

...for greenhorn farmer

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government pamphlets explaining work dangers to farmers are sparking controversy because of language one congressman says must have been written "for a New Yorker about to visit a farm for the first time."

The booklets, prepared at a cost of almost $500,000 by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, are designed to help farmers and farmhands understand new federal safety rules.

One pamphlet, "Safety With Beef Cattle," declares in large, bold print that "hazards are one of the main causes of accidents" and explains, "You can make your work area safe by finding hazards and removing them."

Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Nebr., says the language is "so incredibly arrogant and insulting that it nearly leaves me speechless." He said OSHA material for other industries is not so childish and that apparently only farmers have been singled out for such treatment.

The beef cattle booklet has the American National Cattlemen's Association "laughing with tears in our eyes" with such advice as: "When floors are wet and slippery with manure, you can have a bad fall. You could also trip over junk or trash."

The pamphlets are being distributed in cooperation with the Extension Service in the Agriculture Department. New federal rules affecting farmers who hire outside labor have been announced by the agency.

One cluster of regulations affecting protective shields around machinery was to have gone into effect June 7 but was delayed until Oct. 25, partly because the informational material, including the pamphlets, were not ready.

Rep. Thomas Hagedorn, R-Mich., said, "The material in these pamphlets seems to be written for a New Yorker about to visit a farm for the first time." He said 155,000 copies of each of 28 pamphlets are being printed at a cost of $347,220 and that the government paid experts at Purdue University $119,500 for developing the material.

Among the pamphlets are: Safety with Front-End Loaders; Beware of Machine Hazards; Rules for Flagmen; Cotton Harvesting Safety; Using Anhydrous Ammonia Safely; Safety with Rotary Mowers; Working Safely with Poultry; and Using Grain Harvesting Equipment.

Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., noted that a new OSHA pamphlet advises farmers to "speak softly to cows...."

"Then there's one about being careful when you step in manure because it's slippery."

Civil rights leaders to fight busing plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil rights leaders say they will fight a Ford administration proposal that would force an end to court-ordered busing after five years in some cities.

"We are against that," said Clarence Mitchell, head of the Washington office of the NAACP.

"There is no reasonable basis for any such limitation," said Joseph Rauh, chairman of the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights.

In interviews Wednesday, they discussed their objections to the plan. Atty. Gen. Edward Levi had outlined at a news conference earlier in the day.

Levi said legislation being drafted at the Justice Department "does have a provision that busing can, under certain circumstances, be ordered for a three-year period, that it can then be continued for two additional years."

"Then if the orders of the court over that period have been carried out in good faith, the assumption is that busing would not any longer be required except in extraordinary circumstances."

Both Mitchell and Rauh said they believe the plan has little if any chance of winning congressional approval.

"My reaction is that this legislation isn't going to pass. The administration knows it's not going to pass," Rauh said. "For them to send up the proposal is an incitement to people to violate court orders."

Levi said he has no doubt that legislation limiting court-ordered busing would be constitutional. "We are certainly not going to propose anything we have any feeling would be unconstitutional," he asserted.

Disputing Levi's claim, Mitchell declared, "I am absolutely sure we could make a successful challenge on the constitutionality."

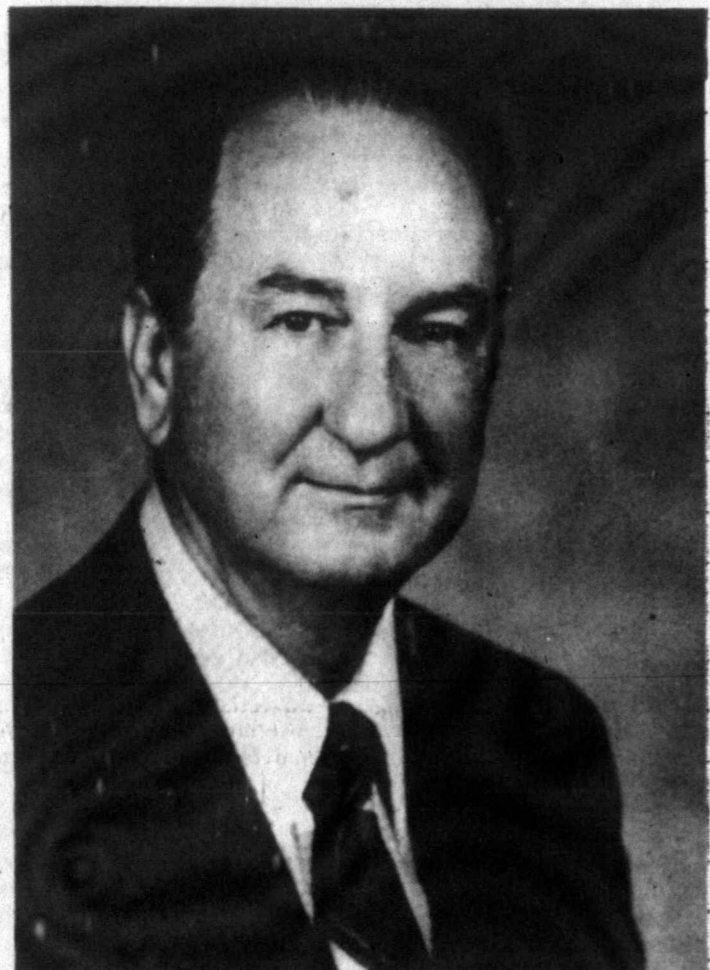

Levi said the proposed legislation would treat busing as a last-resort tool of desegregation to be used only for a transitional period, rather than permanently.

He noted that desegregation orders usually include boundary changes, voluntary student transfers and other remedies in combination with busing.

Those other remedies plus progress in integrated housing over a five-year period should make it possible to end busing without returning to segregated schools, he suggested.

At any rate, he contended, the courts should not be involved in trying to correct segregation caused by normal concentration of racial and ethnic groups in particular neighborhoods.

Rauh said this theory would force black parents to prove segregation has existed as a matter of official policy at every school within a district before they could win a desegregation order.

Council offers rewards to combat crime

By ROB WOOD
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) — The teenager, a .32 caliber pistol in his hand, ordered the convenience store employe to empty the cash register. The clerk placed $76 on the counter and then appeared to bend over. The youth fired.

There was one more murder to be investigated by Dallas police.

A few days later the telephone rang at the Dallas Metro Crime Council and a hushed voice relayed information concerning the slaying. Law enforcement officers were advised and two young men were arrested quickly and charged with the death of John Robert Bautista, 26.

The informant, whose name will never be revealed, collected a $5,000 reward posted by the council, which represents 500 stores in the metropolitan area in this eighth largest city in the nation.

Charlie Eaton, who coordinates the activities of the crime council, said in a recent interview, "Since our organization in January 1974 we have paid 13 rewards involving 19 armed robberies and shootings. Thirteen persons were arrested and 13 were convicted."

Sidney Sigel, president of the council and an official of Sigel Liquor Stores, said, "I am convinced our activity has reduced the number of armed robberies in the city and I know the statistics will prove it."

"The council was formed when a group of businessmen got together and decided something must be done. We like to think we are helping the police as citizens and assisting them in their efforts. That's what it is all about—cooperation," he said.

Investigations by law enforcement officers were hitting one blank wall after another and police asked any person who had one scrap of information to come forward.

met and tossed around one idea after another. The result was creation of the crime council with the rewards and the promise of anonymity.

Eaton said the rewards are financed by the monthly membership dues of $5 per store unit.

or three years. Ours is payable on indictment because we want the rewards to be related in the informants' mind with the supplying of information. We get the money to the people as soon as possible and the results show we are on the right track."

Eaton said the council has paid rewards to some informants whose names "are not even known to us."

There have been no attempts, Eaton said, to defraud the council by someone filing a false claim for reward money.

Bob Shaw, a spokesman for the Dallas police department, said the Metro Crime Council, shortly after its creation and during that period of brutal robbery-killing of convenience store clerks, provided information that helped "clear up a half dozen or so cases."

"We needed all the help we could get at the time and the council helped us and continue to help us."

Shaw said after the tipster's information is passed along to the department, an investigation is made, and "then we outline to the council the value of the information and the handle it from there."

URW rejects Firestone proposal

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. proposal to increase wages in exchange for work rule changes that would increase productivity has been rejected by the United Rubber Workers.

The rejection maintained the no-progress status of the bargaining in the 59-day-old strike of about 60,000 URW workers against the industry's Big Four companies.

Another 1,100 employees of the Mansfield Tire & Rubber Co. will decide probably on Friday whether they want to continue their strike. They walked off their jobs after their contract expired at midnight Tuesday, but negotiations are continuing.

The Mansfield company, about 75 miles south of here, said it would reconsider its May decision to keep the plant open. The company previously had threatened to shut down the plant as uncompetitive but then decided rising production warranted keeping it open.

Mansfield officials said they would pay the wage set in national rubber contract talks only if productivity improved.

The same issue of productivity was raised this week in contract talks between the URW and Firestone, the target company chosen for an industrywide settlement. Good-year Tire & Rubber Co., B.F. Goodrich and Uniroyal, Inc. also have been struck since April 21.

Southern Baptists elect national leadership

By LARRY McDERMOTT
Associated Press Writer
NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Dr. James L. Sullivan of Nashville, vice president of the Baptist World Alliance, was announced the winner this week in a runoff for the presidency of the Southern Baptist Convention, the largest Protestant denomination in the country.

Sullivan, 66, is a well known Baptist leader and retired executive secretary of the Sunday School Board. He pastored churches in Kentucky, Mississippi, Tennessee and finally the First Baptist Church of Abilene, Tex., before taking over the Sunday School Board post.

Sullivan, considered a moderate, said before election results were known that, "If people are really modernists in the sense that they no longer believe the Bible, they no longer believe Christ is divine and heaven is real, they will leave Baptist ranks in a hurry."

"You don't have to deal with them. They will depart from us, because they can't feel at home in the conservative stance that we have."

Sullivan was elected on the first ballot. Slightly more than 18,000 messengers have registered at the Norfolk Scope Coliseum, which seats only 11,000. As a result, many messengers have viewed the proceedings via closed-circuit television at adjacent Chrysler Hall and a third facility in nearby Virginia Beach.

The vote was for a successor to Jaroy Weber of South Main Baptist Church in Lubbock, Tex. Nominees were Dr. Kenneth Chafin, pastor of the South Main Baptist Church in Houston; Clifton W. Brannon, a Longview, Tex., evangelist; Stewart Simms, pastor of a small Greer, S.C., church; Jack Taylor of San Antonio, Tex.; Dr. James L. Sullivan of Nashville, Tenn., a prominent Baptist and former executive secretary of the Sunday School Board.

After Rogers, pastor of the Bellvue Baptist Church in Memphis, was nominated, he told the convention:

"While I am highly honored... I honestly in my heart feel I should decline, and I do decline because The Lord has spoken to my heart about it."

One convention source said many moderates felt if Rogers had been elected president, he could have "created havoc" in seminaries, here he apparently believes many faculty members are too liberal.

Rogers said later he declined the nomination because of "tremendous responsibility" to his Memphis church, having young children at home and a heavy schedule of evangelistic crusades and conferences.

IN HOPE OF ETERNAL LIFE

In writing to Titus, Paul speaks of the "Hope of eternal life, which God, that cannot lie, promised before the world began." (Titus 1:2) Almost everyone has some kind of hope or goal in this life. We strive to attain it; we look forward to the time when we shall have done so. But these hopes and aims we strive to attain in this life are fleeting. And then, regardless of what we gain, we shall leave it all behind when we depart this life. That we shall do so is certain for "It is appointed unto men once to die." (Heb. 9:27) And we all know that none of these material things accompany us when we do so.

In view of these things, we should consider a question Jesus asked. "What is a man profited if he shall gain the world and lose his own soul? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" (Matt. 16:26)

To Titus, Paul speaks of a hope which endures. It does not pass away with the passing of life in the flesh. This hope is for those who will accept that which God has provided to make it possible. Jesus Christ, the Son of God, obeyed the will of the Father as a man. In so doing, He was able to provide us with the hope of eternity in the presence of Diety. This is what Paul called "eternal life."

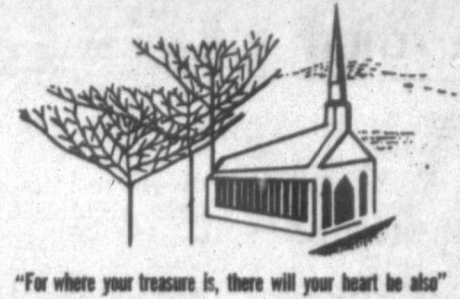

The writer of the Hebrew letter (5:8-9), speaking of Jesus said, "Though He were a son, yet learned He obedience by the things which he suffered; and being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him." This hope of eternal life, then, is restricted to those who will obey the will of Christ. That will, the New Testament, teaches one to believe, repent, confess faith and be baptized to become a Christian. (John 8:24, Luke 13:3; Rom. 10:10; Acts 2:38)

The Christian is taught to "set his affection on things above not on things on the earth." (Col. 3:2). This involves one in reproducing the life of Christ in his own life daily. In so doing one works out his own salvation in the "hope of life eternal." What are your hopes? Are they confined to this world? Or do you, through obedience to the will of Christ, hope for life eternal?

Eternal Vigil...

Salt air, the beating of heavy waves, and rains... these are just a few of the elements that a ship must face constantly. With all of these things, it is little wonder that the crew must be alert, looking for rust and other damage. New paint to protect the ship must be applied regularly.

An individual faces many things in this world, that would rust and corrupt his life, therefore it is good to begin each week with a renewing of spirit, that can be obtained only through worship in the Lord's house.
