FBI Investigating Millionaire's Death

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation has entered the case of George Randolph "Randy" Farenthold, a wealthy Corpus Christi rancher-sportsman-playboy found slain in mob fashion on a seashore near this South Texas city.

Farenthold's body washed ashore Tuesday two miles south of Port Aransas, on the north side of Corpus Christi Bay. It had a 25-pound concrete block chained around the neck and the hands were bound behind it.

Authorities said the body appeared to have been in the water several days.

Farenthold, 32, was the stepson of state Rep. Frances Farenthold of Corpus Christi, who lost Saturday in the Democratic primary runoff election for governor.

The FBI said it was entering the case because Farenthold was a prime witness in a federal case against four men charged with defrauding him of $100,000 and inducing him to travel across a state line in pursuance of a scheme.

Nueces County Medical Examiner Dr. Joseph Rupp flew to Corpus Christi from Allentown, Pa., to perform an autopsy late Tuesday night.

Investigators said several marks were visible about the head but that they did not appear to be bullet wounds.

A Nueces County sheriff's office spokesman said Farenthold was last seen Saturday night. He said no motives or suspects have been established and Farenthold's car's still missing.

Farenthold brought charges against the four men after he traveled to Houston with $100,000 which, according to a later indictment, was to purchase federal bank notes at a discount. The indictment also states that Farenthold was robbed of the money by a lone gunman after he checked into a Houston hotel.

One of the men, Bruce Bass III of Corpus Christi, is scheduled to go on trial in federal court here in September.

Farenthold said he was later induced to travel to Las Vegas, Nev., in another scheme.

The other three men named in a Nov. 19, 1971, indictment with Bass are Farrell Smith of Corpus Christi and Peter Sodd and Thornton Canton Jr. of Louisville, Ky.

However, another family member filed an unsuccessful lawsuit in connection with the will, claiming the estate to be worth about $20 million.

The other half of the estate went to Farenthold's mother, Mrs. Hayden Head, now the wife of a prominent Corpus Christi lawyer.

Amtrak May Get Grant S

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress appears ready to invest another $225 million in federal grants and $100 million more in guaranteed loans to rescue Amtrak, the financially pinched corporation striving to save America's passenger trains.

Senate-House conferees, handing Congress their compromise bill Tuesday, knocked out an urban-corridor-improvements plan containing $50 million in grants and $100 million in guaranteed loans. But they agreed to provide $2 million a year to help link U.S. intercity service to Canada and Mexico.

The 10-man conference committee, proposing terms to settle differences in conflicting aid bills on Amtrak, the National Railroad Passenger Corp., accepted a provision limiting Amtrak officials' salaries to $60,000 a year with anything more to come only from the corporation's net profits. Amtrak President Roger Lewis draws $125,000 annually.

The Transportation Department urged $170 million in new federal grants for Amtrak, to go along with an original $40-million grant provided under a 1970 law when the federal government created the passenger service-saving operation. Amtrak took over most of the nation's city-connecting passenger-train service in May 1971.

Originally, the House approved the $170 million, but the Senate voted for $270 million.

The congressional conferees, headed by Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., and Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., settled on $225 million. They also deleted a Senate-passed provision of $15 million in grants to help develop experimental service.

The existing limit on loan guarantees for Amtrak is $100 million. The Senate voted to raise this ceiling to $250 million, but the conferees decided to provide guaranteed loans up to $150 million through June 30, 1973, and up to $200 million thereafter.

Kleindienst Nomination Faces Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The long-stalled nomination of Richard G. Kleindienst to be attorney general will be voted on by the Senate Thursday afternoon.

Senate leaders of both parties have forecast Kleindienst's confirmation. Liberal Democrats spearheading the opposition are not contesting the chances for confirmation.

President Nixon nominated Kleindienst in mid-February to succeed John N. Mitchell as attorney general when Mitchell resigned to direct Nixon's re-election campaign. Kleindienst had served as deputy attorney general.

Action on Kleindienst's nomination has been delayed by an investigation of the Justice Department's out-of-court settlement of three antitrust cases against International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

The Senate Judiciary Committee probe was launched at Kleindienst's request after a charge by columnist Jack Anderson that the settlement was linked to a commitment by ITT's Sheraton Hotel subsidiary to help San Diego meet the costs of this year's Republican National Convention.

McGovern's concerned that the settlement was not the product of political influence.

But dissenters contend the hearings were incomplete. The first vote Thursday, set for 4 p.m., will come on a motion to return Kleindienst's nomination to the committee for additional hearings.

If this fails, as expected, a vote will be taken immediately on confirming Kleindienst's appointment.

HUBERT HUMPHREY

HHH Seeks Governors' Support

HOUSTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, loser in California's crucial presidential primary, arrived here to meet Democratic governors today, saying he—not George McGovern—can do best against President Nixon in November.

Running on just one and one-half hours' sleep and the hope he can find support among the large rank of anti-McGovern Democratic governors, Humphrey arrived after an overnight trip from California, where he did better than expected but still lost to McGovern. It was a winner-take-all primary worth 271 delegate votes to McGovern.

"We did much better than people expected," Humphrey told newsmen outside the hotel where the National Governors' Conference is meeting. "We felt we mounted a good campaign."

Humphrey said, "I haven't the shadow of a doubt that I could do better" against Nixon than McGovern, whose liberal views have led many Democratic governors here to predict the South Dakota nomination would assure a Republican victory in their states next November.

Humphrey will find among the Democratic governors many opponents of McGovern. In a poll taken during one closed session of Democrats earlier this week, only three of 25 present raised their hands when asked whether they thought McGovern could carry their respective states against President Nixon next November.

Those states: Minnesota, which is Humphrey's home; South Dakota, which is McGovern's; and Wisconsin, where Gov. Patrick Lucey is a McGovern supporter.

McGovern's concerned that the governors' opposition could be harmful and divisive, flew here late Monday for a two-hour midnight meeting with the Democrats.

Humphrey had planned to show up here himself Wednesday win or lose in California.

Presidential politics has been the major, although unofficial, order of business for the National Governors' Conference since it opened Sunday.

U.S. Planes Renew Raids On Red Area

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers renewed their attack on power plants in the Hanoi area, while North Vietnamese ground forces made a series of attacks along the Saigon River corridor northwest of the South Vietnamese capital, military spokesmen said today.

Informants said Air Force jets attacked a thermal power plant in the Hanoi area, but details of the raid were not immediately available.

Troops of the North Vietnamese 7th Division attacked four South Vietnamese militia posts defending the district towns of Chu Chi, Trang Bang and Khiem Hanh on the Saigon River corridor, a key infiltration route. The attacks Tuesday were at points 25 to 40 miles northwest of Saigon.

Field reports said 42 North Vietnamese troops and seven militiamen were killed, and 67 South Vietnamese were wounded.

Sixty miles north of Saigon, standoff-fighting continued for the 62nd day at An Loc and along Highway 13 south of the provincial capital.

Field reports said 82 North Vietnamese and 12 South Vietnamese were killed and 91 government troops were wounded.

Communist forces kept up the pressure on the central coast, destroying a bridge on Highway 1 about 13 miles northwest of Qui Nhon and shelling An Nhon, a district town midway between Qui Nhon and Phu My. Two South Vietnamese were reported killed and 20 wounded at An Nhon.

But at Pleiku, in the central highlands, a South Vietnamese spokesman reported that "the fighting in Kontum is finished."

Victory Vaults Delegate Total Past 900 Mark

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

Sen. George McGovern captured the crucial California primary today to cap a four-primary sweep that takes him a long way toward winning the Democratic presidential nomination.

Though the race turned out to be closer than expected, the South Dakota senator won a clear victory over Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey in their battle for California's 271 delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Along with victories in New Jersey, New Mexico and his native South Dakota, the triumph vaulted McGovern's delegate total past the 900 mark in his drive to reach the 1,509 needed to capture his party's presidential nomination.

Humphrey, however, appeared to have done well enough in California to stay in the race and encourage those Democratic party leaders and labor chiefs who have been cool to the McGovern candidacy.

Even before it became clear that Humphrey's margin in populous Los Angeles County would be insufficient to overcome the hefty McGovern majorities in the northern part of the state and in San Diego, McGovern was claiming victory and saying it means he'll Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, a write-in entry, ran third with 5 per cent, but his true total was unlikely to be known for several days. Six other candidates split the remaining ballots.

Before the California outcome was settled, McGovern had won the day's three other primaries. He captured a solid majority of the 109 New Jersey delegates, swept the 17 of his native South Dakota without opposition and took New Mexico's first presidential primary in a tight race with Wallace that gave each nine delegates.

California, however, was the big prize. Both McGovern and Humphrey had predicted the winner would capture the presidential nomination through Humphrey modified that in recent days as polls showed him far behind in the state.

The California vote count was delayed when a federal judge in San Francisco ordered polls

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Here are the vote totals in the California Democratic presidential primary, with 88 per cent of the 22,647 precincts reporting:

kept open an extra three hours to handle delays caused by an unusually long local ballot. Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. then ordered the statewide tally field up until San Francisco polls closed.

A few votes were counted before Brown's order was received, mainly in the north where McGovern was til after 2 a.m. EDT.

As the tally started to mount, McGovern told reporters, "I realize there's nothing certain in politics, but I think these four victories probably set the stage for my victory in Miami Beach."

He said he planned to talk with Humphrey in the next few days, adding, "He and I know how to talk to each other on a man-to-man basis. We have a high regard for each other and I think something can be worked out."

Humphrey left for Houston, Tex., to meet today with Democratic governors who conferred with McGovern late Monday night.

President Nixon swept to a 9-1 victory over his conservative challenger, Rep. John M. Ashbrook of Ohio, in the race for California's 96 delegates to the Republican National Convention.

In New Mexico, Nixon lost one of the 14 GOP delegates, to Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr. of California, who long ago dropped from the presidential race and appeared to be winning a primary in his own state for renomination to the House.

The four primaries Tuesday were the last of the long primary season save one, the New York primary two weeks from now in which McGovern is expected to pick up a hefty majority of the 278 delegates.

In the three other primaries Tuesday, the biggest surprise was Wallace's strong showing in New Mexico. Gathering strength in rural areas, he battled McGovern to the wire under rules that called for proportional allocation of the 18 delegates between the two top finishers.

High Court To Review Fund Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to rule on the way all states except Hawaii finance their public schools.

Acting on an appeal by Texas, the court said it would review next term a ruling by a three-judge federal court in San Antonio that the current property tax system disadvantages the poor and is unconstitutional.

Thirty states lined up with Texas in seeking review. But four of their governors backed the district court.

Eventually, the case may rival in importance the 1954 Brown vs. Board of Education suit that led to the desegregation of schools in Southern and border states.

In every state except Hawaii, public-school financing is based to a large degree on the local property tax. Though the states and federal government provide additional funds, the kind of education a child receives is related directly to the tax revenue from property in his district.

Gray County Democratic leaders met last night to canvass the votes cast county-wide in Saturday's runoff election, according to Harold Comer, county chairman.

The results were simply a confirmation of the original results, Comer said.

County Republican leaders were reported to have scheduled a canvass of GOP votes in the county yesterday morning. There has been no confirmation of this.

Primaries At A Glance

DEMOCRATIC DELEGATES — Sen. George McGovern gained convention delegates in four states, including 271 in California's winner-take-all primary. In New Jersey, unofficial and incomplete returns gave the South Dakota senator 70 delegates, with 13 going to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey and 26 uncommitted McGovern took all 17 delegates in his home state, and in New Mexico he gained 10 delegates, while Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace won eight.

REPUBLICAN DELEGATES — President Nixon won 96 delegates in California, 14 in South Dakota, 40 in New Jersey and 13 in New Mexico, losing one to Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr. of California, who is no longer a presidential candidate.

California Win Boosts McGovern's Chances For Demo Nomination

By Associated Press

As political theater, nobody would have believed the Democratic presidential nomination campaign of 1972—nobody except Sen. George McGovern who wrote his own script.

The last act hasn't been played yet. McGovern will be hard to stop for the nomination to seek the White House, but there almost surely will be those who try.

Nonetheless, if anything was more obvious six months ago than that Sen. Edmund S. Muskie would be the nominee, it was that McGovern didn't have a chance.

He was the outsider. He was nowhere in the public opinion polls. The party leaders were signing up with his rivals.

Today, it is Muskie who is nowhere.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey isn't much better off, although he is not disheartened, is going to stay with it and "get this nomination."

The odds against that went up early today when McGovern won the California presidential primary, the big one with its 271 delegate votes at the Democratic convention in Miami Beach.

He won in New Mexico, too, although narrowly, over Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama. He captured a solid majority of the 109-vote New Jersey convention delegation. And he won unopposed in his own South Dakota.

"I can't believe we've won the whole thing," McGovern told his cheering supporters at a victory rally in Hollywood.

Tuesday's primaries pushed his count of delegate commitments to 904½. No one else is even close, and there are more to come. His managers hope to gain at least 200 delegates in the New York primary two weeks away, more still in convention states.

No candidate but McGovern now has a chance of winning nomination on the first convention ballot.

Even some of his critics, led by Southern governors who fear a ticket led by the South Dakota liberal would drag down the party in the fall, acknowledge it is may be too late to stop him.

One reason is that the Democratic establishment didn't make any real effort to stop McGovern until late in the primary season, assuming it wouldn't be necessary.

So, virtually unnoticed, McGovern and his men, many of them seasoned in the campaign of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, put together state by state a political organization that far surpassed any other.

McGovern's California margin was not the massive landslide forecast in public opinion polls. With 88 per cent of the precincts counted, he led Humphrey by 8 per cent. But it was a convincing win, it was more than enough in a winnertake-all state, and but for the opinion survey that forecast a 20 per cent edge, it would have been rated an unqualified triumph.

As it was, the margin left Humphrey room to keep going in his quest for a second nomination. It remained to be seen whether the California verdict would impress delegates now uncommitted, or aligned with Muskie, to switch to McGovern.

There was irony in the question of how big a win McGovern needed, for the same problem beset Muskie at the beginning of the primary season, when he said a phantom opponent of landslide expectations had been raised against him in New Hampshire.

In turn, Muskie and Humphrey made what turned out to be the same mistake. They relied on national reputations, old line Democratic organizations, party leaders, office holders and organized labor to deliver for them in the presidential primaries.

McGovern put together his own organizations. New, usually young faces managed his state campaigns. That wasn't always by choice; often, nobody else was available to help a candidate "ankled near the bottom in the national polls."

In Massachusetts, for example, a McGovern organizer tried to sign on some big-name Democrats for his convention slate. "The good guys already were committed to Muskie," he complained.

None of those good guys is going to vote at the national convention, McGovern entries, most of them virtually unknown, swept a primary where Muskie once ranked as the towering favorite.

Almost every Tuesday, Democrats were voting somewhere, and a massive force of door-to-door volunteers was at work for McGovern.

In California, the candidate claimed his canvassers had reached 80 per cent of the state's

Pilots Boycotting Countries Sheltering Plane Hijackers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid hints they might clear the skies of commercial airliners for a day, American pilots have begun boycotting countries that shelter airline hijackers.

The AFL-CIO Airline Pilots Association said Tuesday its 46,000 members will not fly to Cuba or Algeria or any other country which has refused to prosecute or extradite hijackers.

An ALPA spokesman said the boycott also will extend to airlines in other countries which serve Cuba or any of the Middle Eastern nations which have given airline hijackers refuge.

The spokesman added that a 24-hour refusal to fly on all U.S. airlines anywhere is under consideration as a means of showing how seriously the pilots are taking the hijacking problem.

No American-owned planes fly to Cuba so for U.S. pilots that portion of the boycott will have no impact.

In a letter, ALPA President John J. O'Donnell notified President Nixon Tuesday that he had directed pilots of 36 U.S. airlines holding contracts with the union to begin the boycott.

O'Donnell said he had asked leaders of other U.S. unions to see that servicing and ground maintenance of the aircraft of such nations also is withdrawn.

He said the 60-nation International Federation of Air Line Pilot Associations, meeting in London next Thursday and Friday, has been urged to join in.

O'Donnell also called on Nixon to bar from the United States the aircraft of nations that permit or condone air piracy.

O'Donnell was expected to solicit the support of maritime workers, in a luncheon talk before the AFL-CIO Maritime Trades department today.

"As our President, we look to you to work with other world leaders to insure that our boycott actions are effective," O'Donnell said in his letter to Nixon.

O'Donnell said Federal Aviation Administration figures show 450 airline passengers and crew members have been murdered by airline criminals around the world since air service was begun. Many others have suffered physical and psychological injuries of permanent nature, he said.

Wofford Gets More Diplomas

City Manager Mack Wofford today received a couple of diplomas to be added to his Texas A&M diploma and trophies.

They were issued by the Institute for Training in Municipal Administration for courses he completed in 1971 at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

The diplomas were certification that Wofford had satisfactorily completed courses in Principles and Practices of Urban Planning and Managing the Modern City.

Both were sponsored by the Texas Municipal League and the International City Managers Association.

Before Roberts reported to work Tuesday, several of his business associates in a festive spirit, put Christmas decorations on the tree. Busing Case Reversal Expected To Ease Pressure On Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reversal of the Richmond school-busing case by the U.S. Court of Appeals is expected to ease the pressure on Congress for enactment of court-curbing legislation aimed at halting massive busing.

It also boosts chances for House passage Thursday of anti-busing amendments that are under attack from Southerners as being too weak to stop the extensive busing called for in the Richmond plan.

Of Tuesday's court decision, Rep. Albert Quie, R-Minn., a chief sponsor of the $21.3-billion education bill to which the busing amendments are attached, said: "It couldn't have come at a better time. This will really help."

The 4th Circuit Court of Appeals held that Dist. Court Judge Robert R. Merhige Jr. had no authority to order consolidation of Richmond's black schools and those in adjoining Henrico and Chesterfield counties, where 90 per cent of the pupils are white.

Merhige's order would have created a single 700-square-mile school district in which 78,000 of the 104,000 pupils would have been bused. The order was a key factor in stirring antibusing fervor in Congress.

The appellate court, in a 5-1 decision, said it could find no invidious discrimination in the way Richmond public schools are operated.

Without such a finding, the court said, a judge cannot compel a state "to restructure its internal government" as a means of achieving racial balance.

The chairman of the Richmond School Board, which filed the suit leading to Merhige's consolidation order last Jan. 10, said Tuesday's ruling will be appealed to the Supreme Court.

Injuries Up In Area Accidents

The monthly vehicle accident summary for Pampa and environs for May shows a decrease in accidents for the year but injuries are up.

There were 61 accidents with property damage occurring in 52 of them. Six persons suffered non-fatal injuries. Eleven of these were off any road or street with property damage in 10 of the incidents.

This brings the total to date to 296 with 49 persons injured. Last year at this same time there had been 301 accidents but only 40 persons injured.

In the 61 accidents this past month 99 cars were involved along with seven truck-type vehicles, two motorcycles and five other type units.

Property damage for the month totaled $19,258 bringing the total for the year thus far to $89,232.54.

The number of men involved in accidents was almost 100 per cent more than women: 64 to 39. The most accidents by age groups fell between the ages of 20-24 and 55-64; there were 15 each.

Here at mid-year, the projection for the remainder of 1977 is that accidents will run six to eight per cent under 1971 but injuries will be up 20 per cent and property damaged increased by $20,000.

Dean Of UT's Medical School Fired After Months Of Rumors

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Climaxing months of rumors and speculation, the dean of San Antonio's University of Texas Medical School was fired Tuesday. Alleged improper use of state funds was among reasons cited.

In Austin, Frank Erwin Jr. of the UT Regents said Dean F. Carter Pannill was dismissed because he spent $54,000 in state money to supplement the salaries of the medical school faculty without the regents' approval.

"In addition, he has illegally given state money to at least three candidates for the Texas Legislature," Erwin said.

Later in San Antonio, Regents Chairman John Peace said checks payable to the candidates were drawn on medical school and teaching hospital accounts.

Peace said the salary supplements had not been reported to the board of regents or the administration since they began three years ago.

"A recent audit caught it and there will be a continuing audit of the medical school," Peace said.

He said an acting dean will be named when the regents meet Friday in Galveston.

Pannill said it was not his responsibility to bring the salary supplements matter to the board. "It's not my responsibility to carry it any further than to the chancellor's office," he said.

Pannill said he did not know about the alleged checks to the candidates, adding, "I will have to check with the accounting office."

Erwin said he understood Pannill contributed "nominal" amounts of money to the political campaigns of Reps. Frank Lombardino and R. L. Vale and to Sen. Joe Bernal, all of San Antonio.

Lombardino and Vale won Democratic primary nominations. Bernal lost to Rep. Nelson Wolff.

Grand Jury Starts Probe Of Heroin Drug Traffic

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal grand jury armed with broad powers to subpoena witnesses and grant them immunity starts probing heroin traffic in the Houston area today.

The special grand jury action was announced Tuesday by Cecil Emerson, regional director of the new Office of Drug Abuse and Law Enforcement (DALE).

The grand jury will hold three days of hearings this week and will listen to about a dozen witnesses, with three of them being brought from the Texas Department of Corrections prison system, he said.

Emerson, a former assistant U.S. attorney in the Dallas office of the Justice Department, will head a team of federal law enforcement officers in a five-state region to fight heroin abuse.

Myles J. Ambrose, former head of the U.S. Customs Department and national director of LEAD, swore in Emerson and said the new agency will concentrate on stopping the heroin traffic.

"It's heroin that kills," Ambrose said. "We had more die from overdoses last year in New York City than in the Vietnam War."

"Heroin abuse is a product of the 1960s, and nothing was done about it—nothing," Ambrose said.

The new approach, using all federal investigative agencies except the Federal Bureau of Investigation, federal grand juries and local and state law enforcement officers, is designed to bypass the small-time pushers and instead get the wholesalers, he said.

Dean Of UT's Medical School Fired After Months Of Rumors

Pannill told the San Antonio Express he had specific approval to pay the salary supplements under terms in a memorandum to UT Chancellor Charles LeMaistre and the vice chancellor for financial affairs. He said he had an oral agreement that was later defined in the memo, a copy of which he said he has.

In Austin, LeMaistre issued a statement asserting that published accounts about the medical school in recent months "have brought about a division of feeling" at the school and in the San Antonio community.

"The situation Tuesday, as printed in one newspaper, makes it impossible to carry on further discussions with Dean Pannill," LeMaistre said.

Ag Top Income Producer In County, Says Whaley

Agriculture and its related businesses are fast becoming the top income producer for Gray County, Foster Whaley, Gray County agriculture agent, told members of the Pampa Board of Realtors yesterday.

Speaking at the board's semi-monthly luncheon meeting at the Coronado Inn, Whaley said all industries and businesses in the county need to continue working together to aid the amount of income from agriculture has increased greatly during the past couple of decades.

In 1944, the county's agriculture income was $3.9 million, in 1949 $5.4 million and in 1954 $4.0 million. Since then the income has risen sharply to about $18 million now.

Much of this progress, Whaley noted, came from the discovery that the underground water in the area could be pumped economically for irrigation purposes.

Another situation adding to the agriculture income for the county was the establishment of feedlots for cattle and swine.

The success of the feedlots, Whaley said, opened the way for other agri-businesses, including meat packers. Packers are currently processing 2,000 head of cattle each week in the Pampa area, Whaley said.

Another sign of growth for agriculture in the area is the amount of loans taken out for improved farming and ranching techniques and for the establishment of agri-businesses.

The average loan is now $93,000 the Texas A&M graduate noted, compared to around $10,000 about two decades ago.

Perryton Panel To Seek Bids On Road Paving

PERRYTON — Ochiltree county commissioners are on the horns of a dilemma regarding surfacing of the Wolf Creek Road through the Lake Fryer recreation area.

A petition is being circulated among residents along the route that will ask commissioners to rule out fencing and state maintenance upon completion.

The state will not accept for upkeep a road with cattle guards and they will be necessary without fencing along the route.

Paving specifications for the 5.8 mile stretch of caliche road from U.S. 83 to the eastern boundary of the recreational park call for one course of asphalt 20 feet wide with concrete approaches to the cattle guards.

Commissioners are hoping bids will be in the $4,500-$5,000 per mile neighborhood.

Bids are to be opened at 1 p.m. July 10 at a meeting of the commissioners.

Sharp's Ex-Aide Goes On Trial For Perjury

DENVER (AP) — Former J.S. Interior Secretary Walter Hickel said Tuesday the United Nations Conference on Human Environment may well succeed where politics and diplomacy have failed.

Hickel addressed the 81st annual convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs here.

Both on the national and international levels, Hickel underlined the necessity of environmental matters before the problem arises.

He termed the conference, which began Monday in Stockholm and which he will attend later this week, "a first step and a very important step."

Of particular concern, he said, will be ocean dumping which has now gotten out of hand "because no one owns it and no one cares about it."

Hickel said it's time some of our energy be diverted from making a living into other aspects of living which are threatened by pollution.

Cuba's Castro Sick, Cuts Planned Trips

WARSAW (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro slowed the pace of a long tour of Africa and Eastern Europe today after reports that he was showing signs of heart trouble.

Polish government sources said shortly after the 44-year-old Cuban leader's arrival Tuesday from Hungary that he was in "a state prior to a heart infarct," indicating that the flow of blood to the heart muscle was threatened. Other Polish officials said later Castro was "very tired."

The bearded prime minister spoke briefly at a state banquet in his honor Tuesday night at the Council of Ministers building, the former Radziwill Palace. But a scheduled meeting with journalists was canceled.

Informants said cuts have been made in planned trips to the cities of Gdansk, Krakow and Katowice, scheduled to start today.

A white ambulance followed Castro's motorcade from the airport into the city Tuesday, and one was stationed in the forecourt of the Radziwill Palace during the banquet, Western sources reported.

An infarct of the heart is an area of damaged tissue resulting from a blockage of the flow of blood to the heart muscle. It results from an accumulation of fat-like substances or the formation of blood clots in the two pencil-sized coronary arteries.

Castro's plane from Budapest was an hour late, indicating the signs of heart trouble could have appeared in Hungary.

Dressed in his usual olive-green fatigues, the Cuban leader was greeted by Edward Gierek, chief of the Polish Communist party and Premier Piotr Jaroszewicz. There were no speeches at the airport.

Castro has been on the road for five weeks through eight African and East European countries. He is scheduled to visit Poland six days, then end his journey with a two-week stay in the Soviet Union.

The Truman Doctrine 25 Years Later

It has been 25 years since the United States, faced with the turmoil of postwar Europe and feeling threatened by Communist movements in Greece and Turkey, responded with the most aggressive peacetime diplomacy in its history.

President Harry S Truman had laid down the theoretical groundwork earlier in 1947 in announcing "The Truman Doctrine" and calling for $400 million in aid for Greece and Turkey. Then in June, the Marshall Plan began its helping hand to rebuild all of free Europe.

The effect of those decisions are still being felt today.

Harry S Truman, U.S. president, 1945-1952 (from his speech announcing the "Truman Doctrine," 1947):

"I believe that it must be the policy of the United States to support free peoples who are resisting attempted subjugation by armed minorities or by outside pressures. I believe that we must assist free people to work out their own destinies in their own way.

"I believe that our help should be primarily through economic and financial aid which is essential to economic stability and orderly political processes.

"The seeds of totalitarian regimes are nurtured by misery and want. They spread and grow in the evil soil of poverty and strife, they reach their full growth when the hope of a people for a better life has died.

"We must keep that hope alive.

"The free peoples of the world look to us for support in maintaining their freedoms.

"If we falter in our leadership, we may endanger the peace of the world—and we shall surely endanger the welfare of our own nation."

WINSTON CHURCHILL, British prime minister, 1941-45, 1951-55 (from "Memoirs of the Second World War," published 1957):

"Without the massive dollar aid provided by the American administration, in spite of some hostility on the part of Congress, Europe might well have foundered into ruin and misery in which the seeds of communism would have grown at a deadly pace."

Harry S Truman in 1947, the "Truman Doctrine"

RICHARD FREELAND, historian, (from "The Truman Doctrine and the Origins of McCarthyism," published 1972):

"The emotional and political forces and the patterns of belief—what in aggregate might be called the 'Cold War consensus'—that were to provide the essential energies of postwar anti-communism were quite fully developed by early 1948. These emotions were aroused and these patterns of belief developed, it is argued, as the result of a deliberate and highly organized effort by the Truman administration in 1947-48 to mobilize support for the program of economic assistance to Europe called the European Recovery program, or Marshall Plan. In the absence of this Cold War consensus, it seems likely that the events that triggered McCarthyism would have been accepted with relative calm."

DEAN ACHESON, U.S. secretary of state, 1949-1953 (from "Present at the Creation," published 1970):

"The balance sheet of our relations with the vast external realm (during the postwar years) is well in the black. Our efforts for the most part left conditions better than we found them. This was plainly true in Western Europe. At the beginning of the period that half continent, shattered by its years of civil war, was disintegrating politically, economically, socially and psychologically.

"Eight years later the economic life of Western Europe had largely recovered its prewar vigor and was moving on to new heights of productivity undreamt of before."

SEN. J. WILLIAM FULBRIGHT, chairman of the U.S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee (from "Reflections—In Thrall to Fear," the New Yorker magazine, Jan. 8, 1972):

"The Truman Doctrine, which made limited sense, for a limited time in a particular place, has led us in its universalized form to disaster in Southeast Asia and demoralization at home. In view of all that has happened, it seems unlikely that we will wish to resume the anti-Communist crusade of the early postwar years. Yet it is not impossible: memories will fade, controversies may recur, pride may once again be challenged and competitive instincts aroused. The Truman Doctrine is frayed and tattered, but it is still an influence upon our policy and outlook."

GEORGE KENNAN, diplomatic historian, former ambassador to the Soviet Union and the director of the State Department Policy Planning Staff in 1947, (from "George F. Kennan, Memoirs: 1925-1950," published 1967):

Moon Crust Believed 38 Miles Thick

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Seismic signals indicate that the moon may be made up of onion-like layers with a crust about 38 miles thick and with a mantle and a core below that, a scientist said Tuesday.

Dr. Gary Latham of Columbia University's Lamont-Doherty Observatory said seismic shock waves created last month by the impact of a meteorite penetrated 600 miles into the moon's interior. The shock was detected by seismometers left on the moon by Apollo astronauts.

Latham said as the shock waves penetrated, they changed in character as they passed through different subsurface structures. By studying these changes, the scientist said he has determined that the lunar crust is 38 miles thick, about twice as thick as the crust underlying the earth.

Mountains on the moon, he said, appear to be solid rock below a thin layer of soil-like materials that covers them.

Latham said the seismic waves changed in velocity at about 38 miles in depth, indicating the lunar mantle underlying the crust.

The findings are the most definite yet on the interior structure of the moon. There have been many attempts to create shock waves but none has penetrated as deeply as those caused by the meteorite impact.

Latham said the meteorite struck 88 miles due north of the Fra Mauro landing site of Apollo 14. The impact released energy equal to about 200 tons of TNT, he said. Latham estimated the meteorite was about six feet in diameter and gouged out a crater about 100 yards across.

Jails Throughout Texas Overcrowded

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas County officials struggled Tuesday with the problem of making jail improvements while

A SNAIL MENACE WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — The march of the Giant African Snail is among 100 exhibits on display at the new Delaware Museum of Natural History at nearby Greenville.

Museum scientists say that a youngster first brought three of the snails to North Miami from Hawaii in 1966. In two years, tens of thousands of them were ruining gardens, clogging air conditioners and marring the walls of houses.

Although the Department of Agriculture succeeded in riding the area of the snails at a cost of $100,000, officials still maintain surveillance to make sure the voracious creatures don't return. Travelers must have a permit to bring live snails into the United States or face a fine of $500 or six months imprisonment.

In 1971 there were 590 Sunday newspapers in the United States.

pointing out that 253 other counties may be required to spend large sums of money to upgrade their jails, too.

Dallas County Sheriff Clarence Jones said, "The Dallas County jail and the 253 other county jails in Texas are not being used for their designated purposes. And as soon as we return to its designated use, many of the problems will be solved."

He said the jails are to hold pre-trial prisoners who cannot or are not eligible to make bond and to hold prisoners serving county jail terms. He said the jails are overcrowded with prisoners awaiting appeal.

The situation reached a climax Monday when U.S. District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes ordered sweeping changes in county jail facilities and imposed a six-month deadline for compliance.

Two of the most expensive improvements would be enlarging the jail to stop overcrowding and adding an outdoor exercise and recreational area.

County Judge Lew Sterrett said he has no concept of how much money will be necessary to carry out the judge's orders.

County officials indicated they plan to appeal Judge Hughes' order.

Among facilities the judge ordered were—

Sufficient number of cells and bunks for the number of prisoners.

Solitary confinement cells of not less than 40 square feet with full facilities.

Padded cells for the mentally ill.

Outdoor exercise and recreation area.

Sufficient non-inmate guards. Judge Hughes also ordered the jailers not to open or censor mail from inmates to the courts, attorneys, probation and parole officers, and to hold hearings when solitary confinement for more than three days is ordered.

The judge also prohibited district attorney's investigators from visiting prisoners without the inmate's consent. This was to prevent negotiating on pleas.

Wallace Determined To Seek Demo Presidential Nomination

HOUSTON (AP) — Democratic and Republican state governors Tuesday gave a standing ovation to Cornelia Wallace after she told them her wounded husband George remains determined to attend the Democratic National Convention next month.

Mrs. Wallace spoke briefly at the National Governors Conference annual meeting, thanking the state executives for getting well wishes they sent the convalescent Alabama governor.

"He is doing well and expects to be at the convention in Miami," she said. But later she conceded that her husband still cannot be moved from his hospital bed in Silver Springs, Md., where he was taken last May 15 after he was gunned down at a presidential primary campaign rally.

"He's very determined to seek the nomination," she said at a news conference. "Amazingly so. I mean, he's still sick and very weak, but when he talks about the nomination, he's very determined."

An unconfirmed report circulated here, however, that Wallace's condition is worse than reported. An aide to a rival Democratic presidential contender said his boss visited Wallace recently and came away "very depressed."

"Wallace is a very sick man, much sicker than has been reported so far," said the aide, who asked not to be identified.

Mrs. Wallace attended the governors' conference to participate with four other governors' wives in a committee to arrange a more active role for state first ladies at future conferences.

The committee was the idea of Jessie Sargent, wife of Massachusetts Gov. Francis Sargent. She said the women decided to hold their own hearing on child development and day care centers at their husbands' winter meeting next February in Washington, D.C.

The women rejected more controversial issues, including abortion, drug abuse, welfare, public housing and consumer protection, she said.

Mrs. Sargent indicated the wives' move was prompted more by boredom than by any fervor for women's rights.

"As a Yankee, I feel a little bit guilty about coming down here for five days and doing nothing," she said. Cornelia added "I'm a southerner and I feel the same way."

Virginia Holton, wife of Virginia Gov. Linwood Holton, said governors' wives have found themselves more and more involved in public affairs anyway, and might as well take advantage of the governors' conference meetings to swap ideas.

"I think the reason this all came about was, once we got into our jobs, we found we had more influence than we knew what to do with," she said.

Two other governors' wives, Helen Milliken of Michigan and Mary Anderson of Minnesota, also served on the committee. Barbara Mandel of Maryland will replace Mrs. Sargent after the conference formally ratifies the choice of her husband Marvin Mandel as its new chairman Wednesday.

The governors themselves worked a short day Tuesday, quitting at noon after sessions devoted to national growth and school taxes, and a party breakfast attendance by Sen. George McGovern, D-S.Dakota.

McGovern said he would cooperate with the governors if nominated but said he compromised none of his controversial positions on issues. He said he sought no converts and apparently made none, but even his ardent foe, Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia, said afterward he appreciated McGovern's gesture.

National Growth Discussed

HOUSTON (AP) — Secretary of Housing and Urban Development George Romney told the National Governors' Conference Tuesday that the states should not wait for a national growth policy to be handed down from Washington.

States must be the main building blocks in our national growth," Romney told the governors in a session on the role of states in national government. "I think the states will play an even more important role in the 1970s than they did in the 1960s." Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., told the governors they are "currently riding a crest, a wave that has carried more and more authority away from Washington to state governments.

"We know that although a strong federal government is necessary there are many activities that can be carried on more successfully at a level nearer to the people and their needs," said Randolph, who is chairman of the Senate Committee on Public Works.

'Sex pot' at 50 liven's the office

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I work in a labor union office which employs six women and even more men.

My problem is one of the women who works here. She is past 50, weighs about 140 pounds and not much over five feet tall. She insists upon wearing her skirts so short, they barely cover the essentials.

Outside of the fact that mini skirts are no longer fashionable, I think going around like that in a business office is out of line. Others have mentioned that longer skirts are now "in," but she doesn't take the hint.

This same woman keeps on her desk a coffee mug with "SEX POT" painted across it.

I would appreciate your comments, as I am one of the other women who works here.

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: If there are no guidelines as to proper dress in your office, perhaps there ought to be. That 50-year-old "sex pot" sounds like the office character. Wouldn't the place be dull without her?

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor gave my daughter a wedding present that has caused a real stir. It's a used broken toaster. She explained that her husband had bought her a new one and she wanted my daughter to have her old one which "wouldn't take much to put it in good working order." [And this right after my daughter had given this neighbor a lovely new baby gift.]

We are wondering if we should acknowledge this used, broken toaster with a used thank you note. Or should we just ignore it?

WONDERING IN DEL RIO, TEXAS

DEAR WONDERING: Your daughter should acknowledge the toaster with an unused thank-you note. [And if she can't use it, the GOODWILL can.]

DEAR ABBY: Your reply to "WONDERING" about allowing her 10-year-old daughter and 7-year-old son to sleep in the same room reeked of Victorianism.

Yes, there is a generation gap, and it's between you and less hysterical parents who realize that the surest way to lead children into clandestine experimentation is to keep the sexes separated and watch them like hawks so there is no dirty playing around.

[Signed] "Parents of an 11-year-old girl and a 7-year-old boy who are still sleeping in the same room. Tsk, tsk!"

DEAR PARENTS: I replied that I hoped that children who were old enough to be curious about the opposite sex would ask their parents questions and receive satisfying answers. Further, that ALL children will do a certain amount of exploring and experimenting when they get the chance, but I wouldn't bed them down together past the age of 5. It still goes. [P.S. If it's possible for an 11-year-old girl to sleep apart from her brother, I recommend it.]

DEAR ABBY: For your information, the word "Reverend" is not a title, it is an adjective. And as such, the article "the" should always precede it, followed by the man's Christian name or his initials, then his surname, i. e. "The Reverend John Jones" or "The Reverend Mr. Jones." Reverend is used just as "Honorable" is. One would never say to the mayor, "Hello, Honorable."

Some clergymen are ignorant of proper grammar and refer to themselves as "Reverend Jones." This is a deplorable vulgarity.

Sincerely,
ANON: TERRE HAUTE, IND.

Installation Tea Highlight Of Club Council Activities

More than 40 presidents and representatives of Pampa women's clubs attended the Council of Clubs presidents' tea and installation.

"Those of us living now have experienced the birth of a new age—the Space Age," stated Mrs. Georgia Mack, installing officer. "Generations of the future will probably picture us as standing breathless, with our eyes peering into the heavens. Certainly, we are intrigued and inspired by man's search for the hidden mysteries and concealments of God! Down through the centuries, the unknown has drawn scientific minds like a magnet. As the universe yields its elusive secrets, we do stand in awe."

She invited the council officers to the "launching pad," to receive their "space ship instructions."

She advised the president and vice president, in launching their ship, "Leadership," to store plenty of dedication and faithfulness, up-to-date materials and training, for the year's voyage.

Efficient, dependable service, as well as keeping accurate logs and correspondence, is vital to the welfare of "Penmanship," the space ship of the recording and corresponding secretaries. Mrs. Mack pointed out.

For the treasurer's ship, "Stewardship," she explained adequate funds are necessary for a successful flight or the flight program may never get into orbit.

To the presidents of the various clubs represented on the council, she pointed out they were the back-up-crew, ready to supply help, when and where needed. Council members, she said, were the ground crew, helping to give instruction and willing to help with any project.

Installed were Mrs. Claude Rhoades, president; Mrs. Jack Stroup, vice president; Mrs. Richard Cooke, recording secretary; Mrs. Roy McMillen, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ruth Sewell, treasurer.

Piano selections were played by Miss Becky Gooch and Miss

Anita Williams, students of Mrs. Lois Fagan.

The serving table was decorated in Spring colors, centered with an arrangement of Spring flowers. Presiding at the table were Mrs. D. B. Jameson and Mrs. Don Elledge.

Members and guests were greeted by Mrs. Rhoades.

Opening lead—♥10

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Ted Lightner invented the Lightner slam double a long time ago. It is a fine bid but like all bids, whether good, bad or indifferent, it is frequently abused.

East's double clearly called for a lead of a heart, the suit bid by dummy. If East had kept still West would probably have opened a spade—the unbid suit.

South would have to take an immediate finesse and could complain about bad luck.

It wasn't difficult. Just a matter of counting to 12 tricks by means of a play known as a dummy reversal.

West continued with hearts. South ruffed and played the ace of diamonds and a diamond to the king. When both opponents followed he was ready to complete the dummy reversal.

He ruffed another heart in his hand and entered dummy with the queen of clubs. Then he ruffed dummy's last heart with his last trump; entered dummy with the ace of spades; discarded his last spade on dummy's last trump. Then the clubs.

It should be noted that South would have had to fall back on the spade finesse if trumps had broken 4-1 and

Shingler-Adams Vows Said In New Mexico

Miss Mary Shingler of Albuquerque, N.M., and Eugene F. Adams of Venice, Calif., formerly of Pampa, were united in marriage at 11 a.m. May 20, in the Bethany Christian Church of Farmington, N.M.

Rev. Luis DelAguiña of the First Church of Religious Science of Albuquerque officiated for the single-ring service.

The bride wore a street-length dress of turquoise and white linen and carried a nosegay bouquet of daisies and stephanotis.

Miss Pat Adams, daughter of the bridegroom, served as maid of honor. She wore a floor-length peasant-style gown in a floral print. She wore a yellow picture hat and a small corsage of daisies at her waist.

Eugene F. Adams, III, son of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Mrs. Ida S. Adams of Pampa, mother of the bridegroom, wore a royal blue jacket dress with a yellow orchid corsage.

For the reception at the San Juan Country Club, the serving table was covered with a white linen cloth, trimmed with vari-hued Spring flowers. Centering the table was the three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with pale yellow roses.

The couple is at home in Venice, Calif.

The bride was president of the Albuquerque Desk and Derrick Club; vice president of the American Business Women's Association there and a member of the Albuquerque Museum Association. She was employed by Minerals Exploration Continental Oil Company in Albuquerque.

The bridegroom is manager of the Blue Chip Stamp Company in Los Angeles, Calif. A graduate of Pampa High School, he previously worked for F.W. Woolworth Company.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ned Pryor of Pampa.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

THURSDAY, JUNE 8

Your birthday today: Steady effort and direct results are required this year and most of the next. Competence in your chosen field brings recognition, and you are moved to appropriate positions. Today's natives have strong opinions, much energy, imagination, often a duality which offers differing behavior at different times.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Now is a good time to rack up the score as to how well your ventures are faring. Property and possessions are subject to improvement.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Your persuasive powers are at the highest level. If there is some way of showing what you can do, fine, but avoid tinkering with a successful pattern.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: If you can get out of the public eye long enough to investigate, or do research, you find something that is very useful.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Take complexities in the manner of a serious game. Keep an eye on what friends do—it can be as confusing as what an opponent might do.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: It's a normal day, and up to you what you want to do with it. Those who work with you should be able to fulfill your sound plans.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Seldom-seen friends and relatives are involved with whatever your projects. You'll later see the workings of unconscious motivations.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: In attending home conditions, and insurance, you find a way of obtaining better values. Have a change of pace for the evening.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Cooperation is both a necessity and a creative virtue. Attend career matters, then divert the same flow of energy into personal affairs.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Any changes promise to be permanent, so let them be constructive. Give some thought to your health and its preservation.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: You can assemble a combination of old and new, serious and humorous, for lively results. Seek new contacts.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Pick up the incidental side issues that have accumulated; settle them so you have a clear stage on which to attack major problems.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: The further out, the more diverse, the better. Family problems fall into a whimsical context; you can do a lot with good humor.

TEMPORARY CARE

DORTMUND, Germany (AP)—Dortmund's Labor Office has added a nursery for the care of children whose mothers undergo job interviews.

The kindergarten, first of its kind in West Germany, is separated from the interview room by a glass wall so that mothers can keep an eye on their offspring.

Jaybird Has Private Room

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Like all women, Frank Ellison says, Jay-Jay likes money.

"She'll trade me a dime for a quarter, but she won't take a penny," Ellison laughed.

Not much of a feat, perhaps, except for the fact that Jay-Jay is a jaybird, a pet in the Ellison house.

Ellison, 66, a semiretired plumber, says Jay-Jay became part of the household months ago when she was found with one wing badly mauled by a cat.

The Ellisons put the wing back in place, bandaged her and kept her in a cage until she was well. Then they let her out.

"She can fly, but manages only about a block before she must rest," Ellison said. "The wing is not as good as it was before we found her."

They let Jay-Jay come and go as she likes. When they call, she returns.

"Not long ago she was gone for eight days and I got worried," Ellison said.

He said he found Jay-Jay at the home of a deputy sheriff, but a neighbor assumed the bird belonged to the deputy.

"She got on my shoulder, we got in the car and drove home," he said.

Jay-Jay has a room of her own, in the house. The furniture is covered by paper, which Jay-Jay likes to peck holes into, and the curtains and spread have been moved out.

Breakfast for the bird is scrambled eggs, rice, bread and cookies. Bird-feeding stations are all about the Ellison house and they use about 10 loaves of bread a week, plus grain and mash, for their feathered friends.

But Jay-Jay is the pride of the flock, Ellison said. "I wouldn't take $100 for her," he added.

The nation's scheduled airlines will buy some $2.5 million worth of fuel, parts and services during 1972, says the Air Transport Association.

Mentor, Adviser Gives Pointers On Philosophy

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Dear Poor Man's Philosopher:

Man, you've got it made. I really dig you, man. Like you're the greatest, you know. How can a cat like me get into your racket? In other words, man, how can I light my fuse? Since you have a squeeze on the poor man's market, maybe I could start as a rich man's philosopher. Right on?

Sincerely, Joe the Juice.

Dear Joe the Juice:

If I translate your quaint guttersnipe argot aright, young man, you are trying to express a desire to become a philosopher.

Well, welcome to the great mansion of philosophy, son. Anyone may enter there, although I feel I should warn you that it is not a playing field for juvenile delinquents.

Your ambition is praiseworthy, but you also need certain tools if you are to succeed as a philosopher. These tools are an understanding eye, a seeing heart, a thinking brain, and a language with which to tell others what you have found out. For philosophy is but a game of find and tell in the arena of a vaster kindergarten. Philosophy is but the gossip of eternity.

I hope it is not your idea that a philosopher is an elderly, dirty, hairy, carrot-nibbling toothless hermit dwelling on a lonely mountain peak and endlessly shaking his head at the follies of his fellows.

No, indeed. The philosopher is just as likely to be a street corner debater like Socrates or a wandering teacher like Jesus. Both of them moved in the midst of men. Philosophy isn't standoffish, but sociable.

While this is an age of specialization, I do not think you need to concentrate your talents and become merely a rich man's philosopher. Rich men use vanity and money as their chief crutches in this world. They usually turn to the consolations of philosophy only when sick or dying.

And now, my young friend, Joe the Juice, since every trade has its secrets, I think I should impart a few tips on how to become a philosopher.

First of all, never hurry. Since life itself is a long emergency, always take your time. Anything you can do in a hurry, any place you can get to in a hurry, is not worth doing or worth getting to. No one lands in heaven with a single running broadjump.

Second, never interrupt a woman. She may be planning something worthwhile for your benefit. Interruptions only confuse her.

Thirdly, never clutter up your mind with useless knowledge. Have nothing to do with machinery, except the supreme one—your brain. Other machines are for slaves, not philosophers.

Fourthly, it is customary in the trade for an apprentice philosopher to give 10 per cent of his profits for the first seven years to his mentor and adviser. This I leave to your conscience.

Your friendly mentor and adviser.

The Poor Man's Philosopher.

OFF LIMITS DUMP

DENTON, Md. (AP)—A young man's bid to root in the Denton dump for the makings of art objects has been rejected.

Leo Sewell, 26, a parttime carpenter, showed a pop art wastebasket which he built from junk and said he was selling for $20. "This is my livelihood," he said.

But the county commissioners ruled that all scavengers are banned from the dump and that Sewell would have to do his trashing elsewhere.

Attila: U.S. Tourist

The strange species known as Tourist Americanus "may be less dangerous to the civilized world than Attila, but not much."

The charge is made by author John Keats, writing in Travel & Leisure magazine. In an article called "The Great American Vandal," he ticks off a list of tourist crimes committed by Americans. The samples include:

Partial destruction of the new John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts shortly after its opening in the nation's capital, where tourists dismantled the chandeliers, pried the faucets off bathroom basins, stole the silverware from the restaurants, paintings from the walls and cut swatches out of carpet and draperies for souvenirs and in all did some $1.5 million worth of damage.

The irretrievable loss of several geysers and the Morning Glory Pool in Yellowstone Park because tourists could not resist the temptation to clog the vents with coins, stones and logs.

Graffiti at the Grand Canyon, where one ranger caught a fan spraying their names on the rocks and was told, "We thought this was what everybody did. The rocks are for everybody, aren't they?"

In addition to our national parks, our historic sites and museums are particular targets of our touring barbarians, which accounts, says Keats, "for the fact that so much of our heritage is behind velvet ropes and iron bars or in glass cases and is only seen through a screen of uniformed guards."

It is bad enough that American tourists "foul their own nests," he says. "But worse, thanks to the creation of cheap jet travel, that our affluent barbarians now commit their nuisances on a worldwide scale."

He admits that American tourists are not the only ones who can be indicted: "The German yields to no one when it comes to offensiveness, nor is the Belgian far behind."

The British Lord Elgin, it will be remembered, sent home whole shiploads of marbles which once adorned the Acropolis in Athens.

But Americans are the worst of all, claims Keats, if only because there are so many of them.

DDT Finds a Friend

Comes now some opinion out of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency that DDT is not the bogeyman that so many thought it was. An EPA hearing examiner listened to 125 witnesses who produced 8,800 pages of testimony over a period of seven months. He subsequently recommended that EPA administrator William D. Ruckelshaus reverse the proposed ban on domestic uses of DDT.

The gist of the recommendation was that DDT "does not create a risk that is unreasonable on balance with the benefits."

A leading field-crop specialist, Dr. Norman Borlaug, commented on the proceedings. He said that all anti-DDT claims had been assembled, every aspect of DDT's impact on man, public health, agriculture, wildlife, and other organisms explored; the evidence scrutinized, cross-examined, and weighed. In his opinion, the attempt to ban the remaining domestic uses of DDT was a tragic mistake. "Now we have an opportunity," he said, "to correct that mistake—not for political reasons, not for the sake of special interest groups—but for the sake of proper use of scientific data and in the name of good sense in environmental affairs."

Borlaug was the winner of the 1970 Nobel Peace Prize for his work in agronomy. No question that chemicals can be dangerous, especially when used on food crops. All the more reason, therefore, to maintain the availability of those with which the country has had a long and favorable experience.

China, Soviet Contrast

The television news reports from Moscow didn't mention it, but the visual message produced a sharp contrast between life in Moscow and life in Peking.

We recall the clean wide streets of Peking with almost no automobile traffic, many bicycles and the pedestrians dressed almost identically, male and female.

The news film clips from Moscow with the reporter on the sidewalk gave a picture of heavy automobile traffic on the wide streets and men and women walking briskly along the sidewalks carrying parcels and dressed in as wide a variety of garments one might expect to see in the U.S.

This doesn't tell us how the folks in the villages are making out, but it seems the city dwellers in communist Russia are doing somewhat better than the city dwellers in communist China.

Ultimatum To N. Viets Not 'Tough'

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Nixon's ultimatum to Hanoi was not nearly so tough as it sounded.

In fact, if not in words, it gives Hanoi almost all it has been asking for in the long peace negotiations.

It does not force a ship-to-ship confrontation with the Russians.

It has all the earmarks of an arrangement.

Take these points one by one: 1—Mr. Nixon's cease-fire offer made no mention of Hanoi's invasion forces returning to North Vietnam. This suggests the North Vietnamese could, in fact, keep all the territory they capture before their supplies run out.

Since they have stockpiled large amounts of raw material, the mining of Haiphong harbor should not interfere with North Vietnam's operations for weeks to come, perhaps not critically for months.

The mining this will not interfere with Hanoi's ability to capture Hue and other important provincial cities, assuming the North Vietnamese had the capacity which seems likely.

The blockade then would not of itself prevent Hanoi from ending up in possession of some very important chunks of South Vietnam permanently. In fact, the North Vietnamese can go as far as they are able, then immediately call for a cease-fire and an exchange of prisoners—which would guarantee them possession of the territory they had taken up to that time.

This, then, would be the old Laos situation. It would give the North Vietnamese the opportunity to build a strong Communist government in the occupied territory. This in turn would give them the strength to claim and get a coalition government of some type.

2—This is not a blockade. Haiphong harbor (and others) are reported mined. The docks will be destroyed. Any North Vietnamese lighters attempting to unload materiel from ships offshore will be attacked. But no foreign ships will be touched deliberately.

If a Russian freighter, for example, chooses to run the mine field, no American warship will challenge it. The Russians will be free to take their chances with the mines.

It will be very difficult to prevent lighters and other small craft from unloading materiel (including petroleum) from Russian and other ships. But his reporter has been told that tanks and the crucial type of trucks are so heavy that they must be unloaded directly on the docks. The top officers of the U.S. Air Force have assured Mr. Nixon there soon will be no docks to tie up.

3—There is some evidence that both the Russians and the Chinese were prepared for some such U.S. action. In return, Mr. Nixon is said to have guaranteed to continue the U.S. troop withdrawals, to accept a cease-fire with the Communists keeping the territory they are able to capture and to impose an American post-cessate-fire halt to bombing.

The evidence for this is shaky. There were hints of it in President's speech, in indirect statements made by White House and State Department officials and, more interestingly, in the statements made by Hanoi agents in South Vietnam these past few days.

These Hanoi agents were spreading the rumor that an agreement had been made by Mr. Nixon, China's Chou En-lai and Russia's Leonid Brezhnev under which South Vietnam's two northern provinces would be given to North Vietnam and the Viet Cong.

It was assumed at the time that this was merely highly effective propaganda, aimed at convincing South Vietnam's soldiers on the northern front that they should take it easy and not die uselessly. But now the question arises:

Did they have some inside knowledge?

"Is This a Private Fight or Can Anybody Get In?"

RAY CROMLEY Nixon, Brezhnev Each Has His Bet

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Nixon is gambling the United States can stay three years ahead of Russia in the nuclear missile-submarine-bomber arms race.

He is betting, too, this country can so significantly upgrade its espionage techniques that American Soviet watchers can catch—early in their development—unexpected Soviet breakthroughs in such fields as laser, nuclear, space, undersea, radar and missile fuel and guidance technology.

Nixon adviser Henry Kissinger has another thesis, based on historical observation—that sometimes a momentum once lost can never be regained.

This is true in war, in national expansion, sometimes in economic and scientific growth. It is also true, Kissinger believes, in an arms race of the magnitude of this one.

Kissinger therefore believes that once the Soviet arms build-up momentum is halted, or slowed, even momentarily, and even if only in numbers, then important changes can take place in Russia: Counter pressures will build up.

Rival claimants, other than the military, will be able to more forcefully demand a larger share of the rubles, raw materials and technicians, pressures similar to those which have been building up in the United States these past few years.

The Soviet Union's Brezhnev is betting, of course, that this agreement will bring the technical aid which will enable the Soviet scientists to catch up with their American rivals, both in military technology and in the application of computers and other advanced techniques to the management of industry and to the development of the Soviet Union's vast underdeveloped areas.

Internationally, Brezhnev is betting that the underdeveloped countries will be so impressed by the numerical superiority allocated the Soviet Union in intercontinental missiles and ballistic missile submarines that these lands will be convinced that Russia is the world's number one military nation and most powerful country—and that communism is therefore the wave of the future.

This psychology of ultimate victory is a major strategy of the Kremlin in its drive for power and influence at home and abroad.

Soviet Communist theory holds that peoples usually will turn for aid and support to that nation which is the acknowledged strongest or which seems to be.

That is, the Russians, like the North Vietnamese and Chinese, are seeking a psychological victory, which in Marxist strategy is the basis for political victory.

Nixon came to Moscow; Brezhnev didn't come to Washington. On paper Russia has more ICBMs or is allowed more, and is allowed more missile submarines.

We have seen this desire for psychological victory elsewhere of late. It is for this reason that North Vietnam thus far has not been satisfied with a chance to control South Vietnam. Hanoi wants to psychologically humiliate the United States and rub Nixon's nose in the mud and do the same for President Thieu's government in South Vietnam.

This is an essential part of victory. It would not prove that North Vietnam was stronger than the United States. But psychologically, by Marxist theory, it would advance the cause more than simple victory. It would make the people in the South more malleable and would establish the position of Hanoi in Southeast Asia and in the Communist and Third Worlds.

It is in the same mode as Mao Tse-tung's thesis that it is better to destroy one enemy division completely and totally than to defeat 10 divisions. The psychological effect is greater.

In the next decade we shall be able to see whether the Kissinger theory or Brezhnev's is closer to reality.

Lowenstein Campaign Trips Over Own Anti-F-14 Record

By Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — Former Congressman Allard Lowenstein, D-N.Y., is finding himself distressingly embarrassed by his own legislative record in his attempt to stage a political comeback.

Now head of the New Left-dominated Americans for Democratic Action, Lowenstein's record of militant opposition to defense appropriations, particularly for the development of advanced weapons, is painfully boomeranging against him with a key element of the Brooklyn voters he is assiduously courting.

They are caustically challenging his claim of being an ardent champion and supporter of Israel.

This is being derisively attacked by citing the fact that during the two years Lowenstein sat in the House, he consistently voted against appropriations of the Defense Department—principal supplier of arms for Israel.

Particularly being held against Lowenstein is his vehement opposition to a $658 million fund for development of the F-14 fighter-bomber—urgently needed to replace the F-4. Now this country's top combat plane, the F-4, is inferior to the Soviet's MIG-23.

The F-4 has a speed of twice the speed of sound and a ceiling of 60,000 feet, as against the MIG-23's speed of three times the speed of sound and an 80,000-ft. ceiling.

Israel, already menacingly facing MIG-23s supplied the Egyptian air force, is extremely anxious to get F-14s—not yet in production. This plane, designed to be superior to the MIG-23, is vital to Israel's survival.

That's why the large number of Jewish voters in the Brooklyn district in which Lowenstein is noisily trying to stage a political comeback are up in arms at his votes against funds for this desperately needed new fighter-bomber and other advanced weapons.

Also being critically noted is that when Lowenstein opposed the F-14, he was directly countering the economic interests of his then Long Island district, Grumman, which is importantly participating in the production of the F-14, is a major Long Island employer.

Thus Lowenstein's anti-F-14 vote was, in effect, against jobs for his constituents.

What It Really Means
Graphically illustrative of the dire consequences to Israel of Lowenstein's hostility to the F-14 is what happened there some ten days ago.

Two MIG-23s, piloted by Russians, left secret bases in Egypt and flew over Israeli-held Sinai territory and out over the Mediterranean. The flight was instantly discovered by Israeli radar and F-4s streaked aloft to intercept the Soviet-piloted MIG-23 intruders.

But the F-4s could not reach them.

The Phantoms, operating at full speed and maximum altitude and equipped with sophisticated air-to-air missiles, were incapable of intercepting the Russian Foxbats.

Israel faces the stark reality of knowing that MIG-23s can fly over its cities and territory with impunity.

The F-14, which Lowenstein strenuously opposed, would provide Israel with an effective defense against such attacks.

Sen Henry Jackson, D-Wash., leading Congressional champion of armaments and credits for Israel, grimly warns that this MIG-23 intrusion over Israel is a sinister omen of "more and worse to come."

Says Jackson: "We now have reason to believe that Russia recently agreed to provide Egypt with 10 MIG-23s, a remarkable move in view of the fact that the total estimated Soviet inventory of MIG-23s is well under 100. Never before has such an advance Soviet weapons system been placed in foreign hands."

"Israel is defenseless against the MIG-23 not because we have been unwilling to supply her with modern aircraft (that problem has been solved) but because the United States has no aircraft that can match the speed and altitude characteristic of the MIG-23. We simply have no plane that can do the job."

Lowenstein is going to frantic lengths to explain and justify his vote against development of the F-14 jet fighter-bomber. But the record speaks for itself—and apparently it's boomeranging harshly against the militant dove and New Leftist.

The ADA leader is also anxiously endeavoring to alibi his repeated votes against strong anti-crime legislation, including the big omnibus anti-crime bill passed by Congress in the fall of 1970. He is now stridently campaigning as a law-and-order advocate.

But the record shows he was one of 26 leftists who voted against the omnibus bill to strengthen the government's hand in combating organized crime, terrorists, bombing and other violence. But to hear Lowenstein tell it on the stump, he is all for stern law and other measures.

Coming Up:

Researcher Frank Capell will soon reveal how the Soviet KGB (Secret Police) has compromised high officials in the governments of the U.S. and Britain by catering to their weaknesses. Females have been supplied to sex-hungry men. Homosexuals have been trapped with boys. (The Capell report may not reveal it, but the Soviets have also used handsome men to seduce wives of State Department men and other women in a position to be "used" for political purposes.) — The Councilor Independence for Bangladesh has meant something much different for the new nation's minority. In the ghetto of Mohammedpur, thousands subsist in squalor, disease and fear—people no one wants.

Bengal's Biharis Are War's Double Losers

By TOM TIEDE

DACCA, Bangladesh — (NEA)—For most of his life, Mohammed Rahman was an exemplary citizen. He worked in a bank, lived modestly, raised a small family. His only error, it seems, was his patriotism. He pledged allegiance to the Pakistan government—the "wrong" side, as it turned out, in last year's war for independence.

Now Rahman is paying the price for loyalty.

Neither the winners nor losers want him.

He is a man without a country.

He is not, really, alone. There are an estimated 1.5 million non-Bengali residents (called Biharis because many of them are immigrants from Bihar Province, India) trapped here in this same shameful pinch.

And trapped is the word. Many of them are living like rats. Since no government recognizes them, no government protects them and they must group together for security in some of the worst ghettos—call them informal concentration camps—in the world today.

Rahman's ghetto, as example, is a camp of 6,000 in a Dacca suburb called Mohammedpur. It virtually defies description. A still-water ditch alongside a road is used as the latrine. Water is so scarce people drink from their dishpans. Several families sleep in shared tents, so close, says Rahman, "that we have many marital problems." Some children are so malnourished that they haven't strength to wink flies from their eyes. Rats nibble at those residents too weary to move away. Fleas are so thick some people have shaved all hair from their bodies. "We are all dying a little every day," jobs one sick woman. "In the name of humanity, can't somebody help us?"

Apparently no one can help. Not yet, anyway. Several international agencies have done some small patching, a few Bengali social workers have offered assistance, there has been a committee formed to study the politics of the matter. But the prognosis is that the Biharis will continue to suffer. Partly because Pakistan warily refuses to accept all of them as refugees. And partly because, as one nationalist here says it: "The bastards were collaborators during the war. They tried to kill us. I hope they all rot to death."

The feeling here against Biharis, terribly heated, is explained. Bengalis want revenge. And to some extent for good reason.

Before the war, following the 1947 partitioning of India which created then East Pakistan, the Biharis made few attempts to integrate into the Bengali lifestyle. They retained their native language (Urdu), stuck to themselves and refused to join the natives in protests against Pakistan oppression. Their loyalty to the Pak powers, at that time, was rewarded: Biharis became the more or less elite class in Bengal, holding a high proportion of official positions.

Then, during the war, the Biharis, or rather some of them, not only remained loyal to Pakistan but joined in the brutalization of Bengalis as well. Biharis looted Bengali homes. Biharis executed Bengali rebels. "One night," says a bitter Bengali merchant, "I was sitting home with my wife when the Biharis came. I looked out to see them shooting my neighbors. I sent my wife to try to hide, but they found her anyway. Is it any wonder that I hate them so much?"

Indeed, the guilt of some Biharis is beyond argument. Yet the mass punishment being meted out to the entire minority remains excessive. As ex-banker Mohammed Rahman says it: "The children didn't collaborate. The old women didn't loot houses. If the Bengalis want to get their precious eye for an eye, let them try the wrongdoers. But, meanwhile, let's get these other people out of this sewer."

Rahman does not use the word sewer lightly. His camp is an open cesspool of waste. Vomit lies drying on the side of tents. Excrement lies in piles along the dirt paths. The collective result is that, as Rahman says, "We have a hundred diseases here. I am the doctor. I don't know anything about medicine, but I am the doctor. I have learned to deliver babies. But people drop over every day from things and all I can do is give them aspirin."

Sometimes not even aspirin is available. The Biharis have supported their ghettos largely by selling off their own belongings. Now the belongings are running short and so are the supplies. "We can't go on forever," says Mohammed Rahman, lifting his shirt to show his ribs. "If something isn't done, if somebody doesn't accept us, the Bhari problem will solve itself. All of us will die of neglect."

Television And Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Monty Hall Smokin' Stokin' Fire Brigade" an hour-long special on ABC Monday night, may not have made television history but it was certainly one of the busiest shows on record. It at least demonstrated that Monty Hall isn't just a fellow who turns up every day on ABC's "Let's Make a Deal" with his pockets full of money to give to game show contestants. The hour opened with a parade of fire engines, and with all the noise and excitement of a four alarm blaze. Then it cut to a facsimile of a Mexican American fiesta, complete with tacos and occasional otes and even a stuffed bull, which gave Hall a chance to dress up like a matador and stamp around in a little dance with the natives in their colorful costumes. There were quick cuts from scene to scene, some primitive comedy by Fred Smoot, and a very cooperative attitude by Cass Elliot who, given a chance, might have been funny and even without a chance sounded great in her musical numbers. Hall's first musical variety special had everything from dream sequences to sight gags and it apparently was shot almost entirely on location. And it was probably all pretty wonderful fun for Monty Hall fans. The television networks will, for the most part, start the third—or summer—season with the premiere of CBS's "Melba Moore-Clifton Davis Show," first of eight new programs which will be coming along on the three networks during the next two months. STARTS IN SNOW MT. HOOD, Ore. (AP) — Principal photography has started with three days of snow scenes on "Lost Horizon," based on the James Hilton novel. After four nights of filming at Tucson, Ariz., there will be three months of shooting in Southern California areas. Sequences featuring Charles Boyer, appearing in his first film since 1967, will be filmed in the summer.

News In Brief

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A drop in the volume of foreign steel imported during April appears to be the first effect of a recently signed agreement between the United States, Japan and the European Common Market limiting the amount and type of steel imports.

Imports of all types of steel totaled about 938,000 tons in April, down 15 per cent from 1.09 million tons shipped to this country during March, and the first time in several months imports fell below the million-ton level, government figures show.

The American Iron & Steel Institute says the figure represents a 32 per cent reduction from the amount of imported in April 1971.

A record 18.3 million tons of foreign steel was received in the United States last year.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "All my life I knew this would happen," mused William Marvel as he put on the tights and cape he and friends had designed with the help of a comic book.

Marvel, 25, planned an Air Force career as a teen-ager. He graduated from the Air Force Academy, became a second lieutenant, then a first lieutenant. Then—Shazam—captain.

Lubbock Student Sets Bath Record

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Hal Holloway, 20, a Texas Tech student from Dallas, emerged at 3:31 a.m. today after 169 hours in his shower bath.

About his only significant comment was: "I don't think I'll take another bath for a long, long time."

Holloway and his friends said he hung up a new world record by staying in the shower at his Lubbock apartment for exactly one week and one hour.

This eclipsed the former mark credited to an unidentified Britisher, they reported.

Holloway refused to emerge from the shower even for meals and he slept (he said) there on an air mattress.

Worry Clinic

By George W. Crane
Ph. D., M.D.

At Hong Kong, escaping Red China refugees told my son Phillip last fall that they had to spend 100 per cent of their income for just enough food to keep alive! Test your wits on the problem below. Patriotic Americans must never shut up!

CASE U-503: Charles Shade is an Indiana banker in the little town near which we have our summer farm home.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "how do you like this Doane's NEWSLETTER that banks now make available to farmers?"

"It is a goodwill gesture on our part and alerts the farmers to price trends, plus other helpful information."

CAPITALISM VS. COMMUNISM

In the issue which Charles gave me, I saw some very shocking data.

For the California Beef Council had prepared a graphic chart to show the per cent of a worker's income spent for food, in various leading nations.

Remember, too, that this is a good index of the superiority of a nation's type of government and economic system!

Below I'll list the nations (in jumbled order) with the figures at the right which show the percentage of income spent for food.

Test your wits by trying to match each country with its correct person are not the correct ones for that country, so think carefully:

West Germany	50 per cent	West Germany	28 per cent
England	40 per cent	England	26 per cent
U.S.A.	38 per cent	U.S.A.	16.5 per cent
Russia	31 per cent	Russia	50 per cent
Japan	28 per cent	Japan	40 per cent
Italy	26 per cent	Italy	38 per cent
France	16.5 per cent	France	31 per cent

At the end of this column, I'll list the countries with their proper percentages! You high schoolers, plus business luncheon clubs and women's organizations, may use this test to help refute the criticisms that Uncle Sam is receiving from thoughtless citizens.

Meanwhile, "I'll mention another interesting comment that pertains not alone to farmers but also to pet owners in the city."

For Cargill, Inc., at Elk River, Minnesota, contrasted ordinary straw bedding on concrete floors for pigs, versus bare concrete floors with overhead heaters.

The temperature ranged from 26 degrees below zero to 46 above.

The oats straw bedding was 6 to 8 inches thick. Which method proved better?

Well, the old-fashioned straw bedding, without overhead heaters, was superior! Overhead heaters didn't pay!

The pigs gained rapidly and were more comfortable on straw.

Those on the bare concrete, despite overhead heaters, suffered from lung congestion, sore legs, ulcers and tailbiting. Maybe our pioneer ancestors were thus smart to sue their straw bed ticks (mattresses) instead of our impervious modern mattresses with fancy electric blankets!

Now look at the correct matching of nations with the percentage of income required for food:

For 16 years he has been the Mr. Indispensable of Laotian politics. But now . . .

Souvanna Phouma Has Had It

By TOM TIEDE

VIENTIANE, Laos — (NEA) — National saviors have come and gone over the last two turbulent decades of Southeast Asia, but Souvanna Phouma of Laos, like the, uh, Mekong River, has just kept rolling along.

The prince and prime minister holds a rather remarkable endurance record for headman in this part of the globe. Since 1965 he has been chief executive in five separate occasions, for a total of 16 years—the last eight of them in a row.

The reasons for his survival are complicated. Suffice it to say, as Souvanna himself is fond of sighing: "Who else would want the job?"

In any event, the reign may soon be ending. At 73 years old, Souvanna is tired. Sitting on a gold brocade chair in his living room, ticking off the disappointments of his office, the old man says he wants to quit: "I will consider it more seriously after the National Assembly meets (this Summer). No one is indispensable."

The statement, a grumble as much as anything, will not likely unleash panic in the streets here. The prince has yearned for and talked much of retirement for years. "Every time things go bad, as they are now," says a U.S. official, "Souvanna looks for the rocker." Yet this time the squat, humorless aristocrat may mean it. Things are not just going bad in Laos, they are going terrible.

There is, first off, the war. Souvanna's control has been whittled down to less than half the nation and barely 65 per cent of the three million population. The enemy, including perhaps 60,000 North Vietnamese troops, kill an average of 10 loyalist soldiers a day, can take any town—including Vientiane—almost at will, and are, according to most indicators, the strongest real power in the country.

Then there is the economy. Despite massive amounts of assistance from a multinational economic committee (the United States alone contributes about $17 million a year), the kip is again on the slip. Eighteen years ago the kip was pegged at 35 for the U.S. dollar. Now it is 600 and, according to black market indicators, should be 750. As a result, a piece of pork that last year cost 600 kip is now up to 800. Rice has jumped by nearly $2 a trading bag. And times are tough. "As a clerk," says one harried citizen, "I earn 10,000 kip a month ($17). Prices go up but my salary stays the same. I have had to cut back and back on expenses. All I can afford to eat now is bread and water."

Even the United States is contributing to the national woe. In a reverse way. Since congressional investigations blew the whistle on Laos spending two years ago, Souvanna's government is showing its ribs. The U.S. contribution is still hefty—$350 million a year at least—but most of this goes toward the war effort and is blown, quite literally, to hell. The U.S. Agency for International Development spends more than Laos does on social works (USAID's budget is $47 million here, the Laotian budget is $7 million less), but the effects are hardly felt in a country at war, where 80 per cent of the people live out in the sticks and at least 35 per cent of them are behind the enemy lines.

"It's plain to see," says one newspaper editor here, "Laos is going downhill." To be sure. And that's saying something, it being difficult to subtract from zero. According to the estimates of U.S. government statisticians: the Laos Gross National Product is less than half of one U.S. moon shot; the per capita income is $66; the life expectancy average is 35 years; only two of 10 people can read or write; there is only one physician for every 24,000 people; about 700,000 Laotians are living as refugees; 20 per cent of the males of military age are in the service earning less than 30 cents a day.

Small wonder that Souvanna Phouma wants to chuck the whole mess. He has, say close friends, had it. He has survived unnumbered coups, routine threats to his life, a 10-year physical separation from his French wife (who prefers Paris, oddly, to Vientiane), and the continuing squawks of his subjects. He is drooping. He wants out.

He sits through interviews generally bored. No, the United States is not helping Laos enough. No, he has not asked Mr. Nixon for more money, that is up to the U.S. Congress. No, the war is not going well.

Yes, Laos would fall if the United States withdrew.

And, yes, Laos may fall even if the United States stays.

The only time he strings words together enthusiastically is on the subject of his retirement. "I want to write my memoirs," he says. See here. He is almost boyish as he leafs through the pages of a diary. "Every night I write. I have a stack of papers this high." Then he settles back, grinning, this weary old warhorse ready for pasture.

WORLD OF WORK

Answers to Employment Questions by Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson

The Working Woman: An Economic Necessity

M. C. of Rockford, Ill., asks: Why are married women allowed to work when so many men are unemployed?

Dear M. C.: Let me first say that in our democratic society all citizens, men and women, should have an equal opportunity to perform productive and rewarding work. For this reason, we have laws to assure equality of opportunity for all. Most women work out of economic necessity.

In the vast majority of cases, women earn less than their husbands. But women's earnings often mean the difference between the families living at or below the poverty level. The woman's earnings often enable the family to attain a "decent minimum" standard.

If married women gave up their jobs, we would have many more families on relief. Moreover, we would not be able to staff our hospitals, schools, offices, and stores.

There were 18.5 million women (husband present) in the labor force in March 1971, while the number of unemployed men was three million. If all the married women stayed home and unemployed men were placed in their jobs, there would be 15.5 million unfilled jobs.

B. J. C. of Lunenburg, Mass., writes: My class wants to know what new jobs will open up for women that won't be exclusively for men.

Dear B. J. C.: Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibits job discrimination based on sex. As employers better understand these legal requirements, we anticipate they will hire more women and girls for the full gamut of occupations. Therefore, women and girls should be encouraged to prepare for any jobs consistent with their interests, talents, and temperament.

Among the fields in which women are entering or expanding their participation are law, medicine, optometry, pharmacy, medical technology, mathematics, science, engineering, urban planning, engraving, aircraft mechanics, automobile mechanics, jewelry and camera repairing. Also included are lens grinding, dispensing optician, electronics mechanics, business machine servicing, radio and television servicing, electrical appliance repairing, automobile servicing, furniture upholstery, tool-and-die making, watch repairing. . . .

N. H. Oklahoma City, Okla., writes: Our class is talking about careers, and I would like to know which jobs are growing the fastest.

Dear N. H.: Professional and technical jobs will grow fastest in the years ahead. But remember that employment growth is not the only consideration in evaluating future job prospects. More job openings will be created during the 1970's through replacement of workers who retire or leave the field for other reasons than through employment growth.

Gov. George Wallace Moved Out Of Intensive Care Unit

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace was moved out of the intensive care unit and into a private room Tuesday at Holy Cross Hospital.

Elvin Stanton, a Wallace aide, said doctors are pleased at the rate of the governor's recovery.

Wallace was shot May 15 at a campaign rally in Laurel, Md. He has been in the intensive care unit of the hospital since that time.

Stanton quoted Dr. Joseph Schanno, who is treating the governor, as saying that Wallace is improving steadily.

Stanton said Wallace will have a limited number of visitors.

He said it is not known at this time when the governor can be transferred to Alabama.

Stanton added there are no additional signs of change in Wallace's paralyzed legs.

Baseball Roundup

American League
Sonny Siebert doesn't like to think about what he's doing on the mound—and he didn't give the Chicago White Sox much time to think about it, either.
Boston's big right-hander whizzed past Chicago's heavy-hitting line-up Tuesday night in less than two hours—one minute less, to be precise—spinning a four-hitter in the Red Sox' 2-0 victory.
In the rest of the American league, Minnesota edged Baltimore 5-4 in 15 innings, Texas tripped the New York Yankees 6-3, Oakland beat Cleveland 7-2, Kansas City defeated Milwaukee 4-2 and Detroit beat California 8-6 in the first game of a twilight doubleheader before the Angels won the second game 4-0.
"I started working faster last year," said Siebert, a 16-game winner in 1971 for the third time in eight major league seasons. "I'm more aggressive that way and the fielders play better ball."
"Also, I'm not doing too much thinking when I work fast. I'm not kidding," Sonny smiled, "but when I start thinking, I can get into trouble."
He had no trouble with the White Sox. His manager, Eddie Kasko, called it "his best game of the season."
Siebert and veteran knuckleballer Wilbur Wood ducked through five scoreless innings before singles by Doug Griffin and Tommy Harper and a double by Luis Aparicio produced Boston's two runs. It enabled Siebert to chalk up his fifth victory in seven decisions.
With just three outs to go in Baltimore, it appeared the Orioles were a sure bet to snap their four-game losing streak. But Jim Palmer, tossing a six-hitter and staked to a three-run lead, couldn't hold it as the Twins tied it 4-4 on Eric Soderholm's two-run homer and singles by Rick Dempsey, Steve Braun and Danny Thompson.
They won it in the 15th on Rod Carew's single, a walk and Steve Brye's single.
Don Mincher, pinch-hitter for winning pitcher Dick Bosman, capped Texas' three-run up-rising in the sixth inning with a two-run single that led to the Yankees' downfall.
Bosman was working on a one-hitter when Rangers' Manager Ted Williams decided to make the switch. "I was surprised Ted pulled me when I felt as strong as I did," Bosman said.
"Mincher made him look like a genius. I felt good and had it really going," he added. "I've never been pulled on a one-hitter before."

National League
"Thank God I don't have a radio show this season," says Manager Frank Lucchesi of the Philadelphia Phillies. "What would I say?"
Indeed, what can you say when your team has lost 19 of 20 games.
The inept Phillies lost again, this time to the Houston Astros 4-3 Tuesday night, and left their patient manager speechless. Well, practically speechless.
"You'll never see a white flag... I'll never surrender," said the happy-go-lucky Lucchesi who must be laughing on the outside, but crying on the inside.
The Philadelphia management attempted to help out their woeful wretches by trying to put on a hex before the game at Veterans Stadium.
They had a "Turn-Around Night", asking the crowd to take the seventh-inning stretch in the third inning, introduced the players last name first, sang "Goodnight Sweetheart" at the beginning of the game, played the National Anthem earlier than usual and made the ushers wear their caps backwards and their identification badges on their backs.
It didn't help because they didn't take into account pitcher Dave Roberts' two-run homer and a fine relief performance by Houston's Fred Gladding in the ninth.
In the National League's other games, the New York Mets turned back the Cincinnati Reds 3-2; the Atlanta Braves beat the Montreal Expos 3-2; the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the San Francisco Giants 5-3 and the Los Angeles Dodgers trimmed the Chicago Cubs 5-0. Rain washed out Pittsburgh at San Diego.
After Houston came up with two runs in the first inning on Bob Watson's run-scoring single and an infield error, Roberts drove in the Astros' winning runs with his two-run shot in the fourth.
The left-hander had the 4-0 lead going into the ninth, when Philadelphia rallied. Larry Bowa's single, a walk and Greg Luzinski's one-out double gave the Phillies their first run. Gladding came on and fed a two-run single to pinch-hitter Roger Freed before getting Deron Johnson on a pop and striking out Willie Montanez.
The night wasn't a complete failure, though. The Phillies did manage to break a 24-inning scoreless streak with their runs in the ninth.
Wilmer Allison, former Davis Cup star, is in his 15th season as Texas tennis coach.

Janie Blaylock Hopes To Concentrate On Golf

SUTTON, Mass. (AP)—How do members of a closely knit organization, such as the Ladies Professional Golf Association, react to a $5 million suit filed by one of their own?
With mixed emotions, as far as a field of more than 80 is concerned while reading for the start of the $50,000 Eve LPGA championship Thursday at Pleasant Valley Country Club.
Janie Blaylock, playing on a court-ordered "pass" while awaiting a hearing on her whooping suit, feels she's "really on the hot seat" but the LPGA seems to be handling the hot potato.
The LPGA, in a surprise move last week, suspended the 26-year-old former New England champion from Portsmouth, N.H. for alleged "unethical practices."
The pretty blonde countered with a walloping punch, filing the $5 million suit and winning a temporary federal court injunction Friday permitting her to play before home fans.
Miss Blaylock, the second-leading money winner on the tour this year, met up with her rivals during nine-hole practice sessions Monday and Tuesday.
"What was the reaction?"
"It hasn't been too bad, no rougher than I expected," Janie, a former school teacher, said after her second abbreviated tour of the Pleasant Valley course.
"Of course I have many good friends on the tour," she added. "Some of the girls have been very gracious under the circumstance. Others not so gracious."
Miss Blaylock was the chief attraction during the warmups. She was interviewed by a flock of sportswriters and radio and television sportscasters—several times almost within earshot of Cynthia Sullivan, president of the LPGA executive board which handed down the suspension.
Miss Sullivan, a tour veteran, virtually was ignored. She and other members of the LPGA have been directed by legal counsel not to discuss the case publicly. Miss Blaylock is under similar orders from her battery of lawyers.

"All I want to do is play," Janie said when a writer noted in jest that she could probably buy the LPGA tour for $5 million.
"The mental strain is as much as any I've ever encountered," she said. "There's a great deal of pressure, but I think I am calming down a little. As long as I can concentrate on the golf course, I'll be alright. Hopefully I'll be able to think only of golf."
Gurney, Grant Await Appeal
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Dan Gurney and Jerry Grant awaited word from the U.S. Auto Club today on their appeal of what in effect was a $72,000 fine for illegal refueling during the Indianapolis 500-mile race.
Car owner Gurney did not deny that Grant's pit crew violated race rules by pumping fuel from teammate Bobby Unser's pit tank into Grant's car. But he complained the penalty was too severe.
Grant finished second May 27 but was penalized 10 places after a protest was allowed.

Collegian Picked First By Dodgers In Draft

NEW YORK (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers stepped into the batter's box today to grab off the No. 1 pick in the second phase of baseball's free agent draft after the San Diego Padres gave unknown Dave Roberts his first push toward a major league career.
Roberts, a junior third baseman at the University of Oregon, was made the No. 1 pick in the regular phase as the draft began Tuesday, becoming only the second collegian in the 15-year history of the selection process to be tabbed a No. 1 choice.
The other collegian selected No. 1 was outfielder Rick Monday, drafted out of Arizona State by the Oakland A's in 1965 and now a regular with the Chicago Cubs.
Roberts offers impressive credentials in his bid for a major league berth, including a 410 batting average at Oregon and a homer and two singles in five at-bats in an exhibition game against the Philadelphia Phillies' Eugene, Ore., farm club.

Despite the fact he's a junior, he is ready to begin starting up the ladder.
The Padres announced Tuesday night that they had signed Roberts at his home in Corvallis, Ore. Terms of the contract were not announced.
The Padres said Roberts would be in a San Diego uniform for their two-night doubleheader at home against the Pittsburgh Pirates Wednesday.
Any players drafted in the regular phase who do not sign go back into the pool and can be drafted again the following year. It is players previously drafted who did not sign who will be up for grabs in today's secondary phase.

Two players who came out of last year's secondary phase are pitchers Pete Broberg of Texas and Burt Hooton of the Chicago Cubs, who earlier this season pitched a no-hitter.
The order of draft following Los Angeles was: Cleveland, New York Mets, Texas, San Diego, California, Houston, Kansas City, Cincinnati, Milwaukee, Atlanta, Detroit, Montreal, New York Yankees, Chicago Cubs, Chicago White Sox, Philadelphia, Minnesota, San Francisco, Boston, St. Louis, Baltimore, Pittsburgh and Oakland.
Larry Payne, a pitcher for Huntsville High School in Bedias, Tex., was the first Texan chosen Tuesday in the regular phase of the major league baseball free agent draft.
Payne was selected by Cincinnati.
Stephen Englishbey, a slugging outfielder from South Houston High School was chosen in the first round by the hometown Houston Astros of the National League.

U.S. Wins Pentathlon

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The U.S. team won its fifth gold medal since 1963 Tuesday in the world military modern pentathlon championships as Italy maintained its grip on second place for the silver medal. France edged out Germany for third.
Army Capt. Charles Richards of Tacoma, Wash., who turned in steady performances throughout the five-sport tournament, earned his third CISM gold medal.
Richards finished fifth in Tuesday's exhausting 2 1/2-mile run, teaming with Army Capt. Scott Taylor of Portland, Ore., to keep the United States far out in front in total points.
Taylor completed the run in a time of 12:59.8 for first place in that event. Close behind were Jean Pierre Guicicelli of Poitiers, France, in 13:43.9 for second place and Michel Gueguen of Fontainebleau, France, in 13:47.8 for third.
Taylor finished second in total tournament points, followed by Gueguen in third place overall.
While the U.S. team and Italy held first and second place as they entered Tuesday's final event, West Germany was in third but fell to fourth behind France in total team points after France's Guicicelli and Gueguen sailed through the run.
