

USS Enterprise Trip Causing Controversy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Enterprise plowed through Asian waters this week, producing on land a wake of reports, denials, speculation and questions — mostly unanswered.

On Tuesday the Enterprise and five accompanying ships left the Philippines for undisclosed points.

There were reports they were bound for Vietnam as a show of force in the face of a Communist offensive. The Pentagon said flatly "no" and Navy sources indicated the task force was headed instead for the Indian Ocean.

Under normal conditions, the departure of the Enterprise and the Navy's refusal to say where it was going might have attracted little notice. Carriers of the 7th Fleet routinely sail from Subic Bay and, for security reasons, destinations almost never are announced before the ships arrive on station.

But conditions were not normal. South Vietnam had just suffered its worst defeat since U.S. troops pulled out of the country two years ago — the capture by Communist forces of an entire province.

On Thursday UPI quoted U.S. civilian sources in Saigon saying the task force was entering the Gulf of Thailand on the Western side of South Vietnam. Defense officials in Washington called the report "totally false." UPI's sources said the ships would linger briefly in the area, then head for the Indian Ocean and war games with the Australian Navy.

Later Thursday UPI received a report that two South Vietnamese spotter planes had sighted the Enterprise in the Gulf of Thailand, circling as though on station. The Pentagon officially had "no comment," but sources privately maintained the Enterprise's route did not include the Gulf of Thailand.

The Women's Strike For Peace sent a telegram to President Ford Thursday saying: "Shocked by recent reports of movement of U.S. warships toward Vietnam, we condemn any U.S. government attempt to reinvolve us in the war in Indochina. We hope that this is not an attempt to recreate a crisis atmosphere at a time when Congress is considering appropriations for Indochina."

The departure of two destroyers from Charleston, S.C. — a routine replacement for two other destroyers that had spent the last six months with the tiny 25-year-old Middle East Task Force, according to defense sources — sparked speculation these ships might be joining the Enterprise.

The Enterprise did spend several days in international waters off the coast of South Vietnam last month, when the Communist offensive against Phuoc Long Province started.

That visit, publicly unnoticed at the time, marked one of several times in the past two years that U.S. warships have cruised off Vietnam.

Navy officials said U.S. warships sail in that area now for the same reason they visit other oceans and seas around the globe: "This demonstrates our right to sail in international waters anywhere. The only way to maintain the principle of freedom of the seas is to exercise that right."

The Enterprise and its escorts — the nuclear-powered cruiser Long Beach, two destroyers, a support ship and an oiler — were reported by Washington sources to be bound for the Straits of Malacca, the entrance to the Indian Ocean which lies between Indonesia and Malaysia.

While in the Indian Ocean, the Enterprise might follow the example of another U.S. carrier two months ago and sail into the Persian Gulf. The brief November visit to the Persian Gulf by the carrier Constellation was the first in a quarter-century.

The Indian Ocean is considered a strategic body of water because much of the Western world's oil must pass through it and because it lies adjacent to the troubled Middle East.

Critics question the wisdom of such a policy.

Retired Rear Adm. Gene LaRoque, a frequent critic of the Pentagon, said naval task forces often are dispatched as a "knee-jerk reaction."

REGION 1 BAND CONCERT — Randy Vaughn, left, director of the Hereford High School Band, visits with one of his students, Debbie Klechak, senior clarinet player from Hereford. Over 450 band students from across the Panhandle have gathered in Pampa to take part in four concerts beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday at M.K. Brown Auditorium. Thirty-nine high school and junior high students from Pampa earned slots in the bands during competition conducted in December. Northers, Twisters Puzzle Weathermen

While tornadoes, high winds and thunderstorms hit parts of the state, an Arctic cold front swept into the Panhandle region and deposited an inch of snow in the Pampa area.

Official low this morning was 21, but lower readings were recorded. Yesterday's high reached 61 before the front entered last night.

A light shower wet the city around 8 p.m., with snow flurries beginning shortly before 11 p.m.

Clear to partly cloudy skies are expected to remain through Saturday, with an overnight low tonight in the middle teens. High Saturday should reach into the low 40s.

The snow left .26 inch of moisture.

In UPI reports, Tornadoes, high winds and thunderstorms spinning out of a front of Arctic air moved damaged homes and businesses across Texas before dawn today but injured no one. In addition a strange bright light described by some as a fireball lit up the sky during the evening.

City Receives 2 Applications

City Manager Mack Wofford said today only two applications for the Pampa police chief vacancy had been received up until noon today.

Both are from out of town, Wofford added.

City commissioners, in an executive session last Tuesday, opened the post to applicants for the job left vacant by the death of Chief James B. Conner and approved the city manager's recommendation that George Wallace, assistant chief, be named acting chief until the post is filled.

Wofford announced that persons wishing to be considered for the post should submit a complete written resume, including experience and education, by Friday, Feb. 17.

He stated a review of applicants would be completed by Feb. 24 and appointment to the post is expected to be made on or before March 1.

skies to Texas today, pushing the bad weather ahead of it to the east.

The only partially explained light caused a flood of telephone calls of law enforcement agencies in Texas and the Southwest. The light was seen in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

A spokesman for NASA in Houston said the light was not the second stage of the Saturn V rocket which went into orbit in May, 1973 and was expected to fall to earth tonight. Other weather watchers called the light a fireball.

A tornado watch for 18 North Central and Northeast Texas counties expired at 3 a.m. without causing injury, but twisters and severe thunderstorms, accompanied by strong gusty winds caused damages through North Central, Central and Southeast Texas.

At Sherman, a twister touched down in a small shopping center without causing much damage but went on to unroof a house, collapse two greenhouses nearby and smash the glass in a service station. Officials estimated damages at about $2,000 dollars.

India Gives Nod To Palestinians

United Press International India today became the first non-Arab country to extend formal recognition to the Palestine Liberation Organization, giving the guerrilla group another diplomatic victory.

Indian Ambassador to Lebanon S. K. Singh and PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat signed documents accrediting a PLO representative to India, a representative of the Indian Embassy in Beirut said.

The PLO operates information offices in several European countries, mostly Communist nations, and also has an office in New York.

But its representative in India will have the status of a diplomat, enjoying privileges and diplomatic immunity, an Indian spokesman said.

Last year the U.N. General Assembly granted the PLO observer status at its sessions and allowed PLO leader Yasser Arafat to address the world body during the debate on Palestine over strenuous objections from the United States and Israel.

France, whose Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues was the first Western foreign minister to meet Arafat in late 1974, has not gone as far as India in affording the PLO formal recognition.

President Anwar Sadat of Egypt, meanwhile, said he would welcome additional Israeli withdrawals from Arab territories it occupies to set the stage for renewed Middle East peace talks in Geneva.

"If Israel is ready to withdraw from an Arab territory, we should not refuse that. We should take it. Regaining every inch of our land is a sacred duty," Sadat said.

"I do not accept less than the return of all my land... Sinai, and all the Golan Heights, and Jerusalem." But he added he would accept a gradual Israeli withdrawal from those territories.

President Anwar Sadat of Egypt has called for an Israeli withdrawal from Syria, Egypt and Jordan to set the stage for renewed Middle East peace talks in Geneva.

The next step in withdrawal, if it takes place, should be fulfilled as a prelude to the Geneva conference, and with the aim of defusing the bomb which is about to explode," Sadat said in an interview published Thursday.

The Egyptian leader, in an interview with the Beirut newspaper An Nawaar, said the peace talks "cannot coexist under the threat of the bomb going off."

Israeli troops seized the Sinai territory in Egypt along with the Golan Heights in Syria and the West Bank of Jordan during the 1967 Middle East War.

Inquest Slated Into Death Of R.T. Prigmore

LUBBOCK — A Lubbock justice of the peace has scheduled an inquest hearing Jan. 17 into the death of Richard T. Prigmore, a former Pampa, killed when he was struck Tuesday by a train near Shallowater.

Prigmore, 40, a Midland attorney, had been released from an Odessa jail Monday on $20,000 bond in connection with charges of interstate transportation of stolen property and assault on a federal officer.

Prigmore was struck by a train about 4:40 p.m. Tuesday.

Officials said he carried no identification on his body. Officers found a 1970 model car about nine feet from the incident and obtained identification of the owner through the license number.

The 80-car train was reportedly traveling 35 miles per hour when the mishap occurred.

Prigmore had been arrested and charged Monday and was arraigned before a U.S. magistrate before being released under two surety bonds. He was accused of attempting to sell a $50,000 painting taken from the home of Bennie Sue Thomas in Midland.

A special agent of the El Paso FBI office said Prigmore had been under surveillance for a month in connection with the burglary. He was arrested by agents of the FBI and Midland police outside a post-office in Odessa. A scuffle allegedly occurred during the process of the arrest and charges of assault were filed by officers.

Mr. Prigmore was a graduate of Pampa High School.

Adult Basic Education Begins New Semester

Adult Basic Education, a program designed to offer adults opportunity to obtain high school accreditation, will begin the spring semester in Pampa Jan. 14.

Students may enroll beginning at 7 p.m. in the Baker Elementary School gymnasium, according to Floyd Sackett, Principal at Baker.

Don Nelson, area vocational coordinator, or Sackett, will provide information to adults interested in the program.

For information, telephone 669-2792 or 665-3756.

The program, a public service opportunity provided by the Pampa Independent School District, is designed for persons 15 years of age or older who have not completed basic education and obtained a diploma.

Subjects to be offered included reading, English, arithmetic, science, history, and English as a second language. All materials will be provided free of charge.

Sackett stated there are no basic educational requirements limiting student participation. Adults completing previous

Plant Design To Be Given To Committee

An overview of the design for Pampa's proposed $1.24 million waste treatment plant will be presented to the Environmental Committee of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission next Thursday in Amarillo.

City Manager Mack Wofford and City Commissioner Joe Curtis will make the presentation as required by the Texas Water Quality Board and the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

The city manager said today Pampa's Step 3 of the application for 75 percent federal aid on the project must be submitted to the TWQB by Feb. 15.

Scrutiny by the PRPC is required to determine if the local project conforms with long-range plans for environmental protection in the Panhandle region.

Pampa has been designated No. 4 on the federal aid priority list among some 400 Texas towns seeking grants for sewage treatment facilities.

When final project approval of the TWQB and the EPA is made, the city would expect to receive a total of approximately $900,000 in federal aid, leaving between $300,000 and $400,000 to be financed by a local bond issue.

'WHAT WAS IT?'

Streaking Fireball Causes Great Rash Of Questions

By LARRY HOLLIS
Yes, Margaret, there was a fire.

It may or may not have been caused by a fireball which streaked across the skies south of Pampa about 7 p.m. Thursday night, creating a rash of suppositions about "What was it?"

The object, which was witnessed by this reporter, his wife, a couple of friends and apparently thousands of other people from Eastern New Mexico to Oklahoma to North Central Texas, still remains unidentified.

Most authorities, though, speculated it was a meteorite which entered the earth's atmosphere and burned up as it approached ground, or possibly a rocket piece.

It appeared in the southwestern section of the sky as a bright point of light which quickly streaked across towards the southwest, increasing in intensity and changing color from white to yellow to orange to green before it disappeared behind a bank of clouds.

An early report said a piece falling from the object caused a grass fire on a third of an acre on land farmed by W.C. Epperson two miles east of the city on Highway 152, on the south side of the road.

Fire department officials said a witness reported a burning object fell from the sky, hit the ground and bounced, creating the grass fire.

No confirmation was made of the object after fire department trucks rushed out to quell the blaze. Officials said the darkness prevented a search for the object.

Other speculations for the fireball, which was reported from Clovis, Fort Sumner and Carlsbad in New Mexico, from El Paso to the Dallas-Fort Worth region in Texas and throughout southern Oklahoma, included a UFO (flying saucer), a piece of rocket and "space junk."

The National Aeronautics

and Space Administration denied it was the second stage of the Saturn V rocket that carried Skylab into space in 1973. That is scheduled to enter the atmosphere sometime today, officials said, and is currently being tracked.

But it's still a possibility it may be an object from other space vehicles. The North American Air Defense Command's computer was being checked to determine if it was a space vehicle — the computer tracks 3,179 items.

The object was sighted on radar at Canon Air Force Base in New Mexico, so it was there. So no mass hysteria.

A scientist at the University of Texas - Arlington said, "These fireballs are really not that uncommon, but such a big piece to light up the whole sky are relatively rare. Anything like that must have been pretty large — on the order of a couple of pounds or more."

Whatever it was, it's gone. We hope.

FIRST BAPTIST SIGNS CONTRACT — A contract to construct a new sanctuary for the First Baptist Church was signed between representatives of the congregation and Remy Construction Co., in a meeting Thursday night. The contract, for $1,269,000, was let by bid to the Amarillo firm. Taking part in the final negotiations were R.B. Stevens, seated left, president of Remy, and Marvin C. Webster, chairman of Deacons. Standing, from left, are: Herbert Brasher, architect, Rev. Claude Cone, pastor, and Milo Carlson, chairman of the building committee. (Photo by Jim Williams)

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Budget cuts hit target

Considering the pressures being brought upon him to alter his conservative economic policy, President Ford has taken several courageous steps recently.

He vetoed a bill that would have provided a 22.7 per cent increase in veterans' benefits because it would have been inflationary. He stood by the principle that the federal budget should be cut by sending to the House and Senate a list of 135 steps that Congress could take to trim federal spending $4.6 billion. Finally, in assessing national priorities carefully, the President declined to touch budgetary muscle tissue, focusing particularly on cuts in social and veterans' programs which are politically popular.

President rejected the political expediency in favor of common sense. He now will be faced with taunts of hardheartedness on the one hand and a policy of drifting on the other. There will be economists who say that a cut of $4.6 billion in a 1.4 trillion economy is meaningless. These critics are easier to answer than those who believe that a policy of holding the line is no policy at all.

A cut of nearly $5 billion would show American people that Washington at long last means business in the fight against inflation. It would tone down a host of other federal deficit policies not reflected in the $306 billion budget — including the demands on the nation's credit by the Export-Import Bank, the Postal Service, programs to assist public and private housing, urban and rural development programs, railroads, shipbuilding, health, education, small business and a legion of other off-budget borrowing. Nor do we sneer at any federal retrenchment, however small, that derails the governmental proclivity to prove Parkinson's law.

There also is an answer to those who believe that the only good programs worthy of the name are those that add instead of subtract.

Despite the billions of dollars that the United States of America has poured into exactly the kind of programs that the liberals are pressing upon the administration and Congress, the problems have become worse instead of better.

New realities, old myths

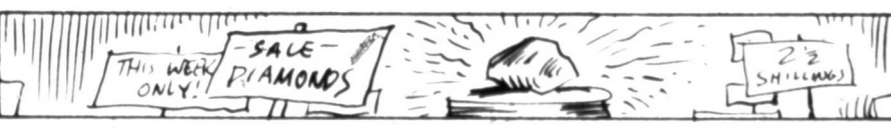

The resignation of Sen. J. William Fulbright appeared to be in keeping with a practice that allows the successor of a retiring senator to gain an advantage in seniority. Four other senators whose service ends with the 93rd Congress resigned in December so their elected successors can be appointed and gain an edge in the perquisites of seniority when the new Congress is organized.

In Sen. Fulbright's case, however, Arkansas law prevents such a maneuver to install Gov. Dale Bumpers to serve out the last few days of his term. The senator chose to resign in order to enhance his retirement benefits. So it goes with the intricacies of senatorial rules and tradition.

Sen. Fulbright's resignation also will begin an assessment of his 32 years of service in Congress, particularly the last 30 years, which he spent in the Senate. The principal focus will be on his 15 years as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee — a group that Sen. Fulbright orchestrated with skill, occasionally deflecting presidents from their foreign policies and often jarring the sensibilities of Americans.

Time alone will place the senator in his niche. It will take the crucible of history to bring into perspective the true contribution of this controversial man.

His defeat at the polls last fall, however, dispels the myth that gaining fame in Washington necessarily impresses the folks back home.

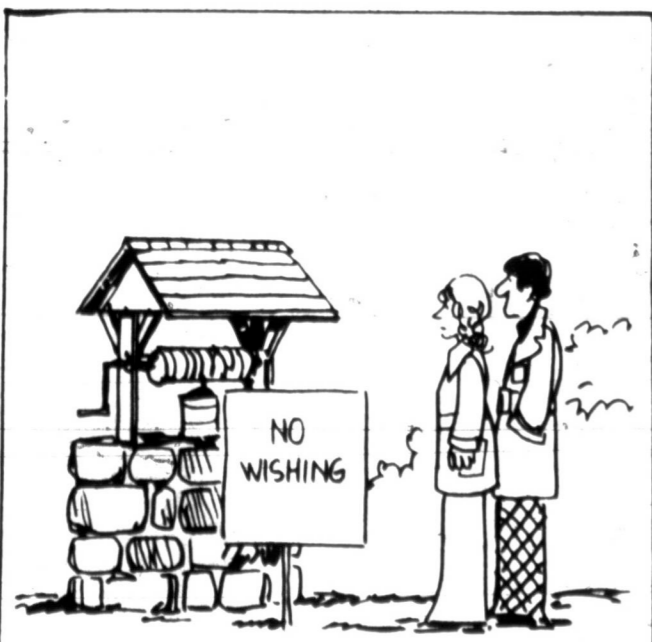

Tradition relates that the Florentine Diamond, one of the largest and most famous diamonds in the world was picked up by a peasant and sold for 2½ shillings.

People once thought that guardian angels stood at either ear and touched the right if someone spoke favorably of their patron, the left if ill.

CONSERVATIVE ADVOCATE

Invasion Of Middle East?

By WILLIAM RUSHER

There are enough trial balloons floating around to convince at least this observer that somebody is giving serious consideration to a military invasion and occupation of the Middle Eastern oil fields.

The Ford administration isn't crazy, and it would naturally want to know in advance how such a step would go over with the American people. At a minimum it would want to prepare them for the idea — conditioning opinion. It's called the effort would be not exactly to sell the proposal, but to get it accepted as one of several options that everybody recognizes as theoretically available and therefore open for discussion.

Hence, I suspect, this sudden upsurge in serious references to the possibility of military action. Senator So-and-so says he prefers some other solution — but implicitly leaves this one hanging there, no quite ruled out. Magazine "X" describes — purely hypothetically — of course — the logical invasion area the western coast of the Persian Gulf, from Kuwait to Qatar. An unpublicized State Department official denies that any such step is contemplated, but ostentatiously refuses to be drawn into "speculation" over what might happen if a new round of fighting breaks out between Israel and the Arab states.

It is all very murky. Vice President Rockefeller, being interviewed by Barbara Walters on the "Today" show, unhesitatingly identifies the energy crisis as the central problem facing America and the world — but disappears in a cloud of blather when asked how to cope with it. Secretary Brezhnev schedules a trip to Cairo — then mysteriously cancels it. The Egyptian Chief of Staff visits Moscow, however, Henry Kissinger accompanies Mr. Rockefeller on a "golfing holiday" in Puerto Rico, and lets it be known that he may soon make another trip to the Middle East. The atmosphere is reminiscent of the end of the Third Movement of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, when all one hears are a few flickering strings against a dark bass background. The tension grows until it is almost unbearable — and then is released, in the gigantic crescendo that opens the Fourth Movement.

In Conductor Ford planning some such Fourth Movement? If he is, and if it succeeds, he will certainly have ended the growing criticism of him as Mr. Do-Nothing. On the contrary, he would then shine forth as the ultimate Man of Action — strong, silent, decisive (with Vice President Rockefeller, no doubt, in charge of reorganizing the world's energy supplies). The stock market, and the economy generally, with the nightmare oil crisis over at last, would surely begin a long boom. Western Europe and Japan, emancipated and overjoyed, would gratefully resume following the lead of the triumphant Americans. And there would be surcease, too, for Israel in her long struggle to survive, since one side effect of a successful American military invasion of the Middle East would unquestionably be to guarantee her borders.

Indeed, the frenzied triumph of Beethoven's Fourth Movement is no bad analogy if the plan I have described really exists — and if it comes off as described. But what if that opening crescendo keeps right on growing until it explodes into World War III? There is no blinking at the fact that the possibility is there — and that it is real. Look at a map of the Middle East. Any American landing on the eastern shore of the Arabian peninsula would surely bring instant Soviet occupation of Syria and Iraq, and very probably Soviet military incursions into Lebanon, Jordan, Saudi Arabia and Iran — not of mention possible Soviet troop landings in Egypt or even Libya, far behind the U.S. lines. Are Americans prepared to live with that state of affairs? More cordily: are they prepared to die for it?

These, very possibly, are the questions that Messrs. Ford, Rockefeller and Kissinger are pondering, as 1975 opens in an atmosphere of furtiveness and tension.

WATCH ON WASHINGTON

Make Work Program Not A Cure For Joblessness

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 — We have now reached the height of economic absurdity.

To reduce demand and fight inflation, Arthur Burns and the Federal Reserve tighten the money supply so drastically that industries retrench and huge numbers of men and women are thrown from work.

To remedy this tragedy, President Ford and Congress propose an expensive public service program and extended unemployment benefits to increase demand. This will, of course, act to keep prices up.

The net result is that hundreds of thousands of men — and women work aimed at turning out goods needed to end the scarcities which cause inflation and are forced to be nonproducing consumers, destroying their self respect.

Remember The WPA

A multibillion dollar public service program will inevitably be a monstrous bureaucratic boondoggle like the WPA of a depression we would like to forget. Administration officials speak confidently of recent experiments with smaller scale public service projects.

The forget small-scale models usually succeed because of the special attention they receive and the dedication of those running the trial. As programs expand and come to be managed by run-of-the-mill bureaucrats busy with their own priorities, more of the tasks are make-work and therefore demeaning. Officials insist this program will be different, that it aims at giving important jobs to skilled people temporarily out of work because of the Burns monetary policies.

But it is has been the experience in Washington that officials inevitably find that managing new, temporary workers takes time away from their own tasks.

The indoctrination period for much of the work in this public service program could be from three to six months. Since the average time-in-job is expected to be less than a year, and since many, hopefully, will be in these temporary slots from three to six months only, we are guaranteed a fiasco of enormous proportions.

In this regard, note that half of those unemployed in any one month today are employed the next month. The average length of unemployment is around 10 weeks.

Curiously, President Ford and Congress are ignoring the obvious approach. Hundreds of thousands of jobs are now going begging because there's a shortage of men and women with the required training, because the jobs are in one state and the qualified job hunter in another or because the man or woman looking for work has not heard of the opening.

She should cut the cord and-split

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 25-year-old unmarried woman. I hold a responsible position and have been self-supporting since I was 18. I was raised to have decent moral standards and I know right from wrong.

I have always lived at home with my parents. I love them very much, but they are my problem. (Especially my mother.)

I've been wanting to have my own apartment for the last three years, but my mother will not hear of it. She says, "Why would a girl want to have her own apartment, if not to have wild parties and let men sleep over? Nice girls live at home. Tramps have apartments!"

This hurts me, Abby, because I am not a tramp and I do not plan to have any wild parties or let men sleep over. I have dated some, but I never had a steady. I'm not blaming my mother, but when I'm on a date I keep looking at my watch because I know she's waiting up for me.

Am I wrong to want my own apartment? And how can I convince my mother that she's wrong?

OVER-PROTECTED

DEAR OVER: You may not be able to convince your mother that she's wrong, but if you're wise, you'll cut the cord. You sound like a mature young woman. So the word from here is, go, and don't feel guilty.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 26 years, have three wonderful children and thought I had a good marriage. I now find that my husband (a school teacher) has been having an affair with an 18-year-old girl. He is 46.

I've given him one chance after another, but he says he's "addicted" to this girl. I've showered him with love and understanding, but he still goes back to this girl, who is the age of one of his daughters. He attends church faithfully and even teaches a Sunday school class, and none of this seems to bother him. I'm about ready to go out of my mind. It's needless to say how all this affects our teen-aged daughters.

I say he's sick. He says he's fine. He lies all the time, which is not like him. Do I kick him out, or force him to see a doctor?

HAD IT

DEAR HAD IT: If it's possible to force a man to see a doctor, that's exactly what you should do. Of course he's sick. His behavior is in conflict with his moral principles.

DEAR ABBY: I am planning to marry a woman who was widowed four years ago. (This will be my first marriage.) When we went to pick out the rings, she said all she wanted was an "engagement ring" because she wanted to be married with the wedding ring she now owns. This struck me as being rather odd, but I didn't say anything. (I wasn't even sure I heard right.)

We finally had to discuss about it, and she insists that she doesn't want me to buy her a wedding band — she wants to continue wearing the one her first husband gave her. Have you ever heard of this before? I am now wondering if it would be a mistake to marry her.

We have known each other only four months, but have spent several weekends together and I thought we knew each other well enough.

I would like your opinion.

SECOND THOUGHTS

DEAR SECOND: I'd have second (third, and fourth) thoughts about marrying her. Get to know her better yet. And don't marry her (or anyone else) while there are still doubts in your mind.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

At Wit's End

By ERMA BOMBECK
The meeting on Tooth Fairy Price Controls was called when Buster Ormstead, age 7, bragged he got $2.50 for a central incisor and 40 second graders started punching one another in the mouth trying to raise enough money for a field trip to Disneyland.
The riot on the playground only triggered the meeting. Parents have seen it coming for some time now...the gradual rise in money for used teeth. First, a penny, then a fat nickel, a shiny dime; a new silver dollar and finally a personal check with a note attached begging, "Do not cash until after the 15th."
About 40 of us met the other night in Ralph Ormstead's living room. "I called this meeting," he explained. "Because I feel responsible for what happened today on the playground. Since noon I have tried to contact President Ford and several members of his cabinet. The only one who responded was Earl Butz who had an amusing story about a Tooth Fairy who went into a swinging singles bar and ordered a drink for a talking dog."

"You can share that with us after the formal meeting, Ralph," said a voice.
"Right. Before we talk about price control as a way of establishing a stable tooth economy I think we should know what kind of figures we are dealing with." He passed out a mimeographed paper for us to study.

ONE TOOTH
Toothpaste to clean one tooth for life $200.00
Dental Floss 175.00
Mouthwash to cleanse mouth 225.00
Braces and retainers to straighten tooth 1,632.00
Sugar to coat tooth (subject to increase as we sit here) 3,674.00
Dental maintenance 2,000.00
Tooth Fairy 2.50
TOTAL $7,908.50

"Multiply that by 20 primary teeth that eventually fall out and you have a total of $158,170," said Ralph.

The entire room fell silent as each of us absorbed the cost of subsidizing a child's mouth. Maybe we can market the teeth and recoup some of our losses," said Charlie.

The way things have been going lately I wouldn't be surprised if Russia owned the gums.

Bobbie, Storch show is popular

By NANCY ANDERSON
Copley News Service

HOLLYWOOD — A short week before her closing at the Desert Inn in Las Vegas, Bobbie Gentry received news that her beloved grandfather had died in Mississippi. Pals Wayne Newton and Vic Damone subbed for her so that she could attend the funeral.
The night before her closing, Larry Storch, special guest star on her bill, with his wife hosted a lavish party in the Sky Room atop the hotel.
The elaborate buffet included whole, roast pig!
Bobbie was one of the few guests present who could eat without counting calories, because she says her problem is keeping her weight up.
"I lose at least three pounds every time I do a show," she said.
Norma Storch, Larry's wife, as pretty as a posey in lilac chiffon with maribou trim, reported that her husband's car had recently been stolen from the Universal lot by a thief who, when apprehended near Niagra Falls, explained that he took Larry's auto instead of the one parked next to it, because the other car was equipped with color television which he considered ostentatious.

Norma also said that, while she was in Vegas, she, without identifying herself, made a survey of cabbies, asking each one with whom she rode, "What's the best show in town?"
She claims that almost every one replied, "The show with Bobbie Gentry and Larry Storch."

Osborn-Hicks Exchange Nuptial Vows In Double-Ring Ceremony

Jeanie Ann Osborn became the bride of Gary L. Hicks at 8 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 21 at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde C. Osborn, 1000 Farley. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. L.B. L. Hicks.

THE CEREMONY
Dr. Ralph Palmer, pastor of the First Christian Church, officiated for the double-ring ceremony.
Jerry Whitten, organist, played traditional wedding selections.

THE BRIDE
The bride, given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I" avowal, wore a formal gown of French lace and pink satin covered with white chiffon. The fitted bodice was styled with a Sabrina neckline, empire waistline and long sleeves. French lace enhanced the hemline of the floor length skirt designed with three tiers highlighted with matching lace. She wore a white garden hat and carried a nosegay of pink baby roses and white carnations tipped with pink.

The bride wore a pearl necklace which had belonged to her great-grandmother for something old and something borrowed was a pair of pearl earrings, which was a wedding gift to her mother from her husband on their wedding day. She also wore the traditional blue garter and a penny in her shoe.

ATTENDANTS
Mrs. M. T. Osborn, sister-in-law, was matron of honor and Miss Vicki Swan was maid of honor. Both wore identical long dresses of pink polyester knit and pink garden hats. They carried nosegays of pink carnations.

Doug Lindsey served as best man and Mark Box was groomsman. Bobby Ingram and Stephen Osborn, brother of the bride, seated wedding guests.
Miss Cindy Simon registered wedding guests wearing a long dress of aqua chiffon.

MOTHER

The bride's mother wore a long pink dress with off-white accessories and a red baby rose corsage.

The bridegroom's grandmother wore a turquoise dress and a white carnation corsage.

RECEPTION
The reception followed the ceremony at the home. The serving table was covered with an off-white lace cloth and was decorated with a three-tiered wedding cake. Pink candles completed setting. Punch was served from an antique crystal and red punch bowl belonging to the bride's mother.
For the wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride wore

Mrs. Richard Sanders and Miss Andra Staffer, all of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bussett, Cushing, Okla.; Mrs. M. T. Osborn and daughter Lois Ann, Ada, Okla.; and Mrs. Tresa Lynch, Briston, Okla.

AFFILIATIONS
The bridegroom is presently a junior at West Texas State University.
OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS
Guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. F. X. Wernett, grandmother of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Lindberg, Independence, Kan.; Mrs. A. R. Young, grandmother of the bridegroom, Mr. and

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

By FRED KARPIN

If there is any one prime quest in bidding, it is to find the suit in which the partnership has eight cards, and to select that suit as the trump suit. And if the suit is divided 4-4 (rather than 5-3 or 6-2), it is usually even better in terms of trick-taking potential.

As a matter of fact, from the expert point of view, when a partner knows that his partnership possesses one suit divided 5-4, and another suit divided 4-4, he will usually tend to select the eight-card suit as the trump suit, rather than the nine-card suit. This theme is illustrated in today's deal. North-South vulnerable.

The bidding:
North East South West
1♦ Pass 2♦ Pass

5♦ Pass 6♦ Pass
Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♥.

When North raised South in clubs, South knew that North possessed five spades, for with four clubs and four spades North would have opened the bidding with one club. And North figured to have a very strong hand, since he had jumped to four clubs; and, in so doing, had voluntarily by-passed a (theoretical) three notrump contract. The latter is very rarely done, since nobody drives towards a minor-suit game contract unless he has no alternative. So South contracted for the small slam in clubs.

After dummy's ace of hearts had captured the opening lead, South gathered in the outstanding trumps in three rounds. Next came five spades, South discarding his losing heart on the fifth spade. He then ruffed dummy's remaining heart. At the end, he conceded a diamond. And so he made 12 tricks: five spades, the ace of hearts, the ace of diamonds, and five trump tricks (three outright, one by ruffing a heart, and the board's remaining trump).

The reader will note that at a spade contract (a nine-card trump suit), declarer could have made only 11 tricks.

The reason why a 4-4 trump suit will usually produce a trick more than a 5-4 trump suit is this: in the 4-4 trump suit, three rounds of trumps will usually gather in the outstanding pieces. The two remaining trumps — one in each hand — can now win two tricks separately, for a total of five trump winners. If the 4-4 suit were not the trump suit (i.e., if it were the side suit), all declarer could win this suit would be four tricks. Hence he tends to gain a trick by making it the trump suit.

WALKOUT AVERTED

OCAW Accepts New 2-Year Contract

DENVER (UPI) — The nation's 60,000-member oil refiners' union accepted a new two year contract with Gulf Oil Co., today ending threats of a nationwide walkout. Union officials said the settlement would be a basis for contracts with the other major oil companies. A.F. Grospron, president of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union, said the new contract was a "good, heavy package" that would be used as a "minimum standard for contracts with other major (oil and chemical) companies."

request was for an hourly raise of $1.50. Grospron said the new contract, affecting 2,250 workers at Gulf plants in Port Arthur, Tex.; Toledo and Cleves, Ohio; and Santa Fe Springs, Calif., provided for a 4 per cent increase July 8 and a third raise of 8 per cent next Jan. 8.

The bargaining committee began its meeting as a second deadline of 7 p.m. (MST) passed Thursday without agreement by OCAW whether to strike or accept the Gulf contract. The 24 hour deadline was set by Grospron Wednesday night. Early Thursday, Grospron said any authorized strike by the bargaining committee would be directed against specific refiners and would not include all union members.

Most of the union men had worked despite expiration of 423 contracts with oil and chemical companies that ran out at midnight (local time) Tuesday. The new contract covered 14 Gulf plants. Wildcat strikes involving about 8,000 workers occurred despite Grospron's urging that union men remain on the job. The walkouts were at four Texas, Gulf, Standard and American-Petrofina refineries at Port Arthur, Tex., and El Segundo, Calif. Grospron, in announcing the settlement, said he would not interfere with the wildcat walkouts. He said the bargaining committee "will do nothing to resolve local issues. Those will have to be taken care of in Texas and California."

The union said other contracts still unresolved would be settled by negotiators at the local level. The contract, covering two years rather than three as requested by OCAW, also contained a clause permitting the union to reopen wage negotiations in 1976 if the consumer price index next year exceeded 5 per cent.

Grospron said he was satisfied with the agreement even though the union had to settle for less money than it wanted. He said "you never get all you want when you get in these things."

There was no family birthday celebration, but former press secretary Ron Ziegler, Nixon's top assistant, said the small staff gave Nixon cake and flowers.

President Ford telephoned Nixon, "spoke for a few minutes" and wished him a happy birthday, according to a White House spokesman in Washington. Korff said that although Nixon "appears to be gradually recovering" from a number of medical problems following surgery "he is on medication and he tires easily."

Soviets Now Vulnerable To Attacks From China

LONDON (UPI) — Western defense experts said today the Soviet Union will soon be very vulnerable to Chinese nuclear attack but the United States will still be out of range.

A study released by the Institute of Strategic Studies said China can blanket India, Southeast Asia and Japan with missiles having an estimated range of up to 3,000 miles.

The authoritative defense analysis organization said Chinese missiles can already hit some Soviet frontier installations and "will soon have the capacity to target most of the important Soviet cities."

The institute said the Soviet Union has "an overwhelming superiority" over China in nuclear weapons but might be "very vulnerable" to Chinese nuclear strikes against vital supply lines in western Siberia.

The study, written by Harvard University fellow Geoffrey Kemp, said China's ability to strike major cities along the Trans-Siberian railway "would be of great strategic and tactical significance."

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

SATURDAY, JAN. 11
Your birthday today: Opens a relatively quiet year of confrontation and conquest over personal limitations. You're forced to rely on your own resources; seek spiritual guidance to cultivate them. Relationships demand constant attention. Today's natives have many special interests, usually judge the future from past events and try to supply what was previously missed.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Dress up and mix with lively young people. A little spending on yourself does wonders for your morale. Expect older people to be critical.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Nobody wants to hear anything serious from you. Tell jokes; relax! You're inclined to make too big a deal out of simple pastimes. Don't waste time on useless chores.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: When you clean up, be sure of what you're getting rid of as well as what you're keeping. Try to overcome your shyness and that of someone you like.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Start early to allow yourself plenty of breathing space. Others are less enthusiastic than you'd hoped and veto your pet theories. Patience with older people!

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Check out arrangements early. Activity picks up, and you enjoy small achievements. Accept jokes in the spirit in which they're intended.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Keep close watch on children. Don't rehash past events; you have plenty going on right now to keep you busy.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Your connections become an important factor, but nothing can be done to improve them. Go all out for a party or public entertainment; invite the people you really enjoy.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Stick near home base, choose your top priority items and don't scatter your resources. Get routine chores out of the way quickly. Encourage others; you need the experience, too.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Take matters seriously when you're checking equipment, vehicles or appliances. Take everything else lightly, particularly dealings with family and relatives.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Be a bit more choosy than usual about the company you keep. You're better off visiting than staying home, but quit early, while you're still fresh and ahead of schedule.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: You're not the center of attraction at the moment, so use the opportunity for an extra session of budget-keeping. Evening invitations promise to be fun.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Fix up yourself and your home to suit your own tastes rather than to match or rival those of anyone else. You spend the rest of your day cultivating friendships.

Radio Course Starts Monday

The Pampa Amateur Radio Club will begin its Novice Code and Theory course Monday night.

The classes are offered without charge by members of the club to assist prospective radio amateurs in preparing for the FCC examination for the beginner's amateur radio license.

The classes will meet three times per week for approximately five weeks and will conclude with the Novice Class examination supervised by members of the club.

The Monday night class will be devoted to theory and amateur regulations while the Tuesday and Thursday night classes will concentrate on learning the International Morse Code.

Cranz Nichols, W5BKL, will conduct the theory class while Herman Whitley, W5JQ, and Bill Hawkins, W5BCK, will be in charge of the code classes.

Prospective radio amateurs are urged to attend the first class at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 13, at Hawkins Radio Lab, 917 Barnes, in Pampa.

New Torah Available For Reform Jews Soon

UPI Religion Writer
The first volume of a new, liberal commentary on the Torah—the first five books of the Bible—which challenges the view that the Torah is the word of God will be published next week.

The commentary is the first to be produced by the Reform movement in Judaism and the only such work ever published in North America.

Volume 1 of the commentary, which is being published by the Union of American Hebrew Congregations and is expected to be the standard Torah commentary for the nation's 1.1 million Reform Jews, deals with the book of Genesis. It was written by Rabbi Gunther Plaut of Holy Blossom Temple in Toronto.

"Our commentary disagrees with traditional interpreters over divine origin and Mosaic authorship," Plaut said, "but it does agree with them on treating the text as it is, a unified whole, for it was approached this way by many generations and, in this way, it has made its impact on history."

Most Orthodox Jews and fundamentalist Christians believe the books of Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, and Deuteronomy, were authored by Moses through direct verbal inspiration from God.

Plaut, however, in his introductory essay to the commentary, argues that the Torah "is a human book composed by men."

He also argues that it is "a book about man's understanding of an experience with God" and, citing the ancient Jews' oral tradition which resulted in divergent views about God and man, said "these stand side by side in the book and tell us of our ancestors changing and developing beliefs."

And he said unto them, The sabbath was made for man, and not man for the sabbath. Mark 2:27.

The Sabbath—a day of rest, if you make one day HOLY it will bring you a blessing. If you desecrate your holy day—you missed your blessing.

Pastor Gives Therapy For Marriage Trouble

NEW YORK—It may come as a surprise to some, but bickering husbands and wives are becoming an area of evangelistic concern in some churches.

With 20 million divorces since World War II and the rate rising, the help of ministers is being sought increasingly, and, indeed, some pastors are initiating domestic peacemaking efforts as one more part of their varied work.

The Rev. Richard B. Wilke, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Wichita, Kan., is one of the ministers who is convinced that many of the world's ills start in the home and that therefore that is the place to begin curing them.

Wilke has been confronted by so many troubled marriages that, in partnership with his wife, he conducts counseling sessions for groups of couples who join in frank discussions of their hangups and problems. He regards this as one of the most successful aspects of his ministry.

Because interest is rising in this form of "therapy," Wilke has described his work in "The Pastor and Marriage Group Counseling," issued by the Abingdon Press, the publishing house of The United Methodist Church.

In a foreword, Dr. David R. Mace of the Bowman Gray Medical School in Winston-Salem, N.C., and one of the nation's foremost trainers of marriage counselors, praised Wilke for developing competence in working with groups.

Mace expressed concern over the "disconcertingly high rate of marriage failure in our contemporary society." He cited a recommendation of Dr. Paul Popenoe of the American Institute of Family Relations in Los Angeles that every pastor should have basic training in marriage counseling.

To this Wilke added that ministers, priests and rabbis are doing 80 per cent of all the counseling in this country and most of it deals with family problems.

Communication—too much or too little—is at the root of most difficulties, he said.

"No society has ever had more talk and less communication than ours," he added, observing that the words spouted by television, radio and the press have reached astronomical proportions.

Taking care not to call his program one of "marriage enrichment" or "encounter group" activities, Wilke describes it as exactly what it is to his congregation—marriage counseling. And he specifies that every couple must come to the group "out of a sense of pain."

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Church of God of Prophecy

Rev. DON W. CHATHAM

God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. He that believeth on him is not condemned; but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God." (John 3:14-18)

This passage of scripture shows that before Christ came and died all men were void of eternal life; that God loved the human race so much that He gave His only begotten Son for our salvation; and that those who believe in Him have this life and those who do not believe do not have it.

I John 5:11-13 - The Apostle John plainly shows that eternal life is obtained while we yet live in this world through accepting Jesus Christ by faith. "He that hath the Son hath life." There is going to be an eternal punishment for the wicked according to Matthew 25:41,46. "Then shall he say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels: And these shall go away into everlasting punishment; but the righteous into life eternal." Those who fail to get acquainted with Jesus Christ and those who refuse to obey the gospel are in grave danger of ETERNAL PUNISHMENT. God is a just God. The decision is yours!

"ETERNAL LIFE FOR THE RIGHTEOUS"
Eternal Life: The state of being alive forever.

That whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life. "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." For

BOGOTA, Colombia — Sis-

Dr. Long Addresses Alliance

Dr. Dan Long, superintendent of schools, Pampa, was guest speaker during a meeting of the Ministerial Alliance Wednesday.

Dr. Long discussed procedures and studies of school evaluation procedures and offered his services to the alliance in continuing an effort to develop and promote good community relations.

The hospital chaplancy program was reviewed with comments from those in attendance.

Dan Booher, youth director, Central Baptist Church, was commended for his Bible teaching program at Pampa High School in the course of the Fall semester.

A prayer group met at 9 a.m. preceding the noon gathering.

Ministers attending the session included Rev. J.T. Wilson, New Hope Baptist; L.B. Davis, Progressive Baptist; Lloyd Hamilton, First United Methodist; John Hansard, Hobart Baptist; Bart Deggs, Salvation Army; Rev. W. Dunker, St. Vincent de Paul; Tim Koenig, Lutheran; George Warren, Claud Cone, First Baptist; Bob Courtney, First Assembly of God; Edwin Waterbury, Pampa Chapel; Gene Allen, Lamar Full Gospel; Dovie Johnson, Lamar Full Gospel; Ted Savage, Central Baptist and Ron Palermo, Community Christian Center.

ter Francine Zeller wears no cosmetics, but she is carefully coiffed and smartly dressed.

Like many of the 150,000 members of the Roman Catholic Leadership Conference of Women Religious (LCWR), of which she is president, Sister Francine strongly objects to the Roman Catholic nun's traditional garb.

"It is depersonalizing," she explained, adding that the habit represents a stereotype rejected by many U.S. nuns.

Habits, like roles, are changing among U.S. women religious, in part because of the influence of the women's liberation movement, but also because of the Vatican's more liberal attitude toward pluralism within the church.

Today, U.S. nuns and their sisters in other religious institutions are demanding and getting better jobs with more responsibility.

While agreeing that women should be able to exercise all ministries, LCWR nuns are not prepared to go as far as their Episcopalian sisters, not at least for the time being. On the other hand, they are determined to do away with the preconceived role of what they call "the good sister."

"Just as married women have somehow been taught that being mother plus wife plus household worker equals being woman, the U.S. woman religious also is expected to function in certain approved roles, such as teacher or nurse, since these are in keeping with the role of 'spiritual mother,'" said Sister Lora Ann Quinones, one of 18 LCWR delegates to the II Inter-American Religious Conference recently held in Bogota.

It Sims To Me...

By PAUL SIMS
Sports Editor

It is hoped tonight's Liberal, Kan. - Pampa contest will not follow the trend of the last two games in Harvester Fieldhouse by drawing only a sparse crowd.

The Harvesters have played only twice at home, against Perryton and Oklahoma City Northwest Classen, and the combined crowds of both games would not likely fill the fieldhouse.

That's surprising, too, particularly since the Harvesters have been so competitive. With a non-conference schedule that has included 13 road games against mostly outstanding opponents, Pampa has fashioned a respectable 12-3 record.

Good teams usually draw good crowds, but in Pampa's case that has only been true on the road. Opponent's fans have turned out in large numbers to see their respective teams play Pampa.

The Harvesters put everything together Tuesday night against Monterey at Lubbock, winning 81-55. The Plainsmen, ranked first in 4-AAAA, had a 9-7 record against mainly tough opposition prior to Tuesday's rout.

"We shot well (59 percent)," said Pampa coach Robert McPherson. "That's the best we've shot all year. We pressed well, ran the fast break well, it was a good all-around ball game."

Overall, the game was Pampa's finest of the season and one of the best for a Harvester team in years. Several Pampans came up with the big play repeatedly.

Billy Wilbon, 6-2 senior guard, scored 22 points, grabbed 10 rebounds, had eight assists and five steals off the Pampa press. Wilbon only turned the ball over on mistakes twice.

The assists were probably Wilbon's most impressive statistic. "He's probably the most unselfish guy I've ever had. If a guy's open, he's going to get the ball to him," said McPherson.

Guard Robert Young, 6-1 senior, also scored 22 points, one less than his season high of 23 against Abilene. The Monterey game, however, was Young's best of the season as he didn't commit a turnover and pulled off six rebounds. Pampa outrebounded the hosts, 38-32.

Howie Lewis, 6-5 senior who scored 30 points against Odessa Ector last week, was double teamed by the Plainsmen and held to only 10 points. His rebounding was cut down and he got into foul trouble in the third quarter. However, Lewis, too, had a fine night.

"Howie was playing among three 6-6 kids. When you're surrounded like that, it's hard to get rebounds. And when you shoot well, you don't get too many rebounds," said McPherson.

Pampa's third-leading scorer was 6-4 senior Nick Slaymaker with 14 points. "It was his best ball game of the year, by far," Slaymaker grabbed eight rebounds and held 6-6 Scott Gardner to only nine points.

Sophomore Donnie Hughes managed six points and four rebounds and "did a good job on defense," according to McPherson. Junior Richard Lane, who has earned a starting role in recent weeks, came out of the game early but not before turning in a good performance.

"I took him out," said McPherson. "I had him on (Jackson) Pace, a 6-5 player, and they kept running him inside, going to him all the time. That's the reason I put Hughes in. He's 6-4."

Momentum is important going into district play. The Harvesters need to win their remaining three non-conference games. They need to win tonight. And they need a big crowd.

Miller, 2 Others Tied

SPORTS

Pampa, Texas 68th Year Friday, Jan. 10, 1975

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Johnny Miller, as everyone knows, was the king of the four a year ago when he won eight titles and then went to Japan, just for good measure, and came home with an additional $30,000 for a $384,000 year.

Twice during December he went out to practice and quit after nine holes.

"I was hitting it so good," said the 27-year-old Miller, "that I quit. I didn't see any part of my game that needed work, so why practice?"

To prove his point, Miller went out and shot a four-under-par 67 Thursday in opening round of the $150,000 Phoenix Open, first event of the 1975 Tour. He hit the ball as well as ever off the tee and putted better than he expected.

John Mahaffey, and Leonard Thompson, who ranked 15th and 16th, respectively, on the money winning list last year, more than $200,000 behind Miller, played as well as John in the opening round to grab a share of the lead with 1974's Player of the Year.

There were any number of fine rounds played by the others in the field, but all the attention is on Miller, because of the way he pinged the par 37-35-71 Phoenix Country Club course.

Mahaffey, playing late in the day when a 20-mile-per-hour wind swept across the Arizona country, had in some respects, a better round. The 26-year-old pro from Texas, who grew up playing in the wind, scrambled a bit but made the most of his opportunities. His best hole was the sixth where he chipped in from 20-feet for a birdie.

"The wind didn't bother me, although I don't like to play in it," he said. "In many ways I think I played better than I anticipated."

Thompson was all over the course but made half a dozen outstanding shots to grab a share of the lead. He sank a 45-footer for a bird on the fourth, a 20-footer on the ninth and followed with a 15-footer on the tenth and an 18-footer on the 12th.

"I'm happy because it's the best round I have ever shot on the Winter Tour," said the 28-year-old Thompson.

Six players—Tommy Aaron, Bob Rosburg, J. C. Snead, Roy Taste, Mike Reesor, and Mike Mitchell—were only a shot back at three under 68 while Jim Ahern, Dick Lotz, Pete Brown, John Schroeder, Dwight Nevil and Orville Moody, were at 69. PGA champ Lee Trevino, another noted wind player, didn't do well. He opened with a 73, but that was two shots better than U.S. Open champ Hale Irwin.

HARVESTER OF THE WEEK — Six-two senior Billy Wilbon had a superb game at Lubbock Monterey Tuesday, scoring 42 points, grabbing 10 rebounds and making eight assists. As a result, Wilbon was named Harvester of the Week Thursday at the Pampa Noon Lions Club meeting. Wilbon will lead Pampa today as the Harvesters host tough Liberal, Kan., in a 7:45 p.m. contest. It will be only the third home game for Pampa this season.

News Lets Fans Question Coaches

Now that Pampa High's athletic program is among the finest in the state and town support is at a peak, this sports department is starting a feature to give fans an opportunity to really become acquainted with the high school's athletic program.

Questions pertaining to a particular sport will be presented to the coach of that sport and answered in the News. Questions don't necessarily need to be about Pampa High. For example, a coach might be asked for his opinion about a certain rule in a sport on the college or professional level.

Only the most pertinent questions and those under 75 words will be considered because of space limitations.

Questions are to be addressed to the sports department in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 2198, Pampa, zip code 79065.

Get to know your coaches. The News hopes fans will take advantage of this chance.

IN BASEBALL DRAFT

.400 Hitter, Slugger 1st 2 Selections

NEW YORK (UPI) — Willie Mays Aikens, a powerful, young man who was born to play baseball in the flamboyant manner of his namesake, was faced with the opportunity today to move West just as Willie Mays did 18 years ago to begin his pro career.

Aikens, who packs a home run punch in his muscular 6-foot-3, 220-pound frame, was made the second choice in baseball's annual winter free agent draft Thursday when he was selected by the California Angels. The only player who went ahead of the 20-year-old first baseman was his former teammate at South Carolina State College, outfielder Gene Richards.

Richards, a plus .400 hitter in his final two collegiate seasons, was signed immediately upon his selection by the San Diego Padres.

The Padres' director of player personnel, Bob Fontaine, commented, "He has that little bit of daring in him that makes for a good base runner. Selecting him is just one more step toward attaining our goal of getting more running speed in the organization."

Aikens, though, is the man who can earn the attention because of his name and slugging potential. He bats left and throws right and hit 380 with 12 homers at South Carolina State last season.

Cardinals Nip Buffs

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI) — Fourth-ranked Louisville poured in six points in the last three minutes while holding West Texas scoreless to take a 53-51 victory Thursday night. Phil Bond scored a breakaway layup at the buzzer to collect the second Missouri Valley basketball win for 10-0 Louisville. West Texas fell to 4-5 overall.

West Texas was leading 51-47 with 2:56 left. Wesley Cox hit a tipin for Louisville and Junior Bridgeman was given a goal on a goaltending call against Wayne Dise. West Texas was working for the last shot in the 51-51 tie, and Maurice Cheeks drove down the lane. Bill Bunton blocked it to midcourt, where Bond grabbed the ball and sprinted to the last-second basket.

The Padres' director of player personnel, Bob Fontaine, commented, "He has that little bit of daring in him that makes for a good base runner. Selecting him is just one more step toward attaining our goal of getting more running speed in the organization."

Speaker Daniel Fires Aide To Clayton

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Jack Gullahorn, an aide to the man who probably will become speaker of the House, said his dismissal by the retiring speaker was illegal and childish, but "we've got more important things to worry about."

Outgoing Speaker Price Daniel fired Gullahorn Thursday for allegedly working in the speaker's campaign while on the state payroll.

A House rule prohibits House employees from becoming involved in the speaker's campaign. But Gullahorn said Thursday he was an employee of Rep. Bill Clayton, D-Springlake, Daniel's heir apparent, and also the employe of several committees, but was not a general House employe.

Gullahorn said Parliamentarian Bob Johnson agreed with this interpretation of the rules.

"According to Johnson's interpretation and according to the rules, Daniel doesn't have the authority to fire me," Gullahorn said. "But it's childish, and we've got more important things to worry about."

Gullahorn, Clayton's administrative aide, said he voluntarily resigned his job as attorney for two House committees and would remain on Clayton's campaign payroll until Clayton is elected speaker next week. After the election, Gullahorn said, he will go back on the state payroll at Clayton's top administrative aide.

Gullahorn was paid $300 a month as a counsel to a natural resources committee, $400 a month as counsel to a water committee, and $500 a month from Clayton's campaign fund.

"I've never supposed there was anything wrong with me working on the committees part time or on the speaker campaign part time," Gullahorn said. "There's no law against it and no rule against it."

Gullahorn said he'd never tried to hide the fact he was on the committee payrolls and Clayton's speaker campaign payroll at the same time.

Clayton issued a printed statement Thursday saying Gullahorn asked to be taken off the committee payrolls to avoid further embarrassment.

Jack Gullahorn's employment by these committees and his attorney retainer fee paid by my private speaker's race fund do not in any manner violate any statutory or administrative laws of the state or the rules of the House of Representatives," Clayton said.

He also contended Daniel had no authority to dismiss Gullahorn.

On Dec. 31, 1964, New York Stock Exchange prices rose to the highest levels since 1929.

AT REFINERIES, PLANTS

Union Strike Won't Affect Most Area Oil Production

HOUSTON (UPI) — A strike by the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union won't affect production at most area oil refineries and chemical plants, according to company officials.

Spokesmen said Thursday supervisory personnel will take the place of striking workers they did two years ago when the OCAW struck several Gulf Coast plants.

Wildcat strikes — those not sanctioned by union headquarters in Denver — have occurred against Gulf, Texaco and American Petrofina in Port Arthur and against Standard in El Segundo, Calif.

"There's no movement nowhere as far as Texaco is concerned," said Johnny Noblock, a striking Texaco employe. "We are not going back to work until we get our demands, and we are far from that right now. And that means both international and local issues."

"We have staff people standing by ready to take over facilities," a spokesman for Shell Oil Co. said. "We don't anticipate any problems. We operated with no problems two years ago and we don't expect any this time."

Shell employs 1,700 workers covered by the OCAW at its 294,000 barrel-a-day refinery and chemical plant complex at Deer Park, Tex.

About 1,000 OCAW members work at Atlantic Richfield's 213,000 barrel-a-day refinery.

"We would expect to operate as we have done in the past strikes," plant manager Jack Racine said. "That is full production. We expect no outbacks due to the strike if it comes."

The Marathon Oil Co. refinery in Texas City has 250 workers covered by the OCAW, but officials said no problems were expected.

Texaco Inc. and Gulf Oil U.S. refineries in Port Arthur and Port Neches were struck at midnight Tuesday.

"We are still engaged in an orderly shutdown or orderly transfer of operations in the refinery with the assistance of some of the OCAW represented employes we have," Gulf spokesman Steve Milburn said. "We hope to continue essential operations within Tuesday."

Richardson Ford made the appointment Thursday, saying: "I warmly welcome Elliot Richardson back into the service of our country and am confident that he will represent America with the highest distinction."

His appointment as U.S. ambassador in London probably removes him as a candidate for president in 1976 or as an opponent of another eminent Bostonian, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Few, if any, persons have held as many ranking posts in the executive branch as Richardson, 54, a tall, bespectacled, erudite man whose elaborate geometric doodles have become legendary here.

He was attorney general, defense secretary, secretary of health, education and welfare, and undersecretary of state during the Nixon administration, and assistant HEW secretary and U.S. attorney for Massachusetts in the Eisenhower administration.

But it was his conduct during the Watergate affair that gave him his greatest fame.

Richardson Gains Post At London

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Elliot L. Richardson, who resigned as President Richard M. Nixon's attorney general during the "Saturday Night Massacre," has a new job — in London, as ambassador to the Court of St. James's.

Richardson Ford made the appointment Thursday, saying: "I warmly welcome Elliot Richardson back into the service of our country and am confident that he will represent America with the highest distinction."

His appointment as U.S. ambassador in London probably removes him as a candidate for president in 1976 or as an opponent of another eminent Bostonian, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Few, if any, persons have held as many ranking posts in the executive branch as Richardson, 54, a tall, bespectacled, erudite man whose elaborate geometric doodles have become legendary here.

He was attorney general, defense secretary, secretary of health, education and welfare, and undersecretary of state during the Nixon administration, and assistant HEW secretary and U.S. attorney for Massachusetts in the Eisenhower administration.

But it was his conduct during the Watergate affair that gave him his greatest fame.

Richardson left the Pentagon, where he had been secretary only three months, to head the Justice Department after Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst and Nixon aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman resigned April 30, 1973, during the Watergate unraveling.

One of his commitments during his confirmation hearings was to ensure that a special Watergate prosecutor would be given complete independence.

But on the weekend of Oct. 20, 1973, rather than obey Nixon's order to fire Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox, Richardson resigned. Nixon then fired Cox and Deputy Attorney General William D. Ruckelshaus, who also had refused to carry out Nixon's order.

The incident became known as the "Saturday Night Massacre." It led directly to demands for Nixon's impeachment.

Richardson's appointment had been expected and is subject to Senate approval. If confirmed, which seems almost a certainty, he will succeed Walter Annenberg, a Philadelphia publisher and Nixon confidant.

Montoya To Fight Indictments

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Lawyers for Rep. Greg Montoya, D-Elsa, say they are ready to fight the three indictments filed against the South Texas legislator and will not try to dodge a trial because of the upcoming session of the legislature.

District Judge Mace B. Thurman said Thursday a pretrial hearing on Montoya's case will be held Wednesday, the day after the legislature convenes.

Montoya, 57, did not speak during Thursday's two-minute session before Thurman but his attorneys — legislative colleagues Rep. Matt Garcia, D-San Antonio, and Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston — indicated they will fight the indictments for three counts of theft, misapplication of state funds and official misconduct.

Montoya's wife and teenage daughter sat beside him in the crowded courtroom for almost an hour before his case was called.

After the brief — and for the most part inaudible — discussion by the judge, Montoya's attorneys and District Attorney Robert O. Smith, Montoya tried to elude reporters by leaving through a back door to the courtroom.

Montoya referred all questions to his attorneys.

Washington filed a motion asking Thurman to throw out the indictment on a technicality. Washington said if any offense was committed, it took place in Hidalgo County and the case should be prosecuted there, not in Travis County.

Washington also said he has no plans to take advantage of special statutes giving legislators the right to demand postponement of any trial in which they are involved until 30 days after each legislative session.

"We are ready," Washington said.

Thurman set Montoya's trial for Monday, Jan. 27.

The Travis County grand jury indicted Montoya Dec. 17 on charges he illegally put five individuals on his legislative payroll who never did any government work.

All five live in Hidalgo County and were supposed to be working as aides or secretaries in his Elsa legislative office.

The indictment against Montoya charges one of the five — Olivia V. Silva — actually worked as a sales clerk for Montoya's wife in the legislator's Elsa autoparts store.

If he is convicted, Montoya could be fined up to $5,000 and sent to prison for two to five years.

Montoya will be sworn in Tuesday for his third term as a House member. He represents Kennedy, Kleberg, Willacy and part of Hidalgo counties.
