Connally Says No Cover Up Attempt Because No Bribe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally today emphatically denied that he and former milk lobbyist Jake Jacobson conspired to cover up a bribe of $10,000—money which he also claims he never received.

Completing more than two hours of court testimony in his own defense, Connally disputed testimony by Jacobson, a former attorney for the milk producers who is the government's star witness.

Connally is being tried on charges that while he was a cabinet officer he accepted two $5,000 cash payments in 1971 for his efforts in winning President Richard M. Nixon's approval of increased milk price supports.

Connally then allegedly made two efforts in 1973 to repay the money when prosecutors began to investigate it.

Before allowing his client to submit to cross-examination by Watergate prosecutors, defense lawyer Edward Bennett Williams summed up his case with four final questions.

Q Mr. Connally, the first allegation is that on May 11, 1971, Mr. Jacobson gave you $5,000. Is that true or false?

A That is absolutely false.

Q The second allegation is that on Sept. 24, 1971, Mr. Jacobson gave you another $5,000. Is that true or false?

A That is absolutely false.

Q On Oct. 25, 1971, Mr. Jacobson testified you gave him $10,000 in a cigar box. Is that true or false?

A That's false. I did not see such thing.

Q Mr. Jacobson testified that on Nov. 25, 1973, you gave him $10,000 wrapped in a newspaper. Is that true or false?

A That's absolutely false.

Q That's all the questions I have. Do you have any more questions?

A No, I do not.

Q All right, thank you very much. Do you have any questions for the witness?

A No, I do not.

him $10,000 wrapped in a newspaper. Is that true or false?

A That's absolutely false.

Connally spoke firmly and frequently looked directly at the jury when he gave his answers. He said he met with Jacobson on the two days he allegedly repaid the $10,000.

He said the Oct. 25 meeting was to discuss a bank charter problem involving one of the major clients of Connally's law firm. He said he consulted Jacobson about the problem because he needed some information and Jacobson was a lawyer with extensive bank dealings in Texas.

Connally said the meeting with Jacobson in November was to discuss the grand jury and Watergate committee investigations into the milk money. He said the discussion was devoted entirely to the best method of combating the false charges that he accepted the payoffs.

Did you give him $10,000 wrapped in a newspaper? Williams asked.

I did not, Connally replied.

He then noted that the meeting was witnessed by George Christian, former press secretary to President Lyndon B. Johnson who testified earlier he saw no such transaction.

Connally testified he was not even certain that he met with Jacobson on Sept. 24, 1971, the date he alleged received the second $5,000 bribe. If such a meeting occurred, he said it was in the presence of several other top Treasury officials who were waiting in his office to travel with him to Capitol Hill to testify before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

He said he had a firm recollection of the day because of a subsequent chat he had with committee Chairman William Fulbright, D-Ark.

We had a little discussion of the upcoming Arkansas and University of Texas football game, he said. We made a little wager on it.

In his testimony Monday, Connally similarly denied a dozen times that he ever accepted payoffs from Jacobson.

Did he ever give you any money or anything of value?

He did not, Connally replied.

I never asked him for anything at any time, Connally replied emphatically when Williams asked him if he had requested that Jacobson give him the money.

Pampa's Mobile Homes Cause Zoning Problem

Putting together a mobile home code for Pampa has turned into one of the most complex problems the City Hall staff has had to cope with, Mack Wofford, city manager, said today.

Legislation currently is pending on two city areas proposed for rezoning to permit location of mobile homes.

Citizens for the and against the proposal in one of the areas already have presented their cases to city commissioners at a public hearing.

The area in question is bounded on the north by Wilks, on the east by S. Honart, on the south by McCullough, and on the west by Farley.

The other area in which no objections were filed to rezoning for mobile homes is bounded on the north by Tyng, on the east by Tignor, on the south by Frederic and on the west by Barnes.

When the matter first was considered in a hearing at the Feb. 25 city commission meeting, Mayor R.D. Wilkerson announced rezoning would be studied and consideration would be given to both sides before any final action would be taken.

That's what the City Hall staff has been doing since then, Wofford stated today.

We're trying to come up with a code that will make mobile homes as acceptable as possible, Wofford said.

Working on the problem in addition to the city manager, are City Atty. Bob Gordon, R.B. Cooke, public works director, and Roy Underwood, city building inspector.

The city manager said Cooke and Underwood had drawn up a preliminary draft from which the study is being carried out.

A model mobile home code from the Texas Municipal League and excerpts from mobile home codes now in effect in Wichita Falls, McAllen and one of two other Texas cities also are being used in an effort to come up with a code for Pampa, according to Wofford.

Planning of mobile home areas necessarily must be viewed from many standpoints, the city manager explained. He pointed out legal aspects to be considered under which a city code must comply with state and federal laws, including mobile homes and their location.

We are not trying to legislate mobile homes out of the city, Wofford said. What we are trying to do is reach a middle ground—a reasonable approach to the problem as far as regulations are concerned.

The city manager said city commissioners are aware of the housing problem in Pampa and the need for establishment of mobile home areas.

Wofford said it is possible the staff now studying the problem could have a code draft ready for the consideration of the city council at its regular meeting next Tuesday.

However, he added, there is nothing certain about that. It could take longer before a reasonable approach to the matter is reached.

Former Police Cadet Held in Moyer Murder

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI) — A former police cadet who was discharged from the force for beating a motorist with a flashlight was charged Monday with the murder of Katina Moyer, the 17-year-old daughter of a former legislator and for the kidnaping of a 21-year-old woman.

Assistant Potter County District Attorney John Wheeler said Jimmy Vanderbilt, 22, was held in lieu of $100,000 bond. He said the case will be submitted to the grand jury within the next two weeks.

The unidentified 21-year-old woman was abducted at gunpoint from an Amarillo shopping center March 27. Wheeler said the gunman handcuffed her and made sexual advances.

He stopped and apologized in effect and drove her back to the shopping center, Wheeler said.

The woman did not report the incident immediately, he said.

Jaycees Awarded Monday

Cates Named Man of Year

BY TEX DEWESE
State Rep. Phil Cates of Pampa and Lefors was honored at Monday's membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce when he was presented with the Pampa Jaycees Distinguished Service Award as the city's most outstanding young man of 1974.

The presentation by County Atty. John Warner was one of the highlights of the senior chamber's April luncheon in the Coronado Inn Starlight Room.

Also featured on the luncheon program was a Roy Wickerham Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. representative who presented his unusual science show depicting telephone techniques of the future being tested currently in Bell laboratories.

Wickerham, in his demonstration with telephones, and member of the luncheon audience depicted what he called the newer and better transmission system in store for telephone patrons in the years just ahead.

These included a solid state memory bank to restate connections when a busy signal is registered, with both telephones ringing immediately after the person called hangs up.

Also demonstrated was a relay system that works both ways for a number of telephones to be tuned in on the same call.

In presenting the Jaycees Distinguished Service Award to Representative Cates, County Atty. Warner reviewed his life story from the day of Cates' birth in Pampa's Worley Hospital Jan. 6, 1947, through his high school years in Lefors and college days at West Texas State University in Canyon, where he studied government and economics and on into his political career.

Cates first was elected to the Texas House of Representatives in 1970 at the age of 23. He was re-elected in 1972 and 1974 and currently is serving his third term. He represents the 66th Legislative District which includes Gray and nine other counties.

In the current session of the State Legislature, Cates is vice-chairman of the Business and Industry Committee, member of the House Administration Committee and chairman of the sub-committee on Pollution and Environmental Affairs. He also has been active in various civic activities in Pampa, Gray County and the Texas Panhandle.

Cates, who was accompanied to the luncheon by his wife Nancy, left the luncheon to fly back to Austin where he was scheduled to present the Governor's Program for Disaster Relief to the State Legislature.

Warner read a letter, written by the State Coordinator and Deputy Coordinator of the Division of Disaster Emergency Services to Speaker Bill Claxton of the Texas House of Representatives, concerning their visit with Representative Cates to his home town of Lefors following the March 27 tornado.

The officials wrote in part: "Although his own parents suffered minor injuries in the tornado, Phil was deeply concerned about all the injured and their financial plight as a result of the storm."

I want you to know he brought credit to himself and the Legislature even though he had personal losses. Our liaison officer for the Panhandle was also very impressed with the warm humanity shown by Representative Cates during this tragedy.

Gary Stevers, manager of the Pampa Southwestern Bell office introduced Wickerham, the luncheon speaker.

During his talk Wickerham pointed out that there are 1,700 different telephone companies in the United States and 70 companies in Texas.

We in the United States, he said, have the finest telephone service in the world and in the Bell laboratories we are working all the time to make it still better.

The name of chamber member Mrs. G.M. Walters was called as winner of a $200 Savings Bond. Because she was not present chamber president C.E. Steel said a $250 bond will be offered at the May membership luncheon.

Steel also announced that the speaker at next month's luncheon May 19 will be Dr. William Gramm of Texas A & M University who will discuss the nation's economic outlook.

Legislature Stands Firm On ERA Ratification

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — One factory worker says she's going to have to lift car parts weighing more than 25 pounds with it, but another woman says she can't be a whole person without it. They're both talking about the federal Equal Rights Amendment.

Texas' ratification of the federal ERA stood firm Monday, though despite a one-hour battle of words between pink clad proponents for rescinding and red white and blue clad opponents, Rep. Bill Hilliard, D-Fort Worth, is sponsor of the controversial proposal to rescind Texas' ratification.

Thousands of women flocked to the capitol, demonstrated, chanted and asserted their femininity, some with pink noses, others with the clenched fists. But when the hearing started, they were unusually orderly, following the strict special rules of order set by committee Chairman Rep. Roy Hutchins, R-Dallas.

It is apparent the proponents of the ERA do not know nor can they possibly conceive what it is like to work on an assembly line where automobiles and major appliances are being assembled at the rate of one per minute. General Motors employ Naom McDaniel said. She said she has enough equality to suit her.

They have stated we comply because we have to lift 10 or 15 pounds on the job, let go home and carry a 40-pound child around. How can lifting a child weighing 40 pounds once or twice a day possibly compare to lifting 25 pounds every 30 seconds for over seven hours a day?

Mrs. McDaniel fears ratification of the ERA will let Ohio her home state lift the weight requirement to make her equal with her fellow men workers.

Land Use and Karl Marx

Those environmentalists and other misguided individuals, who are glibly repeating the slogans of socialists who know precisely what they are trying to achieve with respect to land, really ought to read the Communist Manifesto of Karl Marx.

In calling for the control of land by bureaucrats — first at the local level, then at the state and, finally, at the national level via a National Land Use bureaucracy — ostensibly as nature lovers, they are taking the Marxist bait hook, line and sinker.

The Manifesto makes for interesting and instructive reading.

"These measures," said Marx in the preamble to his ten main planks, "will of course be different in different countries."

Nevertheless in the most advanced countries the following will be pretty generally applicable.

Marx went on to list the ten major steps he believed necessary to impose socialism upon economically advanced countries. Steps one, seven, eight and nine are particularly pertinent to the subject of land use and current efforts to turn that function over to governmental bureaucrats. They are, in Marx's own words:

1. Abolition of property in land and application of all rents of land to public purposes.
2. Extension of factories and instruments of production owned by the State, the bringing into cultivation of waste lands, and the improvement of the soil generally in accordance with a common plan. (Note well that phrase, "in accordance with a common plan.")
3. Equal liability of all to labor. Establishment of industrial armies, especially for agriculture.
4. Combination of agriculture with manufacturing industries; gradual abolition of the distinction between town and country, by a more equitable distribution of population over the country.
5. As to the ultimate and Marx had in mind, he left no doubt on that score.
6. Addressing himself to property owners everywhere in the Communist Manifesto, Marx stated his objective pointblank: "In one word, you approach us with intending to do away with your property. Precisely so; that is just what we intend."
7. Fabians — followers of Beatrice and Sidney Webb, John Maynard Keynes and Joyn Kenneth Galbraith — have the same end in mind; the difference being that they boggle at using the more direct and honest words used by Marx. Hence, the indirect tactics ("make haste slowly") used by Fabians as adopted from the Roman general, Maximus Fabius, from whom the Fabian Society takes its name.
8. All of which might be kept profitably in mind when socialist professors, governmental functionaries and editors of the "Liberal" press tell you that land use, dictated by bureaucrats, is for your own good.
9. The theories of Marx wrecked the economy of every country in which, and to the extent, they have been consistently applied.

FRB's New Targets

While it is keeping mum on just which ones it is considering, the Federal Reserve Board has acknowledged that it is eyeing a number of shaky corporations and financial institutions. The reason the Fed feels it has responsibility, some anyway, for their survival.

This handful of 50 or 60 institutions rank as those whose failure would set off a series of bankruptcies in the economy. The Fed is scheming to arrange emergency loans.

If that seems anomalous in an economy whose government will have to borrow from private institutions to pay off its deficit, that is because our economy is riddled with anomalies. The plan is a kind of back-door socialism in which the Fed, hesto presto, will create dollars.

That kind of fiat action, rather than borrowing takes dollars from the people, who in turn will be taxed through inflation. The Treasury Department, meanwhile, will borrow dollars from American financial institutions. If that sounds weird — that's because it is weird. And irrational.

This country has come a long way to the belief that enterprises who cannot manage their affairs sufficiently to make it on their own need to be bailed out by tax subsidies. As Nicholas von Hoffman put in The New York Review of Books, March 6: "We may be forced to accept the extreme libertarian — free market view that banking in which more dollars are lent than are deposited is theft, and outlaw it."

DUNAGIN'S PEOPLE

"OUR RECORDS SHOW YOU'VE FAILED TO REPORT ALL YOUR INCOME, MISS LARUE... WHAT ABOUT THE $20,000 WE PAID YOU TO SPY FOR US?"

United Way Supporters Get a Shock

By ANTHONY HARRIGAN
Supporters of United Way charities were shocked and dismayed recently to learn of the existence of a "Memorandum of Understanding" between national directors of United Way and AFL-CIO officials. In this memorandum the United Way officials promise to discriminate against employees and employers who are not affiliated with labor organizations.

The National Right to Work Committee uncovered this long-hidden memorandum which is dated Nov. 22, 1971. The agreement provides, among other things, that United Way of America will "purchase, whenever available, only union-made goods and services."

This is a truly shocking disclosure, for it indicates that United Way will bow to the demands of monopoly unionists. Reed Lauson, executive vice president of the NRTWC, has commented: "We find it hard to believe that an organization dedicated to the welfare of the general public would discriminate in this way against the three-fourths of the American work force who have chosen not to be union members."

Indeed the United Way memorandum of agreement with the AFL-CIO is a slap in the face of working Americans — the vast majority — who choose not to affiliate with unions. Ironically, these working Americans are called on to make contributions to United Way charities.

The National Right to Work Committee states that the chairman of the United Way board of directors, James R. Kerr, defends the agency's action as a way of keeping the union bosses happy. But Mr. Kerr should realize that appeasement of union chiefs is not the function of United Way. The cost to United Way will be in public confidence.

An aspect of the situation not noted by NRTWC is the secrecy of the agreement. As an organization in charitable works, United Way should not make secret agreements with any power group in the nation. Its dealings should be open.

Nowadays even legislative bodies are being compelled to hold open committee meetings and to put all votes on the record. It should have been clear to the United Way directors that a secret memorandum with the AFL-CIO hierarchy would be viewed as intolerable by a very large section of the American public.

The only way that the directors of United Way can put matters right is to publicly disavow the memorandum of agreement between the organization and the AFL-CIO. The United Way should go on record as indicating that it will not discriminate against goods and services that aren't union-made or related. Only a non-discrimination pledge of this sort will renew the public confidence that has been shaken by disclosure of the secret agreement.

CONSERVATIVE ADVOCATE

How Congress Crippled C.I.A.

By WILLIAM RUSHER
In previous columns I have remarked that the attack on the CIA, by New York "Times" reporter Seymour Hersh and a bevy of liberal congressmen seemed to be failing in its prime objective to generate a wave of national indignation over various alleged misdeeds of American's No. 1 intelligence agency.

That remains true, but may turn out to be irrelevant. For I am sorry to report that, according to information reaching me from high government sources, limitations recently imposed on the CIA by Congress have already all but destroyed the effectiveness of the Agency as an instrument of American foreign policy. And that is very bad news indeed.

Under Section 662 of the Foreign Assistance Act, which was added to this basic law in the closing weeks of 1974 and became effective on December 30th, no funds can be appropriated to the CIA, or expended by it, for operations in foreign countries, save in two cases: (1) if the operations consist solely of acts performed for the purpose of obtaining necessary intelligence, or (2) in the case of all other operations, only if the president finds that each such operation is "important to the national security" of the United States and reports in a timely fashion a description and scope of such operation to the appropriate committees of the Congress, including the Senate

BUESCHER'S KING FEATURES

BATTIN' AROUND

How To Concoct Good Formula For Disaster

By C.R. BATTEN
Pass a strong state Environmental Quality Act, patterned after the National Environmental Protection Act; add one strong Forest Practice Act; mix well with a formal opinion by a Deputy Attorney General who also happens to be an environmental activist; season with one court ruling; appoint a vice president of the Sierra Club as chef; pour generously over a boiling caldron of discontent caused by already severe unemployment and depression — and you will have a full powder keg that needs only one spark to cause it to explode.

This is what has happened in California. I am discussing it here to call attention to a formula for disaster, so that you readers in other states may head off a repetition of the explosive situation that exists now in parts of that unfortunate state.

The economy of the North Coast region of California depends almost entirely on timber, grown on private lands. Last year a new state law regulating timber harvests went into effect. The industry and the loggers knew it would be tough to live with, but under the regulations, they knew what would be required on each operation, and therefore could estimate their costs in advance.

But this January a preliminary court ruling found that logging operations are also subject to the California Environmental Quality Act, which requires that environmental impact reports be prepared for all state-approved projects that might have an impact on the environment.

I won't go into all the legal illogic and semantics, but the court had concluded that timber harvest plans submitted for private lands under the Forest Practice Act are "approved" by the state.

Immediately, the state quit processing timber harvest plans, pending the issuance of regulations for the preparation, submission, public comment and approval of environmental impact reports. There are serious questions regarding the legality of the state's action.

The result is that working men and women have been kept from their jobs because of the resulting delays. Some who had been laid off because of the depression in the housing and lumber industries were unable to go back to work because of the logjam of paperwork. Mills began to run low on logs, and some small mills that depend entirely on the open market for their raw materials ran out of logs, and were forced to close.

The depression along the North Coast is being deepened and prolonged because of direct state intervention with the jobs of the people.

If one is to believe a recent article in the Los Angeles Times and distributed by the Times Syndicate, some of those people are ready to take up arms.

I have heard serious talk of tar and feather parties before, and I have seen the senseless rampaging of students on the college campuses in protest of the Viet Nam War. But never before have I seen hard working, solid citizens talk of an uprising against the tyranny of the State. It is a frightening thing.

The people blame the environmental movement in general and the Sierra Club in particular — because the Sierra Club has been in the forefront of the movement to limit timber harvest on public lands and to regulate them on private lands; and because a vice president of the Sierra Club was appointed Secretary for the California Resources Agency. A former paid executive of the Sierra Club is her chief deputy. It was the Secretary for Resources who issued the orders that have prevented working people from going back to their jobs.

UPTIGHT MOM

DEAR MOM: Leave the boy alone and don't hassle him.

Many children go through such phases. In due time he'll get over it and eat other foods. Try your pediatrician again. By this time, he's finished with the boy with the nickel up his nose.

GETTING HITCHED

DEAR GETTING: Of course she's within her rights. Talk to the person who will perform the ceremony and make your wishes known. Instead of "love, honor and obey" — how about, "love, honor and cherish"?

DEAR ABBY: I am a 50-year-old man who is being married for the first time.

The lady is my age, and she has been married once before. She has told me that she does not want the word "obey" in our marriage ceremony. I think it is just part of the traditional marriage vows, and nobody is expected to "obey" another like a child or slave.

Is she within her rights to insist that the word "obey" be omitted from the ceremony? And if so, will you please send me a few sample marriage ceremonies? Hopefully we can find one we both agree on.

DEAR LOVE: If I were invited to give the invocation at a public meeting attended by various faiths, I would offer a prayer in the name of "God, Our heavenly Father, the Lord," or "The Supreme Being." That should satisfy everyone.

DEAR ABBY: I don't know where to go with the problem so I'm turning to you. My son, an only child, is 4-years-old. He's a normal, healthy boy, but I'm afraid he won't be for long if something isn't done about his eating habits — and soon.

For the last two months he has been living on peanut butter and jelly sandwiches and chocolate chip ice cream. That is all. He refuses to touch milk, orange juice, cereal or vegetables.

I called my pediatrician and he said, "Don't force him to eat anything he doesn't like, and don't worry, he won't starve. And I have to go now because I have a boy in my office who has a nickel up his nose." Then he hung up.

Abby, can a child possibly live on a diet of peanut butter and jelly sandwiches and chocolate chip ice cream? Can you suggest some way to get him to eat something else? Please help me.

Ford Wins Another Chance for Viet Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has won the cooperation of Senate leaders for speedy consideration of emergency assistance for South Vietnam. Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., said Ford could receive "a degree of discretion" to use funds for a large-scale evacuation.

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, Defense Secretary James Schlesinger and Army

Chief of Staff Frederick W. Andropoulos were asked to testify before House and Senate committees on Vietnam aid today.

The President has sent Congress three separate bills — asking for $250 million the humanitarian aid for South Vietnam, $722 million in military aid, and increased legal authority to use U.S. troops to assist in a large evacuation of U.S. citizens, and Vietnamese who have been employed by U.S. nationals.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee asked to meet with Ford and was invited to the White House for a 90-minute talk Monday. Case, the committee's ranking Republican, said afterward that he believed Congress would be willing to appropriate funds for the evacuation.

"I think there is no adamant opposition by any means to the appropriation for reasonable amounts of money for the purposes I've described," Case said.

"I think we would allow a degree of discretion as far as the President goes" and there is not a disposition to be stiff-backed as far as Congress goes or to be over-insistent as far as the President goes about the precise way in which this money would be used in a short period and for the immediate purpose.

Both Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield and Republican leader Hugh Scott agreed that during the next two days the Senate would hold only "pro forma" meetings, while its specialized committees plunged into intensive work on Ford's requests.

House Speaker Carl Albert said he and Mansfield agreed the President's requests would go "through" the committee process rather than be attached as riders to other bills for quick floor votes.

Albert said Ford "will have to give a little" on his request that Congress act by this Saturday. Mansfield did not make clear just how fast the Senate might act.

Mansfield, in a blunt statement to the Senate Democratic Caucus, warned against an evacuation operation becoming a pretext for new U.S. intervention in the Vietnam hostilities.

"Legally, the war cannot and must not be resumed without the express consent of the American people speaking through the Congress and the President jointly," Mansfield said.

Philip C. Habib, assistant secretary of state for East Asian Affairs, told a House immigration subcommittee Monday that the administration hoped to have ready by Wednesday a plan to evacuate what one congressman estimated to be from 150,000 to 400,000 South Vietnamese to the United States.

Global Search Begins For Stolen Rembrandt

BOSTON (UPI) — Customs officials have begun an international search for a half-million dollar Rembrandt painting stolen at gunpoint Monday from the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

Copies of the 1632 oil-on-panel masterpiece were distributed nationally by police networks on the theory it may be aimed overseas by the bandits.

Two outlaws slugged a museum guard, grabbed the painting, fired three random shots, and dashed out.

The duo fled with an accomplice in a gold-colored automobile which sped toward downtown Boston into heavy mid-day traffic.

Museum Director Merrill C. Rueppel was awaiting possible contact from the thieves, all believed in their late 20s, who pulled the signed 23-by-16 inch portrait off an upstairs gallery wall from among the Van Dykes and Rubens.

Rueppel said the portrait of Elizabeth Van Rijn — a young woman in her 20s thought to be Rembrandt's sister — was valued at "well over a half million dollars."

Rueppel was asked about a possible ransom said, "I suppose if that's what they have in mind, they'll let us know."

He said he doubted the thieves were professionals. "I don't think a professional art thief would use violence to steal a painting," he said.

"It would be almost impossible to find any kind of reputable dealer for it," Rueppel said, insisting the painting, the first ever stolen from his museum, was virtually unmarketable because it was so readily identifiable.

The guard beaten, George Mankowski, 60, was struck on the head with the butt of one of the bandits' pistols. Mankowski's wound required six stitches. Two other guards witnessed the hotup. "No one was hit by the three shots fired by the fleeing man."

It was believed the work had been loaned to the museum in 1930 by the family of Elizabeth Paine-Metcalf, descendants of Robert Treat Paine, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. It was one of seven by the Dutch Master on display in Boston.

It shows a blonde young woman wearing drop pearl earrings and pearls in a tuff of hair about her face. The date 1632 and the signature "R. van Rijn" appear over her left shoulder.

World Fighting

Saigon

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist forces have skirted the besieged provincial capital of Xuan Loc to strike at sprawling Bien Hoa Air Base, the keystone in the defense of Saigon.

Military strategists said the infantry and artillery attacks against Bien Hoa, 14 miles northeast of Saigon, may signal the start of a major Communist drive against the strategic air base.

North Vietnamese troops, using long-range 130mm field guns, fired a thunderous, 20-round artillery barrage at the air base Monday evening, wounding 29 persons.

Hours later, Viet Cong commandos slipped into the base along Highway 1 and blew up a giant ammunition depot. The explosion rocked buildings in nearby Saigon but there were no reported casualties.

Bien Hoa, the major air base in South Vietnam, houses three-quarters of the warplanes in Saigon's air force as well as a U.S. Consulate with about two dozen American officials.

Up French-built Highway 1, the most important road in South Vietnam, the Communists kept pressure on war-torn Xuan Loc, 38 miles northeast of Saigon.

The Saigon military command reported killing 74 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops southeast of Xuan Loc Monday in ground and air attacks against Communists

Lebanon

BEIRUT (UPI) — Palestinian guerrillas and right-wing militiamen clashed on the streets of Beirut today in the third day of civil strife paralyzing the Lebanese capital and dividing the government.

Rifle shots rang out in the city during the early morning hours as the government ordered police onto the streets to curb the clashes.

Information Minister Mahmoud Ammar said the government would call in troops if the police fail to halt the bloody strife, which has cost dozens of lives since Sunday.

The new outbreak of fighting during the pre-dawn hours quashed hopes for the extension of a short-lived cease-fire that lasted only four hours Monday.

A guerrilla spokesman reported 45 Palestinians killed and 80 wounded in clashes since Sunday with militia units of the right-wing Phalangist Party.

Unofficial figures from reporters covering the clashes put the toll at 53 dead and 10 wounded. The Lebanese govern-

Cambodia

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist-led insurgents swept across the northwest suburbs of Phnom Penh today, but government defenders stopped the rebel advance at the edge of the Cambodian capital and flew airstrikes from the reopened airport.

The sources said the elite 7th Division, which has defended its headquarters at Doum Ampil, nine miles north of Phnom Penh, for 3 1/2 months, was ordered to a new defense line four miles north of the city.

Before moving to the new position, the division — reportedly the best fighters in the Cambodian army — blew up a large quantity of arms and ammunition believed flown in by American planes from neighboring Thailand over the last several weeks.

The shift brought the insurgents to within four miles north of the city, three miles on the west and one mile on the east.

The southern front is the only one on which rebel-troops are still outside mortar range of the inner city.

The Khmer Rouge guerrillas bombarded the besieged capital with rocket barrages and the Cambodian troops dug in for a rebel assault.

Late reports indicated government warplanes were flying airstrikes from Pochentong Airport, although earlier reports said rebel troops had closed it.

Fredric March Dies of Cancer

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actor Fredric March, 77, who dominated both stage and screen roles for more than half a century and won two Academy Awards, died of cancer Monday.

March was a legitimate theater actor, who first appeared in silent films, became a movie star when talking pictures created a demand for stage-trained voices, and then used his prestige to spend as much time as possible in live theater productions.

Florence Eldridge, March's wife of 47 years and frequent costar, was a his bed side when he died at Mt. Sinai Hospital, after a two-year battle with cancer.

His last appearance was two years ago, in a special film version of "The Iceman Cometh." March won the best actor Oscar in 1932 for his appearance in the title role of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Breaking out of a series of roles as a handsome, suave leading man — and again in 1946 for his characterization of a middle-aged banker returning from World War II in "The Best Years of Our Lives."

In 1952 he won a Golden Globe Award for his portrayal of Willie Loman in "Death of a Salesman."

Born Frederick MacIntyre Bickel in Racine, Wis., March had originally planned on a career as a banker, working in banks in his home town and New York City in the early 1920s.

FIRST BAPTIST WOMEN
The Vada Waldron Bible Study Group met Wednesday, April 9, at 9:30 a. m. in the home of Mrs. O. V. Batson, 1012 W. Buckler.

The chairman, Mrs. H. D. Moran, was in charge of the meeting.

The needs of the people in Lefors were discussed.

Mrs. B. T. Clements reviewed the Rio Grande River Ministry. She and her husband have gone with various others from the church to help in the mission work there.

Mrs. C. E. Powell, 2135 Chestnut, will host the next meeting of the group on May 14.

Members attending were Mmes. Hugh Shotwell, Sam Groom, W. B. Franklin, G. L. Wilson, A. B. Cross, Ed Railsback, L. H. Norman, Powell, Smith, Clements, Moran, and Batson and Miss Waldron.

Mrs. Mike Porter concluded the review of the book, "Rosanna of the Amish," by Joseph Yoder, when the Maxine Ray Round Table group met at the church Wednesday, April 9, at 9:30 a. m.

Mrs. George Smith, chairman, was in charge of the meeting. She asked the group to continue to bring kool-aid and sugar for the April mission action project. She also noted that the May Royal Service study will be on Taiwan.

Members attending were Mmes. L. V. Hopp, Ross Buzzard, Robert's Wood, Porter, Anderson, Smith and Miss Claudia Everly.

The Ruby Ashworth prayer group met at the church Wednesday, April 9, at 10 a. m., with Mrs. Owen Johnson presiding.

Mrs. Johnson gave the "Call to Prayer" and Mrs. S. E. Waters prayed for missionaries having birthdays on this day.

The April mission project is to continue to bring kool-aid and sugar for Bible schools for Indians in Oklahoma this summer.

Mrs. Johnson appointed Mmes. Ed Mackie and J. P. Heath as telephone chairman.

Mrs. Ed Langford presented a story about an incident in the life of Mrs. James A. Ponder, a home missionary in Florida, to demonstrate how much giving through the cooperative program and giving to missions can mean towards the salvation of souls.

The study of the island country of Guadeloupe was introduced by Mrs. Johnson. Guadeloupe is actually two islands joined with a bridge in the French West Indies. All present participated in the study.

Members in attendance were Mmes. Heath, Waters, Grant, Mackie, Langford, Moore, McMinn and Johnson.

This group will meet again May 14 at the church.

Designer's Showcase

EMBROIDERED cotton dresses from Papillon collection have the young look that's a Susan Sheinman trademark.

Architect of Style

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

LIKE FATHER, like daughter... that's the success story of Susan Sheinman, the designer whose firm, Papillon, is a favorite of countless young women.

Susan's father, Nathan Sheinman, owns McMullen, the oldest wholesale dress house (founded in 1901) that's famous for classic styling. Her own firm is a newcomer to the fashion scene. It was founded in 1970.

"The name means butterfly," Susan told me. "The clothes I design are for the small, fine-boned woman who has many interests, including being elegant and well-groomed."

lege and L'Academie Maxim in Paris, she stepped into business with retailing jobs at Bendel's and Saks.

Her dad was the one who convinced Susan to start her own business, advice she's followed successfully.

"Clothes are decoration for life," she says, "and life today is not baroque, not overstuffed. For that reason I don't see design as an art. It is a profession for trained and disciplined architects of style."

Young Designer's Fresh Approach

Susan Sheinman

Her own "architectural" approach has produced the little Papillon shirt dress, the alluring wrapped dress, and the body-hugging shirt knotted around the waist to leave a peek of skin showing above the skirt band. The business end of Papillon is run by yet another Sheinman, Susan's young sister, Harriet, a former junior-executive banker. "We're a great team," says Susan. "Harriet's a great lady with figures and that gives me more time for the creative end. She's an outdoors girl while I'm interested in the arts. This gives us two points of view about what a wardrobe requires."

Fashion has been good to Susan Sheinman. On a buying trip last year, she met David A. Andelman, reporter for the New York Times. They'll celebrate their first wedding anniversary this July.

Growing Up in Fashion
Susan grew up in fashion. Her dad passed his enthrallment with the business on to her at home and on fabric-buying trips around the world. A graduate of Briarcliff Col-

Removing Soot Stains From Fireplace

By GENE GARY
Copley News Service

Q. Our fireplace is of a light sandy beige color. We assume this is the original color, but due to the former owner having burned garbage and other waste products in the fireplace, part of the stone facing is smudged with a dirty sooty color that still remains after several washings and scrubbing with strong detergents. We would like to have your suggestions of what we can do, other than sandblasting the stone, to get a uniform color on the whole face of the fireplace. It measures 40 by 84 inches. The hearth of the same kind of stone is 20 by 84 inches. — G.A.L.

A. Cleaning and etching preparations for brick, stone and other masonry surfaces are available at large hardware stores and masonry supply dealers. Get the kind that contains no muriatic acid and follow label directions carefully. Another suggestion: Use a fine steel wool and a strong detergent or mechanic's hand soap containing sand, followed by ample rinsing with clear water to remove all trace of the cleaner. If the soiling is too deeply imbedded for removal of the stains by this method, rub the stone surface with carborundum block, available at paint and hardware dealers. This method will require plenty of "elbow grease." However, a fresh, smooth surface of stone will be exposed.

should be gone. But for an easier way if you wish to buy a stain-removing product: There are several good products for removing rust stains. One comes in a liquid form. There are several scouring powders for rust removal. Check your supermarkets or houseware departments in department stores.

Q. I have a chimney in a three-story building that seeps moisture into a room by the chimney. The paint chips off. I have had a painter put a sealer on and then paint it. I had the roofer look at it. I had the bricklayer and carpenter look at it. I finally had a metal liner put in from the top of the chimney to the basement. Would you or somebody have a solution for me to get rid of this moisture? — Mrs. Ella C.S.

A. Your problem is probably due to condensation due to the warmer, moist room air coming in contact with the cooler masonry of the chimney. Adequate ventilation and air circulation should be provided in the attic. Louvers in the roof of a size in the proportion of one square foot of louver opening to each 300 square feet of attic floor area. Operating an electric fan to keep the air moving more freely also helps. Another method of solving your problem would be to fur out the chimney wall, using one-inch furring strips, and build a false wall of plasterboard to create a dead air insulation space between the chimney and the wall. Check the attic louvers first, however. As another suggestion, installing a chimney cap might help.

Q. Can you tell me how to get rust stains off a kitchen sink? I have tried several cleansers, but these do not remove the stains. — Mrs. Carl S.

A. Mix one part sodium citrate to six parts of water and six parts of commercial glycerine. Add sufficient whitening powder to form a thick paste. A coat of this paste should be kept on the stain for one week and new paste added when it dries out. Then flush dried-out second layer away and the stain

Q. I have a problem with a neighbor who permits his irrigation water to run excessively, flooding my property. I fear my foundation may be damaged because it is a cement slab on adobe soil. I have spoken to the neighbor repeatedly, but it doesn't seem to do any good. Any advice would be appreciated. — N.F.L.

A. You could begin legal proceedings against your neighbor, if necessary. You are entitled to be reimbursed for any damages your neighbor's actions may cause.

Had a wonderful Senior meeting Thursday. The good rain received didn't keep 49 Seniors away.

Sorry other members couldn't be with us.

Door prizes went to M.A. Jewell and Erma Boyd.

Ruth Sewell fell and broke her other hip. She is a patient in High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo, and is reported doing fair.

Melvina Scarberry has been very ill but wishing she could be with us.

The Emmon's were absent from the meeting, Thursday. Mrs. Frasher was unable to attend, afraid she might fall.

J.C. Mosley celebrated his 85th birthday April 7. His daughters prepared dinner and brought gifts and flowers.

Visiting were Urban Russell and Mr. and Mrs. Evert A. Revard. They brought all seniors a surprise gift of key chains and beautiful miniature mailboxes made by Revard. Thanks to you from all of us.

Home Demonstration Council serving cake and coffee were Mmes. Sidney Jackson, Helen Hogan, June Benton, Bells Golden, Betty King, Helen Hopp, Lazetta Grant, Janice Carter, Imogene Williams, Jaunita Massengale and Margie Boyd.

Altarsans present were Louise Sewell, Geneva Tidwell, Olive Hills, Lillian Snow and Marian Jameson.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I have enjoyed your column of hints for a long time and am sending one of mine.

I have a sister that was injured in an accident. She couldn't use her arms to put a bed jacket on.

So I made her some capes from a regular cape pattern, using drip-dry material.

I trimmed them in lace and used decorator frogs for closing. Ribbon ties would also be pretty.

I left the front seams open from the bottom up about six inches for a free movement of the arms.

These are pretty cover-ups while sitting up and the nurses like them because they are easy to dress their patients in.

Mary Lou

You don't have to have an accident to use this dilly of an idea. For anyone who likes to read in bed this would be nifty.

This is a peach of a hint for our senior citizens and handicapped friends who have a hard time putting on bed jackets. Now, Mary how we love YOU.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Instead of having to clean a brush with each coat of varnish on my decoupage project, I make disposable brushes from a one-inch square of half-inch foam and a pincher-type clothespin.

After each coat of varnish, I throw away the foam, save the clothespin for the next coat. The foam is very inexpensive and I don't have the dread job of cleaning my brushes.

Judy

Dear Heloise:

The rainy season is upon us and so is the mud and grass tracking across on rugs and floors.

My little ones say they wipe their feet on the door mat, but still the mud gets tracked in.

So I took a piece of wood, 13 by 13 inches, and nailed all those old bottle caps, open side up, across and down the wood.

I put this by the front and back door and you will see how much mud it gets rid of.

When the caps fill up with mud, just wash it off with the garden hose.

Norma B.

Dear Heloise: Here's a quickie when making applesauce.

After the apples are soft, add sugar to taste, take off the heat, and proceed by beating apples with an egg beater.

Felicia Wolter

Delicious! The apples become fluffy. Yummy when seasoned with nutmeg or cinnamon.

It's A Man's World But Don't Say It To Candy

By PAUL SIMS
 "She's got her cleats and a brand new ball glove." Jimmy Crouch says his daughter Candy one of 11 girls who tried out for Little League baseball teams last week, is ready for the upcoming season when she'll be scrapping with the fellas.
 Candy, nine years old, is on the Glo-Valve roster but will, if she doesn't make the regular squad Friday, play in the farm league this season. That's still something girls in Pampa have never done so Candy and 10 other girls will be making local history.

 Dad doesn't mind his daughter playing "big-time" baseball and isn't worried about her getting hurt. "We thought it would be fine. She's crazy about it. She's pretty tough, pretty wiry," Crouch said.
 "Girls in Little League" has been an item of much controversy since it became a law last year. Hopefully, it will work in Pampa.

Who knows? The first Henrietta Aaron might come out of this city.
 Professional wrestling will return to Borger's aluminum dome at 8:30 p.m. Friday.
 Five matches including the main event over the top Battle Royal are on the card. Eight wrestlers have put up $100 apiece for the Battle Royal. Area promoter Jerry Kozak has added another $200 making the total purse $1,000, which will go to the last man left in the ring.

 Other matches will be Ricky Robero vs. Don Fargo, Nick Kozak vs. Bob Jagers, Frank Dalton vs. Moose Marowski, and Salvador Dominguez vs. Rodney Piper.
 Ringside tickets will go on sale at the dome box office at 5:30 p.m. Friday for $3.00. General admission is $2.50 and children under 12 will be charged $1.50.

Prieto's Romance, a quarterhorse owned by L.G. Clifton of Pampa, has been awfully consistent at two New Mexico tracks — Sunland Park and Ruidoso Downs — the past two seasons.
 The three-year-old Prieto's has been in the money (first, second or third) 17 times and has won seven races. And he's only been raced 20 times.
 Most recently, Prieto's jockeyed by Gary

Sumpter of El Paso, won Sunland's 870-yard race April 6. Sumpter is one of the top jockeys at Sunland and races at Ruidoso in May when Sunland closes. Prieto's will also begin competition at Ruidoso next month.
 "He's a calm horse," Clifton said. "In this (April 6) race, Gary said that when he came around the turn and hit the straight-away he was running in seventh place.
 The horse caught the pack and won with little trouble.

Boston Whips Houston Rockets

By United Press International
 Houston proved a point in Monday night's National Basketball Association playoffs—to win, you have to be ready.
 Houston handily disposed of the New York Knicks in the quarter-finals but was unable to stop Boston from putting six players in double figures and beating the Rockets, 123-106, Monday night.
 "It took a lot emotionally from us to beat the Knicks," said Houston Coach John Egan. "We beat an experienced ball club and we didn't play too well tonight as a result."
 In the other playoff game, the Golden State Warriors continued the domination they practiced so well during the regular season as they routed the Seattle SuperSonics, 123-96.
 The Rockets tried to run with last year's NBA champions but ended up chasing them due to the Celtics' superior rebounding.
 "We were letting them control the boards," said guard Calvin Murphy. "And when they do that, that gets their break going."
 The Celtics, ahead by five points with 1:50 left in the half, outscored the Rockets, 24-8, through 6:34 of the third period to win the game at Boston Garden. It gave Boston a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven series.

 Butch Beard quarterbacked a non-stop fast break and Rick Barry scored 39 points to crush the Sonics, who finished second to Golden State in the Pacific Division in regular season play.
 The Warriors hit 76.2 per cent of their shots in the second quarter to open an 18-point lead by the end of the third quarter and with Barry on the bench, the lead was increased to 23 points.
 Yet, Warrior Coach Attles was realistic.
 "This was only one game and there are three more to win," said Attles. "And with a big lead, there was nothing to be gained by wearing Rick out. He did his job. It was just another one of his outstanding games. He is such a great player and a big help to all those around him."
 Barry refused to accept the compliments gracefully.
 "It may have looked like a one-man show, but it was far from that," said the Warriors' leading scorer. "We won the game on defense as much as we did on offense."

GIRLS GOLF TEAM — Pampa's High School girls golf team, which finished fifth in the district standings Friday, consisted of (kneeling, from left) Sara Riehart, Sue Cook, Debbie Cook, (standing) Lisa Weigel, Serena Shearer, Amy McMullan, Janet Keagy and Coach Tommy Lindsey. Pampa, despite its fifth-place finish, was competitive throughout the season and, according to Lindsey, played consistent golf and represented Pampa well.

Walton's Remarks Deplored By Team

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Owners of the Portland Trail Blazers deplored Monday they deplore center Bill Walton's recent remarks for the world to join him in "the rejection of the United States government."
 The Portland Trail Blazers deplore Bill Walton's statement, said the news release from the National Basketball Association club, which drafted the former UCLA basketball star last year and signed him to an estimated $2 million contract.
 Walton made the remark last Wednesday in San Francisco when he joined Jack and Micki Scott, who came out of seclusion to deny any wrongdoing or involvement with the Patricia Hearst case.
 Walton used the occasion to lambast the FBI as "the enemy," and he also called on the world to reject the government of the United States in its alleged efforts to restrain the freedom of the people.
 The news release statement by the club said, "The United States is the freest and most democratic nation in the world. We and people throughout the world recognize this."
 The statement read further, "The American system, despite its imperfections, has been and continues to be the haven which oppressed people throughout the world yearn to reach."

"We believe the National Basketball Association is an example of the opportunities available to people under our system of government, and Walton, more than most, has reaped extraordinary benefits from this system."
 The club official who handed out the statement said, "Of course this doesn't say what we are going to do about the situation. That is yet to be decided, if anything."
 Since Walton's statements, callers have flooded media switchboards in Portland, most expressing opposition to Walton's remarks.
 "This city has literally been in an uproar for a week. Club officials have yet to sit down with Walton and discuss the situation and the negative aura it has left here."
 Sports editors and broadcast sports editors generally are calling on the club to get rid of Walton—and at the same time they are editorializing that, probably no other club wants him these days.
 One TV commentator suggested the club trade Walton, a vegetarian, for Euell Gibbons, the naturalist and a six-pack of carrot juice.
 The town generally is in an ugly mood, especially since it forgave Walton all during the season for his injury problems, and off-court antics that suggested he was trying to break his contract.

Borger Outlasts Pampa Harvesters

Robert Tabor knocked in teammate George Bell with a seventh-inning base hit to lead the Borger Bulldogs to a 3-2 upset win over the Pampa Harvesters in a make-up game Monday afternoon in Pampa's Optimist Park.
 The win gives Borger (5-9) a 1-2 district record, while Pampa is 0-3 with the loss. The Harvesters have lost three straight games and are 8-8 for the season.

 The seventh-inning single broke a 2-2 tie. Pampa was unable to get a rally in the bottom of the seventh as Borger pitcher Rodney Poole continued his exceptional pace.
 Poole won his third game of the season against three losses, giving up only three hits while walking four and striking out three. He beat David Edwards who fell to 2-2, yielding six hits, three earned runs and three walks. The Pampa junior struck out four.

 Edwards' earned-run average prior to the loss was 0.95, best in the district.
 Borger went in front 2-0 on

Gary Benton's first-inning home run, his third of the season. The 350-foot shot cleared the right field fence. Pampa came back in the bottom of the first as Mike Fraser doubled and scored on a single by Tyler Drinnon.
 Pampa tied it in the sixth after Fraser walked to open the inning. Drinnon reached on a fielder's choice as Fraser was thrown out on the ground ball. Roy Morris grounded to third and, on Dale Florer's throw to second, both runners were safe as the force attempt was wild.

 Kory Gamblin came in to run for Morris. Pinch-hitter Tommy Washington doubled to right center to score Drinnon. On the play, Pampa coach Ronnie White signalled for Gamblin to round third and score, but the relay throw from second base was on target. Gamblin was thrown out as the Harvesters failed to go ahead.
 Borger went ahead in the top of the seventh.

The Harvesters visit Amarillo Palo Duro (1-1) today. The Dons will likely start Mike Fort (1-6), while White will go with Dennis Edmondson (2-3).
 In other games today, Tascosa (2-0) is at Amarillo High (1-1) and Caprock (2-0) is at Borger.

LA Clubs Reds Behind Marshall; Phils, Bucks, Padres Also Win

UPI Sports Writer
 The Los Angeles Dodgers looked like National League champions for the first time this season—with Jimmy Wynn hitting the long ball and Mike Marshall closing out a victory.
 What made it especially reassuring to Manager Walt Alton and the 45,502 fans who attended the home opener in Los Angeles Monday night was the fact that the Dodgers did it against the Cincinnati Reds. The Reds had opened the season in Cincinnati last week with three straight victories over the Dodgers and started the current four-game set in Los Angeles hoping "to pour it on."
 Instead, the Dodgers took an early lead with the help of homers by Wynn and Ron Cey and then brought in Marshall, their iron-armed Cy Young Award-winning relief pitcher of 1974, to preserve the 5-2 triumph. Marshall ran into a jam in the eighth inning but struck out Johnny Bench and retired Tony Perez with the bases filled and one out, earning his first save of the new season.

"We needed this one," said Wynn, whose early season slugging in 1974 got the Dodgers off to a fast start. "We needed a lift after what happened last week."
 "Whenever you have to face Perez and Bench with the bases loaded," said Marshall, "you have your work cut out for you."
 Philadelphia defeated the New York Mets, 4-3, Chicago beat Pittsburgh, 4-2, and San Diego topped San Francisco, 3-1, in other National League games. Oakland shaded Kansas City, 3-2, in the only American League game.
 The Dodgers took a 2-0 lead in the third inning on doubles by Rick Auerbach, Davey Lopes and Bill Buckner. Cey boosted the lead to 3-0 with his homer in the fifth and Wynn made it 4-0 with his homer in the sixth. Jack Billingham, a 19-game winner in 1974, was tagged for four runs and six hits in 5 2/3 innings and suffered the loss. Doug Rau was the winner.
Phils 4, Mets 3: Mike Schmidt led the ninth inning with his first homer of the season off reliever Jerry Cram giving Philadelphia its triumph over New York, whose bullpen failed for the third straight game. Blanked for seven innings by rookie Randy Tate in his major league debut, the Phillies tied the score at 3-3 in the eighth on a walk to Larry Bowa, a double by Willie Montanez and Greg Luzinski's fourth homer. Reliever Gene Garber picked up the win.

Cubs 4, Pirates 2: Jerry Morales homered in the second inning and triggered a three-run rally with a single in the fourth to lead Chicago past Pittsburgh. Rick Reuschel went seven innings to receive credit for the victory with relief help from Oscar Zamora and Darold Knowles. Bob Moose was the loser.
Padres 3, Giants 1: Sonny Siebert, Dave Tomlin and Bill Greif combined on a six-hitter for San Diego as the Giants played in San Francisco before a crowd of 987—the club's second smallest in history. RBI singles by Bobby Tolan, Dave Winfield and Hector Torres accounted for San Diego's runs, while Gary Matthews homered in the ninth for San Francisco's run.

A's 3, Royals 2: Claudell Washington's ninth-inning run-scoring single turned out to be the winning hit for Oakland as Ken Holtzman won his first game with last-out relief aid from Rollie Fingers. Ted Kubiak drove in the A's first two runs with a double and a single. Harmon Killebrew had two doubles for Kansas City.

New York Names Donovan New GM

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eddie Donovan, one of the masterminds in the development of New York into a world championship team, returns as the Knicks' general manager today and his task is the same as it was when he first held the job in the late 1960s—build a winner.
 The Knicks have fallen from world-championship status to also-rans in three seasons; and the expected announcement of Donovan as general manager at a news conference today is seen as the first major step on the road to recovery for the club.
 Donovan, who takes over from Coach Red Holzman, served as general manager of the Knicks from 1961-70 and during that time built the club into a power which won NBA titles in 1970 and 1972.

 Donovan left New York after the 1970 season to take a job as general manager of the Buffalo Braves and was responsible for building that club into a contender through the acquisition and drafting of players such as Jack Marin, Jim McMillian, Bob McAdoo, Ernie DiGregorio and Randy Smith.
 His contract with Buffalo expired April 1.

Canadian Growing Pains Not Severe

Oil and gas industries have ignited a modern-day boom...

INSTANT ACCOMODATIONS — There are about 300 mobile homes in the Canadian school district and more just outside it. Trailer parks are in various stages preparing for even more.

The town is growing so rapidly that new home construction cannot keep pace.

By THOM MARSHALL
Recession and hard times may be screaming at the rest of the country, but folks in Canadian aren't hearing even a whisper.

These two little banks here have got $25 million in them," said Malouf Abraham, who was born in the town and is a former state representative from the area (1967-71).

The oil and gas industries have ignited a modern-day boom and the town is reacting.

A $3 million plus addition to the Canadian schools is well underway and a $15 million county hospital is nearing completion.

Joe R. Cullender, superintendent of schools said that the new high school, football stadium and two additions to the elementary school will cost about $3,414,000 by the time they're completed.

Growth in Canadian from about 2,500 people five years ago, to between 4,000 and 5,000 people now — has increased enrollment in the district's schools to about 890, kindergarten through high school.

There has been a steady increase since I came here 16 or 17 years ago," Cullender said. "One year we dropped down, but the next year we came back.

And last year 75 new students were added to the rolls.

The superintendent estimates that the current projects "should take care of the growth real good for the next 10 years, at which time we'll have this bond issue paid off."

The new stadium is being built in a natural bowl and will seat 2,000 spectators on the home side and 1,000 on the visitors' side.

And the slopes will hold as many others as want to watch a game," Cullender added.

The new 27-bed hospital was designed, to a large extent, by Tony Weatherly, hospital administrator. It is constructed so that expansion to 50 beds can easily be accommodated.

"If Canadian keeps growing we'll need that expansion in 8 to 10 years," Weatherly said.

The town also has a newly-finished county medical clinic building that cost about $100,000.

It's a duplex facility set up for two or more physicians," Weatherly said. "Each side has a laboratory, X-ray room, physician's office, reception area, insurance office and three examining rooms."

The building was completely designed by Weatherly and has more than 4,000 square feet of floor space. Canadian hopes the facility will attract two more badly-needed doctors.

If Weatherly and others in Canadian do manage to find physicians, they may have a problem finding housing for them. There haven't been enough houses in Canadian to accommodate everyone who wants to move there and building hasn't kept up with the demand.

"We have a housing problem," said John Wilkinson, Chamber of Commerce manager and school and city tax assessor.

Mobile homes have helped some. "There were about 170 mobile homes in the school district last year and we have about 300 now," Wilkinson said. "Which created another problem. I sometimes had a hard time finding a place for a new teacher to park a trailer," Cullender said.

New mobile home parks, completed or nearing completion, around the city are alleviating the problem somewhat.

But many of the people working in the gas and oil fields outside of Canadian are commuting from Higgins, Glazier, Miami, Wheeler, Pampa and Spearman.

While building in the town hasn't kept pace with growth, neither has it been standing still.

Wilkinson said that last year's building permits represented about $400,000 to $500,000 spent on new homes, new additions to homes, and a few businesses.

Canadian's boom is directly attributed to the great abundance of oil and gas under the surrounding farm and ranch lands.

"The deep gas wells in the south part of Hemphill County are among the best in the world," said Ben Ezzell, editor of Canadian's weekly newspaper, the Record.

He explained that oil generally is in the north part of the county and most of the gas comes from south of the Canadian River.

Ezzell indicated that Canadian's oil and gas industry-related growth is not so much a sudden boom as it is a steady rumble.

"It's been a very healthy thing spread over about five years," he said, with "very substantial growth in town in the past three years. A boom town thing can wreck a lot of businesses," but this is major company producers putting a lot of money and time into drilling wells. They have crews that are pretty permanent, not the same kind of thing that was associated with the old booms.

"Abraham is in the oil and gas business, both leasing and drilling. They're drilling shallower wells now," he said. "Later they'll come back and drill deeper wells."

He said that work has been slowed some by a shortage of rigs and pipes.

In Ezzell's newspaper column, "Spur of the Moment," he noted that "More than two hundred wells have been drilled in this 909-square mile county in the last two years (106 in 1973 and 99 last year) and there's still a lot of room to dig in."

There were 73 development wells in the county last year, seven of them for oil production and 57 for gas, with nine dry holes, there were 19 wildcats, five of them completed as oil wells, six as gas wells and eight dry holes.

As a result of all the gas being released in the county, "Kerr-McGee has a plant set to go in service about May 1," Abraham said. "It is about a $5 million project."

The plant is located about 11 miles south of Canadian on Highway 83. It will have a processing capability of about 45 million cubic feet a day, Abraham said.

Another plant, the Pioneer Natural Gas Plant on the Arrington Ranch in Hemphill County, currently is processing about 20 million cubic feet a day and is increasing capacity to about 40 million, Abraham added.

He also said that there soon may be an even bigger plant constructed north of Canadian.

Abraham explained why the town's growth is the lasting kind rather than the variety experienced by oil boom towns of years ago.

"People really like it here. A lot of places oil field people aren't part of the community but everyone here appreciates what they're doing for the community."

Abraham said that new businesses have come into Canadian.

"Many young people who grew up here are coming back and going into business," he said. "There's no unemployment here."

And, according to Abraham, the merchants are treating customers in a different manner than was associated with old booms.

"There's a minimum of gouging going on in the retail stores," he said.

Canadian's Chamber of Commerce, working for a well-rounded economy for the town by attracting industry.

"The chamber leased an industrial site from the county and leases lots now to six industries with the prospect for two others," said Wilkinson.

The industrial park is located on the road to Canadian's airport, which Wilkinson said "has been fixed up over the past couple of years."

George Arrington, mayor-elect, campaigned for write-in votes in the recent city election after no one filed to run for the position. He received 250 of the 272 votes cast for the office.

"I think the city has handled the growth situation very well so far," he said. "Of course, there are always things to be done—cleanup operations, paving, lighting."

The mayor is an oil and gas lease broker and has ranching interests.

"I don't want the city to grow for the sake of growth," he said. "I'd like the city to do a good job with the population we have now. I think we need to look at things from a positive standpoint—in this community and in the rest of the world. We have approached our oil business in a positive manner and that's the way I'm going to look at the various issues the council has to make decisions on."

One issue that may require the attention of the city council is that of law enforcement.

In January 1973, the Canadian City Police Department and the Hemphill County Sheriff's Department were consolidated. Since that time seven deputies have resigned.

Sheriff Eldon Corley now faces a misdemeanor indictment for public drunkenness and a civil action seeking his removal from office on the basis of allegations by a former dispatcher that he was publicly intoxicated at least 13 specific times and places between May 6, 1973, and July 5, 1974.

The misdemeanor charge is pending in justice of the peace court and the civil suit is scheduled for trial in mid-September in 31st District Court. In addition to the sheriff, the department currently consists of two deputies with another deputy in training at Amarillo. The trainee is available on weekends and will return to full-time duty in about two weeks.

The sheriff would not comment on the situation.

Arrington said, "I feel that we do have adequate law enforcement in the county and in the city."

NEW COUNTY HOSPITAL — Tony Weatherly, hospital administrator, looks at the $1.5 million Hemphill County Hospital well under way in Canadian. The 27-bed hospital is designed so that it can easily be expanded to 50 beds.

He Markets Ideas For Energy World

DALLAS (UPI) — Leonard Keller subscribes to the old-fashioned way of getting things done—methods and motives of Thomas Edison, Henry Ford and Alexander Graham Bell.

His is the desire to invent and perfect, with money—and probably lots of it—in those areas where American expertise is said to have failed: cars, engines, fuel, power, energy.

He is a native Missourian with engineering experience for several major companies and is now the force behind the Keller Corp. His firm markets ideas, not the hardware which they produce.

"We have a lot of so-called experts going around in this country saying technology is dead—along with God," Keller said. "Well, we have got to let people know, and I mean all the people—the people who need it—that technology is not dead in the United States. It is very much alive."

The current star of the Keller Corp. is the KROV, the "Keller Roto-Oscillating Vane" steam engine, a power source which he said out-performs the internal combustion engine in all categories and cuts the pollution problem substantially.

Operating in a car, Keller said the KROV will run on about any liquid fuel, reach full efficiency in 30 seconds, eliminate bulky ignition systems, spark plugs, points, timing, transmissions, differentials, and do so with 50 per cent more fuel economy and in cars of lower cost, lighter weight and smaller volume.

Patents have been granted in Belgium, Australia and France and are expected to be granted soon in Germany and Brazil. Applications have been filed in 13 other countries.

"We felt we had to patent everywhere we felt the engine had some potential and where there was a valid patent system," Keller said.

Keller tried hard to sell his engine to American car makers in Detroit, but they would not buy. Keller said he was told by U.S. automakers they would produce his engine under two circumstances—if the public demanded it or imports took such a large share of the market that the internal combustion engine could no longer compete.

"That bunch of bandits," said Keller, who added that a prototype automobile using the KROV is under development in Asia.

New Conspiracy Rumors: CIA, FBI, JFK Murder

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A growing web of unrelated disclosures, events and allegations could cause a reopening of the investigation into John F. Kennedy's assassination.

There's a spreading stain of suspicion that Kennedy might have been the victim of a plot involving the Central Intelligence Agency. It has aroused President Ford's curiosity and stirred new excitement among advocates of the conspiracy theory.

"If I were a betting man," says trial lawyer Bernard J. Fensterwald, "I'd bet the full story will be known within a year."

"A year? I'm surprised at Fensterwald," said Dr. Richard

Popkin, a philosophy professor at Washington University in St. Louis. "I'd make it six months."

Both men believe the new findings will provoke the first serious re-examination of the Warren Commission's conclusion that Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone as Kennedy's assassin in Dallas.

President Ford, who was a commission member, also apparently noticed the resurgence of interest in the circumstances of Kennedy's death, particularly when the CIA was mentioned.

Some time in March, the White House said, Ford looked up the precise language of the Warren Commission's findings which he had helped write. So, when he got a surprise question about the matter April 3 at his San Diego, Calif., news conference, Ford was prepared.

He defended the commission's "very carefully drafted" statement that "we had found no evidence of a conspiracy, foreign or domestic," but he did not dismiss the possibility.

"So far, I have seen no evidence that would dispute the conclusions to which we came," he said.

But "if the facts seem to justify it," Ford said, the Rockefeller commission and the special House and Senate committees investigating CIA domestic activities might investigate.

Fensterwald, a dapper little Tennessee whose clients have included Watergate burglar James W. McCord Jr. and James Earl Ray, said he believes something big is about to break in the Kennedy case.

"I have the same feeling I did about Watergate, the feeling the game was up. There's just too much evidence around that the Warren report is not correct, that the CIA and the FBI both know a huge amount they didn't tell the Warren Commission," said Fensterwald, who now heads the Committee to Investigate Assassinations.

But neither the Rockefeller commission nor Congress seems to share his sense of urgency.

The executive director of the Rockefeller commission, David Bellin, is a former Warren Commission counsel and staunch defender of the single-assassin argument. A spokesman said: "No evidence has been submitted to indicate any CIA involvement."

The Senate committee staff has acknowledged it will study the question, but only as a peripheral CIA issue.

Fensterwald believes the trigger for what Popkin called the "amazingly rapid build-up" of interest in the Kennedy case was disclosure of CIA involvement in assassination plots against several foreign heads of state, including Cuba's Fidel Castro.

Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., who has called for a new inquiry, says his suspicions were aroused by Watergate revelations of CIA activities and the Bay of Pigs.

Among other recent developments:

—Publication of the transcript of a previously secret Warren Commission meeting Jan. 27, 1964, obtained by freelance investigator Harold Weisberg under Freedom of Information laws, in which former CIA Director Allen Dulles said it probably could never be determined independently whether Oswald was a CIA or FBI employe, and that even if he were both agencies would deny it.

—Publication of two previously classified CIA photographs, taken in Mexico City six weeks before the assassination, of a "mystery man" who might have been trying to impersonate Oswald, who was trying to obtain visas from the Soviet and Cuban embassies about that time. (Fensterwald said two friends in intelligence separately identified the mystery man as a "mechanic," the CIA name for a hired killer.)

Mainly About Skellytown

Mr. and Mrs. W.H. (Bill) Price and daughter Billie had as a weekend guest their granddaughter, Miss Cynthia Price daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Price of Odessa. Cynthia also is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.L. Burba of Pampa. She is a student at West Texas State University in Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Allen were surprised Sunday after evening church services with a house warming by members of the First Baptist Church and other friends. They were presented with a money tree. About 80 persons attended the party.

Mrs. Kelly (Vickie) Brown and two daughters of Midland are spending the week with her mother Mrs. Gene (Neoma) Pace and Mr. Pace and sister Nancy.

The Sunday School Youth Department of the First Baptist Church met Monday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kaiser for a charcoal weiner roast. Hosting the supper were the Kaisers, Mr. and Mrs. M.L. Giesler, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Gortmaker and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Chaney. Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 16
Your birthday today: Assemble whatever you can for a strong base of operations early this year. Avoid overexpansion or taking on too diverse a program. Prepare to ride out several months of stiffer competition and slower progress. Relationships continue to go well if you invest time and attention. Today's natives have everlasting curiosity and the urge to bring newly discovered mysteries into play with previously proven facts.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Get as much done this morning as you can to allow for distraction, confusing circumstances during the afternoon and evening. Let others know where you stand on current questions.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: A search in odd corners yields interesting information. Confidential contacts are favored. A second opinion on any personal problem sheds new light and is encouraging.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Convert your plans into workable programs today. Finalize negotiations. Sell off any surplus property or belongings. Clear space for new enterprises.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Don't get involved in technicalities in today's dealings—just be glad things go as well as they do. Watch for a chance to put in your personal touch.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: People seem to plague you whenever they want something that is difficult to get. Set a good example in your special field. Experiments go particularly well.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Practice the art of letting well enough alone. Almost any change made now will have to be reviewed or adjusted later. Accept dull routine as a mild blessing in disguise.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Allow everyone plenty of time and space to rearrange their thoughts and projects. Don't take any of these preliminaries too seriously; you will see the details soon enough.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: What appears to be a golden opportunity is actually a clever sales pitch or fantasy. Look beneath the surface to see yourself and others in truer light.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Your sense of humor saves the day. Youngsters stir excitement and upset routines. You learn many things that won't concern you later. You have a chance to restore order this evening.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Concentrate on matters that require no major choices or selections. You've left too much to guesswork on long-range projects; give yourself extra leeway for changes.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Presume an attitude of passivity to gain time and quiet in which to reconsider. There's reason to reject much of today's offerings and no chance of great windfalls or magic.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Spend your time and energy investigating facts and figures rather than closing deals or making promises. You'll have time enough to sum up this evening.

Kyle's Fine Shoes

J.C. Roberts

This week is the nineteenth anniversary for Kyle's Fine Shoes, 109 N. Cuyler. J.C. Roberts, owner, has been in shoes. "all my life."

Roberts was with two stores in Amarillo, looking for a location in Pampa. "because we heard it would be such a good place."

"Business has been growing in Pampa since I've been here. We have the nicest homes and the friendliest people you'll find anywhere," said Roberts.

Roberts commented on all that Pampa has going for it. He said the shopping center added to the out of town business and contributed to healthy competition.

"If we did away with the shopping center we would be cutting our own throats," he said. He also said that the big businesses in our area are the "number one thing going for Pampa. Cabot, Celanese, Marie Foundations, Packerland, and others keep this town going."

"Pampa has been good to me," he added. "Last year is the best year I ever had. In face of what they call a recession Pampa is not doing bad at all."
