BORGER WORKMEN DIE IN TANK DEMOCRATS SWEEP BACK IN POWER IN MANY PLACE EIGHT-HOUR ARGUMENT IN HAMILTON CASE OPENED TODAY

DEFENSE PLEA ATTACKED BY FIRST SPEAKER

Walton

DENIAL QUICKLY MADE TO PLEA

Jury May Not Get to Work Before
Tomorrow

WEATHERFORD, Nov. 6. (P)—A jury was listening today to eight hours of argument before deciding whether R. H. Hamilton was justified in shooting to death his son-in-law, Tom Walton, Jr., 21, last May 4 in Hamilton's Amarillo law office.

On a table in front of the jury, among other physical evidence, was the blood-stained tan herringbone suit the husband of Hamilton's 17-year-old daughter, Theresa, was wearing when he met death. Nearby lay the .25 calibre revolver with which four shots were fired into Walton during what Hamilton, as a witness, described as "a mortal battle" over possession of the weapon.

Hamilton Watches Jurors
As attorneys told the jury their interpretations of the case, Hamilton, his 6-year-old daughter, Mary Gail, by his side, sat with his hands crossed, chewing cinnamon bark. He studied the jurors' faces, watching their reactions.

A few feet away was Theresa, sober-faced and silent as a defense lawyer referred to her slain husband as "that fellow Walton." When the state attorney was arguing Theresa was behind her mother where the jury could not see her. During the recess her chair was moved.

WEATHERFORD, Nov. 6. (P)—Closing arguments in the R. H. Hamilton murder trial began here today after a 35-minute delay because of defense objections to the judge's charge to the jury.

Briggs Urges All Citizens to Help In Conference Plans

The meeting of the Methodist conference to be held here next week is a compliment to Pampa. It will be very valuable to this city in many respects.

ASSESSOR SAYS COST IN MAKING LEVY IS GREAT

Every county in the state that has considerable oil development within its confines has one of a dozen assessment companies operating in Texas to assess its oil properties, according to C. G. Morgan of the Thomas Y. Pickett company of Dallas which renders the valuation of oil wealth in Gray county.

A rate of from 3 1-2 to 7 1-2 cents on the $100 valuation is charged. The rate charged Gray county for making the rendition is five cents on the $100. This contract was entered into by the county and the company two years ago.

Oil companies usually hire special assessors because it is impossible for county tax assessor to get information regarding sales of oil, royalties, and oil production, necessary to make accurate rendition, Mr. Morgan said.

Magnolia Gets 410-Barrel Well

Magnolia Petroleum company's Wright No. 2 in section 13, block 3, struck pay yesterday for an initial production of 410 barrels. First oil was struck at a depth of 3,776-87 feet. The well is swabbing today.

MURDER CHARGE PLACED AGAINST YOUTHFUL KILLER

WELLINGTON, Nov. 6. (P)—Haskell Jones, 23, was held in jail here today charged with the murder last Sunday of Foy Justice, stabbed in the heart.

VIRGINIA GOES AGAINST G O P BY BIG MARGIN

New York Returns Its Mayor on Wave of Approval

CHICAGO SLATE ALSO IN VICTORY

Republicans in Control of New Jersey
as Usual

Virginia returned to the Democratic fold in yesterday's gubernatorial election by a majority more than twice the size of that which carried it into the Republican column in the presidential election a year ago.

New York City re-elected its Democratic mayor, James J. Walker, on the crest of a tidal wave which swept before it three other candidates, Fiorello H. LaGuardia, Republican; Norman Thomas, Socialist; and Richard E. Enright, Square Deal party nominee.

Almost complete returns from Chicago's municipal election indicated a decisive victory for the entire Democratic coalition ticket consisting of ten Republicans and twelve Democrats for superior and circuit court judges.

The Democrats were victorious in the mayoralty contest in Indianapolis, defeating Reginald Sullivan, and another Democrat, James M. Curley, was elected mayor of Boston, in a race with two other Democrats running in other and non-party tickets.

Mineral Interest Transferred Here

A mineral deed executed recently converts from J. J. Taylor to N. H. Martin one-fourth mineral interest in sections 11, 12, 13, and the west 21 acres in section 19, block H. A. Wallace survey; sections 5, 6, and 2-4 of section 7, block H. A. W. Wallace survey, a total of 3,151 acres; one-fourth interest in section 2, except 40 acres in the southwest corner, a total of 277 acres, and the west half of section 10, Brooks and Burleson survey.

Coming

The Rev. D. B. Doak, presiding elder of the Lubbock district, will be one among the many preachers of the Northwest Texas conference which will be transferred to another work at the coming session of the conference.

Rev. Doak is a graduate of Southern western university, Georgetown, and also of Southern Methodist university, Dallas. He, no doubt, will be on the ticket as a delegate to the general conference, which meets in Dallas next June. He will speak at one of the local churches on Sunday, November 17.

SUFFOCATION IS GIVEN AS CAUSE OF DEATH HERE

Cleve E. Aldridge's death was due to suffocation by gas, according to the verdict of Justice of Peace T. M. Wolfe at the end of a coroner's inquest which lasted an hour and a half this morning. The body will be taken to Wellington this afternoon for burial by the G. C. Malone funeral home.

A friend of Aldridge's, H. A. Shoffitt, testified that Aldridge had left his house at the Phillips Pampa plant about 8 o'clock Sunday evening, promising that he would go with Shoffitt the next day to look for a house in Pampa, as the latter intended to move here.

CHILDREN TO HAVE CIRCUS ON THURSDAY

"Wild Beasts" Are to Perform in Many Big Cages

HUNDREDS WILL DISPLAY SKILL

Central Gym Will Be
Site of "Show"
Grounds

The First Graces, Inc., an amalgamation recently effected by the primary classes of all the ward schools of the city, for the purpose of giving the showing world one stupendous performance, has announced to the waiting public that its big ring circus will be given tomorrow evening at the high school gymnasium auditorium, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

It will include all the features of a grown-up circus—trained animals, caged animals, acrobatics, clown stunts, folk dances, a patriotic demonstration, and freaks from many lands. Mrs. J. L. Lester, primary supervisor, and Miss Iva June Willis, public school music supervisor, directed the performance with each first grade teacher arranging an act. Concessions and side shows will be operated by the Parent-Teacher associations.

The opening act will be the animal show, in which the trained animals will be put through their paces by a skilled trainer and ring master. The wild beasts too ferocious for training will be paraded before the audience in their heavily barred cages. The clowns will play their pranks in this part of the show, according to the custom in the land of grown-ups.

The act will be staged by Miss Ellen Smith's class of Lamar building, with the following pupils taking part: Helen Chandler, Gladys Smith, James Evans, Dean Bole, Everett Gray, Geneva Eberline, Anna Beth Barrett, Mary Lee Morris, Junior Barnett, Carl Alford, George Small, Clifford Abbott, Francis Prichard, Mary Edith Tidwell, Nell Fowler, Irene Stallings, Mandell Barbour, Doyle Auld, Warren Sanders, Elsie Kaul, Othello Burrow, Dollie Mae Jones, Pauline Johnston, Charles Cunningham, Dana Brown, and James Lane Stalls.

Wire walking, acrobatics, and a band concert will make up the second act of the big show, with the classes of Miss Catherine Wilkerson and Mrs. C. A. Barker staging the performance.

A Proclamation

The following proclamation setting aside Saturday, Nov. 9, 1929, as Poppy day, was issued today by Mayor D. W. Osborne:

"I, D. W. Osborne, mayor of the City of Pampa, mindful of the sacrifices made by those who have offered their lives in defense of this nation and those institutions of freedom and democracy which we hold dear, and of the great debt we owe to those who returned from such conflict broken in body, do hereby proclaim Saturday, Nov. 9, as Poppy day.

"I further call upon the good citizens of this community which poured out its full measure of manhood, its financial resources and the patriotic services of its citizens in the critical days of 1917-18, to hark back to the spirit of those times; to help the disabled veterans, their families, and the orphans of the deceased soldiers by buying American Legion Auxiliary poppies which will be sold on our streets Saturday by the women of that organization; and to wear those flowers which so fittingly symbolize the acts of those men and women who gave their all.

Calhoun Is Not Disturbed by Letter Threatening Life

STINNETT, Nov. 6. (P)—Hutchinson county officers today were seeking to trace the source of a letter threatening District Attorney Clem Calhoun in connection with recent arrests in the slaying of John A. Holmes, Hutchinson county prosecutor.

The letter, postmarked Amarillo, said Holmes' slayer was still at large and warned Calhoun he might meet a similar fate unless two men under arrest for the slaying were released.

The missive was typewritten and contained a number of misspelled words. Calhoun seemed unconcerned, saying it was the "sixth or seventh" such letter he had received since he was sent here by Gov. Dan Moody.

Both of those killed were married, but the survivors' names were not available at once.

PAMPA'S POULTRY SHOW TO BE REPEATED AGAIN THIS YEAR, IS A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION.

While a fair attracts more attention and is desirable, the poultry show is worthwhile by itself. It will be a very important unit of the fair to be organized and will have the advantage of having already been in operation.

It is interesting to note that Cheyenne, Okla., nearest of the older points on the new Santa Fe line from Pampa, is attracting agriculture. Cheyenne will soon have a dairy show, grain sorghum show, dairy judging contest, and exhibition of work by members of the Farm Women's clubs of Roger Mills county.

THERE IS MUCH CRITICISM BY SPECULATORS OF CONFIDENT STATEMENTS OF BUSINESS MEN.

The criticism is not well founded. Business has not collapsed. The firms which issued stock have not collapsed. Stock based upon good business is still a good investment, and many in a position to do so obtained shares for less than their reasonably quoted prices.

Business is never good enough to justify inflations which existed in some stocks. Prices quoted during the last year likely will not reach their former levels for many months, or years. Attention is called to safe bonds, which are more suitable than stocks for many investment purposes.

Not a few banks are offering customers the opportunity of buying bonds and investment securities on easy payments just as many folks have purchased homes or furnishings. This policy enables banks to purchase sound municipal bonds and offer them to citizens who benefit by public improvements.

The Exchange National bank and the First National bank of Tulsa recently combined to buy the $1,250,000 issue of Tulsa street improvement bonds. The bonds sold at par and accrued interest, an exceptional price considering that the interest rate was set at 4 1/2 per cent and the bond market was sluggish.

Mayor Dan Patton of Tulsa, in accepting the bid for the bonds, paid high tribute to the public spiritedness and civic helpfulness of the financial institutions who went to the aid of the city. He pointed out that the bonds had been offered previously, but owing to the sluggish condition of the market no outside concerns had been willing to purchase them.

"It is a splendid and commendatory thing that these banks have done and it is a matter of pride for Tulsa that the city has financial institutions strong enough to make outside selling of municipal bonds necessary and with bankers who have the welfare of the city at heart."

And therein lies a suggestion for local bankers and those who have profited largely from oil. There is money here that could well be invested in municipal bonds.

TWINKLES

Heard: That Hallowe'en in an apartment house affords wonderful opportunities for the mischievous, who can annoy sixteen families at one time.

We hereby offer a $5 reward for the arrest of whoever did feloniously bring a big hungry cat down here to eat Percy, our office mouse. We are not sure that the feline achieved her murderous purpose, but we don't like that contented look she has in her eyes—that green eye and that blue eye.

Teach the chickens to come home to roost, and you don't have to worry so much about foul play.

We still have enough train wrecks to recall to mind that people still ride over the rails.

A lot of young ladies who will adopt the new floor-sweeping styles will continue to neglect sweeping under the beds.

A man who has been considered great, or at least fit to move among the so-called great, may suffer more when humiliated by being caught in a misdeed, but he ought to have the same treatment under the law as the man who has walked only among honest fellow countrymen.

Markets

WHEAT IS WEAK

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (P)—Responding to stock market breaks and to lower quotations on wheat at Liverpool, the wheat market here underwent early setbacks today. Approach of time for liquidating the big open interest in December wheat contracts here in the face of an unprecedented domestic visible supply acted as a further weight upon wheat values.

Opening 5-8 to 1 1-8 off, Chicago wheat later showed additional downturns and then rallies. Corn developed strength, starting 1-8 to 3-8 cents lower, but after scoring gains. Oats were easy.

Provisions declines.

The Innocent Cheat

THIS HAS HAPPENED

HELEN PAGE feels tickled and in love with her guardian. LEONARD BRENT, the latter changes his plans for her future after meeting a dying beggar. NELLIE, soon after, Brent tells Helen that she is heiress of a millionaire, CYRIL K. CUNNINGHAM. He takes her to Cunningham and offers great which the lonely old man accepts, as he had been searching for the girl. Among Helen's new friends are EVA ENNIS and her brother ROBERT, who falls in love with her. Brent sends another looker like the one he had taken from Nellie to prove Helen the heiress. He also becomes jealous of Bob and plots to win Helen quickly. Hearing that a sudden shock would likely kill the old man, Brent gets the servants out of the way and rushes into the sick room shouting wildly that Helen has been killed. His plan works and Cunningham is so shocked that he slanders acting as sympathizer and appealing to her loyalty, Brent secures Helen's promise to marry him. Later, Helen and Bob discover their true love for each other, but she tells him she is engaged. She goes to ask Brent to release her and surprises him in a love scene with CARMEL SEGRE. This makes it easier for Helen to reject the old man's proposal, saying she has no right to reject him as he has devoted his life to her, and that Carmel means nothing to him. When his arguments fail to hold her, Brent retreats on mere dramatic methods. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIII

SHALLIMAR MORRIS had come to visit Helen. Without a word of warning and with her luggage well packed with a killing wardrobe. "But if you don't want me, old cauliflower, I'll dash along on my way to Canada. Would stop a moment with you, however, should you urge me."

She was laughing, and different. Her laughter was louder, but it tinkled musically. Helen puzzled over the change in her. She seemed restless, stirred, unhappy. There was pain in her eyes. Her dark beauty was somehow more brilliant yet somehow clouded.

"To marriage," was the cryptic toast she offered when refreshments were brought. Helen's silence repeated the word with unmistakable inquiry.

"This is his wedding day," Shallimmar went on, and drained her glass. "Let's go up to my room and you can tell me about it," Helen said, sensing a confidence. To listen to another's story might make her own seem a little less important, she thought. For it had appeared to her that nothing in the world mattered but her love for Bob Ennis.

Shallimmar motioned to the tray. "Have it sent up, too," she requested and Helen nodded in assent. A minute or two later they had made themselves comfortable in Helen's room. Shallimmar plunged into her story without preliminaries.

"I will not be made to cry," Shallimmar objected when Helen urged Eva to choose her selections to please herself. "If I heard one note that sounded as if it belonged in a Wedding March I'd howl like a cat."

"Or howl like a wolf, I suppose," Helen teased.

"Just the same..." Shallimmar said, and seated herself at the piano, leaving her sentence unfinished. A ripple of the keys—Eva caught by her technique, or the verge of being intrigued, when Helen whispered in her ear.

"WHERE is Bob?" she asked swiftly. "I wish I knew," Eva answered. "He's been like a crazy man today. Helen. Whatever did you do to him last night?"

"Is he miserable?" Helen pressed with a touch of exaltation that provoked Eva a bit—until she saw that it was followed by tender concern and was in no way inspired by disregard of her brother's feelings.

"Thoroughly," she replied. "He ought to be," Helen amazed her by saying. "He called me a rotter, Eva. Think of it!"

Eva's eyes opened wide, but Helen's smile reassured her. "You don't seem to mind very much," she remarked. "I don't," Helen admitted. "I think there's just enough of the cave man in Bob to make him rough with the woman he loves when he thinks she's making a fool of herself. And what a fool I was!"

"Tell me about it," Eva pleaded. "Not now," Helen demurred, noting that Shallimmar was looking at them in a curious way. "I want you to do something for me," she went on hurriedly. "Call up your house and if Bob is there ask him to come over."

"He won't, if you quarreled." "Tell him I need him. Tell him—wait a minute—tell him to come and take you home. But you must get him inside when he gets here."

"All right," Eva agreed. Helen got up and went over to stand beside the piano and hum with Shallimmar's music. "Happy?" the latter asked, with the curious look of her eyes in her voice now. She was wondering who Eva Ennis might be. Helen broke softly into song.

"Lucky you," Shallimmar envied aloud. "All the girls are saying I knew her when, Helen."

"Let them. I shall invite them all to my wedding, when I've told the groom that he must be there."

"During this Eva slipped away to the telephone in the library. Helen saw at once on her return that she had failed. "Not home," she said with a shake of her head.

Helen was instantly dejected, but she consoled herself with the thought that she would surely see him on the morrow. Eva must bring him.

Eva did not stay long after that. Helen had her car brought round to take Eva home and, while she rather hoped Shallimmar would decline, invited her to go along. Should an opportunity to see Bob arise she much preferred to trust Eva's understanding and sympathy to help her make the most of it. Shallimmar would, intentionally, or otherwise, interfere, Helen feared.

"THE darkly beautiful girl chose to interfere intentionally. Bob was just arriving home when Helen

Auxiliary Chairman Asks Cooperation in Poppy Day Program

In a statement issued today, Mrs. M. F. Roche, chairman of the American Legion auxiliary's Poppy day committee, asked the cooperation of the citizens of the community in making the auxiliary's Poppy day activities here on Saturday, Nov. 9, a success.

"To begin with, the auxiliary feels that the wearing of the poppy in memory of the deeds of those who have fallen in defense of their country is an expression of worthwhile sentiment which keeps bright in the memory of our people things they should not forget," Mrs. Roche said.

"Then, too, the sale of this emblematic flower once a year makes it financially possible for the American Legion auxiliary to carry on its work for the disabled ex-service man, his family, and the orphans of the deceased veteran. In this work those who buy the flower become a partner."

"We want those who buy the poppy which bears the American Legion auxiliary label to know that these flowers were made by disabled soldiers in hospitals, for some of whom this is their only source of income; and that every penny paid for auxiliary poppies is spent for the benefit of the disabled ex-service man and his dependants. We believe every citizen of the community will want to support that kind of a program."

HEADS OF GREAT WOMEN'S GROUPS PRAISE RED CROSS

Leaders of two great groups of women—both interested in the public welfare of the citizens and the nation—join in asking members of their organizations and all women to enroll in the annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross. They are Mrs. Lowell F. Hobart, president general of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and Mrs. John F. Sippel, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Sippel declares: "The Red Cross is an emblem which is recognized and respected by the civilized world. The annual membership Roll Call is about to be issued by this worthy national organization, which extends its humanitarian service the world over. Its field of action is not the battle field alone; its ideal is not merely to care for or relieve distress, it aims to prevent disease and to preserve health.

"The value of the work of the Red Cross is known to club women everywhere.

Special Plea to Women

"This year a special plea is being made to the women of the country to enroll in this worthy cause. Permit me as the president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs to urge every woman citizen of these United States to become a member.

"Blessed are those who work for the Red Cross."

In her call to women to enroll, Mrs. Hobart states: "The American Red Cross has the admiration of all for its magnificent disaster relief work. When catastrophes are visited upon our citizens, we rest content that the Red Cross will soon be upon the scene and that suffering will be minimized through its prompt efforts in succoring the victims.

"I wish to emphasize that the activities of the Red Cross in public health work, in life saving and first aid teaching, in reaching school children through the Junior Red Cross and its disaster relief work, all are supported from the annual Roll Call for members. Only during this one period in the year, from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, does the Red Cross ask for public support for its own activities. Appeals for funds for relief in great disasters—such as in the Mississippi Valley floods or the West Indies hurricane of last year—are only made after the sanction of the President of the United States, who is also president of the Red Cross.

Patriotic Call

"Because of this, I believe that every member of the Daughters of the American Revolution could answer this annual Red Cross Roll Call and join the membership. We all, I am sure, wish to be enrolled in helping 'The Greatest Mother' in her humanitarian work."

HAMILTON

jury was told, it found Hamilton actually believed his life in danger, even though there was no danger, Hamilton should be acquitted.

The charge also instructed the jury to attempt to determine whether threats were communicated to Hamilton as the defense claims before the shooting.

Further, the judge told the jury not to consider the indictment as evidence against Hamilton, adding the burden of proof was on the state, that a man is presumed innocent of a crime until proven guilty and that if there is a reasonable doubt the defendant must be acquitted.

Before Cooper began his argument, Judge Carter instructed the spectators not to express their reactions to any statements made in the arguments.

The foundation on which the jury must decide the case is that "the law is supreme and no person can violate it with impunity," Cooper said in opening his argument.

"The only way in which this case differs from others is that the defense claim is not that it was a 'hip-pocket play,' but a 'coat-pocket play.'" Cooper told the jury before he began a description of events on the day when Tom Walton, Jr., was shot to death in Hamilton's office.

Girl Is Quoted

"There is no dispute but that Walton telephoned Hamilton the morning of the homicide. The only contention is that Hamilton did not recognize Walton's voice. Did he know that was Tom Walton talking over the telephone? If he did, despite the threats Hamilton heard, that makes it different. Miss Florence Hendricks said Hamilton while standing three or four feet from the door had that pistol in his hand. Why would he have it in his hand if he didn't know that was Tom Walton? He certainly wouldn't greet every client in his office with a Smith and Wesson .44 special.

Then Cooper asked whether Hamilton knew of Walton's marriage to Theresa. Hamilton's 17-year-old daughter, before the shooting. The first of a series of letters Mrs. Hamilton wrote to her husband said Walton was in Austin and wanted to see Theresa, then recovering from an appendicitis operation.

"Why, when Hamilton had interviewed with Tommy Walton on March 9 and March 30, did he ask Tommy whether he was married to Theresa? He had a suspicion or a knowledge of the marriage when he asked that.

"There lies the motive; there lies the reason; there lies the act that caused the death of Tom Walton."

"At Christmas of 1928 Tommy Walton was in good standing. Judge Hamilton gave his daughter permission to go out with Walton. But how his estate fell when they found out he had married that daughter! What did the boy do save and expect marry that daughter? That's all!"

Cooper closed his argument, after an hour and ten minutes, with the plea that the jury "give this defendant the punishment he deserves."

Then there was a recess.

Defense Cites Gang Claim

Sam Shadle of Weatherford began the first defense argument. He discussed threats the defense contends were conveyed to Hamilton. He referred to letters in which Mrs. Hamilton and her daughter, Helen, wrote she had heard Walton was a member of a Chicago gang and had "two gunmen shagging" Hamilton.

"Why, you can get a man in Chicago to kill your enemy for $25. They would kill a man just for the thrill of it," Shadle declared.

Shadle repeated to the jury Walton's reputed statement that "a rattlesnake is a gentleman because it rattles before it strikes, but I'll not rattle before I strike."

"If Hamilton had wanted to kill Walton he would not have had to wait until Walton came to his office. He saw Walton on the streets and could have done it before May 4," Shadle declared. "Judge Hamilton did not kill Walton until he had to."

HARVESTERS SHOVE WHEELER ASIDE, 58-0, SHOWING VERY LITTLE TO IMPRESS SCOUTS

Scouts from Perryton and Herford saw Pampa's Harvesters in an indifferent mood yesterday while they tamed the Wheeler invasion 58 to 0.

The first quarter, the only one in which there could be any doubts about Wheeler's strength, was a riot for the locals, who thereafter threw the ball about at random and did not attempt to astonish the spies. Six touchdowns in quick succession, with two converted points gave Central high 38 points in the first period while Wheeler's lighter boys failed to register even one first down.

Chastain found things to his liking early in the game, and slipped through for an easy score. Lard kicked the extra galloped 32 yards, but this time Lard's kick for point was low and wide. The next touchdown came from Lard's pass to Salsbury followed by Buckingham's dash around left end and over. Chastain kicked the point. Chastain eluded half a dozen tacklers to make 38 yards and goal soon thereafter, but Lard's try for point was wide. The next score fell to Henry Ayres out of the air, but Chastain could not kick the added point. The last touchdown of the first quarter came when Lard made 32 yards and Salsbury virtually pushed his way over. Chastain's attempt to kick was blocked.

The same speed opened the second quarter, when Salsbury dodged through gained momentum, and went over half the length of the field. Lard increased it a point by kicking. Lard found his way down the field 35 yards a few minutes later, being dropped near the goal line, from where Salsbury went over. The kick failed. Some passes then were tried, but Wheeler's secondary defense was alert and managed to finish the quarter without any more scoring.

The third quarter developed a battle between an eleven of subs and Gorillas and the visitors. Although the little fellows threatened, they were unable to push over a score. The Benton brothers showed up well, and the tackling and pass receiving of young Joe Kahl was sensational.

With about 5 minutes to go in the last period, Coach Mitchell sent the first string back into the game. The big

Pampa Pythians Give Degree Work in Amarillo Friday

The rank of knight was conferred upon Amarillo candidates of the Knights of Pythias lodge there last Friday evening by a team from the Pampa organization.

Those who made the trip were Ray C. Wilson, R. R. Hungate, C. C. Matheny, John Shannon, Walter D. Hardin, Warren Stannard, M. S. Johnson, Ray Sullivan, Shelby S. Gantz, Ernest Gee, and G. J. Thompson.

The local men conferred the degree in ritualistic form, using regalia furnished by the Amarillo lodge, which has the best equipment in the West.

Chancellor L. A. Freeman was in charge of the work. He instituted the Pampa lodge about a year ago. Bill Orion, chancellor commander of the Berger lodge, and Morris Johnson of Pampa made talks. Mr. Gee, district deputy past chancellor, said a district convention would be called soon to plan a competitive prize campaign for the purpose of building up Pythianism in this territory.

Grubbs Ready to Defend Name Here Tomorrow

Fresh from a 10-round draw with young Chico at Tucumcari, Neil "Pug" Grubbs, styled by Borger fans as the flyweight champ of the Southwest, will step into the Pla-Mor auditorium ring tomorrow night for an 8-round argument with Pampa's favorite, K. O. Kitchens.

Neither of these lads have ever been "licked" and the way they have promised to stand up and fight each other is going to give the fans a run for their $$.

A letter from Borger to Jack C. Rogers, promoter, says, "You can expect more people from here than you had at the last show."

Anticipating the flyweight fight, the leather puncher lovers have not yet become greatly excited about the main bout which will be between "Cyclone" Bonds of Las Cruces, N. M., and Elmer Rigdon of McLean, through ten rounds.

The Borger Daily Herald says of the coming match with Grubbs and Kitchens: "If Pug Grubbs can knock out K. O. Kitchens in the first 10 seconds of their scheduled 8-round semi-final boxing go at Pampa Thursday night he will do it."

Apparently neither Pug nor his father is seriously considering the 14 pounds Kitchens will have on Pug Thursday night in addition to the four years of age.

The Herald and Pug's manager slightly err in the above statement regarding our Kitchens' weight and age. K. O. weighs exactly 118 pounds and is 16 years old.

Besides the two main bouts, there will be a four-round affair between Kid Arthur and Dick Salimon. Both of these are dark horses to Pampa fans but they are going to try to win the favor of their audience by putting up a stiff fight.

Arlington Downs Racing Program to Draw All Eyes

ARLINGTON DOWNS, Nov. 6. (AP)—Eyes of turf followers turned upon Texas today where in the first day of a ten-day meet an attempt will be made to break up the traditional partnership between horse races and gambling.

W. T. Waggoner, millionaire Texas oil and cattle man, and his two sons, G. L. and E. F., believe so strongly the two are not inseparable they have staked $2,000,000, the initial cost of the track plus $70,000 in purses, on their convictions.

Waggoner and his sons are not novices at racing. Their 3-D stock farm and its horses are known wherever races are run. Their love for the game led them into the experiment—which is an experiment because Texas sheriffs have closed several tracks where gambling was permitted on the sly.

Everything so far has been in favor of the Waggoners and their Texas Jockey club. They have been endorsed by school and church and testimonial meetings. The prize money has drawn more than 400 thoroughbreds, including some of the sensational horses.

CHURCHES

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The attendance at the service last night was better than that at any meeting except Sunday since the revival campaign began. This fact gives us cause for encouragement; but your not being there discourages us.

We rejoice to have members of other churches with us in the services and appreciate their cooperation in the revival work.

The weekly meeting of the teachers and officers of the Sunday school will be held this evening at 6:30 o'clock. A full attendance is urged at this meeting, which will be also the monthly workers council of the Sunday school.

Attention is called to the business meeting of the church at the close of the service tonight. This meeting will be brief, but it will be quite important.

Farm to Catch Snow Drifts

On the flat farming land of Kansas, two problems confront farmers. Moisture conservation is one, and keeping the soil from drifting after being disked or listed is the other. The disked soil holds the moisture, but it is drifted by the wind which reaches high velocity during certain seasons.

German Airliner Crashes in Fog—Six Persons Die

MARDEN PARK, Surrey, Eng., Nov. 6. (AP)—Six persons were killed and two injured in the crash of a big German airliner bound for Berlin from Croydon today.

Three of those killed were crew members. One of the two survivors was Prince Eugene Schaumburg-Lippe, second cousin of a former reigning prince of one of the oldest German royal houses.

The crash, which was followed by the machine bursting into flames, is believed to have been caused by the pilot's flying into a hillside during a fog.

Behind the remnants of the airliner was a large tree which had been torn from the ground by the last lunge of the big machine. The crash and the burst of flames followed instantly.
