Wallace Able To Move About Within 6 Months

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — George C. Wallace's doctors have handed him a superb Fathers' Day present: word that he has a 90-per-cent chance of being able to move about with assistance within six months.

Following delicate surgery Sunday to remove from his spinal canal a bullet that has left him paralyzed from the waist down, the Alabama governor's physicians indicated he will be able to attend next month's Democratic National Convention.

But they said there is less than a 50-50 chance he will ever be able to walk normally again. Chances are better, they implied, that Wallace will be able to partially conquer his paralysis to the extent that he could walk a few steps with the aid of braces and crutches.

They stressed an even-more-likely prospect: that Wallace will be able to stand unassisted and to move about with the help of crutches and braces "by swinging along, rather than walking," even if the paralysis persists. This would mean he would not have to spend the rest of his life in a wheelchair.

These possibilities were outlined at a news conference several hours after completion of the 90-minute operation to remove the bullet.

Wallace was shot several times May 15 as he concluded a rally at Laurel, Md., in his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Dr. Stacy Rollins, the Holy Cross Hospital neurosurgeon who headed the seven-man operating team, said Wallace's spinal cord—the telephone-cable-like rope of nerve fibers that transmits nerve messages between the brain and the rest of the body—was bruised but intact.

While foreseeing that Wallace most likely will be spared wheelchair existence after intensive rehabilitation training during the next six months, Rollins said "a wheelchair would be an appropriate thing" for the governor's now-virtually certain appearance at the Democratic National Convention in Miami Beach next month.

And, how long—from a physical standpoint—could he remain at the convention if he goes?

"If he is nominated, he could stay as long as need be," smiled Dr. Hamilton Hutchinson of Montgomery, Ala., the governor's personal physician.

McGovern Seeks Running Mate Through Polls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Aides to Sen. George McGovern are conducting nation-wide polls to test the appeal of various possible Democratic candidates for Vice President, including Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

The sampling is being conducted by McGovern's chief pollster, Pat Cadell, in the expectation that McGovern will win his party's presidential nomination next month. The polls match McGovern and possible choices for a running mate against Republican opposition.

Thieu Launches Drive To Retake Lost Land

SAIGON (AP) — Two South Vietnamese drives had had going today despite President Nguyen Van Thieu's claims that North Vietnam's troops were demoralized and bogged down and their offensive had failed.

In the air war, the U.S. Air Force said its jets wrecked a large segment of North Vietnam's air defense system, knocking out more than 200 pieces of equipment in four days in the southern half of North Vietnam. And the United States ended a four-day suspension of bombing attacks in the Hanoi-Haiphong area following the departure of Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny from the North Vietnamese capital.

Thieu said he was ordering a new three-month campaign to take back the territory lost to the North Vietnamese in their offensive that began March 30. Nearly 3,000 marines launched a new sweep south of the demilitarized zone, while rangers supported by tanks opened a new push to clear Highway 13 between Saigon and An Loc.

The ranger drive fell apart almost immediately under a barrage of North Vietnamese shell fire 10 miles south of An Loc. A senior U.S. adviser was killed, and many of the rangers were wounded. The column, which had just gotten orders to move, pulled back.

The marines ran into moderate to heavy resistance as they tried to push up the coastal strip of land north of Hue called the "Street Without Joy."

The Air Force said its pilots on Sunday knocked out 76 of the big SAM2 antiaircraft missiles, 45 sustainer canisters, eight missile booster canisters, five launchers and transporters, six SAM radar vans, two antiaircraft guns and two antiaircraft fire control directors.

There was no word yet on the targets today in the Hanoi-Haiphong area, but U.S. military sources said the air war was "back to normal," and U.S. jets were again hitting North Vietnam's industrial heartland.

Rich Gas Reserves Reported In Texas Panhandle Counties

There are trillions of cubic feet of natural gas beneath Wheeler and Hemphill counties plus eight adjoining Oklahoma counties—enough to make an appreciable dent in the growing energy crisis if it can only be developed.

That is the word of Robert A. Heffner III, veteran developer in the Deep Anadarko Basin area.

Heffner stated that, in addition to wiping out at least one-third of the energy shortage forecast for 1975, development of the gas reserves would give local economy a tremendous boost.

The fate of the project lies with the Federal Power Commission in Washington. Development is stalled on the horns of a dilemma: the high cost of drilling deep wells and the low cost of gas moved in interstate commerce.

It costs around $2-million to drill a well to 20,000 feet. This is based on $6-million spent to drill one well to 30,050 feet. Natural gas costs 21 to 26 cents per thousand cubic feet.

At this rate it would be impossible to ever recover the multi-million dollar cost of developing the deep reserves.

In April the FPC agreed to study proposed free-level gas prices that could more than double them: 50 to 60 cents per thousand. However, Heffner stated his opinion that the panel would make no decision until after the November elections.

There are a number of factors favoring development of the deep gas reserves. Chief among them is the fact that the Anadarko Deep Basin area is located centrally in the nation offering fairly equal delivery to

County To Get Grant

AUSTIN—Gray County is one of the Panhandle counties destined to benefit from a $47,840 grant approved today for the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission. The money will be used to design a regional law enforcement radio communications system.

The money will come from the Criminal Justice Council, which oversees statewide law enforcement planning and administers funds from the U.S. Department of Justice for crime control projects in Texas.

Because of the technical nature of the project, the major portions of the work must be performed by a consultant engineer. The engineer will inventory existing radio equipment, prepare a detailed system design, coordinate frequency allocation and assist in obtaining FCC licenses, prepare complete specifications, review bids and supervise system implementation.

Grantee will furnish $16,170 in-kind match consisting of time devoted to the project by local law enforcement officials.

Counties served by Panhandle Regional Planning Commission are Armstrong, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Collingsworth, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Donley, Gray, Hall, Hansford, Hartley, Hemphill, Hutchinson, Lipscomb, Moore, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Sherman, Swisher and Wheeler.

The Panhandle application was one of 43 totaling $1,719,464 considered by the CJC Executive Committee June 9.

Explo' 72 Young People On Way Home

DALLAS (AP) — Auto, bus and air traffic started returning to normal today as young people who thronged Dallas up to 180,000 strong for Explo' 72 finally found passage back home.

Official estimates placed the crowd at more than 85,000 for the weeklong evangelistic training conference that drew delegates from all 50 states and 60 other nations.

The massive assembly, sponsored by Campus Crusade for Christ International, reached a reverberating close Saturday in an eight-hour Jesus Music Festival. That brought an additional 100,000 swarming into a Dallas freeway and parkway still under construction and converted into an open air amphitheater.

Dr. Billy Graham, the noted evangelist, told the cheering throng. "The young people have made an end run around the church, and we're going back home to the church and say to it we believe in the old-fashioned gospel of Jesus Christ."

In similar vein, singer Johnny Cash said between numbers. "This is the most important place I've ever performed. It's my biggest thrill. I hope you won't lose your enthusiasm when you get back home but carry it throughout your life."

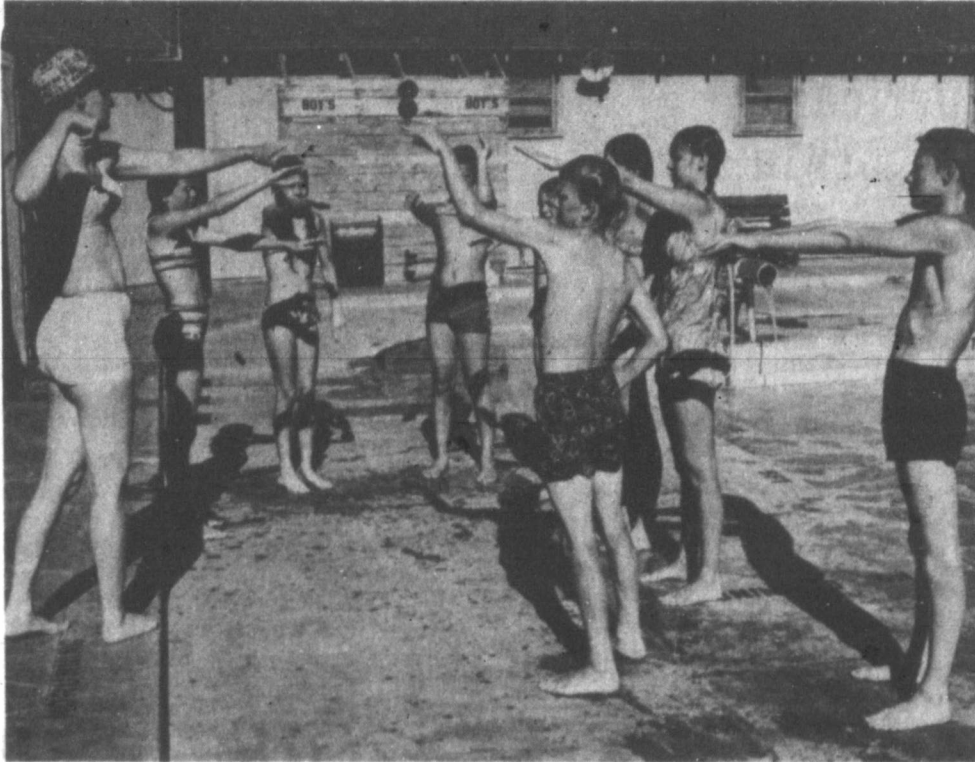

all parts of the country. If the "boom" should develop, the initial project would involve 500 wells spaced 1,000 to 1,400 acres apart.

Currently, 10 wells are being drilled in Oklahoma. Including seven seismograph crews in the area, these are providing jobs for 365 people. Seven more wells now under consideration would bring the jobs to 863 in the activity area.

These are the jobs directly connected with the project. Not counted are related jobs in the communities supplying goods and services. This involves an estimated $22-million in salaries and lease bonuses.

A projection from these 17 wells to the proposed 500 forecasts an economic boom that boggles the mind to compute.

Airline Pilots Stage Worldwide Walkout

PRACTICE COMES FIRST—The Red Cross swim program began this morning at the City Pool, with classes being taught for beginners, advanced beginners, intermediates and swimmers. Mrs. Betty Bailey, south of city, leads the intermediate class in stroke practice before the actual pool instruction begins. This session will end June 30, with two other sessions slated for July 3-14 and July 17-28. (Staff Photo by John Ebling)

Largest U.S. Companies Said Running Normally

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Airline pilots launched a worldwide 24-hour strike early today, forcing the cancellation of service by 19 foreign flag airlines. However, only a few U.S. carriers had to ground all flights immediately.

In the United States, only Eastern Airlines, Southern Airways and Northeast Airlines among the larger carriers shut down service as pilots defied a temporary federal court injunction against participation in the strike by members of the U.S. Airline Pilots Association.

Some of America's largest airlines announced their pilots were not taking part in the work stoppage. There were no immediate reports of major schedule disruptions at any U.S. airports.

The strike, which took effect at 2 a.m. EDT, was called by the International Federation of Airline Pilots to dramatize its belief that more stringent measures are needed to discourage airplane hijackings.

"It's under way," a spokesman for the ALPA said shortly after the 2 a.m. deadline. He acknowledged it would be hard to assess the impact of the strike during the early morning hours when fewer flights were scheduled. However, service on Trans World Airlines, American Airlines, Northwest Airlines, Delta Airlines, United Airlines and Western Airlines was reported to be running normally.

Foreign airlines were more uniformly out of service. Those listing no flights today included Irish Airlines, Scandinavian Airlines System, Air France, Sabena Belgian World Airlines, El Al, Air Canada, Alitalia, Lufthansa, Swissair and Air New Zealand.

Czechoslovakia said air traffic would be halted for one hour to protest air piracy and memorialize the death of a Czech pilot killed in a hijacking last week.

Airports in Hong Kong, Manila, Tokyo and Berlin reported minimal disruptions, but air service in London was thrown into confusion. A Pan Am spokesman in New York said the airline was experiencing problems in two airports—Vienna, where ground crews were walking out in sympathy with the protest and the Panama City airport, where cars were said to be blocking ramps leading off the runways.

Frank Borman, vice president of Eastern Airlines, said the cancellation of all 1,500 of its daily flights would cost the line about $2.5 million in revenues.

More than one million passengers around the world are estimated to travel daily by plane. There are 50,000 airline pilots worldwide and about 31,000 employed by U.S. air carriers.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger refused Sunday to lift a temporary injunction barring the work stoppage. His action returned the case to the federal appeals court.

Other airlines which predicted normal service today were Ozark, National, Allegheny and Braniff.

Here in brief was the situation in airports around the world shortly after the strike began:

—Israel: 450 pilots from Israel's National Airline, El Al, and the internal line Arkia, plus 500 aviation workers, stayed off the job, closing Lod International Airport, scene of two recent terror attacks.

—Johannesburg, South Africa: All international flights by South African Airways were cancelled, but domestic flights were running on schedule.

—Berlin: Pan Am, the main civilian carrier for commercial jet service linking West Berlin with West German cities, was scheduled to fly as usual.

—Oslo: Some 1,500 pilots of SAS and the domestic Norwegian Airlines stopped work and all scheduled flights were suspended.

—Manila: The Philippines Airlines Pilots Association reversed an earlier decision to strike and said it would continue normal operations.

—Hong Kong: Alitalia, Lufthansa and Air France flights were canceled but it was not immediately known whether any other flights by other airlines would be affected.

—Tokyo: Officials at Haneda Airport said three of 15 major airlines had canceled or delayed departures of flights. Passengers who earlier were booked on the struck airlines were transferred to other flights without difficulty, they said.

WORST ON BRITISH SOIL 118 Persons Killed In Jetliner Crash

LONDON (AP) — A British jetliner crashed Sunday just after taking off for Brussels, killing 118 persons aboard. It was the worst air crash on British soil, and the dead included 29 Americans.

Among the victims were at least 12 British physicians on their way to a professional congress and several top leaders of Irish industry.

The three-jet Trident airliner, operated by British European Airways, plunged into a field near a busy road two minutes after taking off from London's Heathrow Airport. The plane was full, many of the passengers having booked seats to beat the international pilot's strike today.

Britain's aerospace minister, Michael Heseltine, visited the crash site and said later "both flight recorders on the plane have been recovered and their information will be fed into computers to help the official inquiry into the disaster."

Most of the Irish victims were members of a delegation of industrialists going to Brussels for talks at the headquarters of the Common Market.

Among them were Con Smith, president of the Confederation of Irish Industry; Michael Sweetman, an economist and writer who was director of the Irish Council of the European Movement; Ivan Webb, chairman of the Council of the Irish Employers' Federation; and Guy Jackson, an executive of Guinness Brewery who played on Ireland's Davis Cup tennis team.

The doctors were traveling to an international homeopathic congress. Among them were Dr. Thomas Fergus Stewart, an authority on homeopathy, and his wife Dr. Elizabeth Stewart. He was superintendent of a hospital in Glasgow, Scotland.

The worst previous air crash in Britain occurred 21 years ago when an Avro Tudor loaded with Welsh football fans crashed, killing 81 persons.

The crash Sunday was the third in five days in which there was a heavy loss of life. Ninety died Wednesday when a Japan Airlines DC8 crashed in India, and 81 persons were killed Thursday when a Cathay Pacific Convair went down in South Vietnam's central highlands.

San Antonio has a population of nearly 700,000 and it is estimated that about 50 per cent of its residents are Mexicans and Mexican-Americans.

U.S. Supreme Court Declares Wiretapping Unconstitutional

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today declared illegal the government's wiretapping of suspected domestic "subversives" without a warrant.

Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr., speaking for the court, said the wiretapping without judicial permission is unconstitutional as well as authorized by the 1968 Safe Streets Act.

The former Richmond lawyer, appointed to the court by President Nixon, said: "The danger to political dissent is acute where the government attempts to act under so vague a concept as the power to protect 'domestic security.'" He added: "The price of lawful public dissent must not be a dread of subject to an unchecked surveillance power. Nor must the fear of unauthorized official eavesdropping deter vigorous citizen dissent and discussion of government action in private conversation. For private dissent, no less than open public discourse, is essential to our free society."

The Nixon administration and former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell maintained both the Fourth Amendment and the 1968 federal law permit eavesdropping without warrants against individuals or groups that the Justice Department concludes may pose a danger to national security.

Both contentions were slapped down by Powell in an opinion which Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr., Potter Stewart, Thurgood Marshall and Harry A. Blackmun fully supported.

Justice Byron R. White said the wiretapping was impermissible under the 1968 law while Chief Justice Warren E. Burger simply said he concurred in the result. Justice William H. Rehnquist, who as assistant attorney general helped prepare the government's legal position, did not participate in the case.

Thus the vote against the government was 8 to 0, with Burger and White giving Powell's decision something less than full support.

The case involved government wiretapping of Lawrence Plamondon, a White Panther accused of bombing a Central Intelligence Agency office at Ann Arbor, Mich. Federal District Court Judge Damon Keith of Detroit rejected the government's position and ordered transcripts of the wiretaps turned over to Plamondon's lawyers. The government appealed to the U.S. Circuit Court in Cincinnati, lost there in April 1971, and then appealed to the Supreme Court.

Powell, Blackmun and Burger are all appointees of the Nixon administration.

Traffic Accidents Lead Weekend Violent Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A flaming car-truck crash between Wharton and El Campo which snuffed out five lives Sunday night capped an already deadly weekend on Texas streets and highways.

That collision helped swell the violent death toll in the state to 34 fatalities, including 18 in traffic accidents, seven homicides, five killed in a plane crash and two drownings—a much larger figure than in recent weeks.

The toll was recorded between 6 p.m. Friday and mid-night Sunday.

Sheriff's officers reported the two adults and three children killed in the crash near Wharton were burned beyond recognition and had not been identified hours later. All were riding in the car and authorities said it was believed they were from Katy, Tex.

An unrelated shooting added a bizarre touch as sheriff's deputies directed traffic around the scene of the fiery highway crash. Officers heard a gunshot in a moving vehicle and followed the auto onto railroad tracks, where they saw a woman alight as there was more gunfire. Deputies found Nina Ainsworth of Houston dead beside the car and her husband Neal gravely wounded inside.

Two small girls were among the five persons who died early Sunday as a Cessna 182 aircraft rented from Air Central, Inc., of Harlingen, crashed into a muddy pasture near the village of Nopal, close to Gonzales in South Texas.

Victims of the air crash, all from Harlingen, were listed as Gene Davis, 27, the pilot; Joe Morales, 27; Morales' wife Lydia, 25, and their daughters Belinda, 4, and Shelly Ann, 2.

Willard H. Sivright, 20, of Dallas, was killed shortly before midnight Sunday when a sports car flipped over on Northwest Highway in Dallas and slid 170 feet on its top before hitting a light standard. Police held the driver without immediate charge.

John E. Mathis, 18, a Port Isabel gas station attendant, burned to death Sunday when a leaking gas pump exploded. An unidentified man was injured.

James W. Fox, 16, of Dallas drowned Sunday in Lake Ray Hubbard near Interstate 30. Rockwall County sheriff's personnel recovered the body.

Lucina Carrillo, 18, of Dallas was killed early Sunday when a car in which she was riding struck several posts and a gasoline station pump. Dallas police said she suffered head and internal injuries as she was thrown from the vehicle.

Santiago Flores, 43, of Houston was crushed to death Sunday when he tried to stop his pickup truck from rolling down a hill. Officers said the vehicle swerved and pinned Flores against a building.

Jeffery D. Ashworth, 13, of Houston drowned Sunday while trying to rescue his sister, who slipped off a spillway at Lake Houston. Their father managed to save his daughter but was unable to reach his son.

A crash of two automobiles Friday night on a rural road 9 miles west of Tyler killed Nat-tie Jones, 30, of Tyler; two of her children, Brennetta, 11, and Margaret, 7, and the driver of the second vehicle, Patricia Reeves, 29, also of Tyler.

The aircraft, a Cessna 182, did not burn. The owners, Air Central, Inc., of Harlingen, said David was an experienced, veteran flier with 2,000 flight hours. A funeral home said Davis was from Harlingen but his pilot's license listed a Houston address.

The plane hit the ground with such impact that all but the tail section was buried in six to eight feet of mud. Only the Texas Department of Public Safety said the plane was lost from a radar screen about 2:50 a.m. CDT. About 10 minutes later, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lyssy called Gonzales County authorities about the crash. They had heard the plane flying over their ranch home and then noise of the crash.

The wreckage was spotted about five hours later by a search plane from the Civil Air Patrol.

Man Jailed After Affray
A 42-year old Pampa man was in jail Sunday night for intoxication following investigation of a disturbance at an East Campbell St. residence.

According to the official report, he was arrested and the woman was to file charges this morning.

Season's 1st Hurricane Points Toward Florida
APALACHICOLA, Fla. (AP) — Thousands evacuated low-lying areas and islands along Florida's Gulf Coast today, but others in the path of Hurricane Agnes refused to flee before the storm which has claimed eight lives.

Agnes was moving northward over the Gulf of Mexico at about 12 miles per hour. At midnight Sunday the eye of the storm was located about 250 miles south of Panama City in the Florida Panhandle.

Bearing sustained winds of 80 m.p.h. and gusts in excess of 100, Agnes is expected to make landfall near Apalachicola in the Panhandle early this afternoon, the National Hurricane Center said.

Earlier in the weekend, she claimed seven lives as she raked the western tip of Cuba, and a woman died in La Belle, Fla., on Sunday when a tornado spawned by the storm demolished several mobile homes.

The manager of Faiver's restaurant in Panacea, John Trotman, said he would "just wait and see what happens" after putting plywood over his windows. About 20 residents of Dog Island, a tiny spit of land two miles off the fishing village of Carrabelle, refused to leave their still-legged homes Sunday night and watched the last ferry to the mainland wallow away through heavy seas.

One person was killed and about three dozen persons were reported injured by twisters that hit the state, damaging several buildings and about 80 mobile homes.

Five Perish In Plane Crash Near Gonzales

GONZALES, Tex. (AP) — Five persons, including two tiny girls, died Sunday morning when a four-place plane crashed into muddy rangeland near this South Texas town.

Cause of the crash had not been ascertained late Sunday night as workers still were taking bodies from the aircraft which apparently hit the ground in a nose-first power dive.

Killed were Eugene W. Davis Jr., 27; the pilot; Joe Morales, 27, employe of a Harlingen, Tex., mobile home firm; Morales' wife, Lydia, 25, and their daughters, Belinda Jo, 4, and Shelly Ann, 2.

The aircraft, a Cessna 182, did not burn. The owners, Air Central, Inc., of Harlingen, said David was an experienced, veteran flier with 2,000 flight hours. A funeral home said Davis was from Harlingen but his pilot's license listed a Houston address.

Amateur Radio Operators Here To Join 'Field Day'

Local amateur radio operators will join a 5000-mile wide picnic this weekend as they set up two radio stations for their annual Field Day.

The stations will be set up on the Billy Davis Ranch three miles southeast of Lefors on Saturday. The group will operate from 2 p.m. Saturday until 2 p.m. Sunday.

Sponsored by the Amateur Radio Relay League, a national association of amateurs in Canada and the United States, the Field Day is expected to attract an estimated 12,000 ham operators from Nova Scotia to Hawaii.

All equipment for the local site will be supplied by gasoline-driven electric power generators to stimulate situations resulting from power failures in an emergency.

Operators will combine the fun of a campout with the excitement of a contest with serious preparation for emergencies as they gather up two-way shortwave sets, antennas, motor-driven generators, tents, cots and picnic food.

The hams will set up and operate their radio equipment from parks and benches, hillsides and forests without using commercial electric power, as they would do when a flood, tornado, hurricane or other disaster cuts the lines.

Anyone interested in watching the local group operate is welcome to come out to the ranch during the Field Day. All communications will be under the call of WTSV, Pampa Amateur Radio Club Station.

Retirement Tea Fetes Miss Edna Daughetee

Miss Edna Daughetee was honored with a retirement tea Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Al Smith, 1206 Christine. Assisting Mrs. Smith as hostess were Mmes. W.C. Epperson, L.E. Harris, Bob Haines, Carl Jones and Elmer Darnell.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Smith, Miss Daughetee and Mrs. Joe Carlton, sister of the honoree. Guests were registered by Misses Doris, Martha and Molly Carlton, nieces of Miss Daughetee.

The honoree was presented an orchid corsage, a gift from her sisters and brother, Mrs. Carlton, of Pampa, Mrs. W.W. McCrum of Long Beach, Calif., and Wiley Daughetee of Los Angeles, Calif.

The serving table, covered with an imported ecru cutwork cloth, was centered with an arrangement of pink and rose mixed flowers.

Refreshments of decorated cake squares, mints, nuts, punch and coffee were served.

Mrs. Jones presided at the crystal punch bowl, and Mrs. Darnell presided at the silver coffee service.

Miss Daughetee was graduated from Miami High School in 1924. An unusual feature of the retirement tea was that three members of her graduating class were present, Mrs. H.H. Keahey, Mrs. Homer Powell and Miss Eddie Mae Scott.

In 1925, she attended West Texas State, where she received her teaching certificate. Her first teaching assignment was at Tony Ridge School in Carson County, where she taught with Miss Esther Dellis, now Mrs. Guy Blanton of Amarillo, who attended the tea, also.

Through the years, she taught at Keplinger School in Gray County, Cuyler School in Carson County, and, from 1930 until 1942, she taught first grade in Hereford. She completed, this year, 30 years of teaching first grade at Baker Elementary School, spending 21 of those years in the same room.

Teaching during the winter and attending summer school, she was awarded a bachelor of science degree in elementary education from West Texas State Teachers' College in 1937.

Miss Daughetee, who resided at 1313 Duncan, plans to substitute teach, travel and to devote more time to work at the Harvester-Mary Ellen Church of Christ, where she presently teaches a third-grade Sunday School class.

Approximately 60 persons attended the retirement tea.

Bikini Bulge

If you try on last year's bathing suit and discover that your suffering from bikini bulge, there's only a few things you can do. Get rid of the bulge by exercising and dieting faithfully or buy one of the new one-piece bathing suits that will at least camouflage part of the problem.

Dear Abby

'Monkey business' not deductible

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Charles Tilton-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: A friend and I have been sharing a mistress for the last year. It's been a good arrangement for all of us as I am there [another city] Monday morning thru Wednesday noon, and my friend is there from Wednesday noon thru Friday. [Then she has the weekend off.]

We pay all the expenses and give her spending money. The cost is about $400 a month from each of us. We are both salesmen and we save on hotel and meals.

The problem: She wants to report this for income tax. It comes to $1,518 per year, and we will have to give her extra money to pay it. We are both on salary and pay the full rate and can't deduct her or any of our expenses as they are paid in cash and we have no receipts. Besides, our wives would find out.

What do you advise?

HONEST TAXPAYER

DEAR HONEST: Since you travel for business, you'd be ahead to stay in hotels and eat out. Business expenses are deductible. But NOT monkey business.

DEAR ABBY: A mailman offered the following information in your column: "If someone receives something thru the mails which he did not order and does not want, all he has to do is write, 'Refused. Return to Sender' on it and drop it in the mail. If he has opened it, he should simply tape it shut, and return it in the aforementioned manner."

This is only partially correct. Anything sent thru the mail which has been opened by the addressee, cannot be re-entered into the mail without being properly re-addressed and new postage affixed.

Please correct that mailman's original statement. He should have known better.

INFORMED IN PHOENIX

DEAR INFORMED: I should have, too. But it's been a long time since I've played "post office."

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem which I have been unable to solve, and I'm hoping you can help me.

The September before last I loaned one of my precious books to a member of our social group. Three members of our group had read it and returned it, but this person refuses to return it to me altho I have asked her no less than a dozen times.

The last time I asked her for it, she said, "Oh, do I still have that book? I'll have to look around and see if I can find it." That was six months ago and I haven't heard a word about it since.

What can I do, Abby? I really want that book!

BURNING IN AUBURN, ILL.

DEAR BURNING: It's a pretty good bet that your friend [a] misplaced it; [b] let someone else read it, and she can't remember who; [c] just plain lost it.

You could call on her and offer to wait until she locates the book. And if that fails, you will have learned a valuable lesson. Precious books are not for lending.

CONFIDENTIAL to "The Lovely Young Couple Who Recently Moved into an Apartment in Erwin, Tennessee": Your neighbors inform me that your bed squeaks!

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90060 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

paused for a mute soliloquy. Was there any hurry about taking that ace of clubs? Was there any harm in taking it? The answer to the first question was only if Yorrick could shift to a suit his partner could ruff. The answer to the second was only if Yorrick held eight clubs.

Hamlet decided there was something rotten about the club suit and he let Yorrick hold the first trick. It was just as well. East could have ruffed the ace and left Hamlet one trick short of his slam.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

TUESDAY, JUNE 20
YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY:
 Your path is clearly marked on many issues, both by your past choices and by the straightforward pattern of your personal environment. Maturing changes you, lead you out of some relationships, past the need for some possessions. Today's natives are more determined than most Gemini's, good at following examples, improving on another's style.

Aries [March 21-April 19]:
 The news is told again and again. Your patience wears thin. Pick up the pieces for somebody in need, offer reassurance.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]:
 Take responsibility for what you do, following no advice against your subconscious perception. There can be no excuse for passing the buck.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]:
 If you have it in writing, use it. If not, do what you can, avoid new obligations. Spend time with loved ones, listen for messages beyond spoken words.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]:
 Afternoon plans are subject to displacement, be ready for changes. Be calm while people reconsider—opinions may be unfavorable.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]:
 Now is the time to hold your own, rather than go adventuring. Well-meaning people may be persuasive in urging fresh spending.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]:
 The sensible thing under today's stress is the minimum that will suffice. Creature comforts are emphasized. Let inhibitions go.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]:
 There is an obstacle in your path, you don't fully understand. Divert yourself with social pursuits, letting career concerns run idle.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]:
 Be sure of your strength and your weak spots. Make necessary decisions, then stick with them. Precision is essential.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]:
 Triumph in argument for the moment may be defeat in losing a friend or a future opportunity. Think, forgive, rather than clash needlessly.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]:
 Talk displaces action again today, and it may be just as well. People are not always consistent, must have time to come to terms with problems.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]:
 Much of the interference you encounter is of your own making. You may have invited competitors into action by showing off.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]:
 Being willing to go halfway with those you care about is half the achievement now. Home life takes more time than usual.

R HORAY FOR DAD!

Moms get a little more overall public recognition, daughters get the oo's and ah's by being pretty and sweet, and sons get the cheers for being handsome and well-mannered. But, Dad is usually just taken for granted like the Rock of Gibraltar or the Bank of England. Good "old" Dad is about the best he receives.

However, when the chips are down everyone turns to father. This is especially true when there is an illness in the family. Somehow, when Dad calls or comes into our pharmacy to pick-up a prescription, we get the feeling that everything is going to turn out all right.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

Nicklaus Wins U.S. Open By Three Shots

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus stood like a blond colossus atop the pinnacle of all golf today—beside the late Bob Jones and halfway home toward an almost unthinkable Grand Slam—what he had imagined.

"Bob Jones always was my idol and, as I was growing up, I talked about equalling his record of 13 major championships," the powerful 32-year-old shotmaker from Columbus, Ohio, said after winning his third U.S. Open title and his 13th major crown in gusty Pebble Beach winds that blew down all other challengers.

"I thought about it and I worked for it but I never expected it to happen," he continued, discussing Jones' proud record set in the Golden Twenties. "Now that I've got it, I have a funny feeling."

"I am proud to be in his company." Winner of the Masters and the U.S. Open, the first two legs of the unprecedented professional sweep which no man has accomplished, Big Jack now must set his sights on the British Open at Muirfield July 12-15 and the American PGA at Oakland Hills in Birmingham, Mich., Aug. 3-6.

The final round over the 6,812-yard, par 72 Pebble Beach course that snakes along the crashing waves of the Pacific Ocean was played in conditions too foul for man or beast.

The winds whipping off the ocean reached gusts of 30 miles an hour. The postage stamp greens were hard as concrete and slick as marble. All of the competitors, including Nicklaus, found themselves playing out of craggy canyons and off of rocky beaches.

He won by three shots over Australian Bruce Crampton, who shot 76 for 293 with the re-surfacing but frustrated Arnold Palmer a disappointed third with a 76 for 294. Defending champion Lee Trevino, only five days out of a hospital, played in a two-some with the awesome Nicklaus and finished with a 78 for 295, tying another Mexican-American, Homero Blancas, who closed with a 75.

"I can't recall a day when we almost were not playing golf out there," Nicklaus acknowledged afterward. "Skills were almost totally eliminated. The greens were dead. There was not much, if any, water on them and they had been rolled."

"The greens had different speeds. If you made a putt, it was luck. It was a matter of avoiding three-putt greens."

Nicklaus, at even par 216, started the final round with a one-stroke lead over Trevino, Crampton and Kermit Zarley with Palmer and young John Miller two strokes back at 218.

At one stage in the early going, at the fifth hole, after consecutive bogeys by Nicklaus, Zarley and Palmer pulled into a brief tie with the leader, Palmer having sunk a 30-foot putt for a birdie at the third.

Nicklaus, dressed in a yellow sweater to match his unruly blond locks, stood up against the elements like a stanchion of steel—increasing his advantage to three strokes—until he reached the 10th, which wind a zig-zag course along Carmel Bay.

There Nicklaus took a double bogey six and suddenly it appeared that a battle might be in the making on the treacherous finishing holes.

"I was hit by a gust of wind on the backswing," Jack said. "I came off the ball and sliced onto the beach where I had an unplayable lie. I hit my third into the bank, chopped out to within ten feet and missed the putt."

Palmer said he realized that Nicklaus had gone over the bank and he took encouragement.

"I thought I had a chance," Palmer, 42, who hasn't won a major crown since the 1964 Masters, said. "Then I missed an eight foot putt at the 14th. That, for me, made the difference."

"I made too many mistakes, especially in driving. I missed my drives on six holes, five of them on the back nine which in the earlier rounds I had played better than the front nine."

Nicklaus hit his climactic shot on the hazard-pocked, 218-yard 17th.

The ball cut through the air, hit the pin, almost dropping for a hole-in-one, and spun six inches away. Nicklaus had only that far to putt for a birdie that slammed the door.

Gene Sarazen

Sarazen And Knickers Are Holding Up Great

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

MARCO ISLAND, Fla. — (NEA)—It would seem a fitting end to a spectacular career if Gene Sarazen, strolling bowlegged along the beach here, would go off knickered and shelling into the sunset.

Sarazen is not having any of that romantic folderol. He is now 70 years old and as doughty as he was 50 years ago when he won the U.S. Open with a final-round 68.

He still wears knickers. And he does amble along the beach here for shells. But he does it twice a day—in early morning and then in late afternoon—five miles at a time, to keep his legs and eyes in shape for his golf game.

His regimen works so well that he can still shoot a 69, as he did last Feb. 26, the day after his birthday.

The firm sand obviously helps strengthen the leg. As for the eye, "Shelling," said Sarazen, "is good for the golfer. It teaches him to keep his head down."

Even after 50 years of high-level golf, Sarazen admittedly still is learning and observing.

"If there is one single thing I attribute to sticking around so long — of having been able to compete from the generation of Francis Ouimet to those of Jones and Hagen and Hogan and Palmer and Trevino — that one attribute would be that I was a great observer," says Sarazen, at his beach-front home here.

He might incorporate an aspect of a good putting stance, or astutely notice a certain rub of the green.

One of his most memorable early lessons in observation came in his teens when he was a caddy at Apawamis in Westchester, New York. Ed Sullivan, later to gain fame as an unwitting television comedian, and Sarazen were caddies. Sullivan's number was 98 and Sarazen's was 99. Their numbers came up this one afternoon to caddy for the next twosome.

Sarazen recalls this incident with dark eyes bright with amusement, and a raconteur's relish.

"We saw these two men coming toward us," said Sarazen. "One was dressed in white flannels, a big belly and had an expensive golf bag. He was the New York police commissioner, a man named Enright. The other man looked like he needed a good meal. His clothes looked like hand-me-downs. He had a little cheap Sunday bag, with six rusty, hickory-shaft clubs in it."

"Well, Ed, he could run like Paavo Nurmi in those days. He dashed out and grabbed the expensive bag. I got stuck with the other one."

"The guy I got turned out to be Grantland Rice," who had just come from Tennessee to live in New York. The commissioner gave Ed a two-buck tip. And Rice gave me a big tip. And I learned a lesson: Don't always judge a man by his bag."

Today, some people without knowing Sarazen might give him a fish-eyed once-over and dismiss him as a man living in the past. His knickers could do this to the uninitiated and unobservant.

When the change from knickers to long pants came in the 1930s, Sarazen saw no need to change. He is short (5-5) and felt that pants would bind him at the knees. Knickers to him were also stylish. Still are.

He has made one concession in recent years. The knickers are somewhat more form-fitting, and are custom-made from DiFini's in New York City. He was finding that the old knickers were too floppy on windy days. Today's Sarazen knickers are also double knits. He has 30 or 40 pairs of them. Every few years he cleans out his closet and gives his old knickers away. He has a summer home in New England and the neighboring farmers' wives make skirts out of the throw-away knickers.

Wool socks are worn with the knickers. Sarazen has hundreds of colorful pairs of them and though he got rid of them once, they continue to come back to him.

It seems that in 1937 he was in Pittsburgh. A department store there, caught in the switches of the pants transition, had about 400 pairs of lame-duck woolen socks Sarazen bought them at a remarkable bargain.

In years to come, he would give socks away to the neighboring farmers at Christmas time. The farmers wore them on cold days under their work clothes.

"Every year now I get several pairs of those socks returned to me," says Sarazen. "The wives send them back when their husbands die."

Tagge And Mildren Hope To Muster Points

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — For three years, quarterbacks Jerry Tagge of Nebraska and Jack Mildren of Oklahoma viewed one another with suspicion if not downright animosity.

And you couldn't blame Mildren if he became a little paranoid.

Nebraska and Tagge whipped his Sooners three times, the most dramatic last Thanksgiving in a showdown for the Big Eight title and the national championship.

"But it'll be a different song Saturday night," says Mildren, who will join Tagge in directing the West attack in the Coaches All-American football game.

"Yeah," said Tagge. "It's break up the offense and make it exciting."

Mildren agreed, saying that his and Tagge's strongest attribute is "we can think... and adapt to any situation. We're going to be running some of our offense and some of his offense."

"It won't be anything new for either of us," he said. "Neither of us anticipates any problems."

The former rivals have become close friends, although they likely will clash again in the pro ranks. Green Bay drafted Tagge and Baltimore picked up Mildren as a defensive back.

Jockey Michael Hole, 32, was born in Canterbury, England.

But the West team, with Tagge and Mildren alternating, executed from the Wishbone during a portion of the early practice sessions.

"The offense will have to be basic because we have a limited time to learn it," Tagge said. "I think we'll run some Wishbone, some I, and some spread. Of course, Jack is more experienced in the Wishbone, and I'm more experienced in the I, although we both have some experience in all three."

"So we should be able to

Legion Wins Third In Row

Pampa's American Legion baseball team made it three in a row Saturday by downing Spearman 7-2 in Spearman.

Mike Reddell hit a home run in the fifth inning with two aboard to lead Pampa's hitters.

Mike Edgar got the win for Pampa, his second of the year.

Besides Reddell's homer, Dale Ammons and Jeff Hogan got doubles and Larry Knutson got a triple to help the Rebel's cause.

SHAVING STROKES

56-Fairway Bunker Shots

On long fairway bunker shots, the most prevalent fault is to move your feet and overshift your weight.

No matter how well you dig in, your feet are going to slip unless you take special precautions.

I recommend that you start with 75 per cent of your weight on your left foot. Then swing only your upper torso.

You may not look super, but you'll have a better chance of getting the ball somewhere on the green. That's all you should expect in this situation.

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Rising Number Believe Strikes Hurt Country

Most Americans—including a large majority of union members themselves—feel that strikes and labor disputes have seriously hurt the country.

This was the major finding of a recent survey by Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton, N.J. The survey cutting across population subgroups (age, race, region, education, etc.) was one of a continuing series of inquiries into public thinking on unions and labor legislation sponsored by the Labor Law Study Committee.

In this latest survey, a key question was: "In your opinion, have recent strikes and labor trouble seriously hurt the country as a whole, or haven't they had that much effect?"

Of the general public, 68 per cent said that strikes have hurt, 20 per cent believed that they have not and 12 per cent had no opinion. Among union members, 61 per cent felt that strikes have hurt.

The Labor Law Study Committee notes that at each interval since this question was first asked in 1967, there have been increases in the proportion of people who feel that strikes are harmful. The 68 per cent figure represents a 4 per cent increase since 1970.

This does not necessarily indicate a growing "anti-union" bias in America. On the contrary, it could mean that unionism has proved itself and has won its biggest fight and that in a time of inflation coupled with high unemployment, and especially in the face of rising foreign competition, more and more people are coming to believe that there must be a better way to solve labor disputes and achieve economic gains than through strikes.

How the Sack Is Hit

Here's news of some sort: Marital status doesn't have much to do with how much sleep a person gets, at least according to a study made by a student at Michigan State University.

Gaines W. Wilson asked volunteer single and married students to keep records of their hours of sleep during the month of May, and also to note the degree of happiness or unhappiness they felt upon waking.

Ranked first for getting the most sleep were married women, followed by single men, followed by married men and, lastly, single women.

Wilson had hypothesized that married men and women sleep longer because of being more "settled and secure" whereas single students socialize and keep "rather late" hours.

That this was no slipshod study is shown by the fact that the married women slept an average of 7.72 hours (not 7.71 or 7.73) out of 24, single men 7.33, married men 7.29 and single women 7.22.

As for waking-up moods, these ranged between 3 and 5 on a happiness-unhappiness scale of 1 through 5, whatever that means.

Daytime naps were not a significant factor in the overall picture, and it is not recorded whether most napping takes place inside or outside of classrooms.

Have-Nots Gobble Haves

New York Assemblyman Andrew Stein of Manhattan warns that the city is running out of taxpayers.

In 1960, he says, the ratio of taxpayers employed by private enterprise to the number of welfare recipients was 9.7 to 1. Today there are only 2.6 taxpayers to each welfare recipient in New York City.

If that 6 taxpayer would carry his full load, though, things wouldn't be so bad.

Could The U.S. Start Over Again?

By PAUL HARVEY

Election year reminders of our manifold problems; we shouldn't have to put up with all this extravagant government, clumsy mismanagement of social problems, diminished value of dollars and inexcusable involvements.

But history says the "outs" and their bandages will not cure our chronic ills.

Might the United States undergo a major overhaul? Might we strip down, abolish the bureaucracy altogether and start over?

One man thinks we can and we must.

Big labor's George Meany is warning of "revolution." He says government's proposed arbitration of transportation labor disputes would be "a long step toward totalitarianism, would eventually lead to revolution."

Industry spokesmen say if government does not avert these national tie-ups which menace the public interest, the result may be "revolution," "totalitarianism."

Appears we're durned if we do and durned if we don't.

Now here comes a sober and substantial member of the Establishment proposing that we not try to solve all these complex problems—just wipe 'em out and start over.

Dennis Gabor is a dreamer. But he's also a Nobel prize-winning physicist; inventor of three-dimensional photography.

He's not a wild-eyed overthrower. He's a quiet, deliberate, contemplative overthrower.

Dr. Gabor believes we should "invent the future," instead of just letting it happen.

He concedes that our free industrial civilization with all its faults is far superior to most systems of the past, both in material success and in humanitarianism. But he says it's "not likely to survive another generation."

Free people, abusing freedom, never keep it very long.

Our nation, for example, was founded by men who believed in "doing unto others"; recent generations have learned to "do others."

Dr. Gabor says the free countries are about to be driven—from without and from within—into totalitarianism.

He says when workers weary of work, eventually somebody will force them to work.

He says when young people do not consider abridged freedom worth fighting for or consumerism worth working for, the end of the dynamically growing production-oriented consumer society is in sight.

History says that we all want to be where we aren't. Workers think leisure is the answer. The idle want jobs. The prospering young see that money does not buy happiness, only to discover that poverty doesn't either.

Dr. Gabor wants us to accept this inevitable restiveness and "manage" the next transition, to give up "growing" as a personal or a national objective and seek to encourage, inspire, stimulate interest in service-oriented occupations.

This distinguished scientist would be the last to concede that he is recommending a religious revival, yet what he's really saying is that we should return now to "doing unto others...."

1968 Backfire A Lot of Ferment Awaits Democrats

By BRUCE BIOASSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Even if the 1972 Democratic national convention at Miami Beach picks the presidential nominee quickly next month, its hazy, controversial party reforms and the vastly altered make-up of the delegations could produce incredible ferment.

Full review of the strengths and weaknesses of the reforms could consume thousands of words. I am going to talk here about just one phase—the strange conflict that has been allowed to develop between state authority and the Democratic national party.

Actually, the heralded reform guidelines designed for the admirable purpose of opening up party processes brush only lightly upon the issue of that conflict.

The real source of trouble lies in strictures laid down by the party at the height of emotional heat in the chaotic 1968 convention in Chicago. In the course of getting rid of what is called the "unit rule," by which some states bound their delegations to act in unison rather than divide by majority and minority, the 1968 convention broke all restraint.

In one of the most astonishing passages ever committed to print, it said it would not ask any delegate to perform any duty which he would consider to violate his individual conscience. To enlarge that idea, it added:

"As to any legal, moral or ethical obligation arising from a unit vote or rule imposed either by state law or a state convention or state committee or primary election of any nature...the convention will look to each individual delegate to determine for himself the extent of such obligation if any."

The kindest thing an objective reporter can say about that language is that it is sheer madness conceived in a wild convention that had lost its bearings.

Read literally, it is an open invitation to national convention delegates to violate the laws of their states and ignore, as they choose, any moral or ethical limit upon their political conduct.

Some elected 1972 delegates have been talking as if they plan to do just that when they gather in Miami Beach. Mostly these are people pledged by law to vote for disabled Gov. George Wallace, who legally gained their convention votes either by winning or placing well in various presidential primaries this spring.

This prospect has surfaced in such states as Florida, North Carolina, Tennessee and Maryland. Some chosen delegates have indicated they intend to vote for someone other than the voters' presidential choice.

Now, a profound issue of good faith is involved here. Put bluntly, it is this:

What kind of "individual conscience" is it that would tell an elected delegate he should go to a convention and act directly against the wishes of the voters in his state, as expressed in open primary balloting?

The whole purpose of the reforms is to make the process of choosing a nominee fairer, more balanced and more open. The reforms did not call for more primaries, but the increase this year in their number is tied to the demand for wider voter participation.

For the Democratic party to tell delegates they need not be bound by the decision the voters made in their states is to promise an enormous breach of faith—misleading at a minimum, deceitful and fraudulent at most. Why have "voter participation" if a delegate is truly free to ignore the results of that participation and make his conscience supreme?

Told the boss we wouldn't stand for any more work, and he agreed. Said we'd better spend more time at our desk.

Question Box

QUESTION: Why do we give money to countries where their own dictators and rulers live in luxury and do not help their own people? Why do we interfere with other countries' wars when many times we end up on the wrong side? Why do we worry about Indians in India when our own Indians are treated shamefully?

ANSWER: The three questions all relate to intervention by the national government into the affairs of other nations, it seems to us. In the first place, we can find no constitutional provisions which permit the government of the United States to give tax payers' money to the rulers of other countries, regardless of whether the rulers are benevolent toward their subjects. That goes for the people of India as well.

As to the interference with other countries' wars, the decision as to which side is wrong is subjective, and probably is determined by which side is the winner, if there is such a thing as a winner in any war. However, if there were no compulsory military service, it is doubtful if the United States would be involved in sending its military forces throughout the world. It will be recalled that Daniel Webster in opposing a military draft in 1814 predicted that soldiers would be dispatched around the world if compulsory military service were allowed.

The United States did not become involved in World War II until after President Roosevelt persuaded Congress to reinstitute the military draft. Contemporary writer John T. Flynn contended that Roosevelt's New Deal failed to bring recovery in the nation, and his embarking on a "war preparedness" program was his method of getting the economy back on its feet. This fits in with the theory that politicians get their countries into war in order to increase their own power over the people.

As to the American Indian question, it is this writer's opinion that the United States government should determine to abide by the many treaties which were made with the Red men who once roamed this country, and who accepted terms of treaties from Washington, only to have them abrogated in most instances.

Inside Washington

Controversy Raging in New Arms Limitation Agreements
By Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — Congressional consideration of the Strategic Arms Limitation agreements is just getting into full gear, but already the Administration is finding itself enmeshed in a highly volatile contradiction.

On one hand—the Administration is busily courting support for the pacts of the dove, isolationist, leftist and other malcontent elements and groups, in and out of Congress, that vehemently denounce and resist the Administration's strong defense, Vietnam war and other military and foreign policies.

On the other hand—Defense Secretary Laird, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and other leading authorities are sternly warning that the Moscow accords are acceptable only if certain specific new strategic arms are developed—costing billions of dollars and violently opposed by the anti-"military-industrial complex" forces and leftists.

How these directly clashing and seemingly irreconcilable alignments will or can be reconciled remains to be seen. It will be quite a feat—if accomplished.

But that is exactly what the White House is undertaking. Church, academic, youth and "peace" leaders and activists are being brought to the White House for briefings and talks to win their backing for the treaties. This is being done quietly and without fanfare.

At the same time, Laird and other top officials are vigorously proclaiming the indispensable need for more advanced strategic weapons. Illustrations:

Laird told the House Appropriations subcommittee on the defense budget: "Peace cannot be bought cheaply. Just as the Moscow agreements were made possible by our successful action in such programs as Safeguard, Poseidon and Minuteman III, so the opportunities for peace embodied in the SALT agreements would be nullified and our national security jeopardized unless there is continued strong support for an adequate defense. The success of SALT depends on sustained strength."

Similarly, Rep. Samuel Stratton, D-N.Y., a senior member of the Armed Services Committee, declared: "It would be a dire mistake to think that these treaties automatically eliminate all chances of nuclear war. They are only a first step. Under them, we have allowed the Russians more weapons than we have, so the only way we can keep the balance between us is to make improvements in our own forces—such as the new, improved Trident submarine, B-1 bomber and SITE DEFENSE—to keep pace with the measures the Soviet will most surely undertake."

"Unless we keep up with them during the next five years while we try to work out a full freeze on all offensive weapons, we could be in trouble. And let's not delude ourselves, it is still touch-and-go whether Congress will provide enough funds for the research and improvement needed to maintain an adequate military balance between Russia and ourselves over the next five years."

Sen. Jackson questioned Laird for almost one-half hour in an effort to clarify the status of these powerful weapons—but to no avail. Finally he gave up, saying: "Presumably, the 'interpretations' deal with these boats."

"Yes, presumably," replied Laird. "We will get up a detailed analysis and submit it later. That will clear up the matter, I'm sure."

"If it doesn't," said Jackson, "you can be sure we will want to know why."

Committeemen attending this meeting could not explain why it was secret. No classified or divulged, but Laird insisted the session be strictly private. Whether a transcript ever will be made public is questionable.

Sen. Jackson intends to do some declassifying of his own.

He will shortly make public the transcripts of the secret hearings he held over a period of three years with the U.S. delegation to the SALT negotiations. These records should throw much light on the Moscow accords.

No Push-Over
In these forceful admonitions may rest the answer to what Congress does regarding the Moscow accords.

Their approval is far from certain; it won't come soon or easily.

Significantly indicative of that are the hearings planned by Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the subcommittee on National Security and International Operations. The outstanding authority in Congress on strategic weapons, he contemplates exhaustive inquiries into every aspect of the still largely secret accords.

Jackson frankly intends to conduct "adversary proceedings" in which the Joint Chiefs of Staff will be required to testify under oath—thus allowing them legally to voice their own views and not be bound by official policies.

Much backstage questioning has arisen in influential Congressional quarters over the Administration's delay in submitting the treaties and a accompanying "interpretations"—the crux of these pacts. Instead of being sent to Congress within a few days after the President's return from Moscow, as he said would be done, they weren't forthcoming for two weeks.

During that time, Congressional authorities were kept completely in the dark on the substance of both the agreements and the crucial "interpretations." Repeated efforts to learn their contents were unavailing.

There were also definite indications that top Administration officials were unimpressed.

A striking instance of this occurred at a closed-door meeting of the Senate and House Armed Services Committees at which Laird discussed the treaties. To the surprise of committeemen, the Pentagon chief was uncertain whether the Russians' G-class submarines are or are not included in the agreements.

The Reds have 22 of these diesel-powered submarines armed with nuclear missiles.

Sen. Jackson questioned Laird for almost one-half hour in an effort to clarify the status of these powerful weapons—but to no avail. Finally he gave up, saying: "Presumably, the 'interpretations' deal with these boats."

"Yes, presumably," replied Laird. "We will get up a detailed analysis and submit it later. That will clear up the matter, I'm sure."

"If it doesn't," said Jackson, "you can be sure we will want to know why."

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE,
PH. D., M. D.

Mary's pregnancy problem should be debated by teen-agers! For 6 people will be more unhappy, if Mary follows the sentimental advice of her inexperienced girl friends! But those 6 will be much happier by heeding the prescription given below!

CASE U-513: Mary L., age 17, is pregnant.

"Dr. Crane," she asked, tearfully, "what shall I do about the baby?"

"I got pregnant during my junior year in high school and the baby is due next month."

"My parents want me to let it be adopted."

"But my best girl friends think it would be wonderful for me to keep it."

"I got pregnant at a school party where a lot of drinking went on."

"So I don't know for sure who the father is."

"But I must make up my mind soon, so what would you recommend?"

ADOPTION DILEMMA
The proper rule to follow is this:

Whatever does the most good for the most people over the longest period of time, is right and just.

Now notice those who are closely involved in this situation:

(1) Mary, who needs to go back to high school for her senior year.

(2) Her parents, who would be forced to assume most of the care and financial support of the child.

(3) Its future adoptive parents, who would be a good family able to support and rear the baby in a loving home, where it would not be stigmatized by "illegitimacy."

(4) Finally, the baby itself, which would suffer many handicaps if Mary followed the sentimental advice of her girl friends.

Bluntly stated, the good of the baby warrants its adoption at the time of its birth!

Otherwise, Mary will be hampered in making a good adjustment to life, for she would probably stop her education.

And be hampered regarding future marriage.

Even if she did find a man who was willing to put a wedding ring on her finger, there might be veiled hostility to this baby in his home.

And her parents, though they would love and care for this grandchild, would doubtless spoil it even worse than they did Mary.

For grandparents tend to be more "permissive" than parents!

And think of that fine family which is eager to adopt a baby. They'd furnish it the proper surroundings of love, care and a good education.

Mary will suffer a temporary heartache at releasing her baby for adoption.

But if it is done while she is still at the hospital, she will not have developed a strong attachment to it, so she will bounce back to normal emotional stability within a few weeks.

Besides, her future readjustment will be greatly enhanced by not having an illegitimate child to complicate a future marriage.

Her parents likewise will not be under the constant veiled censure of having an unwed daughter's child in their home.
