

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Hortense is like many Women's Libbers who think they are smarter than God. But most of them, if normal in their physiology, will succumb to that reaction of a paper clip to a magnet when they meet a virile male!

CASE A-678: Hortense K., aged 24, is a career journalist.

"Dr. Crane," she began belligerently, "you seem to think that women are created just to satisfy the male ego."

"Plus his desire for sex! That's not so, for I know many members of Women's Lib who are quite content to remain unmarried."

"And others, who now have husbands, enjoy the friendship of their mates but are not motivated by sexual passion."

"So why don't you face up to reality?"

"Why do you still parrot the old-fashioned views that modern Women's Libbers have proved unsound?"

GRAVITY AND SEX

Gravity and sex are not outmoded just because we live in an age of astronauts and computers.

True enough, some women as well as some men are not "normal" in their glandular secretions, so they are deviates.

But the vast majority of both sexes were created to respond to their structural and chemical constitutions.

And the normal female has an innate urge to be picked as the mate of a virile male.

This inner "affinity" is not due to modern education or advertising or sophisticated college training.

God Almighty made men and women to respond to each other, just as he made iron to respond to the presence of a magnet.

For example, if you lay a small magnet on the table and then place a paper clip very near, the clip will jump across the intervening space to make contact with the magnet!

Even if you lay the clip so far away it can't jump across the intervening space, that clip still "feels" the "pull" of the magnet and if it could speak, would admit it had a "crush" on the magnet!

This explains the wild excitement of teen-age girls when a dynamic male, whether athlete or singer, enters the room.

Even Solomon marvelled over this magnetic attraction of girl for boy and vice versa, as noted Proverbs 30:19:

"... I know not... the way of a man with a maid." It is really just an example of physiological magnetism.

It has existed ever since Adam first laid eyes on Eve in the Garden of Eden.

And will persist as long as men and women inhabit this planet!

Women's Libbers may rant and rave, but they can't alter the attraction between a magnet and a bit of iron.

Nor of a girl for the magnetic attraction of a boy. However, some metals were created by the Almighty so they do resist the pull of a magnet.

Lead is typical of an inert metal that apparently would experience no romantic "feel" for the magnet, even if the lead could talk.

And some inert Women's Libbers may likewise live with a husband in a platonic relationship.

But a normal husband and wife exude and also feel this bisexual magnetism, due to their chemical and physiological structure.

God made us that way despite modern smart alecks who would have us believe they are smarter than the Almighty.

So send for my medical booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents and learn how to channel this inborn human magnetism properly.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Worry Clinic, Hopkins Bldg., Melton, Indiana 47628. Enclose a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

For "something old," the bride wore a necklace, a gift of the bridegroom, and for "something new," she carried a heirloom wedding handkerchief made by Mrs. C.W. Henry. Choice: College, Career, Chaos

COLLEGE STATION — Going to college because parents want it isn't a good enough reason, one authority says.

She's Dorothy Taylor, family life education specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Self-knowledge is an important factor in deciding whether to go to college or begin work right after high school," the specialist said.

A youth needs to consider his strengths and limitations, what kind of surroundings make him work best, and what he wants to do the next fifty years of his life, she noted.

"The sooner a student decides on a career, the sooner he can begin preparing for it. The first step is doing well in high school courses relating to that career," Miss Taylor said.

Sharing ideas with the family, the school counselor or someone actually working in the chosen career is also helpful she added.

Another part of career planning is considering the financial aspects — can the student afford training costs, borrow the money, get a scholarship work part-time — or can he afford to miss college or training for his career?

"A student who rushes into career selection without careful consideration may soon become disillusioned with his choice and blame others for pushing him into a program where he really didn't belong," the specialist said.

Parents can help by discussing career possibilities, opportunities and financial expectations with the student.

If parents are not familiar with a field of study or technical training that has been tentatively selected, they can learn with the youth, she suggested.

Food Additives

COLLEGE STATION — Food additives are not always the "bad guys" they're often-made out to be, according to one nutritionist.

She's Sally Springer, foods and nutrition specialists, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Satur and salt are two of the most common additives — each of us uses about 15 pounds of salt and 102 pounds of sugar every year," the specialist said.

"Food additives are merely substances added to foods to improve or alter the taste, texture, appearance, nutritive value or preservability," Miss Springer explained.

Additives are often used in preparation of convenience foods.

"If housewives were willing to give up the convenience of pre-cooked foods — and grow, harvest, cook and preserve food themselves — they could eliminate many additives," the specialist noted.

"Others could be eliminated if people were willing to buy bland, uncolored substances that might spoil readily," she added.

"All food additives must meet strict government regulations before they can be used."

"Also, manufacturers must conduct extensive studies to prove the safety of any additive they want to use," she said.

Prehistoric beavers were larger than the modern black bear, reaching a length of up to seven and a half feet.

COLLEGE STATION — Artists often try to give insight into objects or experiences by communicating with viewers' emotions, according to one specialist.

She's Anna Marie Gottschalk, housing and home furnishings specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The artist expresses his message by the way he chooses and uses several means of communication, she said.

—Subject matter: is the object the artist is representing.

Paintings of recognizable objects are called "realism." "Abstract" paintings begin with a recognizable object, but in the final form, the organization may have been changed. "Non-objective" art expresses emotion and exists for the appreciation of color, shape, texture and lines in a particular organization.

—Content: refers to the meaning the artist tries to express — sadness, happiness, strength, excitement — and can be found in realistic, abstract or non-objective subject matter.

—Media: refers to the actual materials the artist uses. Watercolor, acrylic or oil paint; pencil, chalk, ink or charcoal; canvas or paper; and stone, wood or plastic.

—Style: is the characteristic way the work of art is created. Groups of work with similar characteristics are usually classified together according to the time they were done — Renaissance or Victorian, for example.

Puzzled by mother's double standard

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 19-year-old girl who is getting more and more confused about the word "morality." Who decides what is morally right? My parents? Society? The law? Or should I make the decision myself?

My parents are divorced and I live with my mother. She keeps company with a nice enough man, but they go away together for weekends, and I'm sure they do more than hold hands. I don't know why they don't get married.

Meanwhile, my mother doesn't want me to stay out too late with my boyfriend. He's in law school, and we can't afford to get married until he graduates.

He doesn't see anything wrong in premarital sex, but it just doesn't seem right to me. I've been able to hold out so far, but why should I? The pill is available, so there is no danger of my getting pregnant. Besides, we love each other, so what's wrong with making love?

I'm sure my mom thinks it's okay for her to do what she does, but she'd have a fit if I did it. How come the difference in standards?
PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Your mother [like most mothers] regards you as her responsibility, not as a mature young woman who can accept the responsibility for her own actions.

If you feel sufficiently mature and competent to set your own standards for your own reasons, do it.

Who decides what is "morally right"? With the help of your learning, examples, experience and conscience—and with an eye for consequences—YOU decide. And God bless.

DEAR ABBY: I am 55, and recently remarried. She's a terrific woman who is close to my age. My problem is that some of my tactless friends keep reminding my wife that my ex-wife was pencil-thin and dressed like a fashion plate. Now my present wife is determined to diet down to skin and bones.

I think this is ridiculous. I don't want another skinny woman whose main concern in life is dressing to the nines and keeping her weight down, and who, quite frankly, looked like a prune in the raw.

How can I convince my wife that I like the well-padded, cuddly woman she was when I married her?
PREFERS A PEACH

DEAR PREFERS: Doesn't your wife know all this? If not—tell her. If you do, and she continues to pay more attention to your tactless friends than she does to you, you have bigger problems than you think.

DEAR ABBY: After 50 years of marriage, I lost my mate. Although we never were blessed with children, we had many nieces and nephews who always addressed us as "Uncle Herman and Aunt Minnie."

I recently married a lovely woman who had been a friend of the family's for many years. [She lost her mate, too.] Now I find that my nieces and nephews address us as "Uncle Herman and Bertha."

I don't mind being called "Hey you," but I think it's disrespectful of them to address my wife as "Bertha."

What do you think? SAME OLD UNCLE HERMAN

DEAR UNC: I think you should tell your nieces and nephews that you'll gladly answer to "a monkey's uncle," but you'd appreciate it if they would call your wife "Aunt Bertha."

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

MR. AND MRS. JOEL EASTLAND

A 25th wedding anniversary reception honored Mr. and Mrs. Joel Eastland, 716 S. Gray, Saturday, June 22, at their home. The couple was married June 22, 1949 in Clarksville, Tex., and have been Pampa residents for 17 years. Eastland is employed by Gray County. The couple has two children, Miss Joanne Eastland and Raymond Wafd, who attended the event along with many friends. Hostesses were Mmes. Patricia Rolland, Betty Greer, and Vernicer Williams.

How Good Is Milk?

Now and then we need to remind ourselves of the virtues of milk. They are so great that sometimes I think people take milk for granted. And equally, because milk is totally respectable in nutrition, if someone decides to criticize it, he can easily make headlines.

It's sort of like saying motherhood is bad.

But there is another reason, too, for discussing again the virtues of milk. With prices rising today for everything, we need especially to buy the best products and services for our money.

Nutrition is no exception.

Milk offers perhaps the widest variety of essential nutrition that any one food offers. Thus milk is good for people of all ages, from birth to death.

Protein Always Needed

Milk is an excellent source of the highest quality protein. You do not lose your need for high quality protein after weaning. During early growth years and then for the rest of your life, you need this protein daily. Your need for calcium, similarly, is high throughout life. It is not a need that dwindles away, or one that is easy to satisfy with other foods in your meals.

Whole milk also offers generous amounts of vitamin A and is usually fortified with vitamin D. Milk is important, too, as a source of riboflavin as well as smaller but significant amounts of all other nutrients except iron and vitamin C.

So how much milk should people have? Babies we pretty much know about. But during the pre-school years, 3 or more glasses of milk daily are recommended. Four or more glasses are suggested for teen-agers. Two or more glasses are recommended for adults. Pregnant and nursing women should have 4 or more glasses daily. Cheese, ice cream, and other milk-made foods can supply part of the milk.

CANNING AND FREEZING
Canning and freezing at home seems to be getting under way. We've had a good response to the mailout series "Preserving Food at Home" and have a few extra copies if you are in need of help. The bulletins we have available give step by step directions in canning and freezing for you who are beginning home preservation for the first time. This is a great way to save money and very rewarding when you have successful results.

SEWING
The Stretch and Sew Basic Eight Course is scheduled for the first four Friday afternoons in August beginning Aug. 2 from 1-5 in the Courthouse Annex meeting room. Mark your calendar now so you won't forget. Those that have called the office and pre-registered will be receiving a letter in a couple of weeks with information about the course. The series of lessons is open to the public. I will be giving more information in a later article.

GARDENING
Besides home preservation and family clothing needs many people enjoy gardening. A little summer care of roses will produce a gala fall display. Some pointers are:

— As flowers fade and petals fall, remove old flowers. Otherwise food and energy will go into seed production rather than plant growth and flower production.

— When removing spent flowers, cut just above the second five-leaflet leaf above the main cane or branch.

— Use a complete fertilizer every four to six weeks at the rates recommended by the manufacturer. Do not fertilize after mid-August — so the plants will mature and be less susceptible to winter injury.

— During hot, dry weather water rose beds thoroughly every week, soaking the soil eight to ten inches deep.

Parsley-McClendon Vows Are Repeated Saturday

The marriage of Miss Joanne Parsley and Steven Dean McClendon was solemnized Saturday, July 6, at 7:30 p.m. in the First Christian Church of Pampa.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Parsley of White Deer and the bridegroom is the son of H. M. McClendon of Skellytown and Mrs. Tenna McClendon of Granite, Okla.

THE CEREMONY
The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Sidney Parsley, minister of United Methodist Church of Quitaque. Rev. Parsley is an uncle of the bride. Mrs. John Gill, organist, played traditional wedding selections, and accompanied Miss Sally Keeton of White Deer as she sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "Twelfth of Never." Soft candlelight provided the setting for the wedding vows. Rainbow candelabra, entwined with greenery, filled the background. Tall pedestal arrangements of white gladioli and killian daisies flanked the wedding party. A memory candle arrangement adorned the altar, which the couple lit during the ceremony. Pews of honor were noted with white satin bows.

THE BRIDE

The bride was given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I" avowal. She selected a formal satin gown with a fitted empire bodice, sheer English net yoke, Victorian neckline and long sheer full sleeves enhanced by lace appliques. Lace encircled the waistline and seed pearls were re-embroidered on the lace all over the gown. Her A-line skirt fell to a lace edged hemline sweeping into back fullness and cascading into a chapel train.

She wore a lace mantilla veil seeded in pearls. Her veil fell to elbow length, and she carried a bridal bouquet fashioned in a cascading arrangement of white sweetheart roses and stephanotis. She wore a pin belonging to her late great-grandmother.

The traditional red rose was presented to the bride's mother at the beginning of the ceremony and to the bridegroom's mother at the close of the ceremony.

ATTENDANTS

FASHIONETTES
To span the season between summer and fall '74, use the plus marks of fashion. As Nat Kaplan, New York manufacturer, sees things, casual daytime get-togethers include dress plus scarf, dress plus jacket costume, two and three-part suits.

Daytime lengths for skirts for fall and winter range from the center of the kneecap to midcalf, the latter usually worn with boots. Evening dresses occasionally are midcalf but usually ankle length or to the floor. Most skirts have fullness in bias cut, gores, or the new front gathered dirndl line.

The muff gets a big hand for the new season. It looks great with capes, long and swinging, like something out of a Russian background movie.

MOTHERS
The bride's mother wore a yellow floor length gown and a corsage of green cymbidium orchids. The bridegroom's mother wore a

MRS. STEVEN DEAN MCCLENDON

Miss Candy Wofford of Skellytown was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Donna Ensor and Miss Debbie Simmons, both of Skellytown. All wore identical floor length gowns of light blue polyester lace over royal blue polyester.

They were styled with rounded necklines, short sleeves and empire waists accented with a royal blue sash. Each wore a light blue garden hat trimmed with royal blue embroidery and they wore short white lace gloves. Their flowers were nosegays of mixed summer flowers of pink elegance carnations, white daisies, blue corn flowers and baby's breath.

Krista McClendon, of Skellytown, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore a floor length dress styled similar to those of the bridesmaids. She carried a small white basket decorated with white satin, lace, small love birds and filled with summer flowers.

Miss Mona Parsley and Roy Don Parsley of White Deer, cousins of the bride, lighted the candles.

Kirk Parsley of Quitaque, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Pete Forrester of Dumas was best man and groomsmen were Jamie Welborn of Munday and David Saxon of Skellytown. Ushers were Roy Lynn McClendon of Skellytown, brother of the bridegroom and Kerry Parsley of White Deer, brother of the bride.

Presiding at the guest register was Debra Parsley of Quitaque, cousin of the bride.

The couple will reside in light orchid floor length gown and a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor. The serving table was covered with a white satin floor length cloth featuring a gathered net skirt. Edging the table were clusters of white satin rose buds with white satin streamers. The centerpiece was a blue crystal candelabrum edged with blue and white flowers and tall white candles. For her wedding cake, the bride chose a four-tiered "Charms of Love." The two bottom tiers being stacked and other tiers being divided with Italian Filigree Pillars, sugar coated birds and swans with Lily of valley was amid the garlands and shells of white icing. Blue roses and rose buds decorated each tier. A miniature bride and groom in a garden house topped the cake.

Miss Cindy Gill of Pampa served the cake and Miss Jeannette Doggett of Pampa presided over the punch bowl. Miss Debra Reimer, of Spearman, pianist, played background music and rice bags of tulle tied with light and royal blue ribbon was distributed to the guests.

For the wedding trip, the bride wore a red and white pant suit and lifted the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside in Canyon. The bride was a 1973 graduate of White Deer High School and attended West Texas State University. The bridegroom is a 1970 graduate of White Deer High School and will receive a bachelor degree in agriculture from West Texas State University in December.

PRE-NUPTIAL EVENTS
Parents of the couple hosted a rehearsal dinner in the home of the brides' parents.

A miscellaneous shower was held in the parlor of the First Christian Church of Pampa, June 2, hosted by Mmes. H. E. Johnson, Glen Maxe, John Gill, John Zuerker, Wm. Leonard, Milton Nichols, James Washington and Paul Reimer.

The bride was honored with a lingerie shower in the home of Mrs. L. D. Atkins of Skellytown. Misses Cindy Wofford and Donna Ensor were co-hostesses.

Another miscellaneous shower in White Deer June 27 was held at the home of Mrs. Grady Milton. Hostesses were Mmes. Roy McKissick, Cr. Bennett, F. H. Siagle, C. O. Williams, E. B. Terry, R. J. Sailor, Jr., Grady Milton and L. R. Lockridge.

American Legion Auxiliary Meets

The American Legion Auxiliary met at Furr's Cafeteria for their regular meeting recently. Six members were present and one guest, Mrs. Jocia McGaughy.

After the dutch supper, a short business session was held with Mrs. Libby Shotwell, president, presiding. The pledge of allegiance was given to the flag, followed by the preamble of the auxiliary given in unison. Mrs. Lee Harrah gave the invocation and a report of the poppy sale was given by Mrs. J. M.

Turner with $450 given for the total raised by the auxiliary. $52.00 was paid to the Veterans who made the poppies and one-third of the profit sent to the veterans also. The balance of the funds will be used in the work with the veterans and their families, during the year in Pampa.

Mrs. Shotwell told of the 54th Annual Convention that will be held in San Angelo, July 19, 20, and 21.

Amendments to the Constitution were read and discussed by the group.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

MONDAY, JULY 8

Your birthday today: It is time to streamline your life, shed old habits and losing ventures. New enterprises need thorough preparation, looking toward beginnings early next year. Established relationships evolve with changing conditions; recent contacts are a bit difficult to bring closer. Today's natives are sensitive observers of humanity, often moody, keen at logic and figures.

Aries (March 21-April 19): The main part of the day is for troubleshooting, just getting the work week set up after the recent holiday. Much of what seems wrong isn't actually beyond repair.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): There's little chance of your sorting out anybody's finances but your own. Let others compare notes for themselves. Your sympathy is needed elsewhere.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Even definitely settled plans

Overweight

If you are overweight, has it occurred to you that you are an overconsumer of energy — that you are contributing to a national problem, not just a health problem of your own?

Well, it's a fact. For no food is produced in this country (unless it is by your own labor) that does not in its production use some of the nation's supply of energy.

The Chain Of Energy Use

Farmers directly use electricity and fuel in their operations. Then the food is shipped to market and/or to the processing plant, using still more energy. And finally, the retail operations that bring the food to your neighborhood and your home also use energy.

Thus, the more you consume, the more you draw on our country's energy sources.

Even if you grow your own vegetables you may still use gasoline for cultivation and trips to the store for seed and fertilizer. And in home preserving or canning you will draw on energy sources indirectly.

Thus every mouthful of food has its cost in terms of energy. Ultimately, some authorities are saying, we will have to learn to live with scarcity. Well, I hope that won't be true. But first I do know we had better learn to more efficiently use what food we do have.

So let's start with people who overeat and, if there are any, people who waste food.

I would hope that there is not a lot of the latter in our society. But assuming there isn't — obvious waste of food, what about it being wasteful for someone to eat too much? Particularly if we are having a problem already with having enough energy to produce food for all our people.

progress better if allowed more leeway for a good start. Give everybody time to get in the groove — by afternoon all goes well.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Personal enterprises begin to perk up by midday if you let well enough alone. Any new plans need specific attention to detail. Your enthusiasm generates it.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Review your situation, see where you can install safety measures, eliminate hazards. Knowledge on new subjects is incomplete, check it out before taking action.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Do all you can to make this an easygoing, middle-of-the-road day. Your sympathy and concern are stirred. Family arrangements require adjustment, compromise.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Communications are slow; do first only those things which need no new information, then check as you go into fresh activity. Evening brings a lighter, happier mood.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): It's a many-sided day of varied influences. Eliminate problems early, get on into creative plans later. Careful investments, purchases promise excellent results.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You can sell almost any idea today — just be sure it's a sound one. After a morning of fact-finding, put in the day improving property and possessions.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Everybody is in on the deal with suggestions and convinced they're being heard. Make no promises; take nothing for granted. Tomorrow the story unfolds further.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Gather statistics now but don't jump to conclusions yet as to their meaning or application. Technical advice on everything but money is favored.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Another round of exploring many fine nuances of character, building your own, inspiring those who follow your example in business decisions made in day.

ACCIDENT HURT CHICAGO (UPI) — A major packer had its profits on about $500 million in gross sales canceled out by the cost of workers' injuries, says Ray Smith of the National Safety Council.

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

By FRED KARPIN

The term "psychic bidding" was coined in 1931 by the late Dorothy Rice Sims, the wife of the bridge great, P. Hal Sims. Through the years, the word "psychic" has stayed with us, and even today it still has the same meaning it had when Mrs. Sims invented it. Generally speaking, it means "bidding what you don't have, or bluffing in order to create the illusion of strength, or to conceal a weakness."

In the 1930s, just after the birth of psychic bidding, virtually all bridge players indulged in this mania of fabricating bids. But in time he players realized that "psyching" was not a dividend payer, and they discarded it.

Psychic bids are still made on occasion, even in top-level competition. As Mrs. Sims put it: "The psychic bid is a stab in the back — the wheels of chance spin around, and the player watches the little ball to discover whether he's been a genius or a fool."

In today's deal, which came up in a tournament, our South player indulged in a psychic bid. After play had ended, he was a sadder and (it is hoped) a wiser man.

Neither side vulnerable.

The play was short and snappy. Despite South's spade bid, West guessed to lead the three of spades. At the completion of trick five, South had gone down one, losing five spade tricks to the defenders. Had West opened any suit but spades, declarer would have made at least 41 tricks. And if he wanted to gamble "going for broke," he could have made all 13 tricks by taking two successful heart finesses.

As is evident, had the final contract been either five clubs or five diamonds, one makes every effort to channelize the game elsewhere. South's psychic bid of two spades was, of course, an endeavor to do such channeling. But it just wasn't the day for it.

Mother Ignores Diabetes Advice

By G.C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: My mother reads your column every day. I hope you can help her.
She is 45 and had major surgery and they found she has diabetes. They put her on two kinds of insulin, regular and U-50 N.P.H.
Now she thinks she can eat anything because she takes insulin. She has gained 20 pounds, eats pie, cake, candy. She drinks an average 12 bottles of unsweetened pop a day, one quart of milk, one quart of grapefruit juice plus two gallons of water.
She can't see half the time, she has itching in the genital region. What will happen to her if she continues this way?
She has your booklet on "Diabetes. The Sneaky Disease." She won't go to the doctor for her checkup because she has gained so much weight.
Please explain her future as she reads your articles every day. We love her and want her to live. — Mrs. A.F.P.
Explain her future? What future? The way she's behaving, she hasn't much future, and what there is will be laden with misery.
She's an extreme example of the type of person who won't admit the facts of diabetes. Why this applies particularly to diabetes, I don't know.
Taking insulin doesn't mean she can eat all she wants. It is absolutely vital that she consume no sugar as in confections, and keep her calorie intake down. The insulin can counterbalance only so much sugar.
Her gain in weight, that enormous thirst, and her genital itching are classic and unmistakable signs that her diabetes is raging out of control — because she eats too much.
The trouble with her eyes most likely indicates that the disease is damaging her eyes — because diabetes, uncontrolled, does that. She MUST start sticking to a sane diet and perhaps she can save her eyes.
You say she has my booklet on diabetes. Apparently she hasn't read it — or if she did, she is utterly ignoring it. Have you considered reading it to her? It might help, if she'll listen.

As to whether I can help her, nobody can help her till she pays some attention to the plain facts.
She won't go to the doctor; I think perhaps you'd better make an appointment for her, than take her to the doctor. He will, of course, give her a stiff lecture and beg her to stop doing this to herself, and maybe that will have enough impact so she will start saving herself. He should be told about her careless ways.
Diabetes, when out of control, is a terrible disease, and blindness and itching are only the start of more vicious miseries.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is circumcision at adult age a complicated operation? I am 29 and would like to have it done for hygienic reasons. Whom should I consult? — H.C.
Dear Doctor: Can circumcision be done in a doctor's office? — R.H.
It can be done at any age. Consult either a general surgeon or a urologist. It is not a complicated procedure but it takes a week to 10 days to heal. Whether it is done in the office or hospital would be at the discretion of the surgeon.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For 40 years I have had a fungus or something akin to jockey itch. I have never consulted a doctor and have depended on home remedies without a great deal of success. Could you recommend a treatment? — E.S.
After 40 years, don't you think it would make sense to see a dermatologist (skin specialist) and find out just what kind of skin condition it is? I certainly decline, sight unseen, to guess at a remedy.
Never take a chance on diabetes! For a better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of him Dr. George C. Thosteson at Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120 for a copy of his booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

Jane Would Like Good News

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — Jane Powell said in her peppery, spicy, sponky little voice on the telephone that the newspapers should print some "nice news" every day. In fact, she thought, they should print a whole page of "good news" every day. "And how great it would be," exclaimed Jane, "if it were on the first page."
I was glad to be on the phone instead of facing Jane personally when she made this suggestion. But we got together for lunch at Sardi's on a day when she was supposed to be rehearsing for a cast change in her hit show, "Irene" and the rehearsal had been cancelled so we had time to go into this novel idea of Jane's.
"The newspapers," I said, "have an idea that nobody would buy the papers if they were filled up with just good news."
"Have they ever tried it?" she asked.
"I doubt it," I replied.
"How do they know then?"
"They're pretty sure," I said, with the air of a guy who was pretty sure, yet couldn't really say because HAD anybody ever tried it?
"Oh, I know there are a lot of bad things going on in the world" — you had to admit she was right on that — "and there are a lot of nice things, too. I was talking to Gloria Swanson's daughter Gloria Daly and she told me her daughter works for the Lenox Hill Settlement House. She said that within a block of her there is such poverty but that people are doing things to help."

Of course this wasn't the glamour type news I was looking for from Jane.
"Between 59th and 89th from 3rd Av. to the East River, there are 28,000 people in the poverty level over 65," Jane continued.
"Well, there are teenagers that volunteer to help care for these people. The phone company has given them a special rate — $3.55 a month for incoming calls only, a special rate of 7 cents a call for outgoing calls."
"I never heard that," I said.
"They don't say too much about it," Jane dug into her chicken salad lunch. "At this settlement house they can come and get a hot meal a day. There are these volunteers who go to their home and help them. The trouble is, some of these people are afraid to open their doors for fear they are going to be robbed. But," she said, "this whole city is filled with so many good things."
Jane said, "I'm not a crusader but every night on the stage I tell people, 'Don't be frightened of New York. I've never been mugged!' I think the city is clean. Do you know the garbage in New York is better than our garbage in California?"
I was confused. "You prefer New York garbage to California garbage?"

"Here it's all sealed and they pick it up every day. In California it's in pails and they pick it up once a week and the dogs knock the pails over."
And the New York people whom she's had several months to get acquainted with are friendly.
"People here used to be rude and crude but not any more. Boston and Detroit have worse crime rates but they don't get the publicity. The trouble is, it's New Yorkers who are saying some of the bad things."
Jane warmed to her subject.
"People here have three of four pots boiling for them at the same time. They're having classes and moonlighting and discussing things. In California there is no central place to meet and people never get together to talk."
"There is never anything about good things on the TV news except once a year at Christmas. If they just took a SECOND to say something good, Cliff Robertson made a speech about a town he worked in where the editor slanted the news."
"NO!" I protested.
"He slanted it for the good. He printed 70 percent good news and 30 percent bad as an experiment, and do you know what happened?"
"The paper folded."
"No! The crime rate in town went down. Because people read the papers and imitate. If they read about rapes and robberies, they rape and rob, and if they read about people helping those at the poverty level, they imitate that."
Jane will be leaving "Irene" Sept. 1 when the show winds up its New York run and goes on tour. She'll return to Los Angeles and get on her husband Jim Fitzgerald's 42-foot cruiser berthed at Marina Del Rey and remember how much she misses that wonderful New York City late afternoon midtown traffic.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY

An open letter to Dr. Earl Butz, Honorable Secretary of Agriculture.
 Dear Dr. Butz:

A few weeks ago we wrote you a personal letter pointing out the plight of the cattle feeders, stocker operators, and cattle people in general. We requested you take action on four steps to help alleviate the catastrophic situation caused by the imposing of ceilings on beef over a year ago.

1. We asked you to put the spotlight and heat on the major food chains for holding their beef prices high in the face of a disastrous low price for live cattle.

2. We asked you to take steps to curtail meat imports.

3. Create an awareness by the American public of the plight that cattle people now find themselves in as a result of the price ceiling imposed a year earlier.

4. Point out the seriousness to the American consuming public. Cite the fact that cattle placements on feed have dropped for fourteen months. More recently, they dropped fifty percent in June, 1974 as compared to June '72 and a forty percent of June this year compared to June 1973. The American consumers need to know if there was not a turn around in price, we were going to run out of beef. Seventy-five percent of all beef that goes across the meat block has been fed as live cattle.

Secretary Butz, you have done a great job on every item I listed in this personal letter. In addition, you have taken a host of other steps for which I am extremely grateful.

If there ever was a time we need statesmanship in Government it is today. You have demonstrated the highest in statesmanship by opposing a government guaranteed loan to cattle feeders and bankers. I have talked to a number of cattle feeders and some bankers that feel very much as you do. Pouring in a few billion dollars of easy credit into an industry that is already waning from an oversupply of credit is not the answer.

What we need in the cattle business today is a limitation of capital. This is what we are getting. If the easy credit bill gets through and becomes law, it will most assuredly cause another shipwreck in the cattle business six to ten months hence.

Let me ask the proponents of this proposal why they are picking up the almost unanimous support of both houses in Congress? Do they think it is because they as cattle feeders represent less than one-tenth of one percent of the nation's population? Or, could it be because the congress is more interested in having cheap beef eight to ten months hence for the near 100 percent of population.

Here is a quote from a straight-thinking banker friend of mine:

"I can see where the easy credit bill would give temporary relief to custom feedlots and some bankers that made some overextended loans, but this is not in the best short-term or long-term interest of the cattle people."

I would like to recommend that some of our organization representing cattle feeding interest, concern themselves with the cration of marketing outlets owned by cattle people that will drop beef prices in direct relationship to live cattle prices.

In times of oversupply, drop the price so the glut of beef is moved into the trade. Why not a national chain of meat markets to handle meats exclusively? Then your promotion of beef through these national outlets would get a responsive note.

Today, the only way the cattle people can get beef profit margins down and a national advertising of beef is on a bended knee. We need some market muscle.

Again, Secretary Butz, we congratulate you for your statesmanship approach on the government guaranteed loans.

Sincerely,
 Foster Whaley

P. S. One thing more — Let's change the outmoded grading system for beef. We have talked this for fifteen years. It's now time for action. In the past it has been opposed by certain breed associations that are a great deal more concerned about the eye appeal on foot in the show ring than the palatability after it becomes beef.

The last thirty to forty days in a feedlot on a 1,050 pound steer is primarily to make one hit USDA choice grade. Gain usually costs from ten to fifteen cents a pound more than the steer will bring. The fat put on the last thirty days has to be trimmed off before the housewife will purchase the beef. Fat is still worth about three cents a pound. If the USDA would call a high good a choice, we could eliminate the last thirty days in the feedlot and save everyone from the cattle feeder to the housewife a bunch of money.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS

For the past six weeks this column has carried segments of the new recommended statewide program for conservation and development of Texas water resources that was put together over a period of five months by Gov. Dolph Briscoe's Task Force on Water. Last Sunday's column carried the last portion of the proposed plan. The members of the Task Force prepared a commentary on the proposed program.

COMMENTARY

The Texas Water Plan, as prepared by the Texas Water Development Board and approved by the Texas Water Rights Commission, contains most of the basic projects which are fundamental to any state water plan. Six years have passed since its completion and it should be redrafted, updated and recast in form to express forecast needs in more general terms on a regionalized basis and to present long-range plans for meeting these needs in terms of examples or alternatives rather than as specified projects.

It only remains then to provide for periodic review, revision and updating of the plan on a regular five-year basis. This should be done by the Water Development Board, with the governor lending guidance and coordination in order to assure appropriate participation by all involved entities throughout the state.

There is currently no statewide short-range plan, nor is there a coordinated statewide action program as summarized above. It is suggested that the governor request the Texas Water Development Board to undertake the tasks of developing and maintaining a statewide short-range plan and a coordinated statewide action program on a continuing basis.

Further, it is suggested that the governor have the Division of Planning Coordination establish the necessary mechanics for obtaining active participation in developing and maintaining the short-range plan by all the public entities concerned throughout the State. These are big tasks that will take considerable time to accomplish, and work should start on them immediately. In the meantime, initiation of an action program should not be delayed.

As an interim measure to provide for immediate initiation of an effective statewide action program on an expedient basis, it is recommended that the Task Force working in close coordination with the Water Development Board, immediately develop a short-range plan in outline form which will:

- (1) describe in clear and specific terms those projects and activities currently underway or which must be initiated immediately or in the near future and actively prosecuted to completion in order that anticipated water needs of the people of Texas will be met when the are expected to occur.
- (2) indicate the degree of urgency and the desired time schedule for accomplishing each such project and activity.
- (3) specify procedures and allocate responsibilities for taking the actions necessary to achieve the desired results.

After the governor approves the Task Force's recommended short-range outline plan, the Task Force should recommend for consideration by the

Conservation Programs Finished At Two Farms

By Perry D. Grubkey, SCS

Two farms in Gray County have completed an extensive program of conservation work. The farms are Hampton and Harnley farm, and M & W Farms. The work was done through the Great Plains Conservation Program administered by the Soil Conservation Service. A complete plan of conservation practices was applied.

M & W Farms, owned by Rex McAnelly, began conservation work under the program in 1969. Practices completed include 15 acres land leveling, 3,200 feet of diversions, 1 tailwater recovery system, 7,000 feet of underground irrigation pipeline, and shaping and seeding of a waterway.

An excellent program of management practices is used on the farm. Minimum tillage, an erosion control practice and fuel saver, is practiced on the M & W Farm. Irrigation-water management is outstanding on the farm, since little water is wasted.

Hampton & Harnley farm, owned by Dr. R. M. Hampton and operated by Henry Harnley, entered a Great Plains Contract in 1967. Outstanding conservation accomplishments on the farm include 75 acres of land leveling, 9,600 feet underground irrigation pipeline, 2 tailwater recovery systems, shaping and seeding a waterway, and 5,000 feet of diversions.

Conservation measures such as crop residue use, irrigation water management, and conservation cropping systems are practiced on the farm.

Both farms are achieving their goal of producing more and protecting more with the help of the Great Plains Conservation Program. Funds are now available for developing Great Plains Contracts with farmers and ranchers in Gray County.

People interested in doing conservation work can governor any additional actions which should be taken in order to establish and carry out an effective statewide action program for meeting Texas' water needs.

The recommendations were presented to Gov. Briscoe on April 15, 1974 and was accepted by him as his program that would be later presented to the Texas Legislature for implementation.

The people who make up the Task Force on Water and Natural Resources represent every section of the State of Texas. We think it only proper that our readers know who these people are and who they represent.

Shula Concerned About Discipline

MIAMI (UPI) — Miami Dolphins coach Don Shula said Saturday the "freedom issues" raised by striking NFL players would strip the world champions of the key to their success—discipline.

"I think the freedom issues take the thing you need out of football, and that's discipline," Shula said.

"Any secret we've had here to the success of the Miami Dolphins is the fact we've been disciplined, we've worked hard and we've accomplished."

Shula made the comment the day before Miami opens its spring training camp at Biscayne College to 48 rookies and non-regulars.

Boxox Drop From 1st Place

BOSTON (UPI) — Hal McRae, Tony Solaita and Fran Healy all had two hits and an RBI Saturday as the Kansas City Royals defeated the Boston Red Sox 5-3, dropping them from first place in the American League East.

Boston's Rick Wise for five runs in the first five innings to hand the injury-plagued pitcher his fourth loss against three wins.

Shula said the camp would open on schedule and preparations would begin immediately for the Chicago College All-Star game July 26th.

Second place is worth $59,673 and third $30,955.

TEE-OFF TID-BITS

Hot Weather Brings Sizzling Scores should be the headlines on the sports page this week, with the mid-week holiday enabling several to pick up an extra round this week. Several posted record rounds.

Bill Arthur found out he can't quite spot Don Forsha a stroke a side as Don's 79 beat Bill scratch.

Gene James put it all together this week and turned in a 75 while Dr. McDaniel found out new clubs help and posted a five-over-par 65.

After the meeting, light end Jim Mandich said he still intended to report to camp as scheduled July 14th.

CONNORS NABS MEN'S TITLE

US Has Another Champ

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Jimmy Connors, ignoring the hostility of the crowd and playing power tennis at its very best, blew sentimental favorite Ken Rosewall off the court in straight sets 6-1, 6-1, 6-4 today to become the youngest Wimbledon champion in 18 years.

Newcombe and Stan Smith in earlier matches. At one stage in the second set a voice was heard to say, "come on Ken, give it a go, what the hell?" but today was not to be Rosewall's day. Errors flowed from his racket but, all credit to Connors, he never let up the pressure.

Brett and Gary were close to tears. Connors' mother, the Evert sisters, Chris and Jeannie, also were close to tears, but they were happy.

Young All-Stars Fall In Tourney

CANYON — Pampa's 13-year-old Babe Ruth All-Stars only needed to win once Friday night in order to capture the Canyon Babe Ruth Tournament championship.

Pampa, down 5-4 in the fifth, tied the game as Wuest singled and later scored after three Dumas errors.

It's Only Fitting Connors, Evert Won Net Titles

LONDON (UPI) — America's tennis sweethearts Jimmy Connors and Chris Evert Saturday won "his" and "her's" Wimbledon singles titles.

Connors' victory made it a double because his fiancee, Chris Evert, won the ladies title Friday with a straight set victory over Russia's Olga Morozova.

Jimmy, a 21-year-old from Belleville, Ill., became the youngest men's champion since Lew Hoad in 1956 when he defeated veteran Ken Rosewall in straight sets, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4.

The capacity crowd, which helped swell the 12-day attendance over the record 301,896 of 1967, gave Connors a warm ovation when he clinched the title, but they had been for Rosewall throughout 1 hour 22 minute duration of the match.

Chris, 19, of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., won her title Friday by defeating Olga Morozova of the Soviet Union.

Late in the third set, when it already was too late, Rosewall held service with some ease. He fought to the bitter end, saved two match points in the 10th game with passing shots, but on the third he was in the net.

The pair, who play love sets on and off the field, became officially engaged after their wins in the South African championships earlier this year and plan to marry in November when there is a break in the crowded tennis schedule.

Connors played with the composure of a seasoned campaigner in his first Wimbledon final. He threw his racket high into the air and jumped the net to shake Rosewall's hand after victory was his.

Considerable support is expected for Pass Over, a filly who appeared headed for a sensational season as a two-year-old last year before being struck with injuries.

Ken took his defeat with good grace, but in the crowd his wife, Wilma, and sons, Saturday's wins netted the couple $40,800 in prize money and Connors said with a grin, "it will soon go, but there should be more."

Pass Over had to undergo surgery to remove bone chips from both ankles seven months ago and since then has been virtually unbeatable. The speedy filly posted the second fastest qualifying time of 21.55 in winning her trial race last week by more than a length.

At Saturday's post-victory news conference, Chris accompanied Jimmy to face the world's press. They held hands while he answered questions. Chris blushed a lot, but Jimmy's only worry was the thought of having to lead the dancers out to get the traditional Wimbledon ball underway.
