Wofford Trying To Get Okay For City's Comprehensive Plan

By TEX DEWESE

Pampa city manager Mack Wofford will meet in Amarillo tomorrow with Panhandle Regional Planning Commission officials and the U.S. Housing and Urban Development Review Board in an effort to get HUD and PRPC approval of Pampa's 3-year-old Comprehensive Plan.

The city of Pampa spent approximately $35,000 nearly three years ago to have Marvin Springer & Associates, Dallas planning engineers draw up a comprehensive plan for Pampa covering land use, thoroughfares, housing, schools, central business districts, parks, open space, public buildings, capital expenditures, population, etc. The planning project was given to the city in three separate reports beginning in August 1969 with the final report in February 1970.

Currently the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission is working on a similar comprehensive plan project for the entire Panhandle region.

City Manager Wofford said today he wanted to inform HUD and the PRPC that Pampa already has its own comprehensive plan. The city manager's hope is that he can get approval of the local plan already completed from having to go through the whole project again in order to conform with regional planning. Pampa has not yet officially joined the regional group.

Wofford said that although the city was not a member of the PRPC it went through the procedure of HUD and HUD approval in connection with construction of Pampa's new water treatment plant now nearing completion.

The city was granted $650,000 in federal aid to complete the $14 million water treatment plant. The $650,000 was added to a $750,000 bond issue approved by city voters.

City Manager Wofford will meet at 9 a.m. tomorrow with Ernest Clark, PRPC executive director and members of the HUD Review Board. The meeting will be in the PRPC offices at Third and Polk Sts., Amarillo.

President On Way Home From Poland

WARSAW (AP) — President Nixon flew out of Warsaw for home today to report to Congress and the American people on his summit talks in four nations and the breakthrough arms limitation accords with the Soviet Union.

The President is to address a joint session of Congress at 9:30 p.m. half an hour after his jet is scheduled to land at Andrews Air Force base near Washington. The touchdown will end a 13-day summit tour that took Nixon to Austria, the Soviet Union, Iran and Poland.

The presidential press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said the main theme of Nixon's nationally broadcast address will be what has been accomplished and what now must be done.

Ziegler told newsmen before the departure from Warsaw that the President feels his talks with Soviet leaders in Moscow and the arms limitation accords are of such importance that he should report on them "at the earliest possible date."

Though Ziegler did not divulge details of the speech, all indications pointed to a presidential effort to sell Congress and the public on the arms accords he signed with Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Soviet Communist party chief.

Before leaving Warsaw his final stop, Nixon hosted a luncheon for the Polish leadership. He told the Poles in a farewell toast that members of Congress will appreciate the solid ties between Poland and the United States that were reinforced by his two-day visit.

His talks with the Polish Communist party leader, Edward Gierek, and Polish government leaders covered expansion of U.S. Polish trade, technological cooperation and other matters. A communique issued after the talks noted disagreement on Nixon's disarmament policy but stressed mutual desire for increased ties in commerce and tourism.

With this in mind the two sides discussed issues related to commercial exchange and financial and credit matters. The communique said the Polish side indicated an interest in increased purchases of capital goods, licenses and technology in the United States.

Sen. McGovern Rapped For Defense Cut Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon claims Sen. George McGovern has made a glaring $10.1 billion mistake in his calculations of proposed cuts in the Defense Department budget.

Releasing position papers to Congress just before the crucial California primary, a Pentagon spokesman said even at lowest estimates the McGovern cuts would emasculate defense capability, sending troop strength to pre-World War II levels.

The papers, an official appraisal of the South Dakota Democrat's alternative defense program, contend his proposed spending levels for defense would be sharply below any year in war and peace since 1950. They contend the total would be one-third lower than the average spent by the military in the peacetime decade beginning in 1956.

"We would move, under the McGovern proposals, to manpower and investment levels much lower than any since the Korean War, the NATO commitment and Soviet possession of nuclear weapons," the Pentagon appraisal said.

McGovern has proposed a military budget in fiscal 1975 of $54.8 billion compared to a Pentagon projection of $82 billion. That's 12.6 per cent more than current spending with the increases pegged mostly to price inflation and large pay hikes.

Robert C. Moot, the Defense Department's comptroller, declared the statement was issued following a 45-minute conversation this morning between Nixon and Gierek in the Palace of the Council of Ministers. Also sitting in were presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and the Polish premier, Piotr Jaroszewicz.

While they talked, Mrs. Nixon attended a Chopin recital in Lazienki Park across the street. She got a spontaneous farewell of shouted bravos and kisses on the hand when she rose to leave.

The President returns home with a major election-year triumph to lay before Congress and the American public in the arms limitation accords.

Though the agreements took effect on signing they were couched in part in the form of a treaty requiring ratification by two-thirds of the Senate.

Nixon's speech at 9:30 p.m. EDT will be broadcast nationwide.

Three IRA Leaders Arrested

DUBLIN (AP) — Authorities of the Irish Republic arrested three leaders of the Irish Republican Army's Provisional wing Wednesday and today but were unable to find a fourth.

The two arrested Wednesday were Joe Cahill, once the speaker of Provisional operations in Northern Ireland, and Rory O'Brady, president of the Provisional's political arm, Sinn Fein. They were held under the offenses against the state laws allowing police to keep them for 48 hours without formal charges.

Prison authorities said they went on a hunger strike.

O'Brady's brother, Sean, public relations director of Sinn Fein, was picked up today.

Sean Maestri, chief of staff of the Provisionals, evaded a police dragnet.

The official wing of the Irish Republican Army announced a cease-fire Monday night but the Provisionals have ignored it and kept up their campaign of violence in Northern Ireland.

Their headquarters is in Dublin, capital of the Irish Republic.

TEXAS POLITICS

Rivalry Getting Sharper As Runoff Approaching

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dolph Briscoe said in Dallas today that his Democratic opponent for governor, Mrs. Frances Farenthold, participated in filing of allegations that he uses back labor illegally on his South Texas ranch.

It is my belief, said Briscoe at a news conference, that the whole scheme was concocted and executed with her full knowledge and participation.

The allegations were made in affidavits from South Texas signed by seven civil rights workers or farm laborers. Only one would reveal his name, other than to Sen. Adlai Stevenson III, D-Ill., to whom the documents were sent.

Said Briscoe, the Justice Department stated only last month it investigated similar charges made by a member of La Raza Unida party and found out that as I have clearly stated before, I do not employ illegal aliens. This statement puts to rest completely allegations made by those trying to discredit me.

He called the allegations a shameful publicity stunt.

Stumping in West Texas Wednesday, Briscoe told a Lubbock dinner group that Mrs. Farenthold's plan to junk the statewide water plan is appalling. He said she favors scrapping the statewide plan in favor of one for West Texas only.

"I am appalled at the audacity of my opponents coming out here to West Texas and making such a blatantly phony appeal for your votes," he said. "It is irresponsible to suggest endangering the future of this area by putting forth such an obviously hopeless suggestion as to recommend that there will be a water plan for this area and this area only."

Briscoe said the only way to meet West Texas' water needs is to create a statewide plan of water management "and that is the kind of plan I will support."

Speaking in Dallas, Mrs. Farenthold said her race against Briscoe is a "battle between those of us who want state government to serve the people and the Austin lobbyists who are trying desperately to elect Mr. Briscoe and maintain their stranglehold on our government."

She claimed, if elected governor, she would cut off giveaways in the appropriations bill to narrow special interest groups.

In the GOP runoff for the governor's nomination, Albert Fay of Houston blasted his opponent, state Sen. Henry Grover, as an opportunist who has switched political parties to get votes where he could.

I didn't switch parties in 1966 like Grover did just because he found himself in a district that would elect only a Republican, Fay said.

Henry Grover brags about his election record but the fact is that he has never run against strong opposition before and he has never run in anything but a safe district as either a Democrat or a Republican, Fay claimed.

In the Democratic lieutenant governor's runoff race, Houston newspaper executive Bill Hobbs got the editorial endorsement of the San Antonio Express.

His opponent, state Sen. Wayne Connally, said in Dallas that it is questionable whether Hobbs can hold high public office without a blatant conflict of interest resulting.

Connally said Hobbs's newspaper, the Houston Post, has pressured other Texas newspapers into supporting Hobbs for lieutenant governor. He said other papers have shamelessly promoted Hobbs's private career.

The Democratic rivals for lieutenant governor traded more verbal punches as they appeared together on a Dallas telecast Wednesday night.

Hobbs asserted on the TV program that his opponent had used public office for private gain, citing a $3,000 deer lease on Connally ranch land by National Bankers Life Insurance Co. at the time the legislature was passing some bank bills which later figured in the Texas stock scandal.

The Houston candidate said that while he saw nothing illegal in the leasing arrangement, I happen to think a business arrangement between a state senator and John Osorio, president of National Bankers Life at precisely the time he was passing the Sharpstown bank bills is a serious issue. I don't think we need many more routine business deals like this.

The senator accused Hobbs of making a vitriolic attack on me and my character. He then reviewed an incident in which he said a Houston mother filed a complaint charging Hobbs with aggravated assault on her son 11-one in which Hobbs replied that he spanked a neighborhood bully for mistreating Hobbs's 3-year-old son.

10 GIs Killed Last Week In Viet War

SAIGON (AP) — North and South Vietnamese casualties have passed 60,000 in the first two months of the Communist command's offensive in the South. The Saigon command announced Thursday.

In a weekly casualty summary, the Saigon command said 754 South Vietnamese and 5,218 enemy troops were killed during the latest seven-day reporting period ending at midnight last Saturday. Another 2,781 South Vietnamese troops were wounded. The casualty summary said.

The latest casualties raised the official toll reported by the Saigon command for both sides to 62,129. Since the offensive began March 30, the Saigon command has reported a total of 6,425 South Vietnamese troops killed and 20,471 wounded, while claiming 35,233 enemy killed.

South Vietnamese losses, however, are reported to be much higher than those announced officially by the Saigon command each week. Reliable South Vietnamese sources said South Vietnamese regular army units suffered between 4,000 and 5,000 men killed and 15,000 wounded in April alone.

The weekly U.S. casualty report will be issued later Thursday.

South Vietnamese Renew Attacks On Reds Near Hue; 2 MIGs Downed

SAIGON (AP) — More than 1,000 South Vietnamese paratroopers and marines launched a new sweep with tanks 25 miles northwest of Hue today, trying to trap a North Vietnamese regiment. Enemy artillery caused light casualties, but no major ground fighting was reported.

In the air war, U.S. Air Force Phantoms shot down two North Vietnamese MIG21s with in 30 miles of the Chinese border Wednesday. No U.S. planes were reported lost in the dog fight, the closest to the border since the 1965-68 bombing campaign. But the U.S. Command said a Phantom returning from a strike in North Vietnam today crashed just before reaching its Thai base, and the two crewmen were rescued unhurt.

The U.S. Command said the two MIG21 interceptors were shot down within 15 minutes of each other at points 30 to 70 miles northeast of Hanoi by missiles from two F4 Phantoms based in Thailand. The MIGs apparently had been sent up from the Kep air base, 35 miles northeast of Hanoi, to challenge the bombers which the Phantoms were escorting.

North Vietnam also was hit from the sea. The heavy cruiser Newport News and the destroyer Waddell ranged for 100 miles along the coast firing at more than 30 targets. The Navy said one fuel depot was left in flames and more than 20 secondary explosions were observed at an ammunition dump.

Lebanese Forces Under Order To Respond To Israeli Raids

TEL AVIV (AP) — Guards armed with submachine guns patrolled Israel's international airport today following the terrorist massacre earlier this week and Lebanese forces were placed on the alert under orders to respond to any Israeli reprisal. The death toll in Tuesday's massacre rose to 26.

Lebanon alerted the U.N. Security Council to the possibility of Israeli retaliation for the massacre in which three Japanese hired by Palestinian guerrillas killed 24 persons and wounded 70 others in the Tel Aviv airport.

Most of the victims were Christian pilgrims from Puerto Rico. The 26th fatality, a middle-aged Puerto Rican Accompanying the ground sweep, Associated Press correspondent Holger Jensen reported that more than 1,000 paratroopers with scores of tanks and armored personnel carriers advanced through a North Vietnamese artillery barrage in the foothills northwest of Hue.

A blocking force of several hundred marines is also taking part in the operation.

More than 30 U.S. B52 bombers dropped 750 tons of explosives on the area in advance of the South Vietnamese ground troops. An overcast set in later, hampering support by smaller fighter bombers.

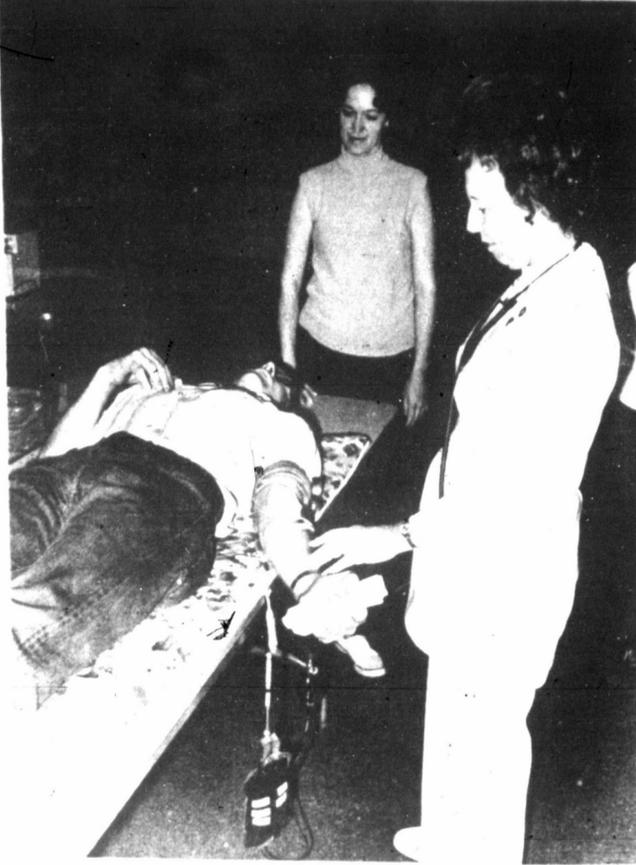

In the central highlands, South Vietnamese forces in Kontum reoccupied the area around the hospital Dr. Pat Smith of Seattle Wash. had operated for Montagnard tribesmen and the remaining patients and staff members were reported unharmed despite heavy fighting.

woman identified as Ornita Luba died today in a hospital near Tel Aviv. Two of the dead were Japanese terrorists. Lebanon feared an Israeli attack on the Beirut airport because a Palestinian guerrilla organization based in the Lebanese capital, the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, claimed responsibility for the massacre.

The Israeli government called on foreign airlines to make more effective checks of passengers and baggage. It also asked Japan to take all necessary measures to ensure the safety of passengers and crewmen of airlines flying to Israel "in accordance with international law and the international civil agreement."

IN KIDNAP-ROBBERY CASE FBI And Lawmen Hunt Gunman And Accomplice

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A mustachioed gunman was at large early today after he kidnaped a bank president Wednesday and gave him just three minutes to collect about $22,000 from his bank.

The banker's wife, held as a hostage, was found unharmed afterward in the trunk of her car, police said.

Rodeo Bids Deadline Extended

Top o' Texas Rodeo Association officials announced today insufficient bids had been received from Pampa organizations sponsoring youth groups and a new deadline of June 10 has been set to receive additional bids on concession booths to be operated during the rodeo. There will be no limitations as to the organizations involved.

May 26 was the original bid deadline, but insufficient interest was shown by groups who had operated the concessions in the past. TOT rodeo officials said.

All church groups, school organizations and others, as well as individuals, are eligible to bid on the 12 concessions available for the five nights of the Top o' Texas Rodeo, Aug. 1-5.

Any group or individuals interested in bidding may obtain information at the Rodeo office at the Chamber of Commerce.

Twelve booths will be available on the west side of the grandstand for selling hamburgers, hot dogs, coffee, pop, snow cones, cigars, candy, novelties, souvenirs and sundry items.

Holly Gray, president of the rodeo association, said every effort will be made to sell the concession booths to local organizations. However, if no interest is shown locally, the association would, of necessity, have to deal with out-of-town concessionaires in order to give the proper service to rodeo customers, he explained.

Even as authorities probed the city's third bank robbery in two weeks, another local bank reported an apparent extortion plot that fizzled early Wednesday afternoon.

Sought in the first extortion scheme was a young man with a mustache, flashy clothes and long dark hair who abducted B. R. Bentley, president of the Valley-Hi National Bank.

Bentley, who was released at the bank after he filled an attaché case with money, said he was confronted by the gunman when he answered the doorbell at his home early Wednesday morning.

"When I opened the door, I was looking into the end of a pistol," Bentley said.

The bank executive, 59, said he was forced to drive the bandit to his bank, where he was given "three minutes" to enter the firm and return with the attaché case filled with $20 bills.

The bandit remained in Bentley's car while he went inside, and he fled in the auto after receiving the money, Bentley said.

The car was later found abandoned at a nearby apartment complex early Wednesday afternoon.

At about the same time, far across the city at the American State Bank, officials said a man called with a demand that the bank place some money at a nearby motel in return for the safety of a bank executive.

But police said the executive was in no danger and apparently disregarded the call.

In the Bentley case, the FBI and local law officers sought not only the gunman but an accomplice.

Bentley said he never saw the accomplice but his wife, Oral, told police someone drove her around in her car for several minutes after her husband left with the gunman.

Bentley said the bandit was "very nice, courteous, but firm," and he backed up his requests with the pistol.

Bandit Hits Okla. Bank, Escaping With $50,000

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A gunman escaped with a pillowcase full of money Wednesday after a bank holdup that went smoothly until he walked out the door.

He struck the Northwest National Bank about 1:30 p.m., claiming to be a member of the San Diego Chargers football team to gain a business conference with bank president Dale Cain. Then he drew a pistol and demanded $50,000 in $100 and $50 bills.

The bandit tried to take two bank officers with him as he left, but they ducked at the front door. Then a motorist rounded the corner from the bank's drive-up window and the car knocked the robber to the ground. Cain said he did not appear to be injured.

The gunman had taken the president's car keys and tried to start the wrong auto on the parking lot. He continued his flight on foot as Cain and bank vice president Robert Pulley gave chase.

At a nearby house the bandit thrust his pistol at 89-year-old Sylvester Reddington and demanded a car. Reddington had no car.

The robber started running again. Pulley, who had followed in his auto, fired a shot at the man and the bandit fired one shot back, then commandeered a passing pickup driven by Troy Lee Hickey, 23.

Hickey and his companion, Claude W. Cornett, 17, were forced to drive the man to a big shopping center, where he disappeared on a crowded parking lot.

Police said that during the flight, the bandit dropped two $500 bundles of cash and his walkie-talkie radio.

United Methodists Table Report On Moral Issue

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Southwest Texas Methodist virtually dismissed a task force report on homosexuality and the church Wednesday. But a suspended minister whose case prompted the report said he would seek an audience with them today.

Delegates to the annual Southwest Texas United Methodist Conference voted overwhelmingly to table the controversial report which dealt with theological, ethical and sociological perspectives of homosexuality.

F. Gene Leggett of Dallas, who was suspended as a minister after he disclosed his homosexuality to conference delegates here last year, denounced the group's action.

By tabling the report, he said, the conference was symbolically tabling "thousands of gay brothers and sisters" and failing to recognize them as people.

Leggett said he hoped to address the conference today, although he did not disclose the contents of his speech beforehand.

A tall bearded man of 37 who wears flashy rings and hippie style clothes, Leggett lost his most recent bid for permission to return to the active ministry last Saturday.

His public disclosure of his homosexuality spurred his fellow Methodists last year to order the special task force report.

Prepared by a 10-man committee, the document offered 14 recommendations—including one calling for a study of the feasibility of appointing known homosexuals as pastors.

It also urged Methodists to be "open and receptive" to homosexuals and called on homosexuals in the church to "assist others to understand better the nature of homosexuality."

In a surprise move, the committee's chairman announced an amendment when he presented the report to the conference, deleting all the recommendations. The move still left a bulky report on the homosexual issue intact. The committee chairman, Rev. Sanford Coon of Austin, said later that the deletions were made because the task force felt it would help the delegates see the report itself for what it was intended—a tool for use in studying the matter of homosexuality and the church.

Pampan Jailed For Beating Man Severely

Frank Don Clinkscale, 37, was in city jail last night for beating a man severely. His beating was at Highland General Hospital for treatment but did not want to press charges because they were friends.

Pampa Police Officer Bryan Stafford answered a call to the 700 Block of West Kingsmill where the caller said a man was beating another to death.

According to the official report, a man dropped a rope and fled the scene when the police unit arrived. Stafford said he gave chase and subdued the man. He found another semi-conscious in the yard of an apartment building. An ambulance was summoned and took the injured man to the hospital.

According to the victim and witnesses, he was beaten with a rake, a rope and a board with a nail in it. The attacker also struck one of the witnesses when they went to the injured man's aid.

The victim said they were sitting in his yard drinking wine when the Clinkscale just went crazy, according to the report.

Texas Crafts Fair Continues

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP)—The first annual Texas Arts and Crafts Fair continued here today with a good turnout recorded opening day Wednesday. The exhibit of arts and craftwork by Texas artists is open through Sunday.

Some 2,100 persons from 21 states and 58 Texas counties were on hand for opening day.

"Everything has worked out beautifully," said Charles Horan, chairman of the board of the Texas Tourist Development Agency.

Stronger Against C

By BOB PRICE. At a time when the quest for gun control is once again subject of discussion debate, I want to make stand on this issue crystal clear.

When the Gun Control Act of 1968 was considered by House, I spoke in opposition and I voted against it. At time I thought the act ill-conceived, and I still do.

In the 90th Congress, again in the 91st Congress, and again in the current Congress, I have introduced legislation that would repeal Gun Control Act.

As an interim measure, introduced legislation repeals the recordkeeping requirements for shotgun rifle ammunition. I took that, even if the Congress not be disposed to repeal full act, it would favor repeal at least that portion of it that had proved particularly burdensome to those who deal in sporting ammunition.

I was gratified when both House and Senate during the 91st Congress exempt shotgun and ammunition from the act still need to free 22-caliber rimfire ammunition. Federal regulation: the passed a bill during the

Stronger Enforcement Of Laws Against Crimes Favored By Price

By BOB PRICE
At a time when the question of gun control is once again a subject of discussion and debate, I want to make my stand on this issue crystal clear.

When the Gun Control Act of 1968 was considered by the House, I spoke in opposition to it and I voted against it. At that time I thought the act was ill-conceived, and I still do.

In the 90th Congress, again in the 91st Congress, and still again in the current 92nd Congress I have introduced legislation that would repeal the Gun Control Act.

As an interim measure, I also introduced legislation repealing the record keeping requirements for shotgun and rifle ammunition. I took this approach because I thought that, even if the Congress would not be disposed to repealing the full act, it would favor repeal of at least that portion of the act that had proved to be particularly burdensome to those who deal in and use sporting ammunition.

I was gratified when both the House and Senate agreed during the 91st Congress to exempt shotgun and rifle ammunition from Federal regulation; the House passed a bill during the last Congress that would have done this, but the bill died in the Senate.

I introduced a bill in this Congress to accomplish the same thing and one similar to mine was reported out favorably by the Ways and Means Committee last November for action on the House floor, but it has not yet been acted on.

It is clear to me that gun crime is not the answer to crime in the United States. As long as criminals feel they can profit from crimes involving the use of guns, they will continue to use them—regardless of any law, federal or otherwise, to the contrary.

What we need instead of a federal gun control law is stronger enforcement of the laws we already have on the books: better wages, equipment and facilities for state and local police; stronger sentencing by the judiciary of those who are found guilty; reform of our present penal system to include teaching a man a meaningful job while he is serving his sentence; and provision for an automatic, mandatory increase of the penalty for any crime where a gun was used in committing it.

The practice of controlling undesirable shrubs was eliminated from the national Rural Environmental Assistance Program for 1972 because it was being used in many areas for unintended purposes.

Since controlling mesquite brush in Texas, however, was one of the intended purposes of REAP, I asked the U. S. Department of Agriculture for a clarification, and they have informed me that the practice of controlling mesquite brush may be included in local programs in 1972 upon recommendation of the State and county program development groups and approval by the national office.

Such a practice is permitted under "Practice F-2: County conservation practices," a category that is intended to cover practices which are not included in the national program but which are needed to meet particular conservation problems in a county.

When a practice involving the control of competitive shrubs on grazing lands is needed in a particular county for a sound conservation program, provision is made that the county program development group may develop a special county conservation practice to cover brush eradication measures that need to be performed on pasture or rangeland.

Two other programs are also at record levels—the farm ownership loan program with $350 million available and the emergency loan program with $140 million.

The new farm operating loan funds will be available through the Farmers Home Administration county offices and may be used to buy seed, feed, fertilizer, livestock, tractor fuel and other equipment and facilities needed to run a successful farming operation. FHA supplies this credit to family farmers who are unable to obtain conventional credit from regular sources at reasonable rates.

Teen-agers take to Chicken Tacos with Mexican salad.

Breakthrough In Teenage Eating

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Mexican-type food follows the route of such slightly spicy and chewy edibles as pizza. It is a breakthrough in teen-age eating, for example, and many a mother is surprised when her hot-dog-and-hamburger crew happily appears at the table for Chicken Tacos. Chicken is simmered with canned green chilies in rich tomato sauce with tomato bits, then spooned into tortillas and fried until crisp and golden. Tortillas are available in most supermarkets now, either in cans or frozen. Prepare these ahead of time, if desired. Wrap tightly in foil or plastic wrap and refrigerate. Just before serving, crisp by cooking in hot oil. Serve with a Mexicana salad and top with avocado slices.

CHICKEN TACOS

- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup diced green pepper
- Pure vegetable oil
- 2 cups cubed cooked chicken
- 1 (15-ounce) can tomato sauce with tomato bits
- 2 to 4 tablespoons chopped canned green chilies, drained

- 1 teaspoon salt
- 12 corn tortillas (canned or frozen)
- 1/2 cup diced Jack or Cheddar cheese

Mexicana Salad (optional)

Cook onion and green pepper in 2 tablespoons pure vegetable oil until tender. Stir in chicken, tomato sauce with tomato bits, chilies and salt. Heat to simmering and keep warm. Fry each tortilla 1 minute in 1/4-inch oil to soften. Drain and keep warm between layers of paper towels. Stir cheese into chicken mixture. Spoon chicken mixture on each tortilla; roll. In 1/2-cup oil, fry filled tortillas until crisp, beginning seam side down. Serve with Mexicana salad, if desired. Makes 6 main

EASIER TO SERVE
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A hot lunch program developed here a year ago in Catholic schools is catching on in schools that lack modern kitchens, reports Dr. John F. Murphy, president of Swift Food Service and a member of the National Advisory Council on child nutrition. The Philadelphia system has hot entrees in easy-to-open cans which are heated in an oven dispenser operating on normal house current.

servings, or 12 snack servings.

MEXICANA SALAD

Shred 1 small head iceberg lettuce and toss with 6 thinly sliced radishes, 1/4-cup canned sliced pitted ripe olives and 1/2- to 3/4-cup prepared oil and vinegar dressing. Arrange on serving plates. Top with hot Chicken Tacos and avocado slices.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)
Olive oil gets cloudy when you refrigerate it, but the cloudiness is harmless.

For a good-looking top crust, brush pastry with unbeaten egg white and sprinkle with sugar before baking.

STUFFED FILLETS — Blue cheese goes into the bread-crumbs stuffing and enlivens it.

Blue Cheese Fish Stuffing

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor
If you want to serve fish fillets to company, one of the best things you can do with them is to stuff them. This way they look and taste festive.

The following recipe has an interesting stuffing — blue cheese goes into it and the cheese contributes zing. When we offered this dish at our house it was highly approved. We think you'll like it, and it's easy to prepare. We got it ready several hours ahead, then baked it just in time for serving.

FISH ROLLUPS WITH BLUE CHEESE STUFFING
1/2 cup butter
1/4 cup minced parsley
1 small or medium tomato,
coarsely chopped
1/2 cup minced celery
1/4 cup firmly packed blue cheese
3 cups soft bread crumbs
1 egg, well beaten
1/2 teaspoon salt
6 flounder fillets, 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 pounds
Juice of 1 lemon
In a 10-inch skillet over low heat melt 1/4 cup of the butter; add parsley, tomato and celery and cook, stirring often, for about 10 minutes. Remove from heat. Crumble in cheese, then add crumbs, egg and salt; mix well.
Spread mixture on fish fillets and roll up each fillet; fasten each with 1 or 2 toothpicks.
Butter an oblong 1 1/2-quart glass baking dish (10 by 6 by 1 3/4 inches) or similar utensil. Place stuffed fish rolls in dish. Melt remaining 1/4 cup butter; mix in lemon juice; pour over fish rolls.
Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until fish is opaque through and flakes easily when tested with a fork — about 30 minutes. Good served with the juices spooned over rice.
Makes 6 servings.

The number of hunting licenses sold in the United States climbed to a record high in 1971. Ringing church bells does nothing to appease thunderstorms. France outlawed the practice in 1786 after a 33-year period in which lightning killed 103 bellringers hopelessly tugging rain-wet bellropes.

Let Them Eat Toast

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor
Every time we serve Heavenly Toast tasters want the recipe. It's hard to believe that such a simple snack can be so popular. We've given the basic directions before, but the variation — Sesame Toast — is new.

Serve this toast (either version) absolutely plain. To top it with a spread is unnecessary; as a matter of fact the spread will only obstruct the flavor.

We use lightly salted butter when we make this snack. But a friend of ours who is on a salt-free diet reminds us that the gluten bread called for is unsalted and so she makes Heavenly Toast with unsalted (sweet) butter. She says that this salt-free version is excellent.

HEAVENLY TOAST
1 loaf (8 ounces) gluten bread,
17 slices excluding ends
1/2 cup butter, soft
Cut away crusts from bread or leave them on, just as you like. Do not use ends of bread for this toast. Spread one side of each slice of bread with butter. Cut each slice into 4 small triangles.

Arrange triangles in a single layer on 2 large cookie sheets. Bake one cookie sheet at a time on middle rack of a preheated 325-degree oven until lightly browned and crisp — 20 to 25 minutes.
Cool toast on wire racks; store in a tightly covered tin box. Serve "as is" without a spread.

Makes 68 small buttered toast triangles.
Sesame Toast: Use 1 loaf (8 ounces) gluten bread (17 slices excluding ends) and 1/2 cup soft butter. Cut away crusts from bread or leave them on, just as you like. Do not use ends of bread for this toast. Spread one side of each slice of bread with butter. Cut each slice into 2 triangles; sprinkle each triangle with 1/8 teaspoon sesame seed. Bake, store and serve as directed above. Makes 34 large buttered toast triangles.

Americans drink 40 per cent of the world's coffee, averaging about 2 1/2 cups a day.

Liberal Arts Degree Opens Door to Many Occupations

By ERNIE HOOD

Because a liberal arts education does not offer a direct path to a specific occupation, many young people feel like "a jack of all trades but master of none."

But this doesn't really hold true, for as Gloria Stevenson notes in the current issue of the Labor Department's Occupational Outlook Quarterly, a wide variety of employment opportunities is available in both the public and private sectors.

It is true, however, that new liberal arts graduates may face employment difficulties not generally encountered by college graduates who have received occupational preparation in such technical fields as accounting or engineering.

To minimize employment difficulties, it is highly essential that the liberal arts student develop career goals as early as possible—although this does not necessarily mean specialization in one occupational area, but rather the realization of what vocational interests and talents are.

Following is a group of occupational areas which are generally open to liberal arts graduates who have majored in any subject:

Administration—Administrators who insure that programs and procedures operate smoothly and efficiently.

Advertising—Various types of jobs in this field—copywriters, media directors or time/space buyers.

Art-related Jobs—Museums generally reserve professional positions for those who hold advanced degrees, but clerical positions are open to those with bachelor's degrees.

Banking—There's a wide range of positions that include loan officers, trust officers, branch bank managers, international officers and others.

Book Publishing—Liberal arts graduates probably hold most of the positions.

Computer Programming—Many liberal arts grads are hired into training courses.

Industrial Traffic Management—Those who take courses in transportation management, economics, statistics, marketing or commercial law may qualify in this field.

Insurance—While employers seldom specify formal educational requirements, a liberal arts background coupled with sales ability is helpful in this field.

Magazine Publishing—Many liberal arts majors who are interested in writing in general or within specific subject areas often find their interests satisfied through magazine jobs.

Newspaper Reporting—It holds true here, too, and although many editors prefer journalism graduates a sizable number of liberal arts majors find their places in the newsrooms.

Personnel Administration—Nearly all types of business and government organizations employ workers who plan and administer personnel programs, and recruiters for these jobs look for graduates who have better-than-average ability to work with people and who can also speak and write effectively.

Purchasing—Although firms which hire purchasing agents are increasingly seeking persons who have completed business administration programs, liberal arts grads should be able to obtain some training positions.

Sales—In addition to the selling jobs in specialized occupational fields, several types of sales positions are open to liberal arts graduates—manufacturers' sales representatives who sell mainly to other businesses, sales involving securities such as stocks and bonds, etc.

Government—Many liberal arts grads work for state, local and federal government agencies and some also work for the legislative branch.

Liberal arts graduates earn an average starting salary of about $690 a month. Encouragingly enough, studies indicate that those with 10 to 15 years experience often earn as much as graduates from other fields.

McGovern Versus GOP Businessmen

NEW YORK (AP)—The possibility that Sen. George McGovern will be the Democratic presidential candidate is being considered much more seriously in Republican business circles.

Concern or perhaps even fear seems to be showing.

"This is one time when the victor will make a difference," says Dr. Pierre Rinfret, a Republican, sometime adviser to President Nixon and full-time economic analyst and consultant for a list of blue-chip corporations.

McGovern's election, says Rinfret in a confidential report to his clients, could create a recession.

"The senator is talking about redoing and restructuring society. Such far-reaching changes as the senator is suggesting could create enough uncertainty and cutbacks in capital spending to lead to either economic stagnation or a recession."

The South Dakotan's election, says Rinfret, "would create hesitancy, fear and uncertainty." The parallel, he stated, "would be the economic inaction among businessmen which followed the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Rinfret prefaces his analysis with the comment that "we want to make it quite clear that we neither espouse nor denounce" the McGovern candidacy. But he states "we are convinced that the election could materially change the short-term outlook for business in 1973."

The main reasons for Rinfret's view are summarized in what he concedes is a greatly abbreviated analysis of the McGovern platform, which he says calls for:

—An increase in corporate taxes that would, in effect, return the tax rate to the 1960 level and draw $18 billion from corporate treasuries.

—An increase in personal taxes for the "rich," which Rinfret interprets to mean anyone earning more than $12,000 a year.

—An increase in government spending. By closing "loopholes" and by raising taxes on the "rich" and on corporations, federal receipts would be increased by $80 billion.

CITY HALL ON WHEELS

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP)—If you can't get down to city hall it will come to you—on wheels.

George Conway, 43, who operates the mobile city hall, took on the job when economic cutbacks forced him out of his $16,000-a-year post as an aerospace technician. His municipal salary is much smaller—$7,800 a year—but he likes his job as everything from building inspector to public relations man.

U.S. Army Announces Bonus Plan

The United States Army announces a special bonus plan for young men enlisting in certain careers in the infantry, armor and artillery. The plan calls for payment of $1,500 for a four-year enlistment.

The bonus is payable in full following successful completion of basic and advanced training. This normally occurs about four months after enlistment, depending on the career field selected, according to Sgt. Kenneth Baker, local recruiter.

Men with prior service are eligible for the bonus plan if they have less than three years active service, have not previously received a reenlistment bonus and meet certain other requirements.

Besides professional training, young men in the bonus plan will also be eligible to volunteer for the widest range of enlistment travel options ever offered by the Army. These include guaranteed assignments in Europe, Alaska, Hawaii, Far East and Panama, as well as units of choice in different parts of the United States.

'Token' Candidate Likely To Become Texas Next Governor?

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

Texas' next governor likely will be a person that the state capitol's so-called political observers once called a "token" candidate.

It took the decision of Texas voters to change the status of Dolph Briscoe and Mrs. Frances Farenthold, Democratic runoff candidates for the nomination for governor.

"When I first started my campaign they called me a 'token' candidate," Mrs. Farenthold tells her political campaign rallies. "And that was right because by some of the political polls—those made by other candidates because I could not afford one myself—only about 3 per cent of those polled had ever heard of me.

"Then after my campaign gained some strength, they began to call me the 'spoiler.' I was not favored to win anything but I just might get enough votes to 'spoil' someone else's political plans. Which is just what happened and now I am in the runoff with a chance to win."

Briscoe's entry into the Texas governor's race in 1968 was just about as inauspicious. Everybody thought he was a nice guy but why in the world did a rich South Texas rancher want to be governor and how did he think he could ever get anywhere against such proven vote getters and campaign organizers as Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, Speaker Ben Barnes, former Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr and the chosen one of Texas liberal Democrats, Don Yarborough?

Briscoe appeared almost bashful when he talked in public. His wife, Janey, told reporters about his itinerary from her kitchen telephone. Uvalde neighbors pitched in to clean out an old wool warehouse, owned by the Briscoes, to make it presentable as the state political headquarters then many of them volunteered to staff the campaign headquarters.

But when the voting was over in the first primary of 1968, he ran fourth in a field of 10 candidates. Smith, Yarborough and Carr got more votes, but those trailing Briscoe included the Houston millionaire attorney John Hill and the late Eugene Locke, who was pushed by supporters of Gov. John B. Connally after Connally decided not to seek a fourth term.

Briscoe did not challenge Smith for a second term in 1970 but he quickly announced he would be a candidate in 1972 whether Smith ran again and whether Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, supposedly one of the strongest political potentials in the state, sought the governorship or not. Barnes and Smith did decide to run, but finished third and fourth respectively on May 6 after Briscoe and Farenthold, the former "token" candidates.

Both the runoff candidates built their successful campaign organizations around volunteers—guided by experienced, expert campaign professionals.

"In county after county I find that my manager is a person who has never been in politics before," said Mrs. Farenthold. Many of her headquarters workers are college and high school youths, willing to work long hard hours just for the thrill of being a part of a political campaign.

But directing the Farenthold campaign of volunteers are a handful of fully experienced campaign strategists, many who served in the many campaigns of former Sen. Ralph Yarborough for governor and for U.S. Senator.

However, his extensive radio and television coverage was directed by a prominent, successful Houston advertising firm and by an out-of-state political professional with a long string of political victories.

Still, when the results of the May 6 upset became known, Briscoe was not in the state capitol to accept the plaudits in a proper victory atmosphere arranged by his professionals. He was in Uvalde caught there by a thunderstorm and tornado warning while making one last visit with his neighbors.

PPSS Plans To Set Up Outdoor Classrooms To Be Used As Environmental Laboratories

Editor's Note: This is the second part of a two-part series on the environmental laboratories of the Pampa Public School system.

By LARRY HOLLIS

The Pampa Public School system has been working to establish a series of outdoor classrooms to be used as environmental laboratories.

Two have been developed, one at Horace Mann Elementary and one at Lee Junior High. But plans are being made to greatly expand the system—if enough interest prevails.

As currently set up, the labs will be used to supplement the students' studies of ecology and the environment.

"These labs will hopefully evolve into the child's awareness of all the environment and the balance of nature," Jerry Cronister, coordinator of elementary education, said.

The outdoor projects "are highly significant and highly desirable for the High Plains," Dr. James F. Malone, school superintendent, said. "So much of our lives are related to the outdoors."

Dr. Malone noted that most of us work and live in the outdoors at some time in our lives, yet most do not really understand it.

The concept of the environmental labs is fairly common in other parts of the nation, according to Mickey Black, Soil Conservation Service district conservationist. But it's just now getting started in Texas.

The SCS has offered much assistance for the local programs and also has projects underway at McLean.

C. A. Rechenthin, state resource conservationist with SCS at Temple, spent a day in Pampa meeting with teachers and school officials to provide information on the project.

Barbara Lund, park naturalist at Sanford-Fritch, also held a workshop session for elementary and secondary teachers to give advice on the ecology aspects.

"She really made us aware," Mrs. Otto Mangold, Lee science teacher said. "She really woke us all up to what was going on."

So the school system has had some expert help in establishing the labs.

In addition to the aids of various agencies, the projects have also received some local help. Members of the Pampa Garden Clubs presented a series of different curriculum guides to many of the teachers and have offered other assistance.

To date the school has provided very little for the projects.

"It was not a budgeted item," Dr. Malone noted.

Students at Mann provided their own money. Seed companies have furnished many of the plant seeds. And all the help has been voluntary.

The schools had sought funds for the Lee project from the state but were turned down.

But Dr. Malone is hoping to get some funds or grants. He was to visit the Texas Division of Education Study in an effort to check to see if grants or other means of funding are available.

"It has my full blessing and support," he said, noting that more attention will be given to the projects if the teachers and students show they are willing to continue "the hard work."

The labs will serve "as focal point—not all inclusive," Cronister said.

All the labs would be used for different aspects of ecology and study, he said.

The lab at Mann, already underway, is geared to the ecology study of seasonal changes.

In the planning stage, the lab at Baker Elementary would be directed to the earth sciences, using a lot of rocks, while the lab at Wilson would concern prehistoric life, using fossils and pictures.

"We're thinking in the future about the possibility of using the parks adjacent to Austin and Sam Houston (Elementary Schools)," Cronister said, noting they are already a natural lab.

In addition, Red Deer Creek is being utilized by both secondary and elementary students. Mrs. Paul Keim has been taking her elementary students to the creek for study.

Mrs. Joe Daniel, Lee teacher, has been taking students to the creek once a month. There they have been taking pictures of certain areas to make comparisons of the seasonal changes.

Lamar and Travis have no plans at this time.

But students from all the schools would take field trips to the different labs to study all the projects and gain the benefit of such observations, Cronister said. Plans for Lee call for dirt to be banked up against the building between the ninth and eighth grade wings to allow study of erosion problems.

"It's not one of those beautifully finished things right now, but it's a start," Mrs. Jarjorie Gaut, director of the division of education services, said.

She noted that the officials and teachers had developed "rather ambitious plans" at the start of the project. Although they did not get the state funds they had sought, they haven't completely abandoned the plans.

"We feel they're very worthwhile," Mrs. Gaut said.

In addition to the embankments, officials hope to have a small pond. Also, different areas would be set up using three types of rocks—sedimentary, igneous and metamorphic, Mrs. Mangold explained.

Other plans for the labs include a possible garden at Pampa High School for botany studies, access from the science rooms to the outdoor labs at Mann, Baker and Wilson (all three labs are set up in an interior courtyard in the buildings) and possible fenced-in areas at the other elementary schools, Dr. Malone said.

"The key to all of this is the teachers," he added, noting that their enthusiasm has been responsible for the development of the projects.

But Dr. Malone also said the interest will have to continue if the labs are to remain.

DO-IT-YOURSELF

By MR. FIX

Sidewalks are pretty durable but they don't last forever. A rough winter, heavy spring rains both take their toll. Cracks turn into large breaks and loose dirt underneath may wash away causing the sidewalk to settle or break or both.

The result is a sidewalk that is unsafe. Let someone trip over it and you may have a lawsuit on your hands.

If you want to avoid the heavy job of lifting and leveling, then repair cracks as soon as they appear. This will prevent them from getting bigger, will also keep water from getting underneath, which in turn loosens the base.

Enlarge the crack so that it is larger at the bottom than the top. Use a hammer and cold chisel. Clean out loose material. Wet thoroughly and fill with concrete patch.

Make the patch slightly higher, then level it. Keep wet for a few days until the patch is thoroughly hard.

If the rest of the sidewalk is smooth, use a wood float to make the patch smooth. If the sidewalk is rough, then use a metal trowel.

When a sidewalk has settled so that it is out of level with the rest of the walk, you will have to lift it and add material under it to raise the level of the base.

Don't try to lift more than one section. Several sections may be in one slab about 12 feet long. If the slab has not cracked at one of the cross lines already, you will have to crack it with a cold chisel.

Loosen the soil along the edge and remove from under the walk a strip of dirt the same depth as the sunken slab and a few inches wide. Use a crowbar to raise the edges all around. Don't lift, just free the edges.

Then lift one edge and work a block underneath it. Get it up about a foot or so and prop it with short lengths of two-by-fours.

Use gravel or cinders for fill. Shovel them under the slab and spread and level with a rake. Never reach under the slab. Break up chunks.

Repeat the process all around. For lifting, use a two-by-four with scrap lumber for leverage. If you've done a good job loosening with crowbar you should have little trouble. It's smart however to get someone to help you with the job. And keep youngsters away from the site.

Remember to repair the crack between sections of the slab. You can make a fast repair by sealing the crack with asphalt and sprinkling sand on it so that you can walk over it.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I think I can top the story about the couple who announced at their 25th wedding anniversary party that they were getting a divorce:

On Sunday, March 5th of this year, our minister announced from the pulpit that he was leaving in June for a new assignment. He said that he and his wife were being divorced, after which he would marry a local medical doctor's wife, who was going with him to his new assignment.

He also announced that the doctor, who was standing beside him in the pulpit, would marry HIS wife. [There were five children involved.]

The minister and his wife had sung a duet that day, and the doctor, who was a church official, had read the scriptures for the service.

The above is absolutely true. I witnessed it, and am enclosing the names of all the parties involved if you wish to check it out. Being unable to stay in such a church, I left it immediately and joined another one.

"TOPPER" IN TAFT, CAL.

DEAR TOPPER: I am frequently accused of making up letters, but I have neither the talent nor the imagination to come up with anything as fantastic as some of the real life situations that readers send me. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: My son has just become engaged. His mother and I are divorced and I am remarried. My son has invited my wife and me to his wedding.

However, the bride's mother has decided that she wants only four others in the reception line with the bridal couple, namely the parents of the bride and the parents of the groom.

That means I am asked to stand in line with my former wife while my present wife has no part in it.

My son is urging me strongly to go along with this although I have told him that I do not feel right about it.

I don't wish to oppose my son on this day of all days, but I cannot help but feel that such a decision clearly disregards my feelings and the feelings of my present wife.

What can you advise me? UPSET

DEAR UPSET: Go along with your son's wishes. Often, when mother and dad are divorced and remarried, Number Two is not even invited to the wedding.

DEAR ABBY: Pertaining to the woman whose hair was all chopped off in a beauty parlor—she wanted to know what recourse she had—I would like to relate my experience:

I went to a beauty parlor and told the operator that I wanted her to just cut off the dead ends, but she gave me a haircut so short I looked like a man. I had to buy a wig in order to go to work.

I took that beauty parlor to Small Claims Court for the price of the wig and court costs. I'll admit there was quite a bit of time and trouble involved, but it was well worth it. I won my case.

It wasn't the money, it was the principle of the thing! AVENGED

DEAR AVENGED: You could be the exception, but when somebody says, "It's not the money, it's the principle of the thing," it's usually the money.

DEAR ABBY: I have always heard that girls dig guys who have a lot of hair on their chests. I am 26 years old and I don't have any hair on my chest at all, and that's my problem.

Do you know of anything that will grow hair, Abby? I am so hairless I am ashamed to take off my shirt. APACHE IN OKLAHOMA

DEAR APACHE: I know of nothing that will grow hair on your chest, but I am told that you can buy a "stick on" hairy chest that looks and feels like the real thing. Inquire where hair goods are sold.

TO DANCE SATURDAY—Students of Madeline Graves' School of Dance will present their sixth annual production, entitled "Under the Big Top," at 8 p.m. Saturday in the M.K. Brown Auditorium. To present an acro-quartet number are, left to right, Lisa Schaub, Jana Swope, Becky Thompson, and Kebby Saulsbury. In addition to tap, jazz, ballet and acrobatic numbers, will be the ballet, "The Magnificent Toy Shop," with original choreography by Mrs. Graves. Guest performers will be members of the Ballet of the Golden Spread, composed of students from Pampa, Borger and Amarillo.

FRIDAY, JUNE 2

Your birthday today: Finds you combining your own observations with advice to achieve a more effective position in the material world. The immediate three weeks are of critical importance in that your direction has to be established now. Today's natives tend to ambition, daydreaming, and restless relocation.

Aries (March 21-April 19): If matters don't fall into place early, let them go with as little as you can manage. Today's arrangements all have to be done over anyway.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): The bright ideas of the morning hours will have you picking up the pieces all day. Avoid extra questions.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Most of the things you do today create more things to do later, while closing out very few issues at the moment. Don't get overly serious.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): You involve yourself in more than you can finish. Unless you're ready for a major overhaul of home or working space, let well enough alone.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Hold to your original plan, taper down on what you started before you let distractions pull you off into too broad a field. Experimenting comes spontaneously.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Start early, clear off the details that are important to you, as the day and night continue with complex moods and shifts of circumstances.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Confidence doesn't need an aggressive attitude; unplanned situations open chances for the flowering of numerous creative ideas.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Adjustments have to be made and you may as well make them gracefully before others make them independently. Express your real feelings.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): An early start is significant in today's activities. Friends are interesting and useful, but likely to absorb much time and energy.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Announce your program promptly, so that those who want changes can decide where to begin. Few of today's decisions will hold.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Go underground with quiet search for some way to achieve your personal goals. Direct cooperation seems out of reach for the time being.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): There's enough to do without beginning new programs. The week-end already seems overscheduled before you even get to it. Try for one thing at a time.

When you can postpone the play of a key suit to the last few cards you can usually obtain an accurate count.

South notes that his four-card spade suit is duplicated in dummy. He also notes that the queen of clubs is going to be his one problem.

He decides to start with spades. West shows out on the second spade and discards three hearts.

Now South takes the remaining two hearts and notes that East discards two clubs while West follows suit.

At this point, South knows that East must have started with exactly seven cards in the major suits and East with exactly five.

South can go further with his count. He cashes all the diamonds and East shows out on the third lead.

Now South has a complete count. East held four spades, one heart and two diamonds. That left him with six clubs.

As a check, West held one spade, six hearts and five diamonds. That left him with only one club.

Now South leads a club to dummy's ace. On the second lead of clubs he fineses against East with complete certainty of success.

One of my favorite all-time advertisements on television is the Peace Corps commercial that shows a partially-filled glass of water. The question asked is, do you see a half-full or a half-empty glass?

I've never yet known anybody who admitted to seeing the glass as half empty.

We agree that lots of people, those people, everybody else, that is, have the wrong attitude. But, we have the right attitude, don't we?

That's why other people have problems but we face challenges.

And why those people are ignorant but we're uninformed. We say he has a dominant character but she is overbearing.

Or, he is decisive while she acts on impulse. Nobody admits to being just average. But, why is it that you're a weirdo while I'm unique?

How does it happen that I'm tone deaf but he sings off key. Isn't it interesting that I'm cautious but he's scared?

Isn't it wonderful that: Your children are hyper-active instead of uncontrolled; you are forceful, he is bossy; you are concerned, he is neurotic; you're sentimental, she's mawkish; you're helpful, he's meddlesome; you're curious, she's nosy; you're thrifty, he's a penny-pincher; you're frugal, he's a Scrooge; you're friendly, she's a gusher; you're well-informed, she's a know-it-all.

News In Knits Makes Summer Travel Fun

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Let's get away from it all. Summer '72 is the time to travel and the news in knits makes getting there half the fun—they're great traveling companions.

Latest in knit news for summer are the "his" and "hers" knits.

Knockout knits in soft, stretch terry, lush cotton and wonderful blends—long, short and middle lengths for day and evening—spell out a fashion story that made headlines recently at King's Inn in Freeport, Grand Bahama Island and will have top billing at all resorts as the summer wears on. Clear bold colors stand out against sea and sand—nauticals in blue and white add red for a touch of old faithful. Red and purple combine in variegated stripes. And Aztec prints and animal patterns are fresh and charming new looks.

Pattern-on-pattern separates in Antron/nylon or Dacron/cotton are great put-togethers while layers with the look of boucle make for fine fashion in a note of practicality.

What's a Nice Actress Like Shirley MacLaine Doing in Politics?

By RALPH NOVAK

NEW YORK (NEA)—Here is Shirley MacLaine, wearing her McGovern button.

There is Shirley MacLaine, making a speech in support of McGovern.

Everywhere is Shirley MacLaine, almost as much a fixture on Sen. George McGovern's campaign route as campaign manager Gary Hart or press secretary Frank Mankiewicz.

It isn't surprising if people are suspicious. The spurious celebrity endorsement is, after all, a chronic American tradition. Wilt Chamberlain sells hair tonic he doesn't use. Art Linkletter sells insurance he doesn't need. John Wayne sells a war he isn't fighting in.

But Miss MacLaine—a serious, intense woman, ages removed from Irma La Douce or the girl in "The Apartment"—has thrown herself with McGovern lock, stock and commitment.

"You can't fool people," she said recently at her Manhattan apartment, which is an unofficial McGovern campaign office. "I can get my foot in the door because COMMITMENT is what makes Shirley MacLaine, the political activist, run. With Sen. and Mrs. George McGovern looking on, she cuts the cake at a birthday party (hers) on the campaign trail.

I'm Shirley MacLaine the actress but if I can't talk to people about what George McGovern stands for, nobody is going to listen to me."

So she talks for two hours about McGovern and the war ("He showed incredible foresight in speaking out on the war long before anyone else"); about McGovern and tax policy ("We have to equalize the tax burden in this country"); about McGovern and honesty ("We need somebody we can trust in Washington so we can wake up in the morning and know the government isn't owned by anybody").

Political activism is nothing new for Miss MacLaine, whose extra-curricular crusading began in 1960, six years after her movie debut, when she, Marlon Brando and Robert Ryan visited California Gov. Pat Brown in a futile attempt to persuade him to commute the death sentence of kidnaper Caryl Chessman.

"It just offended my value system that they were going to kill a man," she said. "There is no such thing as disassociating yourself from these tragedies."

During the '60s, Miss MacLaine campaigned for John and Robert Kennedy and Adlai Stevenson in between film roles and occasional self-educating trips to exotic corners of the world (she's studied the life-style of the Masai peoples of East Africa, Buddhism of Bhutan). She was a California delegate to the 1968 Democratic convention and she was one of a handful of show business personalities who accompanied the body of Robert Kennedy to New York after his assassination.

"When Robert Kennedy died, we were left leaderless," she said. "So when somebody asked me if I would hold a fund-raising party for George McGovern, I agreed even though I didn't know anything about him then."

Since then she has come to respect McGovern as "a man who believes in political humanism, not political pragmatism, someone who is more concerned with human values than political maneuvering." And she is now working full time on his campaign.

Miss MacLaine plans to return to films after the election but says she might be coaxed into government work: "I couldn't take something where I had to sit at a desk all the time but a job where I could move around might be different." How much McGovern profits from Miss MacLaine's work is a moot point.

Politicians have always welcomed entertainers, however, because they draw crowds and the votes and campaign dollars those crowds bring with them. And the Democratic National Committee is planning a 19-hour network telethon for July 8-9 that will use the services of 100 entertainers, including Miss MacLaine, in an attempt to whittle at the Democrats' $9.3 million debt.

This may turn out to be the celebrity endorsement syndrome gone wild, but Democratic National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien says he is aware of that danger.

"What we have been doing all these years is asking entertainers to do things like performing at a fund-raising dinner," O'Brien said. "I would like to weave them more into the ideology of this campaign."

Miss MacLaine wouldn't argue with him.

"I don't know what makes somebody like Pierre Salinger more qualified than me to talk about politics," she said. "I'm involved in what goes on in this country, too. I've been hit over the head and mugged in front of Bloomingdale's and in the last apartment I had here I was robbed six times in two months."

She says that people respond to her ideas as well as her name and her face—"A lot of people write to say I've convinced them about McGovern."

But what is in all this for Miss MacLaine, who is financially and professionally secure?

"You can't escape from the problems we have in America no matter who you are," she said.

A Drive-It-Yourself Vacation

By CARLTON SMITH

Next to riding with the hoboes on a freight train, possibly the least expensive form of vacation travel (and a whole lot classier than the freight train) is driving someone else's car. Generally, your only cost is for oil and gas; in some cases you'll even find that paid for you.

There are hundreds of "drive-away" or auto transportation company offices in cities throughout the country, and if you're not bound to rigid departure and arrival dates, chances are you can connect with some driverless car that has to be delivered somewhere near your destination, at least, at approximately the time you want to go.

For the driver, there aren't many catches in all this.

(It's the owners of the cars who take on some risks.) You're given plenty of time to get to your destination; the companies don't want the cars pushed, or drivers under pressure. In case of accident, damage is covered by company insurance, with no driver liability unless you're guilty of negligence.

Where do all the driverless autos come from? Some are rental cars being shifted around. Many belong to vacationers who can afford the luxury of flying, and sending their cars on ahead. Others belong to two-car families moving cross-country. The auto-transportation companies are in the business of delivering these cars to their owners, at fees controlled by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

As a driver, you get on a company's list and wait for the next car going to New York, San Francisco, Sioux City, El Paso, or wherever you're headed. Or you can specify a future date, and the company will match it as nearly as possible to its delivery schedule.

In many cases you can arrange, ahead of time, to drive another car back on your return trip. Most of the time, though, the return is chancy. Much depends on seasonal flows. In November and December, there's little problem in arranging a trip to Florida, southern California or resort areas of the southwest. At the present time of year the heaviest traffic is to the West Coast, and northward.

To qualify as a driver you have to be an adult, licensed driver with acceptable identification and references. The ICC requires a physical examination, mostly to check eyesight, for which you'll pay around $5.

You'll probably have to put up a deposit, typically $50, which the owner of the car refunds when the car is delivered to him. (Don't turn over the keys until you've got your deposit back, and make sure that all damage to the car—dents and scratches, damaged upholstery, etc.—is listed on the manifest before you leave.)

You can take one or two passengers, if they're registered and approved, but don't plan on picking up a load of fun-loving friends to make a fun-filled junket of it, unbeknownst to the company. If anything goes wrong, you're on the hook.

It's the owner of the car, however, who's more likely to find himself impaled. Consumer agencies have filed complaints about such cases as these:

The owner of a car en route from New York to Florida got a report from the North Carolina Highway Patrol saying the driver had gone to sleep and hit a barricade. But the drive-away company said the accident was caused by "operational failure," there was no driver negligence, and no company liability for the extensive damage.

Another owner has been waiting two years to receive his car—or a replacement. Maryland authorities said the car was demolished in a crash there; again the company laid it to "operational failure" and said it had no liability.

Draft Call For July Announced

The July draft call for Texas has been announced by Col. Melvin N. Glantz, the state director of Selective Service for Texas.

Men in the 1972 first priority selection group with lottery number 50 or lower will be issued induction orders with reporting dates in July.

This priority selection group is made up of men born in calendar year 1952 and of men who lose a deferment during calendar year 1972.

John Rankin, chairman of Local Board No. 52 said seven induction orders will be issued by the local board. There will be 10 pre-induction physical examination orders issued, also.

Local Board No. 52 serves Gray, Wheeler, Donley and Roberts Counties.

During April and May, induction orders went up to lottery number 15, during June to 35 and now to 50 for July.

Men with lottery numbers of 90 or lower will be ordered for pre-induction physical examinations during July if they have not yet been examined. The physical examinations are administered to men in the 1972 first priority selection group, also.

Thirty days notice will be given on all induction orders. There is no quota for Texas, but Col. Glantz expects 400 men to be inducted in Texas.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1958, Gen. Charles de Gaulle became premier of France.

In 1812, President James Madison advised Congress that war with Britain was inevitable.

Ten years ago: The Soviet Union increased prices of farm products 30 per cent to spur production.

Five years ago: Six soldiers from Ft. Belvoir were electrocuted while erecting a flagpole at a Little League baseball game.

vote FOR robert s. CALVERT

VOTE FOR PERFORMANCE

There is no margin for error in an office that must guarantee the biennial fiscal solvency of the state—balancing billions in receipts to payments each year. Bob Calvert has built a tax accounting system that is considered a model for study by other states. During 23 years as Comptroller, he has an unblemished record of remarkable public service.

VOTE FOR EFFICIENCY

Bob Calvert has continually modernized operations to provide greater service at lowest cost. The electronic data-processing equipment he installed is recognized as one of the most sophisticated and efficient computer systems in the nation.

VOTE FOR CONFIDENCE

Under Bob Calvert, the Comptroller's Office has returned $450,776,028.09 to 692 Texas cities since their sales tax was enacted. Every penny has been accounted for. His records are verified by the State Auditor's Department to insure absolute accuracy. The Texas Research League has proclaimed Calvert's office one of the most outstanding in the country in accounting and administration.

VOTE FOR INTEGRITY

The only things "old fashioned" about Bob Calvert are the virtues of honesty and integrity which he considers vital for a person in a position of such public trust. On the other hand, his runoff opponent, who has had six marriages, four divorces and one annulment, was fired from the Comptroller's Department last November after being convicted of aggravated assault on a female.

Should a man who signed the Sharpstown Bank bills be number two man in Texas?

Do you believe a man like Wayne Connally should be rewarded with a bigger job?

- He signed, approved and urged the passage of the Sharpstown Bank bills.
- He voted for a tax on medicine and food.
- He voted against an ethics bill.
- He has said he sees nothing wrong with an 11% sales tax.
- He is backed and controlled by Austin lobbyists.

He is part of the problem, involved with the same power peddlers who are now in their last ditch fight. After 8 years in state government, if Wayne Connally had any answers wouldn't we have heard them by now?

Only Bill Hobby is free to end the era of disgrace and dishonesty in Austin. As a businessman and problem solver he can give us the best management of our tax dollars that Texas has ever had. His is a voice of reason, of good judgment and logic. We don't need more taxes. More corruption in Austin. We need Bill Hobby.

Only Bill Hobby will make a good Lt. Governor.

Honestly.

Let's finish the job
June 3 and get good people in government for a change.

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE,
Ph. D., M.D.

By George W. Crane
PH. D., M.D.
Note what Dr. Combs asks about voting in the United Nations. We finance 30 per cent of its costs, yet get just ONE VOTE. Russia, with smaller (and unpaid) dues, yet casts 8 votes! American business says stockholders' votes must be based on the shares they buy!

CASE T-594: Dr. Roy T. Combs is the roving auditor of the famous Pick Hotel Chain. "Dr. Crane," he began, "you have always stressed the use of 'horse sense' in the realm of politics."

"So how do you feel about the expulsion of Nationalist China from the United Nations?"

"Despite our staunch support of the U.N., Uncle Sam couldn't even persuade a bare majority of the 131 members to let Taiwan remain."

U.N. VS. "HORSE SENSE"
Woodrow Wilson was the idealist who dreamed up the "League of Nations," from which the United Nations is the offspring.

And Uncle Sam has borne the lion's share of costs of this world organization.

In fact, many peewee nations who are now members of the U.N., borrow money from Uncle Sam to help finance their own economy and thus indirectly pay their dues to the U.N.

Uncle Sam thus furnishes over 30 per cent of the total income of the U.N., not even counting his subsidy of these peewees!

Yet he has only ONE vote out of the 131.

Yet Russia has 8 votes!

But has been in arrears in her dues while thus spending her money building up larger military armaments.

Indeed, she has never repaid her loans of 11 BILLIONS which she begged from Uncle Sam in World War II.

Instead, she used that money to put her first sputnik into orbit and thus boast of her superiority to Uncle Sam (who actually financed her sputnik!).

The U.S.S.R. is allowed one vote in the U.N., but the Ukraine gets a vote, too, and so do 6 other states or satellites which Russia dominates, such as Czechoslovakia.

If Russia can tally the votes of her larger states, then the U.S.A. should also demand a vote for Texas, another for Alaska, etc.

Impractical dreamers are ruining the shrewd statesmanship of our Founding Fathers.

The latter would now urge

Uncle Sam to start using more "horse sense" instead of the "jackass" variety.

Last year my Congressman son, Dr. Philip M. Crane, introduced a bill to allot U.N. votes on the basis of the relative population of each country in comparison with the total population of all 131 U.N. members.

On that basis, we'd be tapped for less than 10 per cent of the U.N. budget instead of our present 30 per cent.

But even that levy is too much for only one vote out of 131.

American business rules demand that whoever buys 30 per cent of the stock of a corporation, then can cast 30 per cent of the votes at the annual meeting.

Remember, too, the size (population) of the stockholder's family doesn't give stockholder greater voting power!

Thus, if you have 10 children while I have 5, and each of us buys 10 per cent of the stock, you still can vote only 10 per cent while I also vote 10 per cent.

Applied to the U.N., since Uncle Sam contributes 30 per cent of the cost, then our American "horse sense" methods justify our casting 30 per cent of the ballots!

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY
Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current price less the following dollar allowance:

| Tread Wear Expectancy | Tread Wear Allowance |
|-----------------------|----------------------|
| 40,000 miles.....     | 13.00                |
| 45 month.....         | 10.00                |
| 40 month.....         | 8.00                 |
| 39 month.....         | 6.00                 |
| 35 month.....         | 5.00                 |
| 30 month.....         | 4.00                 |
| 24 month.....         | 3.00                 |
| 18 month.....         | 2.00                 |

What Did Giants Say to Mays: 'Goodbye' or 'Good Riddance'?

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

SAN FRANCISCO—(NEA)—A lot of drivel has been coming out of San Francisco in recent days about the trading of Willie Mays, up to and including Mayor Joseph Alioto's ridiculous doggerel that "the mighty Stoneham has struck out."

The maudlin eulogies to the figurative passing of Willie fogged the fact that for at least a couple of years Willie has been a pain in the to the San Francisco Giants. Bluntly, they could no longer afford him. If you want to applaud Horace Stoneham for his altruism in finding Willie a home, with the New York Mets, where he can live for the next few years in the style to which he has become accustomed, then temper it with the admission Horace had also run down his business to the point where Willie had become a drag.

Let's make one point clear. Willie Mays was a great, great ballplayer—and maybe in a spurt or two, even at the age of 41, he can justify his hefty salary.

A great humanitarian, he isn't.

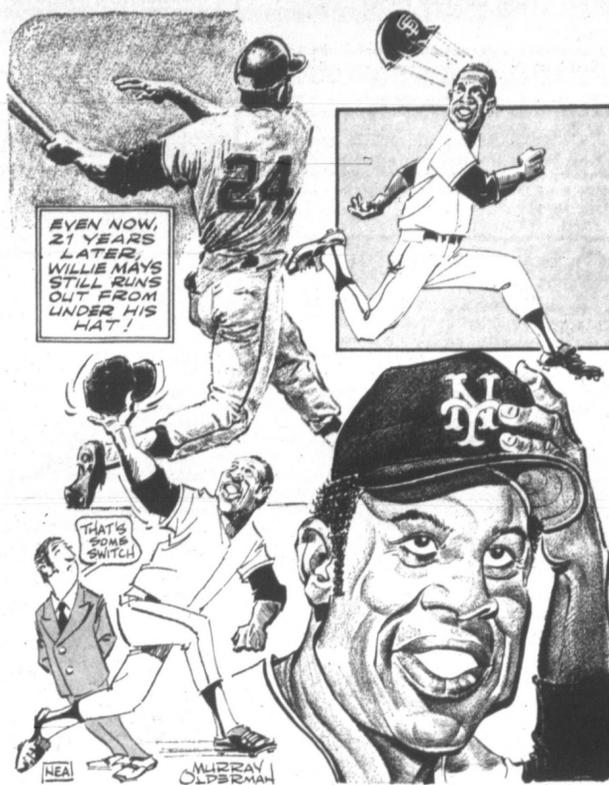

That's why he wasn't worth keeping around after his active playing days, despite the fact he has been the living symbol of the Giants for 21 years. (For comparison, Stan Musial, who occupied a similar niche in St. Louis, maintained an alliance with the Cardinals which persists and is a senior vice-president of the club, dispensing good will.)

"The only mistake Stoneham made," says a man close to the Giants, "was not trading him three years ago." When Willie was a lot more marketable as a ballplayer—remember, he hasn't hit 300 for half a dozen seasons.

The Giants have been notorious for padding their payroll with old timers. Cronyism and nostalgic largesse have been the modus operandi for the Stoneham regime. Willie didn't qualify because there was no way to justify $75,000 a year as a gesture of good cheer. Willie in recent years hasn't been spreading any. He's been more sullen and withdrawn than anything else in his personal relations.

The resumed love affair of

HAT TRICK

New York and Willie reminds me of a guy who runs into his old broad many years later and gets a titillating tug of passion, but soon he notices the wrinkles.

The effusive, ebullient "Say Hey" kid of the 1950s who played stickball and oozed joie de vivre hasn't really been revived. That's a journalistic infatuation. When Willie today acts like he's "home" and gushes sentimentality, it's an emotional parody because nothing's the same as it used to be. Not New York, not Willie. Only the money is better.

The media people who embraced the kid from Alabama—over the years he was more responsive to the visiting press from New York than he was to his own guys in San Francisco—have changed, too. They're younger and more probing and less rhapsodic. A peevish 41-year-old outfielder won't overwhelm them. When or if Willie turns petulant and complains about being tired or harassed, which was his pattern with the Giants, he'll be criticized.

An impression has been left that Willie was never embraced by San Francisco and therefore had his feelings hurt. Actually, he was in an adulatory climate, and his abilities as a ball player were never minimized. What happened was that Willie passed from adolescence into adulthood without a hitch as a performer but without corresponding growth as a public figure. He had some personal problems which made him more seclusive. He was increasingly sensitive to any critical comments. And he was a tough guy on his managers.

Willie went his own way, which was all right when he was best player of his time. It wasn't all right when high inside fast balls began to slip by his fluttering bat. It's a very un sentimental world we live in. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

4 Americans Left In British Amateur

SANDWICH, England (AP)—Marty West, 23-year-old amateur golfer from Chevy Chase, Md., faced one of the toughest matches of his career today.

The chunky American had to play Rodney Foster, an experienced British Walker Cup campaigner and a seeded player in the fourth round of the British Amateur Championship.

West, who finished sixth in the U.S. amateur last year, is playing in Britain for the first time. He is getting to know the 6,633-yard, par 34-36-70 Royal St. George's links where the weather constantly changes and the wind plays havoc with drives.

"It's a wonderful experience to play on such a natural course," West said. "We have nothing like this in the United States."

"Golf courses in America are too much alike—what America itself perhaps is becoming—a little too artificial and carefully laid out."

Dalhart Hosts Tri-State Rodeo

DALHART — The second annual rodeo finals of the Tri-State School Rodeo Association are scheduled here June 2 and 3, sponsored by the Dalhart Elks. Nearly 30 high schools in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico areas have contestants qualified for the event.

To qualify for the finals, contestants must be in the top 15 in point standings at the end of the year. Points are earned by competing in sanctioned rodeos earlier in the year in 12 different cities in the tri-state area.

Awards presented at the finals include trophy buckles, boys and girls team trophies, and saddles for all-around cowgirl and all-around cowboy. Championship events are: boys: calf roping, bareback riding, ribbon roping, chute dogging, and bull riding. Girls events are barrel racing, goat tying, breakaway calf roping and pole bending.

Performances will be at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m., Friday and at 2 p.m. Saturday. The Miss Tri-State contest will be at 12:30 p.m., Friday. All performances will be at the Dalhart XII Rodeo Arena. The Awards banquet will be at 6:30 Saturday at the Dalhart Elementary Cafeteria. Advance tickets are available from Feferman's Western Wear in Amarillo and the Dalhart Elks.

Pampan entered in the rodeo are Cindy Horton, barrel racing and pole bending; Ted Reeves, bareback bronc riding and Eugene Hapeman, bull riding.

"Every hole on this course calls for different shots from the ones I'm used to making at home."

Another American survivor, former Walker Cup player Dick Siderow of Westport, Conn., also in Britain for the first time, agreed about the course but said the weather left him bewildered.

"I started the tournament with a turtle necked sweater," he said. "At times I felt I ought to be wearing a short sleeved shirt."

Siderow's opponent today was Barry Drayson, a former British professional, who has been reinstated as an amateur.

Two other Americans were in the last 32. Kemp Richardson of Laguna Nigual, Calif., was paired against David Smith of Britain and John Arnold Cameron of Dallas faced Philip Berry of Britain.

On Wednesday, in violently changing weather which included lashing rain and hail storms, Siderow beat Gordon Hyde of Britain 5 and 3, and West defeated David Hedges of Britain 2 and 1.

Pepitone Ends Brief Retirement

CHICAGO (AP)—Joe Pepitone's retirement has ended abruptly, and the colorful first baseman will be back with the Chicago Cubs early next month.

Pepitone's decision to return to baseball, announced Wednesday, came as quickly as his decision to leave the game.

Pepitone visited the Cubs' locker room at Wrigley Field last Saturday and bumped into coach Pete Reiser, who asked: "You're going to come back, aren't you?"

Pepitone answered, "Yes, I will."

"I really hadn't given it a thought until I bumped into Pete in the Cubs' clubhouse," Pepitone later commented. "When he asked me, it was just something that came out."

Cub Vice President John Holland called Pepitone Wednesday and asked if he was serious about returning, because the club was looking for another first baseman, reportedly Atlanta's Orlando Cepeda or Philadelphia's Deron Johnson.

Baseball Roundup

By Associated Press

National League
Welcome home, Hank Aaron, you've just caught Willie Mays. Next stop: Babe Ruth.

The biggest one is still ahead," said the Atlanta Braves' slugger after tying Mays for second place on the all-time home run list with No. 648 Wednesday night.

Aaron's first-inning belt, a typical line drive rocket into the left field seats at Atlanta Stadium, started the Braves to a 5-4 victory over the San Diego Padres.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the San Francisco Giants 5-4 in 10 innings; the St. Louis Cardinals topped the Chicago Cubs 1-0; the Montreal Expos beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 and the Cincinnati Reds bombed the Houston Astros 12-4. Rain washed out the game between Philadelphia and New York.

American League
Sparky Lyle, who picked up his hot pitch during a sleepless night six years ago, is doing his best to see what Ralph Houk spends as few sleepless nights as possible.

Houk wig-wagged Lyle in from the bullpen for the 14th time Wednesday night and the left-handed relief ace, acquired from Boston during spring training, posted his 10th save, preserving the New York Yankees' 5-4 victory over Milwaukee.

The 27-year-old Lyle has one triumph, giving him a hand in 11 of New York's 17 victories. He sports an impressive 1.16 earned run average.

Elsewhere in the American League, Detroit edged Cleveland 5-4 in 10 innings, Oakland, trimmed Texas 5-1. Minnesota nipped Kansas City 3-2 and California shaded the Chicago White Sox 4-3. Baltimore and Boston were rained out.

Aaron Ties Mays In Life-Time Homers

Hammerin' Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves has tied the flamboyant Willie Mays for second place on the all-time home run list at 648, but says, "The biggest one is still ahead."

The soft-spoken slugger caught Mays Wednesday night in the first inning of Atlanta's 5-4 victory over San Diego when he belted a 3-2 pitch from left-hander Fred Norman into the left field seats along the foul line.

It was his ninth homer this year and left him only 66 away from one of baseball's most revered records—Babe Ruth's 714 lifetime homers.

When Aaron cracked his 600th against San Francisco last year to cut Mays' lead to 33, the Atlanta star quipped, "It's kind of tough to catch a moving target."

"I've got to catch my own targets now," Aaron said Wednesday night. "I just haven't been hitting the ball well at all this year."

Aaron attempted to play down the significance of catching Mays, one of the game's all-time greats who at age 41 is in the twilight of a career that saw him traded from the San Francisco Giants to the New York Mets early this season.

"I've never had a rivalry with him," Aaron said. "If there was any at all, it was just a friendly one."

"I have my job to do and Willie has his," Aaron added. "Anyway, I put myself in a different category. He's 41 and I'm 38 and that makes a difference, no matter what you might think."

SHAVING STROKES

by Frank Beard

42—Gary Player's Method

Gary Player is a small man but a powerful golfer.

As you know, and as he frequently reminds the rest of us on the tour, he is a physical-fitness buff of the first order. I always half expect him to drop down and reel off 50 push-ups when I see him in a restaurant or hotel lobby.

I have to admire Gary. His small stature is a disadvantage for an athlete, but he makes up for it with conditioning—and with very effective swing technique.

Gary is the best example of a straight left arm I know. Keeping his left arm straight (not stiff—but firm) throughout his swing gives him a long arc, which gives him clubhead speed, which gives him the added distance he needs to overcome his lack of size.

By improving his technique, Gary has been able to hit the ball 20 yards farther than when he started on the U.S. tour.

Smith Meets Gimeno In French Open Tennis

PARIS (AP)—Big Stan Smith, a terror on grass courts who has always had trouble adjusting his game to clay, meets Andres Gimeno of Spain today in the quarter-finals of the French Open Tennis Tournament.

Smith of Sea Pines, S. C., ranked No. 1 in the United States and seeded No. 3 in this tournament called the world clay courts championships, never has gone beyond the quarterfinals here.

Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia, the French champion in 1970 and 1971 and No. 1 seed this year, had a run of wildness Wednesday and lost the first set of his quarter-final match against Patrick Proisy of France, seeded No. 9. But Kodes held a 2-6, 8-6, 6-2 lead when play was interrupted because of darkness. The finish of the match will be the first center court action today. The winner will meet Manuel Orantes of Spain in the semifinal.

In another quarter-final, Adriano Panatta of Italy meets Alex Metreveli of France.

The semi-finals of the women's doubles also will be played today with Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., and Betty Stove of Holland playing Mrs. Judy Dalton of Australia and Francoise Durr of France, and Winnie Shaw and Nell Truman of Britain meeting Helen Gourlay and Karen Krantzke of Australia.

On Wednesday, Orantes eliminated Harold Solomon of Silver Spring, Md. 6-4, 5-7, 6-3, 6-2.

Eight quarterbacks turned out for spring football practice at Notre Dame.

Inflation, A.D. 301

The June issue of National Geographic includes a fascinating article on Aphrodisias, an ancient city in southwest Turkey which is being excavated under the direction of Dr. Kenan T. Erim, professor of classics at New York University.

Dr. Erim has been engaged in this project for 10 years, and has uncovered fabulous marble statuary and artifacts indicating the city was a flourishing art center from 100 B.C. to 600 A.D.

A note states that among the foundations contributing to the financing of Dr. Erim's work is Orange County's Irvine Foundation.

But what caused this editorial commentary is the report of Dr. Erim of some of his discoveries.

He wrote that while excavating the city's agora or marketplace, his workers uncovered some 300 fragments of inscribed stone panels. These were pieced together like a giant jigsaw puzzle and proved to be what Americans today will find posted in supermarkets—a table listing fixed prices!

Diocletian's Edict

In the editorial above, the mention of Diocletian and the "anti-inflation" proclamation set us to reviewing that era of Roman history.

He was the Emperor of Rome for 21 years, from 284 when he was proclaimed Emperor by the troops. He killed one rival with his own hands, and received general acknowledgement as emperor after the murder of another rival.

He set about to reorganize the government of the empire by appointing three other rulers at separate capitals. The natives of captive lands were getting restless.

It was during his reign that the senate became practically zero in power and action. The last traces of republican institutions disappeared and an absolute monarchy was installed.

Local autonomy gradually disappeared beginning with Diocletian and the empire was administered by a huge bureaucracy entirely dependent upon the emperor.

Encyclopedia Britannica states that the empire was sick of civil war and continual insecurity and Diocletian and his successors "saved it at a price of practically destroying its economic and political life."

According to the encyclopedia "Diocletian and Constantine sacrificed the interest of the people to the preservation of the State."

Diocletian's edict of AD 301 fixed the maximum price for provisions and other articles and a maximum rate of wages. Articles mentioned in the edict included cereals, wine, oil, meat, vegetables, fruits, skins, leather, furs, foot-gear, timber, carpets and articles of dress.

The wages "frozen" ranged from those of the ordinary laborer to the lawyer.

Diocletian's edict was disastrous and soon fell into abeyance, reports the encyclopedia.

History is such a fascinating subject. Too bad we can't seem to learn from it.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Federal investments in national, state and local parklands through the Land and Water Conservation Fund rose to about $696 million by March 31, 1971, The World Almanac notes. About half of the fund was for acquisition of 866,200 acres of lands for national parks, forests and wildlife refuges; the remainder went to state and local outdoor recreation projects.

Viet Militia Is Reported To Be Okay

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The unsung heroes of this campaign are the badly-armed South Vietnamese militia.

They are showing surprising strength.

Make no mistake about it. Not all militia are doing well. Some run after a few shots are exchanged or even before—if they hear of the enemy's arrival in time to get out safely.

Note this field report:

An outpost manned by militiamen east of My An received 100 rounds of indirect fire and was attacked by the enemy. The militiamen left the post and returned to district headquarters.

But these historically badly armed, rag-tag local units traditionally have run. What is surprising, so surprising as to be something of a miracle, is the number of instances in which the militia are standing and fighting—and in the number of instances in which they are driving off enemy units.

On occasion, with air support, they have held before the onslaught of a small number of tanks.

The militiamen, of course, cannot win the conventional battles of this current North Vietnamese drive. But their operations are in distinct contrast to years past. Then it was the North Vietnamese units which were screened by and scouted for by sizable numbers of Viet Cong irregulars who harassed South Vietnamese forces and destroyed or captured key communications points.

In the long run, this surprising military valor, if it holds up, could make a surprising difference in the war—the deeper the North Vietnamese drive south.

As noted before in these columns, if these local militia, representative of ordinary rural people, are willing to die for their villages and hamlets and this willingness to die continues, then the North Vietnamese cannot win South Vietnam short of a complete collapse of the Saigon government and its regular forces, even if Hanoi should capture half or three-fourths of the countryside. With this sort of irregular resistance, Hanoi would be unable to hold what it had won.

Take some field reports at random. With the number of enemy reported killed omitted as being normally exaggerated, but including the more realistic figure of enemy weapons captured. Remember that these are small-unit engagements, with few men usually engaged, and are not to be compared with the headline battles. In this context, the number of casualties (the willingness to fight and die) is remarkable.

Seven militiamen were killed and seven wounded in a fight with the enemy east of Dak To. Five weapons were captured.

Sixteen militiamen were killed and 21 wounded in two contacts with the enemy near Duc Thanh. The militia, supported by artillery and tactical air strikes, captured 10 crew-served and 21 individual weapons and destroyed one recoilless rifle and two 82mm mortars.

An undetermined-size enemy force shelled and attacked a militia outpost north of Nam Can, killing two militiamen. The enemy left behind four weapons.

Ten militiamen were killed and 30 wounded in an engagement northeast of Dong Ha, but captured 15 individual and three crew-served weapons.

Two militiamen were killed and three wounded in a fight with an undetermined number of enemy north of Cau Be. The militia reported capturing three crew and three individual weapons.

Militia engaged the enemy in the Dong Xuan-Tuy An region, seizing two crew-served and seven individual weapons, but losing one militiaman killed and five wounded.

BRUCE BLOSSAT Study Shows Tax 'Reform' a Myth

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

LOS ANGELES (NEA)

The clarion cries of protesting Americans in 1972 are said to be "distrust of government" and taxes. The surprising primary winners among Democratic presidential contenders are those men most closely identified with those cries—Sen. George McGovern and Gov. George Wallace.

In the tax field, their call is "reform," but what they are trying to convey to millions of harassed taxpayers is hope of tax relief—especially from burdensome local property taxes.

That McGovern and Wallace are being believed in their assurances is obvious from the 1972 voting results. To the extent that McGovern is perceived in California as elsewhere as "anti-politics" and "anti-government," that may give him advantage in this state's primary over chief rival Hubert Humphrey on the tax issue.

H. L. Hunt Writes

VOTING TRENDS

Voting in some of the state primaries where delegates are named to the national conventions has shown in some instances a trend toward the far left spectrum of politics.

One candidate for the Democratic party nomination for the presidency declared after a state ballot victory that the vote more insistent demands for still more federally-financed services, several major tax cuts have been voted into law.

In the past decade, various kinds of reductions in federal personal and corporate income taxes were instituted—in 1964, 1969 and 1972. In addition, excise taxes on numerous commodities and services have been slashed $10 billion.

If the government were still taxing at 1963 income and excise tax rates, the Treasury would be pulling in some $45 billion a year more than is in prospect for fiscal 1973.

There is, of course, one big offset. Payroll taxes to pay for newly instituted Medicare and for rising Social Security outlays have gone up $18.5 billion in the decade.

Still, the idea some politicians are advancing that real tax relief is in sight seems patently absurd, if not downright misleading.

Brookings estimates the federal budget will hit $300 billion in fiscal 1975 and $335 billion in fiscal 1977. Inflation will cost $9 billion a year to cover higher federal employees' wages and higher prices for things the government buys. Built-in escalators—more and more beneficiaries for education, welfare, etc.—should hike outlays $5 billion to $6 billion yearly. Defense costs may go up, not down. Pollution fighting outlays may take $4 billion a year.

New programs? Property tax relief? Just try to find the money without imposing sizable new U.S. levies as a heavy offset.

Your Health

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Cause of Psoriasis Isn't Known

Dear Dr. Lamb—Will you please discuss psoriasis in your column. I have what I think is psoriasis on my hand. What causes psoriasis and is there any permanent cure? If not, what is the best way to control it?

Dear Reader—Psoriasis is a common skin disease that usually causes rounded or oval red raised spots on the skin. These reddened areas are covered with silvery, scaly material. It is not contagious but tends to occur in families. More than eight million people in the United States and Canada are afflicted with this problem.

The cause of psoriasis is not known. This is part of the problem in treating the disorder. The rounded lesions most commonly appear on the parts of the body that are not normally exposed to the sun. Thus, the face and hands usually escape, although psoriasis of hands does occur.

Because there are so many skin diseases that resemble each other, it is not possible to give a distinct description of most skin defects. They have to be learned by recognizing them, much as the birdwatcher learns to recognize different birds by seeing them. There are several different types of psoriasis, but most commonly, they are not life threatening. The appearance of the lesions is the greatest source of their aggravation. Some of them have sticky surfaces and there is difficulty with clothing, and itching is usually the exception rather than the rule.

Psoriasis usually occurs in young and middle-aged people. It seldom occurs in older people and tends to disappear with age. Many of its characteristics are exactly opposite of the usual lesions seen on the hand and face with age. The latter are caused by exposure to the sun and wind, whereas psoriasis more commonly occurs on the surfaces of the body not exposed to sun.

Because so many people have this problem, numerous therapies have been tried. Things which are successful in one patient, like antihistamines, will not be useful in another patient. Currently, one drug Methotrexate, is being used by a number of skin specialists. This medicine is more commonly used in treatment of leukemia, not psoriasis. There is considerable difference of opinion about its use in treatment of psoriasis and in the past it has been banned by the Food and Drug Administration because of reported toxic reactions. Many of the other treatments used for psoriasis are directed towards keeping the scaly scab soft, hence a variety of ointments are used.

Strangely enough, natural sunlight on the skin seems to help a great deal.

Lumped Together?

Those rather candid comments by Congressman David Henderson, quoted here recently, no doubt raised the hackles of some young people who incorrectly inferred that Mr. Henderson was attacking all young people. When, as a matter of fact, he was referring only to a small but noisy minority.

We heard from one fine young man who protested that the majority of young people today are responsible, and that they are just as ashamed of their elders of the "crackpots of his peer group," as he called them. He had never, he said, threatened to burn down a campus, or marched with a mob, or cursed his country—and, he added, only a relative handful of young people have. Yet, he added, "We all get lumped together."

Not really. The older generations may not always make themselves entirely clear—but, for that matter, neither does the younger generation—when the frustrations of our time are under consideration. The older generations sometimes assume—incorrectly—that all young people are unaware of, and ungrateful for, the toil and sacrifice of their elders. And a great many young people have been coaxed into a sort of mental goosetep attitude that they must not, as the saying goes, trust anybody over 30.

This is the sad result of an incredibly effective two-way manipulation of public psychology. It has been accomplished by a many-faceted technique based on an undue emphasis, almost to the point of glorification, upon foul-mouthed, outrageously irresponsible militants who no more represent all young people than Jack the Ripper represents all older folks.

It may be true, as various polls have indicated, that a large percentage of young people are, at this point in their lives, oriented towards ultra-liberalism in their philosophy and politics. But as our young friend on the telephone emphasized, the older generations cannot really escape their share of the blame for this attitude among the young. After all, millions of now middle-aged Americans, and older, were seeking something-for-nothing long before today's young people were born.

Wit And Whimsy

By PHIL PASTORET

Like autos, the gals can be turned out with all sorts of accessories, but we like the basic model best.

There are too few people who play bridge, and too many who make it a task.

To keep pests out of the yard, hold your cookouts in the park.

It was, after all, our generations that dreamed up the concept of "federal aid" for everything under the sun. It was our generations that succumbed to the blandishments and the false promises of a parade of double-talking politicians down through the years. We believed the notion that every human problem could be solved by passing another law, imposing another federal control, and spending a few extra billions of tax dollars. We bought the nonsense that "the federal debt didn't matter."

A lot of people are finally beginning to know better now—by hard painful experience. We can see and feel the effects of the federal controls which were supposed to solve our problems, but didn't. We are becoming aware of what inflation and taxation and deficit spending have done to our country. But the point is that millions of Americans didn't see—or wouldn't see—until they were snared in a trap built before their very eyes, and largely with their permission.

So, we have few credentials to criticize young people for failing to see the same things that we failed to see. They will have to learn by hard and difficult experience, just as many of their elders have. And they will have to pay for their mistakes—and for ours.

Last year we received a letter from a young man who had been graduated from a university in this area a couple of years earlier. While a student, he wrote, "I found myself in violent disagreement with you about 75 per cent of the time. On one occasion," he added, "I wrote a nasty letter to you. But now, I'm out in the world as it is," he said, "and I have a wife and a baby to support. I just wanted you to know that it took only a couple of paychecks for me to understand what folks like you have been talking about."

There comes a time when all of us, old and young, must confront reality. Sometimes the lesson is late, and most often it is hard. If somehow the young and the old could sit down and learn it together, both would quickly perceive a bond of affection and respect and mutual concern that has been there, obscured, all along. One day it will come. It must. And we will all wonder why we didn't get around to it sooner.

Life Is A Barrel

Life is not like a sponge, to be squeezed, but a barrel to be filled. It is not what we get out of it, but what we put into it that counts. He who would drain the precious liquid to its dregs, who would drink its last drop to satisfy his own thirst is worse than a miser. He leaves life poorer but he himself is no richer. The man who gives of whatsoever he may have to the great storehouse of the world makes his life richer and the world a better dwelling place for all.—The Walnut (Iowa) Bureau

News In Brief

HOUSTON (AP) — County Clerk R. E. Turrentine has predicted as many as 300,000 Harris County residents will vote Saturday in the runoff election. The estimate is 21,000 shy of the number that voted in the May 6 primary.

Turrentine said 9,998 persons cast absentee ballots before Tuesday's deadline, and an additional 2,527 requested absentee ballots by mail. He said the figure is a new high for county absentee voting in a runoff election.

HOUSTON (AP) — Sheriff's officers said today the are continuing an investigation into the death of Fred Salas Zepeda, 27, whose decomposed body was found Sunday in a sludge pit.

Investigator Jay Evans said Zepeda, a laborer, appeared to have died from head wounds of undetermined cause.

HOUSTON (AP) — A city prison farm inmate was shot Tuesday by a guard, authorities said, after the inmate had beaten another guard.

James L. Johnson, 32, of Houston was listed in satisfactory condition with bullet wounds in the chest and abdomen.

Homicide detectives said Johnson became violent when guards attempted to take him to a holdover cell at the farm.

Police records showed Johnson was sent to the prison farm May 17 to work off $222.50 in fines on traffic charges, disorderly conduct, trespassing and loitering.

HOUSTON (AP) — A Harris County grand jury has indicted five women on felony theft charges in connection with receiving state welfare aid.

Mark Vela, assistant district attorney, said the women allegedly defrauded the state $60,000 in less than two years by claiming aid for children who did not live in their homes.

District Court Judge Sam W. Davis set $1,000 bond for each of the women.

FRIDAY HARBOR, Wash. (AP) — Who would have guessed that the shooting of a porker in 1859 would have resulted in an international softball game in 1972?

Certainly not the American soldier who picked off a pig belonging to a Hudson's Bay Co. agent, and thus precipitated the Pig War, a 13-year confrontation between Great Britain and the United States over possession of the San Juan Islands in the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

The dispute, in which no human casualties were recorded, ended Oct. 21, 1872 when Emperor Wilhelm of Germany arbitrated a settlement by awarding the contested islands to the United States.

Over the weekend, the Canadian vessel HMCS Porte de Law Reine, visited this San Juan Island community to celebrate the centennial of the end of the Pig War.
