Judge Sircia Gives Warning To Jurors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sircia, in search of an unbiased jury to hear the Watergate cover-up trial, today sternly warned the prospects they could go to jail if they fail to say truthfully how they feel about the case.

Sircia delivered his lecture to a fresh panel of 175 prospective jurors as the five defendants, all of them associates of former President Richard M. Nixon who have been accused of conspiring to cover up the bugging scandal, sat impassively at the defense tables.

When 60 of the new veniremen indicated that being sequestered would create a hardship for them, Sircia commented, "It doesn't look like we can get a jury today."

The contempt warning, Sircia said, was "not for the purpose of intimidating, coercing or frightening any prospective juror."

But he added that if it developed at any time during the trial that any one of them had deliberately failed to tell the truth in answering questions put to them during the selection process, he could be cited for contempt and sent to jail.

"I'm going to repeat it once more so nobody will have an excuse should it happen," Sircia said, wagging his finger. "I've been around this courtroom a number of years and I've seen the kind of thing happen that I'm trying here to prevent."

The judge, who has steered the Watergate case through about two years of court proceedings, also warned that the indictment charging the five defendants with conspiring to obstruct justice is not evidence of anything and that they must be presumed innocent unless proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

It probably will be one of the most important things you will ever have to do in your life if you are selected to serve on this jury," Sircia told the 65 prospects who survived preliminary screening Tuesday.

He summoned another 175 District of Columbia residents for first-round questioning today and another batch for Thursday as he strives to weed out those who might come to court with their minds already made up.

The slow, painstaking process of jury selection resulted Tuesday in 90 persons being excused after pleading health, family or business problems would make it impossible for them to be sequestered for the three-to-four month trial.

A jury was not expected to be seated for several more days.

The defendants — former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, once high White House aide H. R. Haldeman, and John D. Ehrlichman, former Nixon campaign official Robert C. Mardian and campaign lawyer Kenneth W. Parkinson — sat glumly as the jury search droned on.

Haldeman wore a gold tie clasp bearing the presidential seal and a tiny etched signature of Richard Nixon. Mitchell's face was ashen as he entered the courtroom with a lawyer at each elbow and slumped into a chair. Ehrlichman, on his way into the courthouse, had been jeered by a group of youths calling themselves Yuppies and spat on by one of them.

The hearing will be held in the same Judiciary Committee room in the Rayburn House Office Building where the impeachment proceedings were carried out against Nixon. Those proceedings led to Nixon's resignation and Ford becoming President.

Rep. William L. Hungate, D-Mo., chairman of the Criminal Justice subcommittee, said a majority of his nine-member subcommittee favors allowing Ford's appearance — the first by a President before a congressional committee in more than a century — to be televised live, if the television networks express an interest.

Ironically, the previous one was before the same committee, by Abraham Lincoln in 1862 who answered questions about a leak of his State of the Union address in the New York Herald before he gave it to Congress.

Ford will be asked at least 14 questions included in two resolutions of inquiry seeking a full explanation of the reasoning behind Ford's pardon of Nixon on Sept. 8.

Pentagon spokesman William Beecher told newsmen: "We are going to have to cut back on some of these programs. There's just no question about that."

But even with cutbacks, he said he expected next year's budget request to show "a substantial increase."

Congress recently criticized the Pentagon for figuring its inflation this year at 4.5 per cent, while the national rate is more than 10.

In response, the Pentagon Tuesday recalculated the costs estimates of all its major programs, and this produced the $16 billion instant increase — to almost $144 billion.

The new inflation rates the Pentagon uses are 11 per cent this year, 8 per cent next, 4.3 per cent in 1980 and 3.7 per cent thereafter.

Of the $144 billion, $45 billion has already been spent and the remainder will be spread out over weapons programs to 1990.

"We are just as much subject to the same inflationary factors as everyone else in the society," Beecher said.

Doctors today confirmed President Ford's optimism that his wife, Betty, has made a rapid recovery since breast cancer surgery last Saturday.

A new medical bulletin from the National Naval Medical Center in nearby Bethesda, Md., said Mrs. Ford's "postoperative course to date continues to be excellent."

It echoed the report which Ford himself provided after visiting his wife in her hospital room Tuesday night. He said she was in "great spirits" and making "unbelievable progress."

"Mrs. Ford has a very enjoyable evening with members of the family and the President last night, and her spirits continue to be excellent today," the doctors said. "Her lively sense of humor is evident and she is reading, answering some mail and watching television."

Mrs. Ford also continued undergoing diagnostic tests to determine whether doctors will prescribe future therapy of radiation or drugs to avoid a recurrence of the cancer.

The need for therapy resulted from laboratory tests that found microscopic traces of cancer cells in two of the 30 lymph nodes that were removed along with her right breast and surrounding tissue.

Asked if Mrs. Ford was eager to get back to the White House, the President said, "Well, I don't think it's that far along yet, but the doctors think she has done very very well and this of course is very encouraging."

Ford was asked if the doctors think they have stopped the cancer from spreading. "I'm not qualified to say that," he replied, but "I hope so."

Mrs. Ford ate solid food for the first time Tuesday. "She is regaining her strength," a medical bulletin said. "Her temperature has returned to normal and all other vital signs continue normal. Her spirits are excellent."

The President brought with him to the hospital a gift from Italian President Giovanni Leone, whom the Fords entertained at the White House the night before the First Lady learned of her illness.

It was a green leather tote bag with the famous Gucci designer signature on the side. "You know, women have to have something like that," Ford smiled, as he carried the bag into the hospital.

Miss Hearst, the 20-year-old granddaughter of newspaper empire founder William Randolph Hearst, was kidnapped last Feb. 4 and later, after her parents sponsored a $2 million ransom program, announced she was joining her captors, the Symbionese Liberation Army (SLA). She later was charged with more than 20 state and federal crimes and faces life in prison if she is ever found.

Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller was to address the conference Wednesday evening, substituting for President Ford who canceled his scheduled appearance because of his wife's illness.

Rapoport told the more than 400 Edison delegates that the current wave of terrorism is different from preceding terrorist sieges starting in the 19th century.

"Kidnaping is the major new extensively used tactic of this epoch—a tactic, ironically, first used by the Soviet secret police in the 1920s and '30s to crush left- and right-wing terrorism organized from abroad," he said.

But in spite of the new tactic, Rapoport said, kidnappings have been "largely imitative and ineffectual so far."

Until the SLA shootout in Los Angeles last May in which six of Miss Hearst's kidnapers were killed, American terrorists "preached and sometimes practiced terror, but when the police got close, they lost their nerve, pleading frame-up or fleeing the country."

Two Suspects Arrested For Burglary Cases

Two Pampa men are being held in jail here in lieu of bonds totaling $15,000 in connection with two recent burglaries.

Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan identified the two as Douglas Elmo Cannon, 19, of 425 Starkweather, and Leonard McRae, 21, whose address is listed as Farley Street.

Cannon is being held in city jail charged with the Sept. 23 burglary of Dyers Barbecue, located on Highway 60 West.

His bond was set by Justice of the Peace Nat Lunsford after he was apprehended Sunday night by city police and sheriff's deputies.

Cannon and McRae are both charged with the burglary of Harvester Lane Bowly alley Sept. 25.

McRae was arrested in Amarillo yesterday and brought to the Gray County jail. His bond was also set by Lunsford at $5,000. Cannon's bond is $5,000 on each of the two charges.

Jordan said juveniles were also involved and their cases are being handled by juvenile authorities.

Troopers from the Texas Highway Patrol assisted local officials in the case, Jordan said.

DENIES VIOLATIONS

Price Issues Statement On Charges By Bynum

U.S. Rep. Bob Price of Pampa today issued an additional statement in his denial of State Rep. Ben Bynum's charge that Price had violated the Texas campaign disclosure law by not designating a campaign manager before soliciting funds for his political campaign.

The congressman's statement follows: "Unfortunately, the political atmosphere especially in this campaign year breeds unfounded accusations and witch hunts."

"My campaign workers are not professional politicians nor full time campaigners. They are honest citizens who have volunteered to help achieve those things we all believe in."

Ford To Discuss Pardon Of Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford will appear before a House subcommittee at 10 a.m. Oct. 10 to answer questions about his pardon of former President Richard M. Nixon, the subcommittee announced today.

Rep. William L. BROTHER IN SHOCK

McLean Resident Dies In Explosion

MCLEAN — A 52-year-old man died in a fire which destroyed a brick house here at about 6:30 this morning.

He was identified as Bill Cook, whose body was found in the smoldering ruins of the home he shared with a brother, Joe Cook. The latter escaped without injury from the burning building.

McLean volunteer firemen responded to an alarm at 6:30 a.m. and, assisted by a unit from Shamrock, brought the fire under control within a short time.

Cause of the fire, which was accompanied by an explosion, is still being investigated.

The victim's body was found in a doorway leading from a bedroom to the living room.

An inquest was held by Margie Prestige, Justice of the Peace at Lefors, who was called to the scene in the absence of McLean Justice of the Peace Ernest Beck, who is a patient at the Veterans Hospital in Amarillo. Mrs. Prestige said the filing of the inquest report is still pending and that there was no evidence of foul play.

She said there was speculation that the fire started in a living room heater and that the explosion apparently followed shortly thereafter.

Firemen said the entire front wall of the house was ablaze when they arrived.

The mother of the two men, Mrs. Charles E. Cook, has been a patient at McLean General Hospital since last Thursday.

Joe Cook (age not available) was said to be in a state of shock this morning and was unable to give a coherent account of the tragedy.

GOD BLESS YOU — An elderly patient on the sixth floor of the Long Beach Memorial Hospital grips former President Richard M. Nixon's hand and says "God bless you," to him as he is wheeled down the corridor for further tests. The blood clot in his lung is reported shrinking. Even though Nixon is feeling better, doctors say it will be several weeks at least before he is able to return to normal operations, including possible testimony for the Watergate cover-up trial.

CLOT SHRINKING

Nixon Better, Still Can't Testify

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The blood clot in Richard Nixon's right lung is shrinking, improving his health, but apparently without changing the recommended long convalescence that is keeping him off the witness stand at the Watergate cover-up trial.

The former president's doctor said Tuesday that a lung scan revealed a "partial resolution" or reduction in size of the clot in Nixon's lung, and showed that no more clots were forming.

Nixon has been in Long Beach Memorial Hospital for nine days, receiving anticoagulant drugs to combat blood clotting caused by a phlebitis condition that began when he was in office.

His physician, Dr. John Lungren, said Monday that although Nixon would probably be released from the hospital later this week, a "normal convalescence" would rule out any travel for at least a month, possibly as long as three months.

Five of Nixon's former top aides went on trial Tuesday in Washington on Watergate charges. Nixon has been subpoenaed by both prosecution and defense attorneys, and his appearance on the witness stand was expected to be a high point of the trial.

The clot had traveled through the bloodstream from Nixon's left leg to his right lung, where it lodged and caused a dimedized embolism, an area of blocked circulation.

AUTHORITY SAYS

U.S. Can Expect More Kidnapings

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The United States can expect more political kidnappings like the abduction of Patricia Hearst, a leading authority on terrorism said today.

The abduction of Patricia Hearst demonstrates that there are very many prominent potential victims who can't be defended and will be ransomed," said Dr. David C. Rapoport, political science professor at the University of California, Los Angeles, in an address prepared for delivery to the 15th annual conference of United Press International Editors and Publishers.

"We can expect more, perhaps many more, instances," he said.

Plan To Vote?

Deadline Near On Registration

Citizens intending to vote in the upcoming general election (Tuesday, Nov. 5) were reminded today by Gray County Clerk Wanda Carter that Friday, Oct. 4, is the deadline for new registrations.

Anyone who is not currently registered in the state of Texas or in Gray County must register to vote.

Those persons who voted in any primary or general election held in Gray County during the past three years are automatically registered and need not re-register for the Nov. 5 election.

Persons who have moved into Texas or into Gray County from another part of the state are required to register or transfer their registration to Gray County.

These regulations naturally apply to persons voting for the first time, such as young persons who will be 18 years of age by election time.

Voter registrations are handled at the Tax Assessors and Collectors Office in the Gray County courthouse.

Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

PUF Pledges

Reach $57,400

The United Fund report held earlier this week revealed overall pledges to the fund drive at $57,400, just slightly over 50 percent of the $111,000 goal.

"We are expecting a big boost in pledges at our report meeting set for Thursday," Gary Stevens, PUF president, said today.

The meeting will be held at 4 p.m. in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas.

Every group is encouraged to bring in as many completed pledges as possible for this report," Stevens said.

Great Sugar Mystery

With the price of sugar bouncing around from $1.80 to $2 for a five-pound bag, Fidel Castro has the best thing going for him since the Bay of Pigs. Cuba is estimated to have 1.5 million to 2 million tons of sugar for the world market. At $600 a ton, Castro can rake in $1 billion to $3 billion.

That's a lot of sugar. It will finance a lot of imports. Writing for North American Newspaper Alliance, Virginia Prewitt notes that the Cuban regime is now in a position to bid for Venezuelan oil. Ironically, Castro's first and strongest subsversive drive in the early 1960s was against Venezuela. Having the means to obtain oil from that nearby source will relieve a major drain on Russian oil supplies and Soviet shipping.

The price of sugar, of course, is related to the Cyclamate cancer scare of 1969. The artificial sweetener was becoming popular and was under heavy attack from the Washington sugar lobby.

Americans consume an average of 125 pounds of sugar per person per year. Multiply that by the 200 million population, and it figures out to 25 billion pounds or 12.5 million tons. At $600 a ton, the total annual consumption reaches $7.5 billion. One pound of cyclamate is the equivalent in sweetness of 30 pounds of sugar. At the time it was banned, the price was 60 cents a pound.

The removal order was issued by then Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert Finch. At that time, Finch said: "In the strongest possible terms that we have no evidence at this point that Cyclamates have indeed caused cancer to humans."

In 1972, Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., pointed out that the scientific tests conducted on Cyclamate were flimsy. The adverse findings in laboratory animals showed that ill effects, on an equivalent basis, in humans would require the consumption of about 875 bottles of dietetic drink per day.

Subsequently, the inventor of cyclamate, Dr. Michael Sveda, said that the tests conducted by the National Academy of Sciences were defective. Re-examination of the evidence had revealed the testing laboratory had not fed Cyclamate exclusively to the rats, but in combination with saccharine and another substance. However, according to Sveda, the tests were not designed for cancer but were a long-range check for toxicity.

Here we see a chain of events that illustrate how questionable evidence of a scientific character, quickly accepted as the basis for law by a government agency, catered to a private interest and reacted contrary to this country's interest.

Good Cause To Steal?

For years, various citizens have charged that the Federal Reserve System is a method for siphoning buying power from earners, to share - holder - owned banks. So far as the public is concerned, the case is hard to make because monetization is an obscure art form, rarely a topic in salon or saloon. The general idea is that the government trades paper bonds to a Federal Reserve bank for paper dollars that the bank bought from the government for less than a cent each. The bank then draws bond interest from the taxpayers while the government spends the paper dollars in the marketplace.

In other words, ordinary individuals have to work for their dollars, but the government and Federal Reserve banks merely manipulate paper.

The shuffle is dazzling. If you don't understand it the first time around, don't blame yourself. Few do understand it. But here is an item from the Federal Reserve System that is closer to home - pennies.

With silver coins vanished from circulation, people are looking for some degree of reality to their money, so they are saving pennies. As a consequence many businesses are hard put to make change. More than 30 billion pennies have dropped from sight. To get them back, the Federal Reserve banks are attempting to organize a movement among schoolchildren to turn in their parents' coins. The propaganda is an eye-opener. Issued from the Los Angeles branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, the publicity release begins:

"If your kids burgle their piggy banks or embezzle pennies from the family sugar bowl this week, don't feel you're getting short-changed. It's thievery for a good cause, according to the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco."

If at the insistence of FRS, children are induced to take up "thievery for a good cause" and if a child turns in $5 or more in pennies, he will receive an individually inscribed certificate signed by the Secretary of the Treasury and the director of the U.S.

That's the gist of the system - stealing for a good cause and trading paper for metal of intrinsic worth.

DUNAGIN'S PEOPLE

"I JUST SAID PARDON ME, MR. PRESIDENT, AND HE SAID HE WOULD HAVE TO THINK IT OVER."

'People Who Live In Glass, Etc.'

By VIC GOLD
WASHINGTON - If Sen. Robert Byrd is really as concerned about conflicts of interest in government as he indicated during his righteous inquisition of Vice President-designate Nelson Rockefeller, why doesn't the Democratic gentleman from West Virginia take a good look around the glass house in which he works?

Meaning, the United States Congress, both branches. Our lawmakers, you see, are not obliged to divest themselves of outside holdings or put their stocks into blind trusts on taking office.

Far from it. As a result, Capitol Hill is the site of an entrepreneurial phenomenon known as the Tuesday - to - Thursday Club.

Those are the shuttle-riding Senators and Congressmen who can be found in their Washington offices only during midweeks. They spend Mondays and Fridays tending to private law practices and businesses in their home states and districts.

Having heard Sen. Byrd's opinion on the question of potential conflicts of interest involving Vice Presidents and other executive branch appointees, you'd think this sort of thing, occurring right under his nose, would have been ferreted and stamped out long since.

After all, Byrd, as we know, is one of Capitol Hill's strongest advocates of equal application of laws to all men, regardless of status. Indeed, only a few weeks ago, following President Ford's signing of the Nixon pardon, the West Virginia Senator was among the most vociferous critics deploring a double standard of justice, even in the case of ex-Presidents.

The same zealous egalitarian spirit manifested itself when Byrd and other members of the Senate Rules Committee questioned Rockefeller last week. The West Virginian kept bearing down on the possibility that the Vice President-designate's large financial holdings might influence his approach to public policy decisions.

In other words, Byrd implied, if Vice President Rockefeller had to choose between enhancing his own personal financial interest or the larger national interest, how could he guarantee he wouldn't come down on the side of lining his own pockets?

A degrading question to ask a man four times elected to the governorship of one of the country's biggest states? Some might think so. But post-Watergate, that kind of inquisition is considered rigueur by many Capitol Hill Democrats. It's nasty, but necessary to protect the integrity of our political system, they say.

That being the case, however, why shouldn't the same standard be applied across the board to all branches of federal government? Which is why I'm hopeful now that as a single standard public servant Sen. Byrd will use his power and influence on the Hill to push the following modest proposal:

That we extend our conflict-of-interest laws, which now cover members of the executive branch and judges, to include Senators and Congressmen. In other words, let the same standards apply to the people who make our laws as govern those who execute and judge them.

A modest proposal, as I say. Not really too much to ask of single-standard lawmakers. But you know something? For all the verbal posturing of recent weeks, I have serious doubts that anything like it would ever get through Congress.

Call it skepticism if you will. But modest as the proposal is, I wouldn't - even if I had what Nelson Rockefeller has - bet any money that Robert Byrd and his colleagues will see the need of a single standard conflict-of-interest law applied to themselves any time soon.

Just Who Is Cesar Chavez?

By VICTOR RIESEL
NEW YORK - Who is this Cesar Chavez whose people picket brotherhood? Who is the Cesar Chavez whose people invaded a banquet of the National Conference of Christians and Jews peacefully gathered to honor a man who has labored in these concrete vineyards for fraternity among the races and amity among the many religions?

Who is the Cesar Chavez, criticism of whom brings down upon the critic tidal waves of intellectual terror - and some physical pushing around as well?

Sure he is president of the AFL-CIO's United Farm Workers. But is he more equal than the rest of us?

The farm workers and their allies are on the attack. They are assailing the big Teamsters union, charging it with having illegally siezed field pickers' contracts covering some 50,000 California workers (Chicanos, Portuguese and Arabs as well as some blacks and whites) from the UFW.

The forces of the slim, open-collared, charismatic Chavez - who are now being intensely trained for the revived campaign for the boycott of table grapes, lettuce and Gallo wines - are spreading out across the land in front of the big retail chain outlets. They have the support of big unions such as Al Shanker's teachers. Now their subsidies come mostly from the $10,000 a week donated by Leonard Woodcock's auto workers.

Chavez's organizers are fanning out across Western Europe, successfully winning the support from powerful laborite municipal and national governments. Chavez has tackled the U.S. government, charging a conspiracy between the Immigration and Naturalization (INS) and the Teamsters has resulted in the illegal inflow of alien Mexican workers into the U.S. to take jobs from his members, break his strike and smash his boycott. This has been sharply rejected and denied by INS commissioner Leonard Chapman. And of course by the Teamsters.

But why picket the Conference of Christians and Jews as Chavez's people did the other night? Because the crusading conference was honoring Robert F. Longacre, president of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, Inc. - that's why.

Its stores sell "double horse" lettuce - the symbol is the traditional Teamsters

OUTRIDER The Forgiveness Binge

By GARY WILLS
We have a heavy market in forgiveness now - complicated by the fact that those who are most in favor of forgiveness still think there is nothing much to forgive. We are not only supposed to forgive wrongdoing, but premeditated that it did not exist, and actually reward it.

Mr. Nixon, for instance, had no normal presidential transition, but an abrupt departure. Yet he was not only given his own full transition fee, along with his pension, and his staff expenses, and the Secret Service - all those minimal payments he was guaranteed by skipping out of the White House ahead of the impeachers. No more than that, Mr. Ford has kept Nixon's highly paid flunkies on the White House payroll - Ron Ziegler and Rose Mary Woods and Manuel Sanchez. And the President tried to give Mr. Nixon the equivalent of Ford's own half of the transition fee. Plus a private library specially built to keep the Nixon papers in convenient reach - papers which should be government property in the first place. Plus huge extra travel fees, presumably to get him from his Atlantic palace (Key Biscayne) to his Pacific palace (San Clemente).

Both of these mansions were acquired during Mr. Nixon's presidency, and costily improved at the taxpayers' expense. Now, since Mr. Nixon has had to pay back some of the taxes he tried to avoid, he is having trouble meeting the payments on his double mansions.

This financial hardship in a man being paid several hundred thousands of dollars a year by the government is called new grounds for charity: since he went broke trying to bilk the government, the reaction to the far less serious scandals of the Grant administration, President Grant was not involved in those, as Nixon was in the Watergate coverup. Twain said the hope of America lay in its determination to end the scandals with harsh judgment and reputation of their perpetrators: "Our improvement has already begun. Mr. Tweed, after laughing at our laws and courts for a good while, has at last been sentenced to 13 years imprisonment, with hard labor. It is simply bliss to think of it. It will be at least two years before any governor would dare to pardon him out, too."

A great New York Judge, who continued a vile, a shameless career, season after season, defying the legislature and sneering at the newspapers, was brought low at last, stripped of his dignities, and by public sentence debarred from ever again holding any office of honor or profit in the state.

Harsh judgement - but not as cruel as the scheming of men at the pinnacle of power to use the government's entire resources to destroy an Ellsberg or a Dean. Mercy sits oddly in their mouths.

Three yodels for the Swiss

By Abigail Van Buren
DEAR ABBY: I understand that a few years back, you had a letter in your column from someone who asked why the Swiss were such an arrogant people. The writer stated that a Swiss will let you know five minutes after you meet him that he is not German, French or Italian - but SWISS. My ancestors came from Berne, Switzerland. Therefore, I am interested in the way you answered that.

WISCONSINITE

DEAR WIS: First, the Swiss are not "arrogant." They are a proud people who have much about which to be proud. They have fresh air and clean government. (Their president serves for one year only, and cannot be re-elected.) They produce the world's finest chocolate, cheeses, watches and precision instruments. Their people are honest, industrious and well-mannered. Their skiing is unbeatable and their banks unbreakable. And if that's not something to yodel about, I don't know what is!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 53-year-old widower. I have a nice home, a responsible position, good health and an adequate income. Some time ago, I met an attractive widow and we've been seeing a lot of each other. She's pretty, has a good figure and is a fine cook and housekeeper. We have the same tastes in music, the theatre, sports and literature. We couldn't be better matched had we been selected for each other by computer.

We want to get married, but we have a problem. I have a dog who has been my constant companion for eight years. Never having had children, King was a great comfort to us during my wife's terminal illness. He was like a member of my family.

Unfortunately the lady has a dog and cat to whom she is equally attached. We've tried to bring these animals together without success. Both dogs are big and they fight to the point of trying to kill each other.

If I bring King to the lady's apartment, he intimidates her cat, and she snarls and hisses and runs up the curtain. We've discussed our problem with our friends and they're no help. Frankly, they think we're nuts.

Is there a solution that will work?

WANTS TO MARRY

DEAR WANTS: The widow has the advantage, two pets to one. Why not find a good home for King? Or flip a coin to see which dog goes. If King "wins," the cat remains a problem - unless the two can adjust. (If you two "perfectly-matched" humans can't overcome the animal barrier between you, you are indeed "nuts.")

DEAR ABBY: A Florida wife gripes because the bug spray her husband uses on their property makes him passionate. This is a problem?

Is it possible to find out what brand of bug spray her husband uses? And if the brand name isn't available, could you please ask her to send her husband?

COULD USE HIM IN OMAHA

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please. Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Civic Culture Reviews Films Of Mexico, South America Tour

The Civic Culture Club met in the home of Mrs. Carl Patchin for their regular meeting Tuesday. Mrs. D.A. Rife, president presided.

After a short business meeting Mrs. Teresa Reed introduced the program on "International Affairs," the subject being "Involvement in the Americas." Mrs. Chester Williams, who had recently made a tour to Mexico and South America, presented a very informative program giving many facts and showing slides of many places of interest.

Mrs. Williams said her party was made up of 15 adults and eight teenagers, and was led by Dr. Kenneth Jones, pastor of the First Christian Church of Borger, on a pre-convention church tour of South America.

Their first stop was at Panama City on the Pacific side of the canal. "The day we were there," she said, "45 ships were scheduled to go through the canal."

"On our plane trip to Bogota, Columbia we were fortunate to ride in a plane decorated inside and out by a Mexican artist, Calder," she said.

Since Columbia mines more emeralds than any other country, our interest was in the emeralds, and a visit to their gold museum, she told.

Mrs. Williams told when they arrived at Quito Ecuador they were fortunate to be staying at the same hotel as was President Luis Echeverria of Mexico and his party.

"This caused a lot of excitement and we did get to take snap shots of him in the lobby," she said.

"I also met the ambassador who was traveling with their party

she said, "and they crossed paths again at Lima, Peru, and Caracas Venezuela."

They ended up in Mexico City for a five day church convention but never saw their president there.

The convention headquarters were across from the U.S. Embassy they could see Mexican people circling the block trying to get visitor permits to come to the U.S.

We found the Iguassu Falls very beautiful and magnificent also Rio de Janeiro and it's Sugar Loaf Mountain and the city of Rio as beautiful as described, she continued.

The sight seeing highlight was the trip to Machu Picchu the last stronghold of the Incas. It is considered one of the greatest archeological discoveries of modern history, founded by an assistant Yale professor Hiram Bingham in 1911.

Mrs. Williams reported they met some young people ages 13 to 21 who had spent their summer doing missionary work for "Teenagers for Christ," who were so enthused with their work there.

They also met several former Pampa people at the convention. Rev. and Mrs. Beuford Norris and Rev. and Mrs. David Mills, who had pastored churches here, Mrs. Williams concluded.

Members present were Mmes. Irvin Cole, A.B. Cross, C.V. Forsman, A.D. Hill, George Neef, Emmett Osborne, Carl Patchin, Teresa Reed, D.A. Rife, W.F. Taylor, and Chester Williams, and one visitor, Mrs. W.R. Harden.

Mrs. Emmett Osborne will hostess the next meeting at the Flame Room Oct. 8.

Kissinger Keeps Busy Schedules

NEW YORK (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger hopes his coming Middle East tour will result in constructive new ideas from Israel and the Arab countries for renewing negotiations for peace.

He also believes conditions will be favorable in the next year and a half for making progress on a 10-year arms control agreement with the Soviet Union to replace the current interim pact limiting some strategic nuclear weapons.

The Ford administration currently is putting the finishing touches on its new position on strategic arms control, reconciling differences of approach between Kissinger and Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger.

Kissinger's views were relayed by reliable diplomatic sources as the United States and the Soviet Union said simultaneously Tuesday the secretary of state would hold talks in Moscow with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev Oct. 23-27.

The State Department announced Monday that Kissinger also would make a lightning trip to Egypt, Syria, Israel and Jordan in a separate journey beginning Oct. 9.

Kissinger meets separately today with Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon and Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmi in his final set of Arab-Israeli talks before conferring in Cairo with President Anwar Sadat.

He is seeking to determine whether the next most fruitful avenue to Middle East peace would be through Israeli-Egyptian talks on military disengagement across the Sinai Peninsula and other tension-reducing measures or similar Israeli-Jordanian talks on the problem of the occupied West Bank, or a combination of both.

In his talks with Fahmi, Kissinger also wants to clarify Cairo's position on the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Kissinger, who is in New York for a second round of U.N. consultations, is reported to be unwilling to seek out contacts with guerrillas at the 29th U.N. General Assembly session for the Palestinian debate.

His reluctance would fit in with the traditional stand-offish U.S. policy.

Kissinger conferred Tuesday with top diplomats from Algeria, Saudi Arabia, Jordan and Lebanon and representatives from Thailand and the Netherlands.

CBS Leading Network TV

NEW YORK (UPI) — CBS was the No. 1 network in prime time for the week ending Sept. 29, 1974, according to the national Nielsen ratings announced Tuesday.

CBS had seven of the top 10 shows. NBC placed two shows, and ABC one. CBS won Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights. NBC took Friday and Sunday, and ABC won Wednesday night.

The ratings for the week were CBS with a 21.0 rating, NBC 19.7, and ABC 16.8.

The overall ratings for the first three weeks of the new season were: CBS with a rating of 20.3, NBC had 19.9 and ABC had 16.8.

Although CBS is in first place, a spot it has kept for 18 years, NBC has become much more competitive this season, while ABC is slipping to one of its worst seasons in recent years.

The top 10 shows for last week were:

- 1 CBS "All in the Family"
- 2 NBC "Sanford and Son"
- 3 CBS "MASH"
- 4 NBC "Chico and the Man"
- 5 CBS "Hawaii Five-O"
- 6 CBS "Good Times"
- 7 CBS "Mary Tyler Moore Show"
- 8 CBS "Bob Newhart Show"
- 9 ABC "Wednesday Night Movie" (California Kid)
- 10 CBS "The Waltons"

University Faculty Calls For LeMaistre To Resign

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The general faculty of the University of Texas agreed Tuesday Chancellor Charles A. LeMaistre showed contempt for the group by failing to adequately explain the recent firing of President Stephen H. Spurr. The faculty called for LeMaistre to resign.

"I have no intention of resigning," LeMaistre replied.

The general faculty voted no confidence in LeMaistre because of the dismissal and his reaction to growing demands to explain his decision.

The charge against LeMaistre is that he showed contempt because he refused to give his reason to the faculty and the public," Faculty Senate Chairman Edwin Allaire said. "That charge stands even if he later gives his reasons and the reasons are good."

LeMaistre fired Spurr, school president for three years, last week and the Board of Regents, with Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson abstaining, upheld the decision. Spurr asked for a faculty investigation.

Spurr said he trimmed freeloaders and political figures off Texas football receptions, contributing to his dismissal.

The campus chapter of the American Association of University Professors earlier asked a national committee to investigate the dismissal. If approved, it would be the third such AAUP investigation in the last two years.

Feelings against LeMaistre and the regents ran high at the meeting attended by about 700 of the 1,500 general faculty members.

"If we pussyfoot and refuse to support it (no confidence resolution) we will certainly alienate some actual supporters," English Prof. James Sledd said. "A Houston banker (Regents Chairman A. G. McNeese) has told us we don't have to know what he doesn't want us to know."

"We've got to answer that."

Less than 200 voted against the resolution.

"When we are faced with this sort of violent action on the part of the system administration we cannot say, 'Come, let us reason together,'" Prof. Brian Cooney said.

LeMaistre wasn't prepared to give in.

"On Wednesday, Sept. 25, I gave my reasons for the removal of Dr. Spurr to the Board of Regents," LeMaistre said. "Legal counsel advises I go no further in discussing the issues involved than my statement to the Board of Regents."

The resolution said LeMaistre had shown "complete contempt for the academic community and the people of Texas." Prof. Lajner Cox said it was premature.

"I'm not saying we must never take this action," he said. "I'm saying now is not the time."

The faculty commended the governor and lieutenant governor for saying the reasons for the firing should be made public. House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. said he would not authorize an investigation and said LeMaistre had the authority to act.

A thought for the day: American naval hero John Paul Jones declared during a battle with British forces in 1779: "I have just begun to fight."

Satan, Communism In Textbooks?

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The shadows of Satan, Pete Seeger and international communism hang over Texas' high school textbooks, says a representative of the Daughter of the American Revolution and another critic says proposed texts teach bestiality and macabre immoralities to the state's schoolchildren.

Both women testified Tuesday before a hearing of the State Textbook Committee. The 15 member committee will review and recommend books to be used in Texas schools for the 1975-76 school year. The State Board of Education will make the final decision next month.

Mrs. R. C. Bearden of San Angelo, representing the DAR, said many proposed texts teach communism through figures that appeal to the nation's young.

The book, "Patterns in Communication," earned her particular ire because they contained pictures of a clenched fist, "a communist salute," and the peace sign, "the shadow of which represents Satan."

"This is hidden subversive propaganda," said Mrs. Bearden. She also objected to photographs of and references to civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr., farm workers organizer Cesar Chavez and folk singers Pete Seeger and Woodie Guthrie in another book.

"All of them are identified as communists, Marxists and radicals," Mrs. Bearden said. "These singers stress using music to reach the youth of America with communist doctrine and tactics. 'We Shall Overcome' was composed for Martin Luther King by an identified communist, Pete Seeger."

The committee also heard from Mrs. Mel Gabler of Longview, a perennial critic of school texts, who said books proposed for use this year include more violence than before.

In one book, she said, "a man eats his wife and another man eats his brother. The hero mates with all kinds of animals. A mother becomes jealous and she kills her own daughter."

"Wife-swapping is presented to fifth graders as a necessity, followed by the statement that any man may have intercourse with any woman whenever there is an opportunity," she said.

"Students even role play leaving grandparents to die, and must decide who is to live and who is to die.

AMPI Agrees To Pay Fine In Bribery Case

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The nation's largest dairy cooperative, its former president and a top lobbyist already having admitted to conspiring to bribe John Connally, Tuesday denied Texas officials could prove violation of state antitrust laws but agreed nevertheless to pay a $230,000 fine.

Associated Milk Producers Inc., with 40,000 members in 14 states, also promised to stop coercing dairy farmers, milk haulers and processors into doing business exclusively with the giant milk cooperative.

Texas Attorney General John Hill filed suit against AMPI June 24 accusing the co-op of monopolizing milk marketing, waging price wars, coercing farmers, haulers and processors and of trying to control milk prices in federally regulated market areas and thus discriminate against non-coop members.

AMPI lawyers agreed to pay $100,000 immediately and $10,000 per month for 13 months.

Hill said the settlement was based on an agreement reached and signed Sept. 13 in Washington. Hill said, however, AMPI tried to renege on the agreement just before Tuesday's court session.

"I guess they just realized I wasn't going to change my mind," Hill said after AMPI attorneys agreed to honor the settlement.

State District Judge Tom Blaggwell signed the judgment against AMPI and terminated it fair and just.

Co-op lawyers argued the court order should not prohibit AMPI from manipulating milk price subsidies to induce dairy farmers to join the cooperative. But Hill refused to drop the inducement language.

The settlement prohibits AMPI from refusing or even threatening to refuse to deliver or market the milk of any dairy farmer who ends his membership. AMPI also agreed to send written notices to each of its 1,200 Texas member dairy farmers and milk haulers notifying them of the court judgment.

Salvation Army Asks Aid To Help Honduras

The Pampa Salvation Army has appealed for help in getting relief supplies to Honduras, scene of devastation wrought by Hurricane Fifi.

Some Salvation Army teams, consisting of doctors, nurses, communication experts, medical technicians, social workers and linguists are on the scene and other are on standby, ready to move within 12 hours.

Delta Airlines has agreed to fly Salvation Army personnel and supplies free of charge to any cities of the United States serviced by their line.

Food, medical supplies, clothing and money are needed, according to Capt. and Mrs. Bart Deggs of the Pampa Salvation Army, at 701 S. Cylar.

Donations of money should be in the form of checks made payable to the local organization, which will forward them to proper authorities, Mrs. Deggs said today.

Tiny David Lives Alone In 'Bubble'

HOUSTON (UPI) — Tiny, 3-year-old David has lived all but thirty seconds of his life inside a plastic, steril bubble but doctors are optimistic that he may live a normal life someday.

"He's not sick — in fact he's never been sick, not even a cold — so I think we have time to figure out the precise way to help him," said Dr. Raphael Wilson, professor of pediatrics at Baylor College of Medicine and the child's godfather.

"I remain optimistic that he will one day be perfectly normal in the regular world."

An inherited defect prevents David's body from producing immunity against the billions of germs in the environment. If he caught a cold he would probably die.

He's never felt human skin other than his own.

He was placed in his isolator within a half-minute after his birth and has remained there since, learning to sit, stand, and coordinate use of his hands while a team of Baylor scientists watched.

"He is a superbly healthy, happy and headstrong little boy who is doing very well," Dr. Wilson said.

David's adaptability is forcing doctors to revise ideas about what is necessary for normal personality development. Doctors once thought human touch and the chance to cling to parents were vital to personality development.

"Now we know that is not true," said Dr. David A. Freedman, a psychiatrist, "he demonstrates — at least for now — that perhaps body touch and odors and other sensory experiences may not be all that relevant after all."

David gets to visit his parents in a special traveling container at times and in the hospital he has three connecting units, including a toy-filled playroom. The hospital has withheld the identity of the family which lives in Houston.

The tot eats commercially prepared toddler or junior foods, all of which have been sterilized under government regulations. Probably through his food, David has acquired 11 microorganisms but none of the germs has caused problems.

Wilson said efforts are underway to find a way to repair or to cure the combined immune deficiency disease.

Judge Enforces Sex Regulation

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — A county judge Tuesday said he will continue to enforce a 79-year-old state law prohibiting sexual relations between unmarried couples until the legislature decides otherwise.

Judge Stanley G. Bedford's ruling Tuesday cost Newark laborer Charles Saunders a $50 fine.

Saunders brought the challenge against the law after he was convicted by a jury last February of committing fornication.

Saunders, 20, and a codefendant argued the 1796 statute was unconstitutional because it seldomly was enforced, violated their right of privacy and was established in the "prevailing notions of religious morality" of the latter 18th Century.

Defense witnesses told the court premarital intercourse among individuals age 35 and under was on the rise, and that sex among unmarried couples in 10 years "will not only be the majority opinion, but the overwhelming opinion."

The judge, however, said the state has "compelling secular reasons" to enforce the law to prevent birth of illegitimate children and the spreading of venereal disease.

He said it was up "to the legislature to determine whether the law should be altered."

'HATE HAS ENGULFED US'
Christian Soldiers Fight Crime

By EDWARD A. FULTON DALLAS (UPI) — Dr. L.C. Browning, founder of the Youth Crime Prevention League of America, says it is a mistake to send soldiers with guns to fight the war for equal rights in the United States.

"What is needed are Christian soldiers, armed with love," he said. "Hate has just about engulfed us. That is the problem. The only problem we have."

Browning's league proposes to build a small oasis in South Dallas, a home for wayward youths who are in moderate trouble with the law, or who are merely running away from their home, school or the ghetto.

It began with 2½ acres of land, and trying to raise $250,000 to build the home, providing room and board for runaways and counseling facilities to try to get the kids home. For some, the wayward home will provide foster care.

"In talking to the policemen here in Dallas, I find that there are an average of 50 children picked up each week," Browning said. "They're from all over the country. Either they're trying to make their way from the East Coast to California, or they're running the other direction."

"Either way, they're running, and what we want to do is stop them, talk to them, give them a place to stay while they try to figure themselves out. Just give them a little love."

The Youth Crime Prevention League began as an idea 22 years ago and as Browning traveled the Southwest urging kids to stay in school and out of trouble, the idea became an organization. He formed the league in 1958 in Temple, Tex., and has talked to an estimated 500,000 young persons during the 16 years.

The 16th anniversary of the league was celebrated by city and state officials Sept. 28 in Dallas on the land where the wayward home will be built. There also was a dedication for the land.

"Today when a young man or woman is caught by a policeman, the officer has nowhere to put him, but in jail with the hardened criminals," Browning said. "Now we will have a place."

"I also want to build the Dr. Martin Luther King Memorial Museum there, and it will house books and papers relating to the contributions of blacks toward helping make America great."

"Perhaps this kind of a museum showing how very much a part of America's history blacks are can offset some of this other philosophy from the Rap Browns, the Stokely Carmichaels, that America is a white nation. That is not true."

"For 200 years the black man did the labor in this country, and raised the food and built the buildings, all this while the white man went into business and commerce. The one could not have survived without the other. This dependence needs to be shown, and it needs to be out there so people can see it."

The league has the land paid for and has donations of 10,000 bricks and a $10,000 trust fund in the First National Bank of Dallas.

"We need much more," Browning said. "I hope one of those big foundations will come to our rescue, or perhaps the people of this state will."

IN KILLING INCIDENT
Police Chief Borrows Rifle, Shoots Mexican

HEARNE, Tex. (UPI) — Hearne Police Chief Roy Robertson borrowed a rifle early today and shot a Mexican alien in the head. Robertson said the man had already killed two persons and was holding a knife at the throat of a third.

The alien was Jose Sanchez, 25. Robertson hit him in the right upper cheek and he was operated on at Scott and White Hospital in Temple.

Robertson said if Sanchez lives he will charge him with murdering Webb Cubert and his wife, Vivian, both in their 60s.

When Robertson arrived at the Cubert home at 3:30 a.m. he said he found Webb Cubert lying on the outside step railing, dead of seven stab wounds.

Mrs. Cubert was lying in her blood-soaked bed, dead of 26 stab wounds. Robertson said Sanchez was holding a big knife at the throat of Bill Cubert, brother of the dead man.

Hearne policemen Elmer Golden, Dan Robertson and Frank Johnson were trying to talk Sanchez into letting Bill Cubert go.

"Considering the elapsed time the officers had been talking — about 20 minutes — and the fact that he had already killed two people, I elected to shoot the subject," Robertson said.

"I borrowed a .22 magnum rifle from a neighbor. It was all he had. This was more or less a rooming house, though nobody but the Cuberts were living in it, and they were standing in the hall."

"I shot from the front porch, about 20 feet away, through the screen door. I knew if I opened the door that would be all she wrote."

"I was unable to really aim. It was dark on the porch. He was just inches away from Bill Cubert. And he had an officer about a foot from him. My knees were a little wobbly."

Robertson said he was particularly concerned about the officers because Dan Robertson, 19, is his son. The father is 41.

Robertson said Sanchez is married to the Cuberts' daughter. The Sanchezes had a small daughter and for some time had had domestic difficulties.

Sanchez had gone to Marlin but was trying to get his wife to rejoin him with the baby daughter.

"He had made several attempts to make her come to him," Robertson said. "I feel he came back last night with the intent of killing his in-laws. They were all asleep. I don't know how he got in but the Cuberts have been known to leave their screen door open."

Robertson said Sanchez's wife, Frances, suffered a cut finger when she intervened.

Los Angeles, Baltimore Clinch Playoff Berths

Birds Overcome Yanks Dodgers Snare 1st Crown Since 1966

United Press International
The winners and the losers showed equal class Tuesday night when the ordeal otherwise known as the American League's Eastern Division race finally ended.

The Baltimore Orioles are the winners and the New York Yankees are the losers.

The Orioles, exerting unrelenting pressure for the last month of the season, set up their fifth Eastern title in six years when they beat the Detroit Tigers, 7-6, Tuesday afternoon. That set up a "lose and out" situation for the Yankees in their night game with the Milwaukee Brewers and they just couldn't keep the pace.

losing to the Brewers, 3-2, in 10 innings.

The way the race ended was rather typical of the teams — the regal Orioles rallying in the late innings for their victory and the ragamuffin Yankees, poor relatives of those famous Yankees who used to win the pennant season after season, scratching and scrambling and eventually losing.

United Press International
The Los Angeles Dodgers tasted champagne Tuesday night and the Pittsburgh Pirates are only one victory away from popping the cork.

The Dodgers clinched the National League West title — their first of any kind since 1966 — when they defeated the Houston Astros, 8-5, while the second-place Cincinnati

Reds were losing to the Atlanta Braves, 7-1.

The Pirates, meanwhile, moved within one game of clinching the NL East title by trimming the Chicago Cubs, 6-5, while the St. Louis Cardinals were losing to the Montreal Expos, 3-2. The Pirates host the Cubs again tonight, and the Cardinals play at Montreal.

The Dodgers, playing at Houston, knew they had become division champions before their game was over as the Braves pummeled the Reds behind the four-hit pitching of Buzz Capra.

When the Houston scoreboard flashed, "Dodgers, N.L. Champs. Congratulations" — Astro officials ignoring the fact Los Angeles must win the playoff series to take the pennant — the Dodger dugout erupted in backslapping celebration.

Pittsburgh, the most troublesome team for Los Angeles all season, moved in as the Dodgers' likely opponent after Bob Robertson's two-run homer in the eighth gave the Pirates a come-from-behind victory over the Cubs.

Robertson, a part-time player now who once starred in a World Series for the Pirates, said the home run was one of the biggest thrills of his career.

the Expos' win.

The Cardinals were leading 2-1 with two out in the eighth when Willie Davis singled and Jorgensen followed with his 11th homer.

Jorgensen called it "the biggest and most important home run I've ever hit. If that home run knocked the Cardinals out of the playoffs it's not because I'm trying to make enemies. We just have our professional pride."

Robinson To Head Cleveland Indians

NEW YORK (UPI) — Frank Robinson, the only man to win the Most Valuable Player Award in both the National and American Leagues, will become the first black manager in major league baseball Thursday when he will be named player-manager of the Cleveland Indians, it has been learned.

Robinson, who will succeed Ken Aspromonte as manager, also will retain both his current role of designated hitter and his $173,000 a year salary, making him the highest paid manager in baseball history.

The Indians obtained Robinson, 39, on waivers from the California Angels two and a half weeks ago and the immediate speculation was that he was purchased not only for his hitting ability but also to replace Aspromonte as manager. The speculation gained credence last week when Aspromonte was fired.

Football Signup Deadline Friday

The Pampa Men's Flag Football League is forming this week and interested teams need to contact Paul Sims at the Pampa Daily News before 2 p.m. Friday.

At least two more teams are needed to fill out the league, which will start its season Oct. 13. All games will be played on Sunday afternoons during the eight-game season. The playing site has not been decided yet, although permission has been granted to use Shocker Field at the high school.

although soft cletes are legal.

A legal block consists of holding the fists against the jersey. This is actually a body block — hands are not legal.

Four men — the ends and halfbacks — are the only eligible receivers, the others are the quarterback, center and two linemen who are not allowed to run with the ball.

Steve Garvey collected two hits and became the first major leaguer to collect 200 hits and 100 RBIs in one season in sparking the Dodger victory. Don Sutton went five innings to earn his 19th win against nine losses.

"I don't laugh much but I really wanted to laugh then," he said. "I don't know why, I just did. I was really thrilled when I crossed the plate and Sangy (Manny Sanguillen) had his arms up and the guys jumped on me."

Oddly, while the Pirates were winning via the home run, the Cardinals were losing the same way. Mike Jorgensen clubbed a two-run shot off Bob Gibson in the eighth inning to spark

Tom Optimistic Staubach To Break Out Of Slump

DALLAS (UPI) — Whenever a pro football club has a bad Sunday, and the Dallas Cowboys' most recent Sunday was a very bad one, criticism from the fans usually starts with the quarterback.

That's where the fans started during the Cowboys' 14-6 loss to the New York Giants. Boos cascaded down from the tiers of Texas Stadium when Staubach was trapped by the Giant pass rush and they came along again when Staubach threw an interception.

But whatever frustrations the fans might have felt about Staubach's performance last week, Cowboy coach Tom Landry will quickly make it clear that he has a single No. 1 quarterback these days — Roger Staubach.

Roger will come around, Landry said Tuesday. "I know one thing, Roger never quits. Nothing says to me that he won't be starting (against Minnesota) next Sunday."

Landry is my No. 1 quarterback without question. He will be my No. 1 quarterback even if I should take him out of a game. The only time I would take a player out of a game is if the team was doing well but an individual player was having trouble. That includes everybody.

Landry said running back Calvin Hill, who missed last week's game and who missed almost all of the game before that with a sprained big toe, might be ready to play next Sunday. Hill's absence has limited the Cowboys' effectiveness on the ground.

Evert Wins 1st Match Over Mehmebasich

HOUSTON (UPI) — No. 1 seed Chris Evert cruised by Susan Mehmebasich 6-1, 6-0 Tuesday night in the first round of the $50,000 Virginia Slims of Houston tennis tournament but No. 3 seed Rosemary Casals was upset by Australian teenager Diane Fromholtz.

Miss Fromholtz, 18, crushed Miss Casals 6-0, 6-3 for only her second Slims tour first round triumph.

No. 8 seed Kathy Kuykendall defeated Kristy Pigeon 6-1, 6-4. No other seeds saw action but Carrie Meyer defeated Tory Fretz 6-3, 6-1; Wendy Overton defeated Ceci Martinez 6-2, 6-2; Ilana Kloss of South Africa defeated Ingrid Bentzer of Sweden 6-3, 6-1; Kate Latham defeated Mona Schallau 6-3, 6-1; and Isabelle Fernandez of Colombia defeated Barbara Downs 6-3, 6-1.

Chamberlain Says He's Quitting Game

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Wilt Chamberlain ended his fantastic pro basketball career Tuesday to the surprise of no one.

The giant who dominated basketball since his high school days in Philadelphia had called a news conference to announce his status with the San Diego Conquistadors.

He failed to appear but owner Dr. Leonard Bloom spoke for him.

"At this point, he wants to be associated with the Q's but to retire from playing basketball and coaching."

LUBBOCK — As we continue the 1974-75 hunting season, it is always appropriate to review safe shooting commandments.

Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. This is the cardinal rule of gun safety.

Guns carried into camp or home must always be unloaded, taken down or have actions open. Guns should be encased while going to and from the hunting area.

Check the barrel and action for obstructions such as mud, snow or insect nests.

Always carry your gun so you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble. Keep the safety on until you are ready to shoot.

Be sure of your target. Learn the habits of your quarry and shoot at what you see and not what you hear.

Never point a firearm at anything you do not want to shoot. This includes mirrors, pets, and especially people.

Unattended guns should be unloaded. Ammunition should be stored safely beyond reach of children and careless adults.

Never climb a tree or cross a fence with a loaded firearm.

Never shoot at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water. You control the bullet until it ricochets and then it is out of control.

Do not mix gunpowder and alcohol. Alcohol will lessen your ability to judge the shooting range, identify game or react to a dangerous situation.

Texas had 22 fatalities last year and all of the accidents resulted from careless gun handling and bad judgment.

For more information, contact your local game warden for date and place of the next Texas Parks and Wildlife Department sponsored hunter safety class.

To be called a sportsman indicates that you know the laws, handle the firearm in a safe manner and are considerate of property and people.

McDowell Gets Wins Saturday In Pigeon Race

R. L. McDowell, who feeds his pigeons high protein meal and says that's why they fly so fast, had his best day of the young-bird season last Saturday, winning both the A and B races from Clovis, N.M., to Pampa in the weekly Top O' Texas Racing Pigeon Club competition.

McDowell won the B race with a Red Check cock which flew 983.63 yards per minute. He also captured second an their placed in the race with a Red Check cock flying 981.64 yards per minute and a Blue Check cock flying 980.0.

AJ. Tipton won fourth and fifth with a Blue Check hen, which flew 974.01, and a Dark Check cock, which travelled 722.59.

McDowell won the A race with a Blue Check Splash hen, whose time was 926.08. Other place getters included, McDowell, Blue Check hen, 925.73; McDowell, Red Check Splash cock, 823.68; McDowell, Red Check cock, 922.28; and Tipton, Blue Bar cock, 886.36.

FROM THEFT TO HEROIN

Bookmakers Help Other Crimes

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This fourth story on organized crime explores the relationship between bookmaking, the bread-and-butter industry of the underworld, and other syndicate-sponsored enterprises. The Texas Department of Public Safety developed this 12-part series to educate and involve the Texas public in law enforcement's effort to eradicate criminal conspiracies.

The stories are based on interviews with state law enforcement officials and representatives from the Texas Organized Crime Task Forces. The Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council, co-chaired by DPS Director Col. Wilson E. Speir and Attorney General John Hill, sponsored the series in conjunction with the Governor's Criminal Justice Council, the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, the Texas Department of Public Safety, the office of the Attorney General of Texas, and local law enforcement agencies.)

DALLAS — The "good old boy" who handles those ten-dollar football bets may have his hooks in other forms of skulduggery ranging from heroin traffic to handling stolen property.

"Bookmaking is just a quick and easy way for a crook to make a dollar," said Lieutenant Wayne Posey, head of the Metro Squad, a group of officers representing cities in Dallas County.

"If he's violating the gambling laws he's probably ready, willing and able to engage in other criminal activities as well."

Pocketing 10 cents on each dollar bet, Texas bookies garner at least $100 million profit during a typical football season. An efficient bookie with "balanced" books averages upwards of 10-12 percent net return on his betting volume.

"In Dallas," said Posey, "there are more than 360 known bookmakers, and that's not all of them by any means."

The Texas Department of Public Safety has estimated conservatively that nearly 1,000 individuals are known to be operating in organized bookmaking activities.

Col. Wilson E. Speir, DPS director, reported that a raid costs a bookie about $3,000 to set up in a new location, replace lost bettors and compensate for missed business.

On the other side of the ledger Speir added that the average bookmaking case — to make a raid or get enough evidence for a search warrant — requires 360 man hours of surveillance work.

Posey supports Speir's comment on the difficulties involved in building a case against a bookmaker.

"It's hard to bring bookmakers to trial and it's difficult to get hard-time sentences," he said. "We get a lot of probated sentences on bookmaking cases but getting hard time in the penitentiary is something else because everybody says, 'well, he's a good old boy.'"

"What I'd like to point out is these 'good old boys' are criminals just as if they used a gun to take your money."

"We need to get this message before the public and let them know that these are not the neighborhood guys like they might have been 25 or 30 years ago."

Posey cited one example: "During a surveillance we determined that a $100,000-a-week book in Dallas was doing something besides bookmaking. In November we arrested him and issued a search warrant at his apartment and recovered over $20,000 of stolen merchandise and over three ounces of almost pure heroin and other narcotics paraphernalia."

Officers described the heroin, worth at least $60,000 on the black market, as the highest grade seen in Dallas at that time. Also confiscated in the raid were $32,000 worth of Green Stamps, $4,000 cash, marijuana, hashish, syringes, illegal pH and narcotics scales — in addition to the bookie's money records and "settle sheets."

Police observers pointed out that the items seized along with the bookmaking equipment indicate the underworld connections of many bookies.

Dallas District Attorney Henry Wade said "bookmaking is probably our most serious connection with organized crime in Dallas — and in Texas for that matter." Wade is a member of the Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council.

Posey outlined a typical bookmaking operation, commenting that "most people don't realize how deeply bookmaking goes. They think a bookmaker is a nice guy who provides a service."

"This nice guy gets his line from say Louisville, Las Vegas or New Orleans and that line doesn't come free. They do either one of two things — they'll pay $10,000 a season to get a football line or agree to place all layoffs with these guys until the line's drawn. The payoff money usually goes back up the same ladder that the line came down; therefore, you have an organization and it is a criminal conspiracy."

"Once the bookie has done this he has entered into business with the big syndicate because the line is developed with people who have intelligence resources throughout the nation, probably more extensive than any law enforcement intelligence resource."

FOR ERRORS MADE

USDA Plans Changes For Food Stamp Rules

The U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has proposed amendments to food stamp program regulations which provide permanent procedures for retroactively restoring a household's benefits wrongfully denied, delayed or terminated through administrative error.

Since January, 1974, interim procedures have been in effect. In the proposed regulations USDA asks comments on three methods for restoring lost benefits. All of the methods involve offsetting the household's purchase requirement with the lost benefit entitlement.

The proposed regulations differ from the interim procedures in these areas: — Recipients can receive lost benefits without going through the fair hearing process if the client, food stamp caseworker, and supervisor agree. — Lost benefits will be restored only for the 12 months preceding the discovery of the error. — Recipients' lost benefits will be reduced by the amount of any outstanding claims against them.

Other proposed regulations were announced today which: — require a standard format for the authorization to purchase card. — make the administering state agencies liable when their failure to cooperate with USDA has resulted in an adverse court decision.

The proposed regulations were scheduled for publication in the Federal Register on Monday, Sept. 30.

The Almanac

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 2, the 275th day of 1974 with 90 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. Those born on this date are under the sign of Libra. Mohandas Gandhi, nationalist leader of India, was born Oct. 2, 1869.

On this day in history: In 1780, British spy Major John Andre was convicted in connection with Benedict Arnold's treason and was hanged in Tappan, N.Y.

In 1889, 16 Latin American nations were represented at the first Pan-American conference in Washington.

In 1968, U.S. Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas withdrew his nomination as chief justice. Six months later, he resigned from the court, admitting he had made a deal with the Louis Wolfson Foundation guaranteeing him $20,000 a year for life.

A thought for the day: French writer Henri Stendahl said, "One can acquire everything in solitude... except character."

Senate Okays DST Change

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has passed a House-approved bill to repeal year-round daylight saving time — set up for last winter's energy shortage — and return the country to standard time during the "dark" months, November through February.

President Ford is expected to sign the measure, and the nation would set its clocks back an hour on Oct. 27, 1974. Daylight saving time would return Feb. 23, 1975.

Year-round daylight saving time resulted in a flood of complaints to Congress last winter from parents who said their children were endangered by having to go to school in the dark.

The congressional committees that studied year-round daylight saving time said it amounted to energy savings of less than 1 per cent from January through April.

TV In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Henry A. Kissinger, at this point in history, may be the greatest psychologist operating in the theater of diplomacy, according to Marvin Kalb, CBS News' diplomatic correspondent.

"He's a great psychologist," said Kalb, who along with his brother, Bernard, has just completed "Kissinger," a 577-page biography of the secretary of state.

"Kissinger knows how to use humor and how to manipulate. It's almost second nature to him," Kalb says.

Kalb has witnessed Kissinger's Nobel Peace Prize winning technique from the hot sands of the Middle East to the cold boulevards of Moscow. He tells one story that might illuminate Kissinger's style of persuasion. It was during the Mideast peace shuttle.

"We were all told that Kissinger and President Sadat of Egypt had talked about the Middle East for six hours," he said. "But what really happened is that for the first five-and-a-half hours they talked about the world situation: nuclear weapons, food, etc."

"Then they came around to the Middle East, and by that time, Kissinger made it look as if the Mideast wasn't really that important when compared with the other problems of world survival."

Kalb said he and his brother, also a CBS News correspondent, initially wanted to write about the readjustment of U.S. foreign policy after Vietnam, but the war continued to drag on. Then, they thought about a discussion of U.S.-Soviet-China relations, but Kissinger's name kept coming up so often that Marvin's wife suggested their topic be the German-born diplomat. They began working on the book in 1971.

Although Kissinger has said his childhood as a refugee from Nazi Germany is not the key to his foreign policy, Kalb disagrees.

"It's nonsense," he says. "Kissinger is a man haunted by the fear of a return of the German Weimar Republic, which was destroyed by an unpopular war and political upheaval. Kissinger told us that you can find all of those ingredients for disaster in the United States — assassinations of leaders, political disceptation at the highest level, etc."

"Kissinger, because of the Weimar experience and as a student of history, believes a nation can die. There is nothing certain about an American future."

Kalb said Kissinger's methods of keeping an American future in the horizon often seem to be taken from the philosophy that the end justifies the means.

"Kissinger would argue that he has a different or higher form of morality — take whatever steps to hold off a confrontation between the United States and Russia. If you accept this premise: 'I am holding off Armageddon,' it is very easy to justify the means."

"He has been, on occasion, immoral in his tactics, while deeply moral in his strategy. He loves the world stage, but he sometimes forgets about the small corners, like Chile."

Kalb said he believed Kissinger loved to play the game of diplomacy on a giant chessboard. And above all, Kalb said, Kissinger admires those who play the game this way: Chou en-lai of China, Charles de Gaulle of France and Richard Nixon.

"Nixon had a flair for the big play," Kalb said, "look at the trips to China and Russia."

New Law Aids Woman Veteran

Many women veterans who did not use their GI Bill after the Korean Conflict now have a second chance at Veterans Administration financial help for a college education or other training, under a new law, Jack Coker, VA Regional Office director, said.

When eligibility for this veteran's benefit was recently extended two more years for all veterans discharged after Jan. 31, 1955, it had a special significance for women veterans whose children are reaching ages that allow them more free time.

The deadline for completion of training is now May 31, 1976, or ten years from the veteran's date of discharge, whichever is later.

Of the some 160,000 women veterans eligible for current GI Bill school benefits, about 54,000 have trained under this program.

This spring, nearly 21,000 were in training, mostly in college. Only 209 were on the job trainees.

Below college level training is available in a wide range of occupations such as hotel or motel manager, specialty shop or store manager, and hairdresser, plus other programs also open to men.

Women veterans of the Air Force lead in GI Bill training, with 15,672 having trained. Army is running second with 15,361.

In addition to veterans, 3,909 service women have trained under the current GI Bill, of whom 842 were in training in April.

Lawyer Says Brooks Harrassed

HOUSTON (UPI) — The lawyer for accused multiple slayer David Owen Brooks Tuesday said jail inmates beat the teen-ager during a haircut incident and officials had taken away certain prisoner privileges.

"I want them to quit harrassing him," Ted Musick, the attorney, said.

Brooks, 19, is awaiting trial on four murder charges stemming from a three-year sex and sadism killing spree which resulted in the deaths of 27 young boys. A companion, Elmer Wayne Henley, 18, has already been convicted of six murders and is serving a 99-year prison term.

Musick filed motions saying Brooks' bruises and injuries were inflicted "under the direction and supervision" of sheriff's deputies.

Musick said two inmates weighing more than 200 pounds each dragged Brooks from his cell and forced him into a barber's chair.

"One held him in the chair with his knees against his arms, with his hands handcuffed behind his back and behind the chair and one arm across his chest while the other cut his hair with the clippers."

"While cutting his hair with the clippers the man hit him in the chin with the clippers going and cut his chin," Musick said.

Sheriff's Chief Deputy Gus George denied the charges, saying Brooks was not abused when his hair was cut. George said Brooks did not want his hair cut but regular haircuts are necessary for cleanliness and sanitation.

Your Horoscope

By Jean Dixon

THURSDAY, October 3
Your birthday today: This is a normal growth year. You must depend more on your resources, but the outlook is for higher earnings and progress. Self-help is easier as you rise in the world. Relationships develop stronger patterns, as your needs change. Today's natives are creative, gifted in the management of complex enterprises.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Variable influences make this more a set of mini-days than one whole date. Make each phase an experience of itself, then go on to the next.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Personal plans provoke endless rounds of palaver, may have to be postponed. Keep your approach a common-sense one, be willing to wait.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: If you volunteer comment, you've got a circus—with yourself as one of the performers. Keep mum until asked to help, then do so cheerfully.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Your stubborn drive to have your own way can get out of hand today, along with your ability to see flaws. A sense of humor may save the day.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: You can't please everybody. Make firm choices early, stick with them gracefully. Public phenomena gather momentum and attract money.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: It's easy to promise more than you can deliver, as conditions change. Distraction with home matters must not lead you into neglecting work.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Don't let temporary resistance slow your pace. Keep your money in the safe forms you can rely on from past experience.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Give-and-take discussions merely get you through an abusive day. You obtain no agreements, but you can learn a great deal. Be kind to loved ones.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Attend to details despite new opposition. Associates aren't as chipper as you are. Home changes made now can be lasting improvements.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Talk about money goes nowhere, so skip it. Friendly advice is readily checked: see whether the advisor follows his own advice.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: You find more productive uses for your resources. Spend more time at home: those you cherish need reassurance, a fill-in on your plans.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Little personal ventures generate a bit of luck. Grand designs for distant travel, cooperation with unfamiliar people are somewhat remote.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dear Mr. President: In your closing remarks at the recent Economic Summit Conference you urged all Americans to "make up a list of 10 ways you can save energy and fight inflation."

And you asked us to send you a copy.

That was a peachy idea, Mr. President. If there is anything we Americans love to do it is make up lists.

Shopping lists, Christmas lists, laundry lists, list of unlisted phone numbers — most of us live by the list and die by the list. And for good reason.

Making a list gives us the illusion of being on top of the situation. "If you can list it, you've got it licked," is our motto.

I say this is an illusion because generally we never get past the top two or three items on the list.

Still, if a list makes us feel we are getting the handle on inflation, it's a good thing. So here's mine:

1. Some economists think we are heading for another depression. If so, the government presumably will set up 1930s type soup kitchens.

To save energy, these kitchens should serve victuals, which doesn't need heating.

2. Chilling bottles of wine wastes energy. Drink only varieties that are served at room temperature.

3. Help drive down cooking fuel costs by eating tartare steak, which is made with uncooked ground beef.

4. Shoe leather, which is terribly inflated, can be saved by learning to take bigger steps.

5. Avoid unnecessary trips to see the doctor. Find one who makes house calls.

6. Night football games waste tremendous amounts of electricity. That can be avoided by playing the Monday night NFL games in Honolulu where it is still daylight at 9 p.m. EDT when the games start.

7. At 10 cents a stamp, postage contributes to inflation when you pay bills by mail. Wait until they send a bill collector after you.

8. Heat rises. Ergo, you can save heating fuel by moving your thermostat to the ceiling.

9. Turn off electric goose quill sharpeners when not in use.

10. Preheating an oven for frozen TV dinners wastes energy. Buy brands that already have been preheated.

And if I may be permitted a bonus suggestion, Mr. President, I've heard that so many summit conference delegates flew here in private planes they caused a traffic back-up at National Airport.

So you can help fight inflation by not having any more antiinflation summit conferences.

Ranchers Plan To Shoot Calves

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Ranchers and dairymen from three North Texas counties made ready today for a calf shoot they hoped would draw attention to the high prices and low profits in the cattle industry and the possibility of a nation of families without meat on the table.

Portugal's Leader Asks Order, Unity

LISBON (UPI) — Portugal's new leftist strongman called for "work, order and unity" today to get the nation back on its feet following a purge of conservatives from the government.

Premier Vasco Dos Santos Goncalves moved quickly to consolidate his authority after winning a power struggle with conservative President Antonio de Spinola, who resigned Monday describing the country on the verge of chaos.

Spinoia, who was swept into power by the April coup that toppled the old right-wing regime of Premier Marcello Caetano and ended a half-century of dictatorship in Portugal, remained in his Lisbon home, guarded by troops.

Diplomatic sources said many in the country still regard Spinoia as a national hero and that he was becoming a rallying point for conservative and centrist groups who might try to regain power.

The far-left League of Revolutionary Unity and Action accused Spinoia of trying to repress Portuguese workers to help capitalists and international high finance.

League members in cars fanned out pamphlets calling Spinoia's resignation speech "an incitement to civil war."

The new government purged Tuesday the ministers of information and defense, as well as three Spinoia supporters in the seven-man military Junta of National Salvation, set up as a supreme supervisory body after the April coup.

Repeated radio and television broadcasts Tuesday and today urged the people to work. "Work is the heart of the nation," one said. "Work, order and unity... another said. "Democracy will win."

In a 7,000-man rally early today, supporters of the 2 million-member Trade Union Congress backed the government's appeal to work as a remedy to the country's stagnant economy.

The demonstrators also declared their support for leftist Gen. Goncalves and the new president, Gen. Francisco Costa Gomes, both backed by Socialists and Communists.

Government sources said the cabinet probably would meet today to map future policy, especially in economic matters.

Goncalves has promised free presidential and parliamentary elections by next April. "It is a point of honor with us to comply with this program," he said.

The men from Erath, Hamilton and Comanche counties planned to herd about 1,000 calves onto Jack Beyer's ranch eight miles northwest of Stephenville and shoot them. As Beyer put it:

"We're just a bunch of people trying to survive." The group of about 200 announced its intention Tuesday afternoon with the shoot set for 11 a.m. CDT today. Texas Agriculture Commissioner John White asked the group by wire to delay the slaughter but finally agreed to reach Beyer's ranch for talks before the shooting started.

Lamar Holly, the executive director of the Southwest Meatpackers Association, pleaded with the cattlemen today to stop "the indiscriminate slaughter" of the animals and, instead, turn the cows over to charity.

Holly said in Dallas if the cattlemen put the calves in a central location, the meatpackers would make sure the beef was given to homes for the aged, orphanages and institutions for the mentally retarded.

A stormy meeting Tuesday night in the city hall revealed a number of residents who were opposed to so radical a move, but their sometimes loud arguments apparently had little effect.

"We're still going to have it as far as I know," Beyer said during the meeting. "We're getting a lot of protest from people and from the district attorney but it's still on."

Beyer said the group would listen to White but he did not think his friends would change their minds.

James Traweek, an area dairy farmer planning to join in the slaughter, said there was little aid for drought stricken ranchers and low interest loans did not appeal to those already in debt.

RECORD CATCH
SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Commercial anchovy fishermen in California landed a record 121,579 tons of raw anchovies during the 1973-74 season.

New Step Reached For Fusion Power
AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The first step toward development of nuclear fusion power generating plants — the heating of hydrogen isotopes to more than 200 million degrees — was announced Tuesday by University of Texas scientists.

"What we have achieved is just one milestone on a long road," said Dr. William E. Drummond, director of the university's Fusion Research Center. "This is the first time that temperatures of that magnitude have been achieved in a containment device."

Drummond said the temperature achieved through a turbulent heating process in a device called the "Texas Tokamak" are 10 times hotter than the sun.

He predicted fusion power plants can be in operation by the 1990s.

"The goal of achieving fusion power, can be achieved, it will indeed be a thermonuclear Eldorado," Drummond said. "Fusion power plants could provide the world with a virtually unlimited supply of electrical energy."

He said the deuterium — an isotope of hydrogen — heated to the 200 million degree temperature is easily extracted from sea water.

"There is more energy in Lake Austin than there is in the entire oil reserves of the Middle East," Drummond said. "It is in effect a perpetual source of energy, and the fuel supply will last longer than the sun."

The deuterium in a pitcher of water could provide the fuel to generate all the electricity needed by an average home for a year, he said.

Drummond said the next step researchers will have to take is to measure the properties of the extremely hot confined gas, and modify the Tokamak to extend the confinement time, which currently is only about one second.

In a room containing 24 persons, the odds are better than 50-50 that at least two of them will have the same month and day of birth.

The government has charged three newsmen with complicity in the kidnaping. The three, a photographer and two news executives from the afternoon newspaper, La Noticia, entered the building shortly after the seizure, took pictures and interviewed the guerrillas.

A spokesman for the newspaper said Mendez Vargas, a former employe, telephoned the paper minutes after his guerrilla unit occupied the consulate.

Goncalves has promised free presidential and parliamentary elections by next April. "It is a point of honor with us to comply with this program," he said.

Refundable Fee Taxes Planned For Gasoline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal energy administrator John Sawhill said today he has proposed that the government levy a 20 to 30 cent per gallon "refundable fee" on gasoline.

Sawhill, head of the Federal Energy Office, said motorists would be able to gain their refund through the income tax system.

"The refund would have to come through the withholding system although other mechanisms would have to be found to refund to people who are not part of the tax system; that is (those) who don't pay income tax on a weekly or bi-weekly basis," he said.

"In order to really be effective a fee would have to be somewhere in the 20 to 30 cents a gallon range."

As an example, Sawhill said that if a motorist drove 10,000 miles a year in a car that got 20 miles per gallon, he would pay a refundable fee of $100. But he indicated that if a motorist drove over 10,000 a year or owned a car getting less than 20 miles per gallon, all of the money would not be refunded.

He said he has discussed the fee plan, along with several other energy conservation measures, with "senior advisers" to President Ford.

Sawhill was interviewed on the NBC Today Show.

Venequela Passes Tax On Big Oil Companies

United Press International — Venezuela has taken a $440 million bite out of the "excess profits" of big international oil companies, imposing a retroactive tax to keep the firms from passing the levy on to consumers.

Mines Minister Valentin Hernandez announced the new tax Tuesday in Caracas, hitting such oil giants as Exxon, Shell and Gulf. He predicted similar action by the United States to curb soaring fuel company profits.

Algeria's minister of industry and energy, Baled Abdel Salam, said, in Kuwait Tuesday night that "Oil states should adopt a unified stand in the face of the intriguing campaigns by consuming countries."

"The oil prices are sound and reasonable. Petroleum is ours and we are free to dispose of it in the best manner serving the Arab national interests," Salam said upon arrival for a two-day official visit to promote Algerian-Kuwaiti oil cooperation.

He said oil-producing countries would not treat "with sympathy" the Western countries campaigning for lower petroleum prices.

In Manila, newspapers reported China joining the ranks of oil-exporting countries, agreeing to ship a million tons of petroleum to the Philippines by the end of next year.

The unilateral action by Venezuela, America's major foreign fuel supplier, came after the 12-member Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries ordered a 3.5 per cent oil tax increase for the last three months of 1974.

Hernandez told a news conference Venezuela decided to extend the 3.5 per cent hike retroactively to the first nine months of the year in a move to cut into oil company profits without increasing consumer prices.

He said the retroactive levy would add $363 million to the $77 million Venezuela expects to collect in increased revenue during the final three months of the year.

He said the companies would be unable to pass the retroactive increase on to consumers because the levy was on oil already sold. Industry sources conceded the effectiveness of the move.

An oil company official said the firms undoubtedly would pass on the rise for the last three months of 1974, "but they can't pass along anything for the January-September period."

Hernandez brushed off question about U.S. retaliation, predicting officials in Washington would take similar action against the international oil companies.

"The U.S. government is looking into the companies' excess profits itself and will probably take some kind of action, too," he said.

In Manila, newspapers said Philippine First Lady Imelda R. Marcos arranged a million-ton shipment of Chinese petroleum during a 10-day visit to Peking last month.

The press reports said the first shipment would arrive this week. The newspapers said China would ship 250,000 tons of oil to the Philippines this year and 750,000 tons in 1975.

Lower Oil Prices 'Only Temporary'

United Press International — Oil company executives and government officials say a slight decrease in oil prices is only temporary because Arab oil producers are ignoring pressure from President Ford and will push crude oil prices even higher.

Standard Oil of Ohio, Skelly Oil Co. of Tulsa, Okla., and Clark Oil Co., a major independent, dropped prices Tuesday on all grades of gasoline. Mobil Oil Co. reduced its prices last month and Exxon said it was reviewing its price structure.

Gulf Oil Co., however, has raised its pump prices 1.5 cents a gallon on all grades, citing higher costs for foreign crude and refined products.

Sohio reduced its prices by one penny per gallon. Skelly dropped prices 2.5 cents per gallon, and Clark Oil cut prices by two cents a gallon in the 13 Midwestern states it serves.

But American motorists should not view the slightly lower prices as the start of a trend, warned one oil executive who asked not to be identified.

"They should not go out and buy a 3,000-pound car thinking the clock has been turned back," he said. "No way."

The executive said major oil exporting countries were not bowing to President Ford's pressure for lower prices but instead wanted even higher crude oil prices. He said these would be passed on to the consumer.

"Between you and me, they're thumbing their nose at Ford," the oilman said.

K&F To Hear University Prof
Dr. James Blakely, from the University of Missouri, will address the Knife and Fork Club at its meeting Monday, Oct. 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the Starlight Room at Coronado Inn.

Dr. Blakely has his doctorate in education, but he will not speak in the often lackadaisical manner attributed to such professional educators, club officials said.

Not even touching on education per se, Dr. Blakely offers an inspirational and humorous everyday how-to-live-and-enjoy-it philosophy under the title of "Living on Love and Laughter."

Dinner tickets are now on sale for club members at Malone Pharmacy. They must be purchased before noon Saturday.

Invocation will be delivered by Howard Graham, with Art Aftergut introducing the speaker.
