Ehrlichman Gets Prison Sentence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John D. Ehrlichman, President Nixon's former top domestic affairs adviser, was given a prison sentence of 20 months to five years today for conspiracy in the Ellsberg break-in.

Nixon May Ask For No Debate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With odds growing that the House will impeach him, President Nixon is considering asking for a vote without debate in order to get a prompt trial in the Senate, a White House official said today.

Walker Resigns

The announcement of the resignation of Don Walker, high school principal here for the past two years overshadowed the meeting of Pampa Independent School District held at Carver Center this morning.

AUSTIN (UPI)—The 181 politicians that make up the Texas Legislature labored for seven months and the state of Texas spent $5 million in taxpayers' money to write a new constitution. And it was all for nothing.

The Texas Constitutional Convention ended today without producing a proposal that could be submitted to the voters. The first such convention in the United States in the 20th Century that has failed to produce a document for voter approval.

According to the rules of the convention, two-thirds or 121 of the delegates had to approve any proposed charter. In a final vote of the convention, before it expired at midnight, 118 delegates voted for passing the latest revision, 82 voted against and one delegate abstained.

The impasse resulted because of a struggle between labor and business leaders over a right to work law. Labor vowed to defeat any constitution that elevated right to work (a prohibition against union shops) from a statute to constitutional law.

Convention President Price Daniel Jr., in a desperate attempt to push a proposed new constitution through before the automatic midnight adjournment, stalled 28 minutes before announcing the final vote on the measure.

Labor leaders who packed the convention gallery for the final night of debate whooped and cheered when Daniel finally announced the vote.

The final day of negotiations was marked by heated arguments, a jeering crowd of spectators, and back room dealing that failed to make enough changes in the voting pattern to get the constitution approved.

Five staunch liberals—all of whom had supported labor's opposition to the right to work issue—switched sides on the final vote.

Walker Resigns

The announcement of the resignation of Don Walker, high school principal here for the past two years overshadowed the meeting of Pampa Independent School District held at Carver Center this morning.

Upon emerging from the executive session, board president Paul Simmons called for a vote on employing Dr. Long as replacement for Dr. James F. Malone, who resigned June 30 after serving as superintendent here for six years.

The vote was unanimous, as expected, to hire Dr. Long, who will assume duties here Aug. 15. He was currently serving as assistant superintendent at Austin.

Simmons then made the surprise announcement on the resignation of Walker and said the matter of a replacement would be a subject of the next board meeting.

No details were announced, as the hiring of the new superintendent was the only item on today's agenda.

Price Supports Rural Fund Bill

Congressman Bob Price of Pampa yesterday supported legislation to fund rural development and agricultural programs, and opposed this year's urban mass transit authorization bill.

Price voted in favor of a conference report on the Agriculture, Environmental and Consumer Protection Appropriations Act which passed the U.S. House of Representatives on a 351-10 vote.

The bill still needs Senate approval of the conference compromise before being sent to the White House.

Later, Price opposed an $800 million urban mass transportation authorization bill.

He said the authorization was "out of line with the pressing need to fight inflation by cutting unnecessary federal spending. Although the urban mass transit program was conceived as a $400 million per year program, this Senate bill provides more than double that amount for fiscal 1975 alone," the Congressman said.

WORRY CLINIC

George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Dr. Max is typical of many leading medical men of 25 years ago. For my statement about the non-hereditary nature of syphilis raised a hornet's nest in 1940. Notice that even in 1974, some doctors still confuse "congenital" with "hereditary."

CASE B-609: Dr. Max, aged 72, is a faithful reader of my daily Quiz Column in the Cincinnati POST.

But, Dr. Crane, he recently re-stated, "I think you made a mistake on one of your True-False statements."

"For you said that syphilis is not an inherited disease."

"Yet I know that newborn infants may have syphilis."

"So certainly it must be an inherited ailment, isn't it?"

CONGENITAL VS. HEREDITARY

Numerous other doctors have also felt that syphilis must be hereditary because babies can be born with it.

In fact, one of the leading medical executives of the New York City Health Department raised heck with the Chicago Tribune Newspaper Syndicate back in the 1940s.

For he saw a faulty answer question in my "Test of Horse Sense" column in the New York NEWS, which read:

Which one of these ailments is NOT inherited? DEAFNESS, DIABETES, SYPHILIS, FEEBLEMINDEDNESS.

At the same time, an irate physician at St. Louis raised such a fuss with the Feature Editor of the St. Louis POST-DISPATCH, that the editor pulled me at once so I could get my ammunition to demolish the doctor.

Until the early 1960s, many physicians were led to believe that syphilis really was hereditary.

But they made a serious mistake in failing to distinguish between "congenital" syphilis vs. "hereditary" ailments.

Since human infants are carried in the mother's womb, they can (but become) infected with germs or a virus that may be existing in their mother's blood stream or even syphilis.

Although the mother's blood does not circulate in the blood vessels of the unborn baby, germs and viruses are so much smaller than blood corpuscles that they can slip through the walls of blood vessels.

Thus, germs from an infected mother can filter through and infect the fetus before it is born.

But this is merely an example of "congenital" infection but not "hereditary" disease!

For a syphilitic father may have a non-infected wife but unless that mother develops syphilis, her unborn baby cannot inherit it.

Dear Abby

Flat chest could win by a nose

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I just read a letter from that foolish girl who was miserable because she had a big nose and a small bosom.

Where has she been? Big noses and flat chests are IN! Look at Barbra Streisand. She's got a real beak on her, but after a while it sort of grows on you.

And how about Princess Ann? She doesn't have a little button nose either, but you don't see her getting it bobbed.

As for the small bosoms, just look at all the fashion models. Not one of them wears a bra, because they have nothing to put in it.

So tell all the girls who are unhappy with their big noses and small bosoms to cheer up. They're in style!

NO COMPLAINTS

DEAR NO: All right, girls, no more crying in your 32 A cups. You could win by a nose.

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible for a person to serve a prison term for another person who has been tried and sentenced?

I realize this is a strange question, but I really must know. If this is possible, can more than one person serve the time in place of another? In other words, may twelve people serve one month each to cover a year's sentence of another? If this can be done, how would one go about volunteering?

KANSAS QUESTION

DEAR QUESTION: In the U.S.A., each person must serve his own sentence.

DEAR ABBY: How can a wife tactfully refuse invitations from a wonderful person who has a terrible bore for a husband? I met this woman through our children. School events and community projects brought us together. She's a fine woman with a charming, outgoing personality and I enjoy her company.

She invited my husband and me to her home for dinner, and afterwards my husband said, "Please don't ever subject me to another evening with those people. He is the worst bore I've ever met!" Naturally I've never invited them back.

Abby, now I feel so guilty when I see this woman. I owe her a dinner invitation, but I can't reciprocate, knowing how my husband feels.

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Include this couple with other couples to reciprocate their hospitality. After that, see the lady during the daytime, and spare your husband.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for showing some understanding for girls who get pregnant out of wedlock. I am the granddaughter of Charles Lindquist, who was a politician in Ogden, Utah.

I will never forget a young couple who were in a family way and unwed. They had no one to turn to, so they took their lives. Later their parents had a change of heart, but it was too late.

I saw the bodies of those two beautiful young kids at my grandfather's funeral parlor and I thought, "How sad. All they wanted was someone to stand by and help them and the baby that couldn't be born."

By ERMA BOMBECK

Who is faster than a speeding bullet? immortal. I am immortal. I am imm.

Able to race locomotives? Leap tall buildings in a single bound? "It's all right, Jim," said his supervisor softly. "You've only got 18 more combat missions before R and R."

A teenage driver, that's who.

I don't know if a parent ever gets over their children driving but I tried. For a couple of years after the second one had gotten his license, I had to be heavily sedated and blindfolded before I would get into a car. A few weeks ago when it appeared my vehicular DTs were under control, another child came to me and uttered the five words that strike terror in the hearts of parents everywhere, "I'm 13 and a half."

As the car took off I will never forget Mr. Williard's stricken face if I live to be a thousand and his whimpering, "I am immortal. I feel a little sick, but I am immortal." Copyright 1974 Field Enterprises, Inc.

Would you like to have an instant picnic? A picnic that you think about one minute and are ready to have almost as soon as the idea strikes you? It's possible if you have dairy foods and a few others.

Just open your well stocked refrigerator and pull out milk, two or three cheeses such as sharp Cheddar, Swiss and Provolone or Gouda. While it's open, pull out some fruit that you have on hand, peaches, oranges, netartines and melon and perhaps carrot and celery sticks, cucumbers and tomatoes. Don't forget the butter for your bread.

To those foods, add bread, rolls or crackers from bread box and pack them into an ice chest or hamper. Presto, and you're ready for the meal in the great out-of-doors!

Your menu will consist of cheese and bread with butter; or, cheese sandwiches, raw vegetable nibblers and milk to drink. For dessert, why not another variety of cheese with fruit?

Have an insulated container? Pack this with ice cream to add to milk for a drink or dessert. It's even easy to have ice cream cones for the kiddies if you have the ice cream and a scoop.

When the picnic hamper is stocked with plates, plastic cups or glasses, salt and pepper, napkins, tablecloth, cutlery and other things you need, it's possible to have a picnic at a moment's notice. Then when the refrigerator is stocked, also, none of the pleasure of having a picnic in-a-hurry is lost by last minute preparation.

CAPT. EFTON GEARY
(US Army Photograph)

Biographical Dictionary Names Man

Author of "Reflections of a Black Man," Capt. Efton F. Geary, a former Pampa resident, will be included in the University of Wisconsin Press Biographical and Bibliographical Dictionary of Black American Writers.

Capt. Geary, a U.S. Army Reserve officer, is serving on active duty at Headquarters Fifth Army, Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio.

This past February, South Texas teachers of English presented him a certificate for his contributions to literature.

His poetry, written mostly in freestyle, has deep emotional appeal. Much of his work is related to American lifestyle and how it affects Black Americans.

"I look on poetry not only as a hobby but also as a tool to a awaken people to problems," Capt. Geary says. There is a tenderness in several of his poems as he visualizes the good other persons have done.

In civilian life Capt. Geary is employed by Handy Andy, San Antonio, in its civic affairs department's "Help Yourself Employment Service." Since May he has been on a 134-day active duty tour at Headquarters Fifth Army, serving as Reserve Components annual training coordinator, office of the secretary of the general staff.

Capt. Geary, 34, started writing poetry 15 years ago while living in Pampa. He holds the Bachelor of Arts degree in English from Prairie View A. and M. Tex., and is working on the master's degree in human resource management at the University of Texas at San Antonio.

He served on active duty as an Army intelligence officer from 1962-70.

THE MOTHER EARTH NEWS

... it tells you how

I'm sure you know what a lightning bug is... but have you ever seen a lightning bug? Maybe so, maybe not. At any rate, Jim and Caryn Riggs never had, until they moved into a one-room log cabin in the forested foothills of southwestern Oregon's Cascade Mountains. There, an old-timer who's lived on a mining claim for 25 years introduced the Riggs couple to such a "bug".

Actually, the device is pretty simple. Take an old-style one-pound coffee can (the flat kind), a 14-ounce tobacco tin or a one-pound lard can and place the container on its side. Then punch one hole through the rim at the front and a couple more directly across at the back edge. Fashion a section of coathanger or a similar sturdy wire into a handle and hook it to the can. Finally, make two cuts, each 1-1/2-2 inches long, in an "X" pattern right in the middle of the "bottom" of the implement. (Use a sturdy pointed knife to form the "X".)

OK. Now gently shove a fat utility candle through the center of the cross from the outside to the inside, so that it extends an inch or two into the container. The points of the metal will hold the candle firmly in place.

Light your "bug", walk out into the dark and you'll be pleasantly surprised at the amount of even illumination it throws. The little waxed flame will bravely shine on through rain or snow and will even withstand an incredible amount of wind. As it burns down, just push the candle up from time to time until the stub is too short for the bent-in prongs to grip... and insert another candle.

Wanna make a Trapper Nelson packboard? Use a rain fly or protect your feet while hiking? All this and more information is in MOTHER'S Reprint No. 7, FOOTPOWER! For your copy, send 10¢ and a stamped self-addressed long envelope to THE MOTHER EARTH NEWS, Box 957, Des Moines, Iowa 50304.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It used to be said that only three persons in the world understood Einstein's theory of relativity well enough to explain it to Einstein.

Much the same situation exists today with respect to real estate settlement costs.

These mysterious charges appear seemingly out of nowhere just before a home buyer signs the final papers committing himself to a lifetime of mortgage payments.

No one is quite sure where settlement fees come from although there are several interesting theories.

Some say the realtor finds them under cabbage leaves. Others think they originate in outer space. A third school holds that they are left under the realtor's pillow by the Tooth Fairy.

This, incidentally, is the same establishment that unlocked the mystery of the padded bra.

I stopped by the other day as a team of researchers was dissecting a settlement statement. One of them extracted a $2,000 entry and held it up to the light.

"Well, well, what have we here?" he said, probing it with a scalpel. "Why, bless my soul, it's an attorney fee. Most puzzling."

I said, "What's so puzzling about a lawyer charging $2,000?"

"That much is easy to understand," the researcher replied. "What one has difficulty comprehending is what the attorney did that was worth two grand..."

Some day, thanks to these dedicated researchers, the entire spectrum of settlement costs will be isolated and identified.

Then, perhaps, the buyer will be able to open them up and see what's inside.

If pressed, the realtor will attempt to explain them. But the buyer is apt to remain bewildered by it all.

The title search fee, for example. Who lost the title in the first place and why did it cost so much to find it?

Anyone who has gone through this baffling experience will be pleased to know there is currently underway in Congress a move to regulate settlement costs in transactions involving government-insured mortgages.

The Senate has approved a bill requiring advance cost disclosures, uniform settlement statements and information booklets.

The measure, similar to legislation pending in the House, also would limit tax and insurance escrow accounts and prohibit kickbacks and unearned fees.

Much of the experimentation aimed at unlocking the mystery of settlement costs has been performed in the laboratories of the Hidden Extra Research Foundation.

Briscoe Is Hitting Own Pocketbook

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The overall campaign is costing less, but Gov. Dolph Briscoe is having to use his own financial resources for much more of the cost of his re-election campaign this year.

Briscoe has advanced more than $365,000 for his campaign this year—more than half the total spent on the May 6 primary by his main campaign organization, the Briscoe '74 Campaign Committee.

The '74 Committee reported total expenditures of $526,197.45 for Briscoe's bout with Frances Farenthold. Spending reports from all 44 Briscoe campaign organizations total $1,182,307, but officials say $435,000 of that is counted twice.

Two years ago when Briscoe challenged incumbent Gov. Preston Smith and then Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes in the Democratic primary, he spent $1.2 million on his campaign—including

The campaign costs and his personal ante went even higher when he had to face Mrs. Farenthold in a runoff election for the 1972 Democratic nomination. Briscoe estimates his 1972 campaign and an earlier unsuccessful race for governor in 1968 cost him personally $800,000.

The $365,000 he has loaned his campaign so far this year brings his total personal outlay to more than $1 million.

In addition to Briscoe's own loans, the '74 campaign has borrowed another $75,000 to finance the re-election effort.

Mrs. Farenthold has tied up the $405,584 proceeds from the dinner, however, with a $2.5 million lawsuit accusing the governor of violating state regulations for handling political contributions.

No date has been set for a trial of the civil suit—which promises to be a protracted affair.

HARD TIME ARE COMING ... BUT YOU CAN PREPARE FOR THEM!

By J. SHUTTLEWORTH
Stanford biologist Paul Ehrlich — author of the highly successful book, "The Population Bomb" — is an immensely likeable guy. He's also deeply concerned about the fate of (1) the planet and (2) all its inhabitants. As the title of his book suggests, Ehrlich obviously feels that the future of the first will be a lot brighter if we find some way of limiting the number of the second.

decline, we'll need to tap even more sources of energy to maintain our spendthrift way of life and so on."

One way or another, then, Ehrlich thinks the crunch is almost upon us. But just how bad will that squeeze be? "The best practical case I can make out is a pretty grim one. Entire nations will disappear. India will break down and again become a series of feudal states with only half or a third of its present population. Bangladesh will disappear. Pakistan will disappear. Egypt will probably go under. So will Indonesia and many other underdeveloped countries."

Most of the industrialized nations will simply suffer a grave deterioration in the quality of their citizens' lives ... but this means that you can still look for severe shortages of food, a nearly complete breakdown of law and order and other chaos right here in the United States and Canada.

What can you do to help head off such a calamity ... and to ensure that you survive the worst which can happen?

Ehrlich says, "We must all work now to lessen society's impact on the planet. Population growth simply must be limited, we must learn to live with fewer material goods and we must insist that a gentler technology, be employed to produce the goods which we do use."

At the same time, I find nothing wrong with employing a little "constructive selfishness" to ensure that you and your family ride through the rough times in the best possible fashion.

"I think that anybody who has any spare capital at all is a fool if he or she does not put away as large a store of food as he or she can afford at the present time. Harry Browne — the guy who advises people to find a safe hiding place, stock it with food and put their money in silver — uses all the wrong reasons for arriving at his recommendations ... but his logic is right."

"Stash away a year's supply of food and a few silver coins. Then do your best to find a safe place to live when everything really hits the fan. At that, you're going to need a lot of luck to come out smelling like a rose. Law and order is simply not going to hold up."

Grim words? Yes. But remember that they come from a man who, six years ago, predicted the famines that are already beginning to sweep across Africa and Asia. I believe you'd do well to heed Paul Ehrlich's latest words.

At worst, you'll be stuck with a big pile of canned and dehydrated food to eat. At best, Paul's warning could save your life and the lives of your family.

For a copy of a long interview with Paul Ehrlich, in which he tells a great deal more about the ecological disasters he feels the world now faces, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed long envelope to the Mother Earth News, Box 958, Des Moines, Iowa 50304. American writer John Kent was born July 31, 1763.

On this day in history:

In 1792, Director David Rittenhouse laid the cornerstone in Philadelphia for the United States Mint, the first building of the federal government.

In 1948, as 900 planes flew overhead, President Harry Truman dedicated the New York International Airport at Idlewild Field, later to be renamed for assassinated President John F. Kennedy.

In 1972, Missouri Sen. Thomas Eagleton withdrew as Democratic vice presidential nominee, six days after disclosing previous hospitalization and psychiatric treatment.

In 1973, 89 persons died in the crash of a Delta Airlines plane in Boston. There was one survivor.

A thought for the day: American writer Henry Thoreau said, "It takes two to speak the truth: one to speak, the other to hear."

The University of Missouri conferred its first master's degree in 1846.

It Sims To Me...

By PAUL SIMS
Sports Editor

"Everybody loves a clown," goes the old saying, which is not applicable with one particular type of clown - the rodeo clown.

Sure, the people love the clown. But the same can't be said for the gl' bull in the arena with the funny-looking man doing his best to drive Bighorns to a frenzy. Bulls are like people in some respects; in particular, they just don't like to be intimidated.

"One time I was in the barrel and the barrel got hooked on the bull's head. And I get sick on a merry-go-round. All I could think about is 'what am I doing here,'" said D.C. Coghurn, one of the clowns in Pampa this week for the Top O' Texas Rodeo. "I was just up there for a minute or two, but it seemed like a week."

Coghurn, who lives in Guthrie, Okla., and Bobby Clark of Warner, Okla., will be inside barrel and outside with the bull respectively tonight as the annual rodeo has its first of four performances. Clark is replacing Buck LeGrande, who is ill and unable to be in town for the rodeo.

"Bobby Clark is one of the better bull fighters in the business," said Coghurn, whose animal act is among the best in the country. "In my estimation, Clark is probably as good as there ever was. Pampa is real fortunate to have him here."

Coghurn will not be fighting bulls in the rodeo, and for good reason.

In 1958, I was the state champ (Oklahoma) in bareback riding. In college in 1960, I was an NIRA All - Around Cowboy. And I was fighting bulls, too. In 1963, I got hurt - a bull stepped on me and I was completely paralyzed for six months. Then I quit clowning for two years, but I loved it so much, I went to the barrel."

Even though he stays inside a barrel, the danger is still there. And that's why no life insurance company will insure a clown, inside barrel or not.

The first thing I try to do is keep my head in the middle. When you're in there and they get a horn in there with you, you're in real trouble. I've been hooked several times in the barrel - in the hand and in the rear end. It hurts.

The main reason a clown finds it hard to get life insurance is because of driving. He's on the road all the time. More cowboys are killed on highways than in the arena. Coghurn is insured through Rodeo Cowboys Association.

The real danger is outside the barrel fighting the bull. Most clowns are very rugged individuals. Some have had every bone in their body broken. And there have been some that got killed. It's a challenge, something very few people can do. Most clowns start at little rodeos and work their way up. For every one that makes it, I know of 500 that didn't.

You don't plan on the way you are going to fight the bull. It all depends on the bull. You get a sixth sense on what to do. You do it fast. You don't think about it.

The purpose of the clown is not to please the crowd, but to save the cowboy, according to Coghurn. The distractions such as waving a cape and kicking the bull are to draw the animal away from the cowboy until he can get outside the arena safely.

But the rodeo clown is still a very funny man. Very often he's the highlight of the rodeo since everybody loves a clown.

Wright, Pugh Ink With Birmingham

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (UPI)—Linemen Rayfield Wright and Jethro Pugh of the Dallas Cowboys announced Tuesday they have signed contracts with Birmingham of the world Football League.

A lot of time, money and energy have been spent to put some of these athletes in a position where they can sign for this kind of money. Cowboy Coach Tom Landry said. But it's just something you don't recover from. Just have to overcome.

The Memphis Southern of the WFL announced Tuesday they had signed starting linebacker D. D. Lewis for the 1975 season. The number of Cowboy defections to the WFL jumped to seven.

Receiver Otto Stowe announced last week he had signed to play next year with the Jacksonville Sharks of the WFL. Tuesday the Cowboys placed Stowe on waivers.

North Taller

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Texas High School Coaches Association holds its annual all-star basketball game tonight with the North squad dominant in height.

The North can field Fred Mitchell of Amarillo Palo Duro 6-8 and Jeff Swanson of Houston Westchester 6-7. The South has only one player above 6-5, Mike Murphy 6-8 of Austin Crockett.

Reggie, Messersmith, Marshall Shine Oakland Wallops Texas

United Press International
Reggie Jackson had been fighting a slump ever since fighting it out with teammate Billy North but he finally got turned around and ended his frustrations on an opposing pitcher.

Jackson belted two home runs and Gene Tenace added a pair as the Oakland A's rolled to a 11-3 win over the Texas Rangers Tuesday night for their 13th win in their last 16 games and increased their American League West lead to nine games.

All four home runs came off loser Jim Bibby, who pitched a no-hitter exactly one year ago in Oakland. Jackson's pair drove a drought in which the slugger has hit just over .200 and hit two homers in the last two months since his celebrated lockerroom fight June 5 with North over "lack of hustle" on the field.

Tenace and Jackson sent Bibby reeling with his 13th loss in 27 decisions. The two home runs for each slugger made it twice this season that Jackson and Tenace have hit two homers apiece in a game off the fireballing Ranger.

Tenace homered behind a walk in the second inning and in the third, Jackson followed Sal Bando's single with his first homer in more than two weeks. Then in the fifth, Jackson parked his 19th homer and one out later, Tenace crashed his 16th.

In other games, Milwaukee swept New York 3-2 in 10 innings and 4-0, Detroit dumped Boston 7-

5. Cleveland clipped Baltimore 8-6, Minnesota downed Kansas City 7-3 and Chicago tipped California 3-2 in 10.

In the National League, St. Louis shaded Philadelphia 4-3, Pittsburgh turned back New York 6-0 before losing 4-3. Houston beat Cincinnati 8-4. San Francisco topped Atlanta 6-3. Chicago trimmed Montreal 4-3 in 10 innings and Los Angeles walloped San Diego 8-0.

Brewers 3-4 Yankees 2-0

The Brewers beat the Yankees twice to move into fourth place in the Eastern Division, just 3 1/2 games behind the division leader Red Sox. Kevin Kobel hurled a four-hit shutout in the nightcap as the 20-year old left-hander defeated New York for the third straight time this season without a loss to improve his record to 4-8. The Brewers won the first game on Mike Hegan's two-out RBI single in the bottom of the 10th.

Tigers 7, Red Sox 5

A throwing error by rookie catcher Tim Blackwell in the ninth inning let in two runs to give the Tigers a come-from-behind win over the Red Sox. John Hiller gained the win in relief, his 13th win against seven losses.

The win was costly to Detroit, though, as the Tigers lost centerfielder Mickey Stanley with a broken finger and first baseman Bill Freehan with a pulled groin muscle.

United Press International
That screech heard 'round the National League Tuesday night was caused by Andy Messersmith and Mike Marshall applying the brakes to the Los Angeles Dodgers' skid.

Messersmith and Marshall, a couple of free souls who have become buddies in the last few months, combined to pitch the Dodgers to an 8-0 victory over the San Diego Padres. The victory restored the Dodgers' first-place lead in the NL West to 5 1/2 games over the Cincinnati Reds, who lost to the Houston Astros, 8-4.

The victory also means that the Dodgers have picked up two games on the Reds in as many nights, reversing the trend of the previous 20 days during which Cincinnati cut seven games off the Los Angeles lead.

Messersmith, who scored his sixth straight win and raised his record to 12-2, held the Padres to five hits for seven innings and then Manager Walt Alton turned the game over to Marshall. Marshall, making his 30th appearance in the Dodgers' last 31 games, closed out the game with two perfect innings.

St. Louis defeated Philadelphia 4-3, New York beat Pittsburgh 4-3 after losing the first game of their doubleheader, 6-0. San Francisco scored a 6-3, 12-inning triumph over Atlanta and Montreal beat Chicago 4-3 in 10 innings in other NL games.

Ed Kranepool's three-run homer in the sixth inning and Cleon Jones' run-scoring double in the eight enabled the Mets to rally for their second-game triumph.

Giants 6, Braves 3
Chris Speier's three-run 12th inning double-hits fourth hit of the game - lifted San Francisco's Elias Sosa to his sixth win and handed Atlanta's Danny Frisella his fourth defeat. Pinch-hitter Dave Kingman sent the game into extra innings with a homer for the Giants in the ninth.

NL Outclubs At All-Stars In Girls Play

The National League All Stars coached by Bob and Darlene Morrow and Jamey Henderson put together eight hits, a base on balls and seven American League errors to beat Willard Speck and Jerry Sims' American League All Stars, 11-8 last night in the final game of the 1974 Opti-Mrs.-Girls Softball season at Optimist Park.

The first three innings resulted in a pitchers' duel between Bobbie Morrow (NL) and Mia Dacus (AL). Mia struck out six while Bobbie whiffed four, resulting in a 1-0 advantage for the NL at the end of the three-innings. Dacus faced 11 batters and Morrow 12 in those innings.

In the fourth, the NL scored two more on a triple by DeAnn Gray and a double by Sharon Moultrie, followed by two AL errors. The bats came alive in the fifth when the NL scored six runs and the AL scored five for their first runs. The NL added two more in the sixth.

The AL rallied, setting three runs and the bases loaded in the sixth before the final out.

Gray led the NL in hits with two triples, followed by Moultrie with a double, Morrow two singles, and one single each for Michelle Morrow, Jowannah Lavcock and Debbie Eggleston. Martha Skoog led the AL with two singles, Carmella Caldwell, Jeanne Edwards and Mia Dacus each had 1 single.

Bobbie Morrow was the winning pitcher. AL pitchers were Dacus, Tamara Glascock and Caldwell.

The NL All Stars voted Bobbie Morrow as their most valuable player and presented her with a softball autographed by her All-Star teammates.

A watermelon party for all the girls who played in the program was held following the ball game.

Kentucky is the nation's leading producer of surface mined coal.

Coal mining machines strip an estimated 80,000 new acres each year.

The price of gasoline in 1931, according to the National Automobile Club, was 17 cents a gallon, including taxes.

Southern Pacific Railroad says it will add more than 5,000 new freight cars to its fleet this year.

The Woman's View

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — Most people return from a vacation with a suntan. I came back with housemaid's knees.

The world considers you crazy if you take a vacation and devote most of it to housecleaning.

But that's what I did, attacking closets and drawers with vigor from nine to five, simply because our place needed it.

For peace of mind and preservation of marriage, there was no other way. Clean! Discard!

It occurred to me that if I were trying to be conscientious about two jobs (home and office) there must be millions of others coping, one way or another.

After all, the U.S. Labor Department reports that of the 34.5 million women workers, 58 per cent are married with husband present—in other words, dual job holders. How do they manage?

"For working wives, the Parkinson Law (in reverse) really applies," said Mrs. Lawrence (Delayne) Gold, 36, married for seven years and tops in her career. "Time expands to meet work load of career gal, housewife, companion, hostess and friend."

She's an executive vice-president at Irving L. Straus Associates, a public relations firm, and married to a vice president of Frankel Imports.

Her husband's job takes him abroad for six weeks each year, "so I save up a lot of the big chores until he's out of town."

Now, though, Ms. Gold has the help of a maid two days a week to do cleaning and laundry while she puts in a 16-hour-plus day at the office.

Then there's the upkeep of a second home on Long Island, where she worries not at all about a little dust here and there "because although we entertain frequently, it's strictly informal."

Organization plus her husband's cooperation help Mrs. Walter (Helen) Novitsky, mother of four grown children and grandmother of two, keep two jobs going.

Mrs. Novitsky, a secretary at Metropolitan Life Insurance, entered the job market after her children were old enough to be on their own although two still are at home in their five-room apartment in suburban Elmhurst, N.Y.

"Sometimes it's a struggle," said Mrs. Novitsky. "But my husband helps and when I get a spell of cooking, I'll do three meals and freeze the other two for later. We'll both do the marketing. And when he works on the car on Saturday, I'll work on the house."

She also does the family's entire laundry, including pressing pillow cases and her husband's shirts.

Mrs. Charles (Bernice) Malamud, mother of two teen-aged boys, said that family cooperation is what makes it possible for her to work as insurance agent and administrator and run her house without outside help.

Her husband, with a research and development company, and the boys all pitch in.

Mrs. Malamud feels she runs her eight-room house in Westbury, N.Y., better when she's holding a fulltime job than if she weren't working. "I shop faster. I put the house in order before I leave for work. I don't waste time."

Social Security Q And A

(Have you a question about social security? Address it to Howard L. Weatherly, Branch Manager, Social Security Administration, 1541 Hohari, Pampa, TX, 79665. You will receive an answer in this column or by mail.)

By H.L. WEATHERLY
Q. I keep hearing about Supplemental Security Income. In simple terms, what is this program?

A. It is a federally financed program that offers cash payments to supplement the income of certain needy individuals.

Q. Who can get cash payments under the Supplemental Security Income Law?

A. The individual must be either blind, disabled, or age 65 or older and in financial need.

Q. Are there any requirements for payments of Supplemental Security Income besides being blind, disabled, or over 65?

A. Yes. There is an income test and what we call a resources test. A person must not have income or own property over certain amounts in order to qualify.

The program is designed to offer assistance only to persons who are in need and strict guidelines are established to determine who can get these payments and how much.

Q. Where does the government get the money to finance this Supplemental Security Income Program?

A. All funds come from general revenues of the U.S. Treasury.

Q. Are social security trust funds being used to make Supplemental Security Income payments?

A. No. Social Security trust funds are used only to pay social security claims and administrative costs of operating the social security program. All benefit payments and administrative costs to operate the Supplemental Security Income laws are paid out of general revenue funds.

FLOOD RECORD

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — The Mississippi River, which drains more than 40 per cent of America's heartland into the Gulf of Mexico, rose to its worst flood in 37 years in the spring of 1973.

The swollen river caused well over $1 billion in damage in eight states, says the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

ROME (UPI) — It's a bad time for Italy. What used to be called "la dolce vita" is more like "la vita dura" today.

When people say Italy is on the verge of economic collapse they mean inflation, for one thing. Everything costs more. Spaghetti is 20 per cent higher than a year ago and one of those straw-covered fiascos of chianti is almost twice as expensive as it was last summer. One pays 20 to 25 cents for a thimbleful of coffee expresso in a Rome bar. With new taxes the government is taxing, a pound of file of beef will cost $4.65, a gallon of gasoline dollars $1.75.

Deterioration is all around. The city of Rome stopped paying interest on its debts in order to keep paying salaries. The Brera art gallery in Milan, one of the most important in Europe with a collection including Tintoretto, Raphael and Titians, closed because there were no funds to buy uniforms for its guards. The mail system hasn't worked for more than a year. There are strikes, political kidnappings, terrorist bombings and three government crises in a year.

As a final blow to Italy's pride the once mighty national soccer team got knocked out in the first round of play for the World Cup.

But day to day life goes on. Street markets display mounds of ripe tomatoes, juicy strawberries, melons, eggplant, peppers, all the fruits and vegetables of the season.

A shopper complains that 1,000 lire ($1.55) is a lot to pay for a one-pound melon.

"Yes, but all you need is a bit of prosciutto and you have a meal," says the rosy-cheeked woman at the fruit stall.

Melon and prosciutto—a delicate, thin-sliced smoked ham—used to be considered only a first course, something to whet the appetite.

"We know how to survive," 77-year-old Prof. Giovanni Di Lucia tells a student during an Italian lesson. "We got along during the war. If we don't have meat we can eat fruit and vegetable and pasta."

It was only with the postwar "economic miracle" that the Italian working man could afford to eat meat every day. Meat became Italy's second biggest import after oil. It is responsible in part for the country's balance of payments deficit and the country can't afford it any more. There is plenty to fall back on in the Italian cuisine.

Spaghetti alla carbonara takes some bacon but not much and the fatter the better. Fry the bacon, then pour the fat on the spaghetti. Toss in a raw egg and grated parmesan cheese and add bits of crisp bacon.

It is so good that it is a trademark of one of Rome's best restaurants, La Carbonara on Campo dei Fiori.

There are few signs of crisis in Rome. Even the bus and taxi strikes and a recent strike of garbage collectors can be taken in stride because they are brief.

"What you have here are strikes of attrition," a Roman explains. "They last a few hours or a few days. They don't last long but they never end."

There has been a drop in the number of private cars on the streets. During the height of the energy crisis last winter driving was banned on Sundays and holidays. Now it's the price of gasoline that makes driving a luxury. Always among the highest in Europe, it has almost doubled in the last year.

Happily for feminists the first drivers to fall victim to the cost of gasoline seem to have been the romeos cruising the streets after dark in search of a pickup.

In the spirit of the latin lover they considered any woman alone fair game and would trail her for blocks, honking their car horns, hissing and calling invitations.

But restaurants are as crowded as ever and so are beaches.

Excursions to "il mare" on summer weekends are a family tradition, and tradition dies hard here—even when the sand along the Tyrrhenian is often littered with bottles, cans and ocean debris and the water itself is sometimes too polluted for swimming.

Romans remain as fashion conscious as ever. It is a matter of "bella figura"—making a good appearance.

On the street Roman women are wearing tight, light pants with matching shirt or t-shirt or long wraparound skirts with halters and cloths. They carry big patchwork or denim granny bags on round wooden handles that snugly over the shoulder, discouraging purse snatchers.

Startling to visiting Americans is the new fad for castoff American Boy Scout jackets. The blue denim jackets are skin tight because they're little boy size on big girls and they are still decorated with "Den 5, Cleveland, Ohio" shoulder patches.

On the beach the bikini nude sunbathing are still reigns.

That Latin american import called "the string"—a kind of ultra bare vertical bikini—has arrived but so far it has stayed in shop windows. And it is only at places like the Aga Khan's jet set preserve on the Sardinian Costa Smeralda that topless or

Business Today

By LEROY POPE
UPI Business Writer
NEW YORK (UPI) — An American shoe manufacturer, who used to fight each other bitterly, now are cooperating to fight imports.

Some also are becoming creative in style for the first time. Take Goodyear-Fire and Rubber's shoe division. As recently as 18 months ago Goodyear made little effort to influence fashion, says Herman B. Post, general manager of the shoe division. "Our salesmen said to customers, tell us what you want and we'll make it for you."

soft or rough? Will it be dyed? Will it be thermoplastic rubber, crepe or shell?

While Goodyear aims at fashioning and reorganizes its shoe sales force to sell fashions, others in the shoe industry are preparing to do battle with the import flood that has closed 300 domestic shoe factories and 40,000 repair shops in a decade. But 600 American shoe factories and 18,000 repair shops still are in business, according to Goodyear.

Most of them have survived other bleak periods Goodyear is the second largest supplier of materials and components to the industry of the 17 firms in that business.

But now, says Post, Goodyear has hired distinguished stylist Malcolm Blissett away from Hush Puppies and is acquiring "a huge font of fashion information." Post said Goodyear was forced to do this because the huge wave of imports taking over the market was based largely on attractive

In 1965, shoe imports amounted to 87.6 million pairs, half from Japan.

This year's imports will total 330 million pairs, against 490 million pairs made by domestic factories, which turned out 642 million pairs back in 1968.

Fortunately for Goodyear, said Post, shoe bottom materials have taken on increased importance as styling elements. We can draw not only on our standing as a quality rubber manufacturer but on our expertise in many other materials used in shoe bottoms—so we are trying to anticipate tomorrow's shoe bottoms. Will the surface be White foreign shoes have been sold largely on the basis of style. Iver M. Olsen, spokesman for the American Footwear Industries Association, claims foreign shoe fashions are overrated. "The foreign shoes get the benefit of a more aggressive retail effort simply because the retailers get a better markup on them, not because of their looks," Olsen says.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH Sinus Infection Requires Care

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D. Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter, 10, has diabetes and severe sinus trouble. We have no trouble controlling the diabetes as long as the sinus does not set up, but every winter we have trouble with sinus infection.

has been having soreness inside the cheek for almost a year. — Mrs. G. It is also called niacin, a member of the vitamin B complex family, which is essential for proper growth and good health.

But to reply to your direct question, about trying a Western climate to "dry up" the infections — it's risky to put too much dependence on that. To be sure, it may be helpful. Then again you may find either the same or other allergens there which keep the trouble flourishing.

Unless your daughter is a very poor eater, I doubt that this is her problem. It would more likely be canker sores caused by either an allergy or a skin sensitivity to some foods — citrus juice, for example.

I have heard that prolonged stays in West Texas, New Mexico or Arizona cause sinus infections to dry up. Is this so, and if so how far west would one have to go for relief? — D.T.F.

At any rate, your doctor could determine whether or not the cause is either an allergy or a deficient diet. Dear Dr. Thosteson: I recently came across an article which said you could reduce by eating hard-boiled eggs because a hard-boiled egg has 80 calories but you use up 92 calories digesting it. So with each egg you lose 12 calories.

Quite true that infections make it difficult to control diabetes and I most certainly agree that keeping after some correction of your daughter's sinus infections is important.

If you eat four eggs you've lost 48 calories, about as

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT Impeachment Follies Not Funny

By EARL WILSON NEW YORK — The Broadway Show Biz crowd, contemptuous of Washington entertainment, watched the Nixon Impeachment Follies of 1974 unroll on TV and reached a grim verdict: "It's not funny enough, it needs work."

A few hours after Peter Allen & Liza Minnelli divorced, Peter rushed to the Grand Finale, W. 71st St., to see Daphne Davis impersonate Liza Minnelli. He was reported ecstatic. Friends of actress Nancy Wickwire gave her an unusual memorial service — a champagne party at Sardi's.

DEAR ASTRID BY ASTRID CARSON Dear Astrid: I like a girl very much and call her almost every night. I want to tell her how much I like her but just can't get it out. She thinks I want to be a friend — like the others but I don't. What shall I do? Speechless

Constitution Protects, Defines Homesteads

By BILL HOBBY
Lieutenant Governor

The length of the General Provisions Article of the proposed new Constitution required that discussion of it be continued by this column. Already discussed provisions include those dealing with office holders, environmental protection and community property.

The suggested new Constitution protects the homestead of a single adult or a family from forced sale with the three exceptions of purchase money, taxes, or improvements. Rural and urban homesteads are defined and the character and size of rural homesteads are protected so long as they are used for agricultural purposes. The legislature is permitted to increase the value of an urban homestead without a constitutional amendment.

The existing Constitution contains two sections providing protection from forced sale with the same exceptions. A rural homestead is defined as one or more parcels of land of not more than 200 acres. The fixed value of an urban homestead is $10,000.

Similar to the present Constitution is the requirement that the legislature exempt specific items of personal property from forced sale by creditors.

Just as with the 1876 Constitution, the revised version prohibits the garnishment of current wages and requires that private corporations be created pursuant to general laws.

Foreign banks and branch banking by any banks in Texas is prohibited. The legislature is required to regulate bank holding companies. Similar prohibitions against foreign banks and branch banking exist within the present Constitution. There is, however, no provision on bank holding companies.

The new Article provides for statutory regulation of the manufacture, sale and distribution of all alcoholic beverages and preserves the right of local option election for the prohibition or sale of alcoholic beverages in the county, justice precinct or municipality. This provision is similar to the present one.

Also similar to an existing provision is that in the new Article which permits the legislature to set qualifications for the practice of medicine, stipulating that no preferential treatment may be given to any school of medicine.

The legislature is required to prohibit lotteries but bingo games and raffles conducted by nonprofit, charitable organizations are permitted, if the proceeds are to be used in this state solely for charitable purposes. There is a similar provision in the present Constitution except that there is no reference to bingo games or raffles conducted by nonprofit, charitable organizations.

A separate submission will allow the voters to decide whether to include an absolute prohibition on pari-mutuel enterprises.

Like the existing Constitution, the new Article grants an automatic lien to mechanics, artisans, and materialmen for material provided or work done. Retirement, disability and death benefit programs for public employees and officers are provided. These programs are contained in eight separate sections of the 1876 Constitution.

A provision unlike any in the present Constitution explicitly prohibits discrimination against handicapped persons unless the handicap prevents the performance of duties.

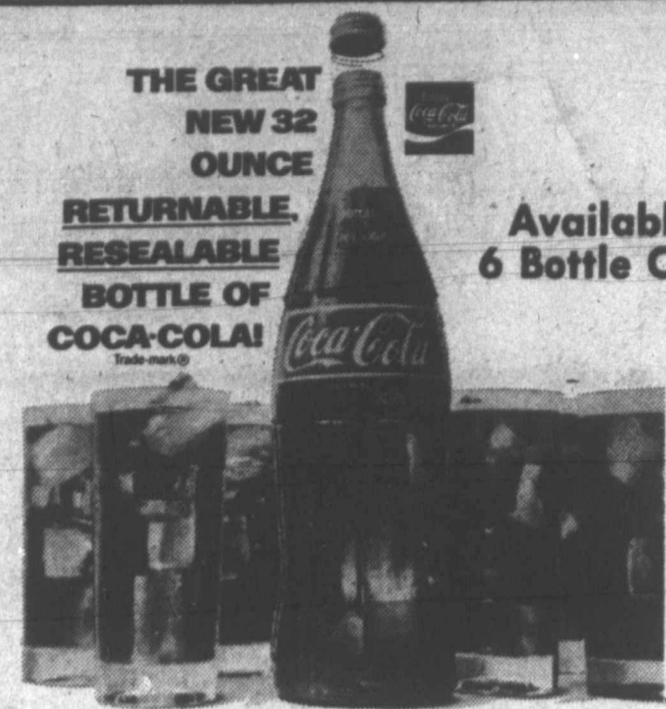

The new Article states that it is a goal of the state to provide access to comprehensive health care for all residents. Such provision does not appear in our Constitution today. A separate proposal will be offered to the voters which, if approved, would prohibit denial of employment because of membership or non-membership in or payment or nonpayment of dues to a labor organization. There is no similar provision in the present Constitution.

It should be remembered that the delegates are now voting on the final document to be submitted and 121 votes must be obtained before the new Constitution on separate submission items can be voted on by the people.

They were given two colors to work with—a red fire plug is connected to an eight inch water main, a yellow fire plug to a 12 inch main.
