Taxpayer Asks Pennypinching

By TEX DEWEESE
Pampa News Staff
Only one of Pampa's approximately 10,500 taxpayers showed up at City Hall today for the public hearing on the proposed $3,031,954 city operating budget for fiscal 1975-76.

The lone taxpayer was former mayor E.C. Sidwell who said he was disappointed that he was the only one there and deplored the fact that Pampa's annual budget had increased 250 per cent from 1962 (when Sidwell was mayor) to 1975.

Sidwell pointed out the budget had increased from $1.5 million 13 years ago to more than $3.3 million (including revenue sharing funds) today.

"It is disappointing to me," Sidwell said. "That I am the only one here today to speak on the budget. I think people should take more interest in their city government."

"I believe there should be more communication between city officials and people outside the government. I believe it would be wise for city commissioners to consult more with outsiders."

Going back to 1962, Sidwell stated the city property valuation was $44 compared to $5 million today. The tax rate then, he said, was $1.45 and now it is $1.95.

Sidwell urged strict economy in city government operation and pleaded with officials to try their best to avoid what he called the "pitfalls" being experienced by so many other cities.

"All of us must work together collectively to stay within the boundaries of fiscal responsibility," Sidwell said.

He added that all he wanted to do was "help in any way possible and cooperate with city officials whenever possible to work toward economy."

The proposed budget is an increase of $294,000 — 10.7 per cent over last year's fiscal budget with the heaviest increases coming in salary boosts and added retirement benefits for city workers.

Raises in city utility rates including water rate, sewer rates and garbage collection fees have been approved by the city commission to balance the budget.

First reading of ordinances covering the budget, tax rate and utility rates are scheduled for the Sept. 9 regular meeting of the city commission.

In other business today commissioners

Approved on second reading an ordinance setting up details for the sale of $300,000 in general obligation bonds for Pampa's sewage treatment plant with $150,000 each going to the Citizens Bank & Trust Co and

First National Bank at 75 per cent interest.

Help a public hearing in regard to a "Special Use Permit" for the sale of beer and wine for off-premise consumption at a location just south of the old Foodway store on North Duncan St.

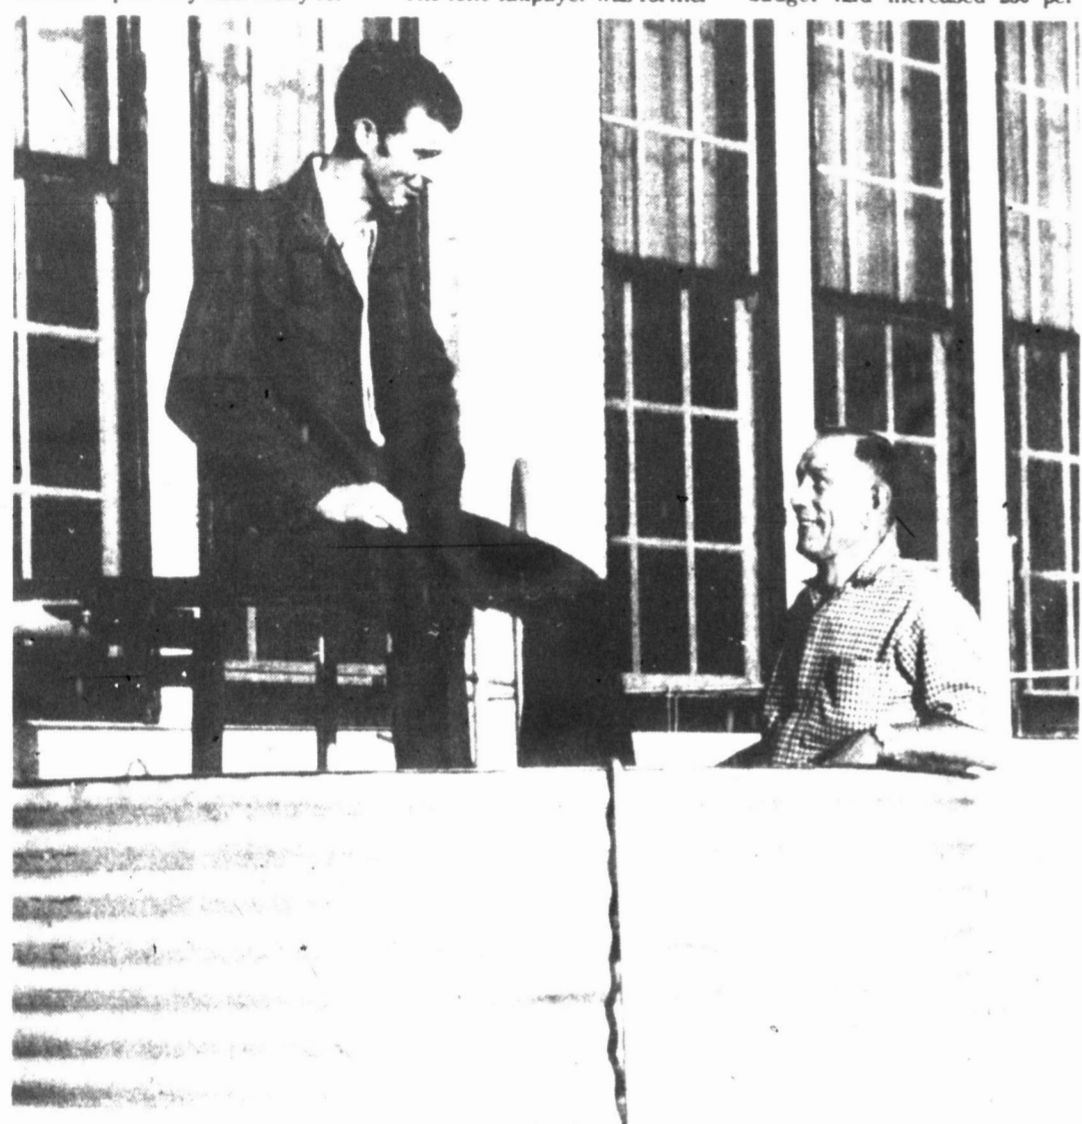

Approved city participation with Highland General and Metropolitan Ambulance Service in the Panhandle Emergency Medical System Radio Network. The city's share of the cost will be $362,677.

Set Sept. 9 for a public hearing on zoning change from "retail" to "commercial" on properties fronting on N. Hobart from Francis to Cook streets.

Set Sept. 23 to receive bids on leasing of city land located north and east of the Waste Water Treatment Plant.

Approved on first reading an ordinance regulating burglar alarms within the city in order for the police department to have more control and give better service.

Tabled second and final reading until Sept. 9 of an ordinance annexing a portion of North Crest Addition.

Jaycees Carnival

Robert Schaub, left, project chairman for the Jaycees Carnival, and Delbert Thurman, president of the Lone Star Squares square dance club, were getting things set up this morning at the old Pampa Junior High School parking lot. The annual fund raising event will feature midway rides and several booths sponsored by local organizations. The Lone Star Squares will sponsor a bingo game with prizes donated by local merchants. Other groups represented at booths will include the Optimist, Phi Epsilon Beta, Lions, and Boy Scouts. Schaub said the carnival will begin at 6:30 p.m. today through Saturday.

Finishing Touches Go In Middle East Pact

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flew back to Egypt today with the draft of an Israeli-approved interim peace treaty. Political sources in Alexandria said it could be initiated Friday or Saturday, thus putting it into immediate effect.

"We are making remarkable progress towards an agreement and a nervous breakdown and it's going to be a race to see which will be achieved first," Kissinger told reporters emerging from a six-hour negotiating session with Israeli leaders.

Foreign Minister Yigal Allon stood at his side and was first to speak to reporters, saying, "I have the feeling that during the last two days we achieved remarkable progress towards conclusion of an interim agreement and we are much closer to a positive conclusion than ever since the shuttle was resumed."

"We are no longer working on either an Israeli or an Egyptian draft agreement," Kissinger said. "We are working on a text that is partially agreed and partially disagreed. When it is finally finished it will be the common consensus of both sides."

"We are going through formulations of matters, most of which are agreed, and it depends what expression they can be given. That is what we are spending a great deal of our time on in addition to bilateral Israeli-U.S. matters."

Kissinger said he was not "excessively surprised" at the expressed opposition of Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., to using American technicians to man early warning stations between Israeli and Egyptian armies in Sinai.

Egyptian political sources in Alexandria, Egypt, said it would be initiated Friday or Saturday. They said it would go into effect immediately after it is initiated, that it will be valid for a year and that it will be subject to renewal annually.

As details of the agreement began to unfold the Israeli government officially broke the news to the Jewish nation that it would be ceding territory to Egypt.

Diplomatic sources in Jerusalem said Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and Kissinger with their aides hammered out the draft treaty in a nonstop negotiating session in the prime ministers' office building in Jerusalem's Valley of the Cross. Foreign Minister Yigal Allon told Israelis on the state radio of the territorial concessions.

Women Protest Coverup Of Activist's Death

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Leaders of the National Organization for Women have chosen today — the 55th anniversary of women's suffrage — to protest an alleged FBI cover-up of the 1974 death of a woman union activist at an Oklahoma plutonium plant.

NOW President Karen DeCrow and other leaders of the feminist group scheduled a meeting today with Kevin Maroney of the Justice Department's criminal division to demand a full investigation of the death of Karen Silkwood.

NOW has chosen to pursue the Silkwood case as part of a full-fledged campaign against violence toward women.

Other demonstrations and cultural events were expected in many big cities as the nation's women celebrate the anniversary of the day they won the right to vote.

Illinois Gov. Daniel Walker was to address a women's equality day rally in front of the Federal Building in Chicago and was to sign legislation affecting women's rights.

Sara Nelson, coordinator of NOW's campaign for an investigation of the Silkwood death, said an FBI investigation of the case looks like a cover-up.

Ms. Silkwood was killed in an auto crash Nov. 13, 1974, while driving to meet a New York Times reporter and a national official of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union. She had been collecting evidence of alleged safety violations at the Kerr-McGee nuclear plant in Oklahoma where she worked.

Ms. Nelson said a General Accounting Office report issued in May cited several possible criminal violations in the case. But, she said, the FBI has not yet even interviewed the principles in the case, an indication "they are not doing anything."

Oklahoma officials said Ms. Silkwood's car probably crashed because she fell asleep at the wheel and swerved off the highway. But some environmentalists and public interest advocates reject those official findings.

Vietnamese Refugees To Make Home in Pampa

By THOM MARSHALL
Pampa News Staff

Eight Vietnamese refugees arrived in Pampa Monday and will make their new home here.

The family is sponsored by the Sandra Corporation, a firm which operated 13 Gibson Stores throughout the Panhandle area and has a central warehouse located in Pampa.

Delmar Watkins, president of the corporation, said, "We are going to employ three men and two women. The other members of the family are a 76-year-old lady and two small children."

The refugee family currently is staying in a local motel, but Watkins said housing for them is being arranged and they are expected to move within a few days.

The family members have been learning English for only a couple of months and communications are not easy, a Gibson spokesman indicated.

Those who will be working at the Sandra Corporation warehouse include Huong, an aunt, Sy, a nephew, Anh and Dung, aunt and uncle, and Dinh, a nephew.

The other members of the family are Ry, the 76-year-old mother, Tam, the daughter of Anh and Dung, and Lan, the daughter of Huong.

The refugees arrived from Camp Pendleton at Amarillo airport and were met there by Watkins and Jerry Wilson, Sandra Corp. vice president.

Watkins said he first began to work on sponsoring some refugees about a month ago and he contacted "the ladies at the Catholic Center in Amarillo about it."

He said that the refugees appeared a bit confused and "frightened" this morning.

"I don't blame them a bit," Watkins said. "In their shoes, I'd be scared to death."

The family is from Phu Chu, Vietnam.

Bankrupt Rails May Set Merger

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The multibillion-dollar merger plan for bankrupt railroads of the Northeast and Midwest has the support of the Interstate Commerce Commission — with some reservations.

The ICC Monday published a 65-page evaluation of the merger plan drawn up by the U.S. Railway Association which was established by law primarily to work out the reorganization of debt-plagued lines in the two regions.

The plan seems often too optimistic about revenues from certain freight, but in general seems a good one to put the lines back on sound footing, the ICC concluded.

The plan was drawn up under provisions of the Regional Rail Reorganization Act of 1973 and was relayed to Congress with the ICC comments.

Under the plan, the ConRail System would be established, made up of most of the Penn Central, the Lehigh Valley, the Central Railroad of New Jersey and the Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore Lines, plus smaller portions of the Reading and the Ann Arbor.

At the same time, the eastern half of the Erie-Lackawanna and most of the Reading and Penn Central lines in West Virginia would be sold to the Chessie System.

A total of 6,918 miles of little-used rails would be eliminated. Stock and debentures, partly held by the federal government and partly issued to creditors of the troubled lines, would be issued totaling more than $2 billion.

George Chandler, director of ICC's rail services planning office, said the commission felt "front-end money" provided by the federal government should be interest-free loans or at least loans with interest deferred, so that the reorganized lines would not have too much early debt.

Shippers, Farmers Want All Grain Loaded

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UPI) — Shipping interests and farm representatives are trying different legal approaches to make sure Texas longshoremen load Soviet-bound grain.

Attorneys for the West Gulf Maritime Association asked Monday for a temporary injunction against the longshoremen Farm Bureau representatives filed a labor complaint against the dock workers for their brief boycott last week.

The union members are currently under a 10-day temporary restraining order forcing them to load the grain on Russian-bound ships, but that order expires late Thursday.

U.S. District Judge Owen D. Cox met for three hours behind closed doors with attorneys from the union and the shipping organization Monday on the request for the temporary injunction. The hearing resumes today and a spokesman for Cox said proceedings could take a couple of days.

The American Farm Bureau Federation, the Texas Farm Bureau and the Kansas Farm Bureau announced they had filed secondary boycott charges against the longshoremen with the National Labor Relations Board office in Houston.

Texas longshoremen had been loading Russian-bound grain ships at the Port of Houston until last Monday when AFLCIO president George Meany urged union members to join in boycott against the selling of grain to the Soviet Union.

Police Add Another Phone

The Pampa Police Department has added another number, but were unable to get in rotary with the other.

"So we were forced to change our telephone number to 669-7407," Police Chief Richard Mills said this morning.

The chief explained that until the new telephone directories are distributed — a year from now the telephone company has bridged the old number to the new number so callers will have no difficulty in reaching the police department.

The chief, however, is urging citizens to learn the new number and use it when calling the police department.

Rhodesia Talks 'Not Collapsed'

VICTORIA FALLS, Rhodesia (UPI) — Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith walked out on talks with black nationalists today but said the negotiations aimed at reaching a new constitution had not collapsed.

Smith, who warned earlier that his talks with Bishop Abel Muzorewa were at a "make-or-break stage" returned to Salisbury after the black delegation rejected his terms on where to meet next.

But Smith said the negotiations to end nine years of racial confrontation in the breakaway British territory had not collapsed.

Zambian and South African diplomats tried to persuade the Rhodesian African National Council to abide by a July 9 agreement signed in Pretoria, South Africa, calling for the second-stage constitutional talks to be held inside Rhodesia.

Smith said he stuck by that agreement, concluded on behalf of the African Council by Zambian negotiators.

Smith and Muzorewa conferred for nine hours Monday in a luxury railway car parked midway on a bridge spanning the Zambezi River, the border between Rhodesia and Zambia.

Weather

Fair skies and cooler temperatures are forecast for today and Wednesday. The highs will be in the upper 80s dropping to the 60s at night.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS
On Monday of the past week one of the Carson County commissioners asked the Water Conservation District to enforce its prohibition against the waste or irrigation tail - water. On Tuesday word came from another Carson County commissioner that the road crew was having difficulty in grading roads and pulling up the ditches because of irrigation tail - water running down county road ditches.

Many irrigation farmers have installed excellent tail - water recovery systems. One of the new tail - water recovery ponds and systems is located three miles south of White Deer on land being operated by Marvin Urbanczyk. A number of years ago Urbanczyk set up a novel new type of system to use the irrigation tail - water from farms of several neighbors southwest of White Deer. This was done by constructing a small dam in the road ditch and diverting the water through a culvert running diagonal across the road, then placing a restraining dam in the road ditch on his side of the road and diverting the water into a pond on his farm. From the holding he laid gated irrigation pipe across some 60 rows of maize and the grain on these half mile rows was irrigated by gravity flow.

In many instances the tail water recovery pits were built too small and the farmer has found that one 8 - inch tail - water pump was not large enough to move the excess tail - water to other areas where grain was needing water. Many irrigation farmers have installed automated pump systems on tail - water ponds that the water as fast as it enters the pond and returns it to the underground pipe systems and re-use it a number of times. This type system is very beneficial because the re - used water contains fertilizer and the fuel cost on the operation is much cheaper than that of the irrigation well.

With imported water still a "far off dream", wise use of the underground water we now have is absolutely essential if we desire to extend the life span of our agri - business economy. The constantly rising fuel costs also should be a reminder that water brought to the surface should be used wisely. The waste of underground water was prohibited in legislation passed by the 51st and 53rd Legislature. The law states: The flowing or producing of wells from an underground water reservoir when the water produced therefrom is not used for a beneficial purpose is prohibited. The law further states that the willfully causing, suffering or permitting underground water produced for irrigation or agricultural purposes to escape into any river, creek or other natural watercourse, depression or lake, reservoir or drain on or into any sewer, street, highway, road, road ditch, or upon the land of any other person than the owner of such well or upon public land is prohibited. In fact the law states flatly that underground water shall not be produced within or used within or without the boundaries of the established water conservation districts in such a manner as to constitute waste. Any person producing or using underground water shall use every possible precaution, in accordance with the most approved methods, to stop and prevent waste of such water.

In compliance with the law the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District has added these prohibitions, against the waste of underground water, to the rules of the district.

Dacy Henry of Gruver in writing one of the winning essays on "Why The Importance Of Water Conservation", stated: "Many water problems in the United States have arisen because the country has had a plentiful and easily available water supply. Water has been cheap and people have been careless and wasteful. People everywhere have dumped their untreated sewage and other waste into rivers and lakes, ruining the country's water. The supply of cheap, easily available water is shrinking in the United States. The development of new products will become more and more costly. It will then be cheaper to reuse water from old supplies. Sewage can be treated and turned into usable water. Such water is used today and will be used more in the future. Many families in the communities of Texas water their lawns with treated sewage water."

SOLAR ENERGY
ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — The University of Texas at Arlington is building the first single family residence in Texas to be heated and cooled with solar energy.

The three-bedroom home is expected to be completed in January. A graduate student family will live in the residence to collect data on the experimental system.

Agents Probe Stolen Crude Oil

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Agents of the organized crime division of the attorney general's office Monday searched from West Texas to the Gulf Coast for evidence concerning crude oil stolen from fields in Runnels County.

The oil was allegedly stolen in early morning hours in West Texas, hauled to a Texas City refinery and sold. Hill said last week.

Funeral Held for R.B. Davis

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Funeral services were scheduled today for former National Cotton Council president and board chairman Roy B. Davis, whose career in Texas agriculture spanned almost 50 years.

Davis, 74, died Sunday in a local hospital where he was rushed Friday suffering from chest pains.

Davis had been active since the early 1940s with the National Cotton Council which represents all segments of the industry including mills, growers, crushers, merchants, cooperatives, ginners and warehousemen.

John C. White, Texas agriculture commissioner and a longtime friend, said Davis had been the outstanding Texan in agriculture for the last 25 years.

"Because of his great personal humility he was never a publicity seeker and therefore was not widely identified as a public figure," White said. "But he was still important to the industry."

Rockefeller Courts Southern Republicans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Nelson Rockefeller is spending today and Wednesday courting members of his own party who would rather see someone else on the ticket with President Ford next year.

Rockefeller cut short his Maine vacation to travel to Alabama today and South Carolina Wednesday where party regulars have labeled him too old and too liberal to be an attractive candidate next year.

The trip is Rockefeller's third into the politically hostile South in recent months. As Rockefeller explains the trips: "I'm not campaigning. I just want to prove to them I don't have horns."

Rockefeller addresses a conference of lieutenant governors in Mobile, Ala., tonight. Wednesday he has a breakfast meeting with Alabama Republicans and then flies to South Carolina for a day-long series of meetings with Republicans in Columbia.

He will have a private lunch with Gov. James Edwards of South Carolina, a vocal supporter of conservative Ronald Reagan.

Thirteen southern chairman met during the weekend at Wrightsville Beach, N.C., and indicated they now favor Ford.

Possible Killer Still Loose in VA Hospital

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Somewhere in the Veterans Hospital here, a killer may be loose. Still, hospital services go on — but with some precautions.

The FBI is investigating a series of apparently deliberately induced respiratory failures that have claimed at least two lives. The investigation could take months.

The hospital has reduced admissions to emergency cases only and halted non-emergency surgery. Extra nurses and orderlies have been added to watch over patients, and muscle-relaxing drugs believed to have caused more than 40 cases of respiratory failure have been put under strict control.

Hospital officials said earlier it was unlikely the respiratory failures were accidental. Mark Gullickson, a hospital administrative assistant, said doctors and nurses continue to provide services despite the possibility a killer may be among them.

"The staff has been very good about this," Gullickson said Monday, "and the patients are very optimistic."

Patients still come to the 10-story, red brick hospital from Michigan and three surrounding states. But in the past two weeks, many have been turned away.

A few patients are avoiding the hospital, although Gullickson said he thought only an occasional patient had canceled a visit out of fear.

Gullickson and FBI spokesmen declined to talk about the investigation.

It was learned Monday the investigation may have widened to neighboring hospitals clustered with the VA facility on the edge of the University of Michigan's north campus. There was no immediate confirmation from authorities.

A VA spokesman said there have been frequent patient exchanges with the University of Michigan hospital.

A spokesman for the nearby University Hospital said it conducted its own internal investigation after the mysterious series of respiratory failures and deaths became known, and that nothing unusual was found.

Officials were awaiting laboratory tests that could pinpoint the cause of death of several victims.

Lady Bird Believes Mrs. Ford Pressured

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson says she thinks the pressures of being First Lady prompted Betty Ford to speak hastily in making her recent controversial statements on sex.

"I've known Betty since 1949 and she is a straight forward, warm person," Lady Bird Johnson said Monday. "I know the pressures of being a First Lady, and I think maybe she got asked one question too quick."

Mrs. Ford was asked hypothetically by Morley Safer during a CBS-TV interview what she would do if her daughter admitted she was having an affair. Mrs. Ford said she "wouldn't be surprised" if their daughter, Susan, 18, had an affair and that she would counsel her.

There was considerable public reaction for and against the First Lady with some claiming Mrs. Ford was advocating premarital sex.

Mrs. Johnson offered no judgement but said she felt the American public would understand the pressure Mrs. Ford was under and feel closer to Mrs. Ford regardless of whether they agreed with what she said.

Mrs. Johnson declined to discuss politics during her brief visit to Lubbock for a meeting of the Lady Bird Johnson Award for Highway Beautification.

"Politics was Lyndon's life for 37 years and I accepted it," Mrs. Johnson said. "I enjoy a full life working on a lot of things as a private citizen of which politics is not a part. And, I believe many Americans think it would be unbecoming of me to do anything else."

"I don't mind being asked political questions," said Mrs. Johnson. "But, if I don't want to answer them I'll tell you. I have a full life of my own, and I don't think everyone wants me to stick in an opinion on every thing that comes up in politics."

Mrs. Johnson said she was enjoying her private life. "I still get a lot of mail, and have to spend at least one day a week answering it," she said. "The mail ranges from inquiries about my book to personal questions about Lyndon and requests for me to speak at different engagements. I try to answer as many of the letters myself as I can."

MOUNTAIN RINK CARACAS (UPI) — There's an artificial skating rink on the top of the 6,850-foot Avila mountain, reachable from the Venezuelan capital by cable car.

One staff member said there was an undercurrent of emotion — perhaps fear — below the normal, workaday appearance as the hospital continued its daily operations. But said Gullickson, hospitals must continue to operate regardless of the circumstances.

"There are just too many other things that have to be done," he said.

The Japanese spider crab, found at depths of up to 1,000 feet, is the longest-legged crab in the ocean. It can measure 12 feet from claw to claw.

Worst Handicapped Tackled Hardest Jobs

Counselor Encouraged At Disabled Kids Camp

By JANE P. MARSHALL Pampa News Staff

One little girl had been born with no arms or legs; many were deaf or blind; others would spend their lives in wheel chairs.

But Merrilyn Miller daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller of 1615 Grape, didn't let it get her down.

"Why should I get depressed when they're not," said the college junior. Miller spent the summer as a counselor at Texas Lions Camp for Crippled Children in Kerrville.

The 7-year-old girl with no arms or legs did everything... swim, go on hikes, participate in activities.

Another Holly was completely blind and had an intermediate swimmers badge. "She would swim with her head out of the water so she could hear where she was going," the counselor said.

Miller is studying learning and language disabilities at Southwestern University in Georgetown. She got her 10-week summer job through the college.

The camp exists solely for children with any type of handicap. Miller found the 7 to 9 year olds the biggest challenge because "they couldn't do anything for themselves." The young deaf were just learning to communicate, just learning sign language.

"They are in their own little world," said the Pampa coed who learned sign language, too. Her primary problem in dealing with deaf children was when the young ones threw temper tantrums.

Each counselor at Lions camp was in charge of five children. If four were in braces and a counselor had to do everything for them, Miller said, five was a real handful.

But she found the work encouraging. "I was amazed at what they could do; they wanted to do things and it was often those with the worst handicaps that tried to do the hardest jobs," she said.

Camp activities were like those in any other camp: swimming, crafts, campouts, talent shows, awards night.

Miss Miller enjoyed helping the campers do the things other children can do. Other counselors included members of the Baylor football team. Each could get college credit for the summer's work.

"We learned to handle the physical and emotional side of the children," she said. Miller thinks she will be better prepared for a career with disabled persons after her experience. "I lived and worked with kids on a day to day basis," she said.

Miss Miller wouldn't trade her summer and the experiences she had. She recalled one little boy with fibrous cancer in his face and leg. The disease caused one side of his face to completely droop and one leg to enlarge.

"He was the sweetest little kid," she smiled. "But the other kids were repulsed by the way he looked."

His best friend at camp was a little blind boy. The counselor had a special friend at camp, too. Her name was Traci and she was 8 years old, was blind in one eye, deaf and had cerebral palsy.

"She and I had a relationship that wouldn't quit," Miller said, her face showing the emotion and affection she feels for the little girl. "Boy, I'll never forget that kid," she said.

Two campers show a blind girl rocks and flowers on a hike at Texas Lions Camp near Kerrville.

Awards night ended each session of the camp which accommodated 800 during the summer.

New rates for long distance calls within Texas.

With Discount Periods and a new One-Minute Rate, you may be able to save money.

Rates for Long Distance calls within Texas have just changed.

For you — the telephone customer — it means most rates are going up.

But you may be surprised to learn that rate changes won't necessarily bring higher telephone bills.

Because with our new discount for dialing your own calls, you can better control your Long Distance costs.

In some cases, you may be able to save money on your Long Distance bill by taking advantage of these rates.

For example, there's a new one-minute rate on all calls that you dial yourself — without the operator's help.

Under the old rate, the initial rate period was for three minutes. Now on One-Plus dialed calls the initial rate period is one minute.

That means you can save by reducing the length of your call.

Nights and Weekends there will be a 40 per cent discount.

So, if you call later in the day or night, or on weekends, you're going to get the lowest rates possible.

But if you place calls through an operator, rates for these Zero-Plus calls will be higher, at any time — night or day. These include calls from a coin phone, collect, credit card and calls billed to a third number.

The initial rate period of three minutes will continue for these and other operator-assisted calls.

And, person-to-person calls will cost more than any other type call.

	# One-Plus	Each Additional One-Plus Minute
DAY RATE	50¢ or less	41¢ or less
EVENINGS 30% Discount	35¢ or less	29¢ or less
NIGHTS AND WEEKENDS 40% Discount	30¢ or less	25¢ or less

One-Plus charges for 1 minute.

NOTE: One-Plus rates also apply on station-to-station calls placed with an operator where One-Plus facilities are not available. *Rates quoted do not include taxes.

	Mon	Tues	Wed	Thurs	Fri	Sat	Sun
8 a.m. to 5 p.m.	Day Rate Period						Eve. 30% Discount
	Full Rate
5 p.m. to 11 p.m.	Evening Rate Period
	30% Discount
11 p.m. to 8 a.m.	Night and Weekend Rate Periods
	40% Discount

NOTE: The Evening rate applies all day on the following holidays: New Year's Day, July 4, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas Day, except in instances where the holiday falls into Night/Weekend period. In this case, the lower rate applies.

*On operator-assisted calls, the same rate applies at all hours on all days.

Simply put, if you dial the call yourself, you are going to get a lower rate. If you place your call through an operator, it will cost more.

Now our new rates offer you a choice.

By dialing your own calls and by taking advantage of our discount rate period, you can still get low rates and fast service.

Hints from Heloise

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

For two or three years now, my husband and I have enjoyed the wonderful beaches—collecting shells, walking in the surf, etc. Only problem was sandy feet!

Usually, we have no place to wash or rinse the sand off them before getting in the car and putting our shoes on. The sand was a little uncomfortable, besides being messy.

One day, I was just ready to throw away a plastic dish detergent bottle with a pop-up top, when an idea came to me. I saved the bottle (you can collect two or three if necessary), and the next time we went to the beach, I filled the bottles with water and put them in the car.

After the walk on the beach, we sat on the car seat sideways and hung our feet out the car, and just let the water from the squeeze bottle ooze over our feet.

It's wonderful! The water goes all over and between the toes. A quick dry and baby oil or cream and we're on our way. Our feet feel like a million.

I tell you, we're never without our bottle. M.K. A bushel and a peck and a hug around the neck for this fantastic idea.

Your feet may be gritty, but you haven't got sand in your brain. Loved it!

Heloise

Dear Heloise: This is not much of a hint, undoubtedly appreciated only by us ladies who work elsewhere, as well as in our homes.

I discovered, for our tightly capped bottles such as nail polish, perfume, etc. that we carry in our purses (when no male strength is available), a rubber band (at least one-eighth wide) tightly wound around the cap, gives surprisingly good leverage.

Thank you for all the excellent hints that I have utilized from your column over the years.

Mrs. Marge Hatch

Oscar winner Maggie Smith will guest star on two Carol Burnett shows scheduled for airing Nov. 1 and Jan. 3.

portraits of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gordon Frashier, paternal grandparents of the bride, married Aug. 15, 1915; Aunt and uncle of the bride Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Epperson, married Aug. 15, 1944; (both couples from Pampa) and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Holwick, sister of the bridegroom, Dover, N.M., married Aug. 15, 1970 were arranged for viewing with the engagement portrait of the bride and bridegroom.

The bride graduated from Eldorado High School in Albuquerque and will be a freshman at Oklahoma Christian College in September majoring in computer science. The bridegroom graduated from Highland High School in Albuquerque and is a senior at Oklahoma Christian College majoring in mass communications. He also manages the KOCC radio station and is under a full track scholarship for the coming year.

Attending the wedding from Pampa were Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Epperson, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Balch, Mrs. E.G. Frashier, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Epperson; also Mrs. Bobby Cook of Talahassee, Fla., formerly of Pampa.

Making subminimum opening bids can be dangerous and costly, since partner, assuming that the opener has full values for his bid, frequently contracts for a poor slam contract. Such was the case in today's deal. However, with luck and skillful play combining, declarer fulfilled his ambitious contract. Neither side vulnerable. South deals.

The four of diamonds was now led, and when West followed with the deuce, South put in the board's jack. He breathed a sigh of relief when the jack won the trick.

Dummy's nine of trumps was then played and overtook by South's ace. A second diamond lead came next, West capturing the trick with his ace. West exited with a spade, dummy's ace performed winning the trick. When the king of diamonds was now cashed, it was revealed that the adversely held six diamonds were divided 3-3; and, hence, that South's remaining diamond was a winner.

The South hand was next entered by leading dummy's three of hearts to South's seven-spot. The nine of diamonds was then cash, the board's four of clubs being discarded. Then a club lead was made, and dummy's queen was finessed successfully. The rest of the LONDON (UPI) — When beleaguered Britons faced the threat of starvation in World War II, their government told them to get out and "dig for victory."

Now, faced with what the government has called their worst peacetime economic crisis, the watchword is "dig for economy."

Local councils in urban areas rent out communal plots of land known as allotments to their citizens. In the postwar years, when vegetables were cheap, allotments lay neglected, festering with weeds. Many were rented to professional market gardeners.

But suddenly vegetable prices have rocketed and allotments are in demand again. This spring local authorities had 57,000 more applicants for allotment plots than there was land available.

Seed merchants report a 20 per cent increase in sales of vegetable seeds, while the demand for flowering plants has declined.

Council officials agree that the alarming rise in the cost of vegetables accounts for the gardening boom. Four years ago fresh cabbage cost 12 cents each, the housewife could buy a cauliflower for 19 cents and new potatoes were a mere 5 cents a pound.

Prices in grocers shops this summer average 27 cents for cabbage, 48 cents for cauliflower, while new potatoes have become a luxury at 38 cents a pound.

"This is the biggest rush to allotments since the war when imports of vegetables were banned," said John Halhead, the man in charge of allotments in the London suburb of Sutton.

An increase in the number of high-rise apartments and a craze for home freezers have contributed to the grow-it-yourself habit.

Allotment cultivation is an egalitarian pastime. Plumbers, clerks and bookmakers jostle for space in the potato patch with psychologists and senior government officials.

Even the diarist of The Times secured an allotment — after months of waiting — and now regales readers with progress reports on his runner beans and news of last evening's home-grown salad supper.

"There is a different sort of person going in for allotment gardening nowadays," said Bill Milligan of the National Society for Leisure Gardeners.

"People are looking upon gardening as a healthy recreation and as a pleasant way of spending the weekend with the family rather than bashing away for hours on the motorway for just a couple of hours at the seaside."

Most gardeners find that a plot of 10 square rods (30 feet by 90), the regular size for an allotment, can support a family of four for the summer with some vegetables left over to give away to neighbors or sell to the local grocer.

A typical allotment will have a patch of potatoes, two rows of lettuce and some Brussels sprouts, carrots, beetroot and onions, with a few rows of runner beans or fruit bushes to complete the picture. Seed merchants report that gardeners are experimenting with new plants, particularly herbs.

But gardeners are generally a traditional sort.

The allotment is the last place of refuge for that familiar English country figure, the scarecrow. He has already been displaced by mechanization on the farm but allotment gardeners still cling to a tenuous belief that straw effigies and bottle-tops threaded on string will keep birds away.

There is nothing new about the idea of allotments. They first were introduced as "a dole of land for the poor" in a poor relief law of 1806. The method of cultivation on strips of communal ground is reminiscent of strip farming practiced in medieval England. Court records still exist of 14th century peasants being called to justice for foraging in their neighbors' bean patches.

During the war when Britain had to rely on homegrown produce the need for land became so acute that city parks were dug up and turned into vegetable gardens.

At least one local authority is considering surrendering some of its park space to grow vegetables for its cooked meals service to old folks. If the idea catches on, future visitors to London parks may find themselves strolling around cabbage patches.

Texans Now Must Use Mules To Remove Illegal Vehicles

SILVER CITY, N.M. (UPI) — Three Texans who illegally drove four-wheel drive vehicles into the Gila Wilderness have until Sunday to use a team of mules to remove the stalled vehicles.

The three vehicles were driven 26 miles into the wilderness a month ago before they stalled in the rising waters of the Gila River. The men were charged with violating the ban on motorized vehicles in a wilderness area.

Gila National Forest acting supervisor Zieg Warner said the three men, Fred Norton, Robert Sheid and Richard Sheid, all of El Paso, Tex., did try to remove the vehicles this past weekend but failed.

"They did go in there with three mules and one horse and did make an attempt," Warner said. "They moved one vehicle about a quarter-mile downstream."

Warner said the Forest Service doesn't think the three men made a very good effort to get the vehicles out and will give them until Sunday to accomplish the task or the federal agency will do it and then bill the three El Paso residents.

"We didn't feel their effort was very responsive this time," said Warner, "maybe they didn't use enough livestock or the livestock wasn't very well teamed."

The vehicles must be towed about five miles to reach the southwestern boundary of the wilderness.

Warner said the men left the wilderness Sunday without saying if they would make another attempt to remove the vehicles. He said the men spent about one and a half hours Sunday trying to tow the vehicles before one of them bogged down again in the river.

Warner said the Forest Service would remove the vehicles if necessary and impound them until the costs for their removal were paid. The three men have pleaded innocent to federal misdemeanor charges of violating the Wilderness Act. If found guilty, they could be fined up to $500 and jailed for six months.

HOME LIGHTING
COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Well planned fluorescent lighting in the home is a boon to energy conscious consumers, according to housing and home furnishings specialist Jane Berry.

"For years fluorescent lighting has been standard in commerce and industry because of its efficiency," says Mrs. Berry.

"Now recent tests in a model home which used more efficient fluorescent lamps instead of incandescent lighting showed a 45 per cent savings in electricity costs," she says.

Judge Rejects Delay In Carrillo Tax Trial

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UPI) — The defense Monday was unsuccessful in its attempts to delay the September 8 income tax evasion trial of 228th District Judge O.P. Carrillo.

U.S. District Judge Owen Cox rejected arguments by defense attorney Arthur Mitchell of Austin that excessive publicity warranted a delay and that the trial date conflicted with dates set to test two attempts to remove Carrillo from the bench.

Besides the income tax charge, Carrillo is scheduled for trial by the Texas Senate on September 3 on 10 articles of impeachment and is scheduled for a hearing before the Judicial Qualifications Commission during the first part of October.

The defense attorney said his client "could not be in three places at the same time."

"Obviously somebody is going to have to give," Mitchell said after the hearing. "I imagine I'll be here as Judge Cox has ordered me to be here for the trial."

The federal government has charged Carrillo, his brother, County Commissioner Ramiro Carrillo and business associate Arturo Zertuche operated a fictitious business to cover their unlawful sale of goods to Duval County governmental agencies.

In addition, a Jim Wells County grand jury this month indicted the two Carrillos and Duval County Judge Dan Tobin Jr. on felony theft charges. They were accused of having their personal vehicles repaired at an Alice car dealer and billing Duval County for the work.

Last March 23 Judge Carrillo ousted Archer Parr as county judge and replaced him with Tobin, a former county commissioner, in political feuding in the South Texas county.

Parr was transferred last Thursday to Terre Haute, Ind., to begin serving a 10-year perjury sentence at a federal correctional facility.

Washington Watch Backs Grain Reform

By Bill Choyke
Pampa News' Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — John White, state commissioner of Agriculture, said here last week that he endorsed plans by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to make grain inspectors "disinterested third parties."

After meeting with USDA officials, White said he supported the plan, which would revamp the relationship between grain inspectors and major grain companies.

The USDA is conducting informal hearings with state officials in the wake of the largest grain probe in U.S. history. Several grain inspectors based in Houston have already been indicted in the investigation focusing on mislabeling and shortweighing of grain exports.

Currently, grain inspectors are federally licensed and supervised but work for grain manufacturers. Under the USDA plan, the inspectors would be federally trained and employed directly by the state departments of agriculture.

"I don't think there is any question about it," said White. "That this is the proper approach." He said, however, implementation of the plan was probably at least one year off.

White said the federal probe, focusing chiefly on grain exporting at Houston and New Orleans, should create additional needed changes in the grain business.

Calling U.S. standards too low, White said, "We need to take a closer look at grain standards overall in respect to world trade." He said the investigation "should also create a closer auditing of grain."

Currently, Texas farmers harvest 130 to 135 million bushels of grain yearly. White said twice the amount targeted for consumer use is exported.

He added he generally supported the sale of additional grain to Russia by Cook Industries, Inc., a Memphis-based exporter.

"All the wheat we produce we cannot consume. We've always been a major supplier of wheat in the world," he said.

Hoffa's Family Turns Down Offer

DETROIT (UPI) — James Hoffa's son said today his family does not want the help of a Florida inventor who offered a $100,000 reward for information as to the fate or whereabouts of the missing former Teamsters International union boss.

"I don't want him doing anything with the case," lawyer James P. Hoffa said. "I think he's a fraud."

But in Orlando, Fla., C. Monroe Lerman said he would not withdraw the offer.

"It's my money," Lerman said. "If we have to raise the ante to $150,000, we'll do it."

Lerman gained widespread publicity recently when he sent anonymous photographs of himself with Hoffa to the Detroit office of United Press International and to Hoffa's son.

The FBI investigated the mailing of the photos because at first they left the impression that Hoffa, who vanished outside a suburban Detroit restaurant July 30, had been seen since his disappearance.

Lerman said he sent the photos, taken in Orlando in April, because he wanted the Hoffa family and his friends to see a recent photo — "instead of the ones that make him look old and grim."

Hoffa's son, a Detroit lawyer, said Tuesday he thought Lerman's role in the case was "cruel."

"We don't appreciate him sending the pictures," Hoffa said. "He shouldn't get involved at all. He only met my father once."

Lerman made the reward offer last week, raising the total reward in the case to $375,000. The bulk of the reward, the largest in Michigan history, came from groups in the Teamsters union that Hoffa led from 1957 to 1971.

Hits Jackpot

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The MGM Grand Hotel claimed a world record slot machine payoff Monday — a $152,683 jackpot won on a $1 machine by an unidentified local man.

The hotel said the previous record was a $70,000 jackpot won on a Reno slot machine in May.

The winner hit the record jackpot on his third $1 pull of the handle, the hotel said. The hotel has a policy against identifying winners. The same machine had previously recorded payoffs of $12,500, $15,400, $54,340 and $62,250.

Pampa's Economy Prospers

Recruits Prostitutes in Midwest

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—This city of clean air, clean streets, crystal lakes and forward-thinking people is a ripe recruiting ground for prostitution.

being beaten up," said Charlotte Cohen, project specialist with Hennepin County's Operation DeNovo, a plan to help girls get out of the world's oldest profession.

seeking jobs, education and or husbands. "Their dream and ambition is a vine-covered cottage with husband and children," she said.

step may be New York City, where prostitution thrives. It has been estimated by some officials that one-third of the prostitutes in New York City are from Minnesota.

"They have never made the decision 'I shall become a prostitute,'" Ms. Cohen said. "They have relied on a man, their father, to make the decisions, and now the pimp has transferred into the father figure."

City Gets Fed Up, Hits Back at Urban Blight

BOON, Mich. (UPI)—Crime, blight and social indifference may be everyday facts of life in many American cities. But Boon has had enough.

changing it. "We want to help them." Vacant, decaying buildings mar the landscape and pose a safety hazard to children who play there.

The night of the meeting arrived and the entire town jammed into the Boon Town ship Hall.

Ship Gives Hope In Energy Crisis

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—The old hospital ship Hope, for years sailing the globe on errands of mercy, now is being used for a different sort of mercy mission — saving a furniture plant owner from the high cost of electricity.

around for three months and heard about the Hope," he said. "We made an agreement to buy the boiler, three 500 kilowatt steam generators, the coolers, the circulating system and the switching system."

But rampant vandalism, unattended decaying buildings and a growing coldness among village residents was changing the town's personality.

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (UPI)—Identical twins, who made medical history in a kidney transplant operation last month, are in excellent health, doctors at the University of Kansas Medical Center report.

Doctors said the Linnen twins suffered from a rare congenital kidney disease which caused progressive failure. The disease killed their mother.

Workmen transferred and installed its boiler at Economy's plant, this month and are scheduled to complete the system in about six months.

Smith said he hopes to trim to practically nothing electric bills that jumped from an average $3,500 a month in 1972 to $7,500 per month in 1974 and what he estimates will be $10,000 per month this year.

Tip Top Used Cars

Tip Top Used Cars was established at its present location, 648 West Brown, about three years ago. Owners are Claude Clay and his father, B.L. Clay. The younger Clay was born in Wheeler but attended all of his school years beginning in the first grade in Pampa.

Although, Clay specializes in used cars, he occasionally has a new one. "We have lot of customers and they've been good to us," said Clay. Clay said he has 25 used cars on hand now. Expressing faith in the future of Pampa, Clay said the business is here to stay.

CANNING FRUITS
STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI) — Home canned fruits have better flavor and texture when sugar is added, but they can be packed unsweetened.
 Gooseberries, cranberries and rhubarb retain good quality when packed without sugar, Oklahoma State University foods specialist Mary Frances Sowers said.
 Unsweetened fruits may be packed with no liquid, with water containing ascorbic acid or in the fruit's own juice.
 When using sugar, dissolve it in water in a 40 per cent solution — three cups sugar and four cups water.

RAILROAD PARK
MAYDELLE, Tex. (UPI) — Perhaps the longest and narrowest park in the United States is being constructed between Rusik and Palestine in East Texas.
 It's a railroad park and to complete it the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is preparing 24.5 miles of track through the East Texas pine forest. Refurbished steam engines will chug through the park and provide a glimpse of railroading's golden age at the turn of the century.
