

Briscoe Spends $2,275,587 In Races, Reports Show

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—In two tries to reach the governor's mansion, Dolph Briscoe has spent $2,275,587, including $697,182 of his own money.

Briscoe spent $522,262 of his own money in running fourth in the 1968 Democratic primary. Briscoe's defeated opponent in this year's Democratic runoff, Rep. Frances Farenthold of Corpus Christi spent $672,441, or $906,966 less than Briscoe did.

Textron Awarded Contracts

Congressman Bob Price has been notified by the U.S. Department of the Army that the Bell Helicopter Division of Textron, Inc., at Amarillo has been awarded contracts in the amount of $2,863,961.

Subtracting Hobby's gifts from his expenses, the total for his own money spent and debts incurred comes to $887,867. That means he spent $712,947 more of his personal fortune than Briscoe did of his.

'Hot-Wired' Bike Wrecked

Police are investigating a rash of unauthorized motorcycle riding at Pampa High School, particularly after one machine was wrecked and damaged.

Youths have been "hot-wiring" the bikes while the owners are in summer school. "One of the illicit riders made a braking error, according to the police report and flipped the motorcycle.

He told the owner he would pay for the damages but, according to the police investigative report, they have been unable to contact the boy or his parents.

Froelke Wants Draft Mechanism To Be Remained

HOUSTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Robert F. Froelke says the nation's draft mechanism must be maintained although a zero draft is the objective.

"We would not rely on the mechanism for personnel but in case of hostility it would take two or three months to restore the mechanism," Froelke said Wednesday.

He said the army has a fighting chance to reach zero draft status by July 1, 1973.

"Our effort to recruit high quality young men is working very well," he said.

"Last December we enlisted more men in combat arms than in the entire 1970. The number was not enough to satisfy needs but the trend indicates a fighting chance to have a zero draft army by July 1, 1973."

Froelke discussed the zero draft at a news conference and during a speech before the Downtown Kiwanis Club.

Froelke said he was confident President Nixon's goal of reducing the number of combat troops in Vietnam to 49,000 or less by this July will be attained but he would not predict a timetable for further cut-backs.

"Until there is a negotiated peace there will be war in Southeast Asia," he said.

Over 6 Inches Of Rains Recorded Here In 1972

Scattered thundershowers struck parts of the Panhandle and South Plains yesterday, spawning heavy rains and damaging winds with reports of tornado funnels.

A thundershower with a display of lightning hit the city about 9:30 p.m. yesterday and added .31 rain to the already-soaked ground.

The year's total of moisture for Pampa stands at 6.46 inches, with .78 inch falling this month to date. All of June's rain has occurred this week, with .03 Sunday, .19 Monday, .25 Tuesday and .31 yesterday.

A slight chance of rain exists tonight and Friday, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau at mid-morning. Probability of showers is 20 per cent.

Heavy rains surged around Hereford, which received two inches in about an hour last night beginning about 7:45.

A storm with high winds hit Earth about 8:30 p.m., blowing down tree limbs and antennas and a few power and utility lines. Officials were not sure whether the damages resulted from the high winds or from a small funnel.

A tornado watch was posted for the Lubbock area after a funnel was reported on the ground north of Springlake. Unofficial reports of funnels were reported near Hereford.

'Revolution Of Love' Is Rally Theme

DALLAS (AP)—The Rev. Bill Bright preached revolution—a revolution of love—Wednesday night from a podium in the storied old Cotton Bowl.

"Love is the greatest power in the world," the San Bernadino, Calif., evangelist said. "There is no force known that can resist the supernatural agape, the Love of God," the founder-president of the Campus Crusade for Christ said.

About 85,000 persons crammed into the stadium for the second night rally of EXPLOR 72.

The Rev. Ed Hill of Los Angeles carried on with the love theme.

"We're going to take the world for Jesus Christ, and we're going to do it because we love one another and because we love Jesus Christ and because we would have all men know Him who set us free."

Cheers from the predominantly youthful crowd went up at pronouncements of both Bright and Hill.

"Amen!" "Right on!" "Praise the Lord!" Dr. Hill commented that those attending the conference are "not perfect people because most of us are still under construction. God is not through with us yet."

He said he didn't come to Dallas to argue theologically or philosophically, but "to tell those who will hear that Jesus Christ saves."

What Would McGovern Do If Elected?

Did Hubert Humphrey call George McGovern an "ultra-liberal?" The question seemed too silly to investigate, why would the pot bother calling the kettle black? But there it was, in the New York Times, no less. Well, now, Hubert Humphrey didn't actually pin the label on George. But certain specialized Humphrey mailings into suburban areas are said to describe McGovern as "ultra-liberal."
The charge is well-deserved, of course, but the interesting thing is that Humphrey strategists believe that voters will react to it. Is it possible that "right wing extremists" are not alone in fearing the possibility of an ultra-liberal President of the United States?

For a starter, McGovern would attempt to redistribute the income of Americans in the classical take-from-the-rich-to-the-poor manner. The assumption behind the concept seems to be that the "rich" have a never-ending source of income that the government can tax at will. But, as Alan Reynolds, National Review Associate Editor, points out, "Even if we took every dime of gross income from those earning more than $100,000 - not even leaving them subway fare - we would get only $16.5 billion, or about 5 percent of the amalgamated McGovern budget. The bulk of the expense simply must fall on the only sizeable group of taxpayers above the break-even point; on those earning between $12,000 and $20,000." That last sentence is the clincher that destroys all of the claims of the populist candidates. There simply are not enough "super-rich," or even "rich," Americans to support the rest of us in the style to which we would like to become accustomed.

Want To Bet Legalized Gambling Is Solution?

By PAUL HARVEY
More states, overburdened by welfare rolls and soaring costs for everything, are thinking about legalizing gambling. You'd think it logical for the government to take over; that this would put gangsters out of business. What'll you bet?
Before your state legalizes gambling, a word of precaution. Granted, people will gamble. Some of us who do not play slot machines do speculate in the stock market and there's not all that difference.
Except that, as the late FBI Director Hoover frequently admonished, "If you think legalizing games of chance starves out the criminals, look at Las Vegas-where the games are legal yet the hoods still deal themselves in and related vices flourish."

RED CHINA'S SHADOW
While the recent summitry in Moscow stole the headlines, the Red Chinese continued to work the enslaved millions of their vast nation, building fire-breaks on the common border of Russia and exploiting the vast gains made on the diplomatic field in recent months. The Freedom Chinese of Taiwan can no longer look to the U.S. for protection and thus one great obstacle of the aggressive leadership in Peking is eliminated. In fact, the Freedom Chinese don't even have a voice in the feeble United Nations any more.
As the United States backs into a second-rate power posture through the nuclear arms limitation agreement signed in Moscow, our once powerful friend in the Orient, Japan, can no longer look to us for a shield. The industrial might of Japan is tremendous but it hasn't rearmed and if trouble spreads from the conflict in Indochina there would now be little check on the dictators of mainland China.

U.S. Communists Say Ballot Can 'Enhance' Public Image
By ROBERTS. ALLEN

WASHINGTON - They are being very hush-hush about it, but the rulers of the Communist Party, USA, are busily maneuvering and manipulating to get their hand-picked Presidential slate on the November ballot in 30 or more states.
This Kremlin-approved ticket consists of Gus Hall, 62, the party's long-time general-secretary, and Jarvis Tyner, 31, black national chairman of the Young Workers Liberation League, the party's youth front.
Under the Constitution, Tyner isn't eligible to be Vice President. The minimum age is 35-the same as for President. But this question is academic as the young Communist isn't going anywhere, anyway. That, doubtless, is why he was "nominated."

Your Health

By Dr. Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
Who Knows the Balanced Diet?
Dear Dr. Lamb-You said that a person eating a balanced diet should be getting sufficient vitamins. The trouble is that most of us don't know what a balanced diet is. Unfortunately, doctors do not seem to be aware that many people are financially and otherwise unable to follow doctors' rules. The restaurants and cafeterias don't know either and that is why people have to use vitamins. What is the individual to do?
Dear Reader-You are absolutely right. Many recommendations in medicine are difficult for the public to follow, particularly in the food area. When you go to the grocery store, things are not packaged or labeled in ways that any person without a fairly good knowledge of nutrition will be able to follow diet recommendations. A balanced diet is one that meets all the minimum daily vitamin and mineral requirements as well as the protein requirements.
Expressed in foods, that means that at least one meal a day should contain a major protein source, which includes lean meats, fish and poultry. For growing people, at least two meals a day should contain items of this group. Egg whites are an excellent source of protein and can be used liberally. Fortified skim milk, low-fat milk and uncreamed cottage cheese are all excellent sources of protein and calcium. An equivalent of one quart of fortified skim milk should be used each day, particularly for older people to be sure they get enough calcium. Nonfat dry milk powder can be used in cooking also as a source of protein and calcium. Mature bean seeds are also a good protein source and cereals contain some protein.
Essential vitamins and minerals are found in fruits and vegetables. Accordingly, the diet should contain daily a variety of vegetables to include a leafy salad and two or three different vegetables every day, like carrots, peas and the colored vegetables. Tomatoes, of course, are excellent in the salad.
It is also wise to have some fresh fruit each day, an orange, banana or apple, and if you are not eating fresh fruit it is more important to have one fresh tomato a day.
Cereal is an important source of vitamins and you can get that from home-cooked oatmeal or any of the prepared breakfast cereals and a variety of breads. Unless calorie restriction is necessary, at least two slices of a good-quality bread a day are desirable, particularly if other cereal is not used.
If you follow these general principles, you are most likely going to have a balanced diet. The things you do not need for a balanced diet are sugar and sweets of all kinds and starchy desserts and puddings. The real key to a balanced diet, then, is variety, with emphasis on the foods that give you a variety of vitamins and minerals with adequate protein.

WORLD OF ANIMALS—"Put your head on my shoulder" could be the theme song of Cleveland Smith, general manager of World of Animals, the drive-through animal park at Mesquite, east of Dallas. At 31, Smith is one of the youngest men in the nation in his field, and often leaves his desk to tour the 550-acre wildlife preserve.

World Of Animals Brings Africa To 'Your Car Door'

DALLAS—Not only is World of Animals a new concept in conservation of the species, but there are new attitudes and new ideas to couple entertainment with education.

Cleveland Smith, general manager of the 550-acre, drive-through animal park east of Dallas in Mesquite, is largely responsible for innovative trends.

"Our new attitude is subtle," Smith says. "For example, we have 'guests' in the park, not 'customers'. And rather than 'employees' we have 'hosts and hostesses'."

"For that reason, most of our employees have a sincere desire to work with animals, to know them and to help them. That is making the change at World of Animals," he said. "They show they are interested in their work, and the general public senses this."

Also helping set World of Animals apart, Smith said, is its fine location.

"We are remote. And so is Africa," Smith added. "At World of Animals you cannot feel that you are on the outskirts of major population centers. There are no heavy traffic arteries at our front door. There are the trees, meandering creeks and winding roads at our approaches. This feeling of remoteness does, of course, heighten the appeal to visitors. It is almost like being transported to Africa."

One of this distinctive park's primary aims is conservation of the species, and Smith feels that this has been eminently successful. Animals propagating freely at World of Animals include the giant eland, lions, black buck antelope, baboon, chimpanzees, rhinoceros, zebra and ostrich.

Acres occupied by the park, just 4 miles south of Interstate Hwy. 20 on Lawson Rd. east of Dallas, was once a homestead site for Texas pioneers.

And so, the transformation has gone full circle. World of Animals never closes, permitting visitors to tour the multi-million-dollar facilities from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in fall and winter, and until an hour before dark in spring and summer.

Guests are encouraged to take photographs as deer and other tame animals roam through the park. The popular Safari Village, a walk-through area primarily designed for children, has monkeys, rare birds, baby lion cubs, antelope, cheetah, beautiful waterfowl and 200-pound turtles. Here, also, is a fast food service operation and a curio shop.

The big attraction at World of Animals, of course, is the drive-through preserve, nine sections of wildlife that bring Africa to your car door.

The opportunity is there for ideal observation and education. For safety purposes, World of Animals asks all guests to keep car windows rolled up. Convertibles are not allowed, but rental cars are available at the main entrance. Park rangers patrol each compound to be certain that no visitor takes an unnecessary risk.

Angela Visiting Harold Barrett Ford Marks 11th Anniversary

BERLIN (AP) — Negro militant Angela Davis told East Germans today the international support she had received was responsible for her acquittal on murder, kidnap and conspiracy charges.

In an interview carried by East German radio and television, Miss Davis thanked East Germans for the thousands of letters she had received from them while she was in jail awaiting trial in San Jose, Calif.

"There is no doubt that the tremendous and organized movement for my freedom finally forced the well-known result," she said.

Her acquittal by an all-white jury on June 5, was not proof of the fairness of justice in the United States since every political activist can arbitrarily be charged with criminal acts, she charged.

Asked about her future goals, Miss Davis said: "I dream of a socialistic world, of a world in which there is no war, no racism and no poverty. And as Lenin said: It is not enough just to dream. We must realize our dreams through appropriate deeds."

Both Harold Barrett and Harold Barrett Ford are marking anniversaries this week.

Forty years ago this week, Barrett started in the parts and accessories area of Ford Motor Company. And 11 years this week, he opened Harold Barrett Ford, Inc., here in Pampa.

Barrett came to Pampa from Tulsa, Okla., where he had successfully managed a Ford dealership for about 17 years.

Harold Barrett Ford was opened at 701 W. Brown on June 12, 1961, with 15 employees. Today this same firm employs more than 30 people, specialized in every phase of the automobile business.

Barrett is a firm believer in service. He is convinced that the service department is the heart of any dealership and has spared no expense in equipping his service department with the most up-to-date equipment along with top quality service personnel.

Offering a full line of Ford, Lincoln and Mercury cars and trucks, this firm covers 7 1/2 acres of "Ford Country" with a current stock of more than 100 new and pre-owned vehicles and fresh units arriving daily. The parts department is one of the largest and best staffed in the Top O' Texas area with facilities for both wholesale and retail parts sales.

Harold Barrett Ford's bodyshop is the largest in Pampa, completely staffed and the very best of equipment, with workmanship second to none.

Since coming to Pampa 11 years ago, Barrett has been very active in the civic field. He is a past president of the Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Kiwanis Club, the F.D.A.F. Committee, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, the Top O' Texas Rodeo Association and is currently serving as president of the Highway 60 Association.

Harold Barrett Ford has channelled more than 2 1/4 million dollars of payroll into the community.

Barrett thanks all of Pampa and the Top O' Texas area for 11 years of good business, and invites everyone to come by the dealership at any time. Just come in and see why Harold Barrett Ford is the number one new car dealership in Pampa.

How World Leaders, U.S. Officials Rate Nixon Peace Journeys?

EDITOR'S NOTE: The summits in Moscow and Peking are over. What have they really changed? In this first of two articles, the post-summit outlook is summarized, with emphasis on Europe.

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The world is likely to be a safer place in the years following the 1972 summit, and in the more immediate future it will see a step-up in already widespread U.S.-Soviet dealings.

An Associated Press survey since the Moscow and Peking talks finds this view widely held by U.S. officials and Europeans—a view tempered by caution against expecting speedy solutions to deep East-West differences.

Some forecast new frictions, short of major war, as the old globe of the cold war and two superpowers thaws into a more fluid but complicated multipower system.

In Asia as in Europe, officials see prospects improved after the summits for avoiding any new, large-scale conflict even though the Vietnam war goes on.

But they expect fundamental power shifts and major agreements in Asia to evolve only over the years. They rate the more immediate impact of Nixon's journeys as primarily psychological—creating an atmosphere of toning down old hostilities.

Some sources voiced disappointment at the lack of discernible progress on Vietnam, an issue President Nixon took up both with Chinese leaders in February and with the Soviets in May.

"Today the President speaks of going to Peking and Moscow for achieving peace," says W. Averell Harriman, a Democrat whose past posts include ambassador to Moscow and U.S. negotiator at the Paris peace talks, "and yet the war goes on in Vietnam with increased fury."

The fact that the Kremlin went ahead with the summit on the heels of Nixon's mining of North Vietnam's harbors has bolstered administration insistence that Moscow values improved U.S.-Soviet relationships over all-out support for Hanoi. But high U.S. officials say the key to a Vietnam peace still lies with Hanoi.

In contrast with the Peking summit, which featured an opening in U.S.-Chinese contacts after years of shut-off, the Moscow meetings went into a broad range of U.S.-Soviet dealings already under way, as well as taking up some new items.

Here are some specific things coming up in the wake of the agreements announced in Moscow:

SALT—The U.S. negotiating team is gearing up to return to the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks—SALT—with proposals for broadening arms control beyond the accords announced in Moscow. SALT negotiator Gerard Smith indicates the U.S. proposal will include a call for curbs on strategic bombers, and perhaps for further restrictions on missile forces.

Meanwhile, Nixon will push for congressional approval of the first-stage SALT accords—and for $3.4 billion in military appropriations for the coming year, up $6.3 billion from this year.

SALT placed ceilings on offensive and defensive missiles of the two superpowers, without restricting already planned programs for weapons improvements.

Smith and Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird agree that planned U.S. programs for such weaponry as the Trident missile submarine and the B-1 long-range bomber must proceed pending a mutual arms control pact with the Soviets on such items.

Trade—Secretary of Commerce Peter G. Peterson will go to Moscow next month for the first session of the new, permanent U.S.-Soviet Joint Commercial Commission. The aim is to work out a comprehensive trade agreement by late this year.

However, a web of issues must be resolved before U.S.-Soviet commerce can expand notably. U.S.-Soviet negotiators have yet to agree on the size of a Moscow payment for Russia's U.S. war II lend-lease debts.

The Soviets want most-favored-nation trade treatment on the United States. This will require congressional legislation which the Nixon administration does not want to grant until a lend-lease settlement. A similar situation applies to Soviet desire for U.S. Export-Import Bank credits.

couple of hundred million dollars a year. But difficulties over trade and credit terms, marketing problems and the like, in his opinion, will prevent the volume from reaching the billion-dollar mark by 1975.

Space—U.S. and Soviet technicians are shaping up a program for space cooperation which, in 1975, will feature a test rendezvous by American and Russian astronauts as they link up space ships. The U.S.-Soviet talks looking toward cooperation by the two space powers have been under way since 1970.

Environment—Specific projects under the new environmental agreement set forth at Moscow have yet to be worked out. A two-nation environmental committee will get on the job this summer or fall.

Perhaps there will be a joint effort for preservation of polar bears. There may be joint research on what cities and large water projects do to the climate.

Russell Train, chairman of the Council on Environmental Quality, calls the endeavor "a whole new ball game" in U.S.-Soviet cooperation. He envisages "not only sharing of information, but a very strong step beyond that into actual joint work on joint projects."

Science—Under the new accord on science cooperation signed in Moscow, the number of delegations exchanged under the current U.S.-Soviet exchange program—21—could double. The President's science adviser, Dr. Edward David, plans to head for Moscow soon to work out details.

On the major issue of European security, U.S. and West European officials both appraise the Moscow summit as a plus in the movement already well under way to narrow the continent's East-West division.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers says he expects preliminary East-West talks to begin in Helsinki this fall, looking toward a Conference on European Security and Cooperation next spring.

Parallel talks are planned on mutual force reduction in Europe. An agreement could bring home at least some of the 300,000 GI's in Europe. But presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger indicated to newsmen that, like SALT, European force cut negotiations are likely to be long and complicated.

In West Germany, Chancellor Willy Brandt was reported viewing the U.S.-Soviet summit as a total vindication of his policy of normalizing Bonn's relations with Communist East Europe. In London, the Edward Heath government unreservedly welcomed the SALT accords. In Paris, government officials felt the missile pacts didn't go far enough—that the real need is destruction of nuclear arms and the means to deliver them.

While the French were obviously unhappy about what they regarded as too-skimpy briefings on the Moscow summit, they and other West Europeans saw the U.S.-Soviet get-together as a prod for their Common Market.

As the superpowers swing into more arrangements between themselves, according to this view, it becomes more necessary for the European group to develop its own big power identity in order to pursue European interests effectively.

The theme that the danger of war is diminishing, found among officials both here and abroad, is based not only on the Moscow and Peking summit but on a view of a changing world. It is also being accompanied by cautions that deep-seated differences will not disappear soon.

Nixon himself reported to Congress that the war threat has been reduced, but not eliminated. Australia's Prime Minister William McMahon saw the balance swung "away from confrontation towards conciliation and detente."

Britain's foreign secretary, Sir Alex Douglas-Home, said the Soviets have not yet shown hard evidence of abandoning expansion at the expense of the West.

Undersecretary of State John N. Irwin II rates the Peking summit as the opening of a dialogue with China, while the Moscow summit "may be seen by historians as the symbolic end to the cold war."

Congress passed the first U.S. draft law, the Enrollment Act, in 1863.

House Unit Urged To Approve Bill On El Paso Natural Gas Pipeline

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressmen and governors from western states urged a House Commerce subcommittee today to approve a bill preserving the merged El Paso-Pacific Northwest natural gas pipeline.

The bill would seek to overturn a Supreme Court order to break up the merger as a federal monopoly law violation.

The nation's largest pipeline carries gas from the Southwest to the Pacific Northwest coast.

Rep. Brock Adams, D-Wash., the lead-off witness at the hearing before the communications and power subcommittee, said the bill's objectives have the support of the governors of Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Texas, Washington and Wyoming.

Spokesmen for the Washington, Idaho and Wyoming governors were prepared to testify at the two-day hearing.

The subcommittee chairman, Rep. Torbert H. MacDonald, D-Mass., said the sponsors of the bill will have to sustain the burden of proof that this legislation is in the public interest.

They will have to show that under the conditions which prevail today, the decision of the Supreme Court would do harm to the consumers living in the Pacific Northwest region, he said.

I realize the gravity of an action by Congress to overturn the Supreme Court in a matter as serious as this," MacDonald said, adding that he had "an open mind with regard to this legislation."

Adams and Rep. Teno Roncalio, D-Wyo., testified that the Supreme Court ruled years ago that the merger was only a potential threat to competition in California.

Since the ruling, they said, California has several pipelines competing and the monopoly threat has vanished.

"In view of the serious gas shortage," Roncalio said, "competition is no longer possible in California or elsewhere."

"Anybody with a supply of gas can sell it anywhere," he added.

BOYLE'S COLUMN

What Is Hell?

By HALL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — What is hell?

Well, between its occasional heavens, life holds more than a scattering of hells.

Each man comes in time to feel that he has been through at least 10,000 private hells of his own. But that is a delusion of grandeur.

And as we go through our lives, our hells change. Here are a few hells that some particular unlucky rascals have had to confront at different ages:

At one month old, hell is a dark room with no one else in it, and an open safety pin stuck in your side.

At two years, hell is a spanking for successfully climbing out of a high crib.

In kindergarten, it is being told by the only other red-haired girl in the class that you are even uglier than the first one said you were.

Hell at seven is being caught by your mother stealing a dime from her purse.

Hell at 18 is drawing a draft lottery number under 10.

Hell at 20 is having empty pockets every Saturday night.

At 21 it is marrying the wrong red-haired girl.

At 29 it is marrying the sec-

Roncalio said that the merger has been in the court for over a decade.

"Instead of harassing this big company (El Paso Natural Gas Co.) with litigation," Roncalio said, "the government should cooperate so the company can find new supplies of energy in Canada and the United States."

and wrong red-haired girl.

Hell is turning 30 if you're a woman and turning 40 if you're a man.

Hell at 41 is having to ask for a job sweeping out the office of the former high school pal who was voted most likely to succeed—and who did.

Hell at 45 is having your daughter jilted by the rich boy you had counted on becoming your ace in the hole.

At 50 hell is having your older son turn down your request to lend him $5 in walking around money because he has just been fired from his job, too.

And at 65 hell is trying to live on a forged Social Security check you never earned in the first place.

But the worst hell of all is to wake up in some smoky place at 80 and be handed a hot shovel by a red-eyed guy with a long forked tail who tells you they only have a coffee break there once every hundred years.

Of course, all along these hells may not be your fault at all. Sometimes we don't get to pick either our hells or our heavens. They simply descend on us by chance. You can always explain that to the chaplain—and let him punch your old Army tough luck card.

'Irreplaceable' Texas Ranger Dies At Home

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A man who became a near legend during his 34 years as a Texas Ranger was found dead at his home Wednesday, the apparent victim of a heart attack.

Zeno Smith, 70, was found lying in the backyard of his San Antonio home by his neighbors, police said.

Smith, who had been working as a Wilson County deputy sheriff, retired from the Rangers in July 1969.

Long identified by the broad-brimmed black western hat he frequently wore, Smith, a familiar San Antonio figure, helped solve some of the biggest criminal cases in South Texas.

Following his retirement the Texas House of Representatives passed a resolution urging the DPS to defer his retirement because he was "irreplaceable."

He was cited for his "notable record and outstanding service."

Muskie Names Campaign Man

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, today picked Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, as his presidential campaign director and announced he will meet personally with his own and uncommitted delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

At a joint news conference Muskie said he will leave on a delegate-seeking tour that will take him to 12 states.

Poll Shows Texas Businessmen Support Moratorium On Busing

Seventeen out of 20 independent business owners polled by the National Federation of Independent Business favor the proposed moratorium on court-ordered busing of school children which would prohibit any new court orders for a limited period.

In a nationwide address, last March, the President proposed a freeze until mid-1973, to allow Congress time to legislate on the busing question. Conferees of both Houses have agreed on an 18-month moratorium.

The Federation's nationwide sampling of business opinion shows 85 percent in favor of the moratorium, only 11 percent opposed and 4 percent undecided.

Respondents in Texas reacted with 90 percent favoring the proposal, eight per cent opposing it and two per cent undecided. Lowest regional support was 80 percent in New England; the highest, 89 percent in Texas-Louisiana-Oklahoma-Arkansas.

The national results are almost identical to the Federation's findings when it polled proprietors on a Constitutional Amendment to prohibit busing based on race, creed, color or national origin. Eighty-six per cent support it.

The likelihood that a Constitutional Amendment, if passed by Congress, would be ratified by three-fourths of an emotional ground well over busing led President Nixon to propose the moratorium.

Rather than a Constitutional Amendment, he urged Congress to enact definitive legislation to "treat the question with far greater precision and detail..."

Volunteer comments to Congressmen, written on the businessmen's poll ballots, indicate in no uncertain terms how they feel about busing. A Boise, Idaho, owner wrote: "Settle the busing issue now. No busing required!"

Their consensus is that busing is a waste of taxpayer money which could be applied to improving education, especially in minority schools.

Many owners view the moratorium as a political tactic to remove busing as an election-year issue. Critical of "double-talk," a New Mexico owner wrote, "If the President were sincere in his opposition to busing, he could have long ago pulled his henchmen in the Health, Education and Welfare Department off the backs of the States and their schools."

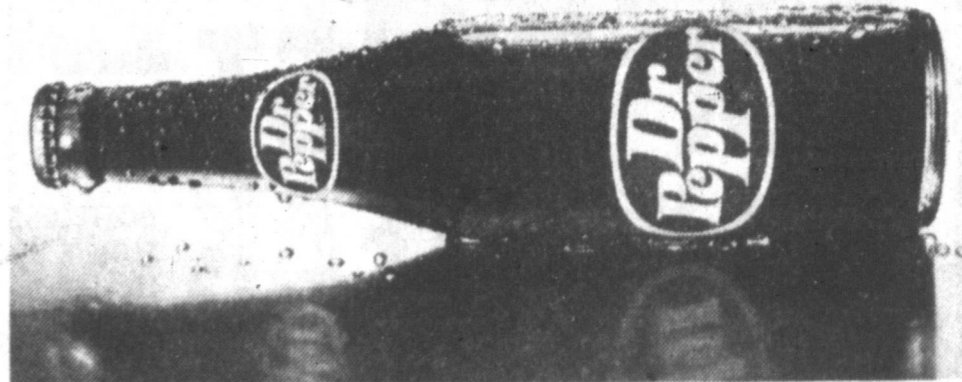

UNIQUE SERUM BANK
BALTIMORE (AP) — A new program to aid children for whom chicken pox could be fatal has been unveiled by Dr. Neil Solomon, Maryland's secretary of health.

Solomon said a special serum bank, first of its kind in the nation, would be established for children who are especially threatened by the illness.

"Chicken pox can be deadly for children who have to take certain drugs to combat arthritis, kidney disease, leukemia and other forms of cancer," he said.

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M.D.

Milo asks why some doctors oppose vaccination. And why they talk about a "D & C" for women suspected of having cancer of the uterus (womb). Versatile scientists can use the street. Introverts employ polysyllables!

CASE U-510: Milo G., aged 20, is majoring in chemistry. "Dr. Crane," he began, "what are some of the greatest discoveries in the development of medicine?"

"And what are some of its greatest flaws or drawbacks, nowadays?"

Bravo, Dr. Jenner. Vaccination (including inoculation) has saved more human lives than all other medical discoveries or drugs!

Dr. Edward Jenner noticed that milkmaids who had developed sores on their hands while milking cows, later were immune to smallpox.

So he pioneered smallpox vaccination. In Shakespeare's century, it was estimated that 60 MILLION died of smallpox in Europe, not to mention the greater number of deaths in Asia, etc.

"But, Dr. Crane," Milo protested, "I recently read some articles arguing that vaccination was not only of no value, but that it even produced many diseases, including syphilis."

"One British physician was quoted as unalterably opposed to smallpox vaccination for those reasons. How come?"

George Washington had smallpox as a boy, for Dr. Jenner didn't expound his discovery till 1798 (one year before Washington's death). And in those earlier days (even in New England till about 1900), the family physicians had little concept of germ infections.

So they carried an ivory toothpick in their vest pockets. They'd take it out; spit on a child's arm, cleanse the wet skin with their handkerchief; then scratch the skin with that ivory toothpick and place a drop of the vaccine on the raw spot.

Occasionally, therefore, a child might thus develop some other ailment, due to contamination by the toothpick or the doctor's spit or his handkerchief.

And if you will read the date of the British doctors' attacks on smallpox vaccination, you will find such essays were usually written back in the early 1800s.

Thus, it wasn't the vaccination that caused the trouble but lack of sterile methods by the 19th Century doctors.

Anesthesia would also be regarded as a second great milestone in medical advancement, with the antibiotics probably ranking 3rd.

More recently, the zooming field of therapy is biochemical, including the use of trace chemicals (as from the ocean water) to combat deficiency ailments.

But Milo also asked about some of the drawbacks to modern medicine.

One is the inability of many physicians to talk the patient's language.

Veterans Should Get Release Of Liability When Selling Home

Veterans Administration home loans help veterans sell their homes as well as buy them, but unless a veteran sellers gets a "release of liability" when a buyer proposes to assume his GI loan, he might have problems later on, Jack Coker, VA Regional Director, cautioned today.

VA Loan Guaranty officials say such a release could save the veteran considerable difficulty and worry should the purchaser ever default on the loan contract.

A veteran should request the VA office that guaranteed his home loan for release from the government before he signs the sales contract. VA may issue such a release if the loan is current and the veteran's purchaser agrees to assume all of the veteran's liabilities.

In addition, the Veterans Administration must be satisfied the person who buys the property is a good credit risk, and has sufficient income to meet the payments on the GI loan.

Unless a veteran specifically asks VA for a "release of liability", and gets it, he still is responsible for satisfactory completion of the financial obligation of the initial GI loan—should the new purchaser fail to make the monthly payments.

The veteran may sell his home to anyone—another veteran, or to anyone who has never been in military service. In any case, however, he should ask for the "release of liability" from the VA.

If the veteran's purchaser obtains his own financing to purchase the veteran's home instead of assuming the veteran's GI loan and the GI loan is thus paid in full at settlement, under certain conditions the veteran may then have his loan guaranty eligibility restored.

Henry Kissinger To Revisit China

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon's top national security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, will go to the People's Republic of China for a four-day visit June 19-23 for "concrete consultations" with Chinese leaders as a followup of Nixon's summit talks, the White House announced today.

Ziegler was asked if the trip was tied to developments in Vietnam.

"I wouldn't relate this trip to any particular topic," he replied, noting that either side can raise any questions it wishes.

House Unit Approves Bill On Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Armed Services Committee today approved a $21.3-billion weapons authorization bill after slashing more than $1.5 billion from original requests, including a $692 million Safeguard antimissile system cut because of the U.S.-Soviet arms limitation agreement.

At the same time, Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., announced the committee added $110 million to the bill for offensive weapon increases requested by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird in the wake of the Strategic Arms Limitations Talks for a net slice of $582 million.
