Mrs. Clemens' Pushing Bluebonnets in Pampa

Mr. and Mrs. B.T. Clemens are pushing bluebonnets. After all, bluebonnets are the state flower and they are pretty. And the Clemens think that they are not that hard to grow in Pampa. They would like to see them in every yard in town. Clemens, who his wife says has the green thumb in the family, started with a little clump of bluebonnets transported from Graham, Tex., in 1967. "They were blooming at the time and we dug up a cardboard box full," Mrs. Clemens said. She said the secret is to shake the seeds on the ground in August without covering them with earth. "They come up in the fall and stay there all winter. They just lay down on the ground like wheat does," according to Mrs. Clemens. She said the bluebonnets bloom as soon as the weather warms in the spring. "The Clemens' bluebonnets now cover their front yard at 906 Christine and that's the way they want them."

Ford Again Appeals for Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford today appealed to the House to take final action on a bill to provide $327 million in emergency funds for South Vietnamese refugees.

House Speaker Carl Albert said the vote was expected late in the morning.

In a letter to Albert, Ford also gave assurances that no more American soldiers would be sent back to Vietnam. "The Congress may be assured that I do not intend to send the armed forces of the United States back into Vietnamese territory," Ford said.

The President estimated the administration would require more than $400 million to care for the refugees.

Ford said the bill, which was approved by the Senate last week but was not acted on by the House because of the rapid change in South Vietnam this week, was "the most expeditious method of obtaining funds which are now desperately needed for the care and transportation of homeless refugees."

Ford estimated that 70,000 evacuees are now located on various safe haven islands or on American or charter vessels. He said they will have to be cared for.

Rep. Thomas Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House International Relations Committee, strongly backed consideration of the bill, saying, "We picked all these people up. What are we going to do? Throw them back into the water?"

Albert, talking to newsmen, said that one hour of debate would be allotted on the bill which emerged from a House-Senate conference last Friday afternoon.

On Wednesday, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted unanimously to approve $50 million in relief for war victims in Cambodia. The money would be funneled through international agencies.

Sewage Plant Gets Approval

By TEX DEWESE

Final approval of plans and specifications for Pampa's proposed $15 million sewage treatment plant has been received from the Texas Water Quality Board.

Next step in the go-ahead on the project will be authority from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for the city to advertise for construction bids.

That was the news contained in a letter from the TWQB, received Tuesday afternoon and announced by City Manager Mack Wofford at Tuesday night's closed session of the Pampa City Commission.

The notification of final approval was sent of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper Inc. project engineers, who forwarded a copy of the letter to Pampa city officials.

City Manager Wofford read the letter at the meeting as part of his original plan to bring city commissioners up to date on the sewage plant schedule.

The letter from the TWQB stated in part:

"We have completed our review of the plans and specifications and find them to be in general conformance with current sanitary engineering design practices, and we are herewith approving them. Two sets of the material are being forwarded to the Environmental Protection Agency."

"Although we have approved the plans and specifications for these wastewater treatment facilities, it should be clearly understood by all parties concerned that these facilities, when in operation, must produce the quality of effluent specified by the city's waste control order. This letter is addressed to the aspect of adequate collection and treatment of wastewater before discharge to the waters of the State of Texas and should not be construed as preempting any approvals that may be required by other federal, state, and local governmental agencies."

City Manager Wofford said he plans to recommend at the next regular meeting of the city commission May 13 that a fiscal agent and bond attorney be employed for the project.

Pampa still is awaiting word from the EPA on final approval of its application for a 75 per cent federal aid grant on the plant construction cost.

It has been estimated Pampa's share of the total project cost could run as high as $390,000.

City Manager Wofford said the city has approximately $90,000 to $100,000 available in unused sewage bond money that hopefully can be transferred for use on the city's share of the treatment plant project cost.

If this is approved, he stated, Pampa residents will be asked to vote on an estimated $350,000 bond issue to finance the city's share of the project cost.

Commissioners Investigate Pampa's Mobile Home Code

Pampa city commissioners spent an hour and a half of a three-hour called session Tuesday night delving into the many facets of a proposed municipal code governing mobile homes.

At the conclusion of discussion,

City Manager Mack Wofford is instructed to add to the proposed draft a summary of all city ordinances that would pertain to it and the city building code.

In effect, the proposed ordinance expected to come up for action at the regular May 13 meeting of the council, provides the following regulations:

No mobile home shall be occupied for living quarters within the Pampa city limits unless the wheels are removed and same is securely set on a firm foundation, properly plumbed and in compliance with all city ordinances pertaining to residences as to construction, location on lot with proper permits and inspections as provided by all city ordinances for conventional built homes, and be constructed and tied down as required by State Law.

The proposed draft also sets up a maximum penalty of a $200 fine on each offense for non-compliance.

City Manager Wofford said it is the city's intention to make all existing ordinances covering conventional home building a part of the code regulating mobile homes.

He added that a revamped draft of the proposed code ordinance will be introduced for first reading and further discussion at the 9:30 a.m. meeting of the city commission Tuesday, May 13.

Students, Cong Join Victory Parade

United Press International — Tanks and trucks loaded with North Vietnamese and Viet Cong infantrymen rumbled through the streets of Saigon today in a combination May Day and victory parade joined by nearly 3,000 students and youths. Japanese news dispatches reported.

Broadcasts by the Viet Cong announced a "total victory" today in the Mekong Delta, the last pocket of South Vietnamese resistance. But the Japanese Kyodo news service said confusion remained in the predominantly Chinese Cholon sector of Saigon and that the military takeover of the area was delayed.

A Saigon radio broadcast monitored in Bangkok called on the people to avoid such decadent and American-like activities as brothels, dance halls and opium dens. Increasingly anti-American broadcasts by Radio Hanoi demanded that the U.S. 7th Fleet halt what it called the "forcible" evacuation of Vietnamese being rescued from a flotilla of small boats in the South China Sea.

UPI has five newsmen in Saigon—Alan Dawson, Leon Daniel, Paul Vogle, Chad Huntley and photographer Hugh Van Es. They have been unable to file since communications were halted shortly before 8 a.m. EDT Wednesday. Japanese newsmen in Saigon were able to file dispatches through Japanese Embassy communication facilities. The Japanese newsmen reported traffic in Saigon was heavy because curfew had been lifted in advance of the May Day celebrations and order was restored in the city. They said open air stalls and some shops were reopened but the city was short of gasoline supplies.

Their reports said a great number of government employees returned to their posts in accordance with instructions by the military command.

Identification cards issued by the defunct Saigon government were still good and many women employees were able to enter office buildings after showing them to troop guards, the reports said.

Hanoi referred to the Pentagon's announcement Wednesday that 18,000 fleeing South Vietnamese have been picked up by a flotilla of U.S. Navy ships from sampans, rafts and other boats in the past few days in addition to the 6,000 Vietnamese and third nation nationals and 1,000 Americans evacuated by helicopter from Saigon.

A statement by the North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry accused the United States of the "forcible" evacuation of Vietnamese and called it interference in Vietnam's internal affairs. It demanded the U.S. 7th fleet leave Vietnamese waters.

Saigon radio also broadcast a series of military communiques ordering collection of all arms and explosives within seven days under threat of appropriate punishment and confiscation of banks, farms and businesses.

Japanese news reports said

Saigon had returned to normal and that there were no reports of interference with foreigners.

Peking radio said a seven-point order had been issued to the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, including one to protect the lives and property of the people and foreign residents and not to lay hands even on a needle or thread.

The Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government, in a policy statement issued Wednesday in Paris, promised that foreigners and their property would be protected and that Vietnam would be willing to receive aid from any country provided there were no political strings attached.

Some of the aid already was en route. Two Royal Australian Air Force Hercules C130 transports with United Nations insignia left Penang, Malaysia, today for Bangkok to start a U.N. food airlift to Saigon. Da Nang, Hanoi and Laos. Many West European nations and Japan also promised aid.

Washington reports said Congress was considering sending millions of dollars in relief to war victims in Communist controlled South Vietnam and Cambodia.

600 Area Lions Expected Today

The first of about 600 area Lions expected to be in Pampa for the District 2-T1 Convention registered today at the Coronado Inn and Pampa Country Club.

The convention schedule of activities will end with the conclusion of the Governor's Ball set to begin at 9 p.m. Saturday in the Heritage Room of M.K. Brown Auditorium.

Floyd Sackett, a past district governor, is serving as convention chairman. He said that about 135 Lions were registered to compete in a golf tournament to today at Pampa Country Club.

The 28 northernmost Panhandle Texas counties make up District 2-T1. About 73 Lions Clubs are in the district and most, if not all of them, will be represented in Pampa.

One of many convention highlights will be the Lions Club Queen Contest set for 3 p.m. Saturday in M.K. Brown Auditorium. Forty-two girls from throughout the district will be competing for the queen's crown. The reigning queen is Joy Maxwell from Borger and Pampa Noon Lions Club Sweetheart, Renee Penn, is the hostess sweetheart.

Following the golf tournament today there will be a 7 p.m. Duffy's Tavern Party in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn with an informal dance set to begin at 9 p.m.

Registration will continue Friday beginning at 8 a.m. at the Coronado Inn. The first general session will be called to order at 9:30 p.m. Lunch at 12:15 will be sponsored by Dalhart Lions.

The second general session will begin at 2:15 p.m. and will be followed with a past district governors meeting at 4 p.m.

Friday evening will feature a Hawaiian Banquet sponsored by the Borger Noon Lions at 7:30 p.m. and at 9 p.m. another dance will begin.

County Commissioners Authorize Local Audit

By ANNA BURCHELL
The Gray County Commissioners Court today authorized an independent audit of county offices for 1973-74 "to determine if the money collected from each county official is getting into the county treasurer."

The commissioners authorized Jerry David, Certified Public Accountant, Pampa, to make the audit beginning July 1 at a fee not to exceed $3,000.

County Judge Don Cain told the commissioners that "we need people to know that we are tending to business. We have no suspicion that such is going on."

He referred to the county clerk's office which handled $70,000 last year.

"We just want to make sure all is accounted for," the judge said, assuring the commissioners that there are no grounds for suspicion.

"We also want the taxpayers to know that the justice of peace officials have accounted 'all they collected.' The audit will not include the hospital funds since Medicare and Medicaid require an audit."

In other action, the court authorized Roy Clark, Precinct 1 Commissioner, to purchase a winch truck to replace that one destroyed in the Lefors tornado. Clark said he found a 1968 Chevrolet winch truck at Washburn Truck and Equipment Salvage in Amarillo for $5,700. The purchase will allow a trade-in of $1,200 for another "old" truck that precinct has.

Commissioners authorized the county judge to execute a right of way easement from the county to the state including seven parcels of land covering Farm To Market Road 1432, 14 miles east on State 152 extending south toward Lefors.

Gray County also will pay $1200 per mile for fencing, however officials estimated there will be no more than one mile involved.

Judge Cain reported to the commissioners that he had talked with State Rep. Phil Cates of Pampa and Sen. Max Sherman of Amarillo in regard to the court's reservations regarding House Bill 1463 now pending which calls for a state-controlled tax assessor in Austin with a director who could set "guidelines" for the local tax assessor collector.

Gray County now has $95 million in assessed property values. This figure does not include the assessments from other taxing entities.

Committee Delays Action On School Finance Bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The meeting of a House committee to consider revamping the manner in which Texas finances its public schools was delayed until today presumably to convince committee members to change their minds on how to vote on the proposal.

The meeting was originally scheduled for Wednesday night, but Education Committee Chairman Tom Massey, D-San Angelo, unexpectedly postponed it until today.

"There may be some real arm twisting tonight," Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, said Wednesday when informed about the delay.

Kubiak has been in the forefront of the legislators seeking school finance reform, but he opposes the bill passed Tuesday night by the Education panel's subcommittee.

Kubiak said he will ask the committee to substitute his proposal for the subcommittee's legislation. Kubiak said his plan equalizes school spending while not increasing local school taxes. He has not said how much his plan costs.

The legislation approved by the subcommittee contains a $1,400 a year pay raise for starting teachers.

Weather

Fair to partly cloudy is forecast for today and Friday with temperatures in the upper 70s on Friday. The low tonight will be in the 40s.

Club attempts to get out of a rough situation. The District 2-T1 Convention of Lions International began early today in Pampa with a golf tournament at Pampa Country Club.

A film "Janie's Janie" will be shown.

Mrs. Dow said that all representatives of each church will meet at 10:30 a.m. Monday at the First Methodist Church, 201 E. Foster, for a council meeting.

Storms Thump Eastern Texas

By United Press International

The trailing edge of a storm system moving eastward out of Texas lashed the Houston area Wednesday with a tornado, high winds, rain and hail. The National Weather Service said more thundershowers were expected today in the eastern half of the state.

The tornado ripped through Houston's Farmers-Market and a business college. No serious injuries were reported.

The heavy rain and hail ranged across much of south Texas before the storm system finally moved into Louisiana at midday Wednesday.

The same severe weather created tornadoes which killed three persons Tuesday near Yancey, 50 miles southwest of San Antonio.

Other twisters caused more injuries and extensive damage at Calvert, DeKalb, Vidor, Schulenburg, Cameron, Mineola and Kirbyville Tuesday night.

The National Weather Service said skies would be clearing from the west today but showers and thundershowers were again expected over the eastern half of Texas.

Several funnel clouds were seen in Houston Wednesday but only one tornado touched down. "We just had a tornado come blasting through tearing down trees and tearing up buildings," said Don Raymond of the farmers' market. "We lost three or four portable buildings and an office building was torn away from the produce market. The produce market is all a shambles."

He said there were a few cuts and scratches but no major injuries.

Cliff Carlin of Southwestern Business College said the twister pulled a sign off his building, ripped up a corner of the building and tore down a cooling tower, injuring no one.

"One of the students had a truck parked across the street in a parking lot and it actually pushed it out in the street," he said.

High winds also hit the north side of Houston breaking windows in Sammons Elementary School after a brief torrential downpour occurred at noon. Four funnel clouds were spotted in the city and hail fell downtown.

Winds also blew steel off the top of a building near a westside shopping center and a number of utility poles were toppled.

Windy thunderstorms also hit Austin during late morning

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Senators voted 25-5 Wednesday for a bill to provide state grants of $50,000 to $250,000 a year to educational television stations.

The bill by Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas, also calls for development grants of up to $100,000 to help groups trying to start educational stations.

Mauzy agreed to delay final action on his Texas Public Broadcasting Act until the Senate considers a state appropriations bill.

The Dallas senator said the program could cost the state $1.7 million a year if the seven public education stations in Texas all apply and qualify for the maximum grant.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — The Drug Enforcement Administration said Wednesday it already has broken its two-day-old record for the largest heroin seizure in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

This time agents confiscated six pounds and eight ounces of heroin, surpassing by four ounces the record they established Monday.

U.S. Magistrate William Mallet set $500,000 bonds each on Thomas Mins, 21, Los Angeles, Calif., and Dewey Butler, 44, Tampa, Fla., on heroin possession charges.

Agents said one of the men was arrested while trying to leave the Valley and the other was caught at a Brownsville motel where he allegedly was cutting the heroin worth $4 million.

WELLS, Tex. (UPI) — A body burned beyond recognition was found Wednesday in south Cherokee County six miles west of Wells. Sheriff John Slover of Rusk said the age and sex of body, found lying on its back, could not be determined. Empty diesel fuel containers were lying near the body.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — One man was killed and another wounded Wednesday in a parking lot shootout that police said culminated a long-standing feud. Officers said Jesse Santos was shot to death and his alleged assailant was wounded in the face at the parking lot of a drive-in cafe.

David Santos, 17, no relation to the victim, told police both men pulled pistols at the end of a quarrel and began firing simultaneously.

Homicide detectives said they would charge with murder a 26-year-old man who later went to a hospital for treatment of a gunshot wound.

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Senators voted unanimously Wednesday to force an employer to fulfill his bargain to an injured worker promised a lifetime job in exchange for the waiver of his accident insurance benefits. Sen. A.R. Schwartz, D-Galveston, said the bill is needed to overrule a 1973 decision by the Texas Supreme Court rejecting the damage suit of a man who was fired six years after he was promised a job for life if he would waive his claim for workmen's compensation benefits for an on-the-job injury.

HOUSTON (UPI) — The McMahon College, a court reporting school, closed Wednesday because the Health, Education and Welfare Department refused to process student loans.

HEW last week notified the school federally insured loans would be withdrawn for alleged violations of regulations. James E. McMahon, president of the school, said the loss of federal loans meant the school had no income and was forced to close. There were 520 students and 45 employees affected, he said.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — A passerby found the body of Howard McDonald, 37, in a foot of water in a ditch Wednesday.

Medical examiner Dr. Ruben Santos said McDonald died of a deep gash in the head and had been dead since early Wednesday morning. Bexar County sheriff's deputies said McDonald's pockets were turned inside out and said they suspected a robbery-murder.

Mrs. Kirby Gives Favorite Recipes

Mrs. Clarence (Patsy) Kirby, 2219 Evergreen, a homemaker is the wife of Halliburton Company superintendent. They have four children, Kevin a sophomore, Aliece, freshman, Butler, sixth grader, and Lynn, a fifth grade student.

With four children, Patsy stays busy but did take time to share some of her favorite recipes. She usually serves the Applesauce-Raspberry Salad with the Chicken Tortillas because its tart, then serves a light dessert such as sherbet. The Strawberry-Nut Bread is also a family favorite.

TURKEY OR CHICKEN TORTILLA
1 dozen corn tortillas (soft frozen)
2 small can Green Chili sauce (Approximately 7 ozs.)
1 can Cream of Chicken Soup
1 large onion, chopped
4 cups of cooked and cut up turkey or chicken
1 can cream of Mushroom Sauce
1 can (soup) of Milk
1 pound sharp Cheddar Cheese (grated)
Butter 3 - quart casserole.
Break six tortillas into bite sized pieces and place in bottom of casserole. Add layer of 1/2 milk, 1/2 chicken, 1/2 cheese, 1/2 onion, 1/2 soup and 1/2 chile sauce. Repeat layers. Sprinkle with small amount of grated cheese over the top. Cover with foil and refrigerate 24 hours. Remove a while before baking. Bake 1 1/2 hours at 350 degrees. Serves 8-12 persons.

APPLESAUCE-RASPBERRY SALAD
13-oz. package raspberry jello
1 cup applesauce
1 cup marshmallows, miniature
1 10-ounce package frozen raspberries
1 cup dairy sour cream
Dissolve jello in 1 cup boiled water. Add frozen raspberries - stir till thawed. Stir in applesauce. Pour into 10 X 6 X 1 1/4 inch baking dish. Chill till set. Combine sour cream and marshmallows. Spread over jello and chill 1-2 hours.

STRAWBERRY-NUT BREAD
Mix well:
3 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
Add:
4 eggs, beaten
2 cups sliced, thawed Strawberries
1 1/2 cups Wesson Oil
1 1/4 cups pecans.
Add liquids to dry ingredients. Pour into 3 greased and floured 9 x 5 pans. Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees. Cool 5 minutes. Remove from pan and cool on wire rack. (It can be cooked in 6 mini-loaves that are greased and floured. Bake 40 minutes at 350 degrees.)

Consumer Food News

COLLEGE STATION - New supplies of canned fruits and vegetables signal "specials" on some items at supermarkets this week, one observer says.

Consumers should watch for "Dollar Days" that feature "two for" or "three for" specials. Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt advised.

"Consider buying these if they are foods you use regularly - and if you have proper storage space," the consumer marketing information specialist added.

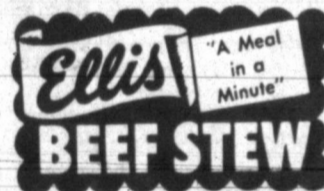

Mrs. Clyatt, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, named apples, applesauce and peaches among processed products now in good supply.

"Fresh fruits at economical prices include oranges and apples.

"However, fresh vegetable supplies are running moderately smaller this season," the specialist noted.

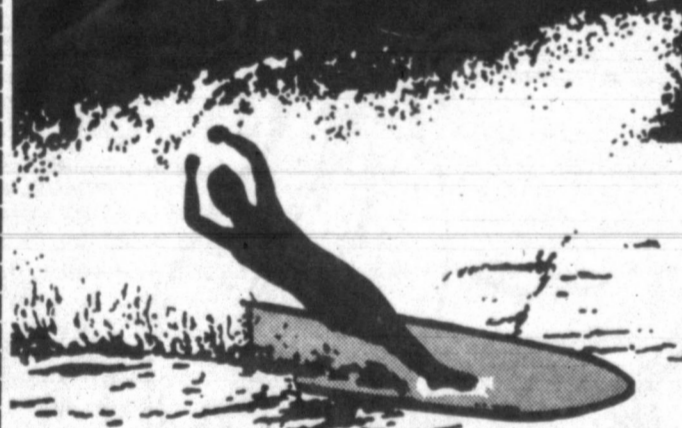

"Dry yellow onions and potatoes remain in good supply - with cabbage, carrots and cooking greens also at economical prices.

"Beets, head lettuce, celery and green onions have attractive prices, too, but cantaloupe, pineapple and strawberries have lightly high price tags.

Imperial Economy Recipe

Surfer's Pineapple Pudding

1 1/4 cups milk
1 (3 1/2 oz.) package vanilla pudding mix (not instant)
1 1/2 tablespoons Imperial Granulated Sugar
Dash salt
1/4 cup pineapple juice
1 1/2 teaspoons cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
1 (8 1/2 oz.) can crushed pineapple, well drained

In heavy saucepan over moderately high heat, bring milk to boil. While milk is heating, combine pudding mix, Imperial Granulated Sugar and salt. Also combine pineapple juice, cornstarch and almond extract. When milk is boiling, remove from heat and quickly stir in pudding mixture. While stirring, bring back to boil and add pineapple juice mixture. Remove from heat and stir in crushed pineapple. Serves 4.

NOTE: With addition of pie crust and meringue, this becomes pineapple pie.

This is one of a series of twelve new Imperial Sugar Economy Recipes appearing weekly in this newspaper. If you would like a handy folder with all twelve recipes, send your name, address, zip code and a red pure cane block from an Imperial bag or carton to:

Imperial Sugar Company

The folder will be sent to you free postpaid.

Leftovers Lead To Luxury

You don't need a fancy expensive mold for molding gelatin dessert or salads. You can use baking pans, metal mixing bowls, measuring cups, small paper cups, saucepans, and empty plastic whipped topping containers. Unmold on your prettiest plates or platters and garnish.

Leftovers - or "planned overs" as many homemakers prefer to call them - are a boon to the creative cook. They can be as good or better the second time around than they were at the first serving. For instance, leftover cooked chicken and ham combine with mushrooms to make delicately flavored Chicken and Ham a la King, a luxurious dish for a brunch or luncheon. To add a new dimension to this popular entree, home economists at Pik-Nik and Tasty Foods suggest serving it over heated shoestring potatoes. Round out the meal with Crispy Cheese Biscuits and carrot and celery sticks.

CHICKEN AND HAM A LA KING
(6 Servings)
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
1/2 cup flour
1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup chicken broth
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash each: pepper and mace
1 1/4 cups diced cooked chicken
1 cup diced cooked ham
1 jar (4 1/2 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
Pik-Nik or Kobey's Shoestring Potatoes

Melt butter in a large frying pan; stir in flour. Gradually add milk and broth; cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add mustard and seasonings. Stir in chicken, ham, and mushrooms. Heat thoroughly; stir in parsley. Serve over heated shoestring potatoes.

CRISPY CHEESE BISCUITS
(10 biscuits)
2 tablespoons butter
1 jar (5 ounces) pimiento-olive cheese spread
1 package (8 ounces) refrigerated baking powder biscuits
1/2 cup coarsely crushed Pik-Nik or Kobey's Shoestring Potatoes

Melt butter in saucepan; stir in cheese spread, mixing until well blended. Place biscuits in greased 8-inch round cake pan. Spread cheese spread over top of biscuits; sprinkle with shoestring potatoes. Bake at 450° for 10 to 12 minutes. Remove biscuits to warm serving plate.

Calcium Vital to Life, Health

By SHIRLEY BRIGHT BOODY
Registered Dietitian
Copley News Service

We never outgrow our need for calcium. It is an essential mineral absolutely vital to life and health.

Every year of our life approximately 20 percent of the calcium in our bones is replaced.

Of the total calcium stored in our body, 98 percent is contained in the skeletal bones and 1 percent in the teeth. The bone calcium also acts as a "storehouse" upon which the body can draw when the need for calcium occurs.

Pregnancy and lactation are the periods of greatest need. If the pregnant woman's diet is not sufficient in calcium her bones and teeth will be required to supply it.

Unfortunately the teeth, unlike the bones, do not repair themselves. Years ago, this led to frequent loss of teeth during pregnancy. It may still be true today in some parts of the world, but not generally in the United States where years of effort have increased the understanding of diet and nutritional needs resulting in healthier mothers and babies.

While 99 percent of the calcium is confined to the bones and teeth, the remaining 1 percent also plays a vital part in maintaining health.

A tiny amount is necessary for the normal contraction of muscles, specifically the heart. The normal rhythmic beating of the heart muscle is impossible without sufficient calcium.

Muscle cramps which often occur during pregnancy are relieved by the addition of calcium. Blood clotting is also dependent upon the presence of calcium, a tiny amount to be sure, but vital.

The permeability of cells, which means the ability to absorb nutrients, is another essential role of minute amounts of this mineral. It even helps to convert the food that is eaten into energy. The transmission of nerve impulses is another function of this important element.

The multiple role of calcium in our body contradicts the convictions of those who insist that milk is for infants and the young. Unless there is allergic reaction or digestive tract inability to tolerate milk - prime source of calcium - everyone will wisely add milk to his diet throughout his life.

The U.S. Recommended Dietary Allowance for calcium is set at 800 milligrams per day. This amount is supplied by two glasses of milk. Children require more calcium for growth and three to four glasses of milk per day are recommended. Four glasses daily are also the recommended amount for pregnant and nursing mothers.

Those who cannot drink can obtain their calcium from other sources. Among these are dried legumes, yogurt, baked beans, dark green leafy vegetables, broccoli, hard cheeses and small fish whose bones can be eaten.

Remember, like other needed nutrients, you can also take an overdose of calcium. For this reason I do not suggest bone meal or pure calcium as a dietary supplement, unless specifically prescribed by your doctor. Too much can collect in the kidneys as stones. Get your calcium from a good diet and you can't go wrong.

The Kitchen Almanac

When preparing fresh pineapple - after slicing off the outside layer, use a strawberry huller to remove the "little brown eyes" that remain in the fruit. Check the label to see if meat should be "cooked before eating." Don't assume that it is fully cooked.

Speedy dessert ideas: Roll balls of your favorite ice cream in corn flakes. Serve with chocolate sauce. Keep a cake in your freezer for unexpected entertaining.

Brussels sprouts are low in calories and provide a large amount of vitamin C as well as other vitamins and minerals. Add chopped, ripe olives and minced onion to mayonnaise or salad dressing before mixing with eggs for egg salad.

Making homemade soup? Chicken wings, necks and backs are often priced lower than beef soup bones.

A thin white sauce is usually preferred with starchy vegetables such as peas and lima beans; a medium white sauce with other vegetables.

From the "we're all in this together" dept. - Does industry respond to national crises and consumer needs? Engineers at KitchenAid have developed Energy Saver dishwashers. A push of a button keeps the 1100-watt air heater off during the drying cycle - saving about 50% of the electricity normally used. (A fan remains on to circulate air and speed drying.)

Here is a delightful breakfast recipe that youngsters will find fun to make - and eat. Peek-A-Boo Eggs are an easy project for little hands, but a big hand should be nearby, in case help is needed.

Peek-A-Boo Eggs
(6 servings)
6 slices enriched white bread
Butter
6 Eggs
Salt
Pepper

Cut hole in middle of each bread slice with 2-inch biscuit cutter. Fry each slice in 1 tablespoon butter until golden brown. Turn, melt more butter if desired for even color.

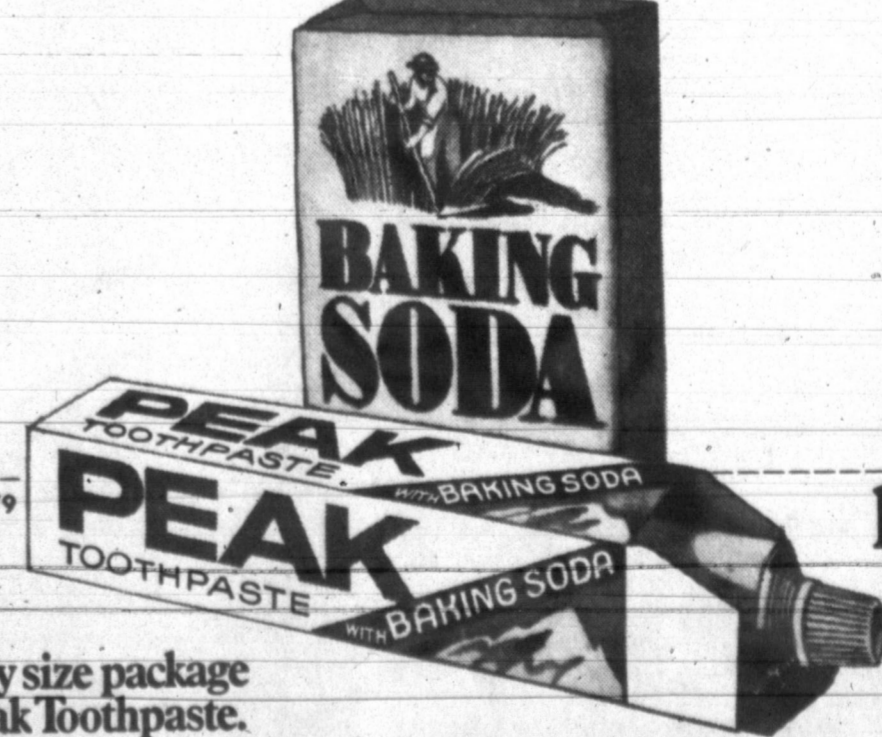

Slip egg into center of hole. Salt and pepper to taste. Fry about 3 minutes, turn and fry 2 minutes or until egg is cooked on other side.

Editorial note: You may want to clip this feature and keep these worthwhile tips in your own "kitchen file."

Thirty years before we developed Peak Toothpaste, you probably used our secret ingredient.

It's baking soda.
Baking soda: the natural cleanser and sweetener that people used to brush with, and that dentists still recommend. Both for cleaning teeth and as a soothing rinse for mouth and gums.
Be prepared. Peak is 97% natural ingredients, principally pure baking soda. It tastes pleasant, but different. Be prepared. Peak leaves your whole mouth - not just teeth and breath, but even mouth tissues and gums - feeling different. Feeling naturally cleansed and sweetened. Naturally refreshed. Uncomplicate.

Awards Highlight Banquet

By BOBBY COMBS
Special guests for the Founder's Day Banquet of Beta Sigma Phi Chapters Tuesday evening were Pampa's 1975 First Lady, Mrs. Jewel Walker; Dolores Riggs, recipient of the organizations scholarship; and a Groom BSP chapter. Unable to attend was Neta Eads who also received a scholarship from the six chapters of BSP, Preceptor Chi, Rho Eta, Xi Theta Iota, Phi Epsilon Beta, Upsilon and Xi Beta Chi.

The event was held at the Pampa Country Club. Coordinating the activities of the six internationally-affiliated chapters of BSP sorority is the primary objective of the BSP City Council. Installed were 1975-76 officers: Pat Rich, president; Retha Jordan, vice president; Alberta Jeffers, parliamentarian; Kathy Topper, treasurer; Vicki Moose, corresponding secretary; and Kay Nash, secretary.

Mrs. Walker, assisted by Mrs. Georgia Mack, 1965 Woman of the Year, conducted the impressive installation ceremony with Mrs. Jimmie Williams providing background music.

Representing their chapter as Girl of the Year, a highlight of the banquet, are Cile Taylor, Upsilon; Barbara Benyshek, Xi Beta Chi; Joyce Barrett, Rho Eta; Pauline Vaughn, Preceptor Chi; Alberta Jeffers, Xi Theta Iota; and Linda Forman, Phi Epsilon Beta.

In addition to presenting the scholarship award, selected by a committee from BSP with Mrs. Benyshek, chairman, the sorority year had a full schedule. They sponsored the Valentine Sweetheart Ball, a fall luncheon, the 30th Woman of the Year Tea and many civic projects, rush parties club activities.

Pat Rich, council president, recognized guests and Irvine Mitchell presented the Founders Day Message.

Resumes of chapter activities were presented by chapter presidents, Phi Epsilon Beta, the youngest of the six, is sponsored by Mrs. Bill Baten.

BSP SCHOLARSHIP — Dolores Riggs, a senior at Pampa High School, received a scholarship from Beta Sigma Phi Chapters at Tuesday's Founder's Day Banquet. Making the presentation is Barbara Benyshek, scholarship chairman.

Summer Feminine Fashions

COLLEGE STATION — Gimmicks are out — the simple, natural look is in for women's fashions this spring, according to Margaret Ann Vanderpoorten, clothing specialist.

"We'll see a clean, soft, feminine look in clothing, accessories and hair styles," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said this week.

Hair styles will be soft and curly — not frizzy — or simple and straight, showing off clean, shiny hair. Long hair will frequently be pulled back in a simple chignon for a smooth, dressier appearance. Off-face looks will be the newest. Bangs, when worn, will be long and sleek, she reported.

Loose, feminine dress styles will look great with the waist nipped in by a belt. And belts may be the single most important accessory for summer — wide crushed styles, obi types and narrow leather ones," she said.

Shoes will be flatter and simpler. Espadrilles, sandals and slippers will have low heels or wedges. Very little trim and decoration will be seen.

"Jewelry will be in extremes — either kept to a minimum, or arms full of bangles. Natural stones, beads and shells will be good choices.

Scarves and more scarves will complete the picture. Wear them over the shoulders with a sundress or around the neck for color. Wrapping the head bandana fashion or turban style will be a substitute for summer hats," she noted.

To hasten setting of molds, chill in a pan of ice and water before placing in refrigerator.

Shower Fetes Bride-Elect

A bridal shower honoring Miss Deborah Evans, Hereford, bride-elect of George Borden, Farwell, was hosted April 26 in Memorial Parlor of the First Baptist Church, White Deer. Miss Evans is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brian E. Evans of White Deer. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Truett M. Borden of Grady, N.M.

Hostess for the shower were Mrs. Chester Nunn and Mrs. Orman Bentley of Amarillo; and Mmes. Joe Mitchell, Jay Phillips, Julius Meaker, Earl Alexander, Will Powers, Jim Powers, Carl Mynear, Lansin Osborne, Wendell Pipes, Rodney Simons, Bill Terry, and Mrs. R.A. Williams of Hereford.

Mrs. Kenneth Gordner, Eagle Nest, N.M., sister of the bride-elect, registered the 57 friends and relatives. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. George Borden, grandmother of the prospective bridegroom, Broadview, N.M. and the grandmother of the bride-elect, Mrs. John H. Reeves, Pampa; Mrs. Truett Borden and Miss Rachel Borden, Grady, N.M.; Mrs. C.V. Nowlin, Vernon; Miss Elizabeth Nowlin, Childress; Miss Claudia Everly, Pampa; Mrs. Philip Carpenter, Columbus, Ga.; Mrs. P.G. Carpenter and Miss Camille Carpenter, Plainview; Mrs. Jack Brian, Dumas; and Mrs. Douglas Smith, Panhandle.

At Wit's End

By ERMA BOMBECK
My mother-in-law and I have a great relationship. She calls me Edna and I call her on her birthday. Mother's Day and Christmas.

At the wedding when she insisted they put a funeral flag on the fender of her car and drove with her lights on, I sensed somehow I was not what she would have chosen for her son.

But God love her she has a sense of humor and somehow we've all survived. She has accepted me for what I am. A mistake. And I have learned to live with her through the miracle of sedation.

One of her idiosyncrasies, however, I will never adjust to. I call it her Last-Breath Performance.

Check this. I am driving the car and she is sitting beside me. Out of the clear blue sky, I hear her suck in her breath, moan slightly and slump, steadying her head with her hand. I wait, but she doesn't exhale.

The first time this happened, I figured (a) she was leaving the car on a permanent basis; (b) I had closed the electric windows on a gas station attendant and was towing him by his fingers; or (c) we were being followed by a tornado funnel.

Instinctively, I jammed on the brakes of the car, nearly hurling her through the windshield.

turned around grabbed her shoulders, and shouted hysterically. "What's the matter?"

"Damn it," she said. "I just remembered I forgot to lock my back door."

During subsequent drives, I was to learn that she gasped and growled at girls in shorts, roses in full bloom, a half-stuck of gum discovered in her raincoat, and the realization that tomorrow was her sister-in-law's birthday.

She didn't limit her Last-Breath Performance to the car. When she watched television or read the newspaper, she would inhale noisily, freeze, put her hand over her mouth and say, "Where will a pleasant boy like Dick Cafetti find work?"

I pride myself in being able to live in peace with my mother-in-law, and she puts up with me. The other day we were driving together when she sucked in her breath, clutched her purse and mumbled, "Oh, my."

Figuring she had just remembered a dental appointment, I kept moving and promptly smacked into a truck pulling out from the alley. She shook her head and made a clicking noise with her tongue. "I tried to warn you, Edna, but you wouldn't listen."

"Face it, Mother," I said. "I'm unstable."

Southern Pacific Proposes RI Take

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Southern Pacific Transportation Co. has made a proposal to take over two segments of the bankrupt Rock Island Railroad. Richard D. Spence, Southern Pacific vice president of operations, said Wednesday the rail carrier has offered to purchase the Rock Island's Kansas City, Mo., to Tucumcari, N.M., route, which presently combines with Southern Pacific Service to form the Golden State route to California. Spence also said the Southern Pacific is offering to take over the Rock Island route between Brinkley, Ark., and Memphis, Tenn., if financial problems make it impossible for the Rock Island to handle that route. Spence said negotiations were under way with William M. Gibbons, the court-appointed trustee for the bankrupt Rock Island, on the proposal for Southern Pacific's purchase of the Kansas City to Tucumcari route. "We have given them some numbers," Spence said at a news conference. "I would think the Rock Island would be back with some figures of its own (a counter offer) within a month." If the Rock Island and its trustee agree to the sale, the proposal would be submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission for final approval. Spence said he thinks the sale could take place within six months to a year if an agreement is reached. Southern Pacific wants to buy the Tucumcari route because it connects with a Southern Pacific line that continues on to Los Angeles. The two segments together are called the Golden State route and have been in operation since 1902. The ICC has indicated it will ask Southern Pacific to take over the 673-mile Tucumcari-Kansas City route temporarily if the Rock Island is forced to shut down operations due to a cash problem. But Spence said his railroad is eager to get the situation settled quickly and permanently because freight business on the route has fallen off due to the uncertainty of the Rock Island's future. The Santa Fe Railroad opposes the Southern Pacific's proposals to keep the Golden State route in full operation since the Santa Fe has its own line between Kansas City and Los Angeles. But Spence said dozens of towns and grain elevators in the West would be left without service if the Golden State route were eliminated. Spence said Southern Pacific President Benjamin F. Biaggini sent a letter to U.S. Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman proposing the Southern Pacific pick up Rock Island portion of the Golden State service immediately if the Rock Island discontinues the route. The plan, Spence said, calls for continued employment of Rock Island employees on the route and would maintain service to more than 80 communities along the route while saving the jobs of "hundreds of Rock Island workers."

President Still Hopes Energy Package Will Go

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has pushed his energy policy deadline back another month, hoping Congress will act before the time runs out and thus avoid a showdown over unilateral executive action. The President's latest strategy calls for a decision by June 1—90 days behind his original schedule—on whether to raise the tariff on imported oil to $2 per barrel. The hike would boost gasoline prices about one cent per gallon. Ford's new strategy also sets the stage for a gradual lifting of controls on domestic oil prices, adding five cents per gallon to the price of gasoline by mid-1977, but places final responsibility for that action on Congress. Ford imposed a $1 per barrel oil import tariff Feb. 1. He originally planned the tariff to go up to $2 per barrel March 1 and to $3 per barrel April 1, but about two months ago he delayed the second and third steps for 60 days to avoid a showdown with Congress. Under the original delay, Ford set today as the deadline for Congress to come up with an acceptable energy conservation policy. He threatened to go ahead with the unilateral tariff increase if Congress missed his deadline. But the President yielded to the pleadings of congressional leaders Wednesday and put off the tariff hike until about June 1. Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb, who announced Ford's decision, said the President based the latest delay on requests from Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield and Rep. Al Ullman, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, and on energy policy progress made by Ullman's committee. But Zarb said this was the last such postponement Ford would grant unless he sees at the end of May "the prospect of fairly imminent legislation that is going to give us a comprehensive program." "We are hopeful still that Congress in a very short time, possibly before they go into recess, will produce a bill and that the bill will be satisfactory," he said. The President's new plan for a gradual decontrol of domestic oil prices represents a reversal of previous administration proposals, which called for immediate decontrol. Zarb said public hearings on decontrol would be held quickly and said the proposal could go to Congress for approval before the scheduled May 21 Memorial Day congressional recess. "Congress will have the last say so (on decontrol)," Zarb said. "They have five days to override the President's action in this area." He said Congress also will by law have to review and grant new approval for the program every 90 days.

Nursing Home Inspections Might Weaken

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Representatives say transferring licensing and inspection of nursing homes from the Health Department to the Department of Public Welfare would weaken the inspection standards. The House defeated a bill Wednesday to put nursing homes under the Department of Public Welfare. The House killed the proposal 74-61. Opponents said the bill would hurt the elderly because inspecting requirements for homes would be weakened and would cost Texas federal funds. "I want you to look out the windows," said Rep. Neil Caldwell, D-Alvin. "It's raining out there, and that's where you're going to put the old people if you pass this bill." Rep. Paul Moreno, D-El Paso, said inspection standards would be weakened because the Welfare Department doesn't deal with health-related matters. "If there is a mockery as far as health care is concerned, it is the nursing homes throughout the nation and Texas," Moreno said. "What the state of Texas needs is stricter requirements, not less requirements, and that's what this bill does." Other representatives said the bill would cost Texas federal funds. "We're talking here about (losing) a huge sum of money," said Rep. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi.

strip independent voters of the right to participate in primaries. "You're going to close the political process to the people," argued Rep. Tom Schieffer, D-Fort Worth. "They're not going to be allowed to vote because they call themselves independents." The House also approved and sent to the Senate an emergency $5.7 million appropriation bill to finance House operations for the last four months of the fiscal year. Rep. Pete Laney, D-Hale Center, chairman of the House Administration Committee, said the cost of the constitutional convention last year and increased House expenditures made the extra funding necessary. The Senate Finance Committee quickly approved the bill without debate. "When it's a question of whether you get your paychecks we can move rather fast," said Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena.

Education Today

Teaching Problem-Solving

UPI Education Editor In the typical high school, students working on projects together normally select their partners. They may work well together—too well. And there lies a problem. "They don't learn much about peers who don't exactly suit them," Robert G. Heyer said in an interview. The Minneapolis, Minn., tutor and 1975's Teacher of the Year has a better idea. And he puts it to work in the ninth-grade physical sciences course he runs at Johnanna Junior High in the Mounds View School District in St. Paul.

Heyer said the course actually is a series of problem-solving situations. At the start of the school year he assigns each student a number. The partners and team members are selected by the number system. "For every lab period—where the problem-solving goes on—each student moves up to a new number," he said. "It's a beautiful system. You have shy boys who sometimes have to work with boisterous girls. You have low reading ability students who sometimes must do a lab report with a fast reader. The students, not all being matched perfectly, get insight into others' problems, strengths and weaknesses. "They help one another—and all the while they're learning about how to get along with all kinds of people—which is one of life's vital skills." The 1975 symbol of thousands of outstanding teachers in the nation's schools, Heyer is described as a teacher who "relates to all types of students, including those turned off by school." The annual search is sponsored by the Council of Chief State School Officers, the Encyclopedia Britannica companies and the Ladies' Home Journal.

"The really best teacher probably never will be the teacher of the year," Heyer said. "That is because most selection programs currently are based on a lot of outside the classroom activity, too. The marks of the best teacher—with the emphasis on best—would be two. "One—a teacher who puts the classroom instruction ahead of everything else. "Two—a teacher who is concerned that each student find out and develop his abilities and talents. "There are many, many teachers like that."

Dentist Says Excuses Really Fears of Pain

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Americans are always making excuses about not seeing their dentists. The reason is fear of pain rather than forgetfulness, according to the president-elect of the American Dental Association. "Excuses are made about not having the time for a checkup or forgetting to make an appointment or having to take time off from work, but too often it is really anxiety about what the dentist will do that keeps patients from regular dental care," said Dr. Robert B. Shira, dean of Tufts University School of Dental Medicine in Boston. Shira was elected president during Saturday's session of the 105th annual convention of the American Dental Association. Shira said studies must be completed on the causes of pain and, through that, eliminate some of the reluctance about going to a dentist. "Although we know how to relieve pain, modern medical and dental science does not fully understand how pain works," he said. "In spite of the great efforts that have been made by so many investigators in all facets of pain, we are far from our goal of understanding the problem." Shira will take over as president of the ADA in October, succeeding Dr. L.M. Kennedy of Dallas.

Heart Attack Victim To Collect $139,000

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The Texas Supreme Court has upheld a $139,000 judgment awarded a heart attack victim harassed by unreasonable collection tactics used by a loan company. The Supreme Court upheld the award Wednesday to John Gentry and his wife Eileen from Credit Plan Corporation of Houston. A trial jury determined Joe Assad's collection efforts were the direct cause of Gentry's heart attack. The jury awarded the Gentrys $69,747.35 in damages for pain and suffering, loss of income and medical expenses. They added another $69,747.35 as exemplary damages. Testimony showed Assad, a hulking man with a booming voice, collected bad debts for Credit Plan Corporation of Houston. He went to Gentry's home on the night of Feb. 7, 1969, and demanded the Gentrys make up three overdue payments on a $158 loan. Assad shouted and jabbed his finger at Gentry, calling him a liar and a damn deadbeat. If Gentry didn't pay immediately, Assad said, he'd call a truck and have the family's furniture hauled away. Gentry turned ashen and had difficulty breathing. He called police and asked them to get Assad out of his home. Assad left without his money, and hours later Gentry suffered a heart attack which hospitalized him for two months and left him unable to work. Mrs. Gentry told the jury representatives of the loan company continued to call her home about the debt throughout the time Gentry was hospitalized. The $158 debt was finally paid by an insurance policy Gentry was required to purchase when he took out the loan. Gentry made the loan in 1968 and missed his payments for the final two months of 1968 and January, 1969. The court also agreed Wednesday to hear arguments on whether Colonial Finance Corp. and Kelcor Corp., both under the same ownership as Credit Plan, should also be held liable for the $139,494 judgment. The Gentrys contend Credit Plan's assets have been shuffled to the other firms in an effort to escape payment of the judgment.

She Marks A First as Texas Judge

DALLAS (UPI) — As a farm girl in the 1950s, Joan Winn raised prize-winning chickens, worried about getting her mother's permission to go to dances, and gave little thought to the racial climate in the South.

Today she became the first black woman judge in Texas history — not even sure of her annual salary.

"I think it's $33,100 but I haven't seen a figure," she said. "Money is not my motivation. It's not my driving force."

Mrs. Winn, 33, earned her law degree from Southern Methodist University and worked in private practice and for the Department of Labor's Civil Service Commission, handling employment complaints and appeals of federal employees and job applicants.

her name on the list of nominees. Three months later a county-court-at-law position opened in Dallas — a judgeship approved by the commissioner's court rather than the governor. Her nomination passed unanimously in April.

Would she have preerred the more prestigious district court job?

"Not necessarily because my initial desire was to be a member of the judiciary and a county court is a court."

Does she agree the appointment of a black woman to a Texas judgeship was long overdue? "If in fact an appointing authority — that means everybody who has ever had the power to appoint — had the opportunity, to appoint a qualified female or any ethnic minority and did not do so merely because the individual was a female or was a minority, then the appointment is long overdue."

Her words were chosen carefully to give Texas the collective benefit of the doubt in its history of judicial selection.

"You see, I'm not in a position to know if there had been a qualified individual who was also interested," Mrs. Winn said. "All practicing attorneys do not want to be judges. There are female and black attorneys who do not want to do it. You have to have a qualified applicant who also has the desire as well as an opening before you can say this should have been done a long time ago."

As a teen-ager she rode a bus to all-black Booker T. Washington High School because none of the Dallas public schools was integrated. At the time it seemed the most natural thing in the world.

"You have to understand the environment on the farm," Mrs. Winn said. "We had black and white neighbors and when it was threshing time, for instance, whoever owned the threshing machines did the farms up and down the highway. If they hit a black farm they did it just the same as anybody else's."

"I grew up in a protected environment. Growing up on the farm was different from growing up in the city. It was the 50s. During that period I did not give a thought to whether any ambitions that I had could be realized in Dallas."

would be easier to give up law school if she didn't like it than find another job. But, she liked it.

"I loved it, actually," she said. "I really enjoy reading all those cases — all those law books."

"Given a set of facts I really enjoy the process of taking this set of facts and applying to the facts what the 'law' is and then eliminating from those facts the irrelevant facts and coming to what really is the controversy. Then you go, 'aha.' It is the logical process of reasoning that I enjoy."

Her husband, Elbert, works for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Dallas. Winn, who also attended Dillard but did not know his future wife at the time, has two daughters by a previous marriage.

The couple has one son, Ikoyi, 4. In Nigeria, Ikoyi means "first son."

"He has been my staunchest supporter," Mrs. Winn said of her husband. "He never attempted to hinder me and he always without exception encouraged me."

She said her rule of thumb from the bench would be:

"To make sure all litigants start off at the starting block at the same time and operate under the same rules of procedure and evidence and any orders I have to render are rendered on the merits of that particular case."

Refugee Costs To Run $500 Million for Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It will cost the United States an estimated $500 million or more over the next year to care for about 65,000 Vietnamese refugees evacuated before the fall of Saigon, the State Department said today.

Philip Habib, assistant secretary of state for East Asian and Pacific affairs, today increased the earlier estimate of 56,000 South Vietnamese involved in the various evacuation efforts.

The next six months will be the most costly part of their resettlement into the United States, he said.

Habib and other officials told a Senate Judiciary subcommittee on refugees the state Department originally anticipated spending $300 million in the next six months had only 50,000 evacuees been involved. But the 65,000, he estimated, would cost about $350 million for the first six months.

There were no rallies in Times Square, no ticker tape parades, no triumphant homecomings.

The triumph was left to the Communists and their allies, who had been fighting for 30 years against the French, the Americans and the South Vietnamese associated with these foreigners.

The United States had to negotiate with the Communists to make sure the evacuation went smoothly, officials said Tuesday.

"I think it will be a long time before Americans will be able to talk or write about the war with some dispassion," said Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. "It is clear that the war did not achieve the objectives of those who started the original involvement, nor the objectives of those who sought to end that involvement."

Samples Albums, Records on Market

New albums of interest: Brian Protheroe — "Pnball" (Chrysalis CHR-1065) — This is just the kind of oddball album that makes liars out of all of us who accuse record companies of being play-it-safe manipulators of the public taste (which, of course, they are). Brian Protheroe is an English actor who proves to have an impressive, if offbeat, songwriting talent, a strong tenor voice and a good feel for harmony and arrangement.

So — without breaking his theater ties — Protheroe has ventured into recording with this collection of whimsical ditties. Some are parodies of older pop forms, notably "Moon Over Malibu," in which Protheroe overdubs himself into a dead ringer for the Four Lads. Some are excerpts from musical plays on which Protheroe has collaborated. Some are simply nonsense.

Aside from the title track, however, this is about as noncommercial an LP as you'll find within the wide boundaries of pop music. And despite the persistent feeling that the listener has somehow missed out on an inside joke, it is a successful production, conveying a very theatrical mood of both serious music and ticklish humor.

Meanwhile, Protheroe has returned to the stage in London, so a second effort may be some time away.

Chicago — "VIII" (Columbia PC-33100) — Wait a minute. This can't really be Chicago. This is a tight, genuinely gutsy rock 'n' roll album. It must be somebody else. The brass harmonies are like Chicago all right, but they are sparing and tasteful instead of dominating, adding highlights instead of blanketing. And the songs (with the lone exception of the cloyingly dumb "Harry Truman") are straightforward rock. But this really is Chicago, with their first completely listenable album since the original "CTA" was released back in the Stone Age. That Colorado air must be doing them good.

Golden Earring — "Switch" (MCA 2139) — Golden Earring is one of my favorite English rock bands, except that they're Dutch. Born in Holland, they may be, but their music is pure British rock — and they are among the very best at what they do. "Switch" is far more representative of their explosive brand of music than was "Moonan," their first U.S. release. If they can pull a good single from this one it could go very big; the bilingual "Kill Me Ce Soir" would be a good choice.

Bad Company — "Straight Shooter" (Swan Song SS-843) — What can you say about a band that was destined from the first to be a full-blown supergroup? It doesn't take much insight to recognize the potential inherent in combining the steel-cable tautness of Paul Rogers' Free with the raunchy Mott the Hoople sound of Mick Ralph's guitar. These are veterans of the hard-knocks British rock school, they knew what they wanted (money and fame) and how to get it (solid, big-bore rock 'n' roll). This is a guaranteed platinum album — the first of what will likely be a long string for what may prove to be the most popular group of the decade.

"He Don't Love You, Like I Love You" by Tony Orlando and Dawn is the fastest moving single record on the charts at the time of this writing. And it is the showcase song in an album of the same name (Elektra 7E-1034). While the songs definitely are tailored for Orlando, his two girl sidekicks fit nicely into the vocal scheme. Besides the title tune, such songs as "Maybe I Should Marry Jamie," "House of Strangers" and "Missin' That Gal" have high ear appeal.

"Personal Friend of Arthur Kuykendall, Monk Daniel and Cluny Rakestraw" by Jim Connor (RCA APL1-0874) has a strong bluegrass flavor. Connor is a neat banjo picker who gets this session off to a lively start and keeps it moving at a good pace. Among the highlights are "Grits Ain't Groceries" (Broad St. Blues), "Grandma's Feather Bed," "Parchman Farm" and "Sand Mt. Holler."

UNUSUAL AMAZON — The Amazon River does not build a delta, as most other rivers do; its high rate of discharge carries the small amount of sediment out to sea where it is intercepted by ocean currents and deposited along the coast of northern Brazil and the Guianas.

SLA Man Leaps To Strike at Witness

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Russell Little, one of two reputed Symbionese Liberation Army members on trial for murder, Tuesday attacked a prosecution witness and former friend who had turned against the terrorist group.

Little, cross-examining Christopher Thompson, who was marked for death by the SLA after he testified before a grand jury, leaped into the witness box swinging his fists and striking Thompson in the face.

Little, 25, and Joseph Remiro, 28, are charged with the November 1973 cyanide-bullet murder of Oakland Schools Superintendent Marcus Foster and the attempted murder of Deputy Superintendent Robert W. Blackburn.

Little moved closer to Thompson, who once lived with him in an Oakland commune, as he asked a series of questions, and then attacked Thompson, knocking the witness' glasses from his face and striking him a half dozen times.

A woman among the spectators shouted: "Kill, kill."

Superior Court Judge Elvin Sheehy left the bench and jurors sitting closest to the witness box recoiled from the attack as two sheriff's deputies grabbed Little and dragged him from the courtroom.

Remiro, who was sitting at the defense table, was also seized by deputies and taken to a basement holding cell.

Little did not return to the courtroom after a 30-minute recess and no mention was made of the violent incident.

Remiro then cross-examined Thompson, who appeared unharmed, and asked him why he had gone to the Alameda County district attorney just four days after the defendants had been arrested in a shootout with Concord police.

"I thought I was involved in something that bordered on 'helter skelter,'" Thompson replied.

The words "helter skelter" were connected with the 1969 Tate-La Bianca murders in Los Angeles. Charles Manson was convicted of the seven murders two years later.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — The neighborhood is rapidly decaying, and the hotel is doing its best to keep pace.

When Sam Long came to the end of the road after 46 years as a hobo, he sought permanent accommodations.

"Everyone admires my room now," Long said with pride, drawing attention to his leather chair, refrigerator and portable television. "This is the best room in the hotel; I'm living in luxury."

"I'm a hobo... not a bum!"

Most people associate hoboes with bums, and even Webster's Dictionary can't decide:

"Hobo: A migratory worker; a homeless and usually penniless vagrant; tramp; bum."

"The difference between a hobo and a tramp, or skid-row bum, is that a hobo travels but makes his own living," Long said. "A hobo will work a few days, then move on. I left home at 15 and rode the rails for 46 years."

But I worked and made my own way. I worked as an auto thrill driver with Jimmy Lynch's Death Dodgers, rode bucking broncos, worked in a hospital, was a fire eater in a carnival and sharpened knives and scissors. I was a hobo... not a bum!"

A master tool sharpener, the 63-year-old Long is known throughout the hobo fraternity simply as Scissors Sam.

His renown as a hobo is such that he finished second to his good friend, Steam Train Mowry, for the title of Hobo King at the 1972 Hobo Convention in Britt, Iowa.

He is the author of the book, "Scissors Sam Says Be Sharp," a 52-page handbook published in 1972 which has to rank as the definitive work on sharpening any and all tools.

Some people never stumble across their calling in life. Scissors Sam found his early when he left his home on a farm outside Greensburg, Pa.

"I'm a hobo because I'm a manic-depressive," Sam said. "When I'm up, there are periods when I've been classified as a genius. People tell me I have a brain that won't hold still."

"It's during those periods that I do my best work, like writing and coming up with inventions."

"But there are other periods when I fall all the way to the bottom," he said with a sigh. "For instance, I was working on the manuscript for a book on my life. Every-one thought it was outstanding. Then I got in one of my down periods and threw it in a garbage can. That's why I became a hobo; most hoboes have some kind of quirk of the mind."

Scissors Sam augments his Social Security payments and small pension from the Showman's Guild by sharpening tools. But mostly he hangs around a hotel, where the linen is changed every 15 days, and a cafe next door specializes in $1.55 dinners.

"I've got all the money I need," he said, "all I need is friendship."

He welcomes visitors to his room, and will serenade them with a song he wrote, "Is There a Skid Row in Heaven?"

Should the occasion arise, he can accompany himself on the saw. "I not only sharpen them, I can play 'em," he said.

History has depicted hobo jungles as vagrancy way stations, where hoboes would sleep with one eye open and their valuables in their shoes in fear of being robbed. Sam knows better.

"Nobody stole from anyone in the jungles; every hobo was a legitimate person," he said. "You could hang your bedroll from a tree, go into town and come back to find it still hanging there. Today, you walk two blocks away from any belonging and it's gone. That's the difference between a hobo and the jokers we have today."

Shortage of Monkeys Exists for Researchers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A National Research Council committee says the long anticipated shortage of monkeys for biomedical research is now a reality.

To increase the supply of non-human primates to the 732 American laboratories using them, the committee says monkey breeding colonies should be set up in the United States and better care should be taken of imported animals to save many of the thousands of monkeys that die annually before reaching research centers.

Because of their evolutionary link to humans, primates are valued in most laboratories for studies and drug testing for a variety of human disorders including cancer, alcoholism, heart disease, infectious diseases and metabolic problems. The most striking contribution the animals have made to man was in the development of polio vaccine.

According to the Commerce Department, the number of primates imported by the United States has dropped from a 10-year high of 126,857 in 1968 to 69,548 in 1973. India has been the largest contributor in recent years followed by Peru and Columbia.

In 1973, the government of India clamped down on the export of rhesus monkeys, lowering limits from 50,000 to 30,000. Thailand a few years earlier set an export limit of only 500 animals a year. Now Columbia and Peru have joined Brazil in prohibiting the export of monkeys except under special permit.

"It can be anticipated as dealers respond by moving into new areas, that other countries will follow the examples of those just cited," the committee said in a 122-page report.

Primates have not been shipped from South Vietnam or Cambodia since 1966 because of the Indochinese war, but North Vietnam ships monkeys to Russia. Uganda has not exported monkeys to the United States since 1967, presumably for political reasons, the report said.

"The net effect of all these factors has been to create serious shortages of rhesus macaques, squirrel monkeys, marmosets, night monkeys and several other species essential for biomedical programs."

Task Force Recommends 19 Plane Improvements

By EDWARD K. DeLONG

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A government task force today issued 19 air safety improvement recommendations, including periodic unannounced inspection of cockpit flight recorder information.

Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman gave the Federal Aviation Administration 45 days to implement the changes.

Perhaps the most controversial item was the call for unannounced spot checks of pilot performance using information collected by a cockpit voice recorder and another recorder registering aircraft speed, altitude, heading and other items.

Data from the recorders is currently used only in the investigation of crashes. Pilots stubbornly resist any suggestion that the recorded data be employed in any other way.

But the safety report—prompted by severe congressional criticism of FAA safety performance—said that the recorders should be evaluated on an experimental, nonpunitive basis as a way of making sure pilots fly safely.

The recommendations also included one aimed at eliminating the communications gap between pilots and flight controllers, another shifting more aircraft safety inspection chores to private industry and seven specific organizational changes.

The intensity of the criticism was not abated by statistics showing 1974 had the worst U.S. airline safety record in 14 years—a total of 467 dead in U.S. airline accidents last year.

Treasury Department Freezes Viet Assets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury Department today placed a freeze on all South Vietnamese assets in the United States.

The order, effective at noon EDT, means that no one in South Vietnam can withdraw funds from a U.S. bank account without the permission of the Treasury Department.

Also, no American can send money to South Vietnam, even for humanitarian relief, without the Treasury's approval.

The action was approved by the National Security Council. A similar embargo was ordered April 18 when Cambodia fell to communist insurgents.

Other countries on the blocked assets list are North Vietnam, North Korea, Cuba and Rhodesia.

The Treasury is unsure of the value of assets affected by the order.

Stanley Sommerfield, acting director of the Office of Foreign Assets Control, said that South Vietnamese bank accounts in the United States totaled about $120 million "as of a few weeks ago." But he added, "Obviously, there must have been a serious drain in the last few weeks."

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

FRIDAY, MAY 2 Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Your birthday today: Suspend judgment until you hear the other side of the story. Get hold of something to compare with what you already have. It's a slow day; dig in early and make the most of it.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Planned advances can be made; chances are you won't have to repeat or change any details. Invite friends and neighbors to share good news and good prospects.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: You've got extra work now because of your recent actions. Bring in additional equipment, borrow skills from hobby practices. Consideration for all concerned is crucial.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Meet all comers halfway, but don't pay for any more than your own expenses. Expect nothing special from influential people. Simply fill your set quota and relax.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Proceed at an even pace, concentrate on matters that let you act independently. Where you provoke disagreement among associates or authorities, be discreet; keep moving.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: People at your own level are no problem; it's those well above and below who set obstacles in your path. Ask no favors. Stay on the go so you don't invite extra demands.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: You can increase family and partnership resources regardless of differences of opinion. Strangers and authorities are uncooperative. Plan your immediate moves again tonight.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Pride leads to a standoff—unless you come to terms before issues get too tense. Teamwork is good for creative ventures and is not coherent in major public projects.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Move onward and upward. Tend to your program in easy stages with pauses for meditation. Make this a day that counts, for you won't get quite the same opportunity again.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Get your house in order, so to speak, by careful effort. Leave nothing to chance or contingent on future conditions (which could turn out the opposite of what you expect).

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Your view of today's issues will be rejected by the powers that be and arbiters of status and quality. Don't waste time being sorry for yourself; you'll have another chance later.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Review recent progress and catch any discrepancy before it's visible to the public. An optimistic mood makes a great deal of difference now, so plan a quiet fun evening.

Texans Say Army Claims Inconsistent

GATESVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — The Army has been inconsistent in its statements attempting to justify the proposed acquisition of 60,000 acres of land for Ft. Hood, according to the chairman of a citizens group opposing the expansion.

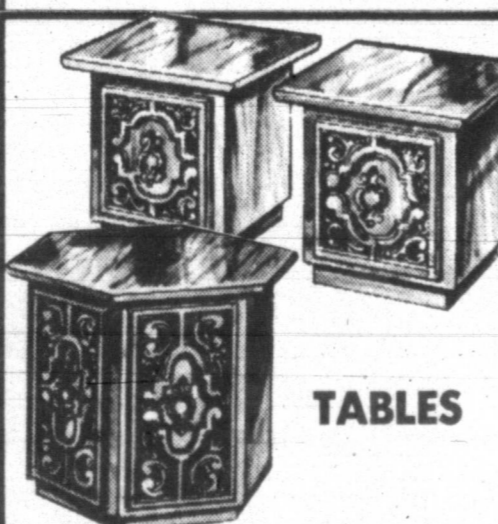

Dawson Cooper, chairman of a landowner group called "Our Land Our Lives," said figures announced Tuesday by the Secretary of the Army claim the project will result in larger savings than originally announced.

"Originally the army stated the land was needed for longer range firing practice and maneuvers of larger units," Cooper said. "They gave us examples the saving of $2 million annual expenditures for sending the equivalent of a division to Ft. Bliss each year and the saving of $400,000 to deduced the present impact area. "One month later," they now claim it costs $3 million to send a division of troops to Ft. Bliss for temporary training, and that it costs $862,000 to deduce the impact area."

He said the Army originally indicated it would be firing over Highway 116 if the fort is expanded, but changed that statement Tuesday and said the firing will not be across the highway.

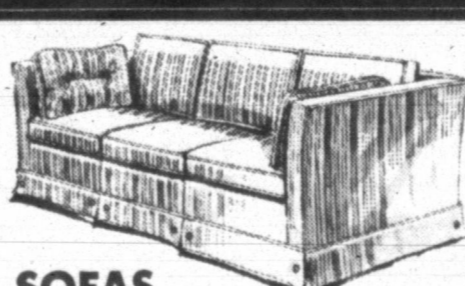

"These are a few examples of the inconsistencies in the information which has been given to the landowners and the public regarding reasons for the proposed expansion," Cooper said.

"We are asking the army for detailed information which will disclose whether the proposed expansion is in fact needed."

Lewis Preps For State, Sawyer For All-Stars

By PAUL SIMS
 Howie Lewis, Pampa High's only entrant in the state track meet May 9-10 at Austin, chipped (broke stride) on the fourth hurdle in practice Wednesday.

Usually, chopping means poor times. In that case, however, it only slowed Lewis a little as the 6-6 senior ran an exceptional 39.4 in the 330's his best time ever in practice.

Lewis will compete in both the 330 intermediates and 120 highs in the state meet.

"He looked real good yesterday," Pampa coach Scott Dunnam said. "He chopped on the fourth hurdle. On the first and second he ran real good, probably better than he's ever run in practice."

little more knowledge than they did last year.

Welborn singled out the defensive secondary, offensive backs, defensive end Kelly Baker and linebacker Frankie Lemmons as having outstanding performances.

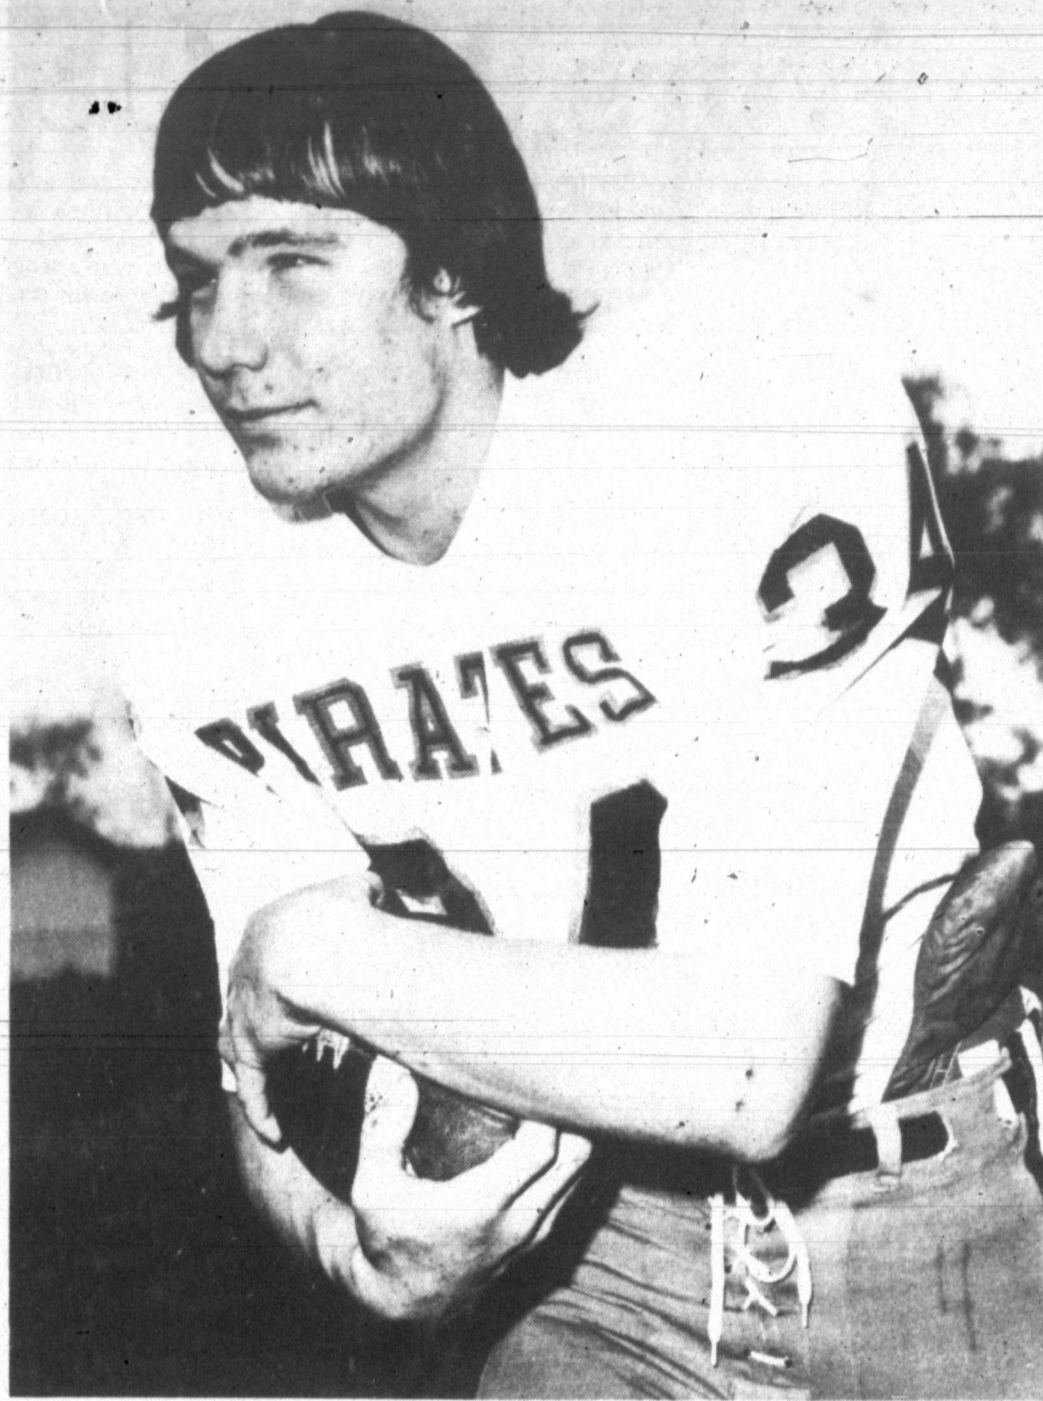

Seventy upperclassmen (to play as juniors and seniors) and over 35 sophomores participated in the opening workout.

Senior Barney Sawyer for Lefors will be among players in the annual Coaches North-South All-Star Game this summer at Amon Carter Stadium in Fort Worth.

Sawyer, 6-0 and 185 pounds, gained over 1,600 yards at fullback for state semifinalist Lefors last season and averaged 22 tackles a game at linebacker.

Sawyer has talked to several colleges but hasn't decided on where he'll attend in the fall.

Lefors coach Leonard Tolbert says Sawyer can play college ball. "Yes, because to play college ball it's nice to have speed and all these things, but the most important thing is endurance. And, I think he has it."

BARNEY SAWYER Selected For All-Stars

Club To Have Weekend Meet

Twenty-three Pampa Dolphin Swim Club members will be entered in their first long-course meet of the season Friday through Sunday at the West Texas State University Pool in Canyon.

The course is 50 meters long, according to Pampa coach Malcolm Douglass.

The team completed its short course (25 yards) season last weekend at Lubbock 32 Dolphins entered 150 individual events and eight relays in the meet, which attracted over 300 swimmers from 13 West Texas teams.

Pampa swimmers earned seven first-place medals, three seconds and 15 thirds, all in individual events. "This was the best overall meet for the Dolphins this year," Douglass said.

No team championships are awarded at the Junior Olympics, only individual honors. Swimmers are limited to five individual events and two relays.

In individual competition, Clay Douglass of Pampa earned four first places and a third Stacy Ward of Pampa had three firsts, one second and a fourth.

Other Pampans to compete well were Kim Campbell, Teresa Baxter, Ronnie Gibson, Darrell Dyle, Mark Lehnick and Julie Turner.

Douglass earned a "AA" time in the 200 individual medley. That is the first "AA" time gained by a Dolphin swimmer this season.

Earning "A" times were Reid Steger, Richie Hill, Miss Ward, Miss Turner and Miss Campbell earned additional "A" times.

Pampa medal winners included Douglass (first in 200 IM, first in 200 free, first in 50 fly, third in 50 breast), Miss Ward (first in 200 IM, fourth in 50 breast, first in 50 fly, second in 200 free, first in 50 back), Hill (third in 200 IM, third in 50 fly) and Chris Alexander (third in 500 free).

Others were Kris Douglass (third in 500 free), Richard Steger (third in 200 IM, third in 100 breast), Reid Steger (third in 50 free, third in 200 free), Miss Turner (third in 50 breast, third in 100 free), Miss Campbell (second in 100 breast), Tammy Glasscock (third in 100 breast, second in 100 back), Gary Smith (third in 100 breast, Lehnick (third in 100 fly) and Robbie Hill (third in 200 free).

Relay teams were also successful. The boys 10 and under team of David Dawson, Reid Steger, Richie Hill and Douglass was first in the 200 medley event and first in the 200 free relay.

Renita Hill, Sarah Gill, Miss Turner and Miss Ward were second in both the 10 and under 200 medley and 200 free relays.

In boys 11-12, Robbie Hill, Richard Steger, Rob Williams and Ched Ward were second in the 400 medley relay. Kyle substituted for Ward in the 400 free relay and the team placed second.

In the girls 13-14 400 medley and 400 free relays, the team of Miss Glasscock, Robin Hill, Miss Campbell and Miss Douglass was second in both events.

The Pampa Club will hold its annual awards banquet Monday at the First United Methodist Church. Information on the affair may be obtained from Douglass.

LSC Cuts Spring Work

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (UPI) — The Lone Star Conference, one of the top small college athletic leagues in the nation, faces the same problem as other intercollegiate groups — lack of funds.

So the LSC did something about it Wednesday.

At the league's annual business meeting conference officials passed several cost-cutting measures — the most spectacular of which was the elimination of spring football drills.

Bullets Rip Celts

By United Press International
 It may be too early to write the Boston Celtics' eulogy but the Washington Bullets seem on the verge of burying the defending National Basketball Association champions.

With a balanced attack from the pivot, backcourt and bench, Washington completely outplayed the Celtics Wednesday night to score a 117-92 victory and grab a 2-0 lead in the Eastern Conference finals.

Elvin Hayes once again dominated Boston center Dave Cowens, outscoring him 29-18, while guard Phil Chenier poured in 25 points for the Bullets. Nick Weatherspoon came off the bench to hit 18 for Washington.

Both coaches, however, said they thought the game was turned on Boston's poor shooting.

"We were hot but they helped us by missing a lot of their shots," said Washington Coach K.C. Jones.

Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn agreed that the 37.3 shooting percentage by his players was the major factor in the loss that puts the Celtics in trouble for the third playoff game in Boston Saturday. The Bullets first victory was in Boston while Wednesday night's game was before a sellout crowd of 19,059 at Landover, Md.

"We had wide open shots and everybody was missing them," he said after opening the Boston dressing room 15 minutes after the defeat. "We couldn't put it in the hole."

Washington built an 11-point lead in the opening quarter and was never threatened. John Havlicek managed only 11 points for Boston.

In the Western Conference finals in Chicago, the Bulls evened their series against Golden State at 1-1 with a 90-89 victory over the Warriors. The third game will be nationally televised Sunday in Chicago.

With just seconds left and the Warriors leading, 89-88, Norm Van Lier ran an option play intended for Chet Walker or Bob Love but found both covered. Van Lier went up for a shot himself. In the air, he spotted center Tom Boerwinkle alone underneath and fired a pass. Boerwinkle hit a layup with two seconds left to clinch the win.

"I went up for the shot myself," Van Lier said, "and I saw Tom under the basket. He freelanced to get there and I tried to throw it to him as hard as I could."

Boerwinkle said, "There are several options on the play, and it should have gone to Chet or Bob Love. But I just snuck down under there and there was the ball."

Boerwinkle's basket climaxed a rally by the Bulls in which they wiped out a seven-point lead in little more than the last five minutes of the game.

Yanks Trim Baltimore

UPI Sports Writer
 Suddenly, they were the "Flushing Flailers" and, for one night anyway, it was 1956 or 1964 all over again.

Wednesday night, Bobby Bonds dredged up memories of the Yankees' storied past of late-inning, game-winning home runs with a three-run shot in the ninth inning that carried the "visiting" tenants of Flushing's Shea Stadium to a come-from-behind 6-4 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Bonds, the man the Yankees are looking to as their big stick, a Mickey Mantle-Yogi Berra-Roger Maris of bygone championship years, was philosophical about his homer and his inevitable team-leader role.

"I know the Yanks are expecting a lot out of me," he said. "I'll steal a few bases, knock in a few runs and hit a few out, but I'm not a one-man team."

Reynolds used to be with me in the San Francisco chain and we used to call him "Bullet Bob." So I guess when I went up there in the ninth, I was looking for a fastball and wanted just one good swing."

He got both. Pinch-hitter Walt Williams started the rally with a single and then scored the first run of the inning on Maddox's single. Dave Duncan's two-run single in the eighth and Tommy Davis' solo homer in the fourth helped Baltimore build a 4-2 lead going into the ninth.

Elsewhere in the American League, Milwaukee downed Detroit, 6-2. Cleveland clubbed Boston, 8-1. Texas shellacked Chicago, 8-2, and California outlasted Kansas City, 7-6. Oakland, at Minnesota was rained out.

In National League action, it was Los Angeles over Atlanta, 5-2. Pittsburgh over St. Louis, 5-0. Philadelphia on top of Montreal, 2-1. San Diego in front of Houston, 4-2. Cincinnati ahead of Cincinnati, 4-1, and Chicago over the New York Mets, 7-4.

Indians 8, Red Sox 1:
 Boog Powell drove in three runs with a single and a homer and Gaylord Perry chalked up his fourth victory as Cleveland built up a 7-0 lead over Boston after five innings. Perry struck out eight to move into 13th place on the all-time list with 2,337, while George Hendrick added to the Indians' attack with three hits and two RBIs.

Rangers 8, White Sox 2:
 Jim Spencer clubbed a two-run homer and a two-run double to help Jim Bibby beat Chicago for his first 1975 win and give Texas its fourth straight triumph. Spencer unloaded his second homer of the season in the third with Mike Hargrove aboard and doubled home both Hargrove and Len Randle the following inning.

Others were Kris Douglass (third in 500 free), Richard Steger (third in 200 IM, third in 100 breast), Reid Steger (third in 50 free, third in 200 free), Miss Turner (third in 50 breast, third in 100 free), Miss Campbell (second in 100 breast), Tammy Glasscock (third in 100 breast, second in 100 back), Gary Smith (third in 100 breast, Lehnick (third in 100 fly) and Robbie Hill (third in 200 free).

Relay teams were also successful. The boys 10 and under team of David Dawson, Reid Steger, Richie Hill and Douglass was first in the 200 medley event and first in the 200 free relay.

Renita Hill, Sarah Gill, Miss Turner and Miss Ward were second in both the 10 and under 200 medley and 200 free relays.

In boys 11-12, Robbie Hill, Richard Steger, Rob Williams and Ched Ward were second in the 400 medley relay. Kyle substituted for Ward in the 400 free relay and the team placed second.

In the girls 13-14 400 medley and 400 free relays, the team of Miss Glasscock, Robin Hill, Miss Campbell and Miss Douglass was second in both events.

The Pampa Club will hold its annual awards banquet Monday at the First United Methodist Church. Information on the affair may be obtained from Douglass.

Bufs Set Scrimmage

CANYON — There is no denying that West Texas State owns a great football tradition, and the last person to discount that fact this week will be Buff head coach Gene Mayfield.

The 1975 edition of the Maroon ends its spring drills Saturday night in Kimbrough Memorial Stadium with the first varsity alumni game in five years. Offensive backfield coach Jim Dawson reflects the feelings of the staff when he says, "With all their size and experience, the alumni team should really give us a battle."

Spahn Slates Return

Tickets are still available, but rapidly disappearing, for the Pampa Optimist Club's Opening Day Barbeque and baseball ceremonies May 10 at the club building.

Price is $3.00 per ticket; children six and under will be admitted at no charge. Tickets may be obtained from the Pampa News sports department or from most Optimist Club members.

Again, baseball Hall of Famer Warren Spahn will be the featured guest. Last year, Spahn delighted the large crowd with a pitching exhibition and speech to Pampa's Little League and Babe Ruth teams.

Spahn, who ranches near Hartshorne, Okla., holds several Major League records, most of them attained while pitching for Milwaukee of the National League in the late 1950's. Those marks include most seasons leading Major Leagues in complete games (seven) and most seasons leading in games won (four, tied with two others).

He also holds many National League records, including most seasons consecutive, with 100 or more strikeouts (17 with Boston from 1947-52 and Milwaukee from 1953-1963) and most seasons with at least 200 innings pitched (17).

Spahn, enjoying ranch life at the present, told The News last year he hopes to return to baseball as a manager sometime in the future.

The ex-baseball great will also be the guest at the barbeque, which starts at 4 p.m. Ceremonies are slated to begin at 6:30 p.m., according to John McGuire, one of those in charge of the Opening Day festivities.

team are 11 players from the 1974 WT squad that went 6-5, and a trio of greats from the WT's last bowl team in 1967. Off that team which clubbed San Fernando Valley State 35-13 in the Junior Rose Bowl are Fullback Albie '00' Owens, quarterback Roy Winters, and mammoth offensive tackle A.Z. Drones. Announcements of more former Buff greats to play in the benefit game will be made during the week.

The game itself will benefit the fund for Friona football coach Bob Owens. Owens recently suffered a heart attack, and his wife is presently undergoing treatment for cancer.

Tickets are priced at $2 for adults and $1 for students and are available at the WTSU athletic ticket office in Canyon.

As for the varsity Bufs themselves, Mayfield says his team is ready for the outside competition. "A full game would be good for us," he said early this week. "It will be good for us to go against a defense that we don't know what will do."

At this point, Mayfield figures he'll start about the same lineup that has been first team all spring. "It should be pretty much what it has been. We might have to move some linemen around for depth, and there might be a chance or two on defense."

Two of the brighter spots in last Friday's controlled scrimmage in Kimbrough Stadium were halfbacks Anthony Dogan and Richard Riggins. The two sophomores - to - be didn't score, but Dogan carried nine times for 70 yards, and Riggins added 54 more yards on 11 totes.

Riggins also had a hand in the largest gain of the night, a 37-yard bomb from quarterback Tully Blanchard that set up the first touchdown of the evening. Blanchard ended the night with five completions in 10 attempts for 68 yards and one touchdown.

The man who drew as many as any other player, however, was walk-on Jack Mullins, a soph - to - be from Dalhart. Mullins caught two passes while playing at split end for the first time.

"Isn't he something," Mayfield asked after the practice. "His first catch (a four-yard gain from Tracy Qualls) was just super. He didn't catch that many, but he really blocked well."

Game time Saturday is 7:30 p.m.

Prairie Chickens Becoming Active For Spring Mating

By J.D. PEER
 Field Officer

One of the earliest residents of Texas, the prairie chicken, is at it again.

Every spring at this time, these grassland residents move onto the same booming grounds and there the cocks or males strut and boom by sucking air into the sacs located on their neck. This noise and show is to attract the hens that are waiting outside the booming grounds. As the hen walks onto the open area, all of the males will immediately show his stuff and then the hen will pick her mate.

At one time, these game birds, the lesser prairie chicken, ranged over all of Texas but, increased plowing of native grasslands has now reduced the habitat to only a few areas in northwest Texas. The last stronghold of the bird include areas in Cochran, Hockley;

Yoaum and Lamb counties on the south plains and about 15 counties in the northeastern part of the Texas Panhandle.

The requirements for these game birds is more demanding than those of the quail or dove. Large tracts of native grasslands with sagebrush, mesquite or post oak are required. This type of land is disappearing fast.

A stable population of birds exist on the remaining large tracts of grasslands and the annual prairie chicken hunt held each fall helps to harvest surplus birds. The elimination of this hunt would not increase the range of the birds according to Dick DeArment, extension biologist, of Wheeler.

"The prairie chicken will never become populated across the plains as it once was in the early days," DeArment said.

"The Texas Parks & Wildlife Department is trying to help maintain the existing habitat and annual game bird census counts are conducted on the booming grounds to keep tabs on the population," DeArment continued.

The demand for more food to feed the hungry people have placed a high priority on farming land and this in turn has affected all species of wildlife but, not as much as it has the lesser prairie chicken.

Saigon Survivors Hit US

United Press International
The first wave of the survivors of Saigon rescued by the U.S. airlift has arrived in the United States, and hundreds of the Vietnam refugees set out today to find new homes and new lives in America.

Thousands more were on the way. But the American evacuation program failed to rescue additional hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese who said they feared for their lives in the Communist takeover of South Vietnam.

U.S. officials had said up to 1 million people would be endangered by the fall of Vietnam. Fewer than 100,000—probably no more than 60,000—were rescued.

Some Americans criticized the emigration of Vietnamese to this country. But other U.S. citizens asked for understanding and a welcoming attitude for the exiles.

Thousands of American military men toiled at the relocation centers in the Pacific and the three bases chosen for the refugees' temporary homes in the United States—Camp Pendleton, Calif.; Ft. Chaffee, Ark., and Eglin Air Force Base, Fla.

Across the Pacific, the rescue operation was still picking up groups of refugees.

The American naval armada that picked up the last stragglers who managed to escape Saigon, many of them were deserting South Vietnamese soldiers, moved away from the Vietnamese coast into the South China Sea.

In Honolulu, Adm. Noel Gayler, commander of all

American forces in the Pacific, said 20 helicopters piloted by Vietnamese ditched at sea in the pilots' futile attempts to locate the rescue vessels.

Fifty more South Vietnamese warplanes arrived safely today at the American B52 bomber base in U Tapao, Thailand, where 2,700 refugees swelled camps first set up to absorb fleeing Cambodians.

Many of the Vietnamese who landed in California Tuesday and early today left for destinations across the country via rented cars, buses and commercial flights. Most of them were apparently healthy, clean, well dressed and well educated.

"The real hard-core refugees will arrive later," an official in charge of the resettlement efforts at Camp Pendleton, Calif., said.

In California, 813 refugees arrived Tuesday on six flights to Camp Pendleton—the first group aboard a blue-and-silver jet emblazoned "Holidayliner Freedom"—and 70 more arrived early today at Norton Air Force Base.

A military transport brought 48 Vietnamese infant orphans to Los Alamitos, Calif., Naval Air Station, and 65 more young orphans landed Tuesday night at McChord Air Force Base in Washington state.

An Air Force major from New York City who arrived at Pendleton with eight Vietnamese friends admitted he lied to get them into the country.

"No, I'm not related to any of them—except for the time being, on paper," he said. "I met them when I was stationed in 'the Nam' and they're my friends. I just felt I had to get them out and so I told the authorities I was taking out my wife and in-laws.

"So I lied," the major said. "So what? The authorities... must have known I was lying but they knew that was the only way to save their lives."

In Arkansas, where residents of the communities surrounding Ft. Chaffee were distinctly cool to first announcements of the plans to house the Vietnamese for 90 days or more, Fort Smith city administrator Ray Riley said, "Now as we realize this is a temporary thing, more organizations are calling to offer their help. We're a rather pleased with the response we're getting locally.

"As more information becomes available, people will understand better what is happening."

Arkansas Gov. Dale Bumpers, whose home is less than two miles from the camp, said, "We can't duck it. These people are friendly to the United States."

Not all Americans greeted the prospect of new Vietnamese neighbors.

A radio talk show in Florida heard many irate callers condemn the refugee program.

"It's ridiculous," said a 24-year-old cocktail waitress who works about 10 miles south of Eglin AFB. "It's hard enough for us to live here and find jobs."

"I would like to round them all up and send them back," said one caller who refused to be identified.

The Vietnamese "are just coming for a chance to survive," said Sgt. Raymond Woodrom, an Army language expert sent to help process refugees. "I think it's selfish the way these people are reacting."

"They're people, just people like you and me."

Interpreters, Docs Prepare

FORT SMITH, Ark. (UPI)—The Army moved in hundreds of interpreters, medical and security personnel into Ft. Chaffee Tuesday in preparation for the arrival of South Vietnamese refugees. But officials said today they still do not know when the refugees will arrive or how many are on their way to the post.

Lt. Col. Victor Keefe, assistant information officer, said the refugees definitely will not arrive today as military officials earlier reported. Keefe said he thought the refugees will begin arriving Thursday.

Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., said Tuesday he was told the first refugees were expected to arrive Friday afternoon. Hammerschmidt said he received his information from Donald McDonald of the Vietnam Refugee Interagency Task Force, who has been designated the senior civilian supervisor at Ft. Chaffee.

Keefe said 235 support troops were moved into the post by Tuesday morning and troops continued to arrive during the day. Thirty interpreters fluent in Vietnamese from Ft. Hood, Tex., were among the troops, Keefe said. He said a special field hospital unit also will be moved in and a military police unit of 300 men is expected from Ft. Hood.

Keefe said no health problems were anticipated among the refugees.

Hammerschmidt, who spoke to McDonald Tuesday, said he was assured the entire refugee relocation operation at Chaffee, Operation Helping Hand, will be carried out "with no adverse impact—economic, health or otherwise—on the surrounding community."

Keefe said the refugees will be fed a fish and rice diet. He said he did not know what kind of orientation program will be available.

Keefe said the Defense Department contracted commercial airlines to fly the refugees to Arkansas. If the airlines use any planes smaller than a DC10, they will fly directly into Fort Smith. If the airlines use DC10s, the planes will have to land at Little Rock Air Force Base and the refugees will have to be transported to Chaffee. He said LRAFB has the only runway in the state long enough for a DC10 to land.

"Right now, we're looking at them landing at Fort Smith," Keefe said.

Hammerschmidt said McDonald's party will leave Washington today and take charge of the operation Thursday.

Texan White Says Send Viet Refugees to Pacific

White Says Send Refugees to Pacific

News Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — An El Paso congressman has warned his colleagues and President Ford that Vietnamese refugees entering the United States might suffer cultural shock and be subject to "drastic reactions" and recriminations from some Americans.

Democrat Richard White has asked the Ford Administration to transport South Vietnamese citizens to certain Pacific islands rather than the United States.

White suggested that refugees be left in the Pacific Trust Territories of Micronesia to avoid "a traumatic experience for the South Vietnamese refugees and the people of our country."

"It would take generations for them to assimilate into our society and we could count on generations of them being welfare wards of this country at tremendous expense to our taxpayers," said White.

Attorney General Edward Levi has said some 150,000 South Vietnamese might enter the country as a result of the military situation in Southeast Asia. Others have placed the estimates as high as one million.

White said the Pacific island territories are sparsely populated and could accommodate the Vietnamese.

"These islands are quite alike in terrain and climate to South Vietnam and the few peoples inhabiting them are of similar ethnic strain," White said.

He said these islands would eliminate the cultural shock these people would suffer should they suddenly be deposited in this country which is completely foreign to them.

White has also been contacting other members of Congress, attempting to generate support.

WASHINGTON — The emotional issues of humanitarian evacuation and military aid to South Vietnam deeply split the Texas congressional delegation when legislation authorizing $327 million in assistance passed the House late this past week.

Fifteen Texans voted to authorize the aid money, which works out to $250 million in relief to South Vietnamese refugees and $77 million for the evacuation of both those refugees and remaining Americans.

Eight Texas House members, including two conservative and usually hawkish Republicans, voted against the assistance. The measure passed, 230-187.

This vote came two weeks after President Ford's urgent appeal for $250 million in humanitarian aid and $722 million in emergency military money to help cement, at least temporarily, the Saigon regime's deteriorating position.

An attempt was made in the House to add $150 million in military aid to the bill, but that effort fell flat, rejected 394-22. Only two Texans — Reps. Bob Poage, D - Waco and John Young, D - Corpus Christi — voted for military assistance.

The two Texas Republicans who deserted Ford and their party's position on humanitarian aid and evacuation aid were Reps. Bill Archer of Houston and Jim Collins of Dallas. Both men had usually supported Vietnam aid in the past.

But there were other Texas conservatives who opposed the aid request as well, all of them former hawks on the war issue. They were Reps.: Omar Burleson, D - Anson, Bob Casey, D - Houston and Dale Milford, D - Dallas.

The other three Texans who voted against any more aid to South Vietnam are moderate liberals — Reps. Jack Brooks, D - Beaumont, Bob Eckhardt, D - Houston and Barbara Jordan, D - Houston.

Those voting for further assistance to South Vietnam were: Reps. Kika de la Garza, D - Mission; Jack Hightower, D - Vernon; Abraham Kazen, D - Laredo; Bob Drueger, D - New Braunfels; George Mahon, D - Lubbock; Wright Patman, D - Texarkana; Jack Pickle, D - Austin; Bob Poage, D - Waco; Ray Roberts, D - McKinney; Alan Steelman, R - Dallas.; Olin Teague, D - College Station; Richard White, D - El Paso; Charles Wilson, D - Lufkin; Jim Wright, R - Dallas and John Young, D - Corpus Christi. Only Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D - San Antonio, did not vote.

Inflation, Recession Change US Lifestyles

NEW YORK (UPI)—The combined impact of inflation and recession is changing American lifestyles, according to a report released Tuesday.

General Mills American Family Report, 1974-75 found Americans are spending more time at home, eating less frequently in restaurants, giving fewer gifts, and converging on discount stores.

"Budgeting, savings, wives working all are part of the effort to deal with inflation," observes Daniel Yankelovich, a social scientist and president of Yankelovich, Skelly and White, Inc., which conducted the survey. "But without a doubt, the most universal strategy is for the family to change its buying and spending patterns and to adjust its lifestyle."

Among other findings, the survey showed 65 per cent of the family members interviewed are cutting back on electricity, 44 per cent "are not buying clothes the way we used to," and 34 per cent now are repairing belongings that, until recently, would have been discarded.

Despite these efforts to beat inflation, automobile repairs are straining the budgets of many Americans. "But 10 per cent have put off repairs until it is too late," says Yankelovich.

Credit cards and charge accounts have become a "prop and a temptation" for families trying to make ends meet in today's economy.

Home Insurance Not Mandatory For Mortgage

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The House has tentatively approved legislation prohibiting mortgage companies from requiring a consumer to purchase insurance as a condition to granting the mortgage.

A mortgage or insurance company who violates the legislation could have misdemeanor charges filed against it.

Rep. Robert Maloney, R-Dallas, attempted to amend the bill during Tuesday's debate to exempt insurance companies from the legislation if they offer a consumer a policy within 90 days of the mortgage contract.

"It gives the customer the opportunity to shop the policy," Maloney said. "All we're saying is we're going to give the person enough time to shop and get the best policy."

But the bill's sponsor, Rep. Ben Bynum, D-Amarillo, said Maloney's amendment would gut the bill and the House defeated it, 45-87.

"It would completely, absolutely make this a ridiculous bill," Bynum said. "It (Maloney's amendment) was nothing but an effort to completely gobble up this bill and make it absolutely unworkable."

Bentsen Warns Against Pull-out Overreaction

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., called Tuesday on Americans not to overreact because the United States pulled out of South Vietnam.

"We're not going to be the world's policemen," the Democratic presidential candidate said. "Leaving South Vietnam doesn't mean the twilight of American power."

Speaking to a meeting of insurance agents and brokers, Bentsen said the Soviet Union and France suffered military setbacks in Cuba and Algeria but continued as world powers.

On another matter, Bentsen said investment in manufacturing had to be encouraged and he recommended a five-year tax writeoff on new machinery using less energy.

The Texas Democrat said the Bureau of Standards contends the new machinery installations could reduce energy use 30 per cent.

Bentsen criticized the Ford administration for the way it is handling the current recession. "We are not going to talk our way out of it," he said. Bentsen also said unemployment may go above 9 per cent in the nation.

He recommended Congress impose a 20-cent-a-gallon tax on gasoline which would be rebated through payroll withholding. Bentsen said the tax would reduce the use of oil.

DETERMINED NUN
CHICAGO (UPI) — Paul Dismuke, 28, has found that the long arm of the law can be cloaked in a nun's habit.

A Cook County grand jury Monday indicted Dismuke with robbery, charging that he talked into the Corpus Christi Church on the South Side and tried to run off with $2,900 from the church's office.

Sister Ann Rubly, weighing 130 pounds, ran after him, tackled him and held him for police, despite his attempts to free himself.

Auto Profits Hit Low

The nation's two largest steel companies Tuesday reported sharply higher profits despite the deepening recession in the first three months of the year. But the profits of the largest auto-maker hit a 29-year low.

U.S. Steel Corp. and Bethlehem Steel Corp. said their first-quarter earnings were more than or nearly double profits in the same period last year.

Detroit did not fair as well. General Motors Corp. said its first quarter earnings fell 51 per cent to $59 million, or 20 cents a share, the lowest since losing $36 million in a 1946 strike. In the first three months of 1974, GM earned $120 million or 41 cents a share.

U.S. Steel's first-quarter profits were $182.1 million, or $3.36 per share, compared to $89.5 million, or $1.65 per share, during the same period last year. Bethlehem's profits rose to $80.3 million, or $1.84 a share, compared to $43.1 billion, or 99 cents a share.

Despite the bleak first quarter, GM executives joined officers of the two steel companies in expressing optimism about an end to the recession.

GM Chairman Thomas A. Murphy and President Elliott M. Estes said "the pressures of inflation are easing, inventories are being reduced and short-term interest rates are lower."

Edgar B. Speer, chairman of U.S. Steel, and Lewis W. Foy, Bethlehem chairman, warned the steel companies are just beginning to feel the pinch of the recession, as customers cut back on orders.

But Speer said: "We are optimistic that the worst of the economic recession is behind us, although a period of adjustment for the domestic steel industry still lies ahead."

In other developments Tuesday: —Business failures last week were the greatest in more than eight years, Dun & Bradstreet said. The firm said 313 commercial and industrial firms failed, the highest weekly total since March, 1967.

—The new president of the American Bankers Association, J. Rex Duwe, said the price of single-family houses has risen faster than public's ability to buy because of inefficient use of materials and land by builders. —Inflation and recession are forcing dramatic changes in the life style of Americans, according to the annual report by General Mills on American Family life. Americans are spending more time at home, giving fewer gifts, doing more home and auto repairs and using credit cards and charge accounts less, the study said.

Chief Offers Precautions

By ANNA BURCHELL

Although a fewer number of burglaries and break-ins are reported in Pampa than in other cities of comparable size, Police Chief Richard Mills asked for cooperation of the public to protect both property and lives.

With vacation time around the corner, a number of precautions were given by the chief as citizens prepare for out of town trips.

Those planning a vacation should notify the police department and officers will be glad to watch the property.

He also urged that lone women guard against burglars by observing a few precautions.

Many families will be moving into different homes and the police urged that, when moving into a new house or apartment, have a locksmith re-key outside locks. Previous tenants or former employees may still have keys.

If the principal lock does not have a deadbolt with a minimum one-inch throw, locksmiths may recommend a secondary security deadbolt device with a minimum side without opening the front door.

Chief Mills recommended that cooperation with neighbors is helpful with one keeping watch while the other is away.

Keep windows secured or install window locks on those left open for ventilation, he recommended.

This type lock can limit window openings to a space small enough to prevent entry.

The chief said an important rule for women living alone to follow is "to keep doors locked even when you are at home."

The chief said he strongly urges residents to lock up and take the key—even if going next door for coffee with a neighbor.

This could prevent a burglar from entering the house.

A useful device, the chief said, is for women if husbands are away to tell a stranger caller that he is in the shower and ask for a name or number to return at a later date.

"Never open the door automatically whenever the bell rings or someone knocks," the chief commented. "If you have not installed a door peep hole or grille, insist that the visitor call out his identification—and if you don't know him—don't let him in."

If a stranger requests use of the telephone, whether man or

Today Marks Loyalty Day Says VFW

Today is Loyalty Day by Congressional Act 85-529 of 1958, according to the Ninth District Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary which includes Pampa.

The group urges Pampa citizens to join them in observing the day by displaying flags.

The VFW and auxiliary will meet Saturday and Sunday in Borger for the Ninth District Convention.

Registration will begin at 2 p.m. followed by cocktail hour and a dance.

Sunday's agenda includes district commanders meeting, a joint meeting and other gatherings. The convention will end Sunday afternoon with a banquet in Borger's VFW Hall.

Members of post 1657 from Pampa will attend.

Believes Conjugal Visits Would Help

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Selma Wells, the first woman and black appointed to the Board of Pardons and Paroles, says conjugal visits will reduce homosexuality and tensions in Texas prisons.

The Senate Nominations Committee unanimously approved Mrs. Wells nomination Tuesday to the three-member board that oversees Texas' prison system. Her nomination now goes to the Senate floor.

At the committee hearing Mrs. Wells was asked by Sen. Raul Longoria, D-Edinburg, what she thought about providing homes to house inmates and spouses for weeklong visits.

"It would reduce a great deal of homosexuality and many of the pressures and tensions of being in prison," she said.

Mrs. Wells and her late husband, Sonny, founded nine halfway houses to help inmates recently released from prison adjust to society. Sonny, a former inmate, served 28 years in prison.

Sen. Bob Gammage, D-Houston, urged quick Senate confirmation of Mrs. Wells to the board.

"This appointment was not hastily made," Gammage said. "Her qualifications were years a-building."

Mrs. Wells said she will visit prisons "at every available opportunity. I'd like to become a known figure, by sight."

"I am a people to people person. Unless I can enjoy this work, I can't do the job. And I can't enjoy this work unless I visit the prison."

She said she will have to work with the inmates individually to determine which are ready for parole.

Mrs. Wells also said granting parole must be done at the right time.

"There is a psychological time in every inmate's life that he is the best risk to send into society," she said. "After that point he regresses."

When parole is denied, the reasons must be explained thoroughly to the inmate and his family, she said.

"They're given a list of reasons, but people don't understand this," she said. "It must be explained to them so they can understand."

Gunsmoke, Matt Dillon Die After 20-year Run

NEW YORK (UPI) — Matt Dillon is dead. After 20 years on the air, CBS-TV has canceled "Gunsmoke," the second longest-running program in the history of prime time television.

CBS' announcement was part of the network's fall lineup for the 1975-76 season, which it hopes will lead the broadcaster to a prime-time victory in the national ratings for the 20th consecutive year.

The new schedule also meant death for five other shows and gave birth to nine others. Nineteen other shows remain, but many of them have been given new time slots. There are 12 comedies, three variety shows and the rest are action-adventures.

One of the biggest surprises was the movement of "All in the Family," TV's highest-rated show, from Saturday night to Monday.

NBC announced its schedule last week, and it is expected that network will make several changes in its lineup. ABC will announce its schedule shortly.

"Gunsmoke," which started as a radio program, began its historic television run in 1955 with James Arness in the role of Matt Dillon, the marshal of Dodge City, Kan., in the 1870s. Only "The Ed Sullivan" show, which ran for 22 years, exceeded "Gunsmoke's" longevity.

Other shows dropped by CBS are "Manhunter," "We'll Get By," "The CBS Friday Night Movie," and "Mannix," which may move to ABC next year.

The network's new shows include "Beacon Hill," an American adaptation of the British series "Upstairs, Downstairs," "Bronk," starring Jack Palance as a unorthodox police investigator; "Switch," starring Robert Wagner and Eddie Albert as two private eyes; and "Kate McShane," starring Anne Meara as a woman lawyer.

CBS also added "Three for the Road," starring Alex Rocco as a freelance photographer who takes his two orphaned sons on his assignments; "Doc," starring Bernard Hughes as a neighborhood doctor in a racially mixed neighborhood; "Big Eddie," starring Sheldon Leonard and Sheree North in a tale about an ex-gambler and his show girl wife; "Phyllis," a spin-off from the Mary Tyler Moore show starring Cloris Leachman as Phyllis; and "Joe and Sons," starring Richard Costellano as a widowed blue collar worker trying to raise his two sons.

The full schedule: (N is new show, (NT is new time)

—SUNDAY: 7-8 p.m., "Three for the Road" (N), 8-9 p.m., "Cher," 9-10 p.m., "Kojak," 10-11 p.m., "Bronk" (N). —MONDAY: 8-8:30 p.m., "Rhoda" (NT), 8:30-9 p.m., "Phyllis" (N), 9-9:30 p.m., "All in the Family" (NT), 9:30-10 p.m., "Maude" (NT), 10-11 p.m., "Medical Center." —TUESDAY: 8-8:30 p.m., "Good Times," 8:30-9 p.m., "Joe and Sons" (N), 9-10 p.m., "Switch" (N), 10-11 p.m., "Beacon Hill" (N). —WEDNESDAY: 8-9 p.m., "Tony Orlando and Dawn," 9-10 p.m., "Cannon," 10-11 p.m., "Kate McShane" (N). —THURSDAY: 8-9 p.m., "The Waltons," 9-11 p.m., "The CBS Thursday Night Movies." —FRIDAY: 8-8:30 p.m., "Big Eddie" (N), 8:30-9 p.m., "M-A-S-H" (NT), 9-10 p.m., "Hawaii Five-O" (NT), 10-11 p.m., "Barnaby Jones" (NT). —SATURDAY: 8-8:30 p.m., "The Jeffersons" (NT), 8:30-9 p.m., "Doc" (N), 9-9:30 p.m., "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," 9:30-10 p.m., "The Bob Newhart Show," 10-11 p.m., "The Carol Burnett Show."

Suit Might Follow Closing at LaGrange

LAGRANGE, Tex. (UPI) — Fayette County Sheriff T.J. "Big Jim" Flournoy is finding lots of support for his defense against a suit filed by the newsman who prompted the closing of LaGrange's most famous attraction.

Television newsman Marvin Zindler, whose stories on the Chicken Ranch forced the closure of the widely known house of prostitution, is suing Flournoy and the county for $3 million. Zindler claims he was beaten by Flournoy.

A Big Jim Flournoy Defense Fund has been started for the sheriff and barbecues have been planned to help pay for his defense.

Flournoy, a former Texas Ranger, says he will give autographed, full color photographs of himself or a "Friend of Big Jim" bumper sticker to anyone contributing.

Farm Laborers Discover Body Near Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Two farm laborers, attracted to an abandoned west Lubbock County cellar by a strange odor, Tuesday discovered the decomposed nude body of a woman.

Justice of the Peace F.H. Bolen said the woman could have been dead for at least a month.

"There's no question but what she was murdered," Bolen said. "The body was found on a blood-spattered mattress pad. She was probably killed elsewhere and her body thrown down there."

The cellar was only about 15 yards from a state highway south of the small community of Wolforth about 15 miles southwest of Lubbock.

The body was discovered by Don Hendon, 18, and Adolph Acevedo, 25, both farm workers for James Mitchell of Wolforth. They were in a field changing irrigation pipe when they noticed the odor.

Deputy Sheriff Don Addington said the woman was wearing a wedding ring. He said her hands were "well cared for, including fingernail polish."

Federal Land Bank Association

Robert Williams, manager

Mary Baten, office assistant

The Federal Land Bank Association of Pampa, 115 W. Francis, is a cooperative, owned and operated by local farmers and ranchers. Its function is to make mortgage loans on farms and ranches in the north east section of the Texas Panhandle.

There are 12 Federal Land Banks in the nation, each one having a number of associations. The Pampa Association is one of 66 for the Federal Land Bank of Houston.

Robert Williams was with the Federal Land Bank of Houston in Houston until he became manager in Pampa two years ago. He is also in charge of a branch in Spearman. Also assisting with the Pampa Association is Mary Baten.

"Much of the work is done outside of this office, so while Williams is out I kind of hold down the fort," explained Mrs. Baten.

According to Williams there are presently 430 active loans in this area. "We deal with long term financing" up to 35 years," he said.

"Our business is not directly related to the short term fluctuations of the economy," he added.

Williams commented that real estate values are increasing, which is reflected in the increased volume of the association. "We can therefore lend more money."

He added that this part of the panhandle is highly mechanized. "The irrigation system here is well developed and other such things which make this region highly productive."
