Violence Marks Desegregation

BOSTON (UPI) — Sixty-two probing demonstrators and four other persons were arrested today as schools opened for the second year under a court-ordered desegregation plan.

The first day of classes in the new term was orderly although attendance was far below projected enrollments. Violence accompanied the first stage of desegregation last fall.

A police cruiser near Charlestown High School was hit by a single .22 caliber bullet in the left door, but there were no injuries.

Police rolled back their original announcement of two mass arrests totaling more than 100 persons in the tense South Boston area. A spokesman said there was confusion in the reporting process and a total of 62 members of the Committee Against Racism and the Progressive Labor Party had been charged.

Three persons were arrested for disorderly conduct at a Roxbury playground before school began. A 19-year-old youth at Hyde Park High School was arrested with a 14-inch tape-wrapped bamboo stick in his pocket.

The arrested demonstrators chanted "Power to the Working Class" as they were being booked.

The overall opening of classes was quiet and there were no incidents in the "safety zones" established around schools by some 1,650 police and U.S. marshals. Six hundred National Guardsmen remained in reserve at a building near South Boston High. Police showed up in strength despite a contract dispute and officials said the guardsmen would "not be used at this time."

Attendance at South Boston, Hyde Park and Charlestown high schools was believed far below their projected enrollments.

A spokesman said about 300 students—200 white and 100 black—showed up at Charlestown, out of a possible 900. This compared with 655 whites, two blacks and 19 other minorities on the first day of school last year when Charlestown was not part of the busing plan.

There were no incidents at Charlestown High, adjacent to the obelisk commemorating the Revolutionary War battle of Bunker Hill. A police sharpshooter with a rifle and scope was stationed atop the gray granite building built in 1848. Two motorcycle-escorted buses containing approximately 60 black students and a half-dozen whites and orientals arrived between lines of helmeted Metropolitan District Police.

Small crowds of residents of the middle-class neighborhood of renovated 19th Century four-story brick townhouses gathered behind police lines, but there was no trouble.

Nine buses carrying about 80 blacks arrived without incident some 15 minutes late at South Boston High. Some of the buses, all escorted by motorcycle police, arrived nearly empty. Only two children were on one of them. Some 110 whites were at the school.

About 150 protesters stood silently at the edge of the police lines.

It was estimated the first day attendance at South Boston High was about 12 per cent of the projected enrollment of 1,600 students. Last year 136 students—57 blacks, 71 whites and eight other minorities—attended classes on opening day. That was 9.2 per cent of the projected enrollment of 1,480.

Authorities used metal detectors and hand-held scanners at potentially troublesome schools to prevent students from bringing in dangerous weapons. Also on hand for the first day of classes was J. Stanley Pottinger, assistant U.S. attorney general and the highest ranking civil rights officer in the Justice Department.

"There's a better than even shot that we'll have a safe opening of schools," Mayor Kevin White said Sunday.

Foes of the busing plan, who staged a small, peaceful demonstration at City Hall Sunday, vowed a boycott of classes similar to one which dropped high school attendance on opening day last year to 59.9 per cent.

Motorcycle police were assigned to escort buses to and from school and a police helicopter was used to spot any roving gangs.

An additional 500 guardsmen were placed on active duty in the state and units of the 82nd Airborne Division, at Fort Bragg, N.C., were placed on standby.

Officials had feared a police contract dispute might lead to a "sick in" by police today. But Chester J. Broderick, president of the Boston Police Patrolmen's Association, urged all members to "be on the line."

Rock throwing and jeering crowds in South Boston marred the first day of classes last year. Five white students were arrested. A policeman was hit by a bottle and buses carrying black students home were stoned, injuring at least nine persons.

Violence broke out sporadically throughout the year, inside and outside the schools.

Under the second year of the busing program, known as Phase II, 25,863 black and white children are to be bused—8,863 more than the 17,000 students bused last year.

Some 75,000 thousand students were scheduled to return to class today. It was not known immediately if students would boycott classes as they did last year.

Classes for 9,000 kindergarten students were postponed a week

U.S. District Judge W. Arthur Garrity has ordered 26,000 students be bused to school in the second phase of his desegregation plan which last fall was accompanied by violence.

A crowd of antibusing demonstrators gathered Sunday night at the Fargo Building in South Boston, where the guardsmen were billeted, and threw rocks and bottles at the troopers. Two persons were arrested. One soldier was slightly injured but was back on duty at the 4 a.m. reveille today.

A police officer was slightly hurt Sunday night while dispersing a South Boston demonstration.

Officials hoped the deployment of massive strength would prevent a repetition of last year's violence.

Teachers Close Schools For One Million Students

By United Press International

Strikes by teachers or other unions kept nearly a million students out of classrooms or on reduced schedules today at the start of another school week, and New Yorkers feared a walkout that would add another 11 million to the number of affected pupils.

In Boston, riot-garbed police clashed with hundreds of rock and bottle throwing demonstrators near Charlestown High School and 62 persons were arrested near South Boston High as the city began its second year of court-ordered classroom desegregation.

The arrest total for the morning reached at least 67, according to an unofficial count.

Attendance in Boston was below expectations. Police and U.S. marshals were on duty at schools, and 600 National Guardsmen were in reserve in case of any big outbreak of violence.

Armed guards rode school buses in Louisville and Jefferson County, Ky., where another busing order was in effect. School officials said the number of white students showing up for busing appeared small, but the number of blacks seemed to have increased over last week, when busing and attendant disturbances, began.

More than 500 persons have been arrested and several persons injured in that area since the start of busing last Thursday.

Chicago teachers rejected a Board of Education contract proposal and the city's 530,000 pupils were without regular classes. Salaries were the key issue for the 26,744-member Chicago Teachers Union, and negotiations were going on under a news blackout.

Stockholders To Meet Oct. 7

Date of the annual meeting of Community Hotel Co. stockholders will be Tuesday, Oct. 7, instead of tomorrow as stated in Sunday's newspaper.

The teachers proposed mediation by Mayor Richard J. Daley, but the Chicago superintendent, Joseph Hannon, said he did not favor the mayor's entry into the dispute.

Talks between the United Federation of Teachers, with 80,000 members, resumed in New York at 11 a.m. EDT after a session that lasted until early today, but negotiators were pessimistic. A UFT spokesman said "I'm not optimistic" about averting a strike. For the day at least, schools were open for 11 million children in the nation's metropolises.

The contract for the teachers expires at 12:01 a.m. Tuesday and UFT president Albert Shanker said a strike appeared "inevitable."

Teachers at New Bedford, Mass., voted not to return to classrooms today but a school superintendent said classrooms would remain open, using substitute teachers, for 18,000 students. It was the second school strike in Massachusetts, another being in progress at Lynn.

In New Jersey, teachers went on strike at Englewood, although students were told to report to their classrooms. In Newark, members of the Service Employees International Union went on strike, but school officials said they believed classes would remain open.

Authorities at Louisville, most strife-ridden of the schoolunrest areas, remained alert for any new outbreaks of violence.

U.S. District Court Judge James Gordon, who ordered the busing in late July, has forbidden protests near schools. Security measures included 570 city and state policemen, U.S. marshals and National Guardsmen riding buses, and more guards at school buildings and along the bus routes.

A crowd of 400 to 600 persons peppered National Guardsmen in Boston with rocks and bottles Sunday night on the eve of the second year of court-ordered school desegregation.

Some 1,650 Boston police, state troopers and federal marshals were stationed at seven possible trouble points today. Antibusing forces vowed a boycott of classes similar to one which dropped high school attendance on opening day last year to 59.9 per cent.

Pride of Pampa Tower

Jeff Doughten, director of the Pride of Pampa Band at Pampa High School, said that the new observation tower at the band's practice field gives Pampa "the best rehearsal facility there is in this part of the country." Cabot Corp. donated the tower and built the platform, Doughten said, and Southwestern Public Service hoisted it in the air for installation. From the tower, Doughten said he can see the entire marching band below on the full-size asphalt marching practice field in the second year of use.

Jury Selection Begins In DWI Trial in Pampa

By ANNA BURCHELL, Pampa News Staff

Jury selection began this morning in Gray County Court for the trial of Nathaniel Robinson Jr., charged with driving while intoxicated on Nov. 1, 1974, four miles west of Pampa.

John Warner, county attorney, who is representing the state in the trial, said the state will present three witnesses—a Texas Highway patrolman, the man who operated the breath analyzer and a chemist.

"Do any of you feel that it should not be against the law to drive while intoxicated?" Warner inquired of the prospective jurors.

"None raised a hand. Warner then explained that regardless of how a juror feels about drinking that if the evidence shows the defendant was driving and drinking, it would be jury's duty to find him not guilty."

"We want six persons who will give a fair shake," he added, explaining that in county court only six jurors are chosen while in district court 12 are selected.

The Robinson case is one of many set for trial in county court this week. Judge Don Cain is presiding.

Jurors must have lived in Texas for a year, in Gray County for six months, be 18 years of age and have no felony convictions.

A total of 51 residents was summoned for possible jury duty. Thirty four were present. Several have moved from Gray County since registering to vote, three were ill, one was scheduled for surgery, and three were excused for this week.

The trial is scheduled to continue this afternoon following jury selection.

Another trial is scheduled to begin in 31st District Court this afternoon with Judge Grainger Melihany of Wheeler presiding.

Mideast Pact Will Cost US Taxpayers

By United Press International

It will cost U.S. taxpayers $200 million a year to station up to 200 American civilian technicians between Israeli and Egyptian forces in the Sinai desert, an Israeli newspaper said today.

A Washington dispatch in the Jerusalem Post said the main base for the American watchdogs will be in Egypt, at Ismailiya on the Suez Canal.

The Post, quoting from preliminary discussions in Congress about the secret clauses of the Israel-Egypt peace accord signed last week in Geneva, said the technicians will observe violations of the pact and military movements within the U.N. zone by Egyptian and Israeli forces.

Weather

The forecast today calls for clear to partly cloudy skies through Tuesday with highs in the mid 80s and lows near 60.

Police Report Theft

Vandalism, burglary and theft reports were received during the past 24 hours by the Pampa Police Department.

Johnny H. Murrell, owner of Johnny's Barber Shop, 312 Cuyler, said someone had broken the glass in the front door of his shop. Leonard Hall of Hall Tire Co. reported that a glass was broken from the pumps and the handle was inserted backward on one of the pumps which probably damaged the computer in the pump.

A total of $794 in damage was reported at United Mud Co. where vandals entered the building and damaged supplies. Eddie Briner of 621 Doucette reported that an air conditioner was stolen from his garage.

The Elks Lodge was burglarized and $230 taken, according to Nancy McGee, an employe.

Two women reportedly took four cartons of cigarettes without paying at Gibsons.

A landlady at 321 Jean said she found something that looked like marijuana seeds in a house she was cleaning after tenants left.

Harrassing phone calls were reported.

Car Owner Costs Burgeon

DETROIT (UPI) — The average American is paying between $200 and $300 more this year to own and drive a car than during 1974.

According to figures from Hertz Corp.'s Car Leasing Division, the cost connected with America's main form of transportation climbed 14 per cent in the past year.

While rising gasoline prices account for part of the jump, the hidden costs of interest and depreciation contributed the most. In 1974, the major cost factor was the price of gasoline, which jumped from 35 cents to 55 cents a gallon and now is an average 57 cents.

A typical mid-sized car driven 10,000 miles a year now costs an average of $2,700, compared to $2,400 last year. A sub-compact model driven the same distance will cost the owner about $2,100, up from $1,900 last year. Large cars jumped from $2,850 a year in 1974 to about $3,100 in the first half of 1975, Hertz said.

On a per-mile basis, that comes out to 21 cents a mile for the Pinto-sized car, 27 cents a mile for a mid-sized automobile like the Chevelle and 31 cents a mile for a car the size of the Chrysler New Yorker.

If those figures seem a lot higher than some government, auto company or car club operating costs, it's due mainly to the fact they exclude interest charges and assume a person keeps the car he buys new for 10 years.

That produces unrealistically low per-mile expense figures not applicable to the more typical driver who keeps a new car for one to five years," says J.E. Menendez, Hertz Car Leasing Division vice president.

The Hertz executive said that last year the Internal Revenue Service increased the level of acceptable car-business travel costs to 15 cents a mile for distances under 15,000 miles and 10 cents for mileage over that, resulting in a 13 cent average at 25,000 miles unless actual costs are documented.

The typical intermediate will virtually never be run for as little as 15 cents a mile if the motorists drive less than 15,000 miles a year," Menendez said. "And the cost will not drop under 13 cents until the auto is driven 25,000 miles a year and owned for at least six years."

South Viets May Force US Recognition

Editors Note: Alan Dawson, UPI bureau manager in South Vietnam, left Saigon on government orders last Wednesday. He had reported on events in the country for the past five years, including the Communist takeover on April 30.

By ALAN DAWSON

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — South Vietnam's Communist government wants American recognition badly — so badly it may be holding the 50 or so Americans still in the country as hostages to force negotiations.

"We want normal relations with the United States," government spokesmen tell anyone who asks.

The reason is simple enough: the nation's economy, battered by 30 years of war and disrupted by the sudden Communist takeover last April, needs massive transfusions of foreign aid.

And, say the leaders of the Provisional Revolutionary Government, it is the United States that must come up with the funds.

"It is only natural, according to the history of warfare, that the loser must pay the winner for the damages," said deputy government adviser Trinh Dinh Thao in a recent interview.

The U.S. government, however, doesn't see the situation in quite the same light. It has so far refused to recognize the new Communist regime, and last month vetoed a move to admit South Vietnam to the United Nations.

Irritated by the brushoff, the PRG has apparently decided not to let Americans out of the country in what could be a move to put pressure on Washington.

I was the only one allowed to leave since the U.N. vote, and my departure was held up by a guard who showed me an order barring all Americans from entering the Saigon airport to board outgoing flights.

About a dozen Americans are under loose detention somewhere in the country. The others are free to roam around Saigon as they please. Intelligence officers following their movements are always friendly, and stress that Communist Vietnamese harbor no ill feelings toward the American people.

"We know that your people have opposed your government's war on us," a Foreign Ministry official said last week.

Nevertheless, the Americans are convinced they will become hostages in a diplomatic maneuver to prod Washington to change its stand on recognition.

Until that happens, however, the South

Vietnamese authorities have decided to make self-sufficiency in food production their first priority, launching a campaign to move more than half of Saigon's 3.5 million people to the countryside.

"We must go backward, however regrettable that is," said Thao. "We must establish self-sufficiency as the first priority to rebuilding the economy. To do that, our people must go back to the farms and the fishing boats."

So far, about 300,000 already have been moved out. But unlike the Khmer Rouge in neighboring Cambodia, the South Vietnamese Communists so far have used persuasion, not force.

Propaganda teams visit each ward of the city often to try to convince the jobless and the poor to go back to the farms, offering them free land, transportation, food and money for the first six months.

Still, the Communists are clearly worried about the shape of the economy and are doing what they can to repair it.

Officials of the defeated Saigon regime fled with 24 tons of gold — half the nation's supply. Most foreign currency also disappeared from the banks. Imported goods are rising in price and disappearing from the marketplaces.

Bank depositors can receive only the equivalent of $12 per month per family member from their accounts, because many of the passbooks were looted by bank officials before the American pullout.

The rich are unhappy, of course, and still apprehensive about the possibility of retaliation. The poor are still poor, but at least are able to sit on committees that discuss national and local policies.

A few bands of anti-Communist soldiers who fought for the former Saigon government are still roaming the Central Highlands area and parts of the Mekong Delta. But most Vietnamese have accepted the PBG victory, and resistance to the new government is dying off.

"What can those (soldiers) do now?" asked Thao rhetorically. "They couldn't defeat us with half a million Americans and U.S. aid."

For those who have surrendered, the treatment has not been so harsh as expected. There certainly has been no bloodbath.

In fact, many of the senior officials who opposed the Viet Cong in the past are walking around Saigon free to come and go as they please. The last two presidents of the Republic of Vietnam — Tran Van Huong and Gen. Duong Van (Big Minh) — live at home and walk the streets freely.

Foreigners, however, have no place in the Vietnam of the future, except for diplomats and, probably, a handful of reporters.

Vietnam is for the Vietnamese now, said President Huynh Tan Phat in an interview. His deputy adviser Thao agreed.

"Foreign investment is welcome, but only on the basis of the government owning 51 per cent of the investment," he said.

The U.S. embassy has neither been occupied nor desecrated. A small Viet Cong flag flutters from the main flagpole now, but the building is intact.

On the front wall is a handpainted sign: "Saigon welcomes the forces to liberate the capital city." But inside, all has been left untouched.

So far, at least 82 nations have recognized the PRG, and intend setting up diplomatic missions in Saigon when foreigners are permitted in. No one knows when that might be.

and the red and blue with gold star of the South. Pictures of Ho Chi Minh were on virtually every wall.

Captured U.S.-made planes and helicopters flew the skies of Vietnam. On the ground, bicycles and public buses have replaced many of the motorcycles, because gasoline costs about $6 a gallon and is getting scarcer.

Soldiers roam the Saigon streets in their pith helmets, fatigues and even those famous black pajamas. Citizens no longer find them a curiosity.

On Sundays, the zoo is busy again. Popular restaurants are filled every night, but those that serve less than the best food are dying.

Streets have been renamed. Tu Do has become "Uprising Street." Another street is now called Nguyen Van Troi for the "hero" executed for trying to kill former Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara on one of his visits to Saigon.

There is little doubt that Vietnam is headed for Communism, or socialism as the government prefers to call it. But the new leaders clearly are in no hurry and want to avoid antagonizing people.

Yachtsman Tries To Kill Wife, Man

VALLETTA, Malta (UPI) — A British yachtsman shot to death an American he suspected of being his wife's lover, attempted to kill his wife and two stepchildren swimming beside his boat, then committed suicide Thursday.
 Police quoted witnesses as saying Charles Napier, 50, opened fire with a rifle from the deck of the yacht Argonautis, anchored in Valletta marina as Bert Synder, 60, Napier's wife Debbie, 30, and their two stepchildren bobbed in the water.
 They leaped overboard when Napier brandished a rifle after arguing about Synder's relationship with his wife, witnesses said.
 Synder's body was fished from the harbor. Napier's wife was hit in the knee by a bullet but managed to reach shore, and the two children escaped injury.
 Napier was found dead on the lower deck of the Argonautis by Maltese coast guards who boarded the yacht from a patrol boat.

Rotary Seeks Five for Tour Of England

District 573 of Rotary International, which includes the Panhandle of Texas, is looking for five business and professional men between the ages of 25 and 35.
 The men, who must be non-Rotarians and not relatives of Rotarians, will be selected as members of a team to visit a Rotary District in London, England, beginning March 13, 1976 and ending April 24, 1976. All travel expenses will be paid by the Rotary Foundation.
 The program provides travel grants for the exchange of teams of young business and professional men between paired districts in different countries, enabling them to study the institutions and ways of life of their hosts and to develop personal acquaintance and exchange ideas. Traveling with a sense of mission derived from their desire to learn and to promote understanding, these young men bring personal knowledge of their own country to the thousands they meet abroad.
 And from their study of another country — their observations of its customs, their explorations into its business and personal and professional life, their meetings and discussions with its people — come many opportunities for the development of understanding and lasting friendships.
 Persons interested in additional information may contact Otis Nace, president of the Pampa Rotary Club, P.O. Box 1237, Pampa 79065.

Militias Bomb in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Rival militias hurling bombs and firing machine guns fought pitched battles in the war-ravaged city of Tripoli today in fighting inflamed by a massacre of 12 persons on a bus and the torture-slaying of a diplomat's son.

Moslems was estimated to be at least 200. Since Sunday, when the fighting began to escalate, at least 31 persons were known to have been killed and about 75 wounded. Among the dead was the son of the Lebanese ambassador to Switzerland who was tortured to death.

Police sources said the actual toll, when counted, will probably be "many times" higher. The government nationalized Lebanon's 500 fuel trucks after their drivers went on strike to protest attacks on three of the trucks trying to make deliveries in Tripoli.

In Beirut, Premier Rashid Karami's embattled 12-week-old "salvation government," reportedly facing a split, held an emergency meeting to discuss possible army intervention in the crisis.

Interior Minister Camille Chamoun told reporters after the meeting that "the situation is grave, very grave, in the north." He did not disclose details of the meeting but political sources said an announcement of measures to be taken—including possible army intervention—may be announced Tuesday.

Witnesses said the city was ablaze with explosions and fires that raged through the streets unchecked. The casualty toll in the eight days of fighting between right-wing Christians and left-wing

Child's Body Found

GIDDINGS, Tex. (UPI) — Texas Rangers appealed to the public today for help in identifying the decomposed body of a three or four year old child found Sunday in a garbage bag near a highway rest area. The child had dark brown hair, a yellow floral design shirt, and dark blue pants of a type normally worn by three to four year old boys, DPS officials said.

DPS lab technicians called to the scene said the child appeared to have died of skull injuries. Karami is known to be reluctant to take the step, however, for fear that the well-armed Moslem left might

Part of the $920 million subsidy was intended to allow delays in making certain lower cost mail rates, such as those charged for magazine subscriptions, self-supporting. The subsidy is intended to give such mail users six to eight years to become self-supporting, and avoid giving them an unduly abrupt mail rate increase.

Salvation Army Store Moves

The Salvation Army thrift store has been moved from 115 E. Atchison to 322 S. Cuyler, it was announced today by Capt. Bodell Heath, commanding officer of the local post. The store, which sells used clothing and refurbished miscellaneous items, will be open for business Wednesday, according to Captain Heath.

Rangers speculated the child could have been dead as long as two weeks, or as little as a few days. Summer heat and the fact the body was placed in a garbage bag may have speeded decomposition, they said.

Proposes More Subsidy For Postal Service

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Postmaster General Benjamin Bailar today proposed that Congress double its present $920 million subsidy to the Postal Service, so stamps do not have to become too expensive for some mail users.

Bailar said the current subsidy is worth less than in 1970, when Congress authorized it has part of the act creating an independent Postal Service — a self-supporting agency to replace the old Post Office department.

Boxscore on Economy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary William Simon says the administration does not need to take any special action to keep the economy on its right course.

allowing for inflation — fell 0.5 per cent in July and is now down 0.3 per cent in the past 12 months.

He said Sunday current monetary and fiscal policies can reduce inflation and increase employment without additional steps by the administration.

WHOLESALE PRICES: Paced by sharp price rises for fuel and other energy products, wholesale prices rose 0.8 per cent in August. Combined with July's 1.2 per cent spurt, the increase marked the biggest two-month advance in wholesale prices since October and November.

He also said it is too early to decide whether this year's $22.8 billion tax cut should be extended into next year as recommended by Labor Secretary John Dunlop.

PRODUCTIVITY: Productivity increased 9.5 per cent in the June quarter for its highest quarterly gain in more than four years.

In a broadcast interview (NBC's Meet the Press), Simon said he is optimistic the nation will "continue to have positive real growth in 1976 and a declining unemployment rate, and it's going to decline a lot faster than the budget projections."

TRADE — The U.S. balance of payments, bolstered by less foreign investment, less foreign travel by Americans and more exports, scored a $1.23 billion surplus in the second quarter of the year.

UPI's monthly boxscore of economic indicators bears out predictions of a rising economy, except for static unemployment statistics, but indicates inflation is rising at an annual rate of 14.4 per cent.

INDICATORS: The index of leading business indicators rose 1.7 per cent in July to sustain the longest upward climb in 2 1/2 years.

UNEMPLOYMENT: The unemployment rate held in August at 8.4 per cent, the same as in July. INFLATION: The Consumer Price Index jumped 1.2 per cent in July, the steepest monthly rise since last September. The annual rate was 14.4 per cent, higher than predicted by administration officials who warned of a new increase.

GNP: The "real" Gross National Product — with inflation removed from the figures — rose 1.6 per cent in the second quarter of 1975 for the first increase since the recession began.

REAL EARNINGS: The average worker's "real" income — wages plus fringe benefits after OUTPUT: Industrial production increased in July for the first back-to-back monthly gain since the end of the Arab oil embargo.

Turks Search Rubble For Earthquake Victims

LICE, Turkey (UPI) — A somber young boy grimly led his little brother by the hand through the rubble-strewn streets of the ruined town.

third of the dead were in the devastated town of Lice.

The officials predicted the death toll would rise to 3,000 when reports came in from rescue workers sent to outlying areas of battered Diyarbakir province.

Uncle doctor, please look after my brother," he said to a physician in an emergency hospital set up in Lice. "I must find the bodies of my father and mother."

Army helicopters whirled over the disaster region to pinpoint damaged areas cut off from communications and lead rescue workers to stranded survivors.

Lice, a town of 9,000 persons at the center of the quake, was demolished by the tremor. Rescue workers reported only a handful of partly damaged buildings still standing.

Turkish officials said Sunday at least 1,700 were killed in a weekend earthquake that rocked eastern Turkey. Nearly a

The quake, which registered just below the "severe" seven-point mark on the Richter scale, rumbled across 13 eastern provinces Saturday, injuring at least several thousand persons and leaving up to 30,000 homeless.

Businesses Pick Up SEC Officials' Tab

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Most federal regulatory agencies forbid their officials from accepting expenses from private interests. But the Securities and Exchange Commission lets business groups pick up the tab for SEC officials who attend their conventions, according to congressional records.

Other agencies said its officials either use their own money or get reimbursed by the agencies for attending conventions.

Premier Suleyman Demirel flew to Lice by helicopter Sunday and said the Turkish government would finance reconstruction of the battered town.

Information supplied by the six major regulatory commissions to the House Commerce Committee's subcommittee on oversight and investigations — reviewed by UPI — showed all but the SEC regard such reimbursements from businessmen under their jurisdiction a potential conflict of interest.

But SEC Associate General Counsel Paul Gonsou told UPI. "The SEC has always felt it is useful to get its message across to the industry it regulates."

Four members of Pampa Lodge No. 480 Knights of Pythias visited Amarillo Lodge No. 479 Thursday and assisted in conferring the rank of Knight on James W. Kembrough of Amarillo.

"It's better to be like Caesar's wife — you know, above suspicion," an Interstate Commerce Commission spokesman said.

Therefore, he said, the commission often allows the host groups to pay travel, food and lodging expenses of commissioners invited to appear at their conventions and meetings.

Ed Baum, chancellor commander of 479, presided. Assisting in the rank work from Pampa were A.C. Parsley, Tommy Dawes, Ray Barnard and B.B. Altman, Jr.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: You know all these black-out curtains and masks that the movie stars and celebrities use when they want to sleep in the daytime?

Well, I have the answer for the poor people...

All you have to do is buy a man's black sock and throw it over your eyes!

It's soft, comfortable and does double-duty because it is double!

They are lightweight now as most socks are synthetics, and don't irritate my face as the old mask did with the elastic around it.

So why don't you scream with the "mimes" and tell the whole world to at least try it?

They don't have to buy it cause nearly everybody has a lost black sock floating somepl. somewhere.

Charlie Brown

Now folks, don't you dare laugh at 'Charlie. I tried it and so help me Hanna if it isn't beautiful!

It was so soft and comfy and far better than anything I ever tested before.

Not only that but I have had five friends test it and they thought it was a scream.

Beauteous! So duck and bow to Charlie our boy... Heloise

Dear Heloise: The clear plastic case that cassette tapes come in is excellent for holding postage stamps.

It snaps shut so none fall out and it's also easy to see, at a glance, when you're running low of stamps.

Diana Merchut

LETTER OF THOUGHT Dear Heloise: Friends come and friends go but the friend I loved the most I did not really know...

Until it was too late... Hunter McClain, PhD

Dr. McClain, don't worry about this. Guess none of us take the time to realize the preciousness of TIME!

It's always too late. For everything, sir.

Thanks for waking a few of us up this day, and bless you, always!

Heloise

Dear Heloise: My 8-month-old baby was not holding her bottle herself although she held on to toys, cookies, etc. It appeared to me that baby bottles would be easier for little hands to grasp if there were something attached to hold on to.

We recently bought her a set of toys consisting of plastic rings and I tried fitting one of the rings over the bottle and it worked perfectly.

The colored ring attracted her and she wanted to put her hands on it.

It wasn't long before she was holding the bottle herself and I was free to do other things when I was busy.

Janet McMullen

Dear Heloise: My son's occupation as a salesman keeps him away from home for lengthy periods during which his laundry is done through hotel valet services. Many times plastic collar stays are lost.

When eating lunch at a restaurant, I was given a clear plastic coffee stirrer.

By cutting to size, they are perfect as replacement stays.

Mildred Schwedt

By golly, Mildred is right! She sent me a couple of these plastic sticks to prove her point.

I believe by cutting them in half it will be the perfect substitute collar stay.

Heloise

Dear Heloise: Today while snipping off a length of thread, I noticed my sewing scissors weren't as sharp as needed and mentioned this to my husband.

He said, "Why don't you do what my mother used to do? Sharpen them on a bottle neck!" He then showed me how.

Use a small-necked bottle, place it between the blades and "cut" away.

When I tried the scissors again I was delighted to find they were much sharper.

Della Chriss

Over each section of my denim jeans I sewed on a large denim patch pocket about eight inches by ten inches.

I used the denim from the leg sections of my husband's discarded jeans.

Into each knee pocket I inserted a one-inch-thick foam rubber pad.

This way the kneeling pads go where I go. I remove the knee pads when I launder the jeans.

Opening lead: King of ♥.

On West's opening lead of the king of hearts, East played the deuce and South dropped the jack. West continued with the queen of hearts, which South ruffed. Next came the ace of clubs, West discarding a heart. Declarer then entered dummy via the ace of spades, and on the king of spades he discarded his six diamonds.

Now the board's nine of clubs was led, South overtaking with his ten - spot (knowing that the ten would win the trick). The king and queen of clubs were then cashed, picking up East's two remaining trumps. South's only loser from here in was a diamond to East's ace. So he fulfilled his contract, losing just one heart and one diamond trick.

Had West led a spade at trick two (instead of a second heart), the contract almost surely would have been defeated. Declarer would have won the trick with the board's ace, and on the spade king he would have discarded his diamond six. Then would come a trump to South's ace, West discarding a heart.

East would now have himself a sure trump trick (with the tripleton J-8-7 remaining), since declarer would be unable to reach dummy to finesse against East's jack. Thus South would incur a one-trick set. The question was whether West should have been sufficiently clairvoyant to have known to lead a spade at trick two, to remove the sole entry to dummy before declarer found out about the 4-0 division of the adversely held trumps.

West stated that he knew that South had just the singleton jack of hearts, for if East had two hearts he would have initiated a high - low signal at trick one (instead of playing the heart deuce). But, he added, declarer might have been void of spades; and if such were the case, then a spade lead at trick two would give declarer a present of three spade tricks. And so the question remains, did West misdefend?

Ruling Expected On Bentsen Campaign Spending Limits

By BILL CHOYKE
Pampa News
Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The Federal Election Commission (FEC) is expected to decide on Tuesday what contribution and spending limits should be applied to the dual candidacy of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Houston.

The pending decision follows a request by Bentsen — who is seeking both the Democratic presidential nomination and reelection to the Senate — for an FEC clarification as to how his dual candidacy is covered by the new federal law governing a candidate's contributions and expenditures.

Such a dual candidacy is forbidden in most other states. Ironically, the FEC has also been asked to decide whether Bentsen's possible opponent for the Senate, Rep. Alan Steelman, R - Dallas, may establish a Senate campaign committee to explore his candidacy and at the same time maintain a separate House campaign fund.

Specifically, Bentsen has asked the FEC:

— Whether he can take advantage of federal spending limits prescribed for both the Presidency and the Senate race. In Bentsen's case, the federal law allows him to spend approximately $650,000 for his Senate race and twice that, or about $1.3 million, for his Presidential nomination in Texas alone. If allowed both limits, Bentsen could spend a total of about $1.95 million in Texas for his dual candidacy.

— Whether Bentsen and his immediate family can contribute a total of $85,000 or only $50,000 to his dual candidacy.

— Under federal election law, a presidential candidate and his family may contribute $50,000 to his campaign; a senatorial candidate, $35,000. At issue is whether Bentsen and his family could do both or whether they would be bound by the $50,000 nationwide limit, which the FEC general counsel, John Murphy Jr., supports.

— Whether non-family contributions contributors may donate $1,000 — the maximum legal contribution — to both Bentsen's presidential and senatorial campaigns or just to one. Murphy wants to limit it to one.

In discussions at two previous meetings, FEC commissioners split on the question of Bentsen's combined total expenditure limit. Murphy argued that he should be bound to the $650,000 senatorial limit, but at least one commissioner, Neil Staebler, said that the $1.3 million presidential limit should apply.

So far no one — including Bentsen — has argued that the Texas senator should be allowed to spend the combined limit of $1.95 million in the state.

Murphy's approach to the controversial issues is that Bentsen should not be given any financial advantage over his prospective senatorial opponents.

"A rule permitting higher spending limits to a declared candidate," said Murphy, "gives an advantage to a declared candidate. It would be a form of discrimination over the other candidates."

However, if the FEC adopts Murphy's $650,000 limit, Bentsen would, at least theoretically, be put at a disadvantage in Texas relative to his Democratic presidential opponents who would be entitled to spend twice that much, Murphy said, though, that would not be true in any other state's Presidential primary or in regard to the total expenditure limitation placed on prospective presidential candidates.

An aide to the senator said Bentsen was more interested in having the expenditure limit clarified than in having a particular limit set.

"Our position on this is to get a clarification so we can understand what limits apply," said a Bentsen spokesman. "We are not concerned about the exact ceiling. The higher ceiling (Presidential limit) would certainly be acceptable."

It is very unlikely, however, that Bentsen would spend more than $650,000 on his presidential campaign in his home state anyway, since he is bound by a $10 million limit for all primaries and presumably needs as much money as possible for states where he is less well known.

Although he has not yet declared his candidacy for Bentsen's Senate seat, Steelman spent the August recess stumping the state to gauge his chances. He hopes that the FEC will rule that he may initiate a committee to explore his Senate possibilities without those funds counting against his House limits.

"We want to know," said a Steelman aide, "whether it is against election policy to have two campaign committees."

How much should a funeral cost?

NSM believes the sooner you ask the question the more comforting you'll find the answer.

National Selected Morticians is a group of responsive funeral directors who believe a funeral is no place for on-the-job training.

So they've published a booklet that talks openly about prices... options... the countless little details that could add to your expense and grief — if you're not prepared for them.

The booklet doesn't attempt to influence your selection of a funeral director in any way. But it will give you enough basic knowledge to plan wisely beforehand... without the pressures that can cloud your judgment and possibly lead you to spend more than you should, or need to, for a funeral.

It's offered as a public service by the National Selected Morticians listed in the adjoining column. Pledged to a policy of consumer education, they believe that the more you know about funerals, the better they, or any other funeral director, can serve you.

Orantes Surprises Connors

Pass Catcher

Jerry Rhoades was instrumental in Pampa's 20-7 opening win over Hereford Friday in Harvester Stadium. He caught two passes for 68 yards as quarterback Garland McPherson spearheaded a solid passing attack, completing five of nine for 104 yards. Pampa visits Dumas Friday.

(Pampa News photo)

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — Who is the Number One tennis player in the world? Manuel Orantes, the smiling Spaniard who took Jimmy Connors' Forest Hills title Sunday?

Arthur Ashe, who took Jimmy Connors' Wimbledon title by beating him in a four set final?

John Newcombe, who took Jimmy Connors' Australian title by beating the American in four sets in the final? Jimmy Connors, who despite losing all three of the titles he won in 1974, annihilated double grand slam winner Rod Laver and his Aussie conqueror, Newcombe, in the televised challenge matches?

The debate among establishment people, Connors' supporters, and unaligned fans can go on from now through the fall and winter. But at this moment, it is Manuel Orantes who has captured the imagination, for he wrote a permanent, impelling chapter in Forest Hills history by coming from three match points down, 0-5 in the third set under the lights on Saturday against Guillermo Vilas, to drive through six straight sets to capture the American championship.

Manolo, who overcame a nagging back difficulty by resting during the winter, had studied Connors' style long and well. He employed the tactics used by Ashe at Wimbledon to bring down Connors, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3, Sunday in one of the most more stunning Forest Hills finals in recent years.

This was against the same Connors who had embarrassed ancient Aussie Ken Rosewall at Wimbledon and here last year, but the surface this year was clay, not grass.

Connors was no stranger to clay, or Orantes. He had beaten Orantes six times in seven previous meetings on all surfaces, but Orantes Sunday denied him the opportunity to use his power, slow balling him to death, never letting him attain his rhythm, and either passing him or lobbing him with exquisite precision.

The Spanish ace, only the second of his nation to win here — Manuel Santana won over Cliff Drysdale in 1965 — approached the net as often as Chris Evert does, and admitted later he never really felt in danger.

Connors had broken him at love in the very first game, but from that point on, Jimmy had his hands full, and was unable to cope with the delicate touch, the patience of his opponent.

There might have been one other moment of danger, Orantes admitted.

"In the third set, when Jimmy won three straight games and had me at 30-40 for break point in the sixth game, that was an important moment," Orantes said. "If he had come through then, he would have gained confidence."

But the gutsy Orantes held, and was home free. "I was so excited after beating Vilas," he said, "that I didn't feel tired. I could have played four, even five sets."

The new champion had not gotten to bed until three in the morning after beating Vilas—a broken bathtub fixture in his hotel kept him awake—but still said he had slept soundly for eight hours, and was more than ready for the challenge Connors presented.

But who is the Number One now? In his three defenses, Connors failed in the finals of each—to three different men.

Maybe no one is Number One this year. Just as Jimmy Connors was everybody's Number One last year.

He may no longer be everybody's Number One, but perhaps Chris Evert thinks he should be.

She looked on in dismay as he lost to Orantes. She had captured the women's title in her fifth try by beating Evonne Goolagong Cawley, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2, on Saturday. She made no secret of wanting Jimmy to win too, just to match her "His and Her" championships a year ago at Wimbledon.

Penn State Among Opening Winners

United Press International

After four years of frustration, there appears to be hope for eastern football teams in their quest to unseat Penn State as the perennial kingpin.

Coach Joe Paterno's ninth-ranked Nittany Lions, winner of 10 eastern honors in seven of the last eight seasons including the last four in a row, showed signs of decay Saturday night when they opened their 1975 season with a rather unimpressive 26-25 victory over Temple.

Temple, which has been improving its program steadily under Coach Wayne Hardin but is still far from being tabbed as a major power, pushed Penn State all over Philadelphia's Franklin Field but came out on the short end of the score because of poor coverage on two kick returns.

The first of these came in the first quarter when Penn State's Rich Mauti returned a kickoff 100 yards for a touchdown, and the second occurred in the fourth quarter when Woody Petchel raced 66 yards with a punt to set up what proved to be the winning touchdown—a three-yard run by Duane Taylor.

Except for those two lapses, Temple was in complete command. The Owls outgained the Nittany Lions, 402 yards to 201, in total offense and had 21 first downs to Penn State's 12.

"They looked great," admitted Paterno. "We weren't smooth, we weren't executing. I thought they did a great job." Hardin said of his team, "We just didn't cover kicks well."

With such opponents as Stanford, Ohio State and Kentucky coming up on the schedule in three of the next four weeks, Penn State would seem to have severe problems ahead.

Penn State was one of four nationally-ranked clubs to see action Saturday, and the only one to have trouble. Maryland, ranked No. 14, easily outclassed Villanova 41-0. 17th-ranked North Carolina State routed East Carolina 26-3 and 18th-ranked Houston defeated Lamar 20-3.

Second-ranked Alabama opens its season tonight against Missouri at Birmingham, Ala. in a nationally-televised game.

In other major games Saturday, North Carolina trounced William & Mary 33-7. Baylor defeated Mississippi 20-10. Pittsburgh downed Georgia 19-9 and Southern Methodist nipped Wake Forest 14-7.

Mark Mangas, a sophomore quarterback, threw for a school record four touchdowns in leading Maryland to a trouncing of Villanova. Mangas, noted more for his running than his passing ability, hit sophomore Vince Kinney on TD passes of 46 and 41 yards, connected with fullback Tim Wilson on a 25-yarder and tossed a 38-yarder to John Schultz.

The Buckley Brothers, Dave and Don, combined their talents to lift North Carolina State to a surprisingly easy victory over East Carolina. Dave, the quarterback, hit his twin brother with a 46-yard pass to set up a one-yard touchdown run by Johnny Evans in the first period and plunged over from the one late in the third quarter to cap a 68-yard drive.

Sophomore fullback John Housman ran for two short touchdowns in the fourth quarter to spark Houston to victory over Lamar. Housman rolled up 99 yards rushing and scored on runs of two and one yards.

Tailback James "Boom Boom" Betterson ran for two touchdowns, including a 92-yarder with the opening kickoff, to spark North Carolina to victory over William & Mary. The Tar Heels' triumph produced a scathing reply from William & Mary Coach Jim Root about the merits of his team.

"We stink," Root said bluntly. "We can't pass, can't punt, can't catch, can't block and we tackle only every once in a while."

Cleveland Franklin and Pat McNeil each rushed for over 100 yards as Baylor trimmed Mississippi. Tony Dorsett gained more than 100 yards rushing in leading Pittsburgh over Georgia and touchdowns runs by David Bostick and Wayne Morris in the first half enabled SMU to defeat Wake Forest.

Clifford Franklin and Pat McNeil each rushed for over 100 yards as Baylor trimmed Mississippi. Tony Dorsett gained more than 100 yards rushing in leading Pittsburgh over Georgia and touchdowns runs by David Bostick and Wayne Morris in the first half enabled SMU to defeat Wake Forest.

Shockers Edge WTSU

By United Press International
The Missouri Valley Conference did not waste a great deal of time getting into league play this year, and New Mexico State and Wichita State are quite happy about it.

Those two clubs captured opening night games Saturday and jumped in front of the conference race.

New Mexico State accepted a gift from Drake late in the third quarter and used it to score the decisive touchdown in a 14-10 decision. And Wichita State, helped along by two field goals from two different kickers, nipped West Texas, 13-7.

No other games were in the league Saturday night, but a full schedule is set for next week including the opening game for Tulsa — the MVC's preseason favorite.

New Mexico State was trailing the Bulldogs late in the third period, 10-7, when Al Byers fumbled a punt and the Aggies recovered at the Drake four.

Two plays later quarterback Cliff Olander made it in from the three to give the Aggies the lead, and as it turned out, the game. New Mexico State cost itself a chance for an easier victory by losing the ball twice inside the Bulldogs' five.

At Wichita the Wheatshockers came up with third quarter field goals of 20 yards by Kent Van Vleet and 27 yards by John Blazek to break open a scoreless tie.

Wichita allowed the Buffs only 176 yards total offense and did not surrender a touchdown until the final minute of play with Tully Blanchard hitting Bob Mayberry with a 26-yard scoring pass.

New Mexico State will try for its second straight win this week against Texas-El Paso while Wichita will have a tough time picking up No. 2 at Oklahoma State.

Other games this week find Tulsa opening its season at home against Kansas State, West Texas visiting Lamar, Drake hosting North Texas, Louisville at home against Western Kentucky and Southern Illinois traveling to Southwest-ern Louisiana.

ALCOHOLIC VETERANS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The special relationship between servicemen and their liquor has been a popular, often comical, theme in tavern songs, B-movies and world war stories.

But the General Accounting Office reported Saturday the not-so-funny truth is that many ex-GIs find it hard to put down the bottle when they hang up the uniform.

It said the rate of alcoholism among veterans is 10.2 per cent, more than double the average for all Americans, and one out of every three alcoholics in this country is a former serviceman.

CIVIL SERVICE PAY

Judges Dispute Over Suits Of Gas Company

HOUSTON (UPI) — Two judges engaged in a jurisdictional dispute over suits filed against a South Texas natural gas company may force the issue to go before the State Supreme Court.

District Judge Peter M. Curry of San Antonio and retired Texas Supreme Court Justice Robert W. Hamilton last week engaged in a jurisdictional dispute over the suits filed against Coastal States Gas producing Co. and its subsidiary, Lo-Vaca Gathering Co.

Hamilton, sitting in district court, started the squabble by issuing a 10-day restraining order against the cases, including one asking $150 million in damages. Most of the cases involve damage suits based on the companies' failure to deliver natural gas during the energy crisis.

Hamilton will decide today whether to make his order permanent. "Barring an act of God or public enemy, we will go to trial Oct. 20," Curry said at a pretrial hearing.

"This puts us in direct conflict. I don't know what will happen, but it probably might go to the supreme court. There couldn't be a compromise. One judge would have to give way to the other."

Curry warned against further attempts to delay the suit, brought against Coastal States and Lo-Vaca by the city of San Antonio for failure to deliver amounts of natural gas as specified in contracts.

The atmosphere in the courtroom was difficult for defense attorneys Joe Jaworski and Tracy DuBoise, who had requested the order from Hamilton. They stood virtually mute, explaining only that they felt bound by Hamilton's order not to participate in the hearing. Curry criticized them for going to court in Houston and reiterated his belief Hamilton did not have the right to usurp his jurisdiction in the case.

Curry also issued a restraining order and an injunction against any further delays in his suit and indicated he would find in contempt of his court anyone who tried to delay the proceedings.

The conflicting orders created the possibility that attorneys would be held in contempt by either Curry or Hamilton, depending on what they did.

"(The attorneys) will have to find relief," Hamilton said.

Proceedings and pending customer lawsuits restrained temporarily by Hamilton's order are those filed by Austin, Brownsville, Central Power and Light, Corpus Christi, San Antonio and the City Public Service Board of San Antonio and further action on a $25.2 million award given to the Lower Colorado River Authority in court in Bryan, Tex. on July 28.

likely to reject Ford's proposal and take an 8.6 per cent raise. The Senate Civil Service Committee is expected to adopt a resolution this week defeating Senate is also expected to reject the lower increase.

A presidential advisory committee recommended an 8.6 per cent increase based on higher pay scales for comparable jobs in the private sector, but Ford last week countered with his lower proposal.

PAYOFF PROBE
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Securities and Exchange Commission is investigating the possibility that major defense contractors violated federal laws by hiding political payoffs in the United States and abroad, said Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

SEC Chairman Ray Garrett told Proxmire records filed with the SEC disclosed no such payments. But in a letter released Sunday he said, "There is a likelihood that activities of this kind would be deliberately concealed in documents filed with the commission."

Proxmire requested the investigation May 13, citing the controversy sparked by disclosures that the Northrop Corp. and other firms with defense contracts were involved in improper political payments.

SEXUPTLETS BORN, DIE
PORTLAND, ORE. (UPI) — Mildred Hynes, who gave birth to sextuplets, all of whom died in 14 hours, was reported in satisfactory condition Sunday.

Mrs. Hynes, 25, bore four boys and two girls within 15 minutes Friday night.

Her husband John, who is self employed, would not disclose if his wife had taken fertility drugs.

A spokesman at Bess Kaiser Hospital said the infants were too small to survive. They ranged in weight from one pound to one pound five ounces, the spokesman said.

ARAFAT REJECTS TRUCE
NEW YORK (UPI) — Yasser Arafat, head of the Palestinian Liberation Organization said the recently signed Mideast interim peace "ignored totally the Palestinian cause."

Arafat, who appeared Sunday on CBS' "Face the Nation," said "No peace can be settled by ignoring the Palestinians."

He was critical of the role of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, saying, "How can a doctor solve the problem of a sick man with a basic malady when he only solves the symptoms?"

GOP Chooses Kansas City

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Seven Republicans Sunday night unanimously recommended Kansas City, Mo., as the site for the 1976 GOP nominating convention.

If approved by the Republican National Committee as expected, the Aug. 16-20 convention will be close to the Midwestern heart of GOP strength.

The Republican National Committee was meeting today.

The party's seven-member site selection committee chose Kansas City over Cleveland, Ohio, near midnight Sunday after a three-hour closed meeting.

The site committee sifted the most minute details of the two cities' bids, including such questions as taxicab service between Missouri and Kansas and temporary housing proposed for the Cleveland lakeshore. But the decision probably was based as much on political considerations as convention logistics.

Kansas City is in the midst of the GOP's strongest territory and party leaders obviously view it as a good place to launch a successful presidential campaign and to begin rebuilding the party's depleted state and congressional strength.

The Kansas City group erupted with joy when National Committee Chairman Mary Louise Smith announced the vote.

National committee spokesmen said they knew of no direct intervention by the White House to favor Kansas City. But reports persisted that President Ford favored the city, the stronghold of his favorite Democratic president, Harry S. Truman.

Kansas City is surrounded by Republicans. The Governors of Missouri, neighboring Kansas and Iowa are Republicans. 11 of the Senate's 39 Republicans came from nearby states, and four of the 11 GOP-controlled state house elections come from states just to the west and north of Missouri.

The Democrats also were courted by Kansas City, but they chose New York City for their July 12-16, 1976 convention. Kansas City does not have enough housing to accommodate a full scale Democratic national convention.

Even the Republicans, who asked for 2,000 fewer hotel rooms than the 20,000 required by the Democrats, are going to have a tight squeeze. It came up with about 15,000 first class rooms in and around the city, but some delegates are going to be bunking as far away as Topeka, Kans., a 60 mile turnpike run.

Hotel space also was Cleveland's biggest problem. Even by lining up rooms in Akron, the city fell short and Mayor Ralph Perk came up with the idea of placing "modular" housing on the lakefront to quarter several thousand persons.

The meeting hall in Kansas City will be Kemper Arena, where the city's basketball and hockey teams play. Unlike the Democrats, who will have to make extensive changes in New York's Madison Square Garden, the Republicans will be able to fit their 4,500 delegates and alternates on the arena floor and have about 10,500 seats for the media and spectators.

Stacy Keach and Sarah Miles will costar in an original bicentennial television drama titled "Dynasty."

Miss NY Named Miss America

ATLANTIC CITY (UPI) — For years Tawny Elaine Godin had followed the televised pageant with her own imaginary walk down the runway. This time the walk and the runway were for real — and she was Miss America 1976.

Saturday night at Convention Hall was the fulfillment of a dream the 18-year-old brunette from Sarasota Springs, N.Y., had since childhood.

"Ever since she was five years old she used to watch the Miss America Pageant on television and would keep a little list of who she thought would win," said her mother, Conni, 42.

"And then she would take an imaginary walk down the runway."

"I've had one hour's sleep," Miss Godin told a breakfast news conference Sunday as she munched a Danish and sipped orange juice. "I sat up all night just looking at the crown."

Miss Godin, who traces her ancestors in America to 1661, will wear the crown during the nation's bicentennial year.

The 5-foot-10 college coed, the tallest Miss America in the 54-year history of the event, was the first Miss New York to win the crown. Miss America 1945, Bess Myerson, entered the pageant representing New York City.

The four runners-up were: 1. Miss North Carolina, Susan Lawrence, 21, who will serve as Miss America if Miss Godin is unable to; 2. Miss California, Janet Carr, 21; 3. Miss Ohio, Susan Banks, 21; 4. Miss Arizona, Stacey Petersen, 24.

Miss Godin said she has six or seven boyfriends and any one of them could be "Mr. America."

Her mother said the new queen recently went to a party with Chris Lawford, son of actor Peter Lawford and Patricia Kennedy Lawford, and added "She talks to the Kennedy boys on the phone but I wouldn't call them personal friends."

As for living together before marriage, Miss Godin said, "I don't know if I would do it or not. If people feel it's necessary and need to know each other and save a possible divorce then let's do it."

"This shouldn't be taken lightly, and I think it is."

Miss Godin, who measures 36-24-36, is a sophomore at Skidmore University. She has a perfect 4.0 average in linguistics and impressed the judges Saturday during the talent competition with an original piano composition, "Images In Pastels."

Miss Godin, who won a $15,000 scholarship in the pageant, said she plans to study linguistics in France in her junior year.

Sweatshops Make Indian Jewelry

DENVER (UPI) — Imports from Asia and sweatshops in the southwest turning out imitation American Indian jewelry are robbing authentic craftsmen of their livelihood, according to John Kennedy of the Indian Arts and Crafts Association.

Kennedy said the recent glut on the American Indian jewelry market has been caused by imports from the Orient, South America and Asia in addition to silver and turquoise ornaments manufactured in sweatshops throughout the southwest.

"That (authentic Indian jewelry) is how these people derive their income," said Kennedy. "On the reservation they have no other means to make a living. The trader can turn to something else, but the craftsman can't adapt to something else."

He said the imitations are hurting true Indian craftsmen by underpricing them and by destroying the buying public's trust. Fake and stolen items comprise about one-third of the several billion dollar a year trade in Indian jewelry, Kennedy said.

"Indian jewelry has been uniquely American. It was one of the few things the Indian had," he said. "Now they don't even have that."

Under a law that went into effect July 18, retail dealers in Colorado are required to know and guarantee the authenticity of the merchandise and dealers are required to label goods as authentic. Non-authentic goods must be kept separate.

The Colorado law was patterned after a New Mexico statute.

Coal Mine Strikers Return Despite Pickets

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Southern West Virginia coal miners began a massive return-to-work today despite prospects of picketing by dissidents demanding the right to strike without the threat of court injunctions.

Wary of a month-old wildcat walkout which at one time idled up to 60,000 workers, rank-and-file miners held weekend meetings and voted to heed United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller's order to resume coal production.

"Return to work, but if there are pickets out, return home," UMW Local 1302 President Roger Thompson told a gathering of miners Sunday in Logan County, where the strike started Aug. 11.

'Cordially' Not 'Sincerely'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Health, Education and Welfare Department, usually concerned at this time of year with memos and guidelines on busing or sex discrimination, is circulating a memo to its executives on how to sign letters.

The internal memo notes that new HEW Secretary David Mathews likes to have his letters signed "cordially" instead of "sincerely."

"'Cordially' should not be used, however, where it would appear inappropriate," the memo said.

Thompson said that as far as he could determine, all locals in Charleston-based District 17 voted to end the strike. In neighboring District 29, headquartered in Beckley, the same sentiment was voiced by 50 of 66 locals.

Union officials cautioned against confrontations with pickets. But some miners said they intended to cross any lines set up by strikers who want a right-to-strike provision inserted in the UMW contract.

Miller and other UMW leaders have maintained the right-to-strike fraction represented only 5 per cent of the union's membership.

Two leading strike advocates, Bruce Miller and Skip Delano, were scheduled to appear in U.S. District Court here today to answer contempt charges for ignoring Judge K.K. Hall's back-to-work orders.

Thompson said he felt the walkout had accomplished one of its goals — to protest use of court injunctions by coal operators to settle local disputes. He predicted the industry now would be more willing to try to resolve grievances at the mine site instead of in the courts.

Robbers Imitate Novel

DETROIT (UPI) — Life imitated art in Detroit again this weekend: two gunmen robbed five passengers aboard a city bus.

It was the third consecutive weekend gunmen have robbed Detroit area buses, and the latest holdup mirrored a sequence in "Fifty-Two Pickup," a popular novel set in Detroit.

"I don't think these guys read books," a policeman said. "They just steal."

This time, police said, the gunmen got away with about $160 after hijacking the Greyhound bus. There were no injuries. Two weekends ago, two bandits posing as passengers on a Greyhound bus going from Detroit to Paducah, Ky., robbed fellow riders of $841 in cash and rings, watches and other valuables.

Last weekend, two bandits took more than $20,000 from 38 passengers on a bus en route from Chicago to Toronto. Included in the haul was an $8,000 coin collection.

Police said the description of the city bus bandits did not match descriptions given by victims of the first two robberies.

"Older homes need updating and new construction is expected." The overall picture is promising," he added.

White House has future plans for developing some of its own properties in Pampa.

The firm has been a part of this area growth.

"We've seen it grow from an oil boom town to a thriving city," Holmes said.

"We would like to say thanks to our customers for being our customers," Holmes added.
