Mayor Proclaims 'Western Week'

Final preparations are underway for the 28th annual Top o' Texas Rodeo activities to be held this week.

Mayor R.D. Wilkerson issued a proclamation proclaiming July 28 through Aug. 3 as Western Week in Pampa in relation to the annual rodeo events.

The mayor in his proclamation noted that the president and directors of the Top o' Texas Rodeo Association "would like for the entire community and surrounding areas to enjoy this event, participate in the festivities and dress appropriately during that week."

Residents have been urged to wear Western dress during the week, even at work if it is feasible, in keeping with the spirit of the occasion, association President D. Kenneth L. Royce said.

The first performance of the rodeo will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, following the rodeo parade in downtown Pampa at 4 p.m.

Professional cowboys and cowgirls are expected to start arriving in Pampa Tuesday in preparation for the event.

Other performances will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m.

Reserved seats may be had by calling the rodeo office at the Chamber of Commerce, 669-3241.

Kid Pony Show performances will be held at 2 p.m. (free to the public) and 8 p.m. (admission charged) Tuesday.

All performances will be at the Recreation Park east of the city.

Top specialty acts include rodeo clown Buck LeGrand and the Cogburn professional rodeo acts.

A Pony Express Race will be held nightly, with the finals being run Saturday night.

The Pampa High School Rodeo Band will provide music for the grand entry and will cue all the action at each performance.

6 Republicans Approve Motion

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The House Judiciary Committee voted 27 to 11 Saturday night to recommend that Richard M. Nixon be impeached and removed from the presidency for obstruction of justice in the Watergate cover-up.

In the historic roll call vote, in which all 21 Democrats were joined by 6 of the 17 Republicans, the committee declared Nixon violated his oath to uphold the Constitution by making it his course of conduct to "delay, impede and obstruct" the Watergate investigation, and to "cover up, conceal and protect those responsible."

Nixon thus became only the second U.S. president to have to face an impeachment vote by the full House of Representatives. The first, Andrew Johnson more than a century ago, was impeached by the House but cleared by one vote in a Senate trial.

The approval of the article charging Nixon with obstruction of justice had been widely expected. The committee still must debate and vote on a second article charging him with misuse of presidential powers.

And there may be still other articles introduced before the committee hands its decision officially to the full House. There were indications a key Republican would ask Nixon be impeached for failing to yield subpoenaed evidence to the committee, and there still was some Democratic sentiment to cite Nixon for criminal activity over his income tax returns.

The dramatic moment of the crucial roll call vote came as millions of Americans sat glued to their television sets on a Saturday night, watching history being made in an ornate committee room across from the U.S. Capitol.

It was another milestone in a story that broke on June 17, 1972 when five men wearing rubber gloves and carrying burglary tools were surprised in Democratic national headquarters on the sixth floor of the building that was to lend its name to the most far-reaching political scandal in American history.

For months the White House brushed off the break-in as a "third rate burglary," but inexorably the trail led to Nixon's closest and most trusted aides and associates, and now perils America's 37th president.

In all 32 persons have pleaded guilty or been convicted in Watergate-related cases, and proceedings are pending against others - including Nixon's two most trusted aides, H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman; and John N. Mitchell, twice Nixon's campaign manager and for four years his attorney general, the nation's highest law-enforcement officer.

The final vote came after several hours of almost perfunctory debate in which pro-impeachment forces defeated handily a series of efforts to eliminate the charges against Nixon for the Watergate cover-up.

Southern Democrats and pro-impeachment Republicans, making up the swing bloc on the 38-member panel, systematically moved to strike one after another of the nine counts against Nixon in the cover-up impeachment article. Each time, they were soundly defeated.

But their motions seemed intended to put into the public record detailed supporting evidence for each of the nine counts, which the President's diehard GOP supporters demanded in lengthy debate Friday.

First the committee rejected by voice vote a bid to delete a paragraph accusing Nixon of withholding relevant and material evidence or information from lawfully authorized investigative officers and employees of the United States.

sponsored the motions to delete the charges. And pro-impeachment Republicans William S. Cohen of Maine, M. Caldwell Butler of Virginia and Lawrence J. Hogan of Maryland recited the supporting evidence that Nixon's supporters had demanded Friday.

Rep. Charles W. Sandman, R-N.J., a Nixon ally who repeatedly had demanded specific details for the cover-up allegations Friday, charged Saturday that the pro-impeachment members merely were "rehashing" facts brought out earlier.

Hogan, who favors impeachment, replied that Sandman "subjected all of us yesterday to belabored arguments of the need for specificity. He convinced us that he's right. We're trying to be responsible and specifically support the articles of impeachment."

Troops Maintaining Cyprus Cease-Fire

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) - Turkish forces landed more men and supplies Saturday on Cyprus but firing dropped off in the sixth day of the United Nations cease-fire.

In Geneva, a basic Cyprus peace agreement appeared near among Great Britain, Greece and Turkey, the co-guarantors of the Cyprus independence treaty of 1960. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger was maintaining long-distance diplomacy by telephone to maintain the Cyprus cease-fire, which he largely engineered a week ago.

The United Nations Security Council, which had scheduled an urgent meeting Friday at the request of Cyprus and then postponed it, rescheduled it for 2 p.m. EDT Saturday.

In Geneva, Greece and Turkey, urged by the United States and Britain, appeared Saturday to be nearing a preliminary peace agreement conference delegates said. They said the agreement may be signed late Saturday night.

In Turkey, Prime Minister Bulent Ecevit said he could accept no further restrictions of any kind on Turkish troops in Cyprus unless isolated Turkish Cypriot communities on the island were protected from Greek Cypriot attack.

"We will not discuss ceasefire measures separately from effective security measures in Cyprus," Ecevit told newsmen after a meeting with Greek Ambassador Dimitrios Cosmadopoulos.

On Cyprus, at the outset of the sixth day of the cease-fire, only an occasional sniper shot or mortar round broke the quiet. Cars and bicycles moved on the streets of the capital and most shops opened.

A soccer stadium in the southern port of Limassol was still crowded with 1,750 Turkish Cypriot males of arms-bearing age. They were arrested by Greek Cypriot troops at the outbreak of the fighting and were being held as hostages for an estimated 600 Greek Cypriots captured by the Turkish invasion force.

Delegates Nix Charter Plans

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) - The Texas Constitutional Convention Saturday defeated nine compromise versions of a proposed new constitution, including one that for the first time had the solid support of organized labor.

The labor-backed package got an 88-73 majority vote, and appeared to be the vehicle most likely to be used for future compromise efforts. It deletes the right to work proposal, and puts limits on state taxes and welfare spending.

Convention President Price Daniel Jr. declined to vote on any of the nine proposals Saturday, and critics contended he had worked to hold down the vote on them so he would have a better chance Monday of getting the necessary 121 votes for the measure he prefers.

"He's not trying to pass a new constitution or to compromise, he's trying to pass his constitution or nothing," Rep. Arthur Temple, D-Diboll, said of Daniel.

"Obviously the mood of the convention is toward a compromise, and I don't know why he won't go along with it," Temple said. Daniel had called delegates into his office Saturday morning to ask for suggestions on how to hold down the vote on the compromises.

Carrasco Says Escape Nearing

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) - Fred Gomez Carrasco, leading a desperate bid by three convicts to break out of the Texas State Penitentiary, Saturday said the time for his break—possibly to Mexico—is nearing.

"I'm sure I can't give them (prison authorities) too much more time," Carrasco said. "The people are starting to break down. The hostages are giving up. I'm a reasonable man, but if they don't come through I'll do what I have to do."

Carrasco, 34, suspected of committing 50 murders during an alleged drug smuggling business in Texas and Mexico and serving a life term for assault to kill a Texas officer, indicated to a reporter allowed to interview him by telephone that he was tired of waiting in the prison classroom that he and the two other inmates have turned into a fortress. The convicts seized the classroom and the 11 persons in it Wednesday afternoon.

Until Saturday's interview with San Antonio Light reporter Clay Robison, Carrasco apparently was content to sit with his three pistols, waiting until prison authorities decided whether to comply with his request for rifles and ammunition. However, in an exchange with Robison, Carrasco indicated the end may be coming.

"The only persons I would take with me are three women and Father O'Brien (the Rev. Joseph O'Brien, a hostage)," Carrasco said.

He said he would release them when he reached "safe soil."

"What do you mean by 'safe soil'?" Robison asked.

"I mean out of the country, of course," Carrasco said.

"Would that be Mexico?" Robison asked.

"Probably," Carrasco said.

Carrasco warned authorities not to rush the library or continue to refuse his request for guns and ammunition.

Carrasco and the group, which also includes four other inmates not believed a part of the plan, have received food, bullet-proof vests, helmets, a suit of clothes, expensive shoes and a set of walkie-talkies, but have made no demands which would give officials a hint of how they plan to escape the huge prison compound.

IN GRAY COUNTY

Commemorative Coins Ready For Deliveries

Mrs. Clotilde Thompson announced Saturday that Gray County gold and silver commemorative Medallions have now arrived in Pampa and are ready for delivery.

Mrs. Thompson said the only deliveries possible at this time are for single coins, since the antique silver and bronze coins have not arrived as yet.

"For those who have already ordered, all that is necessary to pick up your single coins is to present your receipt at either Citizens Bank and Trust Company or the First National Bank, and your coin order will be delivered to you," she said.

Order blanks for coins and sets of coins are available at all area banks and museums and the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Thompson also said plans and preparations for the Aug. 5 art show and coin auction are "in excellent shape," and that everyone in the area is invited to M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium in Pampa that day.

The art show is made possible by the Pampa Fine Arts Association and the display will be open from 1 p.m. A reception will be held at the auditorium beginning at 6:30 p.m. with the public invited. The auction, with Col. Walter Britten as auctioneer, will begin at 8 p.m.

The coin auction will consist of the sale of the first 10 sets of four, first 10 sets of three, and the first 10 sets of two coins in the numbered series, which have been minted for Gray County, Texas.

Mrs. Thompson indicated she was hopeful of an overflow crowd for the entire event.

Price Suggests Red Tape Cuts In Disaster Aid

Congressman Bob Price of Pampa has asked Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz to streamline bureaucratic procedures to aid agricultural producers suffering natural disaster losses.

Price, in a letter to Butz, urged full use of local ASCS County Committees to help with on-site inspections required under disaster programs. He urged more USDA inspectors to augment local personnel and a general cutting of red tape.

"Many farmers are trying to salvage some value from their crops and the red tape and lack of adequate inspectors to get the crops evaluated under the disaster payments program is preventing many of them from salvaging their crops and receiving disaster payments," the senior member of the House Agriculture Committee said.

"In cases where crops are clearly a total loss, the members of the County Committees of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service should be able to quickly recognize it," Price said.

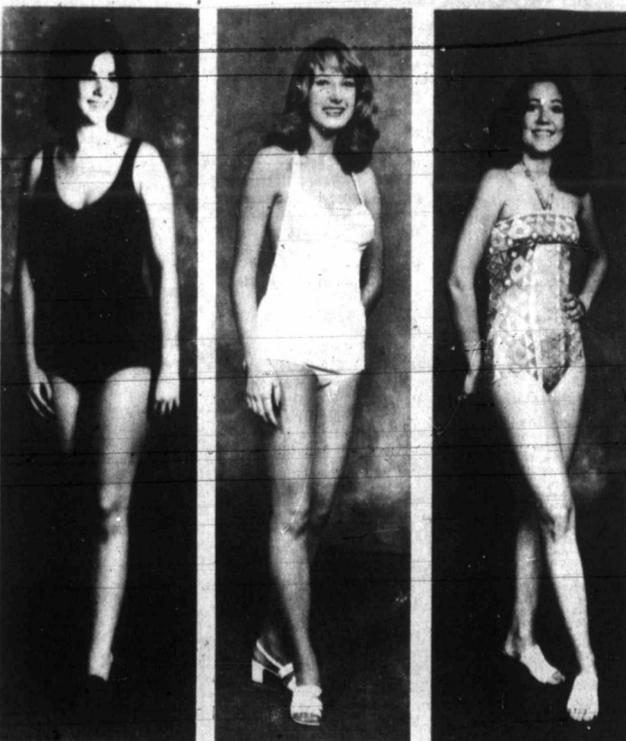

Authority for the Committees to certify clear cases of total loss would avoid the time-consuming process of getting official reporters to analyze the output.

"The expeditious procedure outlined above would permit farmers to prepare their land for other purposes if the crop reaches the permanent wilt stage.

"In cases where the crop yield is in doubt, leaving a sample of the crop standing for later evaluation would permit farmers to use the land or crop for other purposes while allowing a fair determination for disaster payments," the Texas legislator said.

"Inflation must be slowing down, claims the cynic. My local supermarket raised its prices only twice yesterday." Nonnee Coan reports his vegetable garden is flourishing. "Already I need a recipe for cooking crabgrass." Some women suffer discomfort because they buy shoes that fit the occasion instead of the feet. "My daughter and I are very close," a mother said. "She tells me everything - and I'm a nervous wreck." (For more laughs see Earl Wilson on Page 16.)

WOMAN REPORTS

Space Programs Aid Human Life

An estimated ten years have been added to the life span of the average American as a result of the U.S. government's space program, Mrs. R.J. Sailor, Jr. of White Deer told a luncheon audience at Friday's meeting of the Pampa Kiwanis Club.

Mrs. Sailor, a former Pampan and graduate of Pampa High School, reviewed the 17-year history of space exploration from Russia's Sputnik down to the present time.

Contrary to the opinion of many that money spent on space projects was being wasted, Mrs. Sailor pointed to numerous discoveries and advancements that have resulted from experiments conducted by astronauts down through the years of space spin-offs.

She told of advancements in the fields of medical science, communications, weather information, environmental goals, electronics, computers and natural resources through the medium of satellite experimentation.

The speaker also outlined many advances in consumer products that have made the

Hightower Misses Luncheon To Vote On Charter Plans

Although the guest of honor had to send his regrets at not being able to attend, Saturday's meeting of the "Farmers for Hightower" committee proceeded with their noon luncheon Saturday at Furr's Cafeteria.

The meeting had been set up by Henry Harnly, committee director for Gray County, in order that local farmers and ranchers might be able to exchange views with State Sen. Jack Hightower, who will oppose Republican Congressman Bob Price in the November general election in the 31st District.

Hightower sent a telegram Saturday morning stating that, because of his commitment to the Texas Constitutional Convention being held in Austin, he would be unable to attend the Pampa meeting.

A final vote had been expected Saturday on the proposed new constitution. (See related story, Page 1.)

In his telegram to Harnly and Lee McMurtry, a member of the senator's staff, Hightower reiterated his belief that the present administration in Washington was not doing enough to solve the problems confronting agriculture.

He also said he could not understand why Gray County had not been officially designated a "disaster area," action which would allow farmers to get emergency, low interest loans.

Others present at Saturday's "Dutch treat" luncheon included Ruth Osborne, Democratic Committeewoman for the 31st District; Rex McAnelly, president of Pampa Chamber of Commerce; and some 30 to 35 area persons interested in agriculture in one way or another.

No official word has been received regarding a re-scheduling of an appearance of Hightower in Pampa.

Reinecke Convicted Of Lying On ITT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — California Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke was convicted Saturday of lying to a Senate committee about an ITT offer to help finance the 1972 GOP convention. He immediately said he would appeal the verdict, describing it as a "gross miscarriage of justice."

Reinecke stood with his head bowed, shuffling through some papers, about 12:50 p.m. EDT when the jury foreman, Clayton D. Roth, a 29-year-old government intern, announced the verdict. The jury had deliberated more than nine hours over two days. The entire trial lasted 12 days.

The jurors convicted Reinecke of committing perjury when he told the Senate Judiciary Committee that he had not discussed the ITT offer with then Attorney General John N. Mitchell until after the Justice Department settled an antitrust suit the huge corporation, an indictment returned in April, initially listed three counts, but two were dropped before the trial.

Police Studying Store Break-In

Police Saturday were investigating a break-in at Hi-Land Pharmacy, 1307 N. Hobart.

The burglary was discovered at the time the store was opened Friday morning.

No syringes or needles were taken, and the safe and cash register had not been disturbed, officers said.

A complete inventory of missing drugs is still in progress.

MONDAY, JULY 29

Your birthday today: Finds you eager for adventure, starting to work for the good things of life. Check plans and promises for reality—the tendency is to overstatement, excessive optimism. Relationships are tested as you expect a great deal for too much from others. Today's natives are idealists, who somehow manage to protect themselves.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Expect increased outlay for personal needs. Budgeting helps. News from distant people is encouraging. Avoid involvement in secret schemes.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Your efficiency is enhanced by new methods and ideas. Friends pop in with all sorts of 'bright dreams' of little substance. It's a fine evening for fun, not business.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: From the conflicts of today come sound lessons. It's too easy to propose activity beyond the capacity of others. Younger people are certain to ask good questions.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Enthusiasm causes you to skip details—okay, but make sure they'll be dealt with soon. Almost everything you do can be viewed from another angle to be productive.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Money, particularly that of family or group, poses temptations. You're overly optimistic and impatient. Complete routines, then move on. Enjoy a good show tonight.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: You are confronted with fresh challenge. Give exceptional attention to the subtle aspects of human nature, the fine nuances of speech and behavior.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: It's not so much what you do as how you share the doing. Care with details is essential. Reasonable spending is indicated—proceed with confidence, good humor.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]:

Be willing to switch from outdated methods to new ones, avoiding the impractical. Verify financial information, old records. Avoid business in later hours.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Unexpected is the word for much of today's experience. Trivial routine items lead to further "coincidence" or "luck," troublesome at first, beneficial later.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: This is another day for second thoughts, checking of schedules, revised plans—saving expense and inconvenience. Romance is off-stage for now—more later.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Social moves involve costs you can't anticipate. Promote worthy causes, nonetheless. It's a long day and evening of stimulating encounters with interesting people.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: You're likely to be busy all day and late into the evening with extra work, some of it promising great benefits. Personal arrangements must be kept simple.

TV In Review

By P. MCCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI)—William H. Kohn, a television producer, climbs more stairs these days than he used to.

He walks more. He watches what goes into his mouth and down his gullet. He harps when children in his family munch what nutritionists call "junk foods." He needles them about exercise.

In many such ways, the William H. Kohn of today is different from the Kohn of two years ago. He's become something of a health nut. All in the name of staying alive and well.

What changed Kohn, it is hoped, will change millions of Americans and their health care practices. That is, exposure to a heap of education from the country's top health care experts.

Kohn got a two-year dose while producing the first parts of a new adult television series that will premiere on 250 public broadcasting stations November 20. On health, it is called "Alive & Well."

Details of the 26-week series, the first program produced for adults by the Children's Television Workshop (creators of Sesame Street and the Electric Co.) were described recently at a news conference here.

Production of the first season's programs is budgeted at $7 million. Kohn said the research and development that preceded the broadcasts put him in touch with top health care persons and changed his life.

Excerpts from the show, seen by reporters, illustrated the variety of television techniques used to treat subjects ranging from nutrition to exercise and from hypertension to breast self-examination.

These include song, dance, documentaries and situation comedy with top talent. Joan Ganz Cooney, president of CTW, said the primary target audience for the series was young parents, since they play major roles in influencing the health of their immediate families.

Among the priority topics on the agenda are: alcohol abuse, prenatal and child care, dental care, mental health and aspects of the health care delivery system—when and where to seek help.

Time will tell if the same television techniques that make Americans buy certain brands of bras, beer, shaving cream, toothpaste, and detergent will help them help themselves to good health.

THE HOUSE DOCTOR

Removing Paint From Large Surfaces Is Problem

By HERMAN BAUM
Dear House Doctor:
I have never seen anything in your column concerning paint removal. Please publish something on this subject. R.W.P.

ANSWER—An attempt to discuss paint removal in the space available is something like trying to summarize a Dickens novel in 10 words or less. However, here are the basic principals which should be a good start toward the education of would-be painters.

First, there is the problem of removing badly blistered and peeling paint from large surfaces such as the exterior of a frame house.

Professional painters use the paint buring procedure. They use either gasoline blowtorches or large cylinders of propane gas. Heat will cause the paint to blister and become soft so that it is easily scraped away.

There is always an element of danger associated with using this method.

If there are any small crevices between pieces of wood, there is the possibility that dust has collected in these spaces. This could be ignited and lead a trail of flame to the interior of the walls.

In many cities, paint burners must be licensed to do this work. If you use this method, you must be extremely careful. The homeowner should use the small propane gas cylinders and a nozzle that is fitted with a flame spreader so as not to concentrate the heat in one spot.

Keep the flame moving over an area about one foot in length until the paint is soft enough to scrape off with a wide blade paint scraper. If paint is being removed so that a natural finish can be applied, even more care is necessary so as not to scorch the wood.

Electric paint burners are available for doing this same job. The heating element is held over an area until the paint is softened for scraping, then moved to the next area. Electric burners are safe and remove the danger of starting a fire, but the work will proceed more slowly than with the torch.

Paint burning is not recommended for use on furniture and the wood trim inside the house, due to the possibility of damaging the surface. A chemical paint remover is preferred.

There are two types of this material. The older one contains benzol. It is highly flammable and the fumes are toxic. A newer type contains methylene chloride. It is non-flammable and much less toxic.

However, when used indoors, good ventilation must be provided. Place a fan in a window to draw out the fumes.

This type is in the form of a semipaste and it does not run from vertical surfaces. Cleanup can be done with water. Directions on the label must be followed carefully for best results. When you buy this remover, do not look for bargains. The higher priced products go further and work faster.

The final method for paint removal is to use a tool commonly called a hook scraper or wood scraper. These are available in a number of designs, ranging from the inexpensive tool illustrated to the one used by professional finishers.

When refinishing floors, this scraper is necessary for removing the old finish in corners that cannot be reached with the electric sanders.

They are also good for removing small areas of blistered and peeling paint on the outside of the house. The cutting edge of the scraper must be very sharp if it is to do the work properly.

When painting any surface, I always use a scraper first—not for removing the paint—but with very light pressure, to remove any minute roughness on the surface.

OUTPATIENTS' CLINIC
Mrs. F.A.E.—Since the method you used did not prevent the rosin in the knots bleeding through the paint, try removing the old paint down to bare wood. Then apply at least two coats of 4-pound cut shellac before repainting.

M.R.—The best way to eliminate creaking floors is to work from the underside, if it is exposed. The carpet must be removed if you work from above.

P.E.W.—The mortar can be removed from the surface of the bricks by applying diluted muriatic acid. One part acid is added to five parts water in a wood or glass container. Handling acid is always dangerous. It is best to let a brickmason handle the job.

G.Z.D.—The aluminum siding on your home can be painted with any good quality house paint. The same paint is used on the trim. If the paint is not peeling, no prior preparation of the surface is required other than removing dust.

FUNGUS KILLER
Dear House Doctor:
You recently suggested the use of pentachlorophenol for applying to the floor joints beneath my house to stop mildew growth. I have contacted two dozen concerns in my city and none sell it. Is there a substitute? A.G.

ANSWER—Copper naphthenate and zinc naphthenate are equally effective, but most are more expensive than the pentachlorophenol.

NOT ALUMINUM
Dear House Doctor:
Two years ago, I bought an aluminum utility shed from a local department store. Now, the roof is just a mass of rust. I am sandpapering away the rust, but what do I do to prevent this condition occurring again? R.S.

ANSWER—If you have proof that the shed was represented as being aluminum, you have a good case against the store. It is made of steel. After you have removed all the rust down to bright metal (if your energy lasts that long) apply a zinc-rich primer. Outside house paint is applied over this.

STICKY PAINT
Dear House Doctor:
The paint on my kitchen cupboards is sticky. I washed them good and then repainted, but the new paint is also sticky. Can you help me? Mrs. R.K.

ANSWER—The original paint on these cabinets has been damaged by the cooking grease that always settles on everything in a kitchen.

New paint applied over such a surface will not dry. You must now remove all of the paint down to bare wood and start over.

The Pampa Daily News
A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

The Federal Noose Tightens

This newspaper has been warning for over two decades that with federal (tax) money go federal controls. The U.S. Supreme Court made that abundantly clear when in October, 1942 (Wickard v. Filburn, 317 U.S. 111, p. 131) it ruled: "It is hardly lack of due process for the government to regulate that which it subsidizes."

Even so, and despite a wealth of evidence to the contrary, wishful thinkers, greedy for money which the federal government has taken from other individuals, have maintained that such funds could be accepted without the federal bureaucratic usages that go with them. Such dreams have been exploded time and again.

And now, not only is it obvious that federal controls are part and parcel of any "federal money" package but, according to a development in Indiana, local governing bodies no longer have the option of refusing federal funds. Swollen with the power obtained by dispensing federal goodies, the bureaucracy in Washington now directs that federal funds WILL BE sought and accepted, along with the controls that go with them.

Editorializing on the Indiana case in its December 20, 1973 issue the Indianapolis News said in part: "We have long been familiar with the fact that Federal aid means Federal controls. Now we are witnessing the converse of that proposition as Federal controls of our schools is being used as a sledgehammer to force Indianapolis to seek and acquire Federal money. Acceptance of such money replete, with guidelines and standards mandated by Federal bureaucrats, always means still other controls, so that the subject of our local institutions to the social engineers in Washington and in the Federal judiciary becomes ever more complete."

The News editorial was in reference to an order by Federal Judge S. Hugh Dillin directing the Indianapolis School Board to seek federal funds to pay the costs of forced busing of school children which had been ordered by Judge Dillin himself.

"This perfection of Federal tyranny," the News commented at greater length, "is something new in American government. Hitherto states and local communities, where some vestige of constitutional principle remained, could at least decide for themselves whether or not to seek Federal aid and enmesh themselves in the toils of the Washington bureaucracy — and this option has been used here and elsewhere despite the lure of something-for-nothing and the cry that we should 'get our share.' Now Judge Dillin in his wisdom has decided the Indianapolis schools shall now even have the option of declining to request Federal money."

Writing in the Indianapolis News four days later, on December 24, Lester Neal, Vice President of the Indianapolis School Board, had this to say: "The problem is not simply Federal aid, but the bureaucrats who administer and control it. It seems that what originally started out as an appealing helping hand to the needy in the form of milk and hot lunches, has mushroomed into programs designed not to fill empty stomachs BUT TO FILL THE HEADS OF OUR CHILDREN with ideas conceived by people in Washington who haven't the slightest idea of what life is like in Indianapolis and couldn't care less."

"Today," the School Board Vice President continued, "we see what I believe is one of the most significant steps ever taken by the Federal government. A duly elected school board is ordered by a Federal court to seek Federal aid regardless of the controls imposed."

"If this decision stands, and as soon as it is established that local governments can be forced to seek Federal aid, there will be no reason for the control artists in Congress to hold back. We will then be placed in a vise from which there will be no escape, the controls will be complete, and 'Federal aid' will become 'Federal medicine' without the traditional Federal spoonful of sugar."

MONEY HUNT. A BIGGER KICK EVERY TIME
INSIDE LABOR

Anti-Inflation Show Coming

By VICTOR RIESEL
WASHINGTON — They're playing client golf again at the Burning Tree country club. But it's difficult to tell who's whose client. Labor chief George Meany, who has been clobbering Dick Nixon and warning Federal Reserve chairman Arthur Burns to keep "his cotton-pickin' hands" off the economy, was on the links one recent Sunday morning with the President's newest economic counselor, Ken Rush.

Acting as broker and ideological caddy was former Treasury Secretary George Shultz, one of the few chaps with whom Meany is on speaking terms. The game plan was to let Meany win, soften him up and get him to resume diplomatic relations with the White House. Then Meany could tell his millions of followers to restrain themselves on wage demands.

Well, even if Meany, a self-made curmudgeon, was willing to yield, which isn't likely, he'd have to use his nifty club to his labor associates and the uncontrollable rank and file. Meany, who also has just played golf at Burning Tree with some of his own construction labor officials, can't even keep them in line, though in their powerful circles lies his greatest influence.

For example, though the building and construction trades unions — with some 3.5 million members — have been having a pay-day hey-day, their national chief, 41-year-old Bob George, has apparently set off a new inflation wave by telling his people they need more money for "catch up."

market. The White House froze considerable construction work in 1970 by executive order. The government costs were running too high. So construction money was impounded. And remember, the government is the nation's biggest customer in many a field, especially construction.

There is increasing clamor for action. Some congressional and federal leaders are beginning to table-thump ever louder and soon the outcry will come from non-unionized workers. It's not generally recognized that construction is intricately hooked to our daily lives. Many public employes — the laborers, for example — don't really bargain with their municipalities or states. They wait until the construction labor rates are set in the private sector. Then they "classify" in.

Thus the now famous 160 San Francisco street cleaners "earn" $17,059 a year — based on laborers private-sector rates. This pushes up local and state taxes — on income, sales and real estate (rents).

Certainly the cost of living has left millions of other workers behind. But that doesn't seem to impress the construction workers' elite rank and file who harass their leaders as well as the public.

Just what the President can do about all this isn't certain. Arthur Burns, for example, wants the Cost of Living Council and its controls revived.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield has called for wage-price controls. Congressman Wilbur Mills has called for impounding of at least $10 billion of federal spending. And he's chairman of the all-powerful House Ways and Means Committee.

Officially the administration is preparing for regional labor-management conferences. Perhaps that is what they discussed with Meany on the links. Ken Rush also has talked with the Teamsters president Frank Fitzsimmons. He, of course, is backing up the President. Meany disdains administration statements as "baloney" one can't eat. But there will be regional "consultative" conferences. White House objective is to "open up" in Chicago July 26 with a conference starring Vice President Jerry Ford.

So, actually, there is no visible action. But says one who helped write Dick Nixon's latest speech, "We are really on the way, three steps forward and two steps back."

He added that "the preliminary figures show the sharp cut of the first quarter has been blunted. I have divided our world in three groups — one, the financial community, which always is in chaos; two, the consumer community, which is stiffening, and three, the producers who once could sell anything and now discover they can't... Ken Rush is a great believer in communications and negotiations. Could work. But it will take years."

He said we have to get stability without fireworks. And we're on our way there — if we can keep the age-price front from exploding again. Maybe those golf clubs could do some good after all.

Note From Underground

The Underground Press Revue in New York suggests that "it is time, we believe, for a name change... Resolved: That the name of the Underground Press Syndicate shall be changed to Alternative Press Syndicate."

The word "underground," says the Revue, is not only a name but has become an obstacle to reaching more readers.

Members of the "establishment press" will agree. So called "underground" papers have always been anything but. Freely available, seldom repressed (save for obscenity), they bear no similarity at all to the truly underground publications bravely produced in countries that do not enjoy freedom of the press.

"Alternative," on the other hand, suggests that you can take them or leave them.

OUTRIDER

"Fat Jack" On The Trail

By GARRY WILLS
In his own Watergate report, appended to the Ervin Committee's Report, Senator Lowell Weicker wrote, ungrammatically but urgently: "Because most elected officials or citizens haven't had 'Fat Jack' or Tony Ulasewicz on their tail does not mean the abuses of Watergate passed them by." It is a sentence that Governor Marvin Mandel of Maryland might well savor now, since he currently has "Fat Jack" on his tail.

"Fat Jack" was the Watergate hoods' code name for John R. Buckley, a private investigator who worked in the "Ruby 1" operation. He planted a friend of his as a Muskie courier, so he could open and photograph private correspondence for the use of the Nixon team. Not a very savory occupation. Yet the same man has now been hired to spy on the Governor by a political rival, to find out if there is anything unsavory in his background.

The truly ironic thing is that the employer of "Fat Jack" is Congressman Lawrence Hogan, who is not only the Republican candidate for Governor but a member of the House Judiciary Committee currently sitting at President Nixon's impeachment. For him to hire one of the Watergate spies is much like having a judge ask the crook in front of him where to buy illicit goods.

One of the great sources of wrongdoing in the Nixon Administration was an unwillingness to trust the proper law enforcement authorities, and to live within the party restraints of our politics. Nixon, who trusted nobody, had to have his own secret police to bypass the FBI, the Justice Department, and the CIA. And since his close aides were all personal flunkies, rather than independent men with Republican ties, he could not trust the ordinary party sources of information. He ran a vigilante crew of law-enforcers who were reader to break the law than were authorized police and prosecutors.

Mr. Mandel's close associates are under investigation by the same prosecutors who uncovered Spiro Agnew's crimes. Mr. Hogan, who aspires to run the state's governmental apparatus, trusts it so little that he is hiring private detectives to check up not only on the governor, a political rival, but on the state prosecutor, a lifelong Republican. He does this, though the hired man's admitted record contains an unreasonable search of another person's papers — the very act for which John Ehrlichman was just convicted in a Washington court house. Does Mr. Hogan imagine that he has hired the most scrupulous kind of political ally? If so, his judgment disqualifies him for office. If not, then his willingness to use soiled instruments disqualifies him even more thoroughly.

How can a man, in the aftermath of Watergate, be so insensitive to the need for decency in campaign practices? More to the point: how can a man so little sensitive to such issues presume to sit in judgment on Richard Nixon? Any vote against impeachment will now look like Mr. Hogan's way of exonerating himself, along with Mr. Nixon.

Editor Of The News

LIKE THE old gray mare, air travel ain't what it used to be.

There was a time when you could make a flight reservation by phone, pick it up at the airport a half hour before departure, check your luggage, board the plane when it was called over the airport loud speaker system and be on your way.

Not so any more. The security check, invoked by airlines all across the country to put a stop to sky-jackings, has changed all that.

If you don't think so, just ask City Manager Mack Wofford who has brought back proof that the security check really works.

Wofford flew down to Dallas - Fort Worth last Monday to attend a business conference at Arlington. He was accompanied by Mayor R.D. Wilkerson and City Commissioner Joe Curtis.

There was no difficulty when they went through the check-up line at the Amarillo airport. All three passed the metal detector test.

However, as they started to board the plane at the Dallas - Fort Worth International Airport that night for the return trip to Amarillo — only the mayor and the city commissioner got through the line.

The city manager was politely asked to step out for a shake-down by one of the guards.

He was checked a second time and the detector turned him down once more. He assured the guard he wasn't carrying a gun.

Wofford was asked to remove his coat. The third examination showed no evidence the city manager was a hijacker. So, the guard began a search of the coat. All he found in one of the side pockets was a wadded-up aluminum foil wrapper from a stick of gum. That was the culprit.

The guard politely apologized for the inconvenience and allowed Wofford to board the plane. While all this was taking place, the City Hall learned somehow, Mayor Wilkerson and Commissioner Curtis were watching from the sidelines. Not only that, they seemed to be getting a kick out of what was happening to City Hall's head-man.

Incidentally, that aluminum foil wrapper was from a stick of gum the mayor had given Wofford while they were sitting in the business meeting. Wofford, not wishing to throw it on the floor and become a litterbug, had shoved it into his coat pocket. All of which would seem to have something to do with what they call irony.

THIS REPORTER and other newsmen in town have been passing up a good local news story.

All of them, if they've had any experience in the news field or have studied journalism at all, know very well that anything unusual is news.

Something unusual has happened in Pampa and not one of the news people has bothered to dig it out.

They all have carried the fact that Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has instituted a new dial tone for Pampa telephones. That happened last Monday as one of the preliminary steps to introduction of the new Touch Tone system that will replace dial phones here later this year.

We asked Gary Stevens, Southwestern Bell's local manager, a couple of days ago what the new Touch Tone system was going to cost the telephone user and he said probably about $1.75 extra on the monthly telephone bill. The exact charge has not been finalized, he said, but it will be a flat rate no matter how many phones you have in the house.

Then we asked Stevens what the charge would be for the new dial tone.

"Not a penny," he said, "it's absolutely free!"

How about that for the unusual? A new dial tone — and it's all for free!

AMONG TOP conversation pieces these days is the weather. Just about everybody you meet has something to say about the heat and the lack of rainfall.

Pampa has had only about 12 inches of precipitation since August of 1973. Only 8 inches since last October. No rain at all in July, says one report.

"The best rosebush, after all, is not the one that has the fewest thorns, but that which bears the finest roses."

Who Won The War?

One of the saddest of all commentaries on the entire Vietnamese war settlement came in the form of a question posed by one of the returning POW's the other day. In all seriousness, he asked: "Who won the war?"

To his utter amazement, he could not get an answer.

The returning Prisoners of War have a great deal to learn about the American culture into which they are returning. A great many changes have taken place in people's attitudes and thinking during their absence.

For instance — a new language is emerging. The meaning of older words are changing and completely different connotations are attached to them. A "vocabulary of surrender" is being used to gloss over our loss in Vietnam.

When the Dictionary of Defeat was being written by our leaders, "victory" was one word immediately stricken. "Surrender" and "ceasefire" are the two most common synonyms used to replace it. Phrases such as "peace with honor" are being used to replace "withdrawal" and "retreat."

Translation of the rhetoric used by our government leaders may be necessary before repatriated POW's understand the meaning. For instance, when the Secretary of Defense makes a statement that U.S. economic assistance to Hanoi depends on the stability of the Vietnam peace settlement, a translation is in order. What is meant is that if the Communists agree to behave, we'll give them $2.5 million in bribe money.

There is a great deal for the returning POW's to learn. Some may even be laboring under the mistaken idea that wars are fought to be won.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Read about Rev. Samuel's surprising rejuvenation of a dying church. And his teenage "Highway Patrol" grew enthusiastic when they saw how their "Home Missionary" work had revitalized the attendance. Try his method!

CASE A-696: Rev. Samuel, aged 24, is a seminary student.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I handle a church on weekends at a neighboring small town.

"It has been struggling for several years to keep afloat, for the membership has been dwindling.

"And the attendance at Sunday School had dropped to an average of only 43.

"Well, I formerly played basketball in college and enjoy competition, so I toyed with your idea about using a school bus to haul children and oldsters to Sunday School.

"My church trustees didn't see how we could raise even $800 for a used bus.

"So I talked to our Young People, who are juniors and seniors in High School.

"Most of them have drivers' licenses.

"And 6 of them agreed to take their family car to pick up children for Sunday School.

"We called these 6 our 'Highway Patrol' and urged all our church folks to let them know of any youngster or oldster who needed transportation on Sunday.

"Dr. Crane, we also decided to inject a little rivalry into the Highway Patrol, so we divided the 6 drivers into 2 teams.

"Each month the team that brought the most people was to be treated to a wiener bake or swimming party, with the losers furnishing the refreshments.

"Well, the idea caught on right from the start.

"And the rivalry motive acted like a shot of adrenaline to our dying church congregation.

"The very next Sunday, our Highway Patrol brought in 18 additional persons, so our attendance jumped from the previous average of 43, till it now reached 61.

"And on a couple of later Sundays our Highway Patrol had to make extra trips to fill the demand.

"By the first month's party, our Sunday School attendance had reached 103, which was a big difference from our former average of only 43.

"Meanwhile, church attendance also zoomed so I was encouraged to better sermonizing.

"At the end of 6 months, our finances had swollen till the congregation raised my salary by $25 per week, which certainly helps me a lot in my seminary expenses.

"Dr. Crane, I still feel that use of buses to haul people to church and Sunday School is a splendid idea.

"But you might pass along my own experience, for we accomplished much the same thing without expending money for a bus.

"Besides, the teen-agers who served as our Highway Patrol, were made to feel they were charter members of our revived church.

"For they served as excellent 'Home Missionaries,' so I made a special sermon lauding their splendid service.

"In a way, I think the use of volunteer drivers, as in our Highway Patrol, may even inspire more active participation in a small church than even having one official bus driver with a large school bus.

"Anyway, I'm happy over the remarkable change in what was a dying little church congregation.

"Send for my booklet 'How to Pop Up Sunday School,' enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The latest outbreak of fighting on Cyprus points up once again the need for new measures to eliminate friction between the Greeks and Turks.

Some of the best brains at the United Nations presently are working on this problem. To find out along what lines they might be thinking, I had a talk with a veteran U.N. observer, Omar Sans-Serif.

"It now appears the U.N. will propose an arrangement similar to the one that has worked so well in Ireland — namely partition," Sans-Serif observed.

"If you remember your history lessons you will recall that when Ireland was all one country there was a great deal of tension between Catholics and Protestants.

"That friction was eliminated by splitting the country into two parts — Northern Ireland with a Protestant majority and the Irish Republic with a Catholic majority.

"Now the Irish get along together famously, living side by side in peace and brotherhood."

I nodded. "It's a heart-warming story," I said.

"Essentially the same situation exists on Cyprus where there is constant enmity between Christians and Moslems," Sans-Serif observed.

"If the island were partitioned, creating a North Cyprus with a Moslem majority and a South Cyprus with a Christian majority, the Cypriots would soon be as harmonious as the Irish."

I nodded. "The U.N. has an answer for everything," I said.

"Apart from religious differences, the Cypriots have national identity differences that tend to clash," Sans-Serif observed.

"Greek Cypriots think of themselves as Greeks and Turkish Cypriots think of themselves as Turks.

"With partition, Turkish Cypriots would begin thinking of themselves as North Cypriots and Greek Cypriots would come to regard themselves as South Cypriots.

"It's bound to bring them closer together," I nodded. "It's a beautiful prospect," I said.

"Look...at the Koreans. They were continually at each other's throats before the country was divided into North and South Korea," Sans-Serif observed.

"Look at the Vietnamese. They were killing each other right and left when they all belonged to a single country. It took the creation of a North and a South Vietnam to stop this internecine warfare."

I nodded. "Partition has worked out very well in this country, too," I observed. "North and South Carolina have hit it off nicely for years, and there is hardly any strife between North and South Dakota.

"Heaven knows how much blood would be flowing if there were only one Dakota and one Carolina."

Sans-Serif nodded. "With observations like that," he said, "You could soon qualify as a U.N. observer."

"A LITTLE BULL"

BEND, Ore. (UPI) — It shouldn't happen, even to a politician.

Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., making a swing through his home state to talk to voters, was billed to speak Thursday at the Pocoloro Re

Pocoloro means "a little bull."

Retirement Not For Skelton

REO, Nev. (UPI) — Since he was 10 years old and danced for coins in a poolhall in Vincennes, Ind., Red Skelton has worked in medicine shows, tent shows, on riverboats, in vaudeville, movies, radio and television.

It was nearly a half century ago when he followed the heart's desire of so many lads and joined a circus — bent on becoming a lion tamer.

Now, after many years, Skelton, 62, has found those "good days" again. He is headliner at the Nugget Casino's Circus Room theater-restaurant, where his antics blend with clown Emmett Kelly, the Brass Band, and the performing elephants.

"Biggest act I ever worked with," he says. Skelton has won acclaim as a clown, pantomimist, writer, musician and painter. But with all his success in the arts, he still considers himself a clown, apart from a comedian.

"A comedian walks out and hits people right on. A clown uses pathos. He can be funny, then turn right around and reach people and touch them with what life is like," he said.

Skelton is considered one of the finest pantomimists, and he likes this form of expression because "it grabs people." It is a stock part of the portrayals he has developed since his vaudeville era.

He learned a lot in vaudeville, including the fact he should work alone when possible. Once he worked with a group of 12. The act opened in Paterson, N.J.

"The manager came back and knocked on the door. He said he had my money. I said it wasn't necessary to pay me then, he could wait until I was through. 'You're through,'" he said.

Skelton broke away from the others, worked out his own act, and stayed at the theater for six weeks.

He brought his character portrayals with him into radio and television and was on the tube for 20 consecutive years.

"I left home to join a medicine show. After 51 years in show business, I was on television. I figured I was right back where I started — selling medicine."

he said. Then, he said, attitudes of TV executives changed.

"They didn't like my stuff. They wanted sick stuff and dirty lines. They said 'You gotta reach the young people.' They wanted dirty jokes to educate the audience to the films they bought," he said. "Jackie Gleason walked out and so did I."

He doesn't think the new comedians are funny, either.

"They're filthy, not funny," he said. "They're taking shortcuts to get a big laugh instead of working for their audience. They can finish a show, hang up their tux-and-shirt, and put it on again for the next. With mine, you have to wring out the sweat and send it to the cleaners. You gotta go out and work for your audience."

Skelton's biography says he has appeared in 48 movies and plans to produce a couple; has written nearly 5,000 musical selections and 64 symphonies, has written more than 4,000 short stories and published two books. He has entertained six presidents from Roosevelt to Nixon. He sells his oil paintings via mail order, and one brought $11,000.

Consumer Market Report

COLLEGE STATION — As long as the outdoor cooking season continues in full swing, forequarter cuts of both beef and pork remain the favorite choice of economy, one expert said.

She's Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System.

"Good beef buys this week are on chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks and roasts and ground beef."

"Pork values can be found on shoulder roasts and steaks, picnics, hams, and cut loin roasts and chops, and pork liver."

"Fryer chicken prices are beginning to climb slightly," the specialist noted.

Frozen turkeys — including turkey parts and boneless birds — are readily available in most retail stores.

"Egg prices are low when compared to other protein foods. Grade A Large and medium sizes continue to give the best quality and economy," Mrs. Clyatt said.

Large supplies of cherries and nectarines are on the market now.

Other good quality and reasonably priced fruits are bananas, peaches, grapes, oranges, pineapples, cantaloupe, and watermelon.

"Potato prices are coming down with the increased supplies of new crop potatoes."

"Tomatoes should cost less as more growing areas come into production," the specialist reported.

Vegetables in good supply at economical prices include squash, cabbage, carrots, purple hull and blackeye peas, dry yellow onions, radishes and green onions.

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS: Santa Rosa plums are in good supply now and prices likely won't go any lower.

Pampa Represented At State DKG Convention

Mrs. Exie Vantine, outgoing president of Theta Delta chapter, and Mrs. Faye Watson, incoming president of Beta Delta chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, attended the forty-fifth annual convention of the state organization in McAllen recently.

More than 900 delegates were registered, the largest attendance on record. Theme of the convention was "Only that day dawns to which we are awake." Mrs. Frances Lowrance of El Paso, state president, presided at a State Planning meeting and a Leadership Conference for incoming presidents on Thursday and at the Executive Board meeting and general session on Friday.

Keynote speaker for the Leadership Conference was Miss Yvette Rosenthal, past state president, who spoke on "Opportunity Knocks." At the Executive Board meeting, Miss Sarah Tobolowsky, also a past state president, gave the main speech; state officers and committee chairmen gave their reports and recommendations; and a panel composed of Miss Gladys Walz, International second vice-president, Mrs. Nell B. McMains, International past president, and Miss Jessie Sim, International treasurer, with Mrs. Sarah George, chairman of the State Committee on Constitution, as chairman, discussed the proposed Constitution of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society. Because they felt that some of the proposed changes would concentrate power in the hands of a few rather than the many, Texas delegates opposed these changes.

Friday afternoon, a leadership conference for incoming presidents and area directors was held in Area IX, which the local delegates attended. Miss Adele Barnes of Amarillo, area director, presided, with Miss Sarah Miltia Hill, Mrs. Lois Land, and Miss Frances White, consultants.

On Thursday, Mrs. Vantine attended a meeting of chairmen of Coordination Councils. Such councils are recommended for all areas that include several chapters. Suggestions were made as to the organization, membership, and activities of a coordinating council.

Some councils select a past president or secretary as chairman; others name a membership chairman to that office. It was suggested that names of prospective members be presented in May and their election be followed by a joint orientation, joint or separate initiations followed by a joint dinner honoring the initiates. Some chapters recommended initiation in September so that new members may attend the regional meetings held in the fall.

Leadership conferences for incoming presidents and committee workshops for membership, program, personal growth and services, professional affairs, research, and music committee members, and chapter treasurers were held on Thursday evening and Friday morning.

Social events included an informal reception Thursday evening and the traditional birthday luncheon on Saturday, at which Miss Gladys Walz spoke on "Tomorrow Is At The Doorstep;" and the birthday ceremony, "Ten Cents for a Birthday Gift," was dedicated to Alpha chapter of Mexico City, which was organized in February by Dr. Eula Lee Carter. Organizational activities, a gift of ceremonial paraphernalia, and the first year's dues and pins for the 21 members were financed by gifts of ten cents from members of the 236 chapters in Texas. The new chapter was represented at the convention by its president, Senora Hortensia Casso de Coutolenc.

Instead of the traditional presidents' banquet, Saturday evening featured Honors Night, at which the state chorus gave a brief concert; the chapter presidents were recognized; achievement awards were presented; and Honors Chapters were named. Theta Delta was among those Honors Chapters that have contributed one dollar or more per member to the State Scholarship Fund above the required scholarship fee. A tribute to the Founders was given by Dr. Dolores Akins and her Committee on Ceremonials, "Stairway to Stars."

Concluding Honors Night, another informal reception was held; and a memorial service Sunday morning honored those members who have died during the past year.

The organization of the new chapter in Mexico makes Delta Kappa Gamma truly international, with chapters in Canada, Norway, Sweden, and Mexico and all of the 50 United States.

One of the seven purposes of Delta Kappa Gamma is "to endow scholarships to aid outstanding women educators in pursuing graduate study and to grant fellowships to women educators from other countries." In pursuance of this purpose and related projects, members totaling $8,368.00; recruitment grants to high school senior girls who are planning to teach totaling $12,315.00; donation of $832.90 to Project North America to assist students at the Navajo Community College, Many Farms, Arizona; contribution of $1742.91 to the World Fellowship

Program which provides assistance to women educators from other countries; and, in addition to the $1 scholarship fee required of all members $10,517.50 to the State Scholarship Fund from which six long-term scholarships of $2,000 each and 42 summer scholarships of $175 or $200 were awarded to members of the society.

Bayless-Hill Exchange Vows In Double-Ring Rites

The marriage of Mary Wanetta Bayless of Pampa and Richard Harold Hill, 816 N. Nelson, was solemnized Thursday, July 25 at 8 p.m. at the First Baptist Church, Pampa.

Rev. and Mrs. Gordon D. Bayless, 900 Terry Road, are parents of the bride and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hill of Fort Worth.

THE CEREMONY
The bridegroom began the ceremony by entering from the west door singing "If," accompanied by Miss Nellie Lehnick of Pampa, pianist, Miss Kim Hill of Goshen, Ind., daughter of the bridegroom, and guitarist, David Saxon of Skellytown. Upon completion of the song, the musicians played the bridal march, "Ode to Joy," by Beethoven.

The bride entered from the east door on her brother's arm and they met the bridegroom at the middle of the center tree-studded aisle, and walked to the front platform together.

After being presented in marriage by her brother, the bride sang "Be My Love," to the bridegroom, followed by the couple exchanging poems, which took the place of the "I Will" ceremony. Before saying their vows, the couple sang, "For All We Know." The father of the bride then performed vows for the double ring ceremony. After the vows, the bride and bridegroom performed a candlelight service to the scripture 1 Corinthians 13: 4-8. Upon completion, the couple knelt and sang "The Lord's Prayer" in unison.

The recessional was Bach's Brandenburg Concerto. The church was decorated to create a garden effect. The platform was surrounded by greenery and candelabra, with an arch of greenery and intertwined daisies providing the background. Hanging baskets of pink, yellow, and white daisies completed the decorations.

THE BRIDE
Given in marriage by her brother, Gordon D. Bayless, Jr., the bride was attired in a formal gown of candlelight silk organza over bridal taffeta. The fitted bodice was enhanced with Venice lace in a floral design complemented by pink satin ribbon entwined in lace. The sheer Victorian neckline was edged in Venice lace. Her long sheer lace sleeves were closely fitted and fell over her wrists. The floor-length soft skirt was appliqued with streamers of Venice lace, flowing downward to a large rose. The hemline of the gown, edged with leaf and floral motifs, swept to back fullness cascading into a full chapel length train. The entire gown was traced with floral appliques.

She wore a matching garden hat highlighted with pink satin ribbon and carried a matching parasol of lace adorned with daisies.

Seating wedding guests were Jerry Sims, Barry Sims, Mike Branham, and Eugene Laycock. There were no bridal attendants.

MOTHERS
The bride's mother was attired in a floor-length yellow dress fashioned after the Grecian tunic with long flowing lines. A jewel studded belt accented the waistline. The bridegroom's mother wore a floor-length coat-styled dress of blue polyester lace.

RECEPTION
Ed Wyrich of Amarillo, provided organ music for the reception held in the Heritage Room. Decorating the serving table was the bridal parasol and the three-tiered wedding cake, surrounded by four cakes topped with fresh flowers.

Mrs. Ron West and Mrs. Tom Rose served cake and Ms. Janet Cammack and Debbie Cazzell poured punch. Kim and Kerri Hill assisted at the coffee service.

For the wedding trip to Carlsbad and Santa Fe, N.M., the bride traveled in a white pant suit with beige top stitching, and a long sleeve beige blouse.

The couple will make their

Altrusans Slate Dinner

At a recent meeting of the Altrusa Club of Pampa, Mrs. Irene Smith announced plans for a dinner honoring the executive and professional women of Pampa to be held Monday, July 29 at 7 p.m. in fellowship hall of the First United Methodist Church. Members met in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn with Geneva Tidwell, president, presiding.

Libby Shotwell introduced the speaker, Kay Fancher, chairman of the Festival Committee for the Bicentennial Celebration. Fancher told that Texas is leading the nation in making plans and other states have been asked to follow the pattern being set by the Texas committee.

He also told of the coins or medallions with the Gray County emblem that are being sold to raise funds for this two year celebration. Much time and effort has been put into the project, he told.

MAKE YOUR OWN UPHOLSTERY SHAMPOO

Take the high cost out of cleaning rugs and upholstered furniture by making your own shampoo. A quart of cleaning shampoo at the store costs about $2, but you can make the same cleaner for less than 10 cents.

Use a rotary egg beater to whip one-fourth cup of light duty detergent with one pint of warm water into a stiff foam. To prepare the upholstery or rug for cleaning, first thoroughly vacuum any dust and ground-in dirt. Then clean a small area at a time with a soft brush or mechanical shampoo applicator, using only the dry suds. It's a good idea to try this first on an inconspicuous area of the item to make sure none of the colors bleed. If the colors don't run, continue rubbing the suds into a little area at a time in overlapping circles.

Remove the soiled lather with a spatula from each small area before going on to the next. Rinse each time with a clean, slightly damp cloth or sponge. If the suds begin to break down before the job is done, beat them up to a stiff dry foam again.

Mills-Todd

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Mills, Jr., 2301 Mary Ellen, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sidney Kathleen, to Larry Weldon Todd, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Todd of Odessa. A Sept. 14 wedding in the First United Methodist Church Chapel is being planned. The bride-elect attended Eastern New Mexico University, Angelo State University, and is a graduate of John Robert Powers Finishing and Modeling School. Until recently, she has been modeling in the Dallas - Fort Worth area. The prospective bridegroom attended ENMU and ASU.

Miller-Weatherly

Mr. and Mrs. Larry D. Miller, 2132 N. Williston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sherry Donnell, to Steven David Weatherly, son of Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Weatherly, 2117 N. Russell. The bride-elect is also the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Mullins of Amarillo. The wedding is being planned for Oct. 5, at 7 p.m. in First Baptist Church. Miss Miller and her fiancé are both 1974 graduates of Pampa High School. The prospective bridegroom is employed by J.C. Penney Co.

Martin-Teel

Miss Lynda Francine Martin and Rocky Wayne Teel, both of McLean, will wed Aug. 16 in the First Baptist Church of McLean. Her parents, Mrs. Lora June Martin of McLean and Francis C. Martin of Clovis, N.M., are making the announcement. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Teel of McLean are parents of the prospective bridegroom. The bride-elect is a 1974 graduate of McLean High School. Her fiancé graduated from MHS in 1972 and attended Clarendon Junior College.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Use glass or plastic liners to protect pewter bowls and trays when you serve citrus fruits and vinegar-based salads and relishes in them. Acids can damage the finish.

Flesh flowers stain the finish on pewter.

To get more heat from burning briquets, tap them gently to remove the gray ash.

Never leave an electric charcoal starter on briquets more than eight minutes or you risk burning out the element.

Men who fool around are her weakness

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Al and I were married for three years. I divorced him because I caught him fooling around. I gave him "one more chance" so many times I lost count.

Then I met Hughie. He was married, but he caught his wife fooling around, so he left her and moved in with me. He didn't get a divorce right away because of financial problems, but I wasn't in a hurry to make it legal because I wanted to be sure before marrying again.

Meanwhile, I grew to love Hughie more and more and started figuring out ways to help him with his money troubles so he could get a divorce and marry me. Well, wouldn't you know, I caught Hughie fooling around! It just about tore me up. He swore the chick didn't mean anything to him, and he begged me to give him another chance.

Are all men alike, Abby? Or do you think maybe I can't hold on to a man? LOSING CONFIDENCE

DEAR LOSING: All men are not alike, any more than all women are alike. Your weakness seems to be men who do a lot of fooling around. Every dog is entitled to one bite. Give Hughie another chance, but if you catch him fooling around again, consign him to the doghouse!

DEAR ABBY: I go with this man who likes to drink. He lost his driver's license so I have to drive him around. He tells me that after we are married, he will straighten out. I love him, but I don't believe him. I want to get married, but I'm afraid he won't keep his word.

I've had one bad marriage and I don't want another one. Please tell me what to do. I keep changing my mind—YES AND NO

DEAR YES AND NO: The word from here is NO! Tell him to straighten himself out first, and then you'll marry him.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I just had our eighth child. Another girl, and I am really one disappointed woman. I suppose I should thank God she was healthy, but, Abby, this one was supposed to have been a boy. Even the doctor told me that the law of averages were in our favor 100 to one.

To begin with, my husband and I decided on only four children, but when they were all girls, he wanted a boy so much we had a fifth. When it was another girl I agreed to try just once more. Well, we got another girl. And still another and another, and now we have EIGHT girls, so I told the doctor to fix me up so I wouldn't have any more.

Now I feel guilty for asking to be fixed up in case my husband asks me to try for a boy. I guess I'm writing to you because I want you to tell me that I have done my duty and I shouldn't feel guilty. Will you, please? MOTHER OF EIGHT DOLLS

DEAR MOTHER: Absolutely. Don't feel guilty. And it's not too early to start saving your money for all those weddings you may have to foot the bill for.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Thompson-Taylor Vows Are Repeated Saturday

LaDonna Thompson and Randall Taylor exchanged nuptial vows Saturday, July 27, at 8 p.m. in the Central Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Thompson, Sr., 724 Lefors and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Taylor, 1123 Kingsmill.

THE CEREMONY

J.R. Sammons, uncle of the bride and pastor of a Baptist Church of Oklahoma City, officiated for the double-ring ceremony. Rhonda Davis, cousin of the bride from Elk City, Okla., played "More" and sang "Twelfth of Never" with Mike Davis.

An arch with two basket arrangements of white mums and orchid pompons framed the couple. Two seven branched candelabra entwined with greenery flanked both sides of the arch.

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I avowal," the bride wore a formal length wedding gown of sheer organza and re-embroidered Chantilly lace over bridal taffeta designed with a high mandarin neckline, natural waistline, long Bishop sleeves and a semi-bell skirt with full back. Inserts of the lace enhanced with tiny sequins, and seed pearls, complemented the neckline, bodice, sleeves and skirt of the attire. The full back ended in a sweeping chapel length train.

Her mantilla of imported illusion and a border of matching Chantilly lace fell from a lace coil. She carried a cascade of orchid mums and white roses with white streamers.

ATTENDANTS

Maid of honor was Sandra Newmann, Irving, and bridesmaids were Alisa Thompson, sister of the bride and Janet O'Neil, sister of the bridegroom. Amarillo. They wore formal length light orchid floral organza dresses with high necklines and butterfly sleeves. Each wore a garden hat and carried nosegays of natural orchid carnations, white pom poms and baby's breath.

Alan Been served as best man and groomsmen were Kevin Taylor, brother of the bridegroom, and Ben O'Neil, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Ushers were Keith Taylor, brother of the bridegroom and Alan Cloud.

Ringbearer was Steven Taylor, brother of the bridegroom, and flower girl was Melissa Miller, cousin of the bride, carrying a basket of flowers like those of the bridesmaids. Tracy Miller, cousin of the bride, served as candle lighter.

MRS. RANDALL TAYLOR nee Miss LaDonna Thompson

They both wore light orchid dresses trimmed with orchid floral organza.

MOTHERS

Mother of the bride wore a beige formal length dress with gold accessories. She wore a corsage of miniature orchid carnations.

The bridegroom's mother wore a formal length dress and a corsage of pink carnations with dark pink roses.

RECEPTION

For the reception in the church parlor, the table was covered with a white cloth, accented with the bouquets of the maid of honor and the bridesmaids. Price-Williams Say Vows In Baptist Church Parlor

The marriage of Majana Price and Brycie Lee Williams was solemnized Friday July 26 at 7:30 p.m. in the Central Baptist Church parlor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Price, 2139 Chestnut, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Williams, 1817 N. Wells.

THE CEREMONY

Uncle of the bride, T.V. Bagby, associate pastor of the Mt. Calvary Baptist Church of Garland, officiated for the double-ring ceremony. Renee Jennings, pianist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied John Glover as he sang "Twelfth of Never" and "The Wedding Song."

The ceremony was performed before an arch of greenery and flowers as the couple knelt at the satin-covered prayer bench flanked by bouquets of yellow roses, blue carnations and baby's breath all reflected from a mirrored wall.

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I avowal", the bride wore a white peau du soie floor-length bridal gown fashioned and made by Mrs. Joyce Giddians, the bride's aunt. The train was attached at the back waist with a line of tiny satin buttons. The sleeves, front panel of the gown and the train were trimmed with double scalloped lace accented with seed pearls. She wore a diamond necklace, a gift of the bridegroom, and carried the tradition of something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue.

Her two-tiered veil of white bridal illusion, trimmed in lace to match the gown, fell from a Juliet cap trimmed in pearls. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses, blue carnations and baby's breath.

The bride presented her mother with a long-stemmed yellow rose on her way to the altar and to her mother-in-law as she left the altar.

ATTENDANTS

Debra Baggett served as maid of honor. She wore a light yellow candle light crepe dress accented with a scoop neckline and imported lace. She carried a nosegay of yellow roses and blue carnations. William Josh Cox was best man and he and the bridegroom were attired in matching tuxedos of pale blue with darker blue velvet accents and yellow rose boutonnières. William Robert Chafin III served as usher.

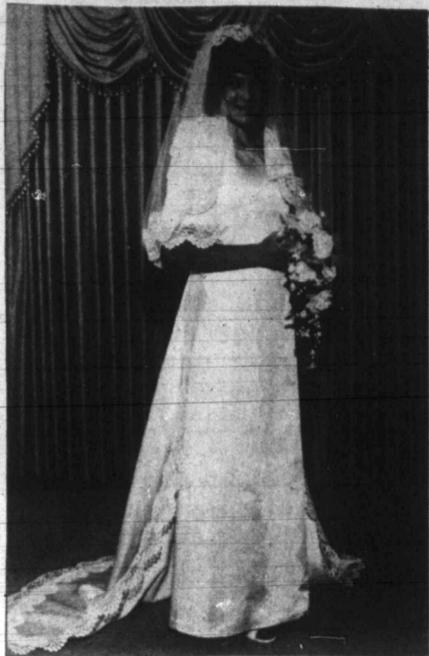

MOTHERS

The bride's mother wore a Roman blue formal length dress, white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bridegroom's mother wore a formal length dress of pink knit and a corsage of pink roses.

RECEPTION

For the reception in the parlor, the table was covered with a cloth of white floor length satin and a centerpiece of yellow roses, blue carnations, and baby's breath with crystal and silver appointments.

The white three-tiered cake was garnished with yellow rosebuds and a blue garland topped with wedding bells and doves carrying wedding bands.

Renee Jennings provided piano selections. Mrs. Clifford Rice and Mrs. Jerry Soukup assisted at the punch bowl while Mrs. Howard Marlar of Snyder, served cake. Mrs. Jerry Ely sat at the register.

For the wedding trip to Six Flags Over Texas, the bride wore a blue and white knit suit with an A-line skirt and short jacket. Her corsage of yellow roses was lifted from the bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside in Pampa.

AFFILIATIONS

The bride attends Pampa High School and plans to continue her education.

The bridegroom is a 1974 graduate of Pampa High School, and is presently employed in Pampa.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

SUNDAY, JULY 28

Your birthday today: Marks a year of abundance of those things you don't strive too hard to get. All departments of daily living are intense, emphasizing your need for spiritual guidance. Relationships thrive, provide memorable experiences. Today's natives prefer athletic pastimes, usually develop good physiques, are generally well liked by those who work with them.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: You have it made this Sunday, so take things as they are without striving for more. Conversations are fascinating but apt to generate misunderstandings.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Preference is for familiar surroundings. Fulfill a neglected obligation, gain great relief. Your judgment isn't sharp enough just now to solve money problems.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Be cheerful in filling your role in community Sunday customs. Bypass large groups in your travels; visit individuals, small groups. Avoid being arbitrary this evening.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Enjoy a creative adventure—trial and error can be pleasant as well as instructive. Imagination generates unreal expectations, but is fun in passing.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Everything works out for the best today, but beware of overdoing emotional displays. Although not obvious, important people are nearby.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Be consistent in maintaining home arrangements and customs. Let others rush about helter-skelter. Select a comfortable spot, and simply relax.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: People talk past each other; you need confirmed facts. Short travels yield results beyond expectation. Deal with relatives if you must, but take off at the first chance.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Once you've done what is expected of you, get in touch with people who can do something special for you. The precise financial terms can come later.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: What is already established works well, but improvised arrangements falter. Be confident and in high humor, help others through the rougher spots today.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: You may meet somebody sympathetic to your cause or career. Leave it at social-encounter level. The business deal comes later.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Friends contradict each other in their directions. Your liking them means little in how they agree among themselves. Pursue social activity, romance this evening.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Leave business aside, attend religious functions, do the social amenities that please you most. Conserve your health by sensible behavior, moderate habits.

Cotton Souvenirs Helping To Solve Engineer Shortage

LUBBOCK — Miniature bales of cotton, packaged in colorful bagging, cottonball corsages and scores of other cotton-related souvenirs and jewelry made and sold by the Lubbock Cotton Auxiliary are helping to solve a shortage — that of textile engineers.

A substantial amount of the profits have been used to establish an endowment to support scholarships in textile engineering and the Department of Clothing and Textiles at Texas Tech University.

The fund has been established by the Lubbock Cotton auxiliary through the Texas Tech Foundation and the first scholarship will be awarded in the fall of 1974, according to Mrs. A.V. Barnett, chairman of the auxiliary's scholarship committee.

The first contribution to the endowment was for $2,118.94, some of it coming from the auxiliary's king Cotton promotion at the South Plains Mall last fall, the remainder from surplus funds from membership dues from the more than 130 women whose husbands are in some phase of the cotton business.

The little bales of cotton produced in Lubbock for the auxiliary, are widely used at conventions, meetings of ginners and cotton producers, and other industry-related groups as souvenirs.

They make perfect remembrances and they serve to promote not only West Texas as a gigantic cotton-producing region but also the entire cotton industry from the production in the field through the manufacture of the finished fabrics," said Mrs. Barnett.

"They have proven popular with many groups in West Texas. And so have corsages which are made of cotton bolls which have opened and are ready for harvesting," she said.

The miniature cotton bales may be purchased from the auxiliary at a price of $3 each with plaques denoting the occasion of the sponsoring agency, or at a price of $2 without the plaques.

"The little bales have enough cotton in them to produce one long-sleeved shirt," Mrs. Barnett said.

Other cotton-promoting items include key rings and chains, lapel pins, tie pins, money clips and stuffed dolls.

Orders for the items may be placed through the auxiliary.

"We have hopes of adding to the endowment fund until it will support two scholarships each semester at Texas Tech," Mrs. Barnett said. "There is a severe shortage of textile engineering students and we are hoping to encourage students of this area to give serious consideration to textile engineering as a career."

"Even more textile engineers are going to be needed in this immediate area," she said, "with the building and installation of textile mills and the development of the manufacturing of cotton and textile products in West Texas."

"The establishment of the endowment fund will make a worth while contribution not only to Texas Tech University and the Textile Engineering Department," Dr. Clyde E. Kelsey, Jr., Texas Tech vice president for Development, said, "but also the entire cotton industry."

Crop Production Shows Increases

With all the totals in for the 1973 season, Texas growers brought in a number of national rankings in field crop production. Aided by an excellent growing season, Texas grain sorghum growers brought in a record 417,000,000 bushels, and led the nation in sorghum production.

Five leading counties in sorghum production include Hale, Lamar, Parmer, Hidalgo and Soper.

Texas peanut producers ranked second in the nation, with a 417,000,000 lb. yield, while growers of hairy vetch seed placed in the third position nationally along with Nebraska, each state producing 1,100,000 lbs.

Comanche, Eastland, Frio, Atascosa and Erath counties led the way in peanut production. Top producers in vetch seed include Hunt, Hill, Hopkins, Montague, and Collins counties.

Texas' first sugarcane crop in nearly a half century provided some $29,000 tons and placed Texas in fourth position nationally.

Three Texas counties, Hidalgo, Cameron, and Wilbrey, account for the state's commercial sugarcane crop.

Texas also placed in the top ten in all hay production, with a 5,808,000 ton yield. Top counties in hay production include Hopkins, Gaines, Ednton, Red River, and El Paso.

There was a lot of good news in field crop production for 1973. Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said, "but there was also some bad news in the form of Tropical Storm Delia, which badly damaged rice, soybean, and other crops on the coast and brought production figures down from expected yields."

Rice producers in the state dropped from first to fourth place nationally, due primarily to the adverse weather. Total production was 20,530,000 hundred weight.

Complete statistics on 1973 Texas field crops have been published by the USDA and the Texas Department of Agriculture. Copies are available by writing John C. White, Commissioner, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, 78711.

And this I speak for your own profit; not that I may cast a snare upon you, but for that which is comely, and that ye may attend upon the Lord without distraction. - I Corinthians 13:3

First things must come first. Our earthly responsibility we must perform, but those things that are basic to true and full life must be left undone.

Billing Rate Is Increased

J.E. Gunn, Manager of the Speraman - Pampa Federal Land Bank Association of Pampa, has announced that the Federal Land Bank's billing rate on farm and ranch variable interest rate loans would be increased from 7-3/4 percent to 8-1/2 percent effective August 1, 1974.

The billing rate on rural residence loans will be increased from 8-1/4 percent to 9 percent on the same date. The variable interest rate loan plan was introduced by the Houston Bank in July, 1969 with a billing rate on loans outstanding to "float" with the variations in the money market.

In making this announcement, Mr. Gunn stated, "The Banks decision to make this change was necessary because of the increased cost of bonds sold which has increased with every issue since the beginning of the year, with the most recent issue selling at an all time high of 9.21 percent average effective rate."

The Bank had delayed action in raising the billing rate in order to access the duration of present high interest levels, and there is nothing in the present monetary situation to indicate any improvement in the immediate future."

The Federal Land Bank of Houston makes long-term real estate loans on farm and ranch land and rural residence throughout Texas and now has more than $13 million dollars in volume of loans outstanding.

Officers and directors of the association are W.B. Jackson, O.C. Holt, Paul Bowers, Virgil Brock, B.W. Renner and Lynn Davis.

Young Cattlemen Compete At Fair

The spotlight of America's beef industry will be on the Texas State Fairgrounds in Dallas on July 29-30 when 372 young cattlemen from 15 states compete for top honors in the sixth annual National Junior Angus Heifer Show.

To be held in conjunction with the big show will be the National Junior Angus Showmanship Contest. Two contestants from each of 39 states plus several youngsters from Canada will be on hand for the unusual event. The Texas contestants are Kyle Wilfong, Haskell, and Ben Kerry Lively. San Saba Alternates from Texas are Kim Hager, Weiner, and Doretha Klose. Lampasas Each state is eligible to send two representatives and most also pick two alternates who become eligible if one of the top two is unable to compete.

Featured speaker at the National Junior Angus Banquet will be Lamar Hunt, owner of the Kansas City Chiefs and a member of the National Football Hall of Fame. Hunt will speak on "Competition and American Youth."

A graduate of Southern Methodist University, he was a founder and the dominant leader in the development of the old American Football League, now a part of the National Football League. Master of ceremonies at the banquet, to be held Monday evening, July 29, at the Villa Inn East Motel in Mesquite, will be Don Clark, livestock manager of the Texas State Fair.

Events at the National Junior Angus Heifer Show get underway on July 29 when judging begins at 10:00 a.m. The preliminaries in the contest will start at 2:00 p.m. on Monday, July 29 and the finals will be held on Tuesday, July 30, immediately following the judging of the individual classes of heifers. Then the champions of the show will be picked by Judge Fitzgerald.

The two nationwide events are being sponsored by the American and Texas Angus Associations. First prize in the individual classes will vary from $80 to $120, the former for regular entries, the latter for those heifers which have been measured for weight gains and frame scores when the exhibitor is also the breeder and first owner of the heifer.

The exhibitor of the grand champion heifer will win $500 from the Texas Angus Association plus an additional $250, if the winner is exhibited by a Texas youngster.

ANTHRAX

The anthrax outbreak in Falls County, East of Waco, seems to be under control. Anthrax outbreaks are always associated with drought. It usually occurs on a place that is being severely over-grazed. Spores from anthrax can lie dormant in the ground for twenty-five years.

When cattle graze so closely, they pick-up dirt. These spores are ingested and become active. We are very fortunate that cattle from this area did not wind up in a Panhandle feedlot.

This could have been disastrous to have some newly-shipped-in calves die in a feedlot. A quarantine could be costly. We think the anthrax scare will recede into the background.

Drought

Speaking of drought - we are in the grip of a very widespread drought that is now covering the midwest, the Great Plains, the southwest, and the south and east. No doubt the drought is the main contributing factor to the fast-rising grain market.

In our meeting with county agents from all over Texas last week, I learned the drought was severe in every county of Texas.

Here in Pampa, we have received only 8.17 inches of rainfall since October 1973. Rainfall looks like this since October '73: October - 1.11; November - .73; December - .54; January '74 - .32; February - .41; March - 1.34; April - .38; May - 1.28; June - 2.12; and July - ZERO.

Some movement of cattle to feedlots has occurred as a result of drought and an improved price condition in the feedlot.

Most of the county agents I talked with from East Texas, really had the blues about the cattle market. They advised me 700 pound steers had been down as low as $28 per CWT. I have visited with a good county agent friend since I returned and he said 650-700 pound steers would now cost from 34 - 36. He also said the heavier steers brought more per CWT than the lighter ones. Fifty cent gain cost in the feedlot is setting this most unusual price pattern for replacement cattle.

Heavier cattle will reach grade sooner and probably at a lesser cost per CWT of gain due to short period in feedlot.

We are in for some unusual happenings in the cattle business over the next several months.

The recent 23-state cattle feed report had some shockers for consumers. Only 79 percent as many on feed. Only 81 percent as many cattle placed on feed during the second quarter of this year compared to last year. When compared to '92 - another 10 - 15 percent drop.

The 23-state quarterly report had some real shockers in the weight breakdown. There were only 699 thousand head weighing over 1,100 pounds.

This was up by 26 percent over a year earlier, but this represents a little more than a week's kill. In effect, a week's kill has since run these cattle through the slaughter house. Most of them have been consumed, since the report was as of July 1.

In the next weight breakdown 900 - 1100, there are only 92 percent as many as a year earlier. This group constitutes 2,800,000 cattle. By the end of this month, over two million head of this weight group above 900 pounds will be slaughtered, leaving about 1,500,000 in these weight groups plus those moving up from the weight group below.

In the weight group 700 - 899, there were only 78 percent as many cattle on feed as a year earlier; in the 500 - 700 pound group there are only 68 percent as many; and in the weight group below 500 pounds there are only 46 percent as many.

Packing houses in this area are fully aware of the pending shortage of finished cattle. Some are already closing two- to three- days weekly.

Last year the stupidity of price ceilings was pointed out with the drowning ob baby chicks. Cattle work on a much longer cycle. You are fixing to see the fruits of the price ceiling of last year in beef.

At this writing (Wednesday, July 24) some choice steers have been reported selling at $46.60 out of Panhandle feedlots.

Every effort behind the scene is now being made to hold the line on price by packers and retailers. The situation is different now from a year earlier. It was mainly withhold action that drove prices to the edge of sixty cents in August of 1973.

This is not the case now. There is going to be one of the most severe shortages of choice cattle this country has ever experienced within the next sixty days. All it will take to create a panic situation is for one of the major news media to train the TV cameras on two housewives in a hair pulling over the last roast in the meat counter. This might be a good project for the Cow Belles.

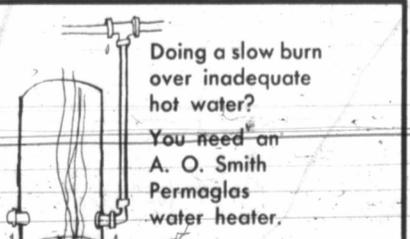

My address is still Pampa. We haven't been hunting in Australia yet. You are in for some shockers in the beef business within the next few weeks. A good general rain over the drought areas of the cattle country will put the cattle market in orbit.

We still stay with our earlier statement. "The girl coiters, the consumers of the entire U.S. population, will pay for the economic sins of price ceilings."

Number Of Cattle, Calves Shows Drop

AUSTIN - The number of cattle and calves in Texas feedlots has dropped from 2,205,000 in January to 1,739,000 as of July 1, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has reported.

July marked the fourteenth consecutive month that Texas feedlots have been operating with reduced placements. "Many lots are operating far below the 85 percent capacity range," White said.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS

For several weeks we have been carrying segments of an article by David A. Witts, titled "The American Land Manager" for the Cattleman Magazine. The article appeared in the May 1974 issue.

Our reason for carrying the article is pure and simple - I own land. As a landowner I do not believe in land planning being dictated to me from far away by a federal government that is dominated by career people planners who went to Washington with Harry A. Wallace in the early nineteen-thirties.

These people hold the positions of power and through the years have filled the bureaus with people of their political and social leanings.

The article by David Witt presents the most logical defense we have read against land use planning. There is land use legislation in Congress at the present time. All of these proposals can do nothing but strangle the American farmer and rancher in his effort to produce food and fiber for the nation and the world.

Today we are carrying the final portion of the Witt article.

Because of these differences, food production varies even within individual states. Not even the states, let alone Washington, can adopt uniform laws for agricultural planning. For example, the Livestock Brand Law Study Committee of the Texas Legislature spent last year trying to come up with a uniform brand law. The size of the state and the complexity of the cattle industry produced five separate positions that could not be resolved. Finally, it was unanimously agreed that a state-wide law was not possible or practical.

Agriculture is unique. No two farms or ranches are alike. No two producers are alike. Cattle, crops, conditions and climate are all different. Cattle are raised from Maine to Hawaii; wheat is harvested from Texas to Montana; vegetables are grown from Florida to Alaska. Agriculture is local. Land is local. Land planning for agriculture must also be local.

There are situations in which government can plan and manage with uniformity. Government can wage war, print currency and regulate interstate commerce better than an individual. But until government can plan sun and rain, until it can issue regulations governing the laws of Nature, government cannot plan food production.

Unfortunately, laws are neither interpreted nor enforced by the people who write them. Once a law leaves your hands, its effects are determined by judges' decisions and regulatory off-spring. (For example, the Texas predator control program is now being presided over by a judge somewhere up in the District of Columbia.)

Once a law is put on the books, it is hard to change - no matter how unfair, impartial or unwholesome it turns out to be. Recall the recent frantic repair and maintenance activities of this Congress trying to legislate the Alaska pipeline into being environmentally acceptable.

Ranchers are producers, located out in the heartland, away from the West Coast. We are an endangered species - few in number - less than 1 percent of the population. We are scattered and inarticulate.

We know that political power is vested in urban centers. We have seen the savage consequences of the use of that power against other producers. We have observed Washington's Pavlovian instinct to create new federal agencies and regulations.

We don't want it to happen to us for two reasons: (a) selfishly, for our own survival; and (b) we don't want to see America ever become dependent for its food on fickle foreign sources.

Ranchers are born optimists who love the land. Who else would spend all their lives fighting droughts, floods, blizzards, screwworms, cattle thieves, coyotes and bankruptcy - permanent and indestructible adversaries?

They have never demanded job security, subsidies, four-day week, severance pay, dental care, sick leave, paid vacations, humanized working conditions or strike benefits.

To reach a given plateau, one must follow the experienced, the tried and proven.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH
Some Alcoholics Do Succeed

By G.C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you write something on the statistics on alcoholism?

I am in my middle 50s. For months I suffered from a very painful illness and started taking alcohol to relieve the pain. I let it get the better of me.

After an episode which breaks my heart even yet, I definitely stopped alcohol in any form. I stopped it on my own with no therapy or rehabilitation. The thought of it is repulsive.

My husband keeps some in the house for a drink now and then. I have never touched it and have no desire for it whatsoever.

It is wonderful to wake up in the morning and not have to wonder what happened the night before. My husband has never lectured me and trusts me absolutely. It has been 11 months since I touched alcohol.

Recently I was told by a professional person that I am not trusted even though I give no symptoms of any desire to return to drinking. This person said that only 4 percent stay off it and the others return to the bottle. Since then I have felt like the living dead.

Please give your opinion and statistics if you will. — Mrs. G.G.H.

I cannot confirm that 4 percent figure. Possibly somebody else can give us some light on that.

But I flatly don't believe it.

Just by a quick count on my fingers, I know five one-time hard drinkers — alcoholics — who quit and stayed that way. Two stayed on the wagon all the rest of their lives; three others haven't had a drink for periods ranging from 20 to more than 30 years.

One of the ones who died did a great deal of traveling, and over the years always had a bottle in his hotel room for those who wanted it; he never touched it.

So if that "4 percent" remark has any validity, it means that I ought to have encountered 125 who quit but then returned to the bottle (Of course I know a lot who never quit. And some who never drank.)

To the best of my knowledge, every former steady drinker who has quit will tell you that the only safe rule thereafter is "Never take the first drink." Never try to be a "moderate drinker." Stay away from it completely.

I've also seen some try to take "just one" and it doesn't work. One is too many.

In my experience there is nothing to bear out your "professional person's" dismal assertion. More power to you.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 15 and have a pattern of regular periods. I am also active in sports and outdoors and would prefer tampons to pads but my mother thinks there is an age limit and that 15 is too young. Could you explain? — A.G.

No, there's no age limitation. In fact, tampons are made in a junior size. I trust your mother will reconsider.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been quite concerned for the past few months. One day I will have diarrhea and the next day I will be constipated. I have indigestion and gas all the time and I also pass mucus in my bowels. I am 20 years old. — Mrs. C.K.B.

If you haven't done so, you should get a thorough examination, beginning with tests for parasites, and a proctoscopic (rectal) examination.

Any alteration of bowel habits should not be neglected. Perhaps it is a form of colitis. The quicker you get it looked at the better chances of treatment.

For a better understanding of colitis and other intestinal ailments, their causes and treatment, write to Dr. George C. Thosteson at Box 1400, Elgin Illinois 60120 for a copy of his booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents. Copyright 1974.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT
Writing Is Painful, Author Says

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — Tennessee Williams stood at the speaker's rostrum at a recent luncheon of the TV Academy when a question-asking woman said haltingly, "I don't speak very good English..."

"Neither do I, honey," he said.

As probably the greatest of living American playwrights, he was a sensational attraction, and very free and easy.

"I'm one of those rare writers who always enjoys his own work," he confessed one moment, but at another point, when he was asked whether he ever thought of teaching he said, no. "There are people who are great teachers, but I think a writer should devote himself to writing..."

"Is it painful?" "Yes, because you're never sure it's any good. The notices are frequently painful, too. But you have to live with pain, don't you?"

"They have said you would never allow any of your plays to be made into a musical."

"That's not true." He stood there with his hands in his pockets. He wore a gray-blue suit with blending tie. "I have talked to somebody about a musical of 'Rose Tatoo.' But 'Streetcar' never! A ballet? A ballet is all right because they don't sing. Could you imagine them singing the rape scene in 'Streetcar'?"

He laughed at the thought.

"Julie Styne talked to me about 'Rose Tatoo,'" he said, indicating that it was a serious discussion, but he added, "I'm not a musical fan."

"Would you read some poetry today?" "Believe it or not, I don't have a good voice for poetry — or anything." He thought it was unusual being guest of the TV Academy because he hadn't many encounters with TV. He was on a show with Dick Cavett and his wife Carrie Nye.

"I noticed his makeup was running down his face and I told him. He said 'Let's sit under the banana tree.' I had cut the bananas off the tree because they were too phallic. That was in New Orleans — where I have a crash pad. That was a very nice gig. Later Dick, Carrie and I skinned-dipped."

Williams was also interviewed by an Austrian TV crew. Pressed to say something in German, he said, "Love-making is healthy." In a slightly earlier translation, the director said, "Well, Mr. Williams, I think we'll delete that for Austria but keep it in for Germany."

Again he laughed. "I got a lot of fan mail from Germany."

He's constantly asked who should have done his roles that hasn't. "I once told Kim Stanley that she should have played Blanche — and she told me she had!" He saw Marlon Brando in "Last Tango."

"I think it is his greatest performance — better than 'Streetcar.'"

Katherine Hepburn is one of the people I admire most in the world — but she did one thing my mother, a dainty woman, would never have done. She spread her knees...

As for censorship, especially on TV, he said, "They don't censor the right things... all that blood... all that catsup... they don't censor."

Should there be more sex or more romance? He twinkled. "I think the thing they should do is to combine the sex with the romance!" That brought a burst of applause.

He's finished a novel, he's always working until there will be manuscripts stacked up like planes over JFK. Yes, he likes his characters. "I have to like them. If you understand them you will like them." He paused. "I hope that isn't too Shirley Temple remark."

Film maker Harry Rasky has done a documentary about him. "Tennessee Williams' South," soon to be seen. Williams himself claims he now looks at both sides of the plaque or medallion. Once when he was honored by the Entertainment Hall of Fame, he looked at the other side of the medallion and read, "We honor you not for your latest work but for your work that will last."

"Which," he said, "took the starch out of my collar!"

PANOV'S SIGN CONTRACT NEW YORK (UPI) Former Soviet ballet stars Valery and Galina Panov have signed a contract with independent American theatrical manager Maxim Gershunoff.

A spokesman for Gershunoff said Wednesday the contract, signed in Israel, becomes effective this fall. With the beginning of the theatrical season, the spokesman said he did not know the contract's details.

The Panovs' debut will be in November in their new homeland, Israel, the spokesman said. A possible appearance in the United States was not mentioned. The Panovs recently gained international notoriety when they successfully emigrated from the Soviet Union after several years of being denied exit visas.

Investment Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market lately has blown some chances for what analysts call "technical" rebounds, according to Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis. The firm contends the market is being "harassed by inflation and stymied by high interest rates."

"Only time will tell if stocks are now on the bargain counter, but historical statistics suggest that they are, because a great deal of bad news already has been discounted," according to Brevitt. "There could be a major 'selling climax' but there doesn't necessarily have to be one," the firm says.

The drying-up of volume lately indicates a failure to sustain any significant buying pressure, according to Rosencrantz, Ehrendrantz, Lyong & Ross. The firm says a "quick drop" had occurred in 1966 and 1970 is more likely than a downward drifting market that marked the second quarter of 1973."

BATTIN' AROUND Abolish All Laws For 200th Birthday?

By C.R. BATTEN
Thoughts while cleaning off the desk:
— The nation is preparing to celebrate its 200th birthday in 1976. Arch Booth, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce has warned that an outfit called the "People's Bicentennial Commission" has published a packet of material (apparently aimed at secondary school students) using the celebration as a mask with which to peddle socialistic political propaganda.

Material includes quotations from the Founding Fathers, "most of them carefully selected to create an impression that the old boys were really a fire-breathing bunch of egalitarian collectivists," wrote Booth.
— "Distrust in Nation's Leaders Heads Students' Problem List," reads the headline in a report of the Gallup Poll. Four students in ten cities distrust in government as the nation's chief problem. Another 16 percent point directly to President Nixon's leadership.

It was a distrust of government that led to the signing of the Declaration of Independence 176 years ago. Perhaps a revival of a healthy distrust of government is just what we need for a proper celebration of the nation's bicentennial — along with a swing away from government as the answer to all our problems.
— The two best suggestions I have heard to commemorate our 200th birthday are 1) abolish all laws as of July 4, 1976 and begin all over again with only the Declaration of Independence; and 2) declare open season on all bureaucrats and politicians beginning July 4, 1976.

This last one seems a little drastic, but it could help solve the population problem we have been hearing so much about lately, and would certainly stimulate many to get out of politics.

Have you ever noticed the difference in the attitudes of self-employed businessmen and government employees? The businessman is happy to see you, his customer. Your presence means work for him, more profits and his business expands as he gains more customers.

The government employ would just as soon you would stay away. Your presence means more work for him, but his compensation is not increased, and more business to him does not necessarily lead to increased capacity to handle the work load.

The ultimate in this attitude seems to have been reached in Italy, where mailmen have burned or dumped into rivers mail left undelivered at the end of the day. Postal officials allegedly sold 40 tons of mail, including money orders and registered mail, for recycling into pulp and paper.

— Congratulations to the members of the Colorado Cattle Feeders Association for their steadfast stand against any kind of government subsidy at a time when many cattlemen were crying for it.

Any type of interruption in the flow of beef product through the "pipe-line," such as boycotts, severe winter storms, ill-advised governmental attempts to artificially control prices, truck strikes, etc., will create a situation in the industry that can take as long as three years to correct," said the group's president.

— Farm Bureaus throughout the country have joined small businessmen and others in pointing out the absurdity of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (OSHA).

Its reams of regulations are impossible for the farmers or small businessman to interpret, but if he asks the Labor Department for help, he is told "If a compliance officer visits your place of employment, he is obligated to conduct a complete walk around inspection. If he finds any alleged violations it could subject you to assessment of monetary penalties."

The farmer or businessman could be fined without the benefit or trial just because he asks for help so that he can obey the law. Is this the United States, that great bastion of human freedom?

— In New York, a bill was introduced in the state legislature to add another animal to the endangered species list: man. Maybe those who introduced it have decided that since state laws against murder have failed to stop that unfortunate practice, perhaps it can be stopped by putting him under the jurisdiction of state and federal wildlife laws. Now that is real expert buck-passing.

In every community or society there are those who live by their conviction and commitment.

Uvalde Defeats Pampa All-Stars

PLAINVIEW — Uvalde broke open a 2-2 tie in the fifth inning with two runs and then held on to trim the Pampa All-Stars, 4-2, in the Championship game of the West Texas State Junior Babe Ruth Baseball Tournament Friday night here.

So for Pampa, the Babe Ruth season is over. Uvalde earns the right to play in the sectional tournament starting Aug. 5 at Lake Charles, La.

Uvalde decided Graham, 8-7, in 10 innings immediately prior to playing Pampa Friday night. Bozo Alderson singled in the winning run in the bottom of the 10th.

Graham scored in the top of the seventh to tie the game, 7-7, as Greg Kolinek was trapped off third base and slid under the tag at home after a rundown.

Pampa faced Uvalde's pitching ace, Richard Contreras, for the second time in the tournament. Contreras lost to Pampa, 9-1, in the opening game for both teams Monday night. Gary Bolch, who was dealt the loss in the championship game, won that first encounter.

Uvalde scored twice in the top of the fourth after Van McElroy walked and consecutive errors on shortstop Brian Bailey loaded the bases. Two runs scored as Eugene Alejandro and Joe Sanson hit back-to-back ground balls to second baseman Jeff Skinner, who was late on both throws to the plate.

Bolch got out of the inning by getting three straight outs with the bases loaded.

In the fifth, Tommy Ellinger led off with a double and scored on a single by Van McElroy. Anderson walked but was thrown out at second on an attempted double steal. With McElroy on third, Steve Kargil struck out. Then Bolch went into his windup on batter Alejandro and balked as manager Wayne Ledford, who wanted the batter walked, called to his pitcher from the dugout, which caused the balk. McElroy scored on the balk to give Uvalde its 4-2 lead.

Tom Washington then relieved Bolch.

Pampa's two runs came in the bottom of the fourth. Hank Jordan, Washington and Mike Lancaster walked to load the bases. Mark Ebenkamp hit to the mound and Jordan was out on the play at home. Then Joe Davis walked to force in a run as did Bolch to tie the game, 2-2.

Pampa had treats in the second and fifth, getting two on in each inning. Lancaster and Ebenkamp walked in the second but Davis and Bolch both struck out to end the inning. Randy Britton walked in the fifth and reached third on a single by Washington. Lancaster struck out and Ebenkamp flied out to end that threat.

In the game, Uvalde left 12 on base and Pampa stranded nine. Contreras had control problems, walking 11, but made up for the bases on balls by striking out 13. Bolch, who lasted five and two-thirds innings, gave up four runs (two earned), three hits and three walks while striking out three. Washington, in an inning and one-third, gave up one hit and four walks and struck out three.

Wilder won the championship in 1972 and was runnerup in 1969. He became the tournament favorite after defending champion Harold DeLong of Shawnee, Okla., was upended by Murphy in Thursday's match-play round.

Roush had never won the championship; in fact, he has never been a runnerup. His victory marked one of the biggest surprises in the tourney's history.

To gain the finals, Roush defeated Buck Mundy of San Benito, Tex., 2-up, Wednesday, and Warren Mayo of Pampa, 4-3, Wednesday.

Roush managed a four-under 31 on the first nine and two-under 36 on the back side in the medal play round. He birdied three, five, six, seven, 15 and 18.

Other championship flight scores were Bud McKinney, Dallas, 73; A.S. Kilpatrick, Denver City, 73; Clarence Garrett, Phillips, 76, and Carroll Weaver, Sinton, Tex., 77.

Ed Myatt of Pampa was the championship flight's consolation winner with an even-par 71. He edged Robert Muir of Canyon, who carded a 72.

"I feel real lucky," said Myatt, whose nine-hole scores were 36-35. "I was shooting over my head. I'm normally not that good a golfer."

"I eagled the last hole (par five). I hit a good drive, hit an eight-iron to the green and sunk about a 12-foot putt. My opponent birdied it." Myatt was talking about Muir, a professor at West Texas State University.

Flight winners besides the championship and first were: Harold Smith, Arlington; Phil Burger, Midwest City, Okla.; Lyndol Warren, Coral Gables, Fla.; John Woodward, Dallas; Al Warner, Wichita, Kan.; V.R. Reeves, Odessa; W.C. Campbell, Sayre, Okla.; E.H. Daniel, Phillips, and Dick Pugh, Pampa.

Warren, fourth flight winner, was also awarded Tuesday as the player travelling the longest distance. Coral Gables, Fla., is approximately 1750 miles. He is Pampa Country Club professional Hart Warren's brother.

Both Woodward and Warner, fifth and sixth flight champions, turned in impressive 74's, which would have been competitive scores in the first flight.

PICKETS OUTSIDE STADIUM

Cardinals Top Bills 21-13 In First Exhibition Game

CANTON, Ohio (UPI) — Rookie Greg Johnson scored two touchdowns to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 21-13 victory over the Buffalo Bills Saturday in the annual Pro Football Hall of Fame exhibition game.

The two teams, mostly made up of rookies, clashed in the nationally televised first football exhibition game of the season while veteran NFL players and members of area labor groups picketed outside Fawcett Stadium.

Johnson, a 6-foot 180-pounder from Wisconsin, scored in the first quarter when he took a five-yard pass from quarterback Bill Bynum.

The Cardinals other score came on a 13-yard pass from Bynum to running back Bill Porter. Buffalo got a second quarter TD on an 11-yard run by Gary Marangi, while Boris Shlapak kicked a pair of field goals.

Johnson's second touchdown, which put the Cardinals back into a 14-10 halftime lead, came on a one-yard plunge.

Rookie wide receiver Keith Denson of San Diego State, set up both of Johnson's scores, the first with a 44-yard punt return to the Buffalo 20 and the second on a 43-yard return which gave the Cardinals the ball on the Buffalo 16.

Buffalo's first score, early in the second quarter, came on the 26-yard field goal by Shlapak after the Bills had driven to the St. Louis nine-yard line.

Buffalo grabbed a 10-7 lead with five minutes left in the half when rookie quarterback Gary Marangi of Boston College rolled around right end from 11 yards out for a TD.

The key play in the drive was a 38-yard pass from Marangi to Reuben Gant of Oklahoma State, the Bills' No. 1 draft choice, on the play, however, Gant suffered a broken collar bone.

After Denson's second punt return, the Cardinals were aided by a pass interference penalty on Dennis Draper on the Buffalo one. Johnson scored two plays later to give the Cardinals their halftime advantage.

Buffalo managed to narrow the margin to 14-13 late in the third quarter on a 27-yard field goal by Shlapak. The score was setup when defensive end Larry McGuire recovered a fumble by Bynum on the St. Louis 14-yard line.

LUBBOCK — Whether you hunt pheasant in Dallam County or quail near Andrews you will have no trouble finding the correct dates, bag limits or other pertinent information in the new Texas Parks and Wildlife 1974-75 guide.

All seasons and regulations are listed by county this year and the pamphlet can be picked up at your nearest Texas Parks and Wildlife Dept. District Office or from one of the 4500 licensed deputies across the state.

Both regulatory and non-regulatory county seasons are listed with all the species of game animals and game birds that can be hunted.

The 20-page guide also lists general permit and tag requirements, license cost and restrictions and lake regulations.

The state-wide fur-bearing requirements are included. Special regulations are listed for some 40 counties that have different laws covering the methods and means of taking fur-bearing animals.

If there are questions about any of the regulations in the pamphlet, a complete list of regional and district Texas Parks and Wildlife Dept. offices and phone numbers is printed on the back cover of the pamphlet.

Seasons for migratory game birds will be set at the August 12-13 meeting by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission. At that time, a leaflet will be prepared, printed and distributed state-wide. Both pamphlets are to be used as a guide only and they do not include commercial or saltwater sport fishing regulations.

Detailed information on game and fish regulations is available from your local game warden or county attorney.

Here's a tough baseball question... Who holds the all-time big league record for batting in the most runs in one season? Answer is NOT Babe Ruth or Lou Gehrig or Jimmy Foxx or Ted Williams or any of the sluggers you usually think of first... Record is held by Hack Wilson who drove in 190 runs for the Cubs in 1930... Nobody has every topped that.

Some baseball fans go a whole lifetime without ever seeing a triple play... but fans who attended a minor league game in Ponca City, Okla., June 28, 1957 had the unusual experience of seeing not only one triple play, but two of them... IN SUCCESSIVE INNINGS!... The first triple play came in the last half of the first inning, and then there was another one in the top half of the second!

Ever wonder what's the toughest auto race course in the world? Well, there's one in Italy that covers 450 miles over narrow mountain roads, high up in the Alps, and a driver must negotiate a total of more than 8,500 corners on that course while at all times making sure he doesn't plunge off the mountain, and still drive fast enough to try to win the race!

I bet you didn't know that people have been asking about MICHELIN 'X' for 25 years. They say a friend sent them. Come in and find out why... let us introduce you to MICHELIN 'X'... the leader in steel-belted radials.

Manager, Harvester Lanes

After looking through some of the past men's league directories I would like to further pursue the thought about some of you coming back to bowling.

There are some of the guys and gals still in town who I'm sure say to themselves, "I should get back to bowling." We would sure like to make your acquaintance, so give us a call and join a league this year. Also you might want to brush up a little and we'd be glad to have you come out this Monday night and join the free instruction classes.

One of the highlights of the 1963 directory I browsed through was Sid Parsley's 300 game rolled at Garden Lanes when it was in Pampa. Two years ago, Virgil Beard rolled a perfect score here at Harvester Lanes. It would really thrill us to see that score come up for some of our current bowlers. We feel like the lanes are quite good and the possibility of such a game for either men or women isn't so far out of reach.

We are back and refreshed from our vacation and ready to start our lessons as we mentioned before. Also if you are thinking of new equipment, now would be the time to invest in it so you can practice with it before you start fall leagues. We are here to serve your bowling needs as well as help you with your game if you're having a problem.

Remember, we think you former bowlers are missing a lot of good recreation and getting to know some of the new bowlers so give us a call and we'll get you in touch with the league secretary for the league you desire.

Now here are the scores from the past couple of weeks.
Men's scores — R. Shay 518, 517, H. Bense 212-575, J. Snuggs 202-511, D. McNair 228-518, B. Scott 508, B. Cherry 219-210-617, 231-588, C. Pettit 205-226-620, 575, H. Musgrave 211-551, 536, R. D. TEXAS FOOTBALL '74 Fry Says No Vengeance When NTSU, SMU Vie DENTON, Tex. (UPI) — The impending event is listed very nearly on the schedule.

—North Texas State University vs. Southern Methodist University, Texas Stadium, 7:30 p.m., Sept. 14. But those few words printed on billboards and advertisements throughout North Texas just don't tell the story.

This contest, arranged three years ago by the athletic directors of the two schools, has, by an ironic turn, become something of a special occurrence.

But Hayden Fry, the central figure in the production, wants one thing understood.

"There is no vengeance in my heart," he says.

It was Fry, as head football coach and athletic director at SMU, who helped set up a four-game contract with NTSU.

But when the first game of that contract is played this year Fry's coaching will be done in behalf of NTSU.

"Just because I was fired at SMU does not change my mind about all the friends I have here," said Fry, who was dismissed by that school at the close of the 1972 season and then took the job at North Texas where his team tied for the Missouri Valley Conference title in 1973.

"I recruited a lot of those SMU players we will be facing. I developed a lot of friends among the faculty and students.

"At the time it happened I thought it was the end of the world. I was frustrated. But my wife told me that if that happened the Lord must have had something better in mind for me.

"And he did. I couldn't be happier."

The financial aspects of the SMU-North Texas game have also taken on a different look since the Fry changeover.

When the NCAA approved the expansion of college football schedules from 10 to 11 games, Rod Rust—then coach and athletic director at North Texas—brought a stunning offer to Fry.

"I thought the greatest thing I had ever done at SMU was to get the contract we had with North Texas," said Fry. "They came to us with a fantastic offer. They were willing to pay us a flat $100,000 guarantee for the first game of the contract and $75,000 each for the next three games.

"Now that I am at North Texas I think the second greatest thing I have ever done is to have cut that guarantee in half.

Drought Affecting Antelope In Panhandle, West Texas

AUSTIN — Little or no rainfall in West Texas during the winter and early spring has severely cut into the state's antelope herds.

Three areas of the state support pronghorn antelope herds: the Trans-Pecos, Permian Basin and the Panhandle.

Aerial and ground censuses of herds were curtailed to a large extent this year but counts thus far show antelope numbers to be down in all three West Texas localities.

According to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department regional wildlife director Jack Parsons of San Angelo, the majority of the state's herds are found in the sprawling Trans-Pecos and antelope numbers are down some 42 percent from last year.

"Even though we were limited on counting time this year," said Parsons, "the areas we did survey were covered thoroughly and drought has definitely hurt antelope over their entire range."

"Last year, department crews counted 5,653 antelope in the Trans-Pecos; this year there are only some 3,282 pronghorns."

Now that I am at North Texas I think the second greatest thing I have ever done is to have cut that guarantee in half.

Landry Hopes Stowe's Happy With Money At Jacksonville

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (UPI) — Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys hopes the World Football League and its money will make flanker Otto Stowe happy.

Stowe has signed to play with the Jacksonville Sharks of the WFL next year. Dallas obtained Stowe from Miami last year.

"When he wasn't happy in Miami it was because he wasn't starting," Landry said. "He was starting in Dallas but the money wasn't enough. Maybe the dollar will make him happy."

"Otto was starting out No. 2 this season behind Drew Pearson, anyway. I'll assume he'll stay No. 2."

Cowboy center Dave Manders reported to camp Friday, bringing to 11 the number of veterans who reported and ignored the NFL player's strike.

FPC To Host Slowpitch Meet

BORGER — A slow pitch softball tournament will be conducted Aug. 30-31 and Sept. 2 at Henry Sims Field in Borger with all proceeds going to the Frank Phillips Booster Club.

Entry fee is $25.00 per team and New FPC basketball coach Audie Apple is the tournament director. Trophies will be presented to the top three teams in the double elimination tournament.

Interested teams should enter as soon as possible by contacting Coach Apple at FPC, Ron Choate at the Borger News-Herald, Phil Londagin at radio station KBBB in Borger or Henry Sims at the Borger Boys' Club.

Friday's Baseball Results

United Press International — Tom Seaver was worried Friday night and it wasn't about the pennant race in the National League East.

Seaver, making his first start since July 7, pitched a four-hit shutout as the New York Mets handed All-Star pitcher Lynn McGlothen his fourth straight loss by downing the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-0. It was Seaver's first complete game since June 1.

Seaver, who has won the coveted Cy Young Award twice, was forced to miss several starts this season by a sciatic nerve in his right hip, a constriction of the muscles that he thinks may have been caused by jamming his heel into the ground after each delivery.

Doctors ordered Seaver to take a 10-day layoff in which he wasn't allowed to run, throw or for that matter "do anything." Seaver began throwing on the sidelines last Friday and again during the All-Star break.

"I didn't feel any pain at all tonight, thank God," Seaver said after he handcuffed the Cards to improve his record to 7-6.

Ed Kranepool drove in a pair of runs in the third with a bases-loaded single for the Mets while John Milner accounted for the other run with his 14th homer. The Mets, the defending champions in the NL East, are currently in the division cellar, eight games behind Philadelphia.

In other NL games San Francisco edged Cincinnati, 5-4; Pittsburgh blanked Montreal, 3-0; Chicago outslugged Philadelphia, 10-7, and Houston edged Los Angeles, 8-7, in 11 innings. San Diego at Atlanta was rained out.

In the American League, Oakland beat Minnesota, 5-3; Detroit blanked Boston, 1-0, in 11 innings; Baltimore

HAYWARD OUT ATLANTA (UPI) — Actress Susan Hayward, who was hospitalized last week for tests to determine if she had a brain tumor, has left Emory University Hospital in good condition, her doctors say.

Miss Hayward, who won the Academy Award in 1958 for "I Want to Live," entered the hospital last week for what she said was an "exaggerated" ailment. The 54-year-old actress reportedly will resume work toward a charity event later this year.

Dr. George Tindall, Miss Hayward's physician, said she was in good condition when she left the hospital. Tindall had refused to disclose the results of the biopsy tests on grounds that it was confidential between a doctor and his patient. Miss Hayward's destination was not known. She resides in Beverly Hills, Calif.

MERCOURI GOING HOME PARIS (UPI) — Now that the civilian regime has been restored in Greece, actress Melina Mercouri, star of the movie "Never on Sunday," says she is ready to return to her homeland.

Miss Mercouri, who left Greece voluntarily seven years ago and has been living in self-imposed exile ever since, was one of Greek military junta's most outspoken foes.

The good we would do, we must do and the bad we must shun.

New Center Will Give Necessary Care To Certain Students

AUSTIN — A new Texas Regional Resource Center, designed to make certain public school students who need some form of special service receive the necessary care, will be developed under a $248,275 grant from the U.S. Office of Education.

The center, one of 13 in the nation, will be directed by the Texas Education Agency. Under the plan approved by the State Board of Education, the initial federal grant of $248,275 will support the statewide effort during the eight-month period from June 1, 1974, through Jan. 31, 1975. The total project is expected to last 32 months with renewal periods scheduled for Feb. 1, 1975 and Feb. 1, 1976. Except for the director and one secretary, staff and facilities will be provided by the Southwest Educational Development Laboratory under contract to the Texas Education Agency. James A. Tucker, now chief consultant in the Texas Education Agency department of special education and special schools, will serve as project director. He will supervise the SEDL support staff in Austin. "Our main objective is to offer support to Texas public schools in a number of problem areas where help is not available," Tucker points out. "At the same time, we hope to help make the entire pupil appraisal process — finding out what a child's problem might be and what to do about it — more efficient." There may be times, Tucker says, when both the school and the parents lack the experience and facilities needed by a particular child. "Let's look at one example — a severely handicapped child who can't be handled in the public school and who doesn't fit into any of the current service programs, either. The center's staff will include both learning and appraisal specialists working as special education trouble shooters at the same time they help school districts develop their own abilities to recognize and serve children with problems," Tucker added.
