

Area Patients Will Attend Camp Moody

Five muscular dystrophy patients from the area of the Greater Plains MD chapter will attend Camp Moody, near Amarillo, July 2-8.

Among them will be Buddy Harley of Pampa. The others include two patients from Clarendon, one from Gruver and one from Slinnett.

At camp they will participate in archery, swimming, fishing, cookouts, horseback riding, arts and crafts and other activities.

Each patient will be accompanied by two attendants. Attendants from Pampa will be Brenda Scott and Bill Sargent.

Mrs. Irvin Hungerford, chapter president, has announced more attendants are needed from the Pampa area. Anyone 15 years of age or older is eligible. This is a volunteer service, with the MD chapter paying the expenses of the attendants, she explained. Application can be made through Mrs. Hungerford.

Mrs. Hungerford announced the Shamrocks for Dystrophy Drive conducted by Pampa High School students netted $648.60 for the chapter.

Perryton To Observe 'Tech Day'

PERRYTON — Saturday will be a day to paint the town red and black as ex-students and friends of Texas Tech University gather here to observe "Texas Tech Day."

Scheduled activities for the special day will be compressed into a dinner meeting and reception for former Tech students and friends of the university from throughout the Perryton and Ochiltree County area.

According to Tony Gustwick, assistant director of the Texas Tech Ex-Students Association, the dinner meeting will begin at 7 p.m. at the Perryton Club.

Featured speaker for the occasion will be Dr. Monty E. Davenport, associate vice president assigned to the office of Tech Executive Vice President Glenn E. Barnett, where his efforts are concentrated toward internal administration as well as budget development and computer services.

Davenport formerly was assigned to the office of the vice president for research and special programs and before that served as assistant professor in Tech's Department of Mechanical Engineering.

Price of admission to the Texas Tech Day dinner is $5, and may be paid at the door. Door prizes will be awarded. Those persons wishing to make reservations should call Mrs. Jerry Wilson at 435-3993 in Perryton.

Teachers' Test Registration Set June 22

CANYON — Prospective teachers planning to take the National Teacher Examinations at West Texas State University July 15 have until June 22 to submit their registrations.

Information describing registration procedures and application forms may be obtained from the WTSU Testing and Counseling center.

Registration fee for both parts of the exams—common and teaching area—is $15. Fee for the common examinations only is $10 and for the teaching area only is $9. Registrations received after the June 22 deadline but before June 29 must include a $3 late fee.

Results of the National teacher Examinations are used by many large school districts in the selection of new teachers and by several states, including Texas, for certification of teachers, said Dr. Kenneth Waugh, director of the Testing and Counseling Center.

Pampan Gets TCJC Degree

Randall Duane Hogan of Pampa received an associate of applied science degree with high honors during spring commencement exercises at Tarrant County Junior College in Fort Worth.

A total of 485 persons received either two-year associate degrees or one-year certificates of completion during the exercises.

Air Force Brigadier General Daniel James, major general selectee and deputy assistant Secretary of Defense at Washington, D.C., gave the commencement address.

The Computer Makes A Point

Computers were once hailed as the jinnis that would deliver mankind from the drudgery of work, but the computer revolution that's been under way for some years now has prompted a few second thoughts. Try arguing with a computer about a bill, for example.

One of the worrisome aspects of computers is their tendency to order people around. We have an acquaintance who's a fierce defender of the freedom of the individual. We still remember the first time he got a bill on a punchcard.

"Who are they to tell me 'DO NOT FOLD MUTILATE OR SPINDLE'?" Henbane demanded. "Regimentation! Tyranny!"

We pointed out that, in common with most of us, he didn't own a spindle, so the computer wasn't restricting his liberties in this respect. And we remarked that he didn't seem the type who'd want to go around mutilating things.

"That still leaves folding," Henbane insisted. "This thing is telling me I can't even fold a piece of paper in the privacy of my own home? It's like having a bunch of prison guards standing around: 'Don't walk on the grass! Don't talk while you're in line! Don't fold that piece of paper!'"

The computers now seem to have caught on that few people own or use spindles, and that most of us aren't bent on mutilation. A punchcard in this week's mail bears a revised set of orders: "DO NOT STAPLE

FOLD OR PLACE NAME STICKERS ON THIS CARD.

Henbane is no doubt outraged, and is probably sitting at home in a fury of folding, stapling and putting name stickers on his bills. Our sympathies, we must confess, tend to lie with the computer.

On the scale of social elegance, name stickers stand somewhere above bow ties that light up in the dark and say "Oh, you kid." A matter of personal taste, of course. But aside from that, they're impractical.

Time savers? No — by the time you rummage around in a drawer and find your pad of stickers, tear one off, lick it and stick it, you could have handwritten your name and address twice.

You say never mind they're inelegant, they're cheaper than imprinted stationery? Not by a penny a letter, if you go to the right printer.

Consider, when you pay $2 or $3 for a batch of labels, that you must also buy some paper to write on, and envelopes to mail your letters in. Then price imprinted writing paper and envelopes at one of those small printing shops that do multilith or offset work.

The first hundred sheets and envelopes will cost a few dollars. After that you're paying for little but the cost of the paper. In quantities of 500 or 1,000 you should find your cost little more — possibly less, if you find the right printer — than writing paper and envelopes bought in small quantities, plus name stickers to adorn the envelopes... though "adorn" wasn't quite the word we were groping for. Maybe best of all, you won't earn the enmity of some computer, by absentmindedly sticking a sticker on a punchcard. And that's worth a lot, because having a computer mad at you is what Sherman said war is.

A GIFT OF ART

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — A $100,000 gift from Mrs. Marion Bassham of Colorado City, Tex., has established an art endowment fund at Austin College.

Dr. John D. Moseley, president of the college, said income from the fund will be used for operating expenses in the college art department.

The fund will be used to finance costs of visiting lecturers, travel expenses, purchase of pieces of art for a permanent collection, rental of art films and temporary exhibits.

KENTON WORKSHOP

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — The Stan Kenton Jazz Orchestra in Residence program will be presented at Drury College from June 11 through 17.

Students will participate in bands, sectionals for certain instruments and will be encouraged to take part in jazz/rock combos. Classes will be in stage band, jazz ensemble, jazz/rock ensemble, neophonic orchestra, improvisation, composition, arranging, instrumental techniques and jazz history and theory. There will be 40 faculty members, including Stan Kenton.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, June 8, the 160th day of 1972. There are 206 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 632, the prophet Mohammed died.

On this date: In 1861, Tennessee seceded from the Union.

In 1872, penny post cards were authorized by an act of Congress. In 1905, President Theodore Roosevelt offered to act as a mediator in the Russo-Japanese War.

In 1942, during World War II, Japanese submarines shelled Sydney, Australia.

In 1953, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that restaurants in the District of Columbia could not refuse to serve blacks.

In 1967, 34 U.S. seamen were killed when Israeli torpedo boats and planes attacked an American communications ship off the Sinai Peninsula. Israel said the attack was accidental.

Ten years ago: U.S. and Soviet space experts meeting in Geneva reported they had agreed on recommendations to their governments for cooperation in space research.

Five years ago: Egypt and Syria agreed to a United Nations cease-fire to end warfare between the two nations.

One year ago: The World Health Organization reported that cholera had spread along the border between India and East Pakistan and that thousands had died.

Today's birthdays: Former Democratic Sen. Ralph Yarborough of Texas is 69. Management consultant John Diebold is 46.

BATTIN' AROUND Human Institutions And Laws Of Nature

By C.R. BATTEN

"Scientists of the environment... recognize that there is a body of theory governing the operation of the biosphere—a theory based on the evolution of life and formulated in a series of fundamental laws—that applies to the activities of man as well as to the activities of nature. It is to these laws, they argue, that human institutions must attempt to adjust."

The writer of the words above has stumbled onto an idea that deserves a closer look. He has said that man, as well as all of nature, responds to certain natural laws, and that man must adjust his laws, customs, and society to comply with those natural laws.

Those words are to be found in one of a series of five booklets entitled MAN'S WORLD. They were published by the United Nations and the Conservation Foundation in preparation for the UN Conference on the Human Environment being held in Stockholm, Sweden, June 5 to June 16. The fundamental premise upon which the Conference is based is contrary to those natural laws of which the author of the booklet writes.

The Conference has been in the planning stages four years, so the 1,200 expected delegates and their environmental advisors from 120 countries around the world already have a full set of proposals and suggested international agreements or treaties.

Out of the Stockholm conference, we will almost certainly see: —a proposal to establish an Environmental Unit in the United Nations; —a proposal for a monitoring system to measure pollution levels throughout the world; —a proposal for a world inventory of natural resources; —a declaration pledging all countries to preserve the human habitat; —proposals for financial aid to developing nations to support their environmental control efforts; —a proposed World Heritage Foundation to preserve certain areas of natural, cultural or historical significance, and to be supported by "governments, industries, foundations and individuals."

It was the hope of former UN Secretary-General U Thant that the Conference might "bind peaceful cooperation and surmount, in the face of physical danger, the physical obstacles to man's unity."

But one writer in the series believes that in the endless race for economic superiority, "international cooperation is unlikely, and the environment, the track on which the race is run, is bound to deteriorate... Moreover," the writer continues, "the real goal—human well-being—is apt to be forgotten."

If the real goal is forgotten—it is because the economic race between nations is operated under man-made laws by political governments, each attempting to use coercion to improve its position, usually at the expense of others.

If the race were truly economic, rather than political, each exchange in the international market would be voluntary, and all would benefit. For human well-being, is the goal of every voluntary transaction—if a person did not believe he would improve his condition in one way or another, he would not make the exchange.

Perhaps the proposals before the UN Conference are sound and beneficial to man. But if the UN attempts to carry them out, they are bound to fail, for they will be attempted through an extension of man's present system of coercive law and governments.

Natural law rests upon voluntary individual action, with each individual recognizing the inherent rights of others. The natural system eliminates conflict by constantly adjusting to relieve stresses that may develop.

Man-made laws and governments rest upon force and coercion, thereby creating conflict. They force some individuals to take action they would not otherwise take, and believe to be against their best interests. No group of men can possibly know what is best for every person on earth. Any action it takes will be detrimental to some, and in their eyes, will have ignored the ultimate goal of human well-being.

The entire series on 'MAN'S HOME, along with the United Nations itself, rests on one basic assumption: that only government can solve all our problems. Isn't it time we examined this assumption more closely, and attempted to adjust our "human institutions" to the laws of nature?"

Paying The Piper

From the end of World War II until the late 1960s, business in America grew and prospered in a warmly supportive social and political environment.

In the 1950s and 1960s, business gave the country what it wanted—huge Gross National Product, a booming economy, full employment and, for the first time in history, affluence for the majority of the people.

Yet today, public confidence in business is at a record low, because the public is finally getting the bill, the full accounting. As Opinion Research Corp. reported on a nationwide survey last year:

“There is strong evidence... that the public is disenchanted with industry's performance on issues of ecology and expects companies to work harder on curbing the pollution of air, water and land.”

The poll was cited recently by C. Howard Hardesty Jr., executive president of Continental Oil Co. How, he asks, did it all happen?

His answer: That we acted as if we had unlimited supplies of cheap energy and would never have to pay the piper.

Back in the 1950s and 1960s, a smokestack and an industrial plant was a community's badge of honor. Gogetter towns and cities and Chambers of Commerce wooed new industry and expanded what they already had.

And nobody, says Hardesty, lost any sleep over the fact that competitive circumstances did not permit energy suppliers to price their products to provide for proper land reclamation and the elimination of air and water pollution.

Imagine, he says, the answer a salesman would have gotten 10 years ago if he had said, “Yes, we can deliver coal for $3.75 a ton, or crude oil for $1.75 a barrel, but we'll have to build in another 50 cents for pollution devices, a dollar for health and safety research and another 50 cents to eliminate sulfur.”

He would have been told to shut his mines or plug his well, suggests Hardesty. “To have dreamed of today's social and environmental requirements might have indicated wisdom, but it was also a fast track to bankruptcy.”

In reality, he charges, the American people were buying affluence on margin, and their brokers failed to warn them that cheap energy has hidden costs, like polluted air, polluted water and ruptured and abandoned landscapes.

A lot of people, not excluding energy suppliers themselves, share responsibility for this, says Hardesty. Even today, the public still wants energy—

—In sufficient supply

—Without environmental damage

—Without threat to health and safety

—Without peril from radiation

—Without offshore drilling

—Without surface mining —And it still wants it cheap.

All these desires are understandable, says Hardesty, but we can't have them all, not in the same world.

One thing we must have, he urges, is a national energy policy which not only comes to grips with but provides the means of resolving the crucial issues.

Prosperity Foundation

I am the foundation of all prosperity. I am the fount from which all blessings flow. Everything that is of value in the world springs from me. I am the salt that gives life its savor.

I am the sole support of the poor, and the rich who think they can do without me live futile lives and fill premature graves.

I am the friend of every worthy youth. If he makes my acquaintance when he is young, and keeps me by his side throughout life, I can do more for him than the richest parent.

Lawmakers Give Nixon More Ammo

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Nixon's budget message brings into the open an administration-congressional fight festering here for years: It concerns influence of special interest groups on Congress, the waste this Congressional-special-interests complex produces, and the resulting higher taxes, inflation and slowdown in vital national priority programs.

Says Mr. Nixon: “Government expenses increase each year because special interest groups, representing only those who stand to benefit from their programs, persuade decision-makers that more resources are needed for those programs without regard to the effect on the total budget. The cost is multiplied by geometric progression when this tactic is repeated for literally hundreds of programs.”

This is strong stuff. The President's advisers believe this route is necessary if Mr. Nixon is to get any significant part of his programs through. And if he is to keep Congress in this election year from voting a slew of expensive vote-getting programs that throw his already heavily unbalanced budget into a tailspin that would bring more inflation.

But anyone with experience in politics will recognize that this strong dramatizing of a Congress and special-interest lobbies tieup and its effects on taxes, unemployment, and inequity for ordinary folk is good political material for running for re-election in November.

The political value is especially high since it is almost certain Mr. Nixon's November opponent will be from the Senate. The more Mr. Nixon can tie his opponent, even indirectly, with special interest groups, the more votes the President should win. He thereby discredits his vociferous congressional attackers and defends his own programs. Note then these additional words:

“The administration will vigorously oppose irresponsible, short-sighted spending proposals that would commit large sums of federal money to schemes that are politically attractive but endanger an inflation-free prosperity.”

“There will be those who contend that in this budget favorite programs are not financed, or are not financed as they want them to be.

“They will be absolutely right.”

In this attack, Mr. Nixon is on sure grounds. For so long as man can remember, many congressional bills have been written to insure some of the funds will go to or be used in a way special interest groups desire.

Each senator and representative must look out for the votes he needs to get himself re-elected. Groups with pressure power get a hearing. Contrary to public opinion, these are not always the rich or economically powerful industrial alliances. They may be unions, associations of professional men, such as doctors or lawyers, or non-profit associations of private individuals working for causes they believe to be worthy.

Star Spangled Banner 'Out' At University

At Northern Illinois University, “The Star Spangled Banner” is to be played no more.

The University president banned the American National Anthem, saying to play it might cause trouble.

During a football game, a small group of militants—out of a student body of 23,000—raised clenched fists when the anthem was played. The university president said they objected to the anthem. He said this caused tensions and that to prevent future tensions and possible trouble, he was banning the National Anthem from the campus.

The university president, of course, had more than one possible course of action. He could have decided, for example, to expel any student who broke a university rule by starting trouble on campus.

Maybe he ought to listen to the words of “The Star Spangled Banner.” The first stanza ends, “Oh say does that star spangled banner yet wave o'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?”—Indianapolis Star

Terrorists Are Being Trained In Cuban Camps

By PAUL HARVEY

Castro is seeing the world and vice versa.

Dictators don't stray from home base unless they feel very secure. This is the second time in six months he has made a lengthy trip abroad.

And everywhere he pledges himself anew to “world revolution.”

If you are now accepting the presence of a Communist dictatorship 90 miles from Florida—imagine it to be a live-and-let-live relationship—here's a surprise for you.

Castro is now bombing American cities. Now.

The tutors of our home-front terrorists were trained in Cuba.

Now don't jump to the conclusion that every protester is a Communist. Nor is all our domestic discord traceable to or blamable on Communists.

If every Communist in the world dropped dead tonight, tomorrow morning we'd still have a devalued dollar, misuse of drugs, race reneuvance, rampant crime, undrinkable water and unbreathable air—and many too many lazy Americans.

But Communists always gravitate toward any sore spot and sprinkle salt on it. They want to convert the world to their godless religion—with altogether as much evangelical fervor as our missionaries have tried in efforts to convert them.

But with a godless religion, unrestrained by moral disciplines, anything goes; no holds barred; anybody is expendable for the cause of communism.

So while Castro is galavating around seeking personal recognition as a world leader—giving his “ism” a degree of diplomatic respectability—back in Cuba 43 separate camps are training troublemakers.

Presently, at those schools for subversion and sabotage, 10,000 terrorists are in training. They are from Asia, Africa, the Middle East—and the Americas. Palestinian guerrillas who skyjacked those international

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The tomato is technically a fruit but because of its uses it is considered a vegetable. About three-quarters of the U.S. tomato crop is processed into juice, canned tomatoes, catsup, soups and pastes. The World Almanac notes, Tomatoes were commonly believed poisonous by American colonists until the early 1800s.

Your Health

By Dr. Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

You May Vary

Your Intake

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I am a vegetarian and don't eat meat. Does the American Heart Assn's recommendation of limiting your intake of egg yolks to three a week apply to me in this case? I enjoy eggs so much and although I try not to eat two a day, I usually have one, but skip some days, though I prefer not to.

Dear Reader—The recommendation of the American Heart Assn. concerning egg yolks is within context of the total diet plan which they recommend. The biggest reason that egg yolks have content of cholesterol, although they also contain fat.

Most animal products contain some cholesterol. This includes meat, fish, chicken and dairy products, although they contain much less than egg yolks and brains. Vegetables, fruits, cereals (the plant kingdom) do not. A vegetarian who is not eating any other animal products could eat more egg yolks and still not exceed the limit recommended by the American Heart Assn.

A year ago the Inter-Society Commission on Heart Disease suggested that the total daily cholesterol intake should be limited to 300 milligrams, which is a little bit more than the amount of cholesterol in one egg yolk. A vegetarian using no other animal products could use one egg a day and still not exceed the recommended allowance for cholesterol intake.

Of course, there is no limitation on the amount of egg whites that can be used. If you use an egg yolk a day and wish to stay within the recommended cholesterol limit, however, you must also be careful about using an excess amount of cheese, particularly cured and processed cheese, and moderately limit even fortified skim milk and uncreamed cottage cheese, or butter-milk.

The reason there is so much confusion about cholesterol is that the body normally produces it, just like the body manufactures blood sugar from various food elements including fats and proteins. Cholesterol is a normal substance in the body, but it has a normal or optimal level, just as does the blood sugar. If your blood sugar is too high you may have diabetes. If it is too low you are in trouble. If your cholesterol is too high you increase the likelihood of heart attacks, strokes and senility. The body manufactures cholesterol in the liver and it produces much more cholesterol than is needed in some individuals who are eating excess numbers of calories and particularly excess amounts of saturated fat.

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Lamb cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Hold McGovern's Views on Democracy Suspect

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — In all the stormy fanfare of clashing and hawking with and over Sen. McGovern, no has yet said a word about the uppermost overriding issue involving him—the extent and degree of the South Dakota leftist's commitment to democracy.

There are the gravest doubts about that—despite the pall of silence enveloping this crucially basic matter.

Rival candidates, Democratic leaders throughout the country, Congressional colleagues are talking freely about this in private. But they go to great lengths to maintain public silence because of fear of being accused of “McCarthyism”—a scare outcry that McGovern and his crew of press agents and hatchmen are aching to become screechingly hysterical about.

But behind the shroud of public reticence, serious questions are being worriedly asked about McGovern's underlying views and beliefs regarding democracy. And what answers are being brought to light are adding further fuel to these intensifying misgivings.

Somberly concludes a study of these disquieting findings that is going the rounds in Democratic and labor quarters:

“Individuals who are concerned with the welfare of democracy in America and throughout the world find Sen. McGovern insufficiently sensitive to the threat posed to democratic values and institutions by some forces on the left. He is quick to condemn America and the so-called free world for any wrongdoing, yet he excuses—and sometimes even shows sympathy for—Communist violations of human rights. He accuses the establishment center of any number of sins, yet he is capable of great magnanimity towards extremists on the left.”

His Own Words

Cited as telling evidence of this is what McGovern thinks about Communism (which he nonchalantly characterizes as merely another economic system), about Russian imperialism, and peace in Vietnam—opinions expressed in a lengthy interview published by a national magazine last July, when he was already busily campaigning for President.

McGOVERN ON COMMUNISM: “Speaking for myself, I think Communism is another economic system that doesn't happen to fit my view of how society ought to be organized, but I am willing to live in a world of diversity and I think we can get along with the Communists.”

In caustic rejoinder, the study asks: “When Sen. McGovern, have people ever freely chosen to be organized under a Communist party ever come to power through free elections, and when has a Communist party ever submitted itself to the test of free elections?”

McGOVERN ON SOVIET IMPERIALISM: “The Soviets are interested in a security zone to protect them from another invasion from the West, from reviving German militarism, and they see American policy in Western Europe as reviving German power and building a nuclear cordon around them.”

Again the study acidly inquires: “Sen. McGovern, you have described American involvement in Vietnam as “criminal” and immoral. If you are so concerned about morality, why do you find it so easy to justify Russian imperialism in Eastern Europe after World War II? If America were to deny the countries of Latin America freedom and independence, would you justify that as a matter of national security?”

McGOVERN ON PEACE IN VIETNAM: Asked by the interviewer, “Do you sympathize with the aspirations of the Vietcong and their North Vietnamese allies?” the South Dakotan replied, “In that they are striving for national independence, yes.”

Indignantly demands the study: “Sen. McGovern, do you think that the majority of the South Vietnamese, Cambodians and Laotians also sympathize with the Vietcong and North Vietnamese fight for national independence? Are these countries victims of North Vietnamese imperialism, or are they not? In the light of your sympathy for one side of the Vietnam conflict (Communist) how can you call yourself a dove?”

More McGovern Talk

Whatever else McGovern is, he has not been reticent in expounding his leftist views.

And they are emphatically leftist. He himself is the authority for that.

Declared McGovern in a mass mailing letter last year soliciting funds for his campaign: “Quite frankly, I am not a ‘centrist’ candidate.”

As he definitely is not a rightist, he patently is a leftist!

BYING — A leading issue on which McGovern has weasled, bobbled, trimmed and gyrated like a spinning top—In Philadelphia, in November 1971, he characterized busing to achieve racial integration as “an artificial attempt to come to grips with school segregation.” Two months later, a Washington newspaper quoted him as saying in answer to a question on whether he supports busing for integration, “Yes, I do. I think it's essential.”

L. A. W. A. N. D. ORDER—McGovern rarely says anything about this uppermost urban problem. When he does say anything, it is primarily about what should not be done in the way of crime fighting, or how to get rid of conditions conducive to crime. But on one matter he is stridently vocal. He vehemently disliked and disapproved of the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, assailing him as a “menace to personal citizens” and “a chief obstacle to law enforcement.”

Addendum: Since last October, McGovern hasn't spent five consecutive days in Washington. During all this time, he has drawn $42,500 salary as a member of Congress, plus several hundred thousand more for clerical hire, traveling expenses and numerous other perquisites and privileges. One official casualty of his electioneering is an investigation he announced would be made by the Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs, which he heads.

An impressive list of witnesses was announced, of medical and other specialists, but these grandiose widely publicized plans all went up in smoke while McGovern clattered around the country electioneering for votes.

House Committee Will Now Subpoena Sinatra

WASHINGTON (AP) — After being snubbed on its "invitation" to Frank Sinatra, a congressional committee will now subpoena the show business figure to tell what he knows about organized crime in sports.

Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., chairman of the House Select Committee on Crime, said Sinatra had agreed originally to appear Wednesday for testimony on his role as one-time vice president of Berkshire Downs race track in Hancock, Mass.

Pepper said Sinatra will now be subpoenaed. Committee sources said the singer-actor would be called to testify on July 18. Sinatra was reported at races in England on Wednesday.

The committee may not have had Sinatra, but it had two vocal witnesses on opposite sides of the track on the subject of legalized gambling.

"People today do not view gambling as a matter of moral concern but primarily as a source of entertainment," said Howard "Howie the Horse" Samuels, head of New York City's Off-Track Betting Corp. To back it up, Samuels reported first-year profits of $15 million, of which 80 per cent went to the city and 20 per cent to state government.

"If government is truly serious about combating organized crime, we must begin to compete," he declared, adding that a survey done for OTB showed that its legal betting shops had reduced the number of bets placed with illegal bookmakers.

The man on the other side of the issue, Dist. Atty. William Cahn of Long Island's Nassau County, couldn't have disagreed more.

Legalized gambling, he said, would have no major effect on organized crime, but it would have an effect on organized sports.

"Professional and collegiate sports are a way of life in this country," Cahn maintained. "Everything must be done to prevent the corrupting influence of crime to destroy it. Legalizing the most corruptive of all influences is not the answer."

Bob Lesslie First In Secondary Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Lesslie, the No. 1 pick in the secondary phase of the major league baseball draft, is headed for a possible future with the Los Angeles Dodgers carrying two monkeys on his back—Pete Broberg and Burt Hooton.

Broberg, a Dartmouth product, and Hooton, out of the University of Texas, were the 1-2 picks last year in the secondary phase, and by the end of the season were pitching in the majors with Washington Nationals Texas, and the Chicago Cubs.

Undoubtedly the same will be expected of Lesslie, a 6-foot-3, 210-pound fireballing right-hander out of Kansas State University who is headed for Spokane, Wash. of the Northwest League. Whether Lesslie has the same kind of potential as Broberg and Hooton remains questionable.

It's Lesslie's hard throwing that called him to the Dodgers' attention, much more than the 6-3 record he compiled for Kansas State last season. Indications are that Lesslie who is a converted third baseman, needs schooling.

In all, 58 players were selected in the secondary phase in which players previously drafted who did not sign were re-drafted. The secondary phase was completed Wednesday, after the 24 clubs began the regular phase by taking 791 players.

The No. 2 pick was an infielder, Rich Dauer of San Bernardino, Calif., Junior College, who was taken by Cleveland. The New York Mets and Texas then went for pitchers, Michael McNeilly of Longview, Wash., and Ron Bell of Fullerton, Calif., Junior College, respectively.

Baseball Roundup

AMERICAN LEAGUE
Manager Earl Weaver thinks some of his Baltimore Orioles may be over the hill. But the players would like to think they're over the hump.

"The Over-the-Hill Gang is coming back," yelled Paul Blair after the Orioles snapped a five-game losing streak Wednesday night with a convincing 11-2 drubbing of Minnesota.

Coupled with Detroit's 5-1 loss to California, the victory left the Orioles only three games behind the Tigers in the American League despite a 22-22 record.

Elsewhere, Oakland trounced Cleveland 10-4, the Chicago White Sox nipped Boston 2-1, the New York Yankees defeated Texas 7-5 and Kansas City edged Milwaukee 5-4.

Weaver made his "over the hill" crack following Tuesday night's fifth consecutive setback and the Orioles wasted little time in reacting. Bobby Grich, one of three youngsters in the line-up, socked a three-run homer off Minnesota's Jim Perry in the first inning and Pat Dobson scattered 10 hits to even his record at 6-6.

Among the veterans, Dave Johnson drove in two runs while Boog Powell and Brooks Robinson each delivered two hits. The explosion rekindled dreams of a fourth straight pennant.

The Tigers, meanwhile, were held to three hits by California's fireballing Nolan Ryan. The Angels jumped on Joe Niekro for four runs in the fifth inning on singles by Ken McMullen, Leroy Stanton and John Stephenson, a double by Leo Cardenas and Sandy Alomar's two-run single off reliever Chuck Seelbach.

Home runs by Joe Rudi and Mike Epstein in the first inning started the A's on their way to victory as Ken Holtzman, although touched for 14 hits, joined Cleveland's Gaylord Perry and Detroit's Mickey Lolich as the only nine-game winners in the majors.

The A's have a five-game lead in the AL West over Minnesota and Chicago. The White Sox kept pace by edging Boston behind the pitching of Stan Bahnsen and Rich Gossage.

The Yankees pounded Texas' Jim Shellenback and Bill Gogolewski for six runs in the third inning on consecutive singles by Steve Kline, Horace Clarke, Rusty Torres, Bobby Murcer, Roy White and Felipe Alou and Thurman Munson's sacrifice fly, and then held off the Rangers.

Kansas City came from behind twice to nip Milwaukee, the last time on Amos Otis' two-run double in the eighth following Lou Piniella's single, Ed Kirkpatrick's double and an intentional pass to Cookie Rojas.

Milwaukee had taken a 4-3 lead in the top of the eighth on George Scott's double and a single by Ellie Rodriguez. The Brewers got off to a 3-0 lead as Dave May drove in two runs with a double and triple and Johnny Briggs homered. The Royals got two in the sixth on Steve Hovley's run-producing triple and a wild pitch and tied it in the seventh on Richie Scheinblum's pinch single.

National League

"I like to see those men on base when I get up to bat," Tony Perez said. There weren't any there when he was finished.

For a change, Cincinnati's Johnny Bench wasn't hitting. But it wasn't his fault. The New York Mets were pitching around him. But that only brought up Perez. And the Reds' first baseman didn't mind a bit.

He drove in four runs Wednesday night, three of them in the first inning with a strategy-wrecking double, that powered Cincinnati's newest version of the Big Red Machine to a 6-3 victory over the fading Mets.

In the rest of the National League, Pittsburgh bombed San Diego 12-5, then squeezed out a 1-0 victory for a sweep in the 18-inning nightcap. Philadelphia beat Houston 3-1, Montreal defeated Atlanta 5-2, the Chicago Cubs shipped Los Angeles 5-1 and St. Louis silenced San Francisco 6-0.

The Pirates had little trouble with the Padres in the opener of their twinbill. Willie Stargell drove in five runs with his 12th and 13th homers to lead a 20-hit assault on five San Diego hurlers.

Dave Cash also homered for the Bucs while Nate Colbert and pinch-hitter Jerry Morales put it over the wall for the Padres.

But the second game was a study in contrast. Pittsburgh starter Dock Ellis departed after nine scoreless innings of no runs.

The Bucs won it—and moved within 2½ games of the Mets in the National League East—in the 18th inning on infield hits by Al Oliver and Stargell, a double stand, an intentional walk and Mike Corkins' unintentional bases-loaded walk to Gene Alley.

The Phils finally won a game—only their second in 21—to snap a nine-game tailspin. "God, what a difference winning makes!" said overjoyed Manager Frank Lucchesi.

Mike Jorgensen drove in three runs with a bases-loaded triple in the third inning to power Montreal past Atlanta. Burt Hooton of the Cubs gave up 13 hits—but all of them were singles. And only one of them, Frank Robinson's, resulted in a run for the Dodgers.

The only two hits Chicago needed were Carmen Fanzone's three-run homer and Billy Williams' two-run shot.

SHAVING STROKES

by Frank Beard

46—Putting Is All Thumbs

The biggest error in putting is letting the wrists break too much.

They have to break some, but you don't want to let your right hand flip over your left.

If your stroke is too wristy, try turning your thumbs out away from the putter. Turn the left thumb out first, then the right one too if that doesn't solve the problem.

Art Wall is the prime example of a man who prevents excess wristiness in his putting by turning his thumbs out.

PH&T Registration Ends This Saturday

Only two days remain for boys in this area to register for the Official Major League Baseball Pitch, Hit and Throw Competition (PH&T).

Local contests will be held at Optimist Park on June 10 at 1:30. Winners will advance through district and division contests until eight boys win the right to compete for four national championships at the All-Star Game in Atlanta on July 25.

The competition, open to all boys aged 9 through 12, is a nationwide youth program sponsored by Major League Baseball and Phillips Petroleum Company.

Registration began on April 15 and ends on June 10. Buel Froggee of the Optimist Club reported that more than 100 boys in the Pampa area have signed up so far for the competition.

Gamblin, Haynes Sign With Panhandle State

Marsh Gamblin and Gary Haynes, the starting guards for the Pampa High School Harvesters, will attend Panhandle State College and play basketball. This duo helped guide the Harvesters to the district championship in 70-71 and to the runner-up spot in 1971-72.

This year's squad won both the Midwestern Tournament and the Top of Texas Tournament. Both young men are members of the National Honor Society and both served their school as members of student council.

Haynes, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walden Haynes, is 6-0, 135 pounds, and was the leading field goal percentage shooter in District 3-AAAA. He hit 56 per cent of all field shots. He was also given the "Hustling Harvester" award as a senior. This annual award given by the Pampa High School coaching staff goes to the outstanding basketball player.

One of the previous "Hustling Harvester" winners was Randy Matson, the world record holder in the shotput and former college basketball player.

Haynes graduated with honors from the 367 member graduating class.

Pampa head coach Robert McPherson, commenting about Haynes, said, "Gary has been our playmaker for the past two seasons—He is our best defensive guard and always drew the tough opposition. He is a fierce competitor and a hard worker." McPherson went on to say, "Gary is a 100 percent and I know he'll do a good job for coach Jack Begley and Panhandle State College."

Gamblin was the team's leading free-throw shooter as a junior, downing 80.5 per cent of his charity tosses. Gamblin is 6-0, 155 pounds, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Gamblin.

McPherson said, "Marsh is one of the most fundamentally sound guards I've had the privilege of coaching. We use him as our number two guard—that's our shooting guard on our triple post offense. He is a good outside shot and can dribble left or right with the ball."

Gamblin averaged 9 points per game with the Harvesters. Coach McPherson also said, "Marsh loves the game. He'll be there when the doors open."

Both Gamblin and Haynes were regulars with the Harvester baseball team. Haynes played third base and pitcher and was named to the second team All-District. Gamblin played second base and centerfield and was among the top twenty hitters in District 3-AAAA as a senior.

Jack Begley, Panhandle State College head basketball coach and athletic director, in making the announcement said, "I'm very pleased to have the starting guards from the fine Pampa team to play at PSC next year. They were both leaders on an outstanding team. Their fundamental background from a great high school program makes them excellent prospects."

Begley went on to say, "Both are excellent ball handlers and shooters and both young men are excellent students and fine citizens. They will be assets to our basketball program and to Panhandle State College."

Lee Plays Before Open

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Lee Trevino, Gary Player and Tom Weiskopf would rather play than practice the week before the U.S. Open golf championship.

That's why they are here this week for the $150,000 IVB Philadelphia Golf Classic at Whitemarsh Valley Country Club. Weiskopf is the defending champion.

While Jack Nicklaus is spending the week practicing at the Pebble Beach Golf Links in California, site of next week's Open, Trevino, Player and Weiskopf joined 141 other golfers today in the first round of the 72-hole test over Whitemarsh's 6,708-yard, par 36-36-72 layout in suburban Philadelphia.

What's the best way to prepare for the Open?

"Don't drink the week before," said Trevino, who won the Open last year in an 18-hole playoff with Nicklaus at the Merion Golf Club in Pennsylvania.

Trevino then turned serious and said, "One way to get ready is to play competitive. You can play too many practice rounds, get stale, tired of the course."

Trevino also observed that the Whitemarsh course is similar to Pebble Beach.

"This is a driving golf course, with narrow fairways, high rough and the greens are smaller than those of Pebble Beach," Trevino noted. "And if you do well here, it gives you a big, big boost going into the Open."

Player agreed with Trevino that Whitemarsh is a lot like Pebble Beach and should be an excellent warmup for the Open.

Weiskopf, who finished 11th last week trying to defend the Kemper Open Title at Charlotte, N.C., won the $30,000 first prize here last year with a 14-under-par 274, one stroke better than Dave Hill.

Carnevale Repeats

BETHPAGE, N.Y. (AP) — New York University Athletic Director Ben Carnevale of Norwood, N.J., today shot a 79 on the Bethpage yellow course to repeat as low gross golf champion of the Metropolitan Intercollegiate Basketball Association.

Colonel Bob Doherty, a member of Manhattan College's board of trustees, was closest to the pin on the 150-yard seventh hole. His shot came to rest six inches from the hole.

Cash Goes Long Way From The Cotton Fields

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — There was once a time when Norman Dalton Cash looked forward to the sun setting. It meant day was done.

He worked on his father's farm in Justiceburg, Tex., from the time the sun rose above the cotton fields until dark. Hard work, long hours, little pay.

It was profitable, though, in that young Norm Cash built himself a sturdy body, one that would allow him to hit baseballs long distances; that powerful talent took him far—far from the cotton farm.

Now (at the risk of straining a metaphor) the sun is setting again for Norm Cash. He is 37 years old and knows that each season may be his last.

Yet, at an age when most ball players are ex-ball players and are out collecting kindling for the fireplace, he remains at or near the top of his game, a tribute, in part, to the back muscles he developed as a farm boy.

The Detroit Tiger first baseman is again one of the leading hitters in the American League, and one of the leading home run hitters.

He continues to be a pleasant surprise, as he has for most of his 15-year big-league career.

Twice he has been named Comeback Player of the Year, making him the only man to have received such a dubious, double honor.

Honor, in that he refused to be washed up. Dubious in that he had to fall to a level in which up was so high.

He won the first Comeback award in 1965, after having hit .257 and 23 homers the previous season. That wasn't so bad in itself, but in the first half of the '65 season it appeared he was through; his batting average was around .200 and he had only seven homers. He wound up that season at .265 and 30 homers.

In 1971, the moon-faced first-baseman won the Comeback award again. Nineteen seventy was so lackluster (.259 and 15 homers) that Cash fretted all that winter. He was 35 years old, and wondered if there was anything left in his bat. He returned last season to finish second in the league in homers, with 32, and was picked as the starting first baseman on the AL all-star team.

Proof of his staying power, moreover, was a look at the statistics book. For it was a full decade before that Cash had his best season, leading the league with a .361 average, hitting 41 homers and driving in 132 runs.

"Looking back now," he says, "I couldn't have picked a happier life. I could hardly have been more successful at doing anything else."

He was a football player at Sul Ross State College and had been drafted by the Chicago Bears. "If I had gone into football," he says, "I'd have been gone by now—or broke up, one."

Or he could have become a high school coach, since his college major was physical education. "But I wouldn't have liked it," he says. "I couldn't handle the younger generation — what with their protests and burning of buildings. And the stuff about the Vietnam War. It was brought up that if your country is at war, you oughta fight in it. But I don't know much about it, maybe there are things I don't understand."

Cash is trying to prepare for his future after baseball. He has cut a country-and-western tape and says that he might have a singing future despite a mediocre voice. "I can sing loud and quick," he says.

He is also experimenting with doing television work, and has a sports interview pilot in the works in Detroit.

Most important, he has no thoughts of returning to the farm his father still works. Too far away, too long ago.

Whitworth Is Favored

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth returned to the scene of some of her greatest triumphs today in the usual role of favorite in a field of 82 golfers in the $50,000 Eve LPGA championship.

In her last six visits to the Pleasant Valley Country Club, the tall Texan has won four times, including the LPGA title in 1967 and '71.

In her two losses, she bowed to Sandra Post Elliott in 1968, and to Shirley Phegley in 1970, both in playoffs for the LPGA crown.

"When I get here I just feel I'm going to play well, and that's why I probably have such a good track record," Miss Whitworth said Wednesday after shooting "one or two over" par in a pro-am tuneup.

The all-time top money winner in women's golf, Miss Whitworth checked in with her annual comments on her game. If history repeats, she is almost a sure bet to conquer par-73 on the 6,130-yard layout.

"I've been hitting the ball good, but I've had trouble concentrating all the time."

What X, R Ratings Mean

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—What Dr. Aaron Stern, the new code administrator of the Motion Picture Association, would like you to understand is that he and his fellow movie-raters are not censors.

Dr. Aaron Stern
Movie ratings do not attempt to tell anything about a film's quality.

"We make no judgments about esthetics, ethics or morality," Stern said in an exclusive interview here. "We don't make value judgments—that's censorship."

The movie ratings do not, therefore, attempt to tell you anything about a film's quality—they are merely guides to the amount and type of sex and violence in the film.

Stern, who assumed his position last July, has come to believe that the public really has no understanding of the ratings and what they mean. And he'd like to correct some of what he thinks are the public misconceptions of the rating board's function.

"We're not experts trying to tell parents which pictures their children should and should not see," he says. "The key to the rating system is that the choice must be the province of the parents. We don't want to intrude into the parental province."

All the ratings can do is give a quantitative measurement of how much sex and violence the movie contains. So much of either and the film becomes PG; so much more and it's an R; and so on.

"It is conceivable," Stern says, "that a G-picture might be more provocative to kids than some R-pictures. Take 'Peter Pan,' for example. It's all about kids without parents, a man with a hook for his hand, somebody being eaten by crocodiles."

"But it would be a G-picture. It might frighten children, but we can't do anything about it. We have our guidelines."

And the guidelines are clear. In the sphere of violence, for example, if the violence is limited it is a G-picture. By limited, Stern explains, "concepts of war and police action can be expressed but little actual violence can be shown."

For a picture to be considered PG regarding violence, some violence can be shown, but brutality and sadism is limited. To qualify for from harassment."

He is equally protective of certain facets of the R-category. There has been pressure on him to rate certain films R which include "hard-core" footage R rather than X.

"If the R-category," he says, "is invaded by hard-core films the credibility of the R-rating would break down. By hard core I mean scenes of literal intercourse, genuine brutality and sadism. We have to protect R from that."

He cites the case of "A Clockwork Orange" as an example. Even though it is a quality film it was rated X and he thinks the rating was justifiable. It had sexual scenes, speeded up, and he believes if the board had given it an R-rating, pornographic filmmakers would have used the same trick and demanded the same rating.

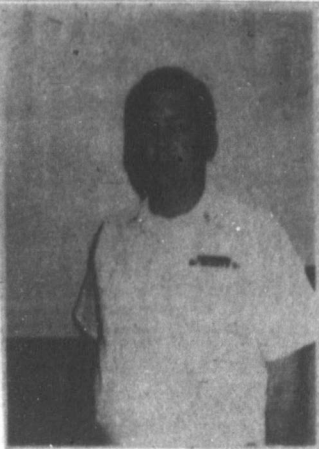

"It was a quality picture," he says, "and kids have been cheated out of the opportunity of seeing it, but that was the creator's choice. If you take a quality picture and give it an X you're making a judgment. If you have definitive criteria it must apply to all equally."

Stern says that the movie industry, more and more, is supporting the rating system. He hints that there may be some changes in it but believes that essentially it will remain the same.

The one area where he'd like to see improvement is in the public understanding of the Rating Board's role.

"We cannot rate the ethics or morality or sex and violence," he says, "only the expression of sex and violence. That would make us censors, like the English. We are not censors and don't want to be."

Naval Recruiter Reports For Duty

Ivan J. Richards, Machinist's Mate Chief, USN, has reported for duty as a naval recruiter for the Pampa Navy recruiting area.

Richards, from Vancouver, Wash., joins Navymen J.M. David and D.J. Stanley at the Pampa Navy Recruiting Station.

A 17-year Navy veteran, Richards enlisted in the Navy in 1955, taking recruit training at Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif. He has had numerous duty stations since, including the USS Ozburn (DD-846), USS Dixie (AD-14), USS Niagara Falls (AFS-3), USS Jason (AR-8) and USS Hall (DD-945).

He is married to the former Selma A. Murphy of San Diego. They have three children, Barry, 13, Molly, 12, and Patt, 2. Richards' service decorations include the Navy Achievement Medal, Vietnam Service Medal, Vietnam Campaign Medal and National Defense Service Medal.

DONALD W. GRAHAM
FT. ORD, Calif. (AHTNC)—Army Pvt. Donald W. Graham, 18, son of Mrs. Janell Robinson, 2101 Hamilton, Pampa, is assigned to Ft. Ord, Calif., where he is training under the Modern Volunteer Army field experiment.

The new concept, called VOLAR, combines basic and advanced individual training into a single 16-week program. Decentralized instruction at the unit level and a reduction of formations and inspections gives the soldier more time to train and increased off-duty time.

Fewer restrictions on off-duty travel and improved living facilities are other benefits of the VOLAR concept.

Pvt. Graham began his training with Company A, 5th Battalion, 1st Brigade on May 17 and is scheduled to complete the first phase July 14.

The private's father, Buck Graham, lives at 420 Union, Barger.

RICKY G. BOCKMAN
U.S. Army, Germany (AHTNC)—Army Pvt. Ricky G. Bockman, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. M.E. Bockman, 421 N. Nelson, Pampa, recently was assigned to the 59th Air Defense Artillery in Germany.

Pvt. Bockman is assigned to Headquarters Battery of the Artillery's 2nd Battalion. He entered the Army in November, 1971, completed basic training at Ft. Polk, La., and was last stationed at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

HEARTY NASA EATERS
NEW YORK (AP)—While it took many technicians, computers and complex communication equipment to get the Apollo 16 astronauts to the moon and back, it also took a lot of eating and drinking.

Servomation Corp., that serves the NASA Manned Spaceflight Center, says NASA personnel consumed some 87,000 sandwiches, 123,000 candy bars and gum, 18,800 hot meals, 96,900 cups of coffee, 136,000 soft drinks and 48,000 packs of cigarettes during the 12-day mission.

GOOD BYE MULE
MILLERSVILLE, Md. (AP)—Among the unsolved cases at the local police station is the theft of Elwood Diggs' mule.

Diggs said two men asked his father if they could borrow the 900-pound animal.

The elder Diggs, near-blind at 92, said he couldn't describe the thieves but that they drove off with the mule in a red truck.

Jesus' Ministry
Scholars believe Jesus' public ministry lasted for about 2½ or 3½ years. The length is determined by the number of Passovers that He celebrated.

TO REVIVE DANCES
NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—The Connecticut College American Dance Festival, in its 25th year, will open on June 30 with a weekend of performances by a repertory company. This company was formed to revive some of the most important works in American dance. Some have not been performed in more than 20 years. The festival believes that this is the first attempt to create a modern dance company that will perform only the greatest works by the greatest choreographers.

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE, PH.D., M.D.

CASE U-504: Buddy Hayden was the dynamic young publisher of the newspapers at Athens, Georgia.

After my recent lecture there at the University of Georgia School of Journalism, Buddy invited me to see the many innovations at the newspaper plant.

For linotype machines have been replaced by computerized equipment.

"Dr. Crane," Buddy explained, "see this minor error in the middle of that page where 'he' has been spelled 'ite.'"

"Well, we'll make the correction and designate the line where the mistake occurred."

"Then we'll insert into the machine this little strip of paper tape (about an inch wide) and notice what happens!"

While I looked on, the narrow strip of paper was sucked into the slot and the machine corrected the spelling, re-spaced the line and out came the page in correct form.

"Buddy," I marvelled, "it is almost frightening to observe how that new printing machine can act like a human being!"

He nodded with a smile.

"Yes," he added, "for it will correct wrongly spelled words; insert terms that have been accidentally omitted; then space the line and turn out a perfect page."

But Buddy has matched such mechanical improvements with some equally superb psychological devices!

"Dr. Crane," he continued, "notice this issue, which is full of advertisements, with the copy and drawings performed by local school boys and girls."

"Our advertisers cooperate with us and agree to let the children take over their ads."

"We have about 85 youngsters who are assigned to various firms in our area."

"These children know whether they have a quarter page or other amounts of space to fill."

"And they are to study the products of their sponsoring advertiser so their copy is relevant."

So send for my booklet "The New Psychology of Advertising and Selling," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.
