HONG KONG (UPI) - Angry mobs paying tribute to the late Premier Chou En-lai went on a rampage in Peking today in the worst outbreak of violence in almost a decade, witnesses reported

Residents said the mobs scuffled with police, soldiers and militiamen, and set fire to an army jeep, a bus and another vehicle in the city's massive Tien An Men (Gate of Heavenly Peace) Square.

When a fire truck came, the mob swarmed over it and threw off equipment as onlookers cheered.

The fire truck put out one blaze, but made no attempt to approach the other burning vehicles, said witnesses who reported the incidents by telephone to UPI in Hong Kong. Political slogans, shouted and written on banners and wreaths, seemed to link the riot with the power struggle that has developed since Chou's death which has centered on Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping, who was expected to succeed Chou and who delivered the eulogy at the Jan. 15 memorial service.

The incidents, which appeared spontaneous, broke out one day after crowds laid numerous wreaths in honor of Chou at a Martyrs' Monument in the square on the occasion was Ching Ming, an ancient festival dedicated to the dead.

Witnesses said "tens of thousands" of Chinese returning to the square early today found that security forces had cleared away the wreaths and cordoned it off.

Sadat ends friendship with Soviets

ROME, Italy (UPI) - President Anwar Sadat of Egypt arrived in Rome today on the third leg of his armsand-economic European tour for talks with Italian leaders. He said he also hoped to meet with Pope Paul VI to discuss Jerusalem and the "Palestinian problem."

Before leaving Paris. Sadat met with President Valery Giscard d'Estaing for a second round of talks on the Lebanese civil war. He also met with Premier Jacques Chirac and former Lebanese president Charles Helou.

Sadat said that he did not discuss military purchases with Giscard d'Estaing as "these matters have already been taken care of and contracts signed.

An Elysee Palace spokesman said Giscard had assured Sadat that French financial and military aid would continue through 1976.

After meeting with Giscard d'Estaing Saturday night, Sadat urged Lebanese President Suleiman Franjieh to resign hoping that would lead to one solution in the civil war.

Sadat blamed the crisis on Syria, saying, Syria has been supplying both sides with weapons. The tragedy now unfolding in Lebanon is the result of this policy."

With hundreds of police spread throughout the area. Sadat drove across the street to the Residence Marigny, to meet Chirac. Before the 50-minute meeting there, Sadat met for 20 minutes with Helou. No statements were made following the meetings. On Sunday, Sadat said he canceled the Soviet Navy's right to use Egyptian ports and warned of "a dangerous situation" if the Soviets set up a base in Iraq.

Sadat told members of the Egyptian community in Paris Sunday his order to cancel the use of the naval facilities resulted from his decision March 14 to end Egypt's friendship treaty with Russia.

Relations between the two countries deteriorated after Moscow refused to sell Egypt new weapons or postpone its debt payments

Sadat, touring Europe in part to seek new arms sources, said he decided to deny the Soviets rights to all Red Sea and Mediterranean ports when they tried to put "military and economic pressure" on his Sadat also said the Soviets asked India -which has Soviet military equipment - not to deliver spare parts to Egypt.

"I had to take the necessary measures," he said.

At a news conference later, Sadat warned that Moscow, deprived of influence in Egypt, might be tryingto gain a miltary foothold in Libya.

He said Libyan leader Col. Ooammar Khadafy, Sadat's bitter foe, had concluded a deal with Moscow for delivery of $11 billion in sophisticated military hardware.

"I am not afraid of Khadafy," Sadat said. 'But if the Soviet Union gets a base there, it would create a dangerous situation and I would have to go over my plans all over

He said Egypt, which in the past had trained Libyan troops, knew well the latter were unable to use the Soviet hardware.

"Who will then use these weapons along this 2,000 killometer (1.240 miles) long coast?" of Libya, he asked.

The Egyptian leader also called for the first time for the resignation of Lebanon's President Suleiman Franjieh, as demanded by Lebanese leftwingers to end 11 months of civil war.

Sadat said there are moments when a chief of state finds himself "duty-bound to swallow his dignity for the benefit of his people

It takes a thief... on computer crime.

Numerous former criminals are finding a useful place in society by serving as "management consultants" to protect businesses against crimes they, the consultants, once served time for.

According to a story in the Wall Street Journal, an apartment complex in Washington, D.C., for example, is guarded by a security force of ex - felons. They work for a detective agency run by released convicts.

In Los Angeles, a computer expert who was sent to prison for defrauding a telephone company of $1 million now runs a security service that advises companies how to prevent computer fraud. He has also conducted university seminars

Other companies are employing ex - burglars and safecrackers "who know the score" to case their joints in order to point out deficiencies in their security systems.

'We've hired psychiatrists and psychologists in the past to tell us how to cut crime in our stores," says the vice president of one discount store chain. "But nothing seemed to work. These ex - robbers have given us a new insight into the problem."

The success of these reformed criminals depends, of course, upon a continuing supply of unreformed criminals. Fortunately for them, if not for society, there seems little prospect of any shortage developing in that category.

Unfortunately for the Cubans in Angola, they are separated from Rhodesia by several hundred intervening miles of Zambia whose President Kenneth Kaunda is indisputably black and vehemently anti-Smith but is not believed eager to grant passage across his country to twelve thousand armed Cuban Communists. The likeliest alternative would seem to be to transport the Cubans, somehow, eastward to Mozambique, the other ex -Portuguese colony in Southern Africa, which is now safely pro -Communist and does have a lengthy border with Rhodesia.

Boodle backlash

hits Congressmen By ROBERT S. ALLEN WASHINGTON - It is now quite evident there is a "sleeper" issue in the campaign, and it is causing increasing concern among Congressmen.

It's that hefty pay raise and some $20,000 in additional allowances, perquisites and other boodlegrabs Congress voted itself last year including an unprecedented annual cost - of - living hike. Analyses of the New Hampshire and Florida primary results indicate that a significant element of the electorate has not forgotten nor forgiven this boodling. So uneasy are legislators becoming over this disturbing discovery that a move is underway to revoke certain of these grabs - particularly that $2,125 pay boost and automatic cost - of - living add - on.

Whether this apparent run -for - cover is genuine remains to be seen.

That is highly unlikely given the circumstances of this development.

But it is significant the effort is being made and that a sizable number of Congressmen are going through the motions of backing a proposal to rollback the pay grab.

Its sponsor is Rep. Charlss Grassley, R.-lowa, who vigorously opposed the pay snatch and various other boodles. He introduced his measure soon after Congress convened and it has been gathering dust ever since in the Post Office and Civil Service Committee - which clearly hasn't the slightest intention of acting on it. Until voter hostility began unmistakably manifesting itself in the state primaries, Grassley was unable to rally and backing. Now that indifference is rapidly vanishing. In recent days he has garnered 65 signatures to a discharge petition to force his bill out of the committee pigeonhole and place it directly before the House. That is an encouraging advance - but little more than that

Monetary rewards for woman's work?

By Don Oakley

Latest development on the feminist front is something called "Wages for Housework." It's a campaign based on the idea that while a woman's work is never done, at least she ought to be paid for it - in hard cash.

Women all over the world are in a powerless situation because we don't have independent money. We work too hard and are underpaid," says Beth Ingber, a spokesman for the movement in Los Angeles who is traveling around the country rallying housewives (and single housepersons as well) to the

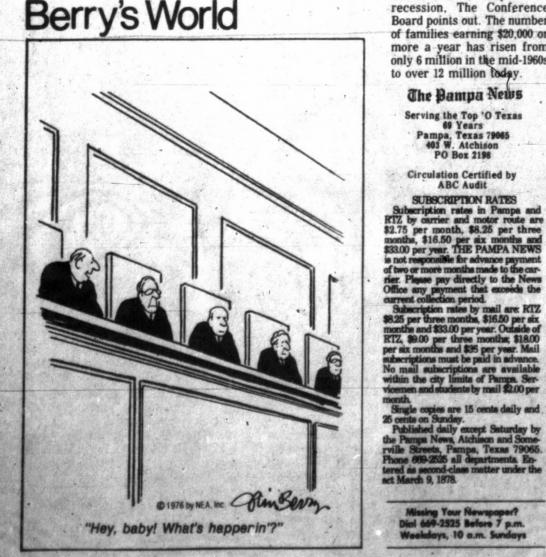

How much is housewife's labor worth, and who is going to pay for it?

According to researchers at the Social Security Administration, the economic value of a housewife peaks at about $6,417 between the ages of 25 and 29 and declines after age 54 due to a decrease in housework. The Chase Manhattan Bank, however, puts a premium of $13,000 on a woman's labors in the home.

Whatever the figure should be, Wages for Housework is demanding that the government pay it and suggest it get the money by taxing the big corporations. After all, Ms. Ingber points out, if it weren't for a wife ironing her husband's clothes and fixing his lunch and dinner, he couldn't go out to work for the steel company or whatever.

Wages for Housework may have its own work cut out for it to convince all those people who still cling to the old-fashioned idea that a husband and wife are supposed to be a team and that the role of housewife entails rewards that can't be measured in monetary terms.

But maybe we're wrong.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren © 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd, Inc.

DEAR READERS: As I have stated in a previous column, I have signed The Living Will. It is simply a document that a person signs stating that he does not want to have his life prolonged artificially after his physician decides that there is no reasonable hope for recovery. I have given copies of this document to my physician, lawyer, clergyman and to members of my family

On February 23rd I published the official Jewish view on the right to die with dignity submitted by Rabbi Bernard S. Raskas. On March 15th I published a statement from the Rev. Norman Vincent Peale concerning the Protestant view. The following letter was received from the Most Rev. Fulton J. Sheen:

My dear Abby:

What a joy it was to hear from you; having not had the pleasure of seeing you for such a long while! In answer to your question, "What is the official Catholic view on the right to die with dignity?" it is not necessary to use extraordinary, artificial means to keep a person alive. Wishing you every blessing, and with the warmest of personal greetings, I am,

Sincerely yours in our Lord, FULTON J. SHEEN

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and considered very pretty. I am going steady with a great guy who is 32. We really love each other, and he wants to marry me. The problem is, he is very bald and my mother told me that bald men are always unfaithful to their wives. HEIDI

DEAR HEIDI: If you love him-marry him. Most bald men started fooling around when they HAD hair.

DEAR ABBY: Last weekend I was a bridesmaid at the wedding of a close friend.

When it came time for the bride to throw her bouquet, the photographer lined up all the bridesmaids for a picture of the memorable moment. Well, the bride threw her bouquet directly to her younger sister (the maid of honor), and dumb me reached in front of her and intercepted it! Everyone was horrified-especially the bride and her sister.

I suppose I should have known better, but I honestly did it without thinking.

Abby, if the bride wants a certain person to have the bouquet, why bother tossing it? Why not just hand it to

DEAR DR. LAMB - Having smoked since I was 16 (I. the lungs, and then only to am now 59) and having quit since reading your advice in the paper, I am really rather deflated.

Sign me...

My doctor tells me that I have incurred no damage through smoking, but if I have my giving up smoking at my age cannot undo it. I hope you can encourage me in my endeavor to quit.

He stresses that I may become very nervous and that is not good. Any comments? DEAR READER - If, and I stress the word if, you are quoting your doctor correctly, he must be a cigarette smoker. No other wellinformed doctor would give . out such bad advice unless he has an emotional blind spot. It is true that a certain amount of lung damage which has developed in smoking is not reversible. It is totally, completely, 100 per cent wrong to say that you cannot benefit from stopping smoking just because you smoked for many years.

The marked increase in the risk of having a heart attack or stroke associated with cigarette smoking is decreased at once as soon as a person quits smoking. To put it another way, a person who has been smoking two packs of cigarettes a day for years has three times the likelihood of dropping dead or having a heart attack than the nonsmoker. If that person quits smoking, within a week his risk factor of having a heart attack and dropping dead is decreased to the same level as the non-smoker.

Considering the high incidence of heart attacks and dropping dead suddenly associated with vascular disease this is a very significant improvement. Your doctor either doesn't know this and is Here is an idea that I have found to be very helpful while cutting corn off the cob for canning or freezing.

Take a piece of wood, approximately 3" square, sand to remove splinters, and drive an aluminum nail in the center, all the way through one side so the point sticks up when placed on your drain board.

When cutting corn off the cob, place the end of the cob on the nail and press so the point sticks up into the cob. This holds the cob, making the job of cutting easier.

physicians is that the advice a physician gives is sometimes related to his own personal situation. So it is that doctors who smoke cigarettes tend to. be permissive and not very successful in getting their patients to stop this unhealthy habit. It is also true that the overweight physician is less inclined to do what should be done in the best interest of the health of his patients in the diet and weight reducing area. Having said this, I would officer of the year. like to point with some pride to the fact that no other occupation or profession has the excellent record of stopping smoking that physicians have. Doctors have quit in masses. You can go to major medical meetings today and walk through the hall where undreds of physicians will be gathered around scientific exhibits and not see a single 1976 whiff of cigarette smoke. PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) - "My son," Judy Rankin said, 'used to say that Sandra Haynie was the greatest player in the world and maybe I was next. We'll see what he says now." Tuey Rankin, 7, was back home at Midland, Tex., Sunday and missed the proudest moment of his mother's distinguished golfing career. The former Judy Torluemke walked off with the LPGA's biggest prize-$32,000 and a new car-by ralling from three shots off the pace to win the $200,000 Dinah Shore-Colgate Winners Circle Tournament.

After it was over, Mrs. Rankin nearly broke into tears. "It really got to me as I was, walking off the course," she said. She turned in a four-underpar 68 on a cold and blustery day in the desert and finished three shots ahead of runnerup Betty Burfeindt, who earned $21,000. The Rankin's took Tuey out of school to accompany them to the first four tour events this year.

"Traveling is the biggest problem, of course," Mrs. Rankin said. "It wasn't a problem until my son got into school, but it will be a problem from now on.

"I'll just have to skip a few tournaments and Tuey will have to miss a little school. I missed him this week, though. I called him every night on the phone." By THOM MARSHALL Pampa News Staff David Hayes Jr., 32, hasn't always been the kind of fellow who would eat and run. He used to do more eating and less running. Hayes, a resident of Amarillo, jogged 51 miles along Highway 60 to Pampa Saturday just because it was there. And because he's a running addict.

He said that about eight years ago, when he graduated from Texas Tech in Lubbock, he weighed 226 pounds. Then he started running. Now, he seldom pushes the needle on the scales past 155 Hayes is an engineer with Pioneer Natural Gas. He said at the end of his Saturday run, between grateful gulps of air that didn't quite qualify as gasps. that he runs about 350 days a year and averages five miles a day. For the past five weeks, however, he's been running about 15 miles daily preparatory to the Pampa attempt. Hayes averaged about five miles an hour. He left Amarillo at 7 a.m. and arrived in Pampa at a minute before 5 p.m. He said if he hadn't had the wind probelem he did, he'd have made it a bit quicker and would have averaged more like six miles per hour. "Last year I ran from

Hayes said the Hereford venture was his "first really long run" though he'd been in some shorter jaunts of only 26 miles in marathon competitions.

"This is like two marathons, almost," he said as he leaned on the Pampa city limits sign and flexed his leg muscles on an alternating basis.

Mrs. Hayes followed her husband in the family car and provided plenty of drinking water for the runner. She appeared pleased that he'd finally made it to the Top o' Texas town.

"Now we can eat." she said. "You can feed me, at least, before we go back." "Yeah, I'm hungry," Haves said. He apparently isn't the kind of guy who hates to run and eat.

LONDON (UPI) - A Long newspaper, quoting Norwegian sources, reported that the Soviet Union's nuclear submarines have radioactive leaks. The Sunday Telegraph said the sources have told NATO the Russians have "a serious problem with some of its nuclear powered submarines as a, result of the leakage of radioactively contaminated waste from their reactors.

"Cases of radiation sickness interrogation of war prisoners, have occurred among some or possibly for experiments in submarine crew members," the treating "brainwashed" Ameri-

Sharon and Paul Pond

Melissa Parker and Sharon Pond were making and selling so many macrame products at home, they decided to open a shop. It is The Hang Up at 118 S. Frost

"Everything we have is hand made," said Ms. Parker. "We are beginning to make our own pots." Many of the plants in the hanging pots can be credited to the green thumbs of the proprietresses.

'We have all the information on plants we well and we can tell the buyer whether to keep them in the sun or shade, and how often to feed and water them. We can even show them what they'll look like eventually," Ms. Parker said.

Some of the macrame specialties at the shop include owls and both large and small hangers.

"We will also do custom work," Mrs. Parker said. She said that although the shop is open now six days a week from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., a grand opening, complete with refreshments and such, has been set for April 17.

Has your business made any interesting advancements in the past year? Have you added any new lines recently? Do Pampans know about the products or services you offer?

For the past year The Pampa News has been running a series of articles on local businesses in cooperation with the Peppy program which is based on the slogan, Pampa's Economy Prospers, adopted by a local businessman's organization.

If your business has not been featured by the Pampa News and Peppy, and if you would like to let Pampa know about your business, please write a card or letter listing your business, your name, and telephone number so The News can contact you. WASHINGTON (UPI) - The financially hard-pressed Postal Service has dicovered that auctions undeliverable parcles may provide a new source of revenue. But there are complications, and Congress is investigating. Critics charge that under the system, a firm which loses a shipment of parcels because addresses are unreadable could later find itself competing against its own goods sold at cut-rate prices by a competitor who bought the merchandise at a Postal Service auction. The House postal facilities subcommittee wants to know just how much is realized from the sales and how "the bid prices compare with the value of the merchandise.
