Pampa Youth Will Graduate From Boys Ranch High School

RENN BUSH
senior graduate

Renn Bush, one of 19 Pampa boys making their home at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch, near Amarillo, will graduate from the Boys Ranch High School on May 19.

Renn, 17, has been at the Ranch for two years, along with his brother Dane, 15 and another brother, Paul, who has already graduated. He is one of the 34 seniors who will be receiving diplomas during commencement exercises for the seniors.

Renn takes agriculture for his vocation, one of 14 different skills that are offered to the older boys as part of the Ranch's vocational program. He has been active in intramural sports and the drama club.

Now in its 33rd year, the Ranch has raised and cared for more than 2,500 homeless and troubled boys and is now home for 370 boys. They have been provided with a home much like the average American family, and in practically all cases without any expense to the parents or any governmental, religious, or social agency.

Cal Farley founded Boys Ranch in 1939 at the historic ghost town of Old Tascosa, Texas. Mr. Farley died five years ago and has been succeeded by Virgil Patterson, a member of the Ranch Board of Directors for over 20 years.

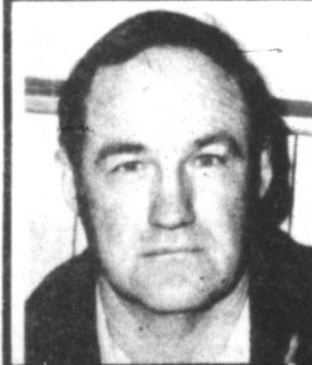

"Renn has made us all very proud while he has been at the Ranch and we know he will continue to do so as an ex-Rancher," Patterson said.

Approximately 600 qualifiers and their wives, from all over the United States, will attend the meeting, according to F. E. Hill, an executive vice president of the insurance company.

Democratic Race For Governor Seen As One Of Most Expensive In History

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Democratic primary race for governor is one of the most expensive in Texas history, with one candidate approaching the $1 million mark.

That much is evident for campaign expense and contributions received by Secretary of State Bob Bullock.

And at least two rich candidates—one for governor and one for lieutenant governor—apparently are spending large amounts of their own money.

Uvalde rancher-banker Dolph Briscoe reported that he has spent $919,422 but has received only $574,855 in contributions.

The highest expenditures reported in the race for lieutenant governor were those of Houston newspaper executive Bill Hobby, who said he spent $518,399 while receiving $81,764.

By contrast, the Democratic primary race for the right to oppose Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., in the November election is not costing much money.

Former Sen. Ralph Yarborough said he has received $109,753, spent $109,765 and run up debts of $37,857.

Barfoot Sanders reported expenditures of $63,044 but did not total his contributions.

LI. Gov. Ben Barnes ran second behind Briscoe in governor's race spending, with $675,966. Gov. Preston Smith was third, with $373,369, and Rep. Frances Farenthold said she spent $211,921.

Smith showed several large contributions from organized medicine, dairymen and some of his appointees to state boards and commissions.

These included $2,500 from jukebox magnate Raymond B. Williams of Dallas, whom Smith appointed chairman of the Texas Vending Commission, which policies Williams' industry.

Barnes' report failed to comply with the reporting law, according to Randall Wood, head of Secretary of State Bob Bullock's elections division. The report did not disclose the exact amount of each individual payment for campaign expenses, but gave only totals for board categories instead.

The Texas Election Code requires the reports to "include the dates and amounts of all...payments made" by a candidate.

Hobby Says He Is Confident Of Winning Saturday Primary

DALLAS (AP) — Bill Hobby, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, said Wednesday: "The way the polls are looking now, I think I'll win it all on Saturday—without a runoff."

The executive editor of the Houston Post, which his family owns, expressed optimism regarding his campaign for the second highest post in the state from the "hot seat" of the Dallas Press Club.

Hobby told the newsmen that the next Texas Legislature was going to be "quite a different bunch, the most representative legislature we've ever had," thanks to the 18-year-old vote.

new voter registration procedures and single-member districts.

"Also," he said, "this will be the first election after the (Sharpstown) scandals, where a lot of people will be voting their anger and frustration."

Hobby said he was not endorsing any candidate in the governor's race "because I'll have to work with whoever it is and he may not be the one I voted for."

Hobby reiterated his desire for annual meetings of the legislature, a cabinet form of state government, and four-year terms for statewide office.

Texas G. O. P. Candidates Spend Total Of $618,132

AUSTIN (AP) — Republican candidates for governor have spent $618,132 so far—almost $6 per voter, if their primary draws approximately the same number of voters their 1970 primary did.

State Sen. Henry Grover leads in expenditures with $244,967. He reported gifts of $156,640, loans of $67,568 and debts of $40,643.

Albert Fay reported $182,708 in expenses, $31,726 in gifts, $174,511 in loans and debts of $173,511.

Tom McElroy spent $147,876, received gifts of $27,090, borrowed $169,048 and still owes $17,533.

Dave Reagan says his expenses have totaled $39,736, that he has received $24,297 in contributions, that he has borrowed $22,000 and owes no debts.

In the 1967 primary, Paul Eggers received 101,875 votes to 7,146 for Roger Martin. Republicans that year did not have the lure of a hot Democratic gubernatorial race—as they do this year—to draw them away. Preston Smith was unopposed for re-election in 1970.

Cooking Tips for Corn-on-the-Cob

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Supposedly someone last season counted the Florida sweet corn crop and determined that growers sent more than 559 million ears of corn to dinner tables across the United States. This was during the months of November through May. Without the staggering statistics it's nice to know that fresh corn is available to almost all areas year-round. Fresh corn is shipped under layers of shaved ice to help preserve its flavor. Once purchased, cook immediately or keep in the refrigerator and cook as soon as possible. Fresh boiled corn is at its best when dropped into boiling water and cooked only 5 to 6 minutes. Bake or roast fresh corn from 20 to 25 minutes.

HOW TO COOK FRESH CORN-ON-THE-COB
Remove husks from ears of fresh corn and brush off silks. Drop in a kettle of boiling water to cover. Add 1 teaspoon salt and cook, covered, 5 minutes. Remove from water and serve with seasoned spreads. Allow 1 or 2 ears per person.

ROAST CORN IN-THE-HUSK
Loosen husks on ears of fresh corn; remove silks. Pull husks back over ears and tie in place with string or strips of the husk. Soak in cold water for 10 minutes. Arrange corn in a baking pan. Place in a preheated 350-degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Remove husks and serve ears with butter or margarine. Allow 1 to 2 ears per person.

CHIVE BREAD
To 1/2-cup butter or margarine, softened, add 2 tablespoons freeze-dried chives, 1/2-teaspoon lemon juice, 1/2-teaspoon salt and 1/4-teaspoon ground black pepper. Mix well. Makes 1/2-cup.
(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Recently the first air shipment of Texas Ruby Red grapefruit reached Europe. The Ruby Reds are selling side-by-side with grapefruit from Israel and are outselling the competition even at four cents more each, reports Gordon Powell, Extension fruit and vegetable marketing specialist.
Shipment was made via the British Overseas Airline Corporation (BOAC) from New York at 18 cents per pound.

Fresh corn-on-the-cob calls for short cooking time for best results.

FRESH CORN-ON-THE-COB BAKED IN FOIL

Remove husks and silks from fresh corn. Place each ear on a square of aluminum foil. Sprinkle with salt, ground black pepper and top with a thin slice of butter or margarine. Wrap securely by making a double lengthwise fold on top of the ear. Turn the ends up and fold smooth against the corn. Bake in a preheated 425-degree oven 20 to 25 minutes. To serve, open the fold and turn foil back, crimping to look attractive.

Beefburgers Tasty Party Pleaser
Everyone enjoys beefburgers, so why not dress them up with toppings for informal party refreshments! Beef patties are sure to please guests when topped with foods that compliment that great broiled beef flavor.
Form patties and prepare toppings early to wait ready in the refrigerator before the party for broiling, advises Reba Staggs, home economist of the National Live Stock and Meat Board.
Buffet Party Beefburgers
2 pounds ground beef
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
3 tomato slices
9 avocado wedges, dipped in lemon juice

3 green pepper rings
Cheese spread
Combine ground beef with salt and pepper. Shape into 6 patties 3/4 inch thick. Place patties on rack in broiling pan and insert pan so top of meat is about 3 to 4 inches from heat. Broil 7 to 8 minutes on one side. Turn with spatula. Broil 6 to 12 minutes longer, to desired degree of doneness. Top each of three burgers with a tomato slice and three avocado wedges. Top each of remaining burgers with a green pepper ring stuffed with cheese spread. 6 servings.

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE, PH.D., M.D.

Homer is a victim of what we call "urinary insomnia." For he sleeps like a log till his bladder demands that he visit the bathroom. If he can restrain that bladder to hold 8 ounces instead of 4 ounces, he can last till morning without waking!

CASE T-57: Homer T., aged 61, has a widespread problem. "Dr. Crane," he began, "I have insomnia!"

"For I waken about the middle of the night and then can't go back to sleep.

"So I have become a sleeping pill addict and I don't like to feel enslaved by such drugs.

"But what else can I do to get a full night's rest?"

URINARY INSOMNIA

The reason Homer wakens before 2 a.m. is to go to the bathroom.

For millions of people develop this habit of voiding urine in the middle of the night.

This is often due to mild inflammation of the bladder, or especially the prostate in men.

Plus the fact their urine is excessively acid and thus burns till they waken.

And another contributing factor is their heavy ingestion of liquids at their evening meal, especially caffeine drinks like coffee, tea or the cola beverages.

Once a person is awakened, he may then begin to think of tomorrow's problems and further stimulate his brain till he can't go back to sleep readily.

So the answer to much of the insomnia in older folks is to solve their urinary problem!

Ordinarily, your urinary bladder could easily hold 8 ounces of fluid without making you feel an urgent need to void.

In fact, when men have an enlarged prostate gland that blocks the outlet of the bladder, we physicians may find that there is half a gallon or more of urine therein.

So don't fret about overly stretching your bladder!

Yet many men and women let their urinary bladder make them rush to the bathroom when it has only half a glass (4 ounces) of urine.

To avoid this very common urinary insomnia, therefore, follow these rules:

(1) Reduce your liquid intake after 6 P.M. so your bladder will not receive as much urine from your kidneys.

(2) "Sweeten" the urine to stop the acid burn thereof, as by taking a little baking soda or antacid tablets before bedtime.

(3) During the daytime, force your bladder to develop a new habit of stretching till it can hold 8 ounces instead of 4 ounces.

To do this, drinking freely prior to 6 P.M.

But when you feel the urge to empty the bladder, grit your teeth and make it let out, a notch.

The first time you have this contest with your bladder, you may feel as if you can't win, for the bladder is obstinate and would rather force you to empty it on 4 ounces than to stretch itself and hold 8 ounces.

But once you win, it will stretch and you will then feel comfortable for a couple of hours before it again insists on being emptied.

This same contest with your urinary bladder is helpful for your people of dating age, who are embarrassed by needing to visit the rest rooms at theaters during the show.

And if you still wake up to urinate at 2 A.M., then read the bible or educational magazines like Reader's Digest till you again fall asleep.

Dear Abby

City relatives a summer problem down on farm

By Abigail Van Buren
(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-M. V. News Synd. Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: We live on a farm in Kansas and I am already dreading the coming of summer because of all our city relatives who come and spend their vacations with us. They bring (or send) their children who run thru our house all summer, and turn it upside down.

They know we'll be home because it's our harvest time, and we have work to do, and I do mean WORK! Abby, we've put up with this parade of relatives for 26 years and I don't think I can stand another hot summer of cooking and entertaining mooching relatives.

What makes city folks think their farm relatives owe them a free vacation? And how come they never think of inviting their country cousins to the city for a change? FARMER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Being an Iowa girl myself, I see your point. Now, let's hear it from the city folks.

DEAR ABBY: Please say something in your column about mothers who treat children who are NOT twins like they were twins.

A relative of mine has two daughters, seven and four. She dresses them exactly alike, combs their hair the same way, and she always buys them identical toys. (She says, "If everything is identical, one can't be jealous of the other.")

That's not all. The seven-year-old can't go anywhere unless she takes her little sister. And if the big one has a playmate her own age over, the mother shoves the younger one off on both of them.

Both girls are constantly upset because they are expected to always be together, play together and stay together. That mother doesn't realize that their interests as well as their capabilities are not the same.

I tried to tell her that I thought she should start treating each child as an individual and drop that twin bit, and she nearly took my head off. If you agree with me, Abby, print my letter so that mother will see how wrong she is. STEADY READER

DEAR READER: Here's your letter. And I hope that she and other well-intentioned but misguided mothers take heed.

DEAR ABBY: The day before our wedding my husband took all my pictures out of his wallet. He said a married man does not carry his wife's pictures, just pictures of the single girls he used to know.

Abby, I really wouldn't have minded so much if he had kept these girls' pictures in his wallet if only he hadn't taken mine out.

Do you think my husband was right or not? VERY HURT IN TEXAS

DEAR VERY: I think your husband is about 180 degrees wrong! When a man marries, he should remove from his wallet all the pictures of the girls he used to know, and carry only his wife's.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HURT AND PUZZLED" IN LOUISVILLE: Don't believe second-hand tales. Ask your mother in law if she has ever complained to the family about the way you impose on her by leaving the baby with her.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69706, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69706, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Polly's Pointers

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I am answering Mrs. V.N. who wants to get rid of silverfish. Mix borax powder and sugar and sprinkle it around in cabinets or around the basement tubs. It not only gets rid of them but rid of roaches, too. The sugar attracts the silverfish and then the borax does the job.

Thank you for your kind words, Velma. We love all you loyal readers. —POLLY

DEAR POLLY—Do tell Mrs. V.N. that five or six years ago I found a remedy for silverfish that REALLY works. Just sprinkle (make a line of) epsom salts around the wall on the floor or your closet. Not poisonous either.

—S.S.

Polly's Problem DEAR POLLY—My 3-year-old son made two marks on the front of my blond mahogany dresser with a ballpoint pen. Does anyone know how I can remove these.

—MRS. S.F.R.

DEAR MRS. S.F.R.—Do read Velma's letter farther down in this column.

—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—As I was polishing my chest of drawers I was really upset to discover a long streak of ballpoint pen ink. I applied toothpaste with a dry cloth and it came off beautifully in just a few minutes. I am the reader who received a Polly Dollar back in 1963 for sending in the Pointer about removing crayon marks from painted walls with toothpaste. I still have that silver dollar. The average South player would win the first trick with dummy's ace of clubs and draw trumps with three leads. Then he would lead a low heart from dummy and let East hold the trick with the nine.

An alert East would place the jack of diamonds on the table and the defense would add three diamond tricks to the heart trick already in and score 190 points.

South would probably complain about the fact that East could produce a high heart on the first lead of the suit and congratulate East on his fine play of the diamond jack. A low diamond

FRIDAY, MAY 5

Your birthday today: A series of successive adaptations characterize your growth patterns this year. Each step builds toward a bigger move. No relationship is to be taken for granted; each one needs care and understanding. Today's natives are hard workers, able to keep their own counsel, but never quite sure of the results.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Wind up your workweek by bringing together those people who have promised to help. A long-term activity may be near a final stage.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Old investments can be converted to current resources. Plan to clear up any past errors; dispose of useless possessions.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Learning is more than its own reward; you attract favorable notice with little effort. Make an early start; above all, make your best appearance.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Follow your intuition through this complex and busy day of diverse activities. Most of what is settled now stays that way.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Personal affairs compete with work responsibilities for time and attention. Avoid getting involved in the ventures of relatives or friends.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Where you care about what is happening, do what you can while you have the chance. There's a time limit on nearly everything.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Younger people are the center of attention. Cheer up and live happily thru a busy but normal day.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]:

Unexpected expense occurs for one-time-only reasons. Make the most of an excellent day for home and family, have some happy surprises.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Find a different course or alternatives to your regular habits. Catch up correspondence and neglected friendships.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: If you are going to rearrange funds or settle financial deals, get these things done early. Speculation and last-minute ideas are not favored.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Be practical today, giving most consideration to finishing what you have started. Fresh starts need further planning.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: It's a long and confusing day. Quiet investigation produces heavier results. Romantic interest sparkles with surprise.

RELIGIOUS FORCE

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — "The public force of religion has been gradually moving out of the inter-denominational sphere and into the non-denominational sphere," says the Rev. Dr. Robert J. Marshall, president of the Lutheran Church in America.

He told a meeting here that the non-denominational approach of Evangelist Billy Graham has become a symbol of a pervasive non-denominationalism in the country, a trend also typified by a recent unsuccessful move to authorize "non-denominational prayer" in public schools.

Taylor-Brown Vows Exchanged In Lefors

MRS. MILTON LEE BROWN...nee Linda Taylor

Miss Linda Gail Taylor became the bride of Milton Lee Brown at 6:30 p.m. April 8, in the First Baptist Church of Lefors.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Maudie Taylor of Lefors. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. B.T. Brown of Pampa.

CEREMONY

Rev. Dudley Bristow, church pastor, officiated for the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. Carol Watson, organist, played the theme from "Love Story," "For All We Know," and "We've Only Just Begun." Mrs. Betty Hannon sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Church decorations included large basket arrangements of white gladioli, and seven-branched candelabra, entwined with ivy.

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her brother, James Taylor of Lefors, the bride wore a gown of peau de soie. The bodice was styled with a high, round neckline and long fitted sleeves that came to petal points over her hands. Both the neckline and the sleeves were edged with lace. The floor-length, A-line skirt was accented with lace appliques and her cathedral train fell from her shoulders.

Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a headpiece of lace appliques and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and baby's breath over a white Bible.

She carried out the tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue.

ATTENDANTS

The bride's mother was attired in a lime-green suit with white accessories. Her corsage was an orchid. The bridegroom's mother wore a pale pink dress, with a matching plaid overcoat and white accessories. Her corsage was an orchid.

RECEPTION

For the reception in the church's Fellowship Hall, the serving table was centered with an arrangement of orchid carnations, large white mums and white pompons.

The Human Cost of War

Statistics Can't Measure the Suffering

By TOM TIEDE

PLEIKU, Vietnam—(NEA)—Except for this brief mention, the world will little note the passing of Te Hoa Binh, age seven months. The infant, daughter of a Cham Moi tribesman, was killed during the first days of North Vietnam's spring offensive. She was shot through the head by a stray bullet during an obscure, nameless battle.

One more dead here. Quickly forgotten. The world, of course, can't be expected to note each of the individual sorrows of this bleak war. The suffering has been too immense for that. People can respond, usually sympathetically, to the plight of one victim of cruelty—or sometimes many victims, if their disaster is shocking enough. But when the situation involves millions, drawn out over decades, the events are simply too catastrophic to register on any humane, day to day, life to life basis.

Thus, few really know the distress of Vietnam. It has just been too much. There are the statistics, certainly. Anyone can collect them. The figures are distorted and often imprecise, for many reasons, but in the main they give a fair peek at the human shrieking that has taken place here during the last decade of war.

The United States, to start with, has sent almost 2.5 million men to this torture since 1961. The first to die, officially, but not actually, was James Davis, a 25-year-old Army radio operator who was killed in a guerrilla ambush three days before Christmas, 1961. Since then, more than 55,000 have been killed, 80 per cent under hostile conditions. Some 303,000 more have been wounded, of whom about half have been hospitalized and 3 per cent totally disabled.

The figures are hardly warm. They don't remind us of the unrecorded suffering. The 10 per cent of Vietnam veterans who can't find work. The 4 to 5 per cent who picked up a narcotics problem. The thousands who have had their wives divorce them or girls abandon them. The intolerable question of the 1,600 who've been captured or are missing in action. Or the incalculable after effects of combat which, in at least one case, led a Vietnam veteran back in the United States to kill a man and then strip his body as if still at war.

Then there are the calculations for the South Vietnamese military forces. Officially, almost 140,000 dead, more than 350,000 wounded, 30,000 missing in action, 65,000 disabled. One of the latter fellows, named Lam, lost both legs early in the war. He had no medical treatment and healed so badly his people sent him to a leper colony. He escaped after some anguished weeks. Now he's a beggar in Pleiku. He gets around on a board on a roller skate. He eats out of garbage piles. And he can't remember, much, what he was like before.

Also, there are the enemy figures. The U.S. command says that an estimated 825,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have been killed. "And for every one who dies, at least two others are wounded." About 30,000 of the other side have been taken prisoner, some of whom have been tortured, some of whom have been tossed out of helicopters, and at least one, whom the statistics don't mention, who was bludgeoned by his own de-capitated leg before being shot dead.

Finally, most grievous and melancholy, there are statistics for the people themselves. There have been at least 300,000 civilians killed, since 1961, in South Vietnam. Perhaps a million overall have been wounded. Three-and-a-half to five million have been displaced. The War Veterans Ministry says the nation has at least 90,000 war widows, and twice that number of parents of dead soldiers. Orphanage officials believe there are in excess of 350,000 parentless children. Social services people say young women in the country may have given birth to 15,000 to 25,000 illegitimate, now unwanted, GI babies.

And so there it is. Perhaps four-and-a-half million men, women, children, soldiers and civilians killed or wounded in a single decade of a small nation's life. Plus immeasurable, unspeakable, related human woe.

But maybe that still doesn't register. Then consider one final individual case.

There is a woman in a Saigon hospital who has no face at all. None. Just eyes and teeth showing. Her features were destroyed by an exploding mortar. The hospital can do nothing for her. But she is too revolting to let out in public. So she remains there until, it's supposed, one day she will succumb to grief, murder herself, and become one more of the dead here, quickly forgotten.

"They never tell about it when I get hit," Agnew said jokingly to a small crowd of bystanders.

Agnew, who flew here to address a banquet of the Republican Governors Association, has acquired a reputation for hitting tennis partners and golf spectators with errant shots.

NEW YORK (AP)— Ronald Galella, the freelance photographer involved in a dispute with Jacqueline Onassis, has been accused of interfering with Secret Service agents.

In a suit filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court, the federal government seeks to bar Galella from taking pictures of Mrs. Onassis and her two children.

The government's suit for a permanent injunction is in addition to pending civil counter-suits filed by Mrs. Onassis and Galella over Galella's attempts to photograph the widow and children of President John F. Kennedy.

The government charges that the Secret Service has had difficulty protecting the children, John and Caroline, because Galella "has evidenced a total disregard" for their safety and privacy.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)— Pat Nixon says the years she spent as a teacher were "four of the best years of my life."

Mrs. Nixon made the remark Tuesday while receiving an award from the National Association of Retired Teachers. She was presented an honorary life membership in the organization.

Mrs. Nixon taught business education at Union High School in Whittier, Calif.

"My door was always open and students would often come by and talk about their love affairs or homework," she said.

Crossroads Report

Dear Editor: Considerable talk is heard about what is called Quality Education, and the measure of its quality being according to how much it costs.

I see where the American Medical Association's journal says 13 percent of some small coins and 42 percent of a batch of $1 bills they tested were contaminated with disease-causing germs.

Again, politicians and other overdog citizens are talking about "Quality Education" and deploring the shortage of same in poorish neighborhoods.

Every great step forward meets with some resistance, and the upcoming 27th Amendment lawing equal rights for the various sexes, is no exception.

Observing the grandiose glee with which the politician class spends our money, my vindictive neighbor says science is letting us down.

Some senators and other presidential aspirants are calling for amnesty and restoration of welfare rights for draft escapees now being harbored by Canada.

I see where the Super Court says the taxpayers of a state can't refuse to wet-nurse all career welfareers who decide to move into their midst.

The ITT, GOP And The Pseudo-Sinister Plot

By PAUL HARVEY When the ITT offer to San Diego to help finance the GOP convention has been milked of its last headlines, it'll be obvious the "conspiracy" was imaginary.

So he disclosed information that a corporation which owns hotels in San Diego had offered to help San Diego finance this year's GOP convention.

H. L. Hunt Writes

DOPE PROFITTEERING Karl Marx got a lot of mileage out of exaggerated assaults on the early capitalists and what he called their "profiteering" off the bodies of the laboring classes.

Marxists never criticize the $800 million profit Red China makes each year off the broken bodies of the working people who get "hooked" on heroin, opium and cocaine.

So if the true life whodunit is not a comedy, it's certainly not a mystery. The gossip columnist was merely doing his thing. The ITT lobbyist was merely doing her thing.

VIEWPOINT

JESSE HELMS with a portrait of the author.

Sweden, Socialism's Showcase

There was a time when a pretty good political dispute could be provoked by the mere suggestion that America is moving towards the welfare state.

It is no doubt a matter of wasted breath to say it again, but neither the United States nor any other country can long survive a socialist system.

For example, the Swedish government is now in almost absolute control of housing. More than 80 percent of the new houses and apartments being built are government owned.
