Baker students excavate an "archeological site."

By THOM MARSHALL
Pampa News Staff

The sixth graders at Baker Elementary School apparently dig learning — and vice versa. Especially when it comes to archeological matters.

At 2 p.m. Friday afternoon, following several weeks of planning and preparations, two archeological teams of sixth graders, Mrs. Kay Hood's social studies class and Mrs. Vera Mae Eubank's social studies class, excavated a pair of archeological sites on an edge of the school grounds.

Each of the students had a job. There were diggers, recorders, sifters, cleaners, a photographer and a tape recorder operator. Each team was supervised by a crew chief.

So that artifacts would indeed be found in the digs, each class buried some things they had manufactured for the purpose. The artifacts were designed by the students to answer questions about a culture.

Before the artifact making could begin, however, each class created a culture, keeping in mind some basic considerations — geography, economics, religion, knowledge, political science, sociology and history.

While working out the details of their respective culture creations, each class practiced tight security measures so that members of the other class — "spies" — would not find out about the society before the dig.

In Mrs. Mary Keim's science class the young archeologists learned scientific methods utilized by archeologists and anthropologists such as Dr. Louis Seymour Bazett Leaky (1903-1972).

Fifth graders at Baker got into the dig act too, but only as observers. Each one had a sixth grader to watch and was assigned the task of writing down what he or she did.

The students were efficient and serious about the project Friday.

One of the young scientists pointed to something a shovel had partially unearthed and commented, "I'm not real sure, but I think that right there's an artifact."

Another picked up something that looked like some kind of vacuum tube and said, "That looks awful funny."

Mrs. Hood was standing by when one student picked up an artifact that appeared to be a small doll of some kind.

"It looks like a Martian," the student commented.

"How do you know what a Martian looks like?" the teacher asked.

The teachers served as advisors, leaving the running of the operations to the students.

One student thought he had enough information to figure out what kind of culture they were dealing with. "They're astroids," he said.

"Now, don't do that at the site," Mrs. Keim said, "wait until Monday."

A young man picked up a scrap of torn paper with something drawn on it.

"Look," he said, showing it to a fellow worker, "it's the rest of the space ship or ever what it is."

Another paper was found.

"What kind of language is that?" one asked.

"It might be calculations," another ventured.

"Hey, I hit something," a digger cried.

"Oh no, I chipped it in two," he said as he investigated.

The project wasn't free of problems. The weather was pretty chilly and the area downwind of the sifters was not too popular because of stiff breeze.

And the folks who had to put all the information on paper at the site — including where the object was found, carefully measured using the metric system, and a description, could not keep up with the speed of the diggers.

"The recorder's behind, so the sifter's behind, so we're out of boxes," a worker explained.

The measuring of the location of each artifact was done from a datum stake, as in real digs, but at one point in one of the digs, an over-enthusiastic student knocked the stake over. He moved to correct the situation.

"Hey," he called across the small pit, "give me that hammer over there."

The tool was handed across and he began to replace the stake with vigorous pounds of the hammer.

"Hey," the fellow on the other side of the pit yelled, "You're caving it in, man."

At the other pit an impressive find was being studied. It appeared to be sunglasses, but there was only one lense in the middle instead of two.

"They're one-eyed, whatever they are," a student surmised about the culture.

"Well," Mrs. Hood ventured, "nobody's perfect."

With clipboard in the crook of an arm and a pencil ready, Cheryl Whitmarsh, one of the crew chiefs, took notes and supervised the activities.

"We hit some little pieces of paper a while ago," she said. "They might be important."

And they might, indeed, prove to be important clues when the pieces are put back together Monday. Mrs. Diana Baccus, language arts teacher at Baker, helped the students prepare things to be included in the dig — poetry, newspapers (even including obituaries), and other assorted samples of writing to represent the created cultures.

It was the third year that Baker sixth graders have had a dig and it is improved every year, according to the teachers. Monday, after the classes analyze and compare notes, suggestions will be made as to how next year's dig can be improved.

The students apparently had a lot of fun in many different areas, but did they learn anything?

"I've learned that you can dig and find stuff and get knowledge of what it was like years ago and maybe what it'll be like in the future," said Margarite Keys, crew chief.

'Only Federal Intervention Can Save NYC From Default'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mayor Abraham Beame and three of his city's biggest bankers told Congress Saturday only federal intervention can save New York City from default. "Would the French disown Paris?" Beame asked. "Would the Soviets abandon Moscow?"

But two of the three senators from the Senate Banking Committee who heard Beame's plea for a multi-billion dollar federal loan or loan guarantees expressed deep reluctance to commit federal billions to New York's cause.

Elsewhere, in newly published interviews, President Ford said he could not imagine anything that would make him alter his opposition to federal aid. But Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller, breaking with his boss, urged Congress to "show leadership" and help the city.

In an otherwise silent Capitol Hill, observing the final days of a week-long Columbus Day recess, the Senate hearing was stuffy and crowded. Millionaire banker David Rockefeller waited hours in a front row seat for his turn to testify.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., who usually votes with the liberals, recalled that Beame served for years as the city's controller. "How in the world did this happen?" he demanded of Beame. "How did you let this come about?"

conservative New Hampshire, also showed misgivings. He noted that the city was on the brink of insolvency Friday until it was rescued by a $150 million loan from the teachers union pension fund and said, "The nation wasn't trembling, the city wasn't in crisis."

Banking Committee Chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., however, said he was "sympathetic" to the city's plight and promised that his committee might consider loan legislation as early as Wednesday night. And Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., in a radio interview, said he detected in Congress "rising sentiment of support for some help" for New York.

Welfare Requests Withdrawn

By ANNA BURCHELL
Pampa News Staff

Several Gray County residents have requested that their applications for food stamps or welfare be withdrawn or refiled following the recent filing of five welfare fraud cases here.

The account of the welfare fraud cases filed in Gray County Court was carried in the Oct. 10 issue of the Pampa Daily News.

Local welfare officials said as soon as news circulated in regard to the charges, they began receiving inquiries.

Applicants wanted to know what they could do to correct mistakes in their applications, officials reported.

John W. Warner, Gray County attorney, said officials here are willing to work with those who may have made a mistake.

"I'm sure we can work to resolve an honest mistake," Warner said.

He emphasized that when there is a need for welfare, officials are in business to serve.

Warner said he expects other welfare fraud cases to be filed here soon.

The five charges currently on the county court docket stem from an investigation by a team from the State Department of Public Welfare.

Although they were the first welfare fraud cases filed in Gray County history, Wanda Carter, Gray County clerk said cases have been filed in the past few years as a result of fraud in obtaining unemployment benefits.

Claimants are required to report monies derived from working while drawing unemployment. Failure to do so is punishable by law.

Welfare fraud, upon conviction, carries penalties of from six months to two years in jail and $100 fine or both.

Most of the welfare fraud cases involve someone else living in the same household, but applicants failed to report it.

One applicant allegedly falsely reported that she was

Ford Adviser Believes HHH Will Run in 1976

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford's senior political adviser believes the Democrats will name Hubert H. Humphrey to run for President in 1976.

"Like President Ford, everybody likes him. It's not a case of having some people saying, 'if that son of a bitch is elected, I'll move to Canada,'" Robert T.

Hartmann said with a chuckle.

Hartmann, counselor to the President, said the Minnesota senator, who lost to Richard M. Nixon in 1968, is the first choice of many Democrats for 1976.

Noting that a large number of Democrats actively seek the Democratic nomination, Hartmann said, "Hubert also is the second choice of many Democrats who favor some other candidate."

He theorized that when their favorite stumbles, these Democrats probably would shift to Humphrey, who is not an active candidate.

Hartmann, in a UPI interview, said he had come only recently to believe that "Hubert will be the man for the Democrats' next year."

Conservative Third Party Makes Presidential Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bound in neat black looseleaf binders, carefully laid plans for a conservative third party nationwide 1976 presidential campaign are in a Capitol Hill office and waiting to go.

The first steps of the state-by-state blueprint are being put into effect by a group of conservative activists. They say they are not committed to any one candidate, but they include allies of former Gov. Ronald Reagan of California and Gov. George Wallace of Alabama.

"At the conventions next year there will be a Republican train in the station and a Democratic train," a strategist said in an interview. "We'd like to have another train waiting in the station. We want to make sure that conservatives have some place to go."

Working quietly behind the scenes for the past year, leaders of this group have been painstakingly readying necessary plans and informal party apparatus to be used in the event either Reagan or Wallace — or perhaps someone else — chooses to run as a conservative third party candidate.

State leaders have been contacted, coordinators have been named, and — according to a key participant — "We're ready to fly."

"We've made our contacts in the states," this participant said. "We know who's out there."

The notebooks in a Capitol Hill office explain in exhaustive detail the legal and procedural requirements which must be fulfilled in order to qualify as an independent party on all 50 state ballots. They also include a similar breakdown for placing an independent slate of electors on state ballots.

The groundwork for the third party effort was laid by a subcommittee which surveyed election laws of all 50 states.

Both Wallace and Reagan are expected soon to announce their presidential candidacies. Wallace has not ruled out another third party try should he fail to win the Democratic nomination. Reagan says he has no interest in any third party effort.

Marijuana Climbs Ladder To Social Acceptance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Marijuana could soon climb the social ladder to join alcohol and nicotine in the status of socially acceptable drugs.

That was the indication this week as a dozen federal advisers recommended strongly that President Ford push for government de-emphasis of pot prosecutions.

"In short, marijuana has joined alcohol and tobacco as one of the most widely used drugs in the United States," said the white paper report to Ford, who asked last April for an appraisal of national drug abuse problems.

Though less is known about the health effects of marijuana than about the other two drugs, the report said, pot is not a menace to society and should receive less federal attention than heroin, amphetamines and mixed barbiturates.

But the presidential advisers from 12 federal agencies avoided taking any position on the two most commonly used "psychoactive or mood-altering" drugs — alcohol and nicotine.

"The task force excluded them from extensive consideration because public and social policy regarding these drugs is significantly different than that regarding the other drugs being discussed," they said in a brief note. "Alcohol and nicotine are legally obtainable and socially acceptable drugs, with a few exceptions, the drugs considered in this report are not."

If Ford, who called the report "realistic," were to agree to the panel's advice, marijuana, too, might become a "socially acceptable" drug.

Although it is now the most widely used illicit drug in the country — as opposed to legally acceptable liquor and cigarettes — "pot" is the least serious of the outlawed drugs both to the individual and to society, the report said.

An estimated 20 per cent of the general population over age 11 has used it at least once, in all social and economic groups.

Schools Record More Students

For the first time in several years, the Pampa Independent School District has recorded gain in the number of students enrolled.

The announcement came Friday afternoon from school superintendent Dan F. Long who said that October 1975 figures showed a gain of 30 students above October 1974.

"In the past years we've been losing students," Dr. Long said. The system lost 200 students last year.

"I sure hope it turns around the student loss of about 200 students a year," he said.

Long also reported that visiting educators would be in Pampa Monday and Tuesday to survey the school academic and co-curricular programs.

The results will be presented to the school board in November, he said.

The survey is part of an accreditation program and an evaluation process requested by the school board and school administration.

Segments of the evaluation on the facilities, students fiscal and physical operations and the community have been completed.

Hartmann said he did not think Humphrey's decision to stay out of the Democratic primaries indicated the former vice president would keep out of the race at the convention.

"Hubert has exhibited a certain non-reluctance," Hartmann said and laughed.

(Humphrey has said: "I am not a candidate. I will not run in the primaries or seek delegates but if they do come and offer me the nomination, I would accept, and run, and win.")

US, Soviets Study Space Medicine

By AL ROSSITER JR.
UPI Science Editor
WASHINGTON (UPI)—In an important new step in space cooperation, Russian scientists will soon fly American biological experiments in an unmanned Soviet satellite equipped for the first time in either country to simulate gravity in weightless space.

The flight, scheduled for launch within several weeks, is expected to be the first of many such joint experiments in space medicine and biology, two of the most promising areas of cooperation between the two nations.

The mission follows last July's rendezvous in space of two Russian cosmonauts and three American astronauts who now are touring the United States. Space officials of both powers will meet this winter to plan a second joint manned spaceflight for the early 1980s.

The new biology project will use a modified Vostok spacecraft of the type that Yuri Gagarin flew in 1961 in man's first orbital flight around Earth. It will be launched from the Soviet cosmodrome at Baikonur probably some time between mid November and mid December and stay aloft for 20 to 25 days before returning to a parachute landing in Russia.

The United States has conducted extensive biological research in the Skylab space station and aboard unmanned satellites, just as the Russians have. But there was no way in all previous experiments to compare specimens exposed to the lack of gravity in orbital flight with those feeling the pull of gravity in the spacecraft.

Dr. David L. Winter, National Aeronautics and Space Administration director of life sciences, says that means the experiments were not controlled. There was no way to prove that observed effects were the result of weightlessness.

"How do you know that what you're seeing is due to the absence of gravity, or due to vibration or something else that goes on in launch and recovery?" Winter asked in an interview.

To resolve this, the Russian satellite will carry a small centrifuge for the first time in any spacecraft.

It is simply a small disc that will rotate at a constant speed. For experiment packages placed at the right spot on the disc, the resulting centrifugal force will create force equal to gravity on Earth.

Some specimens will be placed on the centrifuge and others will be mounted elsewhere in the spacecraft. The samples will be compared when returned to Earth to see if the weightless specimen behaved differently.

"Now we can see whether or not some of the effects that have been suggested in the past really do occur," Winter said.

The United States is providing four experiments housed in shoebox-sized containers. One will study the effects of weightlessness on tumors in carrot slices compared to identical specimens mounted on the centrifuge. Another will compare the development of fish embryos exposed to lack of gravity with those exposed to the force of one G (weight of gravity) on the centrifuge.

A third experiment will study effects of weightlessness on carrot cells and the fourth will measure high-energy particle radiation on plastic detectors on and off the centrifuge.

In addition, American scientists will share in the study of Russian rat and fly tissue samples.

All the experiments have two general goals: to tell researchers more about what happens to humans exposed to weightlessness, and to answer some questions of fundamental biology posed by scientists of both nations.

"In our area we see the future as being very bright and, in fact, we are now in discussion for a subsequent mission in 1977," Winter said. "It is clear that we will be flying again with them," again with them."

The United States plans to resume biological experiments in its own spacecraft in the early 1980s aboard the space shuttle rocket plane. Two life sciences missions are planned each year, Winter said, with Russian scientists taking part.

Mills Awards Officers With Stars

The Pampa Police Department has started issuing seniority and longevity awards to help identify senior officers.

Police Chief Richard Mills said if a citizen sees a star on the sleeve of an officer this means the man has five years of service.

For example, he said that Lt. Preston Bailey will be wearing four stars and a bar on his sleeve to show that he has 22 years of service.

"A stripe on the upper sleeve will identify a senior patrolman or a patrolman first class. This is an officer with a minimum of five years excellent service," the chief said.

Boosts Home Ownership

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Housing Secretary Carla Hills said today the government has returned to a long-term policy to stimulate home ownership for medium income families.

In a program reminiscent of federal housing plans that began in the Great Depression, Mrs. Hills said the federal government would provide subsidies for families earning between $17,500 and $21,500 per year.

Mrs. Hills, who announced the policy change at her first news conference since becoming secretary of Housing and Urban Development eight months ago, said the program to begin early next year will be a major stimulus to the housing industry and will help reduce depression-level unemployment rates among construction workers.

Earlier, Mrs. Hills said the government will subsidize 5 per cent mortgages for the construction and rehabilitation of single family homes for low and moderate income families.

The medium income program will enable families earning $9,000 to $11,000 per year to buy homes. These families, primarily younger persons, have been shut out of the recent market with home prices soaring near $40,000 and interest rates of 9.5 per cent.

Mrs. Hills said a majority of the people who will be eligible will only be subsidized for a few years but eventually will work out of the subsidy program as their incomes rise.

Although the cost to the government will be a relatively modest $2.64 billion over the next two years, Mrs. Hills said it would stimulate about $6.5 billion in new construction.

More importantly, it would quadruple the number of medium income homes on the market. Mrs. Hills claimed there are only 60,000 homes for sale in the entire country for less than $30,000.

The federal program is designed to create about 250,000 new or substantially renovated houses.

Mrs. Hills said the bulk of the homes eligible for the new government subsidy will be new.

Although builders have contended they can no longer construct a house for less than $35,000 because of high land costs, Mrs. Hills said she was told by the industry that a "no frills" home could be constructed for about $17,000 less.

Mrs. Hills said the money for the 5 per cent mortgage program would come from $264 million already authorized to subsidize the construction of 250,000 new single family homes.

Kissinger To Dispel Paper Tiger Image

TOKYO (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger arrived in rainy Tokyo Saturday night for a brief rest before going to China to arrange a visit for President Ford and make sure Peking does not regard the United States as a paper tiger.

A senior U.S. official on Kissinger's plane said the Chinese, who last year asked for the Ford visit, have an overwhelming desire for the President to come and demonstrate Sino-American cooperation.

The China visit by Kissinger and Ford will not produce any great pronouncements or dramatics, the senior official said. But it will be dominated by mutual probing — the Chinese diagnosing Ford's ability to deliver in world power politics and the Americans sizing up a new era of Peking leadership, he said.

Kissinger's special plane touched down at Tokyo's Haneda International Airport in driving rain at 7:10 p.m. He was met by U.S. Ambassador James D. Hodgson and Japanese foreign ministry officials. He was spending the night at Hodgson's official residence in downtown Tokyo. Before departing for Peking Sunday, Kissinger is scheduled to have breakfast with Japanese Foreign Minister Kiichi Miyazawa.

Current Asian circumstances have created doubts about America being the superpower it was when Kissinger and former President Richard M. Nixon opened the Chinese diplomatic door in 1971 and 1972.

Sino-American relations are definitely not as warm as they were when former President Richard M. Nixon signed the historic 1972 Shanghai communique.

Twice in the past month, China has accused the United States of violating the "spirit of the Shanghai communique" which set the guidelines for relations until there are full diplomatic ties.

The latest protest from Peking came last Monday and diplomatic analysts considered it significant because it was issued only six days before Kissinger's arrival.

Morocco, Spain Tensions Mount

RABAT, Morocco (UPI) — Tension mounted between Morocco and Spain Saturday over Moroccan plans to stage an unarmed popular invasion of the Spanish Sahara.

At the United Nations, Spain requested Saturday that the U.N. Security Council hold an "urgent meeting" to discuss Morocco's plan to send 350,000 volunteers with armed force logistic support into the Spanish Sahara on Oct. 27.

Spanish Ambassador Jaime de Pinies said "a situation of international friction which endangers international peace and security has risen."

Recruiting booths opened across Morocco after King Hassan II Thursday declared he would personally lead the march to force Spain to surrender its colony to Morocco.

House Wants Names Of Troubled NY Banks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House subcommittee wants federal agencies to provide the names of banks which have invested so much in New York City securities that they might be jeopardized if the city goes into default.

The House panel has been told that 271 banks in 34 states have invested 20 per cent or more of their capital in New York City obligations.

Chairman Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., said contempt of Congress citations would be sought against officials defying the request, and a spokesman said the panel expects to learn soon whether the agencies will cooperate.

Once they are identified, he told the subcommittee, nine of the banks — with assets of $898 million — would suffer losses in a default heavy enough to "trigger significant depositor withdrawals" and would be forced to seek Federal Reserve help.

Moroccan officials said Saturday that more than 130,000 enthusiastic men and women had already signed up.

Only a fraction of the total assets of the nation's banks actually is committed to New York securities which could lose their value in a default. About 300 banks — 3.5 per cent of all state-chartered banks — have 25 per cent or more of their total capital and reserves in New York City securities or issues of the troubled New York State housing finance agency.

Obligations issued by the city could become nearly worthless if it defaults and is unable to pay debts as they become due.

Colorado School of Mines at Golden, Colo., is the oldest and largest educational institution in the world devoted exclusively to the training of mineral engineers.

Morocco claims tribal chieftains in Spanish Sahara are loyal to 46-year-old Hassan but Algeria has demanded self-determination for the phosphate-rich territory.

In Madrid, Spanish newspapers said Spain might ask that a UN peacekeeping force be sent to the mineral-rich African wasteland to foil the mass trek.

Alligator Season Ends

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The first legal alligator season in the United States in two years ends at sundown Sunday and it could be an economic disaster for Louisiana hunters.

The hunters were just about on target on the pre-season estimate of the number of alligators killed — 4,500 — but prospects of economic success were dim.

But He Wasn't Hungry Enough for Seagull

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — Thomas Gibbons took a bite from the seagull he had captured, his first taste of food in nearly three days, and "decided I was not that hungry yet."

failed because the waves ripped the traps from their anchors.

The 22-year-old Gibbons told the story Thursday of how he survived, clinging to a tossing sea buoy, after his 37-foot wooden boat Diana sank in rough seas Sunday. A Coast Guard search for a Key West couple who set out with Gibbons on the fishing trip to Fort Jefferson in the Dry Tortugas was suspended late Thursday.

"I could see we didn't stand a chance together," Gibbons said, so he told the Corwins about noon Sunday to hold onto a lobster trap while he tried to swim to the lighthouse at Fort Jefferson. He said they told him they preferred to float free.

Gibbons, who was rescued Wednesday by a shrimp fishing boat, said the Diana was struck by six-foot-high waves about 3 a.m. Sunday and sank in a matter of minutes about four miles from Fort Jefferson.

Currents continued to hamper his progress but Gibbons managed to reach a 30-foot-high marker buoy and he crawled onto its five-foot-wide platform. He said he strapped himself to the platform with his belt at night to sleep.

He said he grabbed a life jacket, flashlight and an automobile inner tube and jumped into the water. His companions, Ross and Dorothy Corwin, jumped in without anything, Gibbons said, and he threw them the inner tube.

"I was going to eat him," Gibbons said, "but I tasted a bite and it was bad enough that I decided I was not that hungry yet."

US To Eat More Vegetables

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department's Economic Research Service predicts the average American will eat five pounds more vegetables in 1980 than in 1974 — raising per capita consumption to 225 pounds by the end of the decade.

This national craving for vegetables, says the ERS, may bring about some changes in the vegetable industry.

Its projections for 1980 include some new processing techniques, the most significant of which are aseptic barreling and continuous process freeze-drying.

A tomato, for example, may be canned whole or made into catsup, paste or sauce, and the producer now must decide which product to make when the raw vegetable came in. He must anticipate the market.

Aseptic barreling will allow the tomatoes to be partially concentrated into paste form, with the paste then poured into sterile, glass-lined barrels. The processor can wait to see how the market develops before committing his product into a particular form. The paste could be reworked into several tomato products.

Freeze-drying is a process that has been known for some time, but it has been used sparingly because of icing problems and high production costs. A new continuous process freeze-drying technique is expected to be more economical. Agricultural researchers believe natural fruit juices may be the next product line to take the freeze-dried form.

By 1980, Americans are expected to increase their use of canned vegetables, which, usually have risen more slowly in price than fresh and frozen forms. A slight increase is expected for frozen vegetable use, while fresh vegetable consumption should remain stable through 1980.

Although vegetable consumption goes up as personal income rises, vegetables have become increasingly popular as "meal stretchers," as high meat prices forced many families to switch to casserole-type dishes. Tomato-based products are also used in budget meals.

Since 1947, the per capita vegetable consumption has climbed 20 pounds. However, fresh vegetable use dropped from 121 pounds per person in 1947 to 101 pounds in 1974, and canned and frozen vegetable consumption jumped from 79 pounds to 119 pounds.

Researchers believe the decline in fresh vegetable use has stabilized and will not change appreciably through 1980. Frozen vegetable usage may improve, the researchers said, since sale of many products, especially the specialty items such as peas with almond slivers, have been cramped by the recession.

"Consumers avoid such luxury items," the ERS said. "The expected business recovery may signal an upswing for these specialties."

The trend towards larger and fewer vegetable processors is expected to continue, the researchers said, and the western states will dominate the supply and processing of vegetables even more by 1980.

California now claims about half the production of processed vegetables. California, other western coast areas and the Rocky Mountain states account for 55 per cent of all fresh vegetable output.

Old Farmer's Almanac Predicts Early Cold

NEW YORK (UPI) — It must be October, because the Old Farmer's Almanac is back with its 184th edition and predicting an early winter.

This long familiar handbook of Yankee thrift and common sense predicts the winter will "start out wild then settle down to being mild through January."

It warns of "devastating" downpours along the Pacific Coast before New Year's. At the same time, early snows will cover the much of the northern part of the country from the Rocky Mountains to New England.

In late February, the Almanac predicts, blizzards will sweep across the nation, followed by late March rains and a warm and dry April.

The Old Farmer's Almanac, founded in 1792 by Robert B. Thomas and published in Dublin, N.H., is not only living nostalgia, but proof that some of the time-honored ways of doing things come in handy when your money runs out before the end of the month.

Like how to keep a fireplace going for almost 300 hours on $3.50 worth of coal.

Or the wonders of vinegar which can be used for everything from curing indigestion to clearing complexes to unclogging sinks.

The rest of its 192 pages are loaded with everything from stories, puzzles and the mysteries of the Zodiac, to fishing and planting advice and to computing the movements of tides and stars.

There are mathematical problems much too complicated to describe.

And historical tests. Who said: "We must all hang together, or assuredly we shall all hang separately."

There's a yarn, "Frozen Death" — "Perhaps the strangest story ever published."

And, "Cycles: Nature's Incredible Time clocks that rule our lives" — including the intriguing entry that over one period of 122 years, U.S. stock prices, cheese consumption and field mouse abundance showed a four-year cycle.

Not only is there "The Fascinating History of the Fork," but the Almanac still has a hole punched in the upper left hand corner for hanging in spots where reading such gems is convenient.

PARITY PRICE

We hear a lot of people engaged in ranching, agribusiness and others keep talking about high feed price. A great many so - called cattle price forecasters from many of the colleges keep talking about high feed prices will keep cattle from going into the feed lot. For the information of these individuals, I'd like to quote from the latest USDA Agricultural prices as to what the parity price is for a given product. These figures are based on parity price as of Sept. 15, 1975. Wheat parity is $4.67 per bushel. The average price received by Texas farmers on the same date was $3.98 or 69 cents less than parity. Parity price on corn on Sept. 15, 1975 was $3.10 per bushel and the average price Texas farmers were receiving at the same time was $2.88 per bushel.

Parity price of milo or grain sorghum on Sept. 15, 1975 was $5.21 per CWT. The average Texas price paid to farmers was $4.62 or 59 cents less than parity. Parity price can best be defined as that price that a given farm product would sell for if it were 100 percent of the value of things farmers have to buy based on a given past period. To put it another way, if wheat had advanced as much as other things have in price, it should be selling for $4.67 per bushel.

You might also be interested in the Parity price of other farm products important to this area.

The Parity price on all beef cattle is $56.50 per hundred weight as of Sept. 15, 1975. The actual cash price in Texas was $32.80. The Parity price of calves was $69 per CWT but the average selling price of calves in Texas was only $26.20. Do you know of anyone's wages that has slid backwards to almost a third of what they were making a few years back? Of some 25 commodities listed, there were only five bringing parity or above.

Hogs, Irish and sweet potatoes looked the best. Parity on hogs is $48.90 CWT and were bringing $56.50. Parity on Irish potatoes is $5.39 CWT but were bringing $9 to Texas farmers. Parity on sweet potatoes stood at $12.90 CWT but were bringing $14.35.

CATTLE PRICE

All commodities seemed to be on the down slide last week. Hogs lead the way. But grain and cattle also felt a severe drop. The drought that is spreading from East Texas to New Mexico and northward up the Great Plains is having a tremendous affect on the cattle market. Should it continue dry, look for a lot of pressure to build against the market. Lightweight calves will suffer the most.

Panhandle Water

By Felix W. Ryals

The Governor's Water Resource Conservation and Development Task Force held a joint meeting Oct. 8 with the Interagency Council on Natural Resources and the Environment.

One of the hottest items on the agenda concerned the order issued by the federal district judge in Washington, D.C. earlier this year for the Corps of Engineers to "take over the waters of the United States". A specified time limit was set for the Corps of Engineers to come up with a proposed plan to implement the directive of the federal court. It was the considered opinion of the federal district court that Section 404 of Public Law 92-500 passed by Congress gave that authority to the Corps of Engineers. An environmental group had brought suit to force the Corps of Engineers to take over and regulate the "wetlands" of the United States. The Corps of Engineers is holding a series of public hearings. One of these public hearings was held at Baton Rouge Sept. 23 - 24. The proposed regulation had been published in the Federal Register, as required by law, on July 25.

In early August, the Governor's Task Force on Water and Natural Resources had directed General James M. Rose as director of the Division of Planning Coordination, Office of the Governor of Texas, to prepare testimony for presentation at the Sept. 23 - 24 public hearing in Baton Rouge opposing the plans of the Corps of Engineers. General Rose, on behalf of the governor and the State of Texas, prepared testimony setting out the position of Texas and entered the testimony at the public hearing. The Texas Water Development Board and the Texas Land Commissioner also entered testimony in opposition to the proposed regulations as published by the Corps of Engineers. We will carry a key portion of the testimony of General Rose to point up the gravity of the situation concerning Texas.

Specifically, the criteria for determining the navigability of a stream now appears to be interpreted so broadly that the Corps could assume control over any water course. We are concerned that the expanded definition of navigability may be used in the future to prevent the withdrawal of surface waters for higher beneficial uses in order to maintain such river flows as are necessary for navigation.

"The State of Texas, through statutes as well as through the cooperation of thousands of landowners, has developed progressive soil and water conservation programs which have enhanced the productivity of millions of acres of agricultural land. Water supplies have been developed in an orderly manner in our State where critical water shortages periodically occur. The Interim Final Regulations would make public and private interests engaged in management of land and water development, conservation, and enhancement programs subject to Federal controls, and to significant penalties should they inadvertently engage in practices they have traditionally conducted without Federal permits. We are concerned that his program may delay or impede these ongoing programs to the detriment of the citizens of our State.

Several people have contacted the officials of the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District in recent weeks as to how Public Law 92-500 would affect the West Texas area as we are normally a high dry region. Gray and Carson counties would definitely be affected. Red Deer Creek and McClellan Creek cross both counties. No dredging, damming or filling could take place without a Corps of Engineers permit. Every request would get tied up in protest from environmentalists and the additional red tape of the Corps of Engineers.

In his testimony, General Rose voiced the nation concern regarding the spiralling costs of government on all levels; and he added that the extensive permitting program outlined in the proposed regulations has the potential for adding an expensive administrative bureaucracy. The administrative costs on the State and Federal level will be tremendous. General Rose requested that the Corps of Engineers make a number of changes in the proposed regulations if they are put into operation. We will carry some of the proposed changes in future columns.

If you wonder what an old fashioned box supper is or would like to attend one, the Gray County 4-H Horse Club will sponsor a box supper and dance at 7 p.m. Friday at the Bull Barn in Pampa.

All girls who attend the box supper must bring a lunch packed in a decorated box with no identification on it. The box will then be auctioned off to the highest bidder. They buy including the box and the girl who fixed it will then eat supper together.

It's a great way to meet new friends and have fun.

All 4-H'ers may invite one guest if they wish. The cost of the dance, after the supper, will be 25 cents per person with all proceeds of the supper and dance going to the 4-H Horse Club. The dance will last until midnight and parents may attend free of charge.

PARENTS AND LEADERS
The Adult Leaders Association will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Courthouse Annex. Officers will be elected for 1975 - 76, and there will be a slide presentation on "Design for Discovery."

County Extension Agent ARTHRITIS SEMINAR—The Gray County Family Living Subcommittee, Home Demonstration Council Health and Safety Committee and the Arthritis Foundation have joined forces to sponsor an Arthritis Seminar at 7:30 Thursday in the Courthouse Annex Meeting room. Two doctors and a physical therapist from Amarillo will be on hand to present information on arthritis. The public is invited to attend this seminar.

COMPARISON SHOPPING FOR REFRIGERATORS EASIER NOW—Appliance manufacturers have made comparison shopping for efficient refrigerators an easier job for consumers. A new directory, published by the Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers, lists energy consumption costs, cubic feet of refrigerator and freezer space and type of defrost method for thirty-six brands of refrigerators, refrigerator-freezers and freezers. Energy costs are a major concern of consumers. Laboratory tests simulating the use of 1,150 refrigerators were used to determine the energy consumption of the brands tested. The way a family uses and maintains the appliance may increase or decrease cost of operation. Copies of this new certification directory are available from AHAM, 20 N. Drive, Chicago, Ill. 60606.

AN APPLE A DAY—The USDA says if you can't brush after every meal, eat an apple. The apple has superior cleaning powers, according to dental education authorities. This does not replace thorough brushing and flossing but, for snacking and a good way to end a meal, it's a good thought and a good food.

MICROWAVE OVEN—The removable glass shelves in Microwave ovens should be washed often with warm, sudsy water. Any food particles left on the shelf will bake, hard and dry. I allowed to bake on for too long, the spills could become so hot while the oven is in operation that the glass could crack.

Mildred Prince, Home Service Advisor—Southwestern Public Service has given us some new recipes for Microwave ovens. Try this one:

MICRO BRITTLE

1 cup raw peanuts
 1 cup granulated sugar
 1/2 cup white corn syrup
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 tablespoon butter
 1 teaspoon baking soda
 1 teaspoon vanilla

Stir together peanuts, sugar, syrup and salt in 1/2 - quart casserole. Place in microwave oven and cook 2 to 3 minutes more or until peanuts are golden brown. Add baking soda and vanilla and gently stir until light and foamy. Pour onto greased cookie sheet and let cool. When cool, break into pieces and store in airtight container.

Dicks Celebrate 50th

By ANNA BURCHELL
 Pampa News Staff

Fifty years ago D.L. Dick took time from his duties in well servicing with a team to get married. His bride is the former Lucinda Mauk—and they will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary during a reception on Sunday, Oct. 26, in Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas. They now live in Mobeetie. The couple's six daughters and their families will host the party from 2 to 4 p.m.

"All friends of the family are invited to drop by," said a member of the family. Mr. and Mrs. Dick exchanged their wedding vows in Nowata, Okla. At the time of the marriage he was employed by Phillip and Milam Oil Co. in Chelsea, Okla. They moved to Lefors on Aug. 25, 1943. He was employed by Phillips Petroleum Co., he later became an engine operator. His wife cooked for Jim Pool's Steak House and at the officers club at the air base here during the early years after they first moved to Gray County. Mrs. Dick has many memories of those early years. "And I've seen a good many of them," she said. "I washed on a rub board and boiled clothes in an iron kettle with lye soap." Well serving is no longer done with teams, she observed. "One hundred and twenty five dollars a month was the most money he ever made until we moved to this country," she said. "We raised and canned our own food—never knew what it was like to have electricity. Cured our own meat, rendered our own lard." In rearing her daughters, she said she packed many lunches in paper sacks or wrapped them in newspapers.

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

By FRED KARPIN

A news story that appeared in papers throughout the country many years ago told of a woman who testified in court that because she didn't play her cards properly in a bridge game, her husband kicked her. She was awarded a divorce. "This is the cause of a lot of divorce suits," the judge remarked. In today's deal, North had every right to "kick" South (figuratively speaking, of course) for the way the latter played a grand slam contract. North—South vulnerable. South deals.

After winning the opening diamond lead with his ace, South cashed the queen and jack of trumps. He then ruffed his remaining diamond. Then came the ace and king of spades, and this was followed by the ruffing of a third spade, on which West discarded a diamond. It was now impossible to establish and cash the board's fifth spade, so declarer was forced to take the heart finesse. When it lost to East's king, declarer was down one. South's ruffing of his losing diamond at trick four was ill-timed. After cashing the queen and jack of trumps, he should next have played the board's ace and king of spades. A third spade would then be ruffed. Now would come declarer's remaining diamond, which would be ruffed with dummy's last trump. A fourth spade lead would next be trumped by South, East's jack falling. Dummy's fifth spade would now be the only spade remaining in the deck. Entering dummy via the heart ace, declarer would then cash the spade ten, discarding thereon his losing heart. The grand slam contract would now be there for the taking. As declarer played the hand (poorly), he pinned his hopes on a 3-3 division of the six adversely held spades (plus, as an "extra," the possibility that one of the defenders had dealt the doubleton Q-J). As has been observed, there was no necessity for him to have played the hand as he did.

Mr. and Mrs. A.R. Malone celebrate 50th anniversary

Malones Happy With Each Day

By ANNA BURCHELL
 Pampa News Staff

"We're happy with each day as it passes. We wouldn't change a thing," says Mrs. A.R. Malone of Skellytown after 50 years of marriage. She and her husband will observe their golden wedding anniversary during a reception at 2 p.m. Oct. 26 in the basement of the Northern Natural Gas Co. in Skellytown. The Malones were married Oct. 28, 1925, at the Clarendon Courthouse. They moved to Skellytown in 1950 from McLean where they had lived for 25 years. Speaking of change, Mrs. Malone says McLean is nothing compared to what it once was. "It used to be so full of people you couldn't get down the streets," she said. "But it isn't like that anymore... but it still seems like home." The Malones remember the depression years well. "You don't know how hard it was to get work," she said. "We went to California a few times, but we always wound back up in McLean." As for the youth of today, Mrs. Malone says they just weren't "raised the way we were." "I guess it is the change of times," she said. Looking back over half a century of marriage, Mrs. Malone said she and her husband have had their ups and downs. "But we've always been happy," she emphasized. Malone retired from Northern Natural Gas in 1968. The couple's seven children include Doretha Richard and Wanda Reynolds, both of McLean, Betty Fern Hill of Alameda, Elmer Malone of California, Graley Malone and Leroy Malone, both of Pampa, and Naomia Walleette of Skellytown. Leslie Fay's contribution to the Oriental look for fall includes asymmetric closures. They cut diagonally across the front of a top buttoned or wrapped jacket.

Shirttail Painting Topic for Meeting

A demonstration on shirttail painting was presented during a recent meeting of the Petroleum Engineers Wives Society at the Pampa Country Club. Mrs. Nelda Patton presented the demonstration. ## Women Believe Cars Design For, By Men

DETROIT (UPI)—Women play an influential role in car-buying decisions, but many feel the auto industry and its dealers still design cars, advertising and sales approach with men in mind. The best way to find out how women are treated probably is by asking the women themselves. At a recent business conference of the Motor Car Dealers Association of Southern California, Billie Brown did just that. Miss Brown, traveling spokeswoman for American Motors Corp., asked car dealers' wives, female dealers and women in the auto industry: "What do you think auto companies and dealers could do to influence women in their car-buying decisions?"

Mrs. Clifton Wayne Fletcher
Former Frankie Mitchell

Fletcher-Mitchell Vows Said in Local Church

On Friday in the Mary Ellen St. Church of Christ before a setting of burgundy candles tied with pink ribbon and greenery, Miss Frankie Deawn Mitchell became the bride of AIC Clifton Wayne Fletcher in a double ring ceremony performed by minister Glen Walton. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack T. Mitchell, 2125 N. Faulkner; the groom is the son of Mrs. Earline Fletcher, 732 Denver St., and Clit Fletcher of Tecumseh, Okla.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length dress of white polyester crepe, with the midriff, puff sleeves and V neck made of polyester chiffon embroidered with pink and green flowers. Her two tiered veil fell from a bandeau of pink and green flower embroidered chiffon over white crepe polyester. Her bridal bouquet was a large nosegay of burgundy rose buds with burgundy carnations and white lillie of the valley around them, and tied with pink ribbon streamers tied in love knots.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Laura Underwood, Miami, sister of the bride. The bridesmaids were Miss Molly Mitchell and Miss Susan Mitchell, Pampa, sisters of the bride. All wore floor length dresses of old rose and white water color printed polyester. Each carried burgundy roses, baby breath and greenery. Each wore a gold cameo locket, a gift from the bride.

The ring bearers were brothers of the bride, William and Jason Mitchell. Each wore a navy blue double knit leisure suit.

Serving as best man was Tim Fletcher, Pampa, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were AMN Kenneth Hopson, McConnell Air Force Base, Wichita, Kan., and Tom Smith, Pampa. The groom was married in his U.S. Air Force uniform.

Miss Beverly Minyard, Pampa, registered the guests. The ushers were Russell Mitchell, brother of the bride, Robert Underwood, brother-in-law of the bride, and AMN Curtis Petridge, Altus Air Force Base.

The wedding music was under the direction of Bill C. Cox with singers Mickey Lee, Andy Lee, Carl Collier and Russell Mitchell.

The reception, in the Fellowship Hall of the Church of Christ, featured a wedding cake shaped as double wedding rings with pink roses, green leaves, and lilies of the valley.

German chocolate cake and coffee were served from a silver coffee service by Mrs. Linda Reams, aunt of the groom. Assisting with the serving were:

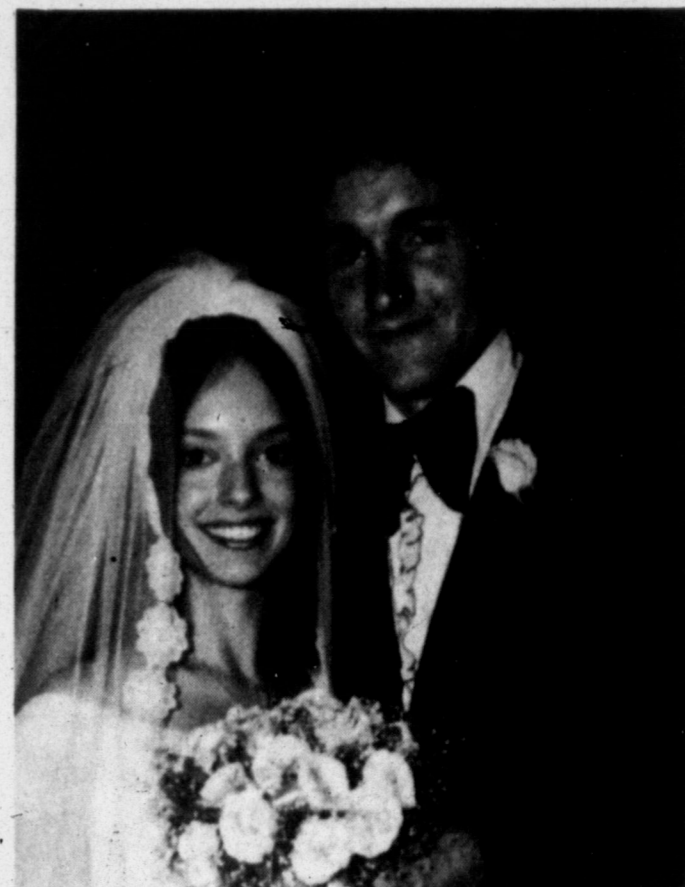

Mrs. Beula Cox, Mrs. Diane Lemke, and Mrs. Judy Woolard of Amarillo. White rice bags with pink ribbons were passed about by William and Jason Mitchell.

The couple will be at home at 604 W. Commerce, Altus, Okla., where the groom is stationed with the Air Force. Both are 1974 graduates of Pampa High School. Mrs. Fletcher was employed by the M.E. Moses Co.

A miscellaneous bridal shower was given for Miss Mitchell on Sept. 23 by Pat Smith, Lynn Nichols, Marilyn Walton, Melba Hester, Beula Cox, Lois Whaley, Glendean Trout, Claudine Balch, Nita Williams, Janelle Collier, Marlene Shaw and Shirley Ray.

A lingerie shower was given for her on Oct. 4 by Miss Linn Watson and Miss Pam Brazil.

Miss Mitchell was married Friday to AIC Clifton Wayne Fletcher.

Mr. and Mrs. James Robert Casey

Miss Boatman, Casey Exchange Wedding Vows

Miss Sharon Kay Boatman and James Robert Casey were married recently in the St. Vincent De Paul Catholic Church of Pampa.

She is the daughter of Paul M. Boatman of Richardson and Virginia J. Dagley of Dallas.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Casey of 2130 N. Banks in Pampa.

The Rev. Wendlin Dunker, pastor, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The church decorations included white wicker baskets of pink and white gladiola accented by branch candelabra.

The maid of honor was Theresa Casey, and Danny Casey was best man.

Ushers were Mark Boatman, Tom Boatman and Leo Dagley.

Esorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight organza over pale pink floral print. Her veil was lined with lace, and her bridal bouquet was of pink rosebuds.

The reception was in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Co. Assisting were Barbara Gilley and Kathy Casey.

The Caseys are now at home at 2303 Langdon Ave. in Dallas.

The bride is employed at Presbyterian Hospital in Dallas as a laboratory technician. She was graduated from Richardson High School.

He was graduated from Pampa High School and North Texas State University. He is lead guitarist with the Buster Brown Band.

Pre-nuptial events included a shower and a rehearsal dinner at the Country Inn.

Miss Lee, Eddie Davis Exchange Nuptial Vows

Nuptial vows were exchanged recently in First Baptist Church of Wheeler between Miss Lucretia Lee and Eddie Davis.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lee of Wheeler. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Davis of Pampa.

The Rev. M.B. Smith, grandfather of the bride and pastor of the Hi-Land Baptist Church in Pampa, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. Rex Whitaker of Waco, aunt of the bride, was organist.

The vows were exchanged before an altar accented by an archway of boxwood topped by two white doves. The bridal aisle featured hurricane lamps with large blue and white bows centered with a blue satin rosebud.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk organza over bridal taffeta designed with a fitted empire bodice. For something old she chose a gold wedding band that belonged to her paternal great-grandmother, Mrs. I.B. Lee.

Miss Joanie Lee was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Sharon Cornelius of Hobart, Okla., and Mrs. Lois Puryear.

The bridegroom wore a light blue coat, blue ruffled shirt and black pants. Terry Floyd of Pampa was best man. Groomsmen were Buster Davis of Pampa, brother of the bridegroom, and Mike Lee, brother of the bride. Ushers were Herbert Smith of Pampa, uncle of the bride, Danny Cornelius of Hobart, Okla., and Dewayne Meadows of Pampa.

Ringbearer was Brent Lee, brother of the bride, and Lora Lee, sister of the bride, was flower girl.

Serving as candlelighters were Melannie Lee, sister of the bride, and Lisa Whitaker, cousin of the bride. Guests were registered by Myranda Price.

Honored guests were the grandparents, Mrs. Roy Hunt, Mrs. M.B. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Lee.

Mrs. Jane Smith, pianist, provided background music for the reception, held in Fellowship Hall of the church.

Assisting with the house party were Mrs. Cecil Pierce and Mrs. Marsha Coates, aunts of the bride. Misses Kim Dutton and Teresa Inman.

Miniature rice packages were distributed by Pierce and Jennifer Smith, cousins of the bride. Mrs. Dolores Simmons and Mrs. Cathy Dunn assisted with the reception.

The bride is a 1974 graduate of Wheeler High School, and attended West Texas State University. Her husband was graduated from Pampa High School in 1973 and is employed by Prime Feeders Inc.

The couple will live in Wheeler.

Culture Club Discusses Roberts Rules of Order

Parliamentary procedure and Roberts Rules of Order were discussed Tuesday during a regular meeting of the Twentieth Century Culture Club.

The meeting was in the home of Mrs. L.J. Zachry of 1310 Williston. Mrs. Milo Carlson was cohostess.

Mrs. Rufe Jordan, president, presided over the session. Mrs. Wyatt Lemons was welcomed as a new member. Mrs. James A. Poole introduced the speaker, Mrs. J.R. Donaldson.

She told the group that Roberts Rules of Order has been a familiar guide for almost a century.

"Now, somewhat modified, but more authoritative than ever, these rules are widely used to govern meetings and resolve disagreements," she said.

The rules, the speaker explained, are based primarily on parliamentary procedure originally used in the British Parliament. The procedures were brought to the New World by the early colonist and introduced at the first New England Town meetings.

Thomas Jefferson published the first American book on parliamentary procedure in 1801.

"This," Mrs. Donaldson said, "became the main source for the rules in Congress and continued to be the foremost authority on parliamentary procedure until Cosh Manual was published 1844."

Henry Marten Robert, an engineer and general in the U.S. Army modified the rules to meet the needs of the "ordinary societies."

His first Roberts Rules of Order published in 1876, soon became a handbook for organizational clubs and schools all over the land.

The speaker concluded the program with a review of the constitution and by laws of the Twentieth Century Culture Club.

VFW Ladies Plan Silver Tea

The Ladies Auxiliary to Pampa Post 1657 Veterans of Foreign Wars announced plans for a silver tea in honor of chapter members to be at 7:30 p.m. Sunday 21, in the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room.

The champion's prayer was led by Mrs. May Hatcher.

Special recognition was given to Mrs. Melba Vaughn, district president, who was here on an official visit. She announced the next convention will be held in Dumas during November.

Mrs. Don Emmons and Mrs. Tony Smith will be in charge of arrangements for the silver tea.

Mrs. E.O. Smith, president, presided over a recent meeting in the VFW Hall.

BSP Has Western Play

The Phi Epsilon Beta Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority had a western play recently in the Fellowship Hall of the Church of Christ, Mary Ellen and Harvester.

Decorations included covered wagon centerpieces with tumbleweeds, bales of hay and saddles.

The serving area was decorated with kerosene lamps. Miniatures boots, hats and holsters were also featured.

The main event included a baby picture identification contest. The winner was Doyle Newman.

Hostesses were Kathy and Mark Topper, Starla and Harry Tracy and Kay and Cecil Newman.

Attending were Bill and Mary Baten, Bill and Linda Furman, Doyle and Lynda Newman, Arnie and Brenda Little, Gary and Susan Richardson, Alan and Susan Buchanan, Glenn and Lois Cates, Randy and Debbie Stubblefield, Cecil and Kay Newman, Mark and Kathy Topper, Harry and Starla Tracy.

Lefors Club Meets

The basic principles in decorating were discussed during a recent meeting of the Lefors Art and Civic Club. The speaker was Denise Frazier at the home of Mrs. Bud Cumberland with Mrs. Joe Watson, president, presiding.

Members voted to meet at the civic center as soon as the center is ready.

Two committees were appointed — one for the senior citizens party, and the other to purchase items for the civic center with stamps from Darouzzett.

Mrs. Harry Youngblood

reported on the state board meeting held recently in Austin. The annual workshop will be in Perryton Oct. 29.

Mrs. Jerrel Julian introduced the guest speaker.

Hostesses were Mrs. Bill Allison and Mrs. Roy Alderson.

Jumpers are a school style that girls never tire of. Currently popular designs include a wraparound butcher's apron with kangaroo pockets and a country apron with top stitching and ruffles.

Notes On Texas Capitol

By ROLAND LINDSEY
UPI Capitol Reporter
AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) —
Happenings in the Texas Capitol:

A new school finance plan adopted by the 1975 legislature is having a devastating impact on school districts throughout the state, Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, contends.

Kubiak said a survey of the state's 1,100 districts shows at least half were forced to raise local property taxes this year, and about three-fourths say tax increases will be necessary next year.

The survey proves, Kubiak said, the school finance system will need another complete reform when the legislature meets again.

Insurance Commissioner Joe Hawkins got a taste last week of one of the problems insurance companies and consumers face.

While Hawkins was inside a grocery-store shopping, his citizens band radio equipment was stolen from his car in the parking lot.

His insurance policy was $250 deductible — so the radio equipment was not covered.

The State Insurance Board is considering provisions requiring separate policy provisions to cover radio equipment in cars.

similar to the provisions dealing with tape decks.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., was asked at a capitol news conference if he planned to take a stand on the proposed new Texas constitution.

"I do not comment on state issues as a matter of policy," Tower said.

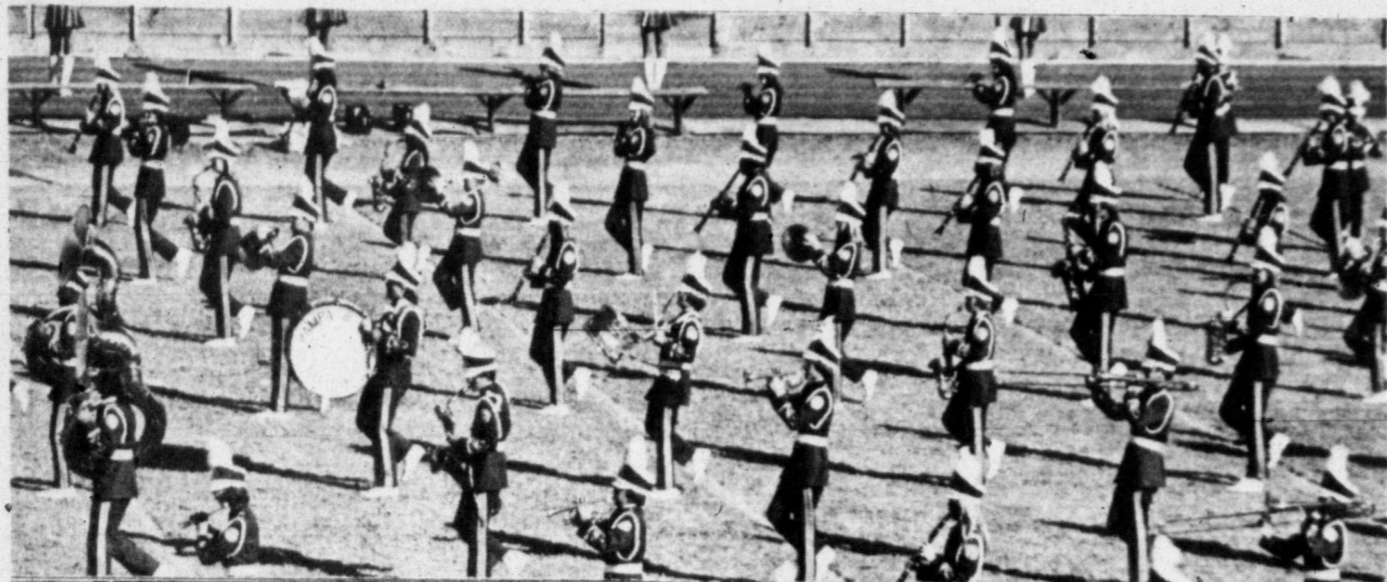

"But just five minutes ago you commented on the Bentsen presidential primary bill, and that is a state issue," a reporter answered.

"That's because it was my ox that was being gored on that one," Tower said.

Secretary of State Mark White, who had the chore of mailing informational brochures on the proposed new constitution to every household in Texas, is pessimistic about voter turnout in the Nov. 4 special election.

"I don't think we'll have 20 per cent turn out. I think that's sickening," White said.

Merlin the Magician on how to solve your heating problem

"Those drafty old castles are notorious even today for being dreadfully hot in summer and frigidly cold in winter. We didn't have the heat pump in those days, of course. I think what I like best about the heat pump is its simplicity. One unit provides heating and cooling... complete comfort in any kind of weather with one setting of the thermostat. And the heat pump is environmentally-sound... when heating, it actually provides more energy than it uses. Yes, if I'd had a heat pump, I wouldn't have been so cranky about passing on my magic secrets..."

Bill Would Penalize Employers of Aliens

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A proposed bill penalizing employers who hire illegal aliens could subject Latin citizens to a form of discrimination similar to that suffered by the Jews in the early years of Nazi Germany, Sen. Alan Cranston warned today.

The Rodino Bill would single out millions of American citizens, foreign-born or native-born, for potential discrimination treatment, Cranston, D-Calif., said in remarks prepared for delivery at a news conference.

"A brown skin, an accent or a racial characteristic different from the majority of Americans would be like Nazi Germany's yellow star of David — a brand of prejudice, discrimination and isolation."

Cranston announced his opposition to the bill one day after Leonard F. Chapman Jr., head of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, emphasized his support for the measure as the only practical way to solve the illegal alien problem.

"Under the present situation, this thing is hopeless, it's a totally insoluble problem," Chapman told newsmen before his address at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon Thursday.

"There are just too many people in the world who want to get into the United States. I see virtually no answer to this problem other than through restricting employment only to those legally in the United States and legally entitled to employment."

Cranston, meanwhile, insisted that the bill might set off a "new wave of discrimination and harassment" against millions of persons.

"To play it safe, some employers would simply refuse to hire Spanish-speaking, brown-skinned persons, citizens and non-citizens alike," he said.

"Any person who didn't look like an American would have to carry proof of citizenship and be subject to questioning and investigation."

California's senior senator disputed suggestions that illegal aliens are a "social burden" on American taxpayers, claiming that most of them pay taxes themselves and "do not ask for government service for fear of being discovered and deported."

Cranston also denounced the Rodino bill on grounds it would require businessmen to function as policemen, "doing the work that should be done by immigration agents."

He called instead for increased funding for the Immigration Service, primarily for tightened surveillance at international borders.

The senator also urged an amnesty declaration allowing all aliens who lived in the United States before 1972 to seek legal residency.

Chapman maintained in his speech that increased Immigration Service personnel would not be enough to cope with the growing number of illegal aliens drawn to this country by available jobs.

The former Marine commandant said it was awkward but necessary for him to ask businessmen "on top of the other burdens you already bear... to help enforce the immigration laws."

Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, Wyoming, Montana, Utah, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Crech, a heavily tattooed man whose dark hair is parted down the middle, said he confessed to the killings because he "wanted everyone to know what happened. My story might help others."

When asked why Crech was admitting to the killings, Bruce Robinson, his attorney, said only, "That's the way Crech wanted."

Man Claims Killing In Cult Rituals

WALLACE, Idaho (UPI) — Thomas Eugene Crech, on trial for killing two itinerant painters, has claimed involvement in at least 40 deaths in 13 states, mostly in the West and Midwest.

Crech, 25, slouched in the witness chair Thursday and told of carrying out "contracts" to kill and later of participating in ritualistic slayings as member of a mysterious satanic cult.

Crech's testimony came despite arguments by the prosecution that there was no foundation to the defendant's claims.

On several occasions, Crech has led authorities to a dead end in searching for supposed burial sites of his alleged victims. In one instance, he admitted lying to police near Barstow, Calif., about the location of bodies.

The defense provided a list of Crech's "victims," but most were either unidentified or identified by a first name or nickname.

But Crech denied killing Edward Arnold and John Bradford, the two men he actually is accused by authorities of shooting to death along a southern Idaho highway nearly a year ago.

In barely audible testimony, Crech told a packed courtroom of killings that began in 1966 near New Miami, Ohio, where he said he killed a companion after blaming him for causing the death of his girlfriend.

He said other deaths came later in Kentucky, California,

Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, Wyoming, Montana, Utah, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Crech, a heavily tattooed man whose dark hair is parted down the middle, said he confessed to the killings because he "wanted everyone to know what happened. My story might help others."

When asked why Crech was admitting to the killings, Bruce Robinson, his attorney, said only, "That's the way Crech wanted."

30 Enter DWI Pleas

An estimated 30 persons have entered pleas of no contest or guilty this month to charges of driving while intoxicated, possession of marijuana or other misdemeanor offenses in the Gray County Courts.

Judge Don Cain, who presided doesn't include those who were injured and property losses," he added.

"You and everyone else has a right to drive down the streets and highways of this county without being run into by one who is intoxicated," Judge Cain said.

He adds that Texas has one of the toughest DWI laws in the country. Upon final conviction, a driver's license can be suspended for 12 months.

As for drug offenses, the judge says there are differences of opinion as to whether drug offenses should or should not be criminal offenses.

"But regardless of the defendant's attitude it is against the laws of the State of Texas to possess, deliver any controlled substances and this law is going to be enforced in Gray County," the judge emphasized.

However, he explained that it is not against the law to drive after a drink but it is a violation of the law to drive after too much to drink.

Among those who received sentences during the October sessions of county court are Lanny L. Weatherly, DWI, fined $200 and granted six months probation; Antonio S. Ramirez, DWI, $100 fine and three days in jail; Barbara Ann Putman, possession of marijuana, less than two ounces, $350 fine, six months probation; Bobby Nile Putman, possession of marijuana, less than two ounces, $350 fine and six months probation; Bobby Darris Stover, possession of marijuana, less than two ounces, $350 fine and six months probation; Robert Randall McPherson, DWI, $50 fine and three days in jail; Robert Randall McPherson, DWI, $100 fine, three days in jail; Jim Bob Herring, DWI, $200 fine, six months probation; David Inghram, $200 fine and six months probation for theft of property having value of more than $20 and less than $200; Loraine Balay, theft over $200 and less than $200, fined $200 and six months probation; Allan Dale Voelght, DWI, $200 fine and six months probation; Johnie James Tinney, DWI, $200 fine and six months probation; James Michael Gutierrez, DWI, $50 fine and three days in jail; Guadalupe Chacon Jr., DWI, $200 fine and six months probation; Stephen Darryl Buchanan, driving while license suspended, $25 fine and six months probation; Oleton E. Gray, DWI, $200 fine and six months probation; Kenneth Everett Blackwell, possession of marijuana less than two ounces, $250 fine and six months probation; Henry Norman Podschun, DWI, $50 fine and three days in jail; Donald Wayne Eades, DWI, $200 fine and six months probation; Cecil Darrell Hill, DWI, $50 fine and three days in jail; Angie Moreno, theft over $5 and under $20, six months probation and $50 fine.

Child To Testify In Murder Trial

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Prosecutors think a 3-year-old boy, who identified a suspect in the slayings of his mother and sister, is reliable enough to be a witness in the murder trial.

The prosecutors have not yet decided whether they will call Chad Chancey as a witness in the preliminary hearing Oct. 28, but if they do they are convinced he will be accepted as a competent witness under Oklahoma law.

Chad already has played a major role in the case. His graphic description of what happened the night his mother and sister were shot to death, and his identification of the suspect from police file pictures, led to the rapid arrest of James Washington, 29.

Chad was found in the northside apartment with the bodies when police responded to an anonymous telephone call Tuesday. They found the boy covered with blood and still trying to "awaken" his dead mother.

His lucid statements pleased authorities, who believe he would make a reliable trial witness.

"He's a pretty sharp little boy," said a woman juvenile officer who questioned him. "It was amazing he could be so coherent."

Assistant District Attorney

Bill LaSorsa said Oklahoma law requires the qualification as a witness of any child under age seven.

"You have to qualify the child as a witness, prove he understands the oath he has taken to tell the truth," LaSorsa said. "There are obviously difficulties with a child witness."

"You ask if they know what it means to tell a fib and what happens to them if they do tell a fib. Then you ask them if they will tell the truth and explain the oath to them."

Sales Tax Check Here

The City of Pampa received a check for $24,914.65 today from State Comptroller Bob Bullock's office as its monthly share of one-cent sales tax receipts.

City Secretary S.M. Chittenden said the current check was the smallest received in the last three months.

A check for $41,639.25 was turned over to the city Aug. 19 and another for $84,674.93 was received Sept. 17, according to Chittenden.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 19

Your birthday today: Expansion is your slogan this year. You move from a limited, outdated orbit to a sphere of broader personal responsibilities. The experience of coming up against challenging new competition teaches you some valuable lessons. Relationships deepen and subtly express your growing capacity for emotion. Today's natives often attain social and political leadership, sometimes accumulate money, then distribute it widely.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: You start out by taking too much for granted and cause dissension later. Find a course of action that takes you completely away from people who act important and annoy you.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Decide on the simplest, most direct expression of your real convictions short of a confrontation with those who disagree with you. Pay attention to physical fitness.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Give a small token of your affection to loved ones. Influential people are unlikely to do as you ask or disclose any information you don't already know.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Make this a bright and lighthearted day. All activity takes on a slow, leisurely tempo. It's a good time to plan for the near future, to be ready for action when the right moment comes.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: The early hours are lively. Cultivate ideas, share pleasant customs with old friends and have patience with restless youngsters. Get extra rest this evening.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: You have your work cut out for you as everything seems to overexpand. There are too many people or supplies, measurements are inaccurate and demands on your time are excessive.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Excess is easy. Self-discipline serves to keep your life in balance. Avoid disagreements over money at almost any cost. Promises made now are regretted later.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Take your time and set your pace to suit today's temperament. You are confronted with even more sensitive conditions in later hours. Be circumspect in dealing with strangers.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Creative enterprises thrive and gain momentum to match your burst of enthusiasm. Be skeptical of anything or anybody with a glamorous veneer. Delay important requests and commitments.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: If you can resist overstating or belaboring a point, this is a great day for improving your position. Get in a fair amount of brain or paper work, then seek a change of pace.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Let this Sunday be entirely free of conflict. New contacts are fascinating but require careful judgment. Don't rush into odd situations; there's plenty to see and do that's familiar.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Be optimistic but don't make hasty investments or spend impulsively. Hang on to ready cash for more prudent uses. Be selective in responding to invitations.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 20

Your birthday today: Experience this year takes on a theatrical quality as changing circumstances engender the development of your behavior, attitudes and ideas. You realize that you've got to rely mainly on yourself from the beginning.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: You are subject to impulsive moves. Whether they succeed or fail depends upon how well you're prepared. There's no time to do what you should have done long ago.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Family ties limit your choices. Situations become bogged down in rather sticky moments. Something you said casually in the past receives renewed attention but hurts social progress.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Since no one wants to mind the store, you have to do most of it yourself. Avoid unnecessary travel and side issues. Wait for definite proof of an interesting story before you pass it along.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Decide on one of two courses: Let financial matters ride in accustomed grooves without serious changes, or get ready for a big jump much later after a lengthy review and a preparation phase.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Being energetic isn't enough; you must lower sales resistance. What begins as a minor disagreement could blow up if you don't work to calm everyone down. Home plans switch.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: You discover that an opportunity you expected isn't available. Income of some kind provides an area for experiment, perhaps controversy; be conservative.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Today's hard decisions are well worth the making; follow your intuition. Stay out of financial speculation and group schemes involving money. You can answer an old question.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Habits are disturbed but can be replaced by better ones. Your actions definitely speak louder than words. Patience and tolerance become difficult virtues to practice; do your best!

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: You are bored by most work today, and your reaction creates additional duties. Try to bear with it and avoid rash moves that could cause extensive changes.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Cultivating relationships is the problem of the moment, and more urgent than ordinary routines. Do no more than you must to keep things up to date; further changes are on the way.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Clear the decks and keep only what you want to hang onto. Go it alone with much of today's activity; farming out work doesn't succeed today.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Your job drags and needs a step-up in pace. You encounter unexpected obstacles in travel. Count on delays and a mix-up in schedules. Special precautions are wise.

Although science is not able to prove how the universe began, one theory has it that about 10 billion years ago all planets and stars were concentrated in an area about the distance from the earth to the sun. The 'big bang' theory then states the mass exploded, sending the matter spinning into space.

Cities Flap About Survey Telling Their 'Liveability'

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — From Texas' Rio Grande Valley to the Gulf Coast shores and even the floor of Congress people are upset at the Midwest Research Institute's "Quality of Life" survey of American cities.

The nation's seventh-largest think tank issued the government-funded study last month, rating the liveability of each of the 243 metropolitan areas in the nation, based on 123 different statistical factors.

Top-ranked were Portland, Ore.; Eugene, Ore.; and La-Crosse, Wis. The worst were Jersey City, N.J.; Mobile, Ala.; and Laredo, Tex.

Since then, MRI has been the target of angry mayors, chambers of commerce and just plain folks who say they don't like a bunch of far-away, unheard-of eggheads telling them their city is rotten.

A resident of McAllen, Tex., ranked third worst of the 95 metropolitan areas below 200,000 population, made up his own "report card" on MRI. He gave the institute a grade: F.

Rep. John Buchanan, R-Ala., in a speech on the House floor, labeled the study "a libel and a slander against a number of areas." Birmingham, which is in his district, was ranked second worst of cities over 500,000 population.

The controversy has done more than stir civic pride. It touched deeper issues and triggered a flap within the Environmental Protection Agency where one official quit.

Questions raised because of the study included: — What is the quality of life? Can it really be measured by cold statistics like crime and hospital beds and dollars spent on education? — What is the point of rating a city poor besides bruising egos? — Does the government have the right to judge a city inferior simply because it chooses not to have high taxes?

Wilson Talley, assistant EPA administrator for research and development, said the study "tends to take too simple a view of a very complex subject."

Talley criticized the study's methodology, which for example would rate a large number of autos in a city good in one respect, mobility, but bad in another, noise pollution.

The author, Dr. Ben-Chieh Liu, an MRI economist, went to Mobile this month to explain why he ranked the city as worst of 83 medium-sized metropolitan areas. His answers left civic leaders, if not appeased, at least understanding better what the study's goals were.

Liu said the goals were threefold: to compare U.S. metropolitan areas to each other statistically as a start toward a better understanding of our urban areas; to identify areas of strength and weakness in each area so city planners can take appropriate actions, and to set up a yardstick to objectively measure progress in an urban area and how effective policies are.

Liu was quick to admit the study's limitations — data used was five years old, from the 1970 census; psychological ingredients were not measured, and rankings were relative to other cities, not absolute.

"This is not a Bible for environmental control or policy," Liu said. "I don't claim this is the final word on the quality of life. I don't think anyone can come up with a study at first that can solve all our urban problems."

Liu was pleased at the large response the study brought (two MRI employees are working full-time to answer requests for copies of the study) and amused at the few crackpot letters he received. But he plainly was stung by criticism from EPA's Talley.

"Ranking of the cities was not in the original scope of the agreement," Talley said. "What we were looking for was a tool for deciding whether to put more money into hospital beds or parking lots. That's the part of the study I'm disappointed in."

Robert Livingston monitored the study for the EPA but has since quit in a dispute with Talley over reorganization of the research department. Livingston defended the study.

"The stand that EPA has elected to take regarding this piece of research is rather disturbing but not unanticipated," Livingston said. "Due to the amount of political flak the report has provoked, Mr. Talley and others have lost sight of the intent behind the study and have since decided to discredit and claim the study as a failure."

Backers Say Briscoe Misunderstands

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe misunderstands the proposed Texas constitution and refuses to discuss his opposition to the document with other top state officials, supporters of the charter said Thursday.

Robert W. Calvert, director of a financially lean campaign to win approval of the constitution in a Nov. 4 election, said Briscoe's objections will not doom the document to failure.

Six top state officials called a news conference Thursday to rebut Briscoe's objections and said they were based on misinformation. "Gov. Briscoe, like every citizen, has a right to vote on

Nov. 4 against all eight constitutional propositions for whatever reasons are sufficient to him or for no reasons whatsoever," Calvert said. "However, when he enters the fray and gives his reasons, they like the reasons given by all others, become public property and subject to public scrutiny and criticism." Briscoe said the revision will lead to higher spending and taxes and years of litigation asked Briscoe to tell them of any sections other than the legislative article which concerned him, so backers of the revision might have a chance to persuade him to support the constitution.

was shocked and dismayed at Briscoe's decision to oppose the new constitution. "With Texas in such dire need of an efficient, economical state government, it was my thought during the convention and is now that the governor should either lead, follow, or get out of the way of those who are trying to improve the situation. He has done neither."

Jaworski Opposes Constitution

HOUSTON (UPI) — Former Watergate special prosecutor Leon Jaworski opposes a constitutional amendment to permit indictment of a president but says an independent attorney general could help guard against political scandals.

Jaworski, named special prosecutor in 1973 following former President Richard M. Nixon's dismissal of Archibald Cox, said he generally agreed with the final report of the Watergate special prosecutors office. But he did not accept its recommendation for a constitutional amendment to clarify how a president may be indicted. "I do not join in the recommendation that there be a constitutional amendment in order to place in the constitution the matter of a sitting president's indictability," Jaworski said Thursday.

"There are too many factors that enter into a situation of that kind," he said. "The mere fact of a constitutional amendment isn't going to help that much. That is an arduous process and then the efforts to get three-fourths of the states to ratify it."

important part of our government should be." The Watergate office final report said prosecutors twice last year nearly indicted Nixon but impeachment proceedings and later President Ford's pardon stopped the move.

Model Plane Defects Industrial Polluters

HOUSTON (UPI) — The sight of a model airplane zipping through the skies may seem harmless to some, but not to industrial polluters.

The remote-controlled plane carries a small vacuum device beneath its wing which takes a quick sample of the smoke from a particular stack in an industrial plant and analysis of that smoke will tell if the plant is violating state pollution laws.

"That's why this is so much better," he said. "It gets the samples right at the top of the stack when it enters the public domain."

Harris County's newest weapon to detect air pollution from manufacturing and processing plants is a balsa wood airplane with a 69-inch wingspan.

"It'll have a deterrent affect just like a traffic cop," Quebedeaux said. "If you know there's a cop in a certain place, you're going to slow down. We'll find people cleaning up and taking better care of their emission than they do now."

They will be able to tell not only that a plant is violating the law, but which particular stack is emitting too much pollutants.

In an age of orbiting spy satellites, the concept of a tiny spy plane flying at treetop level may seem ridiculous. But pollution control director Dr. Walter A. Quebedeaux says polluters won't be laughing long.

"I think the polluters will be a little surprised how effective it will be," Quebedeaux said.

Another advantage, he said, is the polluters will rarely know they have been monitored unless someone spots the model plane overhead. It can be operated by radio commands from a good distance away, he said.

Scarves Topic For HD Meet

The use of scarves in today's ensembles was demonstrated during a recent meeting of the Worthwhile Demonstration Club by Elaine Houston, Gray County extension agent.

The plane costs about $400 with the sampling equipment, but its owners spent about $1,500 developing it, Quebedeaux said.

"What the judge or jury thinks about it may be different," he said. "They may not believe us, but ultimately they will. When radar first came into being there were skeptics there, too until it was used on a wider basis."

Gladys Stone presided over the meeting in Estelle Purries' home.

He said the California Department of Transportation has used a model plane to monitor highway pollution, but Harris County's plane will zero in on individual polluters.

Quebedeaux said the first court test case probably will come after the first of the year, but he said the samples and techniques meet all the standards courts have required before.

Announcement was made of an arthritis seminar to be 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 23, in the courthouse annex.

In the past, the pollution control officers were limited to monitoring a manufacturing plant's emissions from the property line and Quebedeaux said that was barely satisfactory. Bad weather or just strong winds made measurements impossible, he said.

NO BUBBLES NEW YORK (UPI) — Dry, white, still table wines from the Champagne district of France are being introduced in the United States. They were sold previously only in France. They are made from the same type of grapes used for champagne.

A show and tell day on Christmas ideas will be presented at the annex at 9:30 a.m. on Oct. 27.

The next club meeting is set for Oct. 17 in the annex with Luara Kelley and Beulah Walling as hostesses.

"We tell parents that we're going to mess with their children's insides. We're not going to teach them theology but we're going to love on them." The Rev. Phillip Craig, headmaster of St. Matthews Day School.

At St. Matthews Little people learn about neighbors

By JANE P. MARSHALL
Pampa News Staff

Each morning begins with special chapel at St. Matthews Day School. If it is your birthday, you get a special prayer. If you have a question for Father Craig, he'll be glad to talk about it. The chapel, according to the Episcopalian minister, is to teach the children to take life seriously. "We want them to know that each is different and unique and that's all right," he said. In the building across from St. Matthews Episcopal Church, the busy rooms transform weekly into post offices, neighborhoods, carpenter centers, kitchens, gerbil nurseries. The little people who keep the room busy are learning what the headmaster believes to be the pre school's most important function: "relational knowledge," he calls it. "The Rev. Phillip Craig said, 'That's the area we take the most care and the most pride in... that's the little people's personalities.' He wants them to learn to appreciate themselves as people and to get along in a world of neighbors. He wants them to "be at" life instead of "play at" life. All that is pretty heavy for a group of 76 3, 4 and 5-year-olds but St. Matthews' teaching methods seem to subtly point their children in that direction. When a class was studying circles, they visited their neighbor the donut maker. They journey to visit other neighbors at the post office and at the fire station. "The community has enormous resources where children can understand that the world is larger than their living room," Craig said. Little fingers learn dexterity on typewriters and in a special room set aside for playing and art. St. Matthews has room to spread out. Little hands learn new skills in the kitchen and carpentry centers. Little minds learn more about their neighbors when they play with a shelf of different hats or form desks into miniature neighborhoods. In the music room, teacher Betsy Hoiles guides the children to make their own music on tiny instruments. In another room, Mrs. Camille Thomas helps her tiny cooks make applesauce. On the first day of school this year, Mama Gerbil in Mrs. Marie Doggett's room had babies. The babies were later traded to the dime store for food for Mama and Papa, Craig explained. Other teachers include Mrs. Sharon Simpson and Mrs. Kay Nash. Mrs. Pat Jones is speech therapist. Teacher aides are Mrs. Nancy Craig, Mrs. Kathy Casey and Mrs. Jan Lyle. Craig and school administrator Bunny Nichols pointed out the three goals of the Episcopal day school at 727 W. Browning: 1. To teach the importance of excellence. 2. To emphasize the necessity of self discipline. "We don't have them sit in a certain post and be still," Craig explained. The school aims to boost a child's excitement about learning, he added. 3. To learn the consequences of behavior... how the way they act affects others. On one little chair is lettered "Think it over." It reminds the youngster who has to sit there. "You're not being punished, you're just being asked to reflect." St. Matthews maintains a 20 to 1 ratio of children to teacher because "that's the most productive for preschool learning." Since the school is not run of public money, most state and federal regulations do not encircle it. All of the teachers are college educated. Five are accredited. But Mrs. Nichols points out that they are chosen more on "wisdom" than formal credentials. The school operates three hours a day, five days a week during the public school year. Scholarships from local organizations are available for children who need the preschool experience but whose parents cannot afford the $30 a week. "The community has been enormously responsive to the needs of the school," Craig said. Today begins National Episcopal church week under the theme of "To a New Generation." "It's the fastest growing segment of the church," Craig said. "Each of the more than 1,000 schools stress quality," he added. "There is something to be said in smaller classes."

Sharing a swing are Jason Garren and Jeree Blackmore.

MIT Folks Study Blob

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Scientists at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology are toying with a first cousin of the famous Texas blob. The experiments are not a science fiction sideshow, but a probe into how the mysterious organisms — neither plant nor animal — skip a stage in their life cycles. The surprise is the seemingly indestructible things, such as the one which captured headlines in May, 1973, on the Garland, Tex., yard of Mrs. Marie Harris, was not all that rare. "They can be found in rotting logs, in trees in the forest or even on a basement wall," said Lance S. Davidow, one of the three MIT researchers studying the acellular slime molds. The Texas creature caused a furor because it could not be killed. Knives and pitchforks only divided it into smaller chunks which continued to grow. It finally turned brown and dried up when a mixture of tobacco and water proved hazardous to its health.

The mold here is not exactly the same as the blob in the Dallas suburb, but a spokesperson said "slime molds all follow the same general pattern. They exist in different colors — red, orange, black and white, with the most common being yellow." The MIT blobs eat seaweed and other nutrients. Davidow said the fungus-like organisms were cells with millions of nuclei, which grow when they encounter favorable conditions. And that can happen in strange places. One unauthenticated tale reports airplane passengers becoming uncomfortable when some mutants began slowly edging from their plastic dish containers. "It's rare, if ever, that an organism just skips one phase," said Professor Charles E. Holt III, who conducted the experiments with Davidow and Paul N. Adler.

Gray - Roberts County
Farm Bureau Insurance
Is there any way to avoid penalties and interest charges when settling an estate?
Yes. There are no penalties; therefore, no interest if the estate is settled on time. Furthermore, no shrinkage, no "for sales", no anxiety having to sell the South 40 for $100 an acre when it's worth $225. The key... liquidity. The foolproof product that will provide the money to pay the cost of settling an estate at the time of death is life insurance. Many substitutes have guaranteed not to shrink, ravel at the seams or fade out to provide cash to settle an estate but nothing compares with life insurance. There is no estate; therefore, no cost of estate settlement until death occurs. When it does, life insurance becomes money bought on installment to solve this problem.

Longhorns Rock PHS

By PAUL SIMS
Sports Editor

AMARILLO — Amarillo Caprock turned five Pampa mistakes, including two blocked punts, into touchdowns to whip the Harvesters 34 - 22 before a crowd of almost 6,000 Friday night in Dick Bivins Stadium here.

The district contest, the teams' first of the season, leaves both schools with a 4 - 2 season record. For Caprock, it was the fifth straight win, while for Pampa, it marked the second consecutive loss.

Pampa, which hadn't lost two straight games since the latter part of the 1973 season, fell behind 20 - 8 at halftime and trailed by as much as 19 - 27 - 8, in the third period. Pampa closed the gap to 27 - 15, but the Longhorns scored on the first play of the fourth quarter to regain the three - touchdown edge.

On that fourth-period play, Ernest L. Hereux blocked a Phil George punt, which Danny Perez picked up on the Harvester 32 and returned it down the left sideline for a touchdown.

Keith Bartley's conversion kick gave the Longhorns a 34 - 15 advantage.

The teams exchanged punts. Pampa then drove from its own 21 in for a touchdown. At 4:57 in the final quarter, quarterback Garland McPherson passed 18 yards to split end Jerry Rhoades for the score. Joe Couts kicked the extra point.

Pampa elected not to try an onside kick, giving the Longhorns possession on the 13. Caprock ran nine plays to use up the clock.

From the start of the contest, Pampa mistakes turned into disaster. The Harvesters took the opening kickoff, drove from their 25 to the 41 and fumbled. Raymond Estrada recovered for Caprock on the Pampa 40.

Nine plays later, tailback Chuck Velasquez dove over right guard for the game's first touchdown at 5:17. Bartley booted the extra point.

Velasquez, the district's No. 3 rusher prior to the game, had the longest gain of the drive, a 15 - yard run on the first play.

Pampa, on its next series, was forced to punt from its own 20. A low snap resulted in a poor punt, which travelled 15 yards, as Caprock took over on Pampa's 35.

Quarterback Bobby Stewart, scored on an electrifying ninetyyard run 11 plays later to give the hosts a two - touchdown edge. Stewart circled right end, eluded a tackler while reversing his field, then went around left end for the score at 10:18 in the second quarter.

Again Bartley converted.

After an exchange of punts, the Harvesters had possession on their 19. Caprock held for three plays, setting up another punt. Perez blocked George's attempt, while Lee J. Tilman recovered on the one - yard line.

Pampa took the kickoff and marched 67 yards in 10 plays for its only score of the first half. On the fifth play of the drive, Caprock was guilty of a roughing - the kicker - infraction as Pampa was granted new life with first down on the Longhorn 34.

Four plays later, Rhoades, on an end - around, tried the left side for a six - yard touchdown & with 47 seconds left in the half. McPherson added a two - point conversion on a quarterback keeper.

After a fumble recovery on the Pampa 36 early in the second half, it took the Longhorns eight plays to score, with Velasquez bursting three yards off left guard for the touchdown at 5:05 in the third period. Bartley kicked the extra point.

Stewart was a key figure in the drive with runs of nine, 20 and 24 yards.

Pampa followed with a score of its own, as David Caldwell ended a 71 - yard drive with a one yard somersault into the end zone at 2:35. Couts kicked the point after to close the gap to 27 - 15.

A 41 - yard pass from McPherson to Gary Steel gave Pampa first down on the one prior to the score.

Velasquez was the game's leading rusher with 24 carries for 89 yards. Stewart gained 88 on 12 rushes. Caldwell picked up 71 yards on 16 tries, while McPherson earned 26 on 10.

Ricky Moore, Pampa's No. 1 rusher prior to the game, hurt his leg in the first quarter and sat out most of the ball game. He is expected to play this week as Pampa hosts Tascosab I

'Horns Whip Arkansas

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI) — Quarterback Marty Akins, a magician at the controls of a relentless Texas wishbone attack, punched across one touchdown himself Saturday and guided the Longhorns to 24-18 victory over Arkansas in a bruising Southwest Conference showdown.

Akins, a 6-0, 200 pounds senior who ran up 135 yards rushing on 22 carries, scored on a one-yard dive and ran 55 yards and passed 33 yards to set up another score that broke the game open early in the fourth quarter of the regionally televised game.

Halfback Gralyn Wyatt broke 31 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter and fullback Earl Campbell shoved over from two yards out. Russell Erleben tacked on a 27-yard field goal for the steers.

Arkansas, sporting the nation's second leading ground attack, could only muster a 30-yard field goal by Steve Little in the third quarter until the Razorbacks' Ike Forte scored on an eight-yard burst with 8:19 left in the game. With 19 seconds left in the game quarterback Scott Bull hit flanker Teddy Barnes with a five - yard pass for the Razorbacks' final touchdown.

The victory gave Texas a 5-1 season record and 2-0 in the conference. Arkansas fell to 4-2 and 1-1.

The mistake-prone Razorbacks lost four fumbles and had three passes intercepted and had few scoring threats. They took the second half kickoff and drove to the Texas 13 before having to settle for Little's field goal to cut the Texas lead to 10-3.

Later Bo Busby recovered a Texas fumble at the Longhorn 29. Seven plays later Forte broke around left end for the score.

Following a pass interception by defensive tackle Brad Shearer at the Arkansas 37, Akins kept for six yards and Wyatt skipped down the right sideline untouched for the score to give Texas a 17-3 lead.

Arkansas tried to get back into the game by driving from its own 20 to the Texas 10 but Bull fumbled the snap from center and Shearer recovered for Texas at the 12.

Akins regrouped the Longhorns and broke 55 yards to the Arkansas 28.

PHS Cross Country Team 6th at Berger

BORGER — Amarillo High managed 33 points to win the Berger Invitational Cross Country Meet, in which Pampa's boys placed sixth, Saturday.

Amarillo High finished ahead of Brownfield, Amarillo Tascosa, Amarillo Caprock, Amarillo Palo Duro, Pampa and Perryton, respectively.

In the varsity girls division, Amarillo won, while Pampa was fifth.

Bert Torres of Caprock won the individual championship by running the two - mile course in 10:53. Pampa times were Clinton Henry, 14th, 11:22; Robert Thaxton, 21st, 11:51; Petey Myers 30th, 12:17; Barry Lemmons and Taron Moore, 40th, 13:23.

There were no individual or junior varsity girls results available at presstime.

Saturday, the Pampa boys will compete in the Lubbock Invitational, while the girls travel to Plainview.

Pampa 4th

Tascosa Grabs Tennis Trophy

Amarillo Tascosa tallied 21 points to overwhelm the four - team field in the Pampa High School Invitational Tennis Tournament Friday and Saturday at the high school courts.

Tascosa finished ahead of Amarillo Caprock 13, Berger 12 and Pampa two, in the quadrangular tournament. Each team picked up a point by winning a finals match; each of the four schools played the other three to determine the team championship.

Pampa lost to Berger 6 - 2, Caprock 8 - 1 and Tascosa 8 - 0. Pampa's only victories, against Berger, were recorded by Don Hughes and Curtis Henry in boys singles.

Hughes whipped Mark Nielson 7 - 5, 6 - 1, while Henry decided Dennis Baren 6 - 0, 3 - 6, 6 - 1.

Henry, in the Plainview tournament recently, won the consolation championship in boys singles. In the first round of that tourney, he lost to the No. 2 seed, Blake Donnell of Amarillo High, 6 - 3, 6 - 3.

The Pampa sophomore has been playing for just eight months.

Concerning Henry and his young Harvester team, first - year Pampa coach Kent King said, "Give them one year and they're gonna be tough. They're gonna be good, competitive players."

"I think there's a few individual areas where we're gonna be strong come spring. Like girls doubles and probably in boys singles. We're not gonna make anykind of a run at a team title."

"It takes two or three years to get the strokes down and another two or three years to get confidence. They've been kicked for so long they just don't know what it feels like to win."

"We played Tascosa and Berger the first day. Berger has a real good girls team. We've got a few experienced girls, the rest are raw recruits. The kids we're playing have been playing anywhere from six to eight years."

"You just don't pick a racket and get on the court and beat these kids in one day."

Buffaloes Bounce By Bulldogs 24-6

CANYON, Tex. (UPI) — Anthony Dogan scored on a 25-yard run and West Texas runners ground out 345 yards Saturday to lead the Buffaloes to a 24-6 victory over Drake University.

Dogan's run ended a 54-yard drive and gave West Texas a 24-0 lead. Drake finally scored with 12:39 left in the game on a pass from Doug Siedenbrog to Bruce Cook.

The Buffaloes scored on their second possession with a 99-yard drive in 13 plays capped by a 13-yard run by Bo Robinson.

Tommy Mills intercepted a Drake pass at the WTSU 45 and seven plays later Tony Blanchard scored from six yards out for a 14-0 halftime lead.

In their first possession of the second half the Buffaloes drove for a 35-yard Bruce Wyre field goal.

The Buffs' final touchdown was set up by Mills' second interception of the day. He grabbed a Drake pass at the West Texas 46 and Dogan capped the 10-play drive with his touchdown run.

TEXAS TALK

By Doug Howard

Some folks are saying the most amazing thing about the Beafalo may be that it's the only breed on record more than one-half bull. Most cattlemen agree the new breed may hold a lot of promise for the industry but many of them are hedging their predictions with a wait-and-see attitude. Founder of the breed, Bud Basolo, got everybody's attention last year by announcing the sale of a Beafalo bull for two and a half million dollars. And a lot of those first in line to begin raising the California-spawned breed are quick to praise the animals for rapid gain on basically forage rations, hardy adaptation to sparse land and nutritious meat. One of the problems is an extensive study done in Canada on an earlier beef-buffalo cross which showed poor results. Promoters of the American breed say those problems were all solved with today's Beafalo which is one-quarter Hereford, three-eighths Charolais and three-eighths Buffalo.

A&M Staves Off TCU 14-6

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Senior halfback Bubba Bean scored twice on runs of four and two yards and the tough Texas A&M defense thwarted Texas Christian's passing game when it counted Saturday to give the Aggies a 14-6 triumph over the Horned Frogs. The defeat extended TCU's conference-record losing streak to 16 games. The Aggies fumbled four times in the second half. The last one, on the Aggies 10, nearly lost the victory. TCU recovered and Cook quickly passed for what appeared to be a touchdown. But the play was wiped out by pass interference penalties on both sides. A&M held and took over with a minute left to play.

The victory left A&M 6-0 on the season and 3-0 in the Southwest Conference. TCU fell to 0-6 and 0-2 in the SWC. Bean, the Aggies' all-time leading rusher, romped for 64 yards on 10 carries in the first two periods but was shaken up on the last play of the half and did not carry the ball for the rest of the game. His scoring runs gave A&M a 14-0 lead which they could not increase.

Sophomore Frog quarterback Jimmy Dan Elzner replaced senior starter Lee Cook with 2:15 to go in the first half and the Aggies ahead 14-0. Elzner drove the Frogs 80 yards in less than two minutes completing five of seven passes. He hit Vernon Wells for 14 yards. Mike Renfro for 40 and connected with tight end Ronald Parker for gains of five, 15 and three yards. The last toss completed the nine-play scoring drive with 18 seconds left in the half. Ed Simonini blocked Rick Isel's point after attempt. The Frogs penetrated Aggie territory only once in the first half before Elzner took over for Cook.

Dark Predicts Fires So Finley Fires Dark

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Gene Mauch, fired by the Montreal Expos two weeks ago, has the job as manager of the Oakland A's if he wants it. Mauch has made up his mind after talking with three different club owners, including Charlie Finley of the A's, and all that remains is for Mauch to announce his choice. "I honestly don't know what I'm going to do," Mauch said Friday night, while admitting it's hard to turn your back on the club like the A's, three-time World Champions who need only a little pitching help to reach the top again.

Alvin Dark, fired by Finley for the second time in eight years over remarks made to a church group during the recent American League playoffs, said he wouldn't be surprised to see Mauch get the Oakland job and, in fact, he is openly rooting for the former Expos manager. "He has one of the best minds in baseball," said Dark. "I'm sure the players will like and respect him. If he takes the job, he will do well. That's a good ballclub and every man on it is a pro." Dark said he didn't think remarks he made in an area church about Finley and sin had anything to do with his latest firing. He said at a news conference he called himself Friday night that Finley gave him a chance to ask why he was not being rehired for 1976 and he passed it up.

Dark, fired by Finley for the first time in 1967, told a group of about 400 people at the Redwood Chapel Community Church in suburban Castro Valley. "I give Charlie Finley credit for making the A's champions but, to God, Charlie Finley is just a little bitty thing. And if he doesn't turn around, he's going to Hell."

The remark was part of a general discussion on sin, with Dark often quoting scripture to back his argument. He sweetened his remark about Finley later by saying, "I think he is definitely going to be saved, though."

When Finley first learned of the incident, he laughed and said his mother didn't think he was going to Hell "and she knows more about these things than Alvin Dark." Still, the Hayward Review carried a front page story of Dark's church talk and Finley had aides mail him several copies of the issue.

Had the A's not lost to the Boston Red Sox in the AL playoffs, it is believed Finley would have let the remarks slide. But when Oakland was eliminated in three straight, it gave Charlie the perfect reason to fire Dark, his 12th manager in 16 years.

Many of the A's were upset when word came that Dark was being let go—Finley still hasn't made a formal announcement, and one—Sal Bando—said Finley should be fired, not Dark. "Alvin did a masterful job of managing this past year," added Bando. "If anyone should be fired, let it be Finley."

Only this was one fish story Phil George wasn't upset about. The Pampa punter got this kick off but wasn't so lucky on two other occasions as Caprock blocked two of his tries in the Longhorns' 34-22 win Friday in Amarillo's Dick Bivins Stadium. ## Raider-Bengal Contest Highlights NFL Slate

By JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer

It's generally accepted that the Oakland Raiders have the best all-round personnel in the National Football League. The only problem is getting it out of the training room and on to the playing field.

The raiders, the choice of many before the season, at least appear in the Super Bowl after this season, have been decimated by injuries this year and could lose their hold on first place in the American Conference West today.

The Raiders are in Cincinnati to face the unbeaten Bengals with a number of their top performers either out completely or playing with nagging injuries.

Oakland holds only a game lead over Denver in the AFC West and a Bronco victory over Cleveland, which has yet to win this year, combined with a Raider loss to Cincinnati would put the clubs in a tie at 3-2.

Oakland was crushed 42-10 last week by Kansas City, which hadn't won a game, after struggling to a 6-0 victory the previous week over San Diego, which also had not won a game. The Raiders have scored just one touchdown in the last two weeks and that came in the final minute last Sunday against Kansas City reserves.

Consider the injuries. Quarterback Ken Stabler, the AFC Player of the Year in 1974, has been hobbling with a bad knee and admits it's hampering his throwing. Stabler has played only about a half in the last two games.

Marv Hubbard, Oakland's best runner, is out with a shoulder injury and Harold Hart, another running back, has a bad knee and will not play. Also, Fred Biletnikoff, one of the best clutch wide receivers in the game, hasn't played in two weeks because of a leg injury but could return for today's action.

On defense, cornerback Willie Brown, the veteran of the secondary, has a bad knee and may not play against Cincinnati, a key factor in that Brown is expected to battle Bengal star Isaac Curtis, an awesome deep receiving threat.

Stabler's top backup, Larry Lawrence, is out for the year and rookie David Humm has a hand injury.

"This is the worst injury problem we have ever had here," said Coach John Madden. "There are so many people on the injury list I can't even remember them all."

Cincinnati, trying to hold off NFL Champion Pittsburgh and Houston, both 3-1, in the AFC Central Division, one of the hottest races in the league, has two regulars questionable. Strong safety Tommy Casanova and tight end Bob Trumpy have missed two games with ankle injuries and their status for today is in doubt.

In other games today, Atlanta is at Los Angeles, Baltimore at New England, Chicago at Pittsburgh, Green Bay at Dallas, Kansas City at San Diego, Miami at the New York Jets, New Orleans at San Francisco, Detroit at Minnesota, Washington at Houston and Philadelphia at St. Louis. On Monday night, the New York Giants are at Buffalo.

Chancellor, Permian 1st in Meet

AMARILLO — Hilton Chancellor of Odessa Permian won medalist honors with a one-under-par 71 and paced the Panther golf team to the championship of the Amarillo Invitational High School Golf Tournament Friday at the Amarillo Public Golf Course. Permian shot 305 to finish ahead of Amarillo 309. Pampa and Borger 313. Plainview and Lawton, Okla. 317. Amarillo B-team 319. Amarillo Tascosa 324. Canyon 327. Amarillo Palo Duro 340. Hereford 342. Tascosa B-team 346 and Amarillo Caprock 348.

Chancellor beat Wiley McIntire of Pampa by one stroke for medalist honors. McIntire led by a shot going into the final hole but took a bogey, while Chancellor managed a birdie.

Pampa scores included Scott Barrett 78, Curt Beck 81, Hank Jordan 82 and Scott White 87. White's score was dropped since the top four scores comprise the team total.

Pampa coach Deck Woldt, in spite of the fact it was the best round a Pampa team has managed on the old Amarillo Air Force Base Course, was displeased.

Boys Ranch Lassos Lefors Pirates 26-0

BOYS RANCH — Lefors, according to Coach Jim Allen, "had our best offensive night of the year," but it wasn't enough as double-A Boys Ranch cruised to a 26-0 win over the Class B Pirates Friday at Boys Ranch.

Lefors is 0-5 in non-conference play, while the Ranchers are 5-0-2. "We just couldn't score," Allen said. "We had our best offensive night of the year."

Phil White rushed 24 times for 82 yards in the Pirates, while Bob Roy Klein gained 37 steps on seven carries. The two were outdone, however, as Boys Ranch's Butch Bawcom and Daniel Rains combined for 274 yards on the ground.

Bawcom gained 142 yards on 24 carries, while Rains picked up 132 on 20 rushes.

Bawcom scored on a one-yard dive, midway through the first period. The extra-point kick failed. Rains ran seven yards for a touchdown in the second quarter. Donnie Sierman blocked the conversion.

Brad Silver scored on a 15-yard run in the third quarter, and quarterback David Rattan ran the conversion for a 20-0 advantage. Rattan passed 26 yards to Siler for a fourth-quarter TD. A pass for two extra points fell incomplete.

Klein led Lefors, defensively, with 15 tackles, while Mike Watson was in on 11.

Lefors is open Friday. Boys Ranch begins District 1-AA play by hosting Dalhart.

Thompson Scores Twice To Boost Shamrock Over Wheeler in Upset

SHAMROCK — Jackie Thompson rushed 17 times for 74 yards and two second-half touchdowns as Shamrock upset Wheeler 12-0 in a District 2-A encounter Friday here.

Both teams are 2-4 for the season and 1-2 in district play. James Kingstun recovered a Wheeler fumble on the visitors' 20-yard line late in the third period. That set up Thompson's first score, which happened five plays later on a two-yard drive over right guard. Danny Helton blocked Thompson's extra-point attempt.

Shamrock kicked off to end the third quarter. Wheeler then drove to the Irish 49 but had to punt, giving Shamrock possession on the 21. Thompson capped a 12-play drive, which consumed most of the final period, with another two-yard touchdown plunge off right guard.

Thompson's kick, with 2:08 left in the game, was low.

Thompson led all rushers in the contest. Helton gained 74 yards on 17 carries to lead Wheeler. Terry Tidwell added 48 yards on eight runs.

Wheeler visits McLean Friday, while Shamrock hosts Claude.

Follett Trims Warriors

MIAMI — Colin Kellin broke 15 yards up the middle for a fourth-quarter touchdown to lead Follett to a 22-14 upset win over Miami in a crucial District 2 - B, eight-man contest Friday.

Follett (6-1) is 1-0 in district play, while Miami (6-1) is 0-1. Miami was ranked No. 1 in the district prior to the contest and had won its first six games of the season.

Kellin's 15-yard touchdown put the Panthers ahead by eight midway through the fourth quarter. The Warriors were unable to sustain a drive for the duration of the contest.

Miami opened scoring in the game on a 33-yard run by Ken Jenkins midway through the first quarter. Jenkins took the handoff and hit the middle of the line before springing loose on the long gallop. Juan Segovia gave the Warriors an 8-0 lead with the conversion.

Follett bounced back in the third quarter on a six-yard pass from Rex Hughes to Rick Van Hooser. The touchdown came on a fourth-down play. Jeff Holt, the game's leading rusher with 169 yards on 33 carries, ran over the conversion to tie the score.

Kellin put the Panthers ahead with a two-yard run late in the third quarter after Follett blocked a punt and took over on Miami's five. Holt ran for the conversion.

Miami scored on a 21-yard pass from Mark Mercer to Greg Haynes in the middle of the fourth period. The conversion run failed. Miami coach Bill Gilliland was disappointed by two mistakes his team made — the blocked punt and Kellin's 15-yard run.

"He shouldn't have made it. And that blocked punt shouldn't have happened. We knew they were good at blocking punts and we worked on it all week," Gilliland said.

"I guess you can't win them all. The boys played real well. Follett's got a good team. Our kids played good in the first half and Follett came back in the second half."

"We've got 14 kids, they have 24 or 25 and they're big kids. They just wear you down. We made a couple or three mistakes and in close games, those mistakes get you beat."

Follett coach Guerry Wright was impressed with Mercer, the defensive noseguard, and Kirk Flowers, a noseguard.

"They were two of the toughest people we've seen in a long time. They were a well-coached team."

"I don't think Miami let up; they're a tough team, a good bunch of kids. We did things in the second half like we supposed to do in the second half."

Wright, although happy with the win which might end up deciding the district championship, was not entirely satisfied.

"Defensively, we made one mistake. It was in the first half. We didn't read the keys right and linebacker didn't fill the hole. Jenkins ran 37 yards (actually 33) for a touchdown."

Flowers led Miami rushers with 16 carries for 64 yards.

The Warriors visit Darroutzet Friday. Follett travels to Patton Springs.

Bucks Stun 'Cats 13-0

WHITE DEER — White Deer, spearheaded by versatile quarterback Allan Cummins, racked up 340 total yards and upset heavily favored Canadian 13-0 Friday here.

The District 1 - A contest leaves White Deer 3-3 overall, with a 1-1 conference mark. Canadian falls to 4-3 and 2-1 after winning four straight contests.

Cummins rushed 15 times for 71 yards and completed seven of 12 passes for 115 yards to pace the Bucks. Halfback Steve Williams led all rushers with 23 carries for 89 yards and connected on one of two passes 51 yards.

White Deer took the opening kickoff of the second half and drove 60 yards in three plays for the first score. On the first, an off-side penalty against Canadian moved the ball to the White Deer 45. Williams then was thrown for a one-yard loss.

On the next play, Cummins passed to Dean Bennett 20 yards down field. The Buck receiver broke loose for the remaining 36 yards and a touchdown.

Bennett eluded Russ Hubbard on the 10-yard line, while Mark

Line blocked another Canadian defensive back to cause the touchdown.

White Deer kicked off and forced Canadian to punt. The Bucks started another drive on their own 32.

Ten plays later, Cummins hit left tackle for a four-yard touchdown, which came late in the game. Bobby Ensor, who missed after the first TD, converted the extra point.

Canadian threatened shortly thereafter as White Deer 40 fumbled pitch on the Buck 20. However, White Deer held on downs.

"It was good defense by both teams, in the first half," White Deer coach Mike Purcell said.

"Both of us made a little yardage but nobody could get anything good. It was just a real good defensive ballgame the first half."

"We played exceptional defense. Our secondary was outstanding. They threw at us 24 times and only completed five."

Canadian was intercepted three times.

The Bucks visit Stinnett Friday, and Canadian is open.

Cyclones Blow Away Tigers in 2-A Contest

MEMPHIS — Memphis rolled to a 26-0 first-quarter lead and went on to outclass McLean 60-0 in a District 2 - A game Friday.

Both teams are now 3-3 for the season. In district, Memphis is 2-1 and McLean 1-2.

Kirk Fields opened scoring for the Cyclones on a five-yard run just 44 seconds into the game. The touchdown followed a fumble recovery on the McLean eight. Joe Reyes missed the conversion attempt.

Charles Bryley scored on a three-yard run to cap a nine-play, 58-yard drive with 5:56 left in the first period. Reyes converted for a 7-0 lead.

Ricky Miller passed 15 yards to Fields with 1:57 left in the opening quarter to cap a seven-play scoring drive. Reyes kicked the extra point.

With no time showing on the clock in the first quarter, Miller and Pedro Salinas connected on a 56-yard scoring pass play.

Reyes' kick was wide as the Cyclones held a 26-0 lead going into the second frame.

Bryley intercepted a Marty Dunivan pass and returned it 43 yards for a touchdown with 2:37 left in the half. Reyes converted. Memphis scored again in the second quarter as Miller burst over from 12 yards out. The kick failed.

Kenneth Bryley, the game's leading rusher with 71 yards on only five carries, swept left end and rambled 68 yards for a TD at 8:23 in the third quarter. Reyes' kick made it 46-0.

Tracy Galloway scored on a four-yard run with 2:41 left in the third period. Again, Reyes kicked.

The final TD came at 10:08 in the final period, when Reyes recovered a McLean fumble in the end zone. He added the extra point for the 60-0 margin.

Late in the game, McLean's second team drove to the 17, and Sammy Don Haynes, attempted a 27-yard field goal. The kick was wide, and Memphis held on for the shutout.

"Memphis got it going," said disappointed McLean coach Robert Mears. "Sammy Don Haynes probably played one of his best ball games of the year offensively and defensively."

Haynes led McLean's rushers with 66 yards on 15 tries and paced the Tiger defense with six unassisted tackles and 12 assists.

McLean will host Wheeler Friday. Memphis visits Clarendon in a crucial 2-A matinee.

Miss Remy Paces Amarillo To 10-Shot Win in Tourney

AMARILLO — Liz Remy fired an 84 to earn medalist honors and pace Amarillo High to a convincing 10-stroke win in the Amarillo High School Girls Invitational Golf Tournament Friday at Ross Rogers Golf Course here.

Amarillo whipped runner-up Amarillo Toscana 359 - 369. Borger was next at 376 and was followed by Amarillo Palo Duro 394, Amarillo Caprock 416, Plainview 439, Pampa 448, Guyton, Okla. 452 and El Paso Coronado 463.

Miss Remy edged Toscana's Valerie Prince by a stroke. Others who contended for medalist laurels included Joyce Hooper of Borger 88, Kathy Vaughn of Borger 89, Cathy Lancaster of Amarillo 90, Cathy Cobb of Toscana 92, Kathy Eschenburg of Amarillo 92, Brenda Hutchinson of Amarillo and Serena Larkin of Pampa 94.

Besides Miss Larkin's, Harvester scores were Alice Kirby 116, Susan Michael 117, Teresa McCabe 121 and Sue Cook 136 dropped.

Rain Postpones 6th Tilt of World Series

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Red Sox said the sixth game of the World Series scheduled for Saturday has been postponed because of rain.

A Red Sox spokesman said the sixth game would be played Sunday at 1 p.m.

The seventh game will be played Monday and Commissioner Bowie Kuhn will announce the starting time later.

The game was officially called at 9:20 by Johnny Johnson, administrator of baseball, who had surveyed the Fenway Park field with umpires Nick Colosi and Larry Barnett and the head groundskeeper.

Both managers were notified 10 minutes after the official announcement of a postponement.
