County To Fight for Share If Revenue Program Passes

By ANNA BURCHELL
 Pampa News Staff

Gray County will be represented during a Nov. 18 meeting in Washington D.C. to discuss revenue sharing — a program which may be in "immediate trouble unless steps are taken."

Commissioner Ted Simmons of McLean was named Gray

County's representative during the Gray County Commissioners Court Saturday morning session.

"If the program is passed it should be so small cities and counties get their share," said County Judge Don Cain.

"We all pay taxes to the federal government. Gray County pays federal taxes just like New York City."

Cain said if Congress terminates the revenue sharing program, he will have no objection, but if passed he feels that "all the money should not go to the larger cities and counties."

The discussion came as a result of a letter from Kenneth A. "Buck" Douglas, executive director of the Texas Association of Counties. He informed the court that the National Association of Counties is scheduling a massive county rally for Nov. 18 in Washington.

"The purpose is for county officials to visit with their congressional delegation primarily on revenue sharing," said Douglas.

"Revenue sharing is in trouble unless some immediate steps are taken. We could wind up going into the latter part of 1976 to get an extension, and it presently expires in 1976. We feel this money has been used wisely by local officials in Texas and should be continued," Douglas added.

Simmons said he will ask U.S. Congressman Jack Hightower to attend the Washington session.

The court agreed to have Fred Griffin of the Garland Sells law firm in Amarillo represent the county in the lawsuit filed against the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission at no cost to Gray County.

Griffin is the PRPC attorney. Gray County is one of five counties named in the suit. Pampa is one of eight cities named as a defendant.

The suit was filed by Dr. Donald Todd, a West Texas State University professor, and others, contending that payment of tax funds to support the PRPC is "unauthorized and illegal."

Gray County's 1975 dues are $1,077.96 — based on four cents per capita and a 29,949 population.

Commissioner Don Hinton asked what would happen if PRPC is found unconstitutional.

"The PRPC would be out," Judge Cain commented, explaining that matters now taken to the PRPC would go directly to Austin and Washington.

Hinton said he did not vote to participate in PRPC on "grounds of federal government intervention."

Hinton and Cain are Gray County's representatives to the PRPC general assembly.

City attorneys for the defendant cities in the lawsuit met Thursday night in Amarillo to discuss the case and map strategy for a unified defense of their PRPC participation.

Pampa officials were unable to attend the meeting in the Amarillo City Hall.

In other business commissioners voted to advertise for bids to be opened at 10 a.m. on Dec. 1 for purchase of a motor grader for Precinct 2, to be paid from revenue sharing funds. Bids will also be opened for dozer with trade in for Precinct 3. This will be partially paid from revenue sharing funds.

The court also approved $60,000 contract for additions to the livestock pavilion to be paid from revenue sharing funds.

The commissioners court will meet in special session at 10 a.m. Thursday to canvass returns of constitutional amendments election of Nov. 4.

The commissioners also will convene in executive session to discuss personnel and salaries.

Cain said the election canvass must be in the Secretary of State office no later than Nov. 10.

Ford Tapes Testimony For Fromme's Hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As television cameras recorded the extraordinary 19-minute scene, President Ford offered court-ordered sworn testimony Saturday for use at the trial of Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme — accused of trying to kill him nearly two months ago.

The President's video-taped deposition was kept secret, but after the historic appearance in a third-floor conference room of the Executive Office Building next door to the White House, Press Secretary Ron Nessen told reporters, "It was almost dry — legal, business-like and very low key."

Nessen said Ford was questioned only by defense attorney John E. Virga, who will be helping the 77-year-old Miss Fromme present her case. She is scheduled to go on trial next Tuesday on charges of attempting to shoot Ford from a crowd Sept. 5 outside the state capitol in Sacramento, Calif., and she wanted the President to give his recollection of the incident.

U.S. District Judge Thomas J. MacBride, who ordered Ford to testify, flew in from California for Saturday's proceedings and said later the President's sworn deposition will not be made public unless used by the defense in the open court.

"All I can tell you is that the President was very cooperative and we appreciate very much his giving us this time on a Saturday to help out in this case," MacBride said outside while chatting with reporters who were barred from the proceedings.

Asked if he thought Ford's taped deposition would be used, the judge said, "We don't know. Whether it will be played in the trial is up to the defense. The President is being called as the defendant's witness — if he is called."

The Library of Congress said it knew of no previous testimony by an incumbent President in a criminal case. But Nessen showed reporters an article recently published by a law professor at the University of Illinois who cited evidence that President Ulysses S. Grant gave a three-hour deposition in a criminal case in 1875.

Ford, wearing a dark blue suit and striped tie, answered questions in front of a microphone while seated at a small table about 15 feet from two television cameras operated by Navy photographers. The judge ordered the cameras so that the jury would be able to see how Ford responded.

Three video tapes were made — one for the judge, one to be kept temporarily by the White House and one "backstop" to be destroyed as soon as the other two are found to be okay. All parties also will get written transcripts, which could be published if Ford's testimony is used.

Nessen said Ford entered the conference room at 10:04 a.m., and was sworn in quickly by MacBride, who wore his formal black robe and sat at a table to the right. Defense attorney Virga worked from a third table on Ford's left.

Looking on for the prosecution were Assistant Attorney General Richard Thornburgh, head of the Justice Department's criminal division, and U.S. Attorney Dwayne Keyes.

The coming of Sadat forced the Wolfson High School Band to learn a new song, the Egyptian national anthem. The band, asked to help liven up the welcoming ceremonies, also had to brush up on ruffles and flourishes and "Hail to the Chief," for Ford's arrival at 11:15 a.m. Sunday.

The Egyptian president, after looking over the nation's space center in Houston, planned to spend several days resting at the 75-acre Epping Forest estate of millionaire Raymond K. Mason, chairman of the Charter Co., a conglomerate with extensive oil and banking interests in the Mideast.

Ford and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger will join Sadat at the 30-room Spanish-style mansion for private talks Sunday before attending the Asken dinner that night at the San Jose Country Club.

Ford will establish his base of operations at a borrowed private residence in the fashionable Deerwood section of Jacksonville. He planned to fly back to Washington at 10 p.m. Sunday and will meet again with Sadat on Wednesday in the capital.

In Texas, the Egyptian president and his official party were guests at the Glennloch Farms owned by oilman Hugh Roy Marshall, president of the American-Arab Society.

At the conclusion of the two-hour rodeo and western show, Marshall and Texas Ranger Capt. William Wilson presented Sadat with a 45-caliber Texas Ranger commemorative pistol.

Marshall made a direct reference to U.S. foreign policy in presenting the nickel-plated, ivory-gripped revolver.

"Out of the sorrow and anguish I hold in my heart for the great disparity of U.S. arms and aid allocations, I would like to present this commemorative Texas Ranger pistol," Marshall told Sadat. "May this pistol serve as an installment for defensive arms and aid to Egypt and as a symbol for the end of wanton aggression."

"A policy which implements one country with weaponry for the aggressive seizure of land from another seems hardly fair."

The Sadats entered the one-story cinder block show barn to the middle strains of "The Eyes of Texas," followed by "Yellow Rose of Texas." Flags of the Arab states hung around the rodeo arena.

Scientist Predicts 'Nasty World Rule'

BOSTON (UPI) — Nuclear war will likely erupt by the end of this century and "a very nasty kind of world government" may be the only way to keep nations from blowing up the world, according to a group of nuclear arms experts.

"A very nasty kind of world government may be necessary if we are to survive in the world I see ahead," said George Rathjens, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology professor writing in the November issue of Harvard Magazine.

"Such a harsh government is a very grim prospect and it's not very likely," said Rathjens, former chief scientist and deputy director of the Advanced Research Project Agency for the Department of Defense.

"Nuclear war is more conceivable."

Five panelists at a Harvard-MIT Arms Control Seminar said they believed nuclear war in some form will erupt before 1999.

But they said it would likely not originate with the United States and the Soviet Union but with relatively smaller nations like Israel and its Arab neighbors, India and Pakistan or African nations.

"Perhaps only by exhibiting some restraint can the two superpowers transmit the message that the alleged advantage of excessive nuclear buildup is not as tempting as before and that one's international machismo does not need to be measured by ownership of an excessively large number of nuclear weapons," said Harvard Professor Paul Doty.

Nuclear bombs are getting smaller, said Harvard Professor Thomas Schelling.

"It is very frightening to realize that by 1999 a device with the power to blow up a community the size of Cambridge (Mass.), for example, could probably be carried on the back of any strong person," said Schelling, an arms strategist who worked with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat ended a whirlwind visit to Texas Saturday and flew to Florida where he will meet with President Ford and spend four days resting at a magnolia-shaded Southern mansion.

State Department and Secret Service officials marshaled a heavy force of local law enforcement agencies and Egyptian security personnel to protect Sadat's arrival at Jacksonville Naval Air Station.

Sadat left Houston fortified with Texas barbecue and totting a nickel-plated Texas Ranger pistol he received as a gift. The Mideast leader also attended a rodeo while in the Lone Star state.

The tight security put in place for Sadat's Florida visit did not dampen the festivity in this Northeast Florida city which rarely—if ever—gets a chance to entertain an American president and a foreign chief of state at the same time.

Florida Gov. Reubin Askew, a straight-laced teetotaler, arranged to toast Ford and Sadat with water before a fillet of pompano dinner at a country club Sunday night. Water's fine for Sadat. A Moslem he does not drink either

They thought the rodeo was super. They liked the shootout scenes the most," said Judith Marshall, who invited Sadat to Houston.

"It was the first time they saw a stagecoach. The shootout bothered me, but they seemed very relaxed. Mrs. Sadat could hardly believe the bull riding. It was his first rodeo."

A barbecue dinner was prepared and served in a red and yellow circus tent. The menu included barbecue beef, chicken and cabrito (goat), marinated vegetables and native Texas pecan pie.

Burglars hit three Pampa businesses Friday night including Jim's Steak House, 318 E. Brown, where they fed themselves and took off with 10 pounds of prime rib and other foods.

Also burglarized were Lowery Piano and Organ, 1201 N. Hobart, and Virgil's Bicycle Shop at 1818 N. Hobart. An attempted burglary was reported at the Empire Cafe, 316 S. Cuyler.

Mrs. Lavetta Brockbank, manager of Jim's Steak House, said someone gained entry through the air conditioner.

Once inside, she reported that they drank milk, ate shrimp and pie, then took about 10 pounds of prime rib from a preheat oven. Also missing were 80 rolls of mint, 48 candy bars and about $20 in money.

Entry to Lowery Piano and Organ was gained by breaking a glass in the front window. Four electric guitars were taken.

Virgil Cummings of Virgil's Bicycle Shop said entry there was gained by breaking the rear window and reaching inside to open the door.

Several sets of wrenches in various sizes and $25 in change were reported missing.

Several theft reports were made to the Pampa Police Department Saturday morning including a stolen motorcycle, $7.50 in gasoline and personal property at 800 E. Murphy.

Vandals hit five cars on the lot at Top O' Texas Used Cars. Windows and tail lights were broken.

The weather forecast calls for considerable cloudiness and light rain today with highs near 65. The lows will be 45.

Vote on 99-year-old Constitution Debate Took Three Years, $5 Million

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The last time Texas voters approved a major revision of the state constitution they were apprehensive about Yankee carpetbaggers and the lingering threat of Indian raids.

On Tuesday, they have another opportunity to approve a revision of the 99-year-old constitution, but most officials predict fewer than 25 per cent of the voters will bother to participate in the special constitutional election.

Debate over the revision, which took three years and $5 million to prepare, has divided top state officials and brought charges of power grabs by opponents and proponents.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Comptroller Bob Bullock, and Criminal Appeals Court presiding Judge John F. Onion Jr. have opposed all or part of the eightpart revision.

Lt. Gov. William P. Hobby, Speaker Bill Clayton and Attorney General John Hill have led the support of the charter, joined by most other statewide elected officials. Voters may approve all or part of the revision on Tuesday's ballot. If any part is approved, the legislature will be required to meet in 1976 to draft implementing legislation.

It is legislative sessions which have stirred the longest and most heated debate about the proposed new charter. Under the 1876 constitution, the legislature meets for 140 days every other year. The new constitution would maintain the 140-day sessions, and add 90-day sessions in even numbered years.

Briscoe first expressed his dissatisfaction with the annual session provision, then three weeks before the election publicly announced he opposes all eight propositions on the ballot.

"I am firmly convinced there is absolutely no need for annual sessions of the legislature," the governor said. "They would make it more difficult to hold the line on new taxes and would, in my opinion, lead us down the road to a state income tax. There is absolutely no doubt in my mind but that annual sessions of the legislature will sharply increase state spending."

Backers of annual sessions contend it is impractical to require the legislature to budget two and a half years in advance in times of shaky economy and state expenditures of $6 billion annually.

Opponents of the charter revision have waged a vigorous campaign, while proponents have struggled to collect sufficient money to answer all the allegations leveled by critics.

"The hallmark of the campaign is that there is no useful opposition," said Rep. Ronald Earle, D-Austin, a leader of the revision forces. "The opposition is based on self-interest and ignorance."

The campaign drew little attention until Briscoe announced his opposition in a hurriedly called news conference Oct. 14.

Robert Johnson, head of the Texas Election Bureau, originally predicted only 500,000 to 600,000 of the state's 5 million registered voters would vote on the revision.

"Now that there has been some controversy generated it might run up to a million," Johnson said.

The largest proportionate turnout was expected in Houston where election of a mayor and school trustees provided added incentives to go to the polls.

Voters are given little explanation on the ballot of what is included in the eight propositions.

The first proposition combines the controversial legislative article revision with the executive article and the article on separation of powers, so voters must vote either for or against all three. The other seven propositions involve single articles of the proposed new constitution.

Other major changes included in the revision include:

- legislative article provision creating a salary commission to determine legislators' pay and expense allowances;
- an executive article provision allowing the governor to remove from office his appointees to state boards and agencies;
- an executive article item terminating the life of state agencies every 10 years unless the legislature votes to renew them;
- combining the supreme court with the court of criminal appeals and granting of criminal jurisdiction to the 14 civil appeals courts as part of a unified judicial system included in the judiciary article.

- a guarantee in the education article that each child in Texas will be given "equal educational opportunity";
- a finance article provision setting up a single tax appraisal for each county rather than having different appraisals by each governmental subdivision;
- removal in the finance article of the constitutional ceiling on welfare spending, although the legislature is empowered to impose ceilings by law;
- a requirement in the finance article that the legislature establish a formula by which agricultural land may be taxed on its productive value rather than market value.

SENATOR TELLS: What New Constitution Would Do To You

By SEN. PEYTON MCKNIGHT
Texas Senate

A constitution is a contract between the people and their government.

Our present constitution is a living charter, written by the people and tested by courts elected by the people.

It is as old as 1876 and as young as 1975, when last amended by the people.

Our present constitution places restrictions on what your government can and cannot do subject to voter approval.

Texas, with our spending and taxing safeguards, now ranks at the top in financial stability.

The document you will vote on Nov. 4 was written by the legislature.

It increases the legislature's own power at the expense of the people's presently solid constitutional guarantees.

It overturns voter decision including those in recent years rejecting annual sessions and letting the Legislature set its own pay.

The new document invites costly, lengthy lawsuits in a new overhauled court system to determine what the new laws mean.

The new permissive document, changing our basic governmental concept to rule by the Legislature, can lead only to more government, more spending, and higher taxes.

The proposed new constitution transfers powers of government from the people to the legislature.

Be forewarned: "Nothing will ruin the country if the people themselves will undertake its safety; and nothing can save it if they leave that safety in any hands but their own." — DANIEL WEBSTER

PROPOSITION NO. 1 (Articles II Separation of Powers, III Legislative, and IV Executive) does away with the concept of citizen legislators, operating on a part-time basis, by requiring annual unrestricted legislative sessions and taking away the people's right to set legislative salaries.

Pay for legislators would be set by the legislators themselves upon recommendation annually by a politically appointed commission — an idea rejected by the voters in 1971.

If Congress is any example of what happens when you have a perpetual legislature in session, this new constitution will not lead to greater efficiency and economy in government, but only to bigger spending, bigger taxes and bigger government.

PROPOSITION NO. 2 (Article V, the Judiciary) abolishes the Court of Criminal Appeals, putting criminal cases involving life and death into the same basket with civil cases — all to be decided by the Supreme Court. Many legislative experts contend this will clog the courts further and slow the process of justice even more.

It gives the legislature the power to change the entire system of selecting judges — the first step toward an appointive court system similar to the federal court system.

It would permit a system to be established whereby district judges, elected locally by local people, could be shifted anywhere to handle cases from one end of the state to another.

PROPOSITION NO. 3 (Article VI Voter Qualification and Elections) automatically restores the voting rights of ex-felons, permitting them to hold public office — without benefit of any administrative or judicial proceedings.

PROPOSITION NO. 4 (Article VII, Education) requires untold millions of dollars in new spending by mandating undefined "equal educational opportunity" for school funding on one hand — and on the other, giving the legislature a loophole to evade that mandate.

Even proponents of the new constitution concede that the courts will have to unscramble the political double talk and decide what it means. A first step toward this illusory guarantee, taken by the 64th Legislature, is already costing the taxpayers an additional $100 million.

PROPOSITION NO. 5 (Article VIII, Finance) removes the $80 million annual ceiling on welfare — our only restraint on welfare spending and one the people have voted repeatedly to retain.

Rejects the people's vote of 1968 to eliminate the 2 cent per $100 ad valorem tax for state buildings which otherwise would expire next year. This will only encourage a greater rise in state employment and a bigger bureaucracy in Austin.

Establishes a single county-wide state-enforced uniform property tax appraisal system with enforcement to be devised by the legislature.

Authorizes the legislature to exempt non-profit water corporations from ad valorem taxes (defeated by the voters in 1973).

Permits the legislature to determine the rate of taxation on stocks, bonds, bank accounts and other intangible personal property.

PROPOSITION NO. 6 (Article IX, local government) Overturns the voters' decision in 1973 to keep a reasonable limit on tax rates for cities and towns, through removal of the constitutional restraint on debt service.

Authorizes high ad valorem tax rates for counties and municipalities (and lowers the population requirement for home-rule cities from 5,000 to 1,500).

Changes the tax rate from a limitation on total taxes to a limit on principal and interest — a move which would encourage a "spend now, pay later" local policy and greater public debt.

Permits the legislature to give counties the same ordinance-making powers as cities, in non-conflicting.

PROPOSITION NO. 7 (Article X, General Provisions) Gives constitutional recognition to bank holding companies.

Relaxes the present prohibition against lotteries.

Gives the legislature massive new powers to regulate health care, environmental projects, land reclamation, navigation, recycling of wastes, energy resources, gambling, state employee and teacher retirement funds.

PROPOSITION NO. 8 (Article XI, Mode of Amending the Constitution) If the new document is adopted, the legislature would not be required to call another constitutional convention for 30 years. And, if called then, it would be by a two-thirds vote of both houses. The legislature could limit the proposals for convention consideration in short. If you adopt the new document, be prepared to live with it a long, long time.

If you have read and studied this proposed new constitution, more than likely you will vote against it. If you haven't, play it safe. Keep our present constitution.

Question Box

CONSERVATIVE ADVOCATE U. N. Crosses Its Rubicon

QUESTION: For some time, we have wanted to hire a girl. But, despite the reports of high unemployment, we have been told that we can't advertise and specify the sex of the person we want. We are told it is discrimination. Isn't it discriminatory against the employer to deny him the right to say whether he wants a girl or a man to do a job?

ANSWER: It certainly is discriminatory against the prospective employer. It also discriminates against a prospective employee. But it is only to be expected in the present day of legislators attempting to respond to every claim that "There ought to be a law."

In the government attempts to eliminate discrimination of one kind, the result inevitably is discrimination of another kind.

Those who seek to pass laws to prevent individuals from the natural tendency to choose between alternatives forget that any interference with natural tendencies may result in the treatment being worse than the cure. The late R.C. Hoiles, founding president of Freedom Newspapers, often reminded his associates that all life consists of making choices. And choosing is discriminating in favor of one alternative and against other alternatives.

Advocates of laws prohibiting such choices have refused to recognize nature and thus they bring on such cases as cited in the question.

The aim is to assist people in obtaining employment if they are qualified. The result is another unnatural barrier to employment which injures both prospective workers and those who seek to hire them.

In voting to equate Zionism with South African apartheid as twin examples of that "racism" which it considers the most abominable of all crimes, the UN's dominant Third World bloc joined by the Communist nations, has crossed its Rubicon. The results are incalculable, but they are bound to be immense, and the UN's own effective self-destruction is not even likely to be the biggest of them.

When Caesar crossed the original Rubicon in 49 B.C., he and his legions were setting foot in a territory which the Roman Senate had never placed under his jurisdiction, and where accordingly he had no legitimate business. The act was, therefore, quite clearly a declaration of civil war, and was instantly recognized as such in Rome.

The UN's act is not quite so aggravated. In theory at least, it's "jurisdiction" — or at any rate the list of topics on which it considers itself entitled to shoot off its mouth — global. But for over a decade "racism," especially as exemplified by South Africa's policy of separate development of the races, has headed the list of things that the majority of UN members detest.

The Third World bloc has cynically turned a blind eye toward the Soviet Union's long history of domestic oppression; toward Red China's aggression in Tibet; toward the recent Communist-sponsored genocide in Cambodia; and (of course) toward the innumerable instances of torture and mass-murder by its own leaders, including Uganda's President Idi Amin. But concerning apartheid it has been consistent, hysterical, and all but unanimous: it is "racism," fouler by far than murder, and it is anathema.

And now, by a thumping margin of 70 to 29, with 27 abstentions and 16 absentees, the UN has solemnly proclaimed that Zionism — the aspiration of most of the world's Jews to establish and maintain an independent Jewish state in Palestine — is "racism" on a par with apartheid!

The attitude of the Arab nations and their non-Arab fellow-Muslims is at least understandable, however unforgivably inflammatory to their rhetoric. To them the existence of the State of Israel is a bone in the throat; nothing can sway them from their long-range aim to eliminate it. The support their motion received from the world's Communist nations — all of them, be it noted, save Roumania, which abstained — was precisely what anybody with even the dimmest comprehension of communism ought to have expected. One feels a certain pity for the smaller countries of Africa, South America and elsewhere, who must have undergone enormous pressures from both sides. But in the end only the United States, Western Europe, and tiny handful of their client states stood by Israel.

That the UN has damaged itself, perhaps irreparably, is only the most obvious point. We Americans, who are taught to respect the opinions of others, however absurd they sound or however trivial their support, have never fully realized how heavily the UN depends upon America's willing suspension of disbelief to enable it to carry off its act as a respectable organization. In the future it will largely lack this indispensable prop, and thus will probably flounder further into a sort of comic-opera irrelevance.

But that in turn will inevitably result in even less clout than hitherto for UN pronouncements on other subjects. Who can care deeply, hereafter, whether booming Taiwan is allowed to be a member of the UN and not? Just how valid are the moral perceptions of that body on the subject of apartheid, if it can see no difference between apartheid and Zionism? How capable would a commission of its member be to render a just judgment on the leftist charges of torture in Chile?

Finally, entirely beyond the tedious topics of the UN, this vote — like lightning stroke — illuminates the murky landscape of the world's future. In that future, we will have fewer friends that we thought we had, but it will matter largely to the extent that we let it worry us.

84 Year Old Thinks It's Never Too Late

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 84 and my wife is 77. We've been married for six years. It's the second marriage for both of us. First, let me tell you that we're both in excellent health. My problem is my wife. She makes me feel like a dirty old man every time I approach her for sex. She keeps saying, "We're too old for that stuff. You're a sex maniac and ought to be ashamed of yourself!"

Abby, my first wife and I were married for over 40 years, and we enjoyed a fulfilling, active sexual relationship right up until the time she died. She was in her 70s.

At what age are people supposed to quit having sexual relations?

DEAR YOUNG: There is no reason why normal, healthy people should not be sexually active as long as they live.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to a military man for 12 years. I started snooping through his things when he was home last and found some love letters from three different women. One lives in the Canal Zone, one lives in Virginia and the other lives in Florida.

All three women are under the impression that he is married but separated from me, which is a lie.

Their letters contain some sickening descriptions of their sexual encounters. The woman in the Canal Zone keeps referring to the "day we can be together forever."

Abby, my husband has told me repeatedly that he loves me, and he has never indicated that he wants out of this marriage.

Some of those letters were written within the last three months. I can't understand how a grown man would continue to keep three women on the string while still married.

Right now he is overseas, but when he gets home I am going to let him have it.

I neither love nor trust him anymore, but I have three children who need a father. What do you advise?

FED UP

DEAR FED: I agree, children do need a father, but a woman needs a husband she can trust and depend upon. Confront your husband with the evidence and ask him for an explanation.

It will take a lot of forgiving and forgetting to restore your marriage. If that's what you want, I hope you're up to it.

DEAR ABBY: We recently attended a beautiful outdoor wedding in a park.

The bride and groom made up their own vows and spoke them aloud to each other, but there was no minister present to pronounce them man and wife.

Is it legal in California for a couple to marry themselves?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: No. And it's not legal anywhere else, either.

WE THINK you will want to read State Sen. Peyton McKnight's analysis of the proposed new Texas Constitution voters will decide on at next Tuesday's election. It appears on this page today.

The senator takes the eight propositions on the ballot one by one and tells what they would do to you if approved.

So, when you finish reading Rearview Mirror, skip over to the left of the editorial page and let Senator McKnight enlighten you a bit.

It could help you decide when you go into the voting place Tuesday and are handed a ballot that tells you little or nothing about the many invisible things affecting you that have been written into the eight Propositions on which you are asked to vote "yes" or "no."

INCIDENTALLY, members of both the West and East Texas Chambers of Commerce have urged defeat of the new Constitution in polls conducted within the past week or so.

The West Texas Chamber opposed it nearly 3 to 1 in the survey. The results showed 24 percent in favor of the new constitution and 63 percent against it. Thirteen per cent said they had no opinion.

The East Texas Chamber survey taken in its 71-county area showed that the mail referendum came up with 80 percent (4 to 1) of those responding signifying disapproval of the entire document — all eight propositions.

As election day draws near it appears to be pretty clear that there are things in the proposed constitution that cause many people to become suspicious of what their state legislators, who drew up the document, are trying to sell them — including issues the voters already have turned down at the polls in the last three or four years.

NOW, LET'S take a look at something else that would have a terrific impact on the lives of a lot of people — not only in Texas, but all over the country.

Erma Bombeck, one of the Pampa News' columnists, broke into Page One the other day with an article advocating "doing away with" Mondays.

Miss Bombeck says Mondays are a nothing. She claims they lack luster, are unexciting, are good only as holidays or a time to close up shop and forget it.

Well, wait just a cotton

In Shropshire England, it is said that a piece of Hawthorn cut on Holy Thursday will protect both house and person from being struck by lightning.

An 18th century English pugilist was so insensitive to pain that, for a small sum, he would allow anyone to strike him on the side of the face with all his force.

Does Miss Bombeck have in mind to do away with Monday NIGHT, too? If so, she's in a heap of trouble and immediately will alienate affections of millions of Monday night football fans.

Erma, if you check it out — you'll find very few meetings or events of any kind are scheduled on Monday nights across the nation. Why? Because the fans are glued to their TV sets watching Monday night football and couldn't be lured away for love nor money.

It might be possible to get along without daytime Mondays — but, nighttime Mondays? Never!

IF YOU have been wondering why the price of a cup of coffee (when you eat out) has jumped from a dime to 15 or 20 cents or even a quarter — Rearview Mirror has done some research.

It seems the fighting between liberation forces in the African country of Angola is now the target of blame for the higher cost of America's morning cup of java.

And — add to that — recent frost damage to Brazilian coffee trees has already been cited as the reason coffee may go to as much as 50 cents a cup by next year. Brazil is the principal supplier of coffee to the U.S.

But one big wholesale food distributor says the fighting in Angola, a major coffee producing country, has prevented exports from that country for several months.

FOOD IS always a good conversation piece. So if next time you stop by your favorite Pampa meat market counter and do a little checking, you'll find that a shortage of pork has caused the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture to temporarily allow meat processors to substitute beef for much of the pork contained in products such as wieners, frankfurters, knockwurst and bologna.

Normally, products labeled "beef and pork" must contain at least 30 percent of each of the

Austin Parents Volunteer To Type, Tell Stories

By JEANNE GRIMES
Pampa News Staff

Savings is the trademark of the Parent Volunteer program at Austin Elementary School.

In its third year of operation, the program represents money saved for the school, time saved for the teachers. And perhaps, through the imaginative and innovative efforts of parents with time to spare and contribute, the saving of a child.

Mrs. Dwaine Blakemore, 2430 Charles, recognized need in the school two years ago, and she did something about it.

"We needed to get more parents involved in the school," she said, "so I asked the school if there were areas where volunteers could help."

With encouragement from the school for her idea, Mrs. Blakemore prepared a questionnaire which she sent to all parents of Austin children. The response, she said, was "tremendous."

More than 75 volunteers contributed their time to Austin school that first year, fathers as well as mothers.

"Some of the fathers took time from their jobs to come to the school and present special programs on a variety of subjects to the children."

The program could have been on anything from banking to medicine, but the students and teachers appreciated them, she added.

"We had women who would come in one day a week as story tellers for the kindergarten. And they would make the stories real for the children," Mrs. Blakemore said, adding that one mother telling a story about a popcorn vendor had brought some popcorn and a popcorn popper to the class for a graphic demonstration.

The school nurse, long overrun with the paperwork which must be maintained on each child had additional time to spend with the children professionally when a volunteer began maintaining her records.

Every room had a volunteer ready to help with arts and crafts projects. Fifth and sixth grade students who were not active in band or choir received instruction in crochet, knitting, Spanish, French and German.

Joe Page, Austin principal, praised the program which contributed more than 500 hours of volunteer assistance during its second year. Mrs. Harold Taylor, chairman of the program last year, called the 500 hour figure "a conservative estimate."

Kathy Hall, 1975 chairman, is enthusiastic about her first year in the program. She oversees the placement of approximately 45 volunteers.

"I have never been turned down by a volunteer just because she didn't feel like coming in," Mrs. Hall said.

The duties she assigns range from grading papers, typing and mimeographing class papers to babysitting for other volunteers who are needed at the school.

Page estimated that this year, volunteers are spending a total of 25 to 30 hours a week on school-related work. At the current minimum wage of $2.10 per hour, their efforts save the school $50 to $65 each week. "We just couldn't afford the services these volunteers provide," Page said.

The Austin program is modeled after a system-wide effort in El Paso Public Schools. It is the only such program in Pampa.

Teachers are not reserved in their support for the volunteers.

Virginia Gross, kindergarten teacher, said, "Without the help of parents, the teachers couldn't be as effective with the learning procedures."

First grade teacher Helen Burns added, "A mother came to the school the other day and ran off all the duplicating masters for the first grade. It's so much help."

Mrs. Blakemore, whose children are now in second and fifth grades at Austin, has remained active in her volunteer work.

NYC Default Will Slow US Economy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressional study said Saturday New York City's default — inevitable without federal help — will slow the nation's economic recovery, add $4 billion to the federal deficit and throw 300,000 people out of work.

The analysis by the Joint Economic Committee said New York City has done more than any large city except Detroit and St. Louis to cut expenses and increase taxes to combat the effects of the recession on its finances.

But the report was critical of New York City's leaders from 1960 to 1974, when the number of New York City employees increased by 70 per cent while other cities were increasing municipal employment by an average of only 36.5 per cent.

At the same time, it said, the state and the banks tacitly went along with "questionable budget practices."

Disputing President Ford and Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, the report said the city's default, probably in early December, is "inevitable" without help from the federal government.

New York owes $12.3 billion. Unable since March to sell bonds to pay debts as they come due, the city expects to default when a new round of debts falls due in coming weeks.

If default occurs, state and local governments everywhere will cut expenditures, banks will follow more conservative practices, interest rates will rise and all these factors "could reduce the strength of the economic recovery" from the recession, the report said.

A committee economist, Ralph Schlosstein, calculated the impact this way: a 1 per cent decline in the gross national product; a three-tenths of 1 per cent increase in unemployment, which translates into joblessness for 300,000; a loss of $3.5 billion in federal tax revenues and an increase of $500 million in federal expenditures to aid newly unemployed.

Washington (UPI) — The Supreme Court takes its first look this week at the clash between the time-honored seniority system and rights sought by black and women victims of job discrimination.

On one side stand practices, widely used in industry and favored by labor unions, of letting seniority determine who gets promoted or laid off first.

On the other stand questions about the rights due blacks and women who broke the job discrimination barrier, sometimes after years of effort, only to find themselves at the bottom of the seniority ladder. Massive layoffs during the recession fueled the protest against the last-hired, first-fired system.

The issue immediately before the court this week is a narrow one. Without attacking the seniority system itself, it asks whether a black denied a job on racial grounds should be granted retroactive seniority from the date of his rejection if he is hired eventually.

But a second case with broader implications already is on the Supreme Court docket.

The first case, to be argued Monday, was filed under the 1964 Civil Rights Act by two blacks — Harold Franks and Johnnie Lee — against Bowman Transportation Co., an interstate trucking firm with terminals in Atlanta, Birmingham, Charlotte and Richmond.

Chief U.S. District Judge Sidney O. Smith Jr. in Atlanta found Franks had been denied promotion to jobs reserved for whites and was fired in 1968 for taking his case to the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Smith also ruled Bowman's initial refusal to hire Lee as an over-the-road driver in 1970 was racially motivated, saying the firm practiced comprehensive racial discrimination until after the suit was filed, more.

The Atlanta judge granted preferential job re-application rights to persons like Lee. But he refused to make Bowman grant seniority retroactive to the date the firm might have hired such persons had it not practiced discrimination.

Smith's rejection of retroactive seniority was affirmed by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which said such relief was barred by a part of the civil rights law dealing with seniority systems.

The government disagreed. It said the law only defines unlawful employment practices and does not limit the powers of a court. The Justice Department noted that other cases settled under court orders without a trial included retroactive seniority.

The Chamber of Commerce, on the other hand, said granting "artificial retroactive seniority inequitably places a burden of retribution on innocent employees."

The AFL-CIO said Franks and Lee should have their seniority. But it cautioned that preferential protection against layoffs should not be given to blacks and women who seek it only because they were recently hired rather than on the basis of actual discrimination.

An indication of the Supreme Court's mood came last term in a case upholding back pay awards to employees who have suffered discrimination. The court said companies faced only with the prospect of an order to cease discriminating would have "little incentive to shun practices of dubious legality."

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York City officials said Saturday they turned down a clandestine $2.8 billion loan offer from an Arab country.

The loan was disclosed Saturday in Jack Anderson's syndicated column, who said the offer was traced by his staff from the Persian Gulf to London and New York. He said the initial offer was made about two months ago and withdrawn Oct. 20 after the city failed to meet with an agent for the lender.

"George Meisner, a private attorney, approached the mayor with the city-saving offer about two months ago," Anderson's column said. "The $2.8 billion could have been made available through London's Burlington Bank. Our sources asked us not to identify the Arab nation which offered to bail out New York City. They speculated that the mayor, who must answer to a large Jewish population, considered it impossible politically for him to accept Arab petrodollars," the column said.

A City Hall spokesman, however, denied that was the mayor's motive in ignoring the offer.

"There are three problems with that story, all of which we told Jack Anderson's people, the spokesman said, "but they chose not to include that in their story." He said the first stipulation was that the loan be guaranteed by New York banks.

"If we could get debt guarantees from New York banks, we wouldn't have to go that far afield to get credit," the spokesman said.

He said the loan also carried an 8.8 per cent compounded interest rate, with interest and the principle of the loan due in 20 years. "That would cost the city $14 billion," he said. "In our view this had not been a realistic offer."

"And thirdly, the nature of the loan would have posed (state) constitutional questions concerning debt limits set by the state. Another words, he said, the amount of money offered would have exceeded legal limits the city is allowed to borrow.

They speculated that the mayor, who must answer to a large Jewish population, considered it impossible politically for him to accept Arab petrodollars," the column said.

A City Hall spokesman, however, denied that was the mayor's motive in ignoring the offer.

"There are three problems with that story, all of which we told Jack Anderson's people, the spokesman said, "but they chose not to include that in their story." He said the first stipulation was that the loan be guaranteed by New York banks.

"If we could get debt guarantees from New York banks, we wouldn't have to go that far afield to get credit," the spokesman said.

He said the loan also carried an 8.8 per cent compounded interest rate, with interest and the principle of the loan due in 20 years. "That would cost the city $14 billion," he said. "In our view this had not been a realistic offer."

"And thirdly, the nature of the loan would have posed (state) constitutional questions concerning debt limits set by the state. Another words, he said, the amount of money offered would have exceeded legal limits the city is allowed to borrow.

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York City officials said Saturday they turned down a clandestine $2.8 billion loan offer from an Arab country.

The loan was disclosed Saturday in Jack Anderson's syndicated column, who said the offer was traced by his staff from the Persian Gulf to London and New York. He said the initial offer was made about two months ago and withdrawn Oct. 20 after the city failed to meet with an agent for the lender.

"George Meisner, a private attorney, approached the mayor with the city-saving offer about two months ago," Anderson's column said. "The $2.8 billion could have been made available through London's Burlington Bank. Our sources asked us not to identify the Arab nation which offered to bail out New York City. They speculated that the mayor, who must answer to a large Jewish population, considered it impossible politically for him to accept Arab petrodollars," the column said.

High Court Looks at Seniority

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court takes its first look this week at the clash between the time-honored seniority system and rights sought by black and women victims of job discrimination.

On one side stand practices, widely used in industry and favored by labor unions, of letting seniority determine who gets promoted or laid off first.

On the other stand questions about the rights due blacks and women who broke the job discrimination barrier, sometimes after years of effort, only to find themselves at the bottom of the seniority ladder. Massive layoffs during the recession fueled the protest against the last-hired, first-fired system.

The issue immediately before the court this week is a narrow one. Without attacking the seniority system itself, it asks whether a black denied a job on racial grounds should be granted retroactive seniority from the date of his rejection if he is hired eventually.

But a second case with broader implications already is on the Supreme Court docket.

The first case, to be argued Monday, was filed under the 1964 Civil Rights Act by two blacks — Harold Franks and Johnnie Lee — against Bowman Transportation Co., an interstate trucking firm with terminals in Atlanta, Birmingham, Charlotte and Richmond.

Chief U.S. District Judge Sidney O. Smith Jr. in Atlanta found Franks had been denied promotion to jobs reserved for whites and was fired in 1968 for taking his case to the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Smith also ruled Bowman's initial refusal to hire Lee as an over-the-road driver in 1970 was racially motivated, saying the firm practiced comprehensive racial discrimination until after the suit was filed, more.

The Atlanta judge granted preferential job re-application rights to persons like Lee. But he refused to make Bowman grant seniority retroactive to the date the firm might have hired such persons had it not practiced discrimination.

Smith's rejection of retroactive seniority was affirmed by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which said such relief was barred by a part of the civil rights law dealing with seniority systems.

The government disagreed. It said the law only defines unlawful employment practices and does not limit the powers of a court. The Justice Department noted that other cases settled under court orders without a trial included retroactive seniority.

The Chamber of Commerce, on the other hand, said granting "artificial retroactive seniority inequitably places a burden of retribution on innocent employees."

The AFL-CIO said Franks and Lee should have their seniority. But it cautioned that preferential protection against layoffs should not be given to blacks and women who seek it only because they were recently hired rather than on the basis of actual discrimination.

An indication of the Supreme Court's mood came last term in a case upholding back pay awards to employees who have suffered discrimination. The court said companies faced only with the prospect of an order to cease discriminating would have "little incentive to shun practices of dubious legality."

Arab Loan Declined

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York City officials said Saturday they turned down a clandestine $2.8 billion loan offer from an Arab country.

The loan was disclosed Saturday in Jack Anderson's syndicated column, who said the offer was traced by his staff from the Persian Gulf to London and New York. He said the initial offer was made about two months ago and withdrawn Oct. 20 after the city failed to meet with an agent for the lender.

"George Meisner, a private attorney, approached the mayor with the city-saving offer about two months ago," Anderson's column said. ## Moslems Launch Attack

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Leftist Moslems launched a massive assault on right-wing Christian forces around the Beirut Holiday Inn, setting the hotel ablaze with rockets, mortars and shells from recoilless rifles in a new drive for control of the city's seaford.

Fighting also flared in the suburbs and police reports said at least 100 persons had been killed in the past 24 hours with another 200 wounded. Total casualties in the seven-week-long round of civil war numbered about 1,100 dead and nearly 3,000 wounded.

A rocket slammed into the 20th floor of the 26-story Holiday Inn starting a big fire, witnesses said.

A right-wing Phalangist party spokesman said the rocket was fired from the Murr tower, an unfinished skyscraper occupied by leftist forces in eastern Beirut.

Daylong clashes centered on the Holiday Inn and the nearby Phoenicia and St. Georges Hotel area where Phalangists were holed up to protect the last access route from the west to their headquarters in the east at the top of the Beirut port.

The steady boom from shellfire thundered across Beirut as soon as darkness fell, with shells dropping on the Holiday Inn at the rate of two a minute in a concentrated barrage that lasted 75 minutes.

One rocket burst in the air over Hamra street, sending the few citizens on the street racing for cover. Tracer bullets arced across the skyline from leftist positions at the top of the Kantari sector which they took in bitter fighting during the week.

A Phalangist party spokesman said the Holiday Inn and the nearby Phoenicia and St. Georges hotels were under intensive bombardment.

He said the leftist forces had been trying to advance on the seaford since noon and the type of weaponry used could only have been supplied by Palestinian guerrilla units.

The leftists "officers and cadres are all Palestinian," he said. "This is why we are fighting them."

'Old Constitution Costs'

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The patchwork provisions of Texas' 99-year-old constitution increased the state debt from $450 billion in 1964 to $2.2 billion this year, the chairman of the House Committee on Ways and Means said.

"The staggering fact is that, principally because the 1876 Constitution is not suited to the realities of today, state debt in Texas is growing at a rate faster than almost any other state — so fast, in fact, that only four other states now have larger debts than Texas," Rep. Joe Wyatt, D-Victoria, said in a statement released Saturday.

During the last biennium under the present constitution, the size of the state's debt increased at an average rate of $10 million a month for tuition bonds alone, Wyatt said.

"The new Texas Constitution, which guarantees pay-as-you-go budgeting, will inject order and sense into our state's borrowing patterns and will insure the right of people to approve or disapprove all tax-supported borrowing," Wyatt said.

Strong objections to the document by political figures is indicative of the growing mistrust voters have about the new constitution, said Sen. Peyton McKnight, D-Tyler.

Democratic Sens. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas, A. R. Schwartz of Galveston and Lloyd Doggett of Austin accused McKnight and Sen. Bill Moore, D-Bryan, of preferring government by an appointed elite, rather than by democratically elected representatives.

McKnight said persons with such diverse political views as Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Frances Farenthold, former Govs. Allan Shivers and Preston Smith and Secretary of State Bob Bullock oppose at least part of the proposed document.

Soviets Divulge Secret

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — A series of Soviet blunders, including a rare public admission that Russian secret agents were at work in Kenya, has plunged relations between Moscow and this East African nation into turmoil.

The trouble began earlier this week when Georgiy Dzotsenidze, chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet of Georgia, threatened to walk out of a recording session for a televised news conference when local journalists quizzed him on reported Soviet missile facilities in neighboring Somalia.

"If those are the sort of questions you are going to ask me I am going to leave," the Russian exclaimed. A few hours later the Soviet embassy succeeded in having the entire program scrubbed from the screens of the state-owned Voice of Kenya television.

But from there the squabble quickly blossomed into a major incident involving the visiting Soviet delegation, the Russian embassy here, leading members of the Kenyan government and press and members of parliament.

The newspaper Daily Nation, in a followup editorial, accused the visiting Russian of working himself up "into an appalling display of bad temper." It said Marxism-Leninism was one of the "rubbish heaps of history" and added that 75 per cent of the 30-member Russian embassy staff here were KGB agents.

Kenyan Foreign Minister Muryua Waiyaki jumped to his visitor's defense and strongly criticized the Nation editorial but even he was stunned into silence when the Russians issued an amazing denial of the KGB claims.

Seventy-five per cent of the Russian embassy personnel are not secret agents, a senior Soviet official told a Daily Nation journalist. In fact there were only six KGB agents at the embassy, he said.

Other diplomatic observers said they could not recall the Soviets ever publicly admitting the presence of secret agents at an embassy.

President Jomo Kenyatta was reportedly furious at the Russian confession and the row spilled over into the Kenyan parliament.

Attorney General Charles Njonjo indirectly criticized his own foreign minister for defending the visiting Russian official.

Seven Arrested For Marijuana

Seven persons, from 17 to 22 years of age, were arrested Friday night on charges of possession of marijuana following a raid by Pampa Police Department officers at 900 S. Osborne.

Those arrested include Ronald Leon Holmes and Sharon Leah Holmes, ages 22 and 18, respectively, both of 900 S. Osborne, Brian Earl Bowman, 18, of 219 Sunset, Floyd Michael Hood, 18, of 907 Terry, John Andrew Johnson II, 19, of 1428 Russell, Robert Dean Maples 20, of 306 Canadian, and Charlietta Yvonne Blackmon, 17, of 1130 E. Francis.

The officers stated that as they arrived at the location, they smelled a strong odor of marijuana. They found 14 persons inside, and all suspects were arrested and taken to the station.

Police said officers confiscated four bags of suspected marijuana and a jar of marijuana cigarettes. A number of pipes was also seized, according to the report.

Bond was set at $1,000 each by Justice of Peace Nat Lunsford.

Officers who assisted with the raid include Assistant Police Chief George Wallace, Lts. J.J. Ryzman and Gene Aufleger, Detective Fred Brown, Patrolmen Randy Stubblefield, Norman Rushing, Jim Miller and Traffic Officers Johnnie Fontenot and Sue Matthew. Two units of the Texas Department of Public Safety also assisted with the arrest.

He Wants To Abolish Property Tax

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UPI) — State Auditor George W. Lehr readily admits his views on Missouri's property tax system are extreme.

He wants to abolish the property tax. In office less than a year, Lehr, 37, has opened a campaign to stir public and legislative debate on the inequities of the property tax which he hopes will bring about its repeal by the end of 1977.

"I'm taking an extreme position on it, but I'm just trying to get a debate started," Lehr said in an interview. "We have an extremely bad situation — a crisis situation. You treat crises with extreme measures, you don't treat them with aspirin."

Lehr's office undertook a study of one per cent of the property in Missouri and the assessments on property sold in about 20,000 separate transactions. The results, released earlier this month, showed assessments ranged from 6.9 per cent in rural St. Claire County to 35 per cent in metropolitan St. Louis.

Another facet of the study revealed percentages of local inequities — or how widely the assessments could vary between plots in a given area. The lowest inequity percentage was found in St. Louis County, 18.2 per cent, and the highest in the City of St. Louis, 77 per cent.

According to Lehr, an inequity percentage of 15 per cent is considered tolerable by tax experts. California's percentage is held to about 15 per cent, he said.

"The situation in Missouri is clearly intolerable," he said. "It's just been out of control for so many years. The property tax can either be reformed or abolished."

"My opinion is it should be abolished. It would be much cheaper and more equitable."

"If you abolish the property tax, you've got to do it by a vote of the people. I'd like to spend the next year to have it debated and discussed. You can't do it in a week or a month, but it's got to be done in a relatively short period. Certainly not later than 1977."

Lehr sees hope of persuading the General Assembly to place the issue before the voters. Short of that he believes an initiative movement could easily draw the required 100,000 signatures to call a referendum.

But he acknowledged his largest problem will be generating debate on the property tax — a complex issue difficult for the average voter to understand.

"That's a question next to impossible to answer," Lehr said. "The thing that has perpetuated the property tax is the inability to convey to the people how badly they are being hurt by it."

"Seventy per cent of the people are paying it in their monthly home payments. Even if they know their own assessment, very, very few know what their neighbor's is. That where the hidden inequity lies. If you knew that your assessment was $900 and your neighbor's was $100, you'd be irate. But the fact is you don't know."

"If you rent, the costs are even more hidden. Plus, if you find out, you don't understand the appeals process. So you just take it as a necessary evil."

"In government, we have some responsibility to protect the people from inequities and see that they're not ripped off. As many ways as you turn it, you have to tax on a man's ability to pay. And the property tax no longer measures ability to pay."

If the tax is abolished, Lehr said its role in financing the state public school system would be absorbed into the sales and income taxes. But he does not believe that is a bad alternative. If the tax is not reformed or abolished by the people of Missouri, he said it is only a matter of time before it is done by the federal courts.

"The courts are beginning to rule you can't use the property tax unless it is equitably assessed," he said. "Before long, they are going to be reassessing. They're going to be taking away the control of the local government, and that will be disastrous."

Innocent of Unborn Murder

CHICAGO (UPI) — The first man in Illinois charged with murdering an unborn child has been found innocent but the issue of whether a fetus is protected by criminal laws was not answered during the trial.

Cook County Circuit Court Judge Louis B. Garippo Thursday found Melvin Morgan, 21, innocent of killing the 8½-month-old fetus of Bessie Connors.

Garippo, sitting in a bench trial, said he did not feel the prosecution proved Morgan was the man who shot Miss Connors in the abdomen during her late pregnancy.

Box 901 PAMPA, TEXAS

One of the most talked about and perhaps the most controversial topics in the Pampa area of late has been that of the CITIZENS BAND RADIO. The newspapers have written about it; Radio programs have talked about it; and now we as C.B.ers, feel that it is our turn to try to clear up a few things. C.B.ers, IT SEEMS, have been seen as misfits who chit-chat all day, who use profane language, and who generally use and abuse radios. To a point this is true; however, it is untrue of almost all C.B.ers almost all of the time. C.B.ers are first people from all facets of life. They all have one common interest in that they enjoy communication with each other, whether for general visiting, right up to emergency information. Channel abusers do exist with our hobby as do any other hobby. We would like to note that as of September 15, 1975, the FCC did revise their laws to include the use of the CB radio as a legal hobby. We do not like the abuse any more than the so called legals like it, but never-the-less, it is there. The abuser soon finds that he or she has no one to talk to. We do not intend to offend anyone, but with so many people with radios, the bad ones do exist. The same applies to many things; you can drive downtown and you will see someone run a light or exceed the speed limit all day long. . We hope you see our point.

The point has come up about rules. C.B.ers must have a license to operate. The biggest majority of the C.B.ers who use these famous handles do have a license. I as a spokesman, run by a handle, but I do have a license which I respect. I do not feel that I have offended anyone with the use of my handle.

We chat, but we can also be helpful as well. A lot has been said about giving highway patrol or "Smokey reports." They do avoid tickets, but most of all they do prove to slow traffic down in an area where they have been seen. Many patrolmen have commented in newspaper articles all over the country that the result was slowing the traffic. A tornado hit Lefors, many people with CB radios helped get information in and out of the stricken area. Although there was confusion, the people of Lefors will tell you that the C.B.ers helped clear this confusion and get help to them, which would not have been possible without their presence. If you question this, talk to the local RED CROSS Representative.

Near the first of September, an elderly man wandered away from a local nursing home. At the request of local law enforcement agencies, more than 100 mobile units voluntarily gave of their time, gas, and automobiles to join in the search. They covered the town and the countryside to find the man. Many even continued the search after it had been called off until morning.

Borger, Miami, Skellytown and many other towns were contacted. They also joined the search and we thank them for helping. They had no special interest except they cared enough to try and find this old man. He was finally found north-west of town about daylight.

One quite recent incident involved an automobile accident with injuries near our Pampa hospital. Upon sighting this accident, a group of our younger C.B.ers called on our Channel 9 the emergency channel monitored by the Pampa Police Department trying to get immediate help and to report the accident. After repeated tries to raise someone on Channel 9, they went to a local channel and called for a base where they knew someone was standing by at all times and information was relayed by telephone to the police department. It shows that the Pampa C.B.ers, young or old, were on the alert to help even when law enforcement was not. More-over, it shows that our younger C.B.ers care to help others and we are especially proud of them. We do not attempt to appear as glory seekers. We only desire to use and enjoy radios without being looked down upon with scorn by our peers. By the way, if you ever have an emergency or trouble on the road, your C.B.ers will be the ones to stop and help get you back on the road.

Your birthday today: A search for practicality dominates your life now. Your use of skills learned during the early and middle part of the year helps you to achieve unexpected efficiency and success in the last few months. Relationships are tested during this year since your work leaves you with little free time. Today's natives have a secret second nature that toughens them to accept the circumstances of this year.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Pursue a sensible round of activities. Don't work toward material goals or make financial maneuvers. Children require your attention.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Your plans get lost in the flurry of local events and your impulses cause you to make some clumsy moves. You have a better chance of getting what you want by keeping quiet now.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: If you've scheduled work, forget it. Health should be your greatest consideration. Avoid strenuous physical exertion. Plans you thought were firmly established go awry. Be thrifty.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Aside from bits of unexpected news, it's a quiet Sunday and a good day for getting exercise. Take time to collect scattered belongings. Organize your plans.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Dec. 19]: Don't let minor changes upset you. You can recover your original program if you're patient. Check on stories you hear. You gain prestige if you maintain a pleasant manner.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Participate in the usual community customs. Do only what you must until the afternoon when your energy level rises. Events of the evening are significant—Express your feelings.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Relationships are a little on the touchy side. It's better to be somewhat impersonal than to rush ahead with erratic moves. Make some changes in your day-to-day habits.

MONDAY, NOV. 3

Your birthday today: Start your year with a clean slate. Proceed with optimism and leave negative attitudes behind. Some ties or projects break off abruptly. Begin a new job in a new field and spend the first year in preliminary training. New relationships build very slowly; old ones are difficult to maintain. Today's natives have a faculty for showmanship, are usually wealthy but live frugally.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Events have a clearcut quality to them. Streamline your operations. Snap at a chance to ask questions that show where you stand. Be precise with figures.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: You can make some important innovations if you're on the right track. Cooperation produces odd but very favorable results. Just don't insist on dominating group decisions.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Make a point-blank request for what you want. You'll either get it or find out why not and clarify your situation. Reevaluate your goals or job; seek a brighter attitude within yourself.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Look around for potential resources, then put in a bid for what is needed. There'll be delays in pulling matters together, so get rid of superfluous items.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: You have time today to end old problems. You have important help from surprising sources, and people who don't usually intervene if you go about it tactfully.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Communication is your key to success; build around a recent turning-point in your life. Don't let anything get in your way. Break away from outdated methods and prepare for a new approach.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: State your case and ask for a full range of benefits, even though little will come of it immediately. Pitch in to do your best under existing conditions.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]:

Columnists Report Caroline's Boyfriend

LONDON (UPI) — Newspaper gossip columnists today said Caroline Kennedy has spurned her mother's request to come home in favor of staying in London to be near her new boyfriend, the 24-year-old nephew of a multimillionaire.

He was identified as Mark Shand, an English art dealer whose uncle is Lord Ashcombe. The Ashcombe family built Belgravia, one of London's most fashionable neighborhoods. Both the Daily Mail and Evening News said Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis asked Caroline, 18, to return to New York following her escape last week in a bombing attack. Caroline is in London for an eight-month art course.

"Among the reasons why Caroline Kennedy refused to return," the Daily Mail said, "is a handsome young Englishman...the relationship has begun to blossom."

The Evening News carried the couple's picture on the front page today over a caption saying "they danced and stayed close together until six in the morning, when the last guests left a private wedding reception."

"Caroline, it seems, has her sights set firmly on 24-year-old Mark, and she is staying put."

Miss Kennedy, the daughter of the late President John F. Kennedy, was not available for comment. She has refused to speak to reporters since her arrival in London last month. Since he travels extensively, it said, she has been dating several of his friends.

DEA Predicts Long Winter

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — With a bumper poppy crop reported ready for harvest in Mexico, federal officials are worried about their ability to stem the flow of heroin across the border this winter.

After a congressman appealed "the urgency of this crisis" along the 1,533 mile long border to President Ford the officials cited these new impediments:

- The Drug Enforcement Administration's budget was cut along with those of other drug-related federal agencies.
- The Supreme Court placed added restrictions on searches of automobiles at inland Border Patrol checkpoints.
- The Privacy Act which went into effect at the end of September subjects federal intelligence agents to $5,000 fines for illegally disclosing certain information to other drug agents at the local level.
- Law Enforcement Assistance Administration grants that supported federal-local narcotics task forces in Houston and San Antonio ran out and cooperative efforts were suspended.

The disbanded San Antonio task force alone arrested 124 persons and seized more than $3.9 million in heroin and cocaine in the first six months of this year.

"I cannot stress too strongly the urgency of this crisis," said Rep. Charles B. Rangel, D-N.Y., in urging the President Ford to meet with Mexican President Luis Echeverria to discuss a cooperative effort to halt mass smuggling. Rangel said on his return from the opium-producing Sierra Madre region of Mexico he was shocked to learn previous estimates of an 11-ton crop were much too low.

Heroin is coming into the United States mainly from Mexico now, the DEA said, because the "French connection" has been disconnected. A DEA study said 90 per cent of the samples of confiscated heroin in 13 cities in the first half of 1975 were processed in Mexico, up from 40 per cent in 1972.

DEA regional chief Jack Salter of Dallas, in charge of federal narcotics investigation for 800 miles of the U.S. Mexican border from Brownsville to El Paso, said the agency had to hire 50 more people in Washington and spend $2.5 million just to comply with the Privacy Act at a time its budget already was pared.

"That's a lot of money," Salter said. "If we had that money available to us, it would go a long way toward perhaps giving us some extra capabilities for controlling the traffic."

Salter also said the Supreme Court ruling that requires Border Patrol agents to establish probable cause to search an automobile also hampers narcotics confiscations.

William Kline, head of the San Antonio DEA office, said the heroin comes out of Mexico by air, land and sea but in his 28-county area, located on a main route to the interior of Mexico, most comes by motor vehicles.

Governor Edwards Top La. Candidate

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Large numbers of Louisiana voters, spurred by good weather and a highly contested election, Saturday turned out to elect a governor and seven other statewide officers.

Incumbent Gov. Edwin Edwards, 48, a dapper, French-speaking Cajun, was the strong favorite to lead the field of six Democrats seeking the governor's post. No Republicans sought the office.

Ideal autumn weather, with clear to partly cloudy skies and temperatures in the low 70s throughout the state, indicated Elections Commissioner Douglas Fowler's prediction of a voter turnout of up to 74 per cent could prove accurate.

Almost 1.8 million voters were eligible to cast ballots in the election held under Louisiana's new system which eliminates party primaries and places all candidates, regardless of party affiliation, on the same ballot.

A candidate needs to win more than 50 per cent of the vote to be victorious. If no candidate wins a majority the top two candidates in each race will face each other in a Dec. 13 runoff election.

All but one of the 38 candidates for governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, agriculture commissioner, insurance commissioner and elections commissioner were Democrats.

A lone Republican ran for lieutenant governor.

Voter turnout was above normal early in the day, with few problems reported at polling stations.

Epilepsy Group Sets Meeting

Increasing Panhandle awareness of the incidence of epilepsy will be the focus of a public information meeting in Amarillo Nov. 6, sponsored by High Plains Epilepsy Association.

The program will deal with the psycho-social as well as the medical aspects of epilepsy, according to Betty Brown of Pampa, executive director of the Amarillo-based agency. The association estimates 6,800 residents of the Panhandle-Plains area have epilepsy.

Featured speaker will be Thomas E. Zion, M.D. of Houston. Dr. Zion is chief of neurology at Texas Childrens Hospital, Houston, director of the Blue Bird Circle children's clinic, Baylor College of Medicine and president-elect of the Western Institute on Epilepsy.

The meeting will open at 7:30 p.m. at Pickens Auditorium, Kilgore Childrens Psychiatric Center, Amarillo.

The incidence of epilepsy has been gauged at 2 per cent among the general population. The High Plains Epilepsy Association is the area's only agency organized expressly in behalf of persons with epilepsy.

Future Projects—Main Concern of ToT Club

Discussion of future projects will be on the agenda at Monday night's meeting of the Top O' Texas Democratic Club at 7:30 p.m. in the Hospitality Room of the Citizens Bank & Trust Co.

J.L. Holmes, club president, said the meeting will be devoted entirely to business matters.

For several months past the club has presented a speaker at each meeting in order to provide better communication between voters and elected officials.

Membership in the club is open to any citizen interested in strengthening the area's political structure, Holmes stated.

"It is important that we have a good attendance at Monday night's meeting," he said, "in order to take care of some matters that will further club objectives."

Pasadena Man Gets $1 Million For Eyes Damaged in Accident

HOUSTON (UPI) — Jurists have awarded damages of $1 million to a man who claimed he lost partial sight because of a faulty car window glass and $810,000 to the survivors of a car-truck-train accident.

Curtis Lee Simmons, 28, of Pasadena, sued General Motors Corp. because a side window pane in his 1962 Chevrolet exploded in his eyes when his car was struck in the side by a truck in 1972.

He said he has no sight in his left eye and his right eye is badly scarred.

A jury in State District Judge James Wallace's court found the glass was not chemically treated to prevent shattering as required on cars produced after 1968.

Expenditures for transportation of people and products on highways represent 18 per cent of the U.S. Gross National Product.

Paul Harvey Visits Pampans

Members and guests of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors entertained news commentator Paul Harvey Thursday evening in the Pampa Club over cocktails and a buffet dinner.
Harvey met many Pampans and even took notes during conversations with a few of them.
At the dinner, presided over by C.E. Steel, the bicentennial committee presented the newsmen with a set of Gray County bicentennial coins.
Quick-witted Harvey commented, "I knew I would live to see the day when New York City would be begging and Texas would be minting its own money."
On his Friday noon radio broadcast, Harvey paid tribute to Pampa... a million dollar commercial for the town.
He told his listeners that Pampa was a town where all 22,000 of the residents seemed to be working together. He mentioned the history of Pampa, linked with the White Deer Land Company. He talked about the clean town with good schools and many churches. He noted that while most high school bands have one good piccolo player and Pampa has four.
The band and choirs demonstrated their skills as they presented "American Hymn," "Stars and Stripes Forever," "God Bless America," "The Blue and the Gray," and "This Land is Your Land."
Harvey reportedly sat in the back of M.K. Brown Auditorium and listened to the program which preceded his talk on "A Time To Be Alive."

Valium May Cause Defects

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Valium, Librium and other tranquilizers taken during pregnancies may increase the risk of birth defects, the Food and Drug Administration says in a warning it is preparing for health professionals.
Valium is the most widely prescribed drug in the United States.

The Center for Disease Control found in a study in the Atlanta area that babies with cleft lips were being born more frequently to women who had taken valium during their pregnancy than to those who had not.
The FDA said Wednesday it was preparing a drug bulletin on valium, librium and tranquilizers containing meprobamate but it would not be issued "any time soon."

At Wit's End

By ERMA BOMBECK

By ERMA BOMBECK
Memo To: Abraham Beame, Mayor, New York City
From: Bill Bombeck
Re: New York City's Financial Plight
God knows my wife has done what she could to help you people get on your feet again.
She did for ygu what she has done for slumping economies in Miami, San Francisco, Boston, Dallas, Freeport, and Disneyworld...spent more money than I am making.
Last week as she sat reading the newspaper, she looked up, her eyes misting, and said, "New York needs me."
With that, she packed a few things in a large bag (an old Save - the - Economy trick) and headed for Puri - diess City.
It is not easy living with a crusader who is single - handedly fighting the battle of supply and demand.
She has a credit card for Al's Bait Shop.
She goes to a hospital to have surgery and brings home presents for everyone.
She checks out $50 worth of stuff at the supermarkets and does not have one edible item in the cart.

She carries a "deferred account" at the bakery.
For the last five years, she has been going to garage sales. We own four garages - one of them in New Jersey.
She can buy for her entire Christmas list in a tool & die shop.
She is the first woman ever to suffer finger burns from a smoking American express card.
The other night in a restaurant she said, "Give me $5. I am going to the restroom."
"What do you need with $5 in a restroom?"
"I might see something I want to buy."
"There is nothing to buy in a restroom."
"You said that at the mortuary."
As a man with deep feelings of gratitude, you are, I suspect, thrashing about for some way of repaying my wife for her services to New York City. May I suggest when you make out the fiscal budget in two weeks ... you go without her support.
She is in deep depression over the W.T. Grant Company and cries constantly. "Where was I when they needed me?"
Regards.

UT To Sponsor Classes For Illiterate Texans

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) - A University of Texas research group has found almost a third of the American adult population does not know the normal temperature of the human body and about 40 per cent cannot fill out a bank deposit slip correctly.
Dr. Norvell Northcutt, director of the research project, said about 23 million adults were "functionally illiterate," and said another 34.7 million were "functionally incompetent."
"Contrary to popular belief, many adults do not have that basic education for living which is indicated for even minimal levels of success," Northcutt said.
He said those in the functionally incompetent category had problems in consumer economics. He said they had difficulty deciding such things as which package of cereal was the best buy.
The study classified 39 million Americans as "competent," saying they could function on a minimal level and only 37.6 per cent of the nation's adults are proficient concerning consumer economics.
The basic premise of the research was that literacy means more than being able to read and write one's name, or to add and subtract.

"In a highly developed country such as ours," Northcutt said, "almost everyone can do these kinds of things. Literacy includes such terms as coping skills, life skills and competencies."

So the university has decided to hold classes to teach functionally illiterate adults how to fill out job applications, plan meals, get insurance coverage and do other things they find difficult in their everyday lives.
The school says the state needs such a program, because recent research has found 20 per cent of all Texas adults are functionally illiterate.

"Our No. 1 job is to attract people who have not attained a high school diploma," said Arnold Nored, coordinator of curriculum development for the project.
"We should persuade them there is a way for them to become qualified, to keep them there and to give them something to show for what they already have accomplished as adults."

The research study said 20 per cent of the adult population had difficulty functioning, 30.6 per cent were only minimally competent in handling the daily matters of living and about half the state's residents were functionally proficiently.

The UT plan, called the Adult Performance Level External High School Diploma Program for Texas, will make it possible for adults to obtain high school diplomas.
Students in the program will be expected to fill out a job application form, select a type of insurance, plan meals, chart five methods of birth control or present proof of participation in the governmental process before going on to the next phase.

In the second phase of the program, the student demonstrates abilities in the area of his choice - either a vocational area, an advanced academic area that could lead to post-secondary education, or a vocational area.
When the student is certified competent, he will be issued a regular high school diploma from the local school district.
"The aim is a humanistic determination of competencies which are relevant to life situations," said Elaine Shelton, project coordinator.

She said diplomas will not be "giveaways" and may require higher standards of performance than traditional programs.
"We want this to be a very creditable diploma. Educators need to design curricula which is based on real-life situations," she said.

Mainly About Mobeetie

TEXAS TALK

By Doug Howard

Beef industry promoters may be talking apples when consumers are listening oranges. That seems to be the essence of how per capita consumption of beef should be explained. Standard has been to relate the per capita consumption to the number of pounds of beef carcass. Such figures make this year's consumption about 116 pounds per person. Marketing specialists feel that makes the average consumer feel they are eating more beef than they should. J. D. Sartwell, past chairman of the Livestock Merchandising Institute, says 116 pounds of carcass beef equals only 45 pounds of cooked meat. Sartwell says the amount of cooked meat eaten per day per person is less than two ounces. Beef backers are suddenly cast in a more favorable selling position when they call for increasing consumption from two ounces rather than from 116 pounds. That's oranges to oranges... or is it T-bone to T-bone?

Hearsts Will Not Believe Patty Is Revolutionary

By RAY KIPP
Copley News Service

SAN FRANCISCO — Catherine and Randolph Hearst have never wavered in their devotion to the third of their five daughters in a year and a half of waiting.

Even in the face of almost overwhelming evidence to the contrary, they have publicly clung to the belief that Patricia Campbell Hearst was a victim, not a soldier, of the revolutionary Symbionese Liberation Army.

From their daughter's kidnaping to her arrest in San Francisco Sept. 18, the Hearsts have exhibited a parental faith not even their own millions could buy.

Now they have made it clear they are prepared to spend whatever is needed of the Hearst fortune to convince a judge, jury and the American people they were right.

The bizarre scenario of Patty Hearst and the SLA and the largest manhunt ever organized includes a total of 22 federal and state charges against the 21-year-old newspaper heiress. Among the charges are bank robbery, kidnaping, armed robbery, intent to commit murder, possession and the use of an illegal automatic weapon and car theft.

The defense strategy already has been outlined by the team of attorneys gathered from the conservative and liberal spectra who will be prepared to represent her. It will be argued that Patty was a prisoner of war, held by the SLA.

The defense will claim the University of California, Berkeley, coed was taken from her apartment on Feb. 4, 1974, was drugged, tortured and brainwashed into a puppet, not a member, of that terrorist organization.

Part of that brainwashing, according to Terence Hallinan, the liberal attorney selected by Miss Hearst, was to tell her that her family had abandoned her and would not comply with the terms for her release.

Whatever time proves to be truth or fantasy about the Patty Hearst story, Catherine and Randolph Hearst can never be accused of abandoning their daughter.

"Randolph Hearst is a devoted father and one who has spent most of his waking hours for the last 19 months trying to get his daughter back," said Reg Murphy, newly appointed editor and publisher of the Hearst-owned San Francisco Examiner.

Murphy himself was kidnaped and held for a $700,000 ransom for two days in February, 1974, when he was editor of the Atlanta Constitution newspaper.

Murphy, who agreed to be interviewed as a newsman who knows the Hearsts and not as a Hearst spokesman, said he feels the parents still firmly believe Patty did not change into a revolutionary named Tania by her own free will. But it would not change their feelings for her even if she had, Murphy said.

"There's no question about the fact they are prepared to stand behind her," Murphy said of the Examiner's president and Catherine, his quiet, deeply religious wife of 37 years.

San Francisco attorney James Martin MacInnis has been preparing to handle Patty's case for some time. Mrs. Hearst told me on the flight from Los Angeles to San Francisco as she hurried home from a University of California regents meeting after learning of her daughter's capture.

Whether the defense already had been developed before Miss Hearst selected Hallinan as her attorney is an open question.

But the Hearsts have consistently held the view that their daughter was coerced.

Arriving in San Francisco from New York after learning of Patricia's arrest just a few miles from the Hearst penthouse on Nob Hill, Randolph told newsmen, "I don't think very much is going to happen to her, because she was a kidnap victim, you know."

FDA To Rule Sleep Aids

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration hopes to formulate within the next few months regulations that will force manufacturers of over-the-counter sleep aids and daytime tranquilizers to make their products safe and to cease false advertising claims.

The regulations, rather than court action by the Federal Trade Commission, would be used to answer scientific evidence that has developed over the past three years questioning the effectiveness and safety of the nonprescription products.

At a Senate monopoly subcommittee hearing Thursday, Joan Bernstein, acting director of the FTC's Bureau of Consumer Protection, said the FTC decided not to take immediate action against the over-the-counter drug manufacturers because court litigation against each product would have been long and difficult.

Rather, Mrs. Bernstein said, the FTC will wait for a "monograph" being prepared by the FDA that will specify what ingredients are safe for the products and propose needed labeling changes.

Ben Gordon, a staff member of the monopoly subcommittee, said the regulations will require removal of all bromides and an alkaloid component known as scopolamine from the sleep aids. Mrs. Bernstein also said the manufacturers will be barred from saying their products produce "natural" or "normal" sleep.

Agriculturally Speaking

A recent publication just released from the Agricultural Statistician's Office shows the 1974 Gray County gross agricultural income dropped $5.5 million as compared to 1973. It dropped from $35 million in 1973 to $29.5 million in 1974.

Substantial drops in cattle prices and the wheat crop failure in 1974 were the primary causes for the drop. Gross Agricultural Income figures mean a great deal to the economy of the business area but have little significance as to how well a farmer is progressing economically. Fact is, there were probably more total and substantial losses shown on farmers' and ranchers' income tax returns in Gray County in 1974 than any year in the last four decades. Why?

Wheat crop failure, high incidence of hail on irrigated land, severest drop in history of cattle business and, most importantly, inflationary cost on things farmers purchase.

Irrigation wells that cost less than $300 per month to operate three or four years ago now cost a $1,000. A barrel of engine oil that cost in the neighborhood of $40 a barrel a short two years ago now costs from $75 to $90. Diesel fuel for a farm tractor has gone from less than 15 cents per gallon to close to 35 cents.

Anhydrous Ammonia has gone from $50 per ton to as high as $225 per ton.

A roll of barbed wire has gone from $9 per spool to $25 per spool. Steel fence posts have gone from 80 cents to over $2. Most all chemicals have advanced 250 percent.

Combining jumped from $3 per acre to as high as $6 and $7 per acre dryland. Aerial application of a hormone weed killer has jumped from $1.50 per acre to $3.

You could go on and on with examples of the inflationary affect on farmers and ranchers. Prices of very few items seem to come down with the exception of the farm products a farmer has to sell.

Parity price as determined by the Agricultural Department is a price of a given farm product that is considered fair in relation to what farmers and ranchers have to buy. If calves were selling at parity price today, they would be bringing $69 per hundred. What are they bringing? ... $26.20 per hundred pounds. Parity price on all beef cattle is $56.50 but the average Texas price is $32.80. Parity price on milo is $5.21 but today's price is little over $4. Parity price on wheat is $4.67 cents but the price Wednesday is $3.77 at the local elevator.

Again, we would like to say agricultural dollars are new dollars and mean a great deal more to a community than any other type of income because the farmer or rancher that made these dollars spent the biggest part of them with local businessmen in his community. A Pampa wheat farmer who sold $40,000 worth of wheat that went to Russia, has pumped $40,000 out of Russia and released it into the Pampa trade territory. This is what I mean by new money. This same farmer might have had $40,000 in expense and thus no net income.

According to figures of the Texas Wheat Producers and others, today's price of wheat, $3.77 per bushel, just about covers cost of production.

Other Trade Territory Counties
Agricultural Income in Ochiltree County in 1974 - $54 million, 1973 $71 million; Wheeler in 1974 - $20 million, 1973 $26 million; Hemphill County in 1974 - $11 million, 1973 - $13 million; Lipscomb - 1974 - $13 million, 1973 $18 million; Roberts - 1974 - $5 million, 1973 - $7 million.

In the six - county Pampa trade territory, the Gross Agricultural Income was $171.5 million in 1973 and was $132 million in 1974. This is a $39.5 million or almost $40 million drop from 1973 to 1974. The Gross Agricultural Income from the six counties looks like this since 1969 - $72 million; 1970 - $79 million; 1971 - $90 million; 1972 - $113 million and 1973 - $132 million.

Agrifacts . . .
Irrigated hay fields just before the Revolution yielded three mowings or 2 1/2 tons per acre. Without water, there was just one mowing.

Land Prices Boost Farm Assets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Higher prices for farm land and equipment, primarily the result of inflation, pushed the value of farm assets nationwide up 9.3 per cent in 1974 despite the greatest drop in poultry and livestock values ever recorded.

Fed Screwworm Campaign Prevents $200 Million Loss

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government's $13.5 million a year screwworm eradication campaign does not work well all the time, but it has a good track record overall and is preventing more than $200 million a year in damage to cattle, says a report prepared for Congress.

The study of the operation which the Agriculture Department conducts in cooperation with officials and ranchers in some Southwestern states and the Mexican government, was made at the request of a House agricultural appropriations subcommittee.

A copy of the study, made available by the department, showed that Dr. Charles Lincoln of the University of Arkansas and Dr. W.G. Eden, formerly of the University of Florida, concluded that in the last decade the program had seven good years, three fair years and one "terrible" year. "That's not a bad track record," the report concluded.

The two entomology experts, who have 78 years of professional experience between them, said they had never seen an insect control program with so much public support.

The control system is based on mass rearing of sterile male screwworm flies which keep the population down by mating with normal female flies. The report added that new research is needed to find chemicals which can attract the flies to traps. The experts added that the job of controlling the flies has become more difficult because of a sharp increase in the number of "host" animals — like cattle and game — in the Southwest in recent years.

The average value of farm land per acre jumped from $310 at the beginning of 1974 to $354 in early 1975, with crop farming areas showing larger gains than predominantly livestock areas.

North Dakota and Minnesota farm land up 37 and 30 per cent respectively had the greatest jumps in the nation. Other states registering a 20 year cent or higher increase were Idaho, South Dakota, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware. By contrast, land in Texas, Arizona and Nevada showed virtually no change in value.

Motor vehicles and farm machinery increased substantially in value as prices shot up as a result of inflationary pressures.

At $24.6 billion, the value of livestock and poultry on farms in 1975 was only about 60 per cent the value of a year earlier the sharpest drop ever recorded. Every class of livestock and poultry experienced a drop in value, but cattle and calves were hit the hardest, with the average value per head almost cut in half.

Farmer owned crop inventories increased $1.1 billion in 1974 to reach a record $23.2 billion. The more valuable stored crops were corn, hay and forage, soybeans, and wheat. Except for wheat higher prices rather than larger quantities caused the increase in value of stored crops. On the other side of the ledger farm debt outstanding on Jan. 1, 1975, totaled $81.8 billion, $7.7 billion more than on Jan. 1, 1974. Debt secured by farm real estate was $46.3 billion, up $5 billion or 12 per cent during 1974. Non real estate farm debt on Jan. 1, 1975, totaled $35.2 billion up 8 per cent from a year earlier.

As with farm real estate loans short and intermediate terms loans did not accumulate as rapidly during 1974 as in 1973. Economists said deteriorating cattle markets and greater caution among farmers in general affected their willingness to borrow heavily for operating purposes and for machinery.

Also the relatively high farm income in 1974 allowed farmers to pay cash for a larger proportion of purchases thereby reducing the need to borrow.

Gourmet Gardening

To be cutting some sprigs of chives into your baked potato or dropping some breadleaf sorrel into your homemade soup or sprinkling basil into your salad dressing; hardly unusual for most cooks.

But what if all these were fresh herbs that had been grown in your own kitchen window? That would be unusual, but not so hard as it may seem. Many people are learning how simple it is to grow herbs in their homes and are discovering what a difference these fresh spices make in the tastiness of home cooking.

Many herbs can be bought in seed form and some may be obtained as live plants from your local nursery garden center. If you start with seeds, you can get free consultation on how to prepare the soil, how to plant and water the seeds, and how much heat and light to provide.

Try your hand at herb gardening by starting with a few plants — no more than four or five. Then when you see how well you do and how your family responds to your fresh spices, you'll probably be expanding your indoor farm and sharing your crop with envious neighbors.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS
In our column last week we carried some facts and figures on the amount of water in storage in the 45 - county area of the High Plains underlain by the Ogallala underground water reservoir. We singled out Roberts, Gray, Carson, Donley, Armstrong and Potter Counties. We listed the approximate volume in acre feet in these counties. The estimates were compiled by the Texas Water Development Board and the Water Conservation District.

The Texas Water Development Board's computer analysis for Texas Water Plan purposes was restricted to the 45 - county area. The Texas Commissioner of Agriculture's office and Water Inc. have gone a step farther and have added 11 High Plains counties of Eastern New Mexico to an agriculture production study. The 11 counties are also underlain by the Ogallala underground water formation. Should water ever be imported to West Texas they will also be included.

An interindustry analysis of the Texas High Plains compiled by Osborn and McCray in 1972 for the Governor's Division of Planning Coordination revealed that in 1970 the Texas High Plains contained 8.6 percent of the Texas population and 22.8 percent of the total land area of Texas. This figure is easily noted as covering more than one-fifth of the area of Texas. Their study coupled with the study made by the Texas Agriculture Commissioner's office gives great depth and backing to the need for a supplemental source of water for the High Plains. Statistics in the Agriculture Commissioner's office for 1973 estimated that the West Texas High Plains agricultural production accounted for 67 per cent of the state's cotton, 53 per cent of the state's grain sorghum, 72 per cent of the state's wheat and over 79 per cent of the fed cattle marketed in Texas. Cattle marketed from the High Plains feedlots in 1973 provided the red meat demanded by approximately 20 million people according to figures compiled by economist Tommy Swann of Water Incorporated. Data compiled by Swann in 1974 also revealed that 22 per cent of the nation's grain sorghum was produced in the 45 counties of the Texas High Plains and the 11 - county area of Eastern New Mexico. Swann points out that grain sorghums was the essential factor for the initial location and subsequent growth of the cattle feeding industry in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

Irrigated wheat has also given a big assist to the cattle feeding industry through stocker cattle grazing programs. Swann points out also that, on the average, winter wheat is available for four months without having an adverse effect on harvesting. The normal grazing period usually begins in mid-November and ends in mid-March. The cattle are then moved to the feedlots. This year James Stalls, a cattle and grain farmer, planted his winter wheat several weeks earlier than normal and by mid-October already was grazing stocker cattle on the winter wheat. Irrigated winter wheat for cattle grazing has provided a needed new source of cash for the cattle farmer who was hurt by the world cattle market. Winter wheat also has brought about a people contentment aspect as it has provided a cover for the land during the winter months and has significantly cut down on the dust storms in West Texas.

Our state and national leaders are painfully aware that only two years ago our country was floundering in the red on the international balance of payments. The tremendous West Texas irrigated grain crops not only pulled us out of the red but put us soundly in the black.

West Texas has proven that it has the capacity for food and fiber production. The demand for food and fiber production is growing with each passing year. The role of our area in meeting this demand is almost unlimited given adequate supplemental water.

The Governor's Task Force on Water and Natural Resources believes that food and fiber production from the 10 million acres of land now irrigated in Texas and the increased production that could be realized from the potentially irrigable 35 million acres in the state, can be a powerful weapon in the fight to feed the hungry world. United Press International wire service carried the news Tuesday that massive economic aid was being sent by the United States to Bangladesh. Over $1 billion will be given that country by the end of 1975 with over half of it in food supplies.

4-H Leader Training was held Oct. 23 in Borger with representatives from each county in District I attending. Frank Morrison, chairman of Gray County 4-H Council, participated in Junior Leadership Training. Lilith Brainard, chairman of the Gray County Adult Leader's Association, attended a special session for Adult Leaders. Layton Barton and Marilyn Shirley also attended.

The Gray County 4-H Council will meet Nov. 8 instead of Nov. 1 as was scheduled. Final plans will be made for the annual Achievement Banquet to be held Nov. 15 at the McLean Country Club.

The Gray County 4-H Horse Club held a box supper and dance Oct. 24 at the Bull Barn.

The affair was a success and drew a large number of 4-H members and their guests. Music for the dance was supplied by a juke box donated by the Panhandle Amusement Company.

At what age am I able to start receiving benefits from the individual Retirement Act? Are the earnings taxable? Will I be able to borrow on this account? Under IRA you may begin to receive benefits at age 59 1/2. If you become disabled, these funds are available at time of disability. The funds are available to beneficiaries at time of death. As with most savings instruments, there are penalties if the funds are withdrawn prior to these three circumstances. The interest earnings are not taxable... you are earning interest which is tax free, as opposed to money in regular savings accounts. You cannot borrow on the account or use the money as security in obtaining a loan. IRA's purpose is to assure you retirement security with money that is well protected and available only in the appropriate circumstances.

Agriculture Department economists report.

In a study called "The Balance Sheet of the Farming Sector," total farm assets on Jan. 1, 1975, were placed at $320.2 billion, up $44.3 billion from January 1974. Real estate values rose $46.1

billions or 14.1 per cent, while machinery and motor vehicles increased $11.6 billion or 26.2 per cent.

But the value of livestock and poultry plunged $17.8 billion in 1974 a 42.1 per cent decrease blamed almost entirely on lower value of cattle and calves.

PHS Bombards Borger, Stays in Race

By PAUL SIMS Sports Editor
BORGER — Pampa rode three third-quarter touchdowns to a 33-0 shellacking of Borger and stayed alive in the District 3-AAAA race before a rain-soaked crowd of around 4,000, which dwindled to a few hundred long before the game's end Friday in Bulldog Stadium there.
 Pampa, now 6-2 for the season and 2-1 in the district play, will challenge defending league champion Amarillo Palo Duro Friday in Harvester Stadium. Palo Duro upped its season and district records to 7-0-1 and 3-0 with a 35-21 win over Amarillo High, 4-4 and 2-1, Saturday in Dick Bivins Stadium at Amarillo.
 In the weekend's other District 3-AAAA encounter, Caprock whipped Tascosa 34-12 in a battle between Amarillo schools Friday to also stay in contention for the 3-AAAA title. Caprock is 6-2 and 2-1, while Tascosa falls to 1-7 and 0-3.

 Borger now is 2-5-1 and 0-3, having lost its last nine district games. The Bulldogs also suffered their second straight shutout, having fallen to Palo Duro 27-0 a week earlier.
 Pampa jumped out to a 14-0 halftime lead and pulled away from the Bulldogs in the third quarter.
 Capitalizing on mistakes from the game's start, Pampa took over possession on the Borger 30, when tackle Dob Taylor recovered a Borger fumble at 10:31 in the third quarter. It took the visitors four plays to score, with halfback Ricky Moore breaking five yards off right tackle for the touchdown at 8:53 in the period. Joe Couts kicked the extra point, making it 21-0.
 The big gainer in the drive was a 21-yard scamper by quarterback Garland

McPherson, who moved the ball to Borger's eight.
 Pampa struck again on Borger's ensuing series, as noseguard Pat Bailey blocked a Rusty Haney punt, which rolled to the Bulldog 11. Three plays later, Mike Glover, who carried on the first two and picked up five on each carry, dived over from one yard out. Couts' kick, at 6:16 in the third quarter, was wide as Pampa held a 27-0 advantage.
 Opportunistic Pampa started another scoring drive after Dave Edwards intercepted a Robin McCarty pass on the Pampa 47 and returned it 19 yards to the Borger 34. A clipping penalty against the Harvesters moved the ball back to the Borger 45.
 Glover capped a six-play drive, which included a 23-yard run by David Caldwell on the first play, with a four-yard touchdown run with 2:09 left in the third quarter. Couts' boot this time was low.

 McCarty was the third Borger quarterback, sharing playing time with starter Randy Meek and Brett Lang, who played most of the game but was hindered with a broken thumb on his left hand.
 Pampa's first touchdown came following an interception by Tony Stafford, who gave Pampa possession on Borger's 10. On the first play from there, Caldwell scored. Couts missed the extra point.
 Phillip Seely picked off a Lang pass on the Pampa 49 and returned it to Borger's 18 to ruin Borger's next series and set up the game's second score. Four plays later, McPherson passed to Gary Stee for a 22-yard gain, which gave Pampa first down on Borger's one.
 On the next play, Caldwell dived over for the TD. McPherson added two points with the conversion run. Borger tried to close the gap before the half ended, driving to the Pampa 24, but Bailey sacked Lang for a 10-yard loss to end the second quarter.

 Pampa had two other chances to score in the first quarter. A punt, which was blown backward for a seven-yard loss, gave Pampa the ball on Borger's 10, but four plays netted only seven yards. Frank Stowers' fumble recovery started a Pampa drive on the 17; however, Borger held on its own four.
 Pampa marched from the Borger 35 to the two, starting with 40 seconds left in the third quarter and ending at 9:09 in the second quarter, when Borger took over on downs.
 "We finally got our offense rolling and moved the ball pretty good. I hate to lose any scoring opportunities, especially when we get down that close." Pampa coach John Weiborn said.

 Caldwell gained 85 yards on 12 carries for Pampa, which amassed 243 yards on the ground. Other Pampa ground gainers included John Agan, five for 43; McPherson, eight for 38; Glover, nine for 32; Paul Sloan, four for 24, and Moore, seven for 18.
 Borger's leading rusher was Mickey Robertson with six carries for 32 yards.

Nebraska Rips Tigers

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — With the football between his legs and Missouri players thundering past him, Nebraska's John O'Leary wasn't too sure about the "Bummeroski" play.
 But when O'Leary finally pulled the ball up into his arms and took off running near the end of the first half Saturday, he sailed 40 yards untouched for the crucial touchdown in a 30-7 victory for the third-ranked and unbeaten Cornhuskers.
 "You have to delay about two or three counts," O'Leary said of the fake punt play, where he had to hold the ball between his legs after it was slipped to him from behind.
 Missouri's No. 50 (defensive tackle Tom Cooper) was trying to throw me out of the way to chase the reverse. There wasn't anybody else. I wasn't looking, though. I was praying."

 Said Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne, "Our biggest worry was the exchange. In practice they fumbled two out of every three times."
 "We felt the momentum slipping a little bit right then. That play allowed us to come in at the half with a good feeling."
 The play, which Stanford used to beat Michigan in the 1972 Rose Bowl, 13-12, startled a sellout crowd of 68,195 and a national television audience. The television network, incidentally, missed the play entirely, even though it had seven cameras trained on the field.

But few of those on the scene saw it, either.
 The victory elevated Nebraska to an 8-0 record and brought 12th-ranked Missouri to a 5-3.
 Nebraska's trick play came with 1:46 left in the first half after Missouri had pulled within 10-7. Facing fourth-and-five at the Missouri 40, Randy Lessman dropped back to punt.
 The snap, however, went to fullback Tony Davis, who pushed the football forward between O'Leary's legs where it was held while Davis and tailback Monte Anthony peeled toward the right side.
 When the pursuit turned toward Anthony and Davis, O'Leary plucked the ball from between his legs and covered the 40 yards around the left side untouched. He was close to the goal line before anyone — either Missouri players or fans — realized he had the football.
 Nebraska struck again near the end of the third quarter finishing Missouri finally. Leo Lewis fumbled a punt and Greg Jorgensen recovered for the Cornhuskers at the Missouri 37.
 On first down, quarterback Vince Ferragamo lofted a touchdown pass to Bobby Thomas, putting the game out of reach at 23-7.

Cal Surprises Trojans 28-14

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Chuck Muncie upstaged Ricky Bell Saturday in a show-case performance that upset California to a 28-14 keyed over fourth-ranked Southern California.
 Muncie, Cal's all-purpose running back, rushed for a 146 yards and grabbed six passes for 62 more that helped the Bears beat the Trojans for first time in five seasons.
 The victory gave California a 4-1 record in the Pacific-8 Conference and 5-3 mark overall. The Trojans, meanwhile, lost their first game of the year after seven victories and saw their undefeated string snapped at 18. Tat left them 3-1 in the Pac-8 and 7-1 overall.

 Muncie did not score any of California's four touchdowns but clearly he was the player who kept all four drives going and made most of the key yardage. It marked the fifth time this season he has gained more than 200 yards in both running and passing.
 Wide receiver Wesley Walker, tight end George Freitas, quarterback Joe Roth and running back Tom Newton scored the Cal touchdowns, the last two crossing over in the final period for the points that gave the Bears the victory.
 Walker took a 16-yard pass from Roth for his touchdown in the second quarter and Freitas grabbed a four-yard toss from Roth for Cal's second TD.
 Bell, who rushed for 122 yards in poorest performance of a season in which he had picked up 1,233 yards in seven other games, ran 12 yards for the Trojans' first score in the second quarter and quarterback Vince

Ferragamo, who flipped three touchdown passes, hooked up with Thomas again for another TD in the fourth quarter. This one covered 61 yards, completing the rout. Nebraska had entered the game a slim six-point favorite.
 Nebraska dashed to a 10-0 lead in the first quarter. The Cornhuskers used 17 plays before running out of gas at the Missouri 13 and Mike Coyle, who missed his first extra point after 39 straight conversions following the trick-play score, nailed a 30-yard field goal.
 Seconds later, defensive end Ray Phillips raced in and blocked a Jim Goble punt, the ball rolling out of bounds at the Missouri 18.
 O'Leary ran 14 yards to the four, then lost one before Ferragamo pegged a five-yard touchdown strike to Brad Jenkins with three minutes left in the first quarter.
 Missouri roared to life in the second quarter after Kenny Downing recovered a punt fumbled by Kurt Stacey at the Nebraska 42. The Tigers advanced to a first down at the Cornhuskers' 10, then received a pass interference penalty at the goal line against Chuck Jones. From the one, Tony Galbreath scored with 6:34 left in the half.

Dons Bounce by AHS

Special To The News
AMARILLO — Amarillo Palo Duro exploded for three touchdowns in the fourth quarter, after taking advantage of two gambles which didn't pay off for Amarillo, and defeated the Sandies 35-21 Saturday before nearly 6,000 in Dick Bivins Stadium here.
 The victory leaves Palo Duro in sole possession of first place in District 3-AAAA with 3-0 record. Amarillo falls into a second-place tie with Pampa and Amarillo Caprock at 2-1.
 Sandie head coach Larry Dippel gambles on a fourth-and-five situation from the PD 44 late in the second quarter with AHS owning a 7-0 lead. Tim Ritchie's pass fell incomplete under a good rush and the Dons took over with 4:01 left in the half.

 Three plays later, quarterback Bill McElduff hit split end Sylvester Moore with a 37-yard touchdown pass and David Pinales knotted the count 3:11 before intermission.
 On the first play following the kickoff, Sandie running back David Bond fumbled and PD's Jeff Yarber fell on the ball at the Amarillo 36. Five plays later, Robert Sillivent scored from two yards out and Pinales' conversion gave the Dons a 14-7 lead with 1:20 left in the half.

Amarillo took the second-half kickoff and drove 55 yards in nine plays, with Ritchie going the final two. However, Sheldon Shoels missed the point after following a pair of offsetting penalties, and the Dons led 14-13 with 7:43 left in the third quarter.
 With less than a minute to play in the third period, Dippel again elected to gamble on a fourth-down play — this time at the Amarillo 24.
 Needing only an inch for a first down, Ritchie bobbled the snap from center and the play resulted in a one-yard loss.
 Three plays later, Sillivent raced in from eight yards out on the first play of the fourth quarter to give the Dons a 21-13 lead.
 Greg Towner's 46-yard excursion with 8:28 left to play increased PD's lead to 28-13.
 The Dons scored their final touchdown with 2:42 left, when Moore gathered in a 43-yard strike from McElduff.

Michigan 5-0 in Big 10

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Michigan tailback Gordon Bell scored his second touchdown of the game on a 23-yard run midway through the final quarter Saturday to pull the seventh-ranked Wolverines to a 28-21 Big Ten victory over Minnesota.
 Bell, the Big Ten's leading rusher, got 172 yards on 31 carries to help the Wolverines raise their conference record to 5-0.
 The senior tailback scored his first first touchdown on a five-yard run in the second quarter.

Buckeyes Squeeze Past Hoosiers 24-14

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Top-rated Ohio State, paced by the running of Archie Griffin and Pete Johnson, was bent but not broken by underdog Indiana Saturday and held on for a 24-14 Big Ten victory over the Hoosiers.
 The Buckeyes, a six-touchdown favorite, took a 17-0 lead at halftime but needed a one-yard touchdown run by Johnson with 6:22 left in the game to put away its eighth victory without a loss.
 Indiana, which came into the game last in the Big Ten in both offense and defense, outplayed the nation's top-rated team much of the second half, driving 50 and 90 yards for third-period touchdowns to narrow the score to 17-14 before Johnson's score — his 19th of the year.

Both Indiana touchdowns were scored by sophomore fullback Rick Enis, who had 148 yards in 29 carries. His first touchdown was the first scored against the Buckeyes this year in conference play.
 Griffin and Johnson each totaled 150 yards. Griffin's performance was the 29th straight time he has carried for more than 100 yards in a regular-season game.
 Ohio State's first score came on a 43-yard field goal by Tom Klaban after defensive back Craig Cassidy recovered an Enis fumble on the OSU 45.
 The Buckeyes first touchdown, a five-yard pass from Cornelius Greene to freshman tight end Jimmy Moore capped an 80-yard drive in 18 plays.

Longhorns Stave Off Ponies 30-22

By MIKE RABUN
UPI Sports Writer
DALLAS (UPI) — The awesome assault of fullback Earl Campbell, who romped 160 yards and scored twice, rallied Texas from an early deficit and kept the 18th-ranked Longhorns unbeaten in the Southwest Conference Saturday with a 30-22 decision over Southern Methodist.

But Texas had to stop a furious fourth quarter rally, halting a final SMU threat at the Longhorns' 35 as time ran out.

SMU surprised the Longhorns with a touchdown midway through the opening quarter to take a 7-0 lead, but Texas showed its distance for that by scoring 34 seconds later.

A 52-yard kickoff return by Raymond Clayborn, a 35-yard dash by Campbell and a two-yard touchdown plunge by Campbell evened the score. The Longhorns then scored on three of their next four possessions — field goals of 52 and 48 yards by Russell Erxleben and a three-yard run by quarterback Marty Akins.

Campbell added a five-yard touchdown dash in the third quarter and Erxleben produced his third field goal of the day — a 36-yarder — in the final quarter.

SMU capitalized on a Texas fumble in the first period to drive 44 yards with Wayne Morris going the final yard for the Mustang touchdown.

SMU added two touchdowns in the final quarter on a three-yard pass from quarterback Ricky Wesson to Kenny Harrison and a 77-yard burst by Morris.

Morris, who gained 202 yards on 21 carries, became the leading ground gainer in SMU history.

After closing the deficit to eight points SMU took over with 3:44 to play and moved the ball into Longhorn territory before a series of quarterback traps and penalties thwarted its final effort.

The victory was the fourth without a loss in conference action for the Longhorns and kept them on target for a day after Thanksgiving showdown with No. 5 Texas A&M.

Texas is 7-1 for the season while SMU's record slumped to 3-5.

Morris became the first ball carrier to gain 200 yards against a Texas team in 19 years. He moved into the No. 1 rushing spot in SMU career statistics ahead of Alvin Maxson, now with the New Orleans Saints.

Although the Mustangs fought back in the final quarter, they missed their big chance to stay close late in the first half.

Trailing 17-7, the Mustangs recovered a Texas fumble at the Longhorn 13. But SMU could not capitalize on that break and after losing the ball on downs the Longhorns quickly moved 50 yards to set up an Erxleben field goal that gave Texas a 13-point halftime advantage.

Baylor Warts Horned Frogs

WACO, Tex. (UPI) — Tailback Cleveland Franklin and quarterback Mark Jackson headed a methodical Baylor ground attack Saturday that crushed winless Texas Christian 24-6 and gave the defending Southwest Conference champion Bears their first league win of the year.

Franklin, used primarily in the first half as the Bears rolled up a 17-0 margin, rushed for 193 yards and one touchdown as TCU's losing streak stretched to 18 — longest in the nation among major colleges.

Jackson, who mixed passing just often enough to trouble the Horned Frog defense, sneaked one yard for a touchdown and threw to wide receiver Ricky

Morton, NY Tip Chargers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Craig Morton threw for two touchdowns and Joe Dawkins provided two more on the ground to lead the New York Giants to a 35-24 victory over San Diego Saturday and keep the Chargers winless in seven games this season.

Morton fired a 24-yard touchdown pass to Ray Rhodes and a 47-yarder to Bob Tucker after the teams had battled to a 14-14 deadlock through the first 20 minutes of the game.

Dawkins scored the first two New York touchdowns on runs of four and 14 yards before leaving the game early in the second half with a pulled hamstring.

Thompson on a 23-yard slant pattern for another.

Baylor kicker Bubba Hicks, who has booted 58 consecutive extra points, added a 30-yard field goal early in the second period. Franklin burst 52 yards through the middle late in the fourth period for the Bears' longest offensive strike for the day.

The Horned Frogs, inspired by Darryl Lowe's pass interception that halted a fourth quarter Baylor march, struck for a quick touchdown on quarterback Lee Cook's 10-yard pass to flanker Vernon Wells with 11:20 left.

Cook tried to rally the Frogs to another score three minutes later, but was stopped on fourth down inches short of a first down at the Baylor 11.

Baylor drove 94 yards for its first score with Franklin accounting for 45 yards on four carries.

Krizan Powers Groom To Rout over Texline

GROOM — John Krizan amassed 175 yards and three touchdowns on 14 rushes, pacing Groom to a 57-16 rout over Texline in the District 1-B opener for both teams Friday.

Groom is now 7-0-1 for the season, while Texline is 4-4.

Krizan and Britten, who added 130 yards on 15 carries and scored the game's first touchdown, paced the Groom running attack, which rolled up 426 yards, compared to 149 for the visiting Tornados.

Britten dented the goal line on a one-yard run at 6:45 in the first quarter, then ran over the conversion for an 8-0 lead.

Groom held Texline, which punted on the next series of the game. Krizan capped a drive with a 10-yard touchdown run with three minutes left in the first quarter. Bimbo Bivens passed to Richard Woffler for the conversion.

With 1:55 left in the quarter, Terry Marshall, Texline's fleet-footed halfback, broke 75 yards for a touchdown. Texline was stopped while trying to run over the conversion.

Thomas Reed of Groom scored on a 22-yard run early in the second quarter. Bivens booted the extra point to give the Tigers a 23-6 halftime lead.

Kent Reed swept end for a 12-yard touchdown three minutes into the third quarter. Bivens missed the conversion. Krizan added a third-quarter touchdown on a 25-yard run, and Bivens converted for a 36-6 lead.

Bivens hit Jon Mark Beile with a 25-yard scoring pass early in the final quarter. Bivens kicked the extra point. Kent Reed, four minutes later, scored on an eight-yard burst, and Bivens missed.

Marshall raced 60 yards for a second Texline touchdown with four minutes left in the game, then the halfback ran over the two extra points.

On Groom's ensuing series, snap from center over the punter's head bounded out of the end zone for a safety as Texline cut the deficit to 49-16.

Late in the game, Krizan scored on an eight-yard run, then added the conversion.

Groom hosts Booker Friday, and Texline travels to Lefors. Lefors edged Booker 7-6 in those teams' district opener.

Clarendon limited Wheeler to 105 yards on the ground, including 48 on 12 carries by Mike Izard. David Massock and Dale Helton added 23 and 22 yards, respectively.

Shields led the Clarendon ground game, which accounted for 254 yards, with 101 yards on 10 carries. Jack added 55 steps on seven tries, while Schaffer had 43 on 13.

Clarendon started another drive on the 29 after a Wheeler punt. It took 10 plays to score, with Jack breaking for 33 yards and the touchdown. His kick failed on the conversion try.

Shields recovered a Don Brown fumble on Clarendon's 21 in the second quarter. Seven

Raiders Puff Rice by 28-24

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Quarterback Tommy Duniven hit end Sylvester Brown for a 72-yard touchdown in the third quarter as Texas Tech defeated Rice 28-24 in a Southwest Conference battle Saturday.

Tailback Larry Isaac scored on runs of three and one yard and defensive back Tony Green intercepted a Tommy Kramer pass and returned it 42 yards for the other. Texas Tech touchdowns. Bryan Hall kicked all four extra points.

Halfback John Coleman scored on runs of eight and six yards, fullback James Sykes added a one-yard touchdown and Alvaro Arenas kicked a 27-yard field goal and three extra points for the Rice scoring.

However, a partisan rain-soaked homecoming crowd came to its feet in the final seconds of the game as Rice recovered a Texas Tech fumble on the Owl 12 and moved to the Raider four before a fourth down pass in the end zone fell incomplete.

After the Duniven-Brown scoring pass that put the Raiders in front 28-21, Rice battled back to the Texas Tech 17 where Arenas kicked his 27-yard field goal.

The victory left Texas Tech with a 4-4 season record and 2-2 in SWC play. Rice fell to 2-5 for the year and 1-2 in league play.

Nittany Lions Eat Maryland

Maryland placekicker Mike Sochko missed a chance to win the game when his attempt from 42 yards with 15 seconds left fell wide to the right. The victory was the Nittany Lions' 14th in a row over Maryland.

Cowboys Visit Washington Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Dallas Cowboys' defensive front four hopes to take advantage of the Washington Redskins' injury-weakened offensive line today to get in a little "sack time."

The Cowboy front four — Ed "Too Tall" Jones, Jethro Pugh, Larry Cole and Harvey Martin — has smothered enemy quarterbacks 21 times this season for an average loss of eight yards. They dumped Detroit's Greg Landry 11 times during a recent Monday night game, but Jones concedes the Redskins line will be a bit tougher to crack.

Cleveland Browns this season, is a two-year veteran. To make room for Arneson, the Redskins cut Martin Imhof, a former defensive lineman put on the roster earlier in the week as a backup offensive lineman. The Redskins' offensive line crisis started in the Houston game two weeks ago, when tackle Tim Stokes and guard Paul Laaveg were lost for the season with injury.

Sanford-Fritch Topples Bucks

WHITE DEER — Guy Walston booted a 25-yard field goal, then ran two yards for a touchdown to pace Sanford-Fritch to a 15-0 shutout over White Deer in a key District 1-A encounter Friday.

The win leaves Sanford-Fritch (6-2 for the season) with a 4-0 district record, while White Deer (4-4) is 2-2 in conference play. A Buck win would have tied the two teams with Canadian for the District 1-A lead.

Walston's field goal came midway through the first quarter. He ran two yards for a touchdown late in the first half, capping a 60-yard drive.

Walston failed to convert the extra point following the TD.

A 21-yard pass from Scott Richerson to Terry Summers late in the third quarter resulted in Stinnett's last touchdown.

Walston missed the extra point. White Deer coach Mike Purcell attributed Stinnett's defense to the loss.

"They just played good defense and we didn't click. They have a real good team. Either they or Canadian will win it. They're both good teams."

White Deer defeated Canadian two weeks ago.

Bobby Tollison gained 53 yards on 15 carries for the Bucks, who travel to Gruver Friday. Canadian will be at Sanford-Fritch in what will likely decide the 1-A title.

Tigers, Ponies Battle To District Deadlock

CLAUDE — McLean and Claude each blew a scoring opportunity as the two District 2 rivals battled to a scoreless tie in windy, rainy conditions here Friday night.

McLean is now 3-4-1 overall and 1-3-1 in district play. Claude is 2-5-1 and 1-3-1.

McLean, in the first quarter, started a drive from the Claude 30 after Morse Haynes picked off a Wayne Campbell pass. The Tigers drove to the two-yard line but lost the ball on downs.

Claude, in the middle of the fourth period, drove to the 20 but was unable to score. A 32-yard pass from Campbell to George Jaramillo got the Mustangs in close.

"Our kids played a real good football game, considering everybody was out. They kept their heads. We had five starters out last night," McLean coach Robert Mears said.

"We lost a guard, Chris Moore. Friday morning with appendicitis and Ken Parker, a tackle was injured. So we had to fill in with 110 and 125 pounds on the left side of the offensive line."

"That hurt us. They ran more last night than they had all year. We controlled their passing game last night — we were looking for the pass; not run. They ran up the middle on us."

"We looked at the film this morning (Saturday). We made some mistakes but it was because of the kids' inexperience."

Leading rusher in the game was Claude's Randy Heckman, who gained 52 yards on eight carries. McLean's Sammy Don Haynes gained 41 on 12 tries, while Tiger quarterback Marty

McKay To Tampa

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — John McKay heaved a sigh.

The pressure of keeping the secret that he had signed to coach the new Tampa club in the National Football League was finally off.

McKay and Buccaneers owner Hugh Culverhouse reached agreement on a five-year contract a few weeks ago but McKay insisted they hold off an announcement until after the 1975 collegiate season.

Lefors Finally Wins, Slips Past Booker 7-6

BOOKER — Lefors, according to Coach Jim Allen, finally "hit our peak." For the Pirates, it couldn't have come at a better time.

Lefors, loser of all six games this season, opened District 1-B play with a 7-6 win over pre-season conference favorite Booker Friday night in rain-soaked Kiowa Stadium.

Phil White, who led all rushers in the game with 34 attempts for 128 yards, scored on a one-yard run Lefors with 3:46 left in the first half. White also booted the extra point.

The touchdown was the ninth play of a 50-yard drive.

Neither team scored until 7:31 in the final period, when Booker's Bradley Mills capped a 30-yard drive with a one-yard plunge. Mills was stopped on the conversion — run attempt.

Booker got the ball on the Lefors 30 following a 10-yard punt, a result of the slippery field, according to Allen.

Lefors stopped Booker from scoring five times inside the Pirate 20-yard line in the second half and three times on the goal line.

Bobby Crain saved two touchdowns. Allen said, "On the last play of the game, he intercepted a pass on the one; he fell on it, and we killed the clock."

He chased one of their boys down the quarter right after they stopped us inside their 10.

He (the Booker back) broke out of there and Crain caught him on our 30. We were ready for them.

They were down. Our boys played real outstanding. We just missed one key on defense. The offense played real good till we got bogged down in the last half. We just couldn't move it in that mud."

"This is what we were laying back for. We haven't been pushing the boys. They've hit their peak — this is the time of year you gotta hit your peak."

Besides Crain, defensive standouts, Allen said, were Mike Watson, who was in on 15 tackles; White, 11 tackles, and freshman David Steele, nine tackles. Steele started his first game of the season at defensive tackle.

Lefors hosts Texline Friday, while Booker (5-3 overall) visits Groom Thursday.

Bad Punts Help 'Cats Destroy Rattlers 14-0

CANADIAN — Canadian capitalized on two short Stinnett punts into Friday night's brisk wind here, and whipped the Rattlers a 14-0 in a crucial District 1-A contest for the Wildcats.

Canadian, 5-3 overall, is 3-1 in district play and one game behind Sanford-Fritch, which blanked White Deer 15-0 Friday. Canadian and Fritch meet Friday on the Eagles' field in the game which might decide the 1-A championship.

Canadian struck on its first possession, after it kicked off and forced a Stinnett punt. The kick travelled only 19 yards, giving the Wildcats possession on the Rattler 48.

Nine plays later, Marty Carr broke one yard off right tackle for the score. Steve Schafer kicked the extra point.

Early in the fourth quarter, another Rattler punt into the wind went only 26 yards, as Canadian took over the visitors' 40. A 14-yard pass from Gary Bob Hutcheson to Mike Schafer resulted in Canadian's second TD six plays later.

Steve Schafer's extra point ended scoring in the game.

Canadian threatened again in the fourth quarter, but a 36-yard field goal attempt by Steve Schafer was inches short. Russ Hubbard, the game's leading rusher with 24 carries for 130 yards, had given the Wildcats first down on the 20 with a 55-yard scamper.

Stinnett, in the second quarter, marched to Canadian's four-yard line but lost the ball on downs. The big play in the drive was a 40-yard pass from Jerry Eddleman to Jamie Allison which put the ball on the Wildcat 10-yard line.

Canadian took over and, four plays later, was forced to punt. The kick went 12 yards, and Stinnett had the ball on the hosts' 20. The Rattlers drove to the 11 but failed to score.

"Stinnett's got a good football team," Wildcat coach Jack Hawthorne said. "We had to play good. They play defense. We played defense, too."

"Offensively, we spit and sputtered but we took it in when we had to. It was a good team effort. Our two defensive tackles, (Mike Seeley and Jim Shirey) had an outstanding ball game."

Stinnett (2-7 and 1-4) is open this week.

He Executes Feats Houdini Never Tried

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mario Manzini celebrated the 49th anniversary of Houdini's death by strapping himself in a strait jacket and manacles and hanging upside down from a burning rope 100 feet above the ground.

He escaped 1 minute and 10 seconds before the rope would have burned through. Jeff Kaye, the owner of JHK Riggings Corp., was at the controls of the crane that hoisted Manzini from the Times Square sidewalk Thursday. An American flag hung from the crane's hook.

"He found me in the Yellow Pages," Kaye said. "At first I thought he was putting me on. But he was for real. Any guy who calls you up and says he wants you to dangle him from a burning rope saturated with gasoline, it's gotta be the truth."

Kaye refused to say how much Manzini paid for the privilege of having the chance to kill himself.

Minutes before his feat, the 33-year-old escape artist stood in the seedy basement surroundings of the American Theater of Magic in his white canvas costume.

"Make sure we do this before the police come," he urged one of his assistants.

The last time Manzini pulled a stunt like this was on the Brooklyn Bridge. He was going to lock himself into seven pairs of handcuffs, jump off and escape under water. The cops wouldn't let him.

This time, though, Manzini wasn't taking any chances, stationing assistants outside the theater to get everything ready and keep an eye out for the law. Then he stripped to the waist, limbered up his heavily muscled shoulders and strapped on his helmet while an aide strapped on the strait jacket.

With the manacles and a can of gasoline on the rope, Manzini was all set to honor the great Houdini by performing one of his most famous stunts. Except Houdini, who died on Halloween in 1926, never did with the rope on fire.

Manzini figured he had three minutes before the hemp rope burned through. It looked bad at first as he swung back and forth in the 24-knot wind.

A Barker called out the time and the crowd yelled encouragement as the seconds ticked away and there was no sign he was making any progress.

With 90 seconds gone, Manzini worked his right arm free. Seconds later, his left. He was lowered to the sidewalk with 1 minute and 10 seconds left on the rope.

The crowd neither applauded nor cheered when he made it back to earth. The onlookers dispersed quietly, as Times Square crowds do when a momentary diversion has ended.

"Houdini's my idol," Manzini said breathlessly. "But I do things he never tried."

Back in the basement theater, where the master escape artist was being honored with other feats, 66-year-old Estelline Pike swallowing some swords. She selected a five-pound 1918 U.S. Cavalry sabre to open the show.

"Just relax and let it slide," she said. "If it goes down too fast, I'll be out of business."

Estelline, her scraggy red hair dripping sweat, tried three swords at once ("Just an ordinary sword sandwich"), then four swords ("A Double Decker Sword Sandwich"). How does a 19-year-old legal stenographer from Kansas become a sword swallower? she was asked. "I married one," she said.

SOME SUGAR! NEW YORK (UPI) — The world's most unusual sugar bowl, on display at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, was wrought from the purest platinum in 1786 by French artist Marc-Etienne Janety. The Platinum Information Bureau said the bowl is the only one of its kind in the world. Platinum's durability and resistance to abrasion enable the fine details of Janety's work to remain intact for almost two centuries.

Halt Fender Benders

The Pampa Police Department's Selective Traffic Enforcement Program "STEP" began Saturday with increased law enforcement at locations where the most accidents have occurred in recent months. The "STEP" program is possible through funds from a $17,012.29 grant from the Governor's Commission on Traffic Safety. Its purpose is to reduce the accident rate and remove intoxicated drivers from city streets. Pampa is the smallest city in the state to receive the grant which provides 100 per cent funding. Off duty officers, working overtime, will provide the extra patrol.

Moore Visits Son

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — In an austere youth guidance center, Sara Jane Moore had her first visit with her 9-year-old son since she was arrested for trying to kill President Ford.

At the same time Thursday, three miles away, Ford was in the city to speak at a Republican fund-raising luncheon.

The reunion of Miss Moore, 45, a onetime FBI informer who reportedly had been trying to win her way into underground circles, and her son, Frederick, took place minutes after Juvenile Judge Francis W. Mayor made the youth a dependent of the court. Miss Moore attended the hearing but her son did not.

Frederick is being temporarily cared for by a foster family, and Mayer said. "The mother knows the family and is very happy."

Miss Moore will present a plan to the judge for her son's care at another court hearing Dec. 4.

Miss Moore was accompanied by two U.S. marshals and a jail matron for the trip from nearby Redwood City, where she is being held at the San Mateo County Jail. She recently underwent a psychiatric evaluation at a federal correctional facility in San Diego to determine whether she is competent to stand trial.

In a related development, the federal public defender's office filed an appeal in the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in an attempt to delay her Dec. 15 trial.

U.S. District Judge Samuel Conti set the date this week saying he had to abide by the new federal "speedy trial act" which mandates a trial within 90 days of arrest. But Miss Moore's lawyers said that because she has been in San Diego they have not had time to prepare their case.

Jane Long Club Hears About Scarfs

The Jane Long Home Demonstration Club met recently in the Courthouse Annex for a program on "The Use of Scarfs" given by Elaine Houston, county extension agent, and "Tube Painting" given by Mrs. Bill Carter.

Those present were Mrs. Rusty Williams, Mrs. Neal Fulton, Mrs. George Collingsworth, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Paul Graham, Mrs. Willard Taylor, Mrs. Joe Ozzello, Mrs. Lawrence Johnson, Mrs. Glenn Knight, Mrs. Houston and Bee Coble.

The next meeting will be Nov. 11 in the Courthouse Annex with Mrs. Lawrence Johnson as hostess. The program will be a trip to The Mary Jane, 1130 Williston.

Construction Up in Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Residential construction in Texas increased 25 per cent from August to September but the seasonally adjusted index of total building declined during the same period, according to University of Texas officials.

Barbara D. Terrell, researcher with the Bureau of Business Research at UT, said the 25 per cent gain set the seasonally adjusted index of residential construction at its highest level since April, 1974.

"Although the estimated value of permits issued for one-family dwellings changed less than one half of 1 per cent from a month earlier, the value of permits issued in the first nine months of 1975 rose 14 per cent from the same period a year earlier," she said.

The 17 per cent increase in permit values in multiplefamily dwellings from August to September was caused by a 41 per cent increase in apartment building permits.

Despite the increase in residential construction, the seasonally adjusted index of total building fell by 14 per cent.

"The principal reason for this decline was a drop in nonresidential building permits," Mrs. Terrell said.

Hotels, motels, tourist courts, commercial garages and amusement buildings made large gains in September though the total permit values for the categories remained below figures for the first nine months of 1974.

More than 100 Indian tribes lived in California at one time.

Despite a 40 per cent decline

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

By FRED KARPIN

By FRED KARPIN
Bridge would be a much simpler game to play if, when a critical situation developed in the play, some guiding genie would come along and ring a bell to alert you to do a little more thinking. Had said genie been present where today's deal arose, he might have altered the course of South's destiny.

Both sides vulnerable. South deals.

Opening lead: King of ♦.

Upon winning trick one with his diamond king, West shifted to the ace of clubs, hoping to defeat the slam contract immediately. But South ruffed the club ace.

It was rather apparent that the success of South's contract depended on avoiding the loss of a heart trick. So, without thinking the situation out too carefully, declarer cashed all of his trumps, hoping the defenders might slip.

East had no difficulty in finding five discards. He first tossed away the three and five of diamonds (to give West, in case he might have a problem, a "count" of the outstanding diamonds), and then he discarded his three remaining clubs, knowing that South was void of the suit. And, in the end, he made his jack of hearts, for the setting trick.

South played the hand poorly by relying on the defenders to make a mistake by unguarding the jack of hearts. After ruffing West's ace of clubs at trick two, he should have cashed just one trump. Then would come the ace and king of hearts. If he caught the jack (on some other day), he would now pick up the one outstanding trump and claim his contract.

If he didn't catch the jack, he would continue with the queen of hearts. If each of the opponents followed suit to this third heart lead (with the jack falling, of course), the heart ten would
