Nixon Could Undergo More Leg Surgery

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Richard Nixon's doctor should know early next week whether surgery is needed to check the flow of potentially fatal blood clots in the former President's phlebitis-torn leg, a hospital source said Saturday.

The decision will rest on the results of computerized studies that will determine if Nixon is among a small percentage of phlebitis sufferers who do not respond favorably to drug therapy.

"This information should be available to me shortly," said Nixon's personal physician, Dr. John C. Lungren, in his last medical bulletin on Nixon's health Friday.

No health report on Nixon was issued Saturday and none was scheduled until noon Monday "unless a major change occurs in the former President's condition or treatment," Lungren said.

Since re-entering Long Beach Memorial Hospital unexpectedly last Wednesday evening, Nixon has received intensive therapy with anticoagulant drugs designed to reduce the size of his blood clots and thin his blood.

Lungren said he was "satisfied" with Nixon's progress so far, but added that surgery was still a possibility depending on the results of the computer studies.

"The Department of Pharmacology at Memorial Hospital Medical Center, together with that of other institutions in the United States, is conducting computerized studies in an effort to rule out the possible paradoxical response of the patient to anticoagulation drugs," Lungren said.

He warned the surgery to either to remove Nixon's blood clots or block their passage through the veins might be performed if Nixon is found to be among about 9 per cent of phlebitis patients who cannot be helped by drug therapy.

Ford, Brezhnev To Hold Working Summit Meeting

THURMONT, Md. (UPI) — President Ford and Soviet Communist leader Leonid I. Brezhnev will hold their first summit meeting Nov. 23 and 24 near the Siberian port of Vladivostok, a secret military city normally closed to outsiders, the White House announced Saturday.

A joint U.S.-Soviet announcement released at Ford's Camp David weekend retreat described the introductory summit as "a working meeting" on major world issues. But it will also give Ford and Brezhnev a chance to simply size each other up for the first time.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, now visiting Moscow, made final arrangements for the announcement and his negotiations with Brezhnev on nuclear arms limitation could figure prominently in the summit talks.

The President and Mrs. Ford were spending the brisk and sunny autumn weekend at Camp David in the Maryland hills. Ford was expected to return to Washington Monday for Veterans' Day ceremonies and set out Tuesday on a final, three-day GOP campaign swing through the middle and far west.

The Siberian summit will cap Ford's debut as a globe-trotting statesman. He is scheduled to visit Japan Nov. 19-22, move on to South Korea Nov. 22 and, now, jet north across the Sea of Japan to the Vladivostok region Nov. 23.

"It has been agreed that a working meeting between general secretary of the central committee of the U.S.S.R. Leonid I. Brezhnev and President Ford will take place on Nov. 23 and 24, 1974, in the vicinity of Vladivostok to exchange views on matters of mutual interest," the joint announcement said.

No American President has ever visited Asia before and the cagey wording—"in the vicinity of Vladivostok"—underscored the fact that this particular corner of Siberia is an unusually exotic setting for great power diplomacy.

Vladivostok is headquarters to the Soviet Union's Pacific Fleet and a major military basing area not far from the Ussuri River region where Soviet and Chinese patrols battled in 1968. It is near the juncture of Soviet Siberia, China and North Korea.

The Soviets hold the city so secret that its name appears on few of their maps and it has been closed to most Western visitors since Bolshevik times.

Brezhnev's feel for the American outlook has come exclusively from his three summit meetings with former President Richard M. Nixon and the highly personal rapport they developed.

ARE YOU LATE?

DST Meets Early End Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Year-round daylight saving time, which proved neither the boon its backers predicted nor the child-killing curse its opponents feared, faced an early end today.

America's official return to standard time was decreed by Congress to take place at 2 a.m. today requiring that clocks be set back one hour.

Adopted as an energy-saving emergency measure effective until April 27, 1975, year-round daylight saving started for most of the nation in January. But in the long run, it did little except stir controversy.

Nixon administration officials predicted the use of daylight time would cut U.S. oil consumption significantly. Parents condemned it as a threat to the lives of their children, who would have to go to school in the dark.

Congress took a hard look at the situation last month and repealed the

Explosions Blast Manhattan Areas

NEW YORK (UPI) — Five bombs exploded minutes apart across midtown and lower Manhattan early Saturday, shattering windows and damaging building facades of banks and large corporations. A Puerto Rican nationalist group said it planted the bombs.

There were no injuries in the series of bomb blasts which began at 3 a.m. when the first explosion ripped the facade of the Exxon building at Sixth Avenue and 50th Street.

The group, calling itself the Armed Forces of Puerto Rican National Liberation, called for unconditional independence for Puerto Rico and demanded the release of five Puerto Ricans whom they said were being held as political prisoners in federal penitentiaries across the country.

One of the prisoners, 62-year-old Oscar Collazo, was jailed after he and another man shot their way into Blair House in Washington on Nov. 1, 1950, in an attempt to assassinate President Truman.

Collazo's companion and a White House guard were killed in the incident, and two other persons were wounded.

Collazo was to have been executed on Aug. 1, 1952, but his sentence was commuted to life in prison.

The other four prisoners, including a woman, Lolita Lebron, charged onto the floor of the House of Representatives on March 2, 1954, shouting "Viva Puerto Rico" and waving a Puerto Rican flag, and fired 20 to 25 shots at random, wounding five congressmen, two seriously. All the congressmen survived.

In addition to the Exxon blast, another bomb exploded in an auto in the financial district, shattering windows in the Chemical, Chase Manhattan and Marine Midland Banks.

The other three bombs exploded in the midtown area, one outside the Banco de Ponce in the Eastern Airlines building at Rockefeller Plaza, the second near the Union Carbide Building at 48th Street and Park Avenue, and the third at 53rd Street and Park Avenue, near the Lever Brothers Building.

Police said they were checking "relatively minor leads" and questioning witnesses.

Assistant Chief James T. Sullivan said it was believed that the nationalist group is "a new name but we feel it is affiliated with Puerto Rican Independence groups in the past that are continuing into the present."

Forty minutes after the first blast a man called the Associated Press offices and said "Listen carefully."

A woman then took the phone, identified herself as a member of the Armed Forces of Puerto Rican National Liberation and announced "We have just bombed Yankee imperialist banks. Free all Puerto Rican political prisoners." at 9:25 a.m. a man with a thick Puerto Rican accent telephoned the offices of United Press International and said: "I want to tell the people of the United States I'm going to blow up all of Washington and New York unless the five political prisoners are released in 30 days."

The man refused to say whether he was a member of the group claiming credit for the bombings.

In the earlier call, an AP newsman was directed to a telephone booth at 73rd Street and Broadway where there was an envelope containing a statement by the group.

Impeachment Stand Seen As Election Race Factor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Many House Judiciary Committee members worried openly last spring about the impact impeachment might have on their re-election chances. Now, thanks in part to Richard Nixon's resignation, only a handful remain concerned.

Except for Rep. Wayne Owens, D-Utah, who is trying to move to a Senate seat, Democrats who came out early in favor of impeachment are considered safe. Owens' vacillating Utah race is rated a tossup.

Four Republicans who offered spirited defenses of Nixon are in trouble. All were helped by the Nixon landslide in 1972, and all are hurt by his ghost this time. Each is being challenged by the same Democrat he beat two years ago.

Partly because Nixon's resignation gave absolutism to their pro-impeachment stance, all the other committee members seeking re-election are favored to return to Congress in January.

Two of the 38 current members are retiring. Two others lost in early gubernatorial primaries and will not be back.

The four Republicans believed in serious trouble at home are Reps. Wiley Mayne of Iowa, Joseph Maraziti of New Jersey, David W. Dennis of Indiana and Harold V. Froehlich of Wisconsin.

None attributes his problems to impeachment. Like the safe committee members, they all cite issues like the economy and unemployment as the key factors affecting the outcome of their races.

Reviews by UPI and other election-watchers show that Mayne, who has been in Congress longer than any of the other three facing serious problems, is in the greatest danger.

Mayne admits he is "in a tight race" for a fifth term. But he says his involvement in the impeachment proceedings is an "overall plus" for his campaign because his constituents "seem to respect the reasons for my doing what I did."

Mayne, like most of the other 16 Republicans on the committee, voted against all three articles of impeachment the panel eventually adopted.

But like all the other Republicans, he later came to favor impeachment on at least one article because of Nixon's Aug. 4 revelation that he had not previously admitted his full involvement in the Watergate cover-up.

Mayne won re-election during the Nixon landslide of 1972 with only 9,000 votes more than Berkeley Bedell. Bedell ignored the impeachment issue this year and based his campaign on inflation.

Maraziti, the second of those in trouble, is being challenged by Helen Meyner, wife of a former governor. Maraziti defeated her in his first try for Congress two years ago with 55.7 per cent of the vote, but that was during the Nixon landslide.

Although both candidates have kept impeachment in the background, Maraziti's stubborn defense of Nixon was not generally well-received in his northern New Jersey district. Some accounts show him leading, others show him trailing.

Maraziti was home campaigning before the Oct. 17 congressional recess and missed important votes on President Ford's veto of a cutoff in military aid to Turkey — an apparent indication that his problems are fairly serious.

Dennis and Froehlich are involved in races which have produced no clear favorites less than two weeks before the Nov. 5 election.

Dennis is seeking his fourth term and Froehlich, who came to Congress with the Nixon landslide, is seeking his second. Both express confidence of winning despite their problems.

"I suppose having Nixon out of office politically is probably a plus," Dennis said. "My area is a strong Nixon area, but I think they liked the fact I was willing to follow evidence. I think the position I took has been well-received in general."

Dennis faces Philip R. Sharp, 32, a Ball State University political science professor who came within 3,000 votes of beating him in 1970. Democrats feel Sharp will offer an even stronger challenge this time.

Unlike the other three GOP committee members with problems, Froehlich voted in favor of two of the five impeachment articles the committee considered.

His split may have saved him in what he considered a "nowin" situation in a heavily GOP district. The race is rated close, and may hinge more on economic issues than anything else.

Prisoners Take 26 Hostages In Netherlands Jail

THE HAGUE (UPI) — Four prisoners including an Arab guerrilla serving a sentence for an airplane hijacking took 26 persons hostage in Scheveningen jail Saturday.

Police said one of the four was Arab guerrilla Adnan Ahmad Nuri, 23, who was serving a five-year sentence for the hijacking of a British jetliner and setting it afire at Amsterdam's Schiphol airport March 3.

One of the prisoners' demands was that another Palestinian, Sami Hussin Tamimah, 22, be allowed to join the four, police said.

Tamimah also was sentenced to five years in jail for the same hijacking and is being held in The Hague prison hospital.

Police said the hostages being held at the prison included a priest, a church choir of several members, an organist and two prison guards.

The four men, who apparently were armed, demanded that an ambassador or counselor of an Arab country come to the prison to talk with them, police said.

"The hostages are in the church hall and the other nine prisoners who were there quietly left," a police spokesman said.

The chief public prosecutor and the head of the The Hague police were in the prison, he added.

The two guerrillas hijacked a British VC10 jet last March on a flight from Beirut to London. They diverted the plane to Amsterdam, released the 102 passengers and crew unharmed but set the plane on fire.

A Haarlem district court sentenced them to prison June 6. The two did not appeal. Nuri told his Dutch counsel at the time the case had made sufficient furor for the Palestinian cause.

Millions For The Muses

A lady shopper with better than average exposure to economic realities, confesses that she becomes angry when she goes into a grocery store.

"I'm ashamed to say I want to kick the shelves when I see the high prices," she said. "Yet I know the supermarket isn't to blame. But if I feel that way, knowing the causes of inflation, how do you think other people (who don't understand the meaning of inflation) must feel?"

Well, we've been strolling through the food stores, too, taking note of the rising prices. We cringe when we consider the impact that prices are having on the household budgets, especially for large families and for the elderly who subsist on diminished purchasing power. Words are rather feeble instruments at this point.

The high food prices that the housewife must deal with do not result from any lack of farm productivity. This country still is the bread basket of the world. The change in prices can be traced to a change in the purchasing power of the paper dollars. These, to a great extent, are created by deficit government financing and monetization of the debt. When the government goes broke, it runs the printing press again. That is the literal truth.

The question is, what causes the government to go broke? A news story that appeared recently gave one answer. The headline stated, "State's (Calif.) Dance Companies Win Largest U.S. Grant."

The gist was that a federal agency, the National Endowment for the Arts, will give $4 million to assorted American dance companies so that they can tour the 52 American states and territories.

Of course, those four million dollars will be run off the government printing press. The dancers, while they are on tour, will spend them to live. These expenses include the purchase of food. So these unearned dollars compete in the food market for the earned dollars of the Gray County housewife.

Anger is a dangerous emotion because it cuts off the logical operation of the brain and tends to miss the rightful target.

Not many individuals take the time to think a matter through to the end. Not many connect the price of bread, meat and cottage cheese to a tax-subsidized performance of the arts. It is very hard to envision that a federal agency would strew dollars to the muses when the masses are having a hard time to eat.

Sometime ago, we were under an impression that the saying "Nero fiddled while Rome burned" was an exaggeration. But when we observe our neighbors pushing market baskets along the aisles of the grocery and when we think of the National Endowment for the Arts gaily tossing $4 million to entertainers who can't, or won't, otherwise earn their keep, we burn too.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Several years ago, when my dear grandfather passed away, my son, his first great-grandchild, was given his grandfather's Bible. A few weeks ago, I was looking for a particular verse and discovered an old yellow clipping which I would like to share with the many younger people, like myself, who find annoying fault with their elders.

"Lord, thou knowest that I am growing older. Keep me from getting talkative. Release me from trying to straighten out everybody's Affairs. Keep me from reciting endless Details. Give me wings to get to the point."

"Give me grace to listen to the tales of others. Pains, but help me to endure them with patience. But seal my lips as to my own aches and pains. Teach me the glorious lesson that occasionally it is possible that I may be mistaken. Keep me Reasonably sweet, make me helpful but not bossy. I want a few friends at the end."

After finding this clipping, I feel sad and ashamed that I did not show more love and patience to this lonely old man.

LINDA M.

DEAR LINDA: Thanks for sharing. Who wrote it?

DEAR ABBY: Why do total strangers feel that they can take the liberty of touching and handling a young baby they've never seen before?

I frequently take my six-month-old son with me when I go shopping, and am constantly appalled at the number of people who feel free to grab his hands or feet, or try to tickle him, even when he's in my arms.

I appreciate remarks on what a lovely baby I have, but I consider touching rude and offensive. Babies are constantly putting their hands (and feet) in their mouths, so how easy it would be to have a cold (or worse) transmitted from a stranger who touched them.

I apologize for using your column to "sound off," Abby, but maybe my message will reach some of the offenders. What are your thoughts on this?

CONCERNED MOTHER

DEAR CONCERNED: The fear that your baby might be contaminated by a stranger probably is more damaging to you than the actual touching is to the baby.

Simmer down, and calmly discourage strangers from touching with a pleasant: "Please, don't touch!" A harsh reprimand will give your child the idea that all strangers are "Typhoid Marys."

DEAR ABBY: I am a 22-year-old girl who was born with a large strawberry mark on my right cheek. It's reddish brown and quite conspicuous without makeup. I've been to several outstanding dermatologists and plastic surgeons, and they've all told me the same thing: "It can't be removed, so cover it with makeup and learn to live with it."

The makeup I use does an excellent job of covering the blemish, but it gives me the appearance of being rather heavily made up. (However, it's still preferable to wearing a lighter makeup which wouldn't cover the blemish as well.)

My problem is what to say to well-meaning people who hardly know me, but take me aside and tell me (for my own good) that I'd be much prettier if I didn't use so much makeup.

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: I can think of no better answer than the truth. Try it—you'll be amazed at its effectiveness.

GREAT HUNGER AGAIN: Solution For Irish Trouble?

By VICTOR RIESEL

NEW YORK — It's a long way to Tipperary for America's longshoremen's leader Teddy Gleason. But the roots are deep. His grandfather came to America from the southern Irish county not long after "the great hunger." And Gleason has just returned from a week's visit to the old country, a man harassed by the fear that once more a hunger may sweep across the sod.

Sputtering automatic guns and bomb blasts are frightening off foreign investors — though the blood has not yet run south from the North's insoluble big "trouble." But even in the South jobs are running scarce. The economy is beginning to run down. And Irish leaders are turning to their American friends.

"Help should come from the U.S. Most everything else in the rebellion, except propaganda, rolls in from America.

There's no doubt over in London's Whitehall, where recently I spent time with Secretary of State for Northern Ireland Merlyn Rees, that most (if not all) of the money financing the official and Provisional (Provo) factions of the IRA springs from our country. So do most of the arms. The Marxist "Provos" are young and romantic and believe they're in an Asian or African or Middle Eastern "liberation" struggle. Not so this isn't the children's hour. The blood-and-guts-of-children-women, waitresses, judges, barristers, statesmen, both Catholic and Protestant alike, have stained Northern Ireland's streets and fields. And some of the South's too.

Not even the luck of the Irish can stave off a depression compounded by the world inflation and the great fear. So after a week's conversations in Ireland, Teddy Gleason, now an AFL-CIO vice president, has returned with his version of a solution to end the trouble.

Gleason soon will confer with his colleagues in labor's national high command. He wants to unleash a wave of lobbying and pressure from labor's grass roots. He seeks support for a strategy which would have the 1,000 or so city and state AFL-CIO central labor bodies petition and agitate the Congress and President Ford in behalf of all Ireland.

The objective is to have the American government in turn approach Britain's ruling Labor Party leaders — and convince them to arrange for a full North-South voters referendum to determine just how the Irish over the entire Ireland want to be governed.

The belief is that there could be a coalition government — such as in Angola or Mozambique, says Gleason. At least once the plebiscite is over, London could pull its troops out and walk away. Then Protestants and Catholics would have to live — and work — in peace because Whitehall's 15,600 troops wouldn't be there to protect anyone. Therefore, it would be survive without fraticide.

This might tempt Prime Minister Harold Wilson. The United Kingdom subsidizes Northern Ireland with some $900 million a year now. And it will spurt to a billion shortly. This is what they call a "subvention." It fills the deficit in Northern Ireland's budget strictly to keep Ulster operative. This covers social action, welfare, the economy. It doesn't include military costs.

Nor does it include any part of the $1.1 billion Ulster collects annually in taxes. That goes right back into the Northern Ireland treasury. Just where a possible united Ireland would get another billion dollars a year, once Britain was out, no one knows.

Further, bullets and bombs have quite kept both sides from A great economic intermingling. Some of the $2 billion seeps down into the Southern Irish counties.

And the British Tommies do more than keep the peace such as it is — poor Tommy, he always has gotten it in the gut so far from home over so long a time under the setting sun. There's still a viable industry in Ulster. One of its spokesmen said the other day that workers, Catholic and Protestant, are so skilled that the firm of Shorts Brothers and Harland has submitted to the U.S. Army for evaluation a pilotless flying saucer for battlefield surveillance. "Sky-spy" they call it and there are many peaceful uses for this camera-equipped, 125-mile-an-hour hovercraft.

If accepted, it could create hundreds of jobs for Northern Irish workers — and they are Irish — in a $240 million dollar project. Further, the same firm builds computer aircraft, the new SD3-30.

And in what often appears to be bomb-blasted Newry, peaceful work goes on at the Yarmaster Ltd. installation which produces aluminum garden sheds for Swiss, German, Belgian and Austrian buyers.

There is a new freight and container shipping facility at Warrenpoint Harbor in County Down. So it goes. If the big trouble drives off investors and customers, jobs will filter down into the Irish Republic. I've spent time in the North and South. I've spoken with saddened leaders of the Irish Congress of Trade Unions and its Northern Ireland Committee in Belfast.

They're sick of the blood, the rebellion, the religious warfare, the killing of youngsters. They want peace and fraternity.

Thus far the romantics have kept the blood running. By any other name the blood still runs cold. Perhaps the referendum will do it. Perhaps it won't. But something must. No matter how shrill the propaganda, it still is brother against brother. And they wouldn't want the great trouble to turn into the great hunger from which so many millions have died.

QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Is a tax exemption a loophole? Would not an exemption from taxation for a church or school be a subsidy?

ANSWER: A tax exemption might be considered a loophole by a number of persons, including the 1972 Democratic candidate for president. However, since Congress, of which Mr. McGovern is a member, has established the exemptions or loopholes and, since nearly every person is enjoying the advantages of these exemptions, the McGovern proposal turned out to be one of his most unpopular.

As a matter of fact, the income tax and its many accompanying exemptions, are a political tool used to try to control the lives of people. Other than the exemptions for churches, most exemptions and tax credits are used to try to direct private spending into channels approved by those in government. Politicians believe schools are desirable, so they exempt educational institutions. They also exempt various charitable institutions, and some others which are deemed to be serving "public" purposes. However, there have been instances when tax exemptions have been lifted when organizations have taken courses not approved by those in power. A few years back, it will be remembered that the Internal Revenue Service lifted the exemption for the Sierra Club after that organization took a stand in opposition to the national government. There have been others.

There always will be loopholes in taxes as long as political government continues to be involved in its multifarious activities. Tax-exempt foundations which have played a major part in changing economic conditions in the United States were of no moment until the graduated income tax was adopted.

There is nothing wrong with tax exemptions that are available to all. In fact, we would enjoy seeing everyone exempt from all taxes. The difficulty is that in too many instances the exemptions — or loopholes — are not available equally to all. The recent highly publicized incident of Presidents Nixon and Johnson, Vice President Hubert Humphrey, and Gov. Edmund G. Brown being allowed to write off taxes for "gifts" of government papers to tax-exempt organizations are examples.

At the same time some private citizens, including Jack Benny, were denied the same privilege, although their papers presumably were their own, while the politicians were taking credit for papers, ownership of which should have been held by the government.

We do not consider exemption from taxes for a school or a church to be a subsidy, although we recognize there are many who do make such a claim.

Freedom Newspapers believe the whole dispute about subsidies would be solved if their idea of having all persons and organizations pay for any services they want from government. Then there would be no taxes; only a service charge. And nobody would have any excuse of seeking an exemption, a loophole or a subsidy.

IF YOU forgot to turn the clock back one hour this morning — it may be earlier than you think.

This was the day the Wonderful Wizards of Washington decreed we could go back on Standard Time again for four months.

So from now until the last Sunday in February you will have the advantage of one more hour of daylight in the morning and one hour less in the evening.

Personally, we wish they would make up their minds and leave it one way or the other all year around.

At least school children won't have to carry a lantern on the way to school this winter.

WHILE looking at the calendar it was discovered there are only seven more shopping days until Election.

This is not a presidential election year, but all across the nation they will be electing congressmen and governors and other state and county officials one week from Tuesday.

Locally, there are no contests between Republicans and Democrats in Gray County.

The G.O.P. threw in the towel at the May primary election and Democrats nominated at that time are now certain of election.

They include District Judge Granger McIlhenny, County Judge Don Cain, District Clerk Helen Sprinkle, County Clerk Wanda Carter, County Treasurer Jean Scott, County School Superintendent Rena Belle Anderson, County Surveyor Gene Barber, Justice of Peace Pct. 1, Margie Prestidge; Justice of Peace, Pct. 2, Place 2, Ed Anderson; County Commissioner, Pct. 2, Don Hinton; County Commissioner, Pct. 4, Ted Simmons and Justice of Peace, Pct. 5, Ernest Beck. They are all Democrats and all home free unless some dark horse springs up somewhere and conducts a lightning-fast write-in campaign.

That leaves the only real local interest centered in the 13th District Congressional race between Republican incumbent Bob Price of Pampa and Democratic State Senator Jack Hightower of Vernon.

State Rep. Phil Cates, representing the 66th District, is another Democrat who has nothing to worry about on Nov. 5. He has no opponent on the Republican ticket and will be elected for a third term.

U.S. Rep. Price, by the way, will be seeking his fifth term as 13th District congressman.

HERE'S A bit of nostalgia.

Mrs. Crawford Hughes, 941 S. Wells, dropped by the office several days ago and brought with her a promotional copy of the Pampa Daily News dated Sunday, Nov. 12, 1933.

The top headline on Page One read: "Grid Spectacle Thrills 10,000." It was the story of the Pampa Sandies football game played the day before at Harvester Stadium.

The Sandies won 9 to 6 on a couple of costly turnovers by the Harvesters.

But, 10,000 spectators at the game! That would be something to have out at Harvester Stadium today — 41 years later. Pampa's population back then was around 10,000. The city's population now is more than twice that figure and a crowd of 5,000 or 6,000 at one of today's games is considered "big."

How do you account for that? It's not because of the caliber of the teams. We'll bet a wooden nickel today's Harvesters could take the 1933 Harvesters by a comfortable margin.

THERE WAS also a story in that 41-year-old edition of The News about three hunters from Pampa and two from Groom bagging 16 wild geese in 30 minutes on a hunting trip at a lake near Hereford.

The three Pampans were Frank Dial, G.A. Haggerty and Jack Lyons. The two from Groom were Art Barrett and Madison Fields.

And on Page One was a story about the Armistice Day Parade in Pampa sponsored by the American Legion of which Floyd McConnell was the commander.

In a column by former city editor of The News, Archer Fullingim, was mention of a teal duck, slightly wounded by gunshot, waddling down Cuyler St. It was rescued and taken back to Gray County by a Granbury football fan who had been in Pampa for that big game between the Harvesters and Sandies.

DECA Offers Short Courses For Business

Members of the Distributive Education Club of America chapter at Pampa High School are offering several business classes for interested students and adults.

Classes are being offered in basic sales demonstration, job interview, counting change and gift wrapping.

The classes will be taught Nov. 4 at Pampa High School, with two classes offered, each 35 minutes long. Any adults wanting to enroll may call the DE office at PHS. There is no charge for the classes.

Student instructors for the classes, offered as a service to the community, are Mary Holman, Randy Turner and Troy Gilbert, sales demonstration; Troy Hester, Tom George and Karen Moler, job interview; Gay Thames, Leanne Hall and Phyllis Hunter, counting change; and Nancy Monroe, Debbie Rogers and Jerry Bohlander, gift wrapping.

The short courses were also presented Monday, Oct. 21. McLean DE students have been invited to participate in the courses also.

A local group of DE students traveled to Tascosa High School in Amarillo Oct. 22 to install DECA officers there. Local DE students are preparing to begin an annual "Lick 'Em With Love" program Monday to collect trading stamps to be used in getting supplies to aid the local Welfare Index. The students hope to be completed with the service project by Dec. 1.

Randy Cain, PHS graduate serving as president of the National DECA organization, will speak at the Liberal, Kan., DECA employer-employee banquet Nov. 9. A local group will be traveling to Liberal for the banquet, according to Mrs. Dona Cornutt, DE coordinator. Cain is currently a student at the University of Texas at Austin.

Arson Suspected

GRAFTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Authorities suspect arson in a fire which destroyed office equipment and supplies at the Daily Sentinel newspaper headquarters Friday night.

Authorities said there were no injuries in the blaze and publication was not halted despite damage which ran into several thousand dollars. Police said the building housing the newspaper had been broken in recently but nothing was stolen.

A 600 foot canyon wall is the backdrop of the Canyon Pioneer Amphitheatre in Palo Duro Canyon State Park, Tex.

CONSERVATIVE ESTIMATE

Nation Faces $5 Billion In Public Utilities Hikes

United Press International Americans may be facing more than $5 billion in hikes in phone, gas, electric and water bills.

On a yearly basis that's more than $40 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

A UPI state-by-state survey of rate increase requests under consideration by public utility commissions shows that the $5 billion figure is a very conservative estimate.

For example, Texas does not regulate public utilities. Other states could not furnish dollar figures on requested price increases.

What's more, many of the requested hikes are already in effect, pending official approval. In many states, earlier rate hikes have been pumping up monthly bills, and millions in other increases are being passed on to the consumer in the form of automatic adjustments to the cost of oil and gas.

In New York state, electric bills have jumped as much as $10 a month in urban areas during the summer and early fall because of the soaring cost of oil. Pending rate hikes could double that.

Some requested rate hikes are massive—up to 32 per cent for utility companies which claim they are being squeezed out of business by the combination of fuel costs, general soaring inflation and wages.

In some states, telephone companies say the dime phone call will soon be history. They ask for 20 cent phone booth charges and other rate hikes to homes and businesses.

In California, the state Public Utilities Commission is faced with a whopping $946.9 million in rate increase requests from electric, gas, telephone and water companies. New York state's rate hike bids total $446 million. Illinois' $400 million. New Jersey's $426 million. Pennsylvania's $350 million. Michigan's $276 million, and Ohio's $205 million.

Utility companies around the country are claiming that the price increases are absolutely necessary.

Virginia Electric and Power Co. (VEPCO) President T. Justin Moore recently testified at a rate increase hearing: "Staggering inflation and declining revenues has deteriorated VEPCO's financial position so rapidly and drastically in recent months that its ability to continue to finance any major construction programs has been seriously endangered."

The Alabama Power Company claims that its earnings have been so eroded it cannot sell the bonds it needs to operate and finance future construction and pay for air pollution equipment.

In Vermont, the Central Vermont Public Service Corp. pointed out one example of inflation—a utility pole that cost $43.30 a year ago, cost $88.60 in September.

In Ohio, power companies are asking rate increases up to 24 per cent. In Hawaii, the Kauai electric company has a pending rate hike request of 32.5 per cent.

In Texas, which does not have a state regulatory agency, utility rates in Austin, San Antonio and other cities have gone up drastically—some as much as 300 per cent.

Inflation Cutting Deeply Into Education

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Inflation is cutting deeply into Texas education — as well as education all across the country — and is likely to lead to an extended period of curtailed services, a nationwide survey of school officials indicates.

The survey, released by the Education Commission of the States (ECS), shows Texas has cut back on new construction, instructional materials, transportation, innovative programs and extracurricular activities to deal with the financial squeeze.

Texas hasn't yet cut back on education of the handicapped, as 24 per cent of survey reporting states have; on hiring of personnel, as 48 per cent have; or on school maintenance and repair, as 70 per cent have, though, according to the survey.

And Texas is doing a "little bit better than average," an ECS spokesman said, in getting money to spend as prices go up.

Compared to a national inflation rate of 12 per cent in the past year, 21 reporting states showed a gain of only 8 per cent in total expenditures, regardless of source, for public education.

"Texas does a little bit better than the average at a 10 per cent gain over last year," spending $2.71 billion last year and $2.99 billion this year, the ECS spokesman said.

Texas education officials reported to ECS inflation has had a slight "positive result" in state finances because of the state's sales tax. As prices for products go up, so does the amount of money paid by consumers in sales tax, thus increasing money going into the state's coffers.

Commenting on the cutbacks in Texas, education state officials told ECS:

—New construction has been slowed primarily by high interest rates, and school bonds are not being voted for or sold.

—In area of instructional materials, state-adopted textbooks are costing 20 per cent more this year than last.

—Referring to transportation: Cost of a 72-passenger bus is up from $8,010 in March 1973 to $12,268 in August 1974, and gasoline is up from 19 to 39 cents a gallon.

—Dollar amount of money spent on instructional programs is same as it was five years ago. "However, we're getting less mileage, about 50 per cent less," out of money spent on projects, so number of them has gone down.

While there's been no cutback in Texas educational programs for the handicapped, ECS said state officials reported, the growth pattern of programs for the handicapped may go down. Money for education for handicapped is actually increasing, but rate of increase is slowing, they said.

Irish Coast Spoiled By Oil Spillage

CORK, Ireland (UPI) — Oil workers and volunteers Saturday pumped thousands of gallons of detergent into the sea to break up a massive oil slick that fouled 22 miles of Ireland's southwest coast, damaged fishing and threatened scenic resorts.

"We have been completely overwhelmed by the magnitude of the spillage," said a spokesman for Cork County Council.

The spill, estimated by Gulf Oil officials at between 200,000 and 250,000 gallons of crude, was described as one of Europe's biggest.

It began Tuesday when the 80,500-ton tanker Universal Leader was lying at the Gulf transshipment terminal on Whiddy Island in Bantry Bay at the southwest tip of Ireland.

Company officials first reported only 8,000 gallons had spilled, then revised the estimate after angry coastal fishermen reported their nets and fishing grounds fouled by the seeping mass of black sludge.

Ford Has Gun-Carrying Double In Service Agent

THURMONT, Md. (UPI) — President Ford never packs a gun. But Ford has a double who does — the chief Secret Service man in the presidential bodyguard detail.

That fact has triggered some confused identifications and, Saturday, a bit of joking speculation over whether Ford would attend the Thanksgiving turkey shoot being held by folks around this community in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains.

The Thurmont shoot near the presidential retreat, a White House spokesman said, holds little interest for Ford who "has never been known to carry a gun."

The gun thing started when Police Chief Nelson Beckett of Warr Acres, Okla., said he saw Ford move a pistol from a coat pocket during a campaign visit to Oklahoma Tuesday.

The White House spokesman said no — that Beckett may have seen Richard E. Keiser, the Secret Service agent in charge of the White House detail.

Ford and his chief bodyguard are almost look-alikes, especially to someone who has never before seen the President in person.

In Des Moines Thursday, even White House press corps veterans got into an argument over who was who in one crowd scene. Reporters in the press bus saw Ford and Keiser plunge into a crowd. One of the two removed his jacket.

Which husky broad-shouldered partly bald man was the President?

"Good gosh, Keiser's taken off his jacket," said one.

"Oh, no, only a president could take off his jacket in Miami."

the presence of the President. Besides, no Secret Service man would want to display his gun and holster," said another reporter.

It was, the White House spokesman clarified, the President who could ease the burden of sunshine by removing his coat.

Keiser does resemble the President. Both have a sharply receding hairline and a bald spot at the back of the skull. Each has heavy eyebrows, wide cheekbones, a firm chin and a broad nose in addition to the wide shoulders of an athlete.

Ford was a college football star, a center at the University of Michigan.

Most of Keiser's crew resemble sleek professional golfers rather than football guards or tackles. But when the Secret Service detail chief wears a suit similar to that of the President and their backs are turned, a presidential spotter sees double.

Keiser rarely smiles. Keiser never waves both arms at crowds," he said.

Henry Paves Way For Summit Meet

MOSCOW (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger Saturday wound up a series of tough and complex talks with Soviet leaders, paving the way for the first summit meeting between President Ford and Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev next month in Vladivostok.

Kissinger held a fifth meeting with Brezhnev Saturday night before his scheduled departure for India Sunday morning. U.S. officials said a joint communique on the results of four days of negotiations was expected Sunday night.

A simultaneous announcement in Moscow and Washington said Ford and Brezhnev will meet Nov. 23-24 near the Soviet Pacific port city of Vladivostok.

No details were immediately available on the substance of Kissinger's talks with Brezhnev but there were indications of difficulties.

Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, at a lunch given by Kissinger Saturday, said: "The questions under discussion are of exceptional complexity... at times there do appear differences of view — not in the ultimate objective to which the two sides aspire — but in the means and methods to achieve them."

Kissinger said in his luncheon toast to Gromyko: "I think we made good progress on this trip in a number of fields."

But U.S. officials said both sides were still far apart on the Middle East question, with the United States promoting talks between Israel and Egypt and Jordan on military disengagement and the Soviet Union calling for an early Geneva conference on the Middle East with the participation of Palestinian representatives — with whom the United States has so far refused to deal.

More Absentee Votes Received

Wanda Carter, Gray County clerk, reported 150 absentee ballots had been received by her office Friday. Thirty-three ballots were reported still out in the mail.

Monday will begin the final week for absentee balloting in the Nov. 5, general election. The absentee balloting will officially close at 5 p.m. Nov. 1.

Votes may be cast at the clerk's office on the second floor of Gray County Courthouse.

ON DEFENSE ISSUES

Institute Accuses CBS Of Misleading Reports

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Institute for American Strategy Saturday accused CBS of trying to "mislead the press and the public" about an Institute report which found the network's TV news reporting on national defense issues "partial and slanted."

John M. Fisher, president of the institute, said CBS News President Richard S. Salant "has attempted to mislead the press and the public regarding the integrity of recent findings of an Institute study on the network's coverage of defense issues."

CBS had no immediate reply to Fisher's accusations.

The institute, which favors strengthening U.S. defenses against the Soviet Union, released a 209-page report Wednesday based on a two-year study of CBS news programs.

The report said CBS had given much more time to coverage of those satisfied with present defense programs or those advocating reduced Pentagon spending than it gave to those favoring increased defense efforts.

In so doing, the institute charged, the network clearly violated the Federal Communications Commission's Fairness Doctrine, the Television Code of the National Association of Broadcasters and the Code of Ethics of the Radio Television News Directors Association.

"We had hoped that CBS would give serious and careful consideration to the study on its merits," Fisher said.

New Hampshire was named for the English county of Hampshire.

Hightower Says Federal Bureaus Require Review

AMARILLO — Sen. Jack Hightower, candidate for Congress, told the Legislative Affairs committee of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce bureaus in the federal government "should undergo a strict review by Congress at least every 10 years to make sure they are necessary and doing their job."

Hightower, a 10-year veteran of the Texas Senate, said "the bureaucracy in Washington has grown so bloated that it apparently feels responsibility to no one."

"There are bureaus and departments doing jobs which are no longer needed, and Congress must get a grip on the federal payroll and weed out those offices which are no longer performing a needed service," Hightower added.

He proposed that Congress set up strict review standards to check the various agencies every decade.

"If it is found there no longer needed for a particular agency or bureau, then it should be abolished," Hightower said.

He advocated budget cuts "with scapal rather than a meat axe in order to bring the federal budget back in balance."

Most Oppose New Surtax, Paper Reports

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than 71 per cent of nearly 10,000 readers responding to a poll printed in the weekly National Observer said they opposed President Ford's recommendation for a 5 per cent surtax on federal income, the newspaper reported Saturday.

The Observer counted 9,868 ballots mailed in and said 7,065, or 71.6 per cent, opposed the surtax. The other 2,803, or 28.4 per cent, said they favored it.

Editor Henry Gemmill asked readers in the newspaper's Oct. 19 issue to include letters with the ballots which they clipped from the paper. He said many letters contained angry comments against the suggested surtax.

Gemmill said he would send the letters to the House Ways and Means Committee, which will consider the surtax proposal.

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL
The Red Cross Youth held their Principal Teacher - Sponsor breakfast Tuesday morning Oct. 22, with 26 present. The meeting was held at Pampa Jr. High Cafeteria.

Sam Begert, principal of Horace Mann Elementary School, gave the invocation. The group voted to have the enrollment in the schools Nov. 11-15 this year.

Mrs. Libby Shotwell gave the financial report and gave out the enrollment material. Dr. Don Long, superintendent of the Pampa schools was a guest.

Baker School made the Halloween Tray Favors for the VA Hospital in Amarillo, this year.

Jay D. Ray, FAI for Multimedia First Aid, completed the course for the Adult Education group Thursday evening with the following receiving their certificates: Julie Bland, D. H. Chisum, Barbara Conway, Marie Eastman, Betty Hannon, Tammy Kirby, Janet Pritchett, Frances Snetthen, Helen Sweet, Alice Wallin and Virgle Wallin.

We continue to receive contributions to the Honduras disaster. Pampa has sent in $70 to the Red Cross for this disaster. Thousands of hurricane victims are being helped with food, clothing and medical supplies.

Some 50 Red Cross societies throughout the world have sent funds and relief supplies valued at $1.5 million, Mr. Flynn stated. Mr. Flynn is in charge of disaster work in Honduras.

To help relief workers transport supplies through flooded areas, the American Red Cross has sent two heavy duty trucks with front-end winches along with two ambulances.

Thanks to everyone who has helped with this country in its great need.

Appeals Judge To Decide On Milk Lobbyist's Case

DALLAS (UPI) — A federal appeals judge will decide Tuesday if special prosecutors can take over the case of a milk lobbyist indicted for defrauding a savings and loan company, according to U.S. Attorney Frank McCown.

Should the decision by U.S. District Judge Robert M. Hill to appoint the prosecutors stand, the government may have difficulty prosecuting the bribery charges filed against former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

Jake Jacobsen, charged with defrauding a San Angelo, Tex., savings and loan association of $825,000, has agreed to testify against Connally if the charges against him were dropped. The Justice Department agreed, but when it went to court on the matter, Judge Hill balked and ordered three special prosecutors to take over the Jacobsen case.

The Justice Department appealed and McCown said the results of that appeal should be known Tuesday. The notice of the appeal was filed late Friday with the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans. It requests a delay in the effective date of an order appointing the prosecutors.

"We anticipate that a member of the court will either grant or reject our request Tuesday," McCown said.

Then, McCown said, the Justice Department or attorneys for Judge Hill could ask Supreme Court Justice Lewis Powell to overrule the decision of the 5th Circuit jurist.

Judge Hill appointed Dallas attorneys Wayne O. Woodruff, Patrick Higginbotham and Andrew Barr to prosecute Jacobsen last week when the Justice Department said it would not try the case.

Jacobsen has indicated he might not testify against Connally, accused of taking a $10,000 bribe from milk producers, unless granted immunity from the charges against him.

In September, 1963, the Port Authority began work on a $400 million project to make Newark Airport the newest, most improved air terminal facility in the New York metropolitan region.

Bond-Anderson Repeat Marriage Vows In Eight O'Clock Rites

Miss Suzanne Elizabeth Bond became the bride of Mark Lee Anderson of Amarillo, Saturday, Oct. 26 at 8 p.m. in First Presbyterian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D.W. Bond, Jr., 2228 Aspen Drive. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Anderson, 2340 Comanche.

THE CEREMONY
The Rev. Martin Hagar, pastor for St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Houston, officiated for the double-ring ceremony.

The wedding was performed before a background of seven-branched candelabra with garlands of salal foliage. Pedestal arrangements of white flowers flanked the Pre-Dieu. Pews of honor were noted with white satin bows.

Organist, Jerry Whitten, provided wedding selections, "I Call To Thee, Lord Jesus Christ," by J.S. Bach, the processional, "Westminster Abbey," Congregational Hymn, "Oh God Our Help in Ages Past," and the recessional, "Trumpet Tune in C" by Henry Purcell.

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white jersey, designed with a fitted bodice enhanced by a set-in circle at center front with a band. The high neckline was closely fitted, as were her long tapered sleeves. The slightly gathered skirt swept to back fullness and cascaded into a chapel length train.

Her veil of bridal illusion was edged with Chantilly lace in a floral pattern, and she carried a bouquet fashioned of gardenia, pink sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

ATTENDANTS

Sherry Anderson, sister of the bridegroom served as maid of honor. She was attired in a dusty rose double knit floor length dress designed with a fitted waistline and bolero jacket. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations and salal foliage.

Best man was Steven Merz, cousin of the bridegroom. Liberal, Kan. Steve Skogg, and Ricki Brazite, both of Lubbock, Jerry Sims, Canyon, and Phil Gage, Abilene, served as ushers.

MOTHERS

The mother of the bride wore a floor length dress of aqua double knit fashioned with a fitted waistline of ribbed knit and matching

MR. AND MRS. MARK LEE ANDERSON
nee Miss Suzanne Elizabeth Bond fitted jacket. She wore a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids.

The bridegroom's mother wore a floor length tan sheath dress with matching long sleeved jacket and gold accessories. She wore a gold cymbidium orchid.

RECEPTION

For the wedding reception hosted in the Crown-In-Shield Room, Coronado Inn, large, three-branched candelabra espergnes filled with white flowers and baby's breath, flanked the bridal cake.

The seven-tiered Lady Windemere Wedding Cake was topped with white Lily of the Valley. The snowy white cake featured clusters of rosebud blossoms amid the rich swags and scrolls of white frosting. Bells provided the final touch of elegance.

Mrs. Dudley Steele served cake and Mmes. Homer

Johnson, Roy Taylor, and Bert Arney assisted at the punch bowl and coffee service. Registering guests was Linda Busse.

The couple will reside in Amarillo following a short wedding trip. For traveling, the bride wore a dusty rose velvet dress and lifted the rose corsage from her bridal bouquet.

AFFILIATIONS

The bride is a graduate of Pampa High School. A graduate of Great Bend High School, Great Bend, Kan., the bridegroom is attending Amarillo College. He is presently employed by KACV Television Station at AC.

NEW HOTELS

CUZCO, Peru (UPI) - Eight new hotels are in the planning stage in and around this city, capital of the Inca Indians and the early Spanish conquistadores and now the leading tourist mecca in Peru. Officials of the ministry of tourism say that the number of first class hotel beds in the museum city, now 827, will increase to more than 4,000.

Groups of investors plan to restore and reconstruct as hotels two colonial landmarks - the 400 year old cloister of San Francisco Church and the house of the Four Busts. This mansion is believed to have been the house of one of the leaders of the small band of Spanish knights who overthrew the vast Inca empire.

Higginbotham-Gobin

The engagement of Miss Susan Elaine Higginbotham to Truitt Clark Gobin, is being made by her mother, Mrs. Edna Day, 1300 W. Bond. She is also the daughter of the late Mr. Jack D. Higginbotham. Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gobin, 1025 S. Dwight. A Nov. 17 wedding in Hobart Baptist Church is being planned. The bride-elect is a 1973 graduate of Pampa High School. Her fiancé, a 1972 graduate, is presently employed by Cabot Corp.

There Are Many Ways Of Removing Superfluous Hair

Women at mid-life are likely to worry either about losing the hair on their heads or getting more on their faces. Hair does have a tendency to thin as the years pass, although this does not always happen. Superfluous hair often appears for the first time, or increases, after menopause.

If your excess hair has always been a problem it is probably inherited. Some families and some races have more than others. For instance, those with Semitic or Mediterranean backgrounds are usually hairier than those with Anglo-Saxon or Nordic strains. For some reason blondes seem to have less superfluous hair than brunettes.

If you did not inherit a tendency toward hairiness, or if there is a sudden increase in undesirable hair, you would be wise to see your physician. If the condition is due to some systemic disorder it can probably be corrected or controlled by medication. In such instances the hair usually returns to normal growth after a few months.

Superfluous hair may be so excessive that it actually affects a woman's life and happiness. If this is true, an endocrinologist should be consulted. However, a moderate increase in hairs on the face is more or less to be expected because of the change in the secretion of hormones following menopause.

You can deal with these hairs yourself by tweezing, with cosmetic wax or with depilatory. If you use a tweezer, do not jerk the hair out. Pull gently and smoothly in the direction in which the hair grows. I cannot say this too often.

If you wish to banish these unwanted hairs permanently you should consult a well-trained electrolysis. She can work wonders. Women often want their hairline changed with electrolysis and these experts, in many instances, have removed hair from large areas of the body.

Today there is no excuse for hairy legs, arms or faces.

Do you want to lose five pounds in seven days so you won't feel guilty eating that Thanksgiving turkey and dressing? If so, send 10 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Josephine Lowman in care of The Register and Tribune Syndicate, Des Moines, Iowa 50304 for the booklet, "Trick and Treat Diet." Freezing Prepared Foods

COLLEGE STATION - Home-frozen main dishes are a boon to the busy homemaker, one nutritionist said this week.

"Frozen combination main dishes can add variety to your menu, offer quick meals for unexpected guests and provide appetizing, nutritious foods on busy days," Frances Reasonover, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System noted.

In spite of the variety of frozen prepared foods in the market, Miss Reasonover pointed out that it is usually more economical to make your own. You can cook enough for several meals when you have time and then serve the family favorites even on busy days, she said.

"You can freeze all of the prepared food in meal-size packages or serve part of the food immediately and freeze the rest."

Turning to specific directions, the specialist said, "Place food to be frozen in the dish in which it is to be cooked, but first line the pan with heat-resistant freezer wrap."

"Press the food to the slope of the container to prevent air pockets. Pull the wrap over the food. Put edges of the wrap together and fold several times so the wrap lies directly on top of the food."

"Fold ends of the freezer wrap and seal with freezer tape. Label with the name of the food, date frozen and last date the food should be used for best eating quality. Freeze it immediately."

"After it has frozen, it may be removed from the container and returned to the freezer. Then when you are ready to use the food, remove the wrap and return to the container in which it is to be cooked. Cook the food without thawing," the specialist said.

She suggested some main dishes that freeze well are baked beans, lasagna, meat loaf and chicken-a-la-king. These dishes may be stored in the freezer for six months at 0 degrees F. and below.

Hatfield-Freeman Exchange Vows In Double-Ring Rites

The marriage of Miss Diane Lee Hatfield and C. W. Freeman was solemnized Friday, Oct. 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the Church of the Brethren.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Bobby J. Hatfield, 2103 N. Zimmers.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clint Freeman, Sr., White Deer.

THE CEREMONY

The double-ring ceremony was officiated by Archie Patrick, uncle of the bride. Organist, Mrs. Bill King, aunt of the bride, accompanied R. W. King, grandfather of the bride, who sang, "O Promise Me," "I Give My Heart to You," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Background for the ceremony was an arch decorated with yellow carnations, white roses, ferns and ribbons.

THE BRIDE

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a formal empire gown of bridal satin and Chantilly lace. The gown featured a matching lace train extending to chapel length and the bodice designed with a ribbon sash, was fashioned with a Cinderella stand-up collar, a scooped neckline, and long lace sleeves terminating in ruffles that extended over her hands.

Her shoulder-length veil of bridal illusion fell from a bandau of white lace leaves bordered with tiny white beads. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Cindy Hatfield served her sister as maid of honor. She wore a formal lemon-yellow empire gown styled with long sleeves. Lace enhanced the waistline and cuffs of the attire, and she carried a bouquet of yellow and white carnations trimmed with white lace.

Kristi Billings was trainbearer and Jeff Hatfield, brother of the bride, was ringbearer. Janet Hatfield, sister of the bride, was flower girl.

Best man was Larry Mercer of White Deer. Joe Freeman and Johnny Freeman, both of White Deer, seated wedding guests.

The bride's mother wore a street length soft blue polyester dress and a yellow carnation corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue tweed jacket with matching navy blue street length skirt.

Both wore yellow carnation corsage.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the church. The serving table was centered with a lemon-yellow and autumn orange floral arrangement and tiny candelabra.

The four-tiered wedding cake was decorated with rambling lemon yellow roses with mint green leaves. White lacy wedding bells topped the cake, which was served by Miss Paula Hatfield, sister of the bride.

Mrs. Ricky Lowe, sister-in-law of the bride, poured punch and registered guests.

Following the wedding trip to Red River, N.M., the couple will reside at 944 S. Nelson. For traveling the bride wore a dark green plaid pantsuit styled with long sleeves and a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses.

AFFILIATIONS

A graduate of Malvern High School, Malvern, Ark., the bride is presently employed by C.R. Anthony's downtown.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Panhandle High School and is employed by Carson County Feed Yards.

PRE-NUPTIAL EVENTS

A miscellaneous shower in Pampa was recently hosted by Mrs. Bill King, Archie Patrick and Larry Mercer.

LIBRARY LINES

By Mary Fatheree

Lovett Memorial Library will sponsor a children's art show during Children's Book Week, Nov. 11 through 17. Students from the first through the sixth grades are invited to enter illustrations of their favorite books, which will be judged by persons chosen by the library staff. Prizes will be awarded to the best picture from each grade.

Entries in the show must be brought to the library by Wednesday, Nov. 6. The staff hopes to have a large number of participants for this display, which is the high point of a week also featuring library tours for children, films and ventriloquist show. Parents should encourage children to begin working on their entries now.

Mrs. Walter Colwell, chairman of "Library Story Time," a Friends of the Library-sponsored story hour for pre-kindergartners, reports that there are five openings in the group for the five remaining fall meetings.

If you have youngsters who are interested, please sign them up at the library at your first opportunity.

At a recent board meeting, Mrs. Ray Hampton announced that the Friends of the Pampa Library now has a membership of 494 individuals, families and businesses. The year-old organization expects to go over the 500 mark before the annual membership drive begins next spring.

Note to Homemakers: Did you know that your library has around 200 cookbooks representing the cuisines of every major county in the world — plus cookbooks for weight-watchers, people with cardio-vascular problems and diabetics?

There are also volumes for vegetarians — and two little books which especially intrigue me: "How to Gorge George without Fattening Fanny," by Nancy Gould, and "A Cook Book for Poor Poets (and others)," by Ann Rogers.

In fact, I couldn't resist checking out the latter just so I could try a non-alcoholic concoction called a "Cliff Hanger" which is supposed to be drunk immediately preceding the tackling of an heroic deed.

Coming Up Soon — Announcement of the Library Family of the Year and plans for a jointly-sponsored Fine Arts and Friends film festival.

What About Exercise?

Don't be discouraged if you read that you would have to walk for 14 hours to use up one pound of body fat. Instead, why not spread out the exercise? Walking a half hour more than you do now each day would cause you to lose one pound every four weeks or 13 pounds a year. Not bad, eh?

And finally, practice a little control over your behavior. It has a lot more to do with your overweight than you might think. One less cocktail would be a good place to start. Eating more slowly could help you to eat less. Form the habit of eating in one room in the house only. That way you won't associate eating with other activities, like watching TV. More on this next week.

Mrs. Barber Is Forum Club Hostess

Twentieth Century Forum Study Club met recently at the Pampa Country Club with Mrs. Holt Barber, hostess.

After a brief business session, Mrs. M. McDaniel introduced William L. Arrington, member of the Pampa School Board, who spoke to the group on the duties and responsibilities of a school board member.

He stated that the requirement for boardmanship, was that decisions should always be made with the best interest of the student foremost.

He said that the work areas requiring the consideration of the board could be grouped under three headings, personnel, curriculum and finance.

Those attending were Mrs. M. McDaniel, Mrs. M. Melancon, Richard Steele, Ellis Locke, Robert Pinney, Carl Brugger, Victor Raymond, Jerry Wilson, Richard Van Kluyve, Frank Kelley, Aubrey Steele, M. McDaniel and Russell Holloway.

Garbage Contains Energy

HOUSTON (UPI) — America's garbage contains too much energy potential and recoverable metals to simply discard, according to a steel official.

"The world situation in raw materials and energy has turned America's garbage dumps into veritable gold mines," Richard E. Paret, a vice-president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, said Wednesday.

"According to the Environmental Protection Agency the more than 200 million tons of household garbage that we dispose of each year contain $1 billion in recoverable metals and another $1 billion in energy," he said.

He estimated the total energy value of the refuse annually generated in the country to equal 290 million barrels of low-sulfur fuel. That equals 5 per cent of current domestic oil production or 60 per cent of imports from Arab countries.

"Dozens of cities and counties, often in conjunction with their utility companies, are evaluating, designing or building garbage-to-energy systems to solve the problem," Paret said.

California's Kern County ranks as the third largest agricultural producing area in the United States.

Upsilon Has Model Meeting At Museum

A treat was in store for members and rushees of Upsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi recently when they held their model meeting at the White Deer Land Museum, 116 N. Cuyler.

Introduction to the cultural program topic of fashion and style was given by Rochelle Lacy, who also introduced Mrs. Fred (Clotilde) Thompson, curator of the White Deer Land Museum.

Mrs. Thompson discussed the early history of Pampa, gave interesting highlights about the clothing displayed at the Museum and the early settlers to whom they belonged, and conducted a tour of the Museum.

As a sidenote, Mrs. Thompson also showed a 1936 scrapbook of Upsilon chapter and explained that Upsilon was the first Beta Sigma Phi chapter formed in Pampa.

Following the tour, the business meeting was conducted by Upsilon president, Vickie Moose and various committee reports were given. The service committee chairman, Melody Heuston, announced that members would prepare a meal for the Dwight Chake family, after Mrs. Chase returned home from the hospital following surgery.

The social committee headed by Jane Radcliff announced a theatre party for Tuesday, Oct. 29 for members and their families to attend "The Curious Savage" at Pampa High School, which is directed by Upsilon member Rochelle Lacy.

A Thanksgiving Dinner for members and their families will be held Nov. 22 at Pam - Cel Hall.

A report was given on the Harvest Ball, sponsored by BSP City Council, and Mrs. Moose also requested members to help sell tickets for the Mexican Dinner being held to benefit the Head Start School.

As a service project, and to show their appreciation for the program, Upsilon voted to give a donation to the White Deer Land Museum.

As part of the model meeting, an informational skit was presented. Using a trial theme, "Prosecuter" Cile Taylor set out to prove that the members of Upsilon are the "friendliest, the loveliest, minded, and the most socially respected young women in Pampa."

Mrs. Taylor questioned officers and members about the organization, duties, and traditions. The "Judge" was Vickie Moose, and the "Jury" was composed of the guests, Barbara Haney, Dean Whisler, Mary Ann Anderson, and Jan Ott.

Members attending the meeting were Vickie Moose, Cile Taylor, Jane Radcliff, Patsy Strawn, Virginia Dewey, Janice Snider, Melody Heuston, Robbie Stone, and Rochelle Lacy.

The group went from the Museum to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Moose for the social hour. Hostesses were Vickie Moose and Judy Fields.

Decorations at the house and on the serving table carried out a Halloween theme. Refreshments included a variety of cookies, miniature candies in a decorative hollow pumpkin, coffee, and cakes. During the social hour, members and guests viewed the chapter scrapbook. The next meeting will be a

Learn to sew the knits is the theme of a sewing course I'll be having in November. Interested homemakers are asked to attend these classes. We will meet Tuesday evening, Oct. 29 at 7 p.m. in the Courthouse Annex Meeting room. Lessons will begin the first week in November. The Course is free and is open to the public. If you have questions call my office.

We attended a very interesting diet shortcourse last week in Wellington. Mrs. Mary Sweeten, food specialist — Texas A&M University, presented the program on special diets. She said to think of a diet as a prescription from the doctor, you would no more go out and buy drugs that you prescribe for yourself — so don't prescribe diets for yourself. You — doctor prescribes special diets — we help you in the food selection and preparation.

We received information charts on several diets including low-fat diets for gall bladder disease. Mrs. Sweeten says this disease primarily affects females that are fat, over forty and have problems with excess gas.

Other diets discussed were the Sodium restricted diets. If on this diet you have limited salt intake, Morton has a new salt called light salt with half the sodium of regular salt. She suggested that you read labels if in doubt about the sodium content. Use spices to season foods. She also noted bouillon cubes were high in sodium.

The last part of the program was on diets for diabetics. We received addresses for information and menus for the diabetic and hope to have these soon for our files.

Mrs. Sweeten stressed throughout the meeting that we do not prescribe diets — you doctor does this. We try to help you plan attractive meals around special diets.

Mark Nov. 15 on your calendar to attend a Bee Fiesta sponsored by the Gray County Family Living Committee. We have been making plans for this program for several months and have an informative program planned. Watch for more information.

Panhellenic Slates Installation Banquet

Pampa City Panhellenic will hold its annual installation banquet Wednesday Oct. 30 at 7 p.m. in the Crown & Shield Room, Coronado Inn.

The guest speaker will be Miss Mary Lou Franum, Assistant Dean of Student Life for Women, West Texas State University.

While a student at WTSU, Miss Franum was president of her sorority, and she received her sorority's Dorothy Shaw leadership Award. She was listed in Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities, and was selected as WTSU "Woman of the Year."

As Dean of Student Life for Women, she is the advisor to Panhellenic Council. She has been selected for the 1975 edition of Who's Who of American Women, and she is presently working as co-author of three manuscripts in the field of counseling.

Miss Franum will speak to the Pampa Panhellenic group about current Panhellenic developments on the WTSU campus and other campuses across the nation.

Anyone who belongs to a sorority which is associated with the National Panhellenic organization is welcomed to attend. If interested in attending the Banquet, please contact Mrs. T. L. Wagner, 2343 Navajo, or phone 665-2813.

THEY'RE NOISY AND MESSY

Rice Owls Having Troubles Trying To Scare Cowbirds

HOUSTON (UPI) — The cowbirds are not welcome at Rice University.

"I'm looking for ways to make the campus scary," said Dr. Dan Johnson, a population ecologist. "There's not an actual attempt to kill the birds, but we probably will try to scare hell out of them."

The big, black cowbirds flock by the hundreds of thousands from the north in their winter migration to roost in the 3,400 live oak trees that make a canopy for almost every street, sidewalk and building, including the campus home of school President Norman Hackerman.

They are noisy and, most of all, messy.

Last year Johnson's biology class estimated 500,000 cowbirds were on campus at one time. In recent years the total has been put between 2 and 5 million during the fall season.

"These birds really like to hang together," Johnson said. "If there's anyplace around where one, two or even 10 million can stay, they will go there. They don't like to split up. And it's awfully hard to move these birds. Once they start roosting it's almost impossible."

Johnson said when the cowbirds arrive — any time now — he hopes to be ready.

Britain Gives Tax Aid For Children Fund

LONDON (UPI) — Bowing to a national outcry, Britain has announced action to get around its own tax laws to help the nation's 340 children born deformed as a result of the drug Thalidomide.

The treasury announced Friday it would offset the taxes on $46 million trust fund set up to aid the crippled children.

The children were born deformed, limbless and otherwise handicapped and Thalidomide, prescribed to pregnant mothers as a tranquilizer, was blamed.

The fund was established by the Distillers Company, makers and distributors of the drug in Britain before it was banned in the early 1960's. The fund was set up to settle law suits and end lengthy negotiations with the parents of the children.

But the treasury ruled that under current British tax laws the children would have to pay the government 48 per cent of their income from the fund.

A treasury spokesman said there was no way around it unless the complicated tax laws were rewritten, requiring lengthy and complex legislation and possibly opening up loopholes.

But Prime Minister Harold Wilson personally intervened with Chancellor of the Exchequer Dennis Healey and the treasury came up with the solution of adding a government grant of $14 million to the fund to pay the tax requirements.

Parents' organizations welcomed the decision as "generous and imaginative."

Lake Meredith Plans To Move Headquarters

National Park Service headquarters for Lake Meredith Recreation Area will move from its present location at the Sanford Dam to the City of Fritch on Nov. 1.

The new administrative offices and visitor information center is located on Highway 136 and will be more convenient for the bulk of traffic coming to the lake along this route.

After Nov. 1, the new address for Lake Meredith Recreation Area will be at 419 East Broadway, P. O. Box 1438, Fritch, TX 79036. Headquarters may be contacted at 857-3151, after the move is completed.

Park rangers and maintenance personnel will continue to operate from the facility at Sanford Dam.

Philadelphia is the home of the oldest stock exchange in the nation. The Philadelphia Baltimore Washington exchange was founded in 1790.

ROCKY'S AUNT

Wilson Defends Plans To Wed Millionaire

ST. PETER PORT, Channel Islands (UPI) — Michael Wilson, 29-year-old Welsh fiance of Pennsylvania millionairess Rachel Fittler, 76, stayed in a cellar discotheque until 5 a.m. Saturday, much of the time defending his plans to marry the aunt of Mrs. Happy Rockefeller.

He did not dance. "I like dancing, but I'm afraid certain photographers will try to take advantage and give the wrong impression," he said.

Sitting in the strobolite Barbarella Cellar discotheque, Wilson rejected suggestions he was after Miss Fittler's reputed $5 million fortune, and sharply denied a report he was offered $46,000 to break the romance.

"That's ridiculous," he said. "Somebody made it up."

Wilson flew to the Channel Island of Guernsey from his home in Wales in an unsuccessful bid to relax for a few days away from publicity. He talked informally with newsmen at the club while dancing couples moved to the rhythm of rock and pop numbers.

"I'm not calling off any marriage," he said. "The publicity doesn't worry me."

Wilson would become the uncle of Vice President-designate Nelson A.

Rockefeller through his marriage to Miss Fittler who is an aunt of Mrs. Rockefeller.

"I can understand that's why there is so much interest," said the modish son of a Welsh coalminer.

Wilson said he and Miss Fittler have not yet decided on a wedding date, and have not made up their minds whether to live in the United States or England.

Miss Fittler has been quoted as saying at her home in Villanova, Pa., the wedding will take place later this year or early next year.

China Sea Oil

SAIGON (UPI) — A company spokesman said Saturday that an American wildcat well drilled in the South China Sea, about 215 miles off the coast of South Vietnam, has yielded both oil and natural gas.

He said the first well, drilled two months ago, "has been tested at a rate of 1,514 barrels a day," which a Pecten company official called "very, very fair."

Pecten is a wholly owned subsidiary of Shell Oil Co. but shares lease facilities with Cities Service.

Company spokesmen said the quality of the oil so far is in the category of light liquid in weight, and will need minimum refining.

Guardsmen Trial To Start Tuesday

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A federal court jury will begin Tuesday to hear the trial of eight former Ohio National Guardsmen, charged in connection with the May 4, 1970 shootings at Kent State University.

Five of the defendants could go to prison for the rest of their lives if convicted. The other three face misdemeanor charges.

Four students were killed and nine others wounded when Ohio National guard troops fired into a group of students demonstrating against the expansion of the war in Indochina.

The trial in U.S. District court here began last week with the selection of the jury composed of four women and eight men, a process which took four days.

The jury will hear opening statements Tuesday and then is expected to visit the Kent State University campus on Wednesday. The jurors revealed during questioning that most favored U.S. intervention in Vietnam at least until near the end of the war and all said they had not done any extensive reading on the shootings.

U.S. District Court Chief Justice Frank J. Battisti spent 35 minutes last week instructing the jurors that they must decide the case only on what is presented in court and warned them not to talk with others about the case and not to pay attention to stories about the trial in newspapers and on radio and television.

Defendants in the case include Lawrence Shafer, 28 and James D. McGee, 28, both of Ravenna; William E. Perkins, 28, Canton; Ralph Zoller, 27, Mantua and James E. Pierce, Amelia Island, Fla., all charged with felonies in violating the civil rights of students and could be sentenced to life imprisonment if convicted.

The five indicted on felony counts admitted in statements during investigations into the shootings that they had fired rifles.

Charged with misdemeanors are Barry Morris, 29, Kent; Matthew J. McManus, 28, West Salem and Leon Smith, 27, Beach City, Ohio, who face fines if convicted.

Morris, McManus and Smith said they had used either shotguns or handguns. No students were killed or injured by shotguns or handguns.

The trial is expected to last between six and eight weeks.

McLean Junior Captures Steer Riding Rodeo Wins

McLEAN — Delinda McLean, a junior at McLean High School, claimed a score of 51 and second place in the steer riding competition of the 1974 Caprock High School Tri-State Rodeo in Amarillo recently.

The rodeo, an annual affair, ran nightly Thursday, Oct. 10, through Saturday, Oct. 12, with an afternoon performance on the latter day.

Miss Howard, the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Howard residing at El Paso Camp east of McLean, has a numerous collection of belt buckle awards for her steer riding performances locally and all over the area.

In her second year of rodeo participation, Miss Howard ranked third in the Tri-

State High School Rodeo Association finals last year, a prized position for any competitor.

In her first year of experience she acquired first place buckles from the Amarillo High School Rodeo and McLean High School Rodeo; second place buckles from Claude Spearman, Tascosa High School Rodeo in Amarillo, and Wheeler; and a third place buckle from Happy.

Other than her Caprock winnings this year, she captured a second place from Happy and also a second from Wheeler.

The next rodeo Miss Howard will perform in is the Tascosa High School Rodeo in Amarillo, scheduled for Oct. 31 through Nov. 2.

NEW YORK (UPI) — First National City Bank today lowered its prime interest rate for corporate loans to 11 per in a significant move to ease the tight money supply and stimulate business.

Citibank, the nation's second largest and a bellwether on interest rates for the banking industry, dropped its interest on loans by one quarter percentage point without immediate comment.

The action is expected to touch off a new round of lowering loan rates by banks throughout the nation.

The lowering of the prime rate, the interest banks charge their best business customers for loans, follows the Federal Reserve Board's release of billions of dollars into the nation's money supply to head off further economic decline.

Most economists say an increase in the money supply and a lessening of the government's tight money policy would help stimulate business.

Dear Consumer

New Law Helps Home Buyers

By Virginia Knauer
Special Assistant to the President and Director
Office of Consumer Affairs
Department of Health, Education and Welfare

If you're a consumer shopping for a home right now, you need all the help you can get. Luckily for you, a new Federal law may offer a good deal of help.

The Housing and Community Development Act, passed in August 1974, contains a number of provisions that should benefit home-hunting consumers. For instance:

- The limit on mortgages insured by Federal Housing Administration (FHA) has been increased to $45,000 from $33,000 for single-family homes.
- The limit on mortgage loans by savings and loan associations has been increased to $55,000 from $45,000.
- Down payment requirements for FHA-insured mortgages have been lowered. On a $35,000 home, for example, now requires a $1,750 down payment (formerly $3,450).
- Discrimination on the basis of sex is prohibited in home financing (and also in the sale and rental of homes). This means that lenders may not discriminate against single women in the granting of mortgages, and that they must consider the combined income of husband and wife when a couple applies for a mortgage.
- There's also good news for home owners who want to stay put: The limit on FHA-insured home improvement loans has been increased to $10,000 from $5,000.
- The law also contains provisions concerning mobile homes, rural housing and housing for the elderly. Detailed regulations based on the law are being prepared by Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). A summary of the law is now available. For a free copy, write to Housing, Office of Consumer Affairs, Washington, D.C. 20201.
- If you have questions, contact the nearest HUD field office, usually listed in the phone directory under "U.S. Government."

Repairmen Say Costs Don't Justify Insurance Rate Hikes

United Press International Car repair costs are increasing but not enough to warrant a 16.8 or 18.3 per cent increase in Texas auto insurance rates, mechanics across the state have told United Press International.

Insurance companies cited spiraling car repair charges as the reason for their 18.3 per cent rate hike request.

The mechanics, however, say the decline in the number of accidents has offset their increase in their charges. They doubt the need for the 18.3 per cent increase the insurance companies want or the 16.8 per cent hike proposed by the staff of the State Insurance Board.

"I don't think it's in line," said Mike McQueen, manager of the Mel Croan Volkswagen body shop in Houston. "When they first enacted the 55 mile speed limit and you couldn't get gas on weekends. I noticed a remarkable drop in accidents. People weren't going anywhere. I think that's still partly true."

"I don't think I have upped my prices over 10-12 per cent since I've been in business — that's about two years," said Gary Haldeman, owner of Southwest Body and Paint, Inc. in Austin.

Mechanics don't want the additional burden of bearing the blame for whatever increase auto insurance rates the State Insurance Board decides to order next month.

Haldeman said he sees no reason why insurance rates shouldn't remain at current levels in view of the 16 per cent decline in highway accidents so far this year in Texas.

"It seems like we hear all the time where there's fewer wrecks. I can't justify them spending more on fewer wrecks."

The insurance companies, however, insist they're doing just that.

The question is whether the jump in repair costs has been enough to cancel out the decline in total claims resulting from improved safety.

There has been a noticeable decrease in my work," Morris Bradley, owner of a Dallas paint and body shop said. "Labor hasn't increased all that much. We still charge about $8-an-hour. That's about all the insurance will pay. Parts on auto repair — fenders and such — went up about 25 per cent in the past year."

Jim Henry sid volume at his Austin body and paint shop is down considerably.

"Last year we ran something like $32,000 to $36,000 a month," Henry said. "I'm down about $8,000 a month now. We're averaging $25,000 to $28,000."

The drop, Henry noted, is in spite of increases in parts prices of 20 to 30 per cent, a 100 per cent jump in price of filler and a $1 increase in his labor charge — from $9 to $10 an hour.

"I think it's due to the fact that gasoline is so high.

People are just not doing that much driving. They're not having near as many accidents," Henry said.

And many of those who do have accidents are just not bothering with repairs that aren't essential.

"I can walk through any parking lot now and show you bumps and dents with stickers where they've been appraised and just not repaired," Henry said. "A lot of people have $100 deductible. With all the increases in utilities and food prices people just don't have the money to pay the difference (in repair costs and what insurance companies pay). People are just not having them fixed."

One thing keeping mechanics going is the fact that more motorists are keeping old cars that require more routine maintenance.

John Bang, manager of Bellaire, Tex., A-1 Paint and Body Works, said his dollar volume has remained about the same, partly for that reason.

The official state dog of Pennsylvania is the Great Dane.

TV In Review

By FRANK S. SWERTLOW
NEW YORK (UPI) — Bill Moyers, who recently retired from broadcasting, is returning to public television for two specials within the next three months, raising the possibility he may soon be back in a TV studio on a more permanent basis.

For election night, Nov. 5, Moyers will interview New York Gov. Malcolm Wilson and his opponent for the governorship, Rep. Hugh Carey, D-N.Y. for WNET and public broadcasting stations throughout New York State.

On January 27, 1974, the three-time Emmy Award-winner will host "World Hunger: Who Will Survive?" for the Public Broadcasting Service. Dick Hubert is the executive producer of this show which was filmed in India, Niger, Columbia, Mexico and at the World Food Conference in Rome next month.

This program will mark Moyers' first national broadcast since he decided to end "Bill Moyers Journal" last May.

However, well-informed industry sources said that Moyers' decision to appear on these broadcasts "has raised hopes that he may return to public television on a regular basis in the near future."

One source said that public broadcasting officials talked to Moyers about his possible return and are very interested in having him back on a regular or occasional basis. But it is all up to Moyers.

Another source said that the former press secretary to President Lyndon B. Johnson has been contemplating a new series — and is seeking funding for it. However, the source declined to discuss the details of the show.

A public broadcasting official, who declined to be named, said he would be pleased to have Moyers return to the television scene.

"Everyone in public broadcasting is aware of the contribution Bill Moyers made in the past, and it really enhanced the long term prospects for our form of communication," the official said. "We hope that some day he might be back as a regular part of the public broadcasting schedule."

Moyers, who is traveling in Texas, was unavailable for comment.

Following Moyers' departure from PS, he was named corceipient of "Broadcaster of the Year" award by the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences. Harry Reasoner received the other Emmy.

THE MOTHER EARTH NEWS

...it tells you how

Brrrrrr! If cold weather hasn't hit your section of the country yet, it soon will. And that means we're entering the season of the year when your automobile or truck is most likely to need a "jumper" start on some frosty morning.

Before you attempt such an operation, however, you should heed a warning from Dr. Frederick H. Davidorf, Dr. Davidorf—an assistant professor of ophthalmology at Ohio State University—says, "If a jumped start is improperly conducted, it can cause a car battery to explode. And I've documented a number of serious eye injuries that have resulted from such accidents."

To avoid a similar mishap, the Ohio ophthalmologist recommends that you use the following method of starting a car with a dead battery.

FIRST: Connect one end of a jumper cable to the positive pole of the dead battery. SECOND: Fasten the other end of the same cable to the positive pole of the booster battery. THIRD: Connect one end of the second cable to the negative pole of the booster battery. FOURTH: Fasten the other end of the second cable to the engine block of the disabled vehicle and as far away from the battery as possible. FIFTH: Start the disabled car or truck. SIXTH: Once the vehicle is running, remove the second cable (the one fastened to its engine block) first. SEVENTH: Then disconnect the other end of the same cable from the negative pole of the booster battery. EIGHTH: Remove the first cable from the newly revived battery. NINTH: And last, disconnect the first cable from the booster battery.

Method's For Stopping Smoking

By G.C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Last fall a doctor found that I was suffering from the early stages of emphysema and he said I must stop smoking.

I find this nearly impossible. I used to smoke two packs a day. Now I smoke a half to one pack a day. I cannot stop entirely although I have tried every way possible.

I have pains in my chest and find breathing very difficult. My son tells me I am not fully aware of the serious danger ahead. Is there a solution? Can you help or advise me? — C.D.R.

Your son probably told you the most important fact: that you are not aware of the danger ahead. You have trouble breathing now; it will become more difficult to breathe as you go on smoking.

Let us hope that you do not someday find that you must stop smoking in order to keep on breathing — and then have to tell yourself, "I could have stopped sooner — why didn't I?"

There are various things that can be done to help you if you stop smoking. There are medications to help clear the bronchial tubes; positive pressure breathing equipment can be used; periodic use of oxygen can help. Breathing exercises help.

But giving up smoking is the only way you can reduce the progressive damage to your lungs. Perhaps reading my booklet, "How to Control Emphysema," will convince you that you not only can but must stop smoking. The booklet also will make clear what is happening to your lungs. Send 20 cents and a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope for the booklet.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: All my life I have hated the size of my tiny breasts but not until now have I been able to afford an operation of this kind. More than anything in the world I would like a breast implant.

My husband says it's up to me. He makes very good money and I also work and have saved more than enough to pay for it myself. I helped put four boys through college so I really think I deserve this since I want it so badly, but my girl friends tell me it's very dangerous and could give me cancer. Is this true?

I am 50; attractive and well built except I took terrible in clothes I like wearing because of small breasts — N.N.B.

I tend to discourage the frequent requests I get about this because so many of them are from young girls who erroneously think all they have to do is to walk into a doctor's office and get "shots" of some kind.

But you aren't a youngster, you ask about "implants," which is correct, and you evidently realize that it involves surgery in a hospital.

So my answer to you is different. There is no sign whatever that such surgery causes cancer. It is not a dangerous operation (although obviously it must be done by a plastic surgeon who understands precisely how to do it). I see no reason whatever why you should not go ahead with it. Your girl friends are misinformed.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you explain scalene anticus syndrome? What causes it? Is surgery the only relief? — D.L.

The scalenus anticus muscle is one that runs just off center in the neck — goes from collar bone to side of the skull. The syndrome — or problem — develops if this muscle puts pressure on the artery under the collar bone or on certain nerve trunks. It causes discomfort in the arm (but it is not arthritis). Surgery to remove the pressure gives relief, but that is the only solution so far as I am aware.

"Tips on How to Stop Smoking," by Dr. Thosteson will help you give up the habit. For a copy write to him in care of Dr. George C. Thosteson, Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120 enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents.

NEW YORK (UPI) —

Inflation now has pushed the price of bread so high any housewife who wants to go to the trouble can save a substantial amount by baking her own, with the added dividend of home-baked aroma and taste.

At the current retail price range of 16.6 to 19 cents a pound for flour, she can bake for 20 to 24 cents a one pound loaf of bread that sells for anywhere from 45 to 60 cents. This includes the cost of flour, eggs, milk, sugar, shortening, yeast and fuel.

This calculation is based on figures supplied by supermarkets, the American Bakers Association, a Fleischmann's Yeast.

For years, the bakery people have contended the housewife "can always keep us honest" if she is willing to bake herself. Until now, however, the amount she could save by baking bread hardly seemed worthwhile.

The inflation that has driven bread prices so high has been notable on flour, which has gone up 80 per cent in the past two years as wheat soared to $5 a bushel. But ingredients always have been the smallest part of the price of bread. The biggest cost is distribution to the grocery store.

For this reason, according to the American Bakers Association, a 25 per cent rise in the wholesale price of bread in the past two years has resulted in an 85 per cent jump in the average retail price.

The three-quarters of a pound of flour it takes to make one pound of bread costs the big bakers only 8 cents, a little less than half what it costs the housewife, for two reasons. The baker buys by the carload, the housewife by the five-pound sack. The baker buys a singlepurpose flour. The housewife buys a general purpose flour which costs more to mill.

The American Bakers Association says the wholesale cost of the one-pound loaf currently averages 29.74 cents. The ingredient cost is only 10.01 cents and the wholesale profit is less than a penny a loaf.

Retail cost of the more popular 22-ounce loaf, priced proportionately higher, has soared from around 33 cents two years ago to 60 cents in major metropolitan areas. Obviously, high overhead and interest costs and rapidly rising wages in the stores and the wholesale distributors are responsible.

One big result of inflation is that the difference between the price of big-name brands of bread and the supermarkets' private label brands appears to have widened dramatically as the name brand bakers' costs soared.

The private label bread used to undersell the name brands by only 3 to 5 cents a loaf. Now the difference in price may be 15 to 20 cents.

When the big furor broke over the huge wheat sales to Russia last year, some bakers raised the specter of $1 a loaf bread in the United States. That hasn't happened. Now that President Ford has authorized wheat sales to Russia again, some grain traders are warning big sales abroad may force some curbs on the use of grain in the United States.

There is a frantic race by the world's largest mining companies to tap the fabulous mines of the ocean depths which contain metals potentially worth trillions of dollars, and that's just the beginning.

Scientists and mining experts have known for years that certain areas of the ocean floor are covered with potato-sized nuggets, called nodules, rich in copper, nickel, manganese and other minerals. Until recently, the idea of scooping up these nodules and refining the metals from them seemed like something out of Buck Rogers and the 21st Century.

No so today. The best deposits of copper and nickel on land have already been found and the expenses of mining continue to skyrocket. The cost of the equipment necessary to mine these land reserves has doubled in just five years, making the ocean nodules more valuable every day.

In a 1½ million square mile area of the Pacific Ocean alone, there is a conservatively estimated 50 million tons of the nodules which would yield one and one-third times the world's land reserves of copper, 13 times the land reserves of nickel, and 10 times the land reserves of manganese. Just the copper and nickel alone in that one area of the Pacific would be worth $3 trillion at today's prices.

The problem is how to get the nodules off the ocean floor in water depths of 15,000 feet. A chain and bucket system was tested several years ago but was found to have the disadvantage of tangling lines and difficulty in finding cable strong enough to heft that much weight over three miles.

Most of the harvesting techniques used compressed air or pumps attached to dredge heads moving along the ocean floor. A major obstacle is the huge amount of sediment which has to be lifted in order to get the nodules to the surface.

The mining companies are highly secretive about the dredge heads used to get the nodules off the ocean floor. One unit, constructed by Lockheed Corp., is composed of a barge with a tracked vehicle carried inside which leaves the barge at the end of a long extending arm, once the barge is on the ocean floor.

The tracked vehicle then circles the barge, picking up nodules and sending them back to the barge through the extending arm. The nodules are then pumped to the surface from the barge.

Erosion Can Become A Claim Jumper-Watch It

By PERRY GRUHLKEY
 SCS

If you can see signs of erosion on cultivated land, you are probably losing soil at the rate of more than 14 tons per acre per year. "A loss this high shows that the land is inadequately protected," Perry Gruhlkey, Soil Conservation Service, District Conservationist says. "Generally, losses much higher than this occur when rain or wind can strike bare cropland. Very steep unprotected land can lose more than 300 tons of soil per acre per year."

"It is not particularly important that the farmer or gardener is able to tell how many tons of soil is lost," Gruhlkey continued. "SCS Conservationists can figure this for those who really want a good estimate. The important thing is that if the farmer and gardener can see erosion — something needs to be done, fast."

EROSION — Erosion following a four to five inch rain is shown on Pullman soils on an "A" slope. The photo courtesy of the Gray County Soil Conservation District, was shot north of Pampa.

A common misconception is to blame all visible water erosion on running water, which we call "runoff," Gruhlkey said. "Runoff does cut ditches and rills, but is generally a sign of advanced problems, which actually start with raindrops striking bare soil."

"You can prove this to yourself by observing bare soil in a small flower box or enclosure. Beating raindrops will actually erode the surface of the soil by splash action with no runoff at all. On the other hand, if you cover the box of soil with clippings, or plant it thickly in grass, no measurable splash erosion will occur. What this tells us is that a cover on the cultivated land — either vegetation or mulch — is the best soil protection."

"There are several things that farmers and gardeners can do about erosion," Gruhlkey said. "First, practices can be used that keep cover on the land. Believe it or not, this can be done even in fields of sorghum, cotton, corn or soybeans with a practice called minimum tillage."

"Contouring, crop rotation, terracing, and other methods are also helpful to keep runoff from carrying sediment from the field," Gruhlkey said.

"For the gardener, a compost heap is a good investment in erosion control. Just build a big box of old boards or wire fence in a shady place in your back yard and put all your leaves, grass clippings, and organic waste in it. Over time, nature will transform this into more spongy material. It will absorb and hold more water. Used as a surface mulch, it will prevent erosion."

"Home gardeners can also use farm-tested practices. Contouring rows and using terraces in a home garden shortens the slope and reduces erosion. The contoured rows capture the soil particles that rain drops knock loose from the surface."

"Rotation — moving plants around in the garden — can serve as a conservation practice and will also reduce disease. And there are edible plants such as turnip greens that can be used as a protective winter cover crop."

"For the farmer, reduction of erosion starts with wise land use planning. A conservation plan utilizing up-to-date conservation methods is the farmer's best bet for full production and income over the long term with the smallest loss of his basic soil resource."

Conservation planning assistance is available. For more information contact the soil and water conservation district office of the Soil Conservation Service. Helpful bulletins available at the SCS office include "Soil Erosion, the Work of Uncontrolled Water," "Soil Conservation at Home," "Gardening of the Contour," "Mulch for Your Garden" and "What is a Conservation Plan."

Schaffer Is Named Director

Curtis Schaffer, longtime area farmer, has been re-elected to a five-year term as Director for Zone 1 of the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District. He has served for over 20 years as a director in the District, providing technical assistance to Gray County farmers and ranchers, school, civic groups, Units of Government, municipalities and individuals, the board reports.

Schaffer is involved in a stock farm operation northwest of Lake

 McClellan and has represented the district at many meetings. He presently is the district representative on the Resource Conservation and Development Executive Board.

School Lunch Program To Include Calf Meat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Moving to the aid of farmers who have been protesting redink prices for calves, the Agriculture Department has broadened its school lunch supply program to include ground beef made from calves.

Officials said a formal notice is going this week to the meat trade announcing that calf beef can be included in the frozen hamburger which the agency buys each week for donation to schools. The new specifications will apply to purchases beginning with bids due Monday-Nov. 4, for acceptance late that week.

Assistant Agriculture Secretary Richard Feltner said in an interview the new buying policy probably will "not make a big difference" in the currently depressed market for live cattle since government purchases represent only a small fraction of the total market. But with calf slaughter running far above normal levels, Feltner said it "makes sense" to offer an additional outlet for that type of meat and predicted the move could strengthen calf prices or at least help to stave off further declines.

less and weights of up to 250 pounds. The slightly older calves now eligible for school lunch purchases are between three and nine months of age weighing 250 to 500 pounds. Meat from such animals is frequently called calf beef and falls between the young veal and more mature beef in taste and texture.

Pierce said the decision to include calves in the purchase program came after requests from livestock producers who have been stung by heavy losses. With corn supplies down and corn prices high, Pierce explained, thousands of calves which normally would go to feedlots for fattening into mature beef have been left without a market and have been going to slaughterhouses at low prices. Calf slaughter, particularly in the southwest and southeast, has been running at nearly double last year's rate, he said.

National attention was focused on the situation earlier this month when Wisconsin farmers shot 675 Holstein dairy calves. The action brought widespread criticism and the National Farmers Organization, which led the price-protest action, arranged earlier this week with the Red Cross to donate veal from 100,000 more Midwest calves for distribution to victims of Hurricane Fifi in Honduras.

The Agriculture Department's ground beef purchase program for the 1974-75 school year, announced in June, is part of a program aimed at taking up to $100 million worth of both beef and pork off the commercial market.

This former 4-H member is being honored in her local community as an outstanding 4-H alumni. One out of every six Americans are 4-H alumni and through the national 4-H alumni recognition program, sponsored by Olin Corporation, former 4-H'ers are being identified, recognized and encouraged to continue their efforts to aid present 4-H members and leaders.

Count Shows One American In Every Six Was In 4-H

Next time you're with a group of friends or acquaintances, try a little experiment. Ask if any in the group were once 4-H members?

You'll be surprised at the results, for no matter where you go, you're bound to find former 4-H members everywhere, active in all walks of life. And that's not surprising as roughly one out of every six Americans are 4-H alumni.

Some 33 million strong, 4-H alumni represent a vast pool of potential volunteer leaders and talent which may be enlisted to help current 4-H boys and girls "learn by doing."

The Cooperative Extension Service has teamed up with the National 4-H Service Committee and Olin Corporation in a national 4-H alumni recognition program. They seek to identify and recognize 4-H alumni. Persons whose interests and accomplishments exemplify effective community leadership, public service, service to 4-H and success in their chosen careers.

Four 4-H alumni, who can be found in all walks of life, provide youth with living examples of dependable, purposeful citizenship. Their continued dedication to 4-H include service as volunteer leaders, resource persons, as special interest group leaders and in other ways which further the program and its projects and activities.

Olin Corporation supports the 4-H alumni recognition program by providing a maximum of four medals of honor to alumni honorees in each county. Up to four alumni in each state are awarded burnished copper plaques mounted on walnut.

Eight national winners are selected by the Cooperative Extension Service from the state honorees. Each is honored at National 4-H Congress and receive a gold key.

Former 4-H members are invited to get involved in local 4-H programs and activities, and to give today's 4-H members opportunities to learn from their talents and expertise. The county extension service office can tell them how.

Persons wishing to gain recognition for outstanding 4-H alumni can send their names and current information about them to the county extension office or the National 4-H Service Committee, 150 N. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois, 60606

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS
 For the past two weeks we have been carrying the testimony entered by James E. Smith before the Senate Subcommittee on Water Resources, in Lubbock on September 27, 1974. Smith entered his testimony on behalf of the Texas Railroad Commission which regulates the secondary recovery of oil. Quantities of fresh water is used in the secondary recovery of oil. The next legislature will review the use of fresh water for secondary recovery of oil. Current law states that fresh water pumped from the underground formation must be used for a beneficial purpose. To date fresh water used for the secondary recovery of oil is classified as a beneficial purpose.

Water, Inc. presented testimony at the same Public Hearing. The testimony was presented by Tommy Swann, the Staff Economist of Water, Incorporated. Today we begin his testimony titled "Economic Benefits from Use of Water in Secondary Oil Recovery in the Texas High Plains." Swann's testimony came from a study to determine the benefits which would be derived from the use of imported water for secondary recovery of crude oil.

OIL PRODUCTION
 The first step in determining the benefits of secondary recovery was to determine the oil reserves recoverable. Because of the long-term nature of a project of importing water from out-of-state, the year 2020 was chosen for the base year of the study. This corresponded to the base year used by the Bureau of Reclamation in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico Import Project, to determine the direct benefits to farmers of such a project. In the Texas Water Development Board study, Projections of Oil and Gas Production and Water Requirements for Secondary Recovery Texas High Plains (September, 1973), projections were made for oil recoverable through water injection for the year 1975, 1980, 1990, 2000, 2010, and 2020. The projections for the year 2020 were used in this study. The projections were made for each of the 56 counties in the Texas High Plains and summed for the area total. In the year 2020, the High Plains of Texas is projected to produce 144,374,600 barrels of oil, of which 137,270,500 barrels or 95 percent will be from secondary recovery.

Water required to produce a barrel of oil varied from 6 to 12.8 barrels. For this study, the "rule of thumb" estimate of the Texas Water Development Board publication, referred to above, was used. This assumption was that 10 barrels of water are required to produce one barrel of oil through secondary recovery.

To determine the quantity of water required for secondary recovery in the year 2020, the oil production in that year was multiplied by 10. The water requirement was then converted to acre feet. Secondary oil production in 2020 is estimated to require 1,327,705,000 barrels of water or 176,906 acre-feet. The water requirement for secondary recovery would be approximately 3.7 percent of the average annual water delivery to the Texas High Plains as set out in the Bureau of Reclamation study on importation of water to the area.

ECONOMIC BENEFITS
 The use of water for secondary recovery of oil may very well be the highest revenue producing use of the water. At oil prices ranging from the current price of oil in production of $5.25 per barrel to the "new oil" price of $10 per barrel, the gross revenue per barrel of water would be $0.525 to $1. The "new oil" price is the price of new oil being brought into production. At an oil price of $5.25 per barrel, one acre foot of water would result in gross revenue of $4,073.75; while at an oil price of $10 per barrel, the same acre foot of water would result in $7,759.68 of gross revenue. The quantity of oil projected to be produced by secondary recovery in the year 2020 would generate gross revenue to the oil companies of $721 million at an oil price of $5.25 per barrel and $1.4 billion at an oil price of $10 per barrel. This secondary oil production would require 176,906 acre feet of water to produce 137,270,500 barrels of crude oil.

Over $184,100 in scholarships will be awarded—265 national winners during the 53rd National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Dec. 1-5. The awards are provided by corporations, businesses and foundations in some 43 different programs.

One out of every six Americans was a former 4-H member. Over 33 million 4-H alumni are continuing to live the 4-H motto — To Make The Best Better.

Mulligan Stew, the acclaimed 4-H television series on nutrition, has enrolled nearly 4.5 million boys and girls to date across the country, reports the National 4-H Service Committee.

A comprehensive slide set series on veterinary science will be available this fall from the National 4-H Service Committee. Planned with the aid of the Cooperative Extension Service with a grant from the Upjohn Company, 26 slide sets are being produced.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
 RAIN
 My rain gauge showed another four tenths of an inch of moisture. Only one or two days of weather prior to the recent wet spell were dry enough to mud wheat in the ground. There are still a few acres of irrigated wheat and some dry land wheat to be sown. One fellow said he started planting wheat in early September. He had been interrupted several times by rain and he still has wheat to plant.

We have seen some wheat that sure needs some cattle on it. Some of this wheat could go into the joining stage with two weeks of Indian summer. Cutting this top growth with cattle will reduce the moisture pull as well as the heavy use of Nitrogen. Both moisture and nutrients will be needed a great deal more next Spring. A lot of cattle people fear we could have a repeat of the winter two years ago.

Waxy Sorghum Is Digested More Quickly

COLLEGE STATION — Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Studies suggest that waxy sorghum is not more digestible than regular sorghum but is digested faster.

The findings came out of an overall project designed to boost nutritive value of sorghum. Approaches are investigation of basic factors influencing carbohydrate and protein utilization of sorghum by ruminants, and screening available hybrids for improved nutritive value.

Waxy sorghum has received publicity lately because of its apparent superior digestibility. Increases of 5 to 10 per cent feed efficiency have been noted in cattle fed waxy grain.

The sorghum gets its name from the glossy surface of a kernel when it is cut into two.

Waxy sorghum starch is almost all amylopectin and 25 per cent amylose.

In the Experiment Station study, two varieties of Redland, differing genetically only in the mutant waxy gene, were evaluated by the "nylon bag" technique.

Ground samples of waxy and non-waxy Redland were weighed into nylon bags, which were then suspended in the rumen of a fistulated steer.

The bags were removed at certain intervals and nutrient disappearance determined.

Results show that waxy sorghum is more rapidly digested than its genetically non-waxy counterpart.

Although there was no difference in maximum digestibility between the two grains, the initially higher rate of digestibility of the waxy grain may explain the observed 5 to 10 per cent feed efficiency increase in cattle fed waxy grain.

Cotton Pest Could Be On The Way Out

An economic study of the 1973 cotton pest management program conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service shows that the program is a paying proposition. The pilot program, in its second year, showed an increase in net profit of $1,203,529, or an average net return of $35 for every dollar invested by farmers. Total yields were up 4,300 bales. The program covered 36,000 acres of cotton in four of the state's major producing areas — Cameron, Willacy and Hidalgo counties in South Texas, Frio County in Southwest Texas, Pecos and Reeves counties in Far West Texas, and Hill and Ellis counties in North Central Texas.

Consequently, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is seeking a way to determine not only the amount of calcium loss from the bodies of astronauts but also the causes and methods to prevent such occurrences.

Because University of Washington researchers have been making calcium loss studies for the past five years in an investigation into bone wasting disease, NASA has asked the school's Division of Nuclear Medicine to help find the answers.

In the past five years, Dr. Charles H. Chestnut III, assistant professor of radiology and medicine, and Dr. Wil B. Nelp, professor of medicine and director of the division, have measured total body calcium in more than 200 patients with bone wasting disease by using a neutron activation method.

The system involves irradiating a patient's body by neutrons emitted from a cyclotron. Because calcium absorbs the radiation, the amount of radioactivity given off by the body indicates the amount of calcium in the body.

Chestnut says the technique gives an accurate measurement of calcium, but the required neutron dosage limits its use to once every six months.

More recently, Chestnut and other scientists developed a total body calcium measurement technique using a neutron generator and one-fortieth of the neutron dosage required in the earlier method.

An isotope of calcium irradiated by neutrons converts to argon-37 and is exhaled. The amount of argon-37 exhaled is a measure of the amount of body calcium.

"An average loss of 184 milligrams of calcium per day was measured in each astronaut in the Skylab mission," Chestnut said in an interview. "At this rate, 10 per cent of the total body calcium would be lost in a two-year flight to Mars."

"Calcium is lost from the bones and passed through the urine. With significant loss the bones become brittle and are inclined to fracture, and kidney stones may develop."

Preliminary studies indicate that most of the astronauts' calcium loss is occurring in the legs from the lack of muscular stress on the bones in the gravity free environment. Without muscular activity, bone resorption increases and new bone formation decreases.

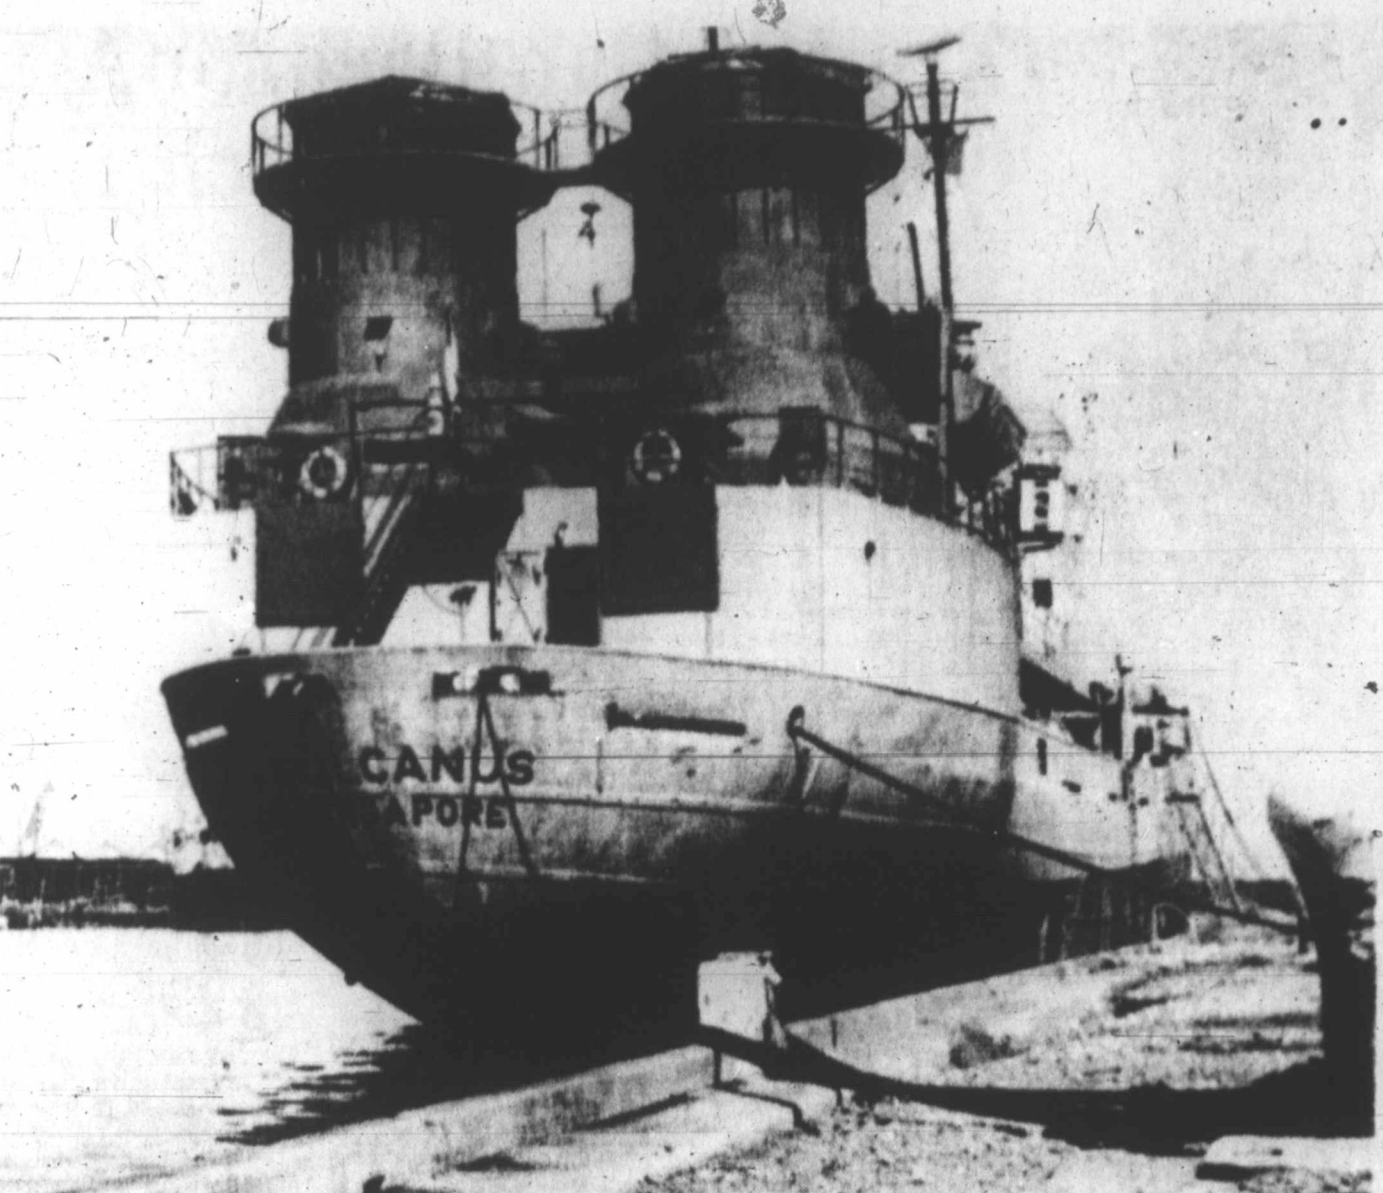

"If calcium is lost primarily from the arms or legs, the loss can be combated with an exercise program. However, if calcium is being lost from the spine, medical treatment is required."

Researchers are now refining the argon-37 technique to determine the particular source of calcium loss and to find specific treatment for both astronauts and patients with bone wasting disease.

"The argon-37 method can be used more frequently with less risk and the equipment can be modified for use on the Skylab or other space vehicles," Chestnut said.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The hobby of collections covers a broad field. Most common is the stamp or coin category.

The field of the collector, who treats his hobby of collecting in that sense, encompasses a tremendous variety of items. Miniature vehicles, military figures, rocks, shells, leaves, figurines, are among the many items collected.

INCINERATOR SHIP — A state official from Louisiana has tried to get a court injunction to stop the Dutch incinerator ship Vulcanus from burning 4,600 tons of chemicals 130 miles off the Louisiana coast. He agreed to delay the suit awaiting investigation by the Environmental Protection Agency. The above photo was taken while the ship was tied up on the Houston ship channel. The ship is currently at sea burning materials loaded up at Shell Chemical Co.'s Deer Park works.

Afghan Hound Wins Top Art Award

DAVENPORT, Iowa (UPI) — Mrs. Elliott McDonald's 6-year-old Afghan hound won a top award at the mid-Mississippi art competition for an old mitten he chewed up.

She's sorry some people were miffed, Mrs. McDonald said, "but, that's art."

Most of those in attendance at the Davenport Art Gallery were somewhat surprised Sunday when the dog, name of Alexis Boyar, was led to the stage to pick up a $50 cash award in the weaving category.

The work entered under the dog's name was described by Mrs. McDonald as a "small fiber wall hanging in off-white, with a range of interesting textures and a central phallic shape."

At one time it was shaped like an ordinary mitten.

McDonald's husband, a lawyer, said that we did equals the alltime low in good taste.

"They didn't know the artist, where he went to school, where he had exhibited, or who his friends were. It proves that art is where you find it."

The judges are not from this region. But some of the gallery officials protested that the entry of the dog's chewing was a bit of an outrage.

"Two of the area artists McDonald's husband, a lawyer, said that we did equals the alltime low in good taste."

"We are sorry anyone has been made unhappy by a dog's artistic accomplishment."

The McDonalds said they would return the $50 check to the donors.

"We've awarded Alexis something more to his liking," Mrs. McDonald said. "We've given him an entire sofa all his own."

Violinist Uses Wood Blocks To Create Art

By JAMES L. OVERTON

HOUSTON (UPI) — Away from the formality of the concert stage, violinist Irving Wadler often can be found with a small block of wood and blade in hand, unwinding like generations of country whittlers before him.

For Wadler, 61, the whittling has turned into a free-form sculpture that complements his appreciation of art but frees his mind.

"After a long day of rehearsal I come home and work with a piece of wood. I can sit for hours not knowing what I am doing. But then I end up with something — usually a small piece that gives me an idea for something larger," he said. "Wood is a very sensuous thing. And there is a wonderful feeling about touching wood because it is alive."

Wadler, who is the longest continuing playing member of the Houston Symphony, always had worked in the paint medium but when the orchestra began touring years ago he needed a therapeutic outlet for road trips.

"I took along blocks of wood and would carve them in the bus or in hotel rooms in my spare time," he said.

"I felt I wanted to keep my hands busy and wanted to do something creative at the same time. It's a wonderful compliment to music. They go well together and yet are so different."

A fence post, a cast-off log or part of an old banner from a house being torn down turn under Wadler's simple tools into fluid and subtle shapes that delight the eye and feel like silk to the human touch.

"What I do depends on the shape of the wood," he said. "Sometimes I tend to have musical themes. If you are familiar with one of the arts, you find similarities in others."

"I begin to chisel and go where it leads me."

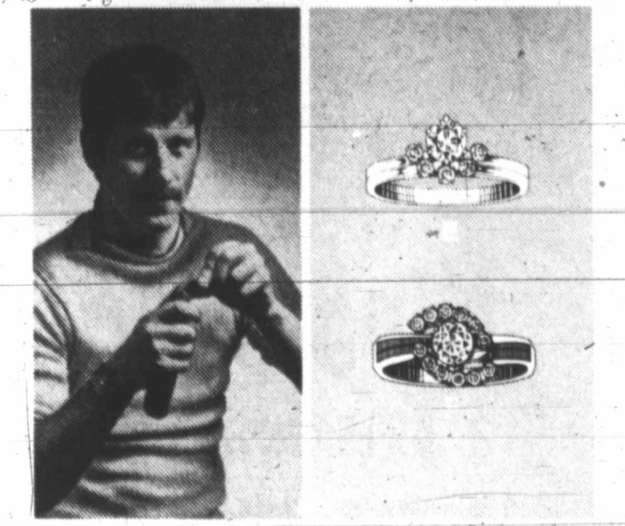

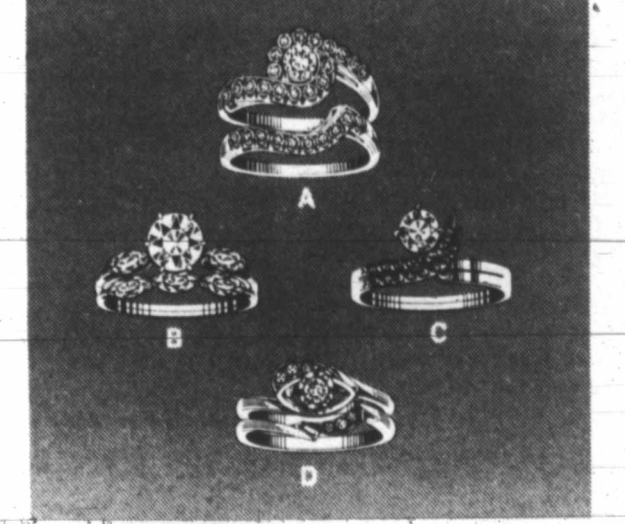

"I don't like to work with exact measurements. I like to work with free form," he said.

Wadler's sculpture is a personal thing. In the beginning he sold a few pieces and now spends most of his time trying to buy it back. His house is filled with his work and he shares it with his family.

"My pieces are so much a part of me. I hate to lose them," he said. "I have more ideas than I can ever hope to realize."

"If I could do nothing but play in the orchestra and work with wood, I would be happy the rest of my life. I have no desire to retire."

Pampa Makes History By Stopping Rebs

By PAUL SIMS
AMARILLO — Tascosa did things against Pampa that no other team has been able to do all season, but the defense came up with plays when they counted the most as the Harvesters squeezed out a 14-10 win over the Rebels and made history by becoming the first Pampa team ever to beat the Amarillo rival Friday night in Dick Bivins Stadium.

The game marked several "firsts" for Pampa, but not all of those were on the good side for John Welborn's Harvesters.

- 1) It was the first time this year Pampa has come from behind to beat an opponent.
- 2) It was the first time Pampa and its opponent were tied at halftime.
- 3) It was the first time Pampa has defeated Tascosa as the Rebels won the previous 12 decisions.

- 4) It was the first time a team has been able to move almost at will against the Harvester defense. Tascosa rushed for only 17 yards, but quarterback Danny Ross picked Pampa's defense apart, especially in the fourth quarter, by completing seven of 11 passes for 174 yards and a touchdown.
- 5) It was the first time Pampa has not completed a pass.

Tascosa, behind 7-0 late in the first half, had first and 10 on the 50. On the first play from scrimmage with only seconds left, Ross threw a strike to split end Chuck Hartman, who was alone on the 15 and had no trouble finding the end zone. James Mayberry, a chip-shot type kicker, booted the extra point to tie the game with no time left in the half.

With 6:57 left in the third quarter Mayberry kicked an 18-yard field after Tascosa got the ball on Pampa's 10 with an interception by 210-pound David Gilbreath. On the second play, Ross picked up eight yards to the three, but Pampa held on the next play as Mayberry, the best running back Pampa has seen all season, managed only a yard.

gave Tascosa first down on its own 10 with 5:25 to play. What followed was heartstopping.

On second down from the 13, Ross hit tight end Frank Love for 17 yards. Two plays later, Ross passed to Hartman for a 21-yard completion, giving the Rebels the ball on the 47. Two plays and a 15-yard holding penalty against the Rebels later, Ross passed 31 yards to Hartman, who was shaken up on the play after giving Tascosa the ball on Pampa's 40.

A two-yard gain by Ross, a six-yard loss by the quarterback (Kelly Baker) made the play for Pampa, an incomplete pass and a nine-yard loss by Ross (Tyler Drinnon and Rasmussen got the sack) ran out the clock.

and a 2-0 mark in district play. Tascosa has lost five in a row and are now 2-5.

Palo Duro edged Borger, 21-10, Friday, and Caprock nudged Amarillo, 15-6, Saturday in other 3-AAA games.

Palo Duro and Pampa are tied for the district lead with 2-0 marks, followed by Amarillo and Caprock, both 1-1, and Tascosa and Borger, both 2-2.

Utah State Pulls Out 21-16 Win Over WTSU

LOGAN, Utah (UPI) — Utah State rallied for two fourth quarter touchdowns to pull out a 21-16 homecoming win over West Texas State Saturday.

Tailback Louie Giammona, who rushed for 128 yards in the game, scored on a 13-yard run with less than three minutes to go, putting the Aggies ahead for the first time in the game.

The yardage for the junior tailback moved him to ninth in the USU list of career rushers—10 yards behind MacArthur Lane of the Green Bay Packers. Giammona also passed once for 13 yards, and caught one aerial for a 10-yard gain.

West Texas State had taken a 16-7 lead on three straight field goals by Bruce Wyre. His three-pointers, which all came from 30 yards or more out, tied a Romney Stadium record.

The Buffalos appeared to have stopped Utah State on the kickoff following Wyre's last field goal. But the Aggies gambled on a fourth and one rushing play at their own 29, and fullback Jerry Cox picked up the first down, starting Utah State on its first scoring drive of the final quarter.

USU quarterback Bill Swanson completed three straight passes, moving the ball to the Buffs' seven. Swanson then carried four yards on a keeper and Cox period on Ricky Rice's one-yard plunge. Utah State tied it up after an interception with Swanson carrying from the six. Al Knapp kicked his first of three extra points.

The Buffalos, however, countered with a Wyre field goal to take a 10-7 lead at the half.

Drake Knocks NMSU In MVC Clash, 29-28

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (UPI) — Tailback Jim Herndon plunged in from a yard out with 56 seconds left in the game and Drake got a last second assist from the clock Saturday to stop New Mexico State University 29-28 in a Missouri Valley Conference game.

Drake, which came from behind three times last week to beat Louisville, started its winning drive from its own 22 yard line with about three minutes left and trailing 28-21.

Quarterback Jeff Martin engineered the drive with passes of 12 and 31 yards to Mike Murphy and a 13-yarder to Jim O'Connor placing the Bulldogs at the Aggie 1 yard line.

Swanson completed nine of 13 passes for 165 yards, and rushed for another 43 for the Buffs.

Del Gaizo To Start For NY

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — Craig Morton will view the beginning of today's New York Giant-Dallas game from the same place he watched last month's first meeting of the two teams—on the sidelines.

Morton joined the Giants Wednesday and has since put long hours into studying the team's playbook. However, hoping to give Morton a little more time to acquaint himself with a new system, Giant Coach Bill Arnsperger has announced he will start Jim Del Gaizo at quarterback.

Del Gaizo, acquired from Green Bay prior to the start of the season, has started the Giants' last two games but was forced to the sidelines on the team's first offensive series against Washington last Sunday after suffering a broken nose. He will play with a distracting birdcage face mask and in considerable discomfort and should the Giants fail to move the ball.

Memphis State Trips Hayden Fry's Eagles

DENTON, Tex. (UPI) — Memphis State quarterback David Fowler hit James Thompson with one touchdown pass and Keith Wright returned a punt 97 yards for a score, a school record, Saturday as the Tigers whipped North Texas State 41-0 in Missouri Valley Conference action.

Memphis State scored in all four periods, including 20 points in the final frame, in completely dominating the Mean Green. Although North Texas rolled up 276 yards in total offense, the Mean Green crossed the midfield line only once, and that merely to the Memphis State 48 yardline.

The pace was set early as Bobby Ward returned the opening kickoff 57 yards to the North Texas 25 yardline. Four plays later, running back Ron Moon scored from the three yardline.

Fowler hit his first touchdown pass in the second quarter, an eight yard scoring strike to Thompson, and Moon picked up the two-point conversion on a run.

In the third quarter, Fowler hit Thompson with a 42 yard pass, and on the next play Jay Verna scored from the one yardline.

Huskers Nip OSU Cowboys In Crucial Big 8 Contest

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Tony Davis raced four yards for a third quarter touchdown Saturday to squeak 9th ranked Nebraska to a 7-3 win over Oklahoma State in a down to the wire Big Eight conference defensive battle.

Ohio State 'Griffins' By Northwestern 55-7

EVANSTON, Ill. (UPI) — Archie Griffin ran for 173 yards to tie a national collegiate rushing record and his versatile teammate Cory Greene threw two touchdown passes in part time action Saturday in a onesided 55-7 triumph for Ohio State over Northwestern.

It was the seventh win without defeat this season for the No. 1 ranked Buckeyes and ranked unbeaten streak to 18 games over two seasons.

Ohio State never left any doubt of its superiority, scoring on eight of the ten times it had possession. Griffin was one of 13 ball carriers who rushed for a total of 441 yards for the Buckeyes. One of them was his freshman little brother, Ray, who carried four times for 43 yards and caught two passes for 23 yards, including one touchdown.

Irish Shell Miami

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — Cool Tom Clements, utilizing the bootleg pass to perfection, threw for a pair of touchdowns and ran for one more Saturday in a convincing 38-7 victory for fifth-ranked Notre Dame over Miami of Florida.

Notre Dame took the opening kickoff, marched 79 yards to a touchdown in its five plays, and did all of its damage in the first 21 minutes.

Then the Irish held on to deal the Hurricanes their second loss against four wins.

Miami, after giving up the first touchdown of the game, grabbed the ensuing kickoff and marched all the way to the Notre Dame 10, but a field goal attempt was wide.

From that point, it was all Notre Dame as Clements, hitting end Al Demmerle and halfback Al Samuel, riddled the Miami defense.

A 47-yard pass from Clements to Demmerle gave the Irish their first touchdown. Clements scored on an eight yard keeper play and then threw a four-yard touchdown pass to Ken MacAfee.

Notre Dame got a break when Miami's Clarence Latimer fumbled a punt on his own 15 and the ball was recovered by Doug Becker on the nine. On the first play from scrimmage Wayne Bullock went the distance for the TD.

Tech Nips SMU In Key Tilt

DALLAS (UPI) — Tommy Cones' block of a Southern Methodist punt early in the fourth quarter Saturday gave Texas Tech the lift it needed to rally to a 20-17 victory over the Mustangs.

despite giving SMU two big breaks in the final two minutes, held off the Mustangs to keep the Red Raiders in the Southwest Conference race.

Texas Tech had trailed going into the final quarter.

17-13, but Cones' block of a punt by John Blackburn set the Raiders up at the SMU 26. Larry Issac, who gained 125 yards on 20 carries, scored the go ahead Raider touchdown four plays after the blocked punt, and it was then left to the Raider defenders to fight off two last SMU attempts.

Tech had taken a 13-7 lead at the half on an 11-yard touchdown run by backup quarterback Don Roberts and field goals of 23 and 27 yards by Brian Hall.

The Mustangs, who got a five yard touchdown run by David Bostick in the opening quarter, had moved in front in the third period on a five-yard scoring pass from Ricky Wesson to Oscar Roan and a 26-yard field goal by David Thompson.

The loss was the first in Southwest Conference play for the Mustangs after two wins, and SMU is now 5-2 for the season. The Raiders are also 21-in-league action and 5-1-1 for the year.

After Isaac's touchdown early in the final quarter, Texas Tech halted one Mustang rally attempt when Randy Olson intercepted a Wesson pass at the Tech 47 yard line. But after Tech failed to convert a fourth and one situation at the SMU 12 with three minutes remaining, the Mustangs had one final chance.

OU Rocks Kansas State As Davis Runs, Throws

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — Oklahoma quarterback Steve Davis ran three yards for one touchdown and threw scoring passes of 31 and 20 yards before retiring at half time in the Sooners' 63-0 rout of Kansas State Saturday.

The Big Red football machine ground out 530 yards rushing and added 63 yards in the air as the nation's leading offensive team earned its second shutout of the season.

Oklahoma's defense held the Wildcats to only 41 yards rushing and 119 yards passing. Cornerback Tony Peters recovered a K-State fumble and intercepted a Steve Grogan pass. The Sooners converted both turnovers into touchdowns.

Heisman trophy candidate Joe Washington, a junior halfback, rambled for 133 yards in 17 carries, including a 9 yard touchdown scamper in the second quarter. It was his 14th 100-plus yard game in the last 17 outings, despite the fact he played only two quarters.

Fullback Clyde Russell charged 51 yards for 6 points on the first play of the Sooners' sixth possession of the afternoon. Reserve quarterback Kerry Jackson scored from the 5 on a keeper in the third period and halfback Elvis Peacock tallied on a 64-yard punt return.

Third string fullback Calvin Harris added two fourth period touchdowns, on runs of 12 and 32 yards.

Davis opened the scoring with his 3 yard run deep into the first quarter. With 51 seconds left in the period, he connected on a 31-yard touchdown aerial end Tinker Owens.

With two minutes remaining in the half, Davis found tightend Wayne Hoffman standing clear in the endzone and lofted a 20 yard TD pass to cap a campaign that was sdt up by Peters' fumble recovery.

Washington's touchdown climaxed a 40 yard drive following the interception by Peters.

'Bama Routs Froggies Behind Junior Passer

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Junior Quarterback Robert Fraley, who won his starting berth with a 28-6 victory over Tennessee a week earlier, ran for one touchdown and passed for two others as 3rd-ranked Alabama rolled over Texas Christian 41-3 Saturday.

Running the Crimson Tide wishbone flawlessly, Fraley scored on a four-yard run with the game only three minutes old. He hit tight end George Pugh with a five-yard scoring pass near intermission, and opened the third period with a 15-yard pass to wide receiver Ozzie Newsome.

Running back Rick Watson added another touchdown on a one-yard plunge, and substitute quarterback Jack O'Rear passed 15 yards to Jerry Brown for another.

O'Rear finished off TCU with a 21-yard scoring run with less than two minutes left in the game.

TCU's only score, a 30-yard field goal by Tony Biasatti, came with 3:58 to play in the first half.

Alabama, now 7-0, led TCU 21-7 at intermission.

Buck Comeback Effort Thwarted, Snakes Win

WHITE DEER — White Deer staged a gallant comeback try, led by quarterback Dan Cathey who picked Stinnett's pass defense apart, but the effort wasn't enough as the state-ranked Rattlers clinched a spot in the post-season playoffs with a 34-22 win over the Bucks Friday night here.

White Deer, down 22-0 at the half, outscored Stinnett in the latter two periods. "It (the 22-0 lead) was just a little too much for our kids to come back on," said Larry Anthony, White Deer head coach.

"They ran the veer against us well as anyone could have. They're by far the best defensive team we've seen this year. There's no comparison. And they're the best offensive team, too. The lines are so physical, so strong, even when we were playing pretty well, they were controlling the line of scrimmage both ways."

If he could do the whole thing over again, Anthony says he would have his quarterback, Dan Cathey, start passing. "We just couldn't get our running attack established. Cathey had a fine night throwing the football (11 for 17 and 133 yards and two touchdowns — one to Sandy Hodge and one to Terry Sandlin.)"

Anthony was not totally disappointed about the game since White Deer made a battle of what had started out as a thrashing. "We thought we played pretty well. We made some basic mistakes in the first half that you can't make against a football team of that caliber."

"We felt like the thing that broke our backs was when they scored with 30 seconds left in the half." The touchdown made it 22-0 at halftime.

Two injuries hurt the Bucks in the comeback try. John Keeton, guard and linebacker, was lost with a pinched nerve in his neck, and halfback Denny Moss went out on the first series of the game with an ankle injury.

The Bucks, 5-2 overall and 2-1 in district, can only hope for a tie in 1-A, and even with that, Stinnett will represent the district in the playoffs. The Rattlers must play Sanford-Fritch, which is ineligible, and Canadian in the final two games.

So, even if White Deer can beat Gruver and Sunray, the fact that Stinnett beat White Deer will keep the Bucks out of the playoffs.

"But we're going to go ahead and try to win every ball game," said Anthony. The Bucks will start with Sanford-Fritch Friday night in Fritch.

2-B, 8-Man Miami Dehors Darrouzett

By KAREN McNAIR
MIAMI — Miami's Warriors beat the Darrouzett Longhorns, 36-26, at the Warriors' Homecoming game Friday night here.

It was the Warriors' second district game after they lost to Follett last week.

Craig Holt of the Longhorns started out the game with a five-yard touchdown run. Brian Clark of Miami caught a 25-yard pass from Danny Gilliland and Ken Jenkins ran for the extra points, making the score at halftime, 8-6.

In the third quarter, Kirk Flowers of Miami scored a 10-yard touchdown, with the extra points run by Gilliland. Gilliland ran 15 yards for the Warriors' third touchdown.

Craig Holt of the Longhorns caught a 30-yard pass from Jeff Holt for a touchdown.

Gilliland came back with a one-yard plunge and made the extra points, making the score, 30-12 in the third quarter.

Juan Segovia ran thirty yards for another Miami TD. The Longhorns' Wade Robertson came back with a one-yard plunge, and Kelly Lewis added the extra points.

Kevin Duke caught a 20-yard pass from Holt, making the final score, 36-26.

Rushers for Miami were Gilliland with 110 yards on 14 carries, Ken Jenkins with 42 yards on 13 rushes, Flowers with 38 yards on 10 attempts, Segovia with 34 yards on two carries, and Howard with 29 yards on seven tries.

For Darrouzett: Lewis with 106 on 190 carries and Craig Holt with 62 yards on 14 carries.

Segovia did an outstanding job on an interception, running it back 30 yards.

Miami will play Patton Springs Nov. 8 at Miami.

Arkansas Schoolboy Player Picks Up 608 Yards, 5 TD's

ELKINS, Ark. (UPI) — By halftime Friday night Elkins halfback John Bunch had covered more yards than most players do in a full game, but he was less than half through. By the end of the game, Bunch rushed 608 yards and scored five touchdowns against Winslow.

It set a state record for rushing and Elkins coach William Alvarez said he thought it broke a national high school rushing mark.

Alvarez said the old mark of 520 yards was set in 1953 by Ken Hall of Sugarland, Tex. Hall gained his on 11 carries.

It took Bunch 38 trips against the Winslow Squirrels to set his record.

The state record was set by Bunch two weeks ago when he rushed 441 yards against Yellville.

A 5-10, 167 pound senior, Bunch now has 1,873 yards for the season.

At halftime, Bunch had run for 292 yards and scored three touchdowns. His longest run was 83 yards for a TD.

His other scoring runs were for 46 yards on the first play from scrimmage, 17 yards, 39 yards and 32 yards. Other long carries were for 25, 17, 33, 45, 39, 23, 26, 32 and 33 yards.

The final score was Elkins 74, Winslow 0.

Winslow is winless this season and dresses out only 17 players.

Stout Defense, Balanced Offense Ruins Cowboys

By CHARLES BURK

HAPPY — Groom's state-ranked Dreaded Red Tigers journeyed to Happy Friday night where they displayed an awesome ground attack and a brilliant defense against a young, but game Cowboy team. Happy won the coin toss and managed a late, fourth-quarter score for its evening's best moments, but Groom was much more fortunate, winning 49-6.

Groom held Happy to zero yards then scored on its second play when Stan Britten, 140-pound senior halfback burst 57 yards. Senior Del Major tackled on the PAT, which was the start of a great performance from his talented toe, as he repeatedly kicked off into the end zone and converted on five straight PAT's.

Again, holding Happy without a first down, as they did for virtually three quarters, the Tigers marched 64 yards in six plays, capped by 10 yards from Tim Britten. Major kicked the extra point.

Forcing the Cowboys into a punting situation, again without a first, 205-pound junior all-state candidate Art Brown crashed through several blockers and blocked the punt, which was recovered on the Happy seven-yard line by Tony Treadwell.

It took the Tigers three plays to score, including a five-yard penalty against them. It was again Tim Britten, who scored from the two. Major made it three in a row.

On their first offensive play following another end-zone kickoff, the Cowboys were jarred loose from the ball on their own 20 and Gary Friemal recovered for Groom as the quarter ended 21-0.

The second quarter saw

Groom with a number of new faces in the lineup, stopped short on a fumble, recovered by Happy's senior tackle Ronny Jackson.

The quarter's only scoring drive took Groom 40 yards in four plays. Tim Britten got the call from the four. Major added his one. The half ended, 28-0.

Tim Britten took Groom's initial second-half snap from his own 25-yard line to paydirt with awesome downfield blocking by his team mates. Two particularly fine blocks, allowing Britten to score, were thrown by senior ends Duane Ollinger and Treadwell.

Groom again marched deep in the Cowboy territory only to have Happy recover a fumble on the Cowboys' own one-yard line. Three plays later, Treadwell downed Happy for a two-point safety from his defensive end position.

It was Treadwell who also set up Groom's next score as he returned the free kick 34 yards to Happy's 18. On the next play, center Donald Burgin and guard Friemal opened a gaping hole in the defensive line, allowing Tim Britten running room to spare for 18 yards and the TD. Major had a perfect night spoiled as Dennis Bell burst through to block the point after.

Groom's coach Don Sessom retired the remainder of his regulars early in the third quarter, and the battle was hard-fought for the rest of the game.

Happy got on the scoreboard when Terry McDonald went in from the two but was stopped short on the conversion attempt.

Chris Britten, sophomore brother of Tim, got the final score on a 40-yard, four-play drive, on which he carried each time. Bimbo Bivens had the point after partially blocked.

The scoring ended, 49-6. The game in general saw Groom's Tigers, very deserving of their state ranking, displaying perfection in the trenches with one of the most effective offensive lines in schoolboy football, despite the absence of regular guard Mike Koetting, who is on the injured list.

Also offensively, the backfield, with 424 yards and 49 points, spoke for itself under the able direction of junior quarterback Bimbo Bivens, who filled in last week also for senior Clifton Britten, who remained on the disabled list.

Defensively, Groom's Dreaded Red defense also speaks for itself, allowing less than 4 1/2 points per game and many of these being given up by the younger unit, and all except Friday's six points at the hands of Class A and AA schools.

Happy, though winless, is in a rebuilding year, playing young boys with lots of spirit and desire, never gives up and displays outstanding sportsmanship.

Individually, Groom's leading rusher was Tim Britten with 14 carries for 167 yards and five TD's in 2 1/2 quarters. He was followed by Stan Britten, 12 for 146 and one TD in 2 1/2 quarters.

Groom, 5-1-1, travels to Texline Friday in a district game.

We would like to discuss the different types of grips that can be put in the bowling ball. There is no such thing as a regular grip. The basic grips are conventional and fingertip, but every grip should be a variation based on individual needs.

With slight changes of span, pitches and weights, an unlimited variety of grips easily are obtained. The thing to look for is a good feel of the ball, so that comfort and the action you desire on the ball come without too much extra work. There is no magic grip, but the proper grip can do wonders. Proper ball and grip can help you ball hook, stop, gain or lose speed and react to your particular style the way you wish.

Too often you hear someone say his bowling ball fits like a glove. That's bad. It's supposed to fit like a bowling ball. No two hands are alike. There are vast differences in bone structure, skin, flesh, and elasticity. This is where the expert fitter comes into play. He takes all these factors into consideration along with how often you bowl, the type of ball you roll and your physical size, and the prescribes what should be right for you.

I hope this will be of some help to you and now here are some of the scores rolled in the past week.

Wheeler Bombs McLean Tigers

WHEELER — Wheeler piled up 430 total yards and held McLean to only 80 as the Mustangs belted the winless Tigers, 64-0, before an impressed Homecoming crowd here Friday night.

The win was Wheeler's biggest, scoring - wise, of the season as the Mustangs won their fourth game against three losses and are now 3-1 in 2-A play. McLean has lost all seven games this season.

Wheeler fumbled three times inside its 20 in the first quarter, but McLean was unable to turn the recoveries into touchdowns.

Kent Ware rambled 74 yards for the game's initial score with 6:07 left in the first quarter. Jim Verden, who was kept busy all night and did not miss an extra point, added the PAT.

Don Champman, a tailback who played quarterback later in the game, scored on a 10-yard sweep around left end with 3:46 to play in the quarter. Verden again kicked the extra point. The last first quarter score was a 12-yard off tackle burst by Dale Helton. It came with 1:15 remaining and Verden booted the point after.

With 7:35 left in the half, McLean punter Curtis

Simpson watched the ball sail over his head on the snap as he was standing in the end zone. The safety gave the Mustangs a 23-0 bulge. The only other second quarter score came on a four-yard run by Terry Tidwell. Verden gave the Mustangs a 30-0 halftime lead.

Don Brown shot off right guard for four yards and a touchdown at 7:06 in the third quarter. Verden's kick made it 37-0. In the fourth quarter, Helton went off right tackle and scampered 25 yards for another TD. Helton tried the point after this time and missed.

David Massick scored with 7:25 to play on a five-yard run off right tackle. Ware swept right end on the conversion run.

Verden, on a muffed field goal try, picked up the ball and rambled 10 yards to make it 57-0 at 2:35. Tommy Weaver's PAT try was wide.

The final touchdown came on a 22-yard pass from Chapman to Ken Elliott.

Cougars 27, Cincinnati 6

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Houston Cougars, relying on running backs Marshall Johnson, John Housman and Reggie Cherry who all gained more than 100 yards, used their relentless ground attack Saturday night to whip the Cincinnati Bearcats, 27-6.

Houston slashed for 399 rushing yards against the Bearcats, who had owned the nation's best rushing defense coming into the game. Four Houston fumbles caused by the rugged Bearcat defense prevented the Cougars from scoring more.

Cincinnati grabbed a 6-0 lead following Jim Hoch's recovery of the first Houston fumble at the Cougar 19.

Redskins, Cards Meet In Crucial Game Today

United Press International — The Washington Redskins have never lost to a team in their conference—the National Conference East—twice in the same season under George Allen. And today would be the most inopportune time for a first, as far as the Redskins are concerned.

Washington is in St. Louis to play the Cardinals, the lone remaining unbeaten team in the National Football League, and even though it's only the halfway point of the 1974 season, the game could be crucial to the Redskins' playoff hopes.

Allen's Redskins are 4-2 and trail the Cardinals by two games. A loss today would drop them three games behind, leaving them the difficult task of making up three games in the seven remaining games. Also involved are the Philadelphia Eagles, tied with the Redskins. Should the Eagles maintain their winning ways, the Redskins might even lose a shot at the wild card berth for best second place finish.

The Redskins have been impressive since Sonny Jurgensen took over at quarterback two weeks ago, upsetting Miami 20-17 and drubbing the New York Giants 24-3. St. Louis had to struggle to beat Houston last week but the Cardinals have made the "big play" their trademark this year.

Minnesota and New England, who had their five-game unbeaten streaks snapped last Sunday, tangle in another key game. The Patriots are tied with Buffalo for the AFC East lead.

Country Music

Honky-tonk, perhaps the hardest form of hard-core country and western music, came out of Texas a little over 30 years ago.

Alternately joyous and mournful, and with a strong rhythmic backbone and the ubiquitous glossings of a steel guitar, it was the sound of men like Ted Daffan, Al Dexter, Floyd Tillman, Ernest Tubb, Johnny Horton, and George Jones. You could boogie to it, cry in your beer to it, or just roll on down the line to it.

In the early 60's, with the rise of the Nashville sound, honky-tonk went underground to a great extent.

Indeed, it was still in evidence in much of the work of Ernest Tubb and George Jones, and at times came to the fore in the music of Jerry Lee Lewis, Charlie Walker, Willie Nelson, Merle Haggard, Porter Wagoner, Hank Thompson, and others, but in the last decade there has not been a new singer in the grand and raucous tradition of true honky-tonk to achieve superstar status in the country music world.

All that, however, is about to change, thanks to a Mississippi-born, Texas-raised, ex-sheet metal worker by the name of Moe Bandy.

After a handful of records on a trio of small, independent labels, Moe Bandy hooked up with GRC Records earlier this year. Since then, the young resident of San Antonio has enjoyed a pair of back-to-back hit singles and a smash debut album.

Bandy's LP, "I Just Started Hatin' Cheatin' Songs Today" (GRC GADJ-10005), contains both of his

FASHIONS TRENDS
South America exports a powerful influence upon world fashion trends, predominately in the forms of interesting motifs, designs and fabrics — mainly cotton. Textile exports for Brazil alone have quadrupled the last three years. Mrs. Becky Culp, area clothing specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, reports.

recent hits: the title song and "Honky-Tonk Amnesia." On these and eight other tunes, Bandy's oceanic Texas head register (reminiscent of George Jones circa "Open Pit Mine" and "White Lightning") delivers ample explanation of his sudden ascent to fame.

His songs of San Antonio women, jealousy, whiskey and love are just about the freshest, most exciting things to happen to country music in more than a few months. They are fresh and exciting not only because they are so musically excellent, but also because they represent the makings of a new trend in country music.

Country music has always been greater in scope and breadth than any other type of popular music. Of late, though, there has been a tendency in country music to put on the rose-colored glasses of pop.

There is most definitely a place for lightheartedness, whimsy and innocent charm in any music, but to lose sight of the "whiskey and blood" that the Dixon Brothers and Roy Acuff sang of in "Wreck on the Highway" can only lead to a dilution of country's music's raw power and realism.

Country music's most amazing facet is its ability to produce songs like "The Happiest Girl in the Whole U.S.A." and "Sunday Morning Coming Down" in the same creative breath, at its best, country offers a balance of outlooks, some through rose-colored glasses and some through bloodshot eyes.

Moe Bandy seems to be more than slightly aware of that balance. His moments of whimsy, such as "Cowboys and Playboys," is earthy instead of corny and pleasantly humorous without coming on too strong in its attempts to elicit a grin.

On both "I Just Started Hatin' Cheatin' Songs Today" and "Honky-Tonk Amnesia," he provokes goosebumps of emotional empathy without ever getting overly pretentious in delivery or phrasing. Nor is his emotionalism ever excessive; instead of soap opera, Bandy gives us cinema verite.

It doesn't take much of a soothsayer to predict that Moe Bandy will soon develop into one of the premier figures in modern country music. He has certainly gotten off to a strong start with "I Just Started Hatin' Cheatin' Songs Today."

Youth Center Wrap Up

YOUTH CENTER SCHEDULE — The Pampa Youth Center is run on a daily schedule throughout the year. The schedule is divided into two seasons. One is the time period during the school year and the other is our summer vacation schedule. The Center is now in the school schedule.

On Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Fridays the Center opens at 4 p.m. and closes at 10 p.m. Other activities go on during the morning hours, but these are specially scheduled events.

During these hours swim lessons are given from 4-6 p.m., the Dolphin Swim Club workouts then from 6-7:30 and this is followed by an all ages swim period from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. whereby the public may swim.

On Saturday the Center is open from 1-5 p.m. and on Sunday from 2-5 p.m. The swimming pool is open on these days from 1-4:30 p.m. and 2-4:30 p.m. We are closed Tuesdays.

The gym is open for recreation on weekdays till 10 p.m. except Mondays. On Monday nights beginning at 5:30 p.m. the volleyball leagues compete. On other days and nights the gym is open for volleyball practice, basketball practice, trampolining, tumbling and wrestling.

Periodic athletic leagues are offered throughout the year. In September the fall volleyball league competes, in November thru March the basketball league is offered followed by the Spring volleyball league.

In the recreation hall there is ping pong, pool tables, foosball machines, pin ball machines, an auto driving machine, chess, checkers and other quiet games.

SWIM LESSONS — Mothers, the Youth Center teaches swim lessons to children and also adults the year round. At present during our school schedule the swim lessons are given from 4-5 and 5-6 p.m. Classes meet on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Fridays for 10 meeting dates. This gives each child 10 hours of instruction.

Periodically during the year we teach all of the classes offered by the American Red Cross. These are beginners, advanced beginners, intermediates, swimmers, and Junior and Senior lifesaving.

All classes are taught by our very qualified water safety instructor, Ruth Carter. Lessons are free to Youth Center members and $5 to non-members. Memberships are always available for purchase.

BASKETBALL LEAGUE — Although we are just getting started in football season, it is not too early to begin plans for your basketball team. The Center will again sponsor the men's basketball league this winter. The league is open to any team whether from Pampa or out-of-town.

The first organizational meeting will be held on Oct. 31 at 7 p.m. in the Youth Center. Tentative plans are for a pre-season invitational basketball tournament starting approximately Nov. 13 or 18 to be followed by league play starting on Dec. 1. Entry fee will be $60 for each team plus the referee's

In addition to the team fee each player must be a Center member or pay a 60 cents team admittance fee each game. Entry fee for the pre-season tournament will be $20 per team.

CALICO CAPERS — For those adults who like to square dance, the Center would like to recommend to you the Calico Capers Square Dance Club. This club meets at the Youth Center each Sat. night except fifth Saturday nights to dance to a guest caller. Chuck Eckhart is the current president and he would invite you to come by any Saturday night to see about joining the club.

Mainly About Mobeetie

from Wheeler will be among the singers features.

Mrs. Jewel Leonard, who was a patient in the Parkview Hospital in Wheeler for several days was dismissed Thursday last week and reports feeling much better.

Clyde Dickey was dismissed from St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo Thursday last week after several days stay.

Douglas Baird, who has been a patient in the High Plains Hospital in Amarillo for some two weeks is reported much improved at this time and is hoping to be coming home very soon.

News was received recently of an accident where Mrs. C.E. Roper of Wheeler, formerly a Mobeetie resident sustained several broken bones and is now a patient in an Amarillo hospital.

Ernest Adams is still a patient in the Parkview Hospital in Wheeler.

Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dyson were his brother and family. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dyson and Bobby of Oceanside, Calif.

Mrs. Emalie London of Groom and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Maggie Myers of Amarillo, spent a few days visiting in Mobeetie, early last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thad Bunn of Ida Belle, Okla., visited Mr. and Mrs. Dale Vandever and family and Mr. and Mrs. James Bunn recently.

Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Patterson, R. St. John, Rev. and Mrs. Aaron Laverly and family and Mrs. Tassie Leonard attended the Annual Baptist Association meeting held in Wheeler recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Risner and their family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Risner, William and Susie of Perryton, Mrs. Donna Garst, Jan. Butch and Teresa of Amarillo, and Bobby Risner of Mobeetie enjoyed a weekend in the Mountains of Colorado. Mrs. Risner's sister, Mrs. Juanita Watson of Amarillo also enjoyed the outing with the Risners.

Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Atkins were their son and their grandchildren, Herbert Atkins, Teresa, David and Tony of Amarillo and Mrs. Atkins' sister and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Alf West of Pampa.

Mr. and Mrs. R.H. Dyson of Skellytown, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dyson, Sunday afternoon.

Keith McLaughlin and boy Kent, Jimmy and Mike of Pampa, visited Mr. and Mrs. Brooks McLaughlin, last weekend.

Mrs. Peggy Dunn of Wheeler, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tince Williams, Sunday. Mrs. Christene Meeks, Mr. Williams' sister of Fort Worth is also visiting the Williams.

Mrs. R.B. Leonard was a Sunday dinner guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Leonard.

Mrs. C.W. Burch attended to business in Pampa; Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Dyson and his brother and family Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dyson and Bobby Roy of Oceanside, Calif., visited another brother, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dyson of Floydado, Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Wilber Beck attended a District Avon meeting in Pampa, Wednesday last week. While there she visited with the Rev. and Mrs. L.V. Grace.

Mrs. Gazelle Patterson with her daughter Mrs.

Lawayne Hogan, and son, Brian, of Pampa visited and attended to business in Amarillo, Monday.

The semi-monthly meeting of the Fort Elliott Club convened Tuesday, October 15, at 2:00 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Margret Trout, with nine guests and ten members in attendance.

Mrs. Eula Johnson, president of the club called the meeting to order giving a short devotional, reading the Twenty-Third Psalm from the Living Bible and reading a beautiful poem "God Is There." Mrs. Leona House, program leader for the day, brought a very interesting program on Arts and Crafts entitled "Christmas Gifts and Decorations to Make and Give." Both guests and members displayed wares they are making for gifts. Those showing their efforts were Mrs. Bessie Galmor showing a picture she painted and a waste paper basket she made from plastic egg cartons. Mrs. Maurita Smith displayed Christmas decorations she has made. Mrs. Janie-Hostin demonstrated figures she made from plaster of paris and painted. Mrs. Charlene Sherburne showed a picture decoupage and ready to hang. Mrs. Sharon Arganbright and Mrs. Sharon Horton illustrated the many ways candles can be molded into interesting shapes. Mrs. House and Mrs. Sherburne showed crocheted pillow tops from scraps of yarn.

Mrs. Patterson will be hostess to the club at the next meeting when the program will be: The Nation's 200th Birthday, specifically, "Historical Old Mobeetie," with Mrs. Atkins as program leader.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 27
Your birthday today: With an increase in energy early this coming year, you seek a broader, sounder base for operations and development. In the later months, you consolidate gains and add to your reserves and working equipment. Relationships are challenged and require real feelings that are well expressed. Today's natives are go-getters who criticize readily and push hard at all they do.

Monday, October 28
Your birthday today: An urge for personal growth filters into all phases of your daily life. Changes in the first half of the year force further readjustments, many of which are unexpected. Relationships take on new dimensions; your real feelings emerge and determine the outcome, no matter how illogical. Today's natives have great potential for acquisition of wealth and its management.

Aries [March 21-April 19]
Obstinate people require careful handling and a deft touch. Creative ventures move along well with moderate effort. Family ties require consideration, special care.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]
Your opinions carry more weight if you wait until asked for them. Meanwhile, quietly pick up loose ends, attend to neglected tasks, complete what you started.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]
The ability to "turn a deaf ear" is a great asset today. However, you possibly hear something unfavorable about yourself that you should be aware of—listen, learn and grow!

Cancer [June 21-July 22]
Domestic details complicate business and career just enough to inspire lasting improvements. New ventures begun today will have to be redeveloped later.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]
For the moment, expect nobody nearby to agree with you. Select a go-it-alone project and pursue a practical course of action. Correspondence brings in interesting items.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]
Good sense in carrying out existing arrangements is preferable to chasing after larger, would-be deals. Research, fact-finding errands, brief travels are favored.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]
Let it be an easy day. Make others happy by quietly expressing your feelings. Cooperation comes readily in everything that requires attention now.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]
Once you've done what is expected of you, plan for the future. Take one step at a time, and sketch in details of the early stages.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]
Work off nervous energy by attending to household. If you have the impulse to span distances, first consider what the conditions are there.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]
You've been much too tense lately. Relax completely and enjoy your home and family. Compare notes and share anything but shop talk.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]
You have an extra chance to review your resources. Line up budgets and accounts; make advance social plans. Write replies to letters that have not been answered.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]
Treat today as a vacation. Enjoy every detail of a holiday excursion and discover what you've missed out on recently.

The Almanac

United Press International
Today is Sunday, Oct. 27, the 300th day of 1974 with 65 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Venus, Mars, Saturn and Mercury.

The evening star is Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Scorpio.

Theodore Roosevelt, 26th president of the United States, was born Oct. 27, 1858.

On this day in history: In 1871, the political chief of New York's Tammany Hall—Boss Tweed—was arrested on charges of defrauding the city.

In 1904, the first practical subway began operating in New York City, from the Brooklyn Bridge to 145th St. in Manhattan.

In 1917, concert violinist Jascha Heifetz made his debut at Carnegie Hall at the age of 16.

In 1961, the United Nations adopted a resolution protesting Russian detonation of a 50-megaton atomic bomb.

A thought for the day: President Theodore Roosevelt said, "We demand that big business give the people a square deal; in return we must insist that when any one engaged in big business honestly endeavors to do right he shall himself be given a square deal."

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — It is plain from President Ford's first political foray that the main issue in this year's election is whether we are to have a "veto-proof" Congress.

If this makes the campaign sound a bit like an antiperspirant or detergent commercial, it may be that politics has finally found its true level.

Stay tuned for the following paid political announcement:

Friends, are your favorite pieces of legislation coming back from the White House tarnished with tell-tale veto messages? And is the Congress that you've been electing too weak to remove these blemishes?

Then vote for Hubert McBosh. With enough Democratic like McBosh, Congress will be 99 and 44-100ths per cent veto-proof.

Republicans, quite understandably, contend that veto-proofing Congress is politically undesirable. In making this argument, they sound a lot like environmentalists.

One GOP candidate, Barry Blither, was almost Ralph Naderish when I asked him about it.

"There's no doubt that if you spray Congress with a heavy coating of Democrats you can eradicate vetoes," Blither told me. "But in doing so, you upset the balance of our political system."

Tests have shown that massive veto-proofing spreads Democratic influence throughout the bodies of Congress so that the entire legislative process becomes contaminated by it.

Traces of Democratic influence have even been found in such remote and unlikely places as the Joint Committee on Reduction of Federal Expenditures.

We also know from past experience that when Democratic influence seeps in until it permeates the legislative process, it is almost impossible to root it out.

Under our political system, Democrats are held in check by their natural enemies. Then you destroy those enemies through veto-proofing, you create a political imbalance that destroys the two-party structure.

I said, "You may be right in theory, but I'm not sure it would work out that way. Haven't political scientists discovered that when Democrats are not restrained by their natural enemies they attack each other? Wouldn't this internecine conflict serve to keep their influence from getting out of hand?"

There is some evidence to support that hypothesis," Blither admitted.
