Humphrey Leads Ohio And Indiana Primaries

AP Political Writer
Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, a slim victor over Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace in the Indiana Democratic primary, clung to a narrowing lead over Sen. George S. McGovern in Ohio today as the tightest 1972 primary headed toward a photo finish.

Returns from Cuyahoga County—Cleveland, where a massive primary day snarl complicated both the balloting and the counting, began to cut into the already thin Humphrey lead for the state's 38 at-large delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

In addition, the Cuyahoga County balloting faced a possible court challenge.

Even if Humphrey's state-wide lead held up, McGovern was running strongly enough around the state to win a significant share of the 153 Ohio delegates.

At midmorning, with the bulk of the Cuyahoga vote yet to be tabulated and only one-third of the Hamilton County—Cincinnati—vote counted before weary election officials went home until tonight, Humphrey led for 80 delegates, including a 13,500-vote margin for the at-large delegates. McGovern for 50.

The Cuyahoga returns, usually about 25 per cent of the state's Democratic vote total, seemed likely to settle the close contest.

A massive voting snafu in Cuyahoga County complicated tabulations.

There was one sure loser, Sen.

Henry M. Jackson of Washington. A poor fourth after 2½ weeks of stumping Ohio, he said he would follow the course of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie and stop campaigning in primaries while remaining a presidential candidate.

Humphrey and McGovern centered their Ohio efforts on appeals to blue collar workers that echoed Wallace in stressing the need for tax reform. McGovern also sought to cut into Humphrey's long-time strength in Black areas.

In Indiana, Wallace himself was a major issue. Humphrey fought off the Alabamian's best Northern showing ever to win 54 of the state's 76 convention delegates.

Wallace, however, picked up 22 delegates as he polled 42 per cent of the vote to 46 per cent for Humphrey and 12 per cent for Muskie.

The Alabama governor was also on his way to a home-state rout of anti-Wallace party loyalists who control the state's Democratic machinery. His backers won 10 races and led in 12 of 19 other Alabama primary contests.

In the Alabama Senate primaries, veteran Sen. John J. Sparkman led a six-candidate Democratic field while former Postmaster General Winton W. Bount led a field of four Republican hopefuls.

In the day's fourth primary, in the District of Columbia, a slate of delegates committed to Walter E. Fauntroy, the capital's elected representative in Congress, led an uncommitted slate by a 2-1 margin in a contest shunned by the presidential contenders.

President Nixon's backers swept through the four Republican primaries with little opposition.

In Ohio, Humphrey jumped into a small lead soon after the polls closed and held it through the evening as district after district reported only a few hundred votes separating him from McGovern.

Returns from 6,504 of the state's 12,648 polling places in the battle for the state's 38 at-large delegates saw Humphrey's slate leading with 217,977 votes to 203,886 for McGovern's slate.

Trailing are Muskie's slate 53,121, Jackson's 43,888 and former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's 13,140.

Besides the 38 at-large delegates, Humphrey was leading for 42 delegates in nine congressional districts. McGovern led for 50 delegates in 10 districts.

Jackson Quitting Primary

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Sen. Henry M. Jackson, whose strong personal presidential campaign in Ohio failed to ignite voter support, has dropped out of active primary election campaigning.

But he said he was not releasing his delegates.

"A lot can happen between now and Miami," Jackson said Tuesday night, looking ahead to the Democratic National Convention in Miami Beach, Fla.

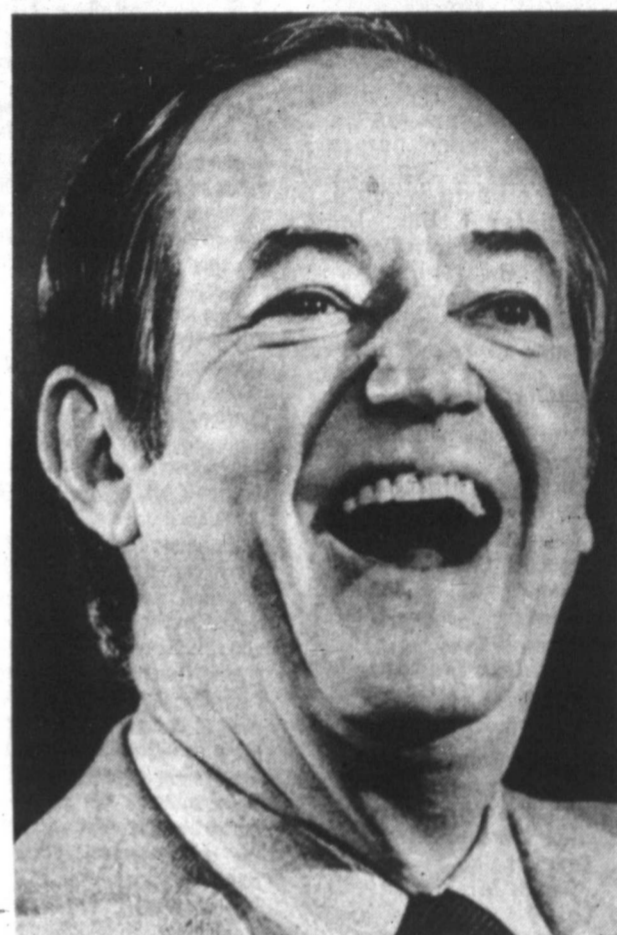

The Washington senator had made a strong bid for Ohio's primary, but finished fourth in a field of five Democrats.

Jackson said that he had to work with a radio-television and newspaper advertising budget of $22,000 in Ohio. He had said earlier that his entire state campaign budget was less than $50,000.

"I had indicated earlier I would not carry on a campaign involving deficit financing," Jackson told newsmen and a small gathering of supporters. "Because of limited campaign funds, it is my decision not to go into any more of the primary campaigns because it will not be possible... without deficit financing."

Jackson continues on the ballot in Oregon, Nebraska and Michigan, which have mandatory primaries. He is also on the California ballot.

"I will continue in the campaign. I am staying with it," Jackson said.

THE HAPPY WARRIOR again, Sen. Hubert Humphrey edged into first place among Democratic presidential contenders

Highlights of the convention will be a golf tournament today at the Dalhart Country Club, the Golden Anniversary dinner on Friday night, the Queens Pageant Saturday afternoon, and the District Governors Banquet and Ball Saturday night. More than 40 entries have been received in the Queens Contest from Lions Clubs throughout the district. The 1972 district queen will be picked from the club queens and will be crowned at the Saturday night banquet. Miss Leigh Nall of Wellington is the present queen.

Local Lions Delegation To Attend Area Meet

District Gov. Floyd Sackett of Pampa and a delegation from the city's two Lions Clubs will go to Dalhart tomorrow for the opening of the 3-day annual convention of District 2-T1 of Lions International.

Included in the Pampa delegation will be Glen Cox, cabinet secretary to the district governor, and Jean Martindale and Richard Kastein, presidents of the two Pampa clubs.

Delegates from throughout the entire 2-T1 District also will be in attendance at the convention being hosted by the Dalhart Lions Club in conjunction with its Golden Anniversary observance. The Dalhart Lions were chartered in 1922.

International Director Phil Sterker of Basalt, Colo., will be the featured speaker at the banquet, and will be in attendance at the convention. Dist. Gov. Sackett of Pampa will be the presiding officer at the convention business sessions.

Reports from all activities of Lions over the district will be given during the convention.

"Most of our elected officials are forgetting that they are in office to represent the people, not their selfish prosperity," he said.

absentee voting at 5 p.m. Tuesday saw 355 ballots cast.

Of these 307 were Democratic votes and 48 were Republican.

There is still time for the mail-in ballots to be counted, according to the office of the Gray County Clerk.

For those planning to go to the polls Saturday, these are the ground rules:

Persons who have registered to vote in the Gray County 30 days prior to the election may vote. This is true for those who have moved in from other states as well as local citizens. The old six-months residency requirement is no more.

Those who have moved from one precinct in the county to another less than 30 days ago may vote in their prior precinct but they should register the transfer of residency as soon as possible.

Those who have lost their registration cards may still vote so long as their names are on the voter rolls. The name will be there if the person was properly registered 30 days or more prior to the election.

While the absentee vote is up almost 35 per cent over 1970, officials in the county clerk's office feel this is not an accurate measure of the probable turnout at the polls. This absentee vote has been rising steadily with about the same margin of increase each election year.

U. S. Launches Heaviest Air Raids Against Reds In South In 4 Years

SAIGON (AP)—North Vietnamese troops attacked within six miles of Hue today after seizing a fire base north of the old imperial capital. Other enemy forces captured the last South Vietnamese stronghold in the northern part of coastal Binh Dinh Province.

A massive U.S. air armada of Air Force, Navy and Marine planes made hundreds of strikes against North Vietnamese positions in South Vietnam but again showed no immediate signs of turning the tide.

In the heaviest raids in more than four years, U.S. fighters and bombers flew 618 strikes in all four military regions of South Vietnam, about two-thirds of them in the northernmost provinces of Quang Tri and Thua Thien in efforts to forestall an attack on Hue.

Following the debacle in Quang Tri, Lt. Gen. Hoang Xuan Lam, commander in the northernmost military region 1, is being replaced.

North Vietnamese forces captured the last South Vietnamese stronghold in northern Binh Dinh Province today and marched to within six miles of the old imperial capital of Hue.

One-quarter of Hue's 200,000 population already has fled, fearing a repeat of the 1968 Tet offensive slaughter in which Communist troops seized and held most of the city for about a month and executed more than 3,000 residents.

Landing Zone English, on the central coast, crumbled after two days of savage attacks that destroyed its artillery and ammunition and inflicted heavy casualties on the South Vietnamese defenders. The several hundred remaining Saigon troops and their families withdrew under the cover of darkness and marched to the coast to ships that carried them to the provincial capital, Qui Nhon.

The fall of English, a regimental command post, completed a sweep of the province by the North Vietnamese. They took three district towns earlier. It left the North Vietnamese in control of 200,000 people, one-fifth of the population of Binh Dinh, gave them a rich rice harvest for their forces, and established a springboard for further thrusts either to the north or south.

A southward thrust would threaten Qui Nhon, South Vietnam's fourth largest city.

Rescuers Still Looking For 77 Missing In Silver Mine Fire

KELLOGG, Idaho (AP)—Rescuers probed through smoky mineshafts today in an effort to locate 77 men reported missing hundreds of feet underground following a fire in the nation's richest silver mine.

Mine officials said five men were known dead and that more than 100 had escaped from the Sunshine Mining Co. operation in this mineral-rich area of northern Idaho.

The Spokane, Wash., Spokesman-Review reported, however, that the known death count was 24. The newspaper declined to give the source of its information.

Marvin C. Chase, a Sunshine vice president and general manager of the company's Western operations, refused to comment on the Spokesman-Review's report.

In Washington a spokesman for the Bureau of Mines said there had been conflicting reports about the number of dead, but that as of early today the reports his agency had received indicated that only five bodies had been found.

Some 100 members of the families of the missing men gathered at the concrete-faced mine after the fire broke out late Tuesday morning, then at the behest of mine officials started a long wait in a nearby mine warehouse.

As darkness fell, mine work-lights illuminated the entrance to the shaft and a corrugated iron structure housing the mine's hoist machinery.

Mine officials would not say whether they knew the location of the missing men in the labyrinth of tunnels that extend 5,000 feet into the earth.

A Sunshine spokesman said the missing miners have no means of communicating with those above ground, and they have not been heard from since the fire started.

More than 100 rescuers from the U.S. Bureau of Mines and other mine operations in the area responded to calls for help.

Working in teams of five and wearing oxygen tanks, rescuers entered the mine shafts for periods up to 30 minutes, closing off areas probed and trying to narrow their field of search.

Chase said the cause and exact location of the fire were not known. It was believed to have burned in timbers in an older portion of the mine between the 3,400 and 3,700 foot levels.

Body Of Edgar Hoover Now In Capitol Rotunda

WASHINGTON (AP)—The body of J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI for nearly 48 years, goes on public view today in the Capitol Rotunda amid expectations that the passing of the man will mean the passing of an era.

There seems little doubt that no matter whom President Nixon names to replace the 77-year-old bachelor, found dead in his home early Tuesday, there will be changes in the nation's top investigative body which Hoover ruled with an iron hand and molded in his own image.

A memorial service was scheduled at the Rotunda at 11 a.m. today, with a eulogy by Chief Justice Warren Burger. The body will lie in state until 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

President Nixon will deliver the eulogy at the funeral service.

PHS Students Pick Junior Class Head

Rick Smith was elected today to serve as vice president of the Junior Class at Pampa High School for next year.

Elected as secretary was Melinda Spearman. Wayne Bruce was elected president in elections held yesterday.

Elections were held today due to a run-off contest for vice president and failure to list one of the candidates for secretary on the ballot yesterday.

ice at the National Presbyterian Church, the one Hoover attended, at 11 a.m. Thursday.

Burial will be in Congressional Cemetery in the nation's capital, Hoover's lifelong home. His only survivors are nieces and nephews.

Hoover, whose body was found beside his bed, died of natural causes. His death was attributed to "hypertensive cardiovascular disease"—an ailment linked to high blood pressure—although the immediate cause might have been a heart attack.

State Ag Candidate Opposes Sales Tax On Food Products

By LARRY HOLLIS

A candidate for state commissioner of agriculture paid his first visit to Pampa yesterday to seek votes for his primary election this Saturday.

Carl A. Bell, of Corpus Christi, visited other parts of the Panhandle, including Amarillo and Borger, to gain support for his candidacy.

Bell, 43, said he is highly opposed to any sales tax on food products, adding, "They are much too high in price now."

He said he would do anything that is legally possible "to stop anybody from levying a tax on groceries."

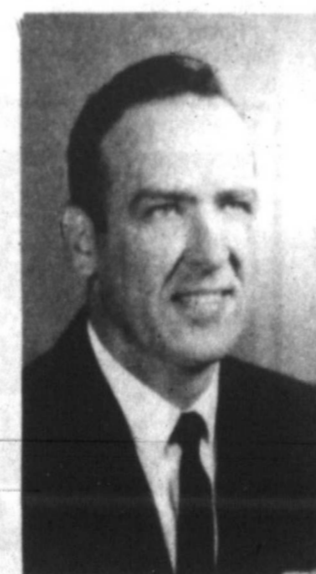

While stating the need to keep food prices low, Bell also feels that the farmers and ranchers are not receiving enough money for their farm products.

"I believe these can be solved to a great extent by forming one statewide co-op or by streamlining the marketing practices now used," he said. "We can reduce the number of middlemen that are making a quick profit on farm products."

Bell explained that by eliminating some of the middlemen who add a cost or profit factor each time, "the farmer could receive a better price and yet we could get the farm product to the grocery shelf at a reduced price to save money for all residents of Texas."

Realizing the need of water to the development of agriculture, Bell said, "I think everybody should do everything possible to capture and store water. Someday we're going to need it."

Bell noted that the water table level in many parts of the state has been decreasing in recent years. He said other sources of water need to be found.

Negotiations between the state and all other bodies concerned is a complex and time consuming effort, Bell said. He added there is more need for action than for words.

"Right now we're facing a water problem in West Texas," Bell stated, "and we should do something about it right now."

He said other areas of the state may not be facing the same problem with water or other matters. Thus, some of the problems could and should be handled on a regional basis.

"Texas is so large that all areas of the state have different problems," he noted. "But we should still try to solve all the problems."

Bell said he is running for the

Gov. Wallace Urges Texans To Help Him Win Delegates

HOUSTON (AP) — Alabama Gov. George Wallace, abandoning for the moment his third party effort in this state, spent Tuesday urging Texans to help him garner delegates in Saturday's Democratic primary.

Wallace made airport speeches to large crowds in Corpus Christi and Beaumont Tuesday before winding up before an overflow crowd in Houston's 3,000 seat Music Hall Tuesday night.

At all three stops he urged followers to vote in the Democratic primary, then take part in the precinct conventions Saturday night which are the first step in choosing the state's delegation to the Democratic Convention.

"I want you to send me a message from the precincts here in Texas," Wallace said at every stop. "I hope you'll go to the precinct conventions on May 6, because that's the only way you can help our cause and your cause, and when you go there and elect delegates for George Wallace...you'll send them a message that's going to shake their eyeteeth and give them the Saint Vitus Dance."

Later at a news conference Wallace was asked if he was asking his American Party supporters, who are holding a convention next Saturday, to get Wallace on the American Party ticket in November, to abandon their efforts and instead participate in the Democratic primary.

"I'm not asking anybody to abandon anything. I appreciate the fact that the American Party members got me on the ballot in Texas in 1968. I hope that people who are supporting me in this present primary campaign go to the Democratic precinct conventions."

"But for people who supported and helped me before who you can help our party, they have a perfect right to do that and I appreciate the fact that they helped me in 1968."

The Alabama governor drew cheers at all three stops with a stinging attack on school busing, calling it "as asinine, cruel and callous a thing as the federal government has ever done."

During his Corpus Christi talk, Wallace was intermittently heckled by a group carrying signs advocating the candidacy of Sen. George McGovern and by members of a Mexican-American youth organization. One long-haired college student claimed he was slugged by a Wallace supporter.

In Houston there was one isolated incident when someone in the audience shouted, "Get out of Vietnam." The shout went unnoticed by Wallace.

Rep. Farenthold Sees Chance For Political Coup Of Decade

By Associated Press

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Frances Farenthold contends her candidacy has the potential "to pull off the political coup of this decade" and Gov. Preston Smith has claimed Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes' ship is "sinking fast."

State Rep. Farenthold told a wildly cheering Houston crowd Tuesday night that the Barnes ranks are "split asunder and characterized by worry and confusion and rightfully so, for the voters have been made aware of his failure to protect the public interest."

She described Barnes as the "boy wonder who has been groomed, pampered and protected by those who need special privileges from the state."

Mrs. Farenthold pledged to fight for a "people's government," declaring "we seek one class of citizenship for all and one system of justice for all."

She added, "We have within our grasp the ability to pull off the political coup of this decade."

Discounting Gov. Smith's candidacy, she told the crowd of about 7,000 persons, "you have a choice between a wheel-dealer from Brownwood (Barnes' home town), a bowl of Pabulum from Uvalde (candidate Dolph Briscoe's home) and me, with all my imperfections."

Meanwhile, some 2,000 persons crowded around a lagoon at San Antonio's convention center Tuesday night for a Barnes rally complete with mariachi serenaders and a fireworks display shaped like Texas.

Barnes chided two of his opponents, Smith and Briscoe, for refusing to debate with him on a common platform.

Smith told a Galveston rally that Barnes is dropping behind in the race and in Houston asserted a state sales tax on food and medicine as well as a two-cent gasoline tax which Smith claims he blocked.

Smith said he will appear on 17 television stations at various times Thursday night to "detail my position concerning the financing of state government next year and my opposition to the imposition of any new taxes."

Briscoe said in Gainesville he would work to eradicate the fire ant threat, "as we did the screwworm," if he is elected governor. He said Texas has made no request so far to participate in $7.6 million appropriated by Congress to fight the fire ant.

In the Republican race for governor, Dave Reagan said in Odessa that the campaigns of two of his opponents, Sen. Henry Grover and Albert Fay "have reached an all-time low for Republican gubernatorial candidates."

Reagan said Grover continues to refuse to disclose his finances, and Fay's people "have been vainly investigating my background for something to tear down and destroy my reputation and integrity."

Gas Pipeline Explosion Victim In Much Improved Condition

A Pampa boy burned in a gas pipeline explosion April 2 is reported to be in much improved condition at the Shriner's Burn Institute in Galveston.

Jackie Remy, 7, is expected to remain at the hospital for another three to four months, where he is being treated for burns to 80 per cent of his body.

His father Dale, also injured in the explosion, north of Pampa was released Saturday evening from Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo, where he and his son had been admitted after the explosion.

Jackie was transferred to the Galveston hospital April 10 through the help of the Shriners Club.

His parents visited him this past weekend and reported he was doing fine.

He is in a ward and is currently attending school at the institute. Although he has many bandages and has to wear a mask for burns on the face, he is able to get up and walk around, his father said.

In addition to other treatment he is also undergoing physical therapy treatment.

His parents are thankful of the help they received, particularly from the Amarillo and Pampa Shriners Clubs and the phone calls and contributions from others.

Persons wishing to write Jackie or send him a card may do so by addressing thus: Jackie Remy, Shriners Burn Institute, Room 316, 610 Ave B, Galveston, Texas, 77550.

Police Search For Intruder

A tall man wearing an old suit walked into a home in south Pampa last night and demanded money of the woman present.

According to the report of investigating officers, she told him she had no money. He told her he would be back and left.

Officers patrolled the area carefully but found no trace of the man. Authorities theorize he might have been a railroad hobo.

Murder Charge Filed Against Pasadena Man

HOUSTON (AP) — Murder charges were filed Tuesday night against a Pasadena man accused in the death of one of seven young girls whose decomposed bodies have been found in the Houston area since last summer.

The complaint accuses Henry Doyle Shuffin Jr., 22, in the death of Allison Craven, 13, who disappeared from her apartment home last Nov. 9.

Her body was found Feb. 25 in a field near Pearland, Tex.

This was the fourth time that Sheriff C. V. Kern has said he holds a prime suspect in custody. The other three times the men were released after it was determined they were innocent.

According to investigating officers, Shuffin gave them an oral statement about the death of Miss Craven. They were taking a written statement from him when a lawyer, appointed by the court after Shuffin was charged, arrived and talked with Shuffin.

After conferring with the lawyer, Shuffin said he didn't want to talk about the case any more.

"I am emotionally sick and very frightened and am easily pressured, so please do not question me anymore unless my attorney is present," Shuffin said.

Deputies said Shuffin had been under psychiatric care for several months.

Retarded Children's Unit Asks Trip Contributions

The Gray County Retarded Children's Association met last night at 7:30 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church to discuss ways and means for financing the annual children's vacation at Camp Wigwam in Amarillo.

Mrs. Doris Friend, secretary, stated there would be at least 12 students going to the camp.

This is a highlight each year for the children's group, she said. The camp is tentatively scheduled for June 18-24.

Cost of the camp fee is $80 per child.

The members decided to make an appeal to civic groups, auxiliary groups, individuals, foundations and businesses to help finance the cost of the vacation so that no child is refused admission.

Ab Conway, president of the association, requested that contributions be sent to the following:

Army Helped Kissinger Fulfill Dream

Editor's Note: World War II awakened buck private Henry A. Kissinger to the career that prepared him to be President Nixon's assistant for national security affairs. The following is third of a four-part series on Kissinger's life.

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer
Getting drafted into the Army may have been the luckiest thing that ever happened to Henry Kissinger.

There he met a monocled lawyer and scholar who informed Kissinger: "You are unbelievably gifted."

Kissinger says: "He told me I had a good political mind. It was a thought that had never occurred to me."

The Army brought Kissinger into contact with a new life and his ambition to be Henry Alfred Kissinger, certified public accountant, faded.

Instead, he was to become a student of international relations, Harvard professor, adviser to presidents and, some say, the world's second most powerful man by virtue of his control of the nation's foreign policy machinery. As President Nixon's national security affairs assistant, Kissinger was closest to Nixon's side on the recent trip to China and will have the same position on the presidential trip to the Soviet Union later this month.

No such official visits were in view when Kissinger was drafted in 1943. Not yet 20, he worked at a shaving brush factory by day and studied accounting at the City College of New York by night.

The Army shipped him to North Carolina for basic training. After a series of tests disclosed that Kissinger possessed a high IQ, he was selected to be among 3,000 bright young men who were sent for special training at colleges across the nation. Kissinger won't say what his IQ level is.

In late summer, a long slow train carried him back north to Lafayette College at Easton, Pa. He was there for eight months until the Army terminated the program under pressure from congressmen who thought the college campus was too easy a life for infantrymen. So he had another long, slow train ride, this time to Camp Clairborne, La., once again a buck private in the infantry. There, while he and his fellow buck privates were "feeling actually sorry for ourselves," he met Fritz Kraemer.

Kraemer himself a private at the time although he was 35, was a lawyer and the holder of two doctorate degrees. Assigned to give indoctrination talks to infantrymen, he addressed Kissinger's unit.

Kissinger was so impressed that he did "something I had never done before and have never done since"—he wrote Kraemer a brief note "telling him I appreciated his talk."

A warm friendship quickly developed that remains strong today. By all accounts, including Kissinger's, Kraemer was to have a profound influence on the young man who wanted to be an accountant.

Kraemer later became a colonel, an authority on international politics and now an adviser to the secretary of Army.

With Kraemer doing the maneuvering, Kissinger was assigned as an interpreter on a general's staff. Together they were sent to Europe in the closing days of World War II. It was March 3, 1945, when the Americans marched into Krefeld, a German textile center which had been devastated by Allied bombing raids.

Kissinger's brief stay in the city was a confused period before zones of occupation were finally sorted out and Krefeld passed over to British control.

A gap exists in city records for that time, but Kraemer recalls that young Kissinger was put in charge of reorganizing Krefeld's government. He said Kissinger, in three days, set up a working municipal government in a large city abandoned by the Nazis only a few days before.

"Everything was kaput when the Americans came and people were only too thankful to have some order restored," said Dr. Guido Rothhoff, Krefeld city archivist.

While in Krefeld, Kissinger showed such flair for government administration that he was soon put in charge of the district of Bergstrasse. Kraemer says the people of the region begged to keep Kissinger there. But he was later transferred as a sergeant to the faculty of the European Command Intelligence School.

There his job was teaching Allied officers how to trace down Nazis who had vanished in the confusion following the end of the war. His salary was a lofty, for that time, $10,000 a year.

But the Kissinger intellect had been awakened, and he sought broader knowledge. For the second time in eight years, he crossed the Atlantic from Europe to America.

The first time, he landed in the United States as a refugee from Hitler's Germany. This time he headed for Harvard.

Rain Improve Crop Prospects In Eastern Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Generous rains over the eastern two-thirds of Texas in late April improved crop prospects, through most areas could still use more moisture, state climatologist Robert Orton said Tuesday.

The Department of Agriculture said the rains came too late to benefit most of the grain crop from the Low Plains southward. But, because of recent rains, crop moisture is considered adequate for present normal requirements in East Texas, the Upper Coast and South Texas.

Long term, there is only small improvement in the drought in most areas because of accumulated moisture deficiencies since the first of the year.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

During the frequent armistices in the Trojan war the Greeks and Trojans played bridge against one another. Today's hand shows Prince Hector, the greatest Trojan hero and bridge expert, playing with his father King Priam against the wily Ulysses and the dashing Achilles.

We can't really approve of Hector's three heart bid but he was playing with his father and most young players tend to think that the older generation underbids. As you can see, Priam put his son right in game although he really had nothing above the minimum for his first raise.

Ulysses opened the king of diamonds and shifted to the queen of spades after Achilles played the deuce.

Hector took the trick with his king and played three rounds of trumps. Then he led his last diamond.

Ulysses went up with the ace and promptly led back the nine. Hector looked at Ulysses and remarked, "I fear the Greeks bearing gifts." Then he went up with dummy's queen of diamonds. Achilles' jack fell and Hector was able to discard both his losing clubs on the queen and 10 of diamonds.

The gift offered by Ulysses was a free finesse and Hector was wise to spurn the offer.

Of course, Ulysses could have defeated the unsound contract if he shifted to a club at trick two or if he had simply ducked the second diamond and let Hector get away with the loss of just one diamond trick but even Ulysses could not defend perfectly.

What do you do now?
A—Pass. Your partner didn't raise spades right away. He must have a very bad hand and you should be happy to try to make two spades.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of passing, your partner has bid two hearts over two diamonds. What do you bid now?

THURSDAY, MAY 4
Your birthday today: What seems natural early in the year becomes out-of-place in the latter months. Vocational projects, new activities should be pressed vigorously. Some of this year's achievement will later be seen as last-minute. Emotional experience now ranges widely. Today's natives are talented in trading, barter arrangements, sometimes advertising.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Take care of the main points and fill in the less important details later. In general it's a normal day of ordinary conditions.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Research into unfamiliar information has promise. Stories from far away or from the past are incomplete and should be taken with some skepticism.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Your opinion is probably sounder than even technical advice at the moment. Have faith in your own judgment and proceed vigorously.

Cancer [June 21-July 21]: Keeping a close eye on minor items is essential; most things seem slow starting, but go very well once off dead center.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: For once you can find no way to pass the buck. Do what is necessary, however inconvenient, then clear up details as if nothing had happened.

Scorpio [Oct. 23 - Nov. 21]: Be sure your preparations are all sound before going on with experiments. Criticism at the moment is sharp and has an unsound basis.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22 - Dec. 21]: If you can finish something up quickly, fine. It takes many stages, this is not the time to begin.

Capricorn [Dec. 22 - Jan. 19]: Endless conversation on useless topics goes on all day. You may as well learn Aquarius [Jan. 20 - Feb. 18]: Skepticism and thoro checking of facts turns up facts that hold your attention. Take a break in later hours and relax.

Pisces [Feb. 19 - March 20]: Petty annoyances should not be allowed to spoil this generally productive day. Avoid any sort of misunderstanding.

The local 'odd couple' has neighbors aroused

By Abigail Van Buren
(c) 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: About four months ago, the house across the street was sold to a "father and son"—or so we thought. We later learned it was an older man about 30 and a young fellow about 24.

This was a respectable neighborhood before this "odd couple" moved in. They have all sorts of strange looking company. Men who look like women, and women who look like men, blacks, whites, Indians, and yesterday I even saw two nuns go in there.

They must be running some sort of business, or a club. There are motorcycles, expensive sports cars, and even bicycles parked in front and on the lawn. They keep their shades drawn so you can't see what's going on inside but they must be up to no good, or why the secrecy?

We called the police department and they asked if we wanted to press charges! They said unless the neighbors were breaking some law there was nothing they could do.

Abby, these weirdos are wrecking our property values! How can we improve the quality of this once-respectable neighborhood?
UP IN ARMS

DEAR UP: You could move.

DEAR ABBY: Eleven years ago I severed all relations with my parents, sisters and brothers, and left home. I came to New York, over a thousand miles away from my old home town.

I am married now and have two kids, ages seven and five. They keep asking me where their grandparents (my parents) are.

I don't know where they are, and frankly, I don't care if I ever see them again, but I don't want to tell my kids that. I also don't want to lie and tell my children that my parents are dead.

What should I tell them? I can't put it off much longer.
RUNAWAY

DEAR RUNAWAY: Tell them that you last saw your parents in — [whatever town you left them in]. However, it's not necessary to tell your children how you feel about your parents.

DEAR ABBY: I never miss your column because it's nice to know that some people have problems that make mine seem minor.

The other day, one touched a sensitive nerve. I am referring to the lady who complained because her husband ignored her and watched sports on television.

Where does she get the nerve to complain about a thing like that? At least her husband is home to come to bed.

Abby, I'm a Navy wife, and like all Navy wives, I'm a "part-time widow." My husband is gone at least six months out of the year. I'm not complaining. We chose this life, and it's been fairly good to us.

I don't particularly enjoy watching sports on TV, but when my husband is home, if that's what he wants to do I sit at his feet and knit or crochet for our kids. I don't waste our precious time together doing housework. I don't nag or complain if he's messy. When he leaves the house, I straighten things up.

I'm not saying our marriage is perfect. We have our fights, but we've placed a higher value on our time together because we have so little.

Please remind these complaining women to enjoy their husbands now, for tomorrow they may not be here.
NAVY WIFE: NORFOLK, VA.

DEAR WIFE: You've done it, very well. Thanks for writing.

Betty Canary

By BETTY CANARY

I bought two magazines at the newsstand this morning. For my $1.75 investment, I expected answers to the questions they posed.

"Want to have eternal youth?" asked one.

"Beat the aging rap!" another shouted.

"Well, maybe..." I said.

But, instead of answers, the first article gave me a rewarmed version of an old health and science article. It included a series of exercises for a trim tummy plus a warning about frowning too often. ("Encourages those uglies around the mouth" were the exact words.) And, there was the usual admonition about not staying in the sun for too long unless you want your face to look like an old infantry boot.

The second magazine offered a kind of expose on old hippie types and suggested I beat the aging process by keeping my ability to "think young."

Now, I am not so certain that I know how to "think young."

I would like to suppose that having the ability to greet each day with the wonder and delight of a child might be called thinking young. If so, then I would hope we'd retain that ability.

If "think young" means approaching a situation with an open mind, being receptive to new ideas, refusing to allow ourselves too many preconceived notions, then I would hope all of us would constantly "think young."

Too often we hear people talk about youth as if it is some sort of reward. As if it is a prize one receives. As if it is something we can attain.

Actually, youth, in the dictionary sense, is simply something we have, something we're more or less stuck with for a certain period. Then, if we live long enough, we'll outgrow it.

"Think young" too often translates as an expression for those who eternally clutch at the past. I'm glad I've reached the point in life when I can "think older."

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS SALE

THURSDAY, MAY 4 - STARTS 9:00 A.M. SHARP

HERE'S AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE FOR YOU!! READ EVERY WORD OF IT !!

If you need new furniture, bedding or carpet—or anything else for the home, and if you want to save money—as well as have a great time—now is the time to shop and buy—and B&R Furniture in Pampa is where it's at—at the lowest prices in North Texas. You see, we are heading down the home stretch and we must liquidate this estate as soon as possible. Naturally we can't list all the great buys in the store, but we are going to list a handful and let you discover for yourself the others. Even I don't know all that will be featured at this time all items are subject to prior sale and all sales will be final, so let's all meet bright and early Thursday, morning at B&R Furniture for the buys of a lifetime. We guarantee you will be glad you came. Now to sharpen our pencils for a good bunch of buys. How's this openers? A group of lamp shades that have been kicked around for some time—values to 14.95—Early Bird Specials at 50¢ each. Also we haven't had too much luck selling coffee tables, so here is where the hatchett falls next—let's try these two walnut contemporary cocktail tables. They were 49.00 each—we tried $34.88 then $31.77 and they are still here—so first come first served at 19.77 each. Jim, what can you dig up in the sofa line where we have nearly 50 to go before we close the doors in two weeks. Let's try that Herculan sofa with the plaid inlay. Factory list is 294.00—then we cut it to 218.00—Now let's really give it a ride at $147. Also there is a permalux blue and white floral velvet sofa—guess its just about the best construction on the market and we would like the chance to prove it—a real decorator piece and it listed for $566. We hope we can find a good home for this at $287. I think we should find something in Early American—just the right time to be thinking of the Bi-Centennial. Here it is—a green tweed nylon sofa with wing back—regular $310.50 for only $147 and if that's not enough you can get a matching love seat for only $97, when you buy the sofa. What can you "stir-up" in the line of a hide a bed? That's good Jim—a real whizbanger in naugahyde from flexsteel. Was 410 and for 2 days only you can have this for $197. Reckon the next most pressing need is to clean out the carpet department. We have about 29 feet of kitchen carpet that sold for $5.95 yard—now just $2.97 yard. We have a heavy acrilan carpet which was $14.95 yard, the balance of the roll is priced at $5.97. Now, how about a Mohawk nylon shag carpet—hot off the special group—was $14.95 for just $7.77. Also from the looms of Mohawk comes a heavy pebble pattern carpet in choice of gold or green—a real winner at $4.97 yard. We just have to mention a few of the chairs, too. What can you find for us, Doris? That's great for openers. A pair of floral swivel rockers—deep cushioned and they swivel. They listed at $166.50 and now you can buy one or both at $77 a whack. Speaking of pairs, here are two more pairs just alike—one in gold and one in green nylon stripes. They were $167.50 each—let's try them for $87 each. How about a gold nylon Spanish chair by flexsteel—was 239.95 and we are determined to locate a home for it for just $157. We also have two black naugahyde Spanish recliners—were $211—we just put a price on them of $147 each. Doris, how about that French Provincial lounge chair? That's the one—was $169.95 let's put a new price of $97 on it. Now over to Randy Swope—he's been gold-bricking again but he looks "bright eyed and bushy tailed" now. Says he just checked the mattresses and found a damaged twin sized hotel mattress that was $49.95 and believes we should sell it for $17.00 Also have a spare bunk bed mattress which we'll let go for $24.77. I don't know how it happened but we have a king sized mattress only which sold for $399 set.—Will sell the mattress only for $100. We still have several Milady Restonic regular-sized sets. They were $199 and now priced at $137 set. This has rambled on long enough and now let's just hurriedly touch on items to shop. Lots of pictures and plaques—quite a few close outs on Sprague-Carlton early American Furniture—also have lots of store equipment such as desks, cash register, adder, appliance carts, etc. See you Thursday morning bright and early!

Managing? Not for Pee Wee Reese

By ED HAYES

ORLANDO, Fla.—(NEA)—All these years Pee Wee Reese has been fooling the public.

The little guy was out there playing with the giants of baseball, playing it cool, putting in time as captain of the Dodgers, the Southern white boy who befriended Jackie Robinson. Reese was the guy who had it all under control.

What was there to stew about? They were the care-free, swashbuckling years in Brooklyn, the 1940s and '50s.

Today Pee Wee Reese is 53 and has ulcers.

"I guess I fooled a lot of people," he said.

By his own confession he was a worry wart. If things weren't going right he actually hated putting on his uniform. "There were times," he said, "when I dreaded going to bat."

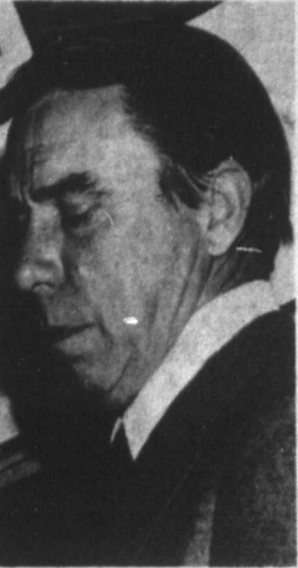

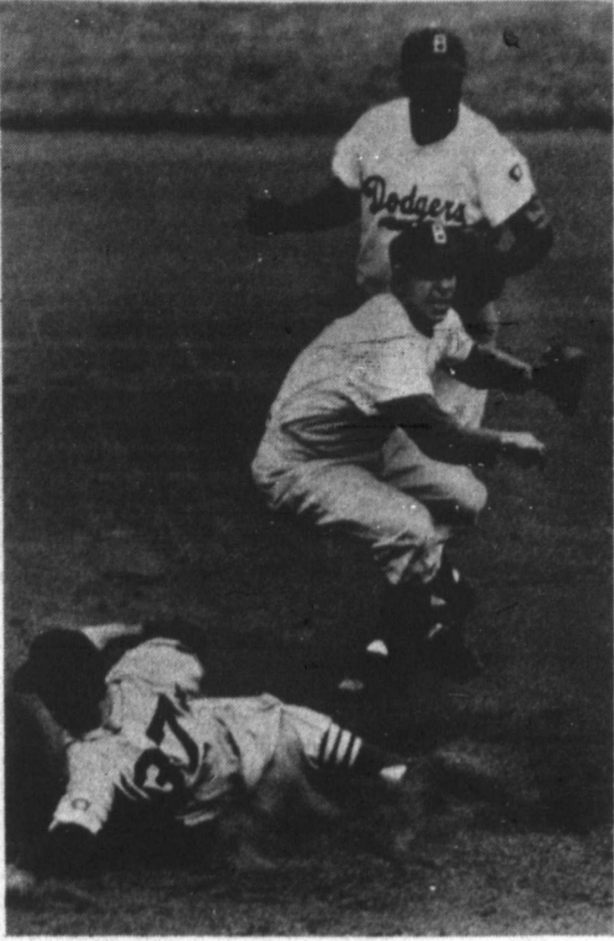

That's why he's not managing a big-league club today. "I've had several offers," he revealed, "but I have no desire to manage. Maybe it would have been different if I'd stayed in baseball as a coach. But I would've worried too much, and there are so many things to worry about off the field."

"A major league manager has to speak at a lot of banquets, and I never did like that, even after being in TV for two years. To this day if I have to give a speech it bothers me. It worries me until it's over."

"I worried if I went 0-for-5. I'm not about to start worrying over nine guys doing that."

"Mr. O'Malley (Walter F.) always used to say I'd be a manager some day but I said no way."

In 1959 the Dodgers had a date with Cincinnati for an exhibition in Cuba. Manager Walt Alton was unable to make the trip "for some reason" and (Chuck) Dressen was at the track, so I had to manage the team. We won both games and on the flight back Mr. O'Malley said, "See there, Pee Wee! That wasn't so bad, was it?" I said, "No way, no way."

PEE WEE REESE, spunky captain and shortstop of the Brooklyn Dodgers during their heyday of the 1940s and '50s, leaps to avoid sliding Peanuts Lowrey while Dodger teammate Jackie Robinson watches in a 1952 game, left. Now, above, Reese, 53, is a public relations man for a baseball bat manufacturer and says he has no desire to get back into baseball as a manager.

He had something else to worry about when he put his uniform away. Television.

"I didn't think I would last in television," he said. "I didn't want to get into it but they talked me into it."

When Buddy Blattner broke with Dizzy Dean in '59, Gene Kirby asked Pee Wee to hook up with Diz. His answer: "My Lord, no."

But after discussing it with his wife, and Dodger executive Buzzie Bavasi, he changed his mind and uniform. "When I told Buzz what kind of money they were offering me, and a two-year contract, he said that was more money than I'd be able to make coaching for the Dodgers, so I took the job. But talking before millions of people? I knew I just couldn't do it.

"Bavasi said I couldn't turn it down, and that I'd probably foul it up anyway and could always go back to the Dodgers."

Reese did a lot of taped cramming for his debut at the mike. "To be truthful," he said, "I was terrible. On double plays I'd say second to second to first. But somehow I got through that first game in Philly—I'll never forget it—and I spent six wonderful years with Dizzy."

Dean and Reese were themselves but when NBC took over it was less fun, more statistical, more script. "When Diz and I did it we went on with nothing, we just talked baseball."

"Then for one reason or another you're out of television," but that's show business.

There's a chance he'll go back into the biz shortly but right now he's doing public relations for Hillerich & Bradsby, makers of Louisville Sluggers.

The traveling on the new job bothers him. After 35 years, he's sick of it. "After this year I'll have to sit down and figure out if it's worth it," he says.

Pampa Wins Thriller Against Palo Duro

The Pampa Harvester baseball squad raised its district record to 4-5 yesterday afternoon with a 7-6 victory over the Palo Duro Dons in Amarillo.

It was a game full of the unexpected, with a great deal of the excitement caused by senior catcher Dale Ammons.

Ammons was two for three at the plate with two singles, and he stole three bases, including home.

With one away in the third inning Mike Edgar got on base because of a Palo Duro error and Ammons was walked. Al Ferguson sacrificed to center and Edgar moved to third after tagging up.

Ammons then took a big lead off first and was seemingly trapped. However he completely confused and out maneuvered Palo Duro pitcher Teddy Sanchez and caused him to throw home as Edgar came in with a run that put Pampa ahead 4-3 at that point. Ammons advanced to second base.

Later in the game that saw the lead change hands four times Ammons stole home plate again by confusing the Don pitcher.

Jeff Hogan relieved starter Larry Knutson in the third inning when Knutson began having control problems.

Hogan was relieved by Edgar in the sixth apparently because Harvester coach Deck Woldt wanted to save him for Friday's game against the Amarillo Sandies.

Pampa had the lead for good at that point, however, and Hogan gained his sixth win of the year against four losses.

The game against Amarillo will be in Optimist Park at 4:00 Friday.

Lakers Wish DeBusschere Well

NEW YORK (AP)—The Los Angeles Lakers insist they're playing no psychological games when they say they'd be more comfortable if Dave DeBusschere were in the New York Knicks' lineup—instead of out of it—in tonight's third game of the National Basketball Association championship series.

"I honestly wish DeBusschere was in there," said K.C. Jones, the right hand aide and temporarily the voice of Lakers coach Bill Sharman. "Coach Sharman feels the same as I do."

If DeBusschere doesn't go or if he's ready only for limited service, our guys are apt to let down. They'll say, 'We got it made now' and relax. If he played, they'd be geared to go all out. And when we go all out, nobody can beat us."

While the Lakers were guarding against possible over-confidence, the Knicks were concerned over the aching side of their star 6-foot-6, 220-pound forward, injured late in the second quarter of the second game Sunday in Los Angeles.

With the best-of-seven series tied 1-1, DeBusschere definitely will not start tonight's game in Madison Square Garden, his place to be taken by the 6-8, 220-pound Phil Jackson. The game will be nationally televised by ABC-TV (9:30 p.m. EDT).

Jones, a former Boston Celtics' star, conducted the Lakers' press conference Tuesday for Sharman, who was unable to raise his voice above a whisper because of laryngitis.

The $135,000 Sahara Invitational golf tournament will be played at the Sahara-Nevada Country Club, Oct. 24-29.

Pepitone Quits Chicago Cubs

CHICAGO (AP)—Flamboyant Joe Pepitone, claiming "It's no longer fun playing baseball," quit the Chicago Cubs Tuesday, possibly ending his 10-year baseball career.

"I just lost interest in baseball," said the 31-year-old, wig-wearing first baseman who spent most of his career with the New York Yankees.

"It wasn't a question of whether I was on the bench or playing. It was no longer fun playing baseball, and it hasn't been. Actually, this has been on my mind for about six years," added Pepitone, who reportedly was being paid $60,000 a year.

Pepitone's announcement came as a complete surprise, although Joe had been making headlines in recent days. After being benched about 10 days ago, he began complaining of a stomach ailment and kept removing himself from the lineup.

Last Sunday, his name was penciled in the original lineup; but Pepitone failed to show up. He then was ordered by Manager Leo Durocher to take a test.

Dr. Jacob Suker announced Pepitone was suffering from gastritis. On Monday, Pepitone was scheduled for another examination, but he failed to appear.

When he arrived at the park Tuesday, he made his startling announcement.

"I hereby request to be placed on the voluntarily retired list as of this date, as I am no longer interested in playing professional baseball," said Pepitone's written statement, which was dispatched by the Cubs to the National League office.

"It came as a complete surprise to me," said Cubs Vice President John Holland. "I tried my best to talk him out of it, but he told me he had been thinking about it for a long time and made up his mind last night."

Durocher also was surprised by the move and said, "I don't know what Joe's problem really is. Something must be disturbing him. It's too bad this had to happen and we have to lose a guy like that."

Pepitone broke in with the Yankees in 1962. He was traded to the Houston Astros at the end of the 1969 season.

After half a season at Houston, Pepitone left the club and was acquired by the Cubs in July, 1970. He became an instant hero in Chicago, and last season, hit 16 home runs and had a career high average of .307.

Vida Blue Back With Oakland A's

BOSTON (AP)—Vida Blue is back in uniform, a borrowed one, with the Oakland A's, but American League rivals won't have to worry about him for awhile.

The 22-year-old southpaw ended his long holdout by signing a 1972 contract for $63,000 Tuesday, then worked out with the A's before a scheduled game with the Boston Red Sox was postponed by rain and severe cold.

Blue put his signature on the contract during a 15-minute meeting with A's owner Charlie Finley, Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and league president Joe Cronin.

He was nearly 1 1/2 hours late for the meeting in the league office, but Kuhn, Cronin and Finley waited patiently. It seems that Blue just slept a little late, beyond the 11 a.m. meeting time.

"I'm signed. I'm happy. I'm ready to play," Blue said. "I think the team has a uniform for me, but I don't know."

"We have one," Finley assured him.

The A's had a uniform with them on the trip—one that belonged to pitcher Jim Roland, recently sent to New York Yankees.

Blue met with Oakland Manager Dick Williams and pitching coach Bill Posedel and later threw lightly in the bullpen. He said his conditioning has been limited to running during the holdout and it may be three to four weeks before he's ready to pitch.

Kuhn announced that Blue's contract provides $50,000 salary, a $5,000 bonus for 1971 and $8,000 "for any possible liability under a contingent four-year college scholarship" which was part of Blue's original bonus arrangement when he signed in 1967.

Orantes Wins Italian Open

ROME (AP)—Manuel Orantes capitalized on Jan Kodes' errors to capture the first Italian Open men's singles tennis title for Spain since the international tournament began 42 years ago.

Orantes, a 23-year-old left-hander who was seeded fourth, upset the third-seeded Kodes 4-6, 6-1, 7-5, 6-2 Tuesday, handing the Czechoslovakian player his third defeat in the final here in three years.

Orantes' victory was worth $10,000 and boosted him to No. 2 in the 1972 Grand Prix standings with 170 points, behind Ilie Nastase of Romania, who has 203 points. Kodes, who upset Nastase, the No. 2 seed, in the semifinals, now is fifth with 89 points.

There is a lot of talk about how the pros let the club drop into a power slot at the start of their downswing. Maybe they do, but it's neither intentional nor desirable. The power position is on the inside of the target line, which probably gives rise to this mistaken assumption; an inside-out swing results in more power. But you still want to swing in one plane.

Try to groove your swing so that you don't have to make unnecessary adjustments from your backswing to your downswing. The closer you can come to keeping it in the same plane throughout, the better off you'll be.

Merger Talks To Be Held

WASHINGTON (AP)—Heads of the nation's sports associations, who already have spoken out against the proposed merger of the two professional basketball leagues, were scheduled today on a bill to allow the leagues to merge.

The on-again, off-again Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee hearings are chaired by Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., also a foe of the merger.

Today's witnesses, some of whom may not be heard, include: Walt Byers of the National Collegiate Athletic Association; Clifford Fagen, National Federation of State High School Associations; George Killian, National Junior College Athletic Association; William Wall, National Association of Basketball Coaches of the United States; and William D. Murray, American Football Coaches Association.

Baseball Roundup

By Associated Press Does pitcher Gaylord Perry of the Cleveland Indians use his hair to put "stuff" on the ball? Only his manager know for sure.

"He's a cute pitcher, all right," says Texas Rangers Manager Ted Williams, who's pretty sure. "I think he doctors the ball up every now and then."

Whatever Perry was doing with the ball was way over the Rangers' heads Tuesday night. He allowed just four hits and had 12 strikeouts before leaving in the eighth inning as Cleveland took a 4-2 decision.

An exasperated Williams was still trying to wash that man right out of his hair after the game.

"It's the first time I've seen him," said Williams. "I kept hollering to the umpires about him going to his hair. I don't know what you have to do to get them to go out and look at it."

Perry, who's heard such distress signals from National League opponents before his off-season trade to the American League, firmly insists that he never uses that greasy kid stuff.

"I heard Williams hollering at the umpire but it didn't bother me," said Perry.

In the other American League games, the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Chicago White Sox 3-0; the New York Yankees defeated the California Angels 5-0 and the Kansas City Royals downed the Detroit Tigers 6-3. Rain washed out Minnesota at Milwaukee and cold postponed Oakland at Boston.

Perry, the former San Francisco star who came to Cleveland during the winter for Sam McDowell, pitched a powerhouse game before weakening in the eighth with two outs.

"A two-hitter is great if you get a two-hit shutout," New York's Gary Gentry observed. "But two hits and two runs? I hate to think what would have happened if I gave up six hits."

Gentry, who has two one-hitters to his credit, now has one two-hitter to go with them. And if Bobby Bonds hadn't been in the San Francisco lineup Tuesday night, there's no telling what Gentry might have gotten.

Bonds got the only two hits off the Mets' hard-throwing right-hander, triples in the fourth and ninth innings that led to both of the Giants' runs.

But the rest of the San Francisco offense was nonexistent, enabling New York to come away with a 4-2 victory that shoved the Mets back atop the National League East.

In the rest of the National League action, Cincinnati overtook St. Louis 7-6, the Chicago Cubs bombed Atlanta 12-1, San Diego defeated Montreal 6-1 and Los Angeles squeezed Philadelphia 7-6. Houston's game at Pittsburgh was rained out.

Bonds should have had three hits. In the first inning, with a runner on first, he slammed a pitch deep into the right field corner. But Rusty Staub raced to the fence and made a one-handed grab of the drive, robbing Bonds of a run-scoring, extra-base hit.

In the fourth, he unloaded a shot to left-center, then scored on Garry Maddox' grounder. In the ninth he went the other way, booming a triple to right-center, then coming home on Ken Henderson's sacrifice fly.

The Mets grabbed a 2-0 lead in the second inning against Don Carriethers on run-scoring singles by Jerry Grote and Gentry, then Cleon Jones got what proved to be the winning run with his second homer, a solo shot in the sixth.

Bobby Tolan's three-run homer capped a five-run seventh inning that vaulted the Reds over the Cards.

"Bobby's just taking over where he left off in 1970," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson. Tolan missed the 1971 season with a torn achilles tendon.

In 1969 he batted .305, then improved that to .316 in 1970. Today he's leading the major leagues with a .446 average and is tied for second in runs batted in with 16.

St. Louis had knocked out Reds starter Don Gullett with three-run bursts in the third and fourth innings before Cincinnati stormed back.

The Teacher Is There to Teach

By DON OAKLEY

"Little children need the calm and security which only an orderly and quiet atmosphere can give. They need also the protective assurance of a teacher who through a benevolent authority will tell them what he expects them to do, and will help them to carry out his instructions in an ordered environment. He is there to teach them, not to watch them pretending to teach themselves."

Junior School in Surrey, England, where reports the bulletin of the Washington-based Council for Basic Education, parents all but queue up to get their children admitted. Poor, backward England! American parents can be thankful that his alien philosophy has been uprooted from our land and that the forces of permissiveness and progressivism are ever vigilant against any suggestion that a child is not his own best judge of what and how he should learn. Schools as places of calm and security and order and quiet. Teachers as benevolent authorities. Indeed, teachers whose main function is to teach. Indeed, indeed.

Suburb Schools Rich?

One of the harder myths about education is that of the "rich suburbs." But it is just that, a myth, claims columnist Guy Wright. On the surface it seems reasonable enough. The affluent have fled to the suburbs. Let's send the tax man after them by putting all school taxes in a statewide kitty from which all schools draw equally. That way the well-heeled deserters in the suburbs will have to help support the impoverished city schools they left behind. But the real meat-and-potatoes from the property tax doesn't come from homes but from business and industry, he points out. In proportion to population, cities produce more revenue from property taxes than suburbs. True, some suburbs have industries, too, and when they do they may have rich school systems. More often than not, though, a suburb is a bedroom community with no sizeable business-industrial complex to tax and, far from being rich, its schools may be quite poor, even though its tax rate may be higher than that of the city it is supposedly a parasite of.

Strange Roommates

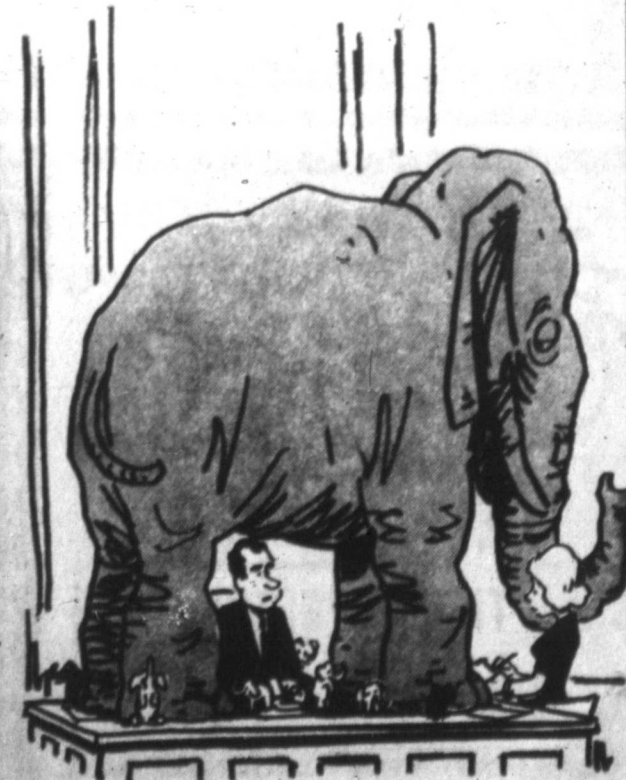

A group seeking to mobilize the American overseas community against the Indochina war has been formed in Paris. International Americans to Stop the War was launched by a group of U.S. citizens living in Europe in response to the renewed escalation of the conflict—not the Communist escalation, just the U.S. bombing reaction. The organization's initial objective is to gather a mass petition of protest signed exclusively by international Americans. It has estimated that some two million Americans now reside abroad. Arrangements have been made for presentation of the petition in Washington by several U.S. senators and representatives. The European group maintains close liaison with the statewide peace movement. By ironic coincidence, peacefully coexisting with international Americans to Stop the War in the same Paris office building at 15 Avenue Victor Hugo is the European Republican Committee, whose objective is to gather the absentee support of overseas Americans for the re-election of President Nixon.

Solution: Treat Them All Equal

By MARILEY MANION

Has the Civil Rights Movement gone so far that it has come full circle? A lot of people think so. A decade ago, the cry was "equality for all" — a goal which was to be reached through integration. Today, though some people still support integration through busing, the black militants want a special kind of "equality." They want to be just a little more equal than anybody else, and they are quite willing to be separate in their super-equal state. Some of them, indeed, want to be so separate from the white establishment that they suggest overthrowing it altogether.

The subject of reverse discrimination is a touchy one, and nobody has written more sensibly about it than Mr. Lionel Lokos, author of "The New Racism - Reverse Discrimination in America." Mr. Lokos appeared on the Manion Forum radio program not long ago, and offered his thoughts to the listening audience:

"If the Liberals who support Black militant groups were to read the Black Panther, calling for bloodshed, violence, terror against the authorities of this country, against the policemen of this country; if they were to read the Muhammad Speaks, the Black Muslim paper, to find out the vicious anti-white hysteria generated by the Black Muslims, such as the fact that all white men are devils, if they were to actually read this and find out what is actually happening, they would feel very differently toward these black, fanatical groups who are, in my opinion, opposed as much by the majority of blacks as they are by the majority of whites."

"In the case of the Black Panthers, they have been lionized by some rather influential whites who should know better, but don't. The result is that they have achieved a certain respectability among some of the most guilt-stricken and fawning white liberals in the country. Reverse discrimination exists on the college level. Some black students are being admitted not because of their averages, not because of their academic excellence, but in spite of it, simply because of the color of their skin. Whites with higher grade averages are being discriminated against because they are white."

"This system hurts everyone. The black students who are admitted because of their color are being told, in effect, that they don't have the ability to get into college on their own; that the white paternalist has to push him through. "No one wants to be told that he's not terribly intelligent and this is what the black student is being told, and of course he resents it. "It hurts the black student who got into college because of superior grades because he's being lumped together with the other black kids. It hurts anyone who has a degree from that particular college, because it says, in effect, that this degree is no longer worth the paper it's written on. "This system has helped the militant groups who are prodding for revolution because it allows them to establish enclaves of black nationalism in some of the most prestigious colleges in this country. What happens is that you have a little revolutionary enclave that is off limits to whites in the colleges. You have a situation where it is illegal in colleges to have an all-white fraternity, but it's perfectly alright to have an all-black fraternity. "My point is: Give the same treatment to both blacks and whites. It is just as wrong to discriminate against whites as it is to discriminate against blacks." — The American Way Features

It's forced busing not school busing, it's compulsory unionism not unionism, it's what The Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights are all about. Americans want Freedom, freedom of choice and not dictatorship.

Mayor Daley Moves to Block Democrat Reforms

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) —Chicago's Mayor Richard Daley is trying to throw a big roadblock in the path of Democratic party reforms. National convention delegates elected March 21 in Chicago and suburbs, and tied to Daley, have filed a state court suit in Illinois designed to stop the reforms cold. On the list of 59 delegates are Daley himself and such other top Democrats as U.S. Rep. Daniel Rostenkowski and Roman Pucinski, the 1972 party nominee for the U.S. Senate. They were elected "uncommitted," and virtually without opposition. Soon after a group led by Chicago Alderman William Singer and the Rev. Jesse Jackson formally challenged these delegates as not properly chosen under the McGovern-Fraser reform commission rules. The specific complaints are that the 59 do not include enough women, blacks and young people to give them "reasonable" representation according to their proportionate presence in the population.

The further charge is made that the Daley delegates were illegally endorsed as a slate. Under the formal call to the 1972 Democratic convention, delegates facing a challenge are required to respond within 10 days after the challenge is placed. They must give a "specific answer by paragraph" to the facts alleged by the challenging party.

The confrontation with Daley has thrust into the shadows other challenges made under the reform guidelines in such states as Arizona, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina and Wisconsin. The highlight in most of these is the charge, usually placed by women's caucuses, that women are not represented on delegations in proper proportion to their numbers. Even if Daley's people lose their injunction suit, the Illinois situation will continue to hold the spotlight. More strikingly than most, it poses the question: Who takes the place of the challenged delegates if they are unseated? The reformers never got around to figuring that one out, and they concede today that it is an enormous dilemma.

H. L. Hunt Writes

SURRENDER AT PEKING The continuing adulation for the Presidential trip to Peking in the press, in Congress and among many segments of the public shows that there is a great unawareness of, or refusal to admit the facts of what happened in Peking. Congressman John Schmitz of California put the truth bluntly but accurately when he said in reference to Taiwan that "the final sacrifice of the last 15 million free Chinese on the altar of appeasement is being prepared."

In a recent newsletter, Congressman Schmitz pointed out the rapid deterioration of our China policy. Early last July it was still the U.S. position that "there is just one China, whose legitimate government is the Nationalist regime of President Chiang Kai-shek now located on Taiwan."

But after the President announced his intention to visit Peking, we switched to advocating a "two China" policy, envisioning two separate nations, one governed from Peking, one from Taipei. But the impossibility of such a policy is apparent in the infamous communique on the conclusion of Nixon's negotiations with Chou En-lai, in which the U.S. states that there is only one China, of which Taiwan is a part. There is no doubt that the government of this "one China," in the minds of U.S. officials, is located in Peking.

Your Health

By Dr. Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Explaining Sickle-Cell Anemia Dear Dr. Lamb—I am a black male, 24 years of age. My concern is about information about sickle-cell anemia. Is it found predominantly in the black race? Also, what are its symptoms and is it inherited?

Dear Reader—Yes, sickle-cell anemia is a disease predominantly of Africans and people of African descent, and can be inherited. The difficulty is in the iron hemoglobin chemical in the red blood cells which carry oxygen. Complex chemical compounds such as hemoglobin have a structure or form. In sickle-cell anemia, a minor variation in this chemical compound causes it to change its form and distorts the shape of the blood cell to a sickle shape, hence the name sickle-cell anemia.

The deformed red blood cell is not able to pass through the tiny blood vessels in the body. When many of these deformed cells stick in the blood vessels in an area, they interfere with normal circulation in that region and may cause tissue death. This often occurs in the spleen, causing severe pain, but it can also occur in the kidney or other areas of the body.

The change in the shape of the hemoglobin can be caused by a decrease in oxygen or certain illnesses. If many cells change shape, their ability to carry oxygen is affected. This and loss of blood cells results in anemia. Individuals who have sickle-cell anemia or a significant tendency toward this problem have to avoid excessive exposure to altitude.

There are reports of blacks with this problem who have had difficulty at less than 5,000 feet. These have been individuals doing heavy physical activity. Obviously, this problem has to be considered in anyone involved in aviation or in individuals traveling to mountainous regions.

About one in 500 American blacks has this problem and about 8 per cent of all American blacks have the trait; that is, they can pass on the tendency to their children even though the parent may not have any difficulty. Obviously, when two apparently normal individuals who have the trait marry, their offspring may then have sickle-cell anemia. The presence of sickle-cell anemia and the trait which can be transmitted to children can be detected with special blood tests that have been developed in recent years. While the trait isn't much of a problem, having the full-blown disease is a serious disorder and often leads to a short life-span.

I am happy to say that new research suggests that there are medicines which can be taken to avoid the acute episodes by preventing the change in form of the hemoglobin in the red blood cells. There is still work to be done on this and it is still in a study phase by a team of investigators.

STRAIGHT TALK

TOM ANDERSON

Norton Creek, Rt. 2, Gatlinburg, Tenn. 37738

This is an apology for an editorial I wrote in 1968. In part, the editorial said: "Conservatives are now badly split, again, Wallace vs. Nixon. Actually, neither Wallace nor Nixon is a conservative. Wallace claims there's not ten cents worth of difference between Republicans and Democrats. But there is: Humphrey is a Socialist by compulsion and Nixon is a Socialist by compromise. Humphrey would collectivize us at 100 miles per hour and Nixon would collectivize us at 50 miles per hour. The destination is the same. And more Americans would wake up at the breakneck speed. The road to hell (which some of us rednecks still believe in) is a slow, steady and moderate descent."

"Wallace is a protest against the Establishment. Unlike Nixon and Humphrey, he is against the international-banker, Eastern Establishment, which is merging with the enemy. And he's for America and local self-government. "Humphrey is more conservative than Gene McCarthy, and Lenin was more conservative than Marx. To 'liberals,' morality doesn't count. Expediency reigns. Everything is relative. Socialists like Humphrey and McCarthy are now called 'moderates' by the Liberals. Get to the left of those guys and you fall off the world."

"On Vietnam Hubie is changing his mind. The new mind doesn't work any better than the old one. Hubie-dove is now shedding any responsibility for Vietnam, or any other war. Ever since the draft board almost got him in World War II, Humphrey has been so draft conscious he won't even drink draft beer. He is for surrender and 'peace,' for making love, not anti-Communism. The story of gasbag Hubert's life should be entitled 'Here With the Wind.' Humphrey's views and my views are parallel — they won't meet, even to infinity. "When the President read his 'I won't serve' again announcement in private to Hubert, Hubert had a good cry (he thought it meant Bobby would get the nomination). Humphrey is like the chameleon that turned brown when placed on a brown rug and turned red when placed on a red rug, but who died a tragic death when they put him on a Scotch plaid. On November 5 he'll die and cry and cry and cry."

"The whirlwind has been sown and the harvest is at hand. Even Richard Nixon with his new anti-jowls TV makeup can't prevent it, nor can George Wallace. This nation will never be saved by Presidents, or by mayors, even if by some quirk of fate we get good ones. We are on the brink of dictatorship, bankruptcy, anarchy and surrender mainly because we were brought there by our leaders. If they did it deliberately, they should be jailed or hung. If they brought it about unwittingly, they are fools who shouldn't be allowed to run a self-service elevator. "Thinking back on the Battle of Chicago, Humphrey, Muskie and Abernathy bring to mind the aphorism (that means 'pithy saying'): 'When shall men cast very long shadows, it is almost sundown.' "What I want to apologize for, dear readers, is for saying Humphrey would collectivize us at 100 miles per hour and Nixon would collectivize us at 50 miles per hour. The no-nothings, the yellow-dog Republicans, and "moderates" now love to ask us: "Would you have rather had Humphrey?" Certainly! Humphrey couldn't have embraced, subsidized and endorsed both major enemies, incurred a hundred-billion dollar deficit, proposed a fantastic bankrupting "family assistance plan" without engendering impeachment proceedings. And that's an idea! The sure way to lose is with a phony conservative. Nixinger has virtually destroyed the conservative movement. Nixon is more conservative than Humphrey like Brezhnev is more conservative than Mao Tse-tung. The so-called conservative Republicans now tell us Nixon is trying. Yes. Very trying. Middle-of-the-roader Norman Thomas once told us that we made more progress toward Socialism under Eisenhower than we did under either Truman or Roosevelt. And we've certainly come further toward Communism under Nixon than under either Kennedy or Johnson. Copyright 1972, The American Way Features

Subsea Project Gets Underway

HOUSTON (AP) — A project to allow oil well maintenance men to work dryshod on the ocean floor gets underway this summer in 400 feet of water off the Louisiana coast, two companies announced here Monday. Shell Oil Co. and Lockheed Petroleum Services, LTD., told of the multi-million dollar project at the Fourth Annual Offshore Technology Conference being attended by about 12,000 oilmen and engineers.

expected to be completed in 1975, will provide for a one-atmosphere subsea production station with the capability to send fluid to the surface. The project is an outgrowth of testing done by Lockheed and demonstrated in 1970 off Vancouver Island at water depths up to 900 feet.

A Shell spokesman said the new project will allow the petroleum industry to produce oil from deeper water leases on the outer continental shelf.

Shell and Lockheed said other companies will be invited to join in the project.

The system involves a dry, one-atmosphere service capsule to transport oilmen to the sea floor to perform normal operations under dry conditions inside a chamber. Offshore oil wells currently have wet subsea wellheads or Christmas trees and frequently require diving personnel and special equipment.

This summer's phase one involves the installation of a one-atmosphere permanent cellar on the ocean floor in which a wellhead or Christmas tree will be assembled. The cellar will be installed on a Shell well drilled from a mobile drilling rig off the Louisiana coast.

The wellhead has been assembled and tested in Houston. Phase two, the company said, calls for the installation of a manifold chamber to control, come and test production from subsea wells. Phase three, expected to be completed in 1975, will provide for a one-atmosphere subsea production station with the capability to send fluid to the surface.

Judo Lessons
There has been a change in meeting time for judo due to the school schedule of our instructor. Judo will meet only on Thursday nights from 7-8:30. No meeting on Monday because our instructor, Paul Moot, must attend night school.
Judo enrollment is still open to boys 8 years of age or older and girls who are 12 years of age or older. Parents both male and female are invited to participate with the children. Each participant should be a Center member which is $5. for 6 months or $8. per year. In addition a mat fee of 50 cents per month is charged. If you are interested, please attend the Thursday and only weekly meeting so that full details can be given you.

Dolphin Swim Team
Boys and girls who are interested in competitive swimming should pay attention to this column. The Youth Center is the home of the Dolphins. This is a swim club for boys and girls who know how to swim and like to race. Swimmers from 6-18 are invited to participate. The club is A.A.U. sanctioned and they attend several week-end meets during the school year.
Swimmers are needed in all age groups to complete relay teams so that we can have relay representation at all meets. All interested swimmers are urged to contact coach Neil Carter at 665-8771 or come out for practice. The only requirement is that you be a member of the Center. Workout time is 6-7:00 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Women's Exercise Class
The Center has an activity just for you women to trim and slim that figure. On Monday and Friday mornings there is an organized exercise class that meets at 9:30-10:15. An instructor leads that class through a synchronized exercise program by the use of recordings. At 10:15 there is an open swim time until 11:30. No swim lessons are given.
To participate in either or both of these classes you need

HALF ARE NON-UNION
DUBLIN (AP) — Trade unionism has grown in Ireland in recent years, but still only 53 per cent of workers belong to unions. There are 386,900 union members in the Republic and 263,000 in Northern Ireland. In the Republic 57 per cent are male and 43 per cent female, while in the North 66 per cent of union members are men and 34 per cent women.

Welfare Cost Rise Slows Significantly
WASHINGTON (AP) — The rise in national welfare costs and the number of recipients slowed significantly the last half of 1971, according to new government statistics.
Officials speculate privately that the trend may be due to some state cutbacks in payments and eligibility to plug the dollar drain on their treasuries.
The Department of Health, Education and Welfare says the cost of all public assistance, including Medicaid and cash payments, rose 23 per cent to a new high of $17.7 billion last year.
A further breakdown in the report indicates, however, that the first half-year increase of 26.9 per cent slowed to 19.5 per cent during the second half.

only be a Center member which is $5. for six months or $8. per year. A baby-sitting service is available at a very nominal cost. You can even join the health club through this plan and have baby-sitting service.

Swim Lessons
The Center has scheduled some more swim classes for May to accommodate parents who were wanting beginners and polywogs classes. A beginner is a child 6 years of age or older who is attending school at the present time. A polywog is a child 4-6 years of age not yet in school and who measures 33 inches tall to the chin.
The summer swim lesson program has been set-up and the schedule will start appearing very soon. Enrollment date for all the summer lessons will be on May 4 at 2:00 p.m. No registrations will be accepted until that date and then thereafter until all the classes are full.
All classes from May 1-12 will meet on Monday through Friday for two weeks or 10 meeting dates. Parents should note this for this is a change from our regular schedule. The May 15-June 1 classes will meet the last two days during the morning. Beginners will meet at 9:00 a.m. and polywogs at 10:00 and 10:30 a.m. on May 31 and June 1.
All classes in April and May will be taught by our resident W.S.I. Ruth Carter. Lessons are free to Center members or $4. to non-members. Center memberships are always available.

Calico Capers Square Dance
The Center has an adult dance activity that meets each week. This is the Calico Capers square dance held on Saturday nights. They meet from 8-11 p.m. and dance to an out-of-town caller.
The Capers are always open for membership and invite all interested persons to come out on Saturday night so they can meet you and give you full details about their club. Ocie Stewart is current club president. The Capers are at present finishing lessons for beginners and will hold their graduation dance on Tuesday night, April 25.

That's one of the many new developments coming in tomorrow's telephone industry, according to Roy Wickerham, science demonstrator for Southwestern Bell.

Wickerham will present a new telephone science demonstration, entitled "From Beryllium to Vanadium, by Way of Krypton," to the Evening Lions Club tomorrow.
