Dee Ann Flowers Is Named New Miss Top O' Texas

By MONA WILLIAMS
Dee Ann Flowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.A. Flowers, Miami, was crowned Miss Top O' Texas Friday night in the M.K. Brown Auditorium.

represent the area during the year until next year's pageant. She plans to major in music at Hardin-Simmons University. Top five finalists and their sponsors are Miss Flowers.

Other finalists in the top ten were Janice Shults, Marie Foundations; D'Ann Phillips, Mothers; Inc.; Marla Savage, Pampa College of Hairdressing; Cathy Carpenter, Pampa Jaycees; and Rae Lynne Stone, Wright's Fashions.

Geneva Naylor, sponsored by the Hedley Lions Club, was chosen as "Miss Congeniality."

As Miss Pampa, Ree Bullard, the top ranked Pampa girl, will represent the city in the Miss Wheatheart of the Nation contest in Perryton Aug. 24.

Master of Ceremonies was Mike Benton, Amarillo, who also played the guitar and sang folk songs. Mrs. Sue Higdon provided organ music.

Judges for the event were Mrs. Jim Yoaxal, Liberal, Kan.; Don Hogg, Dallas; and Monty Ward, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Girls were judged in swimsuit and evening gown competition and state interviews. Sheila Mayben, Claude, last year's Miss Top O' Texas, crowned this year's beauty.

Mrs. Georgia Coon was chairman for the pageant and Mrs. Doris Erwin served as assistant chairman.

A United Nations spokesman said Cyprus was quiet with no reports of shooting. The first complete halt in fighting since the Turkish invasion came after Greek and Turkish army officials signed an agreement in Nicosia Friday to separate their armies on Cyprus.

Cyprus Fighting Comes To Halt

United Press International
A cease-fire brought peace to Cyprus for the first time in three weeks Saturday, but Turkey's foreign minister said the Geneva negotiations for a permanent peace on the embattled island are virtually deadlocked.

British army sources on Cyprus said Britain would keep its troop reinforcements and jets on the island because of the problems at the Geneva talks.

Turkish Foreign Minister Turgut Gunes stormed out of the negotiations in the morning, insisting that the Greek and Turkish communities on Cyprus have separate representatives.

He returned seven hours later and the five negotiators met for three hours. But Gunes said Cyprus President Glafkos Clerides, a Greek Cypriot, had agreed to discuss only "a few very minor modifications" in the island's 1960 constitution.

Gunes said Clerides claimed the conference had no power to change the constitution that gave independence to the former British colony.

"If that is so, the conference has virtually nothing more to discuss. We shall have exhausted the subject and the conference could end tomorrow," Gunes said.

"I think the conference will end because of lack of subjects to discuss, unless Clerides changes his mind during the night."

Clerides and Cyprus Vice President Rauf Denktaş, a Turkish Cypriot, joined the negotiations for the first time Saturday. They agreed to meet Sunday to discuss the possibility of a new constitution.

Britain, Greece and Turkey scheduled another meeting for Sunday, despite Gunes' pessimism.

Turkey has demanded that Cyprus be divided into separate regions of Greek origin and the 140,000 of Turkish background. Clerides and Greek Foreign Minister George Mavros oppose the proposal.

The sources on Cyprus said army officials canceled next week's scheduled flights home for the estimated 1,900 troops airlifted from Britain to the Mediterranean island shortly after the July 20 Turkish invasion.

Plans to return a Royal Air Force squadron of 12 Phantom warplanes were also canceled, the sources said. The 1960 agreement allowed Britain to keep two sovereign bases on the island.

A United Nations spokesman said Cyprus was quiet with no reports of shooting. The first complete halt in fighting since the Turkish invasion came after Greek and Turkish army officials signed an agreement in Nicosia Friday to separate their armies on Cyprus.

Ford Retains Cabinet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Stressing the need for "continuity and stability," President Ford Saturday asked cabinet members and agency heads to remain on the job, and invited bipartisan suggestions for a new vice president who must be nominated soon.

Ford also met with the National Security Council to review the world situation, and said through Press Secretary Jerry TerHorst that he was postponing all scheduled trips at home and abroad.

Ford began his first full day as President by rising early, fixing breakfast for himself and one of his sons, taking a short swim and then being driven to the office — almost like any other commuter.

He opened the front door of his Alexandria, Va., home shortly before 6 a.m. EDP, clad in baby-blue short pajamas, and look startled to see an array of reporters and cameramen watching from across the street.

TerHorst said Ford and his family would attend church Sunday morning at the Episcopal Immanuel Church-on-the-Hill in Alexandria.

He expects to spend the rest of Sunday working in the Oval Office, and hopes for another private evening at home Sunday night.

TerHorst said that Ford has asked the bipartisan congressional leadership, the nation's Republican governors, the cabinet, and his staff and friends to submit recommendation by Wednesday for the vice presidency, and disclosed that the President plans to announce a nomination within a week to 10 days.

Ford did not specify any geographical or political restrictions, and hopes for suggestions from "as broad a spectrum as possible," TerHorst said.

The press aide said that in asking the cabinet to stay on, the President told them "I believe that is what the country wants." TerHorst said Ford also told them he "does not believe in this business of pro forma resignations," and would meet with the individuals later on a one-to-one basis.

President Ford has named four prominent men to help him make the transition from the Nixon administration to the Ford administration.

They include Rogers C.B. Morton, secretary of the interior; ex-Pennsylvania Governor William Scranton; Donald Rumsfeld, U.S. ambassador to NATO; and John O. Marsh, the defense adviser from Ford's vice presidential staff.

Morton, 59, joined the Nixon administration in January of 1971. He has headed the Republican National Committee and represented Maryland in the House from 1962 to 1971. As a congressman he worked on the House Way and Means Committee, the Select Committee on Small Business, the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, and the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs.

Scranton, 57, was the envoy sent by President-elect Nixon in 1968 to explore the Middle East situation.

A Yale University law school graduate, he was called on in 1970 to serve as chairman of the President's Committee on Campus Unrest and in 1971 and 1972 to be a member of the presidential price commission.

Rumsfeld, 42, has been the chief U.S. representative to NATO since February 1973.

He held several high positions in the Nixon administration, including the posts of director of the Office of Economic Opportunity and Counselor to the President.

Gray County Grand Jury Brings Ten Indictments

Indictments were issued against 10 persons in actions by a Gray County Grand Jury impaneled Friday, according to attorney Harold Comer, who acted as District attorney in the absence of Guy Hardin, 31st District Attorney who is on vacation.

Those indicted were: Dollie Dement for driving while intoxicated, (subsequent offense).

Gordon Jack Addington, driving while intoxicated, (subsequent offense).

Charles Ray Smith, theft over $200, involving theft of auto.

Vickie Jouett and Maxwell Glen Davis, indicted jointly for obtaining a controlled substance by means of a forged prescription.

Paul E. McCurley and William E. Roberson, each indicted on two counts of burglary.

Robert Lynn Dial II, possession of a controlled substance with intent to manufacture or deliver same, (intent to sell).

John Devon Bender and Iris Hardy, indicted jointly for burglary of Highland Pharmacy. Iris Hardy also indicted individually for possession of a dangerous drug for purpose of sale.

Loil Glin Woodruff Jr., sale of a narcotic, to wit: marijuana.

Arraignments will be scheduled before District Judge Granger McIlhenny.

Warrants have been issued for arrest of any of the above named persons not currently free on bond and they will be allowed to make bond if possible.

McCurley and Robinson are both in Gray County jail, and Smith is being held on other charges in Love County, Okla.

Pampa ISD Sets Meet

The board of directors of Pampa Independent School System will meet in regular session Monday night in their first meeting with superintendent Dr. Dan F. Long.

Dr. Long was recently hired as replacement for Dr. James F. Malone, who resigned in June.

Two of the top items on Monday's agenda include consideration of approval of the budget for 1974-75, and employment of professional personnel, the latter possibly to be discussed in executive session.

The board is faced with the problem of hiring a replacement for Don Walker, who recently resigned as High School principal.

Other agenda items include: — Employment of a certified public accountant to take inventory of vocational education materials and equipment.

— Report on requirements (financial and other) for position of cheerleaders at Pampa High School.

— And a report from the Pampa Drug Task Force completed last month.

An added report item is the possibility of offering a Bible course at the high school. It would be taught by qualified members of the clergy, possibly off-campus.

The matter was previously discussed at a board meeting in March, with final action deferred for further consideration. Monday's meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. in Pampa High School Library.

City Budget Total $2.7-Million; Tax Rate $1.93

By TEX DEWESE
Pampa's proposed budget for operation of city government for fiscal 1974-75 was filed late Friday afternoon with another cent added to the tax rate over the $1.92 per $100 assessed valuation agreed upon at the final open budget study session of the City Commission last Monday night.

The rate set at that meeting showed an increase in the tax rate from the current $1.72 to $1.92, up 20 cents for fiscal 1974-75.

Up until that final meeting it was planned to increase the tax rate only 18 cents to $1.90. However, after an appeal from the Pampa Industrial Foundation for financial assistance, by re-activating the old Board of City Development, it was decided to increase the tax rate two cents and put the BCD back in business.

The extra two cents, it was figured would raise $10,800 through the re-activated BCD.

The budget filed Friday shows 3 cents instead of 2 cents has been allocated for the BCD. The extra penny boost the total to $16,200 and the city tax rate to $1.93.

Mayor R.D. Wilkerson explained the extra penny was added after further consideration of the Industrial Foundation's appeal for financial help to seek new industry for Pampa.

"We had only set up for $10,800 assistance," he said. "The PIF asked the city to reconsider and assist with half the cost of operating the office of an industrial relations director, so we added a penny to bring in an additional $5,400 and boost the total to $16,200."

The mayor said PIF officials said $30,000 to $35,000 will be needed for annual expense of the office. The PIF and the Chamber would furnish the balance needed.

The proposed financial statement on the cost of city operations as filed Friday carries total expenditures of $2,734,786.

The proposed tax rate to support the new budget is $1.93 per $100 of assessed property valuation, up 21 cents over the current $1.72 rate.

The $2,734,786 total budget figure is exclusive to $382,006 that will be spent in capital outlay in the coming year, mostly for replacement of outmoded heavy equipment and other needed items. The $382,006 will come out of federal Revenue Sharing Funds.

Also out of Revenue Sharing will come $75,000 for the 1974-75 street seal-coating program and $80,000 for the continuing replacement of 2-inch water distribution lines.

In his budget message, City Manager Wofford stated "in order to maintain the current level of services provided to the citizens of Pampa, adjustments to the water rate, sanitary sewer rate and solid waste collection fees have been made that are anticipated to produce $180,000 in additional revenue."

"To insure more adequate police protection, the Police Department is proposed to be expanded by three additional persons; one additional detective, one patrolman and one clerk-typist.

"Salary and fringe benefit increases for city employees are included which total approximately $130,000 more than the personal services budget for fiscal 1973-74.

The city manager said it is proposed in the budget that the balance of unencumbered Revenue Sharing funds, estimated to total $80,000 by the end of fiscal 1974-75, be dedicated to a reserve fund for capital equipment replacement.

In concluding his budget message the city manager says:

"Again this year, the department heads have worked effectively in maintaining secure control of their budgets. I wish to express my thanks to the Commission for the excellent leadership provided during the year and to pledge the efforts of all city employees to conduct the operation of local government in an effective and efficient manner as possible."

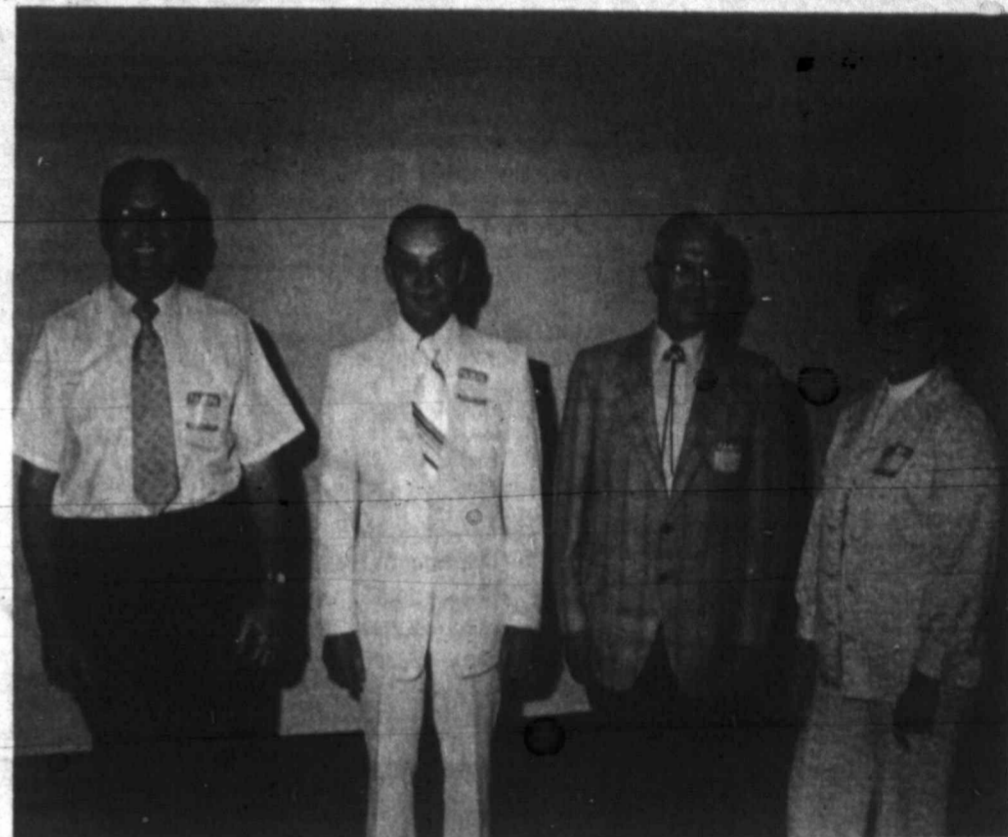

A summary of expenditures in the operating budget for 1974-75 shows the following:

Personal services, $1,896,600; contractual services, $360,167;

commodities, $172,829; debt services, $305,190; nothing is shown for capital outlay, but $382,006 will be spent from federal Revenue Sharing funds for capital items.

Adding the Revenue Sharing fund expenditures to the budget figure of $2,734,786 brings the total city expenditures next year to $3,116,792.

As proposed, the budget is balanced in regard to revenues and expenditures and for the first time in several years does not reflect the use of accumulated earned interest, according to City Manager Wofford.

TIME TURNS BACK

PAAF Reunion Honors Former Base Officers

By TEX DEWESE
It was memorabilia time at the second annual reunion of the Pampa Army Airfield Reunion Association Saturday in the M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium.

Some 300 members of the association from Pampa, area towns and a score of states gathered afternoon and evening to honor Maj. Gen. Dan S. Campbell (Rtd) of Washington, D.C., first commander at the AAF Advanced Flying School established here in 1942 and Col. William Poe (Rtd) of Albuquerque, N.M., commanding officer of the Quartermaster Corps, who came to the air base shortly after General Campbell, then a lieutenant-colonel.

Col. Poe spoke at the business session presided over by Quenton Nolte, outgoing association president.

The former QMC headman at the Pampa Base told his listeners he had many fond memories of his two years here and said Pampa was known by all base personnel as "the friendly city." He spoke of the Pampa Army Hospitality

Committee and its various branches which he said did so much to entertain and serve officers, cadets and their families.

Both he and General Campbell, who addressed the Saturday night banquet audience, delved into base history and recounted many incidents both humorous and serious that jogged the memory of those in attendance.

Colonel Poe was introduced by Edward J. Goodman, who came to the reunion from Camden, N.J. Goodman was Poe's right-hand man as QMC property officer.

New association officers were elected at the close of the business session. They are:

Fred Brooks, president; Lynn Hulsey, first vice president; Ralph Prock, second vice president, and Mrs. Mildred Pierce, secretary-treasurer. They were installed by Truman W. Camp of Lubbock.

Mayor R.D. Wilkerson welcomed guests at the afternoon session.

George Lindahl was recognized as the victor coming the longest distance to attend the reunion. He registered from Apartado, Guatemala.

At last night's banquet the welcome address was by former Pampa mayor Fred Thompson.

General Campbell was introduced by Frank M. Culbertson. Following the general's address in which he reviewed history of the Pampa Air Base, both he and Colonel Poe were presented with plaques which awarded them life memberships in the Pampa Army Air Field Reunion Association.

Resolutions for the honor awards had been adopted at the afternoon business session.

A vast display of Air Base photographs and other historical mementoes drew crowds of interested persons both afternoon and evening.

It was announced the display will be preserved, perhaps in the Gray County Historical Museum.

Following last night's banquet program there was dancing for the reunion visitors with music by "That Band With Dixieland."

IN WHITE DEER Impasse Reached On Phone Rates

WHITE DEER — Mayor W. C. Powers, said Saturday, "The Council of White Deer just cannot understand justification of General Telephone Company's demands for a staggering rate increase," during a negotiation of General officials and the council here.

Jim Davis, district manager for the telephone company, indicated legal action would be the next step for his company as the result of an impasse.

Telephone company representatives and city officials reached the stalemate after two months of bargaining. General Telephone originally presented rate increase demands amounting to a 40 percent increase over present rates. Members of the council were in agreement that increase in rates could not be justified. The telephone company had cited inflationary costs and need for increased revenue as the basis for the request.

White Deer officials offered an eight percent increase agreement and the telephone company returned to the council with a request for a 25 percent increase. The council retaliated with an offer for a 10 percent increase, at which point neither faction moved.

City auditor, Wayne Brown, CPA, Pampa, will be asked to evaluate the latest demands of the telephone company and to make recommendations.

Price Disappointed By Nixon Resignation

U.S. Rep. Bob Price of Pampa said he looks upon the resignation of Richard Nixon from the presidency "as if a tragedy happened to my own family."

Price praised the former president for "bringing about the closest thing to peace among all the people of the world that has existed in my lifetime."

"I hurt inside with disappointment," Price said.

"Peace, prosperity, and help for the suffering have all been among his aims and goals," he said. "History, I believe, will show he has been in large measure successful in these goals, but the atmosphere here in Washington has been like a lynch mob."

As President Gerald Ford completed his oath of office Friday, Price called on the American people to join in a "renewal of dedication to America in an effort to remove animosities, prejudices, and other obstacles which divide our people."

And he called on the people to "take a more active part in our political process in order to maintain democracy."

"Our government reacts in direct relationship to the efforts put forth by its citizens to see that the men and women they have elected to public office are responsive to their needs," he said.

TCLU Asks Further Details About Carrasco Shoot-Out

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Texas Civil Liberties Union (TCLU) called Saturday for prison officials and the Texas Department of Public Safety to release videotapes of the Huntsville shoot-out in which Fred Gomez Carrasco and two women hostages died.

John B. Duncan, TCLU executive director, said the videotape could clear up conflicting reports about what happened when Texas Rangers and prison guards ambushed Carrasco and two other inmates as they tried to make their way to an armored car behind a shield of human hostages.

"A number of reports contradictory to the Texas Department of Corrections' version of the Carrasco tragedy have been circulated in the news media," Duncan said. "The Texas Civil Liberties Union along with other recipients of this information has no way to investigate the validity of the information."

Duncan said penitentiary officials and the Department of Public Safety could resolve the issue by releasing the videotape along with autopsy reports and other relevant materials to the joint legislative committee on penal reform.

"It should be understood that in making this request the Texas Civil Liberties Union is neither rejecting the TDC version nor endorsing the other versions of the shoot-out and its aftermath," Duncan said. "We are only asking that a thorough public disclosure be made of all relevant information."

"We can be certain that this will occur only if all relevant materials are passed out of the hands of the participants agencies and into the hands of a neutral public body such as the joint committee," he said.

Huntsville Justice of the Peace J.W. Beeler ruled Carrasco and inmate Rudolph Dominguez committed suicide after shooting the two women hostages handcuffed to their sides.

Sen. Walter Mengden, R-Houston, Friday demanded the joint legislative committee investigate why Carrasco was not under maximum security in the prison and how he was able to obtain guns for the abortive escape attempt.

"Carrasco was a human rattlesnake and acted in a long established pattern of causing violence and death," Mengden said. "This individual should have been imprisoned under maximum security precautions and should never have been permitted to work as a chaplain's assistant with a wide degree

Unleaded Gasoline Adequate In Area

DALLAS — Reports from refiners indicate the supply of unleaded gasoline in the southwest region of the nation should be adequate during August, it was reported Saturday by Delbert M. Fowler of Dallas, regional administrator for the Federal Energy Administration.

Based on reports from refiners supplying the five-state region, nearly five percent of the total gasoline available will be unleaded, Fowler said. The five states include Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas and Louisiana.

Under regulations of the Environmental Protection Agency, every retail gasoline outlet which sells more than 200,000 gallons of gasoline per year must market unleaded gasoline. In specified rural areas, stations selling 150,000 gallons per year must stock the unleaded product.

Tape Recording May Hold Clue

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Local and federal authorities Saturday were examining contents of a tape recording believed to have been made by the person who planted a bomb which exploded Tuesday at Los Angeles International Airport.

The blast killed two skycaps and injured 36 other persons; two seriously. It tore the lockers apart, shattered windows for about 100 yards, shredded luggage and caused structural damage to the building.

A key found with the tape cassette has definitely been identified as that belonging to a public locker in the terminal building where the blast occurred. They were found after an anonymous caller told the CBS Television Network he had left "clues" in a trash can in suburban Maywood.

Officers, with the help of police dogs, found the tape

Housewife Forces Man To Surrender

LAKE CHARLES, La. (UPI) — A housewife with an unloaded shotgun flushed an escapee from the Louisiana Training Institute from a shed and forced him to surrender to officials.

Police said they chased a car in which Dexter Sampson, 17, of the institute in Scottlandville, and Lawrence Watson, 22, of Ville Platte were speeding. Watson was arrested Thursday, but Sampson fled into woods south of Lake Charles.

About 50 law officers combed the area for three hours without spotting him, when Mrs. Mary Toussand saw him enter a shed near her house.

Brandishing the unloaded gun, she convinced him to come out and turned Sampson over to authorities.

Ten Win In Local Coloring Contest

Winners of pairs of Hiker's Collapsible Drinking Cups offered as the local prizes in Cappy Dick's butterfly coloring contest published in the comic section Sunday, July 28, are:

All the winners will receive their prizes by mail.

Council Will Set Budget Hearing Date

A public hearing on Pampa's $2.7 million operating budget for fiscal 1974-75 is scheduled to be set for Aug. 27 when city commissioners meet in regular session Tuesday morning.

The budget was filed late Friday in the city secretary's office by City Manager Mack Wofford.

Other items on the council agenda at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday include:

Public hearing on a proposal to remove an abandoned building at 623 N. Cuyler.

Final reading of an ordinance granting to the First Baptist Church an easement across street right-of-way on Kingsmill St.

Consider approving payment for property and improvements on Lot 10, Block J of the Stroope Addition.

Nation-wide Church Tour Will Appear

SPEARMAN — Two persons whose lives apparently have been changed enormously since their conversion to Christianity will appear here in a special program Monday and Tuesday.

Scheduled for the high school auditorium at 8 p.m. both dates, are Lulu Roman, a star of the "Hee Haw" country western TV program, and Ron Depriest, former member of the "Hell's Angels" motorcycle gang.

Roman was once involved in drugs, having been arrested for possession of marijuana, and once attempted suicide.

Depriest has had a long series of arrests, including burglary, and was nicknamed "Loco" by gang members because of his unpredictable behavior.

Both Miss Roman and Depriest are on a nation-wide tour of churches and other organizations with a message against crime and in favor of Christian principles.

Fund Dinner Set For Amarillo Man

A fund-raising dinner honoring Bob Holt, Amarillo banker and business man campaigning for state treasury, will be held at the Villa Inn Convention Center in Amarillo Aug. 22 at 7:30 p.m.

Jose Rael, dinner chairman, reports the $50 a person tickets are available from U.G. Berry, vice-chairman of the dinner by calling 372-8144 or Joe Richardson, Jr. treasurer of the dinner at 352-2762.

Fund Dinner Set For Amarillo Man

Connally, a former Texas governor and secretary of the Navy, could be sentenced to 19 years in jail and $10,000 fine if convicted of five counts of accepting a bribe, conspiracy and lying.

Judge Hart granted a request by Connally's lawyer for 45 days to file motions. He said a trial date would not be set until after the motions are filed.

Watergate prosecutors were expected to call at least three witnesses in their case against Connally, including Jake Jacobsen, the former lawyer for the Associated Milk Producers, Inc., who pleaded guilty to one count of bribing to Connally Wednesday.

According to the indictments, Jacobsen gave Connally two $5,000 bribes on the instructions of former

Henley Begins Sentences

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Elmer Wayne Henley, 18, convicted in the Houston sex and torture murder spree, has begun serving sentences totaling 594 years in the state penitentiary where his mother says he will take college courses, concentrating on sociology.

Mrs. Mary Henley of Houston said her son, who was transported to the Texas State Prison Friday, already had taken up studying the Bible in jail because he always wanted to be a preacher.

Henley was convicted by a San Antonio, Tex., jury on his written and oral confessions that he shot and choked six of the 27 teenage victims and was sentenced to the maximum 99 years imprisonment for each slaying.

Judge Preston Dial Jr. ordered the sentences to run consecutively, but court-appointed defense attorney Will Gray of Houston said Henley could be eligible for parole in 15 years.

"Five hundred ninety four years sounds good in the newspaper and on TV," the bearded attorney said, "but it really doesn't mean all that much."

Gray presented no witnesses in the trial that ended with Henley's conviction of all six murders on July 15.

Instead, Gray compiled a list of 22 reversible errors he claimed Dial made during the trial. Gray said the foremost error was the judge's refusal to move the case out of San Antonio where Gray insisted a prejudicial atmosphere existed.

David Owen Brooks, also 18, who joined Henley in leading lawmen to 27 bodies in three makeshift graveyards, still faces trial in Houston for murder in the mass killings.

Connally Pleads Innocent To Five Bribery Charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Nixon administration Treasury Secretary John B. Connally Jr. pleaded innocent Friday to charges he accepted $10,000 as a bribe to get milk price supports raised in 1971.

"If there is any doubt, I plead not guilty to all counts," Connally told Chief U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart Jr.

APMI general manager Harold Nelson. Nelson has pleaded guilty to one count of conspiring to make an illegal payment to a public official and his assistant, Bob A. Lilly, has received immunity to testify against Connally.

12 Men Uncovered Watergate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Twelve men stood at the forefront of events that toppled the presidency of Richard M. Nixon.

Without their actions, the story of America's greatest political scandal might never have been told and the Nixon administration might have survived the scandals known as Watergate.

The dozen: Frank Wills — The security guard who discovered a lock at the Watergate complex had been taped open on June 17, 1972. He called police, who arrested five men inside the Democratic national headquarters.

Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein — The two young Washington Post reporters who covered the June 17 burglary and pursued what the White House first called a "third-rate burglary" into the Oval Office.

John J. Sirica — The U.S. District Court judge who refused to believe the burglary was just the work of seven men, some of them employed by the Nixon re-election campaign. His threat of long sentences to the burglars if they did not tell all produced the first public disclosures that the White House had been involved.

James W. McCord — The Nixon campaign security chief and one of the Watergate burglars. McCord was the first to talk. In a letter to Sirica made public March 23, 1973, McCord charged higher-ups were involved, thus triggering the beginning of the end of the cover-up.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. — The chairman of the Senate Watergate committee whose televised hearings during the summer of 1973 brought the early details of the scandal into the homes of the American people.

John W. Dean III — Former counsel to the President, later Nixon's chief accuser, he said he believed Nixon knew of the cover-up at least as early as the fall of 1972 and told how he warned the President the following March 21 that it was "a cancer growing on the presidency." His charges were vigorously denied by the White House, but in the end, his story could not be shaken.

Alexander P. Butterfield

— On July 16, 1973, this former White House aide made the most crucial disclosure of the investigation: that Nixon had a taping system in his offices. Conversations recorded by that system would eventually confirm that the President of the United States had been a part of the cover-up.

Archibald Cox — The first Watergate special prosecutor. Cox refused to back down when Nixon ordered him not to subpoena the Watergate tapes and was fired. But in the firestorm that followed, Nixon yielded up the first seven tapes and the grand jury got its first hard evidence of high White House involvement.

Leon Jaworski — Picked by Nixon to succeed Cox, he initially raised fears that he would not press the investigation. But he proved just as firm as his predecessor, obtaining major indictments and convictions, and fought another tapes case all the way to the Supreme Court, winning 8-0.

Peter W. Rodino Jr. — Described by his critics as a "hack politician" from Newark, N.J., the House Judiciary Committee chairman guided three articles of impeachment to the floor. His crucial decision not to recommend impeachment unless the vote was bipartisan insured that a vote by the full House, if it had come to that, would have sent the case to the Senate for trial.

Richard M. Nixon — He ordered his conversations taped. He withheld the evidence of his own cover-up actions — even from his lawyer — betraying his supporters in Congress. He resigned Aug. 8, 1974.

E.W. PACE Pace Retires As Foreman

E.W. Pace, plant foreman of Shell Oil Company's Bryan Gas Processing Plant at Skellytown, has retired after completing more than 35 years of service with the company.

Pace began his Shell career in February 1939 as a Maintenance Man at the Osage Gas Processing Plant near Wolco in northeastern Oklahoma. He held several positions at Osage including Chief Operator of the Plant. He was transferred to the Bryan Gas Processing Plant near Skellytown, Texas, where he was promoted to Plant Foreman in January 1966. He held that position until Aug. 1, when Shell's interest in the Bryan facility was sold to the Cabot Corporation.

He and his wife Naomi maintain their residence in Skellytown and a lakeside facility at the Green Belt Reservoir near Clarendon.

Pampa Man In Top Force

WICHITA FALLS — Lieutenant Colonel Silver C. Chisum, son of Mrs. Bertha Chisum, 405 N. Russell, is a member of the social actions office recently judged best in the Air Force.

Colonel Chisum is the social actions officer with the Sheppard Air Force Base Technical Training Center's office which had previously been selected the top in Air Training Command before going into Air Force competition.

Commenting on the reasons for its selection at command level, Colonel Robert D. Haley, assistant to ATC's director of personnel for social actions, gave credit to the staff's innovation and hard work.

"Their new ideas and accomplishments have placed them above any other (social actions) office in ATC," he said. "They are the epitome of an outstanding organization."

The social actions program is concerned with reducing prejudices between people of different races and sexes and helping assure equal opportunity and treatment for all Air Force members.

A 1945 graduate of Pampa High School, the colonel earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in psychology from Baylor University where he was commissioned in 1952 through the Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

A command pilot, he has served 18 months in Southeast Asia and before coming to Sheppard was stationed at Da Nang Air Base, Vietnam.

His wife, Billie Ruth, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.U. Tosh II of Waco. Colonel and Mrs. Chisum have four children: Carolyn, Michael, Patricia and Randall.

Two More Weekends For Films

AMARILLO — Only two more weekends remain for the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum's Sunday afternoon features. The Museum is located in Canyon on the southern edge of the West Texas State University campus.

On Aug. 18, the Museum will show an hour-long silent film, "The Leatherneck," produced by movie mogul Cecil B. DeMille. The stars should tease many an individual's childhood memories, because they include Williams Boyd, who later achieved fame as Hopalong Cassidy, and Allen Hale, Sr., noted actor and father of Allan Hale, the captain in the television show, "Gilligan's Island."

Presentation times are 2:30 and 4:30 p.m. in the Museum Annex basement. Admission is free.

For their last weekend, the Museum is providing a unique treat when they plan to fire up their antique popcorn wagon out on the lawn. The red and white wagon with the shiny accoutrements was first purchased in 1915 by R.E. Sharp of Clinton, Iowa, for $1,045. The popcorn is free, no matter in what condition, beginning at 2:30 p.m.

One-Third Of Shrimp Fleet Could Be Lost

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A third of Louisiana's shrimp fleet could be wiped out before the end of the year unless the federal government provides some form of subsidy for fishermen.

George W. Snow, executive director of the Louisiana Shrimp Association, made the prediction Saturday at the second of three congressional hearings into the financial problems of shrimpers in Gulf Coast states.

"This economic shrimp crisis is caused by an imbalance in supply and demand," Snow told a unit of the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee.

"The prices paid for shrimp today are below what it was in 1972. Operational costs, however, are two and three times the 1972 level.

"I just don't see how these people can possibly survive. It's entirely possible that without aid, we could have 30 per cent of these trawlers out of business by the end of the year."

Four of Louisiana's eight U.S. representatives were on hand for the meeting that drew more than 200 shrimpers into a tiny federal courtroom. A similar meeting was held Friday in Biloxi, Miss., and another is set later in Texas.

Shrimpers from four Gulf of Mexico coastal states had met in Thibodaux, La., last month to draw up a list of resolutions to present to the committee as possible solutions to the economic crunch.

C. J. Kiefe, a shrimper for 28 years, presented the list of resolutions Saturday, asking the congressmen in his rough Cajun voice after each suggestion whether "you fellas got any questions about dat one?"

Among the resolutions which appeared to have the strongest support among the shrimpers were those calling for a duty on all imported shrimp, a 50 per cent rebate on fuel used to operate trawlers and federally subsidized boat insurance.

Other proposals called for a Federal Trade Commission investigation into the oil and seafood industries and institution of low-interest emergency loans to shrimpers.

There was also talk about whether shrimpers should qualify for federal disaster relief.

Photographer Choice Due Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Time magazine photographer David Kennerly is expected to be named President Ford's chief White House photographer, it was learned Saturday.

Kennerly, 27, of Roseburg, Ore., won the Pulitzer Prize in 1972 for a series of pictures he had taken the year before as a United Press International news photographer in Vietnam.

When Ford became vice president, Kennerly was assigned to cover him. An official announcement on the appointment was expected Monday.

BARBARA CARTER Woman Named Chief Clerk

Barbara Carter, presently senior distribution office clerk at Pioneer Natural Gas Company's Pampa office, will assume the duties of chief clerk, distribution, in Pampa effective Aug. 1, according to Tawes McCoy, local manager for Pioneer.

Mrs. Carter joined Pioneer as a Distribution office clerk in the Pampa office in 1966. She is a member of the First Assembly of God Church and helps with the Girl Scouts organization in Pampa. She enjoys bowling, flower gardening, reading and traveling as hobbies.

Mrs. Carter and her husband, Dan, live at 2425 Navajo. They have one daughter, Dawn, who is 12 years old.

The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Sunday, Aug. 11, the 223rd day of 1974 with 142 to follow.

The moon is between its last phase and new quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening star is Mars. Those born on this day are under the sign of Leo. American author Robert Ingersoll was born Aug. 11, 1833.

On this day in history: In 1909, the first radio SOS was received when the liner "Ararhoe" messaged for help off Cape Hatteras, N.C.

In 1954, a formal peace announcement ended the 7-year war in Indochina between France and forces of the Communist Viet Minh.

In 1965, blacks began rioting in the Watts section of Los Angeles. During the ensuing six days of violence, 34 persons were killed and 856 injured.

In 1971, New York City Mayor John Lindsay switched from the Republican to the Democratic Party.

A thought for the day: French writer Victor Hugo said, "A compliment is something like a kiss through a veil."

Rock Fans Crash Concert

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — Several hundred rock fans trampled a fence and charged past club-swinging officers and guard dogs Saturday to join an estimated 100,000 other youths at the "August Jam" at Charlotte Motor Speedway.

Some of the gate-crashers were injured in the charge, but none required treatment.

Drug arrests mounted as the rock fans openly smoked marijuana and a few pushers circulated in the crowd hawking drugs.

By afternoon, police reported about 50 arrests, and said several persons had been treated for drug overdoses.

The 11 a.m. to midnight concert featured the Allman Brothers Band, the Ozark Mountain Dare Devils and Black Oak Arkansas.

Cabarrus County Deputy Sheriff D.F. Cagle said at one point fans took over the police command post at the track, but were quickly ousted by patrolmen. Cagle said more than 100 officers were patrolling the perimeter of the track and were not venturing inside where drugs were being used and sold.

"They get a little uptight when we make an arrest, but I guess that's expected when you get this type of group together," said one officer.

Hours before the event got under way, cars were backed up several miles in either direction on highway 49. One lane was filled with hikers enroute to the concert.

Thousands of fans camped overnight around the track in rural Cabarrus County about seven miles northeast of here. Some lined up at water spigots Saturday morning to wash up and brush their teeth.

The rock fans paid $12 in advance for the show and $15 at the gate.

Gunners Sink Freighter

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist gunners raked a 14-vessel convoy steaming up the Mekong River 43 miles south of Phnom Penh Saturday and sank the Danish freighter Hayan.

Port police said two crewmen of the Hayan and a Cambodian rescue worker were injured when the vessel went down, and two seamen aboard another cargo ship, Felicity, were wounded in the Communist attack. The convoy included three petroleum tankers, seven cargo ships and four barges loaded with ammunition.

In the ground war, government troops pressed their drive to recapture the provincial capital of Sala Lekpram, 25 miles north of Phnom Penh on Highway 5. Field reporters said the town was lost in March, soon after the fall of Oudong, the old royal capital 18 miles north of Phnom Penh. Oudong was recaptured a month ago.

Funnel Gone, Words Remain

Three months ago Xenia, Ohio was victimized by two tornadoes. One blew out of a funnel cloud formation, leaving homes and shops devastated in its wake. The other blew out of the mouths of a host of politicians, including President Nixon, all of whom rushed into the scene to survey the wreckage and promise to expedite a massive rebuilding of the area.

The second twister left a scandal. The politicians and bureaucrats skirted back to their offices, their promises promised, and took a rest. The ruins of Xenia remain.

Said Dick Hupman, whose camera store was wrecked in the storm: "The President came in here and promised us he would cut red tape so we could rebuild. But the tape's as thick as ever. Somebody seems to have dropped the scissors. Most of the townspeople and local farmers who suffered disaster share Hupman's anxieties.

As Libertarians who never wish to rely on government help, we have argued for years that government promises are empty and that bureaucracy never solves problems but merely bureaucratizes them. Yet many continue to entertain the hope that government promises — especially those meant to aid disaster victims — will be kept.

Alas, that is a Pollyannaish view. For the government has stayed consistent even in this. It has not kept its promises.

The bureaucracy has snoozed on while the people of Xenia struggle in the rubble.

In total, the politicians committed $150,000 in the area. "Of this," reported the Wall Street Journal, "$100,000 is to finance a feasibility study involving a few downtown blocks. This could eventually lead to $3.5 million in federal urban renewal funds. But that would be a drop in the bucket compared with the damage estimates, which range as high as $150 million."

"Nowadays," the Journal continued, "Xenians are groping, grabbing at any chance of aid, but more than anything else, floundering in a sea of alphabet soup representing federal agencies that ultimately will play a key role in whatever Xenia's future is to be. There are the FDA, HUD, HEW, EPA, SBA, EDA — all with myriad forms to fill out and officials to pursue and persuade."

Three months since the tornado hit, Xenians are still haggling and hassling with the bureaucrats. Nevertheless, residents of the outlying areas have been doing very well by their insurance companies, the first to rush in, not with promises, but with action.

The reason for the success with insurance companies is clear: Insurance companies have an incentive — profit — for immediate action. They would lose business to competitors if they acted with the nonchalance of the bureaucrats.

Oh yes, according to the Wall Street Journal, the Xenians have resolved to rebuild their city on their own, no longer expecting assistance from politicians. In one Ohio village, anyway, the political education has been performed.

OUTRIDER Ford And Eagleton Effect

By GARRY WILLS

Gerald Ford stands to gain a great deal from that reaction to nation trauma which might be called "The quasi-regicidal guilt effect."

We saw this operate in Lyndon Johnson's favor after the Kennedy assassination. Though John F. Kennedy won the election by the slimmest possible margin in 1960, it was impossible late in 1963 to find anyone who voted against him. To admit doing so would, illogically, identify one with all of Kennedy's enemies, including his assassin.

So the nation united in consensus behind President Johnson, restoring a sacredness to his office and her won election by a landslide in 1964. Later of course, he misread the nature of his consensus and destroyed it. But he was, for a long time its beneficiary.

Mr. Ford has already enjoyed a similar benefit. He inherited an office that Spiro Agnew had tarnished, and he assumed the position at a time when the presidency itself lay in a deep shadow of scandal. Those hoping for some splendor of legitimacy have been very generous in their estimate of Mr. Ford, finding all kind of previously unsuspected qualities in him. The process is natural, it may even be necessary.

When Mr. Ford becomes president the same pressures will be intensified. The wish for renewed respectability in the nation's highest office will extend the traditional honeymoon given any occupant of that seat. Congress having in effect created him president, will do everything it can to justify this action. The bipartisanship that comes in the wake of national crisis will severely hamper Democrats in their attacks on this Republican president.

And it seems certain that he will be elected on his own in 1976. This, too, is natural and may be necessary. Continuity would then be assured, there could be no claim that Democrats did to a Republican president just to replace him with one of their own or that impeachment had been mandated by the mandate of 1972 rather than at Richard Nixon's crimes.

But one small danger already exists to threaten this happy prospect, and Mr. Ford would do well to provide against it. When George McGovern, who also enjoyed a reputation for openness and virtue, sacked Thomas Eagleton, a quick hostility lashed back at him. This, too, was a result of "the regicidal" fear. McGovern's own pollster, Pat Caddell, found most Democrats in the days before Eagleton's discharge favoring that action. But once it was taken, they tried to dissociate themselves from it. Eagleton became an overnight hero, McGovern became the scapegoat.

The longer Mr. Ford talks of backing President Nixon, the deeper he wanders into the dangerous possibility of looking like George McGovern when he makes any quick turn around. If McGovern had chosen Eagleton with greater care, expressed less absolute confidence in him, or eased off from that position earlier, he might have cut his losses. There would be criticism of him for not supporting his own running mate, but that can be survived — as Eisenhower proved when he did Nixon establish his innocence of all charges in 1952.

Indeed, a key quote in the House Committee's debates should become a guiding text for Mr. Ford. That is President Nixon's expression of scorn for Eisenhower, who only cared that his men be "clean."

The longer Mr. Ford expresses a blind loyalty for his chief, the more he will be associated with that chief's sleazy standards in the matter of integrity. Even a "Mr. Clean" can get the worst of both worlds, as McGovern proved — for being too easy during the long period of support, and for being duplicitous when that support was quickly withdrawn. McGovern's plight establishes the proper strategy for Ford at this moment. He must dissociate himself from Mr. Nixon's fate immediately, or run the danger of looking like an abettor who turns into a betrayer.

INSIDE WASHINGTON Dem Leftists Seek Control

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, July 29 — The Democrats have a lot going for them — except certain Democrats.

The same leftist, activist and other far-out elements which cut the party's throat in 1968 and torpedoed it in 1972 are scheming and conniving at it again — bent on recapturing control of the party machinery and nominating another McGovern type standard bearer in 1976.

Quietly and assiduously the militants are busily maneuvering and manipulating to entrench themselves throughout the party structure — from precinct level to the national committee.

As in the past, they are doing this through a confusing maze of slick and sly gimmicks and devices setting up mandatory racial, ethnic and other quotas; a bewildering pyramid of committees and commissions with overlapping functions and authority; and various other devious stratagems which paid off so resoundingly for them in 1972 when McGovern was rammed through although widely disliked and distrusted.

Graphically illustrative of how these radicals are again worming their way into domination is what happened at the recent little noticed meeting of Democratic state chairmen.

An attempt by regulars to throw up a defensive barrier was baldly scuttled in the closing minutes of the session.

The high-handed hatching was done by two leading ultras — Alabama's shrewd, ambitious, opportunistic state chairman Robert Vance, and Ohio state chairman William Lavell, close benchman of Gov. John Gilligan — himself an as-yet undeclared 1976 presidential aspirant.

The artful Southerner and arch Midwest Yankee deftly teamed up to block a declaration that manifestly represented the majority view of the state chairmen.

Significantly, Vance and Lavell rate high with national chairman Robert Strauss.

Also interestingly, Strauss didn't lift a finger to help the regulars — although he did favor a similar resolution passed unanimously at a meeting of Democratic governors.

Inside Details

Substance of the governors' resolution was to forcefully warn against confusing and manipulative gimmicks and formulas.

The declaration was aimed squarely at the Charter Commission, headed by former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford, and due to meet next month presumably to wind up formulation of the charter.

This draft charter is widely suspect as leftist-loaded — and the governors' unanimously-approved resolution, in effect, bluntly said so.

In this declaration, the state executives stressed two points: (1) They emphatically did not want a charter that took authority away from the state parties and centered it in the national committee and other top-level agencies; (2) the charter should consist of general principles and not detailed rules and regulations; it should be flexible so as to be able to meet changing conditions and times.

Directly in line with this stand of the Democratic governors, a similar resolution was proposed by a group of state chairmen. It expressly referred to the action taken by the governors.

The discussion of this resolution was the most intense and absorbing of the two-day meeting of the state chairmen.

It took place the first day, with charter chairman Sanford present. He was sharply questioned on various controversial aspects of the charter. It was clearly evident that many of the state chairmen had pronounced misgivings about the charter, and felt it should be extensively revised.

Throughout this critical discussion, Sanford cannily dodged and ducked — countering the verbal flak with ambiguous replies such as, "Well, there may be something to your view and we'll give it careful consideration at our meeting next month."

Obviously on the defensive, the ambitious North Carolinian, who harbors 1976 yearnings, determinedly avoided a head-on clash.

Wielding The Ax

Whether Sanford had anything to do with the crass scuttling of the regulars' resolution by Vance and Lavell is unknown.

If Sanford didn't, the McGovernite pair certainly did him a favor anyway.

Vance, who chaired the state chairmen's meeting, cut off the initial discussion on the ground other matters required attention, but promised that the resolution would again be considered the next day for a vote.

It was — but just before the close of the session when a number of state chairmen had already departed and others were impatiently eyeing their watches to catch planes.

In these confused closing minutes, when a motion was made to approve the regulars' resolution, Lavell popped up and moved it be tabled.

Loudly pounding the gavel, Vance bellowed, "All those in favor say 'aye,' all opposed 'no';" and then without a pause, "The 'ayes' have it" — and that was it.

The resolution was shelved, and the ultras had again pulled off a slick job.

How long they will be able to get away with these tricky tactics remains to be seen.

Already the gross scuttling of the resolution has reverberated adversely in a number of state organizations. Both governors and national committeemen have expressed resentment and disgust.

There is talk of raising the NEWSPAPER editors get some strange telephone calls. Take for instance, the one that just came in as we sat down at the typewriter to put together today's Rearview Mirror.

Right at the moment thought was being directed to some kind of prediction about what President Nixon would do to follow up his cover-up confession, here comes this local phone call to shatter the whole train of speculation.

It was an anonymous lady caller with a lovely voice who wanted to know if we had knowledge of the person who is "working" to keep new industry and businesses from locating in Pampa.

After telling her we had no such knowledge about anyone, she suggested we inquire around among important personages in town and we could learn the identity of the accused.

Well, the first important person that came to mind was the City Hall Cat. After much searching we found the Cat and put the question to him.

"Who's trying to put the damper on new industry and business coming to Pampa?" we asked on direct examination.

"Are you kidding?" the Cat fired back. "As if you didn't know!"

Next important person we met was a newspaper carrier. The same question was put to him.

"Everybody knows the answer to that," he said as he rode off on his bike.

The lady who called us in the first place said she knew, but didn't want to get involved personally.

Just as soon as we can get around to it, the matter will be pursued by questioning other important people such as the mayor, city manager, chamber of commerce manager, Industrial Foundation president, school superintendent, head football coach, city commissioners, county commissioners, sheriff, police chief, dog warden, et al.

If such a person exists — if someone really is trying to keep Pampa from getting new industry and new business — best detective logic we can come up with is that he is a resident of Amarillo.

(Sotto Voce: If the lady phone caller will call again and give us the name of the culprit, we promise to run him to earth, see that he is impeached, finally convicted and tossed out.)

GETTING BACK to the Nixon prediction — there is really no use telling you now we had intended to take a guess there would be a resignation by the end of the week just ended or at least early this week.

This, of course, is being written the morning after the resignation and the comment of the afternoon before it happened was pulled back and relegated to the waste basket.

Mr. Nixon stepped down gracefully Thursday night and Vice President Ford moved in as our President at 11 a.m. Friday.

Most Americans are glad the ordeal is over and hopefully look forward to the new leadership, lifting the nation back on the road to normalcy.

ALWAYS STRIVING to inject an educational note or two in Rearview Mirror, here's a report from the National Hot-Dog and Sausage Council that during the 14-week summer period from Memorial Day to Labor Day, U.S. families will have eaten as many as 4 1/2 billion hot dogs!

The report says 650 million of them were eaten by Americans during the four-day Fourth of July weekend.

That's a lot of hot dogs. One suspects it would take a long train of tank cars to haul the mustard used to "butter up" that many.

Maybe some day we can get John and Ted Gikas to give us some kind of an idea how many hot dogs they have served down through the years they have been dispensing them at the Coney Island.

PAMPA'S CITY Commission has set up its 1974 - 75 budget to re-activate the old Board of City Development in order to give financial aid in the hiring of an industrial relations director for the Chamber of Commerce.

It is hoped the idea will not grow to the point where it would again wholly subsidize the chamber with your tax money as it did before the BCD was dissolved in 1963.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources Of The Texas Department of Agriculture John C. White, Commissioner

Historical Renewal... Weather Typical... More Red Meat... Broiler Production Up

ALMOST 1,000 farmers and ranchers have written for application blanks in Texas Department of Agriculture's Family Land Heritage Program. Possibly that should be a surprising figure considering the fact that Texas farm population has been declining for the past quarter century; but the number of applicants indicates that there are many Texans who have loved and love the land enough to stay with it 100 or more years and to engage in the basic industry of the world, raising food and fiber. The Heritage program has stimulated a renewed interest in the history of our farms and ranches, not only among history buffs but also in many of the people who live on those farms and ranches. Some have gone to the trouble to look up the historical records of their farms and ranches and of their ancestors who started on them and made the earliest developments in our State. Records in county clerks' and county tax assessors' offices and probably in the State Archives are being searched for historical data. The research has been a rewarding experience for those doing the digging.

TYPICAL SUMMER weather is the way Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service describes the weather the past few weeks. Showers have dotted a portion of the state, relieving a few areas temporarily from dry conditions and heat. Peanut harvest is getting underway in South Texas, and sorghum harvest is 36 per cent complete and rice harvest about 25 per cent complete. Most corn from the Low Plains southward is mature, and is tussling on the High Plains. The western half of the State continues to suffer from the drought and many herds are being culled closely. Stock water is short in some areas, necessitating hauling, and is getting short in other areas. Range conditions are fair in the Eastern section of the State, depending on the amount of rain that has fallen, and hay crops have been good in a few areas. However, most sections need more rain for a third cutting of hay.

TEXAS RED meat production in June totaled 195 million pounds, an increase of six per cent over the same month last year but three per cent less than during May, 1974. Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service says that 1,130 million pounds of red meat were produced in the State during the first six months of this year, an increase of four per cent over the same period last year. During this time, 1,789,000 head of cattle were killed, 715,000 hogs, and 722,500 sheep and lambs. The number of hogs slaughtered was 15 per cent below the number slaughtered during the first six months of 1973; and the number of sheep and lambs killed for food was three per cent more than for the same period last year. Stocker cattle on farms and ranches July 1 were estimated at 6,447,000 head compared to 5,495,000 on the same date in 1973.

BROILER PRODUCTION is up slightly in Texas. There was a hatch of 3,211,000 chicks for the week ending July 27, an increase of four per cent over the same period last year but one per cent fewer than a week earlier. Broiler placements during the week ending July 27 were 3,171,000, an increase of three per cent over the same week in 1973 but one per cent less than the previous week. Eggs set for broiler production in the 1974 week numbered 3,895,000, a drop of seven per cent below a year ago. Arkansas, Georgia, North Carolina and Mississippi ranked ahead of Texas in broiler placements during the latter part of July.

Weevil Threatens Alfalfa Production

COLLEGE STATION — The alfalfa weevil, considered to be the most destructive insect of this important hay crop, has in only five years spread throughout Texas' production areas.

N. M. Randolph, Texas A & M University Entomology Department professor, said the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station is busy conducting chemical control trials along with the introduction of natural parasites of the weevil.

Working with Randolph are E. E. Latham and L. Reed Green, county entomologist and assistant entomologist, respectively, for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

entomologist and assistant entomologist, respectively, for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Randolph said that in College Station tests, 10 insecticides reduced weevil populations for 14 days.

Trichlorfon was less effective than carbofuran, phosvel, methyl parathion, Baygon, azinphosmethyl, carbaryl, Imidan and diazinon at three and seven days after treatment. Carbofuran was more effective than trichlorfon and diazinon at seven days.

No differences were noted among insecticides at 14 days post-treatment, Randolph said.

Texas Scientist Credited

COLLEGE STATION — Thousands of tons of human and animal food may be saved each year by an invention of a Texas scientist. Cottonseed that would not do well when planted can be saved by the invention and converted into oil and meal. Before, since there was no good way to separate it, poorer seed rotted in the ground.

Texas cotton growers planted 5.4 million acres in 1973 with a crop value of 1 billion and 56 million dollars. The average planting rate is about 22 pounds of seed per acre. That means the total amount of seed used for planting each year is an estimated 60,000 tons.

Consider what it would mean if growers could save from one-third to one-half of this seed and still get a satisfactory stand of plants. What would an additional 20,000 to 30,000 tons of cottonseed processed into oil and meal mean to the housewife, the cattle feeder and other people in the state? Since Texas produces about 40 percent of the U.S. cotton, total U.S. savings could be 50,000 to 75,000 tons each year.

A new, liquid seed separation system under development has the potential to save those millions of dollars worth of wasted seed. Its developer, Dr. Otto Kunze, is an agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Kunze says the system uses seed volume and seed weight as the basis for selecting quality planting seed.

Research has shown that under field conditions, percent germination in a standard test has little relation to actual emergence and seedling vigor. The vigor span found in most seed lots is quite broad, varying from those seed which are barely alive to those which show rapid germination, fast growth and development into healthy productive plants.

The main reason for planting, of course, is to get an acceptable stand which is normally measured in plants per acre. But too little attention has been given to the quality and potential performance of the plants. Quite often up to 10 percent of the plants may not produce at all. Seedlings which aren't productive are a burden to the producer in every phase of cotton production, from the time of seed purchase until the cotton stalks are finally destroyed.

Plants Now Authorized

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has issued 100 plant variety protection certificates since inception of a new service giving exclusive rights to plant developers to grow and sell their novel varieties of seed-reproduced plants.

The 100th certificate was among six recently mailed certificates involving new varieties of cotton, wheat, lettuce, and peas.

Issued under authority of the Plant Variety Protection Act, a law enacted in December 1970, the 100 certificates went to 35 different seed firms, research foundations and state universities for new varieties of lettuce, soybeans, wheat, cotton, beans, peas, and asters.

An additional 305 applications, involving 57 kinds of seed-reproduced plants were pending action in the Plant Variety Protection (PVP) office of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service as of July 1.

Similar protection for plants reproduced by cuttings, budding, rhizomes, and grafting has been available under the Patent Act through the U.S. Patent Office since 1930. Computers are being used by the Plant Variety Protection Office to help determine if a variety is new. This concept has attracted worldwide attention to this USDA program. Under the system, a computer memory bank is used to compare an application against all known past and present varieties.

Panhandle Water

By — FELIX W. RYALS
The board of directors of the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District held its regular quarterly meeting on Monday of the past week. The board gave formal approval to a number of temporary well permits approved and expenditures and purchased a new reproduction machine for the District office.

The board also reviewed the agenda for the August 12 meeting in Baytown, Texas of the Ground Water Panel of the Texas Water Conservation.

Attending the meeting will be James B. McCray, president of the board, Fred S. Vandenburg, Sr. a board member and Felix W. Ryals, district manager. McCray and Ryals will also attend the August meeting of the Governor's Task Force on Water and Natural Resources in Austin on August 14.

Senators A.R. Schwartz, James Wallace, and Walter Mengden along with State Rep. Joe Allen and Bill Jenkins of the Lieutenant Governor's office will be panelists on the program of the Ground Water Panel of the Texas Water Conservation Association.

Big Spring, Texas has been selected by the Federal Government for one of the weather modification sites to carry out experimental projects to control the weather. Cloud seeding will be one of the tools used in an effort to produce rain, prevent hail storms and tornadoes.

Not everyone is in agreement on weather modification. A group of South Plains farmers went into court this summer in an attempt to halt weather modification in that area.

District Judge Pat Boone, Jr. of the 154th Judicial District, Littlefield, Lamb County, Texas, handed down his written decision July 2 in the case of Farmers and Ranchers for Natural Weather, et al. vs. Atmospherics, Inc., et al. the first suit filed in Texas against a hail suppression program.

In his ruling, Judge Boone denied the Plaintiffs (a group of 127 farmers and ranchers) a temporary injunction against cloud seeding activities; overruled all special exceptions asked by the defendants (Lamb County Better Weather, Inc., Plains Weather Improvement Ass. of Plainview, and Atmospherics, Inc., the contracting company for the Littlefield based operation) to the Plaintiffs' pleadings, and overruled the plea of privilege of the defendants.

The five-day hearing (June 14 through June 19) was the result of a suit filed by the farmers' group in an attempt to restrain the defendants from seeding clouds above their land, in an effort to suppress hail by artificial nucleation, or from interfering, in any other manner, with the natural conditions of the air or sky over their land.

The importance of the case was revealed prior to the ruling, when both parties expressed determination to appeal the case to a higher court if they lost.

Stated Judge Boone in his decision, "The Defendant, Plains Weather Improvement Ass., in open Court, excepted to the Court's overruling its plea of privilege and gave notice of appeal to the Court of Civil Appeals for the Seventh Supreme Judicial District of Texas at Amarillo, and the Plaintiffs, in open Court, excepted to the court's ruling—denying their application for temporary injunction and gave notice of appeal to the Court of Civil Appeals for the Seventh Supreme Judicial District of Texas at Amarillo, Texas."

Until that time, the weather modification program in question will be allowed to continue.

The future of the Texas High Plains looks very bright. Many industries are finding the area an ideal location for building new plants, which is resulting in a diversification of the Texas High Plains economy. Meat packing plants and textile mills are allowing the region to take advantage of economic benefits in processing the raw products of the area.

The now present energy crisis and the fast approaching world food and fiber crisis are making the output and productive capacity of the region even more important.

The Texas High Plains possesses abundant fertile land, good climate, a wealth of mineral resources, and with the importation of supplemental water, the importance of the area to the nation and the world can only increase in the future.

Recently we received a new set of Windbreak and Pine Seedling Application forms. This is a service through the Texas Forest Service.

For many years they have produced windbreak seedlings for a nominal fee. The price this year is $5 per 100 seedlings. Orders must be for a minimum of 100 seedlings and no less than 50 of one variety. Here is a list of the species available for 1974 - 75 shipments:

Arizona Cypress; Austrian Pine; Black Walnut; Chinese Elm; Green Ash; Honey Locust; Mulberry; Oriental Arborvitae; Osage Orange; Ponderosa Pine; and Red Cedar.

We have a supply of application blanks on hand. I would advise you to order early since orders are on a first come, first serve basis.

The seedlings are produced at the Indian Mound Nursery at Alto, Texas. Call our office — we will be happy to mail an application blank to you. COUNTY AGENTS ASSOCIATION MEETING

The first two days of last week were spent in Irving, Texas at the Texas State County Agents Association Meeting. This is held annually over various parts of the state. The theme of the meeting is professional improvement. A number of very noted speakers from across the state have been scheduled. We find these meetings very educational. They are quite different from many conferences in that families of county agents usually attend also.

RAINFALL
The 173 inches of rain we received Saturday and Monday was great and will be beneficial for irrigated crops but a bit too late to be of much value to grassland. The drought has been broken but we need additional moisture to make good seed beds for fall planting of wheat.

One of the farmers from Mobeetie came by the office on Tuesday and reported they had received 1.75 inches of rain Monday.

The rain has made it a bit muddy around the Courthouse Annex but curb and gutter has just been poured — our entire parking area will be paved soon. There is plenty of room for parking on the adjoining Rodeo grounds.

Agri-Business Potential Increases With Plan

COLLEGE STATION — Farmers and ranchers should develop a financial management plan to increase their profit-making potential, believes Cecil Parker, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Because capital is the most important input of production, efficiency in its use is important in maximizing profits," says the Texas A&M University System specialist.

The financial statement, profit-loss statement and cash flow ledger are three items required to develop a financial management plan. (The financial statement shows the farm's financial picture at a given time. It includes the present solvency of the operation and also a projection of future solvency. List all assets and liabilities. Current, intermediate and fixed or long-term groupings can be used in defining assets and providing a realistic look at repayment requirements.)

The profit-loss statement sums up income and expenses and the resulting net profit or loss during a given period, such as a crop year. Handle nonfarming items separately. To obtain the operation's gain or loss, subtract net cash expenses from net cash income and adjust for changes in inventory and capital items. Comparing profit-loss statements for a period of years will show any progress or decline of the farming or ranching operation.

The cash flow ledger lists all cash income and expenses. It includes family living expenses, money borrowed and debts paid. A monthly summary of these figures determines the flow of cash during the planning period. The time and amounts of credit needs and availability of repayment funds can be determined by cash flow, points out Parker.

"Although some time is required to develop a sound financial management plan, the end result can be increased returns on capital," contends the economist.

Service at Amarillo, who is lead-off speaker for the half-day program.

The energy crises and shortages of agricultural inputs," he adds, "have resulted in direct and indirect changes in the economic potential of some agricultural enterprises."

Increased forage production may be a profitable alternative for some producers. For this reason, this seminar may be an important source of latest information about forage production, management and utilization by livestock.

Dr. Kenneth Porter, professor in charge of TAES research at Bushland, will preside over the first session which will include talks by Petr, Dr. Harold Eck, soil scientists with the Agricultural Research Service - USDA at Bushland; and Jim Conkwright, livestock breeder and producer from Hereford.

Petr will discuss forage production with small grains, improved grasses and alfalfa. Eck follows with a report on alfalfa production as affected by soil profile modification and irrigation.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH Permanent Damage Could Result

By G.C. THOSTESON, M.D. Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son complained about pain below his knees. He would rest and feel relief, but when on kneeling the pain would start again.

I took him to a doctor who diagnosed it as Osgood-Schlatter disease and had X-rays taken to make sure. The doctor said maybe a cast would help, but later suggested that I take him to a bone specialist.

I did and he explained a little about it but just said to rest a lot and come back. This is the third time I have taken him just to be told that he is to rest.

I don't know why I have to take him back because the doctor said in some cases they have to operate but he does not do this until they are between the ages of 16 and 19. My son was 14 in January and is complaining just as much as before.

He is active and growing fast and this lying around is very distressing. He wants to play ball. What do you think? Will this make it worse or is it just the pain he has to put up with? -A.N.P.

This disease (Osgood-Schlatter) is one of the frustrations of my life because I keep writing about it every few months and nobody remembers the name - until a youngster gets it.

The same is true of Legg-Calve-Perthes disease, which is similar except that it affects the hip.

Both diseases are a form of osteochondrosis. In simple language, there's an interference in blood supply to a portion of the bone. The bone weakens and softens. It becomes painful.

The bad news is that unless the weakened bone is protected, by keeping weight off it, it can become permanently damaged. The good news is that if you DO protect it, in a matter of months (sometimes quite a few months) the circulation problem will correct itself one will become strong and healthy again.

Surgery sometimes is necessary to repair damage, but I'm sure you'll agree that it is more to the point to prevent the damage.

There is no medicine that will do it. No type of treatment. But you MUST keep weight off the bone until it regains strength. So it is much more than a matter of pain that keeps your boy from playing ball.

If that can be accomplished, nature will heal it. If not - well, watch out for permanent bone damage.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My cousin, 12, complains occasionally that light is piercing his eyes. He then develops a severe headache, usually one-sided. Then he vomits.

His mother dismisses this three-part sequence as "sinus trouble." What do you think? -H.P.

It doesn't sound in the least like sinus trouble; it does have all the classic symptoms of migraine, and I would guess that the periodic misery will continue until finally he and she learn something about migraines.

Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. George C. Thosteson at Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Tame Headaches." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT Carney Climbing From Sewer

By EARL WILSON NEW YORK — "How would you like to go through life with your name being synonymous with sewage?" Art Carney said.

As Ed Norton, the sewer worker on the Jackie Gleason TV show, he will ever be remembered, and he guesses it was his most enjoyable role, yet now, at 55, he's climbing out of the sewer to play a senior citizen in his first starring role in a movie "Harry and Tonto." The very thought of the seriousness of it will keep him from drinking for years, he is sure.

When the Lambs Club honored him with great conviviality recently, Carney sat amidst the drinkers sipping a soft drink. "Are you having a drink or are you a sissy like me?" he said Jackie Gleason, according to Miami Beach reports, is also now a non-drinker, and the idea of the two of them being on the wagon made Carney laugh.

"Gleason used to say to me, 'I can tell if you've had a smell of a bar rag' and I said, 'And I can tell if you have.'"

"One night years ago we did a couple of sketches that were repeats and I knew my lines well so I had a little drink and then another one and then I had a couple more. The first sketch went fine. But on the second, all of a sudden I realized I was affected by the drink I wasn't falling off the stage but I wasn't sharp and Gleason covered for me."

"I was so disappointed in myself that I took in a few bars along 8th Av. and then went up to the Park Sheraton where Gleason lived and we cried and we laughed. He said, 'Art, if I drink it's all right, but don't YOU do it.' We wound up having another cry and I went on the dry for eight months."

"I just try to stay away from it," he said. "I think the largest stretch of complete sobriety was for two years."

Carney may be one of the few Broadway actors who has never had a flop. Horace Heidt gave him a job as a musician back in the Pot o' Gold radio days and they did a movie with Jimmy Stewart and Paulette Goddard.

He did "Rope Dancers" on Broadway. "Take Her, She's Mine" when Elizabeth Ashley was just getting known. "The Odd Couple" with Walter Matthau. "Lovers," which was a hit, and took over the Peter Falk role in "Prisoner of Second Avenue." He did a segment with Lucille Ball in the movie "A Guide for the Married Man" and is happy that he'll be playing her husband in a TV special in September.

"In 'Harry and Tonto, Tonto is my cat," he says. "This senior citizen gets evicted from his apartment and his only companion is his cat. He visits his children across the country with his cat."

Art is no longer the lithe young man who hops in and out of the sewer.

"With my mustache and my glasses, I guess I look more like a lawyer or doctor," he says. He is an actor who takes his roles seriously. He did a Playhouse 90 TV show as a Jewish gentleman. He got coaching from a cantor, Mayor Briscoe of Dublin was heard to remark, "I never knew Art was Jewish."

The Weekend Windup... Alice Faye, coming to B'way in "Good News," may take over the east side town house that Jane Powell will vacate when she leaves "Irene." Country music is bigger than ever, so Eddy Arnold's negotiating to do a two-week stint in a big B'way theater... Eve Harris will tour the dinner-theater circuit in "Play It Again, Sam."

Barbra Streisand wears her own jewels in "Funny Lady" - and cannily charged the film company $250 a day "rental" Bobby Vinton won't sing in Stephanie Young, Jon Brothers, Chris Webb, Riekie-Igan, Troy West, Angela West, Wes Stevens, Sheri Rogers and Misti Howard.

Roy Scheider streaked nude, as a gag, past the camera during a Robert Shaw - Richard Dreyfuss scene in "Jaws" - and now director Steve Spielberg threatens to keep the scene in... A top male star, often in the news with hot romances, "cruises" the gay bars when he's in NYC.

I'd Rather Be Light Today's Best Laugh: A young comic who's getting married, was told his bride would wear something old, new, borrowed and blue. "Great!" he said. " - she can use my act!"

Wish I'd Said That: Winning a beauty contest (says the cynic) is like being Raquel Welch's leading man — pretty soon nobody remembers your name.

Remembered Quote: "There is little chance for people to get together so long as most of us want to be in front of the bus, the back of the church, and the middle of the road." - Adlai Stevenson.

Earl's Pearls: There's the sad tale of the hammy actor who got a standing ovation from an audience of midgets, and never even knew it.

You can tell that Nixon's stock is dropping, a fellow claimed: "The other night he was pre-empted by 'Haw'."

That's earl, brother. All Rights Reserved.

By LIBBY SHOTWELL Miss Melba Stooksbery, WSI, taught an adult Beginner class at McLean Country Club Pool with the following receiving their cards: Ruth Caudill, Dorothy Griffin, Elaine Hendon, Linda Hill, Charlene Patton, Cheryl Smith, Wanda Smith, Imogene Tate and Ann Williams.

We are proud of these women and we hope that they will continue their swimming next year and enter an Advanced Beginner Class.

The International Red Cross have sent delegates and supplies to help in the Cyprus conflict. The group 14 delegates included three physicians, who took blood derivatives and medical and surgical supplies and enough equipment to treat many wounded and hurt victims.

Thomas R. Watson, WSI, has been teaching swimming at the Country Club Pool this summer. Those who passed in Beginner swimming were Jeff Hinkle, Parker Holt, Jennifer James, Kip Lester, Stephanie Young, Jon Brothers, Chris Webb, Riekie-Igan, Troy West, Angela West, Wes Stevens, Sheri Rogers and Misti Howard.

The following completed the Advanced Beginner swimming: Austin Lafferty, Todd Lafferty, John Tarpley, Jeff Hinkle, and Reid Sidwell, Chris Comer, Lance DeFever, Dick Hughes, John peeples and Debbie Simpson.

The following completed the Intermediate class Tricia Hawkins, Suzy Carter, Ann Jeffrey, Mark Isaac, Kathy Isaac, Shelly Duenkel, Elizabeth Bassett, Ian Horn, Beta Horn, Julie Steel, Laura and Carrie Comer, Lisa Michael, Carrie Hoover and Tommy Jeffrey.

Those in the Swimmer class were Ian Horn, Beta Horn, Carrie Hoover, Tom Bassett and Suzy Carter. Congratulations to all of these boys and girls.

HELP WANTED ATLANTA (UPI) - Satisfactory help was hard to find in the early days of the newspaper business in Georgia. Often apprentices would run away.

One irate publisher published an advertisement for an escaped apprentice describing the youth as an "unparalleled drunkard! A villain! And, in my opinion the most accomplished candidate for the gatolows I ever saw."

CAT COSTS $500 LOS ANGELES (UPI) - Fashion designer Irene Kasper and her husband, Gerald, will not have to go to jail just because their cat went where it wanted to.

The Kaspers were sentenced last week to five days in jail for contempt of court for allowing their cat, Calico, to stray into the yard of a neighbor, Willard D. Horwich, who had obtained an injunction against the Kaspers and their cat last year.

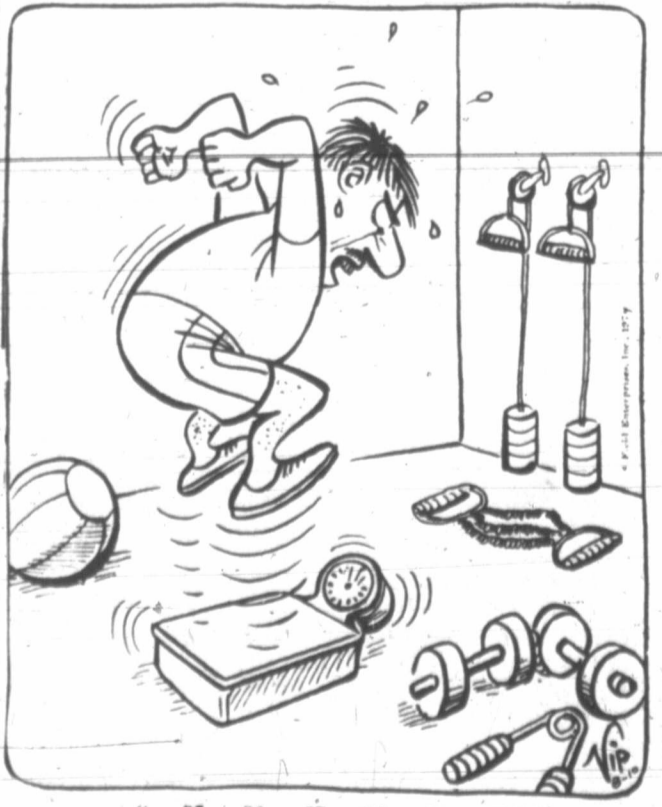

Horwich complained that since then, the cat entered his yard four times and defecated repeatedly in and about the property.

The Kaspers argued in vain that it was in the nature of cats to go where they will, and Horwich lures cats to his yard with fish and chicken bait so he can give them to authorities to be destroyed.

The judge Wednesday suspended the jail sentence but fined the Kaspers $500.

The Kaspers said they gave Calico away.

Huffhines-Hanna Say Marriage Vows In Eight O'Clock Rites

The marriage of Miss Debra Lou Huffhines and Terry J. Hanna, was solemnized Friday, Aug. 9 at 8 p.m. in the First Church of the Nazarene, Pampa.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver A. Huffhines 815 N. Somerville, are parents of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon L. Hanna, Bethany, Okla., are parents of the bridegroom.

THE CEREMONY

Double-ring nuptial vows were solemnized by the Rev. Herbert Land, pastor.

Organist, Doris Goad, accompanied the bride as she sang, "Whither Thou Goest," and Steven Skoog, as he sang "The Wedding Prayer," and "We've Only Just Begun." Other wedding selections were the themes from "Love Story," and "Romeo and Juliet," and "O' Perfect Love."

Basket arrangements of mixed summer flowers flanked by four candelabra entwined with greenery, decorated the church. Pews were marked with blue and white checked gingham bows.

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, with the her mother and I' avowal, the bride was attired in a formal gown of white satin designed with an empire bodice, rounded neckline, and long full sleeves ending in wide lace cuffs. The floor-length skirt, highlighted by lace panels, featured a wide lace hemline with a train extending to chapel length, edged in lace. The gown was designed by the bride and created by her mother.

Her tiered, fingertip veil of bridal illusion fell from a floral satin leaves and seed pearl bandeau and she carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath with white satin streamers tied in love knots.

The bride carried out the traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue. She wore a blue garter that her mother had worn in her wedding 25 years ago; in her shoes, she wore two wheat pennies minted in the birth years of the couple.

During the processional, the bride presented her mother a long stemmed red rose; during the recessional she presented a long stemmed red rose to the bridegroom's mother.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Kathy Baskett, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Dolores Riggs was bridesmaid. Laurie Ann Huffhines, sister of the bride, was Jr bridesmaid. They wore identical floor-length dresses of blue and white checked gingham styled with short puffed sleeves and an inset belt with bow at back, trimmed with white lace. Each wore a white garden hat trimmed with blue and white checked gingham bands and bows, and carried nosegays of mixed summer flowers with white satin ribbon streamers.

Nona Christie Hanna, Bethany, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl, and Teresa Riggs and Kerry Ammons, both of Pampa, lighted the candles. All were dressed identical to the bridal attendants. The flower girl carried a white lace basket filled with rose petals. Each wore a blue and white checked gingham bow in her hair.

Alfred Hanna, brother of the bridegroom, Bethany, ringbearer, carried a heart shaped satin pillow, trimmed with lace and seed pearls, with white satin streamers, tied in love knots. The pillow was made by the bride's mother.

Tim Weber, Oklahoma city, was best man and groomsmen were Harvey Baskett, Amarillo, and Steve Huffhines, brother of the bride. Ushers were Kerry Ammons and Dale Ammons, both of Pampa.

The reception was held in fellowship hall of the church. A white satin cloth trimmed with blue net bows covered the serving table, centered with a double-candelabra and an arrangement of mixed summer flowers. Milk-glass appointments completed the setting.

The four-tiered wedding cake was topped with white satin bells. Miss Linda Reed of Pampa, served cake and Mrs. Jerry George of Amarillo, assisted at the punch bowl, and registered wedding guests. Other members of the houseparty were Mmes. Tom Ammons,

MRS. TERRY J. HANNA
nee Miss Debra Lou Huffhines

Chester Holman, Buck Love, Cecil McCarrell, Ralph Riggs, and Al Ferguson.

For traveling to Silverton, Colo., the bride wore a navy and white dress with white accessories and lifted the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside in Bethany, Okla.

AFFILIATIONS

A 1973 graduate of Pampa High School, the bride is a sophomore at Bethany Nazarene College majoring in music.

The bridegroom, a 1971 graduate of Putnam City West in Bethany, is a junior at BNC, where he is employed as head of the photography department.

PRE-NUPITALEVENTS

The bride was honored with a shower recently in the Flame Room, Pioneer Gas Building, hosted by Mmes. Chester Holman, Buck Love, Ray Smith, Franklin Wall, Edward Jackson, Tom Ammons, Cecil McCarrell, J.D. Fitch, Melvin Cardwell, and Cecil Trollinger.

Sewing For Babies

COLLEGE STATION — Sewing for babies is joyful — and not too complicated, one authority pointed out.

"Baby clothes don't need darts, fittings, facings, linings, or any of the time-consuming details, so they can be completed in a short time," Marilyn Brown, clothing specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System said.

Babies need soft, comfortable clothes which allow easy rolling and peaceful sleep. Lightweight cottons — from flannel and stretch terry to batiste — that are both absorbent and washable are the best choice, according to the specialist.

Babies don't need many clothes. Stretch suits and gowns for the cooler months and shirt sets for the warmer ones, with a few dressy outfits for special occasions form a complete wardrobe for a baby.

Select trims and closing with a thought to newborn skin. Trim should be soft and washable; buttons and snaps should be small and securely attached so they won't come loose. Zippers should be the nylon coil variety," she advised.

Clothing for babies needs to be easy to put on without twisting an arm or leg and should open easily for diaper change.

French seams, with the raw edges completely encased, are best for finishing babies' garments," Miss Brown noted.

Several easy-to-sew extras are flannel blankets to match the gowns, terry bibs and large bias-bound terry towels.

FAMILY EVENTS

Ritual and tradition are of great importance in the family. Celebrations of special days, special family events, and symbolic activities make up the fabric of life, Dr. Jennie Kitching, family life education specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, noted.

Wilhelm-Cole

The engagement of Belinda Wilhelm and Rustye Cole is being made by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Wilhelm of Briscoe. Parents of the bridegroom to be are T.J. Cole, Jr., and Mary Lea Cole of Wheeler. The couple will exchange nuptial vows Aug. 17 in the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses in Pampa.

Miss Lisa Pettit Becomes Bride Of James Crossman

Miss Lisa Carol Pettit became the bride of James Lynn Crossman, 527 N. Sumner, Friday, Aug. 9 at 7 p.m. in Highland Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Pettit, 2210 Hamilton. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. George D. Crossman, Franklin, La.

THE CEREMONY

The double-ring ceremony, performed before a tall pedestal arrangement of white summer flowers, flanked by a pair of spiral candelabra entwined with salal foliage, holding tall white tapers, was officiated by the Rev. M. B. Smith, pastor. The bridal aisle was lighted with candelabra covered with hurricane globes and greenery. A memory candle was also used to signify the union of the two families.

Organist, Mrs. Wesley Cornett, cousin of the bride, CCanyon, played traditional wedding selections and "The Wedding March and recessional." She accompanied Miss Debbie Norton as she sang "More," "The Twelfth of Never," and "We've Only Just Begun."

Red roses were presented to the bride's mother and the bridegroom's mother.

THE BRIDE

The bride was given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I" avowal. She wore a formal wedding gown of nylon organza and reembroidered Chantilly lace over bridal taffeta designed with a high neckline, empire waistline, long Camelot sleeves and semi-A-line silhouette with full back. Inserts of the lace enhanced with tiny seed pearls, complemented the neckline, bodice, sleeves and floor-length skirt of the gown. The full back of the gown ended in a sweeping chapel-length train.

Her veil of imported illusion, with a wide border of matching Chantilly lace, fell from a coil and she carried a cascade bouquet of cymbidium orchids, stephanotis and carnations fashioned atop a white Bible.

The bride carried out the tradition of something old, her late maternal grandmother's diamond ring, something new, a white Bible, a gift of the maid of honor, something borrowed, a string of pearls, belonging to her paternal grandmother, and a blue garter. The bride wore a 1953 and 1956 penny in her shoes.

ATTENDANTS

Maid of honor was Miss Becky Riemer, and bridesmaid was Miss Judy Crossman, sister of the bridegroom, Franklin, La. They wore floor-length gowns of blue dotted Swiss styled with empire waists and long sheer sleeves. Their shoulder-length veils fell from a floral coil and each carried a white carnation nosegay with long blue streamers.

Cristin Cornett, Canyon, cousin of the bride, was flower girl carrying a basket of flowers matching those of the bridal attendants. Cory Cornett, Canyon, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

George Crossman, Franklin, La., served his son as best man and Gary Fortin, Pampa, was groomsman. Kris Botkin, and Greg Davis, both of Pampa and John Maglaughlin of Amarillo, served as ushers.

MOTHERS

The bride's mother wore a floor-length pale apricot knit dress with matching organza ruffles at the neckline and cuffs of the long sleeves.

The bridegroom's mother wore a floor-length gray chiffon dress with pale hand-painted flowers on pleated skirt.

Both wore orchid corsages complementing their attire.

RECEPTION

A blue and white floral arrangement centered the serving table, covered with a white cloth. The four-tiered wedding cake was decorated with blue roses, nosegays and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

The bridegroom's table, covered with a white cloth, held a blue candle and German chocolate sheet cake decorated with dark brown chocolate roses. Coffee was served from this table.

Jana Ruddick and Sherry

MRS. JAMES LYNN CROSSMAN
nee Miss Lisa Carol Pettit

Bigham assisted at the punch bowl and coffee service and Mrs. Greg Davis and Zindi Epperson served cake. Registering guests was Mrs. Kelly Miller, Moscow, Kan., cousin of the bride. Donna Smart and Marlene Pettit, cousin of the bride, assisted with houseparty duties. Donna Jo Riddle distributed blue rice flowers to guests. The reception was hosted by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Hiram Whitener, Wheeler.

For the wedding trip to New Orleans, La., the bride wore a navy blue dress with white collar and white accessories. She lifted the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside at 527 N. Sumner.

AFFILIATIONS

Mrs. Crossman is a 1974

graduate of Pampa High School and is presently employed at Retail Merchants Association, Inc.

The bridegroom, a 1971 PHS graduate, attended the University of Southwestern of Louisiana, West Texas State University, and Young Memorial Vocational Technical School. He is presently employed at Cabot Corp.

Forms Of Art To Choose

COLLEGE STATION — Artists produce many forms of art and the viewer may need some guides to the differences among those forms, one authority noted.

She's Anna Marie Gottschalk, housing and home furnishings specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Drawings are often exciting forms of art that can be purchased inexpensively," she said.

Different kinds of media — pencil, crayon, charcoal, pastel and ink — can be applied with pen or brush, usually on paper, she explained.

They can be found with rich value contrasts of black and white, carefully shaded shapes and forms, and the exciting use of color.

"Paintings commonly use watercolor or oil for their medium. Watercolor — water soluble pigment — is usually done on a heavy paper and is characterized by transparent wash effects and splashy, fresh look," the specialist says.

Oil paintings are usually done on canvas and styles range from a thick, textured paint surface to thin layers of color.

The specialist noted that a new type of pigment, acrylic, has characteristics of both watercolor and oil paint.

"It can be transparent and is water soluble in its original form but can also be thick and textured and is insoluble to water when dry," she explained.

Graphic prints include wood cuts and linoleum cuts, etching, lithographs and silk screen prints.

"Each of these have the common characteristic of being produced in quantity from an original plate. The number of prints from one plate varies, but the artist's title, signature and print numbers should be visible inside the mat or frame because they are considered a part of the work of art," Miss Gottschalk pointed out. Textile art includes weaving, hooked rugs, knotted rugs, appliques, stitchery, macrame and textile printing.

These forms of art are usually designed for wall hangings, draperies, rugs, upholstery fabric, screens, or other furnishings.

"Sculpture differs from drawings, paintings, prints and hangings in that it is considered three-dimensional and should be viewed from all sides.

"Some materials used in sculpture are wood, metal, and plaster. Each should be used in a way that enhances that material," she said.

Choosing A Child Care Center

COLLEGE STATION — You're choosing a child care center or nursery school — but how do you even begin to find a good place for your child?

Dr. Jennie Kitching, family life education specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension

Brown Reunion

Children of late Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Brown attended a family reunion Aug. 3, 4 at the IOOF Hall in Pampa.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown moved to Pampa in 1909 and operated a farm west of the city. Their children, eight sons and three daughters attended schools in Pampa. The couple lived on the farm until the death of Brown in 1936.

Six of the couple's surviving children attended the event. Those from Pampa attending were Park, Joe, R. C. Brown and Myrtle Tyler; W. J., Jr. of Odessa; and Carl, Farmington, N. M. Representing his mother, Mrs. Mary Ellen Lewis, was Ernie Lewis of Sioux Falls, S. D.

Sixty attended the annual affair.

Service. The Texas A&M University System suggested two questions that can simplify the choice.

"These two questions will save you many others and the answers can give you insight into the quality of the child care center," Dr. Kitching said.

Question 1 — Tell me about your plans for the children during the first weeks.

The answer should tell you whether or not the center has developed plans for helping mothers and children separate from one another and get used to the newness in their lives.

"Asking a worried mother to leave her child among 15 or 30 others and walk away indicates the center's lack of preparation for this problem."

Dr. Kitching suggested you not accept this because "the child who cries for only a moment may cry for only a moment for the next four months — or worse, just take it and feel sad."

Child care centers and preschools can do much to help children and parents make the separation by recognizing the situation and planning positively to help the children adjust to the new routine.

"Remember, there is no one style of easing the problems of separation during the first few weeks at the center. Child care center personnel must be ready to help each child adjust individually," the specialist said.

Question 2 — How does your center change during the year?

"What you need to know is that clay can give way to water, macaroni, cellophane and wire."

"You want to hear that what's locked away now will be opened to the children as they learn to plan what they want and use it sensibly."

Dr. Kitching explained Plans should be made for the children who can only roll dough and cut fake cookies in the fall to be making murals, mobiles and maps by spring, she continued.

You should find out how the books, puzzles, records and games change as the children's mastery increases.

The center should tell you what changes they will make as the weather changes — when children can't dig in the sandbox and ride tricycles anymore.

You should ask about the first field trip — is it short and close to home.

"The answers to your two questions can tell you how the center has planned for the child as he begins and as he goes," Dr. Kitching concluded.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

MONDAY, AUGUST 12
Your birthday today: Finds you in transition toward a more diversified life style, added responsibilities and special ways of carrying them. This year, you learn to cope with obstacles you can do something about, work around those you can't. Relationships are heavy-going, deserve tenderest care. Today's natives have a natural talent for entertainment, are happy-go-lucky.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Select work on available information, requiring no cooperation. That way you carry more responsibility with less error. Great care with anything mechanical.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Financial moves are at best precarious, facts, incomplete. If you are selling, ask a stiff price. Seek advice, make requests late in day. A new contact is important.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Take another's vantage point. Let others lead, see where they head. You gain in the long run by sacrificing now for group welfare.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Check information openly and without fuss. News from distant people is indirectly pertinent to your next move. Make a strong sales pitch for what you want.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Mixed influences prevail. Success in work depends more on quality than quantity. Be conservative with money. Communications open late in the day—make notes as you go.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: The week begins heavily. Buckle down to serious effort at once; tolerate the slow pace of those with whom you share burdens. Cultivate a sense of humor.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Deal with theoretical or technical, rather than personal, matters. Don't let your impatience stir up trouble. Conserve energy, pause for rest instead of slowing down.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Anything you do is apt to result in argument. Use your head! You can manage to sidestep any issue. Evening mood is ripe for a rash move; O.K. as long as no money is involved.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: You are misunderstood all around. Partners won't go along with your schemes without considerable discussion. Marital, romantic expression calls for exceptional tact.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: A day for staying at home or nearby rather than traveling. Electrical and mechanical equipment needs care, perhaps maintenance. Locate yourself in your work, and work moderately.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Teaming up for joint purchases or other shared ventures gets you into a difficult spot. Technical matters require sound advisors rather than trying to do it all yourself.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Everybody at work is spoiling for a squabble today. Put off your own pet proposals, do what you can to keep peace. You are due for recognition, praise in later hours.

Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. George Neef, 2545 Christine, Pampa residents for 45 years, will be honored today from 2 to 4 p.m. with a 50th wedding anniversary reception in the parlor of the First Christian Church, 1633 N. Nelson. Hosting the event will be their children, Mr. and Mrs. George Neef, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Russell Neef, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Neef and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Mastin, Jr. The former Miss Irene Houmes and George H. Neef were married Aug. 30, 1924 in Chicago. All friends are invited to call at the church.

"AT WIT'S END"

By ERMA BOMBECK

I rushed out and bought Time magazine, only to discover I was not listed among the 200 hopefuls destined to bring leadership to this country. That's very disappointing to a woman who was also named Miss Cotton, Mrs. America Bunny of the Year, The Ten Most Admired Women, Mr. Blackwell's Worst Dressed Women, Mother of the Year, or a finalist in the Pillsbury bake-off.

I would love to have made it as they were listed alphabetically and it would have wedged me between Derek Bok, president of Harvard, and Christopher Bond, governor of Missouri. My husband wasn't too surprised. He said that any woman who has diapers in pre-soak when the baby is 15 years old couldn't lead a band, let alone lead others to a brighter new world.

"There's a reason," I said defensively. "I have never had time to sit down and think about things."

"Like what?"

"Deep things like morality, values, direction, commitments, Solzhenitsyn."

"What has Solzhenitsyn got to do with it?"

"I just learned how to pronounce his name and I wanted to impress you."

"So what's your point?"

"The point is, there might have been more women on the list if we were not tugged at by responsibilities and other people and were free to search ourselves for some answers."

"Okay, so why don't you sacrifice tonight's episode of Hawaii Five-O, go into the bedroom and meditate on some of today's vital problems. Take a pencil and paper and write down some of the questions that are foremost in your mind."

An hour later, I emerged and handed him my sheet of questions.

1. Why is it you can never afford a house with two bathrooms until the children are grown?

2. Why is it they can send a man to the moon and can't make a coffee that is decaffeinated?

3. How come there's never a shortage or boycott of foods I hate?

4. Will you love me when my upper arms no longer fit into knits?

5. Am I the only woman in the world who cries over the Johnson baby powder commercials?

6. Is nudity on the California beaches and sand compatible?

He read the list and folded it carefully and turned his attention back to TV.

"Maybe," I said, "the 200 leaders will pick a Miss Congeniality from the losers?"

CRASH RESCUE
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An elderly woman and her daughter were rescued from their burning house Monday by two policemen who drove their patrol car through a locked garage door.

Officers Tom Kazarian, 25, and Steve Boshard, 28, said they could not get inside the home because it had been barricaded by the women, who feared burglars.

The women, Mrs. Belle Nunan, 88, and her daughter, Genevieve Nunan, 65, were taken to a hospital suffering from smoke inhalation. The patrol car received only paint scratches.

Excercising In Water Good For Slimming Or Toning

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
 Want to build up one measurement, slim another or just perfect your figure generally? Want to do it easily and pleasantly, without perspiring, and have fun while you do it? There is no other way which is as successful and as enjoyable as doing exercises in water.

The water provides mild resistance which makes any exercise you do in it more effective than if you did the same one out of water. Today I want to give you a few. Take them whenever you go swimming even if you do not swim. This is the most luxurious way I know to indulge in figure molding!

1. Stand in water waist high. Hold a ball in both hands, arms straight and pointed forward. Turn and bend to the right and press the ball underwater. Reach forward and around to the left, making a half circle, with the ball still underwater. Then pull the ball out of the water and lift it sideward - downward to complete the circle. Continue.

2. This exercise will firm the inner thighs and hips and flatten the abdomen. Stand with your back to the wall of pool. Stretch your arms sideward and hold onto the gutter, letting your body and legs float up in front of you. Point your toes toward the sky as you separate your legs as widely as comfortable. Now point your toes down hard. Bring legs together again with toes pointing toward the sky. Continue for eight times.

3. Remain in the same position. Swing your left leg down. As you bring your leg up to the surface swing your right leg down. Continue, one leg moving down as the other moves' up, legs straight and toes pointed.

4. For upper arms, stand with water at shoulder level. Extend arms sideward below the surface of the water and circle your arms vigorously, 15 times forward and 15 times backward.

5. Stand with back toward back of pool and water just above waist level. Hold onto the gutter. Bend both knees up close to your tummy. Straighten the legs. Continue bending and straightening.

These simple exercises done at every opportunity will get you in shape or keep you in shape for fall.

Additional exercises for over-all reducing are given in the leaflet, "General Reducing Routine." For your copy, send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Josephine Lowman in care of The Register and Tribune Syndicate, Des Moines, Iowa 50304.

FASHIONETTES

By United Press International
 Qiana nylon, already a favorite in women's fashions, is expected to become the next important fiber in the men's apparel industry.

The mature woman is no longer expected to dress like Whistler's mother, in plain clothes, dark or pastel colors and sensible shoes. But she should choose styles that flatter and conceal her weak points. Choose dresses and blouses with sleeves if upper arms are either thin or flabby. Wear stand up collars or fill in V necks with a scarf for neckline problems.

Hand care begins with cleanliness. At least once daily, scrub your fingernails with a firm bristled nail brush, soap and lukewarm water. Avoid hot or cold water which reddens the skin.

For good hand care when gardening, either wear gloves or dig your nails into a cake of soap before you start so dirt won't get imbedded under them.

Designer Arnold Scaasi, in his first hat collection, has borrowed some familiar shapes: a cardinal's hat is done in wool felt with large flat brim faced in straw and a sou'wester, in navy felt with the large back dipping brim faced in straw.

Fur coats for fall and winter '74 follow the cloth coat trend to big, loose shapes, ponchos and capes.

The Russian look in coats for fall includes a princess model with trapunto collar and belt and trapunto stripes just above the elbow on long sleeves.

Water-repellent leather coats span seasons and occasions. They are proper for daytime and evening wear, dress and travel.

Travel
Wardrobe
Tips

COLLEGE STATION — On your vacation, concentrate on fun, people and places instead of dressing, changing, packing and unpacking, one clothing specialist advised.

"Plan the clothes you will need by following these basic rules," Mrs. Vivian Simmons, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System said.

—Select lightweight, easy-care clothes.

—Build your wardrobe around one or two color themes.

Select a multicolored week-end outfit, then add solid-colored pants and shorts to extend the variety.

—Coordinate shoes and purse with wardrobes for each occasion.

Don't wear new shoes on a trip when you will be sightseeing.

—Use scarves and jewelry to add more variety to your wardrobe.

Your
Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon
SUNDAY, AUGUST 11

Your birthday today: Opens a round of general expansion in most areas of personal experience, at the expense of leisure time. The goal is to keep all activities in balance. Relationships with you thrive, but don't assume individuals like each other. In maturity, today's natives tend to reject existing conditions, work out alternatives.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: You can afford to invest in home and family doings. Those eligible for your time are off on a whirl of romance. Sharing pastimes attracts more people, future happenings.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Check up on friends you haven't seen for a while, make a round of visits. Recalling old times can be pleasant, planning for the future, exciting. Enjoy yourself!

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: See what you can do to keep this Sunday quiet and uneventful. Romance is alive, needs no boosting. Travels should be brief and short-range.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Let yesterday and its pressure be past—post-mortems don't really help. Your community expects you to participate in local weekend customs.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Be prompt and graceful in your Sunday activities, then get out beyond usual limits. Introductions open to door to future cooperation.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Make this a Sunday of personal liberation, spiritual growth. Let go of long-term bad habits. Social activities thrive, particularly if you let others plan freely.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: You're in for some necessary, but worthwhile expense. Happier times are ahead; long-standing tensions ease. Sentimental journeys, romance, are favored.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Make the most of a long Sunday. Get extra rest, put time and energy into favored hobbies, solve a puzzle, dig into serious study. Attending neglected work is less urgent.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: You can talk nearly everybody into useful agreements once you fully contribute to family and community activities. Keep busy to keep happy!

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Put material concerns out of sight and mind, have fun with those you care about, perhaps outside your usual Sunday spots. Romance thrives, has a moment of promise.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Be mild and generous, seek a reasonable, simple path. Make amends where appropriate, accept the achievement of others. Share entertainment, diversions.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Start early—there are many pleasant things to do before the end of a long-paced day.

Minister has right to veto love songs

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: We live in a small town and have always belonged to the Presbyterian church. Our daughter is going to be married and wants a church wedding, so we went to our minister to discuss the wedding plans with him.

When our daughter told the minister that she wanted two special love songs sung at her wedding, he said: "I will not allow love songs to be sung in MY church!" (Get that, Abby: "HIS" church.)

Does he have the right to dictate what kind of songs will be sung at our daughter's wedding? Rush your reply, please.

DEAR UPSET: To quote from the rules of all United Presbyterian Churches in the U.S.A.: "The Christian marriage ceremony is a service of worship before God, normally conducted within the house of God. Reverence shall be expected on the part of all present, and the service shall be under the sole direction of the minister. Such music as accompanies the ceremony should direct attention to God, Who sanctifies marriage, and special care should be taken to assure that it is suitable and reverent."

Even though some ministers will bend the rules a little in order to accommodate some parishioners, not all will, so if your minister chooses to go strictly by the book, he is within his rights.

DEAR ABBY: The incident was as follows: I recently attended a lounge show. (The entertainers were friends of mine.) Since I had seen the show before, I decided to read a book and listen to the performances at the same time. (I have extraordinary powers of concentration, and am capable of doing many things at once. Frequently, I will watch TV, listen to the radio, and read.)

My friends who were performing interpreted my reading during their show as an act of rudeness. I meant no offense, but I have been severely criticized for this.

What are your thoughts?
DEAR VEGAS: I agree with your friends. Even though you may be able to read and listen at the same time (and had already seen the show), the others in the audience, and the performers, might get the impression that you were bored.

In the future, demonstrate your "extraordinary powers of concentration" at home, and give live entertainers the courtesy of your undivided attention.

DEAR ABBY: I met a man while on my vacation and we hit it off beautifully together. (I'm divorced and so is he, and we have a lot in common.)

The last time we were together, he made a remark about women who wear wigs. (He didn't like them.)

Abby, I was wearing a wig (and had worn one every time we were together), but he didn't know it.

He is coming to visit me, and I don't know whether I should let him see me without my wig or not. My wigs do a lot for me so I very seldom go without one.

"I don't want to spoil my chances with this man, but I can't fool him forever."
MY SECRET

DEAR MY: Maybe he's subtly trying to tell you that he's flipped his wig for you, and he wishes you'd flip yours back into the wig box. You'd be wise to let him see you without it. That way, if your relationship ever develops into something more serious, he can't say you deceived him.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

KARPIN
ON BRIDGE

By FRED KARPIN

A story that has been going the rounds in tournament circles this past spring is the "oldie" about the small-town expert who visits New York and finds himself in a rubber-bridge game with three of our nation's leading bridge players. When he returns home, his bridge-playing friends ask him: "What did they say about the caliber of your game?"

He answers: "They criticized me only one time. Once when I was dealing, I turned up a card accidentally. My left-hand opponent commented: 'Why, the so-and-so can't even deal!'"

Today's deal was played by a pseudo-expert. He dealt out the cards without mishap, but his play left something to be desired. He was South.

Neither side vulnerable. South deals.

NOTICE CLUB REPORTERS
The following deadlines and procedures on club news reports will be as follows: All reports must be TYPED and TRIPLE spaced and must be submitted by 12 noon Wednesday to appear in Sunday's edition.

If there are any questions, contact Bobby Combs, Women's New Editor, Pampa Daily News, 669-2525.

After winning the opening lead with his heart ace, declarer cashed the king and jack of trumps, picking up the outstanding four pieces. Then came a club to dummy's ace, and this was followed by the king of clubs. Now dummy's seven of clubs was led, East signalling violently by discarding the queen of spades. Upon winning the third club lead with his queen, West played back a spade and East cashed two 'spade tricks. Thus South went down at a contract that he should have fulfilled once West failed to lead a spade initially.

It should have been apparent to declarer that the only danger to his contract lay in West's procurement of the lead for a spade play through dummy's king. South could have prevented this from happening by not cashing the king and ace of clubs; and, instead, leading a low club at trick four and inserting dummy's seven-spot. East would have won this trick with his nine, and returned a heart, which South would have ruffed.

The ace and king of clubs would be played next, after which South would return to his hand by ruffing a heart. On South's two remaining clubs—the only ones left in the deck—two of dummy's spades would be discarded. Dummy's king of spades would now be surrendered to East's ace.

Upon regaining the lead, South would ruff his remaining spade. Played in the recommended fashion, South's only losers would have been a spade and a club.

Rumors have been widespread, but untrue, that Warren Hasse will not be doing the play-by-play for West Texas State football games this fall.

Putt Powell of Amarillo asked in his morning column Friday, "Is the West Texas State Buffalo Football Network going to lose Warren Hasse?"

The answer to Putt's question is, according to Hasse, "No, it's not true. I don't know where it (the rumor) started."

What about WT basketball? "I don't know yet. I have no idea. Right now we're in the process of scheduling the football games," said Hasse, who will be the "voice of the Harvesters" during the upcoming school year.

The second annual Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Coaches and Media Day was held last Tuesday in Hereford. 3-AAAA and 4-AAAA coaches and media were invited, but not one coach from the north district showed up.

CC sports committee chairman Tom Simon of Hereford was upset that the 3-AAAA mentors ignored the special day, which included a golf tournament for coaches and press.

One 4-AAAA coach was also miffed because nobody from up here went down. "They're all home working out," he said.

Tuesday night has been designated "Casanova Night" at the Amarillo Giants El Paso Diablos base all game at 7:30 p.m. in Memorial Stadium.

All males will be admitted free if accompanied by a paying female. There will also be a contest to see which man escorts the most ladies. He will be crowned "Casanova" and receive a $100 sports suit. Gift certificates will be awarded for second and third places. A separate contest will be held for those playboys under 14-years-old.

The Harvester Booster Club will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the high school building to kick off the sales of Booster Club memberships, which, at $2.00 apiece, are a buck cheaper than last year.

The public is encouraged to attend the meeting, which will include a discussion of season football ticket sales.

Booster Club officers for the 1974-75 school year are Jewett Scarbrough, president; Luther Robinson, vice-president; and Mrs. Johnny Quarles, secretary-treasurer.

The Pampa Outlaws will take on the Gibson's Discount softball team at 2 p.m. today in Optimist Park. The Outlaws are strong favorites since fastpitch softball is Gibson's forte and the teams will play hardball.

There is no admission charge to any of the Outlaws' games.

Buck Francis, whose column "Bucking the Line" was a familiar part of the Pampa News sports pages from 1952 to '55, was in Pampa Friday "passing through going to see Texas" down in Palo Duro Canyon.

Francis really wasn't "passing through" on his way to the musical since he resides in Corpus Christi. But, according to Francis, the temptation to stop in the city he hadn't seen in 19 years was too strong to ignore.

"I took Hasse's place," said the Corpus Christi Caller-Times sports writer for the past 15 years. "I worked at the Daily Spokesman starting in June, 1952. In November, 1952, I moved over here (Daily News). I heard rumors the Daily Spokesman was fixing to go under. It went bankrupt."

"I used to argue with Putt Powell. We took shots at each other in our columns."

Frank Bain, Pampa News reporter and noted Askaska outdoorsman, follows the W.E. Fields plan of staying healthy — he doesn't drink water.

When I told Bain I didn't believe it, he immediately asked me for a Bible.

Come to think of it, I've never seen Bain use the drinking fountains here at the News.

The last time Bain drank water was in an Italian restaurant in Kansas five years ago. He says he couldn't tell if the water was because the drink was in a plastic Coke glass, the kind you can't see through. Thinking the drink was something else and not bothering to look inside the glass, Bain took a large swig.

"It was kind of revolting," said Bain. "You can't go spitting it out on the carpet. I had to swallow it."

Bain attributes his good health to the fact he hasn't drunk water in five years. "I've never had a health problem. Look at all these sick people running around. Just ask them how much water they drink."

TEE-OFF TID-BITS

By Hart Warren

Ladies, it's your turn. After two successful tournaments thus far in this season's schedule, it's time to turn the spotlight on the girls.

Next Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 17-18, are the days chosen to crown the new ladies club champion, which is the most coveted honor to be held in our association.

A long line of gals aspire to dethrone Ava Warren, this year's defending champion. Among those is Eva Kitchens, who is always tough in competition. Marge Gipson is never to be overlooked with her blazing putter. And Sherril Grady and Betty Ellis, who always add to the competitive spirit of our tournament, are among top contenders for this year's title.

Tee-off is at 9 a.m. Saturday and Sunday with a $4.00 entry fee. Entry deadline is Aug. 15 at 6 p.m. so enter early. Four places will be awarded per flight with a special flight for 34-35 handicappers, who only play nine holes. Awards for putting, chipping and long drive will also be awarded.

The young whippersnappers have their annual tournament slated for this Tuesday, Aug. 13. Tee time is 9 a.m. with a $2.00 entry fee. The juniors will compete in four divisions, according to handicap. Entry fee must be paid before each contestant may compete. For more information, contact Priscilla Simpson at 665-5162.

Another tournament a little later in August is the Top O' Texas, which is running very short of Pampa entries as it reaches its 210-player deadline. Don't be left out, enter now before it is too late.

A GOOD RULE TO KNOW
Rule 19 — Striking at Ball. If a player strikes the ball when making a stroke, he shall count the stroke and add a penalty stroke making two strokes in all. See you in the rough!

Oakland Trips Falcons
BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Rookies Larry Lawrence and Harold Hart figured in four touchdowns Saturday to lead the Oakland Raiders to a 20-16 preseason win over the Atlanta Falcons before a crowd of 34,319.

Hart, a running back from Texas Southern, scored the first two Raider touchdowns on runs of 20 and 11 yards. Both scores were set up by passes from first-string quarterback Ken Stabler. Stabler played only the first quarter during which he completed nine of 11 for 111 yards.

Trevino Has PGA Lead

CLEMMONS, N.C. (UPI) — Lee Trevino ran in crucial puts on five of the last six greens Saturday, shot a two-under-par 68 and took a one stroke lead after the third round of the PGA championship.

Trevino, sometimes serious and sometimes clowning—and visibly happy when a pretty blonde rushed out of the gallery to embrace him near the sixth tee, took the lead at the final green when he sank a birdie putt and Bobby Cole followed moments later with a bogey.

A half-dozen other players were within three strokes of Trevino's lead, assuring an interesting chase on Sunday for the $45,000 first prize in this, the final of the year's four major golf championships.

Hubert Green, the No. 2 moneywinner on this year's U.S. tour, and Frank Beard, trying to snap a three-year winless slump, were next in line at one-under-par 209. Green had a 73 and Beard a 69 that included two eagles.

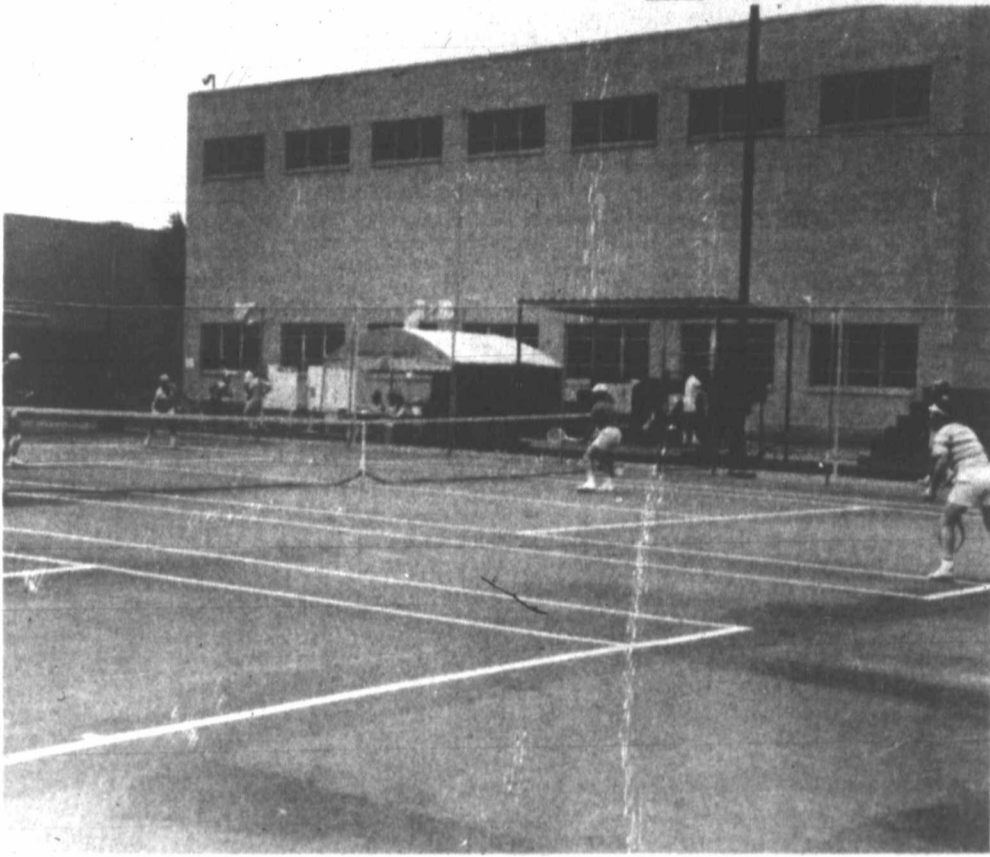

Masters and British Open champion Gary Player failed to make a single birdie all day, shot 73, and headed a group of four players at 210, even par.

The others at that figure were John Schlee, the astrology buff who shared the first round lead and led by himself after the second round, with a 75 Saturday; Dave Hill, with 67, and North Carolina native Leonard Thompson whose round of even-par 70 included only five par holes.

On what at first appeared might be an easy scoring day—it did not rain here Saturday for the first time in a week and conditions seemed ideal—the leaders fought their way around trouble most of the day.

As many as four men were tied for the lead as late as the 13th hole, where Trevino, Cole, Schlee and Green all were at two under par.

That was the hole where Trevino started his "can't miss" putting.

Bryant, Robinson Gain Spots In Today's Finals

Top-seeded David Bryant of Amarillo defeated third-seeded Dan Novack, also of Amarillo, 6-1, 6-2, in the semifinals, giving the favorite right to play either Jon Brotherton of Wichita Falls or John Michie of Pampa in what should be a classy Pampa Open final match sometime this afternoon.

Brotherton, twice AAAA Texas state champion, and Michie are scheduled to play at 10 a.m. today in the only Men's Singles semifinal match. The winner will play Bryant, who had a tough time with Novack, winning 5-7, 6-4.

Michie beat Dan Pendleton of Amarillo, 6-1, 6-0, in the quarterfinals while Brotherton, number two seed, stopped Mike Albright of Amarillo, 6-2, 6-2.

Top-seeded Lynn Robinson of Pampa had an easy time Saturday in Women's Singles by beating Kim King of Borger, 6-1, 7-6, and Martha Maynard of Canyon, 6-0, 6-0, in the semifinals. Mrs. Robinson will play Cassandra Mangold of Pampa, who drew a bye in the first round and then beat Susie Stowers of Pampa, 6-3, 6-4, to earn her spot in the final.

In Men's Doubles, Phil Nichol of Amarillo and Albright, the third-seeded team, will play the winner of the Bryant-Rick Sasser and Novack-Ron Boyd for the championship today. Nichol and Albright beat Brotherton and Jerry Mize of Borger, 6-0, 6-1, in the semifinals.

Other champions so far include Rusty Harris-Larry Beavers of Amarillo in Boy's 18 Doubles, Donna Mize and Kay Clark of Borger in Girl's 18 Doubles, Rusty Harris in Boy's 16 Singles, Kelly Snook of Amarillo in Boy's 14 Singles.

Kotara of Pampa in Boy's 12 Singles, Steve Herrmann-Kelly Snook of Amarillo in Boy's 14 Doubles, Kim Clark of Borger in Girl's 12 Singles, Lesley Lewis of Amarillo in Girl's 14 Singles and Kendall Clark-Patty Jack of Borger in Girl's 14 Doubles.

Matches today include Father-Son, Girl's 16 Singles, Mixed Doubles, Men's 45 Doubles, Men's 45 Singles, Men's 35 Doubles, Women's 35 Singles and Men's 35 Singles.

In the latter event, Jim Hughes of Pampa will take on Bud Satterwhite of Amarillo in what is likely to be one of the best matches in the tournament.

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Harmon Killebrew and Larry Hise each drove in two runs and Bert Blyleven pitched a five-hitter as the Minnesota Twins defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 5-1, Saturday.

Rod Carew, who had three hits and scored two runs, raised his major league leading batting average to .368.

Blyleven, who walked one and struck out eight, while allowing no earned runs, broke a personal three-game losing streak to bring his record to 11-13.

Reds 5, Mets 1
NEW YORK (UPI) — Pete Rose's bases-loaded single in the eighth inning Saturday provided the Cincinnati Reds with a 5-3 victory over the New York Mets.

Losing pitcher was Ray Sadecki, 4-6, who relieved Tom Seaver in the eighth inning with the score tied 3-3, got the leadoff batter to fly out. Cesar Geronimo was safe on Felix Millan's error, and went to third on Dave Concepcion's single. When Bud Harrelson bobbled the outfield relay, Concepcion went to second. Sadecki then intentionally walked pinch-hitter Phil Gagliano to load the bases.

Crenshaw Unhappy With His Game
CLEMMONS, N.C. (UPI) — Ben Crenshaw had them all fooled. All except one that is.

He made it look so easy last year and everybody just knew he would be the next superstar after coming out of the University of Texas with three national collegiate golf championships.

And nothing that Ben Crenshaw did last year dimmed anyone's opinion of him.

Crenshaw won his first tournament after earning his tournament player's card. He very nearly won another.

People called him the "new Nicklaus" or the "new Palmer."

If Ben Crenshaw had been a little less of a realist, he would have figured right then and there that he had it

CROWDS SMALL Shut Meetings Gaining Ground

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Negotiations in the 41-day-old pro football strike ground into the weekend Saturday with progress hopefully being made at a series of closed door meetings.

Federal mediator W.J. Usery met throughout the day with the full bargaining teams for the NFL owners' Management Council and the NFL Players Association. It was the fifth straight day of prolonged talks.

Meanwhile, the impact of the strike was being felt by the owners at the first full schedule of preseason games. Only 14,768 — the smallest in stadium history — turned up to see the Washington-Houston game in the nation's capital Friday night. The attendance at Baltimore, where the Colts played Detroit, totaled only 6,792.

The two stadiums have a combined capacity of more than 115,000.

Colts General Manager Joe Thomas, aware of diminishing interest for exhibition games in Baltimore, scheduled two there in an effort to hypo the gate. The strike, however, ruined Thomas' big plans for a preseason money draw in the Maryland city.

After watching the Redskins get trounced by Houston, 48-3, Washington coach George Allen grimly commented: "I wouldn't object now if the strike got over quickly."

At the labor department, the bargaining teams broke down into two subcommittees and went behind closed doors in a joint effort to resolve some of their differences.

There has been some movement in some areas," said Usery, "but nobody has committed themselves yet."

Management spokesman Terry Bledsoe said owners weren't very happy about the diminutive attendance figures for Friday's games, which he said should pickup when some experienced hands come into camp.

There were seven exhibitions scheduled for Saturday night, with striking players planning to picked some or all of them.

Perry Receives 6th Straight Loss As Indians Lose, 5-3, To Chicago

United Press International
Gaylord Perry says he's feeling "great."

Orlando Cepeda says he doesn't "feel real good yet." But you'd think it was just the opposite the way they're going now.

Perry, who hasn't won a game since July 3, suffered his sixth straight loss Friday night when the Indians lost to the Chicago White Sox, 5-3.

Cepeda, back in the majors for just five games after being released by Boston in spring training, drove in five runs to pace the Kansas City Royals to a 13-3 rout of the Milwaukee Brewers.

"I felt great tonight," Perry said after he took a 2-0 lead into the sixth when he was tagged for four runs, including back-to-back homers by Pat Kelly and Jorge Orta. He also gave up a homer to Dick Allen in the eighth inning.

"I made some good pitches and they hit them. After watching some movies last Monday of my pitching, I found a few things I was doing wrong and I felt real comfortable tonight. I felt I threw just one bad pitch all evening and that's when Carlos May hit a double in the sixth."

Cepeda, who's 7-for-23 with 10 RBIs in five games, joined the Royals last Tuesday and is being paid for just the last two months of the year.

"I've been lucky," he said. "I don't feel real good yet. I hadn't played in 10 days before I started here." Cepeda drove in his five runs with a pair of doubles and Amos Otis added a three-run triple to the Royals' attack.

In the other AL games, Minnesota downed Baltimore, 6-2; Texas beat Detroit, 4-3, in 14 innings; Boston downed Oakland, 6-2, and California downed New York, 7-1.

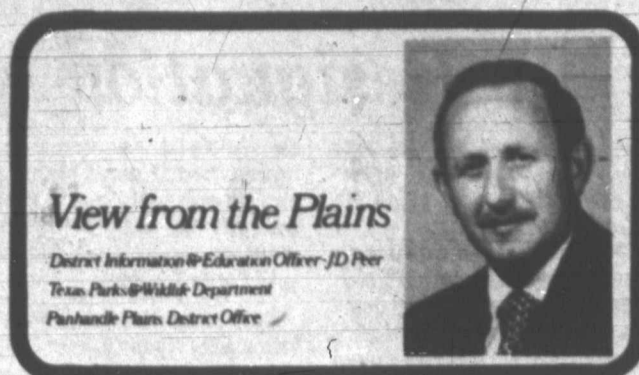

In the National League, San Francisco blanked Chicago, 3-0; Atlanta nipped Philadelphia, 3-2, in 11 innings; New York beat Cincinnati, 4-1; Pittsburgh topped San Diego, 7-3; St. Louis beat Los Angeles, 5-3, and Montreal edged Houston, 4-3.

Twins 6, Orioles 2
Steve Brye doubled in the first and second innings to highlight a pair of two-run rallies as Minnesota downed Baltimore. Bill Hands got the win and Dave McNally took the loss.

Rangers 4, Tigers 3
Mike Hargrove singled in a 14th inning run to give Texas the win over Detroit. Texas got 17 walks in the game. 11 off reliever John Hiller.

Red Sox 6, A's 2
Bill Lee pitched a nine-hitter for his 13th victory as Boston edged Oakland. Juan Beniquez' two-run double triggered a four-run second inning. Ken Holtzman suffered the loss.

Angels 7, Yanks 1
Bobby Valentine knocked in three runs with a pair of singles and Frank Tanana won his first game as a starter since May 25 as California downed New York. The Angels jumped on George Medich for five runs in the first three innings. Tanana pitched a seven-hitter for the victory.

LUBBOCK — Hunting, fishing and nearly every other outdoor activity calls for physical exercise or exertion — sometimes, vigorous exertion. We wouldn't want it any other way.

But nobody, however good their health or skill and experience as a sportsman, can lead a more or less sedentary life during most of the year and then go to the hills, follow game through the brush or up a ridge, crawl on his belly, ride a horse or carry a pack, without being penalized.

Every year, sportsmen die of heart attacks or are injured enough to cut their hunt short because of their failure to get into shape and have a medical checkup.

Nobody can get into shape overnight. But, you can, within a reasonable length of time, develop the strength and stamina to enjoy the outdoor trip and be ready for that emergency that you might have to preform.

Now is the time to start a program that follows certain principles of exercise. There should be no sudden call on your out-of-shape body for a burst of tremendous effort. Start out with a few mild exercises such as walking, jogging or calisthenics.

A continued easy work out will not improve your stamina very much. You will have to push yourself harder than you work on an average day. This slight overload will increase your stamina and it will be handled by your body.

To go beyond your present physical fitness, you must progress by increasing the strenuous exercise until you arrive at the fitness level you want to achieve.

A regular workout is important. A once-a-week workout is of little value. Most individuals can attain their goal of physical fitness by working out at least three times a week. Of course, five or six times would be ideal.

If you are going to travel by foot in the hills, make sure you break-in your new boots or that backpack as will. No one is going far with blisters on his feet or an unbalanced pack.

Remember, you will enjoy your outdoor trip only as much as your body will let you.

The better shape you attain before the trip, the better you will have a chance to see or smell or feel the out-of-doors.

Jim Northrup Lifts Expos Over Astros

United Press International
Jim Northrup, who had severe doubts about going to his new team, wasted no time in making friends.

The 35-year-old outfielder, acquired by Montreal two days ago from the Detroit Tigers, for whom he had played nine years, at first balked about going to the Expos. But after talking it over with his family, he decided to join them and arrived at Houston in time for Friday night's game.

As far as Montreal was concerned, Northrup didn't arrive a moment too soon. "The Grey Fox," as he was known in Detroit, delivered a solo homer to tie the score in the seventh inning then singled and scored the go-ahead run in the ninth to lead the Expos to a 4-3 victory over the Astros.

"I wanted to do well. You hate to go out with a new club and stink," Northrup said. "I've expected to be traded the last two years but it was a surprise at the time they told me."

"I was told (of the trade) in the locker room and I hadn't even had time to talk with my wife. I wasn't sure she wanted to go to Canada and I didn't want to spend six weeks away from home."

In other NL games, St. Louis defeated Los Angeles, 5-3; New York topped Cincinnati, 4-1; Pittsburgh whipped San Diego, 7-3.

Atlanta nipped Philadelphia, 3-2, in 11 innings, and San Francisco blanked Chicago, 3-0.

Chicago downed Cleveland, 5-3; Minnesota trimmed Baltimore, 6-2; Kansas City routed Milwaukee, 13-3; Texas edged Detroit, 4-3, in 14 innings; Boston beat Oakland, 6-2, and California whipped New York, 7-1, in American League action.

Cardinals 5, Dodgers 3
Ted Simmons celebrated his 25th birthday by hitting a twoout grand slam homer in the sixth inning which enabled the Cardinals to defeat the Dodgers in a battle of division leaders. Simmons' homer, his 15th, handed Geoff Zahn his second loss in four decisions and helped Alan Foster to his sixth win in 13 decisions. The triumph also enabled the Cardinals to increase their NL East Division lead to 1 1/2 games over Philadelphia.

Mets 4, Reds 1
Don Hahn's three-run homer and the combined four-hit pitching of Bob Apodaca and Tug McGraw helped the Mets defeat the Reds and prevented second-place Cincinnati from gaining on Los Angeles in the NL West. Fred Norman suffered his 11th loss in 21 decisions. Johnny Bench accounted for the Reds' only run with his 23rd homer in the ninth.

Greenbelt's Northern Pike A Topic Of Controversy

AUSTIN — Few freshwater fish have inspired more controversy than the northern pike.

Opinions of their value range from considering them useless to valuable predators in lakes and rivers.

Texas Park and Wildlife Department biologists placed 150,000 northern pike in Greenbelt Lake in 1967.

Greenbelt Lake in Donley County is typical of smaller Panhandle impoundments with populations of stunted white crappie and black bullheads.

The idea behind this stocking is an attempt at a "biological control" of overpopulations of less-desirable game fish such as stunted crappie and rough fish like gizzard shad. An added trophy fish for Texas anglers might be developed also.

In the comparatively warmer climes of the Texas Panhandle, the pike grew rapidly during the five years of the department study.

When compared with similarly aged fish from northern U.S. waters, the Texas pike far outgrew their northern cousins during the first few years of life.

After one year of growth in Greenbelt, a sample of fish was analyzed by department biologists Bill Rutledge and John Prentice. One of the larger fish taken of about the same age were only 12 inches long.

In the colder waters of Fort Randall, South Dakota, and Clear Lake, Iowa, fish of about the same age were only 12 inches long.

Up at Lake of the Woods, Minnesota, a pike after one year of growth was only eight inches in length.

Much the same comparison continued for the five years of sampling: a five-year-old Greenbelt fish averaged almost 35 inches in length; a Fort Randall fish, 32 inches; a Clear Lake pike, 28 inches; and a Minnesota fish, 22 inches.

Of course, as the fish increases in length, it grows heavier.

The current Texas State Fish Record northern pike taken by rod and reel weighed 13 pounds, four ounces and was 37 inches long. It was taken from Greenbelt in 1973.

Last May, TP&WD biologists netted a 38-inch 17 1/2-pounder there.

Rutledge and Prentice's work indicates that pike do not promise to be good biological controls for so-called "hard-rayed" fish such as sunfish but aggressively prey on "soft-rayed" fish such as gizzard shad.

At the same time, Rutledge and Prentice think the northern pike shows promise as a "trophy" fish for Texas anglers.

"Specific lake conditions are required to provide self-sustaining populations of the fish," states their report.

"The very restrictive reproduction requirements on the northern pike are probably the most important factors governing the success of this introduced species."

"Candidate lakes must have a rise in water level in early January and February that inundate dense stands of grasses and sedges. This increase must remain stable for at least one month."

During the first two years of the Parks and Wildlife Department's work with pike on Greenbelt, such water level conditions did come about and reproduction occurred.

Since then, biologists have found pike of such sizes that they must have come from natural reproduction.

During 1974, the department stocked some 32,000 pike in 12 Texas lakes: Bellwood, Cleburne State Park Lake, Eastland, Inks, Jacksboro, Marlin City, McCarty, Raven, Ratcliff, Sunshine, Town Lake and Tucker.

Another 5,000 pike-pickering hybrids were stocked in Bounton Lake in Jasper County.

Again we'd like to outline our fall league schedule and give you the information we have in regard to the meeting times, when the league starts and the amount of members on each team. Also we have openings on all leagues and do want you to contact us for information and to join up.

Monday mornings for six weeks I will be giving free instruction classes. We provide a nursery, shoes, balls and refreshments compliments of the house. These sessions will start at 9:30 a.m. Sept. 9th. Monday at 6:30 p.m. is the Men's Petroleum League with a meeting here at the lanes Aug. 12 (which is tomorrow night) and as the season begins the following Monday. At 8:45 p.m. Mondays we have the Ladies Petroleum - Industrial League. This league is a four-member team and needs teams right away. The ladies will have a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 19 and the league starts Aug. 26.

Tuesday morning is Harvester Women's League. It's a five member team league. They will meet Aug. 27 at 9 a.m. and will begin their league on Sept. 3. Tuesday evenings at 6:30 is the Hits & Mrs. League which is a two couple team league. Their meeting is at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 20. Also don't forget that we are building a league of couples at 8:45 p.m. and we'd like to see you get in this one, too. The Celanese League bowls, also.

DOTS

Wednesday afternoon is the Women's Hi - Lo League, which will meet on Aug. 21 at 1 p.m. and league starts the following Wednesday. Wednesday evening at 6:30 is the Harvester Men's League, consisting of five-member teams, and we would like to have all you guys to show interest in this league as well as the others. Later in the evening at 8:45 we have a Men's Trio League and a Ladies Scratch Trio League.

Thursday mornings we will have the Sunrise league for ladies, a four-member team. They will meet Aug. 29th at 9 a.m. and bowl Sept 5 at 9 p.m. At 6:15 a.m. we have the Ladies Lone Star league, consisting of five members on each team. They will hold a meeting August 29 at Citizen's Bank at 7:30 p.m. and will begin their league at 6:15 p.m. Sept. 5. Then at 8:45 p.m. the men take to the lanes with the Caprock League. It also has a five-member team roster.

This brings us to the mixed league Friday evenings. For further details call us here at the lanes, we'd really like to see a good turnout in this league. Finally, we don't want to leave out our youngsters and young people. They will bowl on Saturdays. The Bantam league will bowl in the mornings and the Junior - Senior league will bowl in the afternoons.

Give these leagues serious consideration and come join us for fun, exercise and good relaxation.

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW
Brought To You By B.F. Derrman

Here's one I bet you didn't know about golf. During the first few hundred years of golf, no one played the game with a golf tee. The golf tee wasn't invented until 1920. And it wasn't invented by a golf pro, but rather by a dentist in South Orange, N.J., William Lowell. He patented the first golf tee in 1920 and even then it took a few years till it was accepted by all golfers.

Anybody who ever had trouble getting a golf ball into the hole might be interested in knowing just how wide a golf hole is. It may seem smaller when you're putting, but the exact width is 4 1/4 inches.

Here's an oddity...Only once in big league baseball history has a team finished first one year, then lost the next. That strange fate befell the Philadelphia A's of 1914-15. And what makes their tumble even more unbelievable is this...In 1914, when the A's won the pennant they finished 8 1/2 games ahead. In 1915 they not only landed in last place, but they finished 58 1/2 games behind!

I bet you didn't know that people have been asking about MICHELIN 'X' for 25 years. They say a friend sent them. Come in and find out why... let us introduce you to MICHELIN 'X'... the leader in steel belt radiats.
