A QUICK READ OF THE NEWS

Don't let pager nab ya

Planning to stick up the corner store? Make sure your pager isn't left behind in the process.

Police say a woman with a gun took about $150 from the K&W Video Store in Whitemire, S.C., but left a book bag behind with a pager inside.

To solve the crime, deputies simply used telephone records to trace the pager to 19-year-old Ernest Jennings III, a Newberry County sheriff's investigator said.

The pager led police to Jennings' home, where they spotted the getaway car. He and 22-year-old Kimberly McGowan were arrested and face conspiracy and armed robbery charges.

Calves rated very kissable

"They had no taste. They were clean as a whistle," Mary Heath exclaimed after puckering up for 6-week-old Holstein calves named Rise and Shine.

The principal at Washington Elementary School in Mount Vernon, Wash., fulfilled her end of the bargain after promising her students that if they reached their goal of 60 percent school participation in the student fund-raising drive, she would kiss a cow.

The kids met their goal and raised $11,000 by selling Christmas gift wrap and chocolates over two weeks. The money will go to theater and other student programs.

The kindness of a stranger

Chris Kempf's first fishing trip to Lake Erie last month seemed like a disaster until he hooked some human kindness.

About eight miles off South Bass Island, the 26-year-old Norwalk, Ohio, man lost the leather wallet his wife, Jennifer, gave him on their wedding day.

Then, earlier this month, an envelope arrived from Ontario. In an enclosed letter, retiree Andy Cincurak told Kempf he found the wallet near his cottage and dried out the contents, including family pictures and a cross Kempf's mother had given him.

Cincurak said he was glad to return the wallet; Kempf said he wants to buy Cincurak dinner.

Muleshoe coasts past Cooper into playoffs

Bi-district game scheduled for Friday at Dick Bivins Stadium against Perryton Rangers

By KEVIN WILSON
Journal Sports Writer

The Mules scored early — again. The Mules' defense stopped the opponent — again. The Mules are in the playoffs — again.

Muleshoe's 41-0 victory over Lubbock-Cooper, coupled with Friona's 34-27 win over Littlefield, gives the Mules the Division I (large school) spot representing District 2-3A in the playoffs. They face the Perryton Rangers at 5 p.m. Friday at Amarillo's Dick Bivins Stadium.

Along with Friona (5-0 in district play) and Muleshoe, Shallowater is also in the playoffs. After losing their first two district games, the Mustangs won their final three (starting with a 24-15 victory over Littlefield) to secure the final spot.

The Mules' road to the playoffs got an early boost when Mitch Mason's interception set up a first and 10 at the Pirate 16. Three plays later, Danny Ramirez scored on a 3-yard run.

Later in the half, the Mules took advantage of another Cooper turnover. Jeff Brunns intercepted a pass near the end of the first and returned it to the Mule 40.

The Mules finished off another quick drive on John McClanahan's 12-yard reception. A missed extra point kept the score 13-0.

Midway through the second quarter, the Mules struck again. Ramirez scored his second touchdown, an 11-yard run that put Muleshoe up 20-0.

After the Pirates went nowhere on the ensuing drive, it looked as if the Mules would run out the final 1:29. The theory was soon dispelled when Darrell Lewis fumbled the ball away on the Mule 14.

Parents toiling for their children at Friday night's junior class turkey dinner are (from left) Sadie Lewis, Connie Alanis, Linda Flores and Joe Flores. The event was the second fund-raising turkey meal in as many days, following the Rebekahs' annual feed on Thursday, but some who patronized both events said they were just getting warmed up for the holiday turkey-and-dressing season.

Food Pantry needs to be in holiday plans

With the approach of the holiday season, the needy tend to be front and center in more people's minds. That's where the Muleshoe Food Pantry comes in.

Begun in September 1998 under the auspices of the Bailey County Ministerial Alliance, the pantry was started to help senior citizens with their food needs. Now it fills in food gaps for the entire community.

Most of the donations for the pantry come from the Muleshoe community. It does, however, purchase food from the Lubbock Food Bank — but this year that facility has been strapped.

The Food Pantry is open every Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. to better accommodate those who work and are in school.

New aid helps farmers survive '99

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

LUBBOCK — Further analysis of the effects of the recently implemented Emergency/Disaster Assistance Program shows agriculture getting a much-needed short-term boost.

The relief package, delivered mainly in the form of a supplemental 1999 Ag Market Transition Payment, will significantly improve the economic situation of most farmers.

Many producers were projected to have difficulty achieving a positive cash flow in 1999 as a result of the ongoing slump in commodity prices.

The research, done by economists with the Texas A&M University Agricultural and Food Policy Center, shows that the relief package will indeed help producers get through the 1999 crop year but does nothing to alleviate the long-term pressure on agriculture's weakened economic situation.

The center's analysis also shows that, despite short-term economic benefits for producers, farmers and ranchers will still be hard-pressed to show profits on their operations through 2002 unless the commodity price situation drastically improves.

The center analysis concludes that unless a significant reversal in commodity prices ensues additional aid will be needed for agriculture.

No new Step 3 quotas expected

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

CHICAGO — An examination of the prices that determine cotton import quotas under USDA's Step 3 cotton competitiveness provision indicates that there will be no new quotas announced in the next four weeks.

Under new regulations that took effect upon enactment of the fiscal 2000 agricultural spending bill, a Step 3 import quota is triggered when the spread between the average weekly price for the cheapest U.S. cotton in northern Europe and the Cotlook A index is above 1.25 cents per pound for four consecutive weeks.

Previously, the Step 3 trigger was 3.00c and the period was 10 consecutive weeks. The average weekly northern European price, calculated through Friday, is 55.40c.

An adjustment to that value, using last week's 8.6c payment under the USDA

Step 2 cotton user provision, is required by law.

The difference between the adjusted value and the weekly A index through Friday, at 46.95c, is less than the 1.25c trigger, indicating that the quotas should stop for now.

Even with no new quotas in the next four weeks, plenty of opportunities still exist for merchants and mills to import cotton. A total of 26 Step 3 quotas continue to be open. With each quota allowing about 197,000 bales of cotton to enter the US, total quotas amount to about 5 million bales.

The latest quota, announced Oct. 28, took effect Friday and will expire May 1.

Very little foreign cotton actually entered the United States through these quotas. Less than 100,000 bales are estimated to have been brought in using Step 3.

King sunflower?

Although the Bailey County sunflower crop may look big this year, County Agent Curtis Preston says it doesn't reflect any permanent change. "For one thing, sunflowers take a lot out of the soil," he said. A spokeswoman for the federal Farm Service Agency said Friday that the county grew 4,639.7 acres of sunflowers this year.

two incomplete passes, a 6-yard loss and an interception by T.J. Hutto.

Early in the second half, Lewis fumbled the ball on the Mule 18 and Cooper had another chance to chip at the lead.

However, the Mules defense was in the way, just as it has been all season, to stop the Pirates on a fourth and goal from the 4.

"I knew they would (make the stops)," Mules head coach David Wood said. "Our defense is second to none."

A final look at Cooper's statistics would say about the same thing. The Pirates had minus 4 yards rushing and managed only six first downs against the Mules. Oddly enough, however, they had a few legitimate chances at a touchdown.

"We just didn't capitalize," Pirates coach John Windham said. "All the credit goes to Muleshoe. They stopped us when they had to."

After the goal-line stand, the Mules took it upon themselves to nail down a win and a playoff spot. Barrett and Lewis each had two runs of more than 20 yards on a six-play, 96-yard drive. The Ryan Hodge extra point put the Mules up 27-0 with the last quarter looming.

The fourth quarter was an opportunity to rest the starters for the playoffs, but the scoring continued. Backup quarterback T-Bird Cox scored on two touchdown runs in the fourth while Cooper could manage only 1 yard in the final stanza.

The Mules end district play with a 3-2 record, and impressive numbers to go with it. In their five games, the Mules outscored their opponents 155-41 and lost their two games by a combined 13 points.

"They're a good football team," Windham said. "I can guarantee you they're better than their district record. They could easily be district champs."

Dirk Hoving and the Russian Attack on Goliad

One day when I was just a small lad growing up at 125 N. Goliad Street in Amarillo, Texas, Dirk Hoving scared the bejabbers out of me. (Until that moment, I'd never even seen a bejabber. Maybe you've never laid eyes on one, either. You don't want to, let me tell you.)

Hmm. Until recently, I hadn't thought of that guy in years.

Dirk Hoving. Now there's a name that means business. Especially if it's attached to a teenaged bully sort of with the Devil. Either way, they were not to be trifled with.

Which might explain to some extent why my little brother and I believed him when Dirk and his companions (I don't remember if he had companions, but this is the kind of brainstorm teenage boys usually have in pairs) roared to a brief stop in front of our house, stopped my little brother and me in our innocent tracks as we were riding bikes or trikes on our sloping driveway, and informed us that a Russian attack had been launched against these United States in general and Goliad Street in particular. He led us to believe that we didn't have time enough even to run inside the house but that if we'd crawl way in under the juniper bushes that bracketed our driveway, maybe the Russians wouldn't see us, and we might have some slim hope of survival.

I suppose we thought Dirk was headed to the Front. All we knew for sure was that he was headed away. Jim and I ended up way under a big juniper waiting for Soviet bombers to appear. I don't know how long we waited, but it seemed like hours, and, later, it seemed like days before I quit itching. (Have you tried crawling around under junipers recently?)

I suppose we were waiting for Dirk to stop by and give the "All Clear." It never came. Neither did he. But neither did the Russians or their bombers.

Ah, worrying about a Russian attack on Goliad Street was world-class dumb. But I hate to think how much time I've wasted in the years since then worrying about stuff which, from Heaven's point of view, must be even dumber. Worry. Anxiety. It's dumb and dumber.

Faith. Now that's where wisdom comes in. On Goliad Street or anywhere else.

guy. Especially if you've barely broken into double digits age-wise yourself. Especially if the teenaged Hoving lives just three doors down the street from you.

I barely remember Dirk. His Teenaged Highness, ever lowering himself to speak a word to me, which may have made the words he spoke on that fateful day all the scarier.

In his defense (which is crazy—a guy named Dirk Hoving doesn't need any defense), he may not have been that much of a bully. He may have been just a pretty normal teenage boy which meant then, just like it probably does now, that he had a higher opinion than the facts would support regarding his own intelligence, invincibility, immortality, and skill behind the wheel of an automobile. Maybe his parents didn't share those views, but I will testify, the pre-teen boys on his block were pretty sure that teenage guys like Dirk were either one notch below deity or in very close contact

Treadway sentenced to death

The jury in the capital murder trial of Micheal Treadway, accused of killing Texico businessman "Red" Prather, decided Friday that the 20-year-old should be sentenced to death.

Treadway changed his plea to guilty during the trial after the court visited the site of the slaying, Bordertown Playorama, just west of the railroad tracks at the state line in Texico.

The Roosevelt County jury still had to decide whether Treadway, of Farwell, would face the death penalty or life in prison.

District Judge Bill Boneum set Treadway's execution for Jan. 27, but appeals are automatic in death-penalty cases.

Recall election set for Dec. 14

A special election has been scheduled for Dec. 14 so Clovis voters can decide whether to recall City Commissioner John Schuller, who represents the Colonial Park area of northeast Clovis.

The election is the result of a petition drive by developer Bobby Newman, who sought recall elections for both Schuller and Commissioner Eldred Noble. The petition drive against Noble did not gather the required number of signatures.

Petitioners needed 394 valid signatures in order to force the election in Schuller's case, and City Clerk Don Clifton certified 404 of the petition signatures.

City Commissioner Steve Muscato said the Schuller petition drive also was falling short until, just before the petition deadline, Schuller voted in favor of building a water park in a minority neighborhood of southwest Clovis.

Commissioners who supported the project said it was a symbol of the city's commitment to the west side.

The Clovis News Journal reported Nov. 4 that responses to its Community Comment line have run 50-1 against locating the water park where it is proposed.

Marek was selected for his noteworthy accomplishments in irrigation water management.

Marek has distinguished himself as a research engineer and provides additional technical support for projects of other scientists in addition to his own, according to Dr. John Sweeten, Amarillo Experiment Station resident research director.

If you have diabetes, what you eat is especially important

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the first in a series of columns on diabetes written by Bailey County Extension Agent Gail Gladden.)

If you have diabetes, you want to take the best possible care of yourself to stay healthy and avoid problems.

It is very important to follow a healthy meal plan, meaning two things — the right kind of food and the right amount of food.

Having diabetes means your blood sugar can go too high. Food turns into blood sugar. Some foods can make the blood sugar go very high. To stay healthy, everyone needs a meal plan that includes different types of food. This way the body can get what it needs.

What kinds, or groups of foods, should you eat every day? Milk products; vegetables and fruits; breads and starches; meats, fish, poultry, dried beans, cheese; fats, oils and margarine, but in very small amounts. Do not eat fried foods.

Remember, eating too much of any food will make you gain weight and make your blood sugar go too high. Sweets cause the blood sugar to go up very fast. Why is being overweight or gaining weight so dangerous? Blood sugar can go out of control when you are overweight. When you are at the correct weight, or are losing weight, blood sugars are easier to manage. Blood sugar comes from the food we eat, and we all need a certain amount of sugar in the blood. If you take insulin or diabetes pills, the blood sugar can drop too low if you do not eat on time, or if you skip a meal. In general, stay away from fats, oils and fried foods: They are high in calories and can make you gain weight. Fats also are linked to heart disease. Stay away from sweets. And stay away from big helpings.

Remember, you are in charge of what you eat. A healthy diet will help you feel good. If you are overweight, it is very important that you eat less and exercise more. Talk to a dietician or doctor about a special diet and exercise plan for you. If you have high blood pressure, you and your doctor can lower your blood pressure and keep it down. Your doctor will tell you some things you can do to help. You also can help your blood pressure by keeping your blood sugar down.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

HOW THE LORD TOOK CARE OF ISRAEL IN THE WILDERNESS...
AS MOSES HAD EXPLAINED TO THE ISRAELITES THE LORD WOULD FEED THEM WITH FLESH TO EAT IN THE EVENING--SO, IN THE MORNING, WOULD HE FEED THEM WITH BREAD....

AND, SURE ENOUGH, IN THE LIGHT OF MORNING, THE GROUND CAN BE SEEN TO BE COVERED WITH LITTLE, ROUND, OBJECTS...

...AS THE PEOPLE GATHER THE FOOD, MOSES INSTRUCTS THEM THAT THIS SHALL BE THEIR BREAD FOR A LONG TIME TO COME, AND THAT THEY MUST GATHER IT EVERY MORNING, ENOUGH FOR EACH PERSON TO LAST OUT THE DAY! AND NOW THE PEOPLE NAME THIS FOOD "MANNA".

...SO ONCE AGAIN ALL THE PEOPLE HAVE BEEN CARED FOR BY THE LORD IN THE TRYING DAYS OF THE WILDERNESS. ALL OF WHICH HAS BEEN RECORDED IN EXODUS 16.

Farmer will be the one with the tan line

Host: Welcome to "What's My Line," where our panel tries to guess the occupation of our guest.

Let me introduce our panelists. First, Rob, a columnist who is so conservative he thinks Khadafi is a Presbyterian. Second, Muffy, who is President Clinton's personal trainer and third, Spot, a retired border collie.

Now our guest, Mei, who is wearing a Batman suit to disguise his tan line.

(Applause) Let us begin.

Rob: Would you say your profession is demanding?

A) It's like being lashed to an oar on a Viking slave ship and pointed toward Newfoundland.

Muffy: Do you accept soft money?

A) It's all soft money. It floats right out of your hands.

Spot: Do you think dogs should be allowed to ride in the cab?

A) Only when Thanksgiving falls on Friday.

Rob: In your work, is your most productive time spent

BAXTER BLACK

ON THE EDGE OF COMMON SENSE

standing or sitting?

A) Actually, it's on my knees. Praying or securing a loan.

Muffy: Have you ever spent the night in the Lincoln bedroom?

A) No, but I spent the night in Lincoln at the Motel Six.

Rob: Do you produce a product?

A) Yes, you have it in your mouth. (Audience notes that Rob is munching on a ham and cheese sandwich.)

Muffy: Ooh! Good question Rob! So (to guest) you make mercury fillings!

A) What?

Muffy: Are you an environmentalist?

A) What do you mean?

Muffy: Do you belong to the Sierra Club and recycle?

A) Not exactly. But I'm responsible for the environment you see out your car window.

Spot: Rob, can I have a bite?

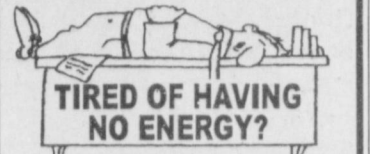

Rob: I think I know your occupation. You are either a convicted felon on a chain gang, a fan of Chicago's American League baseball team or a farmer.

Host: That's right Rob! How did you know?

Rob: He's wearing white socks. To: 1) hide the ankle cuffs or 2) display his loyalty or 3) make a fashion statement.

Host: Stand up, Mel, and show us your tan line! No, Mel! The one under your farmer's cap!

Muffy: I didn't know farmers wore bikini briefs!

CCC nursing graduates to be honored

The Clovis Community College nursing program will hold a celebration honoring its 20th century alumni beginning at 1:30 p.m. Dec. 8.

The event is scheduled in conjunction with a pinning ceremony for currently enrolled students, and will be held in the college's Health and Fitness Center.

Since the nursing program does not maintain locator information on its graduates, invitations to the event are being spread by word-of-mouth.

The first nursing class graduated in 1973, and since that time the program has had more than 1,900 admissions to either its licensed practical nurse or ADN programs.

Graduates — or those desiring more information about the celebration — should contact Ione Wood at (505) 769-4976.
