Historical Society Re-Elects Mayor Hobart President

HOOVER LEADS MOVE TO GET BIG MUSEUM

Canadian Man Will Appoint County Chairmen

MAGAZINE TO BE PUBLISHED

Good Fellowship, Humor and Music Feature Banquet

In what was acknowledged to have been the best series of annual meetings in its history, the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Friday returned T. O. Hobart of Pampa to the presidency and initiated movements to publish an official magazine or quarterly and to build and equip a museum to cost $50,000.

Judge H. E. Hoover of Canadian chairman of the museum committee will name assistants in many counties and he declares the fund will be raised this year. The relics and records of the Society have so increased in number that many thousands of feet of floor space is needed to display and preserve them properly. The building likely will be located on the campus of the West Texas State Teachers college.

Quarterly Underwritten Mayor Hobart was chairman of the business meeting in the afternoon. He joined several other men in underwriting the publication of an official organ, which will contain some of the papers read Friday, and other minutes and historical documents. With two directors' terms expiring, those present re-elected J. A. Hill, president of the Teachers college, and chose H. E. Hoover to replace O. H. Nelson of Romero. The directors then met and re-elected the officers of the Society.

One hundred and eighty-two persons were seated in the large dining room of Cousins hall, girls' dormitory, for the banquet Friday evening. Entertainment was furnished by the W. T. S. T. C. Girls' glee club; by Prof. Tatr Fry, tenor; and Mrs. Charles Smith of Amarillo.

Condron Gives Welcome Prof. S. H. Condron, formerly dean of Clarendon college, delivered the address of welcome, paying a glowing tribute to the spirit and service of Panhandle pioneers. Mr. Hoover responded, speaking in characteristic fashion of the pleasure of gathering to discuss old times and the desirability of preserving for posterity the records of the past and present.

The principal address of the evening was delivered by J. Everts Haley, popular field secretary of the Society. Mr. Haley quoted at length from the files of the organization, using extracts to show the habits of a few decades ago and showing by example the freer modes of writing and speaking in those days. Clippings from the Texas News-papers, and from Amarillo's first newspaper, were read. Mr. Haley declared that despite the huge collections taking form, the work of preserving the folk lore of the Plains is only well started.

Many Pioneers Present By rising, many of those present indicated that they came to the Panhandle in the period from 1875 to 1890. A number made short talks.

Riotous good humor developed when Judge Tom Turner of Amarillo conducted a story-telling contest. Mr. Hobart set the pace with some choice humor of old times, and the yarns kept the big audience in an uproar until Judge Hoover climaxed the evening with his unique recitation of his experiences as a lawyer.

Hamilton Is Toastmaster Judge James D. Hamilton of Farwell, toastmaster for the evening, delivered a stirring oration in announcing the re-election of Mr. Hobart.

Pampa people present included Mayor and Mrs. Hobart, Clinton Henry, Jimmie Moore, the Rev. W. L. Evans, and Olin E. Hinkle.

Next year, it was announced, larger space will be obtained for the meetings, and an even greater audience is anticipated.

A pistol will be their only "rescue" equipment. The "Bremen" is pictured, with Huenfeld and Koehl.

ROYALTY DEAL ON HOPKINS OIL LAND GIVES LOCAL MEN $110,000

One thirty-second royalty on 2,124 acres of land owned by Mrs. Maggie Hopkins in section 84, block 97, 85, and 95, block B-2 of Gray county brought $110,000 when sold yesterday afternoon to Ed Mayer of Amarillo by Ernest Eslick, Cy Rieger, and Jerry Sines.

Mr. Mayer is president of the Johnson Ranch Royalty Company, Inc. The land held under lease by the local men and on which the fractional royalty deal was made includes three 80-acre offset tracts to a well being drilled by them in the east corner of the west half of the southwest quarter of section 84, block B-2, Mrs. Maggie Hopkins, which was spudded in February 11 and has been drilled to 2,630 feet. Line was struck at 2,212 feet. The elevation at this point is 2,234 feet.

City Is Offered Airport Site by Land Company

Monday night the city commissioners will be given a letter from the White Deer Land company, signed by M. K. Brown and C. P. Buckler, offering the city a lease on the land adjoining the football park for use as an aviation landing field and air port. They ask no remuneration, but in a spirit of co-operation in anything beneficial to Pampa offer this land for the purpose of the long needed landing field here. The right to terminate the agreement after stated notice time would be reserved.

This property would have a landing space 1,900 feet one way and about 2,900 feet the other way, and if the football field could be secured would be suitable for the hangars, of which there will be several.

Several oil companies with large holdings in the Pampa and Borger areas plan to place ships here and to make this the landing center for their trips to the oil field. Local flying enthusiasts plan to purchase a ship or more than one and bring a dependable pilot here to give instructions and later to start a passenger service.

TRIBUTE PAID BY NATION TO FRANK WILLIS

Hoover Men Especially Outspoken in Their Praise

FUNERAL WILL BE ON TUESDAY

Bearing on Republican Campaign Is Topic of Politicians

DELAWARE, Ohio, March 31.—The town that acclaimed Senator Frank B. Willis last night as its favorite son candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, was in mourning tonight, hardly recovered from the shock of his death a few minutes before he was to deliver a campaign speech. Plans to have his body lie in state in Gray chapel, of Ohio Wesleyan university, where death suddenly eliminated him from the contest with Herbert Hoover for the Ohio delegation to the Republican national convention were completed late today.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, in Gray chapel, with Senator Simon D. Cole Findlay, scheduled to deliver funeral orations. Dr. Otto Scott Brown, pastor of the Ashbury Methodist Episcopal church, which Senator Willis attended here, will preside at the services, which Mrs. Willis has requested to be simple and unpretentious.

Senator Willis' body will be taken to Gray chapel Monday noon, to lie in state from 2 o'clock to 9 o'clock Monday, and from 9 o'clock Tuesday morning until the time of the funeral. Friends may visit his body in the Willis home on Franklin street from 2 o'clock to 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Burial Near Parents Following the services in Gray chapel Tuesday afternoon, Senator Willis' body will be carried to the oak grove cemetery here, where he will be buried near his father and mother.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)—Political barriers were brushed aside today as friends and partisan foes of Senator Willis of Ohio joined in expressing regret over his sudden death and in tributes to his memory.

The legislative wheels of Congress came to a standstill, both the Senate and the House adjourning after the passing of the Ohio Republican had been announced officially from the floors, resolutions of regret had been adopted and delegations appointed to attend the funeral.

President Coolidge was among the many who paid tribute to the dead senator. In a message to Mrs. Willis he referred to her husband as "an earnest and effective character" and said that "his going will be a distinct loss to our public life."

Home Town Shocked Senatorial colleagues of Mr. Willis appeared particularly shocked at his death last night in his home town of Delaware, where he had gone to press his fight for the Republican presidential nomination. Many recalled that he was the third senator to die in this Congress—the other two being Senators Jones of New Mexico and Ferris of Michigan, both Democrats—and that as late as Wednesday he had been on the Senate floor, seemingly as vigorous and oval as ever.

Brother Holds on Suspicion When Girl Is Killed

LOGANSPORT, Ind., March 31.—(AP) Search for Miss Esta Hoover, 22, and her sister Seena, 18 of Winamac, Ind. who disappeared Wednesday night resulted in the finding of the body of the elder girl in the waterworks race here late today. Two brothers, John Eskew, 25, and Edgar, 21, are held in suspicion.

Coroner M. B. Stewart said he found no marks on the body of Esta to indicate murder, but that an autopsy later would determine whether she met her death from drowning. In the meantime firemen and volunteers continued to search the waterway for the other girl's body. The Eskew boys had been keeping company with the Hoover girls, it is said, and were to have been with them Wednesday night.

MIDLAND MAN WOUNDED MIDLAND, March 31.—(AP)—Gilbert Brunson was charged with assault and attempt to murder here today following a shooting on a downtown St. in which Lee Wright was wounded.

LAVENDER IS C. C. OFFICER

Replaces Curtis Clem as Vice-President of Organization

At a meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce Friday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, Curtis E. Clem handed in his resignation as vice-president of the organization, stating that he would be unable to devote his time to the presidency during the absence of President M. K. Brown, who leaves this month on a trip to his old home in England.

By a unanimous vote, J. H. Lavender, local real estate and oil properties representative, was chosen to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. Clem. Lavender has been a faithful worker for the organization and will act as president during the absence of Mr. Brown.

A committee was appointed to consider the applications for manager of the Chamber of Commerce to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Scott Barcus, who recently resigned to join the staff of a trust company.

House Approves Huge Mississippi Flood Control Bill

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)—The House flood control committee tonight approved the Jones $325,000,000 Mississippi river flood control bill passed early in the week by the Senate.

After an all-day session the committee by a vote of 20 to 1 approved the Senate measure with a half dozen amendments drawn from the bill by the committee chairman, Reid of Illinois, who had drafted a bill of his own. The amendments, however, would not effect any radical change in the Jones bill.

STRIP SELLS FOR $23,000

Buildings Are To Be Examined in Other Counties

Gray county commissioners Saturday afternoon selected the property immediately south of Central high school for the site of the new courthouse.

This plot, 120 by 300 feet, was purchased from the First Baptist church and the White Deer Land company for $23,000. The church recently bought the site for a new plant, but now has other property in view.

The commissioners were divided as to the desirability of the site chosen and another in the Stroupe addition on North Cuyler street. The deciding vote in favor of the land south of Central high was cast by Judge T. M. Wolfe.

No action has been taken toward a new courthouse, but it is expected that the commissioners will soon begin a series of trips to other counties having buildings of the general type desired here, and that architects' plans will be taken under consideration.

City Manager to Speak by Radio Early Tomorrow

Promptly at 6:30 tomorrow morning the voice of City Manager F. M. Gwin will be heard on the air from station WDAG of Amarillo. Mr. Gwin will tell radio listeners about Pampa and Gray county for a fifteen-minute period.

This opportunity is made possible by the Galbraith-Foxworth Lumber company, which through the Chamber of Commerce asked the Pampa city manager to represent Pampa on the air.

This is Pampa's second time on the air, and thousands will listen to Mr. Gwin, who is a talented speaker and knows Pampa and Gray county. The first time Pampa was "on the air" was through musical program given by Prof. O. A. Schick, E. B. Fisher, and Joe Strother.

HEENEY WILL MEET TUNNEY

Fight May Be Staged in London Next July

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 31—(AP)—With a characteristic suddenness Tex Rickard today lifted the lid off the heavyweight boxing championship situation by declaring that Gene Tunney will meet Tom Heenev, Australian champion, for the title some time in July, with the possibility that the bout will be staged in London.

Rickard's action climaxed a chapter of rumors and uncertainties since Jack Dempsey first wavered and then walked completely out of the picture to get its first chance at the world title in more than twenty years. Whether the Britishers will see the match depends on London promoters with whom he is negotiating said Rickard.

By choosing Heenev, the New York promoter also clarified the situation in New York state, where the boxing commission threatened to rule Tunney ineligible unless before next Tuesday he accepted a challenge from Heenev, Johnny Risko, or Jack Sharkov. While the probability was that the bout would be held in New York if London promoters fail to come to terms, Rickard did not mention New York in his statement, merely asserting that the match would be staged "in the United States," if not in England. No date in July was mentioned. Tunney expressed his satisfaction with Rickard's selection of the Brawny New Zealander, declaring that in his opinion Heenev was "the outstanding contender."

MOVING TIME—The Daily News, with its job printing department, is moving into what will be a newspaper plant second in the upper Panhandle only to the Amarillo News-Globe.

A perfecting press, which will deliver the papers printed, cut, folded, and counted in a single operation at a speed many times that of the old machine, has been in process of erection for ten days.

It is no small job to move a large number of complex electrical machines without suspending publication, and the News staff is working overtime, assisted by a small army of carpenters, painters, gas fitters, plumbers, moving contractors, pressmen and others.

Several days ago J. C. Phillips, general auditor of the Nunn-Warren Publishing company, with his family moved here from Panhandle, and Dave Warren, general manager, will come here soon. The headquarters staff and equipment will be fully removed here by tomorrow evening.

The addition of the headquarters group will increase the company payroll to one of the largest in the city, and moreover, their presence here will bring much publicity to the city.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—There always has been some conflict, small or great, between the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government and argument has continued in recent years as to whether one or another should have more power or less so that the system might function more efficiently.

In this presidential year it may be worth pointing out that most of this added power has accrued to the executive branch—that is, to the president and his cabinet and other appointees.

When the federal system first started there were four cabinet posts—State, War, Treasury and Justice. Those since added are Navy, Post-office, Labor, Agriculture, Commerce and interior.

sible to him. Thus, their policies are his policies. There is no control of the executive branch except as may be exerted by a Congress sufficiently hostile. Sometimes Congress has been able to render the executive almost impotent, but not often.

The State Department may control private loans abroad, upset weak foreign government in this hemisphere refuse entry to foreigners whose views it doesn't like and cause intervention in Caribbean republics.

The Navy Department can send marines to shoot and bomb Nicaraguans, Haitians, Chinese and others without consent of Congress and can establish censorship at it did in Nicaragua.

The Treasury Department handles hundreds of millions in tax refunds with secrecy, delves into our private affairs by demanding income tax returns, regulates public morals through its prohibition and customs services and partially supervises health through the Public Health Service.

The Justice Department maintains an espionage system which has in past times led to abuses and as other drastic powers used in recent years.

The Postoffice Department can censor contents of mail and labels on envelopes, which it does.

The Commerce Department took over control of radio and aviation.

The other departments have important and far-reaching regulatory or semi-regulatory powers. It's not that any of the departments have necessarily usurped authority, but executive power and its patronage system have grown with the nation, which constantly presented new opportunities or demands for its use.

Deadlock Arises in Winkler County Crude Hearing

FORT WORTH, April 1.—(AP)—Efforts of the Texas railroad commission, assisted by its advisory committee of oil operators, to work out a pro-rating plan for Winkler county, struck a snag at its session here when several oil companies declared their unwillingness to produce existing contracts for sale, purchase or handling of oil.
As a result of the deadlock, the commission and advisory commission went into executive session with contract holders in an attempt to arrive at a peaceful settlement. However, it was expected that a pro-rating scheme would result either by agreement or by order of the railroad commission.

E. T. Lowe, Jr. Archie L. Mayo, favorably known for other comedy successes, directed. The mix-up has to do with young Helene Martin's infatuation for a married rounder, whose wife in applying for a divorce, has retained the services of a lawyer, Gilbert by name, whose secretary is a sister of the impressionable Helene. It is a clever scheme of big sister's which straightens the crooked path of the wrongdoer, and an hilarious one. "SADIE THOMPSON"
A company of almost two hundred persons, headed by Gloria Swanson and Director Raoul Walsh, spent three weeks at Catalina Island and aboard a tramp steamer off the coast of Southern California, filming exterior scenes for "Sadie Thompson." Miss Swanson's second independent screen

The wharf sequence of the picture depicting arrival of "Sadie Thompson" and other characters of W. Somerset Maugham's well-known story at Pago Pago, was filmed at the Catalina Island Isthmus. The shore line on either side of the wharf was transformed into a complete tropical setting under direction of William Cameron Menzies, art director, with the result that swaying coconut palms and native huts caused visiting tourists to rub their eyes in disbelief.

Markets

KANSAS CITY, March 31.—(AP)—United States Department of Agriculture Moderate activity featured trade on cattle around the 11 midwestern and southwest market circuit this week. Shipping demand for well finished fed steers was moderately improved and substantial price advances were effective. Other killing classes are little changed, demand for fat light yearlings continuing broad. Steers in thin conditions suitable for grazing very scarce, with the few high quality lots offered bringing a decided premium over comparable grades carrying in a medium amount of flesh. Total receipts at the 11 markets for the month of March approximated 704,600 as compared with 769,280 in February and 886,190 for March a year ago.
Considerable unevenness featured the hog trade during the week. Receipts were about normal at most points and the general trend of prices seemed somewhat unsettled. A weaker undertone prevailed at Chicago and St. Louis, while a like amount of strength was shown in markets farther west. However, as a whole, only slight changes were made. During March 2,947,396 were received at the 11 markets which was 412,000 less than February but around 600,000 in excess of March 1927.
Arrivals of sheep this month were around 1,065,900 showing a decrease of 71,000 from February, but were 55,000

Escaped Prisoner Says Treatment is Almost Unendurable

WICHITA FALLS, April 1.—(AP)—Marion Feters, who escaped from the Eastham state prison farm near Huntsville last week was recaptured by Sheriff W. G. Bralley here Friday.
Feters was under a 12-year sentence from Wichita county for a second offense of burglary.
He boasted following his recapture that he had escaped twice since he was sent to prison less than four months ago.
"I'll get away again too, unless they put me behind the walls," he added. "The dogs run me down the first time I got away. I learned a little more when I got back. Then, when I got away last week I outsmarted the dogs, and I'll do it again too."
"I just ain't going to stay down there unless they treat me better. They won't get nobody to stay down there the way they treat us. You folks in civilization think they don't beat us; but they do—sometimes until the blood comes. If they send me back to one of the farms, I'll get away or get shot down trying."
000 larger than the same month last year. A lower undertone prevailed on fat lambs during the week under review, increased receipts being the depressing influence. Fed woolled lambs late in the week at Chicago topped at $17.25.

TO THE ELECTORATE OF THE CITY OF PAMPA

GREETINGS:—
Having been solicited by a great number of electors to submit my name for Mayor of the City of Pampa, I consented, coming to this conclusion:

First: That I am wide-awake to the needs of the City progressive for future needs, and aggressive against the old system of city government.

Second: That the names of persons submitted for Mayor falling short of my estimate of ability for the needs of the City, having the fact before me, that every one of them has served in the commissioner's or councilman's office and their voices did not carry conviction and weight to give the city sanitation, even down to a milk ordinance and an adequate supply of that commodity beyond which no city can grow, to-wit: WATER.

These are my reasons for entering the race for Mayor of Pampa.

My friends know what I stand for, but the newcomers who are assisting and helping to make this a city, I wish to inform by these lines what I stand for.

First of all things, PURE WATER in abundance and of a quality and at a cost so that it will not be necessary for anyone to curtail his needs. So that it will not be necessary, when the waiter that serves you at the table to tell him that you did not order milk, but water, and have his explanation to you that the milky looking substance is air in the water. Why is air in the water? From one cause and one cause only:—leaky stuffing boxes on the pump shafts, which need only the application of elbow grease and a wrench and maybe fresh packing, as a remedy. I say first of all, PURE WATER, meaning thereby, not a watery solution of chemical substances, such as we are continuing to get and without laboratory assistance, the housewife will tell you that the water is hard and getting harder. The hardness stands now between 28 and 30, and in the near future it stands to reason that our elaborate pumping devices will be replaced by man power with pick and shovel and a hoist to bring it out in chunks like coal.

Every housewife knows that soft pure water is half the labor and expense. And what about your health? Drinking soft, pure water? Sanitation can not be had without an abundance of pure water. I would enforce the ordinances for instance, Ordinance No. 2, pertaining to nuisances—a good one—and for the sake of health, complete a standard milk ordinance, which every city of Pampa's size has in force, and water is certainly not needed for either.

And while we are building a City, we need competent and practical inspectors for the building, plumbing and electrical trades and an entire revision of the building code. Why must we countenance the bare grounds near the railroad depot and along the railroad tracks. Could they not be made beautiful, for instance like Canadian or Amarillo? And what a scream the Freight Depot.

I stand for mail and express delivery inside the city limits and a uniform system of sidewalks. I favor a paving program wherever wanted by a majority. We should have at once, competent, independent inspectors of weights and measures, including service on all kinds of meters, gas, electricity and water. (I know a meter will steal unless periodically adjusted.) I stand to curtail public service corporations in their charges for commodities, and lower rates on all, commensurate with the service, including the telephone. We have licensed the service corporations, but have not married them.

We should have a City Fire Department free from interference, and let this be managed under supervision by the men doing the work, who give their life and labor free for the protection of life and property.

I stand for economy, meaning thereby, the creation of a budget system, and assessment of taxes to meet this budget requirements, instead of assessing taxes for what the traffic would stand, and spending these taxes in a way that is ridiculous, netting the citizen who paid, only a fraction of the amount due him.

I believe in a civil service examination to fill the appointive office of the city, with an adequate bonding system so as to make the appointee financially and morally responsible for his acts, and not the city.

These are my sentiments and my platform. If you see fit to support me, I thank you. In conclusion I wish to say that I have written this myself, and I also paid for this advertisement and others. Yours for service and PURE WATER IN ABUNDANCE.

BY ANNE AUSTIN AUTHOR OF "SAINT AND SINNER"

THIS HAS HAPPENED

The summer she is 18, Sally Ford leaves the state orphanage to be "farmed out" to Clem Carson, a farmer. Sally knows no other home than the orphanage from the time she is four when a woman leaves her there and disappears. She forgets her cares when she meets David Nash, handsome, young student of scientific farming who is working on the Carson farm for the summer. David is genuinely fond of Sally, arousing the anger of both Pearl, Clem's daughter, and of Clem himself, who hopes David and Pearl will marry.

David begs the little orphan to confide in him if life on the farm becomes unbearable and assures her he is her friend. She goes with him for a week in the field by moonlight and ideas in him that she fears Carson soon take her back to the home. She goes to Pearl's hatred for her.

The next day Sally is left alone at the farm with Clem. David disappears, and she is terrified because she believes that Clem will try to take her back to the orphanage while his wife, who likes Sally, is away. Sally bundles a few things together and hides them, for she knows she will run away before she will return to the orphanage.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XI

As the afternoon wore on, and still Carson did not appear, Sally's gratitude for Mrs. Carson's inarticulate kindness sent her on a flying trip to the orchard to gather enough hard-sour apples to make pies for supper. Carson, she began to hope, was so busy setting up the cider mill that he would have no time to take her back to the orphanage, even if he wanted to. Maybe she was safe for a while; she would not run away just yet, for if she ran away she would never see David again.

It was fun to have the whole big kitchen to herself. Humming under her breath, she cut chilled lard into well-sifted flour, using the full amount that Mrs. Carson's pie-artist called for. At the orphanage the pie crust was tough and leathery, because the matron would not permit the cook to use enough lard. What joy it was to cook on a prosperous farm, where there was an abundance of every good thing to eat! If only she could stay the whole summer through! She could stand the hard work.

As she piled the sliced apples thickly in to the crimped pie crust, she thought wistfully of Mrs. Carson, who was kind to her although she was a hard taskmistress.

"Maybe," Sally reflected sadly, dusting around nutmeg over the thickly-spread apples, "if I could stay on here, Mrs. Carson would want to adopt me. But of course Pearl and Mr. Carson wouldn't let her. They hate me because David likes me and won't marry Pearl. And I like David better than anybody in the world," she confessed to herself, as the pink in her cheeks deepened. "But I would love to have a mother, even if it was only a ready-made mother. I wonder why some girls have everything, and others nothing? Why should Pearl have a mother who just spoils her past all enduring? Pearl isn't good—she isn't even good to her mother."

When her three big apple pies were in the oven, she washed the bread bowl in which she had mixed her pie crust, washed and dried vigorously the big yellow pine board and rolling pin, and restored them to their proper places. Then, feeling very useful and virtuous, she got the table for supper, singing little scraps of popular songs which she had heard over the radio during her week on the farm.

By that time her pies were baked to a deep, golden brown, with little glazed blisters across their top crusts. "If I do say it myself," she said, in her little old-woman way, her head cocked sideways as she surveyed her handiwork, "those are real pies. I hope Mrs. Carson will be surprised and pleased."

Then, because she was very tired and the late afternoon sun was making an inferno of the kitchen, Sally climbed the steep back stairs to the garret, intending to take a cooling sponge bath and a short nap before the family returned hungry for supper. She was about to pass David's door when his voice halted her:

"That you, Sally? I've been enjoying your singing, even if I did spend more time listening than studying."

She went involuntarily toward him. "I didn't know you were up here, David," she told him. "I'm sorry I interrupted your studying. I wouldn't have sung if I'd known you were up here."

The boy was seated at a small pine table, covered with books and papers, but as she advanced hesitatingly into the room he rose.

"Come on in," he invited hospitably. "Wouldn't you like to see my books? Some of them are fascinating—full of pictures of prize stock and model chicken farms and champion egg-laying hens and things like that. Look," he commanded, snatching up a book as if eager to detain her. "Here's a picture of a cow that my grandfather owns. She holds the state name's Beauty Bess—look!"

Sally, without a thought as to the impropriety of being in a man's bedroom, slipping into the chair he was holding for her and bent her little broad-crowned head gravely over her book.

"I'm going to stock the farm with nothing but pedigreed animals when it's mine," David told her, enthusiastically. "Look, here's the kind—" And he bent low over her so that his arm was about her shoulder as he rifled the pages of the book, seeking the picture he wanted her to see.

A sudden gust of wind, presaging a summer shower, slammed the door shut, but the two were so absorbed that they did not hear the faint click of the lock. Nor did they hear, a little later, the sound of the stealthy furtive turning of the knob, the retreat of carefully muted footsteps.

David, his cheek almost touching hers, excitedly expounding the merits of crop rotation, and pointing out text-book confirmation of his theories, when sudden, evil words shocked their attention from the fascinations of the agricultural text-book:

"Caught you at last! Thought you was mighty slick, didn't you?—locking the door! I've a good mind to whip you every step of the way back to the orphan asylum, you lying nasty little—" Carson's voice, hoarse with anger and exultation over his coming revenge upon the girl who had dared jeopardize his daughter's happiness, stopped with a gasp upon the evil word he had spat out, for his shoulders, as he tried to wriggle into the room from the small window, were stuck in the too-narrow frame.

If the wind had not been roaring about the house, banging branches of shade trees against the sloping roof upon which David's window looked, they would necessarily have heard his approach, but as it was they were totally unprepared for the sight of his head and shoulders and breast, framed in the window, his glittering black eyes fixed upon them with evil exultation.

Sally struggled to her feet as David leaped toward the window. She had a fleeting glimpse of his rage-distorted young face, his lips snarled back from his teeth.

"David! Don't, David!" she cried, her voice a high, thin wall of terror—terror for David, not for Carson.

"You're not fit to live, Carson!" David's young voice broke in its rage, but there was no faltering in the power behind the blow which crashed into the farmer's face.

Sally, sinking to her knees in her terror, heard the rending sound of flimsy timber giving way, then the young face, his lips snarled back from his teeth, sliding rapidly down the roof. She half fainted then, so that when David tried to lift her feet she swayed dizzily against him, her eyes dazed, her aches lips hanging slackly.

"Can you hear me, Sally?" David's voice, a little tremulous with awe at that which he had done, came like a series of loud claps in her ear.

She clung to him weakly, her eyes glancing fearfully from the window to his set, pale young face. Then she nodded slowly like a child awakening from a nightmare.

"I think I've killed him, Sally. He hasn't made a sound since he crashed to the ground." David's hazel eyes were as wide as hers, and almost as frightened.

"You did—that—for me?" Sally whispered. "Oh, David, what are we going to do?" She began to cry then, in little, frightened whimpers, but her blue eyes, swimming in tears, never left his face.

The boy squared his shoulders as if to prepare them for a great burden and in that instant he seemed to grow older. Color came slowly back to his bronzed cheeks, but his lips shook a little as he answered:

"We've got to run away, Sally, before the family comes home. I hate to leave him—down there—if he's only hurt. But I'll be damned if I stay here and get us both sent to jail just to ease a pain that that beast, if he isn't dead, may be having! Oh, God, I hope I didn't kill him! I just went crazy when he called you that name—Will you come, Sally, or do you want to stay and face them with me? Whatever's best for you—"

Sally Ford did not hesitate for a moment. Her blue eyes were full of trust and adoration as she answered: "I'll go with you, David. I know I'd have to run away, I'm all packed."

"All right," David spoke rapidly. "I'll fix up a small bundle, too. You get your things and leave the house as quickly as possible. Out across the orchard to the corn field and wait for me where we were sitting the other night. I'll join you almost by the time you get there. But I want you to leave first just in case they come back before I can get away. Now, run!" Sally obeyed, somehow forcing her muscles to carry out David's commands, but the tears were coming so fast that she bumped unobscuringly into apple and peach trees as she ran through the orchard, the brown paper parcel of clothes clutched tightly to her bosom. Twice she dashed the tears from her eyes, glanced fearfully about, and listened, but she saw and heard nothing. The sun was getting low in the west, slanting in golden, dust-laden beams through the rows of apple trees.

When she reached the shelter of the corn stalks she went more slowly, for her heart was pounding sickeningly. Just before she reached the end of the field she paused, opened her bundle with shaking hands, drew out the dark blue linen dress and put it on over the blue-and-white gingham uniform of the orphanage. She was re-tying her bundle when she caught the faint sound of footsteps running toward her between rows of corn.

David was hatless. His eyes were wide, unsmiling, but his lips managed an upturning of the corners to reassure her.

"Sorry—to be—so long," he panted. "But I telephoned a doctor that Carson had been hurt—and asked him to come over. I didn't answer when he asked who was calling. Told him Carson had slipped from the roof." "I'm awfully glad you did, David. It was like you. Shall we go now?" "David looked down at her in wonder, and his eyes and lips were very tender. "What's wrong with you, Sally? What a darn nice little thing you are! But I've been thinking hard, honey. We can't run away together—far that it, I'll have to take you back to the Home." (To Be Continued)

In the next chapter Sally meets an old friend in a new setting.

Mrs. E. M. Carter returned home yesterday from St. Anthony's hospital in Amarillo, where she has been seriously ill for the last month. Her many friends will be pleased to know that she is slowly improving at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Setts of Mobeetie visited with Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Reid Friday.

PAMPA'S FUTURE===

What Shall it Be?

THIS QUESTION OF VITAL INTEREST TO EVERY THINKING CITIZEN OF PAMPA WILL BE LARGELY DETERMINED ON NEXT TUESDAY, APRIL 3, WHEN A MAYOR AND TWO COMMISSIONERS WILL BE ELECTED

It behooves us as alert, progressive, wide-awake citizens to select these men carefully. Men of Vision, Experience, and Ability are sorely needed during the next two years to handle the affairs of the City of Pampa. It is a commonly known fact that Dave Osborne, Lynn Boyd, and J. E. Murfee have these qualifications. These men have been tried and have not been found wanting—why take a chance on the City's Future?

Neither of these men are SEEKING the office of Mayor or Commissioner, but have been petitioned by a great number of thinking citizens and bow to the will of the people by accepting these offices. These officials will receive little compensation for the many duties they must perform during the coming two years—they have been public servants and know what they will be called upon to do, and it is with no desire for personal gain or public emulation that they have assented to have their names appear upon the official ballot.

—IF YOU HAVE THE BEST INTERESTS OF THE
CITY OF PAMPA AT HEART

VOTE FOR

DAVE OSBORNE
FOR MAYOR

J. E. MURFEE
FOR COMMISSIONER NO. ONE

LYNN BOYD
FOR COMMISSIONER NO. TWO

These men are NOT being backed by any BAND, CLIQUE, or ORGANIZATION—but are being urged to accept these offices by thinking citizens in every occupation, order and organization in the city.

CHURCHES

THE METHODIST CHURCH

We are planning a great day for you at the Methodist church. Sunday school starts promptly at 9:45 o'clock; a class for every age. The Wesley brotherhood class is growing every Sunday. The business men are especially invited to enjoy the fellowship of this class. Prof. R. B. Fisher, teacher.

A special service for the members of the church has been arranged at the 11 o'clock hour. O. W. Ferguson, secretary of the building committee, will make a report of the work thus far. J. N. Duncan, chairman of the building committee, will bring a message to the members of the church concerning our plans for the future. Every Methodist in town is urged to be present.

At the evening hour the pastor will speak. Theme, "The Man With an Alibi." This message will be especially for men. A great time is expected.

The orchestra will play at all services. Our doors are opened to all alike.

"The Church With a Hearty Welcome."

TOM W. BRABHAM, Pastor.
Joe Strother, Educational Director.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday school, with B. E. Finley as superintendent, begins at 9:45. We have classes for all ages and a hearty welcome for everybody.

Morning worship and sermon begin at 11 o'clock. Subject of sermon, "The Tragedy of Unbelief." Mrs. Doucette will sing. Communion service and reception of new members.

Evening service with Gospel message begins at 7:45. Subject of sermon will be "The Windows of Heaven." Mrs. Lyman will sing. We extend a hearty and cordial welcome to the people of Pampa to worship with us. "Come with us and we will do thee good."

W. L. Evans, Minister.

will begin Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service. The minister will do the preaching, and special music will be arranged for each service by Mrs. W. A. Bratton, who is in charge of the choir. With the fine interest and good attendance during the regular services of the church, it is expected that this special evangelistic effort of just one week, beginning Sunday morning and closing Easter Sunday night, will prove to be all that has been anticipated. No sensationalism or high powered methods will be resorted to, and every one attending each and every service throughout the meeting will be respectfully considered.

The final sermon to the congregation in preparation for the meeting will be preached at the morning hour and the evening subject will be "The Kindled Fire." The service begins at 7:45, which will be the hour for the service each evening. A cordial invitation is extended to all who do not attend elsewhere to begin the first day of the meeting by being in Bible school at 10 o'clock. Departments are organized for all ages of the family. The three young people's meetings at 6:45 afford a splendid opportunity for the young folk to become better acquainted with each other, and the work of the church.

Come and bring a friend with you Sunday, and during the entire meeting you will find a hearty welcome awaiting you.

JAMES TODD, Jr., Minister.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday school 9:45.

There will be a special music both morning and evening, the singing that you hear at the Baptist church is the best.

May our people work and pray for the Lord's presence with us again Sunday. We rejoiced to see the sixteen come with us last Sunday for church membership.

We are requesting that the Layman remember the program which will be given Monday evening at 8 in the church auditorium. Devotional E. F. Brake; violin Solo, Mrs. Morrow; reading, L. Y. DeSpain, special song to be arranged; how to build fellowship Judge Tracy, "How to build a spiritual church O. H. Foster."

D. H. TRUHITE, Pastor.
Tom Ed Vaughn, Educational Director.

W. W. Humphries has purchased a Chevrolet coupe.

W. A. Breining is driving a new Chevrolet sedan.

Young's Addition Regarded as Offering Fine Investments

"Pampa people know a good thing when they see it," asserts F. C. Workman, sales manager of the Harden company, which is in charge of the sale of Young's second addition.

Mr. Workman was speaking of the interest evident in the property and the manner in which Pampa people sized up the possibilities of the new addition. He declared that some of the shrewdest real estate investors in the city were among the first purchasers. These are optimistic, pointing to the good wheat prospects, the new county seat, the new railroad, bright oil future, and best cattle situation in years as factors guaranteeing local prosperity and growth.

Young's second addition, he points out, is close-in, with all civic improvements readily available, and with desirable residential surroundings.

Many people are expected to visit the addition today, and the sales agents predict that many of the choicest pieces of property will be snapped up at once, either as investments or home sites.

W. R. McFarland has purchased a new Pontiac coupe from the Pampa Motor company.

L. G. Theofors is driving a new Chevrolet coach purchased from Cuberson-Smalling.

When McLean athletes failed to put in an appearance, the athletic events of the interscholastic meet were held yesterday with only Pampa boys participating.

With a total of 20 and a quarter points Archie Lee Walstad, football and basketball star on the high school teams, was the high point scorer of the entrants. Some of the events were run against time and, in others, the participants were disqualified.

Following Walstad in the number of points with 19, came Troy Stalls, who was prominent in the pole vault and shot-put. The time in all the events was fairly good, despite the lack of competition and the contestants took a keen interest in the meet.

Summary of athletic events:
120-yard hurdles—Archie Walstad, 19 seconds.

100-yard dash—Albert Lard, second Skeet Roberts; 11 seconds.

One-mile run—K. Bishop, second, G. Williams; 5 minutes 20 seconds.

220-yard low hurdles—Archie Walstad; second Troy Maness; 29 seconds.

220-yard dash—Skeet Roberts, 26 seconds.

440-yard dash—Albert Lard, 58 seconds.

PLAINS BEST OF OIL AREAS

Gusher in Southeastern Gray Is Sensation of the Week

Oil districts in North Texas, Panhandle, Wichita Falls, and Ranger were veritably bristling with activity, during the last week, with the Panhandle overshadowing the other two areas.

Ray and Massie's No. 1-A, Chapman in the northeast corner of the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 51, block 25, E. & G. N. survey, eastern Gray county, came in late in the week and flowed 4,320 barrels of 40 gravity oil the first 24 hours from granite wash pay at 2,800 feet. The well continues to flow steadily making about 2,000,000 feet of gas.

Best of Area
This well is the best encountered in this area. It is flanked on the north and south by producers of much smaller proportion.

The Texas company's No. 2 Chapman in section 50, block 25, appears to be a good well but will not make the producer that the Ray and Massie's well is. The latter well while flowing steadily is increasing. It started off flowing 165 barrels an hour and at the end of 24 hour period was flowing at the rate of 180 barrels an hour.

The well is ten miles due north of McLean. Two 500-barrel tanks was all the storage on the ground when the well was brought in and these were soon filled and the oil flowing into a hastily constructed earth pit while more storage was being erected.

Many New Tests
Several good wells completed in the eastern and central portions of Gray county have prompted the drilling of many tests. In the general area the Texas company has acreage well located in the two promising zones.

North of the Ray and Massie well the Danciger Oil and Refining company's No. 1 Chapman in section 7, block 26, got a show of dead oil at 2,400 to 2,530 feet. The well is bottomed at 2,570 feet. The hole will be straightened and drilled deeper.

In the McGee pool the Danciger Oil and Refining company's No. 10 Jackson in section 68, block B-2, has cleaned out and is flowing 1,155 barrels from granite wash pay to 3,200 to 3,227 feet. The well made 2,157 barrels the first 24 hours and then paraffined up.

Operators Well Large
Another good well in the same pool is the Operators Oil company's No. 2 Jackson in section 88, block B-2, which swabbed 1,300 barrels the first 24 hours from granite wash at 2,851 to 2,868 feet.

In the northeast portion of the county the Empire Gas and Fuel company's No. 1 Bender in section 164, block 3 made 275 barrels of 40.8 gravity oil the first 24 hours from granite wash pay at 3,300 feet following a shot. This well is in the general trend and is a few miles from the McConnell pool in semi-wildcat territory.

Hutchinson county after many weeks of quietness had a flurry of excitement when the Dixon Creek Oil company's No. 1 Burnett estate in section 120, block 4, was reported to have a showing of oil at 3,060 to 3,065 feet, the well is to be deepened.
