Archaic Idea Offered on Job Planning

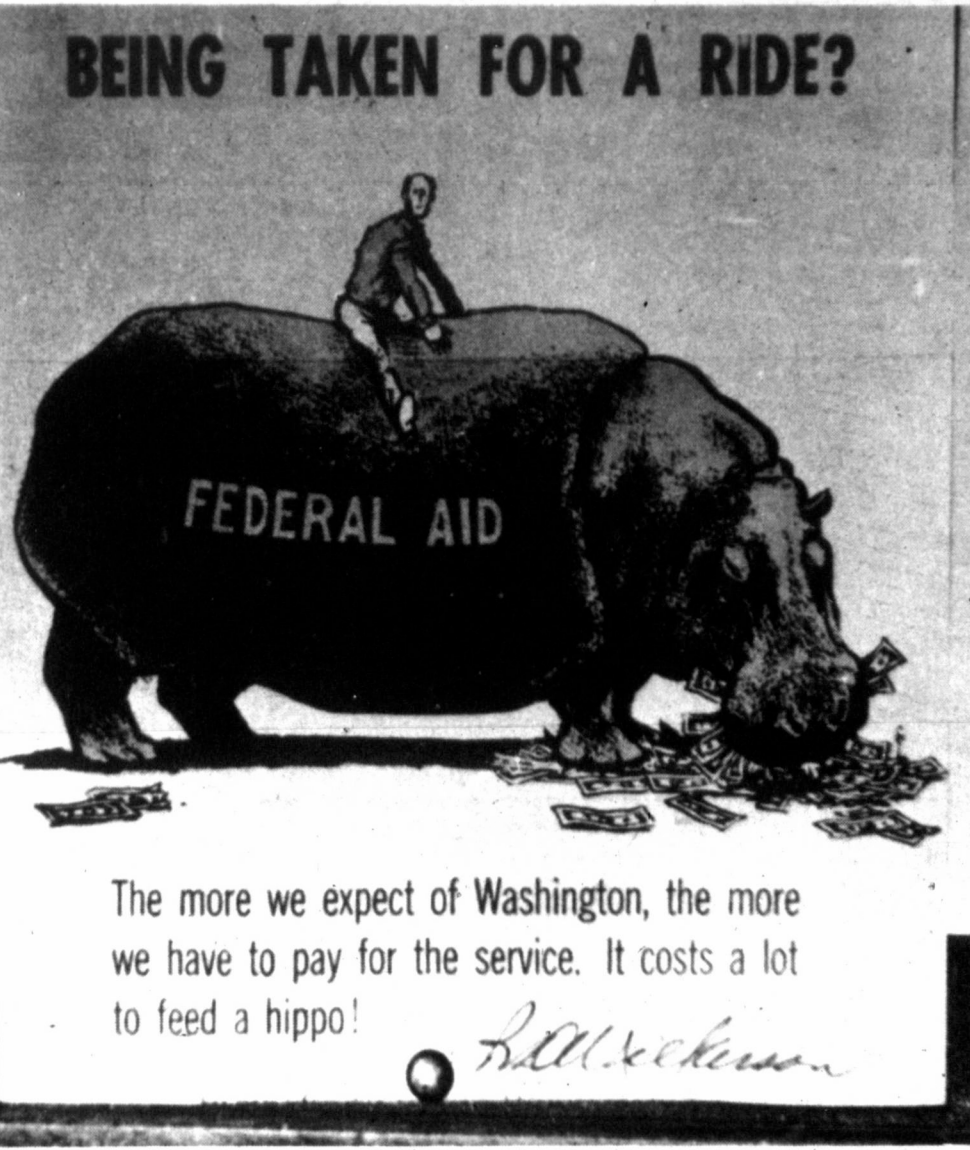

By ANTHONY HARRIGAN In a recent appearance on "Meet the Press," Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. of California had some sensible things to say about the need to overhaul welfare programs.

Where Gov. Brown went astray, however, was in saying that "We have to redistribute the work so that everyone in this country has an opportunity to work."

It is astonishing and dismaying that Gov. Brown should subscribe to the archaic idea of job redistribution. The only road to prosperity for a people is hard work, efficient utilization of resources, including human resources, and managerial expertise aimed at increasing individual productivity and national growth.

Imagine the stagnation in any of California's major industries if the Edmund Brown theory of job redistribution were to be put into practice.

Bicentennial Passports Set

By ANNA BURCHELL
Pampa News Staff
Beginning Jan. 1, the Passport Office will issue Bicentennial Passports as part of the nation's 200th birthday.

Mrs. Helen Sprinkle, 31st district clerk in Pampa was notified today of the new passport.

Many pioneers of Gray County can remember when only the wealthy traveled abroad. But today residents from all income levels obtain passports.

Applicants are made almost daily through the 31st District Clerk's office on the third floor of the Gray County Courthouse.

It has been only 30 months ago that it became possible to file a passport application in Pampa. Prior to that time, residents from here were required to drive to the U.S. District Clerk's Office in Amarillo to apply.

During the first 10 months of this year, a total of 87 applications have been filed here. A total of 133 were filed in 1974, and 1973 and 270 between March 1, 1972 and Dec 31 1973.

Mrs. Sprinkle says most are tourists, but some obtain passports to visit relatives and others for employment purposes.

"They all seem excited about the travel they plan," she said. The passport fee is $10 in addition to a $3 fee for the clerk who executes the application.

In order to make application one must present a certified copy or an original of his or her birth certificate and two pictures of the applicant.

Identification is required — which is usually a drivers license.

Applications must be mailed the day they are executed, and Mrs. Sprinkle said applicants should file the application no later than 4 p.m. Monday through Friday in the clerk's office.

Frances Knight, director of the U.S. Passport Office, said the cover of the bicentennial passport will be a new, more durable leather grained vinyl material than the previous edition. The color will be of a dark blue, corresponding to the field for the U.S. flag.

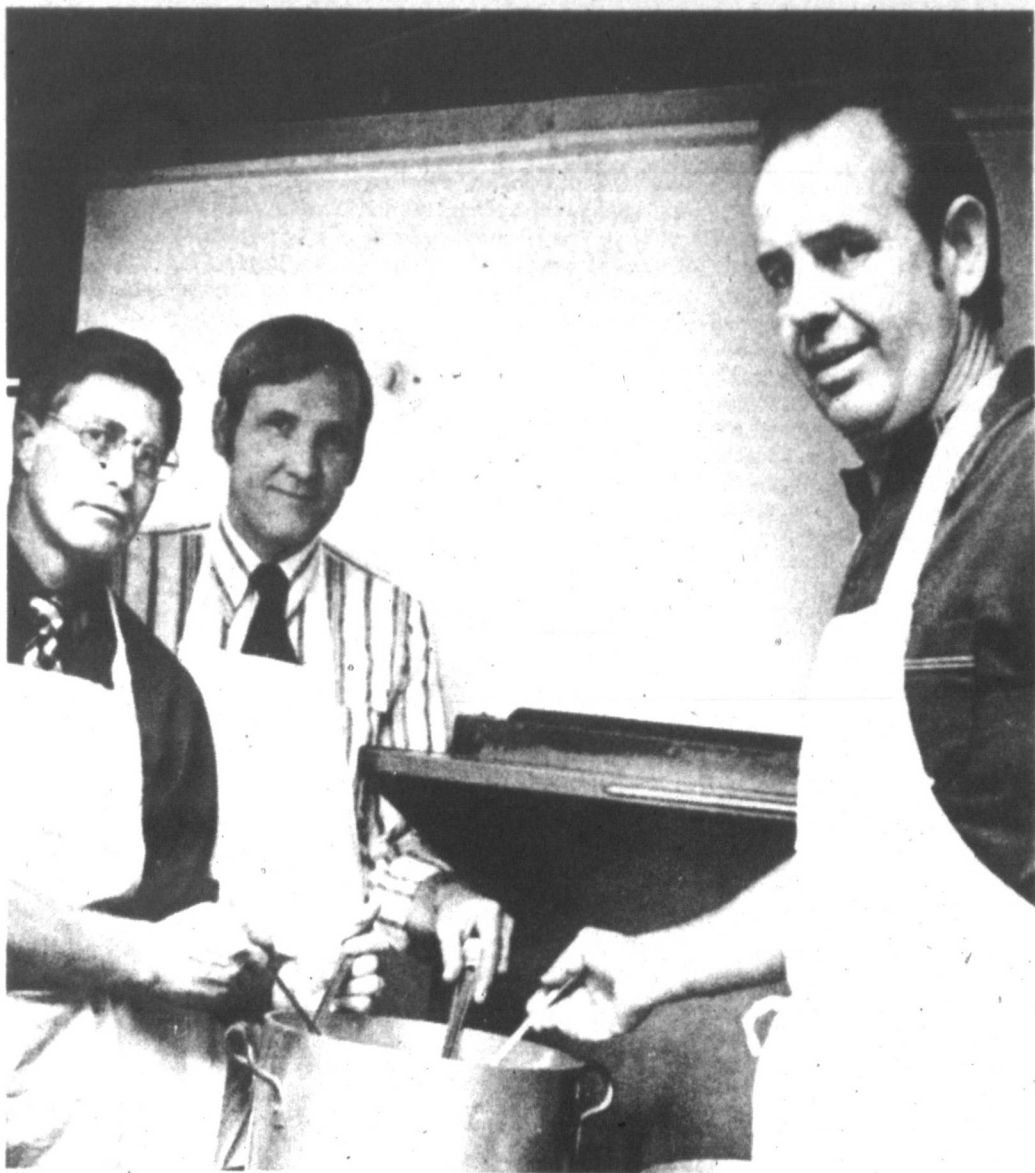

The foil stamping of the lettering and Great Seal on the cover will be done in silver colored aluminum rather than gold.

The inscription "Bicentennial 1776-1976" and the Bicentennial

Seal will appear on the front and back covers respectively. The interior pages of the passport will feature a Liberty Bell pattern printed with a specially formulated red and blue ink.

The message from the Secretary of State, the captions of the identification data, the titles of the Amendments and Endorsements page and the visa pages will appear in both English and French, conforming to the recommendations of the Panel of Passport Experts of the International Civil Aviation Organization and International usage.

The Bicentennial Passport will have a validity of five years. The general format of this special edition will be retained in future passports, except for the removal of the Bicentennial inscription and Seal.

run Sunday through Tuesday. City Manager Mack Wofford said today the delegation will be headed by Mayor R.D. Wilkerson and will include the city manager, City Attorney Bob Gordon, City Secretary S.M. Chittenden, Public Works Director R.B. Cooke and City Commissioners Leo Braswell, Linden Shepherd and Ray Thompson.

A wide range of energy and environmental issues and their economic impact on Texas cities will receive the attention of delegates.

First steps toward organizing a nationwide association of small cities to obtain increased federal support will be the focal point of a special meeting during the conference.

Barrett To SBA Group

Thomas S. Kleppe, administrator of the Small Business Administration, has announced in Washington the appointment of Harold S. Barrett, Pampa, to the District Council of the SBA. Kleppe said Barrett has been selected for council membership in recognition of his knowledge of small business. As a member of the District Council, Barrett will take part in the semi-annual meetings where the meeting will be John C. White regional administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, who will speak on "EPA and the Cities."

Pampa City Atty. Bob Gordon, a member of the board of directors of the Texas City Attorneys Association, has participated in program arrangements for the conference.

Monty Gordon, assistant city tax assessor-collector will be in Dallas Sunday through Tuesday attending the annual conference of the Texas Association of Assessing Officers.

One of the highlights of the conference is scheduled Tuesday forenoon when there will be a panel discussion of the pros and cons concerning the proposed new Texas Constitution.

Barrett, a native of El Reno, Okla., is chairman of the board of Harold Barrett Ford, Inc. He is a member of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and director of the Industrial Foundation for West Texas. As a member of the SBA Advisory Council, he will serve without pay for a term of two years.

GOP Threatens To Bar CBS From Convention

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The National Republican Party has threatened to bar CBS news from covering its 1976 convention because the network reserved more than 700 prime hotel rooms without going through the arrangements committee.

"We're going to get those rooms back," said Ody J. Fish, GOP convention manager. "They're going to have to give them up. They can't have them."

The committee ended a visit to the city Tuesday after spending three days in preliminary convention planning.

As part of the effort to get the 1976 nominating convention, the city had to guarantee at least 15,700 available hotel rooms in the area for the week of Aug. 22.

The original convention date. The rooms were to be assigned by the convention arrangements committee.

However, the city learned from ABC news a few weeks ago that CBS had secured prime hotel space by offering two to four weeks occupancy — as opposed to four or five days by the delegates — and large room deposits.

"It is perfectly proper for the committee to try to tie up rooms," said Russ Bensley, director of special events for CBS news, "and it is perfectly proper for us to try to get our own space. We have talked to six or seven hotels and we have got some rooms."

An investigation by the city found the Downtown Holiday Inn had received a $5,000 deposit from CBS on 250 rooms. It learned also that CBS had reserved 330 rooms at the Plaza Inn and Plaza Inn International, 50 rooms at the Ramada Inn, 75 at the Royal Inn and 20 rooms at the downtown Hilton Inn.

Priest Supports 'Death with Dignity'

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (UPI) — A Catholic priest testified today he first brought up the possibility of removing Karen Ann Quinlan from a life-sustaining respirator last April 15 — the day after she slipped into a coma.

The Rev. Thomas J. Trapasso, testifying in Superior Court on

"He (Quinlan) was still speaking in terms of hope," Father Trapasso said. "I was a request by Karen's parents to let their 21-year-old daughter 'die with dignity,' said he advised the girl's father, Joseph Quinlan, that such action would not be a sin.

pretty sure it was more hopeless than hopeful. He was in no way seeking my permission. I was his spiritual advisor and dear friend.

"Our faith teaches that death is not the end of all being. Death will liberate Karen," the priest testified in the small courtroom packed with an audience that for the first time included a number of priests. "It will free her so she can enter into God's presence."

Father Trapasso said Quinlan arrived at the decision to remove the respirator after seeking advice from two priests.

Karen has been in a coma, her life maintained by tube feeding and a respirator, since April 14 when she took a combination of drugs and alcohol.

Karen's adoptive mother, Mrs. Julia Quinlan, was scheduled to testify in the case later today. Her husband appeared Tuesday.

Mrs. Quinlan abruptly left the courtroom Tuesday when the neurologist, Dr. Julius Korein, described how Karen twists and turns in reaction to pain.

Karen has been in a coma since April 14 when she took a combination of drugs and alcohol. She has continued to function with the help of a life respirator.

Doctors say there is no chance Karen will regain consciousness, and the Quinlan family wants the machine turned off to allow her to die naturally.

But attorneys for the state say that would be homicide.

Paul Armstrong, the Quinlans' attorney, told Superior Court Judge Robert Muir Jr. Mrs. Quinlan would give "extensive" testimony on why the family wants to remove Karen from the machine.

"She's going to die anyway," said Joseph Quinlan, Karen's foster father. He said Karen should be allowed to die naturally and return to the "loving hands of the Lord."

"It is just a matter of time until Karen dies. Finally I became convinced that He (God) was going to take Karen," said Quinlan, graysuited, ruddy-faced and showing little emotion.

"The whole family was in agreement that the machine should be turned off and that Karen be allowed to return to a natural state," he said.

Quinlan, an assembly line mechanic for a pharmaceutical firm, said he and his wife authorized St. Clare's Hospital in Denville, N.J., to turn off the respirator.

The hospital refused because Miss Quinlan, 21, was an adult and because her doctors said there was no "medical tradition" for removing a patient who was not brain dead.

On Monday, Miss Quinlan's two physicians testified: Karen was in a "chronic vegetative state" and said there was no chance she would regain cognitive functioning.

"Extraordinary procedures should be used in all situations where the outcome has a reasonable possibility of being successful," Karen said.

"I and many of my colleagues are not interested in saving a life that will lie as a vegetable for 10 years."

Mother Uses Pistol To Take Baby Back

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI) — The courts said Diane Barner had abandoned her 2-year-old daughter, Natasha, more than a year ago. They took the child away and put her in a foster home.

Tuesday, Mrs. Barner, 26, loaded a .22-caliber pistol and went to get her baby back.

Suburban Kentwood police said Mrs. Barner shot and wounded the foster mother, fired at a milkman who tried to stop her and, after failing to retrieve her child, led police on a 100-mile-an-hour chase before crashing at a Grand Rapids intersection.

Mrs. Barner was held today in Kent County Jail awaiting arraignment on charges of attempted murder and car theft. Attempted kidnaping charges also were being considered, police said.

County juvenile officials said Mrs. Barner had been fighting for more than a year in juvenile court to regain custody of her daughter. The court had placed Natasha under foster care following a child abandonment incident.

Somehow, authorities said, Mrs. Barner discovered the identity of the foster parents and went to the home of Mrs. Marge Hamstra in Kentwood.

When Mrs. Hamstra came to the door, Mrs. Barner pulled a gun and demanded she turn over her daughter and the keys to the Hamstra car, police said.

Mrs. Barner put the child into the car and was getting ready to leave when Mrs. Hamstra ran to the driveway, opened the passenger door and pulled Natasha from the vehicle. Police said Mrs. Hamstra was shot in the right hand during a struggle. Juvenile authorities said Mrs. Barner lost custody of the child after she left her with a friendly couple and did not return. When the couple later attempted adoption proceedings, Mrs. Barner accused them of kidnaping her daughter and demanded she be returned, the authorities said.

Doctors Say Ring Clamp Safer Female Sterilization

HOUSTON (UPI) — A medical researcher says using a silicone-type ring to clamp the fallopian tube in female sterilization is much safer than blocking the tube with electrical burns.

Dr. Carl J. Levinson, associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology at Baylor College of Medicine, Tuesday also said the process may even be reversible — although it will be years before that is known.

"It is proposed as not being reversible," Levinson said. "We have had no experience with that yet, but since the only part of the tube that is involved is that part trapped by the ring and the remainder of the tube is left uninjured, it may be possible to recombine the tube more easily with this method than one which has been burned."

Levinson said only a three-fourths inch incision is needed for the operation.

He said most patients are released four hours after entering the hospital and the surgery can be handled on an out-patient basis.

The only difference between this method and the one most prevalent now is the use of the rubber ring rather than electrical burning or cauterizing the tube, he said.

Levinson said minor skin burns and serious bowel burns, have been reported using cauterization.

"The complication rate with the other method is not very high, but we're trying to reduce it to a minimum," Levinson said.

He said the success rate may also be higher, but that also will take years to determine. He said Baylor researchers have performed 150 operations in the last 18 months using the ring method and no pregnancies have resulted, but they plan to follow the patients for years to check the effectiveness of the method.

Jordan Top of Poll

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Barbara Jordan, D-Tex., is the top choice in a poll of 700 political opinion leaders who were asked which five women they would like to see become president.

The results of the Redbook Magazine poll, published today, show Rep. Jordan the top choice of 44 per cent; Connecticut's Democratic Gov. Ella T. Grasso, 33 per cent; Rep. Shirley A. Chisholm, D-N.Y., 21 per cent; former Rep. Martha

W. Griffiths, D-Mich., and Frances "Sissy" Farenthold, former Democratic member of the Texas legislature, 16 per cent each; and Anne L. Armstrong, former co-chairman of the Republican National Committee, 15 per cent.

The fact that we came up with six is particularly significant in light of the recent Gallup Poll which showed that 73 per cent of the American people would vote for a qualified woman for president," said Redbook editor Sey Chassler.

Liz Carpenter, the one-time press aide to Ladybird Johnson, compiled the survey and said none of the respondents mentioned the word "liberal" or "conservative" as a criterion for electing a president.

"People seemed willing to move to the right or the left, to adjust," she said, "as long as the person leading us can be trusted to move the country toward facing its problems."

The qualifications most often sought in the candidates were "good judgment," "capacity to tell right from wrong" and "compassion."

Cape Cod's sandy bogs produce most of Massachusetts' cranberries, estimated at almost one million hundred-pound barrels each year.

More Grain

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The new Soviet-American grain deal allows Russia to buy another 7 million tons of grain from the United States this year without advance consultations, Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said today.

Butz was called before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today to describe the five-year agreement under which the Soviet Union will make regular purchases of at least 6 million metric tons per year in 1976-1981.

"Also, we have agreed that the Soviets may buy, without consultations, up to 7 million tons additional grain from our crops this year," he told the panel.

Agriculture Department officials said the United States does not know yet whether the Soviet Union actually will purchase the extra 7 million tons.

A moratorium on further grain sales to the Soviet Union was lifted this week, when the long-term agreement was fulfilled following negotiations in Moscow.

President Ford had ordered the embargo two months ago after Russia ordered 10 million tons of American grain in July, driving up commodity prices.

Butz described the U.S.-Soviet grain deal as part of a report on the world's food needs during the next 25 years, when population may grow by 80 per cent.

"In the long run," Butz said, "the ultimate source of world food security lies in bringing population growth under control and increasing the productivity of the individual farmer."

Little Error?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army has illegally spent $150 million since 1970 due to accounting error and "a number of factors," it was announced today.

Assistant Army Secretary Hadlai A. Hull said in a letter to Congress' armed services committees that between 1970 and 1975 "approximately $150 million had been obligated apparently without authority." Such spending would constitute a violation of the Anti-Deficiency Act and the individuals responsible could face criminal charges.

"The Army is conducting an investigation to fix responsibility for this error," a spokesman said. "Since the investigation is still in progress, it is too early to comment on who is responsible or what disciplinary action may be appropriate."

According to the statement, the $150 million loss "was caused by a number of factors including the Vietnam phase-down, the rapid growth of foreign military sales, sloppy accounting practices and the 1971 change by Congress from a single procurement appropriation good for an unlimited time to a system of five separate appropriations which are good for only three years."

Evil Drink

PORTLAND, Maine (UPI) — The National Woman's Christian Temperance Union says the liquor industry is leading the nation's children to drink and many parents remain unconcerned until it's too late.

Juanita Whisler, WCTU promotion secretary, Tuesday also attacked television for fostering the image of drinking liquor as "good living" to America's children.

Miss Whisler said parents should be concerned "about what is happening to the nation's children due to acceptance of alcoholic beverages as a part of home life."

Miss Whisler, speaking to the annual convention of the Maine WOTU said "liquor advertisements are alluring but maske no mention of the addiction aspects of the product. Television programs too often create the image that alcoholic beverages are a part of good living."

She said "alcoholic beverage commercials are forbidden on television, yet drinking scenes are routine in many prime time programs, creating illusion to children ... that imbibing the narcotic drug is a way of life...thus advancing drinking by suggestion."

Soviet Launch

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union today soft-landed a descent vehicle from space craft Venus 9 on Venus and it transmitted a "unique image" of the planet's cloud-covered surface, the Tass news agency said.

Tass said the vehicle transmitted data for 53 minutes. The news agency did not make clear whether it had continued to operate after that point, or whether there would be another transmission at a later time.

"A unique image in the place of landing was obtained," Tass said.

The Soviet Venus 8 probe in July, 1972, gave up after 50 minutes in the searing heat and crushing atmospheric pressure of the planet's surface. Venus 7 in December, 1970, relayed information for only 23 minutes before falling silent.

Western experts said they assume Venus 9 and its sister

Venus 10, now on its way to the planet, had been strengthened and improved in light of previous experience.

Tass said Venus 10 is on course and would reach Venus Friday.

City Gas Suit

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. has won another delay to gather evidence to defend itself against the city's $200 million breach of contract suit.

District Judge Peter Michael Curry gave Lo-Vaca until Nov. 21 to complete taking depositions and gathering evidence in the case. Curry ordered the attorneys to check with him each Monday to make sure there were no unnecessary delays.

Curry proclaimed earlier this year "only an act of God" could keep the case from going to trial Oct. 20. But he granted the additional delay Monday at the request of attorneys representing Lo-Vaca, its parent corporation Coastal States Gas Corp., and company president Oscar Wyatt of Houston.

The judge set a preliminary trial for Dec. 1 on "pleas of privilege" filed by Coastal and Wyatt, which if granted would shift the trial to their home county, Harris. However, Curry has repeatedly made it clear, "I will not relinquish jurisdiction in this case."

Israeli government officials said the initial meeting was to deal with strictly military and procedural questions involved in the withdrawal.

The Israeli delegation to the talks crossed into the U.N. buffer zone to attend the meeting about 11 a.m., according to reporters in the Israeli sector of the Sinai.

Reporters were barred from the U.N. zone and no details of the meeting itself were released by either Israeli or U.N. officials.

Under the agreement, Israel is to withdraw from 2,000 square miles of territory, including the Abu Rudeis and Ras Sudar oil fields on the Gulf of Suez, in six phases ending Feb. 22, 1976.

Israel planned to pull out of Ras Sudar by Nov. 15 in the first phase of the withdrawal. Seven American technicians from the Mobil Oil Co., which owns 50 per cent of the field, were on hand to help out in the transfer.

U.N. forces closed the U.N. buffer zone to reporters, saying newsmen will not be permitted at the outpost.

Pact Details

Israeli and Egyptian military officers met at a United Nations post in the Sinai Desert today to work out details of the new Middle East peace agreement, the Israeli national radio said.

The radio gave no details of the meeting at U.N. post 512 in northern Sinai but said the session ended shortly before 4 P.M. The meeting was scheduled to have begun at 11 a.m.

The meeting was the first in a series of scheduled sessions between Israeli and Egyptian officers designed to solve any problems that might arise in Israel's military withdrawal from occupied Egyptian territory.
