NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC
Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing, or reputation of any individual, firm, concern, or corporation that may appear in the columns of the Pampa Daily News will be gladly corrected when called to the attention of the editor.

WHAT IS ADVISABLE IS NOT ALWAYS POSSIBLE OR APPEALING TO THE PUBLIC WHICH PAYS THE BILL FOR IMPROVEMENTS.

It required no gift of foresight to remark, as The News did more than two years ago, that storm sewers would be greatly needed, and that the city would regret not having built them in connection with the initial paving program.

Pampa is so flat that drainage is extremely slow—too slow to care for heavy rains and snow. Recently the slush was so deep that wading in low-cuts from curb to curb was very disagreeable.

THE CITY COMMISSION IS NEARLY READY TO ANNOUNCE THE NAMES OF THE CITY PLANNING COMMISSION IT WILL APPOINT. THAT BODY WILL DOUBTLESS DERIVE SOME BENEFIT FROM THE SERVICE OFFERED BY THE KESSLER PLAN ASSOCIATION OF DALLAS.

When G. B. Dealey, prime mover in organizing the Dallas association, insisted that the charter provide for exchange of city planning ideas with other towns and cities of Texas, he stimulated civic development and started a movement which promises to go far.

Texas, formerly a state of broad expanses of plantations and ranches, is becoming a commonwealth of towns and cities. Three-fifths of the population will be found in organized municipalities when the 1930 census is taken.

Many towns will remain relatively small, while some will grow into cities. The difference will largely depend upon the civic leadership and community energy shown.

A winning city is one with an attractive and accessible business district. It has sanitary and attractive home surroundings for rich and for poor. It is a city which gives real value for the tax dollar, wisely but progressively expended.

Pampa needs a city planning commission to help her spend wisely her tax dollars. She needs suggestions regarding orderly business and residential district growth.

Judge Mullican's Court Order

Now that the hearing is over, and the smoke of legal battle has cleared away, The Morning Avalanche wants to say a word in regard to the court order which barred Lubbock county newspapers from printing the direct testimony in Clay Lester's habeas corpus hearing here yesterday.

When Judge Clark M. Mullican, presiding in 99th District court, issued the order from his standpoint he acted wisely. Had any Lubbock county newspaper published the testimony many prospective jurors in the final trial of the case would have been disqualified because they would, from the newspaper reports have reached an opinion.

That would have meant just one thing. A change of venue would have been inevitable and would have cost thousands of dollars in witness fees, mileage fees and other expenses which would not be encountered in the trial held in Lubbock county.

This newspaper is like any other. It is in the business of disseminating news—selling it, if you please, to the public. Therefore, it sorely regrets its inability to print testimony of witnesses in the Lester case yesterday.

When the Lester trial is called, whether it be in Lubbock county or not, The morning Avalanche and its associated publications will carry full reports of the testimony, part of which will be repetition of yesterday's gist from the witness stand.

Considering that during the trial of the Lester case this newspaper will carry full reports, The Morning Avalanche feels that in abiding by the court order, willingly and without false movement, it has aided in fostering efficient court action in this community. It feels that the leading newspapers of the South Plains have thus served a responsibility which falls upon the shoulders of any respectable publication.—Lubbock Avalanche.

TWINKLES

There are many of us common folk—and then there are those who have time to go deer hunting.

Percy, the office mouse, says that the ladies have not been afraid of him until lately, and he wonders if the longer skirts are going to restore his former ability to inspire fear.

We will be a long time paying for the world war, but the time is negligible in comparison to the sacrifice of giving "all."

We hear much about arterial highways, but the country folk are wondering when they are going to put some veins into the system too.

We golfers are going to have to get so air-minded we won't notice the wasps overhead. Ten planes were over or almost over the course a few days ago at one time, and their antics were interesting enough for even the rabid aviation fan.

CONFERENCE

However, Mrs. Doak responded briefly in words of love to all the donors.

When the bishop asked the question what preachers had died during the year, the committee announced the names: M. D. Hill, a supernumerary of Haskell; and J. P. Lawless, pastor at Snyder. Their names will be referred to the committee on memorial for a fitting memorial service probably Sunday afternoon.

To Ordain Elders
The bishop announced that at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning as the first matter of business he will ordain elders who were elected to that order during the morning session. Those who were elected elders and will be ordained tomorrow by the imposition of the hands of the bishop and elders are: J. D. Jenkins, J. W. Price, J. B. Thompson, C. R. Hooten, Sam A. Thomas, M. G. Brotherton, J. H. Sharp, R. C. Cline, Cecil Fox, F. R. Pickens, O. B. Herring and M. R. Pike.

The name of every conference preacher called and his presiding answered "Nothing against him," and view district, withdrew from the ministry and church, but his character was unspotted.

Rev. J. H. Hamblen, presiding elder of the Stamford district, reported that charges had been lodged with him against J. A. Scroggins, a member of his district, and that a committee appointed by him had found a trial necessary.

Hunt Represents Defendant
Bishop Moore said he had an indictment giving the charges and specifications. Dr. J. W. Hunt was selected to represent the defendant and Rev. C. A. Bickley the church. Trial began this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Dr. G. S. Hardy was made chairman of the trial committee and J. W. Watson secretary. The trial jury consists of C. W. Foote, C. A. Duncan, Z. A. Smith, S. E. Allison, O. M. Addison, W. P. his character was passed, with one exception, J. E. Payne, in the Plain-Garvin; G. T. Palmer, J. C. Mann, E. J. Ransy, C. E. Fike, J. W. Shepherd, W. P. McMicken, J. F. Howell, A. B. Davidson.

At 7 p. m. the ladies of the Missionary Society will put on the pageant "The Challenge of the Cross" in the main auditorium and thereafter Dr. O. E. Goddard, secretary of foreign missions of the church, will bring a missionary message. The entire public is cordially invited to all sessions of the conference, Bishop Moore announced today.

TEXAN STARS FOR MARINES

Johnny Dashiell, smallest and speediest player on the All-Marine football eleven who was the outstanding star of his team when they won the President's Cup and the football laurels of the service by defeating the Coast Guard, 19 to 0, in a game played recently at Washington. Dashiell, a halfback, is a native of Jewett and a former player with Lon Morris Junior College of Jacksonville, Texas. El Progresso Studies
William Dean Howells in Club Program Tuesday
 With "The Rise of Silas Lapham" as the special assignment for the day, members of El Progresso club yesterday enjoyed an enlightening program on the work of William Dean Howells, a study included in the organization's course in American literature.
 Mrs. C. C. Cook ably led the program, which was given at the home of Mrs. John V. Andrews. Roll call was answered with quotations from the author's works. Mrs. Cook opened the program with a synopsis of the plot of "The Rise of Silas Lapham." A reading clipped from the fourth chapter of the book was given by Mrs. C. P. Buckler.
 A second reading, entitled "The Shaving," and it also from the novel, was given by Mrs. C. M. Bryson. The realism of Mr. Howells was discussed by Mrs. James Todd, Jr. "The Fire," was a descriptive reading by Mrs. T. D. Hobart. A review of "My Literary Friends and Acquaintances" was presented by Mrs. P. C. Ledrick as the closing number.
 In addition to a large number of the club members who will assist in the Red Cross membership drive through their church organizations, a committee of three will represent the club in the activities of Friday and Saturday. It will include, Mrs. Lee Ledrick, Mrs. C. P. Buckler, and Mrs. James Todd, Jr.
 Members who attended the meeting were: Mrs. George Briggs, Mrs. C. M. Bryson, Mrs. C. P. Buckler, Mrs. A. Cole, Mrs. C. C. Cook, Mrs. Wm. M. Craven, Mrs. T. D. Hobart, Mrs. P. C. Ledrick, Mrs. H. L. Ledrick, Mrs. Carson Loftus, Mrs. Dave Pope, Mrs. Charles Thut, Mrs. James Todd, Jr., and Mrs. George Walstead.
 Bob Ervin was taken to Pampa hospital last night by Malone ambulance. Ervin, the city traffic officer, has been ill since Sunday with chronic rheumatism.

"America the Beautiful" Subject of Excellent Club Program Tuesday

A program which was not only exceptionally interesting to the club members who had the privilege of hearing it, but gave an added distinction to the important calendar of Pampa club offerings for the year, was Twentieth Century's presentation on "America the Beautiful," a study on the most famous natural wonders and artistic creations of the nation.
 The program was given yesterday under the direction of Mrs. H. D. Lewis, at the home of Mrs. W. T. Fraser. Famous monuments of America were named and described by Mrs. Edwin Vicars, who gave also the source of the inspiration for each. National parks of America were described by Mrs. H. G. Twiford. The story of Arlington, where lie America's highly honored soldiers and statesmen of the past, was given by Mrs. J. D. Sugg.
 A parliamentary drill, conducted by Mrs. Tom E. Rose, followed the program, and was in turn followed by a business session. Representatives to assist in the Red Cross membership drive on Friday and Saturday were named as follows: Mrs. Clifford Braly, Mrs. Edwin Vicars, Mrs. A. R. Sawyer, Mrs. I. B. Hughey, Mrs. Raymond Harrah, Mrs. Joe M. Smith, Mrs. W. T. Fraser, and Mrs. H. G. Twiford.
 The club's appreciation for the honor bestowed upon it by the Council of Clubs in the election of Mrs. Rose, Twentieth Century representative, to the office of president was expressed by Mrs. Porter Malone, who extended the congratulations of the membership to Mrs. Rose.
 The following members attended the club meeting and were guests of Mrs. Fraser afterward for a delightful social half-hour: Mrs. R. C. Campbell, Mrs. F. M. Culbertson, Mrs. A. H. Ducette, Mrs. Clifford Braly, Mrs. H. D. Lewis, Mrs. Raymond Harrah, Mrs. Porter Malone, Mrs. Floyd Smith, Mrs. Tom E. Rose, Mrs. A. R. Sawyer, Mrs. Joe M. Smith, Mrs. J. D. Sugg, Mrs. Edwin Vicars, Mrs. R. W. Mitchell, and Mrs. H. G. Twiford.

Pampa Girl Honored in Popularity Contest at Wyoming University
 Miss Maxine Lyon, a junior in the University of Wyoming at Laramie, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Lyon of Pampa, won second place in a recent popularity contest conducted in the school. Following is a note from The Republican Boomerang, Laramie daily paper:
 "Miss Jean Nimmo of Cheyenne is the most popular girl on the university campus, having won that honor in a contest sponsored by the 1929 "Wyo," which closed yesterday at 5 p. m. Miss Maxine Lyon of Pampa, Texas, was runner-up with 19,200 votes, 4,000 less than those accumulated by Miss Nimmo. Miss Nimmo is a Phi Beta Phi and Miss Lyon a Kappa Delta."

ABOUT FOLKS

By A. F.
 "What will the lawyers do now?" wondered Commissioner Lewis O. Cox yesterday afternoon as the commissioners voted to quit supplying the courthouse with the long tablets of yellow paper that are always seen in the court room. Judge Ivey Duncan, in suggesting that the court quit buying them said nobody ever used them but the lawyers.
 Commissioner Kirby believes that half the farmers in the Panhandle don't have horses on their places.
 One of the youngest preachers attending the Methodist conference here is Gaston Foote of Haskell. He's about 24, a graduate of S. M. U. and already has an important charge. He was pastor of the White Deer Methodist church last year.
 His father, also a Methodist preacher, is stationed at Shamrock. Rev. C. W. Foote, like presiding Elder Pearce, taught school a number of years before he became a preacher.
 M. S. Leveridge of Seymour was formerly pastor here. He has been in the West Texas conference nearly a score of years.

 Perhaps the youngest preacher attending the conference is M. R. Pike, pastor of the Mundy circuit. He looks at least three years younger than Gaston Foote.
 Rev. E. V. Cole, who in 1923 was the popular bachelor-pastor of the Denton street Methodist church, Gainesville, Texas, and is now editor of the Texas Christian Advocate, told this off-beat story: Two men were looking at a painting, a Turner sunset. One said, "Why you know, a sunset was never like that! Look at those colors—it's impossible. We'll never see sunsets like that." The other answered, "but don't you wish you could."

As we are from Paducah, our favorite Methodist preacher is Rev. R. N. Huckaby from the Cottle county capital—our favorite even if he was for Herbert Hoover. Rev. Huckaby has been at Paducah three years and they sure want him back.
 Oliver Browder, pastor of the church at Truscott, says the crops are poorer in Knox county than they have been since 1918.

Ed Landreth, attending the conference, in 1922 sang for a revival meeting in the wilds of King county. Then he was all of 18 years old, and had just begun preaching. We remember well his marriage to Alma Holmberg, daughter of the Swanson ranch foreman.

Another preacher that is popular in his home town and satisfies his congregation is Rev. E. B. Bowen of Hereford, whose son, Elbert, plays on the champion football team that Pampa will have to beat to win the championship of the Panhandle.

Rev. Huckaby and Rev. Bowen are famed as the smiling men of the conference.
 Miss Vergil Powell, guest in the home of W. R. Mitchell, was taken to Pampa hospital yesterday by the Malone ambulance.

Warmer Weather to Follow Coldest Wave of Season

Relief from the cold wave which went well below freezing came with a warm sun today, though the north wind remained cold. The temperature went above 40 at 11 o'clock, and the forecast was "generally fair." However, another freeze for tonight was predicted.

DENVER, Nov. 13. (AP)—Extreme cold and heavy snows in the last few days in the Rocky Mountain region caused one death, aroused fears for safety of several persons and gave rise to apprehension for the sugar beet harvest.

The lowest temperature reported was in Gallatin canyon near Bozeman, Mont., where the thermometer registered 20 degrees below zero. A five-inch snow fall accompanied the cold. Temperatures generally in Colorado, Wyoming, and Montana were only slightly above zero.

Alfred Salazar, 17, was the only victim of the storm so far as known. He and two companions set out to gather wood in the Sangre de Crisco range, southwest of Pueblo, Colo. A sudden snow storm caused their team of horses to break away, leaving the youths to walk their way to shelter. Salazar died in the arms of one of his companions.

Sugar company officials said there would not be serious loss as nearly the entire crop had been harvested. The crop, however, is likely to be short of expectations.

HOLLYWOOD—Many times did the Hollywood chamber of commerce raise its collective hands in horror, and in vain, for Hollywood boulevard, gay shopping center of the film city, at last is to be "profaned" by a pawnshop.

The Los Angeles city council recently considered six petitions for permits to establish loan dens on the street which in its buoyant smart showiness seems so typical of movie-Hollywood. One of the six granted, over protest of the Hollywood body.

Commercial Hollywood is extremely solicitous about the appearance of its pet boulevard. Once, someone recalls, a cheap concern took temporary foothold in a prominent building there and proceeded to plaster the exterior of its shop with cheap wrapping paper, shoe polish signs proclaiming its "bargains."

Before the shoe polish had dried, all telephone wires to the chamber of commerce were clogged with calls of protest from boulevard merchants.

PRIDEFUL—The chamber, it seems, does not consider the sign of three balls in keeping with the spirit of Hollywood's main drag. Obviously, the tuxedo pendant, symbol of temporary aid to the financially unfortunate does not exactly suggest the prosperity which is Hollywood's pride.

That sort of thing should be restricted to Los Angeles' curious cosmopolitan Main street, where the nations mingle in a parade suggestive of New York's varied human ebb and flow.

Such, at least, was maintained by many of Hollywood's C. of C. stalwarts, although a few held that the boulevard, if it aspired to be truly cosmopolitan, should have at least one pawn shop.

"Radio Red" Offers Free Rides for Preachers—He Suffers in the Cold

Attention, visiting preachers! At your service night and day until Saturday noon will be "Radio Red" Dorman and his sedan Viking Eight, he told some Methodist pastors as he took them to their rooms here last night. "Red" yesterday morning at 9 o'clock began an endurance drive which is scheduled to last 100 hours and until then he has nothing to do but drive up and down Pampa streets.

"See Red and get free rides!" he said. He said he expects to haul 200 preachers by Saturday noon. Visiting ministers can easily recognize Red's car. It is a grey sedan covered with signs. There is no danger of Red stopping his engine—unless he wants to stop for food, because last night he broke the key off in the switch. Besides that he had a flat and nearly froze to death. About three o'clock he got awful sleepy.

However, he has not been lacking in companions. Yesterday morning a black German police dog took up with him and rode until this morning. Mrs. Dorman rode with her husband until an early hour this morning.

"Red" is hoping that some of the preachers want to go somewhere. "Don't forget to tell them that mine is the leading courtesy car in town," he said. He is meeting all trains and buses.

It's not only an art but it's dangerous to turn a corner with your left wrist chained to the steering wheel—that is, if you don't know how. One would never guess how "Red" does it until one sees him. The Viking 8 was furnished to Dorman by The McGarrity Motor company.

shop—stuns movie-Hollywood spirit. Look prosperous, even if you're down to the last penny; if you can't get a part, confide to your friends, with an air of great secrecy, that "something big" is in the offing.

Destitution here may rub elbows with fabulous wealth, but a pawnshop on the BOULEVARD? HEAVENS!

WHOLE PIG AND SQUEAL TOO ARE USED IN MOVIES

The vast packing industry, noted for its efficiency in using "everything but the squeal," must bow to the movies.

For not only the whole pig, but the squeal as well, is used to advantage in Colleen Moore's all-talking and singing picture, "Smiling Irish Eyes," a pet pig being both seen and heard in several humorous episodes of this First National-Vitaphone special, which is now at the Rex theatre.

"Aloysius," as he was named, is a three-months old porker that began his education for a screen career unusually early. He was taught to go through his scenes without being given shouted instructions by a trainer, the advent of talking pictures making it impossible to use animals that must be guided through their motions by spoken commands.

Consequently, Aloysius was given a prominent place in Colleen's supporting cast for "Smiling Irish Eyes."

"Cyclone" Bonds Gets Knock-Out

"Cyclone" Bonds, who made his debut in Pampa boxing here last Thursday night at the Pla-Mor by knocking out Elmer Rigdon in 45 seconds, last night stopped Mutt Browning at Hobart, Okla. in the second round. Browning, who weighs 185 pounds, was scheduled to fight Kid Arthur of Pampa but promoter Jack C. Rogers and the Hobart manager thought Bonds would be better suited as an opponent. Bonds weighs 170.

He and Luther Platter are now training here daily for a fight at the Pla-

4 hurry-up hot breads

These four breakfast hot breads are all easy to prepare—for they are all variations of one simple recipe.

But, before you make them, remember for muffins and other hot breads to taste really good, all the ingredients must taste good, too. If, for example, one is not particular about the shortening, whatever strong flavor there may be in the fat itself will quite spoil the real, delicate muffin taste.

How, then, to be sure? Simple: taste your shortening.

You taste milk. You test eggs. Now, taste Crisco—then any other shortening. Then you'll understand why Crisco's own sweet, fresh flavor so improves the taste of your muffins, biscuits, cakes, pies, cookies and fried foods.

Virginia Sally Lunn	French Coffee Cake
½ cup Crisco	1 teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar	½ cup milk
2 eggs (beaten)	2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder

Cream Crisco and sugar together. Add beaten eggs, and mix well. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with milk to the first mixture. Bake in a Criscoed shallow pan in hot oven (400° F.) 20 to 25 minutes.

Waffles	Golden Muffins
Follow the Sally Lunn recipe but separate the eggs, adding beaten yolks to batter and adding ¼ cup more milk. Just before baking add egg whites beaten stiff. (For crispier waffles simply cook longer.) This makes enough to serve 6 to 8 persons.	Follow recipe for Sally Lunn. Fill muffin tins two-thirds full of batter. Bake about 15 minutes in a hot oven (400° F.). This makes 15 to 18 muffins.

These recipes have been tested and approved by cooking authorities. You will get best results by using level measurements and the ingredients specified.

CRISCO was used in the Cooking School recently conducted by this paper

Mrs. Leona Rusk Ibrig, in the News Cooking School, made a point of modern methods in cooking. Naturally, then, she used Crisco, the modern shortening. Not only is Crisco easy to use; in addition, it helps you secure better, surer results.

LET THE THERMOMETER DROP

... it's always summer for your car

Even on cold winter nights your motor starts "right now" when fueled with Phillips 66. Here's a gasoline with volatility controlled to fit the season and the climatic conditions of the locality in which you buy it. Combines, for the first time, instant cold weather starting and quick warm-up—flexibility at all engine speeds—mileage and power—at no extra cost. Put your car on super-performance rations; for best results try a full tank of Phillips 66 or 66 Ethyl.

CONTROLLED VOLATILITY

WHEN THE THERMOMETER GOES DOWN THE VOLATILITY GOES UP. Gasoline must vaporize before it can be fired in the cylinders of your motor. Volatility refers to the ability of gasoline to vaporize. With volatility controlled, Phillips 66 vaporizes as quickly in cold as in warm weather.

DOPESTERS IN SOUTHWEST TO KEEP SILENT

By GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

This is one year when the Southwestern conference dopsters cannot figure out which way to hop. Three weeks from today the season will be over, yet no one seems to have a definite idea what team will win the title. Four schools are bunched at the top, and none of the quartet can be called a favorite. It is doubtful any conference ever had four football units as evenly matched as Baylor, Texas, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian. Not one of the four has been defeated within the conference, and Baylor is the only one with a black mark of any kind against its record. Centenary put it there, but it very doubtful the Gentlemen are as good a football team as the Bears.

For the good of the game in this section, it is to be hoped that neither of the bouts this week end fetches up in another scoreless tie. A tie of any sort would sound an off note and leave the race hopelessly jumbled, but even a 3-3 affair would be preferable to a mid-field battle. A few more deadlocks and they will have to get together and draw straws to decide the championship.

A dry week-end probably would cut the list of outstanding contenders to two. Either Baylor or Southern Methodist should emerge from their conflict at Dallas with a great chance to grab the flag. The same with Texas and T. C. U. at Austin. If Baylor and T. C. U. are the winners, their tussle the following Saturday at Waco would be for the championship, no matter what the outcome of the Frogs' final game with the Mustangs and Baylor's closing battle against Rice. Southern Methodist has two tilts after this week, with Rice and T. C. U., while Texas has only one scheduled, the annual duel with the Aggies Thanksgiving at College Station. Another tie game practically would eliminate the Longhorns.

Picking the winners in this week's warfare is a dubious occupation. It is not so tough to predict the Aggies will trim Rice. And Arkansas seems due to take a fall out of Centenary at Fayetteville. But there is little upon which to base predictions on the outcome of the skirmishes at Dallas and Austin.

All four are dangerous every moment

Big Six Hopes in Inter-Sectional Games Are Low

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 13. (AP)—Two inter-sectional games in which Big Six football teams participate this month offer little hope of glory for the conference if it be true history repeats itself. Of none games played out of the conference this year, Big Six teams have lost six, tied one and won but two. Missouri will invade Yankee stadium to battle the Violets of New York university Saturday with the shadow of that record over them. Kansas Aggies already beaten 19 to 0 by Texas A. & M. will face Marquette in Milwaukee Thanksgiving day with the same handicap. Marquette already has scalped Iowa State, another Big Six member, 14 to 6.

Nebraska beat Syracuse 13 to 6 and Oklahoma defeated Creighton 26 to 0 but overbalancing those victories is a tie game between Nebraska and Southern Methodist and defeat of Kansas by Illinois, Kansas Aggies by Purdue, Oklahoma by Texas, and Nebraska by Pittsburgh.

Two Men Burned But Not Seriously

Two men who were burned yesterday are recovering in McKean & Connor hospital.

One, John Wilks, employed at the Wilcox Oil and Gas company loading rack, suffered severe burns on his right shoulder, face, arms, when gasoline on his clothes ignited.

The other man, P. H. Shipley, employe at the Texas Elf Oil company was burned badly about the face, eyes, hands, when a grease gun he was loading exploded. His face was also badly cut.

Eight of London's churches contain work of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries.

Argentina's cotton crop this year will be nearly double that of four years ago.

They have the ball. Each has its quota of individual backfield stars, and each has a fine list of plays. It is difficult to say which has the more powerful line. All four have unusually capable sets of forwards. Suffice to say the Texas-T. C. U. and Baylor-S. M. U. engagements promise to be as fiercely contested as any seen in a conference this year. A single touchdown should win either game.

RICKARD WILL BE SUCCEEDED BY OLD RIVAL

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. (AP)—The old order changeth, giving place to the new in such striking fashion that the late Tex Rickard, if he could ever visit again the boxing scenes he once dominated, would hardly know them.

Humbert J. Fugazy was once Rickard's business enemy, his rival for supremacy in the field of cauliflower, and when the tall Texan fought he buried the knife to the hilt. In the end Tex conquered Humbert, drove him to Brooklyn to promote his summer shows, and lifted Madison Square Garden to such successful heights that the little Italian could never procure the necessary backing for an indoor arena.

Today Fugazy is the toast of the "600 millionaires" of whom Rickard was so proud. Through his pleasant associations with Bill Carey, successor to the presidency of the Garden, and Frank Bruen, the general manager, Humbert came to dicker with the Garden and ended by turning over to them two of the most precious cauliflower chateaus in the heavyweight sock market.

For a sum generally estimated as $65,000, Fugazy sold to the Garden the one contract for Max Schmelling's services recognized by the New York state athletic commission as taking precedent over all others. He further gave up his contracts with Victorio Campolo, the giant Gaucho of the Argentine, and bought off the three-year contract of Gustave Leneve, the manager whose squabbles with his charge sent Victorio limping back to South America, determined never to come north again.

The deal not only gave the Garden a monopoly of the major heavyweights but indicated Fugazy himself has come to the end of his bitter, single-handed struggle to get somewhere in the fight business. Indications are more than strong that some new reorganization of the Garden personnel will ultimately find Humbert in the driver's seat that once was Rickard's. Bruen is expected to become president of the organization with Carey stepping back to the chairmanship of the board of directors.

Editor Declares Preachers Need to Stay With Bible

A sermon for preachers was delivered by Rev. E. V. Cole, editor of the Texas Christian Advocate, at the first assembly of Northwest Texas conference pastors at the First Methodist church last night. About 200 visiting ministers and many local people filled the church.

Rev. Cole said the ministers' chief aspiration should be to know Christ through fellowship, suffering and the Resurrection. However, he declared, many preachers' first desire is to get better appointments, larger salaries, and to hold a more important place in the conference. A blow at political parsons was delivered when he asked, "what other business has a pastor than preaching the Word?"

A congregation would have a man do everything else but preach the word, he said. "Churches send delegations to the bishop bearing a list of qualifications their forthcoming preacher must have. All of them want a good mixer but what most of them need is a good separator," he said. Referring to Paul as the most perfect preacher, he admonished the minister to learn about preaching from Paul. "Everything a preacher needs to know he can learn in Titus," he stated. "A man who changes his mode of living and his manner of thinking usually does so for two reasons: he either meets with great ideals or a great personality, and Paul met with the latter."

Touching upon the second point in his address, that is know Christ through suffering, Rev. Cole declared that the

Two Companies to Furnish Oil for New Bell Refinery

Oil for the 5000-barrel capacity refinery which is to be established here by Bell Oil and Gas company of Tulsa in the near future will be supplied by Danciger Oil and Refining company and Shamrock Oil and Gas company, it was learned here yesterday. It has not been definitely learned whether an entirely new refinery will be built or whether one located some other place will be moved here.

The initial capacity of the refinery will be about 3,000 barrels, it has been learned. The plant will be established on the Sinclair lease near Pampa, recently purchased by the Bell Oil company.

ness is being made, he said. About $200,000 has been raised of the $350,000 allotted to the conference outside of Abilene. The campaign will be pressed throughout the new fiscal year despite the serious financial condition at present prevailing, he said.

McMurry college is now the only institution of learning which Methodism has in this conference. Clarendon college passed out over a year ago. Seth Ward burned. Stamford college burned. Hopes of a big university at Amarillo have gone glimmering. Now there is to be a concentration of thought and resources to make McMurry college at Abilene an institution second to none in the South. Dr. Hunt is indefatigable in his labors. Recently he succeeded in getting quite a substantial sum from El Paso.

The reports of most of the presiding elders will show substantial gains in memberships and conversions, but will disclose that many preachers have not received their salaries and conference benevolences are only partially paid. The bad financial situation is due to the long dry spell which overtook the country. Some sections report three years of partial drouth, but the people have been loyal and have supported their ministers as best they could.

Rev. Tom Brabham, pastor at Pampa, serving his second year here, has completed one of the finest church edifices to be found in the Panhandle. The new church is in the heart of the city. Rev. Brabham was transferred from Cross Plains here. He has many friends in the conference and throughout the Abilene country.

Rev. O. P. Clark, pastor of First church, Sweetwater, is making a strenuous campaign to obtain the 1930 convention for his city. Many friends of Clark are grooming him for clerical delegate to the general conference meeting in Dallas in April next year.

Rev. J. W. Watson, pastor at Quanah, is finishing two years of a great pastorate, but is expected to become conference superintendent of Sunday schools, succeeding Rev. B. L. Nanoe of Abilene, who, it is understood, is transferring to the Arizona conference. Nanoe has done a great work. Before entering the ministry he was a prominent realtor in Lamesa. Watson is an old timer in this conference, having served four years as pastor at Lamesa before being sent to Quanah.

Where will Rev. L. N. Stuckey, pastor of Polk street, Amarillo, be sent another year? That is a question asked by scores. He came to this conference from Cisco, Central Texas conference, and has served satisfactorily and successfully at St. Paul's, Abilene, and Polk street, Amarillo. A whisper that he was to be transferred by Bishop Moore to a large Kansas City church was news to Stuckey when seen by this correspondent today. Stuckey said he would remain in this conference as far as he knew, but that he was in the bishop's hands.

Rev. Cal C. Wright, Baird, arrived Tuesday. He is secretary of this conference, serving his second year. He was formerly of St. Paul's, Amarillo. Wright is probably moving this year from Baird, as he has served four years there.

Rev. R. T. Breedlove, Tahoka, had a good year. The dry weather was severe in parts of his territory. He is serving his third year there and his people want him back. His brother, C. B. Breedlove, is lay leader in the Stamford district and a prominent educator of Haskell. He also is attending conference.

Rev. Z. B. Pirtle, Draw, Grassland, arrived Tuesday with the breeze, though he came from the opposite direction, meeting it head-on. Pirtle is a veteran of this conference. Though somewhat advanced in age, he is taken for a "kid." This year he received his A. B. degree from Texas Tech.

Rev. J. W. Whately, "supply" serving the Lamesa circuit, brings up one of the best reports from his district. He held several old-fashioned revivals this year and organized a new rural church at Hancock with about 40 members.

Rev. C. A. Duncan, O'Donnell, did a wonderful work this year. He got O'Donnell, long lagging, to going afresh. Conference claims in full and a new church built. His people want him back. Duncan went to O'Donnell last fall from Meadow and Ropes.

Rev. G. P. McCollum, one of the younger set of ministers, serving Asbury church, Lubbock, built and dedicated a new church in that city since the last conference. It is a small but very beautiful brick structure. This is his last year in the ministry.

The many friends of R. B. Waldron, pastor of the Becton circuit, Lubbock district, are glad to see him at conference following his confinement for several weeks in a hospital at Lubbock. Waldron has served that charge three years and reports some glorious revivals this year.

Rev. W. G. Bailey, pastor of First church, Big Spring, has done a great work. He raised the entire debt on the new $65,000 church this spring and has added several hundred members. The membership of his church is now a little over 1,000, being the largest church in Big Spring. Bailey came to this conference from Arlington and has always raised his conference collections.

Despite the bad conditions obtaining over the area several new circuits and pastoral charges are expected to be created this year. Among these probably will be a circuit known as the Big Spring circuit, and another out of Stinnett.

Presiding elders, eight in number, comprising the cabinet of Bishop Moore met with the bishop Tuesday afternoon for the first "skirmish" in the battle to place preachers for another year. They are finding it rather difficult this year. It is noteworthy that there were few new preachers transferred into this conference from other conferences. The outflowing transfers have been about normal. Many of the circuits and stations this year are cutting salaries and therefore the adjustment is being made of men on the basis of seniority plus pastoral and preaching ability.

Rev. R. E. L. Stutts, veteran in this conference, but now a superannuate, is attending the sessions. He is known throughout the territory. His present home is Abilene.

D. D. Dennison, Meadow and Ropes, has had an unusually good year. He is a transfer from the New Mexico conference.

Rev. C. R. Hooten, former junior preacher at Polk street, Amarillo, but this year stationed at Sudan-Amherst, has transferred to the New Mexico conference and assigned to Fort Stockton. He is attending the Northwest Texas conference here.

Rev. R. A. Stewart, St. John's Stamford, has served his fourth year at that place and will move. He has improved much in health after several months of illness. He is one of the foremost educators of the Northwest Texas conference.

Rev. C. E. Jameson, pastor at Canyon, is telling the "boys" the beauties and advantages of Ceta canyon where the conference holds its annual encampment. Jameson was formerly at Memphis. Jameson says he pities the Methodist preacher who is bald headed. But he tells that to friends who will sympathize with him.

Rev. E. E. White, presiding elder of the Abilene district, arrived Tuesday. This is his first year on the district, having gone there last fall after serving First church, Lubbock, several years. White is one of the most popular men in the conference, especially by the boys of his district. He says his district this year was hard hit by the dry weather, but the membership is loyal and expecting great progress next year.

Rev. C. A. Bickely, Vernon, is serving his fifth year as pastor there. Infrequently does a Methodist minister serve a charge over four years. Bickely is confidently expected to become presiding elder of the Lubbock district, succeeding Dr. D. B. Doak, who has served his quadrennium and must move according to Methodist law. Doak has been one of the most popular presiding elders of the conference and is universally loved by all the preachers serving under him. Bickely is fervent in evangelism and if he takes the district it is expected the keynote will be evangelistic.

is being assisted in the prosecution by W. M. Lewright.

Judge Ewing has not yet expressed his opinion dealing with the legality of Tom C. Johnson's remaining active as deputy sheriff of Wheeler county following his conviction and sentence by a Pampa jury on a felony charge. However, Judge Braly when asked to give his opinion in the Shamrock Texan quoted the revised civil statutes of the State of Texas as follows: "An indictment for a felony of any deputy sheriff appointed shall operate a revocation of his appointment as such deputy sheriff." (Article 6880.)

A day later, Raymond Allred, county attorney of Wheeler county, received the following telegram from Gallo-way Calhoun, first assistant attorney general of Texas: "Article six eight six nine Revised Civil Statutes provides near conclusion that an indictment for a felony of any deputy sheriff shall operate as a revocation of his appointment as such deputy." The Wheeler county attorney had telegraphed: "Does either felony indictment or felony conviction of deputy sheriff remove him from office or is either one merely cause for removal?"

Johnson, who was indicted, tried, convicted and sentenced to ten years in prison for the same offense that Davis is charged with, has appealed his case to the court of criminal appeals, Austin. His attorneys contend his appeal suspended court action and entitled him to remain a deputy.
