

Improper diets associated with cancer

By BRIAN B. KING
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans who fail to eat a balanced diet or eat too much are promoting their chances for cancer, five scientists told Congress.
However, the scientists were cautious when asked for details on what specific foods and brands would be either good or bad for an individual.
Improper diets are related to 60 per cent of all types of cancer in women and 41 per cent of those in men, Dr. Gio B. Gori, deputy director of the National Cancer Institute's division of cancer cause and prevention, told the Senate Select Nutrition Committee on Wednesday.

The scientists were careful to emphasize that an imbalanced diet has not been found to be a cause of cancer but rather is associated with the disease's development.
An excess of fats, for example, has been especially linked in research to breast and colon cancer, they said. The panelists would not condemn any specific types or brands of food, despite urging by some senators.

Gori said that he thought "any modification of our diet in the right direction should effect a decline in the incidences of these cancers in five to ten years." By way of comparison, if everyone stopped smoking, he said, it would be 10 years before lung cancer cases would noticeably decline nationwide.
Smoking is "the single, clearest cause" of cancer, he said, and "the most preventable." We don't need to smoke, we do need to eat.

Others on the panel were Drs. Gerald Wogan, professor of food toxicology at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Dave Kritchevski, of Philadelphia's Wistar Institute; Ernest L. Wynder, president of the American Health Foundation and editor of the Preventive Medicine Journal; and D.M. Hegsted, nutrition professor at Harvard University School of Public Health.

Kritchevski recommended "a well-rounded diet, eaten in moderation."
Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., asked what specific diet Gori would recommend for a 50-year-old male blue-collar worker who wanted to cut his chances of getting cancer.
The scientist said such a man probably is overweight and would need to cut calories by reducing his intake of food with fat, such as meat, milk, sugars and starches.
To make sure the worker "feels satisfied," Gori said, he should consume more fruits and vegetables to get bulk in his diet — even if that means eating more fruit a few hours later to quiet his stomach.

The man also should not smoke and should drink alcoholic beverages only moderately, Gori said.
Wynder recommended not only reducing total calories in the diet but specifically cutting those coming from fat to 35 per cent of total calories and cutting cholesterol to less than 300 milligrams a day.

Friendly flock

Three students from the Satellite School get acquainted with a flock of sheep this morning at the Ernie Wilkinson home east of Pampa. Gary Carr (top photo) and Peggy Goad and Donald Stewart were on their way with the rest of the students to a picnic in Lefors. "They had never seen sheep before," Mrs. Wilkinson said. "They were real excited. They got right down in the grass with them and fed them out of their hands."

House reprimands Rep. Sikes on financial misconduct charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted overwhelmingly today to reprimand a subcommittee chairman, Rep. Robert L. F. Sikes, on two counts of financial misconduct.
It was the House's first punishment of a member since 1969 when it fined Harlem Democrat Adam Clayton Powell and stripped him of seniority.
There were only three speakers in the debate before the reprimand against Sikes, a Florida Democrat.
One of the speakers, Rep. Andrew McGuire, D-N.J., said the House ethics committee should have recommended a stiffer punishment than censure. He said members should consider whether to take away Sikes' chairmanship of the House military construction appropriations subcommittee next year.

"The committee has found conduct that cannot and should not be tolerated by this House, or anybody or the American people," McGuire said.
The House approved the reprimand by a 381 to 3 vote, with five members voting present.
Voting against the reprimand were Reps. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., Tom Steed, D-Okla. and Olin Teague, D-Tex.

Sikes made no statement to the House in his own defense but received permission to insert a statement later into the Congressional Record.
In a 496-page report issued earlier this week, the ethics committee called for Sikes to be reprimanded for:
—Buying 2,500 shares of stock in the First Navy Bank after he used his office to help establish the bank at the Pensacola, Fla., Naval Air Station.
—Failing to report in financial statements to the House

both the bank stock and 1,000 shares of stock Sikes owned in Fairchild Industries, Inc., a major defense contractor.
A reprimand is the mildest form of punishment the ethics panel could have recommended. At the other end of the scale, it could have recommended that Sikes be expelled from the House.
The committee also said Sikes created "an obvious and significant conflict of interest" by sponsoring a bill in 1961 to clear commercial development of Florida land owned by a company he controlled.

But the panel recommended no punishment for the land deal, saying it happened 15 years ago and that Sikes' constituents continued to re-elect him, even though they knew about the deal to some extent.
Sikes, replying to the charges, said he acted as a congressman to benefit his constituents and not himself.
As for failing to report the stock, he said he didn't know he was required to do so. He said he immediately filed reports on the stock when he found out he was supposed to do so.

Court blocks new gas rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals is blocking a $1.5-billion a year increase in natural gas price ceilings while opponents seek to cancel the new ceilings.
The court issued an order Wednesday to temporarily stop the higher rate ceilings approved on Tuesday by the Federal Power Commission. Opponents said the new rate ceilings are so close to rates charged for unregulated intrastate gas that they amount to an FPC attempt to abandon its legal responsibility to regulate interstate prices.
A coalition of 16 petitioners challenged the FPC rate ceilings Wednesday, asking the appellate court to prevent collection of higher rates until the court hears the case. The order granting a delay did not say if the appeals court would accept the case for review.

Issued by Judges Charles Fahy and Spottswood Robinson III, the order imposed an immediate stay of the increase "until further order."
Opponents of the higher FPC-approved rate ceiling said they also were asking the FPC to reconsider its decision approving the boost.
As approved by the FPC, the new rate ceiling would allow interstate natural gas pipelines to double and triple the previous price ceiling on new natural gas supplies sold by producers to the pipelines.

The FPC said this would mean the average residential customer would pay about $15.60 more per year for natural gas, an increase of about 6 per cent. The FPC said the actual amount would depend on where in the country the customer lives. For instance, a customer in Florida might face a yearly increase of about $5.20 a year, but one in Ohio, where winters are colder, would see his bill boosted by some $23.14.
The petitioners in the court case said it would take the FPC at least 60 days — probably longer — to review their request. They argued that without a court order blocking the new price ceilings, the higher rates would cost consumers at least $367 million during the appeal. They said there is virtually no chance consumers could get a refund if the FPC or the courts eventually overturn the price increase.

The petition urging the court to block the new rates claimed the increases eventually will be ruled illegal by the courts.
The FPC has maintained a price ceiling of 52 cents per thousand cubic feet on gas brought into the interstate market since Jan. 1, 1973. At the same time, unregulated gas sold in intrastate markets recently has commanded an average of $1.55 per thousand cubic feet.

To make interstate pipelines more competitive for available gas supplies, the FPC authorized a new national price ceiling of $1.42 per thousand cubic feet in Tuesday's decision, with additional increases of one cent every three months.

GM profits break record

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry's bust-to-boom turnaround sent General Motors' profits in the second quarter soaring to a record $909 million, the highest ever by an industrial corporation for a three-month period.
April-June earnings reported Wednesday by the world's largest auto maker amount to a startling $10 million a day after taxes.
Profits jumped 173 per cent from $333 million in the spring of 1975, when the industry was struggling out of its worst slump in four decades.
GM joins Chrysler Corp. in reporting record profits for the period. Ford Motor Co. also is expected to set a new mark when it releases its financial results today.
GM's earnings top the firm's previous quarterly record of $817 million set in the first quarter of 1973. It also shatters the previous quarterly profit mark for an industrial firm of $862 million set in the last three months of 1974 by oil giant Exxon Corp.

Financial analysts said the most money ever made by a company for a single quarter was $940 million by American Telephone & Telegraph Co. in the second quarter of this year. AT&T is classified as a utility.
Analysts attributed GM's record profits to higher unit sales industrywide, an increase in the company's market share, a strong comeback in sales of high-profit large cars, an easing of cost increases combined with effective cost-cutting controls, and a recovery in overseas markets that is paralleling that in the United States.
Despite its record performance, GM's profits fell short of the $935 million to $950 million forecast by Wall Street analysts.
GM dollar sales in the quarter were a record $12.5 billion, up 35 per cent from $9.3 billion a year ago. But unit vehicle sales of 2.39 million were below the record 2.39 million recorded in 1973.
For the first half of the year,

GM earned $1.71 billion on sales of $23.9 billion, both records. The firm had profits of $392 million on sales of $16.9 billion in the first six months of 1975.
Chrysler, which lost $260 million in 1975, reported second-quarter profits of $155.1 million, highest in the firm's history. Analysts say Ford made about $400 million in the quarter.
The resurgence in an industry known for its volatile ups and downs completes a cycle begun in late 1973, when the Midwest oil embargo interrupted a banner year, plummeting sales and profits.
GM's strong showing received mixed reviews Wednesday. Wall Street analysts praised the firm for improving its profit margin. Company officials warned that earnings must improve further to finance future investments. The United Auto Workers demanded a fair share of GM's wealth in its new contract.
GM and the other makers opened talks with the UAW last week on new pacts covering 680,000 workers.

FNB breaks ground for drive-in bank

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new First National Bank drive-in facility on the property once occupied by the Old Pampa Junior High School were observed this morning.
Bank officers and others on hand included Floyd Watson, president; Jerry Sims, senior vice president; Luther Robinson, vice president; Frank Carter, director; Reid Strickland of Amarillo, general contractor; and Ray Daniels, a member of the architectural firm of Hannon and Daniels of Amarillo.
Work actually got underway about 8 a.m. today, Watson said, with heavy equipment removing a large area of asphalt paving.
Watson said, "We are pleased at the four major sub-contractors on the project all are local. Quarles Electric will do the electrical work. Malcolm Hinkle was the successful mechanical bidder. G.W. James is the paving contractor, and Pampa Concrete will pour all the concrete."

The $311,000 project is to be completed 140 days from today, according to the terms of the contract.
"Hopefully, we'll be in it by Christmas," Watson said.
The block where the facility is being constructed was purchased by the bank in August 1975 from the Pampa Independent School District for $75,000.10 and since that time, the bank has had all the school structures removed from the site.
The drive-in facility, landscaping, and driveways will use about 35 per cent of the lot with the building to be centered north and south. Watson said there will be entrances off Browning and Francis Streets.
The remainder of the lot is being held by the bank "for possible future development," Watson said, adding that a new First National Bank Building might occupy the spot "maybe in 20 or 25 years."

Second suspect captured

CHOWCHILLA, Calif. (AP) — James Schoenfeld, the second of three suspects sought in the Chowchilla bus kidnap, was captured without a struggle today after he was spotted driving a van on a freeway south of San Francisco.
At the moment he was captured, Schoenfeld's brother, Richard, 22, was being taken from the Alameda County jail at Oakland for a three-hour drive to Chowchilla for arraignment in the bizarre abduction of 26 children and their bus driver.

One suspect in the July 15 kidnap remains at large. He is Frederick N. Woods IV, 24, whose father owns the quarry in Livermore where the children and the bus driver were imprisoned in a van for 18 hours before they dug their way out.
James Schoenfeld was booked at the San Mateo County Jail in Redwood City on kidnap and unlawful flight charges, officials said.
Both Schoenfelds and Woods were charged in a warrant issued last week with 27 counts of kidnaping and 16 counts of robbery. The robbery charges stem from the taking of clothes and other items from the kidnap victims.

After a week-long odyssey in which he was reported seen in several areas of the Pacific Northwest, James Schoenfeld, 24, was seen Wednesday night by "someone who knew him" as he drove an Idaho-licensed van through Menlo Park, a San Francisco Peninsula community only a few miles from his home.

President grabs edge

Kidnap suspect under security

By EVANS WITT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford grabbed an edge in the fight over Mississippi's uncommitted delegates as he and challenger Ronald Reagan turned their attention today to Pennsylvania, now the other major battleground in the contest for the GOP nomination.

Ford picked up the endorsement of Clarke Reed on Wednesday, robbing Reagan of the influential Mississippi state chairman's backing in the struggle for the state's votes, the largest uncommitted group headed for the Kansas City convention.

With Ford now having 1,097 votes in The Associated Press delegate survey, Mississippi's 30 votes could put him within reach of the 1,130 total needed for the nomination. Reagan now has 1,023 votes, with 139 delegates uncommitted.

Reed said in a statement released in Jackson, Miss., that he defected because Reagan picked Pennsylvania Sen. Richard Schweiker, a liberal, as his running mate.

"I believe having this kind of vice president is too big a price to pay for the nomination," Reed said.

He said Ford promised him he would pick a running mate who would be "philosophically compatible with himself and the mainstream of the Republican party."

Even before Reed's statement, Ford and Reagan backers in Mississippi said the President was picking up strength among the delegates, who had long been considered to heavily favor Reagan.

Although Reed said he was not going to ask other delegates to follow his lead, his defection could give Ford a majority of the delegation's votes, enough to control all 30 ballots under a unit rule.

As the Schweiker choice was cutting into Reagan's Southern backing, Schweiker himself sought to turn his alliance with the former California governor into a plus for Reagan.

He prepared to talk to the 103-member Pennsylvania delegation at a Capitol meeting late today to try to swing votes to Reagan.

After meeting with Schweiker, the delegation was scheduled to go to the White House to meet with Ford, who now holds a 70 to 6 edge in the delegation, with 27 delegates undecided.

Reagan said from his Santa Barbara, Calif., ranch, that Reed earlier had pledged to support him.

"I was disappointed that Clarke won't keep his longtime personal commitment," the former California governor said.

As the GOP nomination fight heated up, Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter received a 5 1/2-hour briefing from CIA Director George Bush on Wednesday. Bush said the briefing went into a "great deal of detail" on top-secret intelligence matters.

Reed said he would vote for Ford in the Mississippi caucus in Kansas City. Traditionally, the state's delegation has gone to the convention uncommitted and then voted as a bloc, following the wishes of the majority of the delegation.

"I have not asked any members of the delegation to support any candidate and I do not intend to do so," Reed said.

Billy Moulder, Reagan's state leader, said the Reed decision "doesn't do much damage. It's another vote, which I don't like to lose, but Reed does not control the delegation. I'm still working like heck for Reagan. I still want to get this delegation for him."

CHOWCHILLA, Calif. (AP) — The FBI said today that James Schoenfeld, one of the fugitives sought in the Chowchilla kidnaping of 26 school children and their bus driver, has been seen 25 miles south of San Francisco.

"We have pretty good information that he was spotted at 7 p.m. Wednesday at Menlo Park," said the night supervisor in the FBI's San Francisco office.

Menlo Park is about 10 miles from Schoenfeld's home in Atherton on the San Francisco Peninsula. The FBI said the information came from "somebody who knew him."

Authorities said Schoenfeld was spotted in an Idaho-licensed van.

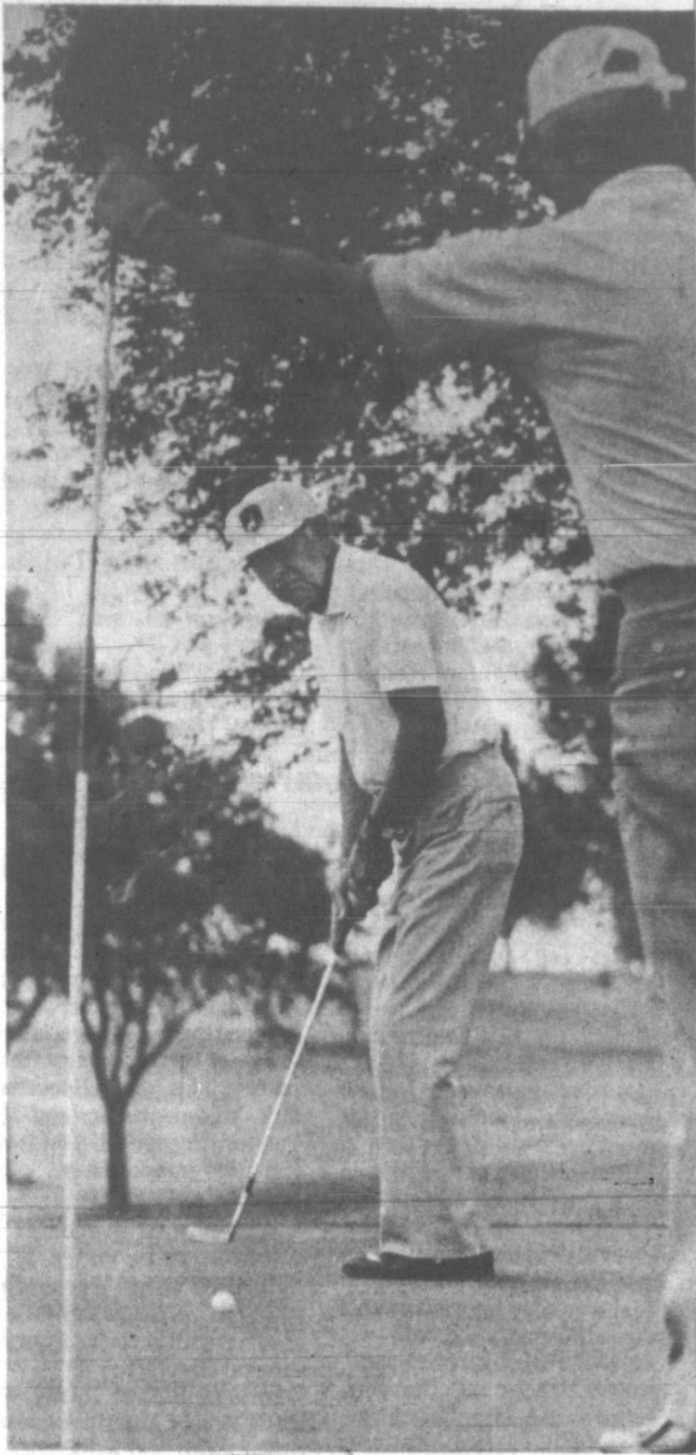

While Schoenfeld was tracked, authorities prepared to transport his brother, Richard Schoenfeld, to his arraignment at Chowchilla on charges of kidnaping the youngsters and their driver.

Schoenfeld, 22, will be flown here today from the Alameda County jail in Oakland for a formal reading of the charges before Judge Howard C. Green, who set bail at $1 million when Schoenfeld surrendered last Friday.

Immediately after the arraignment, authorities plan to fly Schoenfeld back to Oakland, 175 miles north of here, where he has been held in a hospital cell for observation.

Schoenfeld's lawyer, William Gagen, said his client will plead innocent to 27 counts of kidnaping and 16 counts of robbery. The robbery charges stem from clothes and other items taken from the children and bus driver during the kidnaping July 15.

Double rarity

Lew Lacy's two-fold feat Wednesday at the Pampa Country stole the spotlight during the second round of the Tri-State Seniors. Lacy recorded 18 pars — no birdies, no bogeys — out of 18 holes. Making that accomplishment even more startling is the fact that he shot his age — 71. See story on page 13.

SPS to build generator northeast of Amarillo

A third 350,000 kilowatt, coal-fired electric generator has been approved for installation at Harrington Station, northeast of Amarillo and a price of $12 per share has been established for 1,050,000 shares of Southwestern Public Service Company common stock to finance the construction.

The SPS directors met Tuesday in Boston and following approval of the new unit, Roy Tolk, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Southwestern, said that it will go into service in mid-1980.

"Both 1980 and 1981 had been considered as completion dates while the unit was in the planning stage," he said, "but that load growth and customer gains in the last few months made it advisable to move forward to the 1980 date."

Tolk reported to the board that the company had gained nearly 8,000 customers in the past year. The regular quarterly dividend of 24.5 cents per share on the common stock, payable on Sept. 1 to holders of record on Aug. 16, was approved by the board and will apply to the new share being offered today to the public.

The board also declared the regular quarterly dividends on all outstanding issues of preferred stocks to be paid Nov. 1 to holders of record on Oct. 20. Directors approved an amendment to the by-laws which reduced the number of directors from 12 to 11. They took the action following the resignation from the board of Murrell R. Tripp who had served on the board since 1962. He resigned for personal reasons.

In other action, two Amarillo men were named to officer posts. Coyt Webb is now treasurer and assistant secretary of TUCO Inc., Southwestern's fuel subsidiary, and Doyle Bunch is assistant secretary and assistant treasurer of Southwestern.

The annual meeting of stockholders will be held in January 1977 in Amarillo and the directors Tuesday signed consent forms to stand for re-election.

More evacuees leave

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The U.S. Navy transport Coronado brought 155 Americans and about 145 evacuees of other nationalities from war-torn Lebanon to Athens today after a smooth 46-hour journey. The 10,000-ton amphibious transport was greeted at the U.S.-Greek military terminal at Keratsini, outside the Greek capital, by friends and relatives of the evacuees and officials of the U.S. Embassy.

Among the Americans were 25 officials from the U.S. Embassy in Beirut. Other evacuees included 26 British, 13 French, 7 West Germans, 5 Jordanians, 4 Austrians, 3 Australians, 3 Brazilians, 1 Palestinian, 1 Swede, 1 Finn, 1 Greek and about 75 Lebanese.

Among the evacuees were 20 young children and an expectant mother.

According to Commander John Dewey, public relations officer aboard the ship, the journey went without incident or illness. He said food, drink, and entertainment for the children were plentiful and sleeping conditions "quite satisfactory."

"It think the kids and their parents enjoyed it all as much as the crew did," he added.

Will one-student school open?

Whether or not classes resume for the fall term at Lipscomb School probably will be decided in a meeting of the district's board of trustees at 8 p.m. Monday.

When school closed for the summer, two teachers were on the payroll, and one student, Colby Borwn a fifth grader, made up the total enrollment.

"I don't know why we need to talk about it," Donald L. Beard, school board president said this morning. "We'll probably crank up the school buses when the time comes."

Last year the Lipscomb County School trustees ordered the district to be divided among the four remaining school districts in the area. However, the state statute required that they retain a nine-square mile area. The area they kept was the Lipscomb school. The order became effective on Dec. 31, 1975.

The remaining 189 miles of school property was to be divided among the other school districts within the county, including Booker, Follett, Higgins and Darrouzett, according to the county board's actions.

But the Lipscomb Independent School District has filed a suit in an attempt to declare the county school board's actions null and void.

The suit was transferred to the 31st District Court in Pampa in May. No trial date has been set. "But whatever comes from the Gray County Courthouse in Pampa will be the final decision," Don Radar, secretary of the Lipscomb Independent School District, said. Radar earlier had called it a "land grab."

"We're awaiting a jury trial (in Pampa)," he said.

The two teachers who have remained on the payroll are Pat and Darrel Wyatt of Lipscomb.

Wyatt said this morning that as far as he knows "they'll close the school down."

Asked about his contract for employment, Wyatt said he didn't know but added that he and his wife plan to attend the Monday session.

One school official said he thought the Wyatts were looking elsewhere for teaching positions.

"As far as we know we're just thrown out the door," Wyatt said. He said three students attended classes at Lipscomb in the first semester last year.

Radar predicted there would be some "red faces" on the part of those who oppose the LISD actions.

"We've saved a great many tax dollars for our taxpayers," he said. "We can pay our legal fees and have money left."

The battle between the county school board and the Lipscomb Independent School District began in 1970 when the former county judge, E.J. Tarbox, now of Pampa, refused to order an election calling for voter decision on consolidation with the Canadian Independent School District.

"When it all started, the Lipscomb School District had an enrollment of about 30 children," Radar said.

Secondary students in the Lipscomb Independent School District attend Canadian schools at a cost to the LISD of about $1,000 per child. Radar said the cost per child in school districts within the county is about $2,000.

Lipscomb County Judge Warren Jenkins has refused to call an election and based his decision on a 1970 ruling of the Texas Supreme Court which states the jurisdiction of the matter rests with the county school board.

In a request for a change of venue, the Lipscomb County Independent School District officials said jurors in both Lipscomb and Hemphill counties would be asked to do the super-human and ignore their own self interests in the matter.

Judge Grainger McIlhany granted the request.

Plaintiffs in the suit are Donald L. Beard, Don W. Radar, Bill B. King, L.A. Pundt and Hillmer Koch, individuals who are collectively referred to as plaintiffs.

Henry Mitchell is president of the county school board. Defendants are the Lipscomb County School Trustees and the State of Texas.

Charged in parents' death
BAYTOWN, Tex. (AP) — Investigators today charged Paula Cantrell Derese and a former Lamar University football coach with the strangulation-slashing deaths of the young woman's parents Sunday.

Officers said Mrs. Derese, 26, and her employer, Vernon McManus, 33, were arrested separately Wednesday after an intensive three-day investigation.

Chinese quake losses 'great'

TOKYO (AP) — The Chinese Communist party today admitted "great losses" of life and property from the major earthquakes in a heavily populated industrial area of northeast China east and southeast of Peking. But no casualty figures or damage estimates were given. Aftershocks were reported continuing.

Hsinhua, the official Chinese news agency, reported "extremely serious damage and losses" in Tangshan, an industrial city of more than a million people 80 miles east-southeast of Peking and 40 miles north-east of Tientsin.

Hsinhua said the first quake was centered in the Tangshan-Fengnan area and "comparatively strong shocks" were felt in Peking and Tientsin, China's third largest city with a population of 4.3 million.

"Since the quake was not predicted in advance, it is believed that many of the residents of Tangshan did not have time to escape," the Peking office of Kyodo, the Japanese news agency, reported. Kyodo said damage in Peking "has been held to the minimum" but "damage of considerable scope is reported in Tientsin."

Former Prime Minister Gough Whitlam of Australia, who was in Tientsin when the first quake hit, said most modern structures withstood the shock, but older buildings "collapsed completely." He said the first tremor was followed by "very large explosions on the horizon" and many aftershocks.

Foreigners in Peking said the casualty toll in the capital did not appear to be heavy. The U.S. Liaison Office reported that all Americans in Peking and Tientsin were safe, and the head of the American mission, Thomas Gates, offered the Chinese government American aid.

"Our great leader Chairman Mao, the Party Central Committee and the State Council (cabinet) are very much concerned for the masses of people in the earthquake-stricken area," said Hsinhua.

The U.S. Earthquake Information Service recorded the first quake at 3:40 a.m. Peking time Wednesday and it measured 8.2 on the Richter Scale. It was the strongest earth shock registered by the service since the Alaska quake in 1964, which measured 8.4.

About 15 hours later a second major quake registered 7.9 after minor tremors throughout the day.

The open-ended Richter Scale measures ground movement.

Uganda studies British block

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Idi Amin appeared to be taking a relaxed attitude today toward Britain's break in diplomatic relations with Uganda. But one of his aides told a Nairobi newspaper that Britons remaining in Uganda "will become Ugandan citizens."

In a broadcast on Radio Uganda, Amin said he was studying the implications of Britain's move, announced in London Wednesday.

"British nationals who have chosen to stay in Uganda should follow the situation in its present perspective and not listen to the imperialist mass media," he said.

The Nairobi newspaper Daily Nation said an official at Amin's command post in Kampala told it by telephone that "we don't mind" about the break in relations.

"The French government will handle the remaining British citizens here, and we know most of them have opted to stay," he said. Then he added, without explanation, "They will become Ugandan citizens."

Between 200 and 300 Britons still live in the former British colony in East Africa. Most of them are longtime residents, and many are missionaries.

In London, members of the House of Commons from all three major parties said the British government broke relations with Uganda because it thought Amin's hold on power was weakening and it hoped to undermine his political position further.

About 250 Britons have left since the Israeli commando raid on the Entebbe airport to free more than 100 hijacked hostages.

Monte Lee Covalt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Covalt of 1131 S. Finley, was rescued from the sand at the Pampa Concrete Company, 220 W. Tyng, by Pampa firefighters who answered the rescue call at 3:47 p.m.

A company spokesman said officials "don't know what he (the youth) was doing" around the sand hopper. A crew of men was working drawing sand out from the bottom of the hopper when young Covalt apparently stepped onto the sand which caved in.

"One of the boys heard him when he hollered," the spokesman said and the Pampa Fire Department and Metropolitan Ambulance were called to the scene.

Five firefighters worked to free the boy, digging from the bottom of the hopper. He was unconscious when he was finally freed and was taken to Highland General Hospital in "very poor shape" according to the Fire Department report. Covalt, whose father is employed by the Pampa Concrete Company, had been doing odd jobs around the plant this summer, the spokesman said.

He was buried approximately 15 minutes before being rescued, but "it seemed like hours" the spokesman said.

The boy's father was working in the office when the accident happened.

Earthlings analyze Mars soil

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The first sampling of Martian soil is in the Viking lander, nourished by light, water vapor and "chicken soup" as scientists search for life on the Red Planet.

When the robot lander's arm dug the sample and deposited it in three chambers Wednesday, it represented the first time that earthlings began to analyze substances on another planet for life. The experiments will take weeks, and answers are not expected soon. But scientists displayed immediate joy that the project was underway.

Until a pin that had jammed the robot arm was dislodged last weekend, there had been doubt that Viking could pick up the dirt.

"I'm delighted — ecstatic. I can't tell you how thrilled I am," said Dr. Gerald Soffen, a scientist.

One piece of bad news intruded: An instrument to search for molecular "building blocks" of life signaled it did not get a sample of soil.

Engineers said it may have been a false signal, or Viking's extended digging arm may have come up empty when it tried to collect the soil sample for the instrument.

Called a gas chromatograph mass spectrometer (GCMS), it is designed to search for organic compounds. It could check the results of biology experiments, and it might be able to find signs of life that once existed on Mars even if such life failed to survive.

"I'm not at all happy to hear that word about the GCMS," said Dr. Fred Brown, a biologist.

Officials said they would order Viking to photograph the soil-receiving funnel Friday to see if dirt was placed in it.

There was some new information about the nature of the soil itself. The mechanical hand left a six-inch trench, about two inches deep, in the ground. The dark, steep-sided trench did not collapse, as it might have if the surface was extremely dusty.

Instead, a project spokesman said, it looked "like wet sand" — indicating the soil was sticky, although not necessarily moist.

Inside the lander, in the $50-million miniature biology lab, the dirt dropped in and a carousel immediately started rotating. It distributed soil to three chambers — about the size of flashlight batteries — in which the samples are being incubated.

A tiny light flashed on — much to the excitement of scientists, to whom it signaled the real beginning of Viking's life search. It will provide simulated sunshine for one experiment.

In another experiment, the sample was suspended above a cup of the "chicken soup" nutrient — a nickname for a rich food which contains amino acids, vitamins and other substances that promote organisms on earth.

Medicare audit at Highland

The annual Blue Cross 1975 Medicare audit at Highland General and McLean General hospitals is now in progress and probably will continue throughout next week.

"They are trying to determine if we owe them or they owe us," Robert Monogue, administrator pointing out that there are several thousand hospitals in the nation.

"Medicare has three auditors in Pampa and two in McLean," he said.

Medicare pays the actual cost or the charges — whichever is lower, he emphasized.

"That way they get you coming and going," he added.

Medicare payments account for about 45 per cent of the $4 million annual hospital business here.

In 1900 the Foraker Act gave civil government to Puerto Rico. It was amended in 1917 to provide U.S. citizenship.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is married, has four children and was separated from her husband when she went to live with a divorced man. (I'll call him John.) She lived with him for 14 months, then he was killed.

After John died, my daughter claimed that she was his widow, and now she is receiving his Social Security, which amounts to a lot of money.

I am worried sick about this. Doesn't the Social Security Office check these claims? And if they do, and it becomes known that she was never married to John, what can they do to her?

NO NAME OR TOWN, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: The Social Security Office requires the birth certificates of all the children if the woman is claiming benefits for them, plus a marriage certificate to prove that she is indeed married to the man. Your daughter must have forged these documents.

If the S.S. office discovers a possible fraud, they turn it over to the District Attorney's office for investigation and possible prosecution. If found guilty, the accused must repay all the money and possibly face a fine and/or imprisonment.

DEAR ABBY: I am going to give my girlfriend a diamond soon, but here's the problem:

Her father is in the jewelry business, and I don't know whether I should buy the ring from him or not. I'm afraid if I go to him, he might think I'm expecting a better price, which I assure you I am not.

If I buy the ring from a competitor, I'm afraid my girl will be hurt.

What should I do?

BUYING A DIAMOND

DEAR BUYING: Buy the diamond from your future father-in-law. If he offers you a special price (and he probably will), don't be a schnook—accept it.

DEAR ABBY: When I was 19, I married a man who was 27, and we were so much in love we never thought we would have any problems. We have been married two years, and I am miserable.

He is a professional man, and I never got past the ninth grade. He is always correcting my English and has even suggested I go back to school and graduate.

Abby, I feel that he thinks I am not good enough for him. If he loved me as I was, why is he ashamed of me now? What should I do?

UNEDUCATED

DEAR UN: Get in touch with your public education system and resume your schooling where you quit. It can be done by mail or in evening classes with other adults. Your husband loves you, or he wouldn't encourage you to graduate. There is no shame in not knowing—only in refusing to learn.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (24¢) envelope.

Ask Dr. Lamb

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I hope you can help me. I have a rather different problem. I am a fearful person. I stopped smoking in 1963 when the report came out about cancer because the thought terrified me. Now, since I've learned that the percentage of cancer in the wives of uncircumcised men is higher, I'm afraid of that. I was always bothered by bleeding vaginal ulcers but since I've kept away from my husband I haven't had any.

My husband doesn't do anything about getting circumcised. I am also terrified of pregnancy and that's another reason.

My husband smokes and I have tried to talk to him about it because our two daughters and I don't and he fills the house with cigarette smoke and endangers us. I don't think it's fair. When I say something he makes a nasty remark about giving up everything, or not doing anything else—referring to sex. He knows about my fears of cancer and pregnancy, yet he's so nasty about it.

What can we do? I can't enjoy sex with these large fears and how can I get him to quit smoking? Please answer either way as I consider it a major problem in our lives and I have no one else to talk to. I am also deathly afraid of contraceptives of any kind so don't suggest those.

DEAR READER: Let me say at the outset that you could benefit from some professional counseling. I think your fears in so many areas are a sign that you need help. They may also be camouflaging the real problems you may have in your marriage.

Despite the fact that a widely syndicated advice column recently stated that uncircumcised men increase the chances of their wives getting cancer of the cervix, the infor-

Polly's pointers

By Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY: I am answering the reader whose plastic curtains were torn in the washer. I have had good luck washing mine in the bathtub. I use warm water and mild soap, let the curtains soak a while and then work them around with my hands. After draining out the soapy water, put in clean warm water and rinse twice. Hang on the shower curtain pole to drip dry and the water drips into the tub. Mine looks like new after washing this way. —MRS.R.L.

DEAR POLLY: We thought we had tried everything to get rid of fleas on our carpet, until we finally bought several boxes of flea powder, sprinkled it generously on all carpeted areas and left the house for a few hours. Later we vacuumed thoroughly. While this was a lot of work, it was cheaper than having an exterminator and really did the job. —ELLEN.

DEAR POLLY: I dye my own hair and have a terrific way to get at those faded out roots and the dye job comes out very evenly. I use a regular toothbrush with even bristles. Pour some of the already mixed dye in the palm of your hand and dip the toothbrush into this mixture. Then proceed to put on your dry hair, starting at the worst spots first. Then even if your hair ends do not need it you have the roots covered nicely. Also good for those hard-to-cover hairs on the temples. —FLO.

'When we're apart, we die'

LIZ AND MIKE: Something entirely different.

By Dick Kleiner

In 1948, Ingrid Bergman sat down in the Los Angeles home and wrote a fan letter. The letter was written to an Italian director named Roberto Rossellini. A year before, Ingrid had seen one of his films and it had impressed her as a magnificent work.

When Rossellini received the letter, he was as impressed as she had been. Her beauty, talent and, most of all, her cool Scandinavian sex appeal had conquered the world. In picture after picture, she had portrayed the pure, almost sacred woman with such fidelity that she had the nickname "St. Ingrid."

As far as the public knew, the private Ingrid Bergman was identical with her screen image. What the public did not know was that the marriage between Ingrid and her doctor husband, Peter Lindstrom, had been deteriorating.

Ingrid was brought to Hollywood in 1939 for David Selznick's film, "Intermezzo." Her year-old daughter Pia came with her but her husband stayed behind, feeling that he might be needed if Sweden got involved in the war.

She was well along in her Americanization by the time Peter arrived. He was not happy in Hollywood. Ingrid was rapidly becoming a person of international repute. Peter held firmly to the belief that a husband should be the dominant partner.

In January, 1949, Roberto Rossellini came to Hollywood. Because of his great success, Hollywood studios had been courting him.

He had dinner with Ingrid that first night, Lindstrom was as excited as she to meet the distinguished director.

In fact, it was Peter who suggested, after they had dined together, that he ought to move into their home. The next day he moved his things into the Lindstroms' guest bedroom.

Gradually, she and Rossellini began to share intimacies, disappointments, dreams. It was only a matter of time before Peter began to suspect something. The scandal quickly circumnavigated the globe.

A month later, in March, Ingrid flew to Rome. When she went, directly to see Rossellini, suspicions were confirmed.

Hollywood's greatest love stories

By Dick Kleiner

At 16, Elizabeth Taylor broke off an engagement to one young man and fell in love with another. When reporters questioned her about why she had done it, she smiled and said, "I guess I'm in love with love."

For the next 25 years, as she matured into one of the world's most beautiful women, she proved that she had judged herself correctly. At last count, she has had five husbands and dozens of intermarriage and intramarriage romances, which ranged from simple flirtations to heart-wrenching amours.

The five husbands, in chronological order, were Conrad (Nicky) Hilton Jr., Michael Wilding, Michael Todd, Eddie Fisher and Richard Burton. The Fisher and Burton romances unquestionably produced the most front-page fireworks. But students of Miss Taylor believe that the great romance of her life was Mike Todd.

Todd was a quarter of a century older than Liz—and was something entirely different. She was completely unprepared for his drive, frankness, flamboyance and streetborn charm.

By the time he was 20 he had made a million and lost it. It never seemed to matter much to him whether or not he actually had any money; he always lived as though he had it, anyhow.

"I've been broke," he said, "but I've never been poor. Being poor is a state of mind, but being broke is only a temporary situation."

He was in one of his broke periods when he married a Hollywood star, Joan Blondell, and had to borrow $2,000 to finance the wedding. That marriage only lasted four years, however, and he was single when he met Elizabeth Taylor in 1956.

To him, she represented a gambler's greatest triumph. If he could win her, it would be like hitting a five-horse parlay or drawing to an inside royal flush. He gave it his all, and his all was considerable.

They were married in February, 1957, and they were seldom apart after the ceremony.

The in-the-know Hollywood set had given the marriage six months. They couldn't understand what this gorgeous creature could see in that rough-talking character and, conversely, they couldn't understand what this sophisticated and experienced producer could see in this delicate young thing with the British accent.

To one interviewer, Liz said that the marriage was a success for two reasons. First, she said, they had common interests, although she did not specify what those interests were. The second reason, she said, was a rule that they had made soon after the wedding.

"Whither thou goest, I will go," she said was the rule they had established. "When we're separated, we absolutely die."

They were, as far as anybody knows, completely happy together. But it would only last for 13 months.

Maybe that was enough. Many people who know Liz feel strongly that, had he lived, Liz and Mike would still be married today, and would still be deeply in love.

She was not particularly enjoying life on March 21, 1958. She was in Hollywood, and had been planning on accompanying Mike, as she always did, on his trip. He had to go to New York for a Friars Club testimonial dinner. But she had come down with a bad cold; her health was always on the frail side and the doctors advised her that it would be wiser to stay home. She hated to have to make that decision. As she often said, she didn't enjoy life when she and Mike were apart. But the doctors had strongly suggested that she should stay, and Mike agreed with them.

Todd had said that he would call her from Tulsa, which was to be the first stop on the cross-country trip.

There was no call from Tulsa.

At 2:05 A.M. on the morning of March 22, The Lucky Liz, a twin-engine Lockheed Lodestar, had exploded in mid-air during a rainstorm 24 miles south of Grants, N.M. All four passengers were killed instantly.

Richard Hanley, Todd's executive secretary, said later that when Liz heard the news, she screamed and "went completely to pieces. This hit Liz as a terrible shock."

Liz couldn't stop talking about Mike to the people who came to help her over her most terrible hour.

When the rescue team reached the charred wreckage of the plane, all they found unburned were two items. One was a copy of a book, "The World's Great Religions," which Todd had been reading. The other was a red napkin emblazoned with the words, The Lucky Liz, in gold.

Youngsters can try their hand at fountain treats with banana split milk shake, frozen chocolate malt, chocolate peppermint cooler and chocolate orange milk whiz.

Cool and nourishing

To try to solve that summer appetite problem with good nourishing, rather than "junk" food, consider various shakes and malts that can be whipped up in a blender.

Most of the ingredients for the fountain snacks you may have on hand.

Banana Split Milk Shake

- 1 cup well-mashed ripe banana (about 2 medium bananas)
- 2 cups chilled chocolate milk
- 1 quart vanilla ice cream
- Chocolate curls, optional
- Banana slices, optional

Combine banana and chocolate milk. Cube 1 pint of ice cream; add to milk and beat with hand mixer or in blender until smooth. Pour into 4 chilled 12-oz. glasses. Scoop remaining 1 pint ice cream into glasses. Sprinkle with chocolate, if desired. Garnish with banana slices, if desired. Yield: 4 1/2 cups.

Frozen Chocolate Malts

- 3 cups chilled chocolate milk
- 1/2 cup malted milk powder
- 1 quart vanilla ice cream, cubed
- Whipped cream, optional

Mix milk, malted milk powder and 1 pint of the ice cream quickly with hand mixer or in blender until smooth but still thick. Add remaining 1 pint ice cream; mix quickly. Pour into 4 chilled 12-oz. glasses. Freeze about 30 minutes, or serve immediately, plain or topped with whipped cream. Yield: 6 cups.

Chocolate-Peppermint Milk Cooler

- 3 cups chilled chocolate milk
- 1/2 teaspoon peppermint extract
- 1 quart vanilla ice cream

Chopped peppermint stick candy, optional

Mix chocolate milk and peppermint extract. Cube 1 pint of ice cream; add to milk and beat with hand mixer or in blender until smooth. Pour into 4 chilled 12-oz. glasses. Top each drink with a scoop of remaining ice cream. Sprinkle with candy pieces, if desired. Yield: 4 1/2 cups.

Chocolate Orange Milk Whiz

- 3 cups chilled chocolate milk
- 2 pints orange sherbet
- 1/2 cup whipping cream
- Whipped Cinnamon, optional

Combine chocolate milk and 1 pint of sherbet; beat with hand mixer or in blender until smooth. Pour into 4 chilled 12-oz. glasses. Top each drink with a scoop of remaining sherbet and a dollop of whipped cream. Sprinkle with cinnamon, if desired. Yield: 4 1/2 cups.

Steak gets tenderized

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Steak continues as a favorite of barbecue chefs and of their anxious and hungry guests. A good marinade adds flavor and also helps tenderize less expensive cuts of beef. Any leftover marinade may be heated and served as a sauce. Serve baked potatoes and your favorite fresh vegetables with the steak. Top potatoes or vegetables, hot or cold, with a sour cream dill topping.

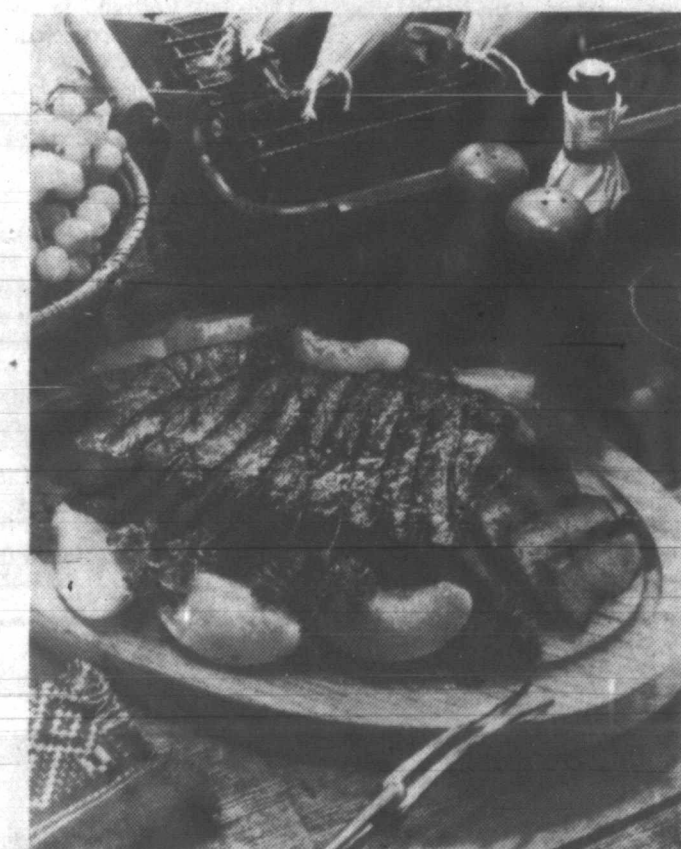

for 4 to 6 hours. Place on a rack over hot charcoal. Grill 10 to 15 minutes, turning and brushing with marinade mixture 2 or 3 times. Or, if desired, place meat on a rack in a broiler pan. Place under a preheated hot broiler; follow preceding directions for cooking. Makes 6 to 8 portions.

SOUR CREAM DILL TOPPING

- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/2 cup finely chopped dill pickle
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
- 2 teaspoons vinegar
- 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper

Blend together all ingredients; chill. Use to top baked potatoes which have been split open or serve over broiled tomatoes or dressing for cold string bean salad. (Enough for 6 potatoes, 8 broiled tomato halves, 1 pound of string beans.) Makes about one-and-one-half cups.

Bicentennial adventure

Peach-plum leather (jerky)

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If you want to have some real fun and you've never made Fruit Leather or, as some cooks are now calling it, Fruit Jerky, I strongly advise you to try the following recipe. It calls for pureed fresh peaches and plums plus honey and gives directions for drying the puree in pans lined with plastic wrap.

When the recipe came into my kitchen I couldn't wait to test it because I had seen many recipes for Peach Leather in old-time American cookbooks and I thought making Peach-Plum Leather or Jerky would be a fitting culinary adventure in this Bicentennial year. It was.

I dried one pan of the fruit puree on my rooftop terrace on a sunny day and finished it off in the kitchen range. The other pan was dried completely in my electric range — one that has an excellent thermostat and signal light. The adventure came when the fruit was ready to be peeled off the plastic wrap it was bedded down on. The sheets of puree were dry but pliable and a beautiful dark peachy-plum color. The puree came away from the wrap like a dream, wonderfully shiny on the underside, ready to be rolled and stored. What a feeling of accomplishment! No wonder pioneer cooks made their deliciously edible fruit leathers.

PEACH-PLUM LEATHER OR JERKY

- 1 1/4 pounds fresh peaches
- 1 pound fresh plums
- 1/4 cup honey

Let peaches stand covered with boiling water for about a minute; rinse with cold water and slip off skins. Thinly slice the peaches and unpeeled plums, discarding pits and keeping each fruit separate. You need 2 1/2 cups of each fruit. In a large saucepan, stirring constantly, slowly bring the plums and honey to a boil, add the peaches and, stirring constantly, boil for 3 minutes. Puree in an electric blender; cool to lukewarm.

Line the bottoms of 2 jellyroll pans (each 15 by 10 by 1 inch) with clear plastic wrap. Pour the fruit into the pans, spreading thinly and evenly — it will be no more than 1/2-inch thick. Dry in full sun or in the oven following directions below. The fruit puree will be dry enough when, after loosening an edge with a small metal spatula, you can peel it away from the plastic wrap in a sheet. Roll it up in plastic wrap so that the wrap touches each part of the fruit sheet. Store in the refrigerator (as long as 4 months) or in the freezer (as long as 8 months).

Makes 2 large leathers. To serve as jerky, cut into strips. Sun Drying: Place 2 strips of wood (we used strips about 1 inch wide and 1 inch thick) across the length or width of each pan so the strips are parallel and near the edges. Cover each pan with a single thickness of cheesecloth — the strips will keep it from touching the puree. Pull the cheesecloth taut and tuck it under each pan as you place them in full sun to dry. The drying time will vary from 8 to 24 hours. If not quite dry after the first day, bring the pans indoors overnight and continue drying in the sun a second day. Or finish drying in the oven according to directions for Oven Drying.

Oven Drying: Preheat the oven to Warm (140 to 150 degrees); turn off the heat; place the pans in the middle of the oven. For an electric oven, reheat as necessary to maintain a Warm temperature — a portable oven thermometer placed in the oven will show when this is needed. Pans need not be removed when the oven is reheated, but stay close by and turn off the heat as soon as the Warm temperature is reached. It's okay to leave the pans in the oven overnight without reheating and continue drying according to directions the next day. A gas oven will not need reheating because the pilot light will provide enough warmth; open the door occasionally to let moisture escape. When drying 2 pans in a single electric or gas oven, alternate the pans occasionally and turn them if necessary. Drying time will vary from 8 to 24 hours.

Another zucchini idea--stuffed

In the mood for something different to eat? Make use of all the zucchini that is available. Stuff it with a chicken spread with added green pepper, sesame seeds, carrot and minced onions. Serve this well chilled with tomato wedges and perhaps escalloped potatoes.

Another change of pace dish is a Mexican chicken cooked in the pot and served with a spicy gravy and rice. Or, for the Oriental touch, stir fry some shrimp in that new wok. Also serve with rice or noodles.

SESAME CHICKEN STUFFED ZUCCHINI

- 2 large zucchini
- 5 teaspoons sesame seeds
- 1 teaspoon butter or margarine
- 2 cans (4 1/4 ounces each) chunky chicken spread
- 1/3 cup chopped green pepper

3-ounce package cream cheese, at room temperature

3 1/2-ounce can brining sardines, well-drained

1 tablespoon lemon juice

2 teaspoons finely grated onion, pulp and juice

1/4 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Small fresh bread rounds

Thinly sliced cucumber, pared if waxed

Mayonnaise

Wash zucchini, cut in half horizontally and remove the pulp, leaving a half-inch wall. Cover and chill. In a small skillet over low heat, brown sesame seeds in butter, stirring frequently. Set aside. In a bowl, mix together chicken spread, green pepper, carrot, onion, steak sauce, mayonnaise and 4 teaspoons sesame seeds. Stuff the zucchini with the chicken mixture. Garnish with remaining sesame seeds. Chill. Makes 4 servings.

- 1/3 cup shredded carrot
- 1 tablespoon minced onion
- 5 teaspoons steak sauce
- 2 teaspoons mayonnaise

Wash zucchini, cut in half horizontally and remove the pulp, leaving a half-inch wall. Cover and chill. In a small skillet over low heat, brown sesame seeds in butter, stirring frequently. Set aside. In a bowl, mix together chicken spread, green pepper, carrot, onion, steak sauce, mayonnaise and 4 teaspoons sesame seeds. Stuff the zucchini with the chicken mixture. Garnish with remaining sesame seeds. Chill. Makes 4 servings.

MEXICAN CHICKEN

- 3 tablespoons corn oil margarine
- 2 (2 1/2 pounds each) frying chickens, cut up
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 2 large cloves garlic, crushed

Melt 3 tablespoons margarine in Dutch oven over medium heat. Add chicken, a few pieces at a time, and brown on all sides. Remove chicken pieces to drain on paper towel. Add onion, garlic, salt, cumin and pepper. Sauté, stirring until onion is transparent. Remove from heat.

Place undrained pimientos in blender container. Blend until smooth.

Return chicken to pot. Pour pimientos and chicken broth over chicken. Bring to a boil

- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon ground cumin
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 2 cans (7-ounces each) whole pimientos
- 1 cup chicken broth
- 3 tablespoons corn oil margarine, softened
- 3 tablespoons flour
- Hot cooked rice

over medium high heat. Reduce heat to low. Cover and simmer 45 minutes, or until chicken is tender.

Remove chicken to serving dish. Blend together 3 tablespoons softened margarine and flour to make a paste. Add to sauce in small pieces. Cook, stirring, until mixture is thickened and boiling. Pour over chicken. Serve any extra sauce on the side. Serve with rice. Makes 8 servings.

Reduce heat to low. Cover and simmer 45 minutes, or until chicken is tender.

Remove chicken to serving dish. Blend together 3 tablespoons softened margarine and flour to make a paste. Add to sauce in small pieces. Cook, stirring, until mixture is thickened and boiling. Pour over chicken. Serve any extra sauce on the side. Serve with rice. Makes 8 servings.

STUFF FRESH zucchini with chicken spread and chopped vegetables.

Cucumber canapes

Pimiento cutouts

Beat together the cream cheese, sardines, lemon juice, onion, salt and Worcestershire until as smooth as possible. Chill, tightly covered, overnight to blend flavors and have firm. Makes a couple of tablespoons less than a cup. Shortly before serving, spread sardine mixture on bread rounds; top each with a slice of cucumber, a dot of mayonnaise and a pimiento cutout. (Tiny canape cutters make pretty cutouts in varied shapes.) The number of canapes made will depend on how thickly the sardine mixture is spread. The bread rounds should be a little larger than the largest slice of cucumber.

Killer plants spreading

Studying stress

Former Pampan Dr. Andy Cole is conducting key research on the effect of shipping stress on the performance of feeder cattle entering West Texas feedlots from Tennessee. Cole is a research animal scientist at the USDA Southwestern Great Plains Research Center at Bushland.

Stress researched

BUSHLAND — The USDA Southwestern Great Plains Research Center at Bushland was selected recently as a major location to study transportation stress on cattle, according to Dr. B.A. Stewart, director.

Ten dollars per head is the estimated shipping loss in feeder cattle from the Southeastern United States to Texas feedlots and wheat pasture.

The Bushland shipping stress research is part of a regional research project involving the USDA Agricultural Research Service and State Agricultural Experiment Stations in Tennessee, Oklahoma, and Texas. This research will tie in with that already underway by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at the Center. Dr. N. Andy Cole, research animal scientist, joined the USDA Staff at Bushland June 7 to study shipping stress on performance of feeder cattle coming to West Texas feedlots.

Dr. Cole, a native of Pampa, received a bachelor of science degree in agriculture from West Texas State University, a master of science degree in animal science from Oklahoma State University, and Ph.D. degree in animal nutrition from O.S.U. in 1975.

Dr. Cole's research at O.S.U. involved grain processing and energy utilization by feedlot cattle. Since graduation, he taught animal nutrition courses in the Department of Animal Science at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

The new research is coordinated by Dr. Will F. Butts, Jr., USDA animal scientist at the University of Tennessee. Helping with the effort at Knoxville is Dr. J.B. McLaren with the Tennessee Agricultural Experiment Station. Nutritional and health status of test cattle will be monitored and varied before the animals leave Tennessee.

The effect of shipping stress on performance of stocker cattle on wheat pasture will be evaluated at the USDA Fort Fort Reno Livestock Research Station, El Reno, Okla. and relationships between shipping fever and wheat-pasture poisoning will be determined. Dr. Floyd Horn is the cooperating USDA Scientist at El Reno.

Primary objective of the regional study is to develop management, health, and nutritional programs to reduce disease in newly arriving feeder calves. A secondary objective is getting calves to full feed more rapidly, once they are in the feedlot or pasture.

At Bushland, Dr. Cole's research will determine the effect of nutrition, prior to shipment, during shipment, and after arrival at feedlots, on health and performance of feeder calves.

In order to do this, cattle-feeding facilities at Bushland are being enlarged. Present pens holding 200 cattle are being used by Texas A&M University veterinarians studying diseases.

When pen space for 400 more cattle is completed, intensive nutritional and health studies will be conducted.

After preliminary study on small lots of cattle, new findings will be evaluated on loads of cattle hauled from Tennessee to commercial feedlots in the Bushland area.

The new USDA livestock research at Bushland and other locations in the country, can study all factors related to shipping fever and stress," Dr. Stewart said, "and we are confident our research will reduce shipping losses."

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A plant in Mexico that kills cattle so quickly this is has been labeled "lightning weed" is slowly creeping closer to the borders of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, according to a survey being conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Research Service.

Since February, Dr. Howard Morton has been studying the little plant known as alfombrilla.

"It's another poisonous plant, no worse than say, locoweed," said Morton, referring to another cattle killer that already haunts ranchers in the Southwest.

"It's just that we don't need another poisonous plant in this country," Morton said. "If I was a rancher along the border, I would familiarize myself with it, what it looks like and how it grows. In other words, I'd be moderately to highly interested in it."

Alfombrilla is a Spanish word meaning "rug." The plant grows quite close to the ground, is fine-stemmed and bushy. It reproduces from numerous minute seeds — like those of grass — which readily break away and scatter in the winds.

The plant produces white, five-petaled flowers, each petal appearing two-lobed.

Alfombrilla thrives on bare, eroded or overgrazed ranges.

Only 0.4 per cent of alfombrilla eaten in relation to a steer's weight will kill the animal.

The first notice the U.S. took of alfombrilla was in 1956 when the plant was then reported at least 40 miles from the border.

Mexican cattle shipped to the U.S. were poisoned after having been kept in an area abundant with the white-flowered plant in central Chihuahua.

By the time the 600 steers arrived by train in Juarez, El Paso's sister city across the border, more than 100 were dead and many others were trembling with muscular spasms and convulsions.

A 1960 survey showed the plant had advanced to about seven miles south of the international port of entry in Antelope Wells, N.M., in addition to being found in an area of the Mexican state of Sonora, 20 to 25 miles south of the Arizona border.

A report the following year said that alfombrilla "now infests about 750,000 acres in Chihuahua. It has killed 3,000 to 4,000 cattle there."

To date, no findings of alfombrilla have been pinpointed in the United States. Sightings have been reported, but no one has been able to retrace his steps to what appeared to have been the plant.

Morton and other Agriculture Department scientists, working in association with the University of Arizona, have begun a research program in cooperation with the La Campana Research Station just north of Chihuahua City, Mexico, to study the ecology and control of the plant.

Research has shown some success with spraying the flowering plant with a one per cent solution of silvex in water, but because of the impossibility of determining how many years the seeds have been dormant in the soil, applications for two or three years are needed before any decrease in plant population can be noticed.

Brucellosis myths exposed

FORT WORTH — Texas cattlemen will never see the complete eradication of brucellosis, according to Dr. J.H.G. Roerink, a world authority on the disease who held a special meeting with officials of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers in late June.

Dr. Roerink proposed a new slant for the U.S. program by stating that for all practical purposes brucellosis can be strictly controlled through a regular 45-20 vaccine program, replacing the present strain 19 vaccine now in wide use in the U.S.

Dr. Roerink, along with Dr. E.A. Van Daalen, both associated with N.V. Philips-Duphar, a world wide pharmaceutical firm based in Amsterdam, exploded some "myths" about the possibilities of the spread of the disease which surprised the Texans.

"About 99 per cent of the new infection comes from clean animals consuming grass on which has been shed fetal membrane from an infected cow. Other than through the afterbirth discharge, the diseased cow cannot contaminate other cows or any bull that serves her," said Dr. Roerink.

"A small per cent of the spread can be laid to mechanical reasons, such as the transfer of live organisms on the instruments of veterinarians or from running water or from a dog or wolf dragging infected afterbirth to an adjacent pasture. In the Netherlands we isolate a heavy cow from the herd three to four weeks before she calves. This way she can't infect any other cow. This theory of exposure and spread of the disease through mere association in the pasture is not scientifically founded."

starting a 45-20 vaccination program is that this vaccine will not overreact on the card test on which the USDA relies so heavily, according to Dr. Roerink. This 45-20 is inactive, meaning that it contains dead organisms, while strain 19 contains live weak organisms that can often be over-conditional in misidentifying healthy cattle as being diseased.

"Vaccine 45-20 will effectively eliminate abortion," said Dr. Van Daalen. "In addition, it has a diagnostic value in that it helps identify an infected animal on the blood test that might otherwise escape undetected. We recommend a series of adult vaccinations and complement fixation tests the first six months, then only vaccinations every 18 months."

"The card test which you use so extensively in the U.S. is a good one," adds Dr. Roerink, "but only if you use it for a prescreening test. No cattle should ever be slaughtered on the strength of it. Actually, I'm not in favor of slaughtering every infected animal, only those registering high positive reactions — 100 CF or more."

Besides the success in the Netherlands, vaccine 45-20 has found good reception in France, England and Ireland.

"This 45-20 has found good reception in France, England and Ireland."

"This 45-20 has a two-year shelf life when refrigerated," says Dr. Roerink, "It is a very stable product, much more so than strain 19, and thus it is more practical for competent laymen to administer."

TSCRA personnel conferring with Drs. Roerink and Van Daalen were Hilmar G. Moore of Richmond, past president; Gail Dudley of Comanche, a director; Don C. King, secretary-general manager, and Paul W. Horn, editor of The Cattleman.

Texas tops five of seven livestock groups in U.S.

AUSTIN — Just about any way you figure it, Texas is the number one livestock state in the nation.

In five of seven major categories relating to livestock, Texas is on top, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White reports.

Texas has more than twice the number of cattle and calves than the second leading state, Iowa. Texas' cattle numbers as of Jan. 1 is 15,600,000 — about 3 million more than the human population.

In other categories:

Texas is number one in the nation in beef cows that have calved — with 6,480,000 cows — more than twice the number in second-place Missouri.

Texas is number one in cattle on feed.

Texas is now the leading cattle slaughtering state. As of March 1, there were 89 Texas slaughter plants under federal inspection. This past year, there were 82 such facilities which accounted for 11 per cent of the nation's federally inspected cattle slaughter. A total of 28 plants slaughtered more than 50,000 head each.

In other categories, Texas leads in total number of sheep and lambs with 2,600,000. That is one million more than second place Wyoming.

Texas ranks ninth in numbers of milk cows that have calved, and it ranks sixteenth in hog numbers.

Number one county in the state in cattle and calf numbers is Deaf Smith with 310,000. Other top 10 counties in this category are Castro, Hopkins, Parmer, Swisher, Webb, Hartley, Hansford, Van Zandt, and Red River.

Top counties in the state in cattle on feed are Deaf Smith, Parmer, Castro, Hartley, Reeves, Moore, Swisher, Sherman, and Taylor.

Custom feedlot named in lawsuit by USDA

WASHINGTON D.C. — Wheatheart, Inc., a custom feedlot formerly operating at Perryton has been charged with violating payment requirements of the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) said.

Wheatheart, Inc., operated as a dealer, buying and selling livestock as the agent of the vendor or purchaser. The firm is in bankruptcy and is not operating at this time. The firm's trade area included the Texas Panhandle, western Oklahoma and southwestern Kansas. Wheatheart also operated three feedlots in the Columbia Basin area of eastern Washington.

USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration charged in an administrative complaint that while acting as a selling agent for various clients during December 1974 and January 1975, Wheatheart, Inc., issued insufficient funds checks and failed to pay, when due, for more than $292,000 worth of net proceeds due to the owners of the livestock.

Filing of the complaint does not prove that Wheatheart, Inc. has violated the Packers and Stockyards (P&S) Act. The firm has a right to a hearing to determine if the evidence supports the charges. If the charges are proven the firm would be placed under a cease and desist order.

Selling agencies are required — under the P&S Act — to pay promptly the net proceeds due to sellers for the sale of their livestock. Issuing insufficient funds checks in payment for livestock is considered to be an unfair business practice.

The P&S Act is a fair trade practices law. It promotes and maintains fair and open competition in the marketing of livestock, poultry and meat.

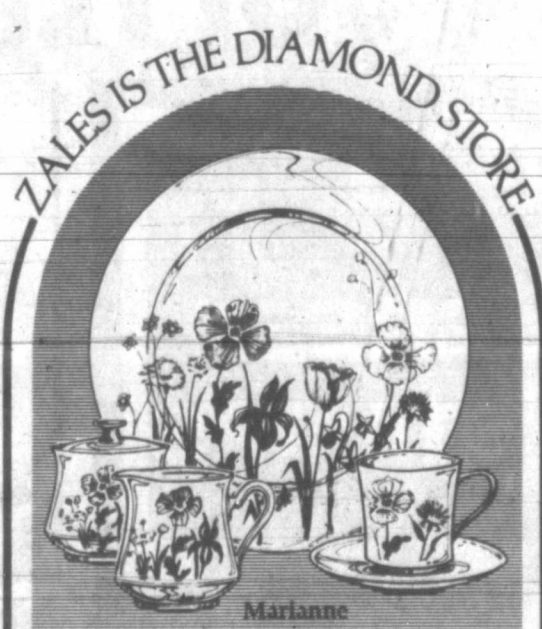

The record in this case is open to the public. Copies of this complaint, P&S Docket 5321, may be obtained from the Information Office, Packers and Stockyards Administration, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

US slumping in Olympic medal race

MONTREAL (AP) — The United States now is almost hopelessly out of the medals race in the XXI Olympic Games and, in fact, doesn't even have a very good shot at second place.

The Americans, who once dominated these quadrennial celebrations of sports, suffered a gold medal shutout again Wednesday, their third in five days. They have gained only one gold medal since Sunday night and, in that period, have fallen far back of Russia and East Germany.

Russia, which picked up four gold medals Wednesday, leads with a gold-silver-bronze count of 33-23. East Germany has 30-19. The United States is a poor third at 22-26-19.

The trend, however, could be reversed.

It's doubtful that America's inspired boxers and somewhat maligned track and field forces can muster enough strength in the closing days of the Games to overtake either of the Communist powers — but they can make it respectable. They could still make it interesting.

The key could come in today's activity. Maxie Parks, Los Angeles; Fred Newhouse, Baton Rouge, La.; and Herman Frazier, Philadelphia, have promised a 1-2-3 American finish and a shutout of Cuba's Alberto Juantoreno in the men's 400 meters.

"We're ready to run him right out of a medal," said Newhouse.

And tonight, big John Tate of Knoxville, Tenn., will take on Cuba's favored Teofilo Stevenson in a heavyweight boxing semifinal, the feature of the television coverage.

Tate is one of seven Americans who has reached the boxing semifinals. All of them are assured of at least a bronze medal. By comparison, the United States won only three boxing medals in the 1972 Games at Munich.

"We're doing it for Davey," is the boxers' rallying cry. Featherweight Davey Armstrong, Puyallup, Wash., was eliminated in the quarter-finals. His teammates say, quite frankly, he was robbed.

Tate, who suffered an eye cut, put together a strong third round for a 3-2 quarter-final decision over West Germany's Peter Hussing, clearing the way for the important bout with the formidable Stevenson, the defending Olympic champion.

Other Americans in tonight's semis are the fighting Spinks brothers, middleweight Mike and light-heavyweight Leon; light-welter Sugar Ray Leonard, Palmer Park, Md.; lightweight Howard Davis, Glen Cove, N.Y.; bantamweight Charles Mooney, an Army sergeant stationed at Ft. Bragg, N.C., and flyweight Leo Randolph, Tacoma, Wash.

The Spinks, like Tate, won quarter-finals Wednesday. The others had advanced earlier. Mike Spinks, from St. Louis, took a 5-0 decision over Ryszard Pasiewicz of Poland.

Leon, a Marine corporal at Camp Lejeune, N.C., had more trouble with the referee than he did Otomar Sachtse of East Germany. Leon scored one knockdown and an easy decision but was warned once for talking to the referee. And when he showed up for the judges' decision wearing a white cap with a red tassel, the referee yanked it off and threw it in a corner.

Americans also have the lead in both men's and women's archery, and, thanks to an excellent ride by Hilda Gurney of Woodland Hills, Calif., moved into second place behind the West Germans in the equestrian dressage team competition.

The United States, which has won only the basketball gold in the past three days, was limited to two medals Wednesday, a bronze by four-time Olympian Willie Davenport, Baton Rouge, La., in the men's 110-meter hurdles, and a silver by Hawaiians David McFaull and Mike Rothwell in the Tornado class yachts, behind the British boat which already had clinched the gold.

Russia's four golds came in men's and women's team handball, women's team foil fencing and in the men's hammer throw, where Yuri Syedekh set a Games record with a throw of 254 feet, 4 inches and led a Soviet sweep of the medals. Aleksey Spiridonov was second and Anatoly Beonjerkuk was third.

The East German women also swept the women's 200, with lightly-regarded Baerbel Eckert winning the gold in 22.37, setting an Olympic record and beating 100-meter gold medalist Annegret Richter and defending champion Renate Stecher.

Anders Garderud of Sweden set a world record of 8:08.02 in the steeplechase.

2 Pampans among 250 at tennis camp

CANYON — Two Pampa youngsters are among more than 250 tennis players participating in the sixth annual West Texas State Tennis Camp this week.

Berklee Brainard and Cheryl Kessel are the two Pampa campers currently enrolled in the third session of the summer. The camp will end Saturday.

The camp is under the direction of David Kent, WTSU coach, and Roland Ingram, Amarillo Town Club professional.

"We try to do two things in the camp," Kent said. "One, we try to improve each individual's game, and two, we try to have some fun."

Assisting Kent and Ingram are members of the WTSU 1976 Missouri Valley Conference championship team. The Buffaloes won their fourth straight league title in the MVC meet in May at WTSU. It was WT's fifth MVC title in six years.

Campers also have the use of the university's $4 million Student Activities Center.

Water acreage, ducks down says PWD survey

By J.D. PEER
Special to the News

CANYON — A decrease in both the number of young ducks and acres of water have been noted as Texas Parks and Wildlife Department personnel complete the third annual waterfowl production survey in the Texas Panhandle.

A lack of heavy rains and poor or inadequate nesting habitat have been listed as major factors in this year's survey.

"Our juvenile duck count is down 74 percent from 1975, but the number of mature ducks is up," said Max Trauek, assistant waterfowl biologist.

"The mature ducks have been more obvious and easier to count this summer due to the low concentrated water conditions," Trauek continued.

Other interesting facts show that the same number of lakes exist on the survey lines this year but the sizes of the lakes are reduced from 1073 acres in 1975 to 544 acres in 1976.

Poor home range nesting conditions surrounding the playa lakes have concentrated the mature ducks into small areas allowing only a few of the birds adequate nesting habitat.

Even the number of juvenile birds per brood is down from last year as only a few eggs are laid and hatched by the hens.

over the North Wednesday night in the Texas High School Coaches Association (THSCA) all-star basketball game.

Owens, who easily won the game's most valuable player award, scored 33 points, grabbed 13 rebounds and blocked five shots as the Rebels, who blew an 11-point second quarter lead, came back late in the fourth quarter to break a two-year North winning streak.

The 6-foot-6 Owens, who will attend New Mexico State, remained in the game in the third quarter after he crumpled with a sprained ankle.

Owens sprained the ankle as he came down after scoring his 22nd and 23rd points on a jump shot.

"The ankle didn't affect my playing that much," Owens said.

Wheatheart tourney set

PERRYTON — Tennis players from Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas have been invited to play in the first Wheatheart of the Nation Tournament Aug. 6-8.

Tournament director Mike Coggins of 107 N. Drake in Perryton is accepting entry fees of $3 for singles events and $6 for doubles for the tournament, which will begin at 8 a.m. Aug. 6 with junior events.

Adult events will start Saturday and finals will be held Sunday, beginning at 2 p.m.

Junior events include singles and doubles in the 14- and 18- and under boys and girls divisions. Adult events include singles and doubles in men's open, men's championship, women's, men over 35, women over 35 and "A" and "B" mixed doubles.

Contestants may enter up to four events, Coggins added.

To assist the production survey, a banding operation is completed each winter by P&WD biologists in the same area of the Texas Panhandle.

Many of the Texas-reared birds are bagged each fall by local hunters and it is hoped that the banded waterfowl will be reported to assist the survey. Each band has a number and address for the holder to notify the proper agency. Many successful hunters keep the band and send the band number, place and date of kill, holder's name and address to Bird Band, Washington, D.C.

The 1976 waterfowl seasons will be set Aug. 30-31 as representatives of the P&WD, central flyway council and U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service recommend dates for ducks, geese and sandhill cranes.

Sportsmen are reminded to secure hunting areas early this year in the Texas Panhandle due to the small amount of water for both ducks and hunters.

Web Wilder birdied six holes to fire a one-under-par 70 and grab a two-stroke lead over Tuesday's leader, Eddie Smith, in the second round of the 42nd Tri-State Seniors Golf Association Tournament Wednesday at the Pampa Country Club.

Wilder shot 71 in Tuesday's qualifying round and leads the tournament at 141 with two rounds to play. The 65-year-old retired Army lieutenant colonel from San Antonio recorded the low round of the day Wednesday.

While Wilder was doing that, Lew Lacy of Oklahoma City might have been recording history. Lacy, tournament champion in 1961, accomplished a double feat — he parred every hole and shot his age, 71.

The golfing rarity put Lacy in third place at 144. Eddie Smith of Tishomingo, Okla., medalist in Tuesday's qualifying round at 70, shot 73 to fall two strokes behind Wilder.

Wilder birdied six holes, including a string of three straight on Nos. 8, 9 and 10.

"I played well. I was hitting the drive pretty good and

Pair combines for no-hitter

OAKLAND (AP) — Blue Moon Odom and Francisco Barrios combined to pitch the major league's second no-hitter of the season, hurling the Chicago White Sox to a 2-1 decision over the Oakland A's Wednesday night despite giving up 11 walks.

Odom was pulled from the game in the last of the sixth inning when he walked Billy Williams for his ninth walk and threw a ball out of the strike zone to Sal Bando. Barrios finished the walk to Bando but then got the side out and proceeded to mow down the A's until walking Claudell Washington with two out in the ninth.

Changing a flat tire brought on a heart attack that kept Web Wilder from competing in the 1973 Tri-State Seniors, but the illness didn't keep the 65-year-old San Antonian off the links for long.

Wilder, back in Pampa this week and leading the 42nd Tri-State Seniors in his second go at it since the heart attack three years ago, has just returned from an exerting golfing vacation in Scotland and England where he played on 14 courses in 21 days.

He played in two tournaments while on vacation. Before the year is up, he will have played in more than 20 tourneys, including the Tri-State Seniors which began Monday, nine days after his return from overseas.

"I hadn't been home very long till I came here," said Wilder, a retired Army lieutenant colonel whose only hobby now is golf. His wife did not accompany him to Pampa, nor did she make the trip to England.

"My wife goes with me sometimes. She'd been to Hawaii with me the week before. The Texas Golf Association went to Hawaii in June — they take a trip once a year; the year before we went to Puerto Rico," Wilder said.

"She just had one week at home so she said she wasn't going to Scotland. She may go next year."

Wilder left on June 27 and returned on July 17.

If it sounds like he's active... well, he is — astoundingly so for a man that went through what he did three years ago, shortly after pulling into a Pampa service station to have a flat repaired.

The station was going to close in five minutes, so Wilder helped speed things up by pulling his baggage from the car to get to the spare tire. He removed the spare and noticed soreness in his arms.

"They were sore right here," Wilder said, rubbing the area around his elbows. "I thought it was muscular — lifting that big tire out of the back."

"The next day I was supposed to go over to Amarillo to see C.L. Duniven. I called old Duniven and said I just don't feel good so he said, 'You better go see a doctor.' I said I don't know any doctors so he said to go see Joe Donaldson.

"Two days after I had the heart attack I went over there and took an electrocardiogram and Donaldson said, 'You're gonna go right now to the hospital.'"

Wilder spent 10 days in Highland General Hospital missing the Tri-State Seniors.

"I couldn't understand why they kept me in the hospital, why they didn't let me out. Well, I won the thing the year before (1972) and here I am the defending champion and can't do anything about it."

The following January — in 1974 — Wilder began competing in tournaments again. His recent trip overseas must convince even Wilder's biggest skeptic that the 65-year-old golf enthusiast is fully recovered.

There are no motorized golf carts in England or Scotland, so Wilder had to walk. He played in two tourneys, finishing 10th in a 160-player field in Scotland and second in a partnership in London.

"When I first got there, I rented a car and played eight courses in four days... I played at some of the best seaside courses in Scotland," Wilder said.

Even the "best" courses in Scotland don't stack up with America's links, including the Pampa Country Club. Wilder is quick to point out.

"Their fairways don't match up to ours. They're not really watered. They water them with hoses but they're not automatic. And on a lot of those courses in Scotland, there is a tremendous number of rabbits... a lot of holes."

Vegetation is also a problem. "They have heather and whin as they call it — heather is an old wiry grass that doesn't grow but a couple inches high, and the whin, if you hit it in that bush, you can't get it."

"A lot of those traps, those pot traps are so steep up the banks you can't get out. You gotta go sideways."

The Pampa Country Club greens are similar to those he played on overseas, Wilder said.

"The greens are very fine over there."

A reason for the parched, ragged fairways in England and Scotland is the drought, one of the worst in Western Europe's history. No smoking is permitted on the courses, a safety precaution.

Wilder, by way of exercise, benefited from the vacation. European golfers move fast, playing a round in 2½ to 3 hours, while it takes between 4 and 5 for an American to play.

"I had to move like that, to stay with them. A couple of young Scots had me puffing and blowing. I was even carrying my clubs. They call a little pull cart a trolley. It didn't have a trolley at one golf course and had to carry my clubs."

"I was getting a little pooped."

Wilder, who has won several tournaments, mainly senior events, since his retirement in the Army in 1960, has a goal which makes his recovery from adversity seem even more amazing.

"I'd like to play all the best courses in America. So far, I've played on about 300 different courses."

The number of documented yachts in the United States numbered 38,262 at the end of 1974.

Prostitutes persistent in fashionable Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Some Dallas residents are seeking a different kind of action than the prostitutes near a fashionable Dallas neighborhood are — but one group seems as persistent as the other.

In response to demands of angry citizens, the city council has ordered the drafting of an ordinance to halt the prostitution near the wealthy Turtle Creek district.

Councilman John Leedom said Monday at a council meeting, to which citizens flocked, "I guarantee you that I can write a law controlling prostitutes right now which we can pass next Monday."

But he added, "Now whether it's constitutional or not, that gets to be a little questionable."

Neither the council members

nor the miffed citizens are the first to attempt to rid the area of prostitutes. Local and out-of-town vice squad officers have tried to remedy the situation.

Residents said the call girls are soliciting business on the sidewalks in front of their homes and blamed the prostitutes' presence for what they said was an increase in muggings and narcotics traffic.

Some reports set the going price for a "trick" in the $20 range.

Dallas' frustrated vice squad has added officers, imported out-of-town officers and used rented cars in trying to control the situation. But the prostitutes have prevailed. Rented cars and imported officers were tried because the prostitutes are able to recognize the city's cars and regular police.

Councilwoman Rose Renfroe offered an interim suggestion to the residents Monday.

She encouraged them to take down the license plate numbers of those seen "shopping" for prostitutes and then notify the families of the occupants.

Officials with the Texas Department of Motor Vehicles said they will provide the name and address identifications on one number for free via telephone or up to 25 for 25 cents each by mail. They also said Dallas police and the Dallas County tax assessor's office have access to the DMV computer that stores license information.

Councilwoman Lucy Patterson said laws are needed against those who solicit the prostitutes. "The customers keep the prostitutes in business, not the city of Dallas," she said.

Two speed records set

MARYSVILLE, Calif. (AP) — The U.S. Air Force has set two world speed records and a world altitude record for a horizontal flight at about three times the speed of sound.

One of the broken records was held by a Russian plane and the two others by American planes.

The two Lockheed long-nosed SR71 strategic reconnaissance jets used in the record flights on Tuesday also set speed and altitude records for aircraft of their class — twin-jet and land-based — as they covered sparsely populated areas of four western states.

On one run, a sonic boom rattled dishes in Las Vegas, Nev. Takeoffs and landings were at Beale Air Force Base in Northern California, but the speed and altitude measurements were made from Edwards Air Force Base in southern California.

The National Aeronautic Association verified the measurements. But the records will remain unofficial until accredited by the Paris-based Federation Aeronautique Internationale (FAI).

The first record was 2,086 miles per hour over a 1,000-kilometer or 621-mile course with several turns over California, Nevada and Arizona. The pilot was Maj. Adolphus H. (Pat) Bledsoe Jr. of Fordyce, Ark. and the copilot was Maj. John T. Fuller of Buffalo, N.Y.

The previous record was set in October 1967 by a Soviet MIG25 Foxbat at 1,853 m.p.h.

The Air Force said Mach III, or three times the speed of sound, is about 2,000 m.p.h. at altitudes over 80,000 feet. That would be 3,100 feet per second, or faster than the 3,000-foot-per-second muzzle velocity of a 30.06-caliber rifle bullet.

The second record, for a single straight-line flight over a straight course of 15 to 25 kilometers, was 2,189 m.p.h. by Capt. Eldon W. "Al" Joersz of New Salem, N.D., and Maj. George T. Morgan of Brooklyn, N.Y.

That flight produced the sonic boom in Las Vegas. The plane circled over California, Nevada, Utah and Arizona. The fixed course was directly above Edwards Air Force Base.

The previous record was set in May 1965 at 2,070 m.p.h. by a prototype sister ship of the SR71, the YF12A.

The altitude record was set at 86,000 feet by Capt. Robert C. Helt of Columbus, Ind., and

Maj. Larry A. Elliott of Pittsburgh, Pa. Their craft held the altitude over Edwards Air Force Base while flying at more than 2,000 m.p.h.

An Air Force spokesman said that at such an altitude, the plane would stall if it couldn't maintain at least that speed.

The previous record was 80,257 feet, also established in May 1965 by the same YF12A.

Olympic telecasts were rated top

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC's Olympic telecasts each night last week had no trouble in trouncing CBS and NBC shows in the A.C. Nielsen Co. audience estimates.

All seven nights of ABC's broadcasts from Montreal were rated the nation's most-watched programs. The top-rated telecast was on Thursday, when viewers in more than 18.4 million homes tuned in, the estimates announced Tuesday showed.

Most viewers were believed watching that night, ABC said, because it was the closing night of competition for one of the Olympic's top attractions, 14-year-old Nadia Comaneci, the gold-medal gymnast from Romania.

Saturday's Olympics broadcast had the smallest audience, about 14.7 million homes. But it still won in the ratings against competing entertainment programs on CBS and NBC.

On the average, viewers in more than 16.8 million homes watched ABC's Olympics telecasts each night last week, an average of 47 per cent of the committee's subpoena for the records.

The House panel wants records of wiretaps installed on the phones of suspected foreign spies, double-agents and other persons monitored for national security reasons.

In 1931, Al Capone was sentenced to 11 years in Alcatraz for income tax evasion. He was released in 1939 and died in 1947.

and granny glasses, went to a favorite snack spot on the East Side.

Lennon, 35, arrived in the United States with his Japanese-born wife, Yoko Ono, Aug. 13, 1971, ostensibly to search for her daughter by a former marriage. Their visas expired Feb. 29, 1972, and Mrs. Lennon subsequently gained permanent residence.

The Lennons have an 8-month-old son, Sean, who is a U.S. citizen by birth.

Under permanent residency status, Lennon would be eligible to apply for U.S. citizenship in five years.

The judge's decision came after testimony about Lennon's character from writer Norman Mailer, actress Gloria Swanson, television personality Geraldo Rivera and Japanese sculptor Isamu Noguchi.

After the hearing, the British singer, wearing a black suit estimated national audience per night, the ratings showed.

ABC's only non-Olympics offering, the College All-Stars football game on Friday night, also won its time period.

Nielsen figures showed all of ABC's programs as seen in an average of more than 16.9 million homes each night last week, compared with about 8.6 million for CBS and 7.5 million for NBC.

The highest-rated nonsports show on television in the week ending July 25 was a rerun of CBS' "M-A-S-H," which came out eighth-ranked in the Nielsen's.

The week's lowest-rated show was an episode of the canceled "Popi" series on CBS. It only was seen in about 4.3 million homes, attracting only an estimated 13 per cent of the national audience.

According to Nielsen figures, last week's 20 most-watched programs were, in order of their ratings, the Thursday, Wednesday, Monday, Tuesday, Sunday, Friday and Saturday telecasts of the Olympics on ABC: "M-A-S-H," "Switch" and "One Day at a Time" (all CBS); "College All-Star Game" (ABC); "Kojak" and "Friday Movie" (both CBS); "Police Story" (NBC); "Cannon" (CBS); "Sanford and Son" (NBC); "60 Minutes"; "All in the Family"; "Wednesday Movie" and "The Blue Knight" (all CBS).

DI says orders violated in pugil stick bout death

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A Marine corps drill instructor acquitted last month of charges stemming from the death of a recruit now says he knowingly violated orders covering pugil stick bouts.

S. Sgt Harold Bronson testified Wednesday he knew he was violating base orders by requiring Pvt. Lynn McClure, 20, of Lufkin, Tex., to engage in consecutive pugil stick fights with other recruits.

During the general court-martial in which he was acquitted June 28, Bronson maintained he had been following the advice of another drill instructor on how to conduct bouts at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot Special Training branch, where problem recruits were processed.

McClure was injured in one of the bouts Dec. 6. He remained in a coma until his death March 13 at a Houston hospital.

The new testimony by Bronson came before a hearing where it will be decided if Capt. Cecil Taylor, former director of the special training branch, will be tried before a general court-martial for dereliction of duty and failing to follow orders.

Under questioning from Taylor's defense counsel, Maj. John Grant, Bronson admitted he had disregarded the advice of the second drill instructor and had used the methods he learned while serving as drill instructor and commander for regular recruit platoons.

He said he made McClure fight consecutive bouts with the padded sticks used in bayonet training because he had seen it done in regular recruit training.

Capt. Ronald Stout, assistant prosecutor in the Bronson court-martial and now the government counsel in the Taylor hearing, said Bronson was not under immunity during the Wednesday testimony.

Stout doubted, however, if the Bronson case would be reopened.

Wiretap records may be held

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge is reserving decision on whether to permanently bar the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. from giving records on government wiretaps to a congressional panel.

The Justice Department asked U.S. District Court Judge Oliver Gasch on Wednesday to make permanent the temporary restraining order he issued last week forbidding AT&T from complying with the House Investigations and Oversight sub-

John Lennon now American citizen

NEW YORK (AP) — British rock star John Lennon bit into a hot dog and washed it down with soda pop as he celebrated victory in his 4½-year battle to remain in the United States.

Lennon, who once called the United States "the center of the earth," was granted permanent resident status Tuesday, climaxing a long court battle to avoid deportation because of a 1968 conviction in England for possession of hashish.

"It's great to be legal again," the former Beatle said as he waved his green alien card, his ticket to this country. It was granted him by Judge Ira Fieldsteel, who reversed an earlier decision blocking Lennon from the country and ruled in Lennon's favor.

The judge's decision came after testimony about Lennon's character from writer Norman Mailer, actress Gloria Swanson, television personality Geraldo Rivera and Japanese sculptor Isamu Noguchi.

After the hearing, the British singer, wearing a black suit
