St. Jude's Express Still Running

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — Gasoline shortages and the leaping cost of living haven't stopped the St. Jude's Express.

This July, the mercy project run by some 25 Albuquerque area volunteers with donated goods will complete seven years of transporting tons of free food, medicine and clothing to remote areas of the Southwest and Mexico where they are most needed.

That's why the Express, which counts a small Cherokee aircraft and a truck as its principal material assets, is named for the patron saint of hopeless cases.

"This year, we have distributed more than 125,000 pounds of clothing, more than 3,000 pounds of food, and more than 3,000 pounds of medicines and medical supplies," Express president Art Eifert said in a year-end report for 1973.

Dentist Gives Supplies
Beneficiaries of the mercy missions are mainly Indians and other persons living in poverty and being served by religious missions—both Catholic and Protestant.

Others during the past year have included a young man, paralyzed from the waist down, who was flown by an Express pilot to California for further treatment and rehabilitation. Fifteen priests and ministers got free transportation to their missionary posts the same way.

The work of the Express volunteers hasn't gone unrecognized and the rewards are all channeled to a furtherance of the group's charitable aims.

A Plainview, Tex. dentist—Dr. Kenneth Crum—donated $8,000 worth of office equipment and medical supplies, which were stored at Albuquerque for distribution to clinics in need of the items, said Eifert, an employee of Sandia Laboratories in Albuquerque.

Costs Increase
When the Express' first truck was demolished in an accident, two Catholic parishes in Albuquerque provided sufficient donations for the purchase of a new truck. Several parochial schools made it possible for the Express to distribute 1,475 school desks in Mexico.

With inflation, Eifert said, "our cost of operation has increased, as well as the cost of medicine and the food we buy. Dry milk has doubled at least. And pinto beans—last year we were buying them for $8 a sack, and now they are like $50."

Also, according to Eifert, with the rise in the cost of living, "our contributions are down a little bit." But there is no thought given to pulling back on the services provided by the Express.

The project has five pilots and about 20 other members, including welfare workers, a Navy commander, a nurse, school teachers and defense industry employees.

Trucks Used
The idea of the St. Jude's

Express took shape in 1967 in the remote Sierra Madre Mountains of Mexico at the small village of Sisoguichic.

The aircraft was acquired with money donated by the Rasjob Foundation of Delaware. Eifert said. He said in the early years of the Express, the plane often used remote rural roads on American Indian reservations for landing strips.

During the 1970s, an average of 3.9 million persons a year will reach age 21, the Bank of America predicts.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Congress, as every schoolboy knows, consists of two equal legislative bodies, one of which is more equal than the other.

The sub-equal body called the House is made up of 435 representatives. The super-equal body called the Senate is composed of 100 presidential candidates.

It is the latter quality that gives the Senate the edge in equality.

According to the calculations of Einstein, Jimmy the Greek and other mathematical wizards, the chances of the next President coming from the Senate, where the entire membership regards itself as presidential timber, are better than the chances of the next President coming from the House, whose members have fewer delusions.

Such a thing—a senator being elected President—actually happened in 1960. And, by the law of probability, it could happen again before the end of the century.

Approval of Both

The possibility that the Senate may have a future President in its midst somehow makes a bill passed by that body seem more important than one passed by the House, even though approval of both is required for enactment.

This difference in aura is what we mean when we speak of an equality gap. And it is what has made one group of congressmen determined to give the House a presidential candidate of its very own.

More than 30 Democrats have signed a statement urging Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., to run for President. Should he make the race, Udall says, he will be "a symbol of the resentment of House members at the idea that only senators are fit to be considered for the presidency."

What we are witnessing here is no less than the birth of the House Liberation Movement.

Udall is ideally cast as the Gloria Steinem of the crusade for equal equality although the lack of a bra to burn may be a handicap.

Formidable Undertaking

Even under the best of conditions, breaking down the barriers of senatorialism will be a formidable undertaking.

There are, for example, many senatorialists in the news media. As a result, nearly every senator is treated as a legislative heavyweight whereas the average House member is just another pretty face. But the cause is by no means hopeless.

Every time you turn around nowadays, some women's libber is expounding on the prospect of a woman becoming President.

And if a woman President is now within the realm of possibility, then it is not too far-fetched to entertain the notion that some day a House member might make it.

Seniors Get Chemical Council Honor

Two local high school seniors have been selected as Texas Chemical Council's "Outstanding Seniors" for the area.

Karen Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams of Pampa, and David Saxon, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Saxon of Skellytown, are among 145 students selected from Texas high schools for excellence in the fields of chemistry, science and math.

Selections are made by principals and science department heads on the basis of scholarship, imagination and scientific aptitude and are limited to one student per school.

In special ceremonies held at Pampa and White Deer High Schools, Miss Williams and Saxon were awarded slide rules by executives of Celanese Chemical Company.

In addition to receiving the slide rules, they will be invited to participate with other TCC award winners in an essay contest with the winning writer and his or her school splitting equally $1,000 in cash awarded by the Council.

Celanese Chemical Company is one of 61 TCC members companies having manufacturing facilities in Texas.

Council President John T. Files indicated that the intent of the Council is to encourage the state's outstanding high school students to pursue a chemical career or to continue studies in the field.

This year's presentation marks the 20th consecutive year for the Council to sponsor such an award.

Sir Walter Scott, born at Edinburgh on Aug. 18, 1771, is generally recognized as the founder of the historical novel. His first novel, Waverley, was published anonymously in 1814.

Investment Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — "The sharpness of the latest decline, coming on top of earlier price erosion, could unleash a wave of margin selling," says Standard & Poor's Corp. The market, weighed down by soaring interest rates, could erupt into a selling climax, the firm continues. "We would remain on the sidelines until there is persuasive evidence from a selling climax or from monetary policy that the air has cleared," it adds.

apparently a lot of people have been doing just that," says the Predictor, a West Hartford, Conn. letter. But investors are distracted by demons that will not emerge to depress the market, according to the letter. It urges investors to "take advantage of any remaining downtime to add to positions in favored securities."

"There is a growing feeling among participants in the money markets that a peak in interest rates is near," according to Continental Bank of Chicago. But credit demand will determine the futures of interest rates, the bank says. At the moment commercial bank loan demand has eased, but the Federal Reserve Board recently reported a sharp jump in major money center bank loans, it notes. "It seems likely that the monetary authorities will require further evidence that credit demands are slowing in the next few weeks before taking any action which would support a market rally," the bank adds.

Pampans' Grandson Named To 'Who's Who' Publication

Marc Tindall, a Borger High School senior, will be featured in the eighth annual edition of "Who's Who Among American High School Students."

Less than three percent of all junior and senior class students are recognized by the book, the largest student award publication in the U.S.

Students from over 20,000 public, private and parochial high schools receive the recognition throughout the country for leadership in academics, athletics, activities or community service.

Grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Broxon of 1334 Coffee, Apt. 1, Tindall is active in Key Club, having served as a Texas - Oklahoma district officer.

In addition to having his biography published in the book, he will compete for one of 10 scholarships of $500 to $1,000 funded by the publishers. Tindall will also be invited to participate in the firm's annual survey of high achievers later in the academic year.

He plans to attend Frank Phillips College and Texas Tech University later.

TV Networks Trying To Keep Coverage 'Tasteful'

NEW YORK (UPI) —The three major television networks are attempting to keep live coverage of the House hearings on the impeachment of President Nixon as tasteful as possible.

ABC, CBS and NBC, which will rotate live coverage of the public sessions of the House Judiciary Committee investigation, already have been criticized for their decision to broadcast the inquiry.

Some critics say the hearings will become a circus if TV cameras are turned on. Others say it will demoralize the nation and wash dirty laundry before the world. Still others say it unfortunately will become the ultimate soap opera.

"Television cannot control whether or not the hearings become a circus," said William Sheehan, senior vice president for ABC News. "The people inside the meeting will decide the outcome."

Not Completed
Live coverage of the public sessions was expected to begin Tuesday, but the committee has not completed its executive sessions yet.

This is the second time in the history of the United States that a president has been involved in such legal proceedings. President Andrew Johnson was impeached after the Civil War, the era of pen and pad journalism. Television now is presented with this task and is attempting to respond in a proper fashion.

The principle effort on the part of the networks will be to keep technicians and equipment operating inside the House meeting room as unobtrusive as possible. They have assigned ABC to handle pool coverage for the first two weeks of the public sessions. CBS will follow and then NBC.

When a network is assigned pool coverage it will use all its equipment and technicians and send its transmissions along telephone lines for use by the others networks and subscribers to the pool. As noted by Robert Siegenthaler, ABC senior producer special events, the pooling arrangement keeps the amount of equipment and personnel at a minimum during an event. Siegenthaler, who handled the pool for President Nixon's trip to China, will be responsible for the first two weeks of the live coverage.

"Our main approach," he said, "will be to be as unobtrusive as possible. We want to cover the hearings and not be a part of it."

Section Removed
One of the ways network camera crews will cover the hearings is from a specially built platform outside the hearing room. The cameras will cover the committee meeting through a section of window that has been removed.

Siegenthaler said two cameras will be used on the enclosed, air-conditioned platform and two others will be used in the back of the room. Three cameras, all in full view, were used during the Senate Watergate hearings.

Siegenthaler said a special lighting system has been designed to rid the room of the normally harsh TV lights.

Youthful Health Products Require Careful Practice

AUSTIN — Want to look 10 years younger, with a smooth, wrinkle-free skin or a full head of hair?

There are some commercial establishments that promise all this and more. They offer such things as face peeling and suture implantation to hold hairpieces.

Unfortunately, some doctors say, what they may also inadvertently deliver to some persons is a discolored, scarred face or an infected scalp.

The court of inquiry held in Dallas last summer to examine practices in the health and beauty industry revealed that some reducing spas offered such related services as face peeling, sometimes called "chemotherapy."

Some establishments claim to use "secret chemical formulas" to peel off the outer skin, theoretically leaving smooth, youthful skin free of wrinkles and blotches.

But no matter what the "secret formula," the process invariably involves applying some caustic chemical (often carbolic acid) to the face to, in effect, "burn away" the top layer of skin.

Plastic surgeons and other physicians sometimes regard the process as a helpful procedure when performed under medical supervision by trained personnel on certain individuals after extensive skin tests. It is sometimes used after a surgical face lift to remove any tiny scars.

However, at the court of inquiry, doctors testified that in the hands of unskilled individuals, the process could result in pain, swelling, redness and blisters. More permanent damage could include infection, scarring and an inability to stand sunlight.

The Federal Trade Commission has ordered several face peeling establishments to tell prospective customers in their advertising and promotional material just what is involved in the peeling process, and what it can lead to.

But the idea of being able to "peel away" the years seems to have attracted many people. The procedure should only be used after consultation with your personal doctor, however.

Our Consumer Protection attorneys remind consumers, too, to read any contract or agreement carefully, since it may contain disclaimers that release the individual or establishment offering the service from certain responsibilities.

Another service designed to appeal to the desire to look younger or more attractive is "suture implantation." This is a procedure which involves implanting wire or plastic in the scalp to hold a hairpiece securely.

The FTC says there is a high probability of discomfort and pain, and a risk of infection or scarring, since the sutures remain in the scalp permanently.

is the best source of information about this or any other health or beauty procedure about which you may have questions. Consult him before embarking on an "improvement" program that might possibly leave you in worse shape than you started.

And remember these things if you do decide to enter into an agreement for certain services:

- (1) Read all material carefully before signing;
- (2) If you are promised something, be sure to "get it in writing";
- (3) Never sign any contract with blank spaces in it; and
- (4) Never be pressured into signing.

Explorers TV Post Gets New Production Console

Operated by Explorer Post 83, Pampa Cable TV Channel 9 has received a new Sony production console.

The console will be used for special video effects such as split screens, according to Alan Kilgore, Post president.

Four television monitors for cueing and inputs for four cameras and four microphones are included in the console.

Summer plans for the club include the taping of city commission meetings live from city hall beginning June 11 and Babe Ruth baseball games, one game weekly.

The current program includes "Your Future Today" on Tuesday with Miss Virginia Hess of the Pampa Social Security office.

A special program is presented on Friday at 7 p.m. Pampa Introspective with Mike Gage is aired at 7:30 p.m., which consists of an interview with guests of interest to the community.

Ken Cook hosts "Palais" at 8 p.m., a program centering on music. Local talent often performs.

Newscope is presented week nights with the latest local news, sports and weather with Ky Norman, Kilgore and Gage. Club and organization meetings are taped along with speeches by prominent political figures and 4-H activities.

Membership in the club is made up of seven active members. Information can be obtained or appointment for a taping can be made by contacting Alan Kilgore at 669-6462 or 665-2381.

Insurance Programs Need Reviewing

COLLEGE STATION — How long has it been since you reviewed your total insurance program?

"In most cases, it's probably been too long," contends Dr. Wayne Hayenga, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Personal insurance such as life, health and accident should be reviewed at least annually or each time family obligations change.

Property insurance needs reviewing anytime a major change occurs in the property insured or in its replacement value."

While estimates show that the average value of houses has increased by 30 percent in Texas over the past five years, less than a quarter of the residents have increased their insurance coverage, points out the Texas A&M University System specialist.

"Before reviewing your insurance policies, remember that you buy insurance as protection from disastrous financial losses," reminds Hayenga.

"When making the annual insurance review, always ask yourself if you still need each type of insurance. If your financial position has changed, you might be able to withstand certain losses without insurance.

"Life and accident insurance protect survivors in case the breadwinner loses his earning ability. Property insurance is designed to help replace property in case something happens to it, while liability insurance provides protection if you damage other people's property," explains the economist.

Eight of the nation's 10 largest savings and loan associations are located in California, according to figures released by the U.S. League of Savings Associations.

Lubbock Resident Taking Tornado Historical Story

LUBBOCK — Charles Adams, along with hundreds of other Lubbock residents, eye-witnessed the city's destructive storm of May 11, 1970. They all had a story to tell.

"Most people were real anxious, particularly at that time, to tell about it," said Adams, who tape-recorded his own experiences and many others so that the accounts would not be lost.

Owner of one of Lubbock's oldest businesses, Adams pointed out that he became aware of the historical impact of the tornado soon after it had hit.

"In the land and title business we deal with history," he explained, "so my work has taught me to be conscious of history."

Adams explained that following the tornado, many people came to his office and related their experiences.

"When we opened after the storm, we had requests from the Red Cross to check the ownership of property so it could award relief grants," he said.

"Then the Small Business Administration started making emergency loans which required title work. So the people were coming in to us beginning just a few days after the storm on up to several months with their title work and they started telling me things that happened."

Although Texas Tech's Southwest Collection, an archives and historical repository serving Lubbock and the West Texas area, had already begun collecting information, Adams thought he could interview individuals whose experiences might have otherwise gone unnoticed.

He volunteered to coordinate his efforts with those of the Tech repository library. Thus, the Southwest Collection supplied the recorder and the tapes and Adams went to work.

The Adams interviews are a portion of more than one hundred related to the tornado collected by the Southwest Collection through its extensive oral history program.

Individuals caught in the path of the storm in homes, businesses and offices, city officials and other witnesses were contacted and interviewed. The Southwest Collection has also preserved out-of-town newspaper accounts, official and unofficial reports, and published materials which deal with the storm and its aftermath.

Adams' office on Texas Avenue in Lubbock houses a business established by his father in 1911. As a teenager in the 1920's, young Adams began to take an interest in the historically-related activities of land and title work, often accompanying his father on business trips into the unsettled counties in the western South Plains.

In 1932 he graduated with the first business administration class at Texas Tech. He returned to Tech in 1969 to be one of the initial graduates of its new law school.

Realizing that volunteer service is a key factor to the collecting of history, Charles Adams helped preserve data for future use.

"I realized," he said, "that it was something of momentous importance that had taken place, and that there would be something of historical value to it."

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Nerves Hike Blood Pressure

By G.C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I want your booklet on high blood pressure and enclose 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. I am 69 and having trouble keeping my pressure down.

Will high blood pressure make you nervous? Will tranquilizers harm you? I can't keep going or sleep if I don't take something so I am taking them one or two times a day.

Well, let's see if we can't do something about your nerves. The high blood pressure doesn't cause them. It's the other way around; nervous tension adds to your blood pressure.

However, I would suspect that your worries over your blood pressure enter into that endless circle. But although you are worrying, obviously, it is still better to know that your blood pressure needs to be brought under control than not to know it.

Too many people, not knowing that their pressure is excessive and hence not doing anything about it pay the price of the illnesses and disasters that can follow later.

So first of all I suggest this: keep in mind that you are getting treatment. Your doctor doubtless wants to keep track of your pressure readings periodically, and when your medication has had time to bring some results a lowering of your pressure should reassure you.

With that reassurance, your nerves will settle down and that in turn will help that much more in controlling your pressure.

Meantime tranquilizers once or twice a day to relax you and help you get a decent night's sleep also will be helping you.

The booklet will outline other aspects of what you can do to help yourself in addition to what your doctor does for you.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like the name of the organization to which one donates organs (liver, kidneys, eyes, heart, etc.) upon death. I would like to donate anything that would be of use to anyone.

Write to National Kidney

Foundation, 315 Park Ave. South, New York, N.Y. 10010. It is active in finding good use for organs besides kidneys. Be sure to get the name of the group right. There was an unfortunate hassle some time ago because of another group with a similar name but dissimilar aims.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 16 and really trapped because I'm too embarrassed to discuss this with my mother and I can't just up and go to a doctor if that's what is needed.

Every now and then for six months I've been getting this awful feeling in my vagina and then I see these little white worms about a quarter inch long start wiggling around. I will do whatever you suggest.

You're going to need help from somebody and I suggest that you start with your mother. Next time you have an attack of the wigglers, she could help you trap some of them on some sticky tape.

From what you write, the trouble has the earmarks of pinworms which are a much more frequent problem than seems to be generally known. The pests, which can and do get into the vagina, come out at night to lay eggs.

Trapping some on a scrap of tape is helpful because your doctor can examine them and see whether they really pinworms. Next step, of course, is to have him prescribe medication to get rid of the critters.

Of all the problems that pediatricians encounter in children, pinworm is the commonest. To learn the newest methods of treatment, write for the booklet, "The Commonest Pest, Pinworm," in care of Dr. G.C. Thosteson, M.D., Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope, and 25 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

Tennis Bums Are 'Aficianodos'

By EARL WILSON

LAS VEGAS — The tennis bums are now called "tennis aficionados," and they comprise a new slice of show business celebritydom.

At the recent Alan King tennis classic here at Caesars Palace, a woman aimed a camera at a man in the bleachers, saying, "Isn't that Sidney Poitier?"

The man said he was Rafer Johnson. However, Sidney Poitier came in all the way from Africa, where he was making a movie. Paul Anka was walking around in a disguise — a beard so full that until I heard his voice I didn't recognize him.

"Do you know who made his tennis debut?" Alan King asked, laughing.

"Buddy Hackett. He was coming as a streaker." Buddy was strumming his tennis racquet in the refreshments tent, issuing statements to his pals Jerry Vale, Corbett Monica and Shecky Green.

"Alan King did for tennis what Nixon did for politics," declared Buddy. Alan sat in his office in the tennis pavilion like a corporation president, home of 1600 employees, with 36 department heads under him.

"I'm the number one tennis bum in the world," he said. "If somebody has a picture deal that's sure to get me an Oscar, I'm not available the last week in August through September 10. I've not missed Forest Hills for 12 years. My partner Rupert Hitzig in New York is disgusted.

"The only way he can get to me is to come out here for the three weeks that I'm setting up."

Suspicious people have felt that King invented the tournament so that he can win the tournament. While he may have that in mind, it didn't work. He lost for the first two years.

"I have a $40,000 forehead and an $11 backhand," he said.

Clint Eastwood, Bill Cosby, Dick Rowan and such celebrities were pointed out in the sunbaked crowd.

"Sammy Davis said he would take up tennis if he could ever invent a one-eyed court."

Alan King pointed to one of the sideline boxes. "There sit the three greatest hitters in the world: Pancho Gonzales, Hank Greenberg and Joe Louis." The crowd loved it.

The tennis stars did very well at tennis, but I understand that some of the show business celebrities outdid them late at night at other games that are played here. I refer to baccarat, craps and blackjack.

Some of the prize winners didn't take home much prize money.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y. ... Cary Grant, presenting Straw Hat awards at the Pub Theatrical, read from his notes: "Some of our finest actors were nurtured in bars." He looked puzzled and said, "Shouldn't this read 'bars'?"

Polly Bergen told James Stewart (who got an award), "When I was 33 I was offered a job in one of your films — playing a grandmother. That's when I decided to go into the beauty business."

Singer Kay Cole will join "Words & Music" (replacing Kelly Garrett, who quit to join "Mack & Mabel" and was fired) ... The cast of "My Sister, My Sister" is asking donations from other B'way shows for an ad campaign so they can keep running ... James Farley, who'll be 86 this month, has begun work on a new book.

Show Biz Quiz: Name three films Jeannette MacDonald starred in without Nelson Eddy. Ans. to yesterday's: Rosalind Russell and Lee Tracy played the Hildy Johnson

Under Twenty

By TOM WILLIAMS

If you are one of those millions of students who will have to make some career decisions in the next year or so, the summer vacation, now just around the corner, will give you a chance to look into some fields that interest you. It need not take much of your time but can be a great help to you in making your decision.

A wise early step is to try to schedule some time with your guidance counselor. You can discuss realistically what your key talent areas are and the careers for which you might be best suited.

You can discuss your chances for advanced education and get some help in books and other material available to you for reading over the summer. Another visit worth making is to your school library and school librarian. Here you can find out what books are available to help you in your decision.

In addition to books in the library, your librarian can probably help you to locate government and associated literature having to do with fields in which you are interested.

Many of these are free and those that are charged for are usually quite reasonable.

Most public libraries (assuming your school library may be closed during the summer) also devote a considerable amount of space to source material on careers. Here, again, the librarian will be happy to help you.

One word of caution: situations in the work world change rapidly. Be certain the books you select are up to date and deal with recent developments in your field.

Another rewarding bit of research this summer is to seek out people who are in career areas that appeal to you. In your community almost every career area should be represented. Those now in the field are usually anxious to help others make their decision.

It is a good idea to have a list of questions ready when you meet with them to make the time most valuable for both of you.

Your summer research can pay off handsomely in deciding what you'd like to be or, just as vital, what you don't want to be when you finish your education and enter the world of work.

Windmill Repairman Says It's Not Easy Way To Make A Living

HAMILTON, Ill. (UPI) — Edwin Wingfield may be the last full-time windmill repairman in the nation. He says he knows of no others in his line.

At 59, "it's not an easy way to make a living," he said in an interview.

From his Hamilton home — across the Mississippi River from the Iowa-Missouri border — he travels hundreds of miles to jobs. Sometimes he just cruises rural roads looking for a windmill that needs fixing.

"I can size up a windmill in two minutes. I can tell you how old it is, what repairs have been made, and what's wrong with it," he said.

When he spots an ailing windmill from the road, he pulls up to the farm house, introduces himself as "the windmill man," and offers his services. Often the people have been trying for years to find someone who could repair their windmill.

Never Any Trouble

Wingfield said he "never had any trouble" with the door to door approach. "Everyone likes to talk windmills, but some don't want to have them fixed," he said.

Wingfield is a self-taught repairman — he was in construction until a day 23 years ago when a friend asked him to help repair a windmill.

"I have sort of a categorical mind when it comes to windmills," he said. "I remember them like I remember faces."

About once a year Wingfield, his wife and their 15-year-old son ride the Santa Fe to California to visit relatives. One reason they take the train, he said, is "so I can look at windmills."

"I bet I know every windmill on both sides of the tracks between here and Los Angeles," he said.

At one time, Wingfield said, 19 to 20 companies manufactured windmills and sold them to farmers and ranchers from coast to coast. Today, he knows of only one firm that makes the small-bladed, American-type windmill and its plant is in South America, where windmills are in demand for large cattle ranches.

Pre-World War II

Wingfield said the windmills now in use are mostly pre-World War II types, some of them manufactured 75 or more years ago. Fixing them has its hazards.

Wingfield must climb the spindly-legged windmill towers — generally about 50 feet high — to get at the mechanism that connects the wind-driven wheel to the pump.

The wheel and the large metal vane that keeps it pointed into the wind can shift suddenly and deliver a damaging and possibly fatal blow.

Sometimes the platform near the top of the windmill gives way, leaving him dangling in space by a nylon safety line.

"That's something you never get used to," he said.

Although different in size and degree of toxicity, scorpions can easily be distinguished from spiders and other arachnids by their clawlike pincers and long upturned tail at the tip of which is their stinger.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

FRIDAY, MAY 24
Your birthday today: Expansion, both real and symbolic, features your coming year. In many matters you are bound to find yourself taking unfamiliar courses of action, under interesting circumstances. Much of your deeper nature comes into spontaneous manifestation now, to the surprise of nobody but yourself. Today's natives are generous, talented, intuitive, and genuinely interested in the welfare of others.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Wind up your work week smoothly, see family matters through to reasonable conclusions in person. Add something to savings, skip on purchases if need be.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Conference with friends brings your information up to date, may put you next to a very good thing to do later, on your own. See if you can sell an idea.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Money moves easily today. Your persuasive ability is quite high. If you've neglected any details, now is the time to catch them up.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Professional advice is favored in analyzing any problem. Attend correspondence, close a long-range deal. Resist a temptation to buy luxury items.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Quiet persistence can bring you good results, whereas a power play would defeat its own purposes today. Partnership resources promise sharp improvement.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: With serious thought comes clarity of view. Recent confusion passes and solutions are much nearer. Material prosperity is on the rise.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Emphasis today is on exchange—you have much to offer and more to accept. The accent is on service and its quality. Gather those you love for an evening of fun.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Now is the time to set definite schedules for work already promised. Avoid further commitment until current obligations are on their way to redemption.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Almost everything that happens now is beneficial in its final outcome. Think positively. Add to your reserves, however trivial, the sum.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: This should be a moderately calm day in which your challenge is simple—just persevere in whatever enterprises you have underway. Make few changes.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: You've got a potentially easier day, so ease off high pressure approaches. Medical check ups, other professional counsel is favored.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Creative projects deserve all the effort you can put into them. Mend relationships where there has been stress. Express optimism with a modest party tonight.

JANE LONG HD CLUB

The Jane Long Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday, May 15, in the Courthouse Annex. Mrs. Glenn Knight called the meeting to order. Club Prayer was repeated, and roll call was answered with "Something About Myself."

Members present were Mmes. Rusty Williams, O.B. Elkins, Larry Holmes, Neil Fulton, Willard Taylor, Bill Gillis and Glenn Knight.

The program was given by Elaine Houston, Home Demonstration Agent, on Low Calorie Foods. Mrs. O.B. Elkins also gave a short program on canned meats and ways to prepare them. The meeting was followed by a covered dish luncheon.

The next meeting will be June 11 at 9:30 a.m. in the Courthouse Annex.

Let's Ask the Cook

by Nan Wiley

By NAN WILEY

Dear Nan:
I hope you can help me. I am looking for a mint sherbet recipe. I have a mint - pineapple one but cannot have the pineapple. I would also like to have an apricot sherbet. I am tired of all the other flavors.

Mrs. Anna Clagett
Lebanon, Pa.
Making mint sherbet is a little like belling the cat. First you have to grow the mint. That isn't difficult; in fact, once it gets a good start, the problem is to keep it from spreading all over the place.

A friend of mine gave me a start, so I planted it on one side of the house where it wouldn't interfere with other vegetation. It was right under a drippy faucet that defied fixing. It was ideal, since mint likes a lot of water. So here we go.

You will need 1 cup sugar, 2 cups boiling water, ¼ cup finely chopped fresh mint, 1 tablespoon (1 envelope) unflavored gelatin, ½ cup cold water, 1 cup lemon juice, a few drops green food coloring and 2 egg whites.

Add sugar to boiling water, bring to a boil again, stirring to dissolve sugar. Add mint. Take from heat, cover pan and let steep for an hour. Soften gelatin in the cold water for 5 minutes, dissolve over boiling water. Stir into the steeped mixture, mixing well.

Add lemon juice. Tint pale green with the food coloring. Pour into refrigerator tray, freeze to the mushy stage. Turn into a chilled bowl, beat well. Beat the egg whites until stiff, quickly fold in and return mixture to tray. Freeze firm.

At serving time it is nice to garnish scoops of the sherbet with fresh mint sprigs.

Apricots by themselves do not make an appealing sherbet or ice, so you have to combine them with something else. Here is an apricot ice that calls for a No. 2½ can apricots, 2½ cups orange juice, 6 tablespoons lemon juice and 1 cup sugar.

Puree the apricots in a blender or put them through a sieve. Add the juices, stir in sugar to dissolve well. Turn into an ice tray, freeze until mushy; beat well and refreeze. You can stop there or beat it once more after it becomes mushy to eliminate as much graininess as possible.

Nan's Notes:

I fully expect someone to tell me there are more than 150 calories to ¼ medium avocado as listed in my new "Kitchen Calorie Counter" but that is the latest information from the growers who say they no longer grow the higher count breeds. I love avocados and they taste just as good as ever but I am wondering if the count is lower simply because the stone is longer.

Your ice cream doesn't have to be plain vanilla—an array of kinds await you in Nan's booklet, "Heavenly Homemade Ice Cream." For your copy, send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Nan Wiley in care of the Register and Tribune Syndicate, Des Moines, Iowa 50304.

NEW SLATE— Twentieth Century Culture Club has a new slate of officers following their spring installation luncheon held recently. They are from left, Mrs. Ross Buzzard, parliamentarian; Mrs. B.R. Nunn, reporter; Mrs. James A. Poole,

20th Century Club Has Installation Luncheon

The Twentieth Century Culture Club met Tuesday, May 14, in the home of Mrs. J.R. Donaldson, 2530 Duncan, for their annual spring luncheon and installation of officers for the coming year. Co-hostesses were Mmes. E.E. Shelhamer, J.M. Stallings and Ross Buzzard.

A theme of sand dollars and shells was carried out in table decorations and the jewelry worn by the hostesses.

Following the luncheon, Mrs. Buzzard, president, conducted the business meeting. She then introduced Mrs. M.K. Griffith, the installing officer, who read the Legend of the Sand Dollar and used it in the impressive installation ceremony.

New officers installed were Mrs. J.M. Stallings, president; Mrs. Fred Brook, vice-president; Mrs. E.W. Hogan, secretary; Mrs. James A. Poole, treasurer; and Mrs. Ross Buzzard, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Buzzard expressed her appreciation to the members for their work during her year as president; then turned the meeting over to the new president, Mrs. Stallings, who announced her committees for the coming year. She led the club in offering congratulations to Mrs. G.L. Craddock, an honorary member who was present, on the occasion of the celebration of her golden wedding anniversary.

The club presented a gift to the outgoing president, Mrs. Buzzard, in appreciation of her fine leadership. Members present in addition to those mentioned were Mmes. A.E. Berry, Milo Carlson, J.L. Chase, R.L. Cooke, Rufe Jordan, Wayatt Lemons, Myron A. Marx, Jr., B.R. Nunn, Paul Turner, L.J. Zachry, and Fred Thompson.

BUILD "VINE TOWERS" FOR YOUR GARDEN

"One real labor and space saver that we use in our organic garden," say Warner and Lucile Bowers, of upstate New York, "is what we call a 'vine tower'."
"This is a three-foot-diameter cylinder of five-foot-tall chicken wire stapled to six-foot-high, 1 X 2 supports. We have eight of these contraptions on which we grow squashes, cucumbers, peas, lima beans, some tomatoes and any other plants which tend to sprawl. The supports contain the foliage within a small area and raise the crop to a good picking level."

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Ada was desperate! After 18 months of standard medical treatment, she feared being a lifelong cripple. Then notice what happened when she met her childhood music teacher! In just one month, 3,000 doctors ordered the newspaper booklet below.

CASE 'A-640: Ada Z., aged 28, was desperate. "Dr. Crane," she began, "I am a private secretary and always made a very nice salary.
"But 3 years ago, I developed such crippling arthritis in my hands that I couldn't even operate the keys of my typewriter.
"My elbows were also stiff and I had difficulty even feeding myself.
"It scared me to think I might be a helpless cripple, especially since I must help support my widowed mother, who lives with me.
"For 18 months I took various medicines that several doctors prescribed.
"But my arthritis never diminished, so I grew desperate regarding how to earn a living.
"The I met a former piano teacher with whom I had studied as a child.
"She said she had been forced to give up all her pupils because she also had her fingers contracted badly with arthritis.
"But she added that she had read your column about the possible value of the ocean's 44 trace chemicals in banishing deficiency ailments.
"So she urged me to go to the Gulf of Mexico and get a supply of sea water, which I did.
"Well, I took half a glassful every day, distributed in milk, tomato juice, soup, etc.
"And within 60 days my fingers and elbows began to limber up.
"And at the end of 4 months I was back at my secretarial job, using the typewriter without any inconvenience at all!
"So tell your readers that when other remedies fail, they might try ocean water.
DEFICIENCY AILMENTS
Many human ailments are described as being apparently due to some chemical deficiency.
For we medics don't attribute them to germs or a virus.
Among this list of possible deficiency ailments are not only arthritis, cataracts, hardening of the arteries, deafness, diabetes and psoriasis—but possibly cancer, too.

There are 44 water soluble chemicals in the sea, all of which are also in dilute amounts in our human blood.
When the continents first rose out of the oceans, those same chemicals were in the soil and thus in fruits and vegetables raised thereon.
But since they are water soluble, the rains soon began to leach them out of the soil and carry them back to the oceans.
In recent years, medical research has shown the vital need for a trace of iodine to prevent simple goiter.
And agricultural colleges have shown the great advance of red salt over the 50-pound blocks of white salt for farm animals.
My mother had been getting some sea water every day ever since 1955 until she passed away in February, a day before her 96th birthday.
She surpassed by 6 years the longevity of all her known ancestors on both sides of the family.
In one month, over 3,000 doctors wrote for the booklet below and with tens of thousands of you laymen, have been using sea water as a possible prevention of deficiency ailments.
If I had cancer, I'd drink one full glass (probably two) of sea water daily, distributed in milk, tomato juice, etc.
Unless you are a heart case and ordered to go low on salt, there is no significant ill effect in a little sea water daily and you may add many years to your life span.
So send for the booklet "The Ocean's 44 Trace Chemicals," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.
(Always write in Dr. Crane in care of The Worry Clinic, Hopkins Bldg., Mt. Lebanon 7708. Enclose a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

The Almanac

United Press International Today is Thursday, May 23, the 143rd day of 1974 with 222 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn. Those born on this date are under the sign of Gemini.

Ambrose Burnside, a Union general in the Civil War, was born May 23, 1824.

On this day in history: In 1701, Capt. William Kidd was hanged in London on charges of piracy and murder.

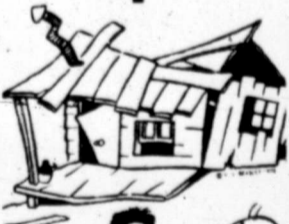

In 1939, the U.S. Navy submarine "Squalus" went down off New Hampshire in 240 feet of water. Thirty-three of the 59 men aboard were rescued with a diving bell.

In 1959, Israeli agents captured Adolf Eichman in Argentina and spirited him back to Tel Aviv. He was convicted of being a mass killer of Jews during World War II and was hanged.

In 1965, the Organization of American States set up a peace-keeping force in the Dominican Republic to stand between rebel and loyalist units.

A thought for the day: Norwegian poet Henrik Ibsen said, "I hold that man is in the right who is more closely in league with the future."

Sending Child To Camp Is Major Decision

COLLEGE STATION — Sending a child to camp represents a major decision, Dr. Jennie C. Kitching points out.
"Going to camp means the child is growing up and getting ready for a life of his own," the family life education specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System, said.

Reasons for sending a child to camp vary, but most feel camp offers a rewarding experience.
"If the camp is the right one for a child, he can have a happy time. He'll gain a sense of independence and a new awareness of comradeship with peers. In addition, the child learns new skills and may discover new strengths he never knew existed.

"He will be exposed to nature's beauties that surround almost every campsite — which may impress him and awaken new sensibilities."

older brothers and sisters may cope with camp experiences at an earlier age than a friend who's an only child — and less at ease with other children."

It's just as important to send child to the right camp as it is to send him at the right age, the specialist contended.
"Once again, parental feelings sometimes get in the way of selecting 'the most suitable' camp.

"They should remember the experience should be fun for the child — and not choose a camp just because it's nearby or it's where all his friends go. These factors are important and deserve consideration, but they are not the only criteria for camp selection.

1973-74 Pampa Athletes-- True Hustlin' Harvesters

A regional berth in girls volleyball, fine seasons in both basketball and baseball and several coaching changes — all are reflective of the 1973-74 Pampa High School athletic year, but all are overshadowed by a single common factor noticed in the performances of athletes in every sport this past season.

The factor is HUSTLE, and the past school year shows why Pampa High athletes are known as 'Hustling Harvesters.' Although the only district crown for Pampa went to the girls volleyball team, every athletic squad played like it had its eyes on the state championship.

The football team, coached by Buddy Williams who is now head coach at Nacogdoches, won only twice during the season and was a subject of controversy in Pampa. But Pampa played up to its capability and was never seriously whipped by any team. The Harvesters lost all five district games due to a shortage of size and manpower and an excess of injuries.

Robert McPherson's basketball team encountered better luck than the gridsters as the team finished second in district play behind Borger, losing twice in loop tilts to the Bulldogs. Pampa finished the season with a 23-8 record and tied for the first half district title with Palo Duro and Borger.

The Pampa track team, under Scott Dunnam, sent the mile-relay team of Noel Hansen, Howie Lewis, Chuck Quarles and Steve Mathis, Hansen in the 880, Lewis in the 330 intermediate hurdles and Mathis in the 440 to the regional meet, where the Pampans were struck with ill fate.

Mathis suffered a recurrence of a pulled hamstring and Pampa's hopes suddenly vanished. The track season ended at the meet but not before Pampa had proved itself as a contender.

In baseball, new head coach Ronnie White and a hard-working group of players resulted in Pampa's best record — 14-10 — since 1970.

In volleyball, Pampa won district with an unblemished record and advanced to the regional playoffs.

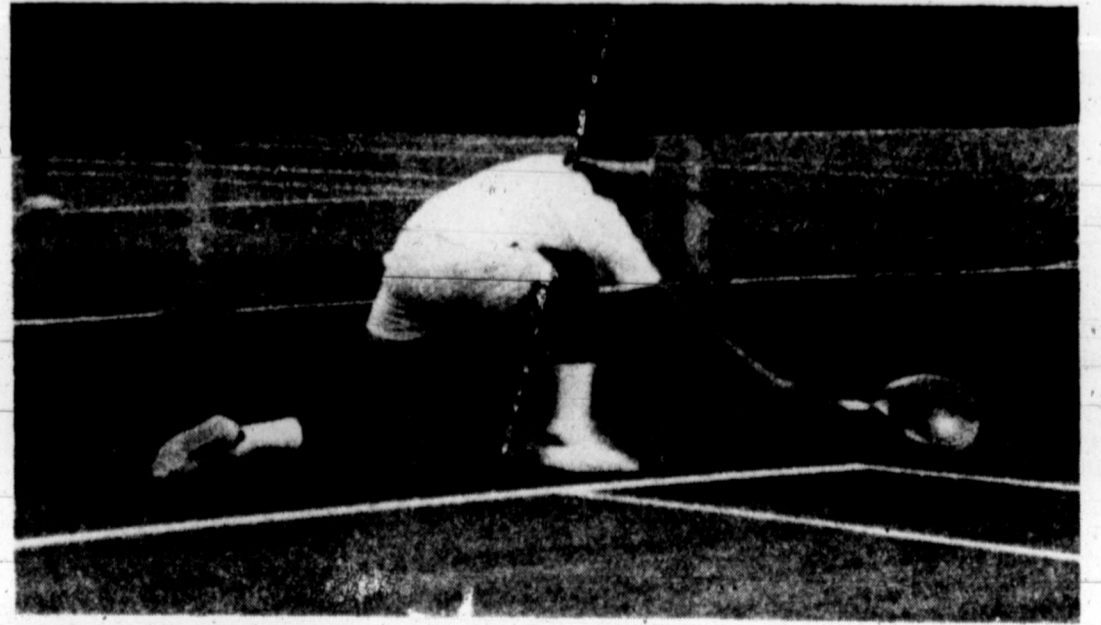

In golf, both Pampa boys' and girls' teams wound up fourth in district play, doing so in a tough league.

In tennis, Pampa tied with Palo Duro for last in district, but the Harvesters were beset with lack of experience.

In girls track, the same lack of experience told the story as Pampa wound up last in district.

In swimming, Bonnie Grantham's Pampa team competed well throughout the season and upset several fine schools.

It was a year of hard work, determination and inexperience. Next year, the hard work and determination will again be a part of Pampa High athletics. And the inexperience will have turned into seasoned athletes. It should be an even better year for the Hustling Harvesters.

It Sims To Me...

By PAUL SIMS
Sports Editor

The West Texas State University track team encountered more than its share of bad luck in finishing in fourth place in the Missouri Valley Conference Track and Field Championships Sunday and Monday at Denton.

The Buffs' troubles included Terry Penn's shoe splitting and coming off during the finals of the 120-yard high hurdles, a bad handoff between Rick McGuire of Pampa and Alvis Wright in the 440-yard relay finals and a dropped baton between Larry Marlar of Pampa and Dave Karila in the mile relay event.

The sprint-relay team finished third, the mile-relay team fourth and Penn sixth.

In the 100-yard dash, Wright scratched twice and was declared out of the race.

As a team, the Buffaloes of coach Bob Kitchens placed fourth in the meet with 64 points behind North Texas, 198; Wichita State, 176, and Drake, 94.

A .350 team batting average, a 200-game schedule every year, a first baseman who hit 94 home runs last season and is expected to hit 100 this year and a pitch that travels 104 miles-per-hour — it's all a part of the King and His Court, a four-man super softball team which will be in Amarillo next week.

The King and His Court, internationally famous and probably the most talented group of players in softball today, will play Maxor Drug, an Amarillo fastpitch team, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Memorial Stadium.

Gates open at 6:30 p.m. and tickets are now on sale at the Amarillo Giants business office.

Eddie Feigner is the Court's pitcher and one of the fastest softball hurlers in the game. Shortstop Eddie Feigner, Jr., the pitcher's 22-year-old son, and first baseman Al Jackson are also members of the Court. Jackson claims he will hit 100 home runs this year. Eddie, Jr., is also a powerful slugger.

"He hit 'em so far," said Jackson, the team captain, "we now measure them town to town."

Feigner, Sr., organized the King and His Court in 1946.

Bobby Riggs, Mr. Male Chauvinism himself, will arm wrestle the United States' women's champion at the U.S. West Wrestling Championships Saturday afternoon at Las Vegas, Nev.

Riggs has agreed to wrestle the winner of the woman's tournament at the championships. The favorite is Jackie Allard, a 145-pound student at the University of Nevada at Reno.

Yogi Berra, the New York Mets' manager and former Yankee catching great, regrets now that he dropped out of school in the seventh grade. When he was in grade school, though, he hated it to the point that when a friend asked him what he liked best about school, Yogi replied, "Closed."

Berra-isms became household sayings when the amazing Yogi played for the Yankees.

Berra was never much to look at, with his large head and bulbous nose and ape-like manner. In fact, a coach once named an all-star ugly team and made Berra the captain. Yogi said, "That's okay. Hitting's the name of the game in this racket, and I never yet saw a man hit a ball with his face."

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jim Wynn still keeps chewing on that toothpick.

It's about the only thing he brought with him from Houston.

"Here, this is from me to you," he said, handing over his old Astros' jacket to the clubhouse boy the day he reported to the Los Angeles Dodgers at Vero Beach, Fla., three months ago. "I don't ever wanna see that thing again."

Jim Wynn had grown tired of the Houston Astros after 11 years and they in turn had become tired of him. Last season, one in which Wynn managed to drive in only 55 runs and hit .220, helped both principals grow a little more tired of each other.

A change had to be made. That was clear. It was made at the winter meetings in Houston last December when the Dodgers got Wynn from the Astros, and the only other baseball change that can possibly compare with it is the one which sent Reggie Smith to the Cardinals from the Red Sox.

Both Leagues

With the season barely seven weeks old, Wynn already has driven in nearly as many runs for the Dodgers as he did all last year for the Astros. His 41 RBI's going into Wednesday night's game with the Reds made him the National League leader and his 14 home runs were tops in both leagues. Moreover, that .319 batting average of his is far better than anything he has ever finished with in his entire professional lifetime.

Obviously, considerable credit for the way the first-place Dodgers have virtually divorced themselves from the five other clubs in their division has to go to the stocky, five-foot-nine Wynn, and what makes his performance all the more subject for general conversation in the dugouts is that the Astros are fifth in the same division as the Dodgers, much closer to last place than they are to first.

The Los Angeles fans love Wynn. It's mutual. He not only is ga-ga about them, too, but everything else concerning his new environment.

"Beautiful," says Jim

Potato chips were introduced by a Negro chef in 1865. The first plant constructed exclusively for their manufacture was the A.A. Walter Co. plant built in Albany, N.Y. in 1925.

Jackson, A's Sail Along

United Press International

Reggie Jackson sounded hard to believe last winter when he said winning the American League's Most Valuable Player Award didn't leave him without important worlds to conquer.

"I've never batted .300, hit 50 homers and knocked in more than 100 runs in the same season," said the two-time world champion Oakland A's slugger. "That gives me plenty to shoot at."

Well, Reggie seems just as unbelievable now as — although the statistics verify the truth — as he is sparking the A's' early-season drive to the lead in the AL West with a .397 average, 13 homers and 37 RBIs. Should Jackson even approximate those figures over the full season, he'd be a sure-shot second-time MVP and, no doubt, lead the A's to their third straight pennant.

"You have to play with this man every day to understand his skills," says A's captain Sal Bando. "He is capable of almost anything he sets out to do."

Sweep Series

Jackson, still serving as the A's designated hitter because of a pulled hamstring, drove in five runs with a homer, bases-filled double and single Wednesday night when Oakland defeated the Minnesota Twins 7-4. The victory enabled the A's to sweep the three-game series and win their 11th game in their last 14 starts.

Baltimore defeated Cleveland 1-0 in 12 innings. Boston beat New York 6-3, Texas topped Chicago 8-2 after a 6-2 loss, Detroit downed Milwaukee 6-4 and California topped Kansas City 6-1 in other AL games.

National League scores were Atlanta 6 San Francisco 2, Chicago 9 New York 6, Philadelphia 7 St. Louis 1, Houston 5 San Diego 1 and Los Angeles 6 Cincinnati 3.

Jackson's bases-filled double tied the score at 4-4 in the seventh and he singled in his fifth run of the game in the ninth after Joe Rudi's two-run double broke the 4-1 tie. Paul Lindblad shut out the Twins for three innings to win his second game while Bill Campbell suffered his second setback for Minnesota.

Orioles 1 Indians 0

Former Cincinnati left-hander Ross Grimsley pitched what was probably his best game in the majors — an eight-hitter that gave the Orioles their 12-inning triumph over the Indians. Paul Blair singled in the game's only run after Boog Powell opened the 12th with a double. Grimsley, now 5-4, struck out seven and walked one. Jim Perry matched zeroes with Grimsley for 10 innings before giving way to Tom Buskey, the eventual loser.

Red Sox 6 Yankees 3

Bernie Carbo drove in two runs and Luis Tiant went the distance with a 10-hitter as the Red Sox scored their fifth straight victory. Carbo singled home Cecil Cooper to break a 22 tie in the fifth inning and knocked in another run with a sacrifice fly in the eighth. Juan Beniquez had three hits for the Red Sox and Elliot Maddox had three for the Yankees. The Red Sox have won eight straight games and 17 of their last 18 with the Yankees at Fenway Park.

Tigers 6 Brewers 4

Mickey Lolich, coming back strong after a slow start, pitched a four-hitter to win his fourth game for the Tigers. Willie Horton and Al Kaline drove in two runs each for the Tigers, who snapped a fourgame losing streak. The key blow of the game was Horton's two-run seventh-inning homer which gave the Tigers a 5-2 lead.

Angels 6 Royals 1

Bill Singer pitched a five-hitter for his sixth win and Frank Robinson hit the 560th homer of his career for the Angels, who bombed out Al Fitzmorris with four runs in 1 1/3 innings. Joe Lahoud also homered for the Angels.

4 Teams Favored In NAIA Competition

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (UPI) — Four teams are considered tossups to win the 23rd National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics track and field championships that began today at Henderson State College's track with the 26-mile marathon.

"I rate it as a tossup between Texas Southern (the defending champ), Eastern New Mexico, Southern California College and North Carolina Central," said Wally Schwartz of Kansas City, assistant to the executive secretary of the NAIA.

Schwartz also said there was a possibility of a world record and a dozen meet records being set from among the 170 schools and nearly 1,000 athletes entered in the three-day meet, which is sprinkled with Olympic performers.

There was some doubt whether Larry Black of NCC, an Olympic silver medal winner in the 200-meter dash at Munich in 1972, would be able to compete. Schwartz said Wednesday Black pulled a muscle — but he had not received official word yet on whether he would withdraw.

It's Not Christmas But You Couldn't Tell Fred

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Philadelphia goalie Bernie Parent received a car Wednesday from Sport Magazine but gave it to Flyers Coach Fred Shero because "he was responsible for us winning the Stanley Cup."

Parent, winner of the Conn Smythe Trophy as the Most Valuable Player in the Stanley Cup playoffs, received a car to go with his award.

"I decided in a meeting with my team this morning to give the car to our coach. It was a team effort and Fred Shero was responsible for us winning the Stanley Cup," Parent said.

Shero, accepting the keys during ceremonies at a mid-city hotel, said, "I always said you have to be goofy to be a coach. My players also have to be a little crazy to do this."

INDY IN TURMOIL Racing Car Owners Have Day In Court

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Five disgruntled racing car owners get their day in court today when they testify that they were denied a chance to qualify for Sunday's Indianapolis "500" by the Indianapolis Motor Speedway and the United States Auto Club.

Officials of Ron Woods Racing, Rasmussen Racing Products, Carl Gehlhausen, K&L racing and Webster

Racing will be called by attorney Don A. Tabbert in their million dollar suit to have the defendants set up a special day to qualify their cars.

Tabbert questioned three defense witnesses Wednesday during an eight-hour session that brought no decision from Judge Frank A. Symmes. The case was recessed to 10:15 a.m. edt today.

Actually, there were 11 cars ready to go for their first qualifying run on May 19 when an arbitrary 6 p.m. deadline was enforced.

Only five owners elected to institute the suit, which could conceivably postpone Sunday's 58th running of the Indy Classic.

Tabbert hammered at Speedway owner Tony Hulman, vice president Joe Colouster and chief steward Tom Binford Wednesday in direct examination to show how confusing the qualifying procedures are to contestants.

A former U.S. Attorney for Southern Indiana, Tabbert was smooth in his questioning.

He concentrated on determining the reason why car 94 driven by Johnny Parsons Jr. received a second qualifying run while others were shut out.

"Many first timers reached the starting line but aborted and went to the end of the line. None moved in ahead of 94 and it was allowed to proceed," Binford said.

The 73-year-old Hulman said he left the operation of the Speedway to others.

The Dodgers first offered lefthander Claude Osteen even up for Wynn. Osteen is a fine pitcher, but the Astros wanted more.

Al Campanis, the Dodgers' vice president in charge of player personnel, and his opposite number with the Astros, Spec Richardson, were at one of the sessions in Houston when Richardson said to Campanis he would make the Wynn deal if the Dodgers would throw in Culpepper, a 23-year-old right-hander who had pitched for Albuquerque and Waterbury last season.

Campanis said he'd have to check with Bill Schweppe, the Dodgers' director of minor league operations. Schweppe advised Campanis to go ahead and make the deal.

Astros' Osteen Outhurls Jones

HOUSTON (UPI) — At the urging of a friend in Los Angeles, newly acquired Dodger lefthander Claude Osteen went to a Brea, Calif., sandlot nine years ago to give two youngsters some pitching lessons.

"One little kid was a righthander," Osteen said, "But I don't remember his name. The other little kid was a little lefthander named Randy Jones. I worked with them for about an hour, showing them how to hold the ball and a bunch of things."

Osteen was 25, the promising little left-hander is.

Wednesday night they met again throwing at the same Astrodome home plate and watching each other closely from opposing dugouts.

"This was the first time we ever tied up," Osteen, now with the Houston Astros, said after he had recorded a 5-1 victory through little fault of San Diego's Jones. "It had to happen sooner or later."

The happening was, if not a classic, a fine pitching duel between the 34-year-old veteran and his 24-year-old protegee. Osteen fired a five-hitter in going the distance while Jones allowed just seven hits and one run in eight innings.

The score was tied 1-1 when Jones was relieved after facing one batter in the ninth. Milt May's grand slam home run later in the inning gave teacher Osteen a big smile.

"He pitched a heck of a game tonight," Osteen admitted.

And just like Osteen remembered on that sandlot, Jones threw the same way he was taught.

"Yeah, he's still doing it, but I hope he doesn't get too much better at it," Osteen said.

Osteen has followed Jones' young career ever since San Diego brought him up in June, 1973.
