Greek Cypriots Storm U.S. Embassy Offices

NICOSIA (UPI) — Thousands of stone-throwing Greek Cypriots stormed the U.S. Embassy Saturday, ransacking offices, smashing windows, and setting a wing of the building afire before U.S. Marine guards drove them off with tear gas. The demonstrators — estimated at more than 3,000 — ripped down the American flag during their rampage and replaced it with the Greek flag. They also attacked British diplomatic offices in protest against Britain's decision to allow Turkish Cypriot refugees to leave the island. They set fire to numerous American and British-owned cars. A hostile crowd of demonstrators also gathered outside the British Embassy in Athens, where they smashed windows, burned a diplomat's car and scuffled briefly with police.

The State Department in Washington sent a stiff note to the Cyprus government expressing grave concern. "We have made it clear that we expect the Cypriot government to provide full protection for the embassy and all American personnel in Cyprus," a spokesman said. Officials said the fires were brought under control after burning through two floors in the embassy, there were no American casualties and the embassy was still in operation. There was no immediate estimate of damage.

Greek Cypriots fear that Turkish Cypriots who go to Turkey will end up occupying Greek Cypriot lands, homes and businesses in northern Cyprus taken by Turkish forces during the fighting last summer. The airlift of Turkish Cypriots from the British base at Episkopi began Saturday morning. Three plane loads were flown to Adana in southern Turkey, where a large crowd and a brass band met them at the airport. The refugees wept and knelt to kiss the soil when they emerged from the Turkish Airlines jet.

In Nicosia, the students first marched on the British High Commission and consular offices. They threw books, documents and furniture out the windows and set them on fire. From there they went to the U.S. Embassy, broke through the barbed wire perimeter fence guarded by troops and police, threw stones and bricks at the building and set fire to two embassy automobiles. They broke down a gate leading to the embassy itself and rushed into the building. National guard troops, police and the Marines threw tear gas canisters into the crowd and broke it up. The staff inside the embassy wore gas masks.

A mailer number of demonstrators returned later but they, too, were dispersed. The crowd did not get into the central part of the embassy, but the economic section was ransacked. Furniture, books and papers were thrown into the street. U.N. sources said armored personnel carriers from the United Nations peace-keeping force were used to evacuate some of the embassy staff.

Chou Re-Elected China's Premier

HONG KONG (UPI) — China's National People's Congress, meeting for the first time in 10 years, has re-elected ailing Chou En-lai as premier and named a new defense minister to succeed the late Lin Biao, once the chosen heir to Chairman Mao Tse-tung. It was announced Saturday. The official New China News Agency disclosed that the Monday-to-Friday session of the congress, China's highest legislative body, filled its entire slate of 29 ministers for the first time since the tumultuous "Cultural Revolution." The 2,864 deputies to the session, billed as the "Congress of Victory," also adopted a revised constitution and a resolution on the report of the work of the government presented by Chou.

The 76-year-old premier, a major force in developing better American-Chinese relations over the past three years, has been confined to hospital for long spells since last April suffering from an undisclosed ailment. Named defense minister was Yeh Chien-ying, 76, one of China's former marshals before ranks were abolished in the army. He succeeds Lin Biao, who was designated Mao's heir in 1969 but died in a plane crash in Mongolia in September, 1971, allegedly while fleeing the country after an abortive coup. Yeh is believed to have been doing Lin's job since then, but was not officially named to the post until now. Mao apparently did not attend the congress, the fourth since the Communists took over the mainland in 1949.

Teng Hsiao-ping, once purged as a "capitalist roader," was named a vice premier. Peking also announced he has made a vice chairman of the Communist party, touching off speculation he might succeed Chou. NCNA said did not say what changes were made in constitution. The refugees wept and

AT INPUT SESSION

Senior Citizens' Needs Studied

By ALETHA DAVIS
An input session to list priority needs by the elderly in the community was conducted Saturday when city officials, Altrusans and representatives of the Salvation Army met with area coordinators to consider projects to aid the aged. Mike McQueen, of the Panhandle Regional Planning Office on Aging moderated the meeting which was devoted to small-group workshops of senior citizens. Group leaders and recorders brought suggestions from the roundtables back into open meeting and established a priority list. Mrs. Marie Bonfield, Amarillo, assisted McQueen. Approximately 75 senior citizens attended the session, which was designed to determine what is needed by senior citizens and what these over-55 citizens desire in areas of problem situations. Mack Wofford, City Manager, represented Pampa government. A rough outline showed transportation to be the weakest point in the lives of the elderly here. Lack of daily drop-in facilities was also pointed out. McQueen said information gleaned from the meeting Saturday would be coordinated and suggestions on solutions and proposed programs would be presented in about two weeks. The Altrusa Club, Salvation Army and City of

Pampa acted as joint sponsors for the planning activity. Altrusans, sponsors of a senior citizen program on a weekly basis, asked the city commission last week to consider aiding in continuing and expanding a program for seniors. A daily center with a community support is a goal of the Altrusa International group here. Similar meetings have been conducted in the area and others are scheduled for the 28-county area of the PRPC. Gray County Commissioner Ted Simmons endorsed plans for a senior program in McLean during a preceding meeting. McQueen said he could only act as a coordinator and follow through with suggestions guided by the wants and needs of senior citizens here. He emphasized his position was not to tell Pampans what was needed in the community, but to coordinate needs which were outlined by the seniors themselves. Programs which operate on a daily basis have been established in several area towns, including Borger and Amarillo. The school district, county and city, working together, maintain the Senior Opportunity Center in Borger. McQueen said "Meals-On-Wheels" was another area which could be explored. In context with the present program of lack of daily center facility in Pampa is a plan by the Salvation Army to conduct a weekly noon meal which will be followed by recreational or craft projects. The meeting, set-up for the coming year, will be available to senior citizens each Monday, according to the captain, Bart Deggs. Other areas of concern to seniors, according to information gathered from those attending the meeting Saturday, was high costs of medications, utilities and other daily necessities which have been boosted by inflation. A fixed income, according to seniors, makes purchase of necessities and payment of utilities an almost insurmountable job. Possibilities of obtaining cuts in medication costs, and exploring possibilities of special rates for retirees are other topics for investigation resulting from the gathering. McQueen said the probability of success with any senior program appeared to be great, pointing out the success in cities of similar size.

IN DALLAS

Judge Overturns Districting Plans

DALLAS (UPI) — The City Council must be about drawing up a city districting plan in the next three weeks that will satisfy U.S. District Judge Eldon Mahon who has ruled the 11-member, at-large system unconstitutional. Mahon, the second federal district judge to hear the case, ruled Friday the council would have to come up with a new plan by Feb. 6. He said the new plan would have to be more representative of the city's minorities than the present system. "Testimony has shown that blacks have run in every City Council election since 1959 with the exception of one race," Mahon said. "In that time only two blacks have been elected and each of these two won only after being endorsed and supported by the dominant slating group known as the CCA." The Citizens Charter Association, despite recent liberalization efforts that allowed the election of two black and one Mexican-American councilmembers, is dominated by the city's older white business leaders. "Often a black candidate can muster the plurality or majority of that community, but not be elected at large — unless endorsed by the slating groups," he said. "This limits their access to the political system."

I would dilute the black vote," said attorney Jim Johnson. "We'll appeal if we have to." Most council members were quick to approve Mahon's decision, though their proposals ranged from 10-1 to 7-4. There was also the problem of where the district lines would be drawn. "I just hope they don't find a way to gerrymander this one," said Al Lipscomb, a black leader who helped file the original challenge.

McQueen said the probability of success with any senior program appeared to be great, pointing out the success in cities of similar size.

FOR SENIORS

S.A. To Conduct Weekly Luncheon

All kids over 55 years of age have been invited to attend the first weekly Monday luncheon at the Salvation Army, 701 S. Cuyler. "We want to know who you are, what you are interested in, and list your talents which could be of community service," Capt. Bart Deggs said in outlining the S.A. proposed program for a weekly meeting of senior citizens. Senior tomorrow will be given an opportunity to offer or request services which can be coordinated by formation of the weekly meeting. Transportation will be provided by the First Methodist Church bus. Seniors in need of transportation should call Capt. Deggs by 10:30 a.m. at 669-9921. The session will begin at 11 a.m. Following the noon meal, recreation facilities will be available and seniors will decide what areas of hobbies or crafts could be successfully pursued. "There are so many senior citizens with so much to offer," the captain continued. "We'd like to know who they are, list their skills and channel them to the right sources of services." The coordinating meeting will not be just a search for talent, however. Plenty of interesting ideas will be exchanged to firm up tentative plans designed by the S.A. to provide a weekly meal and program for senior citizens, he said. Cost of the meal will be on a sliding scale, according to Capt. Deggs. Based on the scale, the meal will be served to everyone who desires to take part. Plans are being formulated to transport able residents of nursing centers to the meetings. Capt. Deggs urged all seniors to make plans to attend the meeting.

Area Mayors Proclaim

Week For Resuscitation

By DR. C. F. SPARGER
Mayor R. D. Wilkerson of Pampa, the mayors of Lefors and McLean, John Archer and Sam A. Haynes, respectively, along with Judge Don E. Cain for Gray County, have proclaimed this to be cardiopulmonary resuscitation week for their respective cities and for Gray County. The public attention on the need for all citizens beyond the sixth grade to know how to give cardiopulmonary resuscitation and to encourage them to take CPR training. Why teach CPR to all the citizens beyond the sixth grade? At first blush most people will say, physicians, dentists, nurses and certainly firemen should learn it. But why me. The answer is a very simple one. In the event of clinical death, for example, from electric shock when the victim will not be breathing, is unconscious and has no pulse, there is only a precious few minutes for someone to act decisively to prevent biological or final death. Usually there is not time to get anyone else, let alone a physician or nurse or even a fireman. The person who finds the victim must start basic CPR immediately — must start mouth to mouth breathing and cardiac (closed chest) massage immediately if the victim is to have a chance to see tomorrow. Remember, the victim may be you or someone very dear to you. You can see why the mayors of the cities mentioned as well as those from Gray County per se are interested in directing the attention of the public to this need. Not only is it the recommendation of the American Heart Association, but the board of the Gray County Division of the American Heart Association, Texas Affiliate, per recommendation of its president, early established as one of its primary goals, the teaching of all citizens of Gray County how to give CPR.

SWCD Gets Watershed Report

Board members of the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District heard a report concerning the status of the McClellan Creek Watershed Project when they convened for the first meeting of the year. Billy B. Davis, Pampa, told the board the future looks hopeful for the project, which could go to vote for funding during this session of Congress. The work plan for watershed protection and flood prevention for the area was sent to Washington for approval and funding in 1968. The project comprises an area of approximately 348 square miles and involves portions of Carson, Gray and Donley Counties. The work plan proposed installing, in a five-year period, needed land treatment measures and 13 floodwater retarding structures. Operation and maintenance of structural measures would be carried out by sponsoring local organizations which include the Gray County SWCD, McClellan Creek SWCD, Donley County SWCD, Gray County Commissioners Court, and Carson County Commissioners Court. The board studied a report of Soil Conservation Service projects for December. According to Perry Gruhkey, District Conservations, several SCS conservation presentations had been given in Pampa schools. Conservation practices completed in December included three ponds, six water storage facilities, three wells, 5740 feet of fencing, 11 acres pasture planting, and 4430 feet underground irrigation pipe lines. Gruhkey told the board four new conservation plans were prepared on 5745 acres, and six conservation plans were prepared on 20,995 acres. Thirty cooperators applied a conservation practice for the first time this fiscal year, he concluded. With one-half the fiscal year completed, 52 conservation plans on 64,000 acres have been developed or revised, 1000 contracts made providing technical assistance, 175 cooperators have applied a conservation practice, and six Great Plains contracts have been developed, involving $80,000. Curtis Schaffer, chairman of the board, reviewed the purpose of the district, working plan. "The district is made up of the, working together to insure conservation of assistance provided by the Soil Conservation District. This is our district, it is non-profit, we pay no dues," he added. In further outlining Schaffer said, "In twenty years that I have been active in District, I've quit work a lot of times to attend a meeting, and I can't say I ever lost money doing it. The benefits I've gained through knowledge of conservation far outweighs any lost working hours." The board approved SCS proposed programs through the Great Plains Conservation plan of conservation for M&W Farms, southwest of Pampa, involving 160 acres earmarked for leveling, pipe and irrigation system designed by Rodney Hyatt, technician. Other projects included G.M. Walls and Sons, Grandview area, set for land leveling and underground pipe irrigation system. Leveling and underground pipe for 80 acres submitted by R.F. Gordon was approved as a project for Kenneth Williams, northwest of Lefors. Reseeding on 1280 acres is advised in this project. Mike Darsey, south of Lefors, also submitted application for conservation programs, including reseeded and planting grazing areas. The board named a Lefors High School student, Richard Campbell, as winner of the district essay award. Campbell will receive a plaque during a March awards meeting.

Electric Engraving Pen Aids Crime Prevention

An electric engraving pen is the only tool you need to participate in the Pampa Police Department's Operation Identification Program. Operation Identification is a program designed to prevent burglaries by marking property. To deter burglars, valuables are permanently engraved with a traceable number — drivers license numbers are preferable — and the owner displays warning decals outside his home or business. George Wallace, Acting Chief of Police said, "The engraver is very easy and safe to use. You follow a few basic steps of operation. It works from any standard 110 volt electrical outlet. Steps for its use are simple." Before operating the machine, be sure hands are dry and work area is well lighted, clear of debris and steady. Plug your engraver into any standard 110 volt electrical outlet. Quickly get the feel of the engraver by writing your name a few times on a piece of scrap material. There's no need to press down on the engraver — just move your hand slowly and easily — let the vibrating point do the work. The knob on the end of the engraver controls the depth of the cut and, therefore, the width of the line being marked. Turning the knob counter clockwise will lengthen the stroke and widen the mark. The use of the engraver to mark all items with the owner's Texas drivers license number makes stolen property harder to "fence" and, thus, less likely to be stolen. The identification program also helps law enforcement agencies nationwide return recovered property to its rightful owner. "The more property that gets marked here in Pampa, the fewer burglaries and thefts we are going to have," Crime Prevention Officer Wallace said. Engravers can be checked out free from the police department and both banks.

Food and Population

When the food supply increases the animal population does likewise

In some areas of the world, the human population acts similarly. This is especially true in these areas of the world where the quality of life and esteem for the individual are low. Since World War II and before, this country, Canada, Australia and Argentina have produced food surpluses. On the other hand, countries such as India, the Soviet Union, and mainland China have suffered food shortages. Such shortages have been tempered somewhat by "Free World" production. Part of the surplus production was distributed through trade and part through giveaways.

The giveaways were widely regarded as an act of meritorious mercy in that the hungry were fed. To the American farmer, the disposable of the surplus had a short-term benefit, for the extra supply no longer worked to depress the domestic market. The taxpayer also could claim a short-term advantage in that he no longer had to pay for the government-subsidized storage space.

The American surplus of course, was created by a variety of government programs which had the effect of paying the farmer more than the free market would pay. The over-production, having drugged the domestic market, was shipped abroad as gifts. The net, long-term result was that the exports of Free-World food production to the have-not areas triggered a population explosion there and financial deficits here.

Now that farm subsidies and foreign aid are generally recognized as naughty words in the politicians' vocabulary, a committee of so-called businessmen — the Committee for Economic Development (CED) — wishes to start the tired cycle all over again. The group is calling for the creation of food surpluses which would be stored at the taxpayer's expense, which would depress the market price to farmers, which would bring an outcry for exports to the have-nots, which would bring on more giveaways, which pep up certain nations for another population explosion.

Thus, the consequence of humanitarianism is more suffering than otherwise would occur.

The most economic storage space for future food supply is the soil in which it grows.

Question Box

QUESTION: The News is right regarding Social Security. Now the question is: How, in your opinion, might Social Security be salvaged?

ANSWER: Asking us to propose a method of salvage of the bankrupt system is a bit ironic. It is almost as if one were to ask the police department to save a gang of bank robbers from paying the penalty for their crimes. However, there are many victims of the Social Security who deserve some consideration, and there no doubt are the people Mr. H. seeks to help.

Since Social Security is bankrupt, if it were a private corporation or other private business, the normal suggestion would be to close out the business, dividing the assets among the creditors, based on the amounts to probably less than 10 per cent of the liabilities, this would be a severe hardship on the many oldsters who have been led to believe they have established a guaranteed income for the rest of their lives and who need this to survive.

A possible solution would have to start with making the system voluntary, and with all future payments to be based on amounts of contributions, and with an insurance policy. Those presently receiving payments no doubt would have to take reduced payments, based on the amounts contributed, and those who have paid nothing would receive nothing from Social Security. If the politicians determine that some folks should be paid though they had not previously contributed, then it would be up to the politicians to put those persons on the welfare dole and not take their payments from the Social Security fund contributed by others.

Admittedly this does nothing about the welfare mess in which politicians and bureaucrats take from some to give to others. We continue to hold that welfare is a matter of charity which is given voluntarily. However, that is a different matter from Social Security which was established originally as a sort of governmental insurance program, supposedly to be run on an actuarial basis. We would hope that adopting such a program would be the start of getting political government out of many activities not proper functions of government. Welfare is just one of those improper activities.

CASH ON THE BARREL HEAD

WRANGLE OVER REFORMS

Labor Pulling Out of DNC?

By ROBERTS ALLEN
WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 — For peace and unity, spouting Democratic National Chairman Strauss, it's one disruptive walkout threat after another.

Still recovering from the narrowly averted walkout at last month's "mini-convention" by quota-demanding blacks, women libbers and assorted radicals, Strauss is now confronted by an even more serious threat — to himself and the party.

A number of influential labor leaders are set to quit as members of the national committee.

Still undecided is whether they do that separately or as a group.

Strongly favoring the exodus is AFL-CIO president George Meany and Alexander Barkan, long-time head of COPE — powerful political arm of the federation.

Among those contemplating getting out are Joseph Molony, Steelworkers vice president; William Marshall, head of the Michigan AFL-CIO; Frank Raferty, top Painters official; David Roe, Minnesota AFL-CIO; John Schmitt, Wisconsin AFL-CIO; Glenn Watts, Communications Workers; Victor Bussie, Louisiana AFL-CIO; Frank King, Ohio AFL-CIO; Floyd Smith, Machinists official; George Hardy, Service Employees; Michael Johnson, COPE, leader in Pennsylvania.

Significantly indicative of the laborites' attitude are the following:

Johnson (member of the national committee since 1973): "Our being in the Democratic party, as officers is proving to be an anomaly. Our hands are constantly being tied by actions and decisions over which we have no control. We are finding ourselves foreclosed from doing what we think best for our interests."

Marshall: "Being a member of the national committee is increasingly causing embarrassment to the AFL-CIO. I am not putting up with that. It's obvious there is much to be said for labor not being directly involved in the internal affairs of a political party."

A close lieutenant of Barkan voice still another ground for departing: "Since we've been on the national committee we've been at loggerheads with other union people over political issues that have caused bad blood between us. Our primary concern is labor problems and not political controversies. What's been happening is that the politicians have been causing rifts between us laborites. We must put an end to that — and the sooner the better."

Who's Responsible? Frantically trying to avert this solar plexus walkout, chairman Strauss is pleading, appealing and pulling every wire he can.

The wheeling-dealing Texan's difficulty is that in the unionites' eyes he is the principal culprit, the underlying cause of their grievances and repeated frustrations.

"As they see it, Strauss's consuming yen for "harmony" and "amity" has resulted in his constantly yielding to the radicals and activists, and thus opening the way for their recapture of party control and a repetition of the 1972 McGovernite presidential debacle.

The way things are headed, a top COPE official told this column, "it's bound to be the same miserable story all over again. All Strauss is doing in his constant straining for "peace" is playing the radicals' game. You can't knock down to them, as he does, without losing. And that's what's been happening."

Cited as a "shattering" illustration was Strauss's last-minute concession to the militants to dissuade them from walking out at the "mini-convention."

"First he tells us," the laborite related irately, "that the compromise we accepted before the meeting couldn't be changed; that the slightest modification would disrupt it. Then when the leftists put the heat on him, Strauss suddenly accepts a lot of revisions, and we're right back where we started — once again in the quota system. The great reform on which he was made national chairman is down the drain."

So far, Strauss has been brusquely cold-shouldered in his efforts to confer with Meany and Barkan. The two labor chiefs have flatly refused to see him.

Why bother? one Meany intimate said. "Strauss talks a promising line, and that's the end of it. Time and again he has demonstrated that when the blacks, radicals and other activists pressure him, he invariably caves in — and we're left in the lurch. The "peace" and "unity" he spouts so much is clearly not ours. We can do without him, whether he can do without us time will tell."

Fending Libbers There is no "peace" and "harmony" among the three leading women libbers — Rep. Bella Abzug, N.Y.; New York Lt. Gov. Mary Anne Krupsak, and Baltimore Councilwoman Barbara Mikulski, sweeping defeated for the U.S. Senate, last year by already busy electioneering for another try next year.

While all are stridently militant woman libbers, there is no love lost among them personally.

At the Democratic "mini-convention," Abzug and Mikulski clashed repeatedly over leadership of the women participants — with Abzug coming out second best in the scramble for publicity and headlines.

As a highly vocal member of Congress, Ms. Abzug apparently thought she had pre-eminence. Ms. Mikulski was wholly unimpressed. She orates just as loud and belligerently as the bellows-lunged New York legislator, and is just as militant — possibly even more so.

So the two ambitious ladies wrangled and jangled — to the amusement of other delegates.

Ms. Abzug and Ms. Krupsak also have crossed swords over rival aspirations. Both want to be recognized as top woman libber in New York State, and lose no opportunity to push that aim.

Politicos are watching this backstage tug-of-war with curiosity — particularly as Ms. Krupsak is credited with harboring senatorial ambitions — against Conservative Republican James Buckley.

With Democrats in control of a number of state legislatures, plans are underway to gerrymander congressional districts in behalf of party candidates.

High on the list is Rep. Peter Rodino, D-N.J., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

Rearview Mirror

By TEX DEWEESE Editor of the News

PRESIDENT Ford reported to you the other day that the natives are restless — "upset" by the economy.

That would seem to be a bit of understatement. The President told us on Monday night that he is proposing a 12 per cent rebate on our April 15 income taxes.

Then he said he is coming up with conservation and energy proposals that would add ten cents a gallon to the cost of gasoline.

In other words, you'll have some income tax money returned and then pay it back in small "takes" via the gasoline tax route.

Out here in the boon docks where the automobile is the only means of transportation it is difficult to cut down on the amount of gasoline used to get to and from work.

Car pools are suggested to save gasoline. It is not always possible to find someone who has exactly the same schedule you have. Most people we know already have eliminated unnecessary travel and joy-riding.

ANYWAY, THANKS for giving back some of the income tax money, but don't get the idea, Jerry, that paying a couple of bucks more on a tank of gasoline will enable us to conserve. About the only way it would work out here would be through inability to dig up the extra $2, become grounded and have to walk to the job. There are no city buses in Pampa.

The President said he was also forced to tell the people in his State of the Union message Wednesday that "the state of the union is not good." You can say that again — the state of the union is not good. Fact of the matter is — the state of the union is bad.

But, we're all going to get in there and pitch. If the Wonderful Wizards of Washington take the President's suggestion and are nice enough to give us back some of the bread the IRS takes away, certainly we should be nice enough to give it back to them via the ten-cents-a-gallon route.

SECRETARY OF Agriculture Earl Butz said in Amarillo the other night he wants to continue with President Ford as long as he can be useful to him.

That puts a crimp in the rumor that Butz was planning to retire and Pampa's ex-congressman Bob Price possibly could be in line as his replacement.

Butz indicated he has no intention of stepping down on his own accord. "I want to be a dynamic elder — never a senior citizen," he said.

That brings to mind the same type of philosophy on life held by a highly respected member of the medical profession in Pampa.

We are referring to Dr. R.M. Bellamy out at the Pampa Clinic on N. Hobart. He never advises an elderly patient — or anyone else for that matter — to go into retirement as long as he can use his talents and be of service to his fellow man.

Retiring while still in good health and in possession of active capabilities, Dr. Bellamy contends, is one of the best ways to shorten one's life span.

Persons in good health who retire or are forced to retire by company rules, the doctor believes, are inclined to become inactive, lead a dull life, and suffer biological deterioration.

It is difficult to find sound reasoning to debate with the good doctor on the merits of non-retirement of active persons whose capabilities and talents qualify them for continued service and productivity. He is one of the best examples of the life philosophy he espouses.

SIX MEMBERS of the Tri-State Golf Association's executive committee were in town Wednesday and Thursday planning details for next summer's July 21-25 annual tournament out at the Pampa Country Club.

Included in the group of planners were Seibert Worley, mayor of Shamrock, and president of the association; J.R. Brown of Amarillo, who has been secretary of the group since 1960; Roy Allen, the tournament chairman from Oklahoma City; board members Jack Hall, Oklahoma City, and Mark Heath and Wiley Reynolds, both of Pampa.

Association president Worley said while most of the time was spent in the various phases of tournament planning, he and the out-of-town committeemen wanted again to express their appreciation for the hospitality shown the senior golfers in the past four years, the tournament has been held in Pampa.

Dear Abby

This photographer took more than her picture

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I met a man who said he was a top photographer for a famous magazine. He asked me to pose for him, saying I would get $100 for every picture. I agreed, and he came over on Sunday with his camera.

I posed with nothing on but a Santa Claus hat and beard. He also took a lot of pictures of me naked in the shower with the water running. We went outside, and he shot pictures of me picking oranges off a tree. Then we drove to the beach and he got some more shots of me on the beach and in the water. It took the whole day.

About halfway through, he ran out of film and didn't have his wallet, so I advanced him $20 for more film. Later we got hungry, so he borrowed $10 from me to pay for eats.

He promised he'd call me after the pictures were developed, but I haven't heard from him. I don't know how to get in touch with him. I want my $30 back but I'm afraid to go to the police because I said I was 21 and I'm only 17, and I don't want to get into trouble for being under age and posing like that. Thanks for any help you can give me.

G. IN LONG BEACH

DEAR G.: My guess is that the photographer is a phony. You could write to the magazine he claimed to work for, but don't be surprised if they've never heard of him. I can't help you get your $30 back, but I have some valuable advice for you: DON'T pose for any more strangers or you could lose a lot more than $30!

DEAR ABBY: I am a very attractive widower, having lost my wife two years ago.

My problem? I have a small fortune stuck in the stock market, and I don't have to tell you what's happened to the market.

How do I go about finding a charming middle-aged widow who could perhaps offset my losses with her gains?

TOOK A BEATING

DEAR TOOK: You appear to be looking for a "trade-off," not a wife. Too bad you didn't give me your address so I could tip off all the charming, middle-aged, well-to-do widows in your area.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I go dancing quite often with several other couples. We all exchanges dances except this one man, who dances only the first dance with his wife — then he sits. He never asks any of the other ladies to dance.

Meanwhile, the wife of this non-dancing man (I'll call her Vera) is asked to dance by all the other husbands as she is very pretty and a good dancer. So while Vera is dancing, one of the other wives has to sit it out.

I think that since all the husbands know that Vera's husband never asks any other woman to dance, they should not ask Vera to dance. After all, if one woman has to be sitting out, shouldn't it be Vera, since it's her husband who is sitting out?

What would you offer as a solution to this problem?

PART-TIME SIT-OUT

DEAR PART: It appears that the men are happy, but their wives aren't. Why not chuck the old tradition that says the woman must wait for the gentleman to ask her to dance? YOU do the asking — and every woman for herself!

Influenza Deaths Near Epidemic Levels

ATLANTA (UPI) — The National Center for Disease Control says deaths resulting from influenza outbreaks across the nation have risen substantially above normal expectations, crossing the "epidemic threshold" for the first time in two years.

The number of deaths last week were more than 200 higher than the CDC had projected in the 121 major U.S. cities from which the center gathers statistics.

The CDC said influenza outbreaks have spread throughout most of the United States and for the first time since the winter of 1972-73, flu deaths increased substantially above the expected levels.

Normally about 531 deaths are expected from pneumonia and influenza during the second week of January. But for the second week of January this year, the number jumped to 754, an increase of 223.

The CDC said earlier most of the influenza was of the A-type, with the specific virus identified as the Port Chalmers variety.

The Port Chalmers influenza virus, so labeled when it was first identified in the Australian city by that name, is different from previous A-type viruses and requires a special vaccine for protection.

Dr. Lawrence Corey, epidemiologist with the CDC, said measurements of influenza-like illness by hospital emergency room visits, private physician reports and school absenteeism indicate that localized outbreaks of flu are occurring in the Midwestern and Eastern Seaboard of the United States.

British To Meet With IRA Group

BELFAST (UPI) — Britain has pledged to release all its political prisoners in Northern Ireland if the outlawed Irish Republican Army ends its campaign of violence, a political leader said Saturday.

The announcement came after government officials agreed to meet with officers of Sinn Fein, the IRA's political wing, to try to head off a renewal of the bomb-and-bullet campaign to drive the British out of Ulster.

Gerry Fitt, head of the Social Democratic and Labor party, said he was authorized by Northern Ireland Secretary Merlyn Rees to disclose that "if there is a sustained ceasefire the gates of Long Kesh prison will be opened and internees freed and not in batches of fives or fifties."

The pledge appeared to meet one of the IRA's conditions for resuming a 25-day ceasefire that was called off Friday.

The other demands were withdrawal of British troops to barracks and the central issue—a British declaration of intent to leave Northern Ireland.

Britain currently holds some 500 men without trial, most of them in Long Kesh, near Belfast.

Two Sinn Fein negotiators Saturday left Dublin for the Northern Ireland border to confer with Rees' aides in the first official contacts between the British government and the IRA.

The meeting was set up by a group of four Protestant clergymen who acted as intermediaries in arranging the IRA's Christmas truce, which started Dec. 22.

A spokesman for the mediators said he was confident the meeting could produce an open-ended ceasefire.

The IRA's resumption of a full-scale bombing and shooting campaign in hopes of progress towards an agreement with Britain.

Indian Women, Children Taken From Monastery

GRESHAM, Wis. (UPI) — Indian women and children inside the besieged Alexian Brothers abbey near here were evacuated Saturday by National Guardsmen while negotiations continued to end the 18-day occupation.

Col. Hugh Simonson, commander of the troops, said he thought a settlement was "very close, you bet. It's just a matter of getting these things together (the programs) so I'm just as optimistic as I was yesterday."

Simpson discounted statements from an Indian outside the abbey, Royal Warrington, that the National Guard was preparing an assault against the 25 to 30 Indians remaining in the building.

"All of this, of course, is totally unfounded, totally ridiculous," Simpson said.

"We have no plans for storming the abbey. We have no plan for gassing the abbey."

Society," were not named. Simonson said he thought the language of agreement is what is holding up a settlement — "understanding what each other means."

The Indians seized the 64-room mansion, which has been vacant since 1968, New Year's Day and demanded the Alexians give it to them for use as an Indian health care center. They claimed it was on land taken from the Menominees.

Simpson said that Mike Sturdevant, "general" of the warrior society, had said repeatedly that nobody outside the novitiate speaks for him.

Social Security Q's & A's

(Have you a question about social security? Address it to Howard L. Weatherly, Branch Manager, Social Security Administration, 1541 N. Hobart, Pampa, Texas 79065. You will receive an answer in this column or by mail.)

BY H. L. WEATHERLY
Q I received welfare payments until January, 1974 when social security started the Supplemental Security Income Program. Before social security took over my case worker would come to my house every year or I would have to go to the welfare office. They would ask me some questions to see if I continued to be eligible to receive payments. Will Social Security have a similar review?

A Yes. In Social Security this process is called a redetermination.

Q What is involved in a redetermination?
A A redetermination is a review of eligibility and amount of the Supplemental Security Income payments. All factors of eligibility such as income and resources will be evaluated.

Q How will I know when I am scheduled for a redetermination?
A You will be contacted by the social security office serving the area where you live. You will be asked to come to the office or see the social security representative who comes to the location nearest to where you live. You will be told in the letter if you need to bring anything with you.

Q If I am unable to meet the representative, or to come to the social security office when I am asked to appear for a redetermination interview, what should I do?
A You should contact the social security office by telephone immediately. They may be able to complete the redetermination by telephone.

Phillips Caps Local Nurses

Capping exercises were held at 3 p.m. Friday at the Frank Phillips College cafeteria for 35 vocational nursing students, who compose the second class in vocational nursing to be taught at the college.

Six students from Pampa capped Friday are: Debora Ann Adkins, Debra Lynn Harvey, Nadia L. Harvey, Shannon Hill, Rhea Lee McElroy and Joyce Lee Smith. Beverly J. Flowers of Miami was also capped.

Others receiving caps represented by Borger, Fritch, Stinnett, Spearman and Phillips.

Local Hospital Gets Donation

Highland General Hospital received a $2,000 donation recently from the Frankenthal family, owners and managers of the Packerland Packing Co.

"The money will be used to aid and to benefit the hospital in its effort to give the best possible care and services to the citizens of Pampa and the surrounding area," Robert Monogue, administrator, said.

Monogue stated he was impressed with the interest the Frankenthal family has taken in the community, "not only in supply jobs and products for our area people but helping to promote good medical care through support of the hospital."

Representing the board of managers and the hospital, Monogue expressed his appreciation for the donation.

SUNDAY, JAN. 19
Your birthday today: You aren't free to "let well enough alone" this year. If you do not take the proper steps to better yourself, conditions close in until you are forced to do something drastic. Share new and heavier personal responsibilities. Today's natives insist on pursuing happiness, usually plan industriously, may have great political power.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Carry your share of the responsibility of the situation guides you and helps sort out your friends' questions.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: You are favored in competitions. Be willing to face an encounter. Friends open many doors for you, including a few you needn't enter. Pastimes, hobbies yield extra benefits.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Friends are unpredictable, but stories and come to conclusions. Social contacts on new dimensions fulfill one of your private wishes.

June 21-July 22: You are informed on recent developments. What you've been sowing takes root and promises a large harvest.

August 23-Aug. 22: The rounds early with the general company attract. Visit all too easily stay within estimated expenses, put off business entertaining until tomorrow. Check up on personal possessions.

September 23-Sept. 22: Fresh contacts are promising; important things won't wait. Push for advancement in career. Give thought to what you do for yourself, plan for healthy survival.

October 23-Oct. 22: The third presentation in the Pampa Rotary Club's 1974-75 Wonderful World of Travel film series is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. next Thursday in the M.K. Brown Civic Auditorium.

Jack Reeves, the club's travel film chairman, said the audience will be taken on a trip to Switzerland by narrator Thayer Soule, a Harvard graduate, retired marine officer and recognized as a master photographer.

Soule is renowned as a dean of the film lecture field. He has been on the platform for 40 years, half the time with Burton Holmes, creator of the illustrated travel film.

Friday night's film will answer on a musical set carries them from peaks down awesome and through the green of Switzerland.

A trip by rail under the Alps to Interlaken, a wild shopping expedition in Garmisch, the wonder of the Matterhorn and its glory, summer dining on the roof of Europe, Lucerne on the Lake of the Four Forest Cantons and the quaint villages of Switzerland's Rhine Country.

Individual tickets may be purchased at the box office on the night of the performance.

BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU

Is the water that comes out of your tap safe to drink? Recently there's been a lot of discussion about this subject and a lot of people have thought of switching to bottled water to be on the safe side.

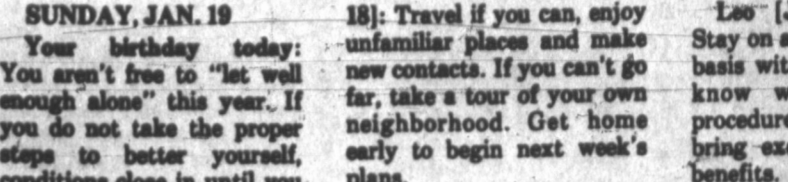

But the Better Business Bureau points out that you might not be any safer if you buy bottled water. A survey by the Environmental Protection Agency, 21 bottlers out of 50 surveyed said their water source was "public supply," which is simply the tap found in almost every home.

However, if it says on the bottle "well water" or "spring water," you can assume it's true, because federal regulations require that bottlers must be able to substantiate label claims.

Although water bottlers come under federal jurisdiction, they must conform to federal standards for bottled water. Water operators might

These small bottlers may be controlled by state standards. Those regulating public drinking water. For this reason, you may feel safer buying bottled water that's nationally distributed.

If you'd like more information about bottled water, you can get a free copy of the federal government publication, "What About Bottled Water," from Consumer Information, Pueblo CO 81009.

DE Program Offers Vocational Instruction

Students in the distributive education program at Pampa High School are receiving practical experience in working in the marketing and distributing fields of various business establishments throughout the city.

In addition to on-the-job training, the students receive vocational instruction in a classroom atmosphere. Coordinator for the DE program at the school is Mrs. Dona Cornutt, who has worked with the program since 1969, several years after the local program was started.

Also aiding students to get the best out of the programs available are Don Nelson, vocational coordinator, and Miss Geraldine Rampy, vocational counselor.

Distribution is the business of moving, storing and selling goods from the producer to the consumer, including the essential. Marketing is the assembling of processes and skills needed to move, store, merchandize, advertise and sell goods and services.

A DE student receives class instruction in basic distribution, with studies in personal development, communications, selling, organization of distribution, merchandising, mathematics, sales promotion, economics and the free enterprise system. Other class time is devoted to specific instruction which provides the individual student with detailed product and procedural knowledge necessary for his selected career objective.

The DE program was first organized locally in 1963 under the direction of Ebert Albritton. Clinton Forbes became the coordinator in 1964, with Mrs. Cornutt assuming the duties in 1969.

The students spend half of the school day in a job with local merchants.

Also helping the students is a distributive education advisory board of local merchants. Members of the board this year are John Gattis, Ken Plotner, Archie Maness and Bill Hite.

Students also have the opportunity to participate in the activities of Distributive Education Clubs of America, which provides time for service and social projects on local, area, regional, state and national levels.

Local contests will be held Monday, with local winners advancing to Area VI Leadership Conference and hopefully on to area, regional, state and national contests.

Randy Cain, 1974 PHS graduate, served as state DECA president in 1973-74 and is currently serving as national DECA president.

VOCATIONAL UNDERSTANDING

The Distributive Education student, upon graduation from high school, should be prepared to take his place in the business world. He should understand the operation of distributive businesses, the types and kinds of merchandise or services sold, the work of the salesman, and the opportunities for further accomplishment in the field of distribution.

Official DECA colors blue and gold

Wrapped package signifies satisfaction in a job well done

CIVIC CONSCIOUSNESS

The Distributive Education student learns to recognize his obligations to the community in which he lives, by studying community needs, planning worthwhile projects, and serving on committees which attempt to create better living conditions.

SOCIAL INTELLIGENCE

The Distributive Education student has an opportunity to develop socially. Many social events during the year provide ample opportunity for the student to gain an understanding of socially acceptable behavior.

OUTSTANDING BOY — Named as outstanding boy in the local DE program this year is Troy Hester, who is employed at Culberson-Stowers Chevrolet. Hester serves as honorary president of the DECA chapter.

OUTSTANDING GIRL — Mary Holman, employed at Gattis Shoe Store, has been selected as the outstanding girl in the local DE program at Pampa High School. She also serves as DECA treasurer.

LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT

The Distributive Education student has an opportunity to participate in many activities which teach him not only to assume leadership responsibilities but to serve in the capacities of both follower and leader.

AIDING PROGRAM — Helping with the coordination of the DE program at Pampa High School are Principal Paul Payne, seated; Miss Geraldine Rampy, left, vocational counselor, and Carl Dwyer, assistant principal.

Gladys Simmons read the minutes of the last meeting and the meeting adjourned.

Present were Meses: Juanita McCarthy, Cecile Grange, Fannie Coleman, Gladys Simmons, Sadie Lane, Frances Stamps, Jane Russell, Evelyn Patterson, Dorothy Williams and Barbara Easley.

To remove mildew from plastic shower curtains or curtain liners: scrub with a brush in a tub of detergent or soapsuds, rinse well, then soak 15 minutes in a solution of half a cup of liquid chlorine bleach to each gallon of cold water. Rinse again and hang the curtain and liner inside the tub to dry.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

United Press International Furniture directly in front of a radiator or heating vent keeps warm air from circulating freely and providing maximum heating for the fuel being used.

Making mocha from your after-dinner coffee is easy. Just mix a tablespoon or more of semisweet chocolate with coffee in a paper filter and brew as usual.

Wash the filter of your range ventilating hood often with a sudsy stiff-bristled brush. This dislodges grease, makes for more efficient operation and prevents a possible fire.

Wills Explained At ABWA Meeting

The Pampa Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association met recently in the Quivira Room of the Coronado Inn for dinner and regular monthly meeting.

The speaker for the evening was Judge John Warner, who stressed the importance of specifics in drawing a will. If a will has already been made and it is a year or so old, and perhaps a change in beneficiary should be made, the will should be brought up-to-date. A person should be very careful in making a will—how it is worded. Life Insurance coverage, probate instructions, etc. he told.

Judge Warner answered questions from members and gave instances of where a will was improperly drawn and the estate went to a person or persons not meant to benefit, simply because this instrument was not spelled out in the wording.

Sixteen members were present.

The Annual Boss' Night is scheduled for Feb. 25, at the Coronado Inn. Members were asked to have letters on their boss in the hands of the chairman by Feb. 15 so judges can choose the boss to be honored.

Letters are "assigned" by the member nominating her boss and when the chairman receives the letters, she numbers them and the letter that is chosen by the three judges will be the winner, crowned before dinner, being guest of honor.

What is believed to have been the first tire was made in 1888 by John Boyd Dunlop of Dreghorn in Ayrshire, Scotland. He made it for his son's tricycle.

The regular luncheon meeting of the Altrusa Club of Pampa was held Monday in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn with Geneva Tidwell presiding, and 36 members in attendance. Rena Belle Anderson introduced Becky Barrett, Altrusa Girl for December, and Ray Lynn Dillman, Altrusa Girl for January. Ray Lynn's daughter of Clara Dillman, is a senior at Pampa High School planning to attend Texas Tech. She is very active in 4-H Club work. Jean Scott, Corresponding Secretary, read letter of appreciation from Stella Gaylor who won the TV set given away on Dec. 13, and from the Senior Citizens for the annual Christmas party. Rena Belle Anderson, Community Service Chairman, requested each member bring a can of fruit juice to the next meeting for use at the Day Care Center. Louise Box, Vocational Service Chairman, requested members bring two white elephants to her place of business to be used for special money raising project at the next regular meeting. The Altrusa Information Committee was responsible for the mid-year program evaluation which was entitled "To Tell The Truth" and brought out some hidden talents in members participating. Gary Moore as portrayed by Glendyne Shelton was a very interesting and informative Master of Ceremonies. The panel consisted of "Nipsy Russell" - Rena Belle Anderson; "Peggy Cass" - Irene Smith; "Kitty Carlisle" - Louise Box; "Bill Cullen" - Vermell Meador. The Challengers were Lora Dunn, Katherine Sullins and Genevieve Henderson. Since they were all well informed Altrusans no decisions or money could be awarded to any of the Challengers. Marian Jameson and Virginia Wilkerson prepared this evaluation program.

Civic Culture Club Has Program On CPR

The Civic Culture Club met recently in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Gas Building for its regular meeting with Mrs. A.C. Houchin, hostess. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. D.A. Rife. The club voted to contribute to the Latin American Scholarship Fund, Musical Art Fund, State Scholarship Fund, and the Lola B. Mundy Fund.

The group welcomed two new members into the club, Mrs. A.W. Skewes and Mrs. W.R. Harden.

Mrs. Emmett Osborne introduced the program "Our Involvement in Education." She presented Mrs. Jessie Newberry, supervisor of nurses and Mrs. Jean Johnson, R.N., both nurses at the Highland General Hospital, who brought the program in connection with the American Heart Association. Mrs. Newberry is Education Chairman for Gray County with the American Heart Association and Mrs. Johnson, the program co-ordinator with this association.

Mrs. Johnson gave the most common warning signals of heart attack and stated basic CPR, an emergency first aid procedure, may save the life of a victim of cardiac arrest, as simple as A-B-C, she said. Airway, Breathing and Circulation. They set up manikins and instructed club members how to carry out these steps in trying to save a life as club members participated.

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL
Mrs. Betty Moody called our Red Cross office Wednesday morning and asked if Gray County would host a meeting for the chapters around Pampa for a meeting to discuss funds, disaster and other services of Red Cross.

All chapters will be invited to this meeting, Jan. 23, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. West Texas Division would send out letters inviting the chapters and Bill Lynch from Fort Worth will be with us on that day.

Majhunta Hills, RN, will begin a Mother and Baby Care Class Jan. 30 at Highland General Hospital at 7 p.m. for four Thursdays. We have some new material that Mrs. Hills states will make these classes more inviting and educational.

If you are a couple planning for your first baby, won't you plan to be in these classes? Diet, birth of the baby and the first six months of the child care will be studied. There is no charge for this class.

The Red Cross Board met Tuesday at 7 a.m. in the Red Cross office with 17 members present. Mrs. George Newberry, Nursing chairman, told of the classes she had been teaching in our community. She thanked the board for the use of our mannequin. The board voted to purchase a film on "The New Prescription for Life." The film will be used by the Nursing Service and the First Aid Classes. There will be a meeting of chapters at Wichita Falls Jan. 28 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. with Panhandle chapters meeting our new manager of the West Texas Division, Pete Upton. This meeting will promote Public Information, a major service of Red Cross. Mrs. Shotwell plans to attend this meeting if the weather permits.

We have a new standard First Aid Instructor in Pampa, Mrs. Reta Kretzmer. Reta took her training in Las Vegas, N.M. We are glad to have Reta as one of our new instructors.

Beth Krug, First Aid Instructor for Hutchinson County, will begin a FAI course for Standard First Aid at Frank Phillips College Monday at 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. The cost of this course will be $30 and college credit will be given for the completion of the course.

We have received word that Joseph Z. Racz has been appointed as division representative for the West Texas Division to replace Elliott D. Kagan, who is serving as director of public information.

When Mrs. Shotwell began her Red Cross work in Pampa, Joe was safety representative on the National Red Cross and visited Pampa to encourage the safety programs for our community.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX RYALS
Today's column is another in a series on a study being conducted by Robert Lork, the Regional Engineer of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission. As previously stated the PRPC was designated by the Governor as the planning agency for the Canadian River Basin.

The Canadian River is a vital link in the economic well being of the Panhandle area. I would like to point out that the staff of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission is directed by a Board of Directors who hold elective office in the counties and cities of the Panhandle. The directors of the PRPC have organized a number of Committees and named the membership of these Committees that makes recommendations to the Board of Directors. Their actions are also subject to approval by the PRPC Board of Directors. One of the Committees is the Environmental Committee. PRPC Regional Engineer was assigned to work with this Committee. The Committee meets on a regular basis to review his recommendations and to modify and change if it feels that this would be best for our area.

Today we will continue the recommendations and findings of Robert Lork on the Canadian River Basin. Last week we were carrying the climatic conditions.

Climate
The prevailing climatic conditions in the Canadian River Basin are a significant factor in water quality management. With the average yearly evaporation rate being more than three times as great as the average annual precipitation, fluid effluents discharged into natural or constructed retention basins can be largely dissipated by evaporation when they cannot be fully and beneficially reused for agricultural and industrial purposes.

Major Hydrologic Features
There are three sources of water available in the Canadian River Basin, namely: unconfined ground water, surface water flowing in defined water courses, and surface water which collects in natural impounding basins commonly known by the Spanish name of playas. The availability of waters from these sources is controlled by geology and geomorphology, by an interstate compact, and by physiography. These restraints and the volumes of water available thereunder, are discussed in the following paragraphs.

Ground Water
Some 200 million years ago during the Permian era, nearly all of the Texas Panhandle, Eastern New Mexico, and Western Oklahoma were the bed of a shallow sea. The sediments deposited in the sea formed the Permian Red Beds. As earth movements raised the area above the level of the sea, streams formed and eroded the Permian Red Beds. The eroded material was redeposited along the stream channels resulting in a formation known as the Triassic Red Beds. The uplifting of the Rocky Mountains to the west during the rainy Pliocene epoch, resulted in swift, eastward flowing streams that deposited a thick blanket of pervious material, the Ogallala formation was covered by a loess mantle ranging up to some 100 feet in depth. Thus, the Ogallala aquifer became sandwiched between the loess mantle on the top and the impervious, saline Permian Red Beds on the bottom.

In more recent geological times, the Pecos River headcut north from the Rio Grande along the leeward side of the eastern prong of the Southern Rocky Mountains. The Pecos River captured the eastward flowing streams and eliminated recharge of the Ogallala aquifer from the west. The Canadian River became deeply incised into the Red Beds below the Ogallala formation and removed a large portion of the loess mantle and Ogallala formation within its contributing drainage area in Texas. Along the northern edge of the Texas Panhandle and in the Oklahoma Panhandle, the North Canadian River also became entrenched below the Ogallala formation. Regionally, the land surface and the water table of the Texas Panhandle slope to the east and southeast, precluding any recharge from the east and south.

Thus, within the Canadian River Basin in Texas, the Ogallala aquifer contains only geologically accumulated ground water. Recharge from precipitation is minimal, amounting to only a fraction of an inch annually. The ground water is a nonrenewable resource. The Ogallala formation ranges in thickness from zero to more than 900 feet in Ochiltree County.

A second, small aquifer underlies about 150 square miles in northwestern Dallam County. There, formations of the Cretaceous age are overlain by the Ogallala formation. The Purgatoire formation and its overlying Dakota sandstones are the principal Cretaceous aquifers from which the City of Texline and irrigation wells draw their supplies.

4-H Club Work
Layton Barton was promised full-time work recently when he was installed as the new Assistant County Agent. There have been a few hours between 12:00 midnight and 7:00 a.m. that he has been unemployed. Layton, Bob Skaggs, 4-H and FFA members and many others have been working around the clock to get some twenty-seven calves and twenty swine projects fitted for the Amarillo Show.

Here are the names of the 4-H members that will be showing either calves or pigs in Amarillo: John, Teresa, and Margie Baggerman; Rue Beth Smitherman, Randy Skaggs, Bobbie Gay Skaggs, Kevin George, Tricia George, Jim Morrison, Cindy Gage, Bryan Smitherman, Clarke Wilkinson, Janice Couts, Charley Couts, Margaret Horn, Darrin Rice and Ron Rice.

Although a lot of leaders need to be recognized for their efforts, I would like to recognize some leaders that have been especially good to help these youth with their project. Dr. Kenneth Royce for many, many years has donated a lot of free services and drugs and health papers to the area youth. Callens George and Bob Skaggs worked many hours fitting the pigs for the boys and girls at the various shows.

New Information Director Named

AMARILLO. — Glen B. Starcher, Jr., has been named Information Director for the Texas Cattle Feeders Association (TCFA), according to Charles E. Bail, TCFA Executive Vice President. Formerly with The American Quarter Horse Association, headquartered in Amarillo, Starcher has served as a Public Relations Assistant for that organization for the last two years.

Starcher is a graduate in Agricultural Journalism from Oklahoma State University. While at OSU, he was a member of the Agriculture Student Council, organized the "Aggie Scribes," a club for Ag Journalism majors, and was on the staff of the "Ole Collegian," the OSU student newspaper, and was also a member of the ROTC program.

The TCFA, headquartered in Amarillo since its formation in 1967, represents the Texas cattle feeding industry, the Number 1 cattle feeding state in the nation. In 1974, TCFA members fed nearly 4 million head of cattle.

How Will 1975 Prices Run?

WASHINGTON UPI — What is the volatile soybean market, which plays an important role in the farm-food economy, going to do in 1975?

The Agriculture Department today published a checklist of 'key indicators' which farmers, speculators, traders and food businessmen can watch for clues on which way the market is going.

Any significant decline from 1974 acreage could be bullish meaning upward pressure on prices, the report said.

On the other hand, the report added, planted acreage equal to the 1974 level could point to a 20 percent increase in production if prospects indicate per-acre yield may recover from last year's slump.

The chickadee is the state bird of Massachusetts, the mayflower is the state flower and the American elm is the state tree.

NFL Draft Tuesday, NY, Colts Flip Today

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Baltimore Colts and New York Giants will flip a coin Sunday at 12 noon EST to decide which of the two will get the first pick in Tuesday's annual National Football League college player draft, but the Dallas Cowboys will be very interested observers.

The Cowboys, you see, obtained the Giants' first round draft choice in a trade for quarterback Craig Morton, so a winning Giant flip at Key Biscayne, Fla., where NFL club presidents and other representatives are meeting, would give Dallas the No. 1 pick of the draft.

The Giants and the Colts "earned" the right for the first choices of the draft, from a list of college players who have used up their eligibility either through participation or graduation, by finishing with the worst records in the NFL at 2-12. The Giants were able to beat only Dallas and Kansas City and Baltimore topped only the New York Jets and Atlanta.

While the Giants traded away their No. 1 pick, the Los Angeles Rams went in the other direction. The Rams, through a series of trades, will have three first round draft choices—the most in the league—and 11 choices in the first five rounds. Dallas, Houston and San Diego also hold more than one first round choice, with two picks each as the result of previous trades.

Besides the Giants, other teams without first round picks are Green Bay, Kansas City, Philadelphia and Washington.

Altogether, 11 teams including the world champion Pittsburgh Steelers will have extra choices in the player draft.

Sawyer, Franks, Dunn, Beck Lefors Honorees

DALLAS (UPI) — Jayton junior Mark Fincher, who gained an incredible 2,280 yards on the ground—the second straight year he had rushed for more than 2,000 yards in a single season—paced the Class B all-state high school football team selected Saturday by the Texas Sports Writers Association.

Fincher's season included games of 354, 277, 210 and 198 yards on the ground.

Fincher was joined in the Class B all-state backfield by Barney Sawyer of Lefors, who picked up 1,415 yards, and Alan Barbee of Bronte, who collected 1,296 ground yards.

DALLAS (UPI) — Wayne Petties, who gained more than 1,000 yards in each of his three varsity seasons with Monahans high school and scored 44 career touchdowns, led the voting in the Texas Sports Writers Association Class AAA all-state high school team announced Saturday.

Dame and Nebraska among those interested.

In his senior year Petties gained 1,391 yards and scored 16 times and will finish his high school eligibility with nine first-team all-district honors in three sports. He gained 3,861 during his three years on the Monahans club.

John made the offensive first team as a tight end, having gained 449 yards on 29 catches last year, and was selected as a linebacker on the defensive unit.

Horn was named as a split end on the offensive squad and a defensive back on defense team while Blackwell was listed as a defensive end on the offense and a tackle on defense.

Stones Cracks Jump Record

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI) — World outdoor high jump record holder Dwight Stones cracked the indoor mark Friday night when he leaped 7 feet 5 inches at the Meet of Champions.

Stones, who took only seven jumps all evening, did not miss until his first try at the record. He cleared it easily on the second attempt, but declined to try to raise the record.

The tall, blond ex-UCLA star, who now jumps for the Pacific Coast Athletic Club, seemed calm and confident as the crowd of about 5,000 roared its approval after he cracked the former mark of 7 feet 4 inches set more than a decade ago by Russia's Valerie Brumel.

An unofficial world standard also fell in the mile-relay in which the Pacific Coast Track Club, led by Jim Boulding, sizzled with a 3:12.93 time.

The night's only other new standard came in the pole vault where Commonwealth Games champ Don Baird of Australia set a Mini-Dome and meet record with a mark of 17 feet 4 inches.

Despite the heroics of Stones and Boulding, the fans seemed most taken with jumper Tommy Haynes. He won the triple jump with a leap of 53 feet 9 inches after surpassing 53 feet three times. Then he used the spectacular and controversial somersault technique to take a second in the long jump at 24 feet 9 inches, three inches behind winner Dale Scott.

One reason that Boulding may have turned in such a sharp performance in the mile relay was that he was upset in a 1700.

Other victors included Utah State's Scott Brringhurst, with a solid 8:51 two mile and Peter Ameriefio of Idaho State, who led a swift sprint field in a 6:13 second 60.

Versatile King Named To Class A All-State

DALLAS (UPI) — Kenneth King of Clarendon and Brent Whitsell of Princeton, two running backs who gained more than 3,000 yards rushing between them last season, led the Texas Sports Writers Association Class "A" all-state high school football team announced Saturday.

King, who made last year's all-state team as well, rushed for 1,569 yards on 208 carries in 1974 for a 7.5-yard average. He scored 20 touchdowns, kicked three field goals and made good on 25 out of 29 extra point attempts for 154 points.

Whitsell picked up 1,487 yards on 164 carries for a 9.1 average last season and gained more than 4,000 yards during his career.

There was only one player to make both the first team offense and defense in Class A — Jamie Jordan of Grapeland who made it as a tailback on offense and as a linebacker on defense.

State champion Grapeland placed not only Jordan on the all-state team, but linebacker Terry Herod and defensive back Darold Turner as well.

The first team quarterback was Steve Evans of Groveton, who threw for more than 40 career touchdowns and for more than 4,500 yards during his three years on the varsity.

Sims Tops 2A Ballots

DALLAS (UPI) — Billy Sims, who likely will be the most highly recruited football player in Texas this year, led the balloting Saturday to earn a running back spot on the Texas Sports Writers Association Class AA all-state team.

Sims, the Hooks running back who is high on everyone's want list, led a backfield that included quarterback Neal Miller of La Grange and running backs Donnie Davis of Spearman, George Woodard of Van Vleck and Johnny Jones of Hamlin.

Two of the first team offensive linemen — Bill Acker of Freer and Don Cooper of Spearman — also made the first team defensive list. Acker was listed as a linebacker and Cooper was placed on the defensive line.

Thomas Dickerson of Class AA champion Newton was selected to the first team offensive line and the second team defensive line while Woodard, in addition to making the first team offensive backfield, was listed, as a second team linebacker as well.

Miller Leading Tucson

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—Johnny Miller, laying the kind of golf that can shatter the heart of a challenger, shot a five-under-par 67 Saturday to widen his lead to three strokes after three rounds in the $200,000 Dean Martin-Tucson Open.

The 27-year-old Californian, who now has been the leader or co-leader in seven rounds played this year in the PGA tour, disposed of one challenger after another on a day in which there were any number of fine rounds played at the Tucson National Golf Club, including a '66 by Don Iverson and 67s by Gene Littler, Arnold Palmer, J.C. Snead, Mike Hill and Tom Watson.

Shelton Free Throws Ice Antelope Victory

MIAMI — Clutch free throw shooting by Mark Shelton is the fourth quarter iced a 45-39 Allison win over Miami in a District 3-B basketball contest Friday.

The win gives the Antelopes the outright lead in the first half of district play with a 3-0 record. Miami fell to 1-2 with the loss and a game below .500 (9-10) for the season.

Allison, 18-6, led by only two, 35-35, when Miami's Ken Jenkins hit the first end of a one-and-one foul situation with only 2:45 left in the game.

A 15-foot jump shot by Shelton and then a pair of free shots by the 5-9 senior put the Antelopes in front by six with 1:16 left. Miami's Ken Jenkins hit a layup with a minute left to narrow the margin to four, 41-37.

Miami's Jerry McLaughlin fouled Shelton in desperation with 41 seconds remaining, and the Allison guard made good both free throw attempts to up the lead back to six.

The victory by Allison didn't come as easy as some had expected, as Miami led, 14-10, at the end of the first quarter and trailed by only two, 23-21, at halftime. Allison outscored the hosts, 12-9, in the third quarter to take a five-point, 35-30, advantage going into the final period.

Shelton was unstoppable after the first quarter, when he only managed two points. In the last three quarters, Allison's all-district candidate totaled seven field goals and six free shots to finish with 22 points.

Miami was led by Gilliland with 18 points. The only other player in the game with double figures was Allison's John Grayson, a 5-9 junior, with 13 points. Unbudging defense both teams resulted in several steals and the low score.

Allison, led by Grayson with nine rebounds, edged Miami on the boards, 26-23. Gilliland and McLaughlin each grabbed seven for the losers.

In the girls' contest, Jackie Allison scored 25 points, 13 on free shots, to pace Allison to a 43-36 win over Miami.

Miami was led by Jeannie Greenhouse with 17.

In other area games, Mobeette routed Lefors, 73-41; Lefors girls stopped Mobeette route, 68-39; Wellington trampled McLean, 71-43, to win the first half of District 2-A; McLean girls belted Wellington, 59-28; Groom out played Briscoe, 86-34.

In other games Groom girls downed Briscoe, 73-23; Canadian edged Stinnett, 59-54; Canadian girls waited past Stinnett, 67-52; Wheeler nosed out Silverton, 62-57; Wheeler girls nipped Silverton, 55-51; Sunray defeated White Deer, 63-51, and White Deer girls outlasted Sunray, 73-51.

In Amarillo's Grace Christian Academy Junior Varsity Tournament Friday, Happy blasted Lefors, 64-31; Vega walloped Groom, 50-17; and Adrian outshot Miami, 44-30. In the girls' division, Adrian belted Happy, 43-21; Hartley downed Miami, 30-20, and Vega whipped Groom, 70-33.

The JV tournament continued Saturday and held its finals last night.

MIAMI — Danny Gilliland, 21-18; Jerry McLaughlin, 14-4; Ken Jenkins, 13-7; Ted Rankin, 13-3; Greg Hayes, 12-4. Totals: 17-40.

Pampa Downs Host Redskins

LIBERAL, Kan. — Pampa worked on ball control instead of running and gunning in preparation for district play and the result was a modest 53-42 win over Liberal, Kan. Friday.

The Harvesters belted Liberal, 96-37, when the teams met in a prior contest, so Pampa coach Robert McPherson elected to work on his ball control offense last night better than we have all year long.

"He (Liberal coach Bill Scofield) didn't let them run with us. He wouldn't run with us at all in the second half."

At one point in the fourth quarter, Pampa held onto the ball for two minutes and 40 seconds. "We had the ball about five or eight minutes in the fourth quarter."

"It was one of our better defensive efforts."

Charles Ward of Liberal led all scorers with 24 points. Pampa's top scorers were Nick Slaymaker and Billy Wilbon with 15 each. Howie Lewis and Slaymaker each grabbed 10 rebounds as Pampa out rebounded the hosts, 38-33.

Pampa also won both the sophomore and junior varsity contests.

The Harvesters wind up Tuesday conference play Tuesday at home against Lubbock Monterey.

MIAMI — Danny Gilliland, 21-18; Jerry McLaughlin, 14-4; Ken Jenkins, 13-7; Ted Rankin, 13-3; Greg Hayes, 12-4. Totals: 17-40.

ALLISON — Mark Shelton, 24-21; Cliffie Miller, 24-4; John Grayson, 6-13; Clyde Duke, 13-1; Frankie Lane, 9-8; Corliand Duke, 9-8. Totals: 18-48.

It Sims To Me...

By PAUL SIMS
Sports Editor

Groom head football coach Don Sessom reacted with surprise on hearing the names of area players making the Class B all-state team, released today by the Texas Sports Writers Association.

It didn't surprise Sessom that four Lefors Pirates and one Booker player made the prestigious team, but the Groom coach was displeased only two Tigers made either the second team and none were selected for the first team.

Donald Burgin made the second team at both center and linebacker, and Art Brown was named to the second team as an offensive tackle.

The Lefors selectees were fullback Barney Sawyer, who also made it at linebacker, cornerback Bobby Dunn, offensive lineman Larry Franks and defensive noseguard Greg Beck. All four were voted onto the first team.

Booker tackle Van Crabtree was named as a first team offensive tackle and also a defensive lineman. The Kiowas are in the same district (1-B) as Lefors and Groom.

"I thought Donald would make it on offense and be made second team both ways," said Sessom, who was pleased that the two were honored. "Art Brown made second team offense. I thought he should make defense. He was more of a defensive standout than he was offense."

"Burgin and Brown, both of them, gave 100 percent the whole time they were out there on the field."

Cousins Tim and Stan Britten, both seniors and both unstoppable during the regular season, were not named to either team, much to the surprise of Sessom.

"I think Tim should be on the defensive secondary. The kid intercepted 14 passes on the year. And he had 985 yards on offense. I think there's a miff there somewhere."

"And Stanley had 1,500 yards and scored 18 touchdowns — all running. I guess his size (5-6 and 150 pounds) might of hurt him."

Actually, Stan Britten outrushed both Sawyer (1,415) and Alan Barbee of Bronte (1,415) members of the first team backfield.

Lefors coach Leonard Tobert, who guided his team to the district championship and a spot in the state semifinals, was also annoyed about the absence of the two Groom stars.

"I thought Stan was a better football player than Barbee. I'm highly disappointed. Groom was a better football team than anybody we played, except Celina. Celina beat Lefors in the semifinals, 57-6, and went on to tie Big Sandy, 0-0, for the Class B crown."

"Stan is the most explosive runner we've seen all year. We played against a lot of the kids that made the thing (all-state team) and in comparing kids, I know the kids from Groom should've made it."

Tobert was pleased four Pirates made the first team. In fact Lefors led the state in first team selectors.

"You're always disappointed that some of the other kids on your team didn't make it, but you have to be more than happy when you have four kids."

Dunn, somehow, made both the first and second team at defensive back. Sawyer and Dunn are repeaters on defense, both being named a year ago. Sawyer's selection prompts a question. If he made the first team, which he obviously earned, it is redundant to place him also on the second team. So why was Tim Britten not named to the second team? There was a spot to be filled and the TSSA filled it with a player already on the first team at the same position.

—But that's politics!

Youth Center Wrap-Up

MEMBERSHIPS — The Pampa Youth Center is operated through a membership participation plan. Individuals and families purchase memberships which allows them to use the facilities. There is also a special daily fee for people who do not live in Pampa and would not be here long enough to use a full membership plan.

There are two types of memberships for consideration.

First there is the limited membership which allows the purchaser the use of the gym, recreation hall and swimming pool along with free swim lessons.

Second, we have the unlimited membership which allows you full use of the facilities mentioned above plus the use of the health facility. The health facility house the handball and racquetball courts, exercise equipment, weights and sauna room.

The cost of the individual limited membership is only $8 for six months and $10 a year. For a family plan the cost is $15 for six months and $25 a year.

The individual unlimited plan costs $68 for six months or $120 a year. You may pay the six months plan out by paying $18.50 the first month and then $10.50 the other five months.

The husband-wife combination unlimited plan costs $96 for six months or $170 a year. You may pay out the six month plan by paying $28.87 the first month and $13.87 each of the other five months. To purchase any of these plans just simply come by the Youth Center during any of our open hours.

WOMEN'S EXERCISE AND SWIM TIME — The women of Pampa have a very special time at the Youth Center on Monday and Friday mornings.

On these mornings beginning at 9:30 the women exercise to precision recordings by Bonnie Prudence and others led by Mrs. Sally White. This is an informal class with the mats furnished. Exercise time usually lasts about 30 minutes.

Then at 10 a.m. there is an informal swim time in the pool. No lessons are given unless otherwise scheduled.

To participate in these classes you simply need only be a Youth Center member. No daily fees are accepted at these classes. There is a baby sitter available at a nominal cost. Come join these women and trim up that figure.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST WASHINGTON (UPI) — How often, really, do you think about the National Debt? Once a week? Twice daily? Biennially? Never on Sunday?

Even if you checked all of the above, the fact remains that the National Debt occupies only a dim place in the public consciousness.

Congress, for instance, only thinks about it when it comes time each year to raise the debt ceiling another few billion.

Yet this common obligation is truly the great bulwark of the American economy.

Thoughts along that line were engendered this week by President Ford's State of the Union message in which reported the National Debt soon would exceed $500 billion.

It is only in times of trouble, such as now, that we realize how much we owe to our capacity for insolvency. I mean apart from the $500 billion.

Think of this — without the National Debt, deficit spending would be impossible. And deficit spending, as everyone knows, is the classic remedy for recession.

Had the government been able to spend only as much as it took in, this country would have gone down the drain long ago.

To counter the current recession, Ford is projecting an annual deficit rate of $30 billion to $50 billion for a fiscal period that will coincide with America's bicentennial celebration.

Meanwhile, bicentennial planners are hard on the lookout for ways of commemorating America's attainments. One appropriate project surely would be some sort of tribute to the National Debt, which is among the most impressive attainments of any sovereign state since the world began.

No other people united in nationhood have come close to running themselves into a financial hole of that magnitude.

If only the debt were visible to the naked eye, it would quickly become an object of far renown — the Pyramids, Taj Mahal, Rock City, Tenn., all pale by comparison.

Obviously, it would be impractical to dig an actual hole that deep. But for the bicentennial, the Treasury Department could give the debt form and substance by erecting upon its roof a huge replica of an electronic calculator.

DE: Cooperative Training System

What is distributive education?

It is a high school training program for junior and senior students that offers on-the-job training in marketing, merchandising and distribution of goods and services.

Distributive education (DE) operates under the supervision of the schools with cooperation of businessmen in the community to help young people enter occupations in retailing, wholesaling,

Objectives

Students in the first and second year classes of distributive education were surveyed recently to see what they considered the objectives of the DE program and DECA chapter at Pampa High School.

Students in both classes generally agreed on the following objectives:

1. Chapter of the Year.
2. Competitive winners at area, state and national.
3. Send one delegate to National Conference in Florida.
4. Better line of communication between two classes.
5. Publicize employers.
6. Community awareness and the part DECA plays.
7. Become more involved.
8. Enthusiasm for the class and the chapter.
9. Become more aware of free enterprise, what it means to our future and promote its values in the community.
10. Promote DECA

financing, storing, advertising, promotion, credit and customer services.

DE provides for the community a source of well-trained and qualified employes and trains young persons to fulfill job requirements. It also establishes good community relations through cooperation of business and the schools in public education.

Pampa High School has a chapter of Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) and members of the chapter compete on both area and state levels with other students for excellence in a variety of DE related activities.

Students are enrolled in academic subjects along with their regular class in distributive education. Instruction is both basic and specific, with the teacher correlating students' instruction to job requirements and individual needs.

To qualify, a student must pass screening by the teacher for aptitudes and interests, although the sponsor or employer makes the final selection.

Students become part-time employes of the cooperating business organizations, receiving regular wages.

Students work a minimum of 15 hours weekly on the job, and attend five hours of classroom instruction per week in distributive education. As employes, they are supervised by trained, experienced representatives of their cooperating employer.

Cain Heads National DECA

Randy Cain, 1974 graduate of Pampa High School, has been enjoying an active year serving as president of the National DECA Association.

Cain was elected to the position after serving as state DECA president in 1973-74 while a senior at PHS.

As national president, Cain has been doing a lot of traveling throughout the nation to further the aims of the distributive education program and its student organization, Distributive Education Clubs of America.

He has talked to a number of business organizations, aided local and area chapters in installation of officers, guided various workshops and attended meetings to make plans for the national organization. He also had the opportunity to visit with President Ford during a youth conference in Washington, D.C.

A freshman student at the University of Texas - Austin, Cain has found time to participate in the activities of the local chapter, attending several meetings before college started including installation of local chapter officers.

He also helped to install officers at Liberal, Kan. High School, accompanied by several local members.

As president, he is striving to acquaint the public, particularly those in the marketing and distribution field, with the importance of DE training for students.

In addition to classroom instruction, the DE program provides opportunity for on-the-job experience for students still in school, providing a good background for them when they enter the job market following graduation or attendance at college.

One of the many individuals in the nation who have received information from Cain on the DE program is President Ford. In August Cain spent two hours with the president, along with 20 other youth group leaders from throughout the nation.

President Ford has been presented a DECA blazer which he has worn on several occasions, including national television broadcasts.

Cain is also trying to get more information disseminated to the various chapters throughout the nation to improve the quality of programs offered in the distributive education program.

Few astronomers agree on how the universe was created, but it is generally accepted that the universe as it is now known started between 9.5 billion and 10.5 billion years ago.

Diamond Has Special Value

(DECA), insignia of Distributive Education Clubs of America, has a specific meaning.

To the uninitiated, the basic design, the diamond, means value. Its four points represent vocational understanding, civil consciousness, social intelligence and leadership development.

In the center of the diamond is a wrapped package which is the symbol of a job well done and knowledge completed.

Colors of the organization are blue, suggesting sincerity and genuineness; and gold, the crowning of success to those who live carefully and wisely.

WELCOME SIGN — Members of the Liberal, Kan. High School DECA chapter put out a welcoming sign for Randy Cain, national DECA president from Pampa, and local members attending installation ceremonies during the fall.

Mayor Signs Proclamation

In an effort to honor students enrolled in the distributive education program at Pampa High School, Mayor R.D. Wilkerson has issued a proclamation declaring the week of Jan. 19 - 25 as DECA Week in Pampa.

The proclamation was given in conjunction with local contests to be held Monday.

Winners of the local events will advance to Area VI Leadership Conference on Feb. 7-8.

The proclamation reads, in full:

WHEREAS, school sponsored Vocational Youth Organizations enhance the instructional program, provide opportunities for the development of leadership abilities, motivate youth for self-improvement, afford opportunities for members to participate in community improvement, and develop a sense of civic responsibility; and

WHEREAS, the Pampa Chapter of DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) is one of these participating groups, and

WHEREAS, the program of awards and competitive activities for members is designed to complement instructional objectives and to motivate student interest and attainment, and is having a local contest on Jan. 20 to declare winners for Area VI Leadership Conference on Feb. 7-8 and

WHEREAS, the Pampa Chapter of DECA

WHEREAS, Pampa has been honored as being the home of national DECA President Randy Cain for 1974-75,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, R.D. Wilkerson, Mayor of the City of Pampa, do hereby declare the week of Jan. 19 - 25, 1975, as DECA Week in Pampa, Texas.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the City of Pampa, Texas, to be affixed.

Signed,
R.D. Wilkerson,
Mayor

WITH PROJECTS, ACTIVITIES

DE Students Have Busy Year

The Pampa chapter of DECA has been having an active year, as usual, with various service projects in addition to the regular activities of the organization.

The DE students began the year before school resumed, ushering at the Top of Texas Rodeo July 31 through Aug. 3. The students escorted viewers to their reserved seats. The project, in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce, will be an annual contribution to the Rodeo Association.

Also prior to the opening of the school year, the chapter gathered for a cookout in the home of their sponsor, Mrs. Dona Cornutt. The evening meal was concluded with the serving of homemade ice cream.

The initiation and officer installation was held Aug. 27.

During the fall, students provided a public service course of instruction in sales demonstration, job interview, counting change and gift wrapping, with McLean DE students invited.

The students also conducted their annual Lick 'Em With Love campaign to gather trading stamps which were used to purchase items for use by the Public Welfare Office.

A reception was held Christmas Eve at Mrs. Cornutt's house for alumni of the local chapter. Twenty-five attended the reception in addition to current members.

Last week 18 students helped usher for the Patterson Public Relations and Sales Clinic sponsored by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and The Pampa Daily News.

Students are now busy preparing for local contests in various phases of distributive education.

DECA Has Contest Roles For Students

DECA sponsors an area, state and national competitive activities program to provide recognition of individual or group accomplishments in the field of distributive education.

Over the years such activities have been analyzed and evaluated from the standpoint of educational soundness. Contests have assumed a role of major importance in the DECA program.

Contests generate interest among student participants and thus add much to the overall program.

Every effort has been made to keep contests practical and realistic. They are designed to be helpful as an educational experience for DECA members.

Awards are provided as a means of recognizing achievement. Many chapters sponsor community contests designed after the area, state and national program to stimulate public interest in distributive education.

Contests are conducted in advertising, distribution, display, job interview, merchandise information manual, public speaking, sales demonstration, student of the year, studies in marketing, creative marketing and service station training.

DECA Facts

— There are 43 business firms and organizations that financially support the DECA, Texas Association.

— After graduation, 96 percent of the students enrolled in DE are offered a full-time job.

— All DECA chapters are self-supporting with student members paying local, state and national dues.

— There are 600 high schools in Texas that teach distributive education courses to more than 22,000 students, the most of any state in the nation.

DE Began With Only A Few Clubs

Beginning in 1947 with only 800 members in 17 charter states, the Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) has grown to approximately 150,000 members from 50 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico, according to Mrs. Dona Cornutt, DE coordinator at Pampa High School.

Although the official name of DECA was adopted at the second national leadership conference held in St. Louis, Mo., in 1948, DE chapters were being formed a decade earlier. Cooperative programs in Distributive Education were created between 1937 and 1942. It was during this period that student clubs were started throughout the country.

From this early beginning, local chapters sprang up all over the nation. These early clubs adopted many names such as Future Retailers, Future Distributors, Future Merchants and Distributive Education Clubs.

State-wide meetings were held between 1941 and 1944 as the local chapters grew and felt the need to communicate with each other. By 1945, state conferences and associations were organized. About this time, the idea of a national organization was born.

In 1946, the U.S. Office of Education called a meeting of state DE supervisors to develop plans for a national organization. The first conference that led to the adoption of a resolution to form a national organization was held in Memphis, Tenn., in 1947.

The 17 charter member states were Arkansas, Georgia, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Missouri, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia and Washington.

"The growth and development of DECA has been rapid," Mrs. Cornutt said. "Many interested educators and business organizations have given their support, their advice and their cooperations. Past growth and plans for the future give every indication that DECA is destined to become one of the leading youth organizations of our time."

DE Provides A Varied Program

DE Purpose

The distributive education program, whether at Pampa High School or any of the thousands of other schools participating in the program, has a three-fold purpose:

— To assist state associations in the growth and development of Distributive Education Clubs of America chapters.

— To further develop education in marketing and distribution which will contribute to occupational competence.

— To promote understanding and appreciation for the responsibilities of citizenship in our free, competitive enterprise system.

WHAT IS DE?

Distributive education identifies a program of instruction which teaches marketing, merchandising and management.

What is DECA?

DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) identifies the program of youth activity relating to DE — Distributive Education — and is designed to develop future leaders for marketing and distribution. DECA is the only national student organization operating within the nation's schools to attract young people to careers in marketing, merchandising and management.

DECA and the student.

DE students have common objectives and interests in that each is studying for a specific career objective. DECA activities have a tremendous psychological effect upon the attitudes of students, and many students have no other opportunity to participate in social activities of the school or to develop responsibilities of citizenship. DECA members learn to serve as leaders and followers and they have the opportunity for state and national recognition that they would not have otherwise.

DECA and the school.

DECA chapter activities are always school-centered, thus contributing to the school's purpose of preparing well-adjusted, employable citizens. Chapter activities serve the DE teacher as a teaching tool by creating interest in all phases of marketing and distribution study, and serve as an avenue of expression for individual talent. The chapter is the "show window" for student achievement and progress and is the public relations arm of the DE instructional program. It attracts students to the DE program who are interested in marketing, management and distribution careers and assists in subject matter presentation.

DECA and the community.

DECA members have made numerous studies and surveys to aid the economic development of their own community. Individual and group marketing projects continue to encourage this type of contribution. Many businesses favor hiring DE students because of their interest in training and their related school study of that particular business. Many leaders in business and government have praised DECA for its civic-related activities.

DECA and the nation.

DE instruction and DECA activity constantly emphasize America's system of competition and private enterprise. Self-help among students is the rule rather than the exception and DECA leaders give constant encouragement to continued education. History has proven that whenever a nation's channels of distribution fail to function, that nation is short-lived. As DECA attracts more of our nation's youth to study marketing and distribution, the total DE program becomes a vital necessity to our national economy.

The first modern skyscraper was built in St. Louis in 1890.

Karl Collier

Karl, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Collier, 1319 Mary Ellen, is learning by doing. After his school hours he works with John Lee Bell, Realtor, to combine his "book" knowledge with his experience. And his work is being commended. Karl also is "Regional Choir" winner.
