hand for the barbecue, which will cost $2.50 (children six and under will be admitted free) and start at 4 p.m.

This will be the first time in the 21 years the Optimist Club has sponsored Pampa's baseball programs (although there hasn't been an Opening Day every year) that two big-name sports figures will be a part of the festivities.

Bob Hayes, the starting spit end for the Dallas Cowboys, and Warren Spahn, who pitched his way into the Hall of Fame by winning 363 games with the Boston Braves, Milwaukee Braves, New York Mets and San Francisco Giants, will be in Pampa Saturday.

Some of those in attendance over the years include Bob Feller, Vic Wertz, Allie Reynolds, Pepper Martin and Loyd Waner.

Hayes will arrive at 2 p.m. Saturday via private jet at Perry Lefors Field, while Spahn is scheduled to land in Amarillo at approximately noon and be in Pampa around 2 p.m.

The ceremonies will begin with a Babe Ruth baseball game between the Lion's Club and Ford's Body Shop at 1 p.m.

Following the game and a short break, serving will begin for the barbecue. "I'm expecting the largest crowd we've ever had because of the people we're having for it (the barbecue). There will be over a thousand pounds of barbecue," said Robert Dixon, Babe Ruth president.

The dinner will conclude at 6 p.m., and at 6:30 p.m., a program will start. Warren Hasse, broadcaster at KPDM will be master of ceremonies.

Farm, Little League and Babe Ruth teams and coaches will be recognized. Then, Babe Ruth Queens and Mothers will be introduced. Following that, special guests, including Melvin King, who is District Little League Administrator, and Daly, will be introduced.

Hayes and Spahn are then scheduled to speak. After Spahn's talk, a Babe Ruth game between Pampa Hardware and Ideal Food Store will be played. Mrs. Inez Carter will throw out the first ball.

HARVESTERS OF THE WEEK — Baseball players Rick Smith (left) and Bobby Hendricks were named Pampa Harvesters of the Week Thursday at the Pampa Noon Lions Club. The baseball team ended its season last Friday with a 6-2 loss to Amarillo High. Armstrong, Kite Leading Golf HOUSTON (UPI) — Likeable Houston Open co-leader Wally Armstrong is the first to admit he needs a paycheck, but you have to think he would survive without one.

"I always credit my rounds to my faith in the Lord," the 28-year-old first year pro from Indianapolis said Thursday. "That's where I get my strength."

Armstrong had just fired a five-under-par 67, and he and young Texan Tom Kite led an undistinguished PGA field into the second round of the tournament today.

The young leaders had plenty of company under par as 29 players whipped the par-72 Quail Valley Golf Club course on opening day.

A few who didn't — Bob Charles, Leonard Thompson and Lanny Wadkins — were some of the brightest stars entered in the tournament and all three withdrew.

But problems are something Armstrong does not seem to let bother him. It took the 5-foot-9 golfer five one-putts in the first nine holes to keep his game together. Four of those putts were for pars. On the second nine he closed with four straight birdies.

"I don't know what the deal was," he said. "I just was out there chugging away."

Of the handful of tournaments Armstrong has played in he has collected only three small paychecks.

Kite, a second-year pro who is in a much different financial strait as one of the PGA's richest youngsters, predicted low scores the next three days.

"It wouldn't surprise me to shoot three more rounds like this," he said.

Nastase Upset In World Championship

DALLAS (UPI) — Ilie Nastase felt he was on his best behavior. There were others who disagreed. Nastase also said he took things a little too easy. He had no argument there. Jan Kodes found his Romanian opponent playing somewhat carelessly in the early going of their World Championship of Tennis quarterfinals match Thursday night. Kodes seized on the opportunity, failed to let some of Nastase's familiar court jester routines disturb his concentration and pulled off one of the two upsets which closed the first round of the $100,000 tournament. Kodes eliminated the second-seeded Nastase, 7-6, 6-1, 7-5 and 17-year-old Bjorn Borg completed the surprising evening by using his overpowering serve to defeat last year's finalist Arthur Ashe, 7-5, 6-4, 7-6.

tonight in one of the semifinal matches with the other contest featuring top-seeded John Newcombe of Australia and defending champion Stan Smith. The showing by Kodes both stunned and pleased the near capacity crowd at Moody Coliseum. The fans turned against Nastase in the final set of his loss when he first sparrred verbally with a line man and then a spectator.

Kodes retaliated by walking to the side and of the court and sitting down. "I expected something from him," said Kodes, the Czech who feels he is woefully underrated in the eyes of the tennis public. "He is just that kind of player. This is not the worst he has been. Today was nothing. I like Ilie off the court but he is a champion and does not need to do this."

Nastase, whose almost lackadaisical play in the first two sets cost him a chance at the match, said Kodes' action of sitting down on the sidelines was much worse than his own behavior. "I did not do anything," Nastase said. "For the first time Kodes was the bad guy. Next time I will be. He said we were friends off the court. I don't think so. I don't think he has many friends."

As to the tennis itself, Nastase admitted that Kodes played about as well as he ever played when the two had met. It was Kodes' fifth win in 15 meetings with Nastase.

"But maybe I took it too easy the first two sets," Nastase said. "In the third set I really tried to play. But Kodes sitting in the chair really upset me."

In the second match both Borg and Ashe served well, but Ashe's serve was simply very good while Borg's was overwhelming.

"Arthur did not play as well as he usually does," said Borg simply.

"Bjorn served very well," said Ashe, who did not once break Borg's serve. "But, really, I beat myself. You have to win your own serve, too."

There were only two service breaks in the Borg-Ashe match and Ashe lost both of those by double faulting at game point.

"He surprised me," said Ashe, "in that I hit a lot of passing shots I thought were winners but he just stuck his arm out there and the ball would be coming back. That didn't happen just one or two times. It happened maybe 10 times."

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Sutton Gives Up 1 Hit, Dodgers Stymie San Diego Padres By 6-0

UPI Sports Writer Say all you want about Johnny Sain, Whitey Ford and George Bamberger.

The best pitching coach in baseball is Los Angeles' Red Adams, according to Dodger right-hander Don Sutton.

Sutton, of course, has reason to be prejudiced, but there is no denying that Adams has developed the major leagues' most imposing pitching staff so far this season.

Thursday night it was Sutton, who after two successive bad outings, came through with the third one-hitter of his career, stopping the San Diego Padres, 6-0, to boost his record to 5-2. The shutout was the sixth turned in by the Los Angeles staff this season and the second by Sutton.

"It felt good to be back. I was off in Philadelphia and my pitching coach, Red Adams, is the greatest pitching coach in the world," Sutton said. "He got hold of me a couple of days ago and said I was off mechanically. I was off my tempo and now I think I got it."

The only hit Sutton allowed was a second inning single by Johnny Grubb. The shutout was his second this season against the Padres and the 33rd of his career.

Jim Wynn paced the Dodger attack with three hits and figured prominently in their first three runs.

In the only other scheduled major league games, Chicago topped Atlanta, 3-1, and Pittsburgh downed Houston, 4-1, in National League action, while Boston blanked New York, 2-0, and Kansas City defeated Texas, 6-1, in American League contests.

Cubs 3, Braves 1 — Rick Reuschel tossed a four-hitter as the Cubs beat the Braves. The Cubs, trailing 1-0, scored twice in the seventh with the aid of a throwing error by shortstop Craig Robinson.

Pirates 4, Astros 1 — Jim Rooker and Dave Giusti combined on a six-hitter to lead the Pirates over Houston. Rooker allowed four hits in seven innings to get his second win. Lee May homered for Houston.

PHS Football To Scrimmage

The second spring scrimmage for Pampa football players will begin at 3:15 p.m. today at Harvester Stadium.

The White team defeated the Golds, four touchdowns to zero a week ago but several starters were missing from the Gold team. So head coach John Welborn anticipates today's scrimmage will have a much closer outcome.

The freshman team held a scrimmage Thursday.

Building Undertaken By Church

The Westside Church of Christ recently began construction of the first phase of a two phase building program at 1612 W. Kentucky. The new structure was designed by architect Eddie O. Riemer of Johnny Ray Associates, Amarillo. It is being constructed by Houston Fleetwood, General Contractor of Technical Systems, Inc., Borger.

Phase one will consist of an auditorium capable of seating 275 people with adjacent classrooms, nursery, library, office and minister's study. Construction is due to be completed by Sept. 1, 1974.

The Westside Church began meeting in March of 1972, in the carpenters' Union Hall with an attendance of 43 people. Within a month, the congregation moved to its present location at 1405 Alcock, where it has enjoyed a growth of approximately 200 per cent.

James B. Lusby is the minister of the church. Otto Riemer and Eska Miller serve as elders, with Dick Little and Bill Smith as deacons.

Phillips Farewell Slated

REV. JIM PHILLIPS

Rev. Jim Phillips, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church, Brown and Cuyler Sts. has recently resigned his position as pastor to accept the pastorate of Evangel Temple Assembly of God Church, Fort Smith, Ark. Rev. Phillips and family came to Pampa from Okmulgee, Okla. in June 1968. He has served the congregation here approximately six years.

For the past three years, Rev. Phillips has served as sectional presbyter over 39 Assemblies of God Churches in the North Plains area. He is a member of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club.

Mrs. Phillips received her B.S. degree from West Texas State University in 1970, and has taught in the Pampa Independent School District for the last three years. This year she is teaching on the secondary level in C.E.S. Plan "A" at Carver Center.

The Phillips have three children who have attended school in Pampa. Leron graduated from Pampa High School in 1970, attended WTSU and will graduate this May from Amarillo College with a major in retail marketing.

Jimmy Marcus, who graduated in 1973, has been active in the young people's group of the Assemblies of God which includes over 128,000 young people. He was a member of a trumpet trio composed of three young men, all in the Pampa band and stage band. The trio won second place in the nation in instrumental ensemble and later first place in a national talent search. Marcus is now attending Southwestern Assemblies of God College as a junior college freshman, and has been awarded four scholarships.

David is 11 years old and a student at Woodrow Wilson elementary school.

Previous pastorates have been in Okmulgee, Okla., San Angelo, Oklahoma City and Clifton, Tex. Rev. Phillips also served as field representative for Southwestern Assemblies of God College and has travelled extensively in evangelistic work.

The Phillips' farewell service at the First Assembly of God Church here in Pampa will be May 26. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

PRIDE AND DESTRUCTION

We read ... Pride goeth before destruction and a haughty spirit before a fall (Prov. 16:18).
Pride is a deadly weapon against humanity; it is also a sin that God hates. Everyone should have self respect and must respect our fellowman, but pride will destroy a person's life.

Many Bible characters became men of great pride and lost their love for God and His works, and met destruction at the end of their life.

King Saul was a man that said, "I know that the Lord said to destroy the whole city of the Amalekites, but I will show kindness to the king and will save the nice fat cattle and sheep because the people have asked me to do so." In the heart of this king was pride. The picture his life portrayed his saying,

"I am king over this people and I will carry out the plans as I see fit." (I Sam. 15:17).

But God said, "When little in his own sight, wasn't he made to be the head of the Tribes of Israel, and anointed by the Lord, King over Israel?" "For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry because thou hast rejected the Word of the Lord, He hath also rejected thee (V. 23).

If ever there were a man that could have had pride in his life, the Apostle Paul was he. ... A man that God let look into the third heaven ... one that said, "I saw things that was unlawful to utter," ... the one that said, "Eye hath not seen, ear hath not heard, neither hath it entered into the heart of man the things that God has prepared for them that love Him." He was a man that could have said, "God has shown me things that others have never seen." ... he could have been boastful and proud. But, not so with Paul. He was a very humble man, one that was willing to die for others if the occasion occurred.

Paul, one that said, "Lest I exhalt myself above measure, there was a thorn given to me in the flesh, he said he asked the Lord to remove it even to the third time, but God said, "My grace is sufficient for thee. God's grace is sufficient for all that will live the life to please Him. To stidestep pride and destruction is to live the life through the Lord Jesus and meet God as the Apostle Paul met Him, when he said, "I have fought a good fight, I have kept the faith, I have finished my course. Now there is a crown of righteousness awaiting me."

Mother's Day 1974
TO BE THOUGHTFUL of our Mothers on her day each year can be expressed in so many different ways while she still lives - and she appreciates every indication of our love and affection shown throughout the year.
ONE OF THE MOST TANGIBLE WAYS for doing so is to provide her with a more comfortable home to occupy during her final or latter years of her life - large enough to accommodate her family at home and the children with their families when they return periodically to visit.
IT IS OUR NORMAL FUNCTION, as ethical Realtors, in this area to match up Sellers and Buyers needs to accomplish your desire as quickly as possible.
WE HAVE A VARIETY of homes to offer - although, not nearly enough in some categories at times. CALL US - if we do not have it NOW, we may know where one can be made available to match your budget.

Buying Beef Wholesale Can Help Save Money

COLLEGE STATION — Buying beef wholesale for storage in the home freezer can be a money-saving experience — if it's done wisely.

Some guidelines are listed by Woodrow Bailey, livestock and meat specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"First of all, locate a reliable firm. The Better Business Bureau or Retail Credit Association can furnish information.

"Decide what cuts of beef your family likes and know how much you consume over a period of time. Beef will usually show some storage flavor after six months in a freezer."

For a family of six or more people that enjoys hamburgers, steaks and pot roasts, Bailey suggests buying a complete side of beef. "This will provide all the cuts you see displayed in a supermarket."

If broiled steaks are the family preference, a full loin may be the best purchase as it will yield for only Sirlon, Porterhouse, T-bone and Clubsteaks.

For those favoring pot roasts, a fore quarter would be in order, advises the Texas A&M University System specialist. "The price would be much less than a hind quarter and the amount of edible meat would be about the same."

Bailey also advises buying beef according to grades by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The "Choice" grade is best if steaks and roasts are to be broiled or dry roasted.

Choice beef has been fed longer and has more marbling (fat scattered throughout the lean). It is more expensive. On the other hand, "Good" grade beef is suitable if steaks are pan fried and roasts are "pot roasted."

"If ungraded beef is bought, check the rib eye muscle for a liberal sprinkling of fat throughout the lean."

Cattle that have been grain fed provide the best beef for your money, contends Bailey. He advises against purchasing a calf for your money, contends Bailey. He advises against purchasing a calf for your freezer out of a pasture.

"When buying beef wholesale, be sure the meat is trimmed properly with only a minimum amount of fat. A Choice carcass should not have more than one-half inch of fat on the outside."

The specialist also suggests that a wholesale cut or carcass be weighed in the buyer's presence. A carcass should yield about 75 percent retail cuts, with the remaining 25 percent going to fat and bones.

Louisiana is the only state that calls its counties parishes.

MORMONS STRESS

'Mother's Day' Should Aid Family Happiness

As Mother's Day approaches, the attention and concern of many turn to the family, and extra efforts are made to promote love and unity within the home.

Unfortunately, this interest in strengthening the family unit often passes with Mother's Day, as family members become involved with many other activities that draw their attention away from the home.

For the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon), however, Mother's Day is part of a larger effort throughout the entire year to bring happiness through family love and solidarity. They believe that motherhood and fatherhood are the most important responsibilities that parents can have.

Since 1915, the Mormons have sponsored a program which they call the "Family Home Evening." According to Bishop L.B. Voyles of the Pampa Ward, all families in the church are strongly encouraged to set apart one night each week for a Family Home Evening, when the entire family gathers together for religious studies from the scriptures, recreational activities and family councils.

The philosophy and purpose of this program were summed up by the late David O. McKay, ninth president of the church, when he stated, "No other success can compensate for failure in the home."

Although the Family Home Evening was originally developed for use in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Elder Kent Poulson, a local Mormon missionary, explained that it can be used by families of all faiths to meet their various needs.

In fact, a large portion of the missionary service of Elder Poulson and his companion, Elder Leon Bright, is devoted to sharing this program with interested families of all religions. They can be contacted at 665-3044 before 9:30 a.m. and after 9:30 p.m. for more information.

Landmark Closes BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Argentina's Gath and Chaves, department store, located on the pedestrian shopping street of Florida, went out of business after 91 years.

The only downtown department store to resist the trend to boutiques and suburban shopping centers is Harrods, also on Florida street.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Terry was a victim of love at first sight, and went through 3 divorces. For each wife unwittingly stole the affection that an earlier woman had generated in Terry. But I also fell in love with Mrs. Crane at first sight and have been very happy!

CASE A-629: Terry T., aged 34, has been divorced 3 times already.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "each time I fell for my wife at first sight."

"All 3 girls were freckled, blue-eyed and short."

"And I always felt I couldn't live without them."

"Yet after a year or so of marriage, we quarreled and fought until life became unbearable."

"Now I find myself head-over-heels in love with a 4th girl, who looks much like the other 3 whom I married and divorced."

"So how can I be sure this time that my marriage will be permanent?"

FIRST SIGHT LOVE

Love at first sight explains millions of romances. That's how I fell in love with Mrs. Crane.

It was at a Young People's Meeting in a church and I had never seen her before.

During the nomination of officers for the ensuing year, each nominee was to stand, so the voters could see him or her.

When she stood up, my heart did a flipflop and I'm not joking!

But I played the field for 10 years to make sure my intuition would stand the test of time.

For romances that start as love at first sight can be very dangerous.

Like Terry, a person can thus become victimized by a subconscious surge of exciting emotions that have been built up since childhood by some older person, maybe in his family.

For example, Terry's mother was a society leader who spent little time at home.

As a toddler, Terry was reared by a governess who was fond of him and tucked him in bed at night with a goodnight kiss.

She was short, blue-eyed and freckled.

Terry ran to her when he bumped his head and she'd kiss away the pain as his mother should have done.

In short, Terry loved this wonderful governess, even before he was of kindergarten age.

Subconsciously, therefore, his deep affection for the opposite sex was "conditioned" (habituated) to a short, freckled girl with blue eyes.

As a college senior, he met such a coed at a dance and says he fell in love with her at first sight.

Actually, she merely "triggered" the release of all the childhood devotion he had built up regarding his governess.

But Terry didn't realize that this coed hadn't "earned" his respect and affection.

Instead, she was an unwitting "thief" who now suddenly stole the pent-up affection that his governess had rightfully "earned."

Since Terry and the coed were not compatible on most of the 10 basic traits on which happy marriage depends, they leuded and divorced.

Same was true of the 2nd and then the 3rd short, freckled and blue-eyed girls he wedded.

So I explained to Terry exactly why he kept falling in love at first sight.

And via the Scientific Marriage Foundation (a tax-exempt educational organization) we found Terry a girl who matched him on the 10 fundamental traits for happy marriage.

But she was also picked to be short, freckled and blue-eyed, so we could capitalize on his childhood fixation.

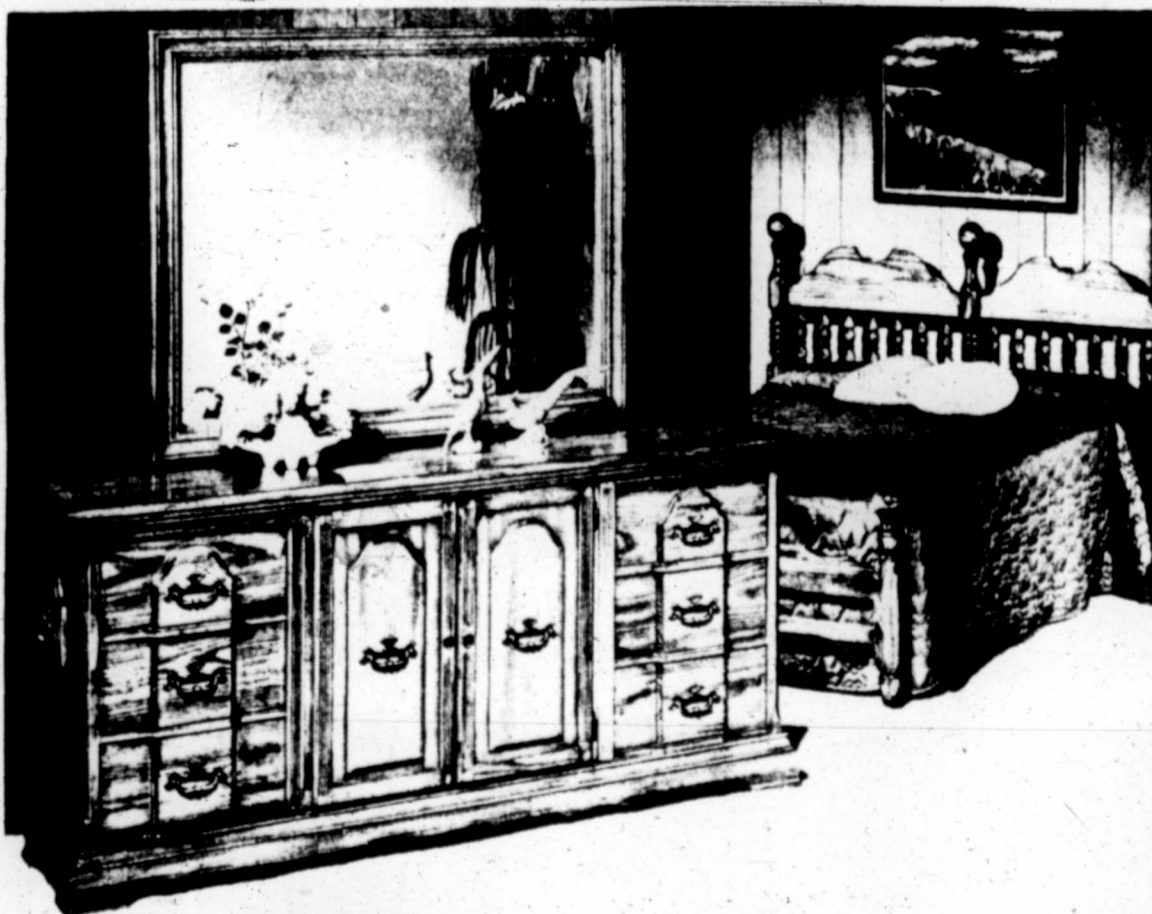

They've been happily married 3 years and have two babies whom they adore!
