Kissinger Urges Okay On New Missile Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said Saturday Congress must accept the new U.S.-Soviet missile pact as it is or be prepared to wreck detente, and start a costly new arms race.

At a rare Saturday news conference, Kissinger also warned that the security of the NATO alliance "may be irreparably damaged" if the United States cuts off military aid to Turkey. He also backed up U.N. Ambassador John Scali's criticisms of bloc voting in the world body.

But Kissinger dealt principally with Senate critics who argue the Ford-Brezhnev agreement should be rejected because it sets the limits for its 10-year strategic arms freeze too high: 2400 missiles or heavy bombers for each side, including no more than 1320 multiple-warhead missiles.

"If the Senate or the Congress wants to send that agreement to us with instructions to set lower numbers, they better send with it an authorization and appropriations bill for $5 to $10 billion to increase our strategic forces," he said.

"It does not make any sense to instruct us to get better numbers without being prepared to pay the price of the arms build-up that will be the only possible incentive by which an agreement for lower numbers can be achieved."

Demos Reject Reform Attempt

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — With the threat of a harmony-shattering black walkout hanging over their first mini-convention, Democrats Saturday rejected a reform attempt to make mid-term national meetings a permanent part of their party life.

Rumors swept the convention floor during the debate that rank-and-file black and reform delegates were getting ready to bolt if the convention failed to remove from the charter a rule making it more difficult for party dissidents to challenge the credentials of convention delegates.

On a roll call of 968 to 851, the delegates upheld the wishes of their leaders and wrote into their charter rules that will leave to the Democratic National Committee the decision whether to hold future mid-term conventions. The reformers first sought to make the meetings mandatory, then narrowly failed to make at least a 1978 mid-term convention obligatory.

The decision was the first major vote as the 2,500 delegates and alternates worked nonstop to complete work on the 6,300-word charter — the first such constitution written by a major American political party.

The pivotal charter-drafting session began after the delegates gave Sen. George McGovern, their 1972 presidential candidate, a hero's welcome to the conference.

Panhandle API Chapter Holds Annual Banquet

By TEX DEWESE
Oilmen from over the entire Texas Panhandle area converged on Pampa last night for the 43rd annual banquet of the Panhandle Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute.

The affair, held in the Shriners Club south of the city, always is the occasion for the annual election of officers for the coming year.

are failing and the foliage turns. We are at a time in history we like to think of as we think of Fall — the melancholy season.

Elected at the business session last night were John B. Rogers, district director of the Texas Railroad Commission, chapter chairman; Harold Lawley, Kewanee Oil Co., first vice chairman; James Raley, Skelly Oil Co., second vice chairman; Russell Weston, Phillips Petroleum Co., Borger, third vice chairman; B.R. Nunn, Skelly Oil Co., advisory committee chairman, and Martin Ludeman, West Pampa Repressuring Association, secretary-treasurer. Nunn is the outgoing chapter chairman.

Charles Zlomke of Cities Service Oil Co. and Pete Blanda of Kewanee Oil Co. were named advisory committee co-chairmen with Nunn. Fred Neslage of West Pampa Repressuring Association was appointed assistant co-chairman.

Harold Lawley of Kewanee Oil Co. was given an API award for outstanding service to the Panhandle chapter during the year.

Neslage served as master of ceremonies at the banquet, introduced special guests and made presentations.

Highlighting the program following the banquet served by members of the Pampa Shrine Club was an address by Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan, who was introduced by County Judge Don Cain.

Special recognition also was given to Martin Ludeman, chapter secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Dorothy Jordan, the API secretarial force, for their assistance to the chapter chairman.

He spoke on "Law Enforcement in the Panhandle Oil and Gas Field" and took his audience back to the oil discovery days in 1927, the stock market crash of 1929, FDR's New Deal days and through the years to present day oil and gas exploration in the Texas Panhandle.

Following the sheriff's talk emcee Neslage introduced special guests Mayor R.D. Wilkerson, County Judge Don Cain, Red Wedgeworth, Chamber of Commerce manager, and Tex DeWese of the Pampa News.

Neslage told the API members of the chapter's successful year, which he said included exceptionally fine educational and technical programs, and the annual golf tourney with 300 entries by which the API Panhandle chapter raised money to finance four scholarships for deserving students.

President Studies Fuel Conservation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a possible prelude to mandatory U.S. fuel conservation measures, President Ford met Saturday with top domestic advisers to find out how he can reduce energy consumption without touching off serious economic or foreign policy consequences.

about what new steps to take.

Officials attending the two-hour session in the Cabinet Room told reporters afterward that no major decisions were taken. They quoted the President as saying the issues he must balance are "complex as the devil."

Among the examples Zarb cited in describing what might be done were a return to the mandatory fuel allocation program imposed last year at the height of the Arab oil boycott; an increase in the federal gasoline tax; and a limit on oil imports, either in terms of volume or dollar value; and gasoline rationing.

Frank G. Zarb, executive director of the Energy Resources Council, left open the clear possibility that Ford would order at least some mandatory measures to conserve fuel when he outlines a new federal energy policy next month.

The White House meeting came one day after the administration acknowledged its efforts to urge voluntary energy conservation had fallen short of what the President had hoped and that the latest report on unemployment, showing a 6.5 per cent level in November, was a "serious concern" to Ford.

But Zarb and chairman Alan Greenspan of the Council of Economic Advisers stressed at a news briefing after the meeting with Ford that it is too early to make any final decisions

Zarb said it is now necessary to decide whether mandatory actions must be taken to achieve Ford's objective. White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the purpose of Saturday's meeting was to give the President a "broad look" at the problem and to review the options open to him.

Makarios Goes Back To Cyprus

NICOSIA (UPI) — Archbishop Makarios returned to Cyprus from five months of exile Saturday and in an emotional speech to an estimated 130,000 persons offered amnesty to Greek Cypriots who had deposed him as president of this Mediterranean island nation.

Makarios rejected partition of Cyprus, said he was willing to negotiate with Turkish Cypriots and suggested a solution through self-government of the Greek and Turkish communities.

The archbishop, the golden medallion around his neck glistening in the sun, spoke for 45 minutes from the balcony of his palace to a frenzied throng that interrupted him dozens of times with shouts hailing his return from Athens.

But many groaned with dissatisfaction when he offered amnesty to those who helped overthrow him in the July 15 coup that brought on the Turkish invasion five days later.

"I give forgiveness and amnesty to all in the hope that the desired unity and concord among the Greek Cypriots will thus come about, said the 61-year-old prelate.

Tribute Slated For UF Drive

Tribute will be paid to Pampa's 1974 United Fund workers at the December luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce at 12 noon Monday in the Coronado Inn Starlight Room.

Awards will be presented at the appreciation luncheon in recognition of the United Fund achievement in exceeding its $101,000 goal, largest since the UF was established locally in 1954.

Gene Steel, chamber president, said the luncheon program also will express appreciation for community support of the Fund's recipient agencies. Reservations for the luncheon, open to the public, will be taken at the chamber office (669-3241) until 10 a.m. Monday.

FOR TWQB HEARING

Mayor, City Manager To Visit Fort Worth

Mayor R.D. Wilkerson and City Manager Mack Wofford will leave early Tuesday morning for Fort Worth where they will attend a public hearing before the Texas Water Quality Board to establish priorities among 400 Texas cities and towns that have applied for federal aid grants in sewage treatment plant facilities.

Pampa has been notified that it currently is No. 4 on the TWQB's Construction Priority List with relation to its application for a 75 per cent Environmental Protection Agency grant for the city's planned $240,000 project to remodel and renovate the sewage treatment plant.

Mayor Wilkerson and City Manager Wofford said their trip to the Fort Worth hearing will be to protect Pampa's No. 4 standing on the list and provide the information needed. Plans for modernizing the local plant were inaugurated nearly three years ago following orders from the TWQB and EPA that the renovation and improvements would have to be made to meet state and federal requirements to bring the plant up to date under regulations of the Environmental Protection Act.

The difference between the federal grant Pampa hopes to receive and the total project cost will have to come from a local bond issue, according to City Manager Wofford.

Currently, the city manager said, it is figured the city will have to provide from $200,000 to $250,000 in funds to complete the project.

That would be the range of a proposed bond issue, providing the federal grant

Pampa receives is 75 percent of total cost for which the city has applied.

Based on the current estimated total cost of $1.24 million, the amount of the 75 percent federal grant would be approximately $924,500. Wofford said the city still has on deposit approximately $90,000 in unused sewer improvement bond money approved by city voters in 1964.

This, he stated, it is believed could be applied to aid in paying the cost of the sewage treatment plant project.

Webster's On Inflation

Lenin pointed out, correctly, that debauchery of the currency (inflation) was the sure way to wreck an economy. What's more, he went on to observe, not one person out of every hundred thousand would understand what was happening to their money until it was too late.

The analysis of Stalin's predecessor has certainly been proved out in practice. Our economy is being gutted by debauchery of the currency and most people still don't understand what inflation is, although the number who do is growing daily.

This confusion as to the identity of inflation and who is to blame for it is really not surprising. When governments set out to inflate the money supply, they do everything in their power to confuse the issue and to place the blame on others. This enables the government to do two things:

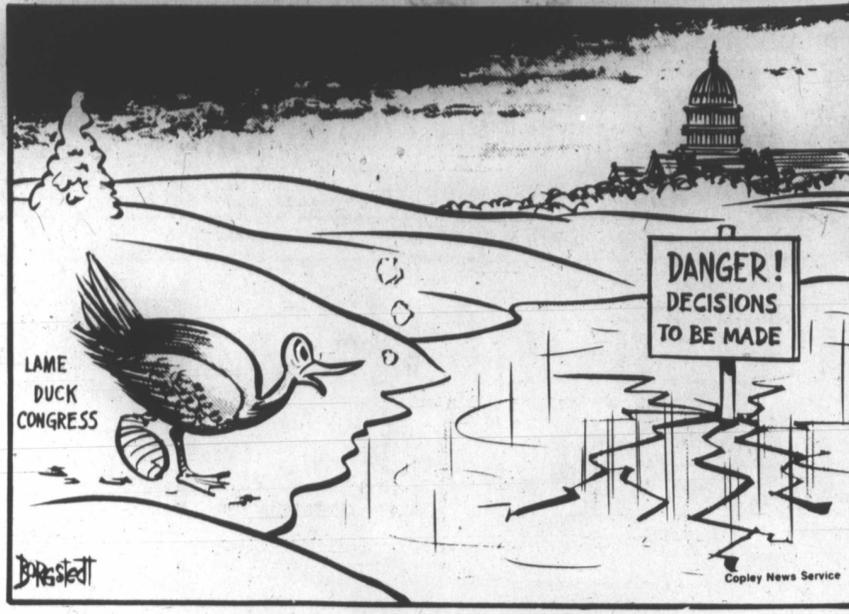

1. To go on creating fiat money, without being blamed for the damage it does to the economy while, at the same time, accruing ever more power by passing out the newly created money to favored groups.
2. To further increase its power over the population and the economy by regulating those whom it, falsely, accuses of being the inflation culprits.

Thus, it really is not surprising that governmental propaganda tends to place the blame for inflation first, upon the business community for "raising prices" and, second, upon the people themselves for "spending too much."

But there is still another reason for the confusion with respect to inflation. Because inflation, and the damage it does to the economy, is important, economists of every persuasion have attempted to explain it in terms that everyone can understand.

"An increase in the volume of money and credit relative to available goods resulting in a substantial and continuing rise in the general price level."

That not only tells us what inflation is, but since the Federal Reserve Board controls both the supply of money and the supply of credit, it also tells us WHO the inflation culprit is.

TO PREVENT THEFT
FBI Keeping Eye On Bomb

By VICTOR RIESEL
WASHINGTON — There was an era, not too long ago, when our cities "were for burning." In one year, 1967, huge fires lit bloodied streets, 85 persons died in riots, 3,200 people were badly injured as violence swept over the slithery gutters — and property damage ran to $100 million.

And not long afterwards, the nation's campuses erupted. Flames. Explosions. Rioting. Seizures of university buildings and mauling of faculties. In the first eight months of 1969 — damage ran to 19 million on college grounds alone. There were deaths and severe injuries.

Thus, to rush to the need of the times — and remember that in one year revolutionaries killed 13 police — the FBI updated and expanded its Counterintelligence Program now known as "Cointelpro." The FBI delved into hate groups, terrorists, revolutionaries, white and black and into the sub culture conspirators, some now underground and some still violence prone, operating openly.

Now thanks to the incaution of Attorney General Saxbe the impression extant is that the FBI went in for dirty tricks. This is an overreaction to the shoddiness of Watergateism.

Before anyone rushes in where Saxbe doesn't fear to tread, one should examine again the nature of internal and international terrorism, radical dissidents justifying people's court executions of judges here and abroad, for example, and avowed revolutionism.

Look, for example, at what the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) has been doing with its new security regulations. This must be distinguished from the weapons side of the commission.

There now are some 600 private industrial and educational AEC licensees. Of these almost 100 have enough SNM (special nuclear material) to warrant special protective regulations. For SNM has been in their corporate and institutional possession, and has been shipped in sufficient quantity to be stolen easily and an atomic bomb constructed just as easily.

Further, the AEC foresees the spreading use of plutonium into the fuel cycle in ever greater quantities. Today, I'm told, there is one, perhaps two plants which use this material. Mostly used is uranium. But this nation is in the throes of Project Independence. Today there are some 53 or 54 atomic power plants. In less than a decade there will be between 200 and 240 such energy depots.

So the problem of shipping plutonium and other SNM quantities safely — not only from the viewpoint of radiation but from the need of security from robbery — has become intense. The AEC is anticipating steady SNM movements in ever-increasing amounts and distances.

Its security people, now headed by Maj. Gen. Frederic Davison, new Director of the AEC Division of Safeguards and Security, contemplated unasily the recent terrorist seizure of the British aircraft by what even the Palestine Liberation Organization considers "crazies."

And they have asked themselves — what if sufficient SNM were stolen in any fashion from within, or without a plant, during shipment or storage to make a bomb? And some terrorists, revolutionaries by any name, or blackmailers hold, not a plane, but a city as hostage?

At least one governmental group says that terrorists abroad have Soviet-built "Strellas," a 32-pound missile which can be launched from a big man's shoulder. They say they believe such missiles have been used to bring down aircraft. I can't prove this. But I can vouch for the fact it was told to me on high authority.

What if this Stella is fitted with a small do-it-yourself atomic bomb?

There is reason to believe terrorists have given much thought to all this and the political ransom such an operation could extort.

Certainly the AEC's new regulations now call for specially protected convoys of plutonium shipments. Special armed carriers. Specially designed trailers. Cars protecting cars protecting the SNM carrier. Armed guards to escort all air and sea SNM shipments. And only on U.S. registered carriers. Rail shipments accompanied by five armed guards etc.

But it is much more comforting to know that Clarence Kelley's FBI men are infiltrating terrorist and revolutionary groups, keeping them under surveillance and perhaps bugging them in more ways than one. And also, could be, using some form of Cointelpro.

Depletion Allowance

Oil industry leaders and publications seem to be assuming that the depletion allowance on essential mineral resources will be killed soon after the next Congress convenes, that the battle is over and that good sense and justice are lost.

Perhaps Senators and Congressmen are not as short-sighted as the TV news people appear to hope. The major international oil companies are said to be willing to quit the fight for oil depletion. No mention is made of the fate of depletion allowances on a hundred other resources, coal for example.

Independent oil men, who discover most of the oil and gas fields in the U.S., are the ones who will suffer first if oil depletion is killed. The consumers and major oil companies will not be far behind, for the simple reason that both consumers and majors need that oil which is still to be found by the independents.

Thousands of independent oilmen already have been driven out of business. That's why we have so large a shortage now.

Unfortunately, the public, even in oil-producing areas, has been so misled by demagogues on TV that the energy crunch is misunderstood. Whengiven the facts, the good citizens do the right things. With a little help from constructive citizens, Congress may succeed, despite TV and the willingness of some to give up, in saving depletion, which will save the independent oil men and the energy industries. Seafood, redheaded women and jacks or better

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: A bunch of us in the office were talking about what it takes for a man to survive, and our office know-it-all said he had heard about a nifty set of "survival rules," but he couldn't remember any.

We all agreed that if anyone could help us, it was you. LONER

DEAR BUNCH: I've never seen any "survival rules," but I'll submit mine: Don't order seafood in a restaurant that has dirty menus. Never romance a woman who has more problems than you have. Don't tell a redhead you love her unless you intend to marry her. And don't open unless you have Jacks or better.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old girl with a good reputation. I have never been in any kind of trouble, and never gave my mother any reason to mistrust me. My problem is that my mother will not allow me to date any boys who drive a van-type vehicle.

I think it's ridiculous and unfair to assume that a girl is safer with a guy who drives an ordinary-type car than with one who drives a van.

I know several guys who would date me, but I can't go out with them. How can I convince my mother that she is wrong? She reads your column and thinks you give good advice. NOT ALLOWED

DEAR NOT: You probably can't. But since she thinks I give good advice, tell her that I said if she raised you right — and apparently she has because you've never been in any trouble and have a good reputation — she has nothing to worry about.

DEAR ABBY: Whenever my husband and I entertain company for dinner and I excuse myself to go into the kitchen to do some last minute things, invariably one of the female guests will get up and follow me into the kitchen saying she wants to "keep me company."

Abby, I haven't mastered adding spices to the entree, cooking vegetables, taking rolls out of the oven and keeping an intelligent conversation going all at the same time.

Last month we had two dinner parties, and both times my entree was ruined because I couldn't give my full attention to my dinner. I do not want company in the kitchen, but I don't want to hurt anyone's feelings. Can you help me? LONER

DEAR LONER: Use a little body language. When someone follows you into the kitchen, take her by the arm (gently, but firmly) and lead her back into the living room, telling her all the while how much you appreciate her offer of company but you prefer that she remain with the rest of the guests.

DEAR ABBY: A bunch of rowdy boys play football in a field next to my house. Every day, it seems the ball flies over my high fence. One or two of the boys come after it, and they always leave my gate open. I worry that my children will get out.

I've asked the boys a dozen times to please close the gate behind them when they get their ball. They never do. Monday the ball flew over the fence again.

I beat them to the ball, stuck an icepick in it, and threw it over the fence. Then I warned the boys that I would stab every ball that fell into my yard.

They called me some terrible names, but they have quit playing in that lot.

Was I within my rights? JANE THE STABBER

DEAR JANE: Yes. But it would have been kinder to have put a lock on your gate.

There's no substitute for personal contact between elected officials and their constituency at the grass roots level, and the airlines of America form this vital U.S. connection.

That's why when you board a plane, you may be traveling with a senator, representative, governor, mayor or state legislator.

Bringing elected officials and voters together is only part of the job done by our airlines. Our nation's rapid transit system in the sky brings all kinds of people together for debate and discussion, for work or for pleasure.

This year the airlines of America will board more than 200 million people, accounting for over 75% of the public passenger miles between our cities and over 90% of the traffic between the U.S. and other countries.

Our airlines will also move the air mail, most of the first class mail, and thousands of tons of freight. And the carriers will perform all of these services with less than 10% of the fuel used for the nation's transportation.

The airlines of America, dedicated to public transportation at its best, have made a pledge to the flying electorate—a pledge to keep our airlines of America the finest, most efficient and most comfortable rapid transit system in the world.

YOU WOULD never expect to find a mongoose in the Texas Panhandle.

That's because the mongoose is a native of India, Asia and Africa.

But a lot of folks, especially around City Hall, have been going to Ford's Body Shop just across the street at 111 N. Frost where Robert McCain, 2215 N. Russell, can tell you all about a mongoose he says he had shipped from S. Africa in the hopes of domesticating it.

In fact, McCain has the cage displayed on the office counter. He also can show you his torn leather jacket and ripped gloves to prove that a mongoose can get plenty rough if you don't know how to handle it.

Webster's dictionary describes the mongoose as "an agile keensighted brown and black viverrine mammal about the size of a ferret, has a sharp snout and a long heavy tail, feeds on snakes and rodents, and is often domesticated."

McCain built his own house having a door that leads into a wired enclosure. When we went in to see the mongoose it was not out in the wired enclosure. Apparently, it was asleep inside the little house.

McCain said he would have to coax it out. He did it.

If you are not familiar with the habits of mongooses, you may be in for a surprise in case you drop by Ford's Body Shop to see this one.

All we can say is that if McCain is planning on making a pet of the one in his cage — he had better call in an animal trainer.

As a warning — if you have a weak heart, it is suggested you skip trying to get a look at Robert McCain's mongoose.

He got interested in the hobby a couple of years ago when he was down state and saw several state flags that were about to be discarded. He asked and they were given to him. There were four or five of them.

When his daughter learned of his interest she presented him with an Oklahoma flag. Then came flags from a brother-in-law in Kansas, one from Florida and another from a daughter in California.

The collection was growing, so Barnard began writing to state governors and other officials around the nation. Many of them replied and sent flags. Others still are to be heard from.

He has flags that have flown over industrial plants, state houses, National Guard armories, city libraries banks and other public buildings.

IN ADDITION to the state flags, Barnard has two territorial flags and two from the District of Columbia.

He has also made a study of the American flag and as a result has become probably Pampa's foremost authority on flag etiquette and thinks there should be an educational campaign.

He finds that many patriotic citizens do not know how to treat, handle and display Old Glory.

He says one of the best books on flag etiquette is available from the Pampa headquarters office of the Adobe Walls Council Boy Scouts of America, 815 N. Sumner St. You can buy it for 50 cents.

Barnard adds that most disrespect shown the American flag is done unintentionally by persons unfamiliar with way in which the flag should be displayed, when it should be flown and how it should be stored when not in use.

He says when he completes his collection of all 50 states flags he plans to make them available for school classes, boy and girl scouts or interested groups.

Barnard is a retired employee of Celanese Chemical Co. where he was a maintenance supervisor.

GETTING BACK to that crazy mongoose. It has been suggested that McCain match it in a fight with a Texas rattlesnake. If that happens, it's certain Jimmy the Greek would offer at least 5 to 1 odds on the goose.

A PAMPAN with an unusual hobby is Ray C. Barnard, 2505 Christine.

He has been collecting state flags for about two years. So far he has flags from 40 states.

In the collection are emblems from every state in the U.S. except South Dakota, Nebraska, Colorado, Arkansas, Delaware, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Nevada, Utah and Illinois.

Maybe you can help him complete the collection. If you have friends or relatives in one of those states, drop a line and tell them Mr. Barnard would like to have their state flag to add to his collection.

Sugar Big Attraction In Mexico

JUAREZ, Mexico (UPI) — The American tourist who used to go to Mexico for wine, women and song has changed priorities. Sugar, not tequila, is the big attraction south of the border these days.

With the price of sugar in the United States skyrocketing up to 70 cents a pound in some areas more Americans have been crossing into Mexico to buy the less refined but much cheaper Mexican sugar.

On any weekend, hundreds of Americans can be seen lining up at Mexican shopping centers to buy packages of sugar selling from eight to 10 cents per pound in border towns like Juarez.

The problems so far have been few, say U.S. officials, although some Americans crossing into the United States at such places as Brownwood, Tex., have complained they had their sugar allotments confiscated by Mexican authorities.

But the sudden craze by Americans to load up on Mexican sugar has brought stricter enforcement by U.S. Customs agents of the Agriculture Department's Sugar Act. The act limits to 100 pounds the amount of sugar which an American family or individual can import from another country.

"There is never any problem with these quota items until the price domestically goes way out of line with foreign countries," said Charles Easley, El Paso chief customs inspector. "That is what has happened with sugar."

Although few Americans have been arrested trying to bring back more than their quota, a New Mexico man was indicted last month for trying to smuggle 2,750 pounds of sugar into the United States.

Based on current American and Mexican prices, the suspect stood to make a profit of more than $1,100 had he not been caught.

to bring in sugar for commercial sale," said Easley. "It not only violates the import quota law, but the sugar has also not passed pure food and drug inspection."

Some American businesses, such as bakeries, are allowed to import specific amounts of sugar, provided they apply for a quota exemption and pay taxes on the commodity.

Easley also said there is no agreement between the two countries to limit sugar imports.

PORT HUENEME, Calif. (UPI) — A Navy court martial Friday found a Seabee guilty of assault and battery with a chocolate cream pie on his commanding officer and sentenced him to demotion, restriction to base and a fine.

"This is not justice," complained Leon L. Louie, 19, who said he wished he were a civilian again.

A jury of five officers found Louie guilty after three days of testimony and arguments, including an appearance by comedian Soupy Sales as an expert witness for the defense on cream pie throwing.

Louie was fined $400, restricted to the base for two months and demoted from seaman to seaman E-1, the lowest rank. He could have gotten six months in the brig and a bad conduct discharge.

stepped out of ranks at morning formation of his construction company on Sept. 27 and "slapped a chocolate cream pie in the face of his commander, Lt. (j.g.) Timothy Curtin. His defense took several tacks, including a claim that he was just trying to cheer up the men of his battalion, who were dismayed to hear they are being sent to Diego Garcia Island, a sweltering, remote spot in the Indian Ocean.

Sales testified that he was the world champion cream pie comic, having been hit in the face with at least 19,000 of them, and having hurled them himself at scores of celebrity entertainers.

ATHENS (UPI) — A military dictatorship ruled Greece. The explosion ripped through the offices of the Royalist Union, a block from Athens police headquarters, destroying furniture, smashing windows and tearing a hole in the floor. Police reported no casualties and said they were investigating.

Police Check Missing Drugs

Police and store personnel of Ideal No. 1, located at 431 N. Ballard, have inventoried a group of class two narcotics stolen from the store's pharmacy.

The break-in was reported Friday morning by a bakery clerk reporting to work.

Investigators said the burglar or burglars had apparently hidden in the store until after closing. Narcotics were removed from a locker and refrigerator in the building. A hammer was used to break the lock when the thief exited the store.

City employees in Central Park Friday turned in a quantity of pills from inside the park. Officials said the pills and capsules were in the group stolen from the store.

Investigation is continuing.

GOP Rules Changes Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Trying to guard against future Watergates, a GOP reform committee approved a far reaching proposal Saturday to give the Republican National Committee chairman more direct control over campaign expenditures by the party's presidential candidates.

Members of the Rule 29 Committee, the group charged with making party reforms and rule changes, passed the proposal by voice despite objections of National GOP Chairman Mary Louise Smith.

The proposal, which is still subject to a two-year review by the GOP hierarchy, would designate the party's national chairman as one agent in a Republican candidate's presidential campaign. It also would prohibit expenditures larger than $1,000 on behalf of the candidate without the express authorization of the party chairman.

Mrs. Smith warned the change could create extensive problems because of recent revisions in the campaign financing act related to presidential elections.

Other party reformers, however, said the proposal was necessary to illustrate to the American people that the GOP has no intention of letting future presidential candidates engage in the kind of spending abuses that highlighted Richard M. Nixon's 1972 re-election.

Michigan national committeeman William McLaughlin singled out Nixon's Committee to Re-elect the President, which operated outside the national party structure, in urging adoption of the rules change.

McLaughlin said the provision would "protect this party from any future abuse by any candidate's campaign committee." Although the proposal is not "foolproof," he said, it would go a long way to heading off future Watergates.

"We got blamed in 1973 for Watergate," McLaughlin said. "So if we're going to get blamed, why don't we get in there and do something about it — and if we don't, we deserve the blame."

Police Arrest Pampa Youth

Police arrested an 18-year-old Pampa youth early Saturday and charged him with possession of suspected marijuana and a traffic violation.

Reports indicated the youth drove through the flashing red light at Francis and Somerville at 12:04 a.m. Saturday.

When an officer stopped the vehicle for the violation, he reportedly noticed suspected-marijuana seeds in the seat. Further checking revealed a container of more of the suspected substance, which was confiscated and sent to an identification lab, reports said.

Who's Running Ethiopia?

ADDIS ABABA (UPI) — Nearly three months after the army's "creeping coup" finally deposed 82-year-old Emperor Haile Selassie, the question asked most frequently by diplomats, visiting businessmen and bewildered local citizens is "Who is running Ethiopia?"

One Western diplomat cracked: "If you don't find the situation confusing, then you are not very well informed on what is going on in Ethiopia."

Officially, the Provisional Military Administrative Council, under Brig. Gen. Teferi Benti, is in charge of this country of 27 million divided into disparate geographical areas and ethnic groups.

Benti, 53, has assigned more than 200 members of the armed forces, police and territorial army to work with various ministries, governmental agencies and 13 regional bodies.

He told them, "It will be your duty to clean up the mess and set things straight—to eliminate the time-consuming bureaucracy and to improve the quality of the public service."

The ruling council of some 120 officers is a league of faceless men. Benti, who replaced Lt. Gen. Aman Andom as chairman, has yet to appear in public.

Behind him is the shadowy figure of major Mengistu Haile-Mariam, vice chairman and reputed hard-liner of the council.

Diplomatic sources said it was Haile-Mariam who pressed for the execution of Andom, who was eventually gunned down while resisting arrest, and 59 other army officers and former government leaders shot to death Nov. 24.

The killings, a wave of arrests and several mysterious explosions in Addis Ababa had their effect on civilian administrators. Many stay away from their desks or dare not make any decisions.

Rockefeller Hunts Along Rio Grande

HARLINGEN, Tex. (UPI) — Vice presidential appointee Nelson Rockefeller, getting away from the Washington pressures of his lengthy confirmation hearings, spent the weekend on a deer hunting trip in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Rockefeller told newsmen he made the trip "to take a good rest and just get out into God's country."

Rockefeller was hunting with Frank Yturria of Brownsville on Yturria's ranch in Willacy County.

Federal judges Ben Connally of Houston, Owen Cox of Corpus Christi and Reynaldo Garza of Brownsville were also on the hunting trip.

Rockefeller was greeted by about 100 persons when his private jet landed Friday at Harlingen International Airport.

He shook hands with the crowd—mostly northerners who spend the winters in the Valley, and later talked to newsmen.

Rockefeller told newsmen he had his fingers crossed about his chances for confirmation as vice president.

"Things look a little better, but when people's votes are involved, I never take anything for granted."

"If I were to get approved by a majority of one on the committee, I'd be very grateful and the same would be true of the Congress. I'd like to be there to help the President and the country at this time."

The former New York governor admitted his confirmation hearings were tougher than he expected.

"Yes, I'd never been through this kind of thing and I guess only Jerry Ford (congressmen) got a tremendous responsibility because they are representing the people of the United States who can't vote. This is the first time in history of our country there will be a president and, whoever the vice president is, who will have been appointed by the President and approved by the Congress—but not elected."

Lefors Falls In State Semis To Celina

CELINA FUMBLE — Scott Tingle of Celina recovers his own fumble here but not before the ball is chased by Jim Hix (24) and Phil White (15) of Lefors. Celina won the game, 57-6, and the right to play Big Sandy in the Class B state finals either Friday or Saturday.

By PAULSIMS
VERNON — Lefors found Celina's devastating balance between running and passing too hot to handle and had to settle for a 57-6 loss to the Bobcats, who next play Big Sandy for the Class B state championship.

Around 1,500 persons, including several from the Dallas-Fort Worth area, witnessed the surprisingly easy win, which left Celina with a 13-1 record and Lefors, 7-6 and eliminated in the state playoffs.

Despite the thrashing, Lefors became the top Class B team in West Texas by advancing further than any other team and knocking off three of the state's top 10 powers in the process. The semifinal game also marked the first time a Lefors team has ever advanced that far.

Celina, it looked like, had the game wrapped up from the opening kickoff.

Celina moved the ball, behind the running of fullback Randy Nelson and halfback David Renteria and Scott Hester, from its 37 down to the Pirate seven. On first down from there, Hester burst off left tackle and in for the opening score.

Paul Haskell booted his first of six consecutive extra points. Even the Bobcats' conversion game was balanced as quarterback Frank Andrews passed for two points after one touchdown and Scott Tingle kicked a PAT after another.

Lefors had fourth and inches to go for a first on its own 18 and elected to go for it midway through the first quarter. Quarterback Greg Beck passed incompletely to end Bobby Dunn, giving Celina the ball and, as it turned out, another touchdown.

Five plays later, Renteria circled right end for the two-yard TD, putting Celina in front by two touchdowns.

Then Lefors, again "gave" another touchdown to the Bobcats, who forged turnovers and inconsistent play all night with a bruising defense. This time it was Renteria who came up with the big defensive play, recovering a fumble on the Lefors 41.

Three plays later, Andrews lofted a 41-yard bomb to split end Joey Wester, who slipped behind the Pirate secondary and had no trouble getting the touchdown at 11:44 in the second quarter.

After another Lefors fumble, recovered by Londro Butler, Andrews and Hester connected on the same play, which had resulted in the last touchdown, and Celina scored again. The play, again, covered 41 yards and came only a minute after the first bomb.

Lefors could only move 11 yards to its 42 after the kickoff, and on an apparent punt by the Pirates' Phil White, a fumble forced the sophomore speedster to run on fourth down. Celina stopped White short and came up with the ball again.

This time the Pirates held the Bobcats and took over on the Lefors 43.

White punted, and the Celina offense again rolled. Celina drove, alternating running time between the three backs and capped the 53-yard march with a 15-yard pass from Andrews to Steve Carey at 1:36 in the second quarter.

Celina added another score by Renteria with 4:08 left in the third stanza. The senior halfback, who rushed for over 800 yards during the regular season, took a pitch from Andrews and sprinted six yards for the TD. Haskell's point after kick put the visitors in front, 42-0.

All-state linebacker candidate Rex Glendinning killed Lefors' ensuing series by falling on a fumble on the hosts' 34. Three plays (including a 21-yard pass from Andrews to Tommy Haskell on the first) later, Hester went around left end behind a super block by Renteria for the touchdown, which came with 2:58 left in the third quarter.

On the extra point try, Andrews, the holder, passed to Carey and surprised Lefors for two points, making it an even 50-0.

Barney Sawyer took the kickoff on the Lefors 34 and returned it down the right sideline all the way for the Pirates' only score. Phil White missed on the PAT try.

An onside kick by the Pirates was recovered by Sawyer with 2:40 left in the period. However, Celina, keeping most of its starters in the game, held and took over the ball on its own 49.

The third quarter was marred by penalties, turnovers, injuries and time outs and lasted one hour.

On the first play of the last period, substitute quarterback Pat Hunn passed 30 yards to Renteria, alone in the near right corner of the end zone. Tingle booted the final extra point.

Both teams used three quarterbacks in the game. Phil White and Bobby Dunn played much of the second half at the quarterback slot for Lefors. Dunn is normally a split end on offense but did a fine job running in the last quarter.

Besides Andrews and Hunn, Anthony Johnson quarterbacked for the winners, who did not take most of the starters out until late in the game, a surprise move by Coach G.A. Moore, who claims he never tries to run up the score.

Glendinning recovered two fumbles as Lefors lost four, compared to no turnovers for Celina. Steve Harris was equally impressive on the Celina defense, pressuring quarterback Bobby Dunn all night and managing several key tackles.

Linebackers Sawyer and Rick Jennings impressed Celina on defense, coming up with several stops.

Celina outrushed Lefors, 212-50, and outgained the Pirates in passing yardage, 190-47, and in first downs, 21-8. Both teams punted twice.

Leading rusher in the game was Nelson with 14 carries for 71 yards. For Celina, he was followed by Hester, 11 attempts for 68 yards, and Renteria, nine rushes for 40 yards.

Andrews was spectacular, completing six of six throws for 118 yards in the first half and finishing with seven of nine for 139 yards in the three quarters he played.

Lefors, on the other hand, completed only two passes in 13 attempts. Celina also thwarted the Lefors running game, which accounted for only 50 yards, getting minus two yards on 18 carries in the first half.

Sawyer gained 49 yards on 16 carries, followed by Jennings, 23 on five, and Dunn, seven for 16.

"We had a great season and a bad game," said Lefors' coach Leonard Tolbert shortly after the loss. "Celina is just a great football team."

Moore was all smiles after his 13th win. "It was a real fine team effort," said Moore, "and our defense just played real well."

Big Sandy is No. 1 in the state and Celina No. 2 going into the state finals game. Time and place of the contest was not announced Saturday morning.

Cowboys Remain Alive In Wild Card Running

IRVING, Tex (UPI) — Roger Staubach threw three touchdown passes. Walt Garrison ran for two scores and the Dallas defense came up with four interceptions Saturday in a 41-17 crunching of Cleveland that preserved the Cowboys' modest hopes for a playoffs spot.

Staubach hit Golden Richards with scoring throws of 35 and 43 yards only 68 seconds apart in the first quarter to give Dallas a quick lead.

Cleveland fought back to within three points at 20:17 early in the third period, but Dallas then put on a quick three touchdown blitz featuring runs of three and one yards by Garrison and a 42-yard touchdown pass from Staubach to Billy Joe Dupree.

Efren Herrera added field-goals of 39 and 19 yards to run up the largest Cowboy point total of the year.

Cleveland's Mike Phipps, starting his first game in six weeks, hit Steve Holden with a four-yard touchdown throw. Don Cockroft kicked a 28-yard field-goal and Ken Brown ran for 12 yards for another Cleveland score.

Brown's touchdown run came on the opening drive of the second half and put Cleveland back in the contest.

But in quick order Dallas put the game away. After Brown scored, Dennis Morgan ran the kickoff back 43 yards and six plays later Garrison scored from the three.

Dallas scored again four minutes later when

Pampa Hosting Semifinal Tilt For Class AA

Spearman will play Bowie in a Class AA state semifinal game at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Harvester Stadium. Pampa High athletic director Ed Lehnick announced Saturday after conferring with officials from Spearman.

Ticket prices are $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for students and can be purchased at the game.

Staubach hit Dupree with back-to-back passes of 21 and 42 yards, the latter for a score.

The Cowboys took only 22 more seconds to score their third touchdown of the period. D.D. Lewis intercepted Phipps at the Browns' 27 and dashed back to the one, from where Garrison scored.

The victory boosted Dallas to an 8-5 mark, but to make the playoffs for the ninth consecutive year, the Cowboys must beat Oakland next week and Washington must lose its two remaining games to Los Angeles and Chicago. Cleveland, on the way to only its second losing season in history, is 4-9.

Vikings Tromp Over Atlanta Falcons, 23-10

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Veteran running back Dave Osborn scored two touchdowns Saturday to pace the NFC Central Division champion Minnesota Vikings to a 23-10 victory over Atlanta, the Falcons' seventh straight loss.

Osborn rushed for 196 yards in 24 carries and caught six passes for another 39 yards as the Vikings upped their record to 9-4. The Minnesota defense spoiled quarterback Kim McQuilken's first pro start by sacking the rookie four times for 50 yards.

Bufs Nudge Southwestern

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI) — Eugene Smith scored on a driving layup at the start of the third overtime Friday to help lift West Texas State to an 82-78 win over Southwestern University.

Smith, who had picked up his fourth personal foul with over nine minutes of regulation play remaining, scored six straight points, four of them knotting play 78-78.

Smith ended the night with 19 points, but Howard Taylor led WTSU with 25. Harold McGee scored 28 points for Southwestern. 26 of them after halftime, to lead all scorers.

West Texas is now 2-0 and Southwestern fell to 3-5 for the season.

Reward Offered For Wolf's Killer

Two recent U.S. scientific efforts to reestablish some rare species into the wild have met with failure due to the wanton slaying of the species.

In Michigan, the only known male timber wolf in the state's Upper Peninsula was found dead, shot several times with a small caliber weapon. Dr. William Robinson, who coordinated the transplant of two male and two female Eastern timber wolves from northern Minnesota to northern Michigan, reported that the first male was hit by a car and the two females are reported far apart in the Upper Peninsula.

A $1,000 reward was offered for information about the second male wolf's killer. Wolves are a protected species in Michigan, but trappers get $15 per coyote taken. Robinson said he is going to try to reestablish them again and is waiting for another male wolf from Minnesota. Even without human interference, he estimates the chances of a successful transplant are only 50-50.

In addition, a pair of young peregrine falcons that had been carefully raised and then released to the wild in New York State are missing. One of them the Baltimore Orioles came home with the most quality and the city fathers of New Orleans gleaned the most hope for a future major league franchise.

The annual meetings, which concluded Friday night, featured a total of 15 trades with 39 players changing uniforms. Of those 39, it would appear the Orioles, who reeled off three deals, came up with the most blue-chippers for the smallest return.

The Orioles, obviously forced to make some moves toward adding some punch to their 1975 lineup after their closest competitors in the American League east, the New York Yankees, picked up superstar Bobby Bonds from San Francisco in October, came up with just that in first baseman Lee May and rightfielder Ken Singleton, both 100-RBI men only one season ago.

But the beauty of the Baltimore swapping was the fact that they were forced to yield only one man who could be considered "front line" material — 32-year-old southpaw Dave McNally, who went to Montreal along with reserve outfielder Rich Coggins in exchange for Singleton and righthander Mike Torrez.

The Expos, who led all comers in activity with four deals, unfortunately did not reap the same rewards as the Orioles.

Later the Expos embarked on a house-cleaning of high-salaried veterans, unloading 34-year-old Ron Fairly to St. Louis for a pair of unproven minor leaguers and $110,000 centerfielder Willie Davis, also 34, to Texas for two other youngsters of unknown calibre.

was deliberately killed. Dr. Heinz Meng, who in 1971 successfully bred endangered peregrine falcons in captivity, reports that someone killed one of the two peregrines he released this summer from a tower at the State University College at New Paltz. It was the first time peregrines bred in captivity had been returned.

Last summer, when the pair's feathers grew in, Meng opened their cage and they began to explore the foothills of the Catskill Mountains, killing their own prey. But before Meng had a chance to test the instinct of the male and female to migrate and nest, the severed wing of the female was found in a wooded area.

"It could have been done by a sharp knife or a hatchet," he said.

The male is also missing and Meng fears he too may have been killed. Meng noted that a few days before the birds were discovered missing from their campus perch, an unidentified telephone caller had said, "Can't you do something about those killer birds on campus?"

Next spring, Meng will attempt to release several pairs of peregrines into the wild, this time at a different, undisclosed location.

As we approach the Christmas holiday, we are busy with our shopping and thinking of our friends and family. I would like to extend a warm greeting to all of our friends, the young people as well as the adults that share their leisure time bowling with us here at Harvester Lanes. A very Merry Christmas and hope that the new year will bring much happiness to you and yours.

We plan to go see my Mother and hope all of you will be able to spend time with your families. Also, we want to tell you to have a safe trip for those of you who do plan to be out on our highways. I know Santa will be real good to all of you. We count each of our patrons and friends as real assets to our lives here in Pampa.

I might also mention that we send best wishes to all of the fine folks that sponsor a team or teams here at the lanes, without you we sure would be lost.

Port Neches-Groves Decisions Baytown

BEAUMONT, Tex. (UPI) — Port Neches-Groves forced seven turnovers by Baytown Sterling Friday night and quarterback Mike Havard passed for 131 yards, including two touchdowns, as the Indians whipped Baytown Sterling 27-9 in the quarterfinals of the Class AAAA football playoffs.

Port Neches-Groves will play the winner of Saturday night's Brazoswood-San Antonio Churchill game in the Houston Astrodome in the semifinals. Havard completed touchdown passes of 75 and 9 yards to split end Andy Gilbert in the victory, considered an upset in the race toward the state schoolboy crown.

Sterling, which nearly matched the winners in the statistics, lost five fumbles and had two passes intercepted. It scored first on a 27-yard field goal by Jim Callam and the scored in the fourth quarter on a 31 yard run by fullback George Griffin.

Gilbert's 75 yard scoring pass started the Port Neches second and third quarter scoring.

Central Michigan Surprises Bulldogs

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (UPI) — Central Michigan University intercepted six Louisiana Tech passes and Chippewa quarterback Mike Franckowiak ran for one touchdown and passed for another to lead fourth-ranked CMU to a 35-14 upset over the number-one ranked Bulldogs in the fourth annual pioneer bowl Saturday.

Franckowiak, the game's most valuable offensive player, led a bruising Chippewa offensive attack to end the nation's longest winning streak, Tech had won its previous 23 games. The victory in the NCAA Division 2 semifinal contest moves CMU into the National College Division finals against Delaware next Saturday in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento, Calif.

Pampa Among Tourney Teams

W.T. White and Grady Spruce High School will both venture to Wichita Falls this weekend to compete in the Midwestern University Invitational High School Basketball Tournament.

This year's opening round action will find W.T. White taking on Wichita Falls Hirschi Thursday night at 6:00 and Grady Spruce meeting Pampa High School at 6:30 p.m. in the M.U. Coliseum.

Wichita Falls Hirschi is competing in Class AAAA for the first time. The Huskies are short on experience but they make up for that in hustle and desire. Coach Mike Bridges' troops are a well disciplined outfit that relies on a balanced offensive attack.

Only two seniors dot the Hirschi line - up, Roger Herrera and 5-11 guard James Esterling who leads the Huskies on the floor. Eveng though Hirschi will be counted as the underdog, look out for Hirschi as they have a knack for playing the role of the spoiler.

Grady Spruce will be facing a tough opponent in Pampa. The Harvesters are considered one of the top teams in the state this season. Senior Billy Wilbon, 1973 M.U. Invitational All-Tournament, and 6-5 senior Howie Lewis are the Harvesters' big guns. But Coach Robert McPherson's squad is better known for its outstanding defense, led by ball-hawking guard Robert Young.

The Apaches will have their hands full when they meet the Harvesters Thursday night as will the Longhorns of W.T. White when they take on Hirschi.

Ways To Cut Dry Cleaning Costs

COLLEGE STATION — Although most of today's fabrics are washable, some keep their "new" look longer if they are dry cleaned, one clothing expert contended this week.

She's Marlene Odle, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The specialist suggested ways to cut costs of dry cleaning bills.

— Hang and air garments between wearings.
— Touch up minor spots between wearings with a non-toxic spot remover.

— Using a soft cloth to brush from the outer edge of the stain toward the center prevents a ring, she said.

— Biot all liquid spills immediately.

— Choose darker clothing that does not soil easily.

— Long sleeves get dirty faster than short or three-quarter length.

— Leather, fur, sheer chiffon, wool crepe, pleats, beading and intricate designs usually add to the cleaning cost.

— Remove any buttons or trim yourself that cannot be dry cleaned.

— Deliver your own clothes to the dry cleaners, because deliveries mean extra charges.

— Watch for seasonal price reductions in dry cleaning services.

— Coin-operated or self-service facilities save money. Pre-spotting treatments and pressers are usually available. Most of these facilities have an attendant on duty for extra help, Miss Odle said.

Selecting Today's Thread

COLLEGE STATION — With so many types of thread on the market, today's homemaker may be confused about which tread to use.

A few guidelines will simplify thread selection and make sewing more satisfying. Beverly Rhoades, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, suggested this week.

"Making sure thread and fabric are compatible is the first consideration. Mercerized cotton thread is appropriate for any basting or sewing woven fabrics of natural fibers — cotton, wool or linen. This thread has excellent sewing qualities and is heat resistant," she said.

All-purpose polyester, cotton covered polyester, or silk thread give strength and elasticity when used with permanent press fabrics, knits, woven synthetics or synthetic blends, she continued.

"Cotton covered polyester — a dual thread — combines the stretch and strength of all-polyester core with the sewability and heat resistance of the cotton covering."

The specialist advised extra fine thread for today's very lightweight fabrics. She also noted that for heavy fabrics, extra strong or heavy-duty thread is available. The label on spools gives manufacturer's suggestions or use, she added.

"Buttonhole twist, heavy silk or polyester thread is designed especially for top stitching, buttonholes, thread loops and sewing on buttons."

"Metallic thread is available for decorative top stitching. And bottom thread is a new heavy, non-glossy thread for sewing on buttons. It is also fine for top stitching when a dull finish is desired," Miss Rhoades noted.

Select thread color one shade darker than the fabric — threads look lighter when stitched in, she reminded.

For plaids, prints or stripes, she suggested selecting the dominant color or using one color as top thread and another for the bobbin.

CITRUS FRUITS

Citrus fruits and vinegar-based relishes will damage the finish on pewter. Glass or plastic liners will prevent these stains, according to Mrs. Lillian Chenoweth, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

African Violet Society Tours Greece Via Film

The Pampa African Violet Society met recently in the home of Mrs. Norman Walberg. A prayer, "Thank God for Little Things" by Helen Steiner Rice, was given by the hostess.

Mrs. Dan Glazner presided in the absence of the President, Mrs. Lee Moore. After a short business meeting Mrs. Walberg introduced Ted Gikas who showed slides and gave an informative talk about his trips to Greece in 1967 and 1971.

Gikas told of his parents immigrating to America and of his relatives still living in Greece. He showed a collection of priceless coins and other items of his collections, telling the history of each article. Gikas plans to present his collection to a museum. He told of the Christening of one of his cousin's new baby in a church atop a high rocky mountain. They had to walk most of the way over the rocky terrain to reach it. Gikas great-great-grandfather was Christened in the same church.

Mrs. Walberg's granddaughter, Zindi Walberg, in costume, gave a reading about a country girl looking for a boyfriend.

Refreshments were served by the hostess from an appointed table using a Thanksgiving motif.

Members and husbands present were Msrs. and Mmes. Dan Glazner, Norman Walberg, Holly Gray and Charles Glison, and Mmes. Evan Jones, J.E. Carlson, V.M. Osborn, C.E. Boswell. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Walberg, Donnie, Zindi and Quinn.

Library Notes

By MARY FATHEREE
If you are a reader who wants to read behind the headlines, write an article or make a speech, you will probably go to your public library to do your research.

If you are a clubwoman needing material for a program or book review, you too will go to the library for information.

Since no one library, regardless of size, can itself provide all requested material, you may find that your local library lacks some of the information you need. What to do?

You may apply for an interlibrary loan made possible by the Reference Division of the Texas State Library, who provides this service free of charge through your own library.

For a loan period of three weeks, you may borrow books on history, travel, literature, the arts, biography, current events, the U.S. and other countries, Texas, noted people, science and vocations.

Types of material NOT lent are rare books, genealogical material, microfilms, reference books, and periodicals. (Xerox copies of these materials, however, can be sent at the discretion of the State Library.)

The only expense involved in the interlibrary loan service is the cost of postage to and from the Texas State Library, which must be paid by the borrower.

Anyone wishing to use this valuable research aid may do so through Lovett Library, whose staff will assist you in filling out request forms.

Many readers may be also unaware of the fact that their local library cards can be used to borrow books from any library in the Texas Panhandle Library System.

This experiment in reciprocity is sponsored by the System, a newly established library cooperative made possible by your State Library through the Texas Library Systems Act.

A story hour for children attending the Day Care Nursery at 600 West Browning is currently being sponsored by Lovett Library.

Mrs. Winifred Crinklaw, assistant librarian, is entertaining the youngsters with stories, finger plays, action games, and songs every Thursday at 10:30 a.m.

With Christmas a mere fortnight away, most of us are turning our thoughts to gifts, decorations and menus. For fresh ideas on the above, worth your while is a look at your library's "Holidays and Customs" section (394).

"New Ideas for Christmas Decorations" by Nora Fields, tells you how to do all kinds of unusual things with greens, pods and cones.

"How to Make Christmas Ornaments", by Haryette S. Hendricks, is complete with photographs, illustrations and step-by-step diagrams.

For entertaining with our younger friends, there is a collection of plays, pageants, poems, stories and games in a volume called "The Days We Celebrate", compiled and edited by Robert Haven Schaffler.

There are also books of carols and devotions, unusual gifts and foods — and tips on indoor and outdoor lighting.

One of my favorites in this section is called "Christmas in the Good Old Days" — A Victorian Album of Stories, Poems, and Pictures of the Personalities Who Rediscovered Christmas.

Perhaps we all need to rediscover Christmas. We could do it a new way this year — through our old friends, books.

HOMEMAKERS NEWS

By MRS. ELAINE HOUSTON
County Extension Agent

The Home Demonstration Council will hold their annual Christmas program Monday afternoon, Dec. 9 at 1:30 p.m. in the Courthouse Annex meeting room. All home demonstration club members are invited to attend. They should bring a favorite Christmas recipe and a gift. Mrs. Rufe Jordan will give the program.

CONVERSION TABLES FOR CANE SUGAR
Several weeks ago I mentioned ways to substitute other sweets for expensive cane sugar. I have received more information on the guidelines.

Some general guidelines for these substitutions will help homemakers achieve economical and high quality baked goods.

— Honey. For one cup of sugar in baking, use one cup honey and reduce liquid one-fourth cup for each cup of honey used. If about half the sugar is retained in a recipe and honey substituted for the other half, a better quality product will result. In baking, use one-fourth teaspoon soda for each cup of honey. This is in addition to baking powder in the recipe when honey is substituted for sugar.

— Molasses or sorghum. For one cup sugar, use one and one-half cups molasses or sorghum and reduce liquid one-fourth cup for each cup of molasses and sorghum used.

— Corn syrup. For one cup of sugar, use two cups corn syrup and reduce liquid one-fourth cup for each cup of corn syrup used.

— Cane syrup. One and one-half cups of cane syrup is equal in sweetness to one cup of cane sugar. In cakes and cookies, replace sugar with syrup, measure for measure, and reduce liquid one-third. Cakes and cookies made with corn and cane syrups are not as sweet as when sugar is used.

Gifts For Gardeners

COLLEGE STATION — Undecided on Christmas gifts? Numerous items are available that will please gardening buffs.

Garden tools, terrariums and potted plants make good Christmas gifts, according to Everett Janne, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Top quality garden tools such as hand trowels and grass clippers are available to fit almost any budget and are sure to please an avid gardener."

Another good gift for a gardener is a subscription to a monthly gardening magazine or a book on some aspect of gardening. A gift certificate from a bookstore is a good idea because the person can choose a book on his or her own interests, adds the Texas A&M University System horticulturist.

"Yard accessories such as sculptures, urns, wind chimes, bird feeders and hanging baskets add to the enjoyment of the outdoor area around the home while a rain gauge, barometer or outdoor thermometer will please a weather enthusiast."

Terrariums, outdoor plants or a gift certificate from a local nursery are good gifts for anyone interested in plants or for someone trying to start a garden.

Chase-Chambliss

Karla Jean Chase and Eddie Curtis Chambliss will wed Saturday, Dec. 14 in the home of the bride-elect's mother. Making the announcement are her parents, Mrs. Teddy Pyron of Pampa and Frank D. Chase of Andrews. Mr. and Mrs. San Curtis Chambliss, Andrews are the parents of the prospective bridegroom. Miss Chase is a 1974 graduate of Andrews High School and her fiancé, a 1971 AHS graduate, is a private in the U.S. Army, stationed at Ford Knox, Ky. In January, he will be stationed in Germany.

Area Judge Presents BPW Banquet Program

The Pampa Business & Professional Women's Club held its Civic Participation Banquet recently at the First United Methodist Church.

The Civic Participation Chairman, Virginia McDonald presided. Mae Etta Powers registered the guests and members and the invocation was given by Ruth Sewell.

President Dovie Breeze, welcomed everyone and Mrs. McDonald introduced the guests and the head table.

Florette Burns introduced Mrs. Gene Allen and Heidi. Heidi sang several selections and was accompanied at the piano by her mother.

Mrs. McDonald introduced the speaker, the Honorable Judge Mary Lou Robinson, Amarillo 7th District Court of Civil Appeals.

Judge Robinson said we should be happy to be born in this age of the 20th century rather than in the 18th Century England. We are happy that all children receive an education and half of them go to college. Child labor laws do cause problems, but we do not have 10 and 11 years olds working 14 and 16 hours in sweat shops.

This is a different age we are living in she said. Crime is increasing nation wide. Where we use to feel safe on the streets and didn't have to lock our cars, but now we do. We as citizens have to cope with this situation, through legislation and active participation. Eighty-seven percent of the crimes are against property; thirteen percent of the crimes are against persons; and two-thirds percent of the crimes are committed by people we know and not by strangers. There are twice as many suicides as there are homicides in the United States every year, she told. Guests attending were A. J. Robinson, Amarillo; Judge and Mrs. Don Cain; Sheriff and Mrs. Rufe Jordan; George Masie; W.E. and Jimmy Jordan; and Flossie Anderson; Nina Spoonemore; Margaret Winkleman KGRO; Libby Shotwell; Virginia Mitten; Reba Percy; Lacy Ayres and Bonnie Stuckey. B&PW Girls of the month from Pampa High School were LaDonna Wall, Beverly Ann Burns, and Melinda Gay Millican.

Most Precious Christmas Gift Would Be Her Life

McKINNEY, Tex. (UPI) — The most precious Christmas gift for Cheryl Gibbs is her life.

The pretty young lady from Prosper, Tex., spent her ninth birthday Aug. 8 in Collin Memorial Hospital, where she faces a losing struggle with cerebral palsy.

Doctors don't expect her to live to another birthday, or even another Christmas.

A patient at Collin five times since she was 2, Cheryl entered the hospital Nov. 1 for what even her parents concede probably will be her last visit.

Cheryl's mother, Mrs. Troy Gibbs, leans over her daughter's bed occasionally and strokes the head of the motionless, expressionless child as she explains resignedly the hopelessness of the situation.

"We have not made any special plans for Christmas or any other day," Mrs. Gibbs said. "We just take one day at a time."

Cheryl's father, Troy Gibbs, is a farm manager at a McKinney egg company. A hard worker and good provider, Gibbs is being drained emotionally and financially by his daughter's illness.

Friends in Prosper have started a Cheryl Gibbs Fund at the Prosper State Bank, but the $150 collected thus far puts hardly a dent in the $100 a day hospital and doctor bills the family has incurred since Cheryl's illness was discovered six years ago.

The Gibbises make regular monthly payments on their visits to Collin, but the balance becomes more staggering every day.

"We're just trying to do the best we can in paying the bills," Mrs. Gibbs said.

"We have two boys, Jackie Lynn, 21, who lives in Denton with his wife, and Michael Allen, 19, who graduated from Prosper High School in the spring and now works.

Botulism Suspected In Beef Stew

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Kroger supermarkets and a Tennessee packing company have asked stores and consumers to return 24,000 cans of beef stew suspected of containing potentially deadly botulism bacteria.

The firms announced the voluntary nationwide recall after the Agriculture Department issued an urgent alert warning consumers that the stew might be contaminated with botulism.

The beef stew — packed by the Krey Packing Co. of Jackson, Tenn. — was blamed for the death Sunday morning of Mrs. Cleo Harris, a 79-year-old Georgia woman.

Mrs. Harris and a relative, 73-year-old Mrs. Mary Bevel, were hospitalized on Thanksgiving Day after eating the stew and home-canned beans the previous day.

Botulin bacteria was found in the stew.

Spokesmen for both companies asked consumers to return the entire 24,000-can lot — packed by Krey on July 11.

The stew is packed in 24-ounce cans carrying bearing the identification code "EST. 712 192 S4" stamped on the lid.

"Consumers having this brand of beef stew... should return it to the market where purchased. Under no circumstances should the cans be opened and tasted," said officials of the Agriculture Department's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service.

Kroger, which operates 1,240 supermarkets in 20 states, said in a statement that the stew was distributed nationally and that customers should check to see if any of the product is on their kitchen shelves.

Grand Canyon Named Top Natural Attraction

United Press International
The Grand Canyon is the top natural attraction of interest for tourists in the United States, according to a recent survey carried out by the U.S. Travel Service.

The unofficial nationwide poll, in which more than 60 attractions were nominated by nearly 1,000 voters, was aimed at selecting the "Seven Natural Wonders of the USA," the USTS said.

The Department of Commerce agency, which is the national tourism office, said the ballots were cast by members of the U.S. travel industry, travel writers, senior citizens, elementary school children among others.

The 217-mile-long canyon in Arizona — its most scenic 100 mile stretch is situated within the boundaries of the National Park established in 1919 — was an easy winner, the USTS said.

"Size, form, color and geological significance combine to make the Grand Canyon one of nature's greatest masterpieces," the USTS release said. "Carved over the geologic ages by the powerful Colorado River... the story of the earth itself is recorded in the canyon walls."

While the North and South Rims are the main centers for sightseers, the release notes "hardier visitors may explore the canyon on foot, on mule or by river raft."

The other "wonders" listed in order of voting preference included:

Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming. The first (1872) and the largest (2.2 million acres) National Park, Yellowstone offers "a great diversity of attractions," including old Faithful and other geysers, wild life and spectacular scenery. While most visitors "confine themselves to the popular vantage points accessible by road, a vast wilderness awaits more adventurous travelers."

Niagara Falls, N.Y. Actually three falls, two in the U.S. and the other in Canada, carved through limestone rock by prehistoric glaciers. "Seven hundred thousand gallons of water per second cascade over the brink of the (180-foot) falls... one of the most breathtaking sights" in the U.S.

Mount McKinley, Alaska. At 20,300 feet, the highest peak in North America. Only 250 miles south of the Arctic Circle in a 3,030-square-mile National Park with only one road and one area of major development.

"An immense sanctuary of glaciers, forests and blue lakes... inhabited by numerous types of wild life, including grizzly bear, moose and caribou."

California Big Trees—the Sequoias and Redwoods. The largest plants in the world, some of which "were standing long before the birth of Christ." Most of the Sequoias are protected in national forests and the Sequoia National Park. The largest, known as General Sherman, measures 30 feet in diameter and is 272.4 feet high. The Redwoods grow near the Pacific coast in a 450-mile-long belt.

Hawaii's volcanoes. The stillactive Mauna Loa and Kilauea, the principal attractions in the Hawaii Volcanoes National Park on the big island of Hawaii. Halemaumau, largest of Kilauea's craters, is the legendary home of Pele, the Hawaiian goddess of volcanoes. Also the dormant Haleakala on the island of Maui.

Other wonders receiving votes in the poll included Carlsbad Caverns, Yosemite National Park, the Grand Tetons, Crater Lake, the Great Lakes, Glacier Bay, Mammoth Cave and the Mississippi River.

Montreal surrendered to the American Army under Gen. Richard Montgomery on Nov. 12, 1775.

had my suspicious about the Tidal Basin incident involving stripper Fanne Foxe and Mills.

If ever an event possessed all the earmarks of a publicity stunt, this one did. That impression was heightened when Miss Foxe turned up in Boston with a new billing as the "Tidal Basin Bombshell" and a salary five times bigger than her act had previously commanded.

There was, however, a major hurdle that kept me from jumping to conclusions.

Let's assume, for hypothetical purposes, that Miss Foxe's career as the "Argentine Firecracker" has fizzled. True to show biz tradition, she hires a press agent — call him Bernie Flackhorn — to hype things up a bit.

"I've got it, baby!" Bernie burbles. "You're in a limousine late at night with some government big shot, say the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

You speed through downtown Washington with the lights off to attract the cops.

"They pull you over by the Jefferson Memorial. The big shot gets out, face all bloody, apparently soused. Meanwhile, you leap from the car and jump in the Tidal Basin.

"Believe me, baby cakes, when that stuff hits the papers, your career as an ecdysiast is going to take a quantum jump."

Miss Foxe bats her eyes in admiration. "Bernie," she sighs, "you're a genius."

There was, as I was saying, one thing wrong with this picture. How could they have gotten such an august personage as Mills to go along with it?

That question was answered, at least to my satisfaction in Boston last week end when Mills showed up on stage with Miss Foxe and announced he was going to make her a movie star.

Miss Foxe was "about the 14th or 15th girl I've launched, and they've all been successful," he told reporters.

Frankly, I never dreamed that Mills was a closet impresario. Now that the secret is out, it explains everything.

And now we know what killed vaudeville.

FROM A FROM PARKING LOT Excuses Devised To Release Cars

NEW YORK (UPI) — An angry New Yorker jumped on the hood of his car as it was being attached to a tow truck.

After a cop ordered him off, he ran to the front of the truck and stood in the way. Finally, he climbed in frustration into his auto and was towed along with it into a city parking lot.

"People do some strange things when it comes to their cars," says Capt. Dominick Morro of the New York City Police Department's Parking Enforcement Squad.

Every day, hundreds of illegally parked cars are hauled to a sprawling yard in front of Hudson River Pier 97. Owners must pay a $50 towing charge plus a $5-a-day parking fee to get them back.

Morro, who oversees the towaway program, was trading stories in his office with two assistants.

Sgt. Eugene Noble told about the time a fiberglass car was hooked up. The towing truck lurched off, and the car split in half.

Then there was the time a man in a striped suit rushed into the pier offices, retrieved his hearse and drove off — to a funeral. A body was still inside the vehicle.

Noble also recalled the time a man jumped in his car, and turned the ignition key. The car shot forward, off the pier, and into the water.

"The tow truck operators had removed some pins from the motor," Noble explained. "The man was all right, but his car sank."

Another story has it that a man who didn't want to pay $300 to get his beat-up but beloved model back hung around the property clerk's office where unclaimed cars are auctioned off — and bought it for $50.

"People devise all types of devious schemes to kidnap their vehicles," said Lt. Frank Lane. "I think more planning goes into how to get a car released than a crook puts in on a major bank job."

One method, he said, is "running the gate."

"They just get in their cars without paying and go crashing through the wooden barrier. I don't know how many times it's happened. It's so futile. We always get them."

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS
Water authorities from the Panhandle and High Plains area of West Texas attended the Great Plains Ground Water Management Workshop in Garden City, Kansas on November 7th and 8th. States involved in the Great Plains Workshop included the states of South Dakota, Nebraska, Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico. The Ogallala underground fresh water formation underlies portions of all these states.

Since 1950 irrigated agriculture, agri-business, the feedlot industry and fast growing modern cities. All of this economic activity has greatly increased the use of water. A large portion of the Great Plains is semi-arid. Surface water in the area is not readily available. Ground water from the Ogallala formation is being pumped heavily through the Great Plains. Rivers in the Texas Panhandle separated the Ogallala waters thousands of years ago. Since all of the Ogallala water is found above the red clay beds on can readily see that Ogallala water north of the Canadian River is separated from the Ogallala water south of the Canadian River.

Water from snow and rain coming down the east slope of the Rocky Mountains recharges the underground formation and works its way east and south. With the coming of irrigation and greater municipal use of underground water in the Plains east of the Rockies the movement of recharge water is slowing up and water levels are declining. South of the Canadian River in Texas recharge is practically nil. The net result has become a common problem for the entire Great Plains area. West Texas has known since the early fifties that it had a water problem.

Underground Water Conservation Districts were formed to deal with the problem. In the upper portion of the Great Plains area the problem is comparatively new. The Great Plains Workshop was an effort to unify the effort. For the past two weeks we have been discussing ground water use and regulation in Colorado. In Colorado ground water use is controlled from the state level. The Colorado Ground Water Management Act was enacted in 1965 and controlled ground water development began. In Colorado the use of ground water adds up to. Who will restrict and who will enforce?

Who Will Restrict and Who Will Enforce

The Colorado Ground Water Act sets up a 12-member Ground Water Commission that can, by their designated basin authority, establish designated basin, set pumping limits, administer water rights, approve district boundaries, approve district regulations and generally administer the Ground Water Act. The Commission has, as their executive director, the Colorado State Engineer. The Arrangement allows the Commission access to and coordination with the State Engineer's staff. The State Engineer is charged with carrying our Commission policy and directives within his special legal authority.

The ground water districts, via the same law, have the power to adopt comprehensive regulations for the use of round water within districts. District rules may be more restrictive than and supercede Commission policy. Districts have the authority to establish depletion rates, limit pumping, institute mandatory water measurement, construct watershed and recharge works, etc. The State Engineer only has the final authority to issue well permits but district have the power to control the basis of approval or denial. In actual practice, the ground water law of Colorado involves an interlacing authority between the State Engineer, the Commission and districts.

The Commission is composed of agricultural representatives from designated basins along with representatives for other interests. The Colorado Director of Natural Resources and the Director of the Water Conservation Board are also voting members. The Commission became the central administrative body for designated basins while districts were being organized and while boards were striving to identify their role. Well records and the technical expertise tools were not readily available to districts. Moreover, districts were not ready or willing to assume the management role. Perhaps this was a gem in disguise since the basic ground water management plan and policies needed to be consistent within the basin. Left to themselves, districts would undoubtedly have adopted a variety of plans and boundary disputes would have created havoc. The Commission had the opportunity to establish basic ground water policies in consultation with all districts. This provided an excellent opportunity for educating the district boards, district managers and the interested public.

IN BUS STRIKE

Union Leaders Ordered Freed

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — A state district judge Saturday ordered the release of 21 jailed union leaders, ending a 23-day transit strike by drivers who had said they would not return to work unless fellow employees were freed.

Judge Robert R. Murray conferred with union attorney Frank Herrera before midnight and after the union members had agreed to a new wage proposal dependent on the union leaders' release.

Greeks Voting On Status Of Deposed King

ATHENS (UPI) — Greece decides today if the birthplace of republican government will restore the monarchy or merely receive a deposed King Constantine as a common citizen.

Herrera convinced the judge the only way the strike would end would be for the judge to end the jail terms of union leaders who had defied his order to go back to their jobs. Murray also suspended fines of $50 levied against each of the jailed men.

Constantine appealed to Greeks from his London exile Friday night to cast their ballots with "the good of the country" in mind. He said he would like to come home, if not as a king then as a private citizen.

Transit union members accepted the transit board's final wage offer which brought an immediate 35 cent an hour increase plus another 25 cents on Feb. 1, bringing the top minimum wage to $4.60 an hour in February.

He has to keep silent I have kept silent.

Another proposal added a ninth paid holiday annually — New Year's Eve — to the contract. Also, uniform allowances were increased by $15 to $65 annually and benefits were improved for relief drivers.

Historians trace the idea of republican government to Greek city states of ancient times. Greece became a monarchy in 1830 after it achieved independence from the Ottoman Empire.

U.S. District Judge Adrian Spears earlier denied writs which would have freed the strikers who were jailed Thursday by Murray Spears said he regretted the entire incident, but added he found basis for the argument the men's constitutional rights had been violated.

The monarchy was abolished last year in a referendum that King Constantine said was rigged by the military regime.

Murray had ordered them back to work, but they refused and were cited for contempt of court.

The City Council had maintained previously money was not available to meet union demands termed by Mayor Charles Becker as "insatiable," but changed his mind late Thursday after wives and children of the strikers, San Antonio labor leaders and downtown businessmen jammed council chambers to demand an end to the strike.

Businessmen said downtown shopping was severely depressed by the transportation strike in the weeks before Christmas. The buses daily carry 60,000 persons.

The deposed king said in his address the continuation of the democratic system was more important than his regaining the crown.

Military rulers resigned in July after Turkey invaded Cyprus and crushed a Greek-supported rebellion. A civilian regime led by Constantine Caramanlis was set up to restore government to the parliamentary process.

Crowned or republican, the system represents two sides of the same coin, democracy, he said.

The Lefors Independent School District board of trustees, will convene Thursday, Dec. 12, at 7 p.m. to consider a six-item agenda including a discussion of use of county available funds. Other items for consideration include approval of current bills, appointment of a textbook committee, financial report of football play-off games, a report on progress of delinquent taxes, and a reading and approval of minutes from the previous meeting.

The referendum today comes seven years to the month after the king led an abortive counter-coup d'etat against military rulers who seized power eight months earlier.

Lefors Board Plans Meeting

He first fled to exile in Rome where the junta continued to send him his $500,000 yearly allowance and keep him on as king in name.

An aborted royalist coup last year led dictator George Papadopoulos to declare Greece a republic. Constantine was formally deposed in a lopsided referendum vote of 3.8 million to 1 million.

Young Texans Win 4-H Awards

Four young Texans have been named winners of $500 4-H scholarships donated by the Santa Fe Railway System. They also received Santa Fe educational awards enabling them to attend the 53rd National 4-H Congress in Chicago Dec. 1-5.

The four are Keith Ihms, 17, of Buchanan Dam; David McClendon, 18, of 201 Avenue H, Abertnath; Carol Sue Wilde, 19, Uvalde; and Pamela McCown, 19, of Rt. 2, Mathis.

The four were among 27 winners of $500 scholarships from 11 states served by the Santa Fe. The Santa Fe also donated educational awards that enabled 60 young people to attend the exciting Chicago Congress.

The winners, selected by the Cooperative Extension Service, were honored at the annual Santa Fe recognition dinner in the Conrad Hilton Hotel, Chicago, the evening of Dec. 2.

Ihms, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester L. Ihms, is a high school senior and plans a career in environmental biology. He began his club work eight years ago with poultry and won the Llano County poultry medal.

However, swine has since become his prime interest and he has served as a junior leader in this project and given demonstrations. "Through my swine project, I learned many important things about feeding, exercising, bathing, and fitting my hogs for show as well as practicing good efficiency in management," he said.

McClendon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McClendon, is a freshman at Texas Tech University and plans to major in agricultural engineering. The Hale County youth is a 10-year 4-H'er.

McClendon won the county swine award and was named outstanding 4-H exhibitor. He has served as president of the county 4-H council and as a junior leader in the swine program. Both of his older sisters were State 4-H food award winners and also attended National 4-H Congress.

"4-H has given me the opportunity to develop leadership and citizenship characteristics, morals and standards, which I will cling to for a lifetime. It has taught me how to win and humble and to lose and still feel like a winner," he said.

McClendon's projects have included entomology, electric, automotive, sheep, public speaking, and money management.

Miss Wilde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wilde, is a sophomore at Southwest Texas Junior College and plans a career in accounting or home economics.

The Uvalde County girl is secretary of the Texas 4-H Council and has demonstrated leadership ability statewide among 4-H'ers in this post. She has participated in the state fair 4-H awards program and served on the Texas 4-H Roundup Committee.

Last summer she was named to the 4-H People-to-People Citizen Ambassador program to Europe, designed to better communications between Americans and citizens of nations abroad.

The nine-year 4-H'er has become an expert meal planner and cook in 4-H and estimates that her family saves 20 percent on food bills because of food canning and freezing work, in which she has a major role.

Miss McCown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O.F. McCown, is a freshman at Texas A&M University and plans a career in biological science. She said, "I love animals and I enjoy working with sheep." She said she hated to leave her one remaining pet lamb at home when she went off to college, but that the animal "would not fit in at college."

The coed is a member of the district 4-H Council and FHA HELPS COLLEGE STATION. (UPI) — Livestock producers now can get credit assistance from the Farmers Home Administration, says an economist for the Texas Agriculture Extension Service.

The administration now guarantees up to 80 per cent of losses on loans made by private lending institutions to farmers and ranchers who breed, raise, fatten or market beef and dairy cattle, hogs, sheep goats, chickens and turkeys.

The maximum guaranteed loan is $250,000 to any single borrower. Loans are to be repaid within three years. Interest rates are determined between lender and borrower.

Farm Bureau Launches Gift Certificate Drive

WACO — (Sp) — The Texas Farm Bureau has launched a statewide gift certificate campaign to increase the consumption of meat, poultry and dairy products.

TFB President J.T. (Red) Woodson said this is a "positive approach" to moving agricultural commodities which are in serious trouble at this time.

In a letter to all 210 organized county Farm Bureaus, Woodson said the promotion involves Christmas gift certificates for these food products. Theme of the campaign will be "Give meat, poultry and dairy products for an old-fashioned farm and ranch Christmas."

"What better way to express the true spirit of Christmas than by giving a gift certificate for these foods," the farm leader said. "We believe that the concept will catch on. The American Farm Bureau Federation has been asked to carry the idea nationwide."

Woodson said Farm Bureau would seek the cooperation of other agricultural groups, food chains and independent grocers as well as top state government officials.

He said county Farm Bureaus will be asked to form special committees to

Land Transfer Announced

COLLEGE STATION — (Sp) Official documents have been signed by Dr. Jack K. Williams, president of the Texas A&M University System, other A&M and federal officials to formally transfer 22.4 acres of land to Texas A&M for the university's proposed Agricultural Research and Extension Center site at Amarillo.

The land, situated on the western edge of Amarillo, was transferred to Texas A&M by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare through its surplus property utilization division.

Also cooperating in the transaction were the Amarillo Area Foundation, Inc., and the General Services Administration.

Terms of the deed call for the A&M System to acquire ownership of the land over a 30-year period by utilizing it continuously for education purposes.

Acquisition of the new land — which adjoins a 5.5-acre tract deed to A&M on July 25 of this year by the Amarillo Area Foundation, Inc. — will complete the site for the proposed TAMU Center at Amarillo, President Williams explained.

Williams emphasizes that "The new Center will serve the growing northern Panhandle Area, so important in the production of beef, cattle feeding, forage crops, wheat and feed grains. It will assist in the research on the use and conservation of natural resources."

WHEAT SITUATION
 The rust problem seems to be better now that freezing temperatures have killed the rust spores. However, some of the old standard varieties such as Wichita took a beating from this. Sturdy is not totally resistant, but does have a strong resistance to the disease.

Some encouraging aspects of our up-coming 1975 wheat crop is the absence of greenbugs and other insects. One of the benefits of drought is the fact it reduces insect damage for succeeding years. Greenbugs seem to always follow wet summers. An extended drought such as we had earlier this year reduces the favorable habitat for insects. They don't have volunteer wheat to feed on while a farmer is getting another crop to growing. This Fall's excessive moisture has built excellent moisture reserves for 1975 wheat crop. Remember two years ago when we had excessive Fall and winter moisture. Even with most unfavorable Spring weather in 1973, we still made an excellent wheat crop. This is why we call this a good next year country. This is the kind of country that at times can yield the most and promise the least. Then yield the least and promise the most.

AGRI-ECONOMIC SITUATION

Milo yields have fallen well below expectation this year. The severe drought in the early growing season and extreme wet weather this Fall teamed to make the milo crop most disappointing yield wise. The 1974 wheat crop was a near total failure. Only one year dating back into the 1950's was as bad. Five dollar wheat isn't very encouraging to a wheat farmer that made a total failure last spring and has to pay $5.50 per bu. for seed wheat. 1974 will go down as the biggest ship wreck cattle people have experienced in this country in its 200 year history. Here is an authentic example: A recent Panhandle feed lot turn out sheet showed it cost one feeder approximately $450 per head for the feed, care and interest in a feed lot. The feeder sold over 1100 pound steer for a total of $407. If those steers had been given to the feeder when he placed them in the lot the feeder would have still lost $43 per head. But the steers weren't given to the feeder. They cost him over $225 per head. This is what you call a ship wreck in the feed lot.

BETTER DAYS AHEAD

Here are some optimistic observations that should make farmers and ranchers feel better (1) we have excellent subsoil moisture to pull us through drought periods before next spring's harvest. (2) only moderate moisture will be needed to sustain the now excellent wheat pasture (3) interest rates are easing (4) Replacement cattle now cost a third of year earlier prices. Interest per 300 lb. calf cost $7.50 per year now. A year earlier would have cost you $22.50 per year. (5) certainly less risk involved. If that new year of cattle you just got in would all lay down and died, the first night, you would not lose nearly or as much as a load of similar calves that all lived received a year earlier. (6) The annual consumption of beef today by the U.S. population is twenty four billion pounds as compared to only nine billion pounds two decades ago. Even though cattle numbers are at an all time high, we should correct the over supply situation quicker than ever. (7) Beef is about the cheapest thing in you super market today. Half the price of the three and one-half ounce can of tuna which cost $1.69 per pound.

Enough of this — we sure hope the bankers read this because most of them need a 10 cc intravenous injection of optimism every morning to overcome the constant grind of working with problem loans.

COYOTE PROBLEM
 We have had numerous calls recently on the coyote problems. Vernon Cook, Roberts County agent, members of his program building committee, and this writer, along with the Gray County program guiding committee, will have a meeting to help area ranchers cope with this problem. We are getting a specialist from the Fish and Wildlife Service to help in the meeting. Demonstrations on the use of cyanide guns and other information will be presented. Other counties will be invited. What is really needed is a joint coyote eradication campaign in all of the Eastern Panhandle Counties.

USDA Warns Against Slides In Clay Soils

U.S.D.A.
 Soil Conservation Service Construction workers who dig ditches in clay soils should guard against deadly land slides, a soils expert warned today.

"Several workmen are killed in Texas every year by the sudden, unexpected 'cave-ins' or slides," Jack Williams, soil scientist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service at Pampa, said. "The problem is aggravated by the fact that most people assume all clay soils are stiff and will not slip."

"Fact is, some clay soils will kill you quicker than a sandy soil," Williams stressed. "The cause of the slippages are freakish pressure plates hidden beneath the soil surface. Certain kinds of clay soils shrink and crack when dry then swell when wet. After several weeks of dry weather, a heavy rain can cause some clay soils to swell as much as 20 percent in volume."

This constant shrinking and swelling through the years has caused pressure faces, or plates, to develop which are slick from sliding against each other. Technically, they are called "slickensides." They are as slick as their name indicates and extremely dangerous.

When a workman is in a pit near one of these faces, the soil may suddenly give way along the slickenside. Clay weights about 96 pounds per cubic foot, so only a small slide can weigh several tons.

"We have had reports of workmen being killed by slides which covered them up to the shoulders only," Williams revealed. "The heavy soil simply crushes against their chest so tightly that they suffocate."

"And don't think that a ditch 3 feet deep can't kill you," Williams pointed out. "All a workman has to do is to be squatting or bending over in a shallow ditch when the slide hits. Then he is dead."

"We often dig deep pits in clay soils as a part of our soil survey work," Williams said. "We insist that the walls are shored up to 2"x4"s. Some contractors use metal cages to protect workmen. But the point is, no one should enter a pit or ditch in clay soil deeper than 3 feet without some kind of protection."

Williams said soil surveys have been made by the Soil Conservation Service as part of the National Cooperative Soil Survey on about 70 percent of the land in Texas. These surveys reveal the location of soils with slickensides as well as a host of other valuable information.

He urged anyone interested in studying a soil survey for any purpose to contact the nearest SCS office.

Ag Communications Head

COLLEGE STATION — (Spl) James E. Hedrick has joined the staff of the Department of Agricultural Communications at Texas A&M University as radio-television specialist.

Hedrick fills the position formerly held by Monte Reese, who took the position of manager for the agricultural development division of the Chamber of Commerce in Oklahoma City.

Hedrick will be jointly employed by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, according to Extension Director John E. Hutchison and Experiment Station Director Jarvis E. Miller.

NORTHEAST BLACKOUT

A massive power failure plunged parts of five Northeast states into total darkness on Nov. 9, 1965.

Dallam County Farmer Awarded By TFB

DALLAS — (Spl) — An enterprising young Dallam County farmer was recognized for his achievements in his chosen vocation at the Texas Farm Bureau convention here Dec. 3.

Receiving the TFB's "Outstanding Young Farmer" award was Terry Davis, 27, of Dalhart. He and his wife were cited at the Recognition and Awards Program held in conjunction with the TFB's annual convention.

Davis operates a 864-acre farm — nearly half of which he owns — in Dallam County. He has acquired the arm assortment of farming equipment during the past eight years — starting from scratch.

He began his career in 1966 while in college, farming 320 acres. His wife, Wadonna, has also held down jobs to help them gain their goals.

Davis had made considerable improvements to his farm including ridding it of Johnsongrass and laying 6,000 feet of underground pipe to enable him to irrigate every acre.

The Davises will be entered by TFB in the American Farm Bureau's "Outstanding Young Farmer" contest and are eligible to attend the AFBF annual convention next month in New Orleans where they will be recognized along with other state winners.

Investment Chatter

Investment Chatter
NEW YORK (UPI) — Most people think the news about unemployment, shutdowns, slowdowns and the like is bearish, but all this is what the stock market has been discounting in the decline of some 400 points in the Dow Jones industrial average, according to the Hooper Letter. It suggests that investors "react less" to things now taking place than to things which they anticipated with so much fear, and offers the thought that "actual events can be coped with much more easily than advance fear of those events."

Harris, Upham & Co. says that "very good short-to-intermediate term" trading opportunities lie ahead. It points out that price-earnings ratios for most stocks are at historic low evaluations while dividend yields for some leading price barometers are at levels not seen in more than 20 years.

Fraser Management Associates says the stock market "is putting on a good show" despite the news which has been discounted by past market action. It says that the current "backing and filling" on Wall Street illustrates a marked change of character which has base-building potential. Adds the investment adviser: "Stocks are sold out and the hard question from here on out is the nature of the revival and who will participate."

DOUBLE INDEMITY — Mr. and Mrs. Boots Flemming, 600 N. Nelson, didn't count on a double dividend when their five-year-old Holstein milch cow calved in November — but two Beefmaster-Holstein bull calves are now a daily chore. Too much for the cow, the twins have to be nursed — fed several times daily to maintain their hefty start in life. The two were normal birth weight and completely surprised the Flemmings, they say.

Your Horoscope

SUNDAY, DEC. 8

Your birthday today: Finds you well on the way toward self-discovery in a year of healthy growth. You thrive according to what you put into your work. Today's natives include many who forecast future events, but who don't reveal much of what they see.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: This Sunday goes in almost any direction you choose. You have many kind words to say and a few significant actions to take; but simply get to the point.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Aside from today's spiritual and social functions, use every opportunity for think seriously about career and business. Friends with good connections can help if they want to.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: If you start early enough, you progress in creative pastimes and individual research projects. Romance unexpectedly thrives.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Be a cheerful extrovert today. People are amenable to positive suggestion. Seek support for constructive moves, but avoid asking for a response right now.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]:

You have numerous bright ideas, which can be used right now. Make whatever notes you need to keep them straight. Stick with routine and rules of safety.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Begin building on established facts and figures. Assign priorities. You are easily distracted and in a direction others don't like.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: A turning point is fomenting. Avoid abrupt changes, arbitrary decisions on unconventional behavior as you press firmly ahead on confirmed plans.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Factors you hadn't counted on now enter your life and result in new approaches. Hold down aggression to get the best results and go slowly.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: You meet up with unfamiliar situations. Make new friends while retaining old ties. A breakthrough in your knowledge is close by.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Quickly conceived plans or schedules are disappointing. A carefully considered experiment—works better than expected.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: If you've known somebody only a short time, it's just as well to avoid serious involvement. Long-term projects should be revised now.

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

"Listen: I will send my messenger before me to prepare the way. And then the one you are looking for will come suddenly to his Temple—the Messenger of God's promises, to bring you great joy. Yes, he is surely coming," says the Lord of Hosts. "But who can live when he appears? Who can endure his coming? For he is like a blazing fire refining precious metal and he can bleach the dirtiest garments!"

Malachi 3:1-2

The high price of oil has resulted in yet another benefit in addition to a feverish drilling activity worldwide, finding much larger amounts of oil in one of the most familiar places of oil — in reservoirs discovered years ago. The huge jump in oil prices, plus much more advanced recovery techniques, could very well double U.S. reserves.

In the early days of the oil business, oil was pumped to the surface or just permitted to flow, pushed up by the underground gas and water pressures which drove the oil to the surface.

This procedure usually recovered only 20 percent of the available oil.

Waterflooding came into popular use in the 1930's as oilmen pumped water down one well in order to flush oil up an adjacent well. This is known as Secondary recovery and increased the average yield to 34 percent. Waterflooding now accounts for half of the nation's oil production.

The third stage of production, called Tertiary, has been only an experiment because the high cost of chemicals and gases made production prohibitive in cost, that is until $11 per barrel oil came along. That new price changed the economics of Tertiary recovery and the techniques for this recovery method have moved out of the laboratory and into the field for comprehensive testing.

The potential is enormous. Oilmen have discovered almost 500 billion barrels of crude oil in the U.S. Only about one third of that oil has been recovered using conventional production methods.

The remaining two-thirds, equal to eight times the nation's currently recoverable reserves, is presently in the ground just waiting for an effective means to get it up to the surface.

Oilmen estimate that, with efficient Tertiary methods, the average recovery rate might be increased by as much as 13 percent. That would add between 30 billion and 60 billion barrels of oil to the nation's recoverable reserves.

PAPAL DECREE
On Nov. 13, 1964, Pope Pius issued a decree that spelled out a "final description" of Roman Catholicism.

UT Faculty Wants Selection Role

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Despite officially being stripped of its presidential selection influence by Chancellor Charles A. LeMaistre, the University of Texas faculty has stated firmly it wants to play a strong role in the replacement process and will reject anything less. The chairman of the UT Austin faculty senate said professors will not participate in the selection of a successor to ousted Dr. Stephen H. Spurr if they are used to disguise a hand-picked appointee of LeMaistre or the board of regents. LeMaistre recommended the presidential selection process be changed in 1972 to involve a committee of regents and administrators, chaired by himself. Prior to that a faculty-student committee submitted a list of candidates from which the chancellor had to pick.

Faculty and students may be included in the new process in an advisory capacity only.

"This means, in effect, that a president may be selected who is not acceptable to the faculty and student body," Edwin B. Allaire said in a letter to LeMaistre. Allaire is chairman of the faculty senate.

Allaire said the faculty and students want authority to interview prospective candidates for the job through a campus advisory committee that can recommend choices to the regents.

The general faculty of UT-

Austin voted Nov. 20 to withhold support for any presidential appointment unless the candidate is supported by the student-faculty committee which LeMaistre has promised to create.

LeMaistre fired Dr. Spurr Sept. 24.
