WESTMORELAND SAYS FIGHT

Ford May Win Cambodia Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford may win congressional approval for emergency military aid to Cambodia despite recent severe setbacks on Capitol Hill, administration sources said today.

They said the White House is looking to the House Foreign Affairs Committee to reverse itself and approve at least part of the $222 million Ford has asked for Cambodia.

The committee voted 18 to 15 Thursday against a compromise motion to provide $136.5 million in emergency military aid and economic aid to Cambodia. The vote came after Assistant Secretary of State Robert S. Ingersoll testified in favor of the compromise—or nothing.

The administration sources said Ingersoll perhaps showed too tough a position and the White House, possibly using a gentler and more flexible position, expected to change two or three crucial votes on the committee.

They added that the House, where opposition to the aid is apparently tougher than in the Senate, was the key to getting congressional approval for the Cambodian aid.

The Democratic caucuses in both the Senate and House have also voted overwhelmingly against any further U.S. military aid to Cambodia and Vietnam.

Retired Army Gen. William P. Westmoreland showed Thursday that he has not changed his ideas on Vietnam strategy.

Westmoreland, commander of U.S. troops during the 1960s and later Army chief of staff, emerged from a meeting with President Ford Thursday and told reporters, "the culprit in this whole thing is Hanoi," that the North Vietnamese were responsible for heavy fighting in both Cambodia and South Vietnam.

The only language Hanoi understands is the language of force and I think it's too bad that we couldn't again mine Haiphong Harbor and that the President doesn't have authority to use tactical air and B52 strikes to hit the Communist supply lines.

This statement could be compared with one Westmoreland made in April, 1967, to President Lyndon B. Johnson — "I am frankly dismayed at even the thought of stopping the bombing of Hanoi A June, 1967, analysis by CIA Director Richard Helms said that bombing would not reduce the flow of men and supplies enough to decrease Hanoi's determination to persist in the war.

Westmoreland was asked Thursday about congressional opposition to Ford's emergency requests for $300 million in aid to South Vietnam and $222 million for Cambodia.

Senate Democratic Caucus voted 35-8 Thursday against sending any aid to embattled Phnom Penh. The House Democratic caucus voted 189-49 Wednesday against any aid to either Cambodia or South Vietnam. These resolutions do not have the force of law but can be regarded as barometers of sentiment in the majority party.

The House did pass, 212-201, a $3.5 billion foreign aid appropriation bill, including $1 billion for the Middle East. It was 41 per cent less than the $5.9 billion the administration requested. There was no military aid for either Cambodia or South Vietnam, but $440 million in "reconstruction assistance" for South Vietnam.

A compromise proposal to provide Cambodia with $136.5 million in military aid was defeated, 18-15, in the House Foreign Affairs Committee. The White House described Ford as "deeply disappointed" but still hopeful.

Assistant Secretary of State Robert Ingersoll told the committee there was a "reasonable chance" but no guarantee that the Lon Nol government in Cambodia could survive the assault of the Communist-led Khmer Rouge until the rainy season slows fighting.

Uncovers Illegal Loans In Business Schools

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The attorney general's office has completed a seven month investigation which has uncovered evidence of widespread illegal activities by proprietary schools in Texas, according to Attorney General John Hill.

Hill said his office has discovered evidence of students who cannot get refunds owed them by the schools. He also said the federal government is hounding the students to repay federal loans.

Hill said Thursday he has written a letter to Caspar Weinberger, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, telling Weinberger to collect the money the government owes from the schools and not the students.

Hill said his investigation has found evidence proprietary, or business-trade, schools are guilty of forging loans and illegally discounting loans.

The attorney general said he has filed suit against 12 private schools in Texas and is considering taking action against others.

"During the course of our investigation, we have documented widespread violations of the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices and Proprietary School acts primarily in the area of past due, unpaid tuition refunds," Hill said in his letter to Weinberger.

He said students who have dropped out of these schools are having trouble collecting the tuition refunds owed them. He said in some of these cases the tuitions were paid with money from federal loans and in these instances the federal government should collect the loans from the schools and not the students.

Hill said students dismissed from proprietary schools are entitled to all their tuition back. But, he said, many of the schools have become insolvent and cannot refund the tuitions to the students.

"I respectfully request that the collection efforts of the Office of Education be broadened to encompass all responsible parties and that in the future you be more vigorous in pursuit of the offending proprietary schools and lenders," Hill said in his letter to Weinberger.

Oil Companies Reap Billions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The major U.S. oil companies will reap a minimum of $6.4 billion in profits this year — mostly from price increases. Two opponents of the oil depletion allowance say these figures refute arguments that eliminating the tax break will reduce incentives to increase production.

Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., Thursday released a Library of Congress study containing the figures.

It said that out of the estimated $6.4 billion in oil company profits, $4 billion was attributed to price rises while $2.4 billion was the result of tax breaks resulting from the oil depletion allowance.

The senators said profits may be substantially higher. The Library of Congress estimate was based on an assumption that the big oil companies pay corporate taxes at the rate of 48 per cent.

In fact, Kennedy and Hollings said, some estimates of the oil companies taxes are as low as 5 or 6 per cent. Assuming a tax rate of 25 per cent, profits this year would be $8.2 billion for price hikes and $10.6 billion if the depletion allowance were included.

Kennedy, Hollings and Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., will lead the fight next week on the Senate floor to end the controversial tax break that permits oil companies to deduct 22 per cent of their income from wells from their taxable income.

The battle will come when the Senate considers a bill to provide tax rebates to overcome recession. In its version of the tax bill, the House by a large margin approved an end to the depletion allowance. A Senate filibuster is anticipated on the proposal.

Sikes Begins Sentence

Gary D. Sikes, 28, left Thursday to begin his 40-year sentence at the Texas Department of Correction in Huntsville.

Officer Kenneth Keith delivered Sikes to the penitentiary and is expected back today.

Sikes was convicted Feb. 20 of aggravated sexual abuse and sentenced by 31st District Judge Grainger McHenry.

He was found guilty following an incident involving a young Lefors wife in August 1974.

His wife, Lucy A. Sikes, 28, died on Feb. 21 in Highland General Hospital of what was ruled to be a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

The charge against Sikes carried a 5 to 99 year sentence on conviction.

BICENTENNIAL REPORT

Old Ironsides Back in Service

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A loyalty pledge approved by both the White House and Vice President Nelson Rockefeller is being circulated among Republicans in a bid to head off a possible conservative third party.

House GOP leader John Rhodes and Rep. John Anderson, chairman of the House GOP Conference, told a news conference Thursday 111 House members and at least 20 of the Senate's 38 Republicans signed the "expression of approval" of President Ford and a pledge "to work within the party." It was also sent to GOP governors and state chairmen.

"I think a party can be a party of ideology without being a party of ideologies," said Anderson. He, Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., and Gov. William Milliken of Michigan were instrumental in drafting the statement.

"We are concerned about talk of a third party movement," Anderson and Rhodes said, "but think responsible Republicans everywhere will recognize the futility and destructive implications of such a move" — a weaker GOP with less chance of victory in 1976.

The document's opening paragraph says the signers "reaffirm our dedication and loyalty to the party."

$31 Billion Plus Tax Cut Bill Headed for Committee Approval

By DON PHILLIPS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee appears headed for approval of tax cuts in excess of $31 billion including forgiveness of up to $2,000 in income taxes for those who buy homes between April 1 and Dec. 31 this year.

Senate Democrats voted unanimously Thursday to delay their March 21 Easter recess if necessary to send the bill to President Ford, and thus to speed 1974 tax rebates to all taxpayers in May and early June.

Pushing hard to meet this tight legislative schedule, the Finance Committee prepared to work this weekend if need be to complete its revisions of a House-passed $21.3 billion tax cut bill which contains 1974 rebates of $100 to $200 for almost all taxpayers plus 1975 tax cuts.

In an effort to spur the sagging housing industry, the committee tentatively voted a huge tax break to those who buy a new or used home, or a mobile home, during the last nine months of this year — a 5 per cent tax credit on the purchase price up to a maximum $2,000 credit which would be subtracted from the taxes owed by April 15, 1976.

The housing tax credit was not in the House bill, and it is uncertain whether it would be accepted by the House in a conference committee which will be called later to iron out differences in the House and Senate bills.

Other tentative changes made by the committee Thursday would weigh the 1975 tax cuts more heavily toward low and moderate income families with children and give a bigger break than the House bill to middle income persons who itemize deductions.

Finance Committee chairman Russell Long, D-La., said the committee probably would approve a bill in excess of $31.5 billion and he expected the Senate to add more when it reached the floor.

However, most of the increases apparently will be in 1975 tax cuts. The committee Thursday rejected a move to increase the maximum 1974 tax rebate from $200 to $500. All of the rebate increase would have gone to those making more than $20,000. Other increase attempts were expected.

In a speech Thursday, President Ford warned that Americans would not tolerate delay and division between Congress and the White House on the tax cut.

"The American people will not stand still for a government that is standing still," Ford said. "The American people want a tax cut now... and I suggest action by the end of March."

Two other major tentative decisions were made by the committee Thursday.

—Low and moderate income taxpayers could choose a $200 tax credit in lieu of the $750 personal exemption for each member of the family. This proposal, by Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., would benefit mainly families with children who have taxable income of $16,000 or less. Initially the committee voted to enact the Mondale proposal in lieu of the House's increase in the standard deduction, but indicated it might take both measures.

—Low income working families with children would get a cash payment of up to $400 from the government even if they paid no tax. An estimated 7 million families would receive 10 per cent of their earned income up to a maximum of $4,000 income. The maximum $400 payment would gradually be phased out as income increased from $4,000 to $8,000. The House would have given a 5 per cent payment to all low income families or individuals, but the Senate decided to limit the payment to families with children.

Pampa Takes Four Tops In League Choir Contest

Pampa High School entries dominated the University Interscholastic League Choral Contest Thursday at the Amarillo Civic Center.

A total of 24 choirs were entered in the competition from all 4-H schools in Amarillo, Borger, Hereford and Pampa.

Eight sweepstakes trophies were awarded to choirs that received number one ratings both in sight reading and in concert performance.

Pampa brought home half the sweepstakes trophies — four, with Amarillo High choirs capturing a pair, and Amarillo's Tascosa High and Amarillo's Palo Duro High winning one each.

Mrs. Louise Richardson, director of the 41-member Pampa Sophomore Girls Choir, said that Pampa High's choirs are making a habit of winning trophies.

"We also won four sweepstakes in last year's UIL contest," she said.

The Concert Girls Choir with 36 members, the Concert Boys Choir with 25 members, and the Concert Choir composed of both Girls and Boys choirs won the other three sweepstakes. The three choirs are directed by John Weickowski.

Mrs. Richardson said that in addition to the 138 students and the choir directors, several mothers — Choir Booster members — made the trip Thursday.

Pioneer Inez Carter Dies in Local Hospital

INEZ WORLEY CARTER

Her wit and quick laughter were perhaps the basic part of her personality.

When asked of her most thrilling experience, she said riding wild horses was always most thrilling to her, but that she "gave that up long ago."

A natural horsewoman, her main interests had always been horses and cattle.

Her great love for children, especially boys, was shown in many ways. She was a generous supporter of Cal Farley's Boys Ranch. The Children's Home in Amarillo, Pampa Youth and Community Center and Pampa Optimist Boys Club.

She also gave scholarships to many Pampa youngsters who otherwise would not have gone to college.

Mrs. Carter was a member of the First United Methodist Church, the Altrusa Club of Pampa, The Business and Professional Women's Club and was an honorary member of the BPW Club in Amarillo and an honorary member of the Pampa Jaycees.

Her mother, the late Mrs. Phebe A. Worley, in January, 1930, was named "the most useful citizen in Pampa" that year.

Mrs. Carter was named Beta Sigma Phi's Woman of the Year, April 13, 1958.

"Like mother, like daughter," as the old saying goes, Mrs. Carter lived up to the tradition set by her own mother.

She is survived by one son, Frank M. Carter, Jr., of Pampa, three grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Duenkel - Funeral Directors.

Mrs. Inez Worley Carter, 88, 1716 Charles, a prominent pioneer Gray County woman since the 1900's, died early today in Worley Hospital.

Mrs. Carter was born Aug. 24, 1886 in Clay County Texas and her family moved to a ranch on the section of land, where Hereford now stands, in the early 1890s. It was here that her father soon passed away, leaving her mother, Mrs. Phebe A. Worley, to raise Mrs. Carter, her brother and her sister.

She attended school in Amarillo and also Goodnight College.

In 1900, she married Frank M. Carter, who died during the flu epidemic in 1918.

Mrs. Carter owned the Combs-Worley Ranch, here in Gray County, purchased by her mother in 1914, where the first oil well in Gray County was drilled.

Aide LeRue Sentenced To Prison Term

By WESLEY G. PIPPERT
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Frederick C. LaRue, who was former Attorney General John N. Mitchell's chief political aide, was ordered to serve six months of a one to three year prison sentence for his part in the Watergate cover-up.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica ordered that the balance of LaRue's sentence be suspended and that he be placed on supervised probation for two years.

Sirica ordered him to surrender April 1, to begin his sentence at a place to be designated by the attorney general.

LaRue reminded Sirica that he said during the Watergate cover-up trial that the overriding issue in the case was getting at the truth.

"I think my testimony contributed to that goal," said LaRue, the first person to plead guilty in the Watergate cover-up and to give his cooperation to the investigator.

"To the extent my activities contributed to the whole tragedy known as Watergate, I'm sorry. I'm glad my later conduct contributed to that goal."

Petition To Ask Mills To Reconsider Post

Petitions asking Richard Mills of Lake Worth to reconsider acceptance of his appointment as Pampa police chief reportedly were in circulation today.

The petition, addressed to Mills as police chief at Lake Worth, states its signers are not in accord with the manner in which Mills was appointed.

Mills officially was made chief of police by unanimous action of the Pampa City Commission last Tuesday.

City Manager Mack Wofford said this forenoon telephone calls and letters he receives still are running "about ten to one" in support of Mills' appointment.

Mills was in Pampa Tuesday to accept the appointment and is scheduled to return Monday, April 7, to take over his duties here.

Miss Snider, winner of the senior division, is an eighth grade student at Pampa Junior High School.

Miss Fraser won the junior division. She is a fifth grader at Stephen F. Austin.

Runners up were Becky Ogden, senior division, a seventh grader at Lamar; and Megann Walsh, junior division, a sixth grader at St. Vincent's Catholic School.

The winning words, according to Rena Belle Anderson, Gray County school superintendent who was coordinator of the bee, were "exaggerate" and "explicit."

Pampa's winning spellers will compete at 1 p.m. April 26 in the regional contest at Stephen F. Austin Junior High School in Amarillo.

Battin' Around
The Chicken Thieves

By C.R. BATTEN
The environmental surge of the seventies has brought a tangle of environmental control laws and regulations that have at various times and places brought some endeavors of individual men and women to a halt.
Every layer of government has its planners, its environmental control enforcers and its commissions, often working at cross purposes under vague and conflicting laws. Regional agencies set up to control land use and development have taken upon themselves to determine what kind of transportation systems will be allowed, how much electric power may be brought into the region, and how many people there should be. Some, in the name of their sacred environment, seek to control almost every phase of human endeavor.
We now have the highest rate of unemployment since the Great Depression of the 1930s. This observer is one who has concluded that government interventions in the affairs of the citizens, including interventions in the name of "environmental protection," are the sole causes of the depression in which we now find ourselves.
The history of civilization is the story of the struggle between individual men and the governments that rule over them. As men have succeeded in throwing the burden of state power from their shoulders and achieving individual liberty, they have developed civilizations, economic prosperity and an appreciation of the arts. Mankind has reached its greatest heights when individual men had the greatest amount of freedom to pursue their interests.
In today's world, when we find we can't build a home on the scenic lot we bought, we enlist the aid of as many of our friends as we can and try to change the law to favor us. We are afraid of being looked upon as some kind of a kook if we say, "We don't need all these controls; let's get rid of them."
So we start out by saying, "Yes, of course, some controls are needed, but..." That is just the same as telling our neighbor, "If you don't get a law passed outlawing the theft of chickens, I'm going to come over and steal your chickens." From then on, the debate becomes only one of degree — how much control over the activities of individual men and their property should governments assume? Sooner or later, we have a law that under certain conditions chicken stealing will be allowed by certain persons.
Our argument that "some controls are needed, but..." holds no water, and as each new regulation is passed, we meekly go along with it with little protest. We then find that we are spending more hours in paper work or other unproductive red tape to satisfy the demands of Big Brother. Our ability to create human satisfactions has been reduced.
The result is the inevitable decline of civilization which we are witnessing now.
To get back on the road to a higher civilization, we must first try to achieve a better understanding of the meaning of individual freedom — its benefits and its responsibilities.
Then we must attack the heart of the massive bureaucratic mess. We must attack the belief that only government can do some of the things that should be done, and attack those laws and regulations that we believe to be unjust and unduly restrictive of human liberty.
If the history of civilization has been the story of progress in throwing off the tyranny of mankind's rulers, then it has also been the story of the destruction of legal precedents that have held mankind in human bondage.
We must attack those legal precedents in every way we can short of violence if we are to reverse the present trend.
As Frederic Bastiat wrote, the law has been perverted and has become an instrument for legal plunder. It is up to us to get it back to where it ought to be: "the organization of the natural right of lawful defense."

MANY NATIONS ASSISTED
U.S. aid unappreciated

Daniel P. Moynihan, former ambassador to India, joins the roster of officials who are suggesting that the United States of America take positive steps to gain more international respect for its food aid programs by reminding others of our generosity.
The United States seldom stands up in any international forum, particularly the United Nations, to demand recognition for the very substantial assistance it gives other nations of the world.
As a practical matter, what this country has done is furnish food to aid other nations without getting anything meaningful in return where the welfare of the United States is concerned. This year, for example, the U.S. food aid program totals $1.6 billion, a figure that should have received much more attention around the world.
Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz indicated the magnitude of American contributions last November when he told the World Food Conference in Rome that the United States is the world's No. 1 food donor. Meanwhile, the U.S. housewife struggles to meet her food budget in the face of inflation caused in part by actions of other nations — to some degree by the oil exporting countries that have quadrupled the price of petroleum.
It fell to a group of midwestern farmers to lay it on the line at Rome. They said the U.S. taxpayer cannot be expected to feed the rest of the world forever out of his own shrinking pocketbook.
What course did this nation take when the oil producers cranked up their prices? We bowed to it, initially, suffering substantial economic dislocation. The strongest response came more than a year after the fact when Secretary of State Henry Kissinger pointed out that oil-consuming nations could go to war to defend themselves against economic "strangulation."

Mr. Moynihan is saying that the United States should consider its food resources a "weapon" to be used economically in much the same way the oil producing nations use their oil weapon to harass and hamstring the industrial nations. He reminds us that while the United States was "inconvenienced" by the 1973 oil embargo and a boost in oil prices, the producing nations "destroyed a generation of economic property for South Asians who, as a result of the inflation spiral, now have no prospect of ever getting an automobile to fill up" with oil or gasoline.
Mr. Moynihan is correct in urging the United States to stop being defensive in the United Nations toward the Third World countries. The time has come to speak out. Americans have remained silent too long while other nations scoffed at our generosity.

Another voice, that of former AEC chairman Glenn T. Seaborg, has been heard crying in the wilderness for a conservation ethic.
Dr. Seaborg, a Nobel Prize winner, counsels that the burning of oil and gas to generate electricity should be outlawed. Oil and gas molecules are finite resources, more precious in the long run for petrochemical uses than for simple burning. And, if they are to be burned, they are better used to fuel engines in moving vehicles than to fire stationary boilers in steam plants.
If we stop burning oil and gas for electric generation, what are the possible alternatives? Coal burning is out because of our smog problem. Coal burning at giant power plants in the desert can cause smog there. Hydroelectric dams are controversial because they tame wild rivers and flood canyons. There is a limit to the pace of nuclear development. The new technology can't be hurried without incurring both economic and physical risks. Fusion, geothermal and solar energy sources are somewhere off in the future.
The only immediate alternative is to save energy. Consume less rather than generate more. Public policy must be directed to this end. Stronger measures to curb waste may soon be needed. Every American must adopt a conservation ethic.

MARKINGS DEFENDED
Webster's New Pronunciation

By MAX RAFFERTY
Q — "Your views on education have always been an inspiration to me. People need to hear what you have to say, but this gives you a great responsibility to be sure of the truth. I would like you to reconsider your recent article on the pronunciation marking system in the new Webster dictionaries. I am a teacher of language arts and have encouraged student teachers to use the new dictionary for the following reasons:
1 — It supports the idea of left to right progression which is so important to reading. The old system marked the accent after the syllable, and regression must take place in order to use the markings. This backward movement of the eyes is harmful. With the new system you move left to right.
2 — The Spanish put the question mark at the front of a sentence, and the reader knows at the start how to give the proper inflection at the end. In English, some children read a question and see the question mark as an afterthought. What modern egghead etymologist came up with that idea?
3 — I believe that the new dictionary markings are a step forward for thinking people. Would you not be swayed by the above evidence?" — B.F.B., Jefferson City, Tenn.
A — Maybe you make a couple of good points. Would any of the folks who wrote in last fall deploring the new markings care to rebut B.F.B.?

How to strike non-stop speakers silent

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We had a couple over last week, and when one started to talk, the spouse interrupted to talk about something entirely different. Both continued talking to both my husband and me in this manner throughout the entire evening. At one point in the evening, the husband and I were talking, and his wife interrupted by shouting my name; then she addressed a question to me which was completely unrelated to the subject I was discussing with her husband.
I cannot do justice to two conversations at one time, especially when each is trying to be heard over the other. This lack of consideration for each other strikes me as being very rude, but I may be wrong.
By the end of the evening I was completely exhausted. What does one do when he finds himself in this kind of predicament?
MINNEAPOLIS STAR READER

DEAR READER: When someone interrupts a conversation, it's perfectly all right for you to interrupt the interrupter with: "Please excuse me, but I can listen to only one person at a time. Would you mind waiting until we have finished?" The interrupter will probably be struck speechless. And wouldn't that be lovely?

DEAR ABBY: I don't know how to say this, but I have a problem that's driving me crazy.
I am 22 (a female) nicely built, so I've been told, and the only thing I don't have is a rear end. The front of me is really nice, but I just don't have any behind at all.
My clothes would fit me so much better if I had a little something there. Can you help me?
NEEDS A REAR

DEAR NEEDS: I can't. But write to Frederick's of Hollywood and ask about their foam rubber fannies. They are the living end!

DEAR ABBY: I just discovered that the man I've been going with for 14 months has false teeth!
Marty's teeth looked so lovely and natural, I never suspected they weren't real. He ate everything, and his kisses were the best.

Last week Marty's physician suspected Marty had polyps in his nasal cavity so he sent Marty to an ear and nose specialist. I went with him.
The specialist told Marty to take his teeth out, and when I saw him there with his sunken cheeks and puckered lips, I shuddered. He looked so old.
Ten minutes later, with his teeth back in, Marty was his handsome, youthful self again. I still care for him, but I can't bring myself to kiss him.
He thinks I'm losing interest in him, and maybe I am. How can I get over this foolish hangup?
LET DOWN

DEAR LET: The thought of how Marty looked sans choppers is turning you off. Forget it. (Are you sure you don't have a few false things going for you, too? There aren't many who are 100 per cent natural.)

'Fed Not Control Economy'-Burns

United Press International
The Federal Reserve, accused of contributing to high unemployment by restraining the nation's money supply, really doesn't have that much control over the economy, Fed Chairman Arthur F. Burns says.

Burns admitted Thursday in testimony before the Senate Budget Committee that the Fed had failed to achieve its goal of increasing by 5 to 7 per cent the amount of money in circulation in cash and in checking accounts.

Later, in a regular weekly report, the Federal Reserve of New York said the nation's money supply continued to decline, falling 0.1 per cent to a four-week average of $294.4 billion.

Critics of the Fed claim that the Fed has not tried hard enough to pump money into the nation's sagging economy and that its failure to meet even its own goals has prolonged the recession and made it more severe.

The money supply, many economists say, needs to be increased faster to make more money available for business expansion, which would create jobs and help spur economic recovery, prolonged and intensified the recession.

Burns told the Senate committee, however, the Fed's influence was vastly overstated.

"We don't control the money supply," he said. "After that it all depends on the banks and the private economy."

In a related development pointing to lower interest rates, the Fed said loan demand at major New York banks fell $424 million this week after increasing $181 million last week and $504 million a year ago.

Loan demand normally shrinks in a recession as businesses cut back in their borrowing for expansion. But at the same time, it means the prime interest rate for business loans will decline even further than it has in recent weeks.

The nation's largest commercial bank, Bank of America of San Francisco, last week lowered its prime to 7-3/4 per cent. The prime had been as high as 12 per cent last fall.

In other developments:
—The four U.S. automakers said early March sales came within 3 per cent of matching last year's energy-depressed levels. But they still were at a 14-year low. GM's sales were up 23 per cent and Chrysler's were up 1 per cent, but Ford Motor's sales were down 35 per cent and American Motors' 22 per cent.

—Libbey-Owens-Ford Co., a major supplier to GM, said it is canceling a planned two-week layoff of 4,000 glass workers because of "recent optimism" about auto production.

—Despite a slump in car sales, retail sales rose 1 per cent last week over the prior week and 7 per cent over a year ago, the Commerce Department said.

The yearly gain actually represents a decline in volume when inflation of 12 per cent is taken into account.

—General Electric said it is idling for one week 11,000 of its 12,800 production workers at its Louisville, Ky., appliance plant because of the "sales lag stemming from the current economic situation."

—A small portion of Last Island, off the Louisiana Gulf Coast, still remains above water, according to the Louisiana Tourist Commission. A fabulous resort hotel stood on the island in the early 1800s, and its destruction by hurricane was made nationally famous in a 19th century novel, "Chita," by the then world famous author, Lafcadio Hearn.

Airline Strike Nears Settlement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A three month strike that has grounded Texas International Airlines will be ended if workers accept a tentative agreement worked out with federal mediators.

The National Mediation and Conciliation Service announced Thursday the tentative agreement had been reached in the 103-day-old strike. No details of the agreement were announced.

A spokesman for the mediation board said the agreement was subject to resolution of a back-to-work agreement and ratification of the contract by the Airline Employees Association.

Ground workers struck the airline Dec. 1, but the company continued limited service until Dec. 4 when the company's pilots refused to cross the picket lines. The company had not provided any flight service since.

Negotiations toward a new contract broke down Thanksgiving night and the 650 members of the Airline Employees Association walked off their jobs at midnight the next Sunday. Striking employees included reservation agents, secretaries and ticket counter agents.

The dispute involved the company's right to use part-time employees and split work shifts.

Braniff's License May Be Revoked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Braniff International has been accused of amassing a huge and possibly illegal fund—totaling perhaps as much as $1 million—for unreported spending that included illegal political contributions, the Civil Aeronautics Board said today.

The CAB's Bureau of Enforcement initiated the action Wednesday and took the unprecedented step of recommending that Braniff be deprived of its license to operate as an airline, either entirely or just in Latin America.

In a related action, the bureau also accused American Airlines of compiling an unreported fund totaling $275,000 between 1964 and 1973. It said American paid $105,975 of the money "directly or indirectly" for political contributions between January, 1971, and March, 1973.

But in the American Airline action, the bureau asked only that the CAB order the company and its officers to stop violating CAB regulations and engaging in deceptive financial reporting practices.

It will be up to the CAB to take action on the bureau's complaints. The charges were based on a federal requirement that airlines report their finances to the CAB.

The bureau said Braniff had accumulated its fund by selling at least 3,626 unreported tickets. It said the revenues derived from that sale totaled at least $641,285 and perhaps as much as $926,955.

Both Braniff and American pleaded guilty in Watergate prosecutions to charges of making illegal contributions to Richard M. Nixon's 1972 campaign.

Braniff, the nation's seventh largest airline in terms of revenue, was fined $5,000 for a $40,000 contribution and American, the third largest U.S. airline, was fined $5,000 for a $55,000 contribution.

Both complaints grew out of nearly a year of investigation conducted by the bureau, which was headed at the time by William M. Gingery.

Gingery committed suicide last Feb. 17 and left a note complaining of lack of action against at least eight airlines for potentially illegal campaign activities.

Briscoe — 'No Raise For Texas Teachers'

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe says there will be no $1,000-a-year pay raise for Texas school teachers even if he has to veto the proposal.

Briscoe said Thursday he told representatives of the Texas State Teachers Association the state could not afford the proposal and he would veto it if it passed the legislature.

"There is just so much money available," Briscoe said. "In my opinion it is absolutely essential that we live within our available income."

He said he did not think the teachers could get the two-thirds vote needed to approve the raise over his veto.

"It is difficult at best to pass a tax bill. I think it would be practically impossible to pass one with a two-thirds vote," Briscoe said.

"This is the message I tried to make plain at the beginning of the session. This is the message I tried to make plain to the representatives of TSTA."

He said the state would have to raise taxes to spend more than the $590 million he has recommended for school finance reform.

"There is no way that I can see that another $400 to $500 million would be available," the governor said. "We have to work within the framework of the existing revenues of the state."

Suicide Notes Found

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — Several suicide notes were found in the room of a U.S. Information Agency official who died in a fall from the 17th floor of a hotel, police said Thursday.

But authorities refused to disclose the contents of the notes found among the belongings of John A. Lepper, 35, a USIA cultural affairs officer.

Lepper fell from the fire escape on the 17th floor of the Plaza Hotel Wednesday. He landed in an alley in the back of the hotel.

His body was identified by a USIA official from White Sands Missile Range, 80 miles north of El Paso and police said

Lepper's sister was en route to Texas from Michigan.

The USIA said Lepper left Nagoya, Japan, Feb. 28 for his new assignment as cultural affairs officer for Jakarta, Indonesia.

The USIA was unable to explain why Lepper was in El Paso, but said it was not unusual for employees to take several weeks vacation before reporting to new assignments.

The El Paso Herald Post reported Lepper's body bore slashes on the upper chest and sources said he purchased a hunting and kitchen knife since arriving in El Paso Tuesday.

Kissinger Predicts Settlement

JERUSALEM (UPI) — A senior official aboard Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's plane today predicted Israel would have to come up with something new in return for "concrete" Egyptian proposals on an interim Middle East peace settlement.

Kissinger flew to Tel Aviv from Aswan, Egypt, and then drove up through the Judean hills to Jerusalem, where he met Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and the Israeli negotiating team and presented them with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's latest ideas for a troop withdrawal agreement.

The cabinet will meet to discuss the proposals Sunday and Kissinger said he hoped to take back a concrete Israeli response to Sadat on Monday.

"We are making progress slowly and I hope we can come to agreement, but that is far from guaranteed," Kissinger said on his plane flying from Aswan to Israel.

Kissinger reported Thursday Sadat had come up with "concrete ideas" for him to relay to Israel, but the senior official said they were short of a formal diplomatic proposal which would have to be accepted or rejected.

He said the two countries have not yet begun to put things on paper.

Israeli sources have said that before making further proposals, Israel would have to know what political concessions Sadat would make in return for its withdrawal from two strategic mountain passes and the Abu Rudeis oil fields.

Kissinger planned to stay in Israel only long enough to drop off the Egyptian ideas with Israeli leaders. He expected to fly on to Syria and then spend the night in Jordan.

Kissinger met with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat for 2 1/2 hours Thursday night at the presidential residence in Aswan, a winter resort overlooking one of the Nile River's famed waterfalls.

Oklahoma Governor Urges Action To Save Free Enterprise for US

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — If governmental growth at all levels in this nation is not reversed soon and the actions of "political opportunists" like Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., are not curtailed, the American free enterprise system will die. Gov. David Boren said Thursday.

In a strongly-worded speech to the Metropolitan Tulsa Chamber of Commerce, Boren accused Jackson of leading the forces of "short term consumerism" which would make the government the only major holder of capital within a few years.

Boren said it was up to the solid citizens of Oklahoma and the rest of the nation to make their voices heard on behalf of sound fiscal policy and a curtailment of governmental growth.

"It's high time all of us marshalled all our energy to say government growth must be stopped dead in its tracks because we want to preserve the free enterprise system," the nation's youngest governor said.

"Short term consumerism is running rampant in this country, led by people like Senator Jackson.

"It's time we said to these people that the people of this country are more sophisticated than to submit to this pandering of short term consumerism by political opportunists."

With the audience interrupting his strongest comments with loud applause, Boren warned that the latest projections show the government, even if it stays on its present level of growth, will control 60 per cent of the Gross National Product before the end of the century.

"It ought to be obvious if we continue our present trend, don't balance the budget, don't cut government growth, in the next 10-15 years we will see the absolute end of the free enterprise system in this country," Boren said.

Foreign News Commentary

Portugal Adds New Woes

Events in Portugal suggest not only a new setback for democracy but also new woes for the United States.

The setback for democracy stems less from the defeat of a rightwing uprising apparently led by former President Antonio de Spínola than from the fact it apparently hardened determination of the country's ruling Armed Forces Movement to retain permanently dictatorial powers.

New difficulties in U.S. Portuguese relations may be expected from the apparently unshakable conviction among leftwing elements of the Armed Forces Movement that its rule is threatened by the Central Intelligence Agency of the United States.

With the abortive uprising not yet under full control, Brig. Gen. Otelo de Carvalho, chief of Labon's security forces, was suggesting U.S. involvement, and saying U.S. Ambassador Frank C. Carlucci "had better leave after what happened today."

In what could be interpreted as an open invitation to violence he declared, "I cannot at the moment guarantee his physical security, and it is, in fact, possible that he may suffer from some unpleasantness, which would be very disagreeable for our government."

In a magazine interview last October, the general had said, "We know that the Central Intelligence Agency is a grave problem. The Americans have a morbid terror of Communism, and, as you know, have a series of specific organs against it. The CIA which uses the most incredible methods—and you only have to look at the example of Chile—is probably the most dangerous but it is not the only one."

NATO is another example of an organization created specifically to fight communism.

General de Carvalho is not a chief spokesman for the entire Armed Forces Movement, which, in fact, appears to be split in its attitude toward the United States.

President Francisco de Costa Gomes has expressed warm regard for both the United States and Portugal's ties with NATO.

In general, however, the Armed Forces Movement leans left. Outspokenly leftist is Premier Brig. Gen. Vasco dos Santos Goncalves.

Less than 24 hours after the short-lived rebellion and Spinola's flight to Spain, the regime announced a government reorganization and establishment of a "revolutionary council" which would make its powers permanent.

Politicians said they expected the council to have the right to introduce and veto legislation, reject presidential candidates, and appoint the key ministries of economy and defense.

One liberal politician called it a "blueprint for military dictatorship."

In any event, it seemed another bitter defeat for the moderate socialists and the center Popular Democrats who have fought a rear-guard action against both the military and the Communists in an attempt to bring to Portugal at least the beginnings of democratic government.

Erwin Pleads Innocent Of Drunk

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UPI) — Former University of Texas Regent Frank C. Erwin pleaded innocent Thursday by letter to Judge Hector De Pena and asked for a jury trial on drunk driving charges originating in Austin.

following four days of testimony before Judge Brock Jones. Attorneys argued local residents were prejudiced against Erwin and would not be a fair jury.

From Capitol Hill Hightower Vs. Reports

By Randy Fitzgerald
Pampa News* Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Freshman Rep. Jack Hightower, D-Vernon, swept by his Republican opponent Bob Price last year with apparent ease, spending nearly $100,000 less than Price and winning handily. But when it came to filing those Jan. 31 campaign reports as required by law, he encountered some unexpected difficulties.

First, the woman in Vernon who was preparing the list of contributors and expenditures became ill, according to Hightower's staff in time for them to complete the forms by the deadline. They were filed nearly three weeks after Jan. 31, in apparent violation of the campaign reporting law.

Then, once the reports were filed, and after most newspaper stories had been written based on the figures, it was discovered the reports were potentially misleading. Hightower's principal committee reported spending $143,111 but receiving only $137,144, a debt of $5,967. Yet, in that part of the filing reserved for listing surplus campaign funds, the figure $5,967 was recorded. Actually, according to officials with the Clerk of the House, this figure should have been filed under "debts."

Hightower's second committee, Farmers and Stockmen for Hightower, filed a report on Jan. 29 which also listed a surplus of money on hand — $2,095. This is the figure reporters recorded. However, this committee then filed an amended report several days later showing only a $50 "cash on hand" surplus.

The resulting confusion has probably caused both Hightower staffers and at least one reporter to doubt their ability to summon up enthusiasm for any future byproducts of expensive campaigns — long columns of numbers.

Uncle Sam Owes Texas Millions For Sewage

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas has been shortchanged $225 million in federal sewage treatment funds by unfair surveys taken by the Environmental Protection Agency, according to the chairman of the Texas Water Quality Board.

J. Douglass Toole said Wednesday the problem arose because of the method used by the EPA two years ago to allocate federal funds to states for sewage treatment facilities.

Those earlier surveys used by EPA were not uniformly made across the nation and resulted in inequities and loss of fundings to states such as Texas whose needs lists were realistically developed, Toole said. "There is now a needs survey by each of the states which is far more equitable and carefully drawn than any such previous surveys."

The survey, based on needs-population factors, is the basis for a bill filed in Congress by the Georgia delegation, Toole said.

Federal funds for sewage plants are part of $9 billion previously impounded then released by the Supreme Court. "If the Georgia bill is adopted by Congress, Texas would receive out of the $9 billion available, some $400 million instead of the $175 million presently allocated," Toole said.

The National Broadcasting Co. established a permanent coast-to-coast radio network on Dec. 23, 1928.

Government May Let Railroad Fail

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government appears ready to let the failing Rock Island Railroad go out of business.

Barring some unforeseen turn of events, no government agency is ready to lend the 7,500-mile Midwestern railroad a penny, and administration officials including Transportation Secretary William Coleman are saying nothing should be done by the government to prevent Rock Island's demise.

Even Congress is not ready to act, apparently because of opposition in the House, and cash runs low on the failed railroad which stretches west from Chicago to Colorado, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

The Rock Island board meets

Friday and may vote to file for bankruptcy, but because of the railroad's unusual debt structure even bankruptcy may not prevent its shutdown for more than a few days or weeks.

The Interstate Commerce

Commission is developing a plan for a consortium of 15 western railroads to name one of its members to provide essential services over certain Rock Island lines. But ICC chairman George Stafford said such a plan would be more costly than a loan because the government must pay the operating railroad all its expenses plus a profit.

Rock Island officials are bitter at the government's steadfast refusal to help even though the U.S. Railway Association is empowered to lend money to the railroad under a special section of the Rail Reorganization Act.

"It's like performing an autopsy on a living patient," said one company official.

Lefors Water, Gas Policies Set

Bills for water and gas are due upon receipt in Lefors and if not paid by the 25th of the month, meters will be disconnected and a $50 charge added.

The action was taken Monday by Lefors City Council and will become effective April 1. Former policy was to allow 45 days before a bill was considered delinquent, but the council determined that the city was acquiring too many unpaid bills with that policy.

Leonard R. Cain, David Livingstone and Earl Winegart registered to run in the April 5 election for spots on the Lefors city council.

In other action, the council voted to allow the Lefors mayor $25 monthly for automobile expenses.

Ari Fed Intravenously

PARIS (UPI) — Multimillionaire Aristotle Onassis is being fed intravenously and is still using artificial kidney and respiratory machines 32 days after his gall bladder operation, friends of the shipping tycoon report.

The friends said the 73-year-old husband of the former Jacqueline Kennedy "is not making much progress."

"He doesn't come along very fast, that's what worries us," the friends said. He's conscious and alert. The situation is not grave, but it's not bright.

Other family sources said Wednesday Onassis "is not too good." They said "you can't say he has taken a turn for the worse—he just hasn't gotten better."

Onassis was hooked up to the breathing machine five days after his Feb. 9 operation and still has an air tube in his throat, according to family friends. He is fed with liquids entering the body from needles attached to arm veins.

Mrs. Onassis was expected to return over the weekend or Monday after a week's stay in New York to be with her children, the family source said.

LIBERACE OPENS HOME
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — You can drop in at Liberace's place today and have a look around at the pianos, beds and bathrooms for $5.90.

"This is the only living celebrity's house open to the public—and I'm very much alive," the pianist said Wednesday in announcing plans to open his $1 million Hollywood Hills mansion to the public as a museum.

The admission fee will go to the Liberace Foundation for the development of performing talent, he said. Visitors will be able to see his piano-shaped swimming pool, antiques, a pipe organ, his collection of 500 miniature pianos and will be free to wander around the house and peek in the bathrooms if they like, he said.

SHUT-IN GETS CHECK
WEST FRANKFORT, Ill. (UPI) — Singer Frank Sinatra has sent a $1,000 personal check to Emogene Slayden, a 53-year-old shut-in with no arms and only one leg whose problems with the federal government gained national attention last week.

Miss Slayden said Wednesday she was thrilled Sunday when she found Sinatra's check in a plain white envelope. No note was included.

"I can't explain it, it seems unreal," she said. "For years I've always liked his songs and his movies. I still do. He never knew it."

Her troubles began when the state cut off a $200 monthly payments because of a new federal regulation. When her problem was publicized, Gov. Daniel Walker ordered the payments to continue.

SPEECHES HALTED
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — Former presidential press secretary Ron Ziegler abandoned the lecture circuit Wednesday, saying his appearances kept Watergate passions alive.

"I am perfectly willing to discuss Watergate," Ziegler said in a letter to his lecture booking agent. "I believe there are important lessons to be drawn from the mistakes and wrongdoing that created it."

"But what I am not willing to do is join the ranks of the 'Watergate lecturers' whose appearances continue to draw the subject into an arena of confrontation."

Ziegler said he wanted to present a broader picture of the Nixon years—including the successes.

JAIL CHANGES ARSONIST
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — John Goldfarb says a year in jail for a firebombing changed him. Convinced, Memphis State University officials have awarded him a scholarship.

The 24-year-old Goldfarb, planning a journalism career, Wednesday received the $275 Robert E. Talley Memorial Scholarship, named in honor of the late Commercial Appeal reporter.

Goldfarb spent a year in the Shelby County jail for his part in the 1972 firebombing of the American Opinion bookstore, a John Birch Society outlet here.

DALLAS (UPI) — Tom Green, the owner of an x-rated movie house, says he's had all he can take from city officials and he's decided to get out of the business.

Earlier this week Green publicly complained about city proposals to install all kinds of prohibitions against x-rated theaters, including one requiring no such theater be located closer than a 1,000 feet from a church.

Twenty-four hours after registering his complaint, city police raided his theater, The Erotica, and Wednesday Green said he's giving up.

"I'm getting out of the x-rated theater business for a while," he said. "I'm going into the nude model business."

In his new enterprise, Green said he will have live nudes posing at his studio—located where his theater now stands—and customers will be able to paint them or take pictures of them.

Dampen the string you use to tie packages. It will shrink as it dries and prevent slipping.

If your hands start to get numb when you are outdoors in extremely cold weather, either wave them in arcs as fast as possible or go indoors at once and soak your hands in warm water or hold them in front of a heater. If you use the waving technique, it sends extra blood to your fingers to warm them quickly.

Good news for home sewing enthusiasts: a new chemical treatment developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture gives woven wool and wooblened fabrics the kind of twoway stretch that helped popularize synthetic knits. The treatment also gives wool fabrics better wrinkle recovery.

At Wit's End

I don't know if I can put into words the condition of my house in February, but I'll try.

If John Wayne and his horse fell down in the living room shag, no one would find them unless one of them gave birth.

"What's a nice girl like me doing in a dump like this?" I asked my husband.

"You weren't getting any younger and you panicked," he said dryly.

"If I could just buy something new it might motivate me to clean," I offered.

"Forget it."

"I know. I could move things around. A lot of people rearrange furniture to relieve the boredom."

"Not the plumbing in the bathroom again," he cautioned.

Yesterday, I ushered him into the living room and said proudly, "Does this look like a different room?"

He gasped. "Incredible. What did you do?"

"Well, I saw this article in a magazine that said if you made just two little throw cushions it would brighten up your entire room."

"I don't believe it," he said.

"Actually, I used a couple of cushions I had around the house, bought some remnants of bright ribbon and made a basket weave design out of them. The whole thing cost... are you ready? the noddled numbly... $3.46."

"It doesn't even look like the same sofa," he said.

"It isn't," I said. "The ribbon only came in pink which didn't do a thing for our royal blue sofa. I had it covered."

"And the chairs? You had them covered too?"

"You're teasing. Have those chairs covered? They weren't the style of chairs you'd put with satin-ribboned cushions. That's like wearing a WIN button on your original Dior gown. These are new."

He paled.

"Watch the walls," I said. "They may still be a little wet. Actually they'll dry a little darker and will match the new carpet perfectly."

"Who would have thought two little pillows could have made such a difference," he said weakly.

"Now that you mention it," I said cocking my head critically.

"The pillows do look a little tacky in this elegant room. They look like something I made out of remnants. Would it be all right with you if I bought two little ole pillows to brighten up this room?"

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

By FRED KARPIN

It is a fact that duplicate bridge is much more of a bidder's game than is rubber bridge. The reason, of course, is that each deal is the exact equivalent of each other deal, and since scoring is on a relative basis, with each competing pair playing the identical deals, the procurement of the maximum part score on a given deal can be worth more than the bidding of a grand slam on some other deal.

Had today's deal arisen in a rubber-bridge game, West wouldn't have given even a passing thought to bidding at his second opportunity to bid. But the hand arose in the 1972 Life Masters Men's Pairs Championship, and it now became a horse of another color. Neither side vulnerable. West deals.

Is Sunday School Sick?

UPI Religion Writer
In 1980, a speaker at an International Sunday School convention described the Sunday School as having the "mystery and charm of an unfinished enterprise."
At a recent meeting of United Methodist educators, that speech was quoted at least twice as participants wondered if the admittedly sick enterprise of the Sunday School was finally about to be finished.

Everybody generally agreed that the Sunday School, one of America's most unique religious institutions, was sick — especially among mainline denominations such as the Methodists.

Since 1968, according to church statistics given to the participants at the four-day "Confrontation Sunday School," sponsored by the denomination's Christian Educators Fellowship and the Center for Continuing Education at Scripps College, Sunday School attendance has declined by nearly 53 per cent.

In addition, 77 per cent of all church schools in the denomination have less than 100 persons in attendance and only 3.1 per cent have more than 300.

In contrast, Sunday School attendance in evangelical Protestant churches is increasing.

"Wherever evangelical Protestantism is strong," said Robert Lynn, "there you will find a vibrant Sunday School."

Lynn, co-author of the book "The Big Little School," a history of the Sunday School movement, concluded that "whereas most people describe Sunday School as a standoff and failure, it is a remarkable success."

Part of the problem with the Sunday School in the mainline churches might be increasing denominational — national and professional — control over the institution.

Sara Little, professor of Christian education at the Presbyterian School of Christian Education in Richmond, Va., told the conference that when Sunday Schools were started in the 1830s, they were a lay "owned" movement.

But as more sophisticated educational material was produced by the national denomination and professionally trained educators began to play a more prominent part, the laity has been forced out of its traditional role.

Little's analysis was echoed by John Westerhoff III, associate professor of religion and education at Duke University Divinity School, who said denominational programs "bring on feelings of inadequacy and failure."

For the professional Christian educator, Richard Murray had a pointed suggestion: "Look and listen at the Sunday School elements you can support and openly and frequently affirm the features you feel you don't have to reject."

No cure-alls were presented at the meeting.

But Lynn left the educators a big challenge: the real test for Protestantism, he said, is how and what it does with Sunday School.

Modern Exodus Subtitle 'Let My People Go'

NEW YORK — The American Bible Society has published the Old Testament books of Exodus and Ruth in Today's English Version.

Exodus, subtitled "Let My People Go!" in the new edition, is the epic story of a pivotal event in history — God's deliverance of the Hebrews from slavery in Egypt. Its themes — slavery and liberation, obedience and rebellion, judgment and love, law and grace, and God's mighty acts for his people — are central to both Jewish and Christian theology. One of the most dramatic of Biblical books, it includes the familiar story of the Passover, the Ten Commandments, and the history of the people of Israel during the lifetime of Moses.

Ruth is a more personal drama, the story of a Moabite widow who shows uncommon loyalty to her Israelite mother-in-law and deep devotion to the God of Israel. In the end she finds a new husband among her former husband's relatives, and through this marriage she becomes the great-grandmother of David, Israel's greatest king.

The new publications continue a series begun by the American Bible Society in 1966 with "Good News for Modern Man," the New Testament in Today's English Version, which has become the world's best-selling paperback book with a circulation of 47,000,000. The complete Bible in Today's English Version is scheduled for publication in 1978. Old Testament books previously published in Today's English Version include "Psalms for Modern Man," "Tried and True" (Job), "Wisdom for Modern Man" (Proverbs and Ecclesiastes), "Jonah, the Man Who Said No" and "Justice Now!" (Hosea, Amos and Micah).

Today's English Version has been prepared by the American Bible Society for people who speak English either as their mother tongue or as an acquired language. As a distinctly new translation, it does not conform to traditional vocabulary or style, but seeks to express the meaning of the Hebrew text in words and forms accepted as standard by people everywhere who employ English as a means of communication. As much as possible, words and forms of English not in current use have been avoided, but no rigid limit has been set to the vocabulary employed.

The new TEV Exodus is an 88-page booklet priced at 12 cents, illustrated with black and white wash drawings (ABS order No. 04632). TEV Ruth is a two-color accordion-fold leaflet priced at five cents, illustrated with line and tone drawings (ABS order No. 04627). Both are available from the American Bible Society, 1885 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10023.

The American Bible Society, founded in 1816, is a non-profit, non-denominational organization whose only purpose is the translation, publication and distribution of the Holy Scriptures, without doctrinal note or comment. The Society is supported through contributions from churches and individuals.

Illegal Aliens Should Stay Catholic Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A spokesman for the U.S. Catholic Conference wants Congress to grant an across-the-board amnesty to illegal aliens now in the country.

Msgr. George G. Higgins made his proposal in testimony prepared today for the House Judiciary subcommittee on immigration, citizenship and international law.

Higgins is secretary for research of the USCC, the action arm of the nation's Roman Catholic hierarchy.

In his testimony, Higgins urged Congress to enact a four-part legislative package on the touchy subject of illegal aliens that would be "equitable and humane and will also be effective in preventing a recurrence of the problem."

The program proposed by Higgins would do the following: —Institute a preference system "applicable to both the eastern and western hemisphere based primarily on family reunification and admission of refugees."

—Grant adjustment of status to all persons regardless of their country of birth.

—Increase foreign aid and economic assistance to the countries of Latin America in general and Mexico in particular.

—Create an "across-the-board grant of amnesty with the necessary residency cut-off date for eligibility and adjustment of status," without charging such action against numerical ceilings.

Higgins said the reason for an amnesty is that the U.S. government "bears a heavy share of responsibility for the chaotic situation" which now exists in immigration.

Without a meaningful amnesty program, he said, "it is entirely possible that the members of this illegal alien society will be driven further underground and that a permanent subculture will be created in the United States."

In addition, Higgins said, granting an amnesty would make it unnecessary to further consider, as some have proposed, "the extremely serious and troublesome suggestion" that every American citizen be issued a common identification card or internal passport.

Higgins said the illegal alien is "the victim of an oppressive political and/or economic system in his home and country and a victim of discriminatory U.S. immigration laws and practices which foster family separation rather than promoting family reunification."

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Bethel Assembly Of God

REV. E. PAUL DEWOLFE
"Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ, to God's elect, strangers in the world, scattered throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia and Bithynia, who have been chosen according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, by the sanctifying work of the Spirit, for obedience to Jesus Christ and sprinkling by his blood: Grace and peace to yours in abundance." — 1 Peter 1:1, 2 (The New International Version)

CHRISTIAN FRIEND DO YOU EVER FEEL UNREADINESS or hesitation as you face the problems of life or try to witness for Jesus? Often this comes from a failure to realize who we are and where we stand.

Notice to whom the great apostle of Jesus Christ addresses himself. "To God's ELECT (chosen or choice)" a people led of the Spirit to be the sons of God (Romans 8:14). Being the sons of God they then were living in a FAVORED POSITION. The favored position of heirs, and joint heirs (Romans 8:17), a position in the family of God (1 Peter 2:10). "Chosen that ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvelous light" (1 Peter 2:9). Chosen according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, by the sanctifying work

(there the foreknowledge of God has to do, not so much with his knowledge of us, as with his knowledge of His own divine plan and purposes).

"Strangers in the world, scattered throughout..." in other words alien temporary residents in this world. In Hebrews 11, we find that Abraham "made his home in the promised land like a STRANGER in a foreign country; he lived in tents, as did Isaac and Jacob, who were heirs with him of the same promise. For he was looking forward to the city with foundations, whose architect and builder is God." (vs 9 and 10 N.I.V.) He was casting all of his confidence in the promise of God (See Genesis 15), and the knowledge that "he (God) hath prepared for them a city." Hebrews 11:16.

You and I my Christian friend have the same promise of a dwelling place in the same "city with foundations, whose architect and builder is God." You see just as God spoke to Abraham, Jesus, His only begotten Son, has given you and I a comparable promise. "In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also." John 14:2, 3. This then is our inheritance as God's elect, and Peter says it far better than I... an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you (Christian friend), who are kept (guarded) by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time... Receiving the end of your faith, even the salvation of your souls." 1 Peter 1:4, 5, 9.

Now notice in 1 Peter 1:3 (Amplified): "Praised (honored, blessed be) the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Messiah! By His boundless mercy we have been born again to an ever living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead." He brought us into this favored position as His elect. His chosen through His great mercy. He took us out of our hopeless condition, dead in sins and unable to help ourselves; and implanted in us a new life, so that we are now more than His creatures. We are begotten sons and daughters, members of His own family with all its rights and privileges, as well as responsibilities. (See Ephesians 2:19)

This gives us more than new status, however. It gives us a new prospect, a lively (living) hope. A HOPE GUARANTEED TO US BY THE RESURRECTION OF JESUS.

Women Linksters Call off Tourney

HOUSTON (UPI) — Members of the Ladies Professional Golf Association, informed the sponsor of the Houston tour stop could not produce the prize money 24 hours before tee time, late Thursday voted to cancel a three-day tournament at Westwood Country Club.

Bud Erickson, executive director of the LPGA, said the Gulf Coast Golf News failed to meet a 5 p.m. deadline to put up the sponsor's money, and an emergency meeting was called of the LPGA governing board and players.

"You have to do some things on faith," Erickson said, "but we had a commitment in writing with Larry Flood of Gulf Coast Golf News to play the tournament. We feel that we gave him every opportunity to perform. We feel that we made numerous concessions.

"The decision was made carefully. The more than 100 LPGA members voted by secret ballot. Erickson said the vote was not unanimous to cancel, but it was "overwhelming."

LPGA president Carol Mann, the defending champion in the Houston event, said the cancellation was unprecedented.

"It's really been bizarre. It's an experience I'll never forget."

She said she learned of the financial troubles two weeks ago, and at the time LPGA board members, attorneys and attorneys for Flood met.

"The players were not told until tonight," she said. "Their reaction was very professional."

"We'll stay in Houston awhile," Miss Mann said, "because the next tournament is in Mexico and this is the departure city for our plane there."

Flood could not be contacted for comment.

Ron Ekker Respected In Valley

By PAUL SIMS
Ron Ekker, who hasn't had a whole lot of success but has made his presence known in the Missouri Valley Conference, will be the featured speaker at the Pampa Harvester basketball banquet Tuesday night in the Heritage Room of M.K. Brown Auditorium.

The banquet will start at 7:30 p.m., and Ekker, a talented speaker, will be introduced following the presentation of the Hustling Harvester Award.

RON EKKER

Ekker's West Texas State Buffaloes finished 11-15 in his first season and 9-16 this past year. In spite of the record, the coach has instilled respectability into the Buffs' basketball program. Several of the losses last season were close, including two narrow wins by powerful Louisville.

Prior to West Texas State, Ekker coached at Cheyogan, Mich., High School, Winona State (Minnesota) College and Hillsdale, Mich., College. At the latter, Ekker's two teams reached the NAIA finals. Ekker's overall record as a head coach is 124-87.

Tickets for the banquet are available for $3.50 at several Pampa localities, including Coronado Finance and the Pampa Daily News.

its season, hopefully undefeated, against Lamar Elementary School of Pampa Monday night in the Lamar gymnasium.

Whittier edged Lamar, 35-34, at Amarillo March 6 and will try to make it two in a row against the Pampa team.

"We played one of our best games," Whittier Coach B.G. Sinclair said. "We just can't play any better than that. We don't have one outstanding boy, we're balanced." Whittier outscored opponents this past season by an average of 21 to 21 and could be the best sixth-grade team in the Panhandle.

Tipoff is set for 6:30 p.m.

Mobeetie, which won its first championship in years, and Allison, runner-up to the surprising Hornets, placed six players on the District 3-B all-district team.

Mobeetie had Steve Course, Roy Strubling and Gary May placed on the team, while Allison had Mark Shelton, Johnny Grayson and Clifton Miller named. Others picked were Carl Cady and Keith Baker of Lefors, Danny Gilliland of Miami and Cliff Britten of Groom.

Billy Sims, the most heavily recruited high school football player in Texas and an Oklahoma signee, heads state honorees on the 1974-75 Prep All-America 100 Football Squad, released by Coach and Athlete Magazine.

Sims, who reigns from Hooks and is one of the top rushers ever to come out of the state, was one of three Texas backs named to the elite squad. The others were quarterbacks Ted Conzanzo of San Antonio Churchill and Paul Rice of Lewisville High.

Other Texans named were David Hodge, linebacker from Brazoswood; David Hufman, center from Dallas Jefferson, and Robert Oglesby, defensive end from Arlington Heights of Fort Worth.

Thousands were nominated for the team and each was given individual consideration. Pampans nominated were and Howie Lewis, halfback Rick Leverich, quarterback Chuck Quarles, noseguard Ron Willett and defensive tackle Dane Rasmussen.

Borger's selection of Jim Breckenridge as head football coach was a mild stunner.

Breckenridge, in fact, was the least likely of the three candidates. Both Charles Topinka of Kermit and Tom Ritchey of Midland Lee (formerly of Stockton) have head-coaching experience, while Breckenridge, an assistant at Odessa Permian, has never headed a team.

Likely, he'll do well, however, since Permian is among the top schools in the country every year.

It's a busy day for a few Pampa spring sports, such as both boys and girls golf teams, which are involved in district rounds.

The boys team, nine shots behind Amarillo High after two rounds, plays at Borger, while the girls are in fifth and play the second round at Pampa Country Club.

The girls track team is in Hereford for its second meet of the season. Scott Dunham's Harvesters are in Odessa for the West Texas Relays.

Volleyers Trip Dons

AMARILLO — "They worked together again. They're looking more like a team." Pampa volleyball coach Lynn Wolfe is smiling again.

Her Harvesters whipped Palo Duro in three sets, 13-9, 10-15, 15-8, Thursday to move to 2-0 in the second half of district play.

In the junior varsity match, Palo Duro won, 10-15, 14-16, 10-7.

"It's taken a little while for them to play together since they haven't played that much."

Pampa, which defeat first-half winner Caprock Tuesday, will host talented Tascosa Friday. The junior varsity match was originally slated for 6:30, but it will start at 5 p.m.

The varsities will play 20 minutes after the end of the JV match.

Galleon Replica Battles Winds, Waves To Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Under full sail, the Golden Hinde II, replica of Sir Francis Drake's 16th century galleon, this week battled her way through high winds and waves toward San Francisco Bay after having been blown 100 miles off course.

after the five-month voyage and requested that cigars and beer be brought aboard when the Golden Hinde is met offshore by customs.

Hinde off course. Small said she "has done everything expected of her."

DALLAS (UPI) — The recent ABC telecast of the only photographic record of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy generated another pervasive wave of debate and discussion in the city where it all happened 11 years ago.

Differences surfaced over the Abraham Zapruder film, named for its amateur maker who sold it to Time Inc. even before it was shown by WFAA-TV, the local ABC affiliate.

Former Sen. Ralph Yarborough, who was two cars back in the motorcade from Kennedy when the shots rang out on Nov. 22, 1963, said the film was evidence enough that an investigation should be reopened.

"The CIA did it" and the "press should have dug out the truth long ago."

Police Chief Donald Byrd said earlier there will be no new investigation unless another agency opens it.

Slings Pie In Director's Face

ALBUQUERQUE (UPI) — A young man wearing a stocking mask raced into a meeting room Wednesday and threw a lemon meringue pie in the face of New Mexico Motion Picture Industries Director Howard Rubin.

Albuquerque Press Club when the incident happened.

Small left Plymouth, England, where the replica was constructed, five months and 13,000 miles ago.

Shows on the ABC Good Night America show, the film provided the gristliest details of the controversial killing public is likely to see.

Did the film show, as the presenters of this version claimed it did on the air, that Kennedy was shot from the front as he rode through downtown Dallas and therefore Lee Harvey Oswald, positioned behind and above the President, could not have been the lone assassin?

Major William F. Rice has received recognition for helping the 68881st Security Group at Elmendorf AFB, Alaska, earn the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Police Chief Donald Byrd said earlier there will be no new investigation unless another agency opens it.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Kenneth Mighel said he's willing to consider new evidence but the Zapruder film isn't new so reopening of the case is planned.

PEPPY'S COMING

The Golden Hinde II, which has five decks and flavan sails, was built with private funds at a cost of $1.5 million. It will be anchored permanently in San Francisco as a nautical museum.

Regional Writers Presented In Seminar CANYON — Dr. Richard Moseley, associate professor of English, Saturday will present "Southwestern Writers in the Twentieth Century" as the fourth Saturday Seminar in Room 102 of the West Texas State University Science Building.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

SATURDAY, MARCH 15

Your birthday today: Abundance is the goal of this year's living and, in many areas, likely to be achieved. Changes are sudden, sometimes sweeping, usually surprising even when you've had some hints of them in advance. Relationships are tested by stressful conditions and generally hold together. Today's natives are smooth talkers, very persistent, subject to temptation toward self-indulgence.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Don't take anyone for granted this weekend. Friends have plans that take them out of your range. Tidy up your home. Catch up on correspondence.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Call on people you can't meet during the week. Repay favors; renew talks. Agreements signed today turn out well if all factors are equal and prudently worked out.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: The day is crowded with conflicting claims on your time and energy. Concentrate on the important items. Let nothing mar your search for peace of mind.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: It's a great day for lively self-expression. In this stage of your personal growth, almost any sudden insight may be used immediately to clarify your goals.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: To avoid confusion, decide on times and places before you get going. There is no real short cut or easy way out today. Pitch in to clear off the weekend jobs.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Proceed informally, but consistently. Round up scattered, misplaced or borrowed possessions. Reclaim what you've lent to others. Have a mild celebration or party this evening.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Get in a reasonable amount of exercise, either in competitive pastimes or a chore that's been left hanging. Entertain people whose opinions you value.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Instead of trying to fix things yourself, call in a specialist. If it is a major problem, ask for a second opinion or estimate, but get somebody started promptly.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Your response to keen competition is a measure of your quality; everyone is watching. Being overly serious could lead you past a good opportunity; relax, enjoy the day!

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: There's much to do and adjust around your home and immediate surroundings, and more to think about in future maintenance. Social contacts nearby provide a lively evening's fun.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: It's time you let somebody else carry the honors. You may as well do something special for your loved ones—more than a symbolic gift or gesture this time.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Level out long-standing discrepancies early. Go on expeditions to unfamiliar places (if only mentally) with companions who share your interests and enthusiasm.

Man Sane, To Be Tried For Gory Murders

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—A jury deciding the sanity of a man charged with murdering two Mormon missionaries and grinding their bodies to bits will hear conflicting psychiatric reports.

District Judge Tom Blackwell has scheduled a jury trial to begin Monday to decide if Robert Elmer Kleasen is competent to stand trial for the slayings of Gary Smith Darley, 20, of Simi Valley, Calif. and Mark J. Fischer, 19, of Milwaukee, Wis. Bob Gibbins, Kleasen's attorney, said Wednesday District Attorney Robert O. Smith notified him one of the two court-appointed psychiatrists believes the 42-year-old sometime carpenter is competent.

The second psychiatrist's report to the district attorney and defense lawyers indicate he feels Kleasen is incompetent now and was insane at the time of the missionaries' murders. Darley and Fischer were last seen going to Kleasen's trailer home for dinner Oct. 28. Authorities testified at the inquest they found human tissue and hair that matched samples provided by the missionaries' families on a saw at a taxidermist shop near Kleasen's trailer. Kleasen did odd jobs for the shop owner.

Kleasen, a fugitive from a 1971 New York assault charge, was arrested on charges of violating federal firearms regulations on Nov. 5.

Psychiatrists at a federal mental hospital at Springfield, Mo., reported he was incompetent to stand trial.

RICKSHAS REPLACED TAMWORTH, Staffs., England—The Reliant Motor Co. here has won a contract from Jakarta, Indonesia, to help replace the pedal ricksha and will make the chassis and suspension for a small three-wheeled taxi.

Desert To House $500 Million Controversy

ALBUQUERQUE (UPI)—A $500 million submarine communications system hounded out of three states by environmentalists may find a welcome home in the deserts of New Mexico.

The Pentagon recently decided the Sanguine communications system it preferred to set up in Wisconsin could be scaled down to another system called Seafarer and located on federal land in New Mexico or Nevada.

Environmentalists in Wisconsin and two other states once considered for Sanguine—Texas and Michigan—protested the project because it would have involved digging several hundred miles of ditches for buried antennas. They also said the electromagnetic waves from the transmitter might harm plant and animal life.

There also was the problem that the system would surely make the site a strategic wartime target. So far, there have been no protests from New Mexico's environmentalists about Seafarer. Some have never heard of it.

The Central Clearing House of Santa Fe, coordinating body for environmentalists in New Mexico, said it has no objections to Seafarer. The organization said, however, it will wait for a draft environmental impact statement on the project.

New Mexico officials, including congressmen, support the project because it would bring 1,000 construction workers and help the state's sagging economy.

"New Mexico is the logical site for the worldwide submarine communications transmitter," Gov. Jerry Apodaca said.

The White Sands Missile Range provides plenty of open space to lay the cables without causing environmental damage or requiring the government to waste millions of dollars in obtaining land for the project.

Mayor Mike Glover of Alamogordo near White Sands and Holloman Air Force Base sees no problem in locating Seafarer on the desert.

"Why, we do! even have any trees here," Glover laughed. "I have heard no reaction against it and I don't think the local chapter of the New Mexico Citizens for Clean Air and Water is opposed to it."

Congressmen Harold Runnels, whose district covers the area, also has had little reaction to the project. "We've had mail about it and the only reaction so far has been enthusiasm from Alamogordo," Runnels said.

The Navy needs Sanguine, or Seafarer, to communicate with submarines while they are deep beneath the oceans. Current communication equipment, using short wave radio, requires submarines to come close to the surface where they become vulnerable to attack.

Seafarer would use very low frequencies, which penetrate deep underwater. But the antenna needed for the system would have to be 2,000 miles long in the case of the New Mexico project.

The Navy also wants to have many transmitters to serve as a backup in case the communications system is struck in a nuclear attack.

Seafarer would use 2,000-2,000 miles of buried cable for antenna and about a dozen transmitters. Sanguine would have had the same cable but with hundreds of transmitters in hardened capsules buried in the ground.

In Wisconsin, Sanguine would have cost about $530 million and moving the same system to New Mexico would cost about $700 million more. So the Pentagon proposed building the scaled down Seafarer version at a cost of $530 to $550 million.

Thomas C. Reed, Pentagon director of communications, said a four-year test of the system in Wisconsin showed no significant adverse environmental effects. He said the Pentagon proposed New Mexico or Nevada as possible sites for Seafarer because of government owned land and not because of the sparse population and desolate environment.

"I think there is a legitimate environmental concern about antennas and power lines, but I have satisfied myself with the advice of people whose environmental judgment is, I think, valid," Reed said.

The Navy wants the system operational by 1980, which Reed said means construction would have to begin in 1977.
