

Alanreed Station Operator Outtalks Would-be Robbers

By ANNA BURCHELL
Pampa News Staff

"You sure look at your hole cards when you look down one of them shotgun barrels. I thought my time has come right here," said J.A. Hill, 70, of Alameed who was held at gunpoint shortly after 8 p.m. Thursday night.

Hill, owner of the Alameed 66 Service Station outtalked two teenage youths when they attempted to rob the station with a sawed off .16 gauge shotgun. As they were driving away he fired several shots at them with his pistol, hitting the back of their stolen vehicle.

"I don't have any money," he said he told the boys. "I'm just barely existing here."

He also told them if they killed him, they would never get away with it.

"My wife is sleeping in the back room and she'll hear the shots and call the law," he informed the bandits.

The two were apprehended 15 minutes later at a road block in Groom by the Department of Public Safety Texas Highway Patrol and Carson County Sheriff's deputies.

Gray County Deputy Randy Nichols later transferred them to the county jail in Pampa where they were arraigned this morning before Justice of Peace Ed Anderson. Bond was set at $25.00 each in Pampa on charges of attempted armed robbery.

The two were identified as Michael Eugene Johnson, 17, of Arkansas, and Jerry Lee Wilker, 19, of Florida.

Nichols said they had no identification with them. They were also arraigned in Carson County before Judge Max Wade who set bond at $10,000 each.

Nichols said they still had that same sawed off shotgun at the time they were arrested. They were driving a late model Mustang, stolen from Kirkwood, Mo.

Hill said he had operated the station for near 23 years and it was the first time he ever looked down them barrels.

Hill said the two men came by and asked for gas. "They wanted to know if I had some sandwiches," he said.

"I told them I didn't, but I had candy and cookies. One of them had a coat with that gun hidden under it, when he ordered 'Hand over!'"

When Hill explained that he had no money, they told him "to get in that other room."

"Yes Sir, I replied, and obeyed."

He added that he grabbed his pistol as soon as the car started.

As soon as he fired the shots at the fleeing car, Hill called the Gray County Sheriff's Office.

"If they hadn't got them last night, they would have filled someone. Sure proud we got them durned little devils," he said today.

Hill's station is located 31 miles north of Pampa. He had been asked several times during past years what he would do if someone tried to rob him.

His answer was always, "I'd turn it over to them."

Lockheed Bribed Arabs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lockheed Aircraft Corp paid $100 million in bribes in Saudi Arabia to influence sales of its fighter planes, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said today. Church, chairman of the Senate subcommittee on multinational corporations, repeated the figure three times during a hearing to emphasize the amount, which equaled 11 per cent of financially troubled Lockheed's overseas income in 1974.

"You pay out $100 million in bribes in one country alone," Church said during questioning of Daniel J. Haughton, board chairman of Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

"I don't think we consider the $100 million as bribes because we did receive benefits," Haughton replied.

Haughton said the money was not lost income to Lockheed because it was added to the top of prices charged to the oil-rich Saudis. He said Lockheed was satisfied with net income resulting from the Arabian sales.

Church said the Lockheed money was funneled through Mideast weapons agent Adnan Khashoggi.

Khashoggi, an American-educated Arabian who tried to buy a California bank last year, has also been linked with Northrop Corp's payments to Saudi generals.

Although Church said the $100 million was for bribes, Haughton said the bulk of the money went to Khashoggi "and his associates." But Haughton said he could not identify Khashoggi's associates, except for his brother.

The subcommittee today released an additional 23 pages of Lockheed internal documents before the hearing. The papers showed that a "Prince Khalid" — believed to be an air force general implicated in the Northrop case — was paid $300,000 in bribes to influence Lockheed sales.

Haughton said in testimony that Lockheed's payments were "necessary" to assure the sale, but the firm did not defend or condone the bribery practice.

On Thursday, the panel released 206 pages of documents detailing Lockheed payments in Indonesia, Iran, Saudi Arabia and the Philippines.

"In considering possible new laws and regulations, we do not believe it is necessary, or indeed desirable, to identify the foreign officials who might have received payments in the past," Haughton said in his statement.

"To do so could cause maximum damage without any offsetting public benefit, particularly when it is so often difficult or impossible to know with any certainty whether an apparent recipient actually received the payments."

In his prepared testimony, Haughton added that "Lockheed does not defend or condone the practice of payments to foreign officials. We only say the practice exists, and that in many countries it appeared, as a matter of business judgment, necessary in order to compete against both U.S. and foreign competitors."

Haughton said any new U.S. regulations on foreign payments should be made applicable to both American and foreign companies and should be buttressed by international agreements.

Women Say Textbooks Support Chauvinism

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas feminist say it's just not right.

There aren't enough women shown doing "men's work," and there aren't any men shown doing "women's work." There are too many passive women, and too many aggressive men.

And if there is a witch, why isn't there a warlock?

The question concerns neither X-rated film, nor new state statute, nor even equal employment of both sexes.

At issue are textbooks, and the complaints of three women's groups who say the State Textbook Committee is supporting chauvinism through its choice of elementary readers.

Although the 1975 textbooks show some indications that editors and publishers are attempting to recognize and weed out sexism, numerous examples of bias exist," the Continuing Task Force on Education for Women says.

The 15-member textbook committee will vote Sept. 30 to select $3.2 million worth of books for use in Texas classrooms.

The feminists object to some proposed texts, saying they depict women only as housewives or in stereotyped roles as passive, ineffective and unattractive individuals.

They say the only adult female model included in one elementary school math book is an ugly old witch with a weight problem.

"If there is room for fat witches in the school books, there should be room for warlocks and a richer variety of serious female role models," they say.

The feminists decried publishers for what they termed a "priggish insistence on the use of the so-called 'generic he' and insensitivity to the need for unbiased depictions of males and females.

Examples of sexist material in textbooks cited by the feminists included

— gross overrepresentation of males in illustrations

— statements such as "The ladies agreed that their husbands' work was important."

— absence of any illustrations showing males in nontraditional roles or doing "women's work"

— frequent depictions of females as mothers, but rare use of material showing males as fathers

— stereotyping of women as passive, ineffectual and dependent and of males as active, aggressive and successful

— 6th grade math problems always referring to males as taller than females even though most girls are actually taller than boys at ages 12 and 13

— illustrations showing males eating and females only cooking

— absence of illustrations showing women owning or operating cars, trucks or motorcycles, or engaged in activities such as carpentry, plumbing or bricklaying

Egyptian Challenges Soviet Union

By United Press International

Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmi today challenged the Soviet Union to mediate an interim peace agreement on the Syrian Golan Heights along the model of the latest Egyptian-Israeli Sinai accord.

"We would certainly welcome a Soviet-negotiated disengagement on the Syrian or Palestinian fronts, or even on the Egyptian front for that matter if the Soviets could arrange one," Fahmi said in an interview with the Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram.

Fahmi said Egypt will call the Geneva Peace Conference into session at the end of November "to consider an over-all settlement in the Middle East, especially since Egypt is ready and the Arab stand is clear."

In the past, sessions of the Geneva Conference, which includes Egypt, Syria, Israel, the United States, and the Soviet Union, have been largely a formality.

The Soviet Union has criticized the latest interim Sinai peace pact, negotiated by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, primarily because it calls for the stationing of U.S. technicians in the buffer zone to man early warning stations.

The military command in Tel Aviv said Israeli warplanes roared over southern Lebanon Thursday to bombard a suspected Palestinian guerrilla base near the coastal town of Tyre.

A military communique in Beirut said the Israeli fighter-bombers struck against the Borgholiyyeh refugee camp near Tyre, killing two persons and wounding five others.

School Board Learns Budget May Be Healthy

By JANE P. MARSHALL
Pampa News Staff

The Pampa Independent School District board of trustees learned a couple of things Thursday evening: (1) local students would like more individual attention and (2) the school district may be able to balance the budget without borrowing money.

The trustees okayed a 4-cent a mile increase in the reimbursement rate to school employees who use their cars for school business.

The 14-cent rate was approved at the meeting in Carver Center, 321 W. Albert Dr. Dan F. Long, superintendent, had asked the trustees to set a 16-cent rate.

A preliminary budget report indicated that the district may not have to borrow any money to meet the 1975-76 budget.

First reports indicated that the budget was $400,000 in the red and the board members were forced to consider a tax hike.

The trustees, however, decided to delay a tax increase for Pampans and borrow the money needed for the budget.

The school district had $35,600 more than anticipated left at the end of the 1974-75 school year. Long also credited the sale of the junior high school for $75,001, additional money from state sources and updated cost estimates obtained from the new accounting methods.

But Long stressed that the report was only a preliminary estimate of the $5,377,683 school budget.

Long presented the results of a student opinion survey taken in April.

Local students were pleased with their school but they believe that teachers should be more interested in individual students.

Other conclusions of the survey were:

1. Students found the administration acceptable but wanted more equitable enforcement of rules.

2. Students wanted more vocational courses especially on the freshman and sophomore levels.

Long reported that he believed the school should seriously concentrate on teacher selection and retention.

Don Lane, the school's delinquent tax attorney, reported that he was "vigorously pursuing" delinquent taxes and had collected $7,000 during September.

Suits are being filed and have been filed against property owners he said.

The board authorized payment of $38,548.19 in unpaid invoices and $16,960.01 in paid vouchers.

The board agreed to allow the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International use of the Austin cafeteria.

Trustees also accepted the resignation of Bonnie Nelson, fifth grade teacher at Lamar, and appointed Kathryn Smith to replace her.

The group tabled for further discussion Workmen's Compensation Insurance and a report by architects of school facilities.

Trustees are Curt Beck, president, Bill Arrington, vice-president, Sam Anderson, secretary, Paul Simmons, Harold Comer, David Crossman and Robert Lyle.

Fireplugs Turn Patriotic

By TEX DEWESE
Pampa News Staff

Fireplugs in Pampa soon will turn into replicas of American patriots of 200 years ago as part of the city's Bicentennial observance.

That was revealed at Thursday afternoon's combined meeting of the Gray County Historical Commission and Gray County Bicentennial Committee in the White Deer Land Museum.

Erin O'Connor, representing the Truteens-Kiwanettes Club, told members of the two groups the high school girls organization is sponsoring a plan to join the nationwide "Paint a Plug for America" program and will appear at the next meeting of the City Commission to ask permission to paint Pampa's fireplugs in the images of men who signed the Declaration of Independence and fought in the Revolutionary War.

Miss O'Connor said the Truteens already had received favorable reaction to the program from Fire Chief Finace Dyer and City Manager Mack Wofford.

Downtown merchants, she stated, have contributed $500 for the packaged purchase of 15 different designs for fire hydrants in the downtown, N. Hobart and Duncan streets areas.

Contributions will be accepted to extend the program to cover fireplugs in other sections of the city.

Persons and businesses wishing to assist the Truteens in the patriotic bicentennial program are asked to contact the Truteens Club or Mrs. Fred Thompson, chairman of the Gray County Bicentennial Committee.

Larry Petty, representing the Pampa High School unit of the Distributive Education Classes of America, reported DECA is selling Bicentennial calendars to help raise funds for Pampa's bicentennial promotion.

Kay Fancher, chairman of the Festivals Committee for bicentennial year, said the official kickoff of the Pampa observance will be at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Oct. 30 in M.K. Brown Civic Auditorium with Paul Harvey, nationally-known news commentator, as the speaker.

Charles Zlomke, chairman of the chamber's Oil and Gas Museum Committee, said plans are going forward for the museum in Recreation Park to be in readiness as one of Pampa's bicentennial attractions for tourists.

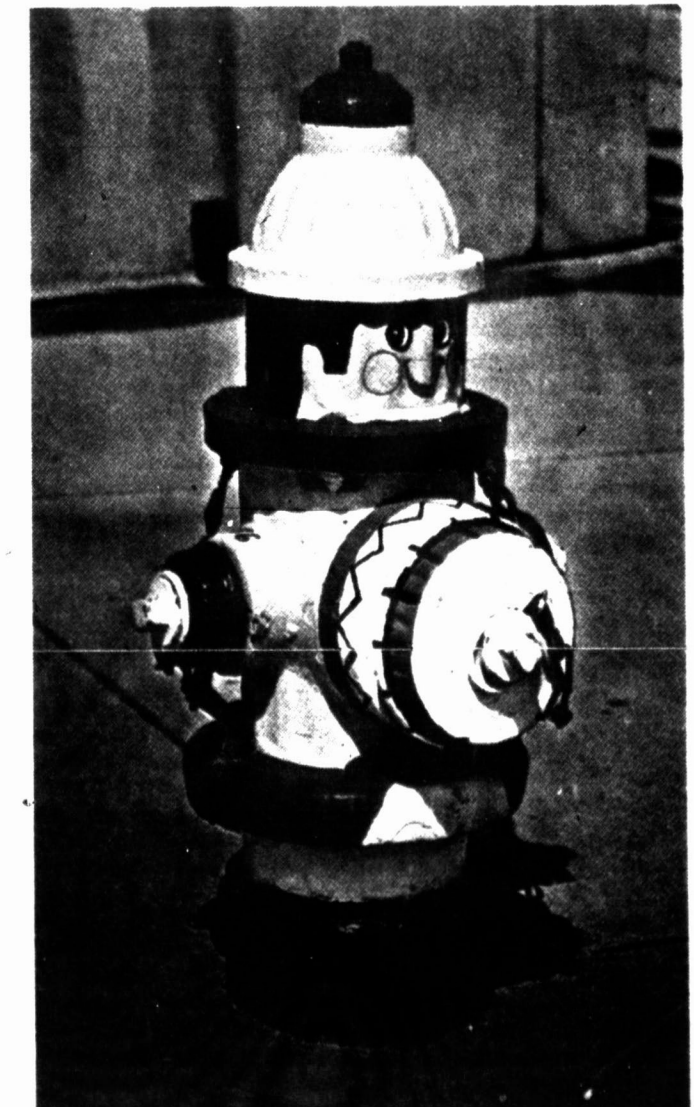

The museum will feature early day oil derricks, oilfield equipment and exhibits covering history of the Texas Panhandle oilfield.

Mrs. Thompson reported Pampa clubs and civic organizations are being asked to plan at least one bicentennial program during 1976.

Mrs. Thelma Bray announced a Quilt Fair will be sponsored Oct. 11 and 12 in Coronado Inn for the display of early day quilts with prizes of $100 and $50 going to best designs.

Peking Tie Unlikely to Hurt Trade

By EDWARD NEILAN
Copley News Service

The China tangle is still very much an issue in the upper rooms of the U.S. government.

Should President Gerald Ford go ahead with his scheduled visit to the People's Republic of China later this year?

If he goes, should he take with him the instruments of diplomatic recognition, a move that must be preceded by a break in U.S. relations with the Republic of China on Taiwan?

Those are questions on which the China debate pivots. More will be known about the particulars of the U.S. government position when Secretary of State Henry Kissinger returns from an advance trip to Peking in October.

Meanwhile, one of the leaders of this country's China trade promotion effort sees no problem whatsoever with severing formal ties with Taiwan and establishing relations with Peking.

Christopher Phillips, president of the National Council for U.S.-China Trade, was asked recently if Peking was in the habit of boycotting American firms that deal with Taiwan.

"I know of no case in which an American firm doing business with Taiwan has been denied the opportunity to do business with the PRC," Phillips said.

The head of the trade group said he felt some people had raised a "false problem," a nonexistent problem, in believing that establishment of formal diplomatic ties with Peking, accompanied by breaking formal ties with Taiwan, would affect U.S. trade with Taiwan.

"That just is not borne out by facts," Phillips said. "Japan continues to trade heavily and is heavily invested in Taiwan, even though it has established diplomatic relations with the PRC."

There are many who argue with Phillips on this point. Japan's ties can continue because the U.S. backing of Taiwan is still there. Remove the U.S. backing and what happens? Peking refuses to state categorically that it will guarantee the continued existence of Taiwan as an entity, "because Taiwan is part of China."

Will the United States and China establish full diplomatic ties before, during or after President Ford's visit to Peking?

"I would never make such wild speculation," Phillips said. "But let me suggest what I think."

"I think that we embarked on a course when we signed the Shanghai Communiqué in 1972. We said, in effect, we are moving toward a normalization of relations between the United States and the PRC. And I think we're still on that course. I think we're still committed to that end. The turning is something I would not wish to speculate upon."

Nor will any State Department officials speculate aloud on that question. They are all under tight Kissinger orders to keep mum on any China policy questions.

From a virtual standing start as the 1970s began, U.S.-China trade went from $96 million in 1972 to $935 million in 1974. The 1974 figures included sales of $820 million in American products to China, while the Chinese sold $115 million worth of goods to the United States.

This year the trade will taper off because China is buying grain elsewhere — in traditional markets like Canada, Australia and Argentina — instead of in the United States. But longer-range projections suggest that China, like the Soviet Union and just about everyone else, will need to buy grain from the American farmer when their own crops fall short.

Behind the trade ball game, of course, are the greater considerations of detente and the relationship among China, Russia and the United States.

Congressional Travel Is Broadening --- For Some

By BENJAMIN SHORE
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — Around 200 years ago the English essayist Samuel Johnson wrote: "The use of traveling is to regulate imagination by reality, and instead of thinking how things may be, to see them as they are."

As Congress returns to Washington from its August recess, much will be written about the legislators who traveled abroad at government expense. The legislators will call their traveling "fact-finding." Critics in the press and elsewhere will use the label "junket."

There clearly is a lot of unnecessary travel by members of Congress at taxpayers' expense, and junket is a properly pejorative word for it.

But there is also much valuable travel, not only because specific facts are found, but also because it gets American policy makers out of the United States and into other political, social and economic environments, even if the exposure often is brief and shallow.

With the world rapidly becoming a global community where nations are increasingly tied to each other through trade, defense and other factors such as resources dependency, Samuel Johnson's description of the value of travel seems especially appropriate.

And with members of Congress voting on issues — domestic as well as foreign — that affect international relations, getting around to see just what the rest of the world is doing and thinking would seem like a good idea.

The only problem, of course, is that not all legislators view their opportunity for free travel this way. Instead of trying to discover Johnson's "reality" and apply such knowledge to their decisions on legislative issues, too many simply seek a relaxing good time in Hong Kong, London and Paris at public expense.

According to a recent Congressional Quarterly Survey of congressional travel, the number of legislators who traveled abroad in 1974 declined sharply from the 1973 level. CQ makes no conclusions, but one might be that some politicians hesitate to travel during election years.

The survey found that 193 representatives and senators went abroad last year, compared to 259 in 1973. There are 535 members of Congress, so a lot of them never left the country, and it's too bad.

Take Rep. John McFall. This California Democrat, who has represented his predominantly rural district for over 18 years, is chairman of the Transportation Appropriations subcommittee. This means that McFall controls the purse strings for major federal transportation programs, yet he never has personally taken a look at what other nations are doing, especially in the field of mass transit.

Would it make a difference in the way McFall influences U.S. transportation spending? It is impossible to know, but seeing the efficient high-speed trains of Japan or London's Metro just might give McFall some fresh ideas for his own country.

Housing, public health, environmental controls, education — the list of challenges common to all developed nations is long.

World trade — from U.S. imports of oil and other crucial resources to exports of wheat and industrial equipment — is something that policy makers should talk to each other about.

If Congress wants to play a greater role in the making of U.S. foreign policy, then, to paraphrase Samuel Johnson, its members ought to get out of Washington occasionally to see things as they are, not just pontificate on Capitol Hill about how they would like things to be.

But so long as there are representatives and senators who abuse their travel privilege, who claim they are fact-finding when they are just having an expensive vacation on the taxpayers, it will be difficult to convince many conscientious legislators to get out and see what's happening and to talk with their foreign counterparts who are making things happen.

'Little or No Taxes,' Huh?

In self defense, in the interest of survival itself, corporations may have to start running full-page "ads" of their reports to stockholders in order to get their message across to the general public.

Corporations, "wallowing in windfall profits," pay "little or no taxes." You've heard the line, no doubt, as have most of the American people. The facts tell quite a different story. Unfortunately, the facts are not getting through to the general public. The anti-business propaganda has been repeated so often and so pervasively by enemies of the private enterprise system that most people have come to believe it. And vote-hunting demagogic politicians, vying with one another to curry favor with the misinformed voters, continue to push through business-destroying legislation.

Stockholders in the various corporations know that the propaganda is not true. Their dividend checks, or lack of same, along with stockholder reports they receive each quarter, tell them that the vicious propaganda can't be true. But the general public, lacking access to this information, has no way of separating fiction from fact, consequently, becoming easy victims of the fiction.

As an example of what we are talking about, take the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation (ITT). As it so happens, this firm has had some of the most vicious and ridiculous charges imaginable leveled at it, including the charge that it is raking in "exorbitant profits" while paying "little or no taxes."

As it also happens, we have a copy of the ITT report to its stockholders for the six months ending June 30, 1975, before us as this is being written. And, in direct refutation of the "exorbitant profits," "little or no taxes" line, this is what we find:

— During the first six months of 1975, ITT took in a total (sales and other revenue) of $5,497,129,000.

Admittedly, an enormous sum of money. But wait!

— After all its operating expenses were paid (exclusive of income taxes), ITT was left with $384,803,000. In other words, a GROSS income of nearly FIVE AND A HALF BILLION DOLLARS had dwindled to something over ONE THIRD OF A BILLION DOLLARS.

But that is not the end of the story. There is more.

— Out of that $384,803,000 left at the end of the six-month period, ITT paid $178,674,000 in INCOME TAXES.

— Leaving the corporation a NET income of $206,129,000.

— Out of which ITT paid dividends to its investor stockholders, retaining what was left for job-creating capital expansion.

This is the story the American public is NOT getting; the story IT MUST get if the most prosperous way of life the world has ever known is not to be destroyed.

Wife Chokes on Hubby's Dinner Joke

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a husband who thinks he's funny. I had a very nice dinner party at home the other night and was especially proud of the way everything turned out.

Well, when the guests were leaving, my husband said, "Come back soon because the only time I get a decent meal around here is when we have company." Everybody laughed, but I wanted to crawl into a hole.

He said that once before, and it got a big laugh, so he pulled it again.

In the first place, Abby, it's not true. I pride myself on always feeding my family very well. I told him later I didn't think that crack was very funny, but he said, "I was only kidding."

Is there a clever retort I could use in case my husband, the comic, says that again?

TICKED OFF IN TULSA

DEAR TICKED: You could say, (only kidding of course) "The only time my ever-lovin' Scrooge gives me money for fancy groceries is when we have company."

DEAR ABBY: Twelve years ago when my brother died, his death wish was that I watch over his wife and children, which I have.

Millie (his wife) never remarried due to some bad experiences with men.

She is ill now, and the doctors have given her about six months to live.

Yesterday, I stopped by to see Millie and the kids, and I mentioned a business trip I was going on.

Millie said, "Take me with you. I'm starved for a little love."

Abby, I love my wife and have never cheated on her, but I hate to turn Millie down.

What do I say to this beautiful, sensitive, love-starved woman who has now turned to me for help in the last days of her life?

TENDER CONSCIENCE

DEAR TENDER: Tell her the truth—that you'd like to take her, but you've never cheated on your wife, and your conscience won't permit it now.

DEAR ABBY: When are men going to smell like real men again?

I'm a 20-year-old single girl who's dating no one special, but all the men I date smell like happy hookers. Real nauseating.

Whatever happened to that natural masculine scent men used to have? Makes me wonder if maybe they aren't using a lot of sweet-smelling stuff to cover up the unpleasant odor that comes from not showering.

LIKES REAL MEN

DEAR LIKES: If you like the man, but don't like the way he smells, spend a couple of bucks for a scent you like better and ask him to use it—especially for you.

St. John's Journal About the Democrats And Double Standards

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — "The mood of the Senate in the light of Watergate was to write tough restrictions," asserted Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., of reformist measures over political campaign contributions. "Because of that mood some real practical considerations were overlooked."

One such consideration overlooked was the conflict of interest issue. Democrats like Cannon have made many a moralizing sermon over the "very bad, very dishonorable situation on spending that existed in the 1972 campaign."

Those are Cannon's own words when, as chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, he castigated then-Asst. Atty. Gen. Roger G. Dixon on Sept. 21, 1973, when Dixon urged caution on reforming the practice of political campaign contributions.

In general, the Democrats, with the help of the press and liberal activist groups like Common Cause, have focused their fire on Republicans and businessmen while members of their own party and organized labor have been free to collect questionable, if not illegal, contributions for the 1976 campaign.

Cannon, for example, raised between March 1 and June 30 of this year the staggering sum of $261,734.45, according to the senator's own financial statements. A quarter of a million is a huge amount of campaign cash for a small state like Nevada.

In fact, Cannon has not only amassed this amount 17 months before his 1976 reelection bid, but his list of contributors includes two of President Ford's closest advisers: David Packard who gave $500 and Clark MacGregor, $100.

Besides heading the Senate committee that spearheaded reform of campaign contributions in the wake of Watergate, Cannon is also chairman of the Aviation subcommittee of Senate Commerce and chairman of the subcommittee on Aviation of the full Senate Armed Services.

Both bodies have powerful influence over this nation's commercial aviation and defense contracts. David Packard was formerly with the Defense Department.

Cannon's own financial statements, moreover, show that he received individual campaign contributions ranging from $1,000 to $200 from the top executives of commercial airlines like Eastern and National and defense contractors Martin-Marietta and Aerojet General. We offer eight names and amounts from a list of 35:

Edward J. Daly, president, World Airways, $1,000; Robert F. Six, president, Continental Airways, $1,000; Charles Tillinghart, chairman, TWA, $300; James E. Reinke, vice president, Eastern Air Lines, $500; Arthur F. Kelley, president, Western Airlines, $500; Edward G. Uhl, president, Fairchild Industries, $1,000; George Bunker, chairman, Martin-Marietta, $1,000; and Joseph Lupper, vice president, Aerojet, $200.

The above campaign contributions are strictly legal, but they raise the very issue of conflict of interest that the Democrats decried when it came to Richard Nixon and GOP contributors from, say, the oil industry.

NIXON WIRETAP

The Washington Post reported Sept. 6, 1973, that President Nixon ordered wiretaps on his brother's telephone.

Judge Suspends Action On Striking Teachers

By United Press International
A State Supreme Court judge suspended action against the teachers union today "on the condition they go forward immediately to stop the strike" which has kept 1.1 million New York City students from their classes.

Justice Irving Saypol gave the order at an 8 a.m. court session after the United Federation of Teachers and the Board of Education failed to reach a settlement during all night negotiations.

The judge's order came after negotiators for both sides reported they were stalled by the failure of the city to release

$43 million in frozen funds. "Nobody knows what will happen," a board spokesman said as the talks recessed indefinitely at 5:30 a.m. "A lot will depend on what happens in court."

Saypol met with attorneys for both sides in his chambers for 20 minutes and then said for the record he would grant a union request to suspend the court actions until Tuesday "on the condition they go forward immediately to stop the strike."

The judge had been expected to take action against teachers union leader Albert Shanker who had been ordered to explain why he had failed to remove picket lines from schools by 2:15 p.m. Thursday in defiance of court orders.

A spokesman for the Board of Education said the board negotiating team had made two early morning calls to deputy mayor James Cavanaugh inquiring as to whether $43 million in funds frozen because of the city's austerity program could be released, but "there's no movement on the $43 million."

The New York City teachers strike was among several across the nation today affecting nearly two million school children.

There was some good news for parents. Teachers in Middletown and Woonsocket, R.I., returned to work under court injunctions to end their seven day strikes.

And negotiators for striking teachers and the Manchester regional high school board in Haledon, N.J. reached tentative agreement to end their three-day strike early today.

Negotiations to end the strike of 26,000 Chicago teachers continued under a news blackout while Mayor Richard Daley nudged both sides to get the city's public school children back in classes.

Accident With Injuries

Two persons were treated and released Thursday at Highland General Hospital as a result of a three-vehicle in the 1300 block of North Hobart. Virginia Hill of 621 Gray and Frank Gallant of 613 W. Browning were injured. The accident occurred when a vehicle traveling south turned. As the two vehicles collided another was struck. Investigating the accident was Patrolman Charles Love of the Pampa Police Department. (Pampa News photo)

High Court Enters Lo-Vaca Dispute

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The Texas Supreme Court has agreed to step into a jurisdictional dispute involving damage suits totaling more than $700 million against Lo-Vaca Gathering Co.

Arguments in the case were set for 9 a.m. Wednesday.

Two utility companies and two cities which have suits pending against Lo-Vaca because of alleged breaches of contract for natural gas delivery asked the supreme court to determine which lawsuit will be tried first.

The court met Thursday afternoon with attorneys in the case, and ordered no further legal proceedings in any of the lawsuits against Lo-Vaca until after next week's hearing to determine which suit will be tried first.

Suits against the gas company are pending in Houston, San Antonio and Corpus Christi.

Acting Judge Robert W. Hamilton of Houston, a former state supreme court justice, had issued a restraining order preventing trial of suits against Lo-Vaca and Coastal States Gas Producing Co. in San Antonio and Corpus Christi until completion of the trial and appeal of a case filed against Lo-Vaca in his court by United Texas Transmission Co.

Lo-Vaca planned to go to court Friday asking Hamilton to make the restraining order permanent.

But Judges Peter Michael Curry of an Antonio and Norman Utter and Joe Wade of Corpus Christi all issued restraining orders preventing Lo-Vaca from seeking any further restraints against litigation in their courts.

The cities of San Antonio and Corpus Christi, Central Power and Light Co., the Lower Colorado River Authority and Lo-Vaca all filed motions asking the court to resolve the dispute in their favor.

The LCRA has already won a $26 million judgement against Lo-Vaca in a trial in Bryan. CP&L is seeking the largest amount of damages, $625 million.

Lo-Vaca said in its petition filed with the court there are presently six suits asking $916 million in damages pending against the firm.

Industry Wants Firms To Cover Bankruptcies

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Industry officials want Texas companies to be assessed $5 to $6 million in premium refunds that they would otherwise get if the company is allowed to stay in business, Hawkins said. "But so far we do not have any viable proposal in front of us."

Hawkins' three-hour-long, closed-door meeting with an industry advisory group produced little more than a recommendation that the commissioner order other Texas insurance companies to assume liability — as required by law — for unpaid claims on Mobile's insurance policies.

Lawyers for the two companies suggested solvent companies put up $4 million to cover liabilities and allow a Phoenix, Ariz., insurance company to assume outstanding policies.

Most Mobile's business is in mobile home insurance, high risk auto insurance, and specialized liability coverages such as policies on motorcycles.

Mobile and McInnvale & Associates General Agency Inc. of Dallas were hurt by heavy hail damage to homes along the Gulf Coast and in Austin earlier this year.

Testimony at the Aug. 29 hearing where a district judge ordered the Dallas firms placed in state receivership indicated the agency is $10-12 million in the red and the companies insolvent by $10 million.

Insurance board officials estimate the firms have more than $2 million in unpaid claims outstanding.

Legislators Accuse Gov Of Ignoring Minority

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Three state representatives have asked a U.S. district judge to add them as defendants in a suit attempting to exempt Texas from the punitive parts of the Voting Rights Act.

Reps. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, Ben Reyes, D-Houston, and Paul Ragsdale, D-Dallas, Thursday said Texas should be cited under the punitive parts of the law because three top state officials were trying to ignore minority groups.

"The secretary of state, the governor and the attorney general are spending our tax dollars in expensive litigation that will gain nothing for Texas and runs the risk of costing us dearly," Barrientos said.

"They contend that lunatics should not be counted because they are ineligible to vote. The lunacy of their actions ought to demonstrate, to their fellow Texans if not the court, that lunatics not only get away with voting in Texas, they often end up in extremely high office."

Energy Bill Struck

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It raced through the House, but a compromise extension of oil price controls bogged down in the Senate — and even a phone call to President Ford proved futile.

The Senate quit for the weekend at 8:40 p.m. Thursday, with no agreement on the compromise.

Minutes earlier, assistant Senate Republican leader Robert Griffin of Michigan announced he had reached Ford during a political swing through New Hampshire and told him of the Democrats' latest offer.

That was for oil price controls to be extended, but on condition the President not send Congress a decontrol plan until November.

Griffin said Ford agreed that if the Senate would pass the House's extension Ford would not send a decontrol plan until Oct. 20.

The suit attempts to block publication of figures which would put Texas under the punitive sections of the voting act. The act applies to Texas if fewer than 50 per cent of the voting age population did not register or vote in 1972 elections.

Police Report Thefts Here

A missing $2,000 welding machine owned by B.B. Mechanics was recovered Thursday a few hours after it was reported missing from a construction site here.

Police Chief Richard Mills said today that officers do not know whether it was stolen or taken from the site.

Other theft reports Thursday night included a pistol and two incidents of missing lumber.

Ramey Construction of Amarillo said someone took $50 in lumber from a site here two months ago. Tasco Masonry reported $180 in lumber missing from a construction site over Labor Day.

A local resident said someone took a .22 caliber automatic pistol from her residence.

Hints from Heloise

Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I suppose like those of us who have become "twice 21" in age, that when you don't have those reading glasses handy, small type, as in the newspaper or telephone directory, is simply impossible to read. But there's a way:

Make a small hole in a credit or calling card, paper or foil with a coarse pin, regular paper clip, fine lead pencil point, or similar object (but not over one-sixteenth inch across). Then hold the card as close to your best eye as possible — almost against the eyelash — and put your newspaper, etc., in a good bright light, about two feet from a 60-watt or stronger bulb, you will be able to read almost as well as with your own glasses.

Believe it or not, this emergency-trick has helped some of my patients, who can't see at a distance without their glasses, to get home when they had lost their prescription lenses, because the idea works as well for distance as it does for near, but only in bright light, like full sunlight or strong indoor lighting.

A. D. Kleyhauer
M.A., O.D.

True. It's amazing, really!
Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I work in the hosiery department of a large department store and have found a good way to loosen up the elastic in the band of the nylon kneehighs we all wear under our slacks.

First, wash the kneehighs and, while they are wet, slip the elastic top over a quart jar, and let them dry.

This should stretch them just enough for them to fit comfortably around your legs.

Joyce Corby

LETTER OF LAUGHTER?

Dear Heloise:
One day while I was ready to prepare a meal, I noticed I was out of the spray-on type-vegetable coating.

Remembering what my mother used to use to coat pans, I took some wax paper and a small amount of margarine and coated the surface.

It worked perfectly, giving the same effect as the spray-on type did.

Patti Hanson

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

By FRED KARPIN

It has been pointed out on numerous occasions in this column that, of the 13 tricks in the game, the most important one is trick one. Further confirmation of this point can be observed in today's deal, which was played in a team- of- four match.

At both the original table, and on the replay, the bidding was identical. The bidding at both tables is presented below.

I had to laugh, but your hint is great, honey. Thanks.

Dear Heloise:
Here is a way to save on paper towels.

Take several sheets of newspaper, cut into eighths, and roll or stack loosely and put into a glass or vase. Set this on the counter by the towel holder. Everytime you reach for a towel — at least for a week — stop to consider "Would newspaper do the job just as well?" After a week, you can stop making a "decision" each time. It will be automatic.

You will be using "free" newspapers and let's face it — free is better than cheap. The more we can recycle, the better.
Lois

Dear Heloise:
I have a neat idea for all dieters.

I save those little boxes cereal comes in and use them to measure bulk cereal before putting it into my bowl, as it says on the box just how many ounces it holds.

This way, there is no guessing as to how many calories I'm eating.
Connie Karg

Dear Heloise:
Tired of getting your fingers sliced in the hand food grater?

Put your rubber glove on. (Use a clean old one.) It won't slice the glove and so your fingers are protected.
Joanne

Dear Heloise:
I want to tell you my philosophy for getting my cleaning done.

When you start to clean a room, never leave it. Don't go down the hall to put things in the kitchen, or bathroom because you will get side-tracked.

Make piles at the door for the kitchen, bathroom, bedroom, etc. When the room is clean, then take the things to each room and start over.

If you have an upstairs, do the same and you won't be running up and down the stairs constantly.

Smoking Asphyxiating Fetuses

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Two Johns Hopkins Hospital researchers say they have evidence that pregnant women who smoke may be partially asphyxiating their fetuses.

Based on more than a year of experimentation with sheep, Drs. Gail Gurtner and Barry Burns say that harmful carbon monoxide from cigarette smoking can displace oxygen moving from the mother's bloodstream, through the placenta, and into the fetus.

Dr. Gurtner said the research shows that the placenta contains molecules, similar to blood hemoglobin, that speed movement of oxygen from mother to fetus. Gurtner said described the process as similar to a "bucket brigade."

Formerly doctors thought the oxygen was transferred by a simple process of diffusion.

Gurtner said his and Burns' research shows that the bucket brigade molecules, given a choice, will carry carbon monoxide instead on oxygen.

Since smoking increases carbon monoxide in the bloodstream, Gurtner said women who smoke may hinder nature's oxygen transport system with carbon monoxide, instead of oxygen, going to the unborn child.

Oxygen is critical to growing fetuses, Gurtner said, because it is needed to manufacture new tissue.

Even though his work was done on sheep, Gurtner said the oxygen carrying molecule is also abundant in the human placenta and apparently performs the same function.

Mrs. Freeman Las Pampas Guest Speaker

Mrs. Carlton Freeman, a member of the Pampa Garden Club, presented the program on creative flower arranging at the first fall meeting of Las Pampas Garden Club. Hostess was Mrs. Irene Cole.

New programs for the year were presented by Alice Raymond.

Mrs. Freeman encouraged trying simple arrangements with three to five flowers instead of an armload. "Flowers should be cut four to 12 hours before using and will hold freshness best if kept out of drafts and sunshine," stated Mrs. Freeman.

Many materials were used to secure flowers in the container. Among them were oasis, different size needlepoint frogs and parafin.

Three new members introduced were Mrs. Sue Drinovskiy, Joy Hampton and Carolyn Maxey.

Members present were Buena Adcock, Robin Gantz, Bonnie Chambliss, Irene Cole, Jean Comer, Joyzelle McIntire, Mary Ann Boehmisch, Helen Sharp, Kay Harvey, Lynn Tanner and Alice Raymond.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Gray, Fort Cobb, Okla.; Charlie Gray, Pampa; Johnnie Gray, Clovis, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Mace Jones, Borger; and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gossett, Kellerville.

At Wit's End

By ERMA BOMBECK

As if I wasn't have enough on my mind, my daughter told me the other day my ozone was in trouble.

As a college graduate, I knew right away either (a) the antifreeze had leaked out of my car (b) my sinus cavity was ready to crest (c) someone had flicked their Bic near all the papers stored in the basement.

But I wasn't sure. She is always laying new phrases on me and then becoming super critical because she thinks I don't keep up on what's going on in the world.

"Tell me," I said. "If your ozone was in trouble, what would you do about it?"

"My ozone IS in trouble," she said. "And I am going to do something about it. I'm not going to use anymore aerosol cans and you shouldn't either."

Of course. She was talking about aerosol cans that eventually are going to take over the world. Those little devils have been playing havoc with people for years.

"I know what you mean," I said. "The other morning I mistook a can of hair spray for the deodorant and pffft... right in the old... ozone?"

"I know," she nodded to my relief. "Do you have any idea what that little pffft meant?"

It meant that even when I quit, my underarms went on and on and on... you know like you've just flown from Denver to Chicago without a plane."

She winced. "I meant a deeper implication than that, Mother. Are you aware that the House Commerce Committee is drafting a bill that will include a ban of spray cans using fluorocarbons?"

"I wouldn't have gone so far as to take it to Congress," I said.

"Mother! Surely, you've seen firsthand how the fluorocarbons in pressurized cans can harm the atmospheric layer which screens the sun's radiation."

"Of course," I nodded. "Not to mention what happens when you mistakenly spray tub and tile cleaner on your hair. I mean, who wants hair that foams and deodorizes?"

"I can't believe it," she smiled. "Do you realize, Mother, this is the first 'meaningful conversation' we've been able to carry on in years."

I passed the bathroom and gave my underarms a spritz with air freshener. These may just be the only two ozones I'll ever get, and I plan to take care of them.

US Tour Becomes Reality Before Blindness Spreads

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Cindy Waite, going blind at the age of 12, gazed almost impassively from the upper deck of the Mississippi river steamer President at the receding skyline of New Orleans.

"I can't believe I'm on the Mississippi river," the girl from Bournemouth, England said. "The boat is moving. It hardly feels like we're moving."

Cindy, her mother and sister were on a 17-day whirlwind tour of the United States — to see sights she has dreamed about before a spreading cataract robs her of the weakened sight remaining in her right eye.

The damage, a congenital defect resulting from her mother's bout with German measles during pregnancy, already has cost Cindy her left eye. The lense over her right eye is as strong as can be made.

A bit weary from her introduction to the United States through the hectic pace and attention in New York, she nursed a scratchy throat and sniffles and talked about the oppressive hot, damp climate of New Orleans.

Then her mother asked, "Do you feel alright to go hear some jazz tonight?"

"Oh, yes," she said, beaming. But most of the time Cindy was quiet. She is slightly autistic, her mother said, as a result of continuing battles with birth defects that forced her to undergo major surgery for a hole in the heart at the age of nine.

"There were times when we took her to the hospital with the sirens wailing," said Mrs. Anne Waite, 42. "And the doctors would tell us, 'We'll talk about the future if she makes it through the night.'"

Dressed in a white skirt printed with alchemists' symbols and an orange T-shirt printed with a green, guitar-playing frog, Cindy sat through the conversation impassively. She has heard it so many times before.

"From the beginning, I never held anything back," Mrs. Waite said. "I told the eye specialists and everyone not to talk behind her back. I think it has helped her accept it."

"When the eye specialist said she was going blind, she said, 'Oh, well I'll get a seeing eye dog.'"

Hardly away from the wharf at the foot of Canal street, a woman in white pants and blouse came up to Mrs. Waite and said, "Hi, I'm Louise. Anything you want to eat or drink you just let me know and we'll take care of it."

Louise became upset when she found out the Waite had tickets for the 2 1/2-hour cruise. She took the tickets and returned a short time later with the cash equivalent.

"I can't believe it," Mrs. Waite said. "This has been happening everywhere. We couldn't spend any money in New York either."

Mrs. Waite and her daughter Dawn worked up to 17 hours a day and seven days a week since February, when they learned Cindy would go blind, to earn the money for her dream trip to the United States. They worked in the mornings as housekeepers and chambermaids, in the afternoons as dishwashers and in the evenings at a pub.

Dawn gave up college to help earn money for the trip.

And Cindy, an avid music fan, gave up her symphonic concerts for six months.

Louise came back with popcorn, soft drinks and beer.

"You know, I saw you on television last night, I really

For crusty biscuits, roll thinner, cut smaller and place far apart on baking sheets. For flaky biscuits, roll the dough thicker, cut biscuits larger and place close together on baking sheet.

The single most important item to remember when making muffins is to stir — not beat — the batter. The ingredients should be moist, and still lumpy. Muffin tins should be filled no more than two-thirds full, to allow for expansion.

Biscuits cut very small and sprinkled with cinnamon-sugar before baking are great for snacking.

Ceremony Set For First Woman Saint

NEW YORK (UPI) — Betty Seton was the belle of George Washington's first birthday ball and married the most eligible bachelor in New York. Sunday, she becomes America's first native-born Roman Catholic saint.

Pope Paul VI himself will make the pronouncement, in Latin, in St. Peter's Square in Rome. "We declare and define Blessed Elizabeth Ann Seton as a saint."

Some 15,000 persons have been invited to attend the canonization of Mother Seton, the final act of a process that began 93 years ago in Baltimore.

The canonization has particular import for the sisters at St. Joseph's Hospital in Yonkers, N.Y., one of the institutions operated by the order. It was there, in 1963, that one of the miraculous cures attributed to Mother Seton's intercession occurred.

A Swedish-born Lutheran, Carl Kalin, recovered from fulminating meningo-encephalitis which had been regarded as terminal. He will be in Rome for the canonization. So will Mrs. Ann O'Neill Hooe, a Baltimore housewife whose recovery in 1952 at age 4 from leukemia was attributed to prayers to Mother Seton.

Sister Irene Fugazy said the ceremony will set an extraordinary precedent. For the first time, the "advocate," who formally asks the pontiff to designate a saint, will be a woman.

But then, Betty Seton herself was an extraordinary woman. She was born in 1774 to affluence, the daughter of Dr. Richard Bayley, New York City's first health officer and teacher of anatomy at Kings College, now Columbia University.

Bayley made sure she was well educated, at a time when women's education was neglected.

At 19, she married Will Seton, scion of one of the city's most prominent importing and shipping families. They lived next door to the Alexander Hamiltons, called George Washington a friend, had five children and were active in the city's social whirl.

Her husband was a manager of the 1797 commemoration ball on President Washington's birthday, and Betty was the belle.

Then her father died tending yellow fever victims. Will went bankrupt and contracted tuberculosis. They went to Italy where he died within a month.

She stayed several months with friends, a devout Italian family. They introduced her to Roman Catholicism.

She became a convert in 1805, a year after her penniless return to New York. She tried to start a school in New York but failed when friends withdrew their children because of her religious beliefs.

But she succeeded in Baltimore, where she was invited to set up a girls school in 1808. A year later, after receiving her vows, she founded a log cabin school in nearby Emmitsburg, Md. — the first parochial school in this country.

"She died at 47 in 1821 having really lived every role a woman could live in this world," Sister Irene said. "She was a famous successful debutante, a wife, a mother, a widow, a convert, founder of a religious congregation and a great, eminent educator."

PROTEST LODGED IN DIAAPOLIS (UPI) — Dr. Kenneth L. Teegarden, general minister and president of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) has written President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines protesting that government's refusal to allow a Filipino attorney to attend a conference being sponsored by the Church on Asian-American relations.

Our fears seem as big and as terrible as this alligator sometimes, don't they? Fear about this thing and that can paralyze us and prevent us from doing our daily work.

Many of our fears are real. A great many of our fears, however, are unfounded — a result of thinking and worrying about ourselves. Sir John Denham phrased it this way:

"My fears are causeless and ungrounded, Fantastic dreams and melancholy fumes."

There is only one thing that will dispel fear of this type. We must do something to get out of ourselves. That means loving and helping others.

The Bible puts it so well in I John 4:18. "There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear; because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love."

The Church is God's Agency designed to help you. We invite you to attend this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Dumas Healthy, PHS Hurt for 2nd Tilt

By PAUL SIMS
Sports Editor

Dumas football coach Bill Spann can say something truthfully that John Welborn, Pampa's mentor, can't. And Spann says it: "We've got nobody hurt."

Dumas lost 20-0 to Amarillo Palo Duro last week but came out of the game without an injury and that could be a big advantage when the Demons host a crippled Pampa team at 7:30 p.m. today in both schools' second game of the season.

Pampa banged up Hereford on the scoreboard 20-7 and in statistics, outgaining the visiting Herd in total yards 30-8-227 but the Harvesters were the victims of a banging also. Halfback David Caldwell, defensive end Kelly Baker and defensive back Dave Edwards were injured and are listed by Welborn as "doubtful" starters for the Dumas contest.

Caldwell was jabbed in the back by a helmet as he scored on a two-point conversion run and suffered badly-bruised muscles. The junior halfback likely will be replaced by either junior Levi Bailey (5-10, 150) or senior Mike Glover (6-0, 190), who rejoined the team after a brief absence for personal reasons.

Baker, who blocked a punt which resulted in a touchdown, was in on numerous tackles and for his defensive efforts was named Co-Harvester of the Week Thursday, suffered a bruised foot. "He had the top of his arch stepped on," Welborn said.

"I don't look for him to play."

Instead, senior Russell Thornburg (5-8, 155) probably will get the starting nod. Edwards sustained a sprained ankle in the pre-game warmup and Welborn considers him "very questionable" as a starter for today's game. Chances are, senior Paul Sloan (5-8, 140) will move from his offensive slotback spot to the safety position, while senior Gary Steel (6-0, 160) will get the nod at Sloan's usual position.

The remainder of Pampa's starters will be the same. Garland McPherson (senior, 5-10, 160), was a pleasant surprise at quarterback for Welborn last week. McPherson rushed 17 times for 67 yards and one touchdown and completed five of nine passes for 104 yards.

Halfback Ricky Moore (junior, 6-1, 190) was Pampa's leading ball carrier with 21 carries for 112 yards and a touchdown.

End Jerry Rhoades (5-10, 150, senior) was Pampa's leading pass catcher with two receptions for 88 yards. His 34-yard average ranks first among District 3-AAAA players.

The other end is Mike Hunnicutt (senior, 5-8, 140), who managed one catch for nine yards against the Herd.

Offensive line starters tonight will be tackles Jim Crocker (senior, 5-11, 180) and Ben Wilson (junior, 5-11, 220), guards Tom Doggett (senior, 5-11, 185) and Joe Coats (senior, 6-1, 185) and center David Skoog (senior, 5-10, 205).

Doggett graded 96 out of a possible 100 according to Pampa coaches and was named Offensive Harvester of the Week for his efforts against Hereford.

Defensive starters will include Thornburg and Mark Adair (senior, 5-10, 170) at ends, Pat Bailey (junior, 6-0, 170) at noseguard and Dub Taylor (senior, 6-0, 205) and Bruce Ferris (senior, 6-0, 265) at tackles.

Linebackers will be Frankie Lemons (senior, 6-2, 210) and Frank Stowers (junior, 5-10, 180). John Agan (senior, 5-10, 165) and Sloan will start at safeties, while Tony Stafford (senior, 6-1, 160) and Phillip Seely (senior, 5-9, 155) will fill the cornerback positions.

Agan intercepted a pass and knocked away two others in the season opener. Stowers, Ferris, Bailey and Taylor were in on several tackles, spearheading Pampa's defense which limited Hereford to just 101 yards on the ground.

Spann was overly impressed with Pampa's defense, which held 10 opponents to a total of 51 points a year ago.

"We hope we're able to move the ball," Spann said. "Pampa's defense looked very impressive. I was real impressed with the overall balance. Spann probably was more impressed with Pampa than his own Dumas team, which he said "played about 20 points shy."

He added, "We felt like our offense did an adequate job but we were disappointed in the defense."

"We're adequate with our backs. We feel like they need more experience — we feel like they'll get better as the year goes by. We need them to get better quickly."

Dumas' backfield consists of quarterback Randy Strickland (senior, 5-9, 145), fullback Scotty Green (junior, 5-10, 185) and halfbacks Curtis McCandless (senior, 5-8, 165) and Race Copeland (senior, 6-2, 180).

Other offensive starters tonight should be split ends (to alternate) Danny McCandless (junior, 5-8, 145) and Ricky Bynum (junior, 5-8, 145), tight end Logan Harmon (junior, 6-2, 196) and an outstanding athlete, says Spann; tackles Mark Sisson (junior, 5-11, 195) and Robert Warren (senior, 6-0, 200), guards Coy Lovvorn (senior, 5-11, 177) and James Gilman (junior, 5-10, 180) and center Jack Sheehan (senior, 5-9, 155).

Defensive starters likely will be ends Jeff Jones (senior, 6-0, 165) and Harmon, tackles Gilman and Sisson, noseguard Sheehan, linebackers Lovvorn and Copeland, cornerbacks Mark Graves (senior, 5-8, 155) and Curtis McCandless and safeties Green and Danny McCandless.

Despite the 20-point shutout against Palo Duro, Welborn says winning at Dumas will be a tough task.

"They're considerably better than last year (when Pampa won 10-19-0). They are a real good offensive ball club — good runners, good pass receivers."

"They play real good defense against PD in spots. PD's got a good offensive ball club — they're big and physical and the ran right at them."

Will Pampa, like the Dons, try to control the line of scrimmage? "If we can, I don't know if we're that physical or not," Welborn said.

Phillies Just 5 Games Out

United Press International
Thanks to a 21-year old right-hander, Larry Christenson, the Philadelphia Phillies are not yet the "was kids" of 1975.

Once the young 75 Phillies began to challenge the Pittsburgh Pirates for National League East pennant, comparisons of the last Philadelphia pennant club—the 1950 "whiz kids" of Robin Roberts, Richie Ashburn, Granny Hamner et al —readily came to mind. And although the Pirates have now rebuilt a formidable lead, Christenson, has been one of the few rays of hope on an otherwise disappointing pitching staff.

Thursday night, Christenson threw a rain-abbreviated 6½-inning 5-0 shutout over the Montreal Expos that, combined with the Pirates' loss, moved the Phillies to within five games of first place in the NL East. The three-hitter upped Christenson's record to 10-5 in his first full major league season.

"He's got the same type of delivery as Roberts did," said Phillies Manager Danny Ozark.

"Hard and fast. He's certainly been a big help to us."

The Phillies scored three runs in the first inning off loser Steve Rogers and Mike Schmidt added his 34th homer in the fourth, a solo shot.

"We have five games left with the Pirates," said Larry Bowa, who scored three of the Phillies' runs. "We just have to keep winning against everyone though."

The Phillies have now won four straight games—their longest streak since mid-July. Elsewhere in the National League, New York stopped Pittsburgh 7-0. Houston edged San Francisco 4-3, Chicago buried St. Louis 12-6, San Diego edged Atlanta 4-3 and Los Angeles downed Cincinnati 5-2.

In the American League, New York routed Milwaukee 10-2. Boston beat Detroit 3-1 and Baltimore put away Cleveland 10-2 in the only games scheduled.

Mets 7, Pirates 0
Jerry Koosman fired a six-hit shutout and Dave Kingman equalled Frank Thomas' Mets club record of 34 homers as the Pirates' NL East lead was sliced to five.

Kingman kept pace with the Phil's Schmidt in the NL homer race when he poked a solo shot in the fifth inning. Thomas' record was set in the Mets' 1962 inception year. Rookie Mike Vail extended his hitting streak to 19 games, tying teammate Felix Millan for the top mark in the league this season.

Cubs 12, Cardinals 6
NL East spoiler Chicago all but killed what pennant hopes St. Louis still had by scoring six runs in the first inning and banging out 16 hits against eight pitchers. Jim Tyrone, Manny Trillo, Dave Rosello and pitcher Rick Reuschel drove home two runs apiece for the Cubs, who have won eight of their last 11 games—all against NL East contenders.

Dodgers 5, Reds 2
Steve Garvey drove home three runs with a single and his 15th home run, while Rick Rhoden pitched his first major league complete game, enabling Los Angeles to finish 10-8 in their season series with NL West champion Cincinnati.

Rhoden (2-2) scattered seven hits, including a solo homer by Pete Rose, his seventh.

Padres 4, Braves 3
A wild throw by Atlanta pitcher Tom House allowed Dave Roberts to race home from second base with San Diego's winning run in the ninth inning. Roberts, who reached second on a pair of errors by shortstop Larvell Blanks, scored when House threw wildly to first on Bob Davis' infield grounder.

Borger Blanks Pampa In Junior High Opener

Borger blanked Pampa's eighth-grade Red team 24-0 Thursday at Pampa Junior High as area junior high football action opened.

In a controlled scrimmage at Shocker Field, the Pampa eighth-grade Blue team outscored the freshman B-team two touchdowns to none. Quarterback Greg Quarles and halfback Doug Smith were outstanding for the Blue team, according to Dickie Crockett, junior high head coach.

Crockett also cited halfback Doug Kennedy of the eighth Red. "He's gonna be a good back," Crockett said. Pampa's freshman varsity will open at Hereford LaPlata at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Passers To Cut Cards

By United Press International
Down in Houston, they'll be cutting cards to decide the starting quarterback for Rice's opener with the University of Houston Saturday, while in the Midwest, the Badgers of Wisconsin are gearing up for hopefully their first cut of the Big Ten Conference spoils since 1962.

Tommy Kramer and Claude Reed battled evenly throughout spring and fall practice for the starting quarterback job at Rice with neither achieving a clear-cut edge. And when Rice coach Al Conover put the situation to a vote of the Rice players, it still came out a tie.

"It was one of them that suggested that they cut the cards for the starting assignment," said Conover, who has been known to bash blackboards, throw chairs and set off fireworks to excite Rice his ball clubs in years past.

The official card cut will take place just prior to the 7:30 p.m. kickoff in the Astrodome, but regardless of who wins it — Kramer or Reed — the oddsmakers are not all that impressed with Conover's latest stunt. They tab Houston a 10-point favorite in the annual intra-city rivalry.

Not so, the situation at Madison, Wis. where Michigan is only a one-point favorite over Wisconsin. After 13 years of also-ran status, Badger patrons are enthusiastic this year and that enthusiasm could take on a touch of reality with a victory over the co-Big Ten favorite Wolverines.

"This is the toughest opener we've faced in my seven years at Michigan," said Wolverine coach Bo Schembechler. "Wisconsin might well have the best offensive team in the conference and by the end of last season their defense wasn't too bad either. By now it's probably improved."

Indeed, the Badgers are loaded on offense. In Billy Marek, they boast perhaps the most explosive running back in the country. A compactly-built 5-8, 188-pounder, Marek gained 1,215 yards as a junior last season despite missing three games. In the final four 1974 Badger games, he tallied 15 touchdowns. Unfortunately, the presence of Archie Griffin in the same conference has overshadowed Marek.

Elsewhere: top-rated Oklahoma is a heavily-favored against Oregon; Ohio State is a 6½-point favorite to avenge last year's upset loss to Michigan State; Nebraska is 14 over LSU in what shapes up as another chance for the Big Eight to dent the Southeastern Conference's pride; Penn State is 7 over Stanford, Tennessee 4 over Maryland, UCLA 6 over Iowa State and Auburn off the board at home against Memphis State.

Tonight, Southern California is a 19½-point favorite over Duke, while in the Monday night TV game, Notre Dame is a touchdown choice in its rivalry renewal with Boston College.

Dallas Closes With Steelers

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Steelers leave today for Dallas where they meet the Cowboys at Texas Stadium Saturday night in their final pre-season exhibition game.

The squad will hold a brief workout in Texas. Wide receiver Lynn Swann, hampered by a muscle pull, was ruled questionable for the game. A Steeler spokesman said Swann likely would be sidelined along with middle linebacker Jack Lambert, nursing an ankle sprain.

Pittsburgh is 3-3 in pre-season and Dallas is 1-4.

Elder Leads World Open Golf

PINEHURST, N. C. (UPI) — Lee Elder, ballyhooed earlier this year as the first black to play in the Masters, says now that his life is returning to normal he has more time to work on his golf game.

His efforts paid off Thursday as he shot a 6-under-par 65 over the treacherous Pinehurst Country Club No. 2 course to take a two-stroke lead into today's second round of the World Open golf tournament.

He turned over his business activities to his wife recently and decided to make a concerted effort to return to the form which earned him a victory in the 1974 Monsanto Open.

"I have my confidence now and I'm happy with the way I am playing," said the 41-year-old tour veteran. "You can't tell after just the first round. The pressure begins to mount in the third round."

Canadian Open champion Tom Weiskopf led a group of four golfers tied for second place at 4-under-par 67 after the first round of the $200,000 tournament. Others were veteran Rod Funseth and youngsters Pat Fitzsimons and Danny Edwards.

"It's a fun course to play," said Weiskopf, who combined five birdies with a bogey. "It's a classic. It requires everything in the game."

FBI Finds Shotgun In Hoffa Case Car

DETROIT (UPI) — The federal government, engaged in two legal battles over a car it said it suspects was used in the abduction of James Hoffa, said Wednesday FBI agents found a 12-gauge shotgun in the trunk of the vehicle.

The car was owned by Joseph Giacalone, 22-year-old son of reputed Detroit Mafia don Anthony "Tony Jack" Giacalone.

Earlier, federal investigators said special tracking dogs traced Hoffa's scent to the car's back seat and trunk.

"In the event that Mr. Hoffa's body is recovered and found to contain shotgun pellets," government lawyers said Wednesday in a federal court appeal, the car and the weapon would be vital to the case.

The car was borrowed from the younger Giacalone and was seen in the same area at the time Hoffa vanished from outside a suburban Detroit restaurant.

The 62-year old former boss of the Teamsters International union told his family he was going to the restaurant to meet Anthony Giacalone.

Hoffa's self-described foster son, Charles "Chuckie" O'Brien, admitted he was driving the car in the area at the time but said it was a coincidence.

The legal skirmishing over the car began after FBI agents seized it Aug. 9 for scientific testing.

Giacalone sued for its return. District Judge Robert DeMascio ruled last week the FBI had failed to prove conclusively its suspicion that the car was involved in the Hoffa case and ordered the auto returned.

The government appealed.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

SATURDAY, SEPT. 13
Your birthday today: Brings in a productive year of sustained, diversified growth. Make full use of all available opportunity; pay accounts as you go, stockpiling reserves wherever possible. Reevaluate possessions, and save or sell them accordingly. Relationships may not increase in number but become very significant. Today's natives express themselves best in poetic form but usually have to work at mundane jobs.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Business matters run into obstacles. Be alert to spot new developments. If you must have something done, call on old friends whose methods you know well.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: You're short of patience, but don't show it so plainly. Skip legal moves and formal declarations awaiting further news. A little thought leads to a better way; experiments are in order.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Instead of extremes, try a conservative approach. Hold off on important action; you aren't quite ready. Study the situation, talking about other things while you listen for evidence.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: You've set yourself up for a spell of dissension, difficult questions and criticism. Learn from the experience and train yourself for a better future. Be amiable but persistent.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22] Mind the fine points, ask for adjustments with courage or humility. Friends are easily gathered into helpful groups. Be available for introductions, and ready to present your ideas.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Moderation in all things is a prime way of life. Forgive those who break promises or don't measure up. Don't guarantee or sign up for any extras.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Anxiety, and the intensity of your concern makes associates and relatives disagree. You can't stay uncommitted indefinitely. Select a point of view and pursue it earnestly.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: It is time for systematic maneuvering. Analyze the competition, look up information you've neglected, including details of prior enterprises. Real action comes later.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Bypass people seeking loans or favors even if you're able to grant them. What you let go of now is not likely to return. Prepare for coming changes hopefully.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Nearby comment shouldn't be accepted as final evaluation. Proceed with what you know is right, get enough done so that the balance tips your way. Loved ones need a word of encouragement.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Your philosophy creates much of today's situation. Choose companions and confidants with care. Be wary of explaining details. Impulse spending brings poor results.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: It's difficult to curtail your extravagance or to protect savings from someone who senses your emotional weak spot. Concentrate on self or home-improvements.

PRICE PAR
NEW YORK (UPI) — Ships "Made in Japan" are no longer launched with bargain basement price tags, reports The Compass, a publication of MOAC, America's leading marine insurance underwriter.

"In the past, Japanese ships were being offered at 10 percent or more below prices quoted by European shippers," The Compass notes. This provided a major savings on an oil tanker which might cost $20 million to $30 million and helps to explain the past popularity of Japan's ship exports.

But the costs of marine equipment and materials have gone up 30 to 40 percent in Japan in the last two years. Japanese industry officials now admit that the rising prices have put Japanese and European ships on a price par.

FUEL SAVING
STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI) — Keeping filters clean and having the central air-conditioning unit serviced every year will cut fuel bills and keep the unit working efficiently.

The Oklahoma State University home extension service also recommends installing an attic vent fan to remove some of the heat in attics. Temperatures in attics can reach 140-160 degrees on a hot day.

INVITATION
NEW YORK (UPI) — The Stratford, Ont., Festival has been invited to stage its two most successful 1975 productions, "Measure for Measure" and "Twelfth Night," at the Brooklyn Academy of Music after the Stratford season ends in October.

Votes Salary Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Civil Service Committee today voted to reject President Ford's recommended 5 per cent federal pay raise ceiling and give government employees — including themselves — an 8.66 per cent salary hike.

The committee voted 7-2 to send the recommended 8.66 raise for federal white collar employees from Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller on down to the full Senate which must vote on the issue by Oct. 1.

A motion by Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., to recommend the 5 per cent hike was defeated on an identical 7-2 vote.

The pay raise affects approximately 3 million government employees, including congressmen, judges, the military and top-level sub-cabinet officials, and would cost $3.5 billion if the higher boost is approved.

Under the law it takes only one house of Congress to disapprove Ford's recommendation to put the 8.66 into effect.

Boyle Gets Life Terms

MEDIA, Pa. (UPI) — Still professing his innocence, former United Mine Workers president W.A. "Tony" Boyle today was sentenced to three consecutive life prison terms for the murder of his union rival Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski, Mrs. Yablonski and their daughter.

Before imposing sentence, Judge Francis J. Catania asked the 73-year-old Boyle if he had anything to say.

"No, your honor," replied Boyle. "All I can say is I'm innocent."

The Yablonskis were shot to death in their sleep on New Year's Eve in 1969 at their home in Clarksville, Pa. The slayings by paid gunmen came three weeks after Yablonski lost a UMW presidential election to incumbent Boyle.

"The fashion world's fall - winter emphasis on the Orient calls for very special Oriental expression in hairstyling," stated Lee Cornelison, owner and stylist at A Cut Above, 2000 N. Hobart.

"Full, straight bangs are the key in this hair styling. The sides may be worn straight or curled to fit different fashion moods. The nape area is pre-permed to provide extra back volume interest and artistically cut to slightly hug the neck in a modified bob," he added.

Womanly independence is also expressed in the popular short curly styling with length of this style varying for individual adaptability, but must reflect the mood of a "small head" to complement leaner looks in fashion. The bouncy love - locks create adventurous hairstyling featuring a balance of curls, perfectly formed to give the face a beautiful frame, the stylist told.

"The look is created by freely styling full circle curls with the fingers instead of a brush, resulting in a layered look of curls," he added.

"While hairstyles change with fashion apparel, the moods of softness, luxury and quality continue. Beauty hair is healthy, free - moving and touchable," Cornelison said.

A Redken research survey recently said the hair on your head may save you from heart failure if a study now under way is able to answer why certain areas of Georgia and South Carolina have the nation's highest rates of heart attack and strokes.

Dr. Charles Weaver, of the Georgia Tech School of Geophysical Sciences, said the study includes samples of hair, soil, dust, water and even live rabbits.

Weaver said that cadmium deposits in the body have been reported to cause coronary occlusions and cardiovascular trouble. Plants to collect samples from areas that have the higher death rate to analyze them for some trace metals are underway.

If the trace metals are getting into people's body systems from industrial pollution, Weaver said he "would imagine that would be handled legally."

Cornelison said "The hair styling industry is coming to a divide in the highway, one interest in styles and one in hair health.

A native Pampaan, Lee Cornelison established the business over a year ago which employe stylist Rosemary Tinsley, Peggy Cornelison, Paula Barns and Brenda Baldrige, and manicurist, Rita Hudson.

Fromme Pleas For Giant Trees

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme was accused of trying to kill President Ford — but she used her arraignment for a platform to lash out at those who cut down California's majestic redwoods for profit.

One week ago today Miss Fromme whipped a loaded .45-caliber pistol from a leg holster beneath her scarlet tunic and aimed it point-blank at Ford. At her arraignment Thursday she pleaded with the federal judge to use his power to stop the devastation of the trees.

Explorers Are Rescued From Cave

GRENOBLE, France (UPI) — Four British explorers appeared to be in good health today after being rescued from a 3,000-foot-deep "death cave" in the Vercors mountains.

Rescuers led the weary Britons out of the Berger Gouffre cave Thursday night, ending a harrowing, 135-hour struggle for survival that killed two Frenchmen.

The rescuers set up giant searchlights at the mouth of the cave to guide the four spelunkers on the final leg of their climb up the slippery walls of the abyss.

The explorers, who emerged at 20 minute intervals into the glare of the lights, had been trapped by torrential floodwaters from thunderstorms lashing the mountains.

"The gun is pointed, your honor, the gun is pointed. Whether it goes off is up to you," she said.

The spindly apostle of mass murderer Charles Manson was accused of pointing the automatic at the President as he walked toward the California state capitol. The weapon did not fire.

Miss Fromme, 26, housemother of the remnants of Manson's sex and drug "family," issued the warning during a rambling political diatribe over the objections of U.S. District Court Judge Thomas MacBride at the conclusion of her arraignment.

Miss Fromme, who friends say wants to purify the planet of environmental pollution, demanded the judge order the federal government to purchase heavily logged private land surrounding the Redwood National Park in California or direct a halt to further cutting of nearby giant redwood trees.

Police Quell Tennessee Prison Riot

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Riot police using attack dogs rounded up several hundred prisoners in the yards of Tennessee State Prison early today to quell a riot sparked by an inmate who got bologna instead of pork chops at supper.

At least seven inmates and two guards were injured in the melee that involved as many as 600 of the crowded prison's 2,200 inmates. Prison authorities said three inmates suffered gunshot wounds, one fell 50 feet trying to flee a smoke-filled cellblock and three were bitten by police dogs.

Acting Warden Bob Morford said he did not know how the inmates were shot. "I issued an order not to fire at any of the inmates," he said. "Obviously, when I issue an order I expect it to be followed."

Morford said the prison was "secure for the night" about 1:30 a.m. EDT after a final lockup sweep by police using teams of dogs.

James Earl Ray, serving a 99-year prison term for the slaying of Martin Luther King Jr., apparently slept through it all. His cellblock was not involved in the rioting and Morford said he was last seen sleeping in his cell where he was seen again after the seven-hour disturbance.

Inmates looted the commissary, broke into the pharmacy, set fire to the post office and heaved bricks through windows.

Two of the three injured inmates were hospitalized, one in critical condition. Inmate Jerry Dockins fell about 50 feet off a catwalk as he tried to inch his way out of a smoke-filled cellblock.

The riot began when an inmate, eating at the end of the supper hour, got angry because he was given bologna instead of pork chops. An argument and then a scuffle developed between the prisoner and a guard.

That triggered more pushing and shoving and resulted in Sgt. Loy LaMontagne and officer Joe Carbone being injured, neither seriously.

The dissidents spilled out of the dining room, touching off a general alarm. Many of the inmates returned to their cells later Thursday night but several hundred roamed the prison yards in a destructive rampage until police and dogs ended their spree.

Food service manager Paul Maxwell said 2,900 pork chops had been prepared for the evening meal for the 2,500 prisoners and prison staff members.

"What happened was that some of the men went through the chow line two or three times and the pork chops ran out. Then we had to serve bologna," said Maxwell.

Morford said a preliminary investigation indicated the guard involved in the argument "did act improperly and he was placed on administrative probation."

FBI Fights To Obtain Hoffa Car

DETROIT (UPI) — The FBI was fighting on two fronts today to keep what it believes is the most solid piece of evidence in its investigation into the disappearance of former Teamsters boss James Hoffa.

Federal investigators hoped to keep possession of a car they believe may have been used in the abduction of Hoffa.

The car is owned by Joseph Giacalone, 22, son of reputed Detroit Mafioso Anthony "Tony Jack" Giacalone, and he has gone to court seeking its return. A federal grand jury investigating the Hoffa case has subpoenaed Joseph Giacalone and was demanding he show up with the car.

Specially trained dogs picked up Hoffa's scent in the back seat and trunk of the auto. Other possible clues found in the car, investigators say, include fingerprints and a 12 gauge shotgun.

Authorities said evidence indicated the car was used in the abduction of Hoffa.

Crime Pays

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "Crime makes more money than Sears, Ward's and Penney's combined," a Commerce Department official estimates. The cost of shoplifting, employe pilferage and other crimes against business this year will be $2.6 billion, said Norris Lynch, the department's consumer goods director.

Sears, Ward's and Penney's, the nation's three largest retailers in 1974, had combined gross sales of $22 billion.

Lynch made the remarks in a speech for the Denver meeting of the American Society for Industrial Security.

He said the major reason for growing crime losses is businessmen's reluctance to spend money to prevent crime.
