Nixon's Attorneys Argue Against Jaworski's Role

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's attorneys argued to the Supreme Court today that Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski was developing impeachment evidence against Nixon. They said that responsibility rested solely with the House of Representatives.

St. Clair said that since the special prosecutor's office was turning over to Congress any information bearing on its impeachment inquiry, upholding Jaworski's subpoena would produce evidence for the House Judiciary Committee that Congress could not obtain by its own procedures.

The basic argument in the White House brief was that the Supreme Court lacked jurisdiction in the case and did "not have the power to substitute its judgment for that of the President" on the matter of disclosing confidential presidential communications.

absolute privilege" of determining what material should be released "would lead to intolerable abuse." "The President cannot be a proper judge of whether the greater public interest lies in disclosing evidence subpoenaed for a trial, when that evidence may have a material bearing on whether he is impeached," Jaworski said.

Malone, recently resigned as superintendent of public schools, and his wife, Verna, and daughter, Terri, look at one of the presents given them during a reception Thursday night in the M.K. Brown Auditorium Heritage Room sponsored by Pampa teachers and administrators and members of the Pampa Garden Club. The Malones are due to leave Pampa June 30.

Syria Warns Israel

United Press International Syria warned today it would not tolerate new Israeli air raids against southern Lebanon, but Israel vowed to continue its campaign to wipe out Palestinian guerrilla bases.

In Damascus, a Syrian official said his government would not stay neutral in the Israeli air attacks in southern Lebanon. "Syria will not remain with its hands folded in the face of the barbaric shelling by Israel against innocent civilians in southern Lebanon and hopes that other Arab countries will also shoulder their responsibilities," the official said.

The official, however, did not elaborate on any action planned by the government. Israel and Syria are only five days away from a complete troop pullback in the Golan Heights.

In Jerusalem, the Israeli foreign ministry said the attacks against guerrilla targets was part of a continuing policy intended to "hit the organizations which initiate the murder of Israeli civilians and to foil their schemes." Rabin said Thursday more time was necessary to test Egyptian and Syrian intentions before peace talks could begin.

ACROSS THE NATION

Supermarkets Launching Bargain Sales For Meat

United Press International Supermarkets across the country have launched an all-out campaign to offer once-a-year meat bargain sales in an effort to clear out a glut of beef which has kept livestock prices below farmers' production costs.

Bill Newby, a spokesman for Jewel Food Stores in Chicago, said the chain has been cutting back beef prices for the past two months in an effort to step up beef sales.

Neil Jackson, meat manager for the Colonial Store in Atlanta said the store has been pushing ground meat, with five pounds of hamburger selling for 79 cents a pound compared to $1.19 per pound late last year.

The case arose from a Jaworski subpoena for 64 tapes issued May 15. Three of those tapes are of meetings between Nixon and Colson on June 20, 1972 — three days after the Watergate break-in. Colson is expected to testify about those discussions and others in the Sept. 9 trial of top presidential aides.

Court Hears Arguments On Power Of President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court receives written arguments today on an issue at the heart of an American government — whether it, or any other court, has power over the President of the United States.

"Perhaps," Nixon told a news conference on March 15, 1973, "this is the time to have the highest court in the land make a definitive decision with regard to the matter."

The decision will involve other issues. The grand jurors investigating the Watergate cover-up decided Nixon should be named in the indictment as a co-conspirator but not charged, and the court has agreed to decide whether a President in office can be identified in that manner.

NIXON'S PROBLEMS

Committee Taking Second Tax Look

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee is taking a second look at President Nixon's income tax problems today, having learned the Internal Revenue Service quietly imposed a penalty of about $13,000 on him for preparing his returns negligently.

Since the statute of limitations had expired for the 1969 taxes, the President could not be required to pay them, but he said previously he would voluntarily pay up.

Pay Its Bills

Liberals are attempting to attach their amendments to the debt ceiling bill because it is considered "veto-proof." It must become law by midnight June 30 or the government will no longer be able to borrow money to pay its bills.

The liberal amendments would cut individual income taxes by increasing the personal exemption from $750 to $825 per person, with an optional $190 per person credit, which would help low and moderate income taxpayers.

Among the programs announced in White House documents during the trip:

—Egypt: The President agreed to "help strengthen the financial structure of Egypt"; sell Egypt a major new nuclear energy program for peaceful purposes; provide space technology, which White House spokesmen said means satellite communications; participate in the —Jordan: The President announced no immediate new commitments, but the communique said he had "explained in detail" the administration's current aid request to Congress for military and economic assistance and "promised a special effort by the U.S. government to provide support in a variety of ways for Jordan's development efforts."

The association elected two other officers — Bobby Jim Crues of Midland as vice president and Bob Kinkaid of Plainview as secretary-treasurer.

Elected to the board of directors were Brodie Koonz of Wichita Falls and John Ethridge of Lubbock. Re-elected were Frank Underwood, Bowie; John Farquhar, Amarillo; C.A. Dog Lover Found Guilty For Breaking Ordinance

WEST UNIVERSITY PLACE, Tex. (UPI)—A municipal court jury of three men and three women that heard four hours of testimony found Carol Turk guilty today of violating a city ordinance by keeping 37 dogs at her home.

The jury, made up of two industrial salesmen, a secretary, and an engineer, a public accountant, a public accountant, deliberated 25 minutes before voting for conviction shortly after midnight and fining Mrs. Turk $100.

Prosecutor Fred Dailey, his silver hair styled neatly over his ears, asked the jury to consider only the obvious—that Mrs. Turk violated the law.

"I have restrained myself in talking to the news media," Dailey said after the verdict. "I didn't call as witnesses the people who had to smell her house and put up with the rats and, have cats come die in their backyards. I just presented the obvious."

A city ordinance of this quiet suburb of Houston limits the number of dogs for a single family dwelling to four.

"I keep dogs because I have a compassion for all living things," Mrs. Turk said. "I never understood why it should be more important for me to have a full stomach when a living thing needs something."

"No. No. I'm not disappointed in the verdict," she said. "Yes, I had the dogs. I'm guilty and I'm proud of it."

Lt. Gov. Hobby Receives DWI Probated Sentence

AUSTIN (UPI)—Lt. Gov. William P. Hobby is hoping his 30-day probated jail sentence for drunk driving will not have political repercussions. But Gov. Dolph Briscoe is positive it will.

"I am extremely sorry and extremely regretful about this incident," Hobby said. "I certainly hope the citizens of Texas will judge me on the basis of all my actions."

Briscoe did not say the issue would keep Hobby from winning re-election in November. But when asked if he thought the Republicans would play up Thursday's conviction, the governor replied: "You bet your life they will."

Hobby was arrested at 2:48 a.m. Thursday as he and a woman companion returned from a picnic. The officer who stopped Hobby said he followed the lieutenant governor's weaving vehicle for several blocks.

Maj. Don Doyle of the Austin Police Department said Hobby refused to take a breath test to determine the alcohol content of his blood when he was brought to the station at 3 a.m. Inside Hobby's car, which is registered to the Houston Post, police found an ice chest, an empty wine bottle and a bottle of third full of scotch whiskey. Hobby is president of the Houston Post.

Hobby was charged with driving while intoxicated and appeared Thursday afternoon before County Court at Law Judge Mary Pearl Williams. He pleaded no contest.

"Because of your court record, this court is going to consider giving you a second chance," Judge Williams said. She sentenced Hobby to 30 days in jail, but suspended the sentence for a nine month probation period.

Hobby paid a $100 fine plus $49 in court costs and a $90 probation supervision fee for a total of $239 in cash.

AT CONFERENCE US, Soviets Ask For Sea Rulings

CARACAS (UPI)—The United States, the Soviet Union and other big sea powers, heavily outnumbered by a coalition of small nations, today renewed a diplomatic battle to avoid defeat at a key international conference on the oceans.

The 10-week Caracas conference began Thursday with some 3,000 delegates and experts plus hundreds of observers meeting to map new laws for the ocean to replace the sea traditions handed down from the 17th Century.

Preliminary meetings in Geneva and at the United Nations in New York failed to resolve procedural problems, forcing the Caracas meeting to take the first few days of its summer-long conference to settle the issue.

The 10-week Caracas conference began Thursday with some 3,000 delegates and experts plus hundreds of observers meeting to map new laws for the ocean to replace the sea traditions handed down from the 17th Century.

The major maritime nations sought to push through a requirement for a two-thirds majority instead of a simple majority for votes on new laws governing the world's seas.

U.S. Special Ambassador John R. Stevenson warned Thursday that achieving consensus was crucial to the success of the delegates' efforts to draft international treaties on the vast wealth of the oceans.

He said that a mere majority was not sufficient since any treaty was subject to individual ratification and an unsatisfied nation could choose not to ratify, making the treaty meaningless.

In an unusual turn of events arising from issuance of a parking ticket, a Pampa meter maid has filed a second charge against the man who got the ticket.

According to police and Municipal Court records, here is what happened: On June 8, Donna Fielding issued a ticket to Ott Shewmaker; 225 N. Sumner, for parking in a no-parking zone.

On June 14, after consulting with her superior officers, Mrs. Fielding filed a disorderly conduct complaint in Municipal Court against Shewmaker, charging that he had used vile and profane language to her in protesting the parking ticket.

Shewmaker then appeared in Municipal Court on Thursday, June 20, and pleaded not guilty to both the parking violation and the disorderly conduct charge.

He asked for a trial on the charges and Municipal Court Judge Don Lane set July 17 at 1:15 p.m. as date and time for the trial, to be held in Municipal Court.

Colson Receives Jail Sentence For Obstruction

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former White House special counsel Charles W. Colson was sentenced today to a prison term of one to three years for obstruction of justice in the Ellsberg break-in case.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell turned down an impassioned plea by Colson's lawyer that his 42-year-old client not go to jail.

With Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, and other members of Colson's prayer group sitting in the front row of the courtroom with heads bowed, Colson said in a long statement to the court that he had always "tried to use every minute to maximum advantage."

"I had one rule: to get done what the President wanted done now. I never really questioned whether it was right or wrong."

Colson had said after pleading guilty to the obstruction count June 3 that it grew out of his conversion to Christianity.

He could have received up to five years' imprisonment and a $5,000 fine.

In exchange for his guilty plea and a pledge of cooperation with Watergate prosecutors, Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski agreed to drop conspiracy charges against Colson in the 1971 break-in of the office of the psychiatrist of Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg, as well as other charges in the Watergate cover-up case.

After being sentenced by Gesell, Colson's wife, Patricia, went forward and she and Colson embraced for long moments. The courtroom had filled 35 minutes in advance of the 40-minute proceeding.

SOME DELEGATES CLAIM Proposed Charter Needs Support From Governor

AUSTIN (UPI)—The proposed new constitution has little chance of winning approval of the voters without strong support of Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Rep. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, contends.

And to get Briscoe's support, Parker said the constitutional convention delegates will have to surrender the authority given the legislature in the tentative draft of the charter to call itself into special session.

The delegates appeared on the verge of approving an amendment by Parker deleting that provision late Thursday, but recessed for the day before debating a proposal by Rep. Ron Coleman, D-El Paso, to leave the whole issue up to voters in a side issue to the new constitution.

Briscoe, using his pledge of support for the new charter to bargain for removal of provisions he said would weaken the state's chief executive, Thursday easily won the first two of the three changes he wanted.

Delegates voted 106-41 for a compromise proposal requiring a three-fifths vote—90 House members and 19 senators—to override the governor's veto of a bill. The provision as it had been tentatively approved earlier in the convention required only a two-thirds vote of the members present and voting, which under certain circumstances could have meant as few as 67 House members and 11 senators could overturn a veto.

Also approved was an amendment by Rep. Bill Sullivan, D-Gainesville, requiring three-fifths of the legislators to sign petitions before the legislature could convene a special session limited to considering overriding vetoes.

A number of the delegates balked at Briscoe's requested changes, but Parker said they were necessary to win Briscoe's backing.

"We need his aid if we are to stand any hope of bringing Texas into the 20th century with a new constitution," Parker said.

"I see the governor's position as of paramount importance," said Rep. Neil Caldwell, D-Alvin. "I don't think we can necessarily pass it just because he's for it, but if he's against it I think he can kill it."

Rep. Larry Bales, D-Austin, disagreed.

Price To Introduce Plan On Beef Research Aids

WASHINGTON — Congressman Bob Price of Pampa said today he is preparing legislation to provide a voluntary $1 per head check-off on live cattle to help boost sagging consumption of beef.

The Texas lawmaker, who serves as a senior member of the House Agriculture Committee, said that "the time has come for cattlemen to seize the initiative in telling the story to the American consumer about one of the most nutritious and enjoyable foods enjoyed by our population."

Price said that he planned to include in his bill provisions which would raise some $30 million annually to be used by a Beef Research and Promotion Board composed of representatives of the various cattle raising areas of the nation.

"The entire program would be voluntary," Rep. Price said. "First with a national referendum and later with individual cattlemen having the option to get their money back if they are not satisfied with the way the national program is being carried out."

The bill would establish a beef promotion program similar to those which exist for a number of other agricultural products.

The Texas lawmaker said he planned to introduce his bill next week and is now soliciting views from cattlemen, beef producer organizations and other agricultural leaders.

"My work on the committee has enabled me to deal with a number of issues affecting state and national policies," Hightower said. "It is essential that State Legislatures have this type of interchange of views with national leaders so that government at every level can deal more effectively with the issues."

Policy positions to be discussed include federal budget reform, no-fault insurance, national health insurance and land use planning.

AT CONFERENCE US, Soviets Ask For Sea Rulings

CARACAS (UPI)—The United States, the Soviet Union and other big sea powers, heavily outnumbered by a coalition of small nations, today renewed a diplomatic battle to avoid defeat at a key international conference on the oceans.

The 10-week Caracas conference began Thursday with some 3,000 delegates and experts plus hundreds of observers meeting to map new laws for the ocean to replace the sea traditions handed down from the 17th Century.

Preliminary meetings in Geneva and at the United Nations in New York failed to resolve procedural problems, forcing the Caracas meeting to take the first few days of its summer-long conference to settle the issue.

The 10-week Caracas conference began Thursday with some 3,000 delegates and experts plus hundreds of observers meeting to map new laws for the ocean to replace the sea traditions handed down from the 17th Century.

The major maritime nations sought to push through a requirement for a two-thirds majority instead of a simple majority for votes on new laws governing the world's seas.

U.S. Special Ambassador John R. Stevenson warned Thursday that achieving consensus was crucial to the success of the delegates' efforts to draft international treaties on the vast wealth of the oceans.

He said that a mere majority was not sufficient since any treaty was subject to individual ratification and an unsatisfied nation could choose not to ratify, making the treaty meaningless.

In an unusual turn of events arising from issuance of a parking ticket, a Pampa meter maid has filed a second charge against the man who got the ticket.

According to police and Municipal Court records, here is what happened: On June 8, Donna Fielding issued a ticket to Ott Shewmaker; 225 N. Sumner, for parking in a no-parking zone.

On June 14, after consulting with her superior officers, Mrs. Fielding filed a disorderly conduct complaint in Municipal Court against Shewmaker, charging that he had used vile and profane language to her in protesting the parking ticket.

Shewmaker then appeared in Municipal Court on Thursday, June 20, and pleaded not guilty to both the parking violation and the disorderly conduct charge.

He asked for a trial on the charges and Municipal Court Judge Don Lane set July 17 at 1:15 p.m. as date and time for the trial, to be held in Municipal Court.

The Texas lawmaker, who serves as a senior member of the House Agriculture Committee, said that "the time has come for cattlemen to seize the initiative in telling the story to the American consumer about one of the most nutritious and enjoyable foods enjoyed by our population."

Price said that he planned to include in his bill provisions which would raise some $30 million annually to be used by a Beef Research and Promotion Board composed of representatives of the various cattle raising areas of the nation.

Disease Of Alcoholism Is Neglected Problem

This article is part of a series on "The Progression of Alcoholism" produced by the Alcoholism Council of San Fernando Valley, Calif. The stories are made available locally by the Texas Panhandle Community Action Corporation.

The disease of alcoholism has been called the most neglected public health problem facing the nation today.

It is a killer illness that is attained in most cases through progression over a period of years. It is neglected because of ignorance. Most victims fight against admitting they are alcoholics.

Non-sufferers often do not recognize identifying signs of the progression. Too many citizens do not know that the alcoholic can be helped if aid is asked soon enough.

In an effort to help victims or their friends, family or employers determine if a drinking problem exists, the Pampa News is publishing a series of articles, of which this is one.

The most recent discussion pinpointed such warnings during the pre-alcoholism stage as black-outs, sneaking drinks, drinking before "wet" parties, gulping and avoidance of talk about drinking problems.

Other signs, furnished by the alcoholic are easily recognizable. Solitary drinking is a potent indicator and occurs when drinking no longer is a social function for an individual. This does not cover the abuser of alcohol who frequents bars alone.

It focuses on the person who goes into seclusion (hotel, flophouse, or his own home) where he can remain undisturbed in a state of intoxication for days or sometimes weeks.

"Hiding out" to drink is the first drastic and dramatic example of the isolation urge—it will be repeated many times with rapidly increasing frequency.

These lonely sessions fail always to provide the comfort and self-consolation the drinker thought he would find. He comes back to family, friends and co-workers embarrassed and ashamed. Others now have guessed his secret and the solitary binge has settled no problems.

He had expected to escape into a world of euphoria where life's problems cannot penetrate. Each attempt at finding such "bliss" is futile and painfully unrewarding.

Yet, he continues to go back in search of that something, his hopes always new and fresh. This is but another manifestation of the tightening grip which alcohol is exerting upon him.

But to the drinker in the pre-alcoholic stage he has a long way to go in the horrors of solitary, guzzling. As the song said, "You ain't seen nothing yet."

By the acute stage this kind of boozing is insufferable. In the drinker's progression, the occasional blackout he used to shudder over now descends to haunt him. They may happen three times in every ten drinking bouts.

Concern mounts in the man because lost days and weeks create all sorts of problems in the person's social, business and domestic life.

In fishing for clues to assure him that he did complete the task he has no recollection of even confronting, he always betrays his astounding confusion.

His business, social and family days may be numbered. He is tabbed as unreliable. Realization of this can send him to only one situation—a lonely, living grave in isolation.

The pattern of progression toward acute and chronic alcoholism usually includes the beginning of daytime drinking. For a great many weeks and years, the heavy drinker refrains from starting before evening.

He is determined to wait until he is through his work—usually so that he can eagerly "get at his drinking" at a time when there will be no interference from the demands of conducting the details of his job. Drinking truly is welcome release from the cares of a troubled existence.

It is the common boast of practically every alcoholic that drinking rarely, if ever, interfered with his work. He does shrug off the inefficiencies resulting from brutal hangovers. They also may have made him sometimes late, but he always reported in.

Once the individual is motivated toward the morning "jolt" to start the day, he is slipping from pre-alcoholism into the acute stage, which will come under study in the next article of this series.

There are no time standards to help in identification of a drinking problem in the pre-alcoholism period. It may be only five or six months or that many years.

Progression depends on the mental stability, physical stamina and spiritual resources of the individual as well as the degree of social responsibility which he has previously achieved.

'Dial-A-Joke' Getting Laughs, Money

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some people short-sheet beds on April 1. Others use handshake buzzers or serve wool-filled candies.

The New York Telephone Co. marked April Fool's Day this year by introducing "Dial-A-Joke," a special telephone number people can dial and listen to some jokes.

Now, nearly three months later, it is a toss-up as to who is laughing harder, the callers or the telephone company, which netted a quarter of a million dollars in its first month and is still going strong.

Neither sudden inspiration nor flash of originality transformed the joke business into big business at "Ma Bell."

Ad executive Louis Kroh's job is to find uses for his company's reserved channels. These are special networks divorced from the regular telephone wires.

Unpredictable Result Kroh knew that small-scale dial-a-joke projects had existed elsewhere. He decided to launch a similar effort. No one, however, was in the least prepared for what happened. On the first day—nearly 250,000 calls. On the second—more than 290,000. For April—3,330,000. Calls come now not only from the city and state but from the Midwest and California.

And the telephone company makes money on every call. People who feel like they need to laugh dial 999-3838 and get, for their money, a one-minute volley of six to eight one-liners. The gags have been pre-recorded in a sound studio, and are played on tape.

The comedians? It was only a short hop, as the Kroh flies, to the agents of America's king and queen of one-liners. The telephone company hired Henry Youngman as Dial-A-Joke's triggerman. Phyllis Diller is the current attraction. In between came Joey Adams and Morey Amsterdam.

Youngman changed his routine daily. His repertoire harks back to the memorable day in the 1930s when he first mentioned his brother-in-law. That was the fellow, oldsters will recall, who crossed a parrot with a tiger, with the result that "they don't know what it is, but when it talks, everybody listens."

Pays $80 A Day Adams simply read from his two published books, "The Joey Adams Encyclopedia" and "From Gags to Riches." He emerged $1,600 richer from his nearly three-week stint. The pay is about $80 a day.

Customers who called between May 19 and 31 encountered the brazen wit of Amsterdam. He toed the line a bit during his 22-day bash, perhaps remembering the time he lost Smith Brothers as a radio sponsor when he claimed their product was "the only ice cream with a beard: three delicious flavors—chocolate, vanilla and moustache."

Miss Diller, who can perform with tireless verve, will be on the firing line until July 1. She doesn't know the meaning of stage fright.

"If anybody was going to be frightened," she says, "it would be the audience. A 9-year-old boy came to the studio last night. He was 38 when he left."

Phyllis often draws material from her early housewife days as the live wire of the Laundromat set. "I found a way to cut my laundry in half. I use scissors."

Queen bees only sting other queen bees. Drones have no stingers.

Bank teller makes a $1,000 mistake

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you because of a recent and very serious mistake I made in my work. I am a teller in a commercial bank. As you know, we handle a lot of money and carry a tremendous responsibility to ourselves, our employers and the public. I have never been able to understand why John Q. Public does not count his money before leaving the window. And why, if he knows a mistake has been made in his favor, doesn't he speak up? I balanced out short yesterday. VERY short. ($1,000.) As you can assume, the money went out the window to a customer. Can you answer my questions? No one else seems able to.

SHORT IN LUBBOCK

DEAR SHORT: John Q. Public is not one man—he is many men. Some Johns always count their money; some never do. Some will speak up on discovering an error has been made in their favor; some will not. Since it's the teller's responsibility to balance out accurately, he should count all money twice before handing it over, and then insist that the recipient count it again in his presence. It takes a little more time, but it beats being $1,000 short, no?

DEAR ABBY: My father, who is nearly 80, told my brother that his will leaves me a silver dollar, and everything else is divided between my brother and my father's sisters. I want to know if there is any way I can break that will because of the following facts, which are absolutely true:

I am physically handicapped and have been since birth, but I have always been able to get around enough to do all the cooking and housekeeping. When my mother died, I was only 14. My father forced me to have sex with him. He never wanted me to have any boyfriends, but when I was 50 years old I got a boyfriend who had to sneak me out of the house to marry me, but I wouldn't come back. I think after keeping house for my father and submitting to him for 36 years I am entitled to something, don't you? Can his will be broken? And if so, how?

WONDERING IN N. Y.

DEAR WONDERING: Take these facts to a lawyer and let him advise you. You have nothing to lose.

DEAR ABBY: My youngest sister is being married next month, which will make me the only one in our family who isn't married.

I've been going with the same fellow for three years now, but we don't have any plans for getting married. I just dread the remarks I know I am going to hear after my sister gets married: "Well, it's your turn now," and "When will you be taking the big step?"

Relatives and friends have already asked me what I'm waiting for. It embarrasses and hurts me, and I never know what to say. Can you help?

NO PLANS

DEAR NO: Yes. Say, "I have no plans. But if and when I have, I'll let you know."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "M.": A soft answer still turneth away wrath . . . and grievous words stir up anger. [This is nothing new. It's Old Testament.]

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

The Story Of Margarine

What was awarded a prize from an emperor for its creation, was the underdog in 65 years of federal legislation battles, and has been an innovative market leader since 1950 when an Act of Congress repealed its unfair taxation?

Margarine, that's what. How did margarine come to be invented? It was the age-old story of supply and demand. Butter supplies were inadequate to meet the demands of a growing population. And butter had become too expensive for most people. It also grew rancid quickly with the problems of refrigeration a century ago.

B.G. 4-H CLUB
The B.G. 4-H Club met Thursday, June 6 at 1 p.m. in the Courthouse Annex with leaders Mrs. O.B. Elkins and Mrs. Glenn Knight.

Mickey Barbaree and Pamela Knight were shown how to take measurements in order to buy a pattern to fit them and about different types of fabric.

Chemists had been attempting to invent butter-like substances

Sixty-five years of federal restriction on one product to protect a competitor ended dramatically when President Harry S. Truman signed the Margarine Act of 1950. "I always thought the tax on margarine was wrong!" he exclaimed as he signed the bill.

Margarine has ceased to be considered a butter substitute. It is quality food in its own right. Innovations in the margarine industry have even forced butter to improve. It was margarine that was first sold four sticks to the pound and butter followed suit. Margarine-producing companies, such as Kraft Foods, which introduced all-purpose Parkay margarine in 1937, continue to improve the flavor, texture and quality of their products through the years. The newest is Kraft's Squeeze Parkay Liquid Margarine, which is pourable right from the refrigerator, has a natural country-fresh flavor and a convenient liquid form which butter can never have without being melted.

Margarine has come a long way from the little chemist's shop in Paris in 1869. It has fought for and won its place in the American food market. And it has brought the consumer convenience, savings, good taste and product innovation.

A Parisian chemist, M. Mege-Mouries, won the prize with his creation, "oleo-margarine." He felt that he had invented not a substitute, but a less expensive form of butter with what was then considered purity and nutritional value. He patented his technique in England and France in 1869, and in the United States in 1873.

The story of margarine in the United States is a unique record of political controversy. Dairy interests were threatened by the advent of a low cost product which compared favorably in texture and flavor to theirs. Their strong anti-margarine lobbying resulted in legislative intervention.

into an unexpected confrontation. Take the trouble to be sure of directions beforehand if you travel.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: The drift today is toward added responsibility for you and those associated with you. An intuitive approach brings better results than charging ahead without thinking.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Outward expression of creative talents comes to full bloom. Bring selected company, make at least a symbolic journey of an intricately patterned weekend.

Acne Clinics Springing Up To Help Treat Sufferers.

Acne is not fatal, but it can damage personality to such an extent that it affects the happiness of a person all through life. This is thought of as a problem of the teen years. It is much more prevalent at the time, but many women of middle age struggle with it the rest of their lives. Often the emotional damage is greater than the scarring.

More than 80 per cent of adolescents are affected by these blemishes to some degree. The trouble usually starts around the age of 12, progresses until the age of 16 and then improves until the early 20s, when most people outgrow it. Only about 20 per cent of teenagers have serious cases of acne.

However, you never know who is going to outgrow it, and emotional and personality damage, along with some scarring, may occur long before the pimples disappear.

Researchers are beginning to wage a real battle against this disfiguring skin disease. The National Acne Association was organized in 1972. So far there are only three acne clinics in the United States which are connected with a university. One is in Boston, Massachusetts, another at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, and the third is with the medical school at the University of Miami, Florida. Dr. James E. Fulton, Jr., is director of the one in Miami.

More than 1,000 people of all ages have visited the Miami clinic during the last two years. After treatment with vitamin A acid and benzoyl, the complexion cleared in 80 per cent of the cases. The vitamin A acid unplugs the pores while the benzoyl kills the bacteria. Dr. Fulton emphasized the fact that this is not a cure, but only that acne can be controlled with this therapy. He also says that the tendency toward acne is inherited. This technique does not work the same way with all persons and must, of course, be specially prescribed for each individual.

It has been estimated that $75 million are spent yearly on acne remedies and this does not all come from the teenage group. Sometimes acne does not strike before the mid-20s but then lasts. Well, there is new hope now for those who suffer from this disfigurement and I wanted you to know about it.

Further tips on acne control are given in the leaflet, "Clear the Way For Beauty." For your copy, send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Josephine Lowman, Register and Tribune Syndicate, Des Moines, Iowa 50304.

Rock Tune Can Rock Ear Drums

Chicago (NFS) — Is there a hearing aid in your future? — If there's a teenage rock addict in your house with electronic musical equipment that runs full blast, every member of the family could be a future candidate for one.

Under noise limits set for the Federal Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA), the threshold of danger to hearing is roughly 90 decibels. That's the maximum level to which an industrial worker can be exposed to noise for the usual eight-hour shift. As the decibel rating rises, the amount of time he or she can more or less safely tolerate it decreases rapidly.

AT 95 DECIBELS, the worker can legally stay near the emitting source just four hours; at 100 decibels, permissible exposure is just 2 hours, and at 115 decibels, just 15 minutes or less. A jackhammer typically operates at about 115 decibels.

From 90 decibels up, sustained exposure means probable permanent hearing loss.

You guessed it. Running full blast, some electronic music equipment pounds the eardrums at 120 decibels or more, as measured by the new sound level measuring, monitoring, and recording instruments instruments produced by Triplett Corporation, Bluffton, Ohio. THAT RIVALS the ramp areas of jet airports, and runs above the noise levels of planers, sheet metal speed hammers, and similar heavy industrial equipment that have given the legendary "boiler factory" its reputation.

The new Triplett sound level measuring instruments range from meters that measure sound levels to more sophisticated ones that record it and measure it as a percentage of allowable exposure. They are used by industry to detect and record sound levels so that steps to meet OSHA requirements can be taken. They are used as well by airlines, construction firms, and others with noise-prone operations.

When the permissible limit is reached, the instrument has an amber warning light that glows.

Ice Cream Has Excellent Source of Many Vitamins

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cool thoughts from a food reporter's notebook: Ice cream is good protein food.

It is an excellent source of vitamins A and B, plus calcium and phosphorus. It is also fattening. Ice cream contains about double the number of calories as a comparable serving of whole milk.

Nevertheless, United States manufacturers produce enough each year to overflow the Grand Canyon.

Funny Flavors
And Americans eat an average of 15 quarts of ice cream per person annually. We have a choice of about 7,000 different brands and an estimated 500 different flavors.

Through the years manufacturers and university researchers have come up with such offbeat ones as pickle, sauerkraut, chile con carne, sweet potato, bubble gum and gum drop. The potato flavor was developed at the University of Maryland to help the state's farmers. The pickle kind was created for a Michigan food festival and as recently as 1972 was said to be popular as a gift for expectant mothers in southern California.

French-fried ice cream is a specialty of a restaurant in the Detroit suburb of Troy, Mich. Vanilla ice cream is coated in sweetened, spiced cereal, fried for a few seconds and served on hot fudge sauce with whipped cream topping.

But plain old vanilla continues to outsell everything else. It accounts for half of all the $1.5 billion worth of ice cream sales a year in the U.S. With chocolate and strawberry, it makes up two-thirds of all sales.

Keep Frozen
Industry sources say ice cream consumption has increased slowly but steadily in recent years. From 17.6

pounds per capita in 1950 to 18.1 pounds in 1972, the latest year for which figures are available. Oddly, the growth rate is greater in winter than in summer, although the peak months for sales are May-September.

Industry sources also say ice cream can be ruined if it is left outside, the freezer only 10 minutes on a hot summer day. Its flavor, texture and appearance deteriorate.

Ice cream in round containers usually costs more than the same product in rectangular ones, and it is generally thought to be of higher quality.

The Sealright Co., a package supplier, says round packages afford better protection during storage. They are leakproof and easier to open, close and serve from. Because they reclose tightly, leftover ice cream is protected from crystallization, gumminess or flavor loss.

New Book
In automatic-defrost freezers, a round package that has been opened protects its contents better against dehydration than the folded cover flap of a rectangular container.

The newest recipe collection for ice cream fanciers is by a California couple, Joyce and Christopher Dueker. "The Old Fashioned Home-Made Ice Cream Cookbook" (Bobbs-Merrill) concentrates on popular flavors. Separate chapters are devoted to vanilla, chocolate and coffee. There are old standards such as butter brickle, burnt almond and peppermint stick; delectable sherbets, liqueur-flavored frozen specialties and a peanut butter ice cream said to taste like frozen peanut butter!

Brandy is a distilled spirit made from fermented grapes.

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

By FRED KARPIN

It is an accepted fact that of the three departments of bridge, bidding, declarer's play, and defensive play, defense is the most difficult part of the game to master. Thus it is always a source of pleasure to me when I come across a brilliant play by the defenders. Such was the case in today's deal, which arose in a national tournament.

Both sides vulnerable. North deals.

After opening the ace of diamonds, upon which East played the discouraging deuce, West shifted to his singleton trump at trick two. As will be observed, had he not made this trump lead, declarer would have fulfilled his contract.

The trick was taken by dummy's king, after which a spade was led to South's ace. West now made another excellent play, when he "unblocked" by tossing his king of spades on South's ace. South then led another spade, and East came up with a good play when he overtook his partner's jack with the queen. East then led another trump, which was taken by dummy's ace.

Dummy's remaining spade was played next, East winning with the nine as West discarded a diamond. A third trump lead now removed dummy's remaining trump. When play had ended, declarer had lost one diamond and three spades, to incur a one-trick set.

The defense was gorgeous. Had West made

'Singing I Go' Is Study Theme

The United Pentecostal Church continues the study of "Wisdom and Worship," taken from the books of Job, Psalms, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes and Song of Solomon.

This Sunday's lesson title is, "Singing I Go." The child of God should be joyful as he travels through life. Just as the Israelite sang psalms as he ascended the mountains of Jerusalem, so the Christian should rejoice as he goes to the house of God and toward the New Jerusalem.

Rev. Veach and congregation extend an open invitation to worship with them.

If unable to attend services, then you are invited to tune in to the "Voice of Pentecost," brought to you every Sunday at 9 a.m. over KGRO.

Sunday morning worship — 11 a.m.; Sunday School — 10 a.m.; Sunday evening worship — 7:30 p.m.; Midweek Bible Study, Wednesday — 7:30 p.m.

TV Evangelist Will Speak Here

Several local pastors have made arrangements for a one-week appearance here of TV evangelist Hilton Sutton, of Houston.

Evening sessions, running Monday, June 24 through Saturday, June 29, will be held at 7:30 p.m. at Pampa Junior High School.

Morning meetings will be held at the Pampa Optimist Boys Club, Tuesday through Saturday at 10 a.m. Subject of the morning presentations will be the Book of Revelations.

During the evening sessions, Sutton will speak on Bible prophecy, utilizing such subjects as "Why Israel Cannot be Defeated," "The Beast System," "The World of Witchcraft and Familiar Spirits," and "The U.S. in Prophecy."

Music will be provided during both the morning and evening meetings by Dean and Jeanne Romanelli, also from Houston.

Sutton's nationwide television program, entitled "Manna," is seen on channel 39, from Dallas, Mondays at 9 p.m.

Our Religion

By CARLYLE ADAMS

Originally, cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church were pastors of parish churches in the city of Rome. For the past four centuries members of the College of Cardinals have had titular pastorates in Rome.

The titular church of Cardinal Terence J. Cooke of New York is the Church of St. John and Paul in Rome. These saints are not to be confused with the Apostles by the same names. They were both army officers under Julian, the Apostle, and were martyred about 362 A.D. Their feast day is celebrated throughout the world on June 26.

Question: Does the United States have an exchange of diplomatic relations with the Vatican State?

—Harrisburg, Pa.

Answer: No. In June, 1970, President Nixon appointed Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts to be his personal representative at the Vatican, without salary, title or diplomatic status. In 1951 President Harry S. Truman nominated General Mark W. Clark to be U.S. ambassador to the State of Vatican City, but the nomination was withdrawn at the request of General Clark, before it was sent to the Senate for approval.

There is no ambassador from Vatican City to the United States, but there is an Apostolic delegate to the United States. He is Archbishop Jean Jadot, appointed in the summer of 1973. He is the first non-Italian to hold the position of Apostolic Delegate to the U.S. since the delegation was established in 1893.

His office is at 3339 Massachusetts Ave., N.W. Washington, D.C. 20008. There are 82 members of the diplomatic corps at the Vatican City, representing 81 nations plus the Order of the Malta. Some of them come from countries which predominantly non-Christian.

Editor's Note: Questions on religion and the Bible may be addressed to Dr. Adams in care of The Register and Tribune Syndicate, Des Moines, Iowa 50304. All questions must be signed.

Pampa Couple Plan European Journey

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Hudgins, 2523 Aspen, left today for Amsterdam, Holland, Brussels, Belgium and Madrid, Spain.

They will fly to Chicago, Ill. and on to Holland, Mackie and Terry Fisk, the daughter and son-in-law of the Hudgins are missionaries to Belgium who are residing in Brussels for two years.

C.T. Crabtree, their son-in-law from Des Moines, Iowa, will be preaching a world missions convention in Spain for the Assemblies of God.

Mr. and Mrs. Hudgins will return from Belgium to Denver, Colo. and on July 4, with Rev. and Mrs. Charles Crabtree, will travel to San Jose, Calif., where they will be inaugurated as new pastors for the San Jose First Assembly of God Church.

They will return to Pampa July 15.

Marchers Cover Many Hot Miles

When a group of people get out and march 20 miles, most of it over hot sidewalks and pavement, in order to promote something, well, they must believe in what they're doing.

Several members of the congregation of Pampa's Pentecostal Church went on a "Missionary March" Saturday, with several sponsors agreeing to pay a mileage fee for every mile walked. The money is to be used in furthering both home and foreign missions.

Of the 23 persons who started (at 6:30 a.m.), eight made it the entire 20 miles and most of the others walked several miles before dropping out.

The temperature stood at 94 degrees as the last marchers gathered in mid-afternoon at Central Park for a picnic of celebration.

The group varied in age from pre-teens to middle-age. Several youngsters were seen to break into a fast trot as they neared the finish line.

But some others were limping, and could hardly wait to remove their shoes to nurse the blisters.

There was also a small puppy in the group, but he reportedly turned "chicken" and insisted on riding most of the way.

The Rev. H.M. Veach, pastor, was one of the eight finishers.

"Glad this doesn't happen every day," he signed as he dropped onto the grass in the shade of a tree, "but it was for a good cause."

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

And I will give power to my two witnesses to prophesy 1,260 days clothed in sackcloth." These two prophets are the two olive trees, and two candlesticks standing before the God of all the earth. Anyone trying to harm them will be killed by bursts of fire shooting from their mouths. They have power to shut the skies so that no rain will fall during the three and a half years they prophesy, and to turn rivers and oceans to blood, and to send every kind of plague upon the earth as often as they wish.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Pampa Chapel Apostolic Church

REV. EDWIN WATERBURY
Pastor

"Whatever things are which man allows his mind true, honest, just, pure, to think and write about, lovely, and of good report." In the past ten years or wrote the Apostle Paul, even fewer than that, we "Think on these things," have witnessed the flagrant. Certainly there are many use of four letter words in bad and degenerate things newspaper, radio and television.

There are some who feel that they cannot adequately express themselves without the usage of such vocabulary. There are some who would even license and condone such vocabulary for those in high social and political positions.

One of the sad realities is that it is received by the majority of people with little shock and after the shock wears away, people accept it as normal conversation.

One of the firm signs of the Grace of God working in a man's heart is the cleaning up of his language. Propriety of language by itself is no sign of faith in Christ; many a non-Christian refrains from using certain words simply because they offend their sense of good taste. But when God begins to discipline his children, He often begins with their tongue.

What a great need for us as a Church to set the standard of good taste in our community. Where else can our community turn to find such a standard? Never has the challenge of our Lord been more relevant; "Ye are the salt of the earth. Ye are the light of the world."

If we are to be a living witness for Christ, we must be crystal clear about our own vocabulary.

Tell the world about the glorious message of "Pure," "true," "love," which the "good," "Lord," "Gave" to all!

"Whatever things are of good report, think on these things. Amen."

Food Stamp Fraud

All able-bodied people who refuse to work should be allowed to go hungry. All able-bodied parents who refuse to support their children should be jailed. The food stamp fraud should be stopped. By JACK POSNER Haig said in recent months Nixon has been more active in the business of the American people. No one denies we're getting the business. Secretary Simon Advised Americans not to buy everything they want to combat inflation. Now if they could just stop eating...

Congress approved a budget bill that gives it better control of spending. If the military is listening, they're only kidding. Last February, the grand jury named Nixon as co-conspirator in the Watergate coverup. If the others keep confessing, he may be top man by default. If the economy improved while Nixon was away, he can always give the credit to Watergate.

SANITATION WORKERS PICK UP TRASH AND GARBAGE FROM PAMPA HOMES

CUTTING A GAP OR "CUT" IN THE LAND

"Cleanliness is Next to Godliness," as someone once said. The men and machines of Pampa's Sanitation Department do their part in keeping the city clean, as shown in these pictures taken by Pampa Daily News photographer Bill Kincaid. Although the annual spring drive is over, every day of the year is a good day to clean up, especially around trash racks and cans. Regular, twice-a-week household pickups are made in 80 to 90 percent of the city. If an individual wishes, he may haul his own trash and debris to the sanitary landfill, which remains open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The location is about a mile and a quarter northeast of town. Pampans are fortunate in that many cities lock the gates of their landfills at 5 p.m. and keep them closed on weekends and holidays.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Estrogen And The Menopause

By G.C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: As a 50-year-old woman who has just completed menopause, I am unclear how necessary it is for me to take estrogen. I am in good health and have had no menopause problems at all except for mild hot flashes. My inclination always is to take as little medication as possible.

My doctor is not pressing estrogen upon me, yet apparently he routinely prescribes it for all such women as myself. What are the pros and cons? I have your booklet on menopause but it doesn't answer specifically when and why one should or should not take hormones.

—Mrs. V.U.
If you'll give the booklet another careful reading, I think you'll find that it does give you your answer. It specifies several times that estrogen (female hormones) should be given when there is a definite need, not just the menopause itself. The primary use is to abate hot flashes when they are severe enough to be annoying — as they are to many women. In other women the natural hormone balance remains such that they have little or no trouble with hot flashes — and in that case what's the use of hormones?

A secondary aspect is cited on page 24 of the booklet. Sometimes a soreness or tenderness of the vaginal area develops after menopause, attributable usually to a thinning of the membranes. Hormones, either in a cream form or by injection or by mouth can correct this. Again, use the hormones if they are needed. A somewhat more remote use of hormones is a part of the treatment in case osteoporosis develops. Again, that occurs in some women, not in others.

On the other side of the picture, in certain cases of cancer, patients should not be given hormones because of the risk of accelerating the growth of the cancer. The hormones don't cause the cancer, but if some types of cancer already exist, the speed can be accentuated. (But keep in mind that this is a matter involving technical differences that are important. In certain cancer cases, hormones may in fact be used as part of the treatment, so do not try to oversimplify this matter.)

I am aware that some doctors do indeed prescribe hormones after menopause as almost a general rule, but to me, that resembles a shotgun approach, and I view it as wiser to give them when there is clear need rather than giving them "just because."
Other readers who may have need of my booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," may obtain a copy by sending 35 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to me, Dr. G.C. Thosteson, Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: There is a bone that juts out under my left breast which pains me almost constantly and even hurts when I walk. Some people tell me it might be a hiatus hernia. Would an X-ray tell, and if it should be such a hernia, is it dangerous?

It doesn't in the least sound like a hiatus hernia which does not bulge to the outside. If it is painful all the time, it is something that requires attention. I fervently urge you stop letting your friends make a guessing game of it, and go to your doctor for an accurate diagnosis.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What does dark brown urine and whitish gray stool signify in one 80 years old? I am concerned.

—G.T.
It implies an obstruction somewhere in the bile system — bile is not entering the intestinal tract as it should, but is backing up in your system and the dark urine would result. There are several possible causes: a gall stone in the gall bladder or somewhere in the duct; a tumor pressing on the ducts; possibly hepatitis. Whichever, it requires immediate medical attention.

"Bad Breath Can Be Corrected" is the title of Dr. Thosteson's booklet explaining the causes and cure of bad breath. For a copy write to him, Dr. G.C. Thosteson, Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dorothy Parker's Story Told

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The Dorothy Parker story, about the century's greatest female wit, will become a Broadway musical for Patricia Munsel written by Pulitzer playwright Paul Zindel.

Robert Schuler, Miss Munsel's husband, confirms that Miss Parker named Martin Luther King, whom she probably never knew, as her beneficiary and that proceeds went to the NAACP.

The script will include a story emphasizing Miss Parker's caustic candor. A woman asked her as she was leaving her husband's funeral, "Can I do anything?" and Miss Parker said, "Yes, get me a new husband." Noticing the woman was shocked, Miss Parker said, "Then run down to the deli and get me a Swiss cheese on rye and hold the mayo."

Ask Uncle Earl: "Is Mario Thomas married and if he is, to whom and what date?" Jefferson Sterling, Merrick, N.Y. ... Dear Jefferson, no baby, only to her career, though she's thick as "Thieves" with Playwright Herb Gardner, author of that show, know what I mean?
Along with reports of Dean Martin and Kathy Hawk worrying over each other comes a correction I must make: Beverly Hills realtor Mile Silverman says ex-wife Jeanne Martin is not asking $2 million for the house Dean gave her; "only a measly one mill," says he ... A male movie star caught with a starlet, explained to his wife, "Don't worry, love, it's just a phase I'm passing through."

Where am I? ... Dear Mr. Wilson: Continue your reporting of Nixon jokes. We're proud of you." Peter M. Melendez, Tarrytown, N.Y. ... Another reader (unsigned) says "Good for Shelley Berman for not telling Nixon jokes. Those other comics are pigs."

David Frost was aboard the Concorde's record-breaking Paris to Boston flight in 3 hrs. 9 minutes, around 1400 miles an hr. Frost foresees people commuting daily to Europe and back now ... Paramount Prez Frank Yablans conceding the great success of "Gatsby," "Godfather," etc., speaking to the TV Academy, said one critic was more interested in the menu than in "Gatsby." He added, "You don't have to kill a lot of Italians to make a picture, but it helps" ... The Gabor gals' mother Jolie was honored at El Morocco by the Milton Skurkas where Mrs. John Kluge (Yolanda) confessed being urged to do an important acting role.

"Gripes" Letter: "The background music on TV is maddening. 'The Price is Right' is ruined by that repetition of noise, the Merv Griffin show is ruined by overlaid accompaniment. There is one show that is perfect — Lawrence Welk's."

Defiance, O.
THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Jackie Onassis gave an autograph at "The Magic Show" to magician Doug Henning — on an ace of hearts ... Radio City Music Hall gave its famed ballet company 6-weeks' dismissal notice after 42 years for economy. Rockettes will remain ... What visiting foreign actress very well known streaked in the mezzanine of a Philadelphia hotel? ... In G'wich Village, a guy streaked, and nobody even looked ... The late night trend: A couple in evening dress strolled bravely along Park Av. at 2 a.m. ... (Sober!) ... Also, a 1 a.m. show at Aris San's Sirocco Club, and a kitchen open till 2 a.m. at Eduardo's.

Pretty jockey Mary Bacon says in Genesis magazine that the jocks may whistle at her bikini panties before the race, but during it she could be nude and they'd never look ... During the 1904 Louisiana Purchase Expo, winners (not yet served on buns) were eaten from gloved hands. Tom Orme will use that method of kicking off Hot Dog Month July 1 at Chock Full O'Nuts.

Show Biz Quiz: What was the name of Edgar Bergen's female dummy? Ans. to yesterday's: Red Morro and Mildred Bailey were billed as "Mr. and Mrs. Swing."

A major studio cancelled a big-budget film when the script (for which they'd paid a screenwriter $250,000) was dubbed "completely unplayable" ... Andy Warhol's nude photos of his film cast will be in Playboy magazine ... Golfing trio: Willie Mays, Rocky Graziano and Joe Louis. (Rocky admitted later that Joe beat 'em) ... Lionel Hampton, Buddy Rich, Roddy Wilson and George Duviols, who'll appear as a quartet in Carnegie Hall July 2, are discussing a European tour together.

Today's Best Laugh: "My aunt was so punctual," reports Ed O'Donnell, of San Francisco, "that she used to put her garbage out two weeks ahead of time."

Earl's Pearls: "It's sure getting warm around here," writes John Markus of London, Ohio. "In fact, the local hospital switched to short-sleeved strait jackets."

Under Twenty

By LINDA BISHOP
Almost everyone looks forward to the warm, sunny days and the relaxing (or active) hours under the sun.

Whether it be on the beach, at the lake, in the back yard, on a rooftop or on a tennis court, the sun is both a friend and a foe. It can do wonders for your skin and provide you with both internal and external benefits. It can, however, also be a destructive enemy.

The key to making that warm sun work for you instead of against you is, as in most things, moderation. Your first few exposures can be a good start on that wonderful tan you want, or it can be a painful experience from over exposure.

You know, too much of a good thing. Remember that date you missed a couple of years ago when you were too burned to make the dance?

It is a good idea, unless your skin is particularly rugged, to take the sun a little bit at a time at first. Beware of that quite natural feeling of drowsing and falling asleep in the warm sun. You could wake up looking like a lobster.

If you want to tan evenly it makes sense to wear some shielding headgear. You'll get plenty of sun in the beginning just from the rays that bounce off the beach or the tennis court.

If you are careful you will avoid that unsightly peeling, not to mention the pain. If you use lotions, be sure they aren't just grease which will only give the sun the opportunity to fry you to a crisp.

If your skin is dry be especially careful. The hot sun can take the natural oils out of your skin and in years to come you may pay the price by skin that resembles an alligator more than a human.

Overexposure is like over-everything. The sun should always be used in moderation.

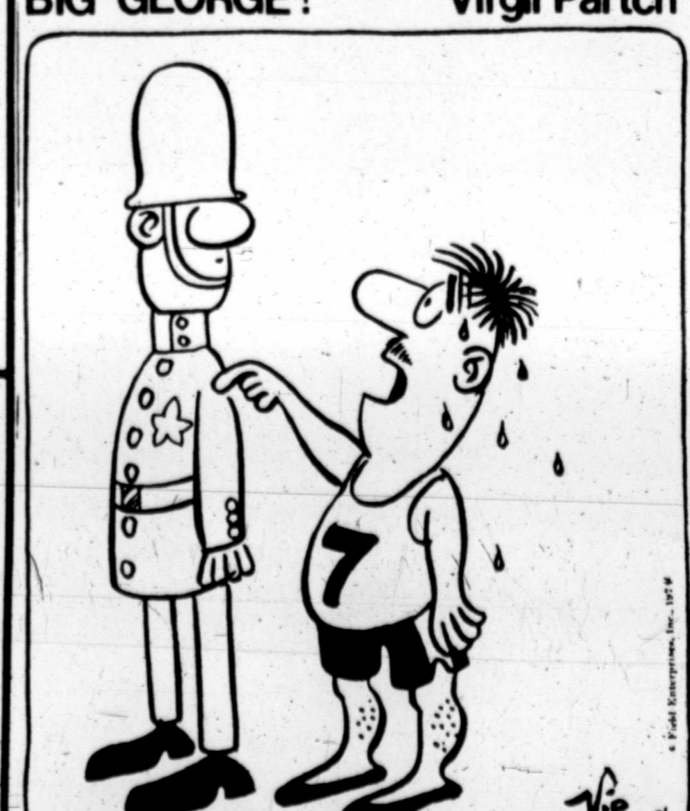

A good pair of sunglasses is a worthwhile investment, too. Your eyes are sensitive to the strong rays of the sun and too much glare can do permanent damage to your eyes.

Shade your eyes and don't be afraid to seek the shade for your entire body for a few hours of the day, no matter how much and how rapidly you want that lovely summer look.

The sun you've so eagerly awaited can be a friend or an enemy. Enjoy it carefully with moderation and it will turn out to be your friend.

Floyd Has 65 To Lead AGC

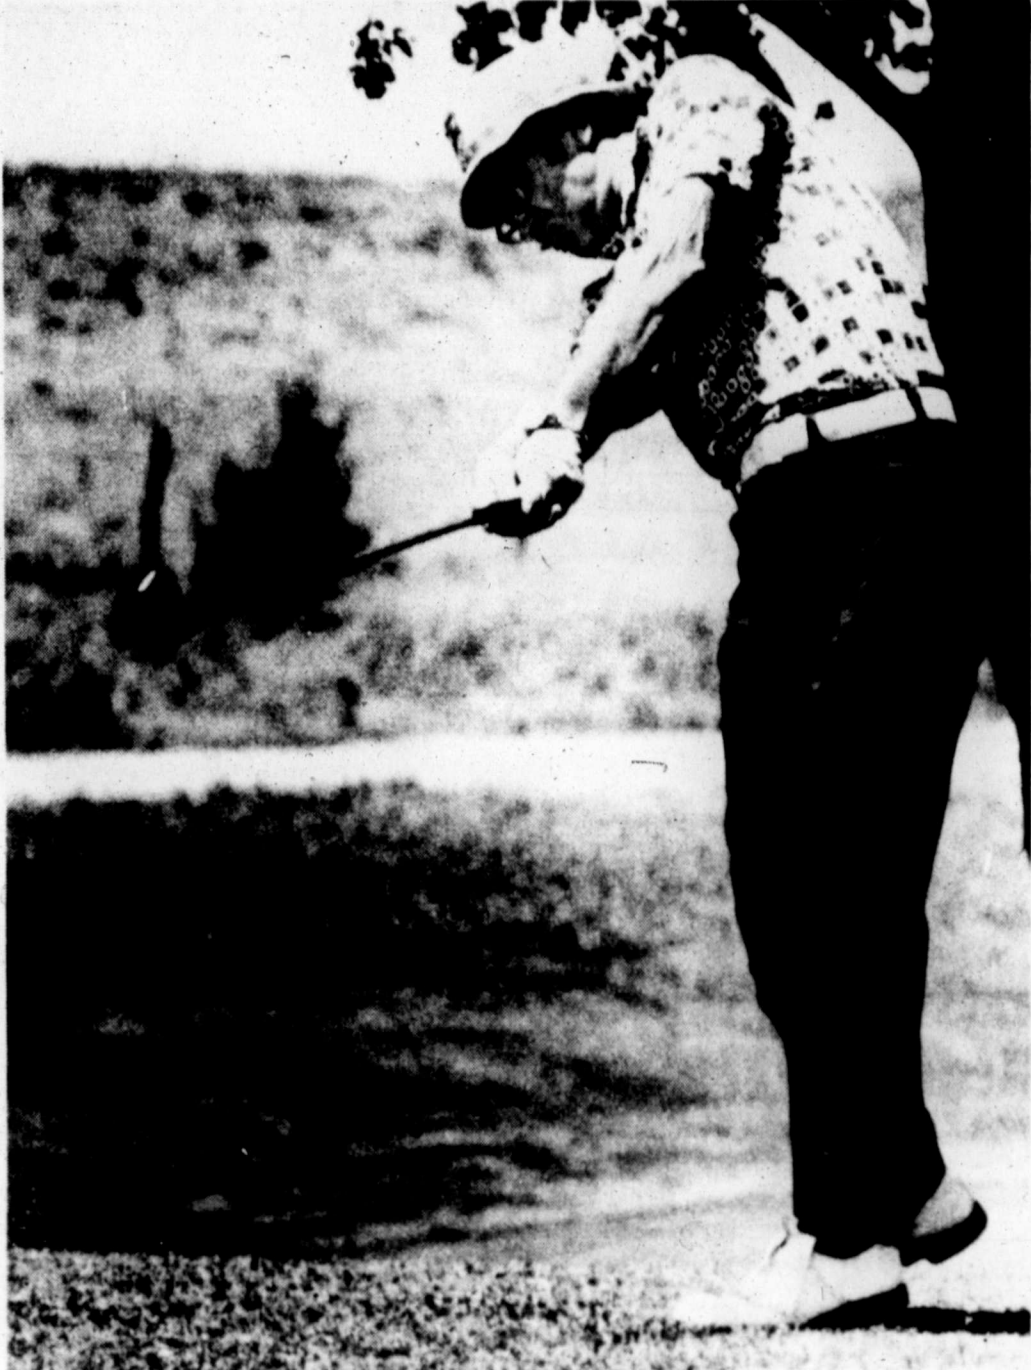

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Did success spoil Ray Floyd?
"Yes," said the first round leader of the $170,000 American Golf Classic.

Floyd, who shot a five-under-par 65 in Thursday's first round, with a record-setting 29 on the front side, is having his best season since 1969 when he won three tournaments, including the PGA championship.

December, with turning his game around.
"It was the best round I've played in quite a time," said Floyd, who carried a one-shot lead over Brian Allin and a two-stroke edge over Jerry McGee into today's second round.

Floyd blistered the 7,180-yard Firestone course with five birdies in his first six holes, including putts of 25, 35 and 70 feet.

He said he also had several putts on the back side which could have dropped, but didn't. He got his only bogey in his 29-36 round on the 17th hole when he bunkered his second shot.

Oliva Leads Twins To Win Over Wood, White Sox, 3-2

United Press International
Tony Oliva belted a three-run homer in the eighth inning Thursday night to power the Minnesota Twins to a 3-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox and deprive Wilbur Wood of his 12th victory.

With the White Sox leading 10 behind Wood, Steve Brye opened the Twins' eighth by reaching first on a bunt. Rod Carew then singled to center, sending Brye to center and Oliva hit a 416-foot home run into the right centerfield bullpen. It was the fourth homer of the season for Oliva.

Ray Corbin went eight innings for the Twins to notch his fifth victory without a loss. Bill Campbell relieved in the ninth. Wood suffered his eighth loss in 19 decisions.
In abbreviated major league action, Chicago topped Pittsburgh 3-0, Texas downed California 7-4, Milwaukee beat Baltimore 6-0 and New York edged Philadelphia 2-1.
Home runs by Jose Cardenal and Billy Williams lifted the Chicago Cubs to victory over the Pirates, the win breaking a six-game winning streak for Pittsburgh.
Tom Grieve came off the bench to deliver a three-run double in the eighth inning and give the Texas Rangers a win over the California Angels.
Texas trailed 4-3 when Jeff Burroughs opened the eighth with a single and Jim Spencer singled him to third. Len Randle walked to fill the bases and Grieve, batting for Duke Sims, lined a double to right center to

Busby Credits Luck To Win

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steve Busby says it's all pure luck.
He felt that way after pitching his first no-hitter against Detroit last year, and now he's even more convinced following Wednesday night's second one, a 2-0 sparkler over Milwaukee in which he missed a perfect game only by the margin of a base on balls.
"I'll show you how much luck is involved," says Kansas City's talented, intelligent 24-year-old righthander. "Paul Splittorff pitched the night before I did. He pitched a better game than I did and wound up with a two-hitter. More balls were hit hard off me than off him."

NEW YORK (UPI) — The quickness of Cookie Rojas.
"Cookie, you're super!" he said to him.
Later, after he had wrapped up the no-hitter, Busby told Rojas:
"I owe you a steak dinner."
"I'll take it," the little Cuban-born second baseman quickly responded.
This was Steve Busby's way of showing his gratitude to Cookie Rojas. It was the other way around after the Royals' fastballer hurled the first nohitter in Detroit in 21 years on April 27th last season.
In that contest, Jim Perry was pitching for the Tigers and he knocked down three of the Royals' hitters in the top of the eighth. One of those hitters happened to be Rojas. Busby was only a rookie then, and he's not the type who throws his weight around anyway, which is a good thing because he's 6-2 and 205, but he assured Rojas he would take care of that little matter, and soon, too.

Sure enough, when Mickey Stanley led off the bottom of the eighth for the Tigers, Busby's first pitch was right over his head.
That took care of that.
Perry didn't throw at anybody anymore in the ninth. When that game was over, and after Busby was through being congratulated, Rojas came over to him and said, "Thank you very much."
Getting Behind
Steve Busby, the only pitcher in major league history to hurl no-hitters in his first two seasons, is much happier with his second no-hitter than he was with his first.

WEARING EARRINGS SHE made from shells. Mrs. Clara Bozarth holds a bouquet of flowers also made of assorted shells and some of fish scales. At right is one of her shell flower creations and in the upper right is a rosebud made from a small painted shell. Below the center blossom is a flower made from the scales of a garfish. Mrs. Bozarth makes the floral arrangements along with other creations only for the enjoyment of the other fellow.

Woman Fashions Flowers From Shells, Fish Scales

By MONA WILLIAMS
Using her own ideas, Mrs. Clara Bozarth, 1825 Beech, has an unusual hobby. She fashions objects using sea shells and fish scales. It all began in 1952 when Mrs. Bozarth began to "just mess" with shells and make jewelry. She completely quit her hobby for several years until 1965 when she and her husband, Elbin, began to go regularly to the Texas coast. While her husband fished, Mrs. Bozarth would sit on the shore and fashion the shells together in the form of flowers or small animals. As she began to make them in surplus amounts, Mrs. Bozarth received an offer to work in souvenir gift shop in Rockport, Tex. She made her creations for the shop for two years from August to April. She also takes some of her floral arrangements to the hospital for patients to enjoy because they last forever and do not have to be thrown out like fresh flowers. She makes the objects "only for the benefit of the other fellow." She explained that she only wants other people to enjoy her handiwork. Shells for her creations were collected on beaches from the Texas coast to Florida and fish scales were provided by her husband, whose hobby is fishing.

Her list of creations includes floral arrangements, plaques, small skunks, mice, rabbits, frogs and owls, earrings, pins, ashtrays, lamps, trays, pincushions, ships and dolls. She also has a tree made from coral and a small devil doll made from shells and painted red. Varieties of shells she uses include large conch, oyster, ear shells, small pieces of coral and several shells that do not wash up now on the shores. Many of the shells possess a natural pale pink, yellow or ivory color while Mrs. Bozarth paints the colorless ones in shades of hot pink, pale orange, red, lavender and yellow. In her floral arrangements, centers and petals of all flowers are shell. In some creations the container is a large conch shell. Leaves, stems and greenery are artificial, but the rest is shell. Fish scales that she uses come from drumfish, garfish, red snapper, red fish and gafftop catfish that yield tiny pearl-like scales from the top of its head. She cleans and trims the fish and in some cases has to soak the scales from the body of the fish. Each creation takes Mrs. Bozarth approximately two days to complete. People from all over the United States come to either look at or buy her shell creations. She sells single flowers and arrangements for costs covering the materials she uses. "I just like to play with shells and I work for perfection so other people will enjoy my hobby," Mrs. Bozarth said. The Bozarth's have lived in Pampa for 44 years and Bozarth has been retired from Cabot Carbon Black for seven years.

Investment Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — "In the absence of some fundamental spark, the market may continue to drift and drifting more often than not has a downward bias," says E.F. Hutton & Co. Investor psychology has shifted from disappointment last week, when major banks failed to follow First National City's cut in the prime rate, to concern the rate may move up again, the firm notes. "But thus far the 825 level of the Dow which marks a 50 per cent retracement of the early June advance has not been violated and the potential for a bullish pattern continues to exist," it adds.

"The U.S. Federal Reserve Board, along with the world's central bankers, appear to be deflating domestic demand and producing a lower standard of living by its unrelenting restriction of ready access to productive capital," according to Wright Investors Service, The Bridgeport, Conn., firm says the recent agreements with the Arab nations should "recycle dollar capital into productive investment."

"Higher oil prices have substantially raised U.S. import costs and threatened to reduce or even eliminate the merchandise trade surplus this year," says Irving Trust Co. The United States and Europe are using the Eurocurrency markets to finance much of the burden of increased oil payments, it continues. "With the removal of U.S. capital controls in January of this year, however, the effects of these growing financing demands should also be felt in the U.S. money markets," the firm adds.

The University of Pittsburgh, with 31,000 students on its main campus, is the second largest employer within the city limits.

TV In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A number of American newsmen may have done a double take when Walter Cronkite suddenly disappeared in the midst of President Nixon's Middle East tour.

The CBS anchorman was not rushing back home for a Watergate exclusive or prostrate from the desert heat, but secretly interviewing exiled Soviet author Alexander Solzhenitsyn in Switzerland.

"We had finally convinced him to sit down for an interview," Cronkite said in a telephone interview from Rome. "We had been trying to do it since February and his schedule finally permitted it."

"I would have liked to have seen the faces of the other newsmen when I didn't show up on the tour," Cronkite said. CBS underwent a series of delicate negotiations to convince Solzhenitsyn to be interviewed.

Certain Uneasiness
"There was a certain uneasiness in his mind about being interviewed," Cronkite said. "He was still shocked by what he felt was the aggressive and rude tactics of the press that covered him after his exile."

Solzhenitsyn was surrounded by a mammoth press corps after being stripped of his citizenship last February and exiled to the West for his anti-Soviet writings.

Since his exile he has decided to live in Switzerland and continue his writings, especially the "Gulag Archipelago," which details the horrors of Stalinism.

"When he lived in the Soviet Union, there was almost no press around him," Cronkite said. "But then when he emerged in the West, it was a great cultural shock for him to be pursued by the press."

"At first he thought of them as brothers, but then he felt they were aggressive predators," Cronkite, who interviewed the author June 17, said Solzhenitsyn was no longer followed by the press and lives quite openly and freely in Zurich.

"Although he doesn't advertise where he lives," he said, "there is no mystery about his whereabouts."

Cronkite, who has interviewed some of the most famous men in the world, said Solzhenitsyn appeared to be a very intense worker.

"The thing that really struck me about him is that he is about as free a conversationalist as anyone I have ever interviewed, especially for one who has undergone what he has," he said. "There appears to be no mental scars."

A spokesman for CBS News in New York said the initial contacts for the interview began when Solzhenitsyn emerged from exile in Frankfurt.

He said the first attempt to reach the author was made through friends of the writer there. Later Solzhenitsyn was provided with copies of CBS News interviews, including a broadcast in which three Russian intellectuals discussed the repression of dissent in their homeland.

Once he was convinced of the motives of CBS, the spokesman said, Solzhenitsyn agreed to the interview, and Cronkite arrived in Zurich Sunday, June 16.

The program will be aired June 24 at 10 p.m. EDT.

SAM'S SON
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — George Segal will play the son of Sam Spade in Columbia Pictures' spoof of "The Maltese Falcon" titled "The Black Bird."

AMARILLO — The famed feats of cowboy star Tom Mix are coming to the silver screen of the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum, located on the West Texas State University campus in Canyon, June 23, as the fourth program of their Sunday afternoon summer series.

The 30-minute silent western is free of charge and will be shown at 2:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. in the Museum basement.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of this week's public opinion polls shows President Nixon regaining public support while another has him falling further from favor.

I don't know what the significance of that is, but it is certain to deepen the quandary in which many congressmen now reside.

These are the congressmen who fear that no matter how they vote on the impeachment question, it will hurt them politically.

It is no secret that a goodly number of lawgivers dread having to take a stand and are looking for ways to avoid it.

One House member told me recently that he was thinking about introducing a resolution to shift the impeachment issue to the United Nations.

"This isn't just a domestic matter," he said. "Millions of foreigners feel they have a stake in the outcome, too."

Arabs Like Nixon
It is clear from the tremendous reception he received in the Middle East that the Arabs would like to see Nixon remain in office.

"They even admitted the welcome they gave him was designed in part to bolster his support back home."

And Soviet leader Brezhnev said this week that the impeachment move would not permit him from reaching good new agreements with Nixon when the President visits Moscow.

In the light of these developments, the only fair thing to do is turn it over to an international tribunal. But another congressman with whom I discussed the impeachment dilemma believes there is a better way of getting off the hook.

"Look at it this way," he said. "It is generally agreed that the Nixon administration has made some notable progress in international relations.

Why Not Compromise?
"If Congress were to impeach him because of Watergate and other domestic controversies, we would lose the benefit of his conduct of foreign policy. So why not compromise?"

I said, "You mean impeach half of him?"

"Exactly. Rather than have a president and a vice president, we would have two semi-presidents."

"Nixon would be removed from the presidency but would remain on duty as Semipresident in charge of foreign affairs."

"Meanwhile, Vice President Ford would be sworn in as Semi-President in charge of domestic affairs."

Both of these proposals may strike you as a bit drastic. But when the President, going up and down in the polls simultaneously, extremism is no vice.

An Illinois State University study reported the economic impact of the university on neighboring Bloomington and Normal exceeded $100 million a year.

tips for consumers from your BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU

The trouble with easy credit is that it is easy to get, but not so easy to pay off. Nowadays, you can charge or finance almost anything you buy, even if you don't know how you'll meet the payments. The question the merchant or the lender seldom asks is, "Can you really afford it?"

There is an old adage that bankers once used in counseling potential borrowers: If you can't afford it, you sure can't afford to finance it!

There's a lot of truth in that statement, because if you had paid cash. In addition to the purchase price, you must also pay the interest or finance charge.

This is not to say that financing a purchase may not be a good idea. But, you should remember that when you do finance a purchase, or borrow money to pay for something, you are borrowing against tomorrow. You are spending money you have not yet earned. So the most important thing is to plan your buying accordingly.

Only $20 a month doesn't sound like much — at first. But, if you already have two other $20 payments, you are spending $60 of your future every month.

How much does that leave for the house payments, groceries, clothes, medical expenses, operating car costs and all of those other items which eat up your monthly income? Credit counselors tell us that most people who get into credit problems are families in the middle to upper income group. Their income is on the rise and they are young enough to anticipate even more money to spend.

The mistake most young families make, however, is that they do not really plan their expenditures. They do not agree on, and live within, a reasonable budget. As a result, they find it easy to overspend or to go too far into debt.

Some weekend, sit down and plan a family budget. Take a piece of paper and draw a line down the middle. On the left side, put down your total take-home income from all sources — your spouse's salary, income from interest or stocks, etc.

On the other side, put down your actual costs of living. Don't cheat! Put in all payments, the cost of the kids' summer camp, the vacation you usually take, the golf green fees and even your kids' allowances. Now, add both sides.

If your income isn't at least ten per cent higher than your expenditures, you're in trouble. Remember, there are two things you can expect: higher prices and higher taxes.

Besides, you have not left anything for the unexpected, such as a broken arm or the $100 deductible on the bent fender that cost $404. And, most important, you are not saving your money for your future.

Going into debt is easy. Getting out of debt causes more personal anguish and sacrifice than any of us would want to remember. So, before you add "just $20 a month" or more to your payments, ask yourself if you are really willing to borrow that much out of your future.

You may decide that your future cannot afford it. At least not now.
