Ford, Economists Discuss Troubles

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford conducted a pre-summit White House meeting of 28 economists today and heard a series of gloomy predictions of stubborn inflation and rising unemployment awaiting America throughout this year and 1975.

Opening the first of 12 conferences that will lead to a national summit on inflation at the end of this month, Ford declared the people of America "are sick and tired of having politics played with their pocketbooks" and are demanding solutions.

As the White House meeting began, Senate Democrats meanwhile met in closed caucus on Capitol Hill and unanimously declared their willingness to stay in session for the rest of the year if necessary to act on an administration proposal to curb inflation and boost the economy.

The President remained seated at the 50-foot, blue-covered conference table in the East Room for the next hour listening to five economists make their forecasts. Most foresaw inflation continuing, but at a slower rate than its current 12 per cent, and an upswing in joblessness from its current 5.3 per cent to the neighborhood of 6 per cent or more.

The least pessimistic forecast came from Alan Greenspan, the business economist who was sworn in at the White House Wednesday as chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers.

Greenspan said the economy was healthier than the statistics indicate and the chief problem was an inflation psychology which was causing businessmen to raise their prices and labor unions to raise their demands in anticipation of a continuation of the trend toward higher and higher prices.

Harvard economist Otto Eckstein said a "mild recession" is inevitable and the only question remaining is whether it would be as bad as the recession of 1958. He predicted the rate of inflation would ease somewhat, flowing to 8 per cent by the end of 1975 and perhaps to 6 per cent by the end of 1976.

However, Beryl Sprinkel, a bank economist, said the current decline "has been too brief, too shallow, too concentrated" to qualify for a designation as a recession. Nonetheless, he foresaw a slow growth rate for the rest of this year with unemployment climbing to 5.75 per cent or more.

David Grove, an economist for the IBM Corp., said he was concerned that the Federal Reserve Board's tight money policy had gone as far as it should go. "I am concerned about government policy pushing us into a recession," he said.

Ford, puffing his pipe, excused himself from the meeting after an hour so he could attend to other presidential duties. He interrupted the proceedings at one point to underscore his determination to act "in collaboration with our friends around the world" and to take no actions in isolation which could plunge allies into deeper economic troubles.

Opening the session, Ford urged the economists to put aside their usually conflicting views as much as possible and to come up with practical, workable solutions to the common "deadly enemy" of inflation.

"The people want right answers—not a long list of alternative answers," Ford said.

The meeting was the first of a dozen to be held here and in large cities throughout the country leading toward the national summit conference on inflation in Washington, Sept. 27-28.

Today's session brought together economists from campuses, businesses, banks and agriculture and unions with such widely divergent views as those of liberals like Walter W. Heller and John Kenneth Galbraith and conservatives Milton Friedman and Alan Greenspan, who was sworn in Wednesday as the chairman of Ford's Council of Economic Advisers.

Secret Service Evidence Requested By Ehrlichman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John D. Ehrlichman has subpoenaed the Secret Service for hundreds of Nixon-era White House files to use as possible evidence in his Watergate cover-up trial.

Ehrlichman's subpoena, served on Secret Service director H. S. Knight, was the second major summons his lawyers have issued for the Sept. 30 trial.

The first was for the testimony of former President Richard Nixon, named an indicted co-conspirator in the Watergate cover-up for which Ehrlichman and five other former aides stand accused of criminal charges.

This subpoena ordered Knight to turn over 14 batches of documents to U.S. District Court by 10 a.m. Sept. 16.

It was issued Aug. 29 but not made public until Wednesday. Secret Service spokesman Jack Warner confirmed it had been received. "Our legal counsel is reviewing it now," he said.

The actual legal status of Nixon's papers, including the files of former aides, is unclear.

President Ford has asked

Attorney General William B. Saxbe for a ruling, but in the meantime, the Secret Service has locked the papers and Nixon tapes not already subpoenaed in a White House vault with restricted access.

Ehrlichman's subpoena covers the period between June 17, 1972, the date of the Watergate bugging arrests, and May 1, 1973, the day after he resigned along with co-defendant H. R. Haldeman. For that period, Ehrlichman demands:

- All his notes of his meetings with Nixon.
- The chronological file of his correspondence.
- All his "personal papers" relating to the Watergate burglary and the intelligence-gathering operation at the Nixon campaign, the activities of political saboteur Donald H. Segretti, the Watergate investigations, and tapes relating to the scandal.

Also subpoenaed were all telephone and appointment logs of Nixon, Haldeman and Ehrlichman for that period, and "any and all records of any person maintained at the White House which refer to or relate to the Watergate matter."

The subpoena was seen by some as a strategy to delay the trial until the custody question was resolved.

Earlier, his lawyers won a brief postponement of the the Ellsberg break-in trial by subpoenaing White House files which eventually were ruled irrelevant.

Ehrlichman was convicted in that trial and sentenced to 20 months to 5 years in prison. He is appealing.

Meanwhile, summing up a lawyers' agreement, Judge John J. Sirica issued a series of procedural orders.

The prosecution will provide transcripts of Nixon tapes that it intends to use as evidence to the judge and defense lawyers on Sept. 16. Both sides will submit their witness lists to Sirica by Sept. 23.

Both sides will meet Sept. 16 to agree on what facts can be stipulated—established without evidence. Each defendant and his legal team will have separate tables in the courtroom and office facilities in the court house.

Sirica also ordered prosecutor Leon Jaworski to offer a legal brief on his authority to call "court witnesses" and to let both sides cross-examine.

PLANNING CONTEST — Officers of the Pampa Garden Club met Wednesday at the Chamber of Commerce office to discuss plans for judging in the annual Most Beautiful Yard Contest, set for Sept. 9. From left are Mrs. Eldon Hudson, secretary; Mrs. Joe Curtis, president, and Mrs. Rue Hestand, first vice president.

Judging Date Scheduled For Yard Contest

Pampa's Most Beautiful Yard Contest will be judged on Monday, Sept. 9. Ab Conway, chairman of the Chamber's Beautification Committee, said today.

Judges will be provided by the Pampa Garden Club, working under the direction of Mrs. Joe Curtis, president. For judging purposes, the city is divided into six areas with first, second and third place awards going to the winners in each area.

Awards consisting of a beautiful engraved plaque with a picture of the respective yards will be presented at a special meeting of the city beautification committee in the Chamber office sometime during the month of October, Conway said.

Due to the good rains in the city during the past few weeks, yards should be at their peak for the Sept. 9 judging, Mrs. Curtis said.

All yards in Pampa will be viewed by the judges and no entry blanks are necessary to be included in the judging.

All local residents are requested to have yards in the best possible condition for judging, Mrs. Curtis urged.

Winners will be announced on Tuesday morning, Sept. 10, as soon as judges' sheets can be tabulated and winners determined.

GREECE HUNTS SUPPORT

Cyprus, Turkey Charge Each Other With Deaths

United Press International — The government of Cyprus charged today that Turkish forces on the war-torn island have killed at least 130 Greek Cypriot civilians behind their lines. Turkish Cypriots said there may have been a fifth massacre of Turkish Cypriot civilians.

A statement issued by the Greek Cypriot government said "documented evidence" showed that up until Aug. 17 "at least 130 Greeks were murdered in cold blood by Turks, including children, women and men up to the age of 90."

The statement did not specify the evidence, but said the deaths occurred in numerous areas now under Turkish control.

A Turkish Cypriot spokesman reported receiving information that more than 50 Turkish Cypriots were killed and buried in a mass grave at Time, a small Turkish enclave in the Paphos district on the southwest edge of the island.

"We believe the report is true, but we still haven't received enough details to justify a complaint to the United Nations," the spokesman said.

The Turkish Cypriots said they have exhumed 149 bodies of Turkish Cypriots buried in two mass graves in an area about 12 miles northwest of Famagusta.

The U.N. confirmed that at least 84 bodies were taken from a grave found Sunday in Maratha, but said they could not confirm the total figure of those discovered in a grave at Aloa two weeks ago.

Greece set out today on a three-nation diplomatic offensive aimed at stepping up international pressure on Turkey to abandon its Cyprus invasion gains.

The Greek bid to get the support of Western European nations came after new Turkish cease-fire violations and a tough stand by the war-torn island's president.

Greek Foreign Minister George Mavros planned to fly from Athens to Paris today on the first leg of his mission. The next stops were Bonn and Brussels.

Greece has rejected Turkey's proposal for dividing Cyprus into semi-autonomous regions under a federal government. The Athens government has called on Turkey to give up most of its invasion gains.

A U.N. spokesman said Turkish troops swarmed across truce lines on the northern coast Wednesday to capture the Greek Cypriot village of Galini in the heaviest fighting since the Aug. 16 cease-fire.

A government spokesman said one national guardsman was killed. He said the Turks also moved into the nearby village of Varishia, but U.N. officials did not confirm the report.

Turkish commanders said the guardsmen opened fire first on Turkish positions near the western edge of Galini.

Israeli Troops, Guerrillas Put On Alert Today

United Press International — Israeli troops and Palestinian guerrillas along the Lebanese border went on alert today following a 30-hour, two-battle fight that left four Arab commandos and two Israeli soldiers dead.

The Beirut newspaper Al-Liwa said guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat ordered his Popular Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine "on the highest state of alert," to face a possible Israeli retaliation attack after the battle near the Israeli settlement of Fassouta.

Al-Liwa said Arafat instructed all the guerrilla leaders "to place their forces on the highest state of alert to face any Israeli attack whether on land, from the sea or air."

Arafat's orders coincided with a vow from Democratic Front leader Nayef Hawatmeh that guerrilla operations would continue.

Hawatmeh said the Fassouta commando operation was aimed at securing the release of Greek Catholic Archbishop Helarion Cappucci, who was arrested in Israel last month on charges of smuggling weapons from Lebanon to Palestinian guerrillas operating inside Israel.

The Israeli military command in Tel Aviv said its border troops were put on alert after Israeli soldiers wiped out the four-man guerrilla squad Monday night and Wednesday. Two Israeli soldiers were killed in the bloodiest fighting on the northern frontier in more than two months.

Israeli bulldozers meanwhile began clearing a section of the occupied Golan Heights in Syria for an urban center that might complicate the delicate Middle East peace talks.

An Israeli government official said today construction workers would start laying building foundations for the center within two months at the southeastern tip of the heights.

On the planning boards for more than a year, construction of the center comes only months after a Syrian demand for full Israeli withdrawal from the Golan Heights.

Syria has vowed to let the U.N. cease-fire in the region run out unless Israel abandons the heights, captured in the 1967 and 1973 Middle East wars.

AT ARLINGTON

Abrams' Burial Set For Friday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, hero of the Battle of the Bulge in World War II and leader of American troops in the latter days of the Vietnam War, will be buried Friday at Arlington National Cemetery, not far from the Pentagon where he rose to become Army chief of staff.

Abrams, 59, died Wednesday at Walter Reed Army Medical Center following complications from removal of a cancerous lung 12 weeks ago.

President Ford issued a statement calling Abrams "an American hero in the best tradition... a colorful, courageous leader who won the admiration and respect of enemies as well as allies and subordinates."

Former President Nixon, in a statement from San Clemente, Calif., said that as commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, Abrams "managed with rare skill in one of the most difficult tasks in America's military history."

"It was his lot to command in an unpopular period," Nixon continued.

"But he did so with a high distinction that will rank him forever among the greatest of America's generals."

Abrams — commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam from 1968 until his appointment as Army chief of staff in 1972 — had been at Walter Reed for the past three weeks after blood clots were discovered in his right leg and in his remaining lung.

Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, 57, who served in Vietnam under Abrams and who was his vice chief of staff, automatically assumes command of the Army as acting chief of staff. The President will name a permanent chief, and Weyand is expected to be his choice.

Abrams was a 30-year-old lieutenant colonel when he commanded the lead battalion of the late Gen. George S. Patton's 3rd Army which relieved the German-beseiged American forces at the Belgian town of Bastogne in 1944.

A crusty, hard-bitten soldier in the Patton pattern, Abrams was quoted as saying at one point when the Germans had him at bay: "They've got us surrounded again, the poor bastards."

Patton, not usually given to compliments, once said of him: "I'm supposed to be the best tank commander in the Army, but I have one peer—Abe Abrams."

In addition to his wife, Julia, and a sister, Abrams is survived by six children.

Aviation Group Plans Meeting

The Aviation Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will meet at 10 a.m. Friday in the chamber office to discuss plans for hosting the All-Texas Air Tour that will spend the night here Wednesday, Oct. 9.

The group stopped here for an over-night rendezvous last year and enjoyed their stay so much that the tour selected Pampa for another over-nighter, according to Milo Carlson, committee chairman.

John Goodwin of Sunray, in charge of scheduling for the Panhandle Area stops, will meet with the committee Friday to assist in setting up arrangements.

All members of the committee are urged to attend the meeting, Carlson said.

Members include Bill Arrington, Gene Barber, Joe Cree, Jack Eddins, Gene Gatewood, Henry Gruben, Red Hawkins, Gene Imel, E.E. McDowell, Ed Myatt, Ralph Prock, Ray Rodgers, Clarence Swindle and C.S. Youngblood.

Jury Indicts Area Sheriff

CANADIAN — Sheriff Elton Corey of Hemphill County has been indicted by a grand jury on a charge of being under the influence of alcohol in a public place.

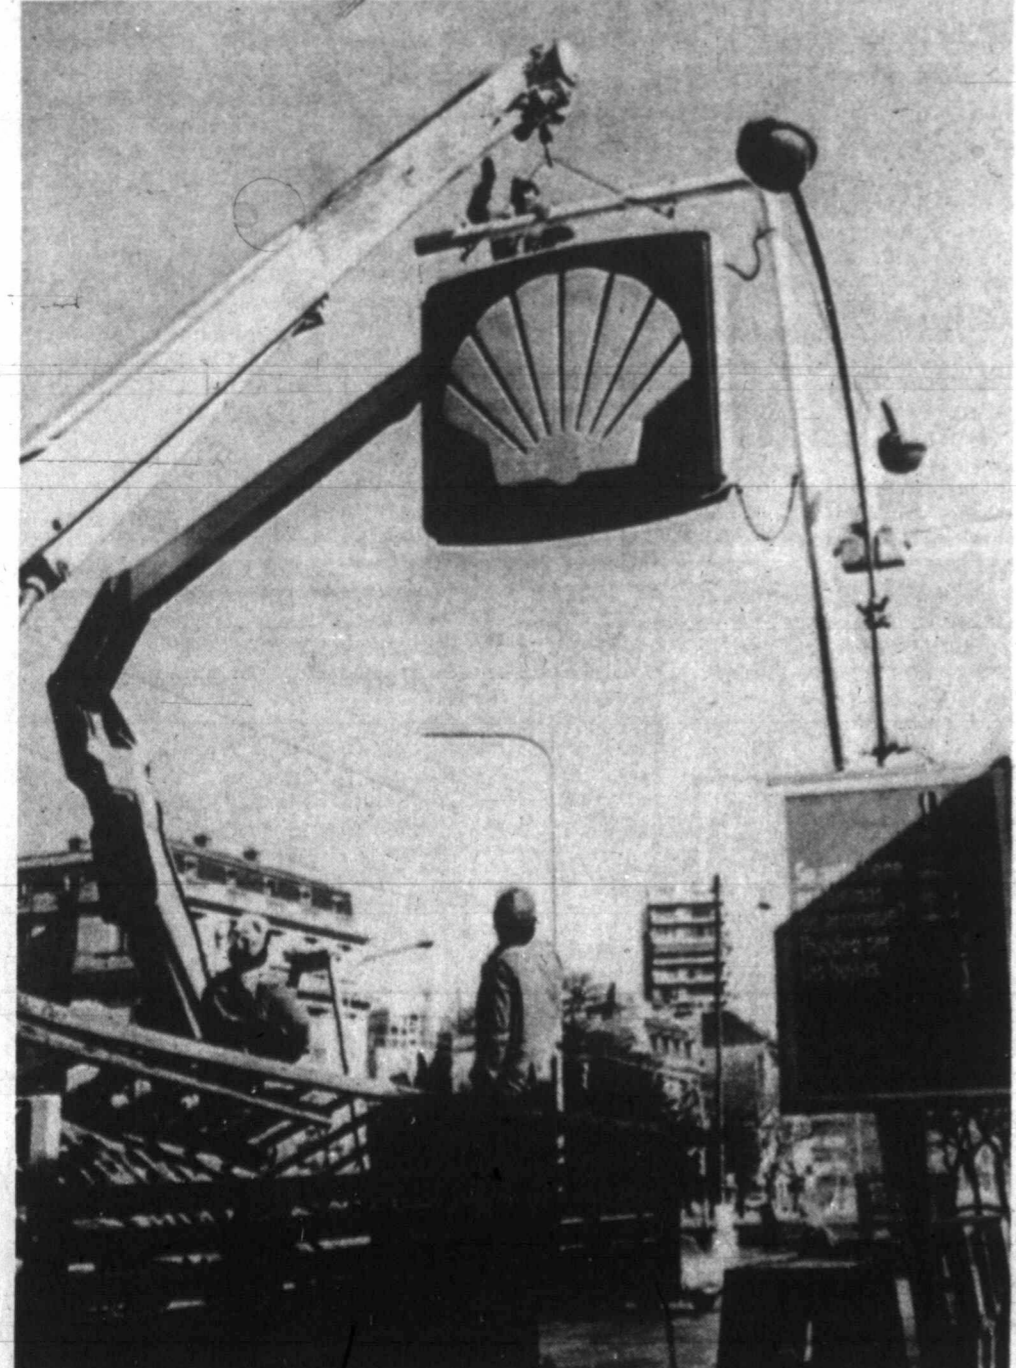

He is to be tried in the Justice of the Peace court of Bob Gober.

Corey, who has been sheriff since 1971, reportedly was involved in quelling a disturbance July 4 at a public dance, from which the charge resulted.

He said he will not resign and his deputies have vowed to "stand behind" the sheriff by declining to resign.

The 31st District Court grand jury called witnesses Tuesday and Wednesday to testify about the alleged incident which reportedly occurred July 4.

Corey, a former Canadian chief of police, was appointed in 1971 to fill the unexpired term of Jim Cloyd, who resigned.

SIGNS OF CHANGE — Workmen of the state-owned petroleum company remove Shell sign from a gas station in downtown Buenos Aires after the Energy Ministry nationalization plans got underway. The government of President Maria Estela Martinez de Peron ordered nationalization of all privately-owned gas stations in the country including some 3,000 stations owned by Shell and Esso.

WANTS UNION BACKING

Wilson Seeking Support For Expected Elections

BRIGHTON, England (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson went before Britain's union leaders today to seek support for expected elections aimed at winning a parliamentary majority for his minority Labor party government.

Wilson planned a major speech this afternoon to the 1,000 delegates at the annual convention of the 10 million-member Trades Union Congress, the British version of the U.S. AFL-CIO.

The prime minister, who has yet to set a date for the general election, headed for Brighton after summing a morning cabinet meeting in London.

Aides described the Brighton speech as important, but said Wilson would not announce a date for the election. They said he first had to inform Queen Elizabeth of the vote.

Wilson was scheduled to see the queen this weekend at Balmoral Castle in Scotland. Parliamentary speculation said he would call the general election for Oct. 10 or 30.

The Labor party won only a plurality in last February's election. Since then, Conservatives and Liberals have joined together to defeat the minority government.

Political informants said Wilson hoped to end the legislative deadlock by winning a strong legislative majority in the general election.

The informants said Wilson would speak about Britain's grave economic troubles, highlighted by inflation soaring to 20 percent and unemployment approaching the 1 million mark.

Mainly About People

The Full Gospel Business Mens' Fellowship will hold the regular monthly meeting on Saturday, September 7th at 7 a.m. in the Flame Room. The speaker will be Rev. Marshall Collins III, 20, Providence, R.I., quietly gave himself up four hours after rushing into the cockpit of the New York-Boston shuttle plane at Logan International Airport, the FBI said. He was held on $250,000 bond.

Witnesses said Collins ordered 95 fellow passengers off the early morning New York-to-Boston flight.

Capt. Lewis E. Whittaker Jr. was held aboard the DC-9 while Collins' demands dwindled from $100,000 and transportation to Africa to $10,000 for "the poor in Roxbury."

Collins kept the nail pressed against Whittaker's neck for two hours, the FBI said, and the pilot's face was bloodied by cuts from the razor.

Collins, who is black, was reported to have been talked out of his hijack attempt by a black FBI agent who used the plane's radio, said James O. Newpher, chief of the FBI's Boston office. The agent was not identified.

Collins "talked about a lack of money, not having a job, not being able to buy a house — things like that," the FBI said.

The incident began after the flight from La Guardia Airport landed at 7:40 a.m., when Collins rushed into the cockpit and threatened to kill Whittaker, 55, of Huntington Station, N.Y., a much-decorated World War II naval pilot.

"Somebody yelled, 'Nobody out the front, everybody out the windows,'" passenger James Cofield said. The passengers left through emergency exits and the plane's four other crewmen followed.

TO DROP CHARGES

Attorney General, Lawyers Argue Deal With Jacobsen

DALLAS (UPI) — The Texas attorney general and lawyers for a San Angelo savings and loan association are expected to ask U.S. District Judge Robert Hill today to refuse to drop charges in Texas against Austin lawyer Jake Jacobsen.

Jacobsen, a former aide of President Lyndon B. Johnson, made a deal with the Watergate special prosecutor's office in Washington, to testify before a federal trial court that he gave former U.S. Treasury Secretary John B. Connally Jr. $10,000 to get milk price supports raised.

The deal, approved by Washington Chief Judge John Hart, involved Jacobsen's pleading guilty to one count of bribery in the Connally case. In return, federal officials in Washington agreed to drop charges against Jacobsen of misappropriating $825,000 of a San Angelo, Tex., savings and loan association's funds.

When U.S. Attorney Frank McCown of the Northern Texas District followed through on the Washington Deal last Thursday and asked Judge Hill to drop the San Angelo charges, Judge Hill refused to be rushed.

He said he was not sure the special prosecutor in Washington can make a deal for cooperation in one case for dismissal of charges in an unrelated case before another judge.

Judge Hill had been expected to rule today but was now said to be delaying his decision so he can study briefs submitted by the Texas attorney general and lawyers for First Savings and Loan Association of San Angelo. Both oppose dropping the San Angelo charges.

If Judge Hill refuses to dismiss the charges — set for trial Sept. 23 — the government's case against Connally in Washington will be weakened.

Connally has pleaded innocent to a five-count indictment charging he accepted $10,000 from Jacobsen on behalf of Associated Milk Producers, Inc., to use his influence in getting a milk price support increase through the White House.

If Judge Hill finally agrees to dismiss the San Angelo charges, Jacobsen still may not be home free.

The immunization clinic originally scheduled for Sept. 12 at Carver Center has been re-set for Sept. 13, according to Jerry DeSha, public health investigator for the Texas State Department of Health.

DeSha said today the rescheduling of the free clinic was the result of conflicting assignments of nursing personnel.

The clinic, to be held from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the center located at 321 W. Albert, will feature shots for diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis (whooping cough) and measles (both rubella and three-day German measles and the common nine-day measles).

The clinic is open to persons of all ages, from infants to adults, and is normally held once a month. The next immunization clinic will be held here Oct. 18.

Parker Thinks Clayton's Alliance Facing Erosion

AUSTIN (UPI) — Rep. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, thinks time will wreck an alliance of conservatives and liberals built by Rep. Bill Clayton, D-Springlake, who claims enough support to win the 1975 Texas House speakership.
"It's obvious at this time that Clayton has more names that he can release than I have," Parker said Wednesday. "But the alliance that he has put together is at best an uncomfortable alliance. I know from my conversations that some of them are having second thoughts."
Parker explained his position in the speaker's race at a news conference after Clayton disclosed the names of 15 new supporters running his total to 91. It takes 76 votes by fellow House members to elect a speaker.
"I'm still a candidate and will be until January unless a majority of my supporters tell me to quit," Parker said. "The House deserves an alternative and I intend to be that alternative until my people tell me they don't want me to be."

Parker criticized Clayton on his record against teaching of bilingual education in public schools, his stands on minority legislation, labor legislation and laws dealing with senior citizens.

FOR APPOINTMENTS

Ford, Scranton Seeking Talent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford meets today with his talent scout, former Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, to look over a long list of candidates to replace Nixon administration holdovers.
White House officials said Ford also has asked other members of his administration to be on the lookout for new faces to fill some of the expected vacancies in the cabinet and the White House hierarchy.
Ford in a surprise appointment Wednesday named George Bush, Republican national chairman, as U.S. envoy to China and recommended Mary Louise Smith to take his place.
Mrs. Smith, who will be 60 Friday, was appointed co-chairman last February after an active political career in her native Iowa. She would be the first woman to serve in the GOP post.
Ford also recommended that Richard B. Obenshain, chairman of the Virginia Republican Party, succeed

Mrs. Smith in the No. 2 spot of the party leadership.
The GOP National Committee has been summoned to a meeting Sept. 16 to endorse Ford's recommendations.
Ford also announced he was nominating economic counselor Kenneth Rush to be ambassador to France, succeeding John N. Irwin II. He selected former Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., to be the nation's first ambassador to East Germany.
There was continued speculation that Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, would be named to succeed Walter Annenberg as ambassador to Great Britain.
Fulbright, currently on a trip to China, was defeated in a primary bid for reelection earlier this year.
White House Press Secretary J. F. TerHors also signaled the imminent return of Gen. Alexander M. Haig, White House chief of staff, to the military services.

Haig's name has been submitted to members of NATO for approval for the position of supreme allied commander, but the selection was reported to have run into opposition from the Dutch Foreign Ministry, which feels Haig is too closely tied to former President Richard Nixon.
According to TerHors, Haig "has always felt the Army was his home and the Army is the place where he would like to return."
Scranton has made it clear he does not want any position in the Ford administration and simply has been enlisted to recruit the big names for Ford for future Cabinet and other high-level government posts.
Ford was expected to be preoccupied most of today with a preliminary White House conference to plan for the Sept. 27-28 economic summit.
The President also plans to meet before the end of the week with Defense Secretary James Schlesinger and Attorney General William B. Saxbe to further explore a plan for offering conditional amnesty to war resisters.

He expects to announce a decision early next week.
DRIED FRUIT SALES GO UP
NEW YORK (UPI) — Nutrition awareness has boosted sales of dried fruits and natural cereals.
Conditment sales are up sharply over the past year, influenced not just by a long term trend toward greater variety in meals but also by the energy crisis and inflation, says Progressive Grocer. The trade publication said both factors have led people to entertain more at home instead of eating out or traveling long distances for entertainment.
Variety, more foreign type meals and economizing have helped spur sales of macaroni products. And the economy and natural foods trends have increased sales of baking needs, according to the magazine's second annual study of sales of about 320 product categories in super stores.

The average cost of drilling an oil well off the Texas coast is $647,000, eight times the average cost of an onshore well.

Nixon's Request Faces Trouble From Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A request for $850,000 for former President Richard Nixon's pension, office costs and other expenses is running into trouble in Congress.

Sen. Joseph Montoya, D-N.M., chairman of the appropriations subcommittee which must approve President Ford's request, said Wednesday it was "too much by many miles."

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said the request should be "looked at most carefully."

"Where the law is concerned I would say we have no choice but to provide the funds," Mansfield said. "Where add-ons are concerned, they will be looked at most carefully and the law will be looked at most carefully."

Nixon is entitled under the law to a $60,000 annual pension and up to $96,000 for staff salaries each year.

The pension and staffing requests, plus a one-time bill for transition costs, came to $601,000. There appears to be little debate over this request.

There may be some opposition to the remaining $249,000, a special allowance for Nixon to set up an office near his home in San Clemente, Calif.

Nixon is seeking $40,000 for travel, $21,000 for communications, $65,000 for furnishings, $10,000 for printing, $5,000 for office supplies, $8,000 for health insurance and fringe benefits, and $100,000 for miscellaneous expenses.

"It appears to me the $850,000 is too much by many miles," Montoya said.

Cuevas, Others Charged For Murder Of Hostage

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Ignacio Cuevas, the only convict to survive last month's attempted breakout from the Texas penitentiary, was indicted for capital murder Wednesday for the shooting death of a woman hostage.

Six other persons also were indicted on capital murder charges on grounds they helped supply the guns that led to the death of hostage Julia Standley.

Mrs. Standley and another woman hostage were shot to death Aug. 3 as Cuevas, Fred Gomez Carrasco and Rudolfo Dominguez tried to leave the state penitentiary after holding 10 other hostages for 11 days in the prison's library. Carrasco and Dominguez were killed during a shootout with law officers in the prison courtyard.

The Walker County grand jury indicted Cuevas, who was not hurt in the shootout, with killing Mrs. Standley during the gunbattle.

Four prison inmates, trusty Lawrence J. Hall, Fred "Liko" Perales, Adolpho "Shorty" Alonzo, and Pedro Alonzo, were indicted for helping in the escape attempt.

The grand jury also indicted Benito Alonzo, a parolee who was arrested last Friday and taken to the Walker County jail, and George Cisneros, who remained at large.

"They were indicted for capital murder, involving the supply of guns," a spokesman for the Walker County district attorney's office said. "Acting as parties to Carrasco, Dominguez and Cuevas while they attempted to escape, they caused the death of Julia Standley."

District Attorney Jerry Sandel said Benito Alonzo, 39, arranged for Hall to carry the pistols inside the prison.

Hall, who was allowed to work outside the prison walls at the home of a prison official, smuggled one of the guns into the prison inside a ham from which the bone had been removed, according to one prison source.

The source said the ammunition and two other guns were hidden inside peach cans which were taken to the prisons commissary.

Court Asked To Decide On Diverting Gas Supply

AUSTIN (UPI) — Attorneys for the cities of Austin and San Antonio and the Lower Colorado River Authority have until Oct. 18 to answer the appeals complaint carried to the Texas Supreme Court by the Railroad Commission and natural gas suppliers for North Texas.

The suppliers, a combine of eight corporations, and the Railroad Commission have asked the Supreme Court to determine whether natural gas supplies can be diverted from South Texas to North Texas under contract with the suppliers in each area.

Lo Vaca, the South Texas supplier to at least 33 communities, has a contract with Texas Utilities Fuel Co. (TUFCO), the North Texas supplier, to provide TUFCO's needs.

The diversion of the gas to TUFCO will result in blackouts and brownouts across South Texas this winter according to representatives of South Texas utility companies.

The Railroad Commission claims it doesn't have the authority to prevent the contractual arrangement but a state district court judge and a state appeals court disagreed. Each claimed the Railroad Commission has the authority to act in the public interest and could order Lo Vaca to fulfill the needs of its South Texas customers.

Governors Oppose Gasoline Tax

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — A suggested 10 cent per gallon increase in the federal excise tax on gasoline has found little support among governors of 17 southern states gathering Sunday for the 1974 Southern Governors' Conference.

President Ford reportedly has been considering the gasoline tax proposal as both an inflation fighting move and an energy conservation step.

"I am strongly opposed to any increase," Florida Gov. Reubin Askew said. "We ought to be concentrating on efforts to lower the price rather than raise it."

Gov. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas also opposed the gasoline tax increase, saying even rationing might be preferable to the onus such a tax hike would put on middle and lower income groups.

"I think while the move to reduce consumption is worthy, I believe better methods of achieving it would be more equitable for lower income groups," Bumpers said.

Kentucky Gov. Wendell Ford said "I am interested in tax reduction for those retired and on low and fixed incomes rather than proposals for tax increases by the federal government."

The energy shortage is one of the first topics set for discussion Monday when the southern governors get down to business in their 40th annual meeting at Lakeway, a resort area on Lake Travis in the rugged hill country west of Austin. Gov. Dolph Briscoe of Texas will preside over the session involving power and energy Monday morning, and speakers will include Louisiana Gov. Edwin Edwards and West Virginia Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr.

Edwards was the only one of the southern governors queried who did not immediately oppose the 10 cent per gallon increase in the federal excise tax on gasoline.

"I would want to reserve judgment on that matter to find out to what purpose the tax would be put," Edwards said.

"If the proceeds were to be used to help solve the energy crisis, I would support it."

MR. AND MRS. DAVID HAYNES
...nee Miss Laura Cox

Laura Cox Becomes Bride Of David Haynes

Miss Laura Nell Cox became the bride of David Smith Haynes recently in the First United Methodist Church, the Rev. Robert Brown of Haskell officiated for the ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Cox of Norman, Okla. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. John Morse Haynes of McLean.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was attired in a formal length gown styled with long fitted sleeves and a modified waistline accented by a blue ribbon. The bodice was designed of lace over bridal satin and featured a large bow in back. She wore baby's breath and white roses with blue ribbon in her hair.

Mrs. Cindy Simmons of Lubbock, served as matron of honor. Other bridal attendants were Sheri Haynes, sister of the bridegroom, Cherrie Billingsley, and Stacie Smith, cousin of the bridegroom. Gion Cox, Norman, cousin of the bride was flower girl.

Ted Davis Simmons, Lubbock, was best man and Mike Haynes, Lubbock, Morse and Sammy Don Haynes all brothers of the bridegroom were groomsmen. Jim Cox, brother of the bride and Todd Cox, cousin of the bride, served as chandelighers. Mrs. Kay Haynes played piano background music prior to the ceremony. Mrs. Johnie Rodgers and Miss Haynes played the processional and recessional.

Mrs. Ida Hess Sang, theme from "Romeo and Juliet" and "Hawaiian Wedding Song." The couple will make their home in Lubbock where they plan to continue their education at Texas Tech University.

Your Horoscope

By Jean Dixon

FRIDAY, SEPT. 6
Your birthday today: Your daily life flows swiftly in the direction you've adopted. You are at fault if it isn't reasonably successful and happy. Begin personal change to achieve balance in a few months. Discard bad habits, losing ventures. Relations should be treated gently and with no pressure. Today's natives express themselves with a blend of practicality, imagination, poise.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Travel yields extra contacts. Take along mate, business partners and share benefits that everybody may profit from. Correspondence, conferences await you.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Less urgency is needed. Get busy to clear up misunderstandings and make peace. Stop your week's work at a reasonable place. Celebrate this evening.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: First attend to improvement of financial situations. Consultations on technical matters are favored. Act restrained and unobtrusive.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: You easily initiate belated changes in style of living, routines and habits. Leave behind the past for good; resolve and prepare to go on to better things.

Leo [July 23-Aug 22]: Fully take advantage of today's relative smooth-going. Luck or coincidence is with you according to how you've attracted it. You are encouraged in romance in later hours.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Sell ideas as well as material objects today. Arrive at work bright and early and with your best appearance, good humor and faith in yourself and your skills.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Keep your personal life uncomplicated amid swift progress. Occupy yourself with what is most important to you at home and nearby. Find or give a party tonight.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: You can do a great deal for your friends now, but be sure that your own interests are fully protected. Strike a good balance; call off a long-time feud.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Ask for cooperation; bring existing situations to logical conclusions. Pace yourself, but don't hesitate. A mood of thanksgiving is appropriate tonight.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Somewhat heavier outlays are worth it in the long run if you yourself make careful decisions and selections. Seek completely different surroundings this evening.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Family matters feature your day. Much can be done with private resources to provide future earnings. Shelve business for a pleasant, perhaps romantic, evening.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Travel yields useful results. Settle with yourself and your work. Prepare for an enjoyable weekend of moderation.

Dear Abby

Co-worker's wife accuses her of adultery

By Abigail Van Buren
 © 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 23-year-old married woman. I've never had an experience like this in all my life—that's why it's so upsetting to me.

It all started when a co-worker, who must be in his late 40's, started kidding around at work and calling me his "girl friend." There was nothing to it. It was just a joke. He recently had a 25th wedding anniversary and I sent him and his wife a card. When I was out sick last year, he sent me a card.

Well, one evening last week, out of the blue I get a phone call from his wife. She started yelling and hollering and accusing me of having "an affair" with her husband. I was shocked. Then her husband took the phone away from her and apologized, saying she was having one of her "spells." I avoided him at work.

Last evening, she called again. This time my husband answered, and again she ranted and carried on about me and her husband. Finally, my husband hung up on her.

Abby, she sounds like a crazy woman. She could even kill me. I love my job but maybe I should quit. How should I handle this? UPSET

DEAR UPSET: The woman is either disturbed or she drinks. (Maybe both.) Don't quit your job. There are laws to protect people against harassment of this kind. Have your lawyer write her a letter. (He'll know what to say.) That should do it.

DEAR ABBY: Neither my husband or I drink or smoke, and whenever we have a family gathering there is always some member of the family who brings a bottle of wine. In order not to hurt their feelings, we always open the bottle, but we never partake of it.

My husband and I do not like drinking in our home, so how do we tactfully get the idea across? These relatives read your column, so if this is printed, maybe they'll take the hint. TWO TETEOTALERS

DEAR TWO: Don't count on it. Tell those who are apt to bring a bottle that when you want alcohol served in your home, you'll provide it. It's your home, so don't be bashful.

DEAR ABBY: About the 80-year-old man who looks like 60, loves to dance, and puts on a show wherever there's music, much to the embarrassment of his daughter.

My grandfather is 86. He talks too loud, scratches wherever he pleases (right in front of everybody), falls asleep in restaurants, and is always giving me advice.

He also diapered me when I was a baby, taught me how to fish, hugged me no matter how dirty I was, and loved me no matter how bad I was.

That old man can do anything he wants to do as long as I have anything to say about it.

And when he dies, I'll cry. Not because the end will have come for a man who has had a full and beautiful life, but because no one else will see the twinkle in his eye. G.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "YEA OR NAY": NAY! The most underpaid and abused people in the world are NOT waiters and waitresses—they are our elected officials. Contrary to what many believe, there is not one truly dedicated Congressman or Senator who wouldn't be better off financially doing something else.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

In today's deal, our South declarer fulfilled a contract that could have been defeated. However, it is quite difficult to censure the defenders, since it would have required super-imagination on their part to have come-up with the winning play.

Both sides vulnerable. North deals.

Opening lead: Five of ♦.

On West's opening lead of the spade five, East put up the queen, which was permitted to win the trick. East played back the ten of spades, which South captured with his jack.

Declarer next led the diamond jack, and it didn't matter which of the defenders elected to win the trick. If West did, he would have no spade to play back. And if East chose to capture the diamond jack with his ace, he could lead a spade, driving out South's last stopper in the suit. But East would be unable to ever regain the lead to cash his established spades. Thus, declarer was able to establish and cash dummy's diamond suit before East could establish and cash his spade suit.

The winning play by East would have been to put up the eight of spades at trick one, instead of the queen! From East's position, he should have been absolutely certain that South, for his direct lead to three notrump, had either the A-J-x or the A-J-x-x of spades; and East should have known that South

Here's Help For The Sandwich-Packin' Mamas

NEW YORK (UPI) — No need to go out of your mind packing lunches five days a week all through the school year.

The way to keep sane: Eliminate the daily routine. Margaret Spader, home economist with the Aluminum Association, suggests setting up a production line and making two to three weeks' supply of sandwiches at one time.

When properly wrapped, they can be stored in the freezer with no deterioration in quality.

Frozen sandwiches thaw in about an hour at room temperature, so are ready to eat at lunch time. The quality of the sandwich depends on the quality of ingredients that go into it and the expertise of wrapping.

All food should be of top quality — freezing preserves quality, it does not improve it. Foods in less than peak condition deteriorate more noticeably when frozen.

When wrapped in an air tight foil package, sandwiches will stay fresh several hours after thawing.

Besides eliminating a job that is repeated 180 days a year, the production line, freezing approach to making sandwiches results in greater variety and money saving, too, when leftovers are wisely used.

For example, instead of ham sandwiches for two or three consecutive days when you want to use up leftovers, freeze some of the sandwiches and alternate their use with different varieties on hand in the freezer.

FORD HONORED
 LEASBURG, Mo. (UPI) — A room in the Onondaga Cave near here has been named for President Gerald R. Ford — the first living person to be so honored since Daniel Boone discovered the cave in 1798, according to owner Lester B. Dill. Dill said he was honoring the new chief executive even though he is fighting the federal government to save the cave from condemnation for a proposed dam project.

Another Mighty Issue Solved

The U.S. Supreme Court, which often refuses to hear important issues, has been trying to decide whether something resembling The Flag can be legally worn on the seat of someone's pants.

The ruling came out 5-4 in favor of a red-white-and-blue posterior. At least one of the justices (Bryon White) thought the First Amendment was involved and that a Massachusetts law prohibiting disrespect for The Flag ran afoul of constitutional clauses recognizing freedom of speech and freedom of press.

We believe the justice took the long way around to arrive at his conclusion. There is slight connection, if any, between the seat of a person's pants and his right to talk or to operate a printing press. The real point is whether a person has a right to do what he will with a bit of colored cloth that he happens to own, as long as he doesn't injure anyone else.

True, there is such a thing as provocation. One person by word, gesture, or other behavior might provoke another to physical violence against him. And the probability of such retaliation might be sufficiently great that the law would intervene in the function of keeping the peace. The same act might be more pregnant of adverse consequences in some circumstances than in other circumstances. For example, a depiction of the American Flag would be considerably more provocative at a Fourth of July parade or in an American Legion hall than elsewhere. But even here the provocation would have to be extreme to the point of bizarre to justify the calling of police, the Massachusetts legislature or the Supreme Court.

Technically the high court could worry about the pants issue at taxpayer's expense because the Massachusetts legislature first had erred. Against this license to invade must be weighed the fact that the court has a multitude of other matters to keep busy on, some of more importance, but which the court turns its back on. The pants case was selected to the neglect of others.

Offhand, we are confident that people of this country think enough of one another and their common destiny that they can and will safeguard patriotic values against profanation, and they do not require legislative or judicial intervention to that purpose. More than that, to prostitute the First Amendment is to destroy it, and that is what Justice White's reasoning would lead to.

That Old Red Line

A writer for a news syndicate was reading a speech by Fidel Castro and was surprised to learn that Cuba's No. 1 Red admits that the people of that island are not ready for communism. So as the lead paragraph of the newsman's story, these sentences appeared: "Premier Fidel Castro admits that he has not been able to communicate Cuba. To hear him explain it, Cubans are not ready for communism."

Those sentences tell more about the state of mind of American journalism than they tell about either Cuba or Castro. They bespeak the difficulty that the American people face in trying to obtain reliable information about the communist goals, tactics and behavior.

For it is a settled point in Marxist-Leninist theory that no people is ready for communism. Not even inhabitants of the Soviet Union. Indeed that ideal is close to the core of Marxist-Leninist doctrine. The point of that philosophy is the people are not ready for communism and so they must be MADE ready for it. Castro never expected Cubans to be ready for communism. He DID expect to regiment them, to weed out non-conformists by execution, and to beguile them into accepting regimentation and bloodshed by promising that a day will arrive when regimentation and bloodshed will fade away as no longer necessary because everyone conforms to a communist pattern. Leading communists in the U.S. and elsewhere almost certainly recognize the fakery in the ultimate goal of Marxism-Leninism. But the theory serves as a convenient religion to beguile the well-meaning. For it holds out a promise—as do other religions—when society will people one day wholly by regenerate humankind.

Sincere communists do not embrace communism because it offers them regimentation and bloodshed. Rather they believe such horrendous means will lead to a beautiful utopia. So Castro was telling the Cuban masses they must suffer a while longer because they had not yet been made ready for the bright and happy "Heaven" that he has in store for them.

That line was not a confession of failure by Castro. Rather, it was a continuation of the old Red con game, and the ruse must be effective. It continues to fool American newsmen.

First And Sixth Amendments

The First Amendment most often is cited as a Constitutional recognition of the free press. That is part of the story. The other part is told in the Sixth Amendment.

The first article to the Bill of Rights spells out that Congress shall make no law abridging freedom of press. This is a prohibition against the legislative branch. It forbids lawmakers from choking off the flow of information to the public.

But Congress is not the only source of legally enforceable rules. In fact, it is not even the main source. Courts also have a rule-making function. The Sixth Amendment pertains to the courts. It states that "in all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury." This is both a mandate and a prohibition on the judiciary. It is a mandate in that the courts are commanded to get on with the work. It is also a mandate in that the courts are told what kind of jurors they are to select. But it is a prohibition in that the courts are forbidden from sealing off their actions so that members of the public cannot see what is going on.

The press acts as the eyes and ears of the public. The press is the reader's agent. When the reader is at work or home, the press attends gatherings—legislative, judicial and otherwise—then reports back to the reader. So long as trials are conducted in public, the press will have the access to the facts necessary to report them. Public knowledge of how a judge conducts his court is really the guarantee of fair trial. So it is not a wonder that the thoughtful men who authored the Bill of Rights should have insisted upon the openness of the judiciary.

Surprisingly, not all jurists favor fully public trial. Some sincerely feel that they can guard the rights of litigants better without so much publicity. Some understand that litigants will be tempted to use the press in order to get information before jurors that has not been admitted to evidence. Other judges are shaky on the law and resort to "in chambers" proceedings at difficult points. For a number of reasons, courts have undertaken to define "public" to mean that not all of a trial need be open, but only specific stages of it.

Whenever a sensational criminal case is tried, the possibility of conflict between court and press will arise. That conflict can come about in one of three ways: (1) The press can get out of line; (2) The court can get out of line; (3) Both can get out of line. However, so long as each adheres to its proper function—the press to report the news, the judges to protect the litigants—the two are fully compatible.

OUTRIDER Patriotism As Joining Killers Club

By GARRY WILLS

The current amnesty debate reminds me of Tom Sawyer's club. That club, you may remember, is the one Huck Finn was not at first allowed to join. Secret societies exist in order to preserve secrets. The dark Tom Sawyer secrets were protected by a fearsome mutual pledge: if anyone revealed the secrets, then all other members were bound to kill not only the blabber himself but all his family too.

That was where Huck's problem came in. His mother was dead, and his father was considered dead. He had no family to kill. Admitting him would not be fair to the members who were putting their parents' lives at stake.

So goes the "patriotic" argument against repatriation of the war resisters. After all, those who went to Vietnam, or risked doing so, suffered 50,000 casualties from their number. Where are the proportionate hundreds of Canadian evaders who were senselessly killed as our boys were? The Vietnam war was undeclared, undefined, and a net loss to the country. We fought without knowing why, and stopped (partially) without winning anything. We used weapons condemned by international covenants to which we are signatories.

If we had been the losers, Messrs. Nixon and Kissinger would have been executed as war criminals under the precedent we ourselves established in Nuremberg. But all that does not matter to the primitive-boy mentality of our GI joiners. It is blood for blood with them. When expatriates want to return, they are in effect asked at the border: "Where are your senselessly killed men to match ours?"

Huck finally got into the club by offering his widow-guardian as a blood pledge. Maybe the expatriates should find some volunteers in their number to be senselessly killed. Then the "patriots" who praised the objectless slaughter in Vietnam could get a crew of senseless killers together, and—after these vindicators had mowed down a sufficient percentage of the war evaders—we could welcome the surviving resisters back with a satisfied conscience.

Then, of course, we would have to grant amnesty for the volunteer killers, exempting them from the murder laws—a much bigger exemption than that for draft evasion. Which is only just: overlooking war crimes (as we have done) is a bigger omission than refusal to prosecute those who absented themselves from the crime without leave.

Our exemptions from war crimes reach not only to President Nixon but to a confessed killer of women and children like Lieutenant Calley. The Army itself convicted him, but Mr. Nixon took him out of the stockade and put him in cushy "house arrest" at his apartment while appeal and shortened sentencing were arranged for him. He was given mercy because he showed none, because he senselessly killed and risked being senselessly killed. (Not any more risk than necessary, of course—any child might be hiding a machine gun in his diapers, so better be safe and "waste" it.)

Those who do not actually demand a compensatory decimation of American men in Canada do say that only those truly conscientious in their objections should be let back into the country. But that misses the point of a systemic evil like the Vietnam war. Various persons helped men oppose being drafted into that crime, not because the people being helped were unquestionably noble, only because the war was patently vile.

The Abolitionists manning the underground railway by which slaves escaped toward Canada in the 19th century did not ask each black smuggled through if his or her philosophy on slavery was an enlightened one. Since slavery was evil, escape from it was good—good for any and every person who escaped.

President Ford has said his proposal of "earned re-entry" is moderate, and indeed it is. Far too moderate for those who think they should not be punished in any way for refusal to participate in a crime. Very well. Let those who wish to stay, stay for now. But Mr. Ford offers a means of return for any who truly want to return. It is not a generous offer, but it is a well-intentioned one. Those who rebuke him for wanting to bring Americans back together on these moderate terms reveal themselves for that Nixon constituency that always preferred inflicting internal wounds to healing them. If Mr. Ford listens to them, he would be as mean-spirited as his predecessor—the last thing anyone who loves this country honestly desires.

H. L. Hunt Writes

The senseless bombing of an air terminal in Los Angeles and the planting of another bomb in a bus depot have terrorized a great city and reminded all of us that the internal security of this nation is far from perfect. Similar incidents rocked London several months ago. Probably no form of crime is more terrifying nor more hideous. It may be recalled that the Mad Bomber of New York went unidentified and unapprehended for years.

Admittedly, these criminal offenses are tough to crack. The criminal intelligence unit of the Los Angeles police department is one of the finest in the world and it is unlikely that the bomber will get away with his foul deeds. Still, we are reminded that most police departments are undermanned and underpaid and not enough is being done by the public to support them. If the law enforcement agencies of this nation are given the tools and the manpower, they will get the job done.

There should be fresh resolution on the part of all of us who want protection in our homes and on our jobs to heed the warnings of police chiefs and other leaders in the crime fight when they call for bigger budgets to bolster their forces. We should make our officers feel proud of their badges and publicly commend them when they do outstanding work.

Mad-Bombers have no place in our society. Neither do rapists, burglars, and thieves. Crime can only succeed if we, the public, remain complacent. Internal security is even more precious than security from foreign aggression.

WATCH ON WASHINGTON Television Turns Press Conference Into "Performance"

By C. MOLLENHOFF
WASHINGTON, D.C. — If President Ford wants openness and candor to be hallmarks of his administration, he should reinstate the weekly presidential press conference. Turning off the television cameras will help restore these weekly meetings to the effective dialogues they were during Truman and Eisenhower administrations.

Television has changed the press conference from an instrument of responsible accountability by the chief executive to a "performance." In the Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon administrations, the television cameras put pressure on the president and the questioner, distorting the questions and the responses.

Since the United States does not have the "question period" under which prime ministers are held accountable by members of Parliament, a press conference is the only means by which the public can be assured a president is aware of the pressing problems of government, except as he sees to volunteer information in public speeches.

As our $300-billion-a-year government continues to grow, the need for presidential press conferences increases to assure that the chief executive is aware of the problems of government raised in the public press. The Watergate affair and related problems have demonstrated the importance of establishing the specific knowledge the president has of scandalous conditions and his responsibility to deal with them.

In the seven months following the Watergate affair, President Nixon held only one press conference in Washington. Hurriedly called, with a specific lack of notice to some persistent questioners, it was dominated by questions from the regular White House reporters.

As is now apparent, it was an effort to bar follow-through questions on Mr. Nixon's knowledge of the Watergate coverup, then in progress.

President Nixon cleverly manipulated the press conference to deceive the public on Watergate by refusing to allow questions that might have exposed deceptions. It was possible only because there were not regular press conferences, and because a sizable percentage of the television viewers were unable to distinguish between facts and fallacies.

President Kennedy avoided the most difficult questions by recognizing only friendly reporters and those who were inadequate in their preparation or inept in the manner they posed questions.

President Johnson used the "walking press conference" in which the White House regulars tagged after the president around the White House grounds, trying to scribble notes while barely able to keep pace with his long strides. There was no transcript, and Johnson was free to "hunker down" and fail to recollect any of his dealings with Bobby Baker or his precise actions on Vietnam. Johnson's successful policy of "hunkering down" in the face of controversy was his legacy to Mr. Nixon, who referred to this in his own regard as "stonewalling."

By hindsight, it is easy to see that Mr. Nixon provoked confrontation with reporters and used the resulting underdog syndrome to portray himself as being hounded and distracted from carrying out important international domestic functions.

In analyzing the press conference as an effective institution, the identity of the reporter is not important. It is the substance of the question that is vital, and so is the right of every reporter to be present and to seek recognition from the president. This guarantees against White House Control of questioning.

These are points that should be kept in mind when "reforms" are suggested that would limit presidential press conferences to White House regulars. Much of the blame for our presidents taking into themselves royal prerogative lies with the fact that many regular White House reporters grovel to presidents in hopes of gathering a few "exclusive" crumbs from the White House.

Those advising President Ford should recognize that regular press conferences give the president periodic access to questions which the White House palace guard may not want the president to face.

And, with no television cameras present, a president may be more comfortable in explaining that he is really unfamiliar with either the facts or the law on a government problem, but will supply a complete answer later. To occasionally admit that he does not know the answer to every question is a human quality that nearly everyone will admire in a president, but admitting it is difficult in the glare of television, when a momentary fumble can make a man seem an oaf.

Vijay Amitraj Loses In Open

NEW YORK (UPI) — While 20-year-old Vijay Amitraj of India played — and lost — in two doubles matches Wednesday, his opponent in today's first match of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships quarter-finals, Ken Rosewall, rested his 39-year-old legs. After a hectic Wednesday which saw Chris Evert advance to the semifinals — amid hoots and insults from a small contingent in the crowd of 10,000 — and thus set up a classic match against Evonne Goolagong on Friday, the stage belongs totally to the men today.

Following the Amitraj-Rosewall match, Stan Smith and Roscoe Tanner face each other before Smith's archrival, topseeded Jimmy Connors, takes on the tough Russian, Alex Metreveli. Meanwhile, defending champion John Newcombe goes into battle against 1968 winner Arthur Ashe. Smith, Connors, Tanner and Metreveli all advanced on Wednesday, while Rosewall and the other three moved up on Tuesday. Amitraj lost a mixed doubles match with Kathy May, a men's doubles with his brother Anand, while Newcombe won with pal, Tony Roche, to gain the semis of the men's doubles. Tanner had the scariest escape of all in Wednesday's finest match. He again went five sets, this time against Egypt's Ismail El Shafei, losing two of three tie-breaks but winning the most important one in the fifth set to post a 6-3, 6-7, 7-5, 6-7, 7-6.

Tanner had put out Ilie Nastase after being two sets down, and earlier, again two sets down, had whipped Britain's Roger Taylor. It seems too much to ask of the young man to handle Smith, whom he has never beaten, in such a pressure match as he faces today.

Smith had time to tune up for Tanner by disposing of Syd Ball of Australia, while Metreveli had a surprisingly easy time putting down Tom Okker in straight sets.

For Connors, the day's work may have been best, for he had a tough match in stopping last year's beaten finalist, Jan Kodes, in four rugged sets. Connors let up his attack in the third set, then went full force in the fourth to win 7-5, 6-3, 5-7, 6-2. Kodes lost all chance when he failed on four set points in the opening set before Connors found his groove.

Connors turned livid in postmatch interviews when he heard Miss Evert relate how she had been badgered by grandstand fans during her victory over Lesley Hunt of Australia.

She had heard someone call "fault" at one point and thought the call official referee Mike Blanchard overruled the umpire, who had called for a replay, and a shout of "poor sport" jolted Miss Evert. Later, she was hooted "you stink" but she never lost her composure.

Miss Hunt appeared to choke when leading 4-1 in the tiebreak first set, while the relentless Miss Evert, who admitted she had thought the set hopelessly gone, pounced on the opportunity to charge back and win four straight points.

Shockers, Sophs Open Seasons With Hereford

The Pampa Shockers, using John Welborn's Wishbone slot offense, officially open their 1974 football season at 7 p.m. today in Harvester Stadium, hosting the Hereford jayvees.

At 4 p.m., the Pampa sophomore team another innovation of Coach Welborn, takes on Hereford's sophomores in a 4 p.m. contest at Hereford.

The sophomores will also use the varsity offense. Because of a lack of players (although over 80 are out for football) neither the Shockers nor sophomores will platoon.

SHOCKER SCHEDULE
Sept. 5 — 7 p.m. Hereford at Pampa; Sept. 19 — 7 p.m. Dumas at Pampa; Sept. 26 — 7 p.m. Perryton at Pampa; Oct. 3 — 7 p.m. Dumas at Pampa; Oct. 17 — 7 p.m. Palo Duro at Pampa; Oct. 24 — 4 p.m. Amarillo High at Amarillo; Oct. 31 — 7 p.m. Tascosa at Pampa; Nov. 7 — 4 p.m. Caprock at Amarillo; Nov. 14 — 4 p.m. Borger at Borger.

SOPHOMORE SCHEDULE
Sept. 5 — 4 p.m. Hereford at Hereford; Sept. 19 — 7 p.m. M.T.I. Clovis N.M. at Clovis; Sept. 26 — 7 p.m. Liberal, Kan. at Liberal; Oct. 3 — 8 p.m. Croom at Croom; Oct. 12 — 7:30 p.m. Lufkin at Lufkin; Oct. 24 — 7 p.m. Liberal at Pampa; Oct. 31 — 7 p.m. Perryton at Perryton.

Dallas To Host Steelers

IRVING, Tex. (UPI)—Hoping to register their first perfect exhibition campaign ever and still trying to settle on a No. 1 quarterback, the Pittsburgh Steelers meet Dallas tonight in a nationally televised preview to the regular season. The Steelers have plenty to choose from. It's just a question of which one Pittsburgh coach Chuck Noll will select as his No. 1 man—Joe Gilliam or Terry Bradshaw.

Defensive Front Could Be Question

Probably Pampa's biggest question mark is the defensive front five, which returns only two starters off the line of a year ago.

Left tackle Dane Rasmussen, a 6-2, 195-pound senior, and noseguard Ron Willett, a 5-11, 185-pound senior, played on last year's defensive line. And Willett was a tackle, so the middle guard position has been an adjustment for him to make.

The defensive line situation is not a problem for the Harvesters. In fact, it's just the opposite.

Rasmussen and Willett are proven linemen — they are experienced, surprisingly quick and strong, hard hitters. Rasmussen could be our best defensive lineman. He and Willett are more experienced than the others. Dane's pretty aggressive. Willett's good. He's quick and strong and he likes to get after the ball carrier," said Pampa head coach John Welborn, who has faith in the new line.

The line's got more size, much more, than last year's. Senior right tackle Dick Blair is 5-11 and weighs 225 pounds. And alternate right tackle Bruce Ferris, a junior, is 6-0 and 240 pounds.

Mark Baird, a 6-0, 180-pound senior, is expected to see a lot of game time at left end while David Skoog, a 5-11, 176-pound junior, and Dub Taylor, a 6-0, 165-pound junior, are alternate right ends.

Sophomore Ben Wilson (225) will probably see some varsity action this season, also.

Lewis Brothers Head Pampa Receiving Attack

Returning all-district split end Howie Lewis is expected to become two things early in the season — quarterback Chuck Quarles' favorite target for the second season and a pain in the neck for 5-9 defensive backs.

Lewis was the area's leading pass receiver last season with 893 yards and four touchdowns.

The 6-6 senior will have a nine-inch height advantage over Hereford junior Kirk Spain (5-9, 147) when Pampa travels to Hereford Friday for both teams' season opener.

Lewis (185) and twin brother Deannie (6-0, 150) will alternate at split and tight end this season "to keep people from double covering the split end", according to head coach John Welborn.

Both receivers, particularly Howie, are good pass catchers and both, particularly Deannie are strong blockers.

Kory Gamblin, 6-0, 160-pound senior, will substitute for both. The other alternate end is 5-9, 147-pound senior Lewis Dinkins, who is coming off a knee injury. "He'll be ready for the game Friday," said Welborn.

Schoolboy Teams Vie Friday

By PAUL SIMS

Area high schools, along with almost every other school in the state, will see just how far they've progressed after spring and fall football workouts as Texas schoolboy football begins its 1974 season Friday night.

The tigers are loaded in 1974 with 10 defensive starters returning and a potentially deadly offense. Offensively, Groom is led by quarterback Clifton Britain and halfback Tim Britain. Defensive stalwarts are tackle Perry Pearce (240 pounds) and linebackers Art Brown and Donald Burgin.

Perryton at Borger Perryton, 7-4 year ago and District 1 - AAA champion, has been tabbed co-favorite with Canyon this season.

one of the quickest quarterbacks in the Panhandle; and halfback Steve Schafer, who averaged eight yards per carry last year.

on offense, return and might lead the Pirates to their first district championship in several years.

Don Wilson Pulled During No-Hit Tilt

HOUSTON (UPI) — It took four years but Cincinnati Reds' pitcher Clay Kirby finally put his mind at ease.

he explained it. His job is to win ball games. Gomez defended his move just like he did in 1970.

Phillips at Canadian The Phillips Blackhawks of 1-AA don't have anywhere to go but up, particularly after falling to a dismal 2-7-1 record last season.

McLean of District 2 - A will bank heavily on fullback Bobby Crockett, quarterback Marty Duiven and Eddie Estes, a 270-pound offensive and defensive tackle.

Wheeler, which will have to rebuild if its going to win 2-A's championship, has a new coach, Jim Robinson and a new tailback, John Geroge, a 6-2, 175-pound transfer from Odessa Permian.

TECH QUARTERBACK — Tommy Duniven, Texas Tech's starting quarterback from McLean, has yet to play a down of varsity football and is the big question on the 1974 Red Raiders. Coach Jim Carlen has high hopes for Duniven, whose Raiders open at home Sept. 14 against Iowa State.

Rentzel Ready For Season After One-Year Suspension

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Lance Rentzel talked to four World Football League teams but there really was never any question in his mind what he was going to do.

club which went 6-7-1. The Rams won the NFC West with a 12-2 record last season.

club which went 6-7-1. The Rams won the NFC West with a 12-2 record last season.

HOUSTON, which only got three hits off Billingham through six innings, got back-to-back singles by Milt May and Doug Rader with one out in the seventh.

After sitting out a year's suspension, Rentzel is back for his ninth National Football League season and his third as a Ram.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Disposable Diapers And Rash

By G.C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A woman told how this child developed a terrible diaper rash and asked if disposable diapers could cause it. You said you doubted it, but regular changing would help.

I am afraid I must disagree. My little boy had the most awful raised blisters until I changed to (a different brand). — Mrs. P.O.

Thank you, and my thanks to others who wrote. I omitted brand names from your letter, but I do want to retract my remark about disposable diapers.

There have been enough letters from others to make it clear that the disposables do cause a diaper rash in some youngsters. Although it doesn't always seem to be the same brand, yet switching to some different brand has been a successful end to the problem in most if not all the cases reported to me.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Enclosed please find 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Please send me your booklet, "How to Control Emphysema." P.S. Here is a hint on how to stop smoking that might help some people, if they'd care to try it.

I tried to stop cold and couldn't so when I'd light up, I'd force myself not to inhale. Each time, I would try to go a little longer without a cigarette. It took me two weeks to stop inhaling, and about 2 1/2 months to stop smoking altogether. I haven't lit a cigarette for three weeks and I don't crave one. — Mrs. L.H.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you please explain the difference in training between an osteopathic doctor and a medical doctor? What types of problems could one consult an osteopath for, and which should be handled by a medical doctor? — M.C.S.

Years ago osteopathy was more theory than science — a belief that skeletal manipulation, particularly of the spine, could be the basis for curing whatever ailed you.

But experience convinced thoughtful osteopaths that treating human ailments wasn't that simple, that drugs and medications and surgery and other elements of therapy all had their parts to play in appropriate cases.

In school, D.O.s and M.D.s have comparable training. While some rancor and rivalry persists, regrettably, and many D.O.s want to retain their identity as a separate group and fear being "absorbed" by the M.D.s, I still must say that the osteopaths are competent physicians and surgeons, and I would not want to draw any distinctions as to what type of problem you should take to each. After all, we are all doctors.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 85, have never been strong due to a poor back, yet have led a fairly satisfactory existence.

One statement in a doctor's column 60 years ago was of the greatest help to me. It was to the effect that all ill persons wished to get well but the ones who were willing to get well got the best result. That revolutionized my existence. — F.O.V.

As true now as it was then, and I am sure you join me in hoping that your letter will be read — and absorbed! — by others who can benefit by it. If they will!

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you give me the address of the American Society of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgeons? I would like to write them for a list of qualified plastic surgeons in my area. — Mrs. L.T.

I believe you are referring to the American Academy of Facial Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery, Inc. The address is 1110 N. Main St., Durham, N.C. 27701.

Are you having a gall bladder problem? To find out how the gall bladder works and what kind of trouble to look for, read Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "You and Your Gall Bladder." Write him in care of Dr. George C. Thosteson, Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120 for a copy, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents. Copyright 1974 Field Enterprises, Inc.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

Total Strangers And Celebrities

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I'm glad I'm not a star. A total stranger comes panting up to a celebrity hurrying to get out of there and get a drink and fixes him with an unwavering stare. "I'll bet you don't remember me..."

What's the celebrity supposed to do? Maybe the stranger phrases it differently. "I want to see how good your memory is. What's my name?"

Should the celebrity say what he's thinking which is, "I don't know your name but you're a moron for asking that question?" No, he's conscious of his image. He puts on an Academy Award performance right there. He pretends some vague recollection of their meeting which, after all, was fairly recent — 1945, at the Astor Hotel, before it was torn down.

Groucho Marx was once confronted by such a pest saying, "I'll bet you don't remember me..." he said, "You're right, I don't..." and kept on walking.

Groucho was capable of saying, "Sure I remember you, you raped your landlady. Are you still having an affair with your mother-in-law and how is the old gasbag?"

But the charm boys like Andy Williams or Perry Como or Joel Gray will be polite. "Why sure I remember you. How's the family?" (Maybe that'll bring a clue.)

"What are you doing now?" (That should produce something.)

One star has a trick of spotting somebody who's surely an out-of-towner and saying, "Where we met was not in New York City — hey, hey! It was in your favorite part of the world!"

Such a generalized statement if accompanied by enough winks, hand squeezings and laughs, is often enough to send the fan home saying, "He remembered my name!"

You would be amazed at the questions they get. I even get some. A woman seized me at a party and said, "I last saw you 10 years ago before I was married. I've had children since and been divorced and have been very sick. Tell me, I don't look any older, do I?"

"You look younger," I said, and she did look younger — she looked childish.

Another star tells me he's always getting calls "Guess who this is?" He found that hanging up on them without a word was very effective. The trouble was that they called back and said who they were — and the pain started all over again.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Jennifer O'Neill, who has a few weeks off from filming "Whiffs" with Elliott Gould, will fly to Zaire for the Ali-Foreman fight... Richard Burton loaned his yacht to the Rex Harrisons for a Mediterranean jaunt... The Carroll O'Connor-Ernest Borgnine film got a name change — from "Grand St." to "A Little Law & Order."

Debbie Reynolds, who's returning to "Irene," watched Jane Powell play it... Secret Stuff: A prominent foreign entertainer says her next U.S. appearance will be her last — she's not enthusiastic about American audiences...

Gene Hackman, filming "French Connection II" in Marseilles, parked his expensive sports car for a few minutes — and the wheels were stolen.

Show Biz Quiz: Who was the only actor ever nominated for Best Actor award for four consecutive years? Ans. to yesterday's: The title roles in Burt Lancaster's film "The Killers" were played by William ("Cannon") Conrad and Charles McGraw.

Milton Berle will be "roasted" by the Friars in N.Y. Nov. 21 (with Howard Cosell as roastmaster)... Queen Elizabeth & Lord Snowdon are being very friendly, and the London papers can't fathom why. After all, they're in-laws... Mae West was asked to permit a TV special about her career; she wants to know who'd play Mae.

I'D RATHER BELIEVE TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Victor Borge reports he went to a fortune teller who looked into his teacup and made her prediction: "The price of tea is going up."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: You know you live in a small town when there's rush-hour traffic only once a week. — John Markus, London, Ohio.

R-E-M-E-M-B-E-R-E-D QUOTE: "Sometimes a man is praised for having great patience, when he just doesn't know what to do next." — Wes Izzard.

EARL'S PEARLS: A midwest farmer told Phil Wise this summer's drought was the worst in years: "I have ducks three months old that haven't learned to swim yet."

People used to praise Ben Franklin for discovering electricity. But at today's utility rates, they're blaming him. That's earl, brother. All Rights Reserved.

Under Twenty

By TOM WILLIAMS

Toasters, irons, refrigerators and the growing list of home appliances we are using today are providing a growing career area for those with mechanical aptitude and high school or trade school credentials.

The employment of appliance servicemen is expected to grow rapidly through the mid-1980's. The demand is due to the increased demand for appliances as a result of population and income as well as the need to replace thousands of workers each year who retire, transfer or die.

Appliance servicemen repair all kinds of home appliances. They often specialize in servicing either electric or gas appliances, and may specialize in particular items such as clothes washers and dryers or refrigerators and freezers.

Most refrigerators and other large appliances are repaired in customers' homes. If major repairs are necessary, however, the appliance may have to be taken to a repair shop.

Servicemen answer customers' questions and complaints about appliances and frequently advise customers about their care and use. They keep records of parts used and hours worked on each job.

About 130,000 people worked as appliance servicemen and installers in 1972, mostly in appliance stores and repair shops. Others worked for service centers operated by appliance manufacturers, wholesalers and gas and electric utility companies.

Most servicemen start as helpers and acquire their skills through on-the-job training. Trainees gradually learn how motors, gears and other parts work. They progress from simple repair jobs to more difficult jobs. Trainees as well as experienced servicemen receive supplemental classroom instruction given periodically by appliance manufacturers and distributors.

Appliance servicemen need up to three years' on-the-job experience to become fully qualified. Formal training in appliance repair and related subjects is available from some technical schools and community colleges. A trainee with this kind of training can become a qualified servicemen more quickly.

Employees prefer applicants who have good mechanical aptitude and are high school or trade school graduates who have had courses in electricity, mathematics and science.

Hourly earnings of appliance servicemen ranged from $3.25 to $6.50 in 1972. Starting rates for inexperienced trainees ranged from $2.25 to $3 per hour. Appliance servicemen usually work with little or no direct supervision, a feature of the job appealing to many people.

Information about training programs or work opportunities is available from: Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers, 20 North Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois, 60606; National Appliance and Radio-TV Dealers Association, 318 W. Randolph Street, Chicago, Illinois 60606; Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, 1901 North Fort Myer Drive, Arlington, Virginia 22209.

The Almanac

United Press International Today is Thursday, Sept. 5, the 248th day of 1974 with 117 to follow. The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Mars.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Virgo. French statesman Cardinal Richelieu was born Sept. 5, 1585. On this day in history: In 1774, the first Continental Congress was convened in secret at Philadelphia.

In 1882, 10,000 workers marched in the first Labor Day parade in New York City. In 1896, as a result of the Klondike gold rush, the first beefsteaks to reach Circle City, Alaska, sold for $48 a pound. In 1972, 11 Israeli athletes and six other persons were killed as a result of an Arab guerrilla invasion of Olympic Village outside Munich, Germany. A thought for the day: British Actor Colley Cibber said, "Oh, how many torments lie in the small circle of a wedding ring."
