Sirica Delaying Decision On Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Optimistic that he can select a jury in the Watergate cover-up trial by early next week, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica today increased from 10 to 15 the number of peremptory challenges he will allow the five defendants.

But Sirica announced no decision on former President Richard M. Nixon's request Thursday that he be excused from testifying at the trial.

Sirica continued questioning prospective jurors in closed court and signed a four-page order granting the five former Nixon aides the additional challenges.

After questioning 10 prospective jurors Thursday and dismissing half of them, Sirica told reporters he thought there was a "good chance" of getting a jury within the next few days.

During the selection, prospective jurors may be excused for definite reasons. But lawyers for the two sides are also given the right in peremptory challenges to strike a certain number of jurors without giving any cause.

Sirica said the defendants may exercise one peremptory challenge each and 10 jointly. In most cases, the defense is entitled to a total of 10 such challenges.

The judge said Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski could exercise six peremptory challenges, the number usually allowed the prosecution. Sirica said each side would have three peremptory challenges in the selection of alternate jurors.

Nixon's lawyers Thursday submitted two motions to quash subpoenas for his appearance under conditions so secret that not even prosecution and defense lawyers were permitted to see them.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica interrupted his painstaking questioning of prospective jurors long enough only to issue a statement saying that the motions had been received.

"They will be filed under seal until the court has had an opportunity to review them thoroughly," Sirica said.

When that might be was unknown, though there was speculation Sirica might wait until a jury has been chosen and sequestered for the conspiracy trial before making public Nixon's reasons for wanting to be excused.

It was believed Nixon's health — he is still hospitalized in California with blood clots in a leg and a lung stemming from recurrent flare-ups of phlebitis — was the major factor cited in the motions.

One defense lawyer speculated that "national security grounds" also were raised.

hour intervals unless ransom demands were met, but four deadlines passed without reports of any hostages being slain.

Guerrilla chief Mendez went to a second story consulate window Thursday and shouted to reporters below. "Attention, journalists. Here comes an important communique."

The government is drawing this affair out to wear us down," guerrilla leader Radames Mendez Vargas said. "Well, it just won't work. Let there be an end soon."

Mendez, shouting from a second story window with a megaphone fashioned from a cardboard carton, withdrew a guerrilla request for $1 million and said a demand for the release of 37 political prisoners is negotiable.

President Joaquin Balaguer's government remained silent, however, refusing to budge from its past offer of only safe passage out of the country in return for the release of all hostages.

The guerrillas seized U.S. Embassy public affairs officer Barbara Hutchison last Friday as she was driving through Santo Domingo.

They drove the 47-year-old diplomat to the Venezuelan Consulate, took over the building and grabbed six other hostages, including Venezuelan Consul Jesus Gregorio and Spanish priest Santiago Fuentes.

FOR GASOLINE

Laird Advocates Strict Rationing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — While President Ford pondered his "tentative choices" for an anti-inflation program to be announced next week, one of his closest advisers suggested that he should impose a strict rationing system to curb the use of gasoline.

Former Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird made the proposal Thursday as the White House rejected a plan by Federal energy chief John C. Sawhill to add 20 cents a gallon to the retail price of gasoline.

Laird, an unofficial but influential voice in the Oval

Office, noted during a conference on world oil problems that the nation's gasoline consumption is increasing again since the scare of last winter's Arab boycott. Some $100 billion a year now going to oil producing nations soon will reach $600 billion, he said.

"Sooner or later," Laird said, "a rationing system is going to be needed as far as the United States is concerned because there is no awareness as far as the public is concerned to this energy problem we face."

He said it should be "a very tough, firm, hard rationing system."

Laird agreed with a

Ford's chief spokesman that Sawhill's proposal should not be adopted.

"It is fair to say that the President does not favor this kind of tax on gasoline," White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen told reporters.

Another Ford intimate, with an eye to the political winds, had a more candid assessment: "You couldn't sell any kind of gasoline tax right now. We've got an election coming up in November, remember?"

"But you can look for some kind of tax increase along with some other provisions like maybe the authority for rationing later on, maybe in January," the source added.

Nessen said he found nothing mutinous in Sawhill's idea, even though the concept is opposed by the commander in chief.

Differing opinions at the highest level of government are typical of the "open administration" promised by Ford, the press aide said.

But the varying views among Ford insiders show the difficulty involved in pulling together an anti-inflation program that is economically effective and politically palatable.

So far, more than 100 ideas are under consideration, ranging from broad-based financial aid for the poor to tax deductions for home owners who install energy saving storm windows.

Ford has made some "tentative choices," Nessen said, and he will spend "virtually the entire weekend" pulling the package together.

Announcement of the long-awaited plan will be made before a joint session of Congress and a nationwide television audience on Tuesday.

Chairman Alan Greenspan of the Council of Economic Advisers said Thursday that the program "is pretty well developed," although Ford scheduled two separate meetings today with top advisers to consider additional options.

One such option is the gasoline tax. Sawhill's plan, using a payroll withholding concept, would end up taxing only the high mileage drivers, those who burn more than 500 gallons a year — about 10 gallons a week.

Congressman Campaigning

Congressman Bob Price of Pampa was back in the Texas Panhandle for a weekend of campaigning before the final week Congress is to be in session prior to the November general election.

This afternoon he attended the Clay County Junior Livestock Show at Henrietta and was in Amarillo for a Rotary Club luncheon.

Tomorrow Price will speak at a luncheon in Perryton before joining the annual Ochiltree County Soil and Water Conservation tour.

The congressman will be in Amarillo Saturday night to attend the Armstrong County 4-H Achievement Banquet at 7 p.m. in Wyatt's Cafeteria.

Wofford Named To Host Group

City Manager Mack Wofford of Pampa has been named to the committee in charge of host arrangements for the 60th annual conference of the International City Management Association Oct. 13-17 in Dallas.

More than 2,000 urban administrators from all over the world are expected to attend the ICMA meeting being held in Texas again for the first time in 16 years.

A wide variety of social and entertainment activities have been planned by North Texas City managers.

City Manager Wofford, who plans to leave for the Conference Sunday morning, Oct. 13, said the professional program will offer more than 55 sessions devoted to this year's subjects: professionalism, services and management.

Many of the delegates will arrive in Dallas Friday Oct. 11, to be on hand for the Saturday Oklahoma-Texas football game in the Cotton Bowl.

Officials Say 806 Injured By Quake

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — Government officials today put the official death toll in Thursday's Peruvian earthquake at 44 with another 806 persons injured and the damage in the millions of dollars. Tens of thousands of persons were homeless.

The death toll was considered surprisingly light in view of the intensity of the quake which jolted Peru's central coast, pushed back Pacific ocean waters and demolished hundreds of adobe huts and bricks buildings.

Seismologists said the intensity of the quake was greater than the one that killed more than 67,000 persons in 1970. But this time heavily populated areas escaped the full force of the temblor.

Rescue workers provided temporary shelters and supplies for the homeless while the government began the grim work of cleaning up the debris left when the quake shook Lima for more than two minutes, collapsing buildings and sending residents into the streets in panic.

The military government of President Juan Velasco Alvarado, marking its sixth anniversary in office today, met in emergency session late Thursday to coordinate rescue operations.

The National Geophysical Institute said the epicenter of the earthquake was in the Pacific ocean 30 to 50 miles southwest of Lima. The tremor registered 7.8 on the 10-point Richter scale.

It shook the capital of 3.5 million persons violently for two minutes and 15 seconds and was felt in Lima more strongly than a 1970 quake that devastated the northern half of the country and left 67,000 dead.

Peru, situated on one of the largest geographical faults in the world, experiences some 200 earth tremors a year, most of them too small to be registered except the most sensitive instruments.

Fifty per cent of the houses in large suburbs of Lima like Chorillos and Molinas were reported destroyed or heavily damaged.

The earthquake struck at 9:21 a.m. and was felt in the heart of the Andes mountains at Cuzco, 350 miles away.

In small cities to the south, like Canete, Ica and Chinca, hundreds of old adobe homes were reduced to rubble.

The waters receded 150 yards from the coast in the southern port of Pisco and in Calloa, overturning or beaching fishing boats and a freighter.

Police Check Car Accidents

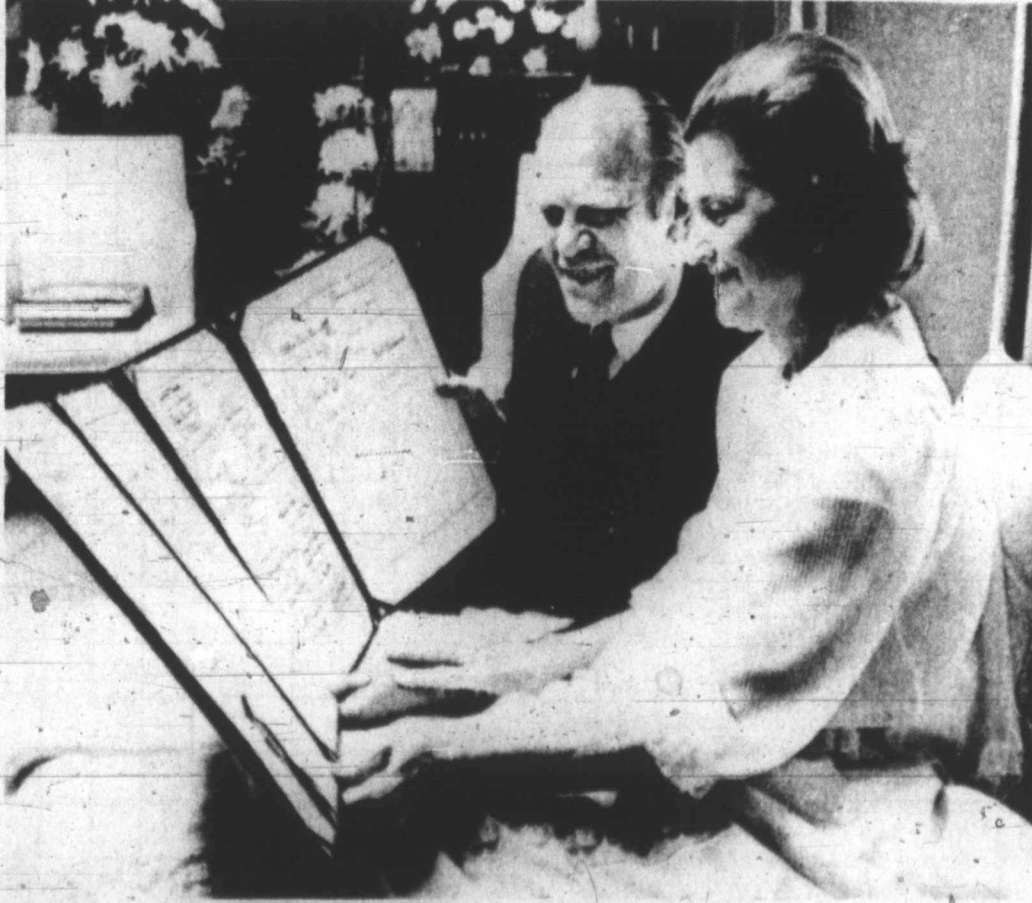

A Pampa woman, Katherine L. Eslick, of 928 Barnes, was treated at Purviance Clinic for minor injuries then released, following an auto accident Thursday morning.

Police said Miss Eslick was the driver of a car which struck a parked car in the 1200 block of Christine Street about 10:30 a.m.

She was ticketed for failure to control speed to avoid an accident.

Owner of the parked car, Edgar B. Daley of 1217 Christine, was charged with improper parking.

Jim Arney, 2700 Comanche St., reported to police Thursday a hit-and-run incident in which his car was struck.

LOOKING BETTER — During a visit to the First Lady at Bethesda Naval Hospital, President Ford shows a petition for "support and best wishes" signed by all 100 U.S. senators. Mrs. Ford, recovering from cancer surgery, was reported in "excellent condition" today and was working on her mail and talking with members of the family. (UPI Photo)

Three Inflation Factors

In 1936, the late John Maynard Keynes' major work was published. Entitled "General Theory of Employment, Interest, and Money," the theories expounded by Keynes in "The General Theory," as the book came to be called, were widely accepted by socialists, in and out of government, not because they made sense, but simply because the book enunciated what they wanted to hear.

For, despite its imposing title, "The General Theory" was nothing less than a blatant call for a regimented society with the economy being totally controlled by government bureaucrats. As a means to this end, Keynes, like Lenin before him, and with Germany's catastrophic experience with inflation known to him, advocated inflation of the money supply as a consistent governmental policy.

Extolled in the classroom, from the pulpit, and in the press, Keynes gained enormous prestige; his theories, in time, becoming the fountainhead of a whole new literature, sometimes referred to as the "New Economics."

Alarmed at the spread of Keynes' theories, their adoption by governments, here and elsewhere, and aware of what they would inevitably lead, economist Henry Hazlitt resolved to debunk them. And this he did in "The Failure of the 'New Economics' — And Analysis of the Keynesian Fallacies," first published in April 1959 and going through several reprinted editions since.

H. L. Hunt Writes

THE SAXBEALERT
Atty. Gen. William Saxbe has told the nation that the police and courts have worked hard to control crime but that the effort has not succeeded. The crime problem, he said, is something the people must become conscious of and make citizens' efforts to curtail. He had no specific suggestions but at least the attorney general is thinking along the right lines. Make the people aware of the dangers and they will get behind law enforcement efforts and the problem will be solved.

Mr. Saxbe's comments on the crime picture came in wake of an announcement by the Federal Bureau of Investigation that criminal offenses jumped 15 percent the first quarter of 1974.

If you don't like policemen, next time you need help call a lupine.

DUNAGIN'S PEOPLE

"NO, I DON'T ACCEPT STOCKS AND BONDS. I'M NOT THAT BAD OFF."

paragraph - by - paragraph, and line - by - line, Hazlitt took Keynes' utopian ideas and ripped them to shreds. When he was finished, Keynesianism stood revealed as morally, intellectually, logically, and pragmatically bankrupt; left without a leg on which to stand.

Unfortunately, most individuals, busy at trying to make a living and keep ahead of the inflation Keynes turned loose upon the world, have neither the time nor the inclination to read and grasp lengthy works such as Hazlitt's, consequently, Keynesianism, which should have rolled over and died after appearance of the Hazlitt treatment, continues to receive credence and gain followers.

Fortunately, however, it is not necessary for the person who wants to understand what inflation is and the economic chaos it creates to wade through either Keynes or Hazlitt. For the person whose time is limited, it will suffice to grasp three things:

1. That inflation is an increase of the money supply in excess of the goods and services being produced in the economy.

2. That, when this occurs, demand (in the form of excess money) outstrips supply and, as a consequence, prices rise.

3. That the supply of money being introduced into the economy is controlled by the government.

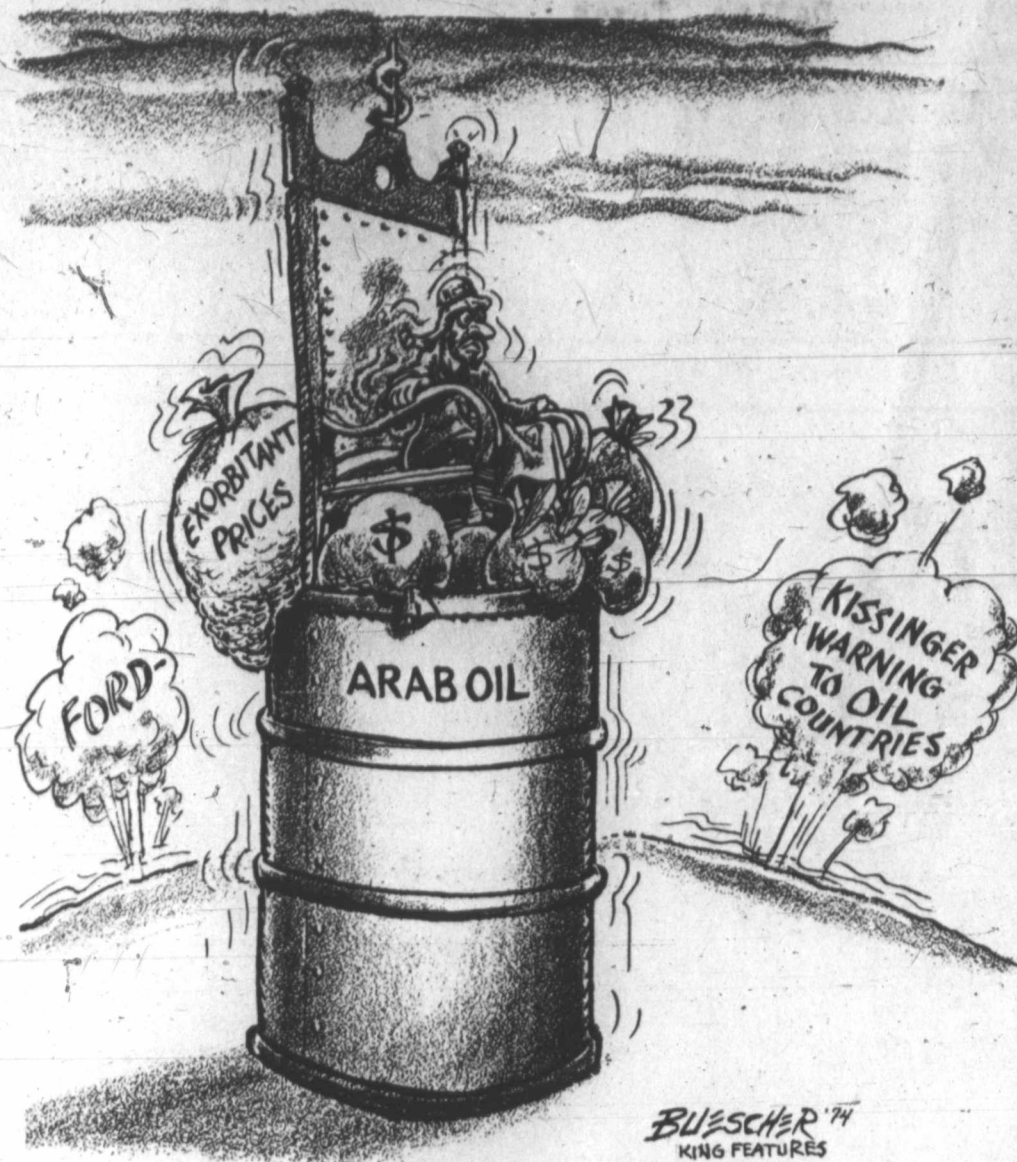

These three factors grasped, one need not visit one's favorite shopping center periodically and observe the trend of prices ever upward to complete one's education on inflation.

Citizen cooperation with police has made some headway in recent years but we must step up this process. In many cities, patrolmen assigned to beats meet with residents and merchants to discuss the problems of crime and security and this is paying dividends. Citizens are told to mark property so it can be easily identified and reclaimed from arrested felons. The crusade against crime needs to get off the ground and get the felon in jail.

INSIDE LABOR

The Summit Is Too High

By VICTOR RIESEL
WASHINGTON — To steal (and paraphrase) a recent politician's old quote — once you've heard one Ron you've heard them all. Mr. Ford's new press chap, Ron Nessen, told the boys during a pre-summit moment that the mini-summits had convinced some of the President's Oval Room advisers that the public has been convinced there wouldn't be a 1930s-type depression.

This proves that Washington is a walled city. The public is worried about a depression of 1970s type — lots of dollars which buy little. Powerful organized labor is especially restless. The rank and file is in a mood to tie the nation in knots.

Someone in the White House should know that on Aug. 18, 1971, for example, one of labor's top spokesmen, reflecting the national chief's anger over Dick Nixon's sudden 90-day wage-price freeze, said: "If we were to snap our fingers there would be a general strike Friday morning."

A general strike would have crippled the nation. Period. And few know that for several days some mighty influential labor leaders discussed closing down New York City with an anti-freeze strike protest. This would have paralyzed much of the Northeast in 72 hours.

These men weren't joking. I have the memos and citations. They went along because, though but three years ago, times were different. There had been a Nixon-labor honeymoon. The steel workers had just been helped by the White House to a handsome raise wrenched from a hapless and helpless industry. When the government backs the opposition all-other forces are hapless and helpless. And Dick Nixon did pressure the steel industry.

That honeymoon ended swiftly now, summits no summits, Jerry Ford's lovefest with labor is at the bag-packing hour. Mistake it not. The union chiefs like the President.

He's a mighty pleasant relief from the Lyndon Johnson play-acting and the warmed-over iciness of latter-day Dick Nixon. Ford is warm, outgoing and "a natural fellow," says one labor leader who is about to stir up the big cities. "But

Labor is ready to strike. For example, there now is no doubt inside truly informed circles that the coal miners will leave the pits on or before Nov. 12 for a few weeks at least. Machinists' president Red Smith and auto union leader Leonard Woodcock, working in tandem, will have to strike the aerospace industry if they don't satisfy their ever-younger, ever-more-demanding rank and file. There are other critical areas, but it's worth digressing briefly to report what occurred — and generally went unreported — at the recent International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL-CIO) convention in Kansas City. This is a powerful union of over 800,000 members. Many of the delegates were young. Many were edging 40 to 45. Their leaders mostly are veterans indeed. But the delegates insisted on passing a resolution which will cut down these old-timers. The convention passed a resolution setting mandatory retirement of officers at 65 years of age. In two years this rule will terminate the careers of some of the most influential men in the entire labor movement.

This could be significant graffiti on Washington's invisible walls. The action is out there, not here. Not at the summits — mini and major. The plan to reconstitute a presidential labor-management advisory committee is good but almost futile. It will advise the President's new economic policy team.

So re-read the buried history of 1971-74 freezes and phases. See how the labor chiefs balked. But they weren't really pushed from behind by their rank and file which wasn't being pinched by the kind of overinflated dollar of today. So Mr. Ford should take another look at his labor-management advisory plans. Someone in the White House should go outside the wall and learn that "local autonomy" is inside labor. Yes, that's where the action is. That's where the decisions are made.

National labor chiefs are influential in many national policymaking areas. But many of them can't head off a strike, nor get the local leaders to shave a nickel from demands or quell a wildcat walkout.

Besides which, someone in the White House should read the big print. Labor chief George Meany already has warned of strikes if the unions don't get catch-up raises of 10 or 12 percent a year.

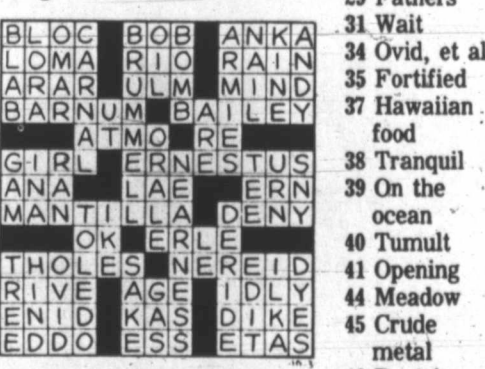

Everybody is shouting they want theirs. This means action. This also means the White House had better, while it's working out the rest of the economy, create a real network, an active force, of regional and local labor-management, industry by industry committees which can keep the cool.

Congress has just voted to cut in half the aid and support we're giving the Free Vietnamese people fighting for their survival against the invading Red Vietnamese forces from the north.

Supreme Court Appointment Due?
WASHINGTON, Oct. 1: There is a good chance a new Justice will be named to the U.S. Supreme Court in the term just getting underway.

That likelihood has nothing to do with the painful accident that befell Chief Justice Warren Burger. It is predicated on the history of appointments to the tribunal.

According to the records, a new Justice is named to the supreme bench every 22 months.

Authority for that intriguing statistic is Mark Cannon, administrative assistant to Chief Justice Burger, and prior to that director of the Institute of Public Administration, New York. Says Cannon:

"In the course of its history, the Supreme Court has had a new Justice on the average of every 22 months."

Recent history strikingly bears that out:

JUSTICE	YEAR APPOINTED
William Rehnquist	1971
Lewis Powell	1971
Harry Blackmun	1970
Warren Burger	1969
Thurgood Marshall	1967
Byron White	1962
Potter Stewart	1958
William Brennan, Jr.	1956
William O. Douglas	1959

Douglas, 76 and oldest member of the Court, was appointed by President Franklin Roosevelt — who named nine justices during his 12 years in the White House.

Of them, only Douglas and Stanley Reed, appointed in 1938, are alive. Reed, a Kentuckian, retired in 1957 because of severe hypertension. Douglas, four times married, was fitted with a heart pacemaker several years ago.

Overloaded
Cannon, in citing the average relative frequency of appointments to the Court stresses the tremendous increase in its workload.

The Court's history records nothing comparable to its recent case growth. Last term, the Court was asked to review almost three times as many cases as 20 years ago and almost two-thirds more than ten years ago. Last term, 4,187 cases were docketed; 750 more than several years previous.

And that isn't all. Points out Cannon:
"The kind of cases before the Court require more work than those of the past. For example, the number of constitutional cases in the past two years, 68 and 57, are more than twice as many as two decades ago. Fifteen of the first 24 cases scheduled for argument this term involve constitutional issues."

If this growth rate continues, as is likely, Cannon stresses that by 1980 each Justice will have to review more than 7,500 cases.

Noting that the size of the Court remains the same, Cannon emphasizes: "A little simple arithmetic makes it clear it is increasingly doubtful that the Court will be able to stay abreast of its docket. As Chief Justice Burger has observed, 'No person who looks at the facts can rationally assume that the nine Justices today can process four or five times as many cases as the Courts that included Taft, Holmes, Brandeis and Hugh, to mention only a few, and do the task as it should be done."

What To Do
With new case filings running 7 percent higher than last term, obviously something has to be done to cope with the soaring workload problem.

Chief Justice Burger has proposed creation of a "National court of appeals" to "reduce the case load and pressure on the Supreme Court." A similar idea has been advanced by a study group headed by Prof. Paul Freund of Harvard Law School.

It was described as "interposing a new reviewing authority between the U.S. Circuit Courts of Appeal and the Supreme Court."

But the concept is highly controversial and has gotten nowhere so far — particularly in Congress, where the proportion of lawyers is high. Neither the Senate nor House Judiciary Committee, made up of attorneys, has given the proposal any consideration.

Meanwhile, the Supreme Court has taken steps of its own to ease the workload burden.

In addition to giving each Justice a third law clerk, the Court as a whole established the position of Legal Officer whose "function" is comparable to that of motions clerks in courts of appeal. Also, several of the justices, on an experimental basis, have replaced one of their law clerks with a "senior legal assistant" — to "provide relief from the annual burden of recruiting, selecting, training and developing working relationships with their entire professional staff."

Interestingly, in adopting this innovation, the Supreme Court belatedly is catching up with a number of state supreme courts.

The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals had the best record in the past term. It was affirmed five times, reversed only once. This circuit comprises the states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas.

She says "converse," he says "convert!"

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school senior. I attend church regularly and am active in our church youth group.

My problem is a friend of mine. He's a nice guy and we study together, but he belongs to another church, and keeps hassling me about my religion. He thinks it's his mission to go around converting people to HIS religion. We've had some pretty hot arguments about this, and I've told him he is wasting his time if he thinks he's going to turn me off my religion and on to something else.

I don't want to end our friendship because he's the most intelligent friend I have, but how can I convince him that I am happy with my own religion and don't want to change?

DEAR J.: Send him this quote from a letter that Thomas Jefferson wrote to Mrs. H. Harrison Smith in 1816: "I never told my own religion nor scrutinized that of another. I never attempted to make a convert, nor wished to change another's creed. I am satisfied that yours must be an excellent religion to have produced a life of such exemplary virtue and correctness. For it is in our lives, and not from our words that our religion must be judged."

And J., if your friend is as intelligent as you say he is, he will get your message and act accordingly.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I work together delivering morning newspapers. We start out at 1 a.m. and finish up about 5 a.m.

It's dark out at that time and many of the house numbers are hidden by big bushes, and some house numbers have been painted over and are impossible to read from the street, so my husband has to get out of the truck and look around for the house numbers with a flashlight.

With so much meanness in the world today, he could be mistaken for a prowler. Not only that, but it's time-consuming to get out of the truck, set the brakes, and go looking around for house numbers. I hope you use this in your column to let folks know how they can solve our problem.

PAPER PEOPLE
DEAR PEOPLE: Your letter could solve that problem for others who must make deliveries at night.

DEAR ABBY: "Stumped" asked how to say no to sex, since she was a divorcee and couldn't use that old "I'm saving myself for marriage" excuse. You told her she didn't need an excuse — just give him a flat "no!"

Well, that would run a guy off permanently, which may not be what the lady wants to do. Perhaps she would like to get to know him better.

I suggest that she say, "Don't rush me." That's not a flat "no," and she doesn't run the risk of hurting the man's ego.

ODESSA, TEXAS
DEAR ODESSA: "Don't rush me" has a ring of promise to it that may be misleading. And how long must a man remain in a holding pattern before the lady no longer feels "rushed?"

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Laaky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

It is suggested that each church send at least three persons so that each one may make one each of the basic type hand puppets — sock, furry friend, and styro ball head.
"You do not need to be a professional to use a puppet for teaching. Plan to come and see puppets in action, hear how to use them in your church and community, make one, and get tips on scripts," says the pastor, Roy L. Moody.
A nursery will be provided at the church. There will be a break for refreshments which will be provided.

'MISMANAGEMENT' McDonnell Criticizes Briscoe For Policies

AMARILLO — Sam McDonnell, American Party candidate for governor of Texas, says the Briscoe administration is guilty of mismanagement and has violated the trust placed in it by the voters of Texas.

Speaking at a dinner held here Thursday in his honor and attended by party regulars and guests, including a Pampa delegation, McDonnell accused Briscoe of fostering policies which are robbing Texans of their hard-earned wages through inflation, high prices, high taxes and other domestic problems caused almost entirely by government interference in our daily lives.

He scored Briscoe for his executive order creating official state planning commissions which will slowly transfer local government functions of regional Metro government, thus placing them beyond control of local citizens.

McDonnell criticized so-called revenue sharing, whereby funds collected in the state are channeled through Washington for re-distribution in accordance with each state's obedience to federal dictates.

"For each $1 received in revenue sharing funds, we must send $1.07 to Washington, plus we must spend the money as approved by Washington."

McDonnell explained that inflation is nothing more than expansion of the money supply and can only be caused by the federal government.

"Contrary to what politicians in the two old parties are trying to make us believe, inflation is not caused by 'spendthrift' housewives or by workers who are being paid too much, it is caused by the federal government and can only be corrected by putting an end to deficit government spending," he said.

The candidate continued by listing items which he termed "non-essential," including massive foreign aid, especially to our enemies, massive welfare expenditures which foster ever-expanding welfare rolls while contributing nothing to the solving of poverty, and appropriations of "Gestapo" type bureaucratic agencies such as OSHA and the Environmental Protection Agency, which are putting many private firms out of business and contributing virtually nothing to the solution of the problems which they were created to solve.

In summation, McDonnell said he believes it is time to start cutting back the size and power of government, lest we become a totally controlled society, unable to make a move without permission from some federal bureaucrat.

He stated that he is confident that an honest state governor "can go a long way toward accomplishing this end."

McDonnell concluded by asking all present to elect him governor of Texas and return state government to the people of Texas, where it belongs.

Seniors Receive NMSF Letters

Three Pampa High School seniors received notification today that they will receive letters of commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Foundation.

The three are Brent Boynton, E. B. Ellis and David Weaver.

The students are expected to graduate in the upper two percent of their class, PHS Principal Paul Payne said today.

The letters are the result of tests taken for the Foundation in October, 1973.

NOTIFIED BY COUNCIL

MHS Cheerleaders Get To Attend Cotton Bowl

McLEAN — The McLean High School cheerleaders were recently notified by the World Cheerleader Council that they had been selected to attend the 1974 Cotton Bowl game scheduled Saturday.

The cheerleaders will view the battle between Oregon State and Southern Methodist University as guests of SMU.

Composed of six cheerleaders, the squad is made up of one freshman, Robbie Turpin, one sophomore, Rose Helen Dwyer, two juniors, Halcyn Back and Janet Smith, and two seniors, Kathy Hale and head cheerleader Gail Terry.

The cheerleaders had attended SMU Cheerleading Camp, sponsored by the National Cheerleading Association, in the summer as preparation for the school year.

The Cotton Bowl privilege came as a result of their winning the Spirit Stick, the most coveted award, for showing outstanding qualities in the fields of ability, leadership and spirit at the camp.

Chamber County Extension Agent Wins National Award

COLLEGE STATION — 1974 — one of the highest honors given by the National Association of Extension Home Economists (NAEHE).

Overall, the program in both counties reached a combined total of 1,588 persons. The "awareness" segment of the program reached an estimated 56,000 persons in both counties through radio, newspaper, clinics, committee work, schools and local organizations, according to program reports.

One of eight agents in the United States chosen for the honor, Miss Price accepted the award during the national association's annual meet this month in Minneapolis, Minn.

The award recognized outstanding work in Extension home economics programs," according to Mrs. Martha Phillips, NAEHE second vice president.

In addition, the program was used as part of a University of Houston research project on the correlation of glaucoma and high blood pressure.

Also, as a result of the Matagorda and Wharton Counties programs, the Texas Optical Association selected glaucoma screening and vision testing as a service project for three South Central Texas counties.

The agent, in Extension work for 27 years, received her B.S. from Mississippi State University for Women, and the M.S. from Oklahoma State University.

She is a member of the National Association of Extension Home Economists and the state association, as well as the Texas and American Home Economics Associations.

Miss Price also is a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club and the First Baptist Church in Anahuac.

At Wit's End

By ERMA BOMBECK

I saw an ad in the paper the other day that intrigued me. It said simply:

WANTED: Christian woman to do ironing.

Is there any other kind who irons? If someone had told me before I got married that I would stand like a statue for six hours every week in front of a board with three pounds of steam and heat in my right hand and push it back and forth over a PRIMO beer sweatshirt, I would have called off the wedding.

Once lived next door to a Christian woman who ironed. Every Monday she would put up her ironing board and wheel out one of those baskets on legs and iron each piece as it came. I could have watched her for hours.

She ironed sheets, dish towels, socks, belt buckles, underwear, the tongues in tennis shoes, the binding on blankets and even zippers. I never saw such a martyr. One day I couldn't believe my eyes. She pulled her husband's shirt out of the basket and after painstakingly ironing both sides of the collar and cuffs, she ironed the front and started to iron the back.

"Are you crazy?" I shouted, ripping the shirt off the board. "Now you've gone too far."

"What are you talking about?" she asked.

"Ironing the back of a man's shirt. Are you bucking for canonization?"

It is just not woman's natural inclination to take to ironing. One of my freindshired a woman to iron after the birth of her fourth child. She still retains her and the kid is 35 years old now.

Some hold theories that the aversion to ironing is genetic. This would seem to be the case as both my sister and I iron only during the months when oysters are in season — off the coast of Thailand.

Our phone conversations run something like this:

"Joe needs a shirt."

"You going to iron one?"

"No, make one."

"When are you going to iron?"

"During the next space launch, providing the month has an R init."

"I'll tell you something, world. When you are behind in your ironing as I am, you'd settle for a woman who worshipped avocados during a full moon!"

Area Ministers Meet Wednesday

Wednesday's meeting of the Pampa Area Ministerial Alliance featured a review of hospital chaplaincy.

Local alliance members heard a presentation by guest speaker the Rev. Barry Presley, one of the chaplains at High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo, who explained normal procedures for hospital chaplains.

The local group started this week its own program for Highland General Hospital, with a minister to be responsible, a week at a time, on a rotating basis.

The minister is to make hospital visits and be available when needed.

Serving this week, through Sunday, is the Rev. Ron Palmer, of Community Christian Center.

Assignments through this month are the Rev. Ted Savage, Central Baptist Church, Oct. 7-13; the Rev. Charles Graff, St. Paul United Methodist Church, Oct. 14-19; the Rev. Edwin Waterbury, Pampa Chapel, Oct. 21-27; and the Rev. R.L. Courtney, First Assembly of God, Oct. 28-Nov. 3.

In other action at Wednesday's meeting a committee was appointed to originate a format for TV ministry.

Members are Palermo, Waterbury and the Rev. John Hansard, of Hobart Baptist Church.

LDS MISSIONARIES — Currently serving as Pampa area missionaries for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormons) are Elder Darrell Petersen, left, of Salt Lake City, Utah, district leader, and Elder Kurt Henthorn, Longview, Wash. The two are looking at a pamphlet entitled, "30 Minutes for Your Family," describing a family home evening program to create more unity and harmony among family members.

Special Arrangements Allow Participation In Conference

Area members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormons) will be able to participate in the Church's general conference, currently underway at Salt Lake City, Utah, through a special radio broadcast and television.

The 144th semiannual conference sessions are being conducted under the direction of President Spencer W. Kimball, prophet of the 3.5 million member church.

A radio broadcast for the priesthood holders of the Church will be presented on closed circuit from 7-9 p.m. Saturday at the Amarillo Ward chapel, with members of the Pampa Ward planning to attend.

Sunday morning one of the general sessions will be telecast locally over Channel 5 (Channel 11 out of Dallas) on Pampa Cable Television from 9-11 a.m.

Bishop Lavon B. Voyles of the Pampa Ward and his family are in Salt Lake City to attend the sessions at the headquarters of the world-wide church.

Merger of Christian Church Bodies Is Carried Forward

DALLAS — More than 1,000 Disciples convened in Dallas, Sept. 23 as the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Texas and adjourned Sept. 26 as the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in the Southwest.

The new region, product of a merger of the Christian Church in Texas and the Christian Church in New Mexico, became operative in practice when the CCT assembly approved a revised constitution and by-laws and became effective legally Oct. 1.

Approval of the constitution was the main item of business to be considered by the assembly.

Delegates also: — Voted down — after a hot debate — a resolution supporting unconditional amnesty to non-violent dissenters to the Indo-China war.

— Passed a resolution approving the principle of collective bargaining for farm workers.

— Approved a resolution supporting the principles of House Resolution 1155 dealing with the world food crisis.

— Passed a resolution reaffirming the stand of the General Assembly (national representative body) of the Christian Church in the United States and Canada on the criteria and policies for ordination, licensing and standing of ministers.

Dr. Eugene W. Brice, minister of First Christian Church of Wichita Falls, became the first president of the new region after serving two years as president-elect of CCT. Other principal officers are: Mrs. Michael Saenz of Laredo, president-elect; Michael Harrison of Pecos, first vice president; Dr. Thomas J. Youngblood of San Antonio, second vice president; Mrs. Pedro Felix of Houston, secretary; and Russell Withrow of Midland, treasurer.

A three-night revival is now in progress and will end Saturday, Oct. 5. Evangelist is Glen Goodwin of Oklahoma City.

Missionary Beggs

Kenya Missionary At Calvary Church

The Reverend Jimmy L. Beggs, Assemblies of God missionary to Kenya, East Africa, will be guest speaker Sunday October 6 at 10 a.m. at the Calvary Assembly of God, Love & Crawford Street. The Reverend Jerald Middaugh, pastor, has announced.

During the past four years of missionary service, Mr. Beggs and his wife Mary conducted Bible training courses for pastors. They also served on the administration of the Bible school. More than 200 national ministers attended the monthly sessions.

Upon their missionary appointment in 1964, the Beggs served on the missionaries to Tanzania. They were active in pioneering churches and general missionary work. They also worked in the Bible schools in the area.

Prior to their missionary appointment, Mr. and Mrs. Beggs pastored the Assembly of God church in Morton, Texas.

Mrs. Beggs worked as a child evangelist throughout the United States. In preparation for missionary service, Beggs received the B.A. degree from Southwestern Assemblies of God College in Waxahatchie, Texas.

Mr. Beggs will share his missionary experiences in Kenya at this special missions rally. The public is invited to attend.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

St. Pauls United Methodist

REV. CHARLES GRAFF

One of the popular pastimes among both church people and non-church people is to criticize the church. It is simply a fact of life that the church is the target of many slings and arrows. I will be the first to admit that much of this criticism is valid and well founded. In order to be honest, I must also say that much of it is not. But be that as it may, I feel that many of the church's problems come from a lack of understanding of what a "minister" is and what a "pastor" is in the New Testament sense.

Most of the distinctions that exist today between clergy and laity did not exist in the early church. The early church had an entirely different idea of the roles of ordained and nonordained members. I think that we can begin to get a hold on this issue when we read what Paul wrote in Ephesians 4:11 & 12, "And these were his gifts: some to be apostles, some prophets, some evangelists, some pastors and teachers, to equip God's people for work in his service, to the building up of the body of Christ. The word "minister" simply means servant, and "a minister" is anyone who serves. The function of the clergy or the pastor is not to be a hired gun who does all the ministering. His function rather is to be as Paul puts it a "pastor and teacher", whose job it is to equip the members for service for ministry.

It is sad that in so many of our churches, the function of ministry is left to the Ministers, the Clergy. We are not being the church in his service, to the building up of the body of Christ. The word "minister" simply means servant, and "a minister" is anyone who serves. The function of the clergy or the pastor is not to be a hired gun who does all the ministering. His function rather is to be as Paul puts it a "pastor and teacher", whose job it is to equip the members for service for ministry.

Christ called each and every one of us to be a servant, a minister. The work of the church was not left to a few educated, ordained, elite. It was left to YOU and it will be YOU that will have to answer for what you did or didn't do with the Good News. I am well aware that many of the members are content to shirk the responsibility and let the "Minister" do the ministering. I am also well aware that many Ministers have a tin god complex and love to wallow in their own ego and self esteem.

Elton Trueblood said it best in the book, "The Incendiary Fellowship," when he said the pastors role was like that of a player-coach. It is the kind of image and role that we need of our pastors and laity. When we finally get things in proper perspective then we can truly be and function as the church, those people called out to be the hands of Christ in the world.

Pampa Resumes Play Tonight Against Canyon

The Pampa Daily News SPORTS

By PAUL SIMS
We were down last week. The players were down, I was down, everyone was down. And there's no way you can be down all week and play football.
We're not down this week. Canyon head coach Ron Mills said Thursday concerning today's non-district game against the unbeaten Pampa Harvesters, who host the 1-AAA Eagles at 7:30 p.m. in Harvester Stadium.

Pampa is resuming action after a 33-0 win over Perryton two weeks ago and a day off last Friday. The Eagles are coming off a 14-6 loss to Hereford a week ago.

Mills blames the loss partly on the fact his players were unable to think football after starting lineman Kelly Forehand broke his neck against Caprock two weeks ago and is paralyzed as a result. "He's in good spirits," said Mills, "but he doesn't have any feeling from his navel down. We've worked hard this week; we'll play better," added the coach, whose Eagles are favored to win their district's championship. Canyon's high ranking is based on its high-gear running game, which will be the best Pampa has faced in four games. Halfback Craig Johnson, "one of the best we've ever had," according to Mills, has averaged 100 yards a game this season. The 150-pound junior will divide running time mostly with fullback Jimmy Ward, a 5-10, 175-pound senior who was all-district a year ago. Wingback Larry Pate has also been effective so far. Even the quarterback, 175-pound senior Garre Lagrone, is a good runner. He was the Eagles' starting wingback last year. In fact it was Lagrone who scored Canyon's only touchdown, a 12-yard pass reception, in last year's 21-7 loss to the Harvesters.

"We need to improve on our passing. I'm well pleased with him, though. He's a good runner," said Mills.
When Lagrone throws it will likely be to split end 6-1 junior Lyndon Brazile, the fastest player on the squad. Alternating tight ends will be 190-pound Steve McCormick, who was all-district at noseguard last year as a junior, and Eric

The Canyon line is comparably in size to Pampa's offensive line, which averages around 200 pounds. Canyon's defensive front five will consist of left end Kenny Basinger, a 170-pound junior, whose father is ironically Ray Basinger, head coach at Caprock; left tackle Bob Lee, 260-pound junior; McCormick; right tackle Drew Hetzler, 205-pound sophomore, and right end Brad Bowers, 180-pound sophomore.

Lee is the same size as Bob Counsellor, who was all-state for Canyon last year. And Mills says Lee is better than Counsellor "at this point."
Linebackers will be 175-pound senior Bo Bridges and David Robinson, a 190-pound senior. Cornerbacks will likely be Ward and junior David Coronado, 5-10, 150 junior.

The Harvesters will have only one lineup change — senior Coy Free, 5-8, 167 pounds, who replaces junior Frankie Lemons who is out for the remainder of the regular season because of a knee injury sustained against Perryton.

Pampa's backfield is the same with quarterback Chuck Quarles, halfbacks Rick Leverich and Tim Thornburgh and fullback David Smith.
Quarles is the leading passer in 3-AAA with 13 completions in 24 attempts for 268 yards and four touchdowns. He has 400 yards total offense, including 132 on the ground.
Leverich is Pampa's leading scorer with 38 points, including six TD's, and rusher with 269 yards on 52 carries for a 5.2 average. Tickets for tonight's game will be available for $2.25 at the gate.
Tonight will also be Kelly Forehand Night in Pampa with a raffle taking place for a Harvester autographed football. Proceeds will go to the Canyon Booster Club.

Country's Powers To Be Heavily Favored

United Press International
For the third consecutive week, the nation's leading collegiate powerhouses go into battle as top-heavy favorites to win.

By now, though, hardly any of them are taking their notices seriously.
Among the mighty who have fallen already are Notre Dame, Nebraska, Southern California, Penn State and Texas, so can it be small wonder if members of the elite are wondering if the fickle finger of fate will be pointing their way next?

Could the next victim be Ohio State, perhaps? It's a feeling that hasn't escaped Coach Woody Hayes, who is well aware of the trend the college season has taken.

The Buckeyes, although the top-ranking team in the country, were not overly impressive in beating Minnesota and Southern Methodist in two of their first three games.

They are whopping 27-point choices over Washington State this Saturday, but the game is being played at Seattle, and it is obvious that Hayes has some trepidation about the trip.

"I can't feel that being No. 1 is a great aid to any team this time of year," he said. "It's difficult because any team can make its season by beating No. 1, and you can be sure every team will be pointing for you."
Hayes doesn't discount the chance of an upset by Washington State.

"There's better balance of power," he said, "and it's a more upset-oriented season.

Purdue beat Notre Dame and Wisconsin beat Nebraska, and was edged by Colorado. Penn State lost to Navy and Texas beat Southern California and was beaten the next week. A coach has to keep his team high."
Four of the other teams among the top six also are favored by a minimum of three touchdowns, and undoubtedly they will be as much on guard as is Ohio State.

Alabama, ranked No. 2, is picked by 21 points over 19th ranked Mississippi, third ranked Michigan is 18 points over Stanford, fifth-ranked Nebraska is 24 over Minnesota and sixth-ranked Notre Dame also rates as 24 points better than Michigan State.

Alabama, in quest of its fourth consecutive Southeastern Conference championship and its seventh in 11 years, has averaged 32 points and 483 yards per game while running up a 3-0 record this season. The Tide isn't likely to slow down now since Florida has emerged as a surprise contender.

The Gators, seeking their first league title in 42 years of trying, have won their first three games in impressive style and have moved into the No. 8 spot in the national rankings. Florida does not have Alabama on its schedule this season, and could verify its position as a contender by beating Louisiana State on Saturday.

Florida will have the home field advantage and is favored by three points.

In other games involving the top 10, fourth-ranked Texas A&M is a three-point choice over Kansas, seventh-ranked Texas Tech, fresh from its startling upset of Texas, is three over IDOLATRY BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Some residents of Northwest Argentina, Paraguay and Southern Brazil venerate an image known as Our Lord of the Good Death.

The image, a skeleton seated with chin resting on one hand, does not correspond to any saint of the Roman Catholic faith professed by most of the population. Prayers are said to Our Lord of the Good Death, also known as Saint Death, for luck in love, gambling and fighting.

OSU Ready

STILLWATER (UPI) — Oklahoma State's passing game was "improved" and the Cowboys polished their kicking game assignment Thursday as they completed preparations for Saturday's contest at Texas Tech.

The Pokes drilled 90 minutes in shorts and shoulder pads with special emphasis on its kicking game. Placekicker Abby Daigle and punter Cliff Parsley worked overtime as did the Cowboy punt and kickoff coverage units.

The OSU quarterbacks "looked sharper throwing the football," according to coach Jim Stanley, who said, "We've given them a lot of opportunities to throw this week. Our passing game should be improved."

Groom, Shockers To Play Saturday

GROOM — The Pampa Shockers, used to playing 3A and 4A opponents, will face a team of lower classification Saturday, but that doesn't mean Pampa is going to have an easy time.

The state-ranked Groom Tigers of Class B host the Shockers at 8 p.m. Saturday and will be, by far, the best team the Pampa junior varsity will have played this year.

Groom, number two in the state behind Big Sandy, is unbeaten this season, tying Vega 6-6 in the opener and then trouncing Claude, McLean and Wheeler. The latter lost, 42-13, as super halfback Stan Britten rushed for 281 yards and 28 carries.

If Pampa is going to win, it will probably do it by stopping Britten, who has gained over 200 yards in the Tigers' last three outings.

Stan's cousin Tim Britten, also part of the potent Groom Backfield, which accounted for 331 yards against defense-oriented Wheeler, gained 73 yards in that contest and will be another player Pampa must look out for.

Groom is awesome

overall, but is particularly so defensively, returning 10 starters off last year's district champion team. Among those starters are linebacker Art Brown, Donald Burgin and Chris Britten and defensive end Tony Treadwell. All are potential all-stars and are reasons Groom has almost completely shut off four offenses, including Vega's powerful Longhorns.

Pampa's defense is also sturdy with the likes of linebacker Frank Stowers and linemen Dub Taylor and Darrell Mitchell, who have accounted for most of the tackles this season.

Offensively, the Pampa Wishbone is led by quarterback Garland McPherson, halfbacks Ricky Moore and David Caldwell and fullback Russell Thornburgh.

Groom, despite its Class B classification, may have its best team in years and will be favored over Pampa. The game is likely to be a defensive battle since both teams are coming off shutouts (Pampa edged Perryton, 6-0).

The forecast: Groom 16, Pampa 6.

8th-Grade Wins Borger Rips Pampa 9th In Junior High Contest

BORGER — Junior High scored 16 points in the first quarter and held on for a 22-7 win over the Pampa Junior High ninth-grade A team Thursday afternoon in Harvester Stadium.

Pampa's only touchdown was scored by defensive noseguard Wesley Drake, who recovered a fumble in the end zone late in the game.

Borger's only other touchdown was in the third period. The loss left PJH with a 1-2-0 mark.
The eighth-grade Red was the only other PJH team in action, travelling to Perryton Thursday and coming home with a 20-24 victory. Pampa's second of the season compared to a win and tie.

Pampa scored first in the game on a 15-yard pass from Rick Dougherty to split end Stevie Duke. Dougherty hit Steve Stout for the conversion, which gave Pampa a 8-0 lead in the first quarter.

Perryton tied it in the second period after the ball was centered over Stout's (the punter) head and Perryton recovered on the three. On the first play, the hosts scored on a three-yard conversion run.

In the third period, a fourth-down pass from Dougherty to Stout was good for 10 yards and a Pampa touchdown. The run for extras failed. Pampa added another score in the same stanza as Rick Marsh scampered 20 yards.

Perryton came back with a bomb late in the third quarter.

Next week's PJH schedule is as follows:
(all Thursday games)
Ninth A at Perryton, 4 p.m.; ninth B at Perryton 5:30 p.m.; eighth Blue at home against Borger, 4 p.m.; eighth Red at Dumas, 4 p.m.

TO STOP CRIME Saxbe Wants To Send More People To Prison

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General William B. Saxbe, citing a new FBI report of a 16 per cent rise in the crime rate for the first half of 1974, says the way to stop the increase is to send more people to jail.

"Statistics show that 80 per cent of those actually convicted of felonies never wind up serving a day in prison," Saxbe said in a news conference Thursday, a few hours before the new FBI crime report was made public.

"The consensus being that the greatest deterrent to crime is certainly that they are going to prison, right now the odds are real big that they will never go to prison," Saxbe said.

Justice Department officials Thursday said they were unable to provide detailed information to back up the 80 per cent estimate. Saxbe, in a later interview gave the same 80 per cent figure as applying to misdemeanors as well as felonies.

The FBI report showed that the national crime rate, compiled from state and local reports, has continued to rise since late 1973. The 16 per cent overall increase was in relation to a similar period last year.

It showed the areas of most danger from violent crimes are shifting from inner cities to the suburbs and rural areas. Suburban crime was up 21 per cent; rural crime, up 19 per cent. Major cities generally had smaller increases.

Saxbe told reporters: "We feel that we can reduce the odds (of avoiding prison) by concentrating on the career criminal." The LEAA already plans to grant three $3 million to ten cities to try this out. Saxbe said the cities have not yet been chosen.

Saxbe indicated still more funds will be shifted from police work to prosecution in an attempt to get faster trials and more certain punishment as a better deterrent to crime. He said the Justice Department is shifting funds from "bricks and mortar" to prosecution.

ON WATERGATE DETAILS Senate Urges President To Make Story Public

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has passed a resolution urging President Ford to make public the full story uncovered by the Watergate investigation.

The resolution, which puts the chamber on record but does not have the power of law, was passed by voice vote Thursday.

The Senate is continuing debate today on related legislation that would give custody of all of former President Nixon's Watergate tapes and other White House papers to the government.

A third measure awaiting action is a resolution to require — not just urge — Ford to make public all the facts of the Watergate scandals, the results of all Watergate investigations and the contents of Nixon's Watergate tapes and documents.

Nixon and Ford worked out an agreement early last month under which the Watergate materials would be under the joint possession of the former President and the government for five years. Then Nixon would get sole custody.

All the documents would be destroyed if Nixon died before the end of the five-year period.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., opposes any move to turn over Nixon's papers to the government and wants to send the measure to the Judiciary Committee for hearings.

"This bill raises serious and fundamental constitutional issues," Hruska said. "For if the President's papers can be seized and disclosed to all the world, then surely the private papers of a senator or congressman or perhaps a corporation president, union leader or other well known person could be seized and disclosed to all potential litigants and to the curious."

Phone Company Gives To PUF

The Pampa News wishes to correct an error in a story in Thursday's paper concerning the contribution of $4,000 to the Pampa United Fund by 80 workers in the local branch of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

The story stated erroneously the contributions had been made by Pioneer Natural Gas Co. employees.

The UF solicitations were made by four Southwestern Bell Co. members of the Communication Workers of America — Violet Gordzelik, Helen Kastein, Red Ballard and Tex Chisum.

Gary Stevens, manager of the local telephone company says the employee contributions averaged $50 each.

The company upped the total to $5,000 for local Southwestern Bell by an additional $1,000 United Fund contribution.
